Sleet, Snow Glaze Highways

HYBRID PLANE—This strange looking aircraft, with anteater-like nose, is a hybrid B57 Canberra jet bomber which has been converted for use at a simulated IM-99B Bomarc air defense missile. The nose and part of the guidance section of a Bomarc B missile were grafted to the B57 bomber. The craft will be used in checking out the capacity of the Elgin, Fla., Gulf Test Range to handle flights of the 400-mile-range Boeing Bomarc. Icy Roads Blamed In Area Crashes

Icy streets and highways were blamed for several traffic mishaps in the Snyder area Saturday, as a vicious norther dropped the thermometer to 21 degrees and light moisture provided a slippery coating.

Three accidents occurred on area highways, and a city police car was involved in another inside the city limits.

At 5:20 a.m. Saturday a 1954 Oldsmobile driven by Billy Mack Hodges, 1000 Avenue S, skidded into the Santa Fe underpass about four miles north of Snyder on U. S. 84. Hodges and Jimmy Moates, Route 1, a passenger in the car, were treated at Cogdell Memorial hospital and subsequently released.

Highway patrolman Will Cleveland said Hodges was trying to dodge a stalled vehicle when his car skidded out of control.

A few moments later a 1959 Ford truck driven by Luther Vergil Blair, 203 Seguin Street, DeLeon, also hit the underpass while trying to dodge the other two cars.

A city police car skidded on an icy street at Thirty-fifth Street and Avenue S at 9:15 a.m. The car, driven by Police Officer Dan Calloway, hit a fire plug. The vehicle was damaged an estimated $150 to $200, according to Police Chief T. L. Steele.

Also at 9:15 a.m. a 1955 Cadillac driven by Melvin Eugene Wilson of Sacramento, Calif., hit a bridge railing 1.1 miles east of Snyder on U. S. 180. The car sustained heavy damage, but there were no personal injuries.

A 1955 Cadillac driven by Dolletta Oneal Byars, 2201 Oxford, Lubbock was in collision with a 1959 Ford driven by Geronimo Jiminez of Chriesman, Tex., about 16 miles south of town on U. S. 84 at 10:45 a.m. Slippery pavement was blamed for the crash. Both cars were damaged but there were no injuries.

GIRL SCOUTS DO THEIR PART—Members of the Stanfield Elementary School Girl Scout troop spent half of the day Saturday helping assemble campaign materials in the Scurry County United Fund office. The young ladies are shown counting out red feathers and "We Give" stickers for insertion in the large report envelopes that will go to business firms and other organizations throughout the community on Tuesday. Theme for the Employe Gifts Division will be "Give A Day's Pay." From left, around the table are Suzanne Shearburn, Phyllis Preston, Donna Ward, Melinda Merritt, Mrs. Roy McCloskey, Mrs. D. V. Merritt Jr., Gay Hardwick, Diane Hargrove, Susan Willis and Beth McCloskey. The Employe Gifts Division will have its kickoff breakfast Tuesday morning in the Village Restaurant.

Big Norther Grips State

By The Associated Press

Sleet and snow and ice glazed highways in many sections of Texas Saturday as the coldest norther of the season whistled through.

Numerous highway accidents occurred from far West Texas to deep into East and South Texas.

Icing conditions were so severe in some areas that the State Highway Department and State Police advised motorists to stay at home except for emergency missions.

The Highway Department said icing conditions prevailed in the Odessa, Abilene, San Angelo, Brownwood, Del Rio, Austin and Waco areas.

Heavily traveled U.S. Highway 285 was closed Saturday morning between Fort Stockton and Sanderson in West Texas.

The cold front, a part of the Montana - Colorado blizzard that swept eastward, dropped temperatures to as low as 6 above zero at Balhart in the upper Panhandle.

The freeze extended deep into South Texas, and was expected to reach the lush lower Rio Grande Valley Saturday night.

At more than a half dozen points the temperature did not get above freezing Saturday. The maximum reading at Junction, San Angelo and Midland was 29 degrees, at Alpine 30, at Wink 31 and at Van Horn and Big Spring 32. Other marks ranged up to 58 degrees at Brownsville.

With the exception of a few clear patches in North and Northwest Texas, skies were partly cloudy to cloudy Saturday night, with light rains reported along the coast. At many points the temperature dipped back below freezing after sundown.

The Weather Bureau reported rain, drizzle or sleet extended from East Texas south of Tyler to Fort Worth, Abilene, Midland and Odessa.

Freezing rain fell at daybreak at Austin where many motorists were headed for the important Southwest Conference football game between the University of Texas and Texas Christian University. Later the drizzle turned into sleet.

Icing conditions were reported as far south as La Grange, about 100 miles west of Houston. Ice formed on utility poles.

At Boerne, in the Hill Country northwest of San Antonio, trees and utility lines were coated with ice.

An icy highway was blamed for the crash of a big trailer-truck from Enid, Okla., at the Guadalupe River bridge on U.S. Highway 81 in New Braunfels. The truck carried 33,000 pounds of wheat, which was scattered along the river bank.

South of Fort Worth between Alvarado and Grandview, also on Highway 81, six cars piled up because of icy conditions.

Seven persons were injured in a car-pickup truck collision on an ice-glazed bridge at Marlin, in Central Texas.

The storm was described as the worst of the season at Alpine. Rain that started falling late Friday turned to sleet and snow overnight and covered the ground Saturday. Numerous sections of highways in that area glazed over.

Skies cleared Saturday morning in the Panhandle but remained overcast over most other sections.

Forecasts called for temperatures as low as 10 degrees in the upper Panhandle by Sunday morning, 18 degrees in North Central Texas, 15 degrees in Southwest Texas, 20 degrees in the interior of East Texas and 32 degrees along the East Coast and 22 degrees in the north portion of South Central Texas and 32 degrees in the South Portion.

New Chief Is Picked For Aid To India

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States named a new chief Saturday for its foreign aid operations in India amid increasing speculation that this country and its allies may be called upon to increase their help to India in the next decade.

The assignment of coordinator for all U. S. economic activities in the huge South Asian country went to C. Tyler Wood, a senior foreign aid official most recently in the International Cooperation Administration here.

He will hold the rank of minister of affairs under Ambassador Elsworth Bunker at New Delhi, India, and will be director of economic aid and technical assistance programs.

State Department officials said President Eisenhower had signed his commission in Augusta, Ga.

Wood faces a tremendous task complicated by increasing concern of the Indian government over Red China's military pressures on the border territories of India. This conflict has dramatized the long-term contest between India and Communist China for leadership in Asia.

Within the past decade the United States has spent, or committed, in all forms of assistance to India approximately two billion dollars. U. S. help to India now comprises this nation's biggest single foreign aid operation.

Prospective expansion of India's economic development operations is one of the reasons for speculation that the United States and other Western nations will have to make larger contributions if India is to forge ahead in its contest with Red China.

Another reason is more direct and immediate. If Chinese Communist military pressures force Prime Minister Nehru to divert resources from economic to military expansion, officials here say, the difference required would have to come from outside India, and particularly from the United States.

4 Men Die In Crash

SUDAN, Tex. (AP)—Four men died Saturday night as a freight train crushed their car just outside Sudan on the Texas South Plains.

The west bound Santa Fe freight dragged the smashed auto 200 yards.

State highway patrolman John Bentley identified three of the dead as Modesto Olmos, 20, and Jesus Olmos, about 30, believed to be from Moulton, Tex., and Lupe Cantu, age and address undetermined.

The fourth victim had not been identified.

Bentley said the four apparently were farm laborers who had been working in this vicinity.

The accident happened one-half mile northwest of Sudan on an access road leading to the Sudan Negro district.

China Turns Over 10 Indian Policemen

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Red China today turned over 10 captured Indian policemen and the bodies of 9 others killed in a border clash last month, the Foreign Ministry announced. Details of the turnover were not immediately available. The clash occurred in the Ladakh region of Kashmir, where Red China claims a large slice of territory India regards as its own.

Four Rescued From Yacht

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Four men were rescued from the sinking yacht Xandu off Bermuda today.

The men were taken off by the destroyer Hunt which was in the area—about 310 miles north northeast of Bermuda—and answered the 48-foot yacht's distress call.

The Xandu was bound from New York to San Martin in the Antilles in the West Indies. Aboard were the owner Richard W. Joyce, 37, Long Branch, N. J.; O. M. Karinis, 30, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Matthew Gruen, 30, Atlantic City, N. J.; and Adolph Rothman, 34, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The yacht had left New York Nov. 7 and was due to arrive in the Antilles Nov. 23.

The Coast Guard had no word on what caused the yacht's trouble.

Patient Transferred

Mr. Lida M. Hardy, Route 3, was transferred from Methodist Hospital in Lubbock to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Bolger ambulance Saturday morning.

Wisconsin's Berries Now Under Suspicion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Welfare Department said Saturday it is asking the Justice Department to seize in Chicago a shipment of tainted cranberries grown in Wisconsin.

Cranberries previously found to be contaminated with a weed killer had been produced in Oregon and Washington. This is the first suspect batch to have been produced outside the Pacific Northwest states.

The Wisconsin shipment is now in a Chicago warehouse. The Food and Drug Administration said its chemists had tested the berries and found them to contain residues of aminothiazole, a weed killer which the government has said causes cancer in rats.

The cranberries involved in Saturday's action amount to 652 bags of 60 pounds each of whole frozen berries — a total of 39,120 pounds. The Welfare Department said the berries were shipped from Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., on Oct. 8.

It was in Wisconsin Rapids only Thursday night that Vice President Richard M. Nixon said he had eaten four helpings of cranberries in disregard of the advice of Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming.

Flemming last Monday had advised people to shun cranberries until the present situation is cleared up.

Flemming said in announcing Saturday's action that the seizure was being initiated on the ground that the berries were shipped illegally in Interstate Commerce since no tolerance standards for aminothriatzole in foods has been established.

This was the third seizure action instituted by the government since Flemming announced Monday that residues of the weed killer had been detected in some of the cranberries grown this year in the Pacific Northwest.

Information on the shipment of Wisconsin - grown berries was received here Saturday as plans were being pushed by Flemming to meet with representatives of the cranberry industry here next week.

Flemming said Saturday he has decided to convert the meeting into an open-public conference in the auditorium of the Welfare Department Building. The announcement Friday indicated it would be a closed session.

Flemming will preside at the conference to open on Wednesday morning, rather than Tuesday as originally planned.

Nixon was on what he termed a nonpolitical trip — although he saw a lot of politicians—when the cranberry question came up earlier this week.

Politicos Fan Out For Speechmaking

By The Associated Press

Democrats concentrated their advance season politicking Saturday night on Oklahoma while New York's Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller continued his speechmaking on the West Coast.

