

Rivercrest Rebels Outmanned By Cooper

By Diana Eudy

It was a long night for the young Rivercrest Rebel team last Friday. The Cooper Bulldogs played a strong game on offense and defense to claim a victory over the Rebels 34-0.

Rivercrest's Jerry Belcher started off with a quick ten yard gain, but the team couldn't build momentum as they fell for a three yard and then a ten yard loss. On third down, a quarterback sack by the Bulldogs effectively stopped the Rebs.

The running of Bulldogs Cris Carter and Bart Tatum gave the Bulldogs their first score of the evening. Carter carried the ball in from the one, the extra point kick was good for a 7-0 lead over the Rebels.

Rebel quarterback Jimmy Lewis connected with split end Chris Anderson on a 6-yard pass play and Jerry Belcher and Bubba Simpson went to work running the ball. The Cooper defense held them and a short punt gave the Bulldogs good field position on their own 36.

Cooper advanced down to the 14-yard line then gave the ball to Bart Tatum who carried it in for the score with 2:01 remaining in the first period. The extra point was good for a 14-0 Bulldog lead. The score held through the first period.

The Rebel defense tightened up their line in the second quarter. They contained the Cooper threat time after time as they hit and hit again. Clint Stephenson, 167 pound fullback, made several good tackles. Charley Martin broke up a Cooper pass attempt and forced them to punt back to the Rebels.

The score read 14-0 Cooper at halftime when the bands took to the field. It was the first opportunity for fans to see the Reel Band perform on the field this season. They did a fine job with their playing and marching skills under the direction of Alvis Worthen.

Turnovers hurt the Rebels as they turned the ball over eight times. Cooper fumbled twice.

The Bulldogs received the opening kickoff in the second half and ran only seven yards before Bart Tatum fumbled the ball to the Rebels.

Rivercrest was unable to move the ball and fumbled back to the Bulldogs on their second play. Bart Tatum redeemed himself as he covered the ball for Cooper.

Several rounds of punting back and forth followed, as neither team could seem to get anywhere. Then, with 3:43 left in the third quarter, Cooper's Bart Tatum gathered in an interception and took it in for the six points. The extra point hit the mark for a 21-0 score. Tatum wasn't finished yet as he pulled in another interception two plays later and went into the endzone for another TD. The extra point kick failed and the score read Cooper 27-0.

The final quarter began with a series of incomplete passes and a Cooper fumble recovered by the Rebels. The Rebs drew an illegal motion penalty and on their next play, passed the ball into the hands of Bulldog Pery Wilkins. Bart Tatum again carried the ball in for the touchdown for the Bulldogs with 1:30 left in the game. The kick was no good for a score of 34-0.

Rebel Head Coach Terry Giddens commented on the game, "We got whipped. We had a run of bad luck and we wanted to stick with our game plan. We worked on what we'll try to do in district play. We worked on our passing game. Our quarterback is young and he got rattled. We're trying to get him out of that before District play and get him some experience."

He continued, "We watched the Cooper films Saturday and we hope to iron out the kinks for this week. We play Mt. Vernon Friday night and they are equal to the quality of Cooper or better."

Game time is 8 p.m. in Mt. Vernon Friday night.

Does the advent of the autumn season just automatically prompt people to begin remembering? Does nostalgia settle over the land like cooler weather, sifting memories down like leaves from the trees?

It sometimes seems so. Recently I have found myself looking backwards, at school beginnings, other autumns.

I put it down to getting older. But apparently I'm not alone in opening scrapbooks to the past.

Visiting last Thursday, I found people with boxes of old photographs hauled out. Not for any particular reason, just looking backwards at family reunions...at group shots and school pictures.

Several other newspaper columnists have been peering back into the past, recalling the Civil War, bygone cotton days, in general it just seems that the time has come to look back and remember.

Remembering can be a bitter-sweet thing. The memories that come filtering through like shafts of late-afternoon sunlight aren't always beautiful. Those who are gone, those whose paths no longer cross ours, the losses and painful incidents of the past come back just as surely as the good times.

But the good times shine a little brighter, bringing a smile to the face and lightness to the heart.

