Two Escaped Convicts Charged In Friona Bank Robbery

Pair Captured At Ft. Worth After Battle

Two Men, Herbert Stanley And J. C. Britton, Identified By Bank Officials As Pair Who Robbed Bank, June 29

One Is Injured

Felons Had $624 In Currency And $330 In Express Checks When Captured After Chase By Tarrant Officers

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, July 6—Robbery with fire arms charges were brought today in Parmer county against Herbert Stanley and J. C. Britton, escaped convicts whose midnight pursuit by Fort Worth police ended when the felons car plunged over an embankment here. The chase was enlivened by sporadic gun fire from the fugitives.

The two men, who fled the Retrieve state prison farm June 13, were accused in complaints filed in Parwell of the daylight robbery of the Friona bank last Monday. In that holdup two men identified by persons in the bank who scanned photographs as Stanley and Britton obtained $2,914 in cash and express checks.

Had $624 In Cash

When apprehended here the men had $624 in currency and $330 in express company checks in their possession.

Sheriff Earl Rooth of Parmer county checked numbers on the express checks with Police Captain A. E. Dowell and they tallied, police here reported.

The Panhandle sheriff made a request to state penitentiary authorities for custody of the men and announced that District Judge Roscoe Tatum would convene a grand jury session Monday to investigate the cases.

Identify Photographs

The sheriff said Charles McLain, cashier in the Friona bank, Mrs. McLain, the assistant cashier, Miss Orona White, the bank's bookkeeper and Hugh Lee, a farmer customer who witnessed the holdup would be called to testify. These four people, the sheriff said, identified Stanley and Britton's photo-

G.O.P. Support Is Pledged By Borah

"Lion Of Idaho" Says He Has No Intention Of Bolting Party; To Seek Post Again

(By The Associated Press)

BOISE, Idaho, July 6—Senator William E. Borah pledged his allegiance today to the Republican ticket and platform.

"I have no intention of bolting the ticket," said the veteran Republican, adding:

"I am supporting the platform and I have been supporting the platform from the beginning."

Thus, in a long-awaited clarification, Borah removed the expressed doubts of many leaders from Boise to Washington regarding his stand in the campaign.

At Topeka, Kas., Republican Presidential Nominee Alf M. Landon smiled. "I am happy," he said "to have the cooperation of Senator Borah in this campaign."

Borah still withheld definite announcement of his intentions regarding seeking a sixth term—but he did not deny a friend's flat statement that he will run again.

The friend, W. Scott Hall of Malad, Idaho, a follower of the "Lion of Idaho" for 25 years, said after a conference:

"I am convinced Senator Borah will be a candidate for reelection."

Reforms Are Advocated For Texas Courts

Governor Allred, Speaking In Texas Bar Association Session, Proposes Changes In Texas Judicial System

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, July 6.—Court reforms that he said would increase efficiency of criminal prosecutions without invading the constitutional rights of the people were advocated by Gov. James V. Allred today in an address before the Texas Bar association convention here.

Additional authority for trial judges in handling severance demands for two or more defendants who are charged jointly, amendment of the law on special venires to prevent reversals on technical points that do no thave important bearing on cases, changes in maximum and minimum punishments as fixed by statutes to give trial judges more authority and curtailment of the pardoning power of the governor were among reforms urged.

Advocates Economy Move

He also advocated a law authorizing the Supreme court to send copies of mandates to the penitentiary so condemned men may be finally sentenced there to save the expense of transferring them back to the trial court for that formality.

Lawyers generally and judges in particular were hailed as defenders of liberty in an address by Associate Justice John H. Sharp, of the Texas Supreme court, at a luncheon honoring the judiciary.

Leaders In Japan Uprising Must Die

TOKYO, July 7, (Tuesday) (AP)—Seventeen leaders of Japan's bloody February coup were condemned to speedy death today by a high military court.

There is no appeal, hence the seventeen, two of them captains in the emperor's proud army, probably will be shot within a matter of days.

With the powerful war minister, General Count Juichi Terauchi, presiding, the court also handed down sentences of life imprisonment for five conspirators and ordered prison terms ranging from 18 months to 15 years for 44 non-commissioned officers and eight civilians. Sentences of 27 lesser offenders were suspended.

NEW YORK, July 6 —(AP)—The Texas company today announced it is installing additional equipment in its Paducah, Texas, refinery which, when completed, will double its capacity from 5,000 to 10,000 barrels a day.

The company also will build a pipe line from the plant to the electric power station of West Texas Utilities Co., near Quanah, to supply the latter with residue for fuel.

Operators Win First Skirmish; Guards Commissioned

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, July 6—Every policeman in this city of 300,000 was on duty tonight as 100 taxicabs plied over heavily guarded routes in the face of muttered threats from 400 striking taxicab drivers.

Operators won the first skirmish with strikers when on third of the city's cabs were brought from storage where they had been idle for seven days. Each cab bore a special armed guard.

Strikers Loose Boos

Hundreds of strikers and sympathizers crowded about the doors of two garages from which the taxis were brought. Dispersed from the sidewalks by cordons of police they loosed chorusses of "rat," and "scab," as each car made its appearance.

Companies attempted to begin service earlier in the day and were forced to abandon plans when a near riot insued. Four men were injured, one knocked down by a cab as it left the garage.

Plan Stated Routes

Owners planned to operate over stated routes between the union terminal, hotels and Texas Centennial Central exposition grounds. Police on motorcycles and in automobiles patroled the streets.

Strikers, gathering in small groups on the street corners openly threatened violence against drivers.

Officers said they expected no trouble at concentration points, but expressed a fear that any cab caught alone might have difficulty.

Little Hope Held For Siamese Twin

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., July 6—(AP)—Dr. J. B. Rogers said today he holds little hope of saving the life of a twin girl whose sister lived but fifteen minutes after they born with a bone fusion at the base of the brain.

Dr. Rogers said he considered an operation to save the life of the surviving baby would be futile.

Midwest Area Suffers From Intense Heat

Dry Spell Scores New Inroads And Monetary Destruction Is Estimated Past Quarter Billion Mark In Area

No Relief In Sight

Heat Records Of Many Years Are Shattered; North Dakota Town Registers 119 Degrees On Monday

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 6 — The tempo of drouth's wide sweeping drama quickened today as 100-110 degree heat beat mercilessly down for the fourth straight day over much of the Midwest.

The general weather bureau office at Washington said no rain was in sight for the grain states for another 36 hours after three days of what it termed the most trying and damaging period of the drouth so far.

With its monetary destruction already figured past the quarter billion dollar mark, the dry spell scored new inroads and the Illinois authorities declared rains this week were badly needed by the all important corn crop if serious injury were to be averted.

Heat records of many years standing were melted down today. The first detachment of more than 2,000 North Dakota farmers grabbing at WPA jobs to sustain their families went to work in temperatures the highest of the year in many places.

Reaches 119 Degrees

Most of North Dakota was intensley hot with Fort Yates in Sioux county recording an official 119 degrees.

Temperatures only one degree lower were recorded in Napoleon and Jamestown, both deep in the state's drouth zone.

Highways were reported "blowing up" in parts of Illinois where 100 degree heat was general outside Chicago.

Weather bureau forecasting said it was likely new seasonal highs for much of the heat belt would be recorded. Yesterday a new all time high of 119 was reached for the vicinity of Kennebec, S. D.

Final And Unceremonious Burial Is Arranged For Action By League Of Nations In Session On Monday

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, July 6—The League of Nations arranged a final and unceremonious burial today for sanctions, the last hope of conquered Ethiopia.

By unanimous vote, Geneva's coordinating committee set July 15 as the date on which the powers may formally suspend the financial and economic measures they adopted against Italy in a vain attempt to stop the African war.

"Already Dead"

"What difference does it make? Sanctions are already dead," exclaimed the Peruvian delegate, Dr. Francisco Tudela y Varela, to cut short an argument on the date of the suspension.

The league assembly has yet to ratify the committee's decision.

Before the coordinating group voted, the members were told by Augusto Vasconcellos of Portugal,

Sally Rand Thinks The Dance Of Grape Will Be Next But She Won't Try Stunt

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 6.—Sally Rand, the Missouri girl who made the public fan-dance conscious and then developed a bubble dance, thinks the dance of a grape will be next.

Visiting the governor's office today, someone asked Miss Rand, who will be an attraction at Billy Rose's Frontier Centennial in Fort Worth, what she thought of the apple dance feature of the Centennial Central exposition at Dallas.

"When I started my bubble dance, I said someone would eventually get that bubble down to a grape. Now they've got it down to an apple and I guess the grape is next," she said.