Four possible candidates for next year's Democratic presidential nomination addressed a $25-a-plate political dinner in Oklahoma City.

Some 4,000 of the party faithful got a first-hand look at Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of California and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

Kennedy attacked the Republican leadership and praised that of his party. He said "we need to be told" that we "cannot take for granted our security, our liberty or even our future."

Williams said in his speech that the Republicans "have been behaving like beatniks" and are "constantly trying to justify, rather than remedy their failing."

Symington said leadership was lacking under the Republican administration and the President's handling of the labor situation in general was "too little and too late."

Brown said on his arrival that he is not a candidate for vice president and would decide later this month if he is more than a favorite son in the presidential nomination contest.

Rockefeller, in a speech at a Willamette University meeting in Salem, Ore., plugged for federal aid for school construction and federal scholarships. He said they offer the best means of providing federal support "without undermining local leadership."

In his speech, which dealt only with education, Rockefeller said, "The very progress of science should push us into a more intensive study of the humanities, into a more fundamental exploration of the individual and the society that science must serve."

Rockefeller has not announced whether he will seek the GOP presidential nomination next year.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) said in a speech at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Democratic party that Americans are not facing up to the nation's problems.

Humphrey, who has been busy campaigning, has not announced a final decision on whether he is a candidate for the Democratic presidential banner.

Six Perish In Crash Of Truck, Train

HOUSTON (AP) — A pickup truck and a passenger train smashed together at a grade crossing Saturday night, killing at least six persons.

The bodies of a Houston man and wife and their four children were tentatively identified. There were reports of two other persons believed killed, police said.

The north-bound Rock Island and the truck collided in north Harris County. Wreckage of the vehicle came to rest about one-half mile down the track from the crossing.

Police tentatively identified the dead as:

Doyle Patton, 31; his wife, Juanita, 29, and their four children, Don LaVerne, 10, Janis Diane, 12, Sandra Sue, 6 and Randy Dale, 5.

Relatives said the family drove a 1950 model pickup. They said Patton was employed here by a heating and air conditioning firm.

Williams Demands Crowd At 117th Birthday Celebration

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—Walter Williams observed his 117th birthday Saturday by demanding coffee, scrambled eggs, and lots of people and music.

"When are all the people coming and where's the music?" the last surviving veteran of the Civil War asked when a daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, wished him a happy birthday at 5 a.m.

"Otherwise, he didn't have anything to say about his birthday," Mrs. Bowles said. "He promptly called for coffee. A half hour later he got the scrambled eggs."

There was another cup of coffee — carefully served with a spoon—at mid-morning. By that time several congratulatory telegrams had arrived. Among the well wishers was Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who also was celebrating a birthday Saturday.

Another telegram was from 4th Army Headquarters at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio.

A postman delivered several bundles of letters and birthday cards.

Before serving the eye-opener cup of coffee, Mrs. Bowles turned on a radio with full volume so her father could hear early morning hillbilly tunes.

She told him the "lots of people" he had asked for would arrive tomorrow when the old soldier's family is planning their biggest reunion ever. Mrs. Bowles said practically all the 10 surviving children will attend, but she said she could not possibly estimate the number of grandchildren, great - grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Bowles refused to make any changes in plans for Sunday's celebration despite a cold wave.

An American legion band is scheduled to serenade Williams Sunday afternoon from the lawn of Mrs. Bowles' little frame home in northwest Houston.

The public has been invited.

"We probably won't have as many people and things will be a bit messy in the house if this rain keeps up," Mrs. Bowles said. "But we'll be right as rain with the plans. It won't bother daddy."

A five-tier birthday cake topped by two Confederate flags and a picture of Williams in uniform arrived at the House yesterday. It was presented by Houston's KPRC-TV. The white icing has red and blue candles. Smaller confederate flags flank this greeting: "Col. Williams, happy birthday, 117 years."

Castro Has A Tough Week

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP) — Flags flew at half staff Saturday for Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos, missing army commander given up for dead. But many Cubans were saying the mourning might apply equally to Cuba itself.

This island nation under Prime Minister Fidel Castro passed through another bad week. Castro lost by death two of the commanders who helped him overthrow Fulgencio Batista.

Besides Cienfuegos, Castro lost Maj. Cristino Naranjo and two corporals in a shooting spree at Cuban army headquarters here. While the slaying of Naranjo was blamed on a confusion of identities, it reflected the tension and temper building up in revolutionary Cuba.

And Castro had lost support of many other Cubans assailed as "rats fleeing a ship in danger." They are the Cuban disillusioned with the way the revolution is drifting.

Yet Castro, worried, weary and haggard, still is Cuba's most popular man. As these called rats dropped him, thousands of people for whom he promised a better life still cheered him.

Diplomats said Cuba's latest note to the United States did nothing to smooth badly ruffled relations between the two countries. The note rejected U.S. charges that the Castro regime is waging an anti-American campaign.

These source said the note indicated Castro and his Cabinet have no intention of modifying policies Washington considers anti-American.

Reports from abroad that Castro's Cuban enemies are joining forces to try to overthrow him was another damaging development of the week. Although Castro's supporters publicly laugh at the prospects of his regime being overthrown, many are disturbed.

Castro's Ads Get Few Results In U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government is buying advertising in top U.S. magazines to attract tourists to Cuba, but travel agents say people seem uneasy about going there now.

They blame anti - American speeches by Castro and other Cuban officials. One tourist agent said: "We are truly sorry about this. You see, Havana has a lot of charms for tourist and always was an easy place to sell on a tour or a cruise."

Except for Cuba, they report tourist business to the Caribbean is good.

Charge Filed After Prank

FREMONT, Calif. (AP) — Dr. William V. Shyne faces arraignment in Municipal Court next Friday for giving laxatives instead of candy to trick-or-treat youngsters on Halloween, but his attorneys declares he isn't worried.

The 40-year-old dentist and a nurse accused with him have denied the charges. Some children became briefly but violently ill from pills they collected with their Halloween.

Zig-Zag Production Pattern Plagues U. S. Oil Operators

HOUSTON (AP)—Domestic oil producers have been kept busy opening and closing valves ever since the Suez Crisis broke out out three years ago this month.

Domestic output skyrocketed after bombs fell on the canal. The bottom dropped out when the end of the emergency was accompanied by a general economic recession.

Since then the domestic operator has been plagued by a zig-zag production pattern. There have been a few bright spots but less oil is being produced today than at the start of the Suez crisis.

Prospects for improvement are only so-so.

The industry's top spokesmen this week blamed the situation on high inventories and excessive refinery operations.

Frank M. Porter, president of the American Petroleum Institute, said these factors have offset the anticipated favorable effect the mandatory import control program adopted March 10 was to have had on domestic production.

Porter said record products inventories built up during the recession of late 1957 and early 1958 probably formed the main reason why domestic crude production did not rise after the March order.

In his annual report at Chicago, Porter said refinery operations quite regularly seem to get out of complete relationship to the demand for products and products inventories.

"And just as persistently does the industry show great reluctance to balance these items," he said. "Current figures and those of the last two months, however, do show that some recognition may have been granted these relationships, I might say, at long last."

Porter estimated 1959 crude production at 7,005,000 barrels a day, compared to last year's 6,710,000 and 1957's record 7,170,000.

During the same period, products jumped from 461 million barrels at the close of the 1956-1957 winter season to 488 million in March, 1958, and to 504 million at the time the mandatory import control plan became effective.

"On the basis of the imports allowed under that setup, the plan may be said to have been generally successful with relation to the limitations it imposed," Porter said.

Porter used Texas proration allowables as an illustration of what has happened to the domestic producer since Suez. Texas permitted 171 producing days in 1957 but cut to only 122 in 1958. Continuation of the November allowable into December will boost 1959 to only 125.

A study of API's weekly statistical reports of the past three years indicates the United States boosted its production 10.7 per cent during the Suez crisis—from 6,981,000 barrels a day to a record 7,818,400.

After the canal reopened, however, domestic output dropped 20.4 per cent to 6,220,385 barrels a day in May, 1958.

This means domestic operators added 837,300 barrels a day to output during the Suez Crisis but had to slash production by 1,598,015 barrels daily after the emergency was over.

Queen Plans Big Party For Tuesday

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II is throwing the biggest private party that Buckingham Palace has seen for 10 years even though she expects her third baby by February.

More than 200 guests have been invited, with the accent on youth.

The party, set for Tuesday, is the Queen's welcome-home gift for Princess Alexandra, who returned last month from a tour of Australia.

U. S. Has New Post In India

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department announced Saturday creation of a new economic post in the U.S. Embassy in India and named veteran foreign aid official C. Tyler Wood to fill the job.

Wood will serve both as senior officer in charge of economic affairs at the embassy—the new post—and as director of the International Cooperation Administration mission in India.

As ICA chief, Wood will succeed Howard F. Houston, former Connecticut commissioner of welfare, who is returning to Washington for consultation.

Wood, 59, has been with U.S. aid programs since they began after World War II and is one of the top career officials in this work. He helped to develop the Marshall Plan in 1947-48 as a deputy assistant secretary of state for economic affairs.

Ousted Directors Still Harmonious

DALLAS (AP)—Board members of the Round Rock Baptist Children's home who in effect were ousted issued a statement Saturday declaring that they remained "harmonious" with the Texas Baptist Convention.

The controversy started when Louis Henna, one of the board members who was not re-elected, said of the 21 board members were not renominated because of a board ruling that would have permitted students at the home to attend dances. The seven were the only member up for re-election.

Board members and other denominational leaders said in their statement that actually the dance issue never came before the Baptist Convention Nov. 4-6 at which they failed to be renominated.

The Press statement said delegates merely approved a routine report of a committee appointed to nominate trustees for the home.

The joint statement issued here said, "the election of trustees to serve Texas Baptist Children's home in Round Rock was passed by the convention with no reference to dancing or any other issue. The convention has established a Human Welfare Commission which will recommend general policies under which all of the denomination's four homes will be asked to operate."

The statement did not say whether the issue of dancing came before the nominating committee.

Former board members, including Henna, a Round Rock resident, pledged "continued support to the home as it performs its important ministry of love."

The board was criticized after it passed a resolution in August permitting youngsters at the home to "attend all social functions of the Round Rock public schools." This would have permitted the children to attend high school dances.

U. S.-Owned Ranch To Be Cooperative

HAVANA (AP) — The U. S. owned Becerra Ranch will be turned into a cattle raising cooperative and named for Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos, missing Cuban army commander.

Officials of the Institute of Agrarian Reform announced this Saturday in Camaguey Province, site of the 40,000 acre ranch owned by the King Ranch of Texas and other American investors.