How life changes over the years...and how unchanged some things are is always a mildly disturbing fact.

How young we all looked in old photos...how styles have changed, and times. The smiles have a little sorrow in them at the progress of time. The laughter is an echo of that long-ago mirth.

But consider that today will be the same. In a few years, the events of this year...this time...will be faded away, or captured in a newspaper clipping or photo.

This year's school pictures will be a treasure to parents, and a source, most likely, of embarrassment to the youngsters, all grown up and self-conscious!

But that's what life's all about...change and progress, time flying by.

And perhaps that's one thing fall is for too...to look behind us for a little while, before turning to look ahead once more. Enjoy.

An Editorial

By Nanalee Nichols

Guns aren't toys. Hunting is a sport that requires dedication, attention and rigorous attention to the rules of hunting safety.

Apparently there are some would-be hunters around who aren't paying much attention to the safety rules.

Within the past few weeks there have been reports of a .22 shell going through a pickup side window, charges being filed against two youngsters for improper shooting in a small community, a hole shot in the Lamar County Water Supply water tank, and a house spattered with bird shot!

Sunday afternoon, the silence at our house was shattered when a loud boom was followed by shot rattling down on the roof and windows. Thomas was outside and a piece rained down on his arm!

The source of the bird shot was a shotgun in the hands of a teenage boy, who promptly leaped over our fence and drove off!

Such incidents aren't amusing. They are dangerous, and sooner or later will result in serious injury or a death.

It just isn't necessary. Hunting without knowing what lies behind where one is shooting, hunting on land without permission, not observing the rules, often created for the safety of the HUNTER, all result in the possibility of a terrible tragedy.

Parents should take a lot of time to teach their youngsters the proper respect for a gun. Serious consideration should be given to whether a child is ready to hunt on their own or not.

Adults should ALWAYS observe the same respect that they teach their children.

Please folks, let's all have a SAFE hunting season!

Deaf And Hearing To Meet

The Red River Valley Deaf and Hearing Association will meet at the First Assembly of God on Thursday, September 19 at 7 p.m. in Paris.

It is fine to know that nine deaf children are enrolling in AM Aikin Elementary School this year. They can grow up at home while being educated.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Lois Moore. She has reared a deaf son, therefore, she will have good information for all parents who have children with impaired hearing. Why? She will not be talking from book knowledge, but from experience.

Final plans will be made for National Deaf Awareness Week. It is the 22nd through the 28th. Did you know there are 1,500,000 deaf and impaired hearing people in Texas? Eighty-five percent of this group use manual or signed communication. American Sign Language is the fourth most widely spoken language in the United States.

Also, the Paris Public Library has 11 books on deafness, sign language, books, Guide to parents of deaf children, a fiction book very true to life by Joanne Greenburg, and a New Testament, English version for the deaf.

The Voice, the publication for the hearing impaired, has recently come to the attention of the association. It is published bi-monthly and mailed directly to hearing impaired people and hearing health professionals throughout the United States.

John A. Nelson Continues A Folk Art Tradition

By: Nanalee Nichols

John A. Nelson is a woodworker....a craftsman of the highest order. He is one of only five men in the entire United States who makes their entire living from carving decoys.

His simple shop, located behind the family home in Detroit, is filled with a range of waterfowl as varied as a 'bird book.

Nelson, his wife Nancy, and two children, a boy, age 17 and a girl, age 15, are all involved in the business.

Although Nancy is currently in college to become a registered nurse, she 'is' the shipping department for the business.

His daughter does base painting, and paints the primitive and folk art items that are also for sale in the shop.

The son is carving too, and helping make various items.

But the main attraction is John's birds and fish. Exquisitely detailed as if they are "decorative decoys" are perfectly balanced and painted to draw birds to them if they are functional decoys, they form the mainstay of the shop's business, and go all over the United States and to France.

Last year John did an exclusive series of waterfowl for the Neiman-Marcus Christmas catalogue. They are sold out completely.

This year he is doing a series of fish for an exclusive shop in Dallas. They want a pike, carp, sucker, bass, rainbow trout, brook trout and brown trout. The graceful forms sit in rows on John's workbench, some in the rough, some almost carved, some base-painted and others nearly complete. The ripple of water past their bodies is almost palpable, they seem almost catchable!