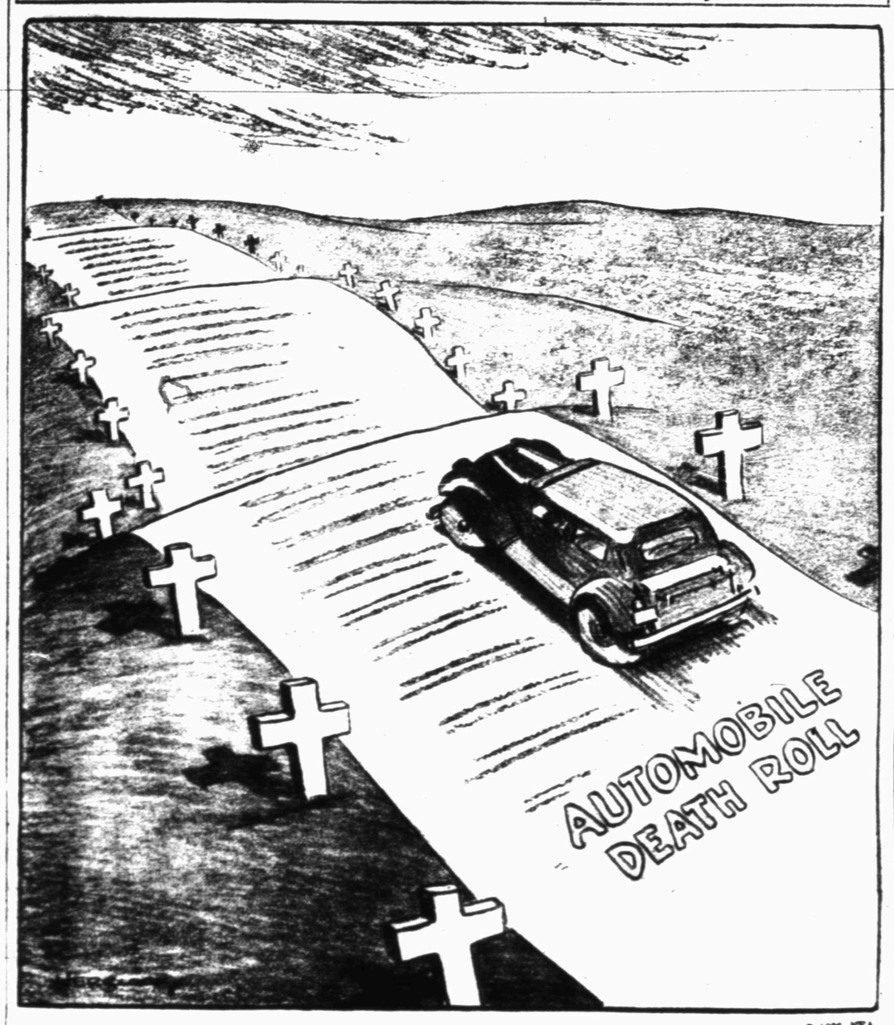

An inquiring look passed over the face of Ed Clark, secretary to Governor James V. Allred.

"No, no," said Sally, "I shan't dance behind a grape."

Miss Rand's day of sightseeing in Austin encompassed a telephone conversation with the governor from the chief executive's office, a chat with Mrs. Miram A. Ferguson, the former

Beer May Be Sold In Drug Stores In Dry Territory Under Prescription, Is Ruling Of Assistant Attorney General

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 6.—The attorney general's department has ruled that beer containing more than 4 per cent alcohol by weight may be sold by drug stores in dry territory under a doctor's prescription.

Leon O. Moses, assistant attorney general, said that he prepared the opinion at the request of the liquor control board.

Authorized To Sell It

Moses said that Texas statutes defined liquor as being any beverage containing more than 4 per cent alcohol and authorized drug stores to sell liquor for medicinal purposes on a doctor's prescription.

"It is my opinion," he stated, that it is legitimate for a physician to prescribe beer and wine and for retail druggists and pharmacists holding medicinal permits to sell

Expect Farley's Resignation Today

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP) — After a two-hour discussion of campaign plans with President Roosevelt, James A. Farley said today the chief executive probably would announce tomorrow whether Farley was to resign as postmaster general or take a leave of absence to conduct the Roosevelt re-election drive as chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Officials indicated that Farley would be given a leave without pay in accordance with his own wishes and that William W. Howes, first assistant postmaster general, would take charge of the department, at least until after the November election.

Farley's luncheon conference with the president was held soon after the president returned from a weekend trip into Virginia.

Father Saves Child's Life

Coolness And Quick-Thinking Of W. H. Wright In Administering Respiration Saves Boy From Drowning

A father's coolness and resourcefulness early Monday night saved his 18-months old son from drowning.

W. H. Wright of 2223 Sixteenth street, manager of the Burrus elevator, was asked by Mrs. Wright a few minutes after 7 o'clock where W. H. Jr. was.

Without stopping to search the house, the father ran into his yard and to a fish pond. Only the child's feet could be seen in the 20 inches of water, his head having sunk.

Administers Respiration

Wright jumped into the pool, dragged the child out and began administering artificial respiration.

He was not a moment too soon. The child's face was blue and, for approximately two minutes, the father could detect no sign of life. Continued efforts, however, brought gasping, then vomiting, then the child began crying.

An ambulance was summoned,

Total Of 254 Killed On Highways; 104 Are Drowned

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—The double holiday of July Fourth was celebrated by the nation at a cost of 444 lives, revised fatality figures tonight disclosed.

The list was the second longest for the country's holidays in nine years and exceeded only by the 483 of 1931 for the past six years. In 1931 as this year was a two day holiday period.

Motor Accidents Lead

With millions of cars on the highways, motor vehicle accidents led all other causes of accidental death with a 254 aggregation. Drownings numbered 104. Various other accidents contributed the remainder.

Fireworks were responsible for seven deaths despite reports indicating a big scale revival of this traditional feature of independence day. The same number were killed from this cause in 1935, 1933 and 1929.

Comparing death totals for the past several years, officials of the National Safety council were inclined to credit this year with a fair showing. Deaths totals in 1925 were

Man Who Spied On U. S. Fleet For Jap Silver Is Sentenced To Fifteen Years

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, July 6. — Harry Thomas Thompson, who spied on the American fleet for a handful of Japanese dollars, became a man without a country today.

He was sentenced to 15 years in federal prison for selling secret navy information to a lieutenant commander in the imperial Japanese navy. Thompson, a 30-year-old former petty officer of the fleet, was America's first convicted peacetime spy.

And Judge Leon R. Yankwich, who levied the penalty, said he was the first American to be convicted under the spy-law written in 1917 during World war days. Had this country been in a state of war when he committed his offenses, he would have died before a firing squad.

The courtroom was jammed. A dozen other prisoners, also awaiting sentence, drew scornfully away from Thompson as he was brought in and placed

Most of the rain was reported in north half of the state and in the western portion of the southern half.

Mrs. C. F. Litton Is Re-Elected President Of First Baptist Women's Society

The Woman's Angle

BY MARGARET TURNER
Woman's Editor

WE are listed in that vast multitude of West Texans whose spirits are low when the weather is gloomy even if it does mean money for the farmers and, subsequently, for us. Monday was indeed gloomy; we were missing our capable assistant, Evelyn Babb, who is now Evelyn Boyd and honeymooning in delightful Colorado.

There were two bright spots in an otherwise dark day. Everetta Love came by to tell us all we desired about our secret crush, Robert Taylor, and The Plainsman answered one hundred rapid questions about New York.

LUCKY MISS LOVE!

MISS LOVE, as Ripley's press representative, had flown down from New York to help make arrangements for his entertainment and for Ripley day held at the Central Centennial exposition. Standing with Mayor George Sergeant Thursday waiting for her employer, she was asked to go with him to meet that young man of the hour for thousands of women, Robert Taylor. Well, girls, she says he is better looking in person than on the screen, although she doesn't fall for juvenile play boys.

Says Miss Love, "I like men about ten or 15 years older than I." Thinks we, "If they are that much older than this writer they have already lost their teeth and are beginning to lose their hair. Give us the younger ones."

SLIGHT CONFUSION

ANYWAY two things happened at Dallas concerning the Roberts that amused Everetta. In the first place the famous Believe It Or Not man had never heard of the movie star until he got to Dallas (He doesn't attend the movies often) and in the second place they were at dinner at the same place and R. T. came very near taking a bow intended for R. R., following a most enthusiastic introduction about "a man who is known everywhere, one who has made a name for himself within a short time" and so on.

Ripley is a splendid person to work for, his press agent believes. He gave her credit for his visit to the exposition, since he is naturally a bit tired of such shows. He was thoroughly sold on the attractions, however, believing that they exceeded those at the world's fair in Chicago.

HE LIKES YOUNGSTERS

THE millionaire cartoonist is very fond of children. Everetta said and being named their favorite by several thousand American boys touched him deeply. He was ganged by boys everywhere he went during his visit to Dallas. During open house held at the Odditorium Friday he was interviewed over a loud speaker by Andrew DeShong and at the conclusion listeners were given an opportunity to ask questions. But first, let it be known that the group was told Ripley became a cartoonist after having broken his arm while pitching a game for the New York Giants.

The time for questions came and there followed a dead silence until a small boy piped shrilly, "Say Mister Ripley, how far didja throw that ball the time you broke your arm?"

SCATTERINGS

FRANK DECATUR, dietitian and cook who recently closed a cooking school in Clovis, N. M., claims that he has never had a cake failure. That places him in the ranks of genius . . . The El Paso Times runs a column of everyday Spanish for benefit of residents of the border city who deal with the Mejicanos . . . Personal nomination for a beautiful baby: Tony Powers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bailey Powers. She has red-gold hair and dark brown eyes and a tiny straight nose, the latter inherited from her father who is one-eighth Indian . . . Mrs. Vic Lamb, wife of the editor of the Hale Center American, one of the winners in a recent essay contest sponsored by a soap manufacturing company, will receive a RCA Victor radio as award. It's one of those 1927 metal tube machines with short wave and everything. Mrs. Lamb has won three other national contests so it wasn't so hard for her to take . . . Nothing more depressing after a holiday than to read the list of casualties. Doesn't that present a more serious problem than who will be the next president?