They said the decision to name the ranch for Cienfuegos was made at the request of peasants living in that area.

New Ceiling For 'Copter

FORT WORTH (AP)—A new helicopter that can operate with a load well above 17,000 feet and with an estimated ceiling of 30,000 feet was announced Saturday by Bell Helicopter Corp. after tests on Pike's Peak in Colorado.

The model thus overcomes some difficulties of earlier models which had flying difficulty in the thin air of high altitudes.

The new craft is called the 47G-3 and is powered by a new Franklin turbo - supercharged engine made by Aircooled Motors Inc. of Syracuse, N. Y.

A bell spokesman said the craft provides "the pilot reserve power and safe rotar margins" for mountain work.

Another spokesman said, "we don't know what the ceiling on this ship is, but it probably can exceed 30,000 feet."

'Religion In American Life' Observance Underway Here

Observance of "Religion in American Life Month" is now underway in Snyder, and Mayor Harold Bennett has called upon all residents to use the period as a time of dedication to the renewal of their religious faith.

The observance here is being sponsored by the Jaycees through their committee on religious activities.

Bennett said in his proclamation that "the freedoms we enjoy today are the gift of God, whatever the form or creed we worship Him, and it is our privilege to exercise this freedom by giving thanks at our houses of worship."

"Religious Faith," he continued, "stabilizes family life, and regular attendance at the worship services of our choice builds moral character for the individual, the family, the community and the nation."

He pointed out that the nonsectarian Religion In American Life program, which is sponsored nationally by 70 lay men and women of all faiths, calls upon all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spiritual principles which "have stead-fastly endured as the foundation of our way of life."

Urging every resident of Snyder to participate in the program through regular worship attendance, Bennett said that "the world today calls for men and women of good will to exercise their Faith by consistent, positive action, being strong and uncompromising in holding to the spiritual principles on which our nation was founded."

Bennett emphasized that these principles have been acknowledged by U. S. coins since 1864 with the words, "In God We Trust," which was made the national motto in 1957.

Full text of the proclamation follows:

The world today calls for men and women of good will to exercise their Faith by consistent, positive action, being strong and uncompromising in holding to the spiritual principles on which our nation was founded.

Faith in Divine power has been expressed on the nation's coins since 1864 with the words, "In God We Trust," and our religious beliefs have stead-fastly endured as the foundation of our way of life.

The freedoms we enjoy today are the gift of God, whatever the form or creed we worship Him, and it is our privilege to exercise this freedom by giving thanks at our houses of worship.

Religious Faith stabilizes family life, and regular attendance at the worship services of our choice builds moral character for the individual, the family the community and the nation.

The nonsectarian Religion In American Life Program calls upon all of us to designate November as a period of dedication to a renewal of our religious Faith.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Harold Bennett, Mayor of Snyder, do hereby proclaim November, 1959, as RELIGION IN AMERICAN LIFE MONTH in Snyder and I urge that every citizen participate in this program through regular attendance in a House of Worship.

Ex-Call Girl Hospitalized

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Pat Ward, former teen-age call girl who testified in the 1955 Mickey Jelke vice trial in New York, is hospitalized here after an overdose of sleeping pills, the Monroe, Jackson Osteopathic Hospital reported today.

A hospital spokesman said it is her third recent hospitalization for overdoses of drugs. The 24-year-old woman, who gave birth to a child two months ago, is in fair condition, the hospital reported.

She is married to Dr. J. Charles Savares, a wealthy Miami osteopath. The marriage, last November at Valles, Mexico, has been a stormy one, marked by three divorce suits filed by Miss Ward. All were withdrawn after her attorneys reported reconciliations.

Jelke, the oleomargarine heir who also lives in this area, was convicted in New York on two counts of compulsory prostitution after Miss Ward acted as a key witness at his trial.

Farm Census Workers To Take Course

Census takers for the local area in the 1960 census of agriculture have been appointed and will begin an intensive training course Wednesday, Ira J. Barber of Colorado City, crew leader, announced today.

The field canvass will start on Nov. 23.

Census takers scheduled to take the training course, and the areas they will canvass, include: Eldon L. Chitsey, south of Hermleigh area; Mrs. Helen Thornburg, Ennis Creek area; Mrs. Nita Blackshear, central area from Snyder south to county line; Mrs. Doris Cugglet, Ira area; Mrs. Emmitt Hall, northwest of Snyder area.

The training session will be held in Colorado City, and will be conducted by the crew leader who recently attended a five-day census training course.

The training course will cover the use of the census questionnaire, census definitions, interviewing and map reading. Emphasis will be placed on the importance of locating every farm and obtaining complete and accurate information. The census takers will conduct some actual interviews as part of the training.

Elephant In Shark Duel

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Fishermen watched a duel to the death between a thirst-crazed elephant and sharks off the Kenya mainland.

The elephant stampeded into the sea Friday and began to swim toward an island 10 miles offshore. Seven miles from the mainland, sharks—some 14 feet long—swept into the attack.

Time and again, the doomed beast lunged at his tormentors with dripping tusks. Then the sharks attacked from both sides and killed the elephant.

Game wardens today reported finding 80 dead elephants believed to have died of thirst—on the mainland opposite Lamu Island.

Judge Faces Tax Count

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Judge James D. Simon, 62, an associate justice of the Louisiana Supreme Court, faces a 6-count federal charge of failing to file income tax returns from 1954-57.

A federal grand jury indicted Simon Friday. U. S. Dist. Judge Herbert Christenberry set bond at $500 and released the justice under his own recognizance.

In the indictment Simon is accused of not filing returns on more than $36,000 of gross income during the period.

Simon, a judge 34 years, has been on the Supreme Court since Aug. 3, 1954. He receives an annual salary of $22,500.

One of Simon's attorneys, Robert Weinstein, said evidence would be presented in court showing the regular withholding deductions were taken each month from Simon's salary for the years in question.

"Not only were those withholdings sufficient to pay any taxes due by Judge Simon, but, in fact, Judge Simon is due a substantial refund by the government," Weinstein said.

Dr. Seaborg Wins Award

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, who discovered plutonium, is the winner of the $50,000 Enrico Fermi Award for 1959.

The Atomic Energy Commission which administers the award, said Friday that Seaborg was recommended by the AEC's general advisory committee and the choice was approved by President Eisenhower.

Seaborg, 47, is chancellor of the University of California. The citation said the scientist was honored "for discoveries of plutonium and several additional elements and for leadership in the development of nuclear chemistry and atomic energy."

Plutonium is a radioactive element that undergoes an explosive chain reaction in an atomic bomb.

House In Middle Of Road For Two Years

OTTAWA (AP)—Mrs. Blanche Touchette lived in the middle of the road for almost two years without knowing it. The land had been set aside years ago for a road that was never built. Mrs. Touchette discovered her predicament when she tried to sell the house. Now she wants the Township Council to sell her the road.

Mayor Once Offered To Buy Booming North Texas Town

WICHITA FALLS, (AP) —When this city changed from a peaceful village into a booming oil center Walter D. Cline offered to buy the place from a group of angry tax payers.

His offer was rejected and as a result Wichita Falls got the parks water and sewage works and other civic improvements it needed.

Cline, now 76, was mayor of Wichita Falls when he offered to buy the city. It was just one of the things the oil man did that would make the less adventurous shudder.

The discovery of oil 41 years ago in Wichita Falls caused thousands of persons to pour into the city.

"By 1920 the town was bursting apart," Cline recalled. "We had no water, no sewage, and no space for the thousands of people. Ohio Avenue was the oil market and people filled the street buying and selling oil properties."

Cline was approached by a group of Wichitians who asked him to become mayor to help "straighten out their mess."

"I knew what I was against," he said, "the people wanted the things a city has, but I knew they wouldn't want to pay for it through increased taxation. But, I said, I'm just going to be in office for two years so I'm going to do it."

Cline took office at $50 per month and hired an accountant at $8,000 a year to make sure he didn't make any mistakes with the city's money.

The mayor found out what the people wanted. They wanted parks, water and sewage works and all the other things a city should have.

"We held a bond election and voted bonds to pay for all the things we wanted," Cline said.

"When the bonds were put on sale, there just wasn't enough collateral in the form of tax redemptions to cover them," he said.

"The only thing to do was raise the tax valuations. So we sent out a postcard to every property owner telling them that their tax renditions had just been doubled.

"And you should have heard the howling and screaming from every part of town," Cline said.

To make the new valuations legal, Cline had to hold a hearing.

"Well, we had heard about three complaints when Clent Woods came into the office and said we had to do something or call it off," Cline said.

Cline replied that they could not call the hearing off, they had to have the bonds. It was then that Woods offered a solution, Cline recalled.

"He said we both had a little money so why not offer to buy everyone's property and double the new valuation and take a chance we don't go broke," Cline said.

"You see tax valuations are never as much as the property is really worth, so we had a pretty good idea of what we were doing . . . if the people though their property was taxed at more than it was worth, then we would just buy it at twice the amount."

When the crowd was told of the offer it left the mayor's office and went home. The city got its parks, and water and sewage works paid for.

Seal Sale Week Proclaimed Here

An official proclamation, signed by Mayor Harold Bennett, designates the week of Nov. 16 to Nov. 22, as Christmas Seal Week.

Designating the week for special recognition of the work of the Scurry County Tuberculosis Association, the Mayor urged all residents to contribute to the Christmas Seal campaign now in progress.

Two outstanding problems in the control of tuberculosis in this area were cited by the mayor, who said, "Efforts to find the unknown cases of TB among people over 40 must be intensified, as a large part of the TB problem is now among our older citizens, especially men.

"Our community also needs increased rehabilitation facilities to help the growing number of TB patients who are recovering from the disease to once again become productive members of society."

The proclamation, which was signed in the Mayor's office follow:

WHEREAS, tuberculosis is a health problem in Snyder with 30 people currently under treatment or in need of medical supervision;

WHEREAS, it is estimated that there are up to 30 unknown cases among our citizens;

WHEREAS, with adequate help from the community, the great majority of TB patients can be expected to recover and maintain their health;

WHERAS we are determined to protect our homes from invasion by this contagious disease.

J. Harold Bennett, Mayor of Snyder, urge every citizen to contribute generously to the Christmas Seal appeal of the Scurry County Tuberculosis Association, to help support and expand its program of health education, case finding, rehabilitation, and research designed for the protection of us all from TB.

SOIL CONSERVATION

Supervisors Set Lamesa Session

The Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors will meet in Lamesa with seven other district boards at 10 a.m. Tuesday, according to Richard Brice, chairman.