The fish are decoys, too, John says. They are used to attract predator fish in the north country. They are weighted and suspended by a tiny line beneath a hole in the ice, while a wily fisherman waits with a spear to skewer an approaching predator, such as carp.

The shop is filled with the rich smell of sugar pine, the wood John uses for his various creations. The big room is packed with a variety of specialized tools suited to his trade, and the walls are hung with templates, patterns and various clutter pertaining to different projects.

On shelves at the top of the room, ducks of all varieties, shore birds, pelicans and geese are lined up like a waiting flotilla.

John is from Michigan. His wife is the East Texas native, having grown up in the Paris and Manchester area.

They moved from Michigan to Manchester, then about a year ago, moved to Detroit.

John is an expert at his craft. He can talk about "tip-ups" or "feeder" decoys (a carved duck "behind" that looks like a duck feeding with its head underwater). He explains that certain features of a working decoy may be exaggerated instead or ornithologically correct.

"The purpose of a working decoy isn't realism...it's to draw birds down to the decoy."

His decorative decoys are perfect in detail, however.

John is knowledgeable in the different kinds of decoys necessary for different waters. On big water, such as the Great Lakes, a decoy must be larger, be able to ride a stronger wave pattern. They are very different from those for use in this area, on small ponds, for on creeks or bayous such as are found in Louisiana.

He has tapes of bird and animal calls from the woods, to listen to, and knows the coots, mallards, pintails and geese that make up his collection almost intimately. He has, he says, always been interested in working with wood, the outdoors and sports, therefore, five years ago he began to work entirely with the decoys and woodcrafts. He spent the years before that developing his markets, and working at various other crafts such as furniture building or carpentry.

He has, he states, contentedly "always worked with wood, it's natural to me".

In all, he does over 75 different varieties of birds or fish. From an exquisitely tiny hummingbird to a huge, white swan, the birds run the gamut of the bird world. Cardinals, petite shore birds, huge geese or ducks, they all bear one thing in common....skill of the craftsman.

John puts in profession quite simply, but with quiet pride. "I am", he states, "carrying on an American art form and tradition." He is, and the results are beautiful.

Duane Allen To Be Honored

Paris Junior College will honor one of its most famous graduates, Duane Allen of the Oak Ridge Boys, at a special Homecoming celebration scheduled for Saturday, October 12 on the PJC campus, according to Glen Carrington, president of the PJC Former Students and Friends Association.

A 1962 graduate of Paris Junior College, Duane has sung his way to the top of his profession as lead singer with the multiple-award winning country music group, Mrs. Carrington said. As a tribute to the Lamar County native, PJC is planning an outdoor celebration including a barbeque luncheon, entertainment by the Prairieland FFA Talent Team and others, all-campus open house a program and reception.

In conjunction with the Homecoming for all former students and friends, present students and their families will be invited to the festivities. Special attractions for children such as clowns, popcorn, pony and amusement rides will be arranged for the day.

Tickets for the barbeque luncheon, which will be outside in the center of the PJC campus, must be purchased by Monday, October 7, so food arrangements may be completed. The tickets are $6 for adults and $3.50 for children under 12. They may be purchased at the PJC College Store or the Chamber of Commerce office.

Homecoming events will begin with registration and coffee from 10 a.m. to noon that Saturday in the Rheudasil Learning Center. All campus tours will be from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., and serving for lunch will be from noon to 2 p.m. Entertainment by the Prairieland FFA Talent Team and other music will be from noon to 2 p.m. John Allen, Duane's nephew, is a member of the talent team, which has won state competition.

During the program, an introductory speech will be given by Larry Franklin, who was a classmate of Duane's in 1961-62. Larry is executive vice-president and chief operating officer of Harte-Hanks Communications, Inc., which operates newspapers, radio and television stations, and specialized delivery systems in 87 markets in 27 states.

Specially honored guests will be all members of the classes of 1960, 1961 and 1962 as well as faculty members during those years at PJC.

Duane, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen of Cunningham, continued his education at PJC after graduating from Cunningham High School.