IN THE MAIL

FROM Chicago comes a post card from Mrs. R. M. Chitwood, who was en route to Michigan to spend a fortnight with relatives. The weather is cool and wet she said. Perral Roark sent a post card showing Judge Roy Bean's saloon and hall of justice with the famous judge sitting on the porch trying a horse thief.

If you would hear of the judge first hand, corner H. T. Kimbro sometime when he is making one of his frequent visits.

Baseball's Big Boys Lined Up For 4th Dream Game At Boston Park Today

Bob Grove And Dizzy Dean To Start On Hill

American Leaguers Installed As 11 To 10 Favorites For Fourth Straight Win, But Manager Grimm Says Nay

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON, July 6. — Baseball's dream game, nothing but a horrible nightmare to the proud National League since it began three years ago, comes true again tomorrow with the diamond's shooting stars clustered about to wage a dramatic thriller before an anticipated sell-out throng of 42,000 at Boston National League park.

Embarrassed, ridiculed and defeated in every one of the three previous all-star encounters, the National League forces, headed by Charlie Grimm of the championship Cubs and fortified with several hustling freshmen, were in a belligerent mood as they awaited the call to battle at 12:30 p. m., eastern standard time.

TO WASHINGTON NEXT
BOSTON, July 6. (AP)—American and National baseball league executives, meeting in joint session on the eve of tomorrow's all-star game here, awarded the 1937 all-star baseball game to Washington today.

To Shoot Works

"It may not be fair to say we haven't tried our best to win these All-Star games in the past," retorted Manager Grimm, "but I am confident we're going to have something sweet to dream about after this dream game tomorrow night. This all-star game started out to be an exhibition, but it's serious business now with all of us. We're out to win and we'll shoot the works all the way."

Joe McCarthy, pilot of the fast flying New York Yankees and manager of the American League all-stars, left all the pre-battle statements to Grimm. Manse Joe sent word he didn't plan to arrive in Boston until tomorrow morning sometime and that anyway, he wouldn't announce his lineup until almost game time.

Except for the information that Vernon Kennedy, star young right hander for the Chicago White Sox, had replaced Tommy Bridges of Detroit on his mound staff, McCarthy sent no news to Boston where the fans were all excited and ready for the big game. Illness forced Bridges out.

Many Substitutions

The best prevailing guess was that the Americans would put this starting lineup on the field: Appling, Chicago, ss; Gehringer, Detroit, second base; DiMaggio, New York, right field; Gehrig, New York, first base; Averill, Cleveland, center field; Dickey, New York, catcher; Selkirk, New York, left field; Higgins, Philadelphia, third base, and Lefty Grove, Boston, pitcher.

Gehringer and Higgins were almost sure to play the full game at their respective positions with frequent substitutions at other points. Jimmy Foxx, home run king of the Red Sox who played third base last year, will alternate with Gehrig at first, and Frank Crosetti of the Yankees is set to replace Appling at short.

Following Grove, in order of expected mound duty, were Schoolboy Rowe, Detroit, and Kennedy. Barring unexpected shelling, neither Monte Pearson and Lefty Gomez of New York or Mell Harder of Cleveland were expected to be called, because of recent heavy duty.

Hubbell And Davis

Grimm's idea was to send a fast defensive team on the field on the theory that the National League couldn't hope to cope with the heavy hitting man for man, of the American Leaguers. It was regarded as certain that Dizzy Dean of the St. Louis Gas House gang would be in there early, with Carl Hubbell, hero of the 1934 game, and Curt Davis of the Cubs to back him up.

Assuming that the American League forces would open with a left hander, Manager Grimm tonight announced his starting lineup as:

Galan, Chicago, cf; Herman, Chicago, 2b; J. Collins, St. Louis, 1b; Medwick, St. Louis, lf; Demaree, Chicago, rf; Hartnett, Chicago, c; Whitney, Philadelphia, 3b; Durocher, St. Louis, ss.

If a righthander starts for the American League, J. Moore of the Giants will replace Galan, Gus Suhr of the Pirates will play first base, Mel Ott of the Giants right field, Lew Riggs of Cincinnati third base, and Arky Vaughan of Pittsburgh shortstop.

Dean and Davis will work in that order on the mound.

Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis will go over the special rules with the rival All-Star managers tomorrow, when ideal baseball weather is expected. Under one new rule, no pitcher will be permitted to hurl more than three innings. The new rule was invoked because of the protests made last year by the National Leaguers after Gomez and Harder had pitched all but one inning.

Umpires To Rotate

Commissioner Landis also conferred with the umpires. At the start of the game the umpiring lineup will be: Reardon, National League, at plate; Summers, American League, at first; Stewart, National League, at second, and Kolls, American League, at third. After 4 1-2 innings, the umpires will be shifted one space, counter-clockwise, putting Kolls behind the plate. The Americans will bat first.

Reports of betting tonight had the Americans an 11 to 10 favorite to make it four straight, but no men with such odds could be found, giving the impression that it was even money all around. In case of unfavorable weather, the classic will be put over until 10 a. m. (e.s.t.) Wednesday.

Malcolm "Moon" Martin, Grid Star Of Lubbock High And Tech, Is Named Assistant Mentor At Mineola High

MALCOLM MARTIN

Another "home town gridder makes good" in the job-getting business.

This time he is Malcolm "Moon" Martin, who at one time claimed Lorenzo as his home town, but who attended high school at Lubbock and sought higher education at Texas Tech—much to the delight of football fans and coaches of both institutions.

Malcolm, who played his senior year as regular end and captain of the Texas Tech team in 1934, yesterday was informed by Superintendent Copass of Mineola High school that he had been elected instructor in the business department and assistant football coach at that institution. Martin had turned down previous offers of jobs, his eye set on the Mineola post. He reports in September.

The dead-panned star of Westerner lines through 1930, Martin entered Tech the following year, after making several all-state selections, and has been prominent in Tech football since. His work as captain and end on the 1934 team brought him a try-out contract with the New York Giants of the professional league, and he reported, showed the same old fire and spirit in his pro workouts that he did in high school and college, but his size, or lack of it, was a handicap, and he was not encouraged to stay. He never weighed over 170 pounds at any time, which is light for anybody a wingman.

Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith never had anything but praise for Martin, his spirit and his work, and they were highly gratified over his appointment.

Taylor's Tahoka Team Is 'Het Up'

TAHOKA, July 6. (Special)—The old Tahoka baseball spirit is steaming again, and Skipper Skip Taylor challenges any team on the Plains to try to stop the steam from steaming.

Manager Taylor's direct challenge is hurled at the Lubbock Hub Clothiers, "who seem to be afraid of us one minute and inconsiderate of our ability the next," the Skipper said. "But we'll play 'em anywhere, any time, winner take all and the devil take the hindmost."

Them's strong words, but the Skipper means 'em. He wants games with other clubs, too, and invites communication. He speaks favorably of entering the Lubbock invitation tournament, which starts July 26, and hopes, if he does, that all his old rivals are in Lubbock to oppose him.

Taylor's team has done well this season, twice defeating the strong young Wilson club. Last time was Saturday, when the Veteran Tahokans spoiled a holiday celebration at Wilson by taking a close 7-4 victory. Winning pitcher was the well known Blue-Eyes Graham. Tahoka has split with the Hobbs Oilers, winning one and losing one.

Tip-Top Cafe, Hardwaremen Take Softball Battles In Lubbock League Yesterday

Five home runs coupled with a disparity of hits allowed their opponents by "Lefty" Sollis gave Tip Top cafe a 16 to 5 free-scoring softball melee win Monday afternon over Southern Auto stores.

Cleavinger, Loesel, Liston, J. Smith, Sollis and Spruiell connected for the circuit. Only Cody and Burford of the losers managed to hit safely.

By innings:

Tip Top	2	0	1	2	8	0	3	16	12	5
Southern Auto	0	0	0	3	2	0	—	5	2	5

Sollis and Williams; Cauble, Scott and Privett.

RAY'S GROCERY LOSES

Playing errorless ball afield, despite slippery ground, smashing out 16 hits themselves and taking advantage of three errors and eight walks allowed by their opponents, Terry & Childress hardware store's softballers Monday afternoon shut out Ray's Grocery 19-0 in a game at Twenty-third street and Avenue K.

Elliott, winning pitcher, allowed five hits, but kept them well distributed. Only once was he nicked for an extra-base blow, Pilkington doubling.

Terry & Childress	19	16	0
Ray's Grocery	0	5	3

Elliott and L. Branch; Webster and Smith.

LOSE AT BIG SPRING

Despite their conscripted mound ace Richard Godeke having given up but three hits, the Terry & Childress team dropped a 5 to 0 softball game to the Cosden Oilers at Big Spring July 4. Another Cosden entry, from the laboratory department, went on to win a several-clubs tourney.

Godeke got into trouble through early issuance of five walks and through failure of his mates to support him. Four errors were chalked up. The Oilers scored four of their runs in the initial frame of a game that was completed in the fast time of 35 minutes.

Thirty Chinese athletic directors will accompany that country's Olympic team to Berlin.