The program will include a discussion of the activities being carried out in each of the districts represented. Part of the day's schedule will place emphasis on how districts and boards of supervisors can be of more help to farmers and ranchers in getting good conservation treatment on the land. The Great Plains Conservation Program will be reviewed also, as well as the policies and objectives of soil conservation districts.

The members of the governing body of the district are responsible for carrying out a program of soil and water conservation within the district, said Brice.

"We feel that with several district boards meeting together and exchanging ideas that we can serve our people better," the chairman said.

In addition to Brice, members of the five-man board of supervisors here are Herman Hundsnurcher, Perry Echols, Joe Landrum and W. L. Wilson.

Other boards of supervisors from neighboring soil conservation districts to meet at Lamesa are Mitchell, Martin-Howard, Dawson, Gaines-Andrews, Lynn, Terry and Yoakum.

Baby's Cry Saves Lives Of Family

FORT WORTH (AP) — Cries of a 7-month-old baby probably saved the lives of a Fort Worth family of five Saturday morning when fumes from a heating unit filled their home.

"I'm just very glad to be alive," said Mrs. Eldon Beavers as she and her family recuperated at the home of her mother.

The baby, Terry, cried and woke her mother at 3:15 a. m.

I picked her up from her crib in our bedroom," said Mrs. Beavers. "Then I just passed out and fell backwards on the bed with her in my arms."

Her husband, 35, helped his wife back into bed and changed the baby's diaper.

"I was groggy, but just thought I was sleepy," he said.

About 20 minutes later, his wife, complaining of a severe headache, asked Beavers to get her an aspirin.

"When I got up, my head was hurting," Beavers said. "The house was just going round and round. I couldn't find the light switch. There was no feeling in my fingers. I could barely tell when I was touching the walls.

"I stumbled out of the bedroom, down the hall, and began to open every window in the house. Then I started awakening our other children."

Sherry, 11, lost consciousness after reaching the den.

J. D. Kane, inspector for the city, said a downdraft had been blowing a heavy concentration of fumes back into the house.

Razorbacks Nudge Ponies

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP) — Sophomore Lance Alworth ran 13 yards for one touchdown then skipped across for a 2-point conversion after Joe Paul Alberty had scored another Saturday to give Arkansas a 17-14 victory over Southern Methodist and first place in the Southwest Conference race.

Texas was upset by TCU knocked Texas out of first place and into a virtual tie with Arkansas and Texas Christian for the lead. Arkansas tops with 5-1 and has finished the schedule. Texas is 4-1 and Texas Christian 3-1. Texas has one game to play and Texas Christian two.

Alworth and Alberty racked up more than 200 yards between them as the Razorbacks came from behind to beat SMU and Don Meredith and close out the conference race with a 5-1 record.

Meredith had passed and ran SMU to a 14-7 lead at the half but Arkansas found new life with its ferocious ground attack in the third period and rolled 88 yards for the touchdown that broke SMU's back.

And late in the game Alworth led another Arkansas charge that roared to the SMU 2-yard line before being stopped with only 16 seconds left.

But even this paid off with points for Arkansas. Meredith completed a screen pass to Jim Welch, who fumbled the ball when hit and it rolled outside the end zone for a safety.

A crowd of 31,000 watched the game played in 34-degree temperature and saw Meredith better the all-time record for passing accuracy. Meredith threw his 252nd pass in a 3-year career and completed four for 217. It was a percentage of 61.9 and bettered the all-time record set by Paul Larson of California in 1952-53-54 of 57.1 for 350 passes or more.

It was the fifth time for Arkansas to come from behind and win a conference game. In the other, Arkansas lost to Texas, which came from behind.

Arkansas might win the championship should Texas lose to Texas A&M on Thanksgiving Day and Texas Christian, which is in a virtual tie for first with two games to play, should lose one.

The terrific Arkansas ground attack, run off the belly series, gouged 400 yards out of the SMU line in a tremendous display of power. It was the most yardage Arkansas ever made in a conference game.

Alworth was the leader with 131 yards with Alberty second with 99. Jim Monroe, Arkansas quarterback, chipped in with 88.

Meredith played a fine game. He passed for 61 yards and ran for 19 in the second SMU touchdown that moved 80 yards and his 8-yard pass to Buti Jones brought the score.

However, Meredith was held to a low—for him—of 58 yards net throwing the ball. Leader of the Arkansas brigade that put a moderate squelch on Meredith was Wayne Harris, the great Razorback center. Harris got Meredith for two long losses and once hit him so hard the quarterback had to retire temporarily from the game.

Arkansas almost scored a touchdown early in the first period when it drove to the SMU five. But Billy Kyser hit into the line and fumbled the ball across the goal line where Glynn Gregory pounced on it for an SMU touchback.

SMU then rolled 80 yards for a touchdown with Jim Welch making 24 of it and Meredith 17 running and passing. Welch made the score with a 3-yard run and Gregory converted.

A weak punt by Gregory into the stiff north wind that carried only 26 yards set up the first Arkansas touchdown. From the SMU 37 the Razorbacks moved to the score on runs of 13 yards by Alberty, 11 by Monroe and the final 13 by Alworth. Freddy Akers converted to tie the score.

Then came the Meredith piloted drive that brought SMU the go-ahead touchdown with Gregory again converting.

The payoff Arkansas drive was pushed along by a 17-yard run by Alworth. Alberty made the touchdown with a 23-yard sprint. Then Alworth ran across the conversion and that meant victory.

Texas Christian Nips No. 2 Longhorns, 14-9

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP) — Slippery Halfback Harry Moreland curled 56 yards for a fourth period touchdown and send Texas Christian to a hard-fought 14-9 win over Texas, the nation's No. 2 team, in the Southwest Conference showdown battle here Saturday.

TCU's victory snarled the Cotton Bowl picture for the Southwest Conference opponent against Syracuse.

So savage and effective was the TCU line in the second half that the thunderous Texas offensive was killed off with only one first down.

Powered by the bull blasts of fullback Jack Spikes and the talents of third string quarterback Larry Dawson, TCU stormed for a score in the third period on a 47-yard drive. Stopping Texas, the rugged Frogs controlled the half and took only two plays to score the winning touchdown from their own 40 a little later. TCU now has a 3-1-0 record in the conference and Texas has a 4-1-0 mark.

TCU has a 3-1-0 record in the conference but Arkansas' 17-14 victory over SMU will keep the Frogs out of the Cotton Bowl. The Razorbacks whipped TCU 3-0 earlier. Texas, with a win over lowly Texas A&M Thanksgiving in the final game, would go to the Cotton Bowl as the Longhorns whipped Arkansas. Texas has a 4-1-0 loop mark. A 3-way tie also would send the Longhorns to the Cotton Bowl since TCU and Arkansas have been to the Jan. 1 bowl since Texas' last trip.

Texas parlayed the line punching blasts of rugged Mike Dowdle, 210-pound fullback and the runs of quarterback James Saxton and halfback Rene Ramirez to carve out a 9-0 halftime lead.

David (Squatty Body) Kristynik, 5 foot 7, 190-pound sophomore guard, launched through to block a TCU punt out of the end zone in the first period for Texas' two points.

Some 43,000 shivering fans huddled in sleet-banked Memorial Stadium in 31 degree weather.

TCU—Lasater 4 run (Dowdson kick).

This was Texas' first loss after eight wins this season.

Spikes was unstoppable. On 19 carries he rammed 71 yards mostly up the middle in leading the power-packed Frogs to 233 yards on the ground.

A burly, tough TCU line paced by left guard Roy Rambo, right tackle Robert Lilly, right end Paul Peebles and a host of other sparkling defensive men snuffed Texas out with only 97 yards on the ground. Texas had averaged more than 250 rushing per game until Saturday.

Taking the second half kickoff, Spikes, halfback Marshall Harris and Marvin Lasater crunched through Texas to the 17 before Harris' fumble on a first down play at the 14.

Marching from the Texas 47, Dawson flicked a pass to Peebles for 12 yards and Lasater cracked right end for 11 more to the 24. Spikes fumbled on the next play, but Dawson gobbled it up and moved to the 20. Spikes ground out two more before Dawson elected to flip a pass to Harris who was knocked out of bounds on the Texas 5. After a one-yard gainer, Lasater ripped around right end for the score.

Lincoln High In Frigid 18-8 Win

It was Lincoln High vs. Plainview and the weather last night in Tiger Stadium, with Lincoln downing Plainview and the weather reigning supreme over both. The final score was 18-8, as the locals came through to win before a small chilled, but enthusiastic homecoming crowd.

Playing in sub-freezing temperatures, with a brisk north gale blowing in throughout the game, Lincoln was unable to "warm up" its scoring machine until the final quarter, which found them tallying twice. In fact, it was strictly a defensive-type ball game for the first three quarters, in that the score read just 6-0 for the home team as the final stanza got underway.

First half scoring found Lincoln tacking up its initial touchdown late in the first quarter, as guard Kenneth McClain put them in scoring position by virtue of a blocked Plainview punt which set them up on the Plainview three-yard line. Quaterb a ck Randolph Williams blasted through the line on a one-yard keeper play for the six-pointer, after which the attempted run for the bonus points fell short.

That constituted first half point production, as Lincoln's defensive line very ably kept the visitors "bottled up" in their own territory, not allowing them to get within striking distance the entire half.

Neither team was able to gain an advantage through the third quarter, things being "numb and fumbley" during that period. However, a booming Lincoln punt which carried over the Plainview goalline from Lincoln's own 29-yard line was instrumental in setting up the locals' second touchdown early in the fourth quarter. A Plainview bobble, along with a Lincoln recovery of same, set the Lincolnites up in housekeeping on the 20-yard line. On the next play Williams picked up 18 yards on a keeper, after which Taylor bucked the line for the remaining couple of yards into paydirt. An attempted pass play for the extra points was broken up.

Plainview was "all thumbs" on the ensuing kickoff as they fumbled once again, with Lincoln center Jack Newsome pouncing on the pigskin on their 2-yard line. The short putt to paydirt was made by Columbus Crayton, and that touchdown was followed by another unsuccessful pass attempt for the extras.

Down by 0-18, Plainview bounced back after the kickoff to break the scoring ice, as George Hearn sprinted 66 yards for their only tally of the night, then carried over on the two-point conversion to up the count to the final 18-8.

Plainview "knocked on the door" once again in the waning seconds of the game, being on Lincoln's five-yard line as the clock ran out. But the locals' two lightning-quick touchdowns proved to be too much of a gap with which to contend, the victory marking a fitting end to Lincoln's annual homecoming festivities.

Hurricane Clips Wings Of Eagles

By KEITH K. KING

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa smashed North Texas State's vaunted running game with a great defensive play Saturday for a rousing 17-6 upset that knocked the Eagles from the unbeaten ranks and denied them the Missouri Valley Conference's undisputed championship.