At PJC, he was freshman class president and president of the PJCingers as well as a member of several clubs and organizations. He went to PJC morning and night and worked at Belk Department Store in the afternoons to put himself through school. Later, while attending ETSU, he worked at KPLT and sang with the Southernaires Quartet, his first paid job in music.

After graduating from ETSU with a bachelor's degree in music, Duane joined the KPLT staff on a full time basis for a few months. In 1965, he joined the Prophets, a gospel group out of Nashville, and in 1966, he was asked to join the Oak Ridge Boys, a gospel group which had been formed shortly after World War II.

In 1975, the Oaks crossed over from gospel to country/rock, and, after releasing Ya'll Come Back Saloon in 1977, they established themselves in the country music business.

They have won a string of impressive honors including Vocal Group of the Year from both the Country Music Association and the Academy of Country Music. They are title holders for Single of the Year, Album of the Year, and Country Music Group of the Year from every music trade publication.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

GENERAL ELECTION

NOVEMBER 5, 1985

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Sections 1 and 2 of House Joint Resolution 6 propose a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development bonds.

The additional bonds to be issued will be dedicated for deposit in the Texas Water Development Fund, with $190 million of those bond proceeds to be used for water supply loans and facilities acquisition and with $400 million of those bond proceeds to be used for state participation in the acquisition and development of facilities for storage, transmission, transportation, and treatment of water and wastewater. Of the remaining bonds authorized, $190 million will be dedicated for use in water quality enhancement projects, and $200 million will be dedicated exclusively for flood control projects.

The amendment would also allow the legislature to provide for the creation, administration, and implementation of a bond insurance program to which the state pledges up to $250 million of its general credit to insure payment of the principal of and interest on bonds or other obligations issued by political subdivisions of the state for water conservation, water development, water quality enhancement, flood control, drainage, recharge, chloride control or desalinization. Unless authorized to continue by a two-thirds vote of the members of each house of the Legislature, the bond insurance program will expire on the sixth anniversary of the date on which this section becomes a part of the constitution. Bond insurance issued before expiration of the program will not be affected by such expiration.

The amendment would authorize the legislature to create and appropriate money to special funds in the state treasury to make grants, loans, and other financial assistance available to governmental entities for certain enumerated water planning purposes. Also, the legislature would be permitted to extend the benefits of constitutionally approved water projects to nonprofit water supply corporations.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the issuance of an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development Bonds, to create special water funds for water conservation, water development, water quality enhancement, flood control, drainage, subsidence control, recharge, chloride control, agricultural soil and water conservation, and desalinization, to authorize a bond insurance program, and to clarify the purposes for which Texas Water Development Bonds may be issued."

My Dad

By Becky Martin

He used to walk the fields of cotton
Never thinking someday they'd be forgotten.
He used to haul those bales of hay
Hoping it would all be different someday.
Now Dad worked so hard and long
But Dad was sad and all alone.
So God sent a woman into his life
Of forty-two years, my Dad's wife.
From their love came a girl and boy
That made their hearts proud with joy.
Then came six little kids more
Not knowing it would be such a chore.
Now Mom and Dad had to work long and hard
For their little kids would have starved.
Now we're all bigger, older and grown
And Mom and Dad sit talking all alone.
Mom's doing what she came up knowing,
Cooking, cleaning, quilting and sewing.
And Dad thinks no one seems to care
As he sits watching from his wheel chair.
And he feels so useless as he sheds a tear
Cause he can't do the things he did in his younger year.
On January 5, my Dad took his life,
Left behind 8 children, a home and a wife.
But Dad's left us with years of smiles and joys
About the times when he was just a boy.
I wish there was an easy way
I could ease Mom's pain every day.
But now we just weep and wonder
And hope to see him in the blue yonder.
When he'll stand so big and bold
As he walks in the streets of purest gold.

"Wish Book" Fun For Today's Kids

It was with pleasure that I discovered today's youngsters still using the "wish books" as much as ever.

My seven year old nephew revealed this fact by calling me one night recently and proceeding to read, in lengthy detail, the description and price of every bee-bee gun listed in the catalogue. We went into shipping weight, expense and dimensions.