Edgar Doherty Shoots Hot Golf To Win Flag Tourney At Meadowbrook

Edgar "Red" Doherty, popular college golfer and Meadowbrook champion shot himself a hot round of golf Sunday to win the Meadowbrook's flag tournament championship.

It was a handicap tournament, each player adding his handicap to par for 18 holes and starting out, quitting as soon as his total stroke-age was used.

Doherty took an even nothing as his handicap, and when he had slammed the ball 70 times, which is par, he had holed out on the 20th green.

After the regulation 18 holes, he had strokes to spare, started over and his 70th stroke was a putt that went down, one hole farther than Jack Trammel, who with an 8-stroke handicap finished 19 holes.

Trammel took second place, and Jim Shaw, with a 15-stroke handicap, was third, finishing just short of the 19th green in a trap.

Thirty-one golfers entered, but only half of them finished, due to the heavy afternoon showers.

Fred Marberry Is Doing Very OK, Thank You

Big Firpo Finds Texas Loop Ball Is A Little Slicker Than In Big Show, And He Is Heaving It Up There

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, July 6. (AP)—Fred Firpo Marberry, giant Texas farmer who spent a dozen years on major league pitcher's mounds, is back in the small time just 60 miles from his black land farm—but still winning ball games.

The great relief hurler, turned down by a major league club after a brief peep in the spring—as a starting, and finishing, pitching mainstay of the league-leading Dallas Steers of the Texas League.

Twice the raw-boned Texan, now almost 37, has stepped to the hill for the Steers. Twice he has come off with victories, in his first start the first minor league assignment since 1923. "Firpo" handcuffed the Galveston Pirates with five hits and came off a 5-1 winner. An error let in Galveston's lone run.

Arms In Shape

Marberry, the fellow local betting houses wagered at 8-5 odds could not finish his bush league comeback, allowed not a single earned run.

"My arm's in great shape," he grinned after the game. "The club want to give me a chance up there in the majors, so I figured I'd come back to Texas and catch on here."

He "caught on" perfectly. The fans cheered his every pitch.

"Guess the ball is just a little slicker down here than it is in the majors," he grinned after the last pitch.

Yesterday he knocked off the Oklahoma City Indians. Dixie champoins, in his second start. He tried a little in the ninth frame and had to be replaced, but it was his victory.

Marberry left his Streetman, Texas, farm and birthplace in 1922 to join up with Mexia in the old Texas-Oklahoma league. His start was anything but auspicious. He won seven and lost 11 that year. He went to Little Rock the following year and soon was off to Washington in the American League.

Umpiring Too Lonesome

A ten-year turn with the Senators and then Bucky Harris, who left Washington for Detroit, brought him there as a relief hurler.

"Firpo," the gangling six foot two inch pitching machine, did his relief work well, but in 1935 decided to don a blue serge suit and try a hand at umpiring. One season in the American League was enough.

This spring the urge to chunk baseballs, not watch them cross the plate, seized him again. He started with New York's Giants, shifted over to Washington after his departure there, and then came "on back home", of his own accord after pitching a few games with the Washington Senators.

Marberry, whose major league victories far outweigh his defeats, had to convince Dallas clubowners his arm was still there. For a week before contracts were signed he worked in the bullpen. His huge left foot still flew above his head, his delivery was still confusing to batters and his control amazingly good. He got his contract and he's making good.

Alton Terry Leaves For New York And Olympic Tryouts

ABILENE, July 6.—Alton Terry, Hardin-Simmons junior and holder of the American record in Javelin throw, left Abilene this morning for New York where he will compete in the final Olympic tryouts.

Terry tossed the spear 226 feet in the National intercollegiate meet at Chicago to break his own American record.

Amherst Defeats Friona Nine, 5-1

AMHERST, July 6. (Special)—Another masterful pitching exhibition by Lefty Gault Hambright, towering, one-handed chunker featured Sunday's baseball here as Amherst defeated a strong Friona team, 5 to 1, before a large crowd.

Hambright gave up three hits, two of them by Leah of Friona, which accounted for Friona's lone run in the seventh inning, and struck out 16 batsmen, seven of them consecutively to start the second inning. At that, he barely got the best of Minyard, the Friona pitcher, who gave up but four hits and whiffed a dozen batsmen. Three runs Amherst scored in the third inning were results of errors committed by Friona when a lusty sandstorm blew across the field, making fair play almost impossible.

Two Days Remain For Women Golfers To Qualify For Lubbock City Open

Only one more day of practice remains before women golfers of Lubbock must buckle down to the serious job of qualifying for the annual women's City Open tournament.

It is hoped that all linkswomen of the city, novice or expert, will qualify for the tournament, match play which begins Thursday. Wednesday is the last day 18-hole qualifying scores may be turned in. There will be flights for every type of player, the good and the duffer.

Pairings or first round matches will be announced Wednesday evening when, after qualifying has finished at Meadowbrook, the field and its friends move to the Lubbock Country clubhouse for the customary Calcutta pool. Eight o'clock is announced as the starting time for the pool doings.

The Women's City Open title is vacant, Mrs. Sam Edmisson winner last year having relinquished the championship.

Mackey Meets Louisiana Ace

The Cyclone Blows Into Town Wednesday Night For Bout With Hagen; Detton Meets Lipscomb In Main

Another well-balanced, variety-crammed wrestling show is docketed for the Auditorium Wednesday night, each of the three matches featuring the return of popular grapplers who have been doing their stuff in other parts recently.

The semi-final engagement between Cyclone Mackey and Jack Hagen may not be the high-light of the evening's entertainment, but it will be a wrestling match. Mackey, former Clovis, N. M. boy and now a celebrated veteran anywhere he goes, pays a visit and hopes to make up for failure to pay two other visits scheduled for him.

It'll Be Wrestling

The dark-skinned Mackey, a whirlwind on the mat and a clever wrestler with all his speed and spirit, meets Shreveport's most glittering contribution to the middleweight mat business, young Jack Hagen. "The Haig" has showed in three recent performances an ability to wrestle, although he was given little opportunity to wrestle; his opponents have been wild men to whom wrestling is just another word for legalized mayhem and manslaughter. He has fought Buck Lipscomb twice, staying right up with that fierce little Hoosier, and he gave Sailor Watkins a few pointers week before last.

He Sharman, still another of the brute tribe, comes back to the circuit after a short layoff, most of which was spent recovering from a bad beating dished out in the local arena by Dale Haddock, and followed up by another Sharman will poke fists at the aging Ernie Arthur in the curtain raiser.

Detton Home Again

Dory Detton comes home and starts right out in a main event performance. In Mexico for the past two months, Detton has sent word ahead that he is ready for all comers, and the rougher they are the better. This is strange coming from Detton, who never sent out challenges like that but always took opponents in stride, never backing off, but preferring to wrestle clean.

He won't be doing much clean wrestling tomorrow night, for his opponent is Buck Lipscomb, already well known here and about. It'll be a battle and a brawl from the start, with Detton probably emerging top hand because of his greater knowledge of the game's fundamentals.

Twelve Absentee Votes Are Cast In Lubbock On Monday

An even dozen absentee votes had been filed for the July 25 primary election, at the office of the county clerk, at closing time Monday, first day for casting such ballots.

The votes were by persons who will be out of the county the day of the election, and will be permitted through July 22. One hundred 21 applications for voting absentee had been requested by that morning, Ed D. Allen, county clerk, said. Most of that number requested the ballot be mailed them.

First day for absentee voting by persons within their county of residence who will be unable to go to the primary polls will start Friday.

OUTSIDER WINS TOURNEY

LONGVIEW, July 6. (AP) — Fred Barnes of Denton, whom officials overlooked in the seeding, defeated Arch Holder of Tyler, 5-7, 6-0, 7-5, 6-0, to win the East Texas tennis tournament here today. Holder was seeded third.

Workers Taken Off WPA Rolls

Four hundred seventeen persons have been cancelled from the list of eligible WPA workers because of a recertification, Miss Adeline Ziegenhals, official in the district division of employment, said today.

Most of the number had either found agricultural or other private employment or had moved outside the district of 15 counties, Miss Ziegenhals stated. The cancellations reduced the eligible WPA workers to a total of 4,883.

Names Taken Off

Notification is being sent from the district office to those persons now at work on a project whose financial record reflects an income above minimum budget requirements that their names are being taken off the employment rolls, the official announced, and such persons are being requested to write the district office here "if the person felt his case had not been handled right."

The recertification was conducted by project superintendents for those persons working on WPA projects last month, and by district officials for those persons eligible but not employed on a WPA project, who were interviewed June 10 through 17 at various centers in the 15 counties.

CLARKSVILLE MAN DIES

CLARKSVILLE, July 6. (AP)—M. L. Sims, 64, vice-president of the Red River National bank, and head of the Clarksville Cotton Oil company, who died in a Dallas hotel yesterday of a heart attack, was buried here today.

Sims, with his wife and son, was visiting the Centennial when he became ill.

Florence Nightingale, ideal of the nursing profession, had a dog as her first patient.

British Speed Merchant Sets New Mile Pace

Capt. George Eyston Breaks Own Record With Speed Of 162 Miles Per Hour Over Utah Salt Flats

BOONEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, July 6. (AP)—Capt. George Eyston, leading another English charge on motor car speed and endurance marks, smashed one of his own today as his low-slung racer hurdled to a new record of 162.529 for a one-mile dash.