Fullback David White and quarterback Jerry Keeling scored Tulsa touchdowns after long drives, and halfback Jack Kreider kicked a 45-yard field goal, longest ever booted by a Hurricane player.

North Texas, the nation's No. 1 rushing team at game time, counted its only points on one quick 63-yard pass play, quarterback Bob Duty to swift Abner Haynes.

Only 6,872 cold - numbed fans saw Tulsa turn in its sharpest performance of the year to retain a chance for a one-third share in the conference title. A Hurricane victory over Wichita Thanksgiving Day would deadlock North Texas, Houston and Tulsa with 3-1 league records.

North Texas lost ended its winning streak at 10 games, 8 of the victories this year.

Tulsa halted the Eagles' cold at the outset and went 77 yards for a touchdown by White from one yard out with only six seconds left in the first quarter.

Kreider's long placement, his first collegiate kick, followed early in the next period. It beat by 4 yards the school's previous record boot by Clyde LeForce against Baylor in 1941.

Keeling ran 4 yards for his touchdown to cap a 64-yard Tulsa march with the second half kickoff. Bob West booted two conversion points.

Ferocious Bruins Decisioned, 17-8

BY BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Unbeaten Southern California, bent on improving its national ranking, ran into a ferocious Baylor Bear Saturday, but managed to come out with a 17-8 victory.

The thrice-beaten Bears from Texas presented the Trojans with a field goal in the first quarter and fought them to a standstill before surrendering two touchdowns in the fourth quarter, both of them the result of lucky breaks.

Baylor put on a spirited 72-yard march for a touchdown and scored on a run for the two-point conversion in the final minutes.

The battling Bears time and again frustrated the heavily favored Trojans.

A fumble on a punt by Baylor's Tommy Minter gave USC the ball on the Bear 27. Baylor held against a touchdown threat but kicking specialist Don Zachik put the Trojans on the scoreboard with a 28-yard field goal.

What proved to be the winning touchdown came when fullback Clark Holden bulled his way nine yards for the score in the early minutes on the final quarter. It was set up when Baylor quarterback Ronnie Stanley fumbled away a pitchout to his star halfback, Ron Bull, and the Trojans recovered on the Baylor 16.

Vols Spanked By Ole Miss

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mississippi's bowl-bound juggernaut crushed Tennessee 37-7 Saturday on the running of fullback Charlie Flowers and the whiplash passing of quarterback Jake Gibbs.

The fifth-ranked Rebels Thursday put in a strong bid for the National's No. 1 spot in college football with an awesome display of power against the outclassed Vols.

The victory was Missisippi's eighth against one loss — a 3-7 decision to Louisiana State, 1958 national champions.

Flowers, Ole Miss' great All-American candidate, piled up 168 yards on 26 carries through the Tennessee line, with his longest run covering 34 yards.

Gibbs riddled Tennessee's secondary with the bullet-like passes which produced two touchdowns and set up another.

Mississippi scored in every period and in the final quarter turned what had been a fairly even contest into a rout, scoring three touchdowns.

Northwestern Defeated By Mich. State

By BOB VOGES

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State's 15-10 victory over Northwestern on a second half two-touchdown surge in a day of Big Ten upsets made the Spartans a surprise longshot contender in the conference title race Saturday.

Never before this confusing season has a two-time loser taken the title and the accompanying trip to the Rose Bowl.

With the Illinois 9-6 dumping of favored Wisconsin, Michigan State, Wisconsin and Northwestern all had 4-2 records in a three-way tie for first.

But Michigan State has finished its conference season of six games while Northwestern and Wisconsin each play one more in their seven-game league schedule. It will be Northwestern's turn to try Illinois next week and Wisconsin will meet last-place Minnesota.

Both would have to lose or tie to give the Spartans its third trip to the Pasadena Rose Bowl.

Northwestern, ranked sixth in the Associated Press nationwide poll this week, was beaten last Saturday 24-19 by Wisconsin.

It was the second week that Michigan State had played spoiler. Last week the Spartans blasted Purdue, 15-0.

Syracuse Wins, 71-0; Accepts Cotton Bid

By JIM KOCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Undefeated Syracuse smothered Colgate 71-0 Saturday, and celebrated by accepting a bid to the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day.

Syracuse, No. 1 in the nation, will play the Southwest Conference champion in the bowl.

Syracuse struck through the air for six of its 10 touchdowns, and got four of its scores in the opening quarter on the way to a 45-0 halftime lead. It was the Orange's eighth victory.

Thirty-one thousand watched the 60th renewal of this traditional game, played in a drenching rain and under lights for most of the second half.

Syracuse scored every time it got the ball in the 30-point first quarter after Colgate quarterback Bob Paske fumbled on the game's first running play.

Three plays later Syracuse captain and wingback Ger Schwedes took a 30-yard pass from quarterback Dave Sarette and the scoring march was on. Eight Syracuse players shared in the touchdown barrage, Schwedes and end Tom Gilburg tallying twice.

To complete the rout, Syracuse scored once in the third quarter and three more times in the final period, including a brilliant 56-yard run by sophomore halfback Ernie Davis.

Colgate, its attack curbed by frequent fumbles, made its deepest penetration to the Syracuse 27 in the final period, against fourth and fifth stringers as Coach Ben Schwartzwalder cleared the bench.

This will be the Orange's second appearance in the Cotton Bowl. They lost 28-27 to Texas Christian on Jan. 1, 1957.

Syracuse players had previously indicated a preference for the Orange Bowl at Miami, which Syracuse has lost twice previously.

Saturday, however, Capt Schwedes said the team was "100 per cent in favor of playing Texas."

Red Raiders Slam Houston By 27-0

By WHITEY SAWYER

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Texas Tech dug into the reserves Saturday and came up with junior quarterback Glen Amerson, who passed for two touchdowns and ran for two as Tech slammed Houston 27-0 in a homecoming game.

Amerson received terrific help from junior end Don Waygood, who caught one touchdown pass good for 14 yards, recovered a fumbled Houston punt and another fumble that led to touchdowns and generally contributed sterling play.

Amerson got his big chance when the starting quarterback Ken Talkington, injured his knee in the first period and had to be helped from the field. Talkington came back in, however, to kick three extra points.

The dazzling Amerson blasted three yards for the first Tech touchdown, passed 14 to Waygood, and 19 to Dick Polson for touchdowns and ran 11 through a host of Houston defenders for still another TD.

Backe Turner, whose sterling punting left Houston in a hole much of the time, intercepted a pass by Don Sessions on the goal line and ran it out to the 37 to start the first Tech touchdown. Carl Gatlin chipped in a 30-yard run in the touchdown run.

Houston earlier was stopped on the Tech 24 by a fumble, on downs on the two and then on Turner's interception.

James Brock of Texas Tech intercepted a Lonnie Holland pass in the third period on the Houston 39 and returned it to the 19 to set up the third Tech touchdown.

Waygood, early in the fourth period, slammed into Sessions in his own backfield and knocked him loose from the ball, then recovered it to set up the fourth Tech touchdown.

Snyder B Trims Stamford, 26-14

STAMFORD — Snyder's B team romped to three touchdowns in the first half and then chilled Stamford with sparkling defensive play to win a 26-14 decision here Saturday in their last game of the season.

Billy Andrews started Snyder's scoring in the first quarter when he climaxed a 65-yard drive with a five-yard run up the middle.

The next time Snyder B got the ball a spectacular play produced another score. On a reverse, John Bill Koonsman tossed a screen pass to Bill Hazel, who romped 45 yards for a touchdown.

Stamford came back to score after setting up their tally on the Statue of Liberty play.

However, in the second quarter, the "reverse screen" again worked for a 25-yard gain for Snyder, setting up another score. Lewis Hicks carried over from the five to give Snyder an 18-6 lead at the half.

In the third quarter, Steve Free pitched a jump pass to Billy Harless, which was good for six yards and a touchdown. Koonsman ran over for the extra points.

Stamford got its other touchdown in the fourth quarter.

There were numerous fumbles and Mokey Hale recovered three for Snyder. McFarland intercepted two passes, one of which set up a touchdown, and Joshua John intercepted two more. Jerry Mitchell recovered an onside kick and ran back a Stamford onside attempt across the 50 yard line. Keith Lloyd caught a tackle-eligible pass good for 20 yards.

Ray Grimmett, Butch Browning, Tommy Cooper and Joe Burns stood out on defense, and Joe Robinson drew praise from the coaches for his work at offensive center.

Bout Is Set For March 1

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Vincent J. Velella Saturday announced the Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson heavyweight championship rematch will be held in the Orange Bowl March 1.

Johansson, still sizzling over irregularities in the first fight promotion last June, said earlier this week that he could not possibly be ready for a March 1 fight but later amended his statement.

"The fight is on," Velella said. "Mr. Johansson will honor the contract."

Under terms of the agreement Velella holds, he must give the fighters 84 days' notice prior to the rematch.

Velella, who left for New York after the press conference, said he would notify Johansson by letter, telegram, telephone or in person.

Illini Upset Badgers, 9-6

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Pile-driving fullback Bill Brown banged into the end zone as the final gun sounded Saturday to provide Illinois a 9-6 upset victory over Wisconsin and deal the Badgers' Rose Bowl hopes a damaging blow.

The 211-pound Brown, a standout in an 81-yard drive as the final seconds ticked away, cracked one foot over guard to send Wisconsin down to its second defeat in six Big Ten football starts.

The touchdown ended a game of frustration for Illinois which outplayed the Badgers only to be stymied repeatedly near paydirt.

Wisconsin spotted the Illini a safety after stopping an advance one inch from the goal early in the first period, but then went ahead when end Hank Derleth recovered a fumble by teammate Dale Hackbart in the end zone for a touchdown.

The Badgers clung stubbornly to that 6-2 margin, stopping two Illinois advances deep into their territory on a fumble recovery and a pass interception.

Georgia Nips Auburn On Late Thrust

By MERCER BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Francis Tarkenton's frantic passing carried Georgia to a touchdown in the final 30 seconds of the game Saturday and the fabulous Bulldogs upset mighty Auburn 14-13. The victory clinched the Southeastern Conference championship for Georgia and virtually assured a bowl trip.

Durward Pennington, a placement specialist, kicked one of the most pressure-packed conversions he'll ever kick and the overflow crowd of an estimated 54,000 went wild.

Tarkenton's pinpoint passing to fullback Don Soberdash and end Bill Herron snatched victory from defeat. On fourth down Tarkenton dropped back. Georgia receivers flashed out and Tarkenton spotted Herron wide open in the left hand corner of the end zone — touchdown and victory.