It brought back the hours I spent at his age diligently perusing every page of the Sears and Roebuck Christmas Catalogue.

Searching for Santa Claus gifts used to be a major thing. About this time every year the catalogues would arrive, and the reading lessons began.

Sometimes those gifts never arrived. I cannot recall ever being really disappointed when I didn't receive what I had written for, however.

A hobby horse was on my list for several years. I wanted one, either on the springs, or preferably, the exotic one where you moved your feet on the stirrups and the legs of the horse moved. I think anticipation of rollers grinding across the floor may have kept THAT gift from ever arriving.

One office employee wanted a train set. As the only child (a girl) she simply could see no reason not to receive that set, along with some high heeled shoes. She showed her parents every train set, but all to no avail.

Those wish books were calculated to drive a youngster to distraction. Instead of simply saying "I want a doll", the catalogue provided one with at least twenty or thirty different KINDS of dolls to choose from! Oh, that could be an awful decision to make.

Today's kids have the problem even greater. There are dozens upon dozens of different models and designs of toys to choose from.

The variety of figures, games, dolls and products is truly staggering. The advertising campaigns promoting those products are pretty staggering too.

But that doesn't mean much to a child, who simply gets pleasure from poring over the pages of the wish book for hours, trying to make up his mind what to ask for.

Most youngsters have a grip on reality, too. They know that Santa isn't going to spring for everything in the book. Nor is he going to bring the most expensive of everything. So they begin about now trying to pare the list down to within reason.

They spend a lot of time pestering moms and dads about which should they ask for. Do they think Santa would bring this and that and that? Well, if not, how about this one and that one? It takes a lot of time to get a Christmas wish list just right.

And, if it isn't time for Christmas, the arrival of those "wish books" starts the ball rolling, and by the time December arrives, those kids, just like yesterday's youngsters, will be ready, willing and able to announce just precisely what they want the jolly man in the red suit to bring.

But, when they are grown, if they are like me, they might find that it's the time spent looking that was special...most of the toys have actually faded from memory!

Texas Crime Rate Up From 1984

The crime rate and number of major crimes reported in Texas during the first half of 1985 increased, according to statistics furnished by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"Compared to the first six months of 1984, the crime rate for the first half of 1985 was up eight percent to 3,111.7 crimes per hundred thousand population," said Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director.

All major crime categories showed increases in the number of offenses reported.

Rape led the four violent crime categories, increasing 13.8 percent. Aggravated assault, murder and robbery were up 9.6 percent, 8.7 percent and 3.1 percent respectively.

"Motor vehicle thefts rose 12.4 percent," Adams pointed out. "Burglary increased 8.3 percent and theft was up 10.6 percent."

Of the total index crimes reported, 21 percent were cleared by arrests in the first half of 1985. The value of property stolen during the commission of the index crimes was estimated at over $85 million dollars, with approximately 230 million dollars in stolen property recovered by police.

"Two Texas law enforcement officers were killed in the line of duty by criminal action in the first six months of this year," Adams said. "Two officers lost their lives in duty-related accidents."

The DPS also said a total of 1,733 assaults on officers were reported. DWI arrests in the first half of 1985 were up 2.6 percent, totaling 68,717. Drug arrests increased 14.4 percent to 31,913.

The crime statistics were derived from reports submitted by 790 law enforcement agencies in the state.

Space Traveler

The spacecraft Pioneer 10 has traveled more than 3 1/2 billion miles since its launch in March 1972, reports National Geographic World.

'Greenhouse Effect'

Methane gas, a potential contributor to the "greenhouse effect," has been increasing in atmospheric concentration since 1977, according to researchers at the University of California, Irvine.

A team led by F. Sherwood Rowland, professor of atmospheric chemistry, has regularly collected air samples worldwide for nearly seven years and found an annual methane increase of 1.1 percent throughout the earth's troposphere, or lower atmosphere.

New 'Insanity' Plea Would Expel Experts

A way out of the maze of complex legal precedent and psychiatric confusion surrounding the insanity defense is offered by philosopher Herbert Fingarette of the University of California, Santa Barbara.

He would replace the traditional "not guilty by reason of insanity" plea with a legal concept based on community judgment, not that of experts.