The old record was 159.3022 miles. The tanned, tight-lipped Briton set it a year ago on this same glistening white expanse of salt 110 miles west of salt lake city.

Tomorrow weather willing, Eyston plans to roll out his 12-cylinder, shark-nosed "Speed of the Winds" again for an attack on other marks—perhaps his 24-hour endurance record of 140.5 miles an hour.

The captain made one 10-mile circular track. Campbell's great time was made down a five-straight line.

Muleshoe Defeats Sudan Club, 10-5

MULESHOE, July 6. (Special)—Manager D. O. Smith's Muleshoe baseball boys, visitors to the town's big celebration, "something to look at this afternoon when it defeated the Sudan team, 10 to 5 in a hoiday tilt.

The town was jammed with approximately 5,000 persons here for the trades day, and most of them found the way at one time or another to the ball park.

Lumpkin pitched nice baseball for Muleshoe, and got swell support from his mates both at field, and at bat. It was a snappy game, with C. Nall doing a fair job of chunking for the losing side.

The Muleshoe team received the plaudits of a Lubbock crowd Saturday in its Fourth of July game with the Lubbock Hub Clothiers. Although the Muleshoe men lost when Lubbock bats began to crack in the closing innings, for more than two third of the time it was a snappy contest, with Muleshoe ahead, 3-2.

It is not the intention to cast reflection upon the character of anyone knowingly, and if through error we should, the management will appreciate having our attention called to same and will gladly correct any erroneous statement made.

An Independent Democratic newspaper supporting in its editorial columns the principles which it believes to be right and opposing those questions which it believes to be wrong, regardless of party politics; publishing the news fairly and impartially at all times.

Cattle, Wire And People

OLD timers of West Texas, whose memory easily grasps dates when the first drift fences were constructed along the Pecos, possibly do not remember one fantastic experiment evolved near Amarillo by several members of the British parliament and who were joint owners of the LX ranch syndicate.

Humane out of proportion to sound business judgment, the Britons decided to charge with electricity straight-drawn wire on their fences, rather than string cruel barbed wire barriers.

The first test was tried in one of the canyons where the electricity could be generated by running water. Only a short fence was used, and the plan appeared to be a success. Members of the concern, convinced they had outmoded the barbarian methods of keeping their beef within bounds, tried a more extensive scale. They began generating current with coal and wood.

Failure resulted. The cattle, instead of reacting to the current as expected, more often bolted through the wire than away from it. The costs of keeping two electricians constantly mending the wires proved more than the $25 a month line riders.

Thus, the plan for revolutionizing fencing in the Texas Panhandle ended with the promoters much in the red.

Other revolutions have failed for no more reason. The great downtrodden mass, unused to scientific conception, many times has defeated its own ends and those of the few seeking to alleviate social injustice—and has stamped straight, rather than from, protective restraint imposed for its own good.

DIONNES AND CHILDREN

Papa and Mama Olivia Dionne expect a baby. A great news service says so.

But so do many other families. What is the differen, eh?

Papa and Mama are parents of the world's only living quintuplets. They have been the center of an interested world since that important night when five storks flew.

It is to be expected, however, that Mama will not be so excited over the new arrival as she was when she figuratively counted on her fingers May 28, 1934.

Babies are no novelty in the Dionne household. Mrs. Dionne is the mother of 10 children, including the quints.

WITH OUR CONTEMPORARIES

"It's all right to hitch your wagon to a star," says Pessimism Pete, just after reading an exchange, "but the question now is—where can a fellow park an automobile." J. C. Smythe remarks in the Scurry County Times.

"Where will Littlefield be commercially, economically and socially, three, five, or ten years from this time?" asks old Morley Drake, the thinking questioner in the Lamb County Leader. "We can be just where we are today, we can be in a worse position than at the present time, or we can have made the kind of progress that warrants the citizenship in proudly stating: 'We are citizens of Littlefield; come out and see us some time, you'll like our city.'"

"Some Muleshoe men are good at working crossword puzzles, while there are others that work for one and still others that work for one and still others that have married one," Jess Mitchell says in the Muleshoe Journal.

"Our opinion is that if static is to be abolished most of the politicians must be barred from the microphone," W. D. Starcher opines in the Dickens County Times.

"Opening of two federal reclamation projects in Oregon to homesteading revives in a small way an aspect of the old frontier," says Eddie Warren in the Post Dispatch. "Land from the public domain is to be had for the asking and hundreds of inquiries regarding Oregon homesteads have been received in Washington from nearly every state."

"The only two that can live as cheap as one are a flea and a dog," Jep Craig says in the Texas Spur.

"On another page you will read this week that Littlefield has been selected by the biggest cotton operators in the world as the logical place to build a cotton mill and that work is to be started at once on that construction," John A. Price says in the County-Wide News.

"PHYSICALLY UNFIT" MAN LIVED TO BE 115

In his younger days Solomon Rickner was a sturdy, strong man of 200 pounds yet he was rejected for military service in the Civil war three different times and pronounced physically unfit as a soldier. He was then in his forties. However, Mr. Rickner proved that somebody was wrong. He lived to see his 115th birthday on February 18, 1936 and died three months later at his home in St. Paul, Nebraska. Mr. Rickner's Dutch ancestors were all long-lived people, his father living to the age of 102 and his mother to 99. He attributed his long life to the high cost of living because it forced him to eat only plain, substantial foods.

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Inspector Hylton has found at least two persons Captain Reeves and Dale Shipley, who have had trouble with old Arthur Burdett. Since that ancient skinflint just has been murdered, the Inspector is interested. And now Burdett's solicitor returns from France, hears of the murder, and arrives at the police cottage in Hope Enderton with a copy of Arthur Burdett's latest will—plus a good deal of excitement.

Chapter 16

NEW SCENT

"I want it to be clearly understood," he said almost severely, "that I am doing this on your orders and authority as a police officer and that no initiative rests with me in the matter whatsoever. Do you agree?"

"Dear Mr. Hanley," Hylton laughed, "a policeman's life is practically one long round of irregularities. I'll take full responsibility for looking at the will—so go ahead."

"Very well." The mere familiar feel of a legal document seemed to give little Hanley more confidence and clearing his throat he read aloud.

"This is the last will and testament of me, Arthur Claydon Caldershott Burdett of Enderton Court Hope Enderton in the County of Sussex made this twelfth day of January in the year of Our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty-six. I hereby specifically revoke the will and testament made by me on the twenty-second day of February, 1922. I appoint my solicitor Quinton Eustache Hanley of the firm of Hanley & Payne, Morechester, to be my executor and I direct that all my debts and funeral expenses shall be paid as soon as reasonably possible after my decease."

"I insisted on that clause being included," Mr. Hanley said almost fiercely.

"So far it's all cackle," Hylton said, "when do we come to the 'osses?"

"The gist or vital essence of the matter," Quinton Hanley said repressively, "now follows. The wording, you will please understand, is exactly as Mr. Burdett wished it himself.

"In my previous Will I left all my property and possessions whatsoever to my half nephew Dale Shipley, but owing to that young man's insufferable rudeness, his bad temper and even threats used towards me this day, I have decided that he shall not benefit by my death to the extent of one penny. All my property and possessions whatsoever therefore I hereby give and bequeath to Andrew Lumsdale, my manservant, at present in my employ, who at least is reasonably honest and keeps a civil tongue in his head.'

"And that," said Quinton Hanley, as he folded the document carefully and put it back in its long envelope, "is all."

The Inspector whistled; he was beginning to be excited. "Well, it's a pretty good beginning," he said. "Who witnessed this will, Mr. Hanley?"

"Two of the clerks in my office. It was witnessed and duly executed there and then."

"Did young Shipley know about it?"

"That I can't say. But I am afraid it would be very unlike Arthur Burdett to do anyone a bad turn and not tell them about it."

Hylton nodded; he could imagine that to be true well enough.

"And Lumsdale, did he know?"

"There again I can't say."

"How much was the old boy worth?"

"From what I know already as his legal adviser I should be very much surprised if the total is less than sixty thousand pounds."

"Sixty thousand! Then Lumsdale's a rich man. How much used the old miser keep in his safe up at the house?"

"I haven't any idea, what Mr. Burdett did about that."

"Um. When will this will be made public, Mr. Hanley?"

"When I as executor apply for probate."

"Well don't start applying yet," Hylton said crisply. "We want to keep all this under our hats for a bit."

"I hope I appreciate the value of discretion as much as anybody," Quinton Hanley said. "I feel that I have done my duty by coming here, any however unpleasant a task may be that feeling is some sort of consolation. I wish you good evening, gentlemen."

He bowed, not without a sort of comic dignity and attended by Sergeant White made his way out to his car.

When the Sergeant came back into the office he found Kingsley Hylton pacing up and down animatedly, an unlit cigar between his lips.

"By gad, Sergeant, this makes you think a bit," he cried.

"You consider it very important, sir?"

The Inspector glanced at James White almost in annoyance. "Well, damn it all, man," he exploded, "it gives us what we haven't had a ghost of yet — real motive. Two motives for that matter, and two of the strongest—greed and anger. We must look a little more closely into Andrew Lumsdale's story. And what do you suppose Mr. Dale Shipley was doing that evening?"

"He was dining with Captain Reeves."