Before the season started, the Miraculous Bulldogs had been picked to finish no better than ninth in the conference.

Guard Pat Dye, a line hero this warm cloudy day, recovered Bobby Hunt's fumble at the Auburn 35 to set up Georgia's final surge goalward.

Auburn turned two Georgia mistakes into long field goals by fullback Ed Dyas in the first half, but Georgia edged out front 7-6 late in the third period on Charlie Britt's 39-yard touchdown sprint with a punt.

Then came the play which could have broken Georgia's back — but didn't. Britt backed up and blocked a punt by his teammate Bobby Walden and Auburn recovered at the 1.

Bryant Harvard scored on the first play and gave Auburn a 13-7 lead with only 7½ minutes left in the game.

Penn State Romps Past Holy Cross

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Richie Lucas smashed Penn State's all-time individual offense record Saturday in leading the once-beaten Nittany Lions to a 46-0 romp over outclassed Holy Cross.

The Glassport, Pa., senior quarterback, passed and ran for 216 yards against the Crusaders in a handsome comeback for the 10th ranking team in the nation. He scored one touchdown and passed for another.

Coach Rip Engle's gridders, obviously courting a Bowl bid, ran up the score almost at will behind Lucas' quarterbacking. Penn State's only loss for the season was last week's 20-18 thriller to top-ranking Syracuse.

Lucas' star shone brightest in the second quarter when his beautifully thrown pass to end John Bocizk gained 70 yards to set up State's third touchdown.

It sent Lucas' offensive yardage for the year to 1,121—a new mark in the 72-year football history at State. By the final gun his yardage amounted to 1,184. The previous record was 1,082 in 1954, by Lennie Moore, now star halfback of the Baltimore Colts.

Lucas also threw a 69-yard pass to Bob Mitinger, a 12-yard scoring pass in the third quarter to Mitinger and ran three yards once himself for a TD.

Visitors Nip Pee Wees

The All America Rockets of Wichita Falls pushed over a touchdown in the third quarter to edge the Scurry County Boys Club Pee Wee All-Stars, 6-0, in Tiger Stadium Saturday night.

Most of the game was played well outside the goal lines, as the two teams hooked up in a defensive battle on a chilly night.

Owl Punt Return Nips Aggies, 7-2

HOUSTON (AP)—Gordon Speer, a speedy 196-pound halfback returned a punt 60 yards on the last play of the third quarter Saturday to enable the Rice Owls to erase a freak safety and come from behind to defeat Texas A&M 7-2 and shove the Aggies deeper into the Southwest Conference cellar.

A crowd of 35,000—an additional 20,000 paid customers stayed away because of cold and rain—had seen the Aggies turn a first quarter wind-swept blocked punt into a 2-0 lead that looked large enough for a muddy victory until Speer broke loose on his long run.

A strong north wind with gusts of 25 miles an hour contributed to the safety after Ralph Smith, the Aggie left end, crashed through to partially block Speer's punt from the Rice one.

The punt travelled only to the 10-yard line, where the wind stopped it momentarily and then pushed the ball back into the end zone. Billy Bucek, the Rice quarterback, covered the ball and the Aggies held their 2-0 lead.

Rice, meanwhile, moved no closer than the Aggie 25 before Speer took a punt by Charley Milstead, broke through a pair of would-be tacklers on the A&M 40 and raced for the Owl touchdown. Speer also kicked the extra point.

A&M moved to the Rice 34 early in the second period but a long field goal attempt by Randy Sims was short.

Hermleigh Cards Nip Trent, 18-12

HERMLEIGH — The Hermleigh Cardinals shocked Trent with a quick touchdown early in the first quarter and then went on to down the Gorillas, 18-12, in a district 6-B football game here Saturday afternoon.

Trent bobbled the opening kickoff and Hermleigh recovered on the Trent 25 yard line to set up the first score. The Cardinals quickly turned the Trent error into a touchdown, with Wallace Wall ripping through from the four for the score.

In the second quarter Trent retaliated by covering a Hermleigh fumble on the Cardinal 30 yard line. Johnny Swinney passed to Eugene Kegans for the Gorilla touchdown, the play covering 25 yards.

However, the Cardinals rebounded after the ensuing kickoff, scoring on a 75-yard pass play, Jim Robinson to Joe Paty, on the first play from scrimmage after the Trent touchdown. That gave Hermleigh a 12-6 lead at the half.

There was no scoring in the third period, but Hermleigh was on Trent's one-yard line when the quarter ended, having gone there on a sustained 65-yard drive, with Wall contributing most of the yardage.

Jim Robinson went over on a quarterback sneak on the first play of the fourth quarter to wind up the Hermleigh scoring.

After a double exchange of the ball on pass interceptions and fumbles, Trent took over on the Hermleigh 33. Don Jones paced the Gorillas to the three yard line from where Audrey Wheeler circled right end for a touchdown with four minutes left in the ball game.

The game climaxed homecoming activities for the Hermleigh School. During half-time ceremonies Nita Corley was crowned Homecoming Sweetheart and Joe Paty was crowned Hero.

Also, in a junior high game matching the Ira girls against Vealmoor, Ira came out on top by 31-20.

Hollywood Falls For French-Pair

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The movie colony, not easily impressed, has fallen for the charms of a remarkable French pair, Simone Signoret and Yves Montand.

Last weekend they were feted at two big parties given by the Jules Steins—he is chief of the talent agency giant, MCA—and the Kirk Douglases. On Monday night, Montand opened his one-man show at the Huntington Hartford, with another big turnout of the glamor crowd. He already had drawn raves on Broadway for his singing, dancing and mimicry.

Both Montand and Signoret are being romanced by the film studios.

Signoret is an amply-proportioned blonde who looks much younger than she was portrayed in "Room at the Top," her most notable film. She speaks with disarming frankness in excellent English.

Montand looks like an advertising account executive—slim, ruggedly handsome, well-tailored. But when he speaks, the words come fast and impulsively and often have to be interpreted by his wife.

How do they manage two such successful and diverse careers and still stay happy?

"Perhaps it is because we have a continental attitude toward marriage," she volunteered. "Where he goes, I go. He is the boss. I have made only one picture in two years, so I can be with him all the time."

Illness Not Slowing Hope

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bob Hope's eye illness will cause no slowdown in his show-business career, says the 56-year-old comedian.

New reports that a blood clot in his left eye might force retirement brought scoffs from Rapid Robert.

"I'll never retire from show business," Hope said between putts on a golf course. "I love this work too much. The best medicine I have is to hear an audience laugh at my jokes. It exhilarates me. I can't describe how wonderful I feel doing it.

"I'm cutting down on some of my other activities but not movies, TV or personal appearances," he said. Hope is involved in many real estate and sports ventures.

Hope's next movie probably will be a resumption of the successful "Road" series with Bing Crosby.

THE FBI STORY—Producer-director Mervyn LeRoy has made stunning use of a March of Time narration and a recreation of headline news stories of the 1930s to add realism and authenticity to a first-rate picturization of Don Whitehead's widely read book about the nation's most famous law enforcement agency. With the subject's strong appeal to youngsters and male patrons, plus James Stewart's top marquee draw, the picture is a sure-fire blockbuster. It is scheduled at the Canyon Drive In Theater here for Nov. 26.

Fonda's Daughter Now In Spotlight

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Now there are two members of the Fonda family briskly on the go in show business.

One is Henry the star, busy at the moment on a new Broadway play.

The other is Jane his daughter, just emerging into the theatrical spotlight.

Their careers are separate and distinct. The only overlap is in admiration.

"She's going to be all right, that girl," glows the parent in the midst of interview on his own activities.

"Father has a fantastic instinct as an actor," appraises Jane in a separate chat concerning her work.

Fonda pere is in "Silent Night, Lonely Night," a drama by Robert Anderson which opens at the Morosco Theater Dec. 3 with advance boxoffice sale of smash hit caliber.

The project has been on his crowded stage-TV-movie agenda more than a year.

"It's not often that I've had such a long interval between accepting a property and getting into it," Fonda says. "The play is full of beautiful lines — and truths—the sort that smack you right between the eyes.

"I'm sure that like 'Two for the Seesaw,' it will be running with someone else long after I leave," comments Fonda. He is backing his enthusiasm with a sizeable investment in the production.

Peter Glenville, previously responsible this season for the hit musical, "Take me Along," is staging the Anderson play in which Barbara Bel Geddes is the feminine lead.

Soon after "Silent Night, Lonely Night" premieres, daughter Jane Fonda's first major acting stint will be disclosed to the nation with release of the movie "Tall Story."

Although it is the 22-year-old's first film, she plays a major role. An indication of her talent is that the movie's producer - director, Joshua Logan, has signed her to a five - picture contract. She is also attracting considerable attention from the magazines and columnists.

New Break-In Technique

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jackie Barnett, who has written Jimmy Durante's night-club material for years, this week tries a unique Broadway break-in for an original musical comedy.

Instead of trying out the show in New Haven, Philadelphia or other customary tryout cities, Barnett is taking his to Las Vegas.

The show, called "Playgirls," stars Patrice Wymore, Marilyn Maxwell, Julie Wilson and Dagmar. It has a cast of 40.

Don Quixote TV Show Is Windy Bore

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—An author worked long and hard, the play was given an elaborate and obviously expensive production. The talented cast, headed by Lee J. Cobb, acted its collective head off.

But the sad fact remains, that "I, Don Quixote," emerged on CBS Monday night an earnest, windy bore. Cervantes' ridiculous knight tilted at the windmill, rescued a damsel in distress, and found a barber's basin to be a golden helmet.

But the Don Quixote envisioned by a adaptor Dale Wasserman was a mad and sad old man. Dialogue was hard to follow, full of such high-flown phrases as "poets and madmen try to improve on reality," and "too much sanity is madness." It's hard to say just what Wasserman, let alone Cervantes, was trying to prove.

Nevertheless, it was brave and daring to try to adapt a 300-year-old literary classic, complete with dress and florida language, to television, particularly one which has resisted dramatization for so long.

Earlier Bob Hope, on NBC, took over for an hour. It was a Bob Hope show much like all other Bob Hope shows. His preliminary wisecracks were entirely concerned with the quiz show investigation. Also there was actress May Britt in a sketch, TV guest star Zsa Zsa with some wisecracks and a parade of pretty starlets.

Two widely separated events occurred last week which illustrate some of the problems to be solved in connection with pre-recorded shows.

First was the dramatic incident on the Today show when Dave Garroway became so upset talking about his former colleague, Charles Van Doren, that he broke down — and later in the show reported to have gone home. Then on Sunday night Edward R. Murrow on "Small World" played host to Brendan Behan, obviously in no condition for conversation.