"Yes . . . with Reeves, eh? . . . and I also happen to 'know' that Andrew Lumsdale spent the entire time from say three till half past seven in Morechester, but, Sergeant, I don't quite trust that knowledge now. Do you play chess?"

"Yes, sir, I do."

"Good. Perry said you did. Let's have a game now; it's wonderfully good for clearing one's brain."

A little surprised, but nothing loath, White answered "All right, sir."

In the living room White produced the board and men from a drawer and set them out on the table; then each man settled down and there was something about the other's attitude that warned Kingsley Hylton he might be in for a surprise.

Very little conversation was heard for the next eighty minutes. Then James White leaned back and said, "I think you'll find that's mate, Inspector."

Secretly, Hylton was just a shade chagrined; he rather prided himself on his chess and it was some time since he had been bested in a game.

"Oh, just a bit of luck," James White said modestly, but it was humanly impossible to keep a hint of pleasure out of his voice.

"Luck for the Law, eh?" Hylton ruminated. "Well, I dare say we shall need it all before we're finished with this case."

Hylton checks up Andrew Lumsdale tommorw.

Campaign Against Worms Launched

The federal government, through L. L. Brock, district supervisor, will conduct a campaign in Lubbock and surrounding counties against the screw worm, the most serious pest affecting both livestock and man, it was announced here. Counties besides Lubbock in the district, are: Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Dickens, Crosby, Hockley, Cochran, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall and Haskell.

Object of the campaign is that farmers, "May protect their livestock from the screw worm and also to know how you may recognize it and successfully treat it," he said.

Not So Bad Here

"I find that they are not as bad in this locality as farther south, in the sheep and goat country, where the animals are scarred in dipping," he said. Also, partly due to the dry weather conditions, which is in the stockman's favor as far as screw worms are concerned, they are not by far as prolific as in a wet territory.

"So many are confused in the nature and working habit of the screw worm fly. The true fly only lays its eggs in the fresh wounds of a living animal. Hence, it has been found difficult to trap them. There is a fly so much like the screw fly that one can hardly detect the difference, and yet it develops a complete cycle in about half the time as the true screw worm fly. It deposits its living magots in dead carcasses and decayed meat and can be trapped to some degree of success.

"While the secondary worm does not cause nearly the serious trouble as the screw worm does, because it does its work around the surface of a wound, the true screw worm burys deep into the animal."

Dr. W. E. Dove, principal entomologist in charge of the division of screw worm control, gives the following figures in a campaign in Georgia. "On November 8, 1934, there were 421,000 cases reported to the department, 19.4 per cent dying. In 1935 only 74,000 cases were reported, with a death loss of one half of one per cent."

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ira Bennett

OPINION seems to be convinced that when Gov. Lehman consented to run again, it greatly improved the chances of President Roosevelt carrying his home state. Betting odds on Roosevelt jumped, and both Chairman Farley and Chairman O'Connor of the house rules committee, a stalwart Tammanyite, declared that New York was in the bag.

A longer range view by cold-blooded political analysts sees other phases of this Lehman about-face. Maybe they recall how Al Smith felt he would have New York State in the bag if he could only induce his friend Franklin Roosevelt to run for governor—and how Roosevelt could and did save himself, and couldn't save Al.

But it can at least be said that Roosevelt's chances are not lessened by Lehman's candidacy.

SLOGAN: How a split Tammany will react is a matter of general discussion. It was thought that part of the weakened organization was secretly determined to cut Roosevelt to pieces while pretending to support him. But Tammany and Lehman are good friends, and it's mighty desirable on Tammany's part to get the spoils of war—the Greater New York spoils. So the G. O. P. will have its work cut out for it.

The national G. O. P. plan is to hammer away on the national issues. New York State is the biggest taxpayer of the whole 48. It will feel the effects of the new tax law more keenly than any other part of the country. Therefore G. O. P. strategy aims at making New Yorkers conscious of the big spending and big taxing features of the New Deal program. "New York is taxed for farmers, grasshoppers, western drouth, veterans and relief workers in all other states, and gets only a pittance from Uncle Sam"—that's the battle cry that is going out.

DISCRETION: Miss Perkins, Secretary of Labor, has until September 28 to complete the rules and regulations under which American industry must operate if it wants to sell goods to the United States government—and the government is the biggest buyer.

General opinion is that the manner in which these rules will be administered will determine the success or failure of the Walsh-Healey act. On its face the act is fair. It provides for the 40-hour week and 8-hour day, authorizes fixing of wages at the minimum paid in the open industrial market for similar work in similar places, prohibits employment of children, and outlaws sweatshops.

Requirements for sanitary and other good working conditions are practically left to the discretion of the Secretary of Labor. It is in this respect that business concerns will be eager to learn what Secretary Perkins has in mind.

SPENDING: Chairman Buchanan of the House Committee on Appropriations is an authority on federal expenditures. He figures that the sum available for relief for the year beginning July 1 will be "not less than $3,600,000,000." The big items are:

New relief item, $1,425,000,000; left over from last year, $1,000,000,000; CCC, $308,000,000; public works, $369,410,000; PWA revolving fund, $300,000,000; rural electrification, $50,000,000.

In addition to these the Resettlement administration and Youth administration will divide about $125,000,000, mostly for relief. The public works revolving fund will draw out many additional millions from local communities able to build public works with federal aid.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

HERBERT LEHMAN'S reversal of his earlier decision not to run again for governor of New York spread far more consternation among anti-New Deal leaders than they care to admit for publication.

They are trying to console themselves with the thought that New York voters have shown a strong tendency to split tickets in the past. In 1924 Al Smith won the governorship while John W. Davis was swamped by Coolidge. In 1928 Hoover took New York's electoral vote away from Smith but Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected governor. Republican chiefs earnestly hope that history will repeat and intend to help it along by going after Roosevelt much more strenuously than Lehman instead of making a combined attack on both of them as two peas in a pod.

The governor's re-entry puts the Republicans on a spot in the matter of their own nominee for governor. Hitherto they haven't worried much because they felt that whoever they named would start on even terms with his Democratic opponent. Now they must be very careful in their selection. Political considerations must be subordinated to provable high caliber. The G. O. P. cannot afford to lose the governorship virtually by default, as it did in 1934 and to some extent in 1932.

DECISIVE: Lehman's candidacy will help FDR in two specific directions. For one thing, political insiders estimate that it will increase Democratic registrations in New York City by at least 100,000 above what might otherwise be expected. These added registrants will be mostly poor people who ordinarily take little interest in elections, but who idolize Lehman. They are the type who vote the straight ticket when they vote at all.

This gain will go far to offset Tammany's ingenious plan to lose New York for the President by the simple expedient of not getting out the vote. The Tiger has decided to use passive resistance instead of knifing the national ticket directly. Wigwam leaders figure that if ward workers don't hustle, the normal Democratic vote won't show up at the New York City polls and the upstate Republican majority will turn the trick of beating Roosevelt without further assistance. The trouble is that thousands of Lehman enthusiasts won't wait to be prodded into voting.

A second Lehman contribution of great value to his friend in the White House is that the governor is especially popular with feminine voters. He personifies the ideal of social security they cherish.

If the national outcome hinges on New York's 47 electoral votes, it may turn out that Roosevelt's skill in persuading Lehman to sacrifice his personal inclinations will be the decisive factor in his reelection.

HANDICAP: New York scouts who are keeping in close touch with political operations all over the country find the workers of both parties concentrating chiefly on the classes of voters who normally follow their respective flags.

This means that the Democrats are most active in the lower income levels and the Republicans in the upper levels. Keen observers prophesy that the G. O. P. is sunk unless it can learn how to appeal to the lower shelf.

A number of high ranking Republicans are privately skeptical as to whether John Hamilton—despite his admitted skill as an organizer—can overcome in four short months the handicap imposed by seven years of party lethargy, including three l-o-n-g years of absence from the patronage banquet table. It's no cinch to make a rusty 1920 model behave like a new car.

HEALTHY: The business trend is holding remarkably true to predictions of improvement made in this column last winter. For the first six months of this year, business activity in general is running about 15 percent ahead of the same period for 1935.

The most encouraging development is that long awaited recovery in heavy industry is at last in full swing. The steel, machinery and building industries are recording the most striking gains against a year ago, while most consumers goods lines are at least holding their own. U. S. Steel, for example, will probably show better earnings for the second quarter of 1936 than in any quarter since the fall of 1930.

It is possible that the upward trend will be disrupted by serious labor trouble. But unless this happens, the best posted New Yorkers figure that business (though not necessarily the stock market) is bound to stay healthy at least through the rest of this year.

Tax Collections Reported Greater

Collection of 1935 Lubbock Independent School district taxes before the delinquent deadline fell July 1 was 81.8 per cent of the total assessment, the schools tax office said Monday.

The total collected was $164,720.04 of the entire roll of $201,341.19.

A better than 3 per cent increase was recorded by the collections in comparison with those of the previous year, when 76.3 per cent, or $151,912 of the total assessment was reported.

LUBBOCK, TEXAS

THE TARZAN TWINS, No. 86

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

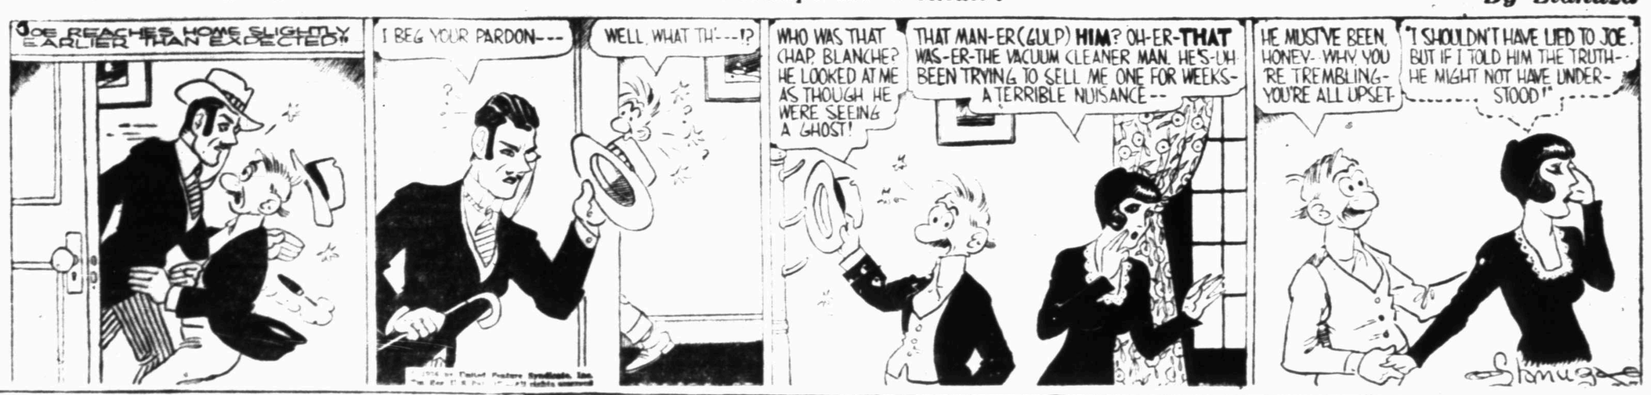

When Dick realized that the ferocious hunting lion was upon him, he swiftly obeyed the first impulse that seized him. He wheeled about, facing the animal he could not see, and thrust his spear violently outward in the direction of that blood-curdling growl.

At the same instant he felt a heavy body strike the weapon, and the poor boy was hurled to the ground. Nearby, his cousin heard that frightful turmoil, followed by a deafening, earthquaking roar. "Dick! Dick!" he called frantically. But there was no answer! . . .

. . . Dick's encounter with the lion had at least the virtue of swiftness, whereas Tarzan's plight was a lingering torture, both physical and mental. Tighter and tighter Gudah contracted his trunk, until Tarzan expected momentarily to feel his bones cracking!

Now the elephant Tantor, the ape-man's friend, was almost upon the mad beast. Gudah knew he must rid himself of the man-thing and face his elephant foe. His great trunk whipped downward to dash Tarzan to the ground. This, thought the Jungle Lord, was the end!

RAISE A BUMPER CROP EVERY YEAR WITH THE TEXAS TERRACER

Don't cuss and rear and tear your hair
But stop and think and think
The spring rains come to give our crops
A decent summer drink.

Don't fill the lakes with water full
But store it in the ground
And make Bumper crops every year
And keep good times around.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, July 6. (AP)—Selective advances helped to hearten the stock market for a time today but the blight was on the steels, farm implements, motors, granger rails and a number of the recent leaders.

While business news on the whole had its pleasing aspects adverse implications were seen in the serious mid-west drouth and in possibilities of a major steel strike.

The sharpest drop in steel production since the week of June 2, 1934 may have accounted for the depressed attitude of some traders. But this had been generally expected on account of the Independence holiday.

Utility preferences stocks again exhibited strength.

The motors were in demand for a while as June sales were estimated at the best level for that month since 1929. Chrysler went into new high ground for the past 6 years but fell back later.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off .5 of a point at 63.5 against a recovery of .4 last Friday.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 6. (AP)—All options made new highs for the season on the cotton market today as a good trade and speculative demand advanced prices on the average of 50 cents a bale.

Improved cables, reports that the government had finished liquidation of its October holdings at New Orleans, bullish goods reports and the growing belief this year's first official acreage report will be around 31,000,000 acres all worked toward price improvement.

The trade apparently ignored the bearish implications of good rains in the belt over the week-end and the advance, while gradual, was definite.

July closed at its top price of 12.50 while Oct. at 11.79 was up 12 points and Dec. and Jan. at 11.81 stage similar advances. Spots at New Orleans rose 14 points on sales of 1062 bales. Middling was quoted at 12.699.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 6. (AP)—Cotton showed a further advance today on continued trade buying and covering. October closed 11.83. The general market was up 11 to 13 points.

The market worked higher during the day on the buying promoted by steady Liverpool cables and reports of continued firmness in the cotton cloth markets.

Pool brokers were credited with supplying the demand for October at 11.80 during the early trading and later at 11.83, but the closing quotation was at the best of the day. Reports of further showers in the south seemed to have little effect on the market.

Exports today 2,764, making a total of 6,134,177 for the season. Port receipts 2,380. U. S. Port Stocks 1,366,835.

More Checks Are Received By Farmers From Government

Second corn-hog payments and cotton subsidy payments, amounting in all to $25,911.28, were received by County Agent C. C. Jobson over the wek-end and late last week and notifications to recipients mailed, he said yesterday. Payments were distributed yesterday to many farmers.

Corn-hog payments, final for 1935 numbered 185 checks and amounted to $3,714.36.

There were 861 cotton subsidy checks in two batches. They amounted to $22,196.92.

Espionage Case

beside them. One was a Mexican. There were two Chinese. A scarred, hardlooking fellow with a shock of black hair curled his lip in a bitter sneer as he looked at the clean, well-dressed Thompson.

Thompson kept his eyes straight ahead. His face was set in a cast of immobility through the whole proceeding.

A funeral hush fell when the judge began to speak.

"When we say 'it is a bad bird that befouls its own nest' we give expression to a universal belief in the duty of loyalty," he said.

"It is because espionage violates this accepted rule that it is held in such contempt and is punished so severely everywhere. Especially is this true when the motivation is pure gain. That is why the name of Judas Iscariot has been execrated through the ages. He betrayed for silver . . .

"Foreign governments do not pay money to secure the type of information available in public prints. You were paid to secure information not so obtainable—secret information as to naval matters and movements which would help the kingdom of Japan.

"However, because of your youth, and because I believe you are not a criminal type, I shall not impose the maximum penalty."

The maximum would have been 20 years.

president, in his annual address.

He quoted an unnamed judge in one of the larger cities of the United States as having said he was convinced that 90 per cent of the witnesses who testified before him committed perjury.

Fred A. Hartley, Waco, was elected president of the Texas Junior Bar association. Frank Bozoni, Tyler, was named vice president and Margaret Waters, Austin, secretary. District vice presidents were named as follows: W. M. Ryan, Houston; Marvin H. Brown, Jr., Fort Worth; W. B. Weaver, Corpus Christi; Hawkins Golden, Dallas; Frank Bozoni, Tyler; E. Byron Singleton, Amarillo; Neal Walsh, El Paso; Robert Lyle, Conroe; Herbert T. Miller, Moody, and Esco Walter, Abilene.

HOUSTON MAN DIES

HOUSTON, July 6. (AP)—Henry A. Lane, 85, brother of Justice C. E. Lane of the court of civil appeals of Galveston, died here today. The body will be sent to Flatonia for burial.

Grains

CHICAGO, July 6. (AP)—By a strange paradox, safeguards intended to protect farmers against low prices for grain turned suddenly today into a barrier against farmer getting high prices.

The largest single day's receipts from the United States winter wheat harvest this season, 3,616 cars, ran headlong into a completely stagnated market that if it were without artificial restraint would almost beyond doubt have jumped 10 cents a bushel or more.

Instead of scoring such a rise, arbitrary exchange regulations brought all wheat trading to a virtual standstill after a feverish rush to buy had whirled values up 5 cents a bushel to the topmost limit permitted in any one day.

Every grain on the list closed strong at the day's pinnacle, wheat July 105⅞, Sept 106⅛, Dec. 107⅛, Corn July 76⅛, Sept 75⅞, Dec. 70⅛, oats Sept. 37⅛, and rye Sept. 73. In provisions the outcome was 7 cents to 50 cents bulge.

Fields were clean and ideally cultivated to receive the slow fall which had amounted to 1.95 inches since Saturday noon.

Crops Are Aided

Similar beneficial farming results were reported from Coleman county, where cotton, corn and other grains were assured of quick, fertile growth as 3.72 inches of rain soaked the ground.

Showers over the weekend aided farmers' outlook in the Corsicana region, and about Tyler, Longview and Dallas.

Rain also was reported from Wichita Falls, San Antonio, Haskell, Santa Anna and Stamford.

Rainfall of a third of an inch to an inch between Benjamin and Rule on the old Orient line was reported. Eldorado received a two-inch fall.

The mercury was driven downward at Lubbock. Monday's maximum reading was 70 degrees at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, said main line station of West Texas Gas company. At 10 o'clock at night the recording was 66 degrees and was expected to go lower this morning.

All dangers of further damage from this flood were passed as 24 hours went by without rainfall on the watershed of the Guadalupe. The river had fallen at all reporting stations except those very near where it would dump its load into the gulf.