Then Today show was taped the afternoon before it was broadcast — and while Garroway's emotion undoubtedly was genuine, the fact that it was used as if it were live some 16 hours later gave the whole thing a phony aspect. Furthermore, it annoyed some viewers when they found it was a taped episode.

The Behan appearance is difficult to understand. Certainly his raffish conduct must have been distasteful — even shocking — to many members of the television audience. Even fellow guest John Mason Brown looked more pained than amused. CBS must have had some doubts about the show — the brass took another look at it a couple of days before its broadcast, but decided to go ahead anyway.

Women Excluded

AVENCHES, Switzerland (AP)—The County Council has discovered why the women voters of the hamlet of Champmartin ignored cantonal elections last month. The mayor distributed voting cards only to the hamlet's 11 male voters and withheld them from the 9 women voters. The women were too timid to protest; they only recently were given voting rights.

ONLY FOUR of the 50 stars in "Around the World in 80 Days" are shown. From left, they are Continflas, David Niven, Marlene Dietrich and Frank Sinatra. Continflas is hailed by many of the critics as the most brilliant comedian since Charlie Chaplin. The picture will play at the Palace Theater in Snyder on Sunday, Nov. 22.

Mort Sahl Talks Of Movies' Ills

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's a sick business."

This was Mort Sahl biting the hand that is feeding him. Sahl is noted for nibbling at everything in sight, having set the style for the new crop of iconoclastic comedians. Since he was making his second movie, I asked him to analyze the industry's bills.

"Actors can't produce pictures, but they're trying to," he said. "They are buying screen stories — largely Westerns and war pictures — that they would take suspensions for if they were under contract....

"The producers can't get a rage up at anything any more. They came out here 30 years ago and insulated themselves in the San Fernando Valley. Everything they do is on film—little bits and pieces far removed from what life really is. They have no contact with real, live audiences....

"Our government is worried a Fidel Castro's brother. I'm more worried about the relatives in the movie business....

"What would I do if I had two million dollars to make a picture? I'd do a story about today—not in costume and not on the moon but about the problems of America, such as the relationship of men and women and how they are competing for domination. And I would make it with actors who can act, not some tired, old star, a girl one third his age, and a bunch of TV actors in the background."

Angry? Well, I guess. But that's Sahl's stock in trade, and he's making a fine living with it. The latest purchaser of the Sahl talent is producer-director Hall Bartlett, for whom he is making "All the Young Men." True to form, Sahl expressed some dubiety about the project.

"One good thing about the movie business," he cited, is that producers are willing to bring in personalities who have made names for themselves in other fields. This is true of record stars and night club performers, like myself.

"But when they do bring us in, they make us fit the same old pattern. I'm a comedian, so I can play nothing else but the leading man's best friend. It's true now with me, as it was 20 years ago with Phil Silvers."

As in his first film, "In Love and War," Sahl plays a Marine. Once again he has the privilege of writing his own dialogue in the early epic he was a communications man who answered the phone with, "World War II."

Beauty Is Expendable

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Elaine Edwards, a real beauty, can't figure what movie heroes and villains have against her.

She's sort of expendable Elaine on most of her pictures. In "The Purple Gang," "Inside the Mafia" and "Guns, Gals and Gangsters," she has been mauled, slugged and received an authentic black eye.

On one picture, the casting office made a mistake on a stunt girl double.

"When it came time to shoot the scene — where I'm thrown through a plate glass window — the double showed up with Brown hair. There was nothing else to do but for me to go through the window."

Fortunately, plate glass windows for movies are made of a clear candy-like concoction, not real glass.

Loving succeeds Wayne Key, who is now associated with the firm's store in Abilene.

Loving joined Goodyear in Abilene on April 16, 1954. He was transferred to the Snyder store on July 25, 1955, as budget manager. On March 17, 1957, he was promoted to the post of office manager of the store here.

A native of Eula, near Abilene, Loving was reared in Taylor County.

He is married, and he and his wife, Verna Jo, have three daughters, Lecia 6, Lois 3 and Laniece 2. They live at 211 Thirty-third Street.

Wall Street Joy Is Short-Lived

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a pretty sharp loss this week, showing only momentary joy over the back-to-work injunction in the steel strike.

It was a fine week for some of the space age stocks but the pivotal industrials sagged and the rails fell to a new 1959 low on average.

The market on Monday celebrated the Taft-Hartley injunction in the steel strike with about one hour of vigorous rallying during which canny traders took the opportunity to "sell on the news".

Wall Street then appeared to go on the assumption that the injunction settled nothing. This was emphasized on the final trading day when the wage policy committee of the Steelworkers Union set Jan. 26 as the date for renewing the strike if no settlement is reached.

While the steel mills were gradually putting production back toward pre-strike output, General Motors had to call a halt on all passenger car production due to steel shortages. GM common dropped 2¼ to 50⅝ on the week.

As the week neared its end, GM and Ford scheduled some expanded production but the market turned a deaf ear to this, in view of the massive uncertainties ahead. Bethlehem and Ford dropped more than 3 points each on the week and U.S. Steel was down more than 4.

Washington talk convinced traders the United States will increase rather than decrease its spending in the space race. At the same time, some of the electronics which were below their highs of the year made new tops, showing "breakouts" on their chart patterns which were regarded by technicians as highly encouraging.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 9.21 to 641.71.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $3.10 to $221.70.

Volume was 16,195,437 shares and was not comparable with the previous week's total because of the election day holiday when the New York Stock Exchange was closed. Average daily turnover, however, was 3,239,087 shares compared with 3,470,992 the prior week.

In the corporate bond market, trading amounted to $34,326,000 par value, compared with $26,153,000 a week ago and $39,806,000 a year ago.

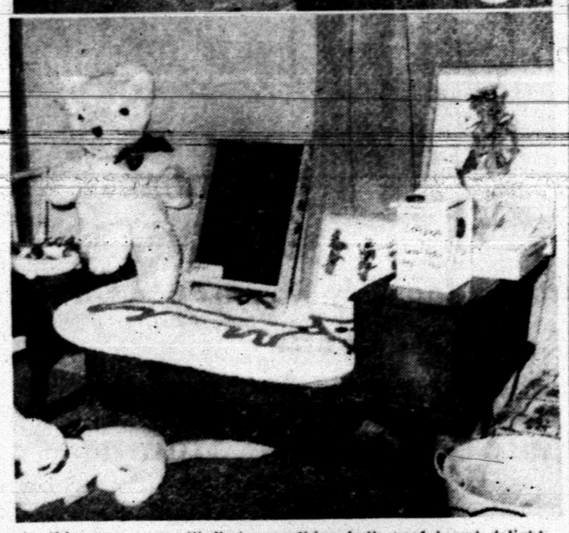
For Your Christmas Shopping In 1959!

We have tried very hard to present to Snyder the very best selection of gifts to be found in West Texas for EVERY member of the family. One of the new additions to our shop is the "children's room":



In this room you will find everything both useful and delightful for your child. In one corner a beautiful "Bonnet Bed"—every little girl, as well as teen-agers, delight. On this bed is a very attractive Cabin-Craft Sundae Check bedspread. Or it could be that she would like, and so would mother, one of our most attractive bedroom chairs covered in plastic that looks like material—that can be washed and at such reasonable prices!

Also, in this room you will find stuffed toys—a joy to your child and also a note of color to brighten the decor of their room.

At the foot of the bed is a Cabin-Craft washable throw rug done in a watermelon motif—or for the boys the poodle rug—and the clown for either boys or girls.

Also, we find a beautifully decorated but useful blackboard that can be fastened to the wall—a basket for "Toys"—in wooden tub form.

A gift that is "different"—the "Lollips for good little boys and girls" box...the "Crayola Box".

There are far too many things to describe to you—We invite you to come in and "browse" and place your Christmas gifts on Lay-A-Way.

CONGRESSMAN AND WIFE—Rep. and Mrs. Omar Burleson of Anson, were among distinguished guests as Mr. and Mrs. C. T. McLaughlin were hosts to Sen. and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson here Thursday. Rep. Burleson, who represents the 17th Congressional District in Washington, introduced Sen. Johnson to the audience in the Snyder National Guard Armory.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS AND HOSTS—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, right, and Mrs. Johnson, left, join Mr. and Mrs. C. T. McLaughlin, their hosts during a stop in Snyder Thursday. Sen. Johnson addressed an audience of more than 500 persons who had assembled at the Snyder National Guard Armory at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin. Sen. Johnson, who has disavowed any intention to run for president at this time, was warmly received, and "presidential talk" was the rule around the armory. Out of town visitors from some 20 counties were on hand to hear the Senate Majority Leader.

SOME TALK ABOUT AUSTIN — Happenings around the state capital were undoubtedly part of the conversation as this quartet got together Thursday in the Snyder National Guard Armory to hear Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson. From left are Rep. Renal Rosson of Snyder, Sen. David W. Ratliff of Stamford, Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow of Big Spring, and J. Gordon Bristow, state representative from the Big Spring district.

OUT-OF-TOWN VISITORS—Judge Tom Eplen steps from the chartered bus which brought a large delegation here from Abilene to hear Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson. The Abilene group was one of the largest in attendance at the session, which attracted visitors from a 20-county area.

Spanish Club Making Big Plans For Year Activities

The Snyder High School Spanish Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Wendell Shiflett, consists of 76 members.

"Los Amigos", the name of the club this year and in years past. The club president, Johnny Joyce, has appointed seven committees to the betterment of the club for certain projects.

The interest in Spanish Club work this year has been high. The group feels that in order to be worthy members of the Pan American Student Forum of the state of Texas, worthwhile projects need to be undertaken. Therefore, at present, a committee is looking into different projects in order to begin working on them as soon as possible.

Instead of having contests at the state convention as has been done in the past, a workshop will be held this year. This workshop will include discussion of four different topics on Pan Americanism. Each school represented will take back reports on this workshop to its clubs "Los Amigos" will send representatives to the workshop.

Mrs. Shiflett is in charge of the entire state workshop which will take place on March 17 and 18, 1960 in the municipal auditorium in Austin.

Red Cedar Helps Apple Tree Rust Poise For Attack

That fine apple tree or crabapple you planted this Fall may be bombarded by invisible airborne enemies next Spring. These raiders will be operating from a not-so-secret invasion point, one you can spot right now.

The logical operations center is any red cedar or any of its horticultural varieties within a half-mile radius of your home. In tandem, the red cedar and apple tree produce cedar-apple rust. This is an arboreal malady that exists only when two different tree species play host to fungi that need both to complete their life cycle.