Railroad and highway traffic between here and San Antonio was resumed by way of Nixon. Between Cuero and Gonzales and San Antonio roads were passable at drivers' risk.

Fire crackers started a blaze which razed four business blocks in Remsen, Ia., with estimated damage of $500,000. Fifteen families were homeless and national guardsmen were called in to stand patrol duty. A Cambridge, Mass., girl died today from the effects of swallowing a quarter given her to buy fireworks.

day came to pass on the Chicago Board of Trade where all grains bounded to the trading ceiling at the opening gong. With wheat unable to climb past the 5-cent limit and other grains similarly affected, trading reached a stalemate soon after. Brokers left the pit and business reached a standstill. Closing quotations were at the top, new seasonal highs for all cereals, with September wheat $1.06 1-2.

While heads of the AAA, WPA, and Resettlement administration which has announced a far reaching program for removal of drouth ruined farmers to more tillable localities, met in Washington report the progress of federal relief plans to President Roosevelt, state agencies stepped up the pace of their activities.

Negro Held In Lieu Of Bond

Dave Bailey, Railway Porter, Shoots Wife And Her Father Early Sunday; Two Versions Of Shooting Related

In lieu of $5,000 bond set by J. T. Trigg, justice of the peace, upon his arraignment on a charge of murdering his wife, Bernice, and her father, Joe Gonzales, Dave Bailey, negro railway porter for seven years, late Monday remained in county jail.

The shooting was at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning at Gonzales' home at 212 East Nineteenth street.

Trigg held an inquest over the bodies of the two negroes, who were found by Deputy Sheriff Grady Harrist in the front room of the two-room house.

Murder Verdict Returned

Harrist said "family trouble" presumably caused the shooting.

Trigg, whose verdict was "murder at the hands of Dave Bailey," said Gonzales' wife made a statement saying Bailey entered the Gonzales home, inquired of Bernice whether she planned "leaving him," and received a negative answer. The mother said the negro's wife advanced toward him, smiling, and that Bailey shot her after shooting Gonzales.

Bailey told a different version. He said his wife advanced upon him and caught him around the waist, holding his arms against him, and that Gonzales caught him by one arm and attempted to open a dresser drawer. He said he fired in self-defense, first at his wife, then at Gonzales.

Negro Surrenders At Jail

Bailey made his statement to Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney, who went to the place to investigate the slayings.

Bailey went immediately to the jail where he informed Deputy Sheriff Parum Posey he wanted to "give up."

An old-model 38 caliber "thumbbuster" was surrendered.

Gonzales was shot in the left hand, through the chest and in the top of the head. The woman was shot through the heart.

Bailey, a widower with six children, married Alma Bernice Gonzales in December, said Harrist. The woman was about 20 years old.

Several Petty Offenses

Petty theft and drunkenness comprised the week-end's remaining law infractions.

Cecil Lamb, 21, of Lubbock was fined $100 in corporation court for drunkenness Monday. Police had arrested six persons for that offense.

One charge of drunkenness and two alleging disturbance were accepted by Trigg.

Two Mexicans who had been arrested Sunday afternoon for investigation into theft of 18 pairs of women's hose from Wylie's Drug store were held by police Monday night. No charge had been filed.

No complaint had been filed against a Mexican who was arrested late Saturday in connection with a knifing affray in the Mexican quarter.

Two 19-year-old Monroe youths were released Monday afternoon from county jail upon order of Sam W. Fort, police identifications officer, who had them transferred from City jail that day. The youths had been held for investigation into robbery last week of a penny scale machine.

Work On Dam Is Under Way

Concrete Mixers Are Humming Again On Buchanan Dam, Original Unit Of Colorado Flood Control Project

BY DAWSON DUNCAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, July 6.—Concrete mixers hummed again today in filling yawning forms of the Buchanan dam, original unit in the $20,000,000 Colorado river flood control and power project. Hill country folk rejoiced for once more the structure was "going up."

Five years ago the boomerang of a stock market collapse silenced the machinery which had echoed employment and prosperity through the hills of Burnet and Llano counties.

Inactivity Follows

Years of inactivity followed in the wake of the depression while governmental agencies were created and federal financing arranged. A year ago in September the Lower Colorado River authority, a state agency armed with $20,000,000 federal funds, took over the properties.

Originally the United States Reclamation bureau was allotted $5,000,000 and assigned the task of completing it as a flood control unit. The authority added $5,000,000 of its funds. The bureau completed much preliminary work.

Work Is Started

Actual pouring of concrete, marking initial resumption of upward construction, started on the sixth day after control of work was transferred from the reclamation bureau to the authority.

First permanent construction on the half-finished structure was directed to closing an open section in the river portion. The gap dammed, about 20 feet of water will be impounded by September. Additional tiers of about 20 feet will be placed across the section now open.

To Call For Bids

This summer the reclamation bureau will call for bids on the largest of the three dams planned to tame the turbulent river which year after year has caused enormous flood damage. Named the Marshall Ford dam because of its site, it will be located in Travis county about 70 miles airline downstream.

Engineers are undecided if it will be 167 or 197 feet high. At the greater height it would impound 4,000,000 acre-feet of water and at the lower height about 2,400,000 feet, creating a 60-mile long lake. It cost will be approximately $7,000,000.

Beset by an injunction suit brought by seven Texas utilities, the authority obtained modifications to permit construction for flood control purposes. Expenditure of federal funds for generating electricity, however, was restrained pending a trial set for December.

Vagabond Entertainer Pays Brief Visit To City Monday

Globe-trotter and vagabond entertainer, Samson (Texas Mack) McDonald visited Lubbock briefly Monday, appearing over radio station KFYO.

McDonald left Dallas April 1, 1927, to visit every state in the union. He returned to Texas July 4, having accomplished that goal.

And now McDonald has set a new goal for himself. He is advertising "for a wife with a million dollars to spend in building a crippled children's home and an old actors' and showman's home in Southern California."

He admitted he received no answers to his query.

McDonald, whose mother was a Cherokee Indian, left Lubbock en route to Dallas, which he hopes to reach July 24 after various stops along the way.

Mapping Work Is Under Way

Aerial Photography Is Being Made Of Vast Area By Soil Conservation Service; City Airport Is Base

Robert Calthorp, vice president general manager of Southwestern Aerial Survey, Inc., is supervising aerial mapping of West Texas counties, a part of the regional division at Amarillo of the soil conservation service. The mapping is being done out of Lubbock's municipal airport.

The government let a contract for mapping of 68,000 square miles in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas, but the job was too big for one concern, so three of them are handling the job.

Largest Contract

"It is the largest contract of its kind known," said Mr. Calthorp in discussing the program. "It will take us about a year or a year and a half.

"This is the so-called dust bowl area that we are mapping now.

"Cost of this, to the government, is about half a cent an acre. I do not know of any ground surveying work that can be done that cheap."

Mr. Calthorp explained the process. He uses a specially built Fairchild monoplane, powered with engines of 425 horse power. When used for mapping, the plane has a capacity of two men; with the camera and equipment out, four passengers can be carried.

Use Ordinary Camera

An ordinary sized camera that takes pictures 8x10 inches, is used. The film has a roll 75 feet long, with some 100 exposures. The pictures are taken at the rate of one every 30 seconds, or so.

Flights are made at a height of about 13,242 feet above the earth, in this section, or about 17,000 feet above sea level. This height is used in order to reduce the pictures down to a certain scale per inch.

"We set the camera to take a vertical picture, and then go ahead," Mr. Calthorp said. "We go up the field or area one way, then turn and go down the same way, overlapping some. We take a picture of an area about three miles wide and two and a half miles the other way.

His Wife Had To Feed Him; Was A Rheumatic Cripple

Severe Pain Caused Him To Lose The Use of His Arms; Attacks Of Indigestion Were Unbearable; Thought He Would Surely Die; Gly-Cas Again Unfailing

"For twenty years before I knew of Gly-Cas I had lived a miserable life," said Mr. Fred Walker, 1009 West Seventh St., Amarillo, Tex. "Gas pains and indigestion caused me such continual suffering it was unbearable. Often I would have to call medical authorities to give me relief. I was growing worse everyday and all I could eat was baked potatoes. Then to make me more miserable, since 1918 I had been a constant sufferer with rheumatism, the pains in my arms were so severe I lost their use and my wife had to feed me. Of course in this condition I did not know what a good nights sleep was as I lay awake most of the night. Then too I had been constipated for years too. I knew I could not last much longer in this condition and six weeks ago I thought I would surely be dead by this time—but fortunately as a last resort I was persuaded to give this new Gly-Cas a trial and the quick, thorough results it gave me seemed almost too good to be true."

"In six weeks time Gly-Cas went to the very source of my twenty years of health troubles and today I am like a new man," continued Mr. Walker. "In the last four weeks I have gained twelve pounds. That dreadful rheumatism has been relieved and I am also able to eat the foods I want, enjoy my meals without any fear of that horrible suffering afterwards. I can now sleep good, get a full night's rest and have my former strength and energy and am enjoying life like others again. I had spent lots of money on my case and only grew worse—but a short trial of Gly-Cas easily corrected that and I am again feeling fine."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

Gly-Cas $1.00 per box—6 boxes $5.00. Add 2c postage for each box ordered. Send money orders made payable Mark Halsey Drug Store. Don't send cash. Checks not accepted—No C. O. D. Mail Orders—Adv.