The rust ill begins on the red cedar, evidenced in the overwintering round, greenish-brown galls on leaves and twigs. Next Spring, just about the time apple blossoms are due to open, the swollen galls will emit orange-colored gelatinous tendrils, sometimes called spore horns. Microscopic spores from the tendrils are blown to the alternate host tree, the apple.

The infected tree begins to show pale spots on its leaves. These pale spots enlarge into yellowish-orange blobs that often have a red border. The interesting color effects spell trouble for the tree, however. Heavy infections cause premature leaf fall, usually by mid-Summer. The home owner not only faces the prospect of no fruit, but no tree. Several successive years of attack from the spores and the prized apple may be ready for the rubbish pile. Ferbam applications —three to four each Spring—may help control the infection.

BY FRANCES-ELIZABETH JONES

The fourteen-year-old son looked coolly at a point between his mother's tea cup and the pepper mill. There may have been a hot chocolate spot on the checked breakfast cloth around which sat the family of six, but he didn't see it.

He had to look at SOMETHING. A small tick in his throat gave away his concern. Smokey blue eyes raised and crackled at his father, sitting there in his bath robe stirring his oatmeal.

Grown-ups were hateful creatures usually, at best just bearable. He hated everyone over sixteen and a half. He would be glad if his horrible life were cut off (in an exciting way, with everyone looking on, of course) before he turned into one.

He remained manfully composed so that his snippy little Sister and the overly-curious Brother saw nothing. The toast scraped his throat. The grapefruit burned it.

"Yes, we'll all come to see you act in the play at school this morning", asserted the father, his adam's apple leaping over a spoonful of cereal.

"We can clap", said Sister, flapping her bangs. I'll take my castanets."

"And I my Brownie camera", tuned in Brother.

The small Brudder piped, "I yell, dat's my brudder. He dot a dirl."

The fourteen-year-old was horrified, but he wouldn't show it. Why families, anyway? Gee whiz, he would be ashamed if they showed. NOBODY else would think of one as GRACE.

His girl and two or three boys he cared about would notice them! Why didn't Mother tend to her church work or something? Parents had no business at the school. You went there to get away from them.

He pulled out a paper napkin from the holder and staunched an unsteady lip.

"Well, I wonder if you're ashamed of us!" exclaimed Mother, returning from the oven. "I for one would enjoy seeing you. I could wear my new rhinestone pin. It's in the shape of a magnolia leaf", she added irrevelantly.

"May I wear your purple velvet ouse earrings if we go, that'ish" chimed Sister, knifing off a large piece of oleomargarine.

Son wants us to go so badly, we should really dress up for him, said Father, pouring from the teapot.

"Get Aunt Agnes to go with us. She don't need to dress up to look funny", suggested Brother, getting into the spirit of the thing.

"Son!", rebuked Mother, stifling a snigger.

"I'll wear the Charro hat. And chaps. And of course I'll carry a rifle strapped to my leg." Father crumpled his napkin.

"I shall wear a sunbonnet. And I believe I'll set out Grandmother's high-topped shoes. And I've always wanted to smoke a corn cob pipe." Mother planned, yanking Little Brudder's fist out of the marmelade.

"Me be a Wells Fargo driver." Little Brudder licked all that was left on his hand.

The fourteen-year-old needed to go to the bathroom but they would just keep on more if he did not ignore them. Oh the crumby thing! Why was he so unfortunate as to have been born under this roof. There were other housing developments in the town. He would have preferred the FLATS!"

"Look at their oochie grins. That Sister sure thought she was So Smart."

"I'll just wear my raincoat backwards", Brother lacked creativeness.

Sister had waited until last mainly because noone gave her opportunity before. She sucked the last out of an orange and thought, "I'm going to go see him play act wearing long bloomers like the ones you had in that old picture, Mother". She waited for dramatic effect.

"And carrying my Japanese parasol. With lots and lots of cologne, oh!"

"Not mine", firmly inserted Mother.

"Well, then, Daddy's shave cologne." Sister was not easily deflected.

"Time for the bus", said the fourteen-year-old, rising very casually and moving with the burden of many years on his shoulders. He stumped his feet when he was mad. He now stumped his feet.

The door banged resoundingly. "Heavens! Are the china plates still on the wall"?, inquired Mother.

"I know he will do well in the play. I do hope he remembers to bring his homework. You know, it really is a shame we all are busy and can't go to see him in the little play."

She had been clearing Away as her brood stattered in all directions.

The slender, dark-haired dramatics teacher assisted in rubbing the rouge on the heroine of the eighth grade skit.

"I must tell you what a fine performance you all gave. The nicest thing was looking out in the auditorium and spotting several parents. Mrs. Slader, Mrs. Rhem, and both of Jan's parents came. I do wish all of your families could have attended. You know, the pleasure you give to those who care for you transcends any tedious line-learning, the long practice periods."

The fourteen year-old squirmed. He wadded a piece of paper and opened his Social Science book at a picture of Cortes landing in Vera Cruz. He sniffed.

"She's a grown-up, too"; he thought.

Shrimp In Shell

INGREDIENTS: 1 pound medium shrimp (about 24 to the count), ¼ cup butter, 1 very large or 2 small garlic cloves, ½ teaspoon salt.

METHOD: Wast shrimp in cold water; drain; do not shell. In a small saucepan melt butter over low heat. Peel and crush garlic and add to butter. Arrange unshelled shrimp in one layer in a shallow pan—one that is just big enough to hold shrimp will be best. Pour butter-garlic mixture over shrimp; sprinkle with salt. Broil about 4 inches from high heat about 10 minutes—shells will be pink and shrimps cooked through. Spoon juices in pan over shrimp. Serve drained shrimp in the shells with lots of paper napkins; eaters remove shells. Serve juices remaining in shrimp pan as a sauce in which to dunk shelled shrimp; small Chinese teacup are good for serving individual portions of this sauce. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Spice Cake

INGREDIENTS: 1¾ cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¾ teaspoon ginger, ¼ teaspoon allspice, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ cup butter or margarine, 1-3 cup sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup molasses, 2 tablespoons water, 1-3 cup golden raisins (chopped), 1-3 cup chopped candied fruit, 1-3 cup chopped blanched almonds.

METHOD: Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, ginger, allspice and cinnamon. Cream butter and sugar; beat in eggs one at a time. Stir molasses and water together. Stir sifted dry ingredients into creamed mixture alternately with molasses-water mixture; stir just until smooth after each addition. Fold in raisins, fruit and almonds. Turn into baking pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches) that has been greased and lined with greased waxed paper. Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven 40 to 45 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on cool rack; strip off paper; turn right side up. Serve warm.

Squabbles Over Bridge Good For Married Life

By NORMA GAUHN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're convinced your husband is the worst idiot who ever sat down to a hand of bridge . . .

If your wife incites you to mayhem by stupid bidding . . .

If you get purple faced at your mate over the card table and incline toward remarks as, 'Why did you trump my ace, dear?'

You're probably on the way to a long and happy married life.

At least that's the theory of bridge expert Morton Rubinow. He firmly believes that husband and wife arguments over bridge are a fine thing psychologically.

"Hostilities are released at the card table," Rubinow says. 'Couples let out pent up tensions and repressions that might crop up later at crucial times in their marriage."

However, a word of warning: when the bridge fight reaches the boiling point, husbands and wives should change partners. Too much bitterness can lead to bloodshed and Rubinow doesn't want to be responsible.

"The competitive elements of bridge," he says, "are similar to real life situations. Playing against your spouse in bridge, you can get in a dig while still playing within the rules.

'You can overbid your husband or double your wife or make an opponent squirm with a squeeze play. Instead of bickering over things that happen each day, many couples get it out of their system at bridge."

Rubinow, a bachelor, views bridge as a highly civilized, socially acceptable form of slaughter. Eyes shining, he says:

'It's not really a polite game. You trap your opponent in a bad play and you're there with a hatchet when he steps out!"

As for himself, Rubinow doesn't number many bridge players among his girl friends.

"Not to brag," he says, "but there's too big a gap between us. The best way to improve your game is to play with better opponents and that's what I like to do."

Rubinow is former U. S. National Individual Bridge champion and U. S. Master's Team champion for 1959. He is a member of the Jacoby Team, official United States squad in the World Bridge Olympics to be held in Italy next year.

In his teaching, Rubinow has found that women are better bidders but men play their cards better. A man wants to play the hand and hates to be dummy, especially when playing with a woman.

"However," Rubinow says, "women don't persevere at the game. They don't get in and fight, concentrate, give the effort that's necessary. Women just don't care that much about games or non-personal activity."

That, he says, is one reason that among America's 35 million bridge players, only one woman to every 20 men is at the expert level.

Rotan Couple Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rutledge were honored on their golden wedding anniversary Sunday Nov. 8.

The surprise affair was hosted by their children, Mrs. Buck Ashe of Rotan, J. A. Rutledge of Marlow, Okla., Dick Rutledge of Snyder, Mrs. A. A. Polk of Rotan, Mrs. Babe Appling of Dumas, and C. E. Rutledge Jr. of Snyder. Also assisting in the event was a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edd Rutledge of San Saba.

The couple has 11 grandchildren and four great granddaughters, all of which were present, except two.

The luncheon was served from a white linen covered table. The centerpiece was the tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom and golden bells. Bouquets of white chrysanthemums tied with gold ribbon were arranged throughout the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutledge were married Nov. 4, 1909, in Stamford, moving immediately to the farm where they now reside, near Rotan. Mrs. Rutledge is the former Aurora Grey.

LIBRARY NOTES

When you visit your library and read that "Books are arranged on the shelves numerically according to the Dewey Decimal System" do you sometimes wonder just why were particular subjects assigned a given number" There is an interesting story of how Dewey devised his scheme. He is said to have arranged his books in the same order of the evolution of the civilizations of man as he developed through the ages.

The first thing that man did when he was created was to think. Therefore, books on thinking are in the 100's. Recent additions to this section include Spencer's "First Principles" and Lecky's "History of European Morals from Augustus to Charlemagne."

The first thing to which man turned his thoughts was GOD. Therefore, books on religion are in the 200's. One new publications in this classification is "Signs and symbols in Christian Art" by Ferguson, published by the Oxford University Press.

Man's next concern was in living with his fellowmen. Therefore, books on sociology, government, living together, etc. are in the 300's. Several new titles in this section include "Freedom Is My Beat", "From the Morgenthau Diaries", "The Secret World", "College In The Country", and "Century of Struggle".

No sooner than many began to live in groups, he wished to communicate with those about him. His first form of communication was, of course, language. So, books on language are classified in the 400's.

His interest then turned to nature. As he looked about him he became interested in the moon, stars, plant and animal life. Books on nature, etc. are, therefore, classified in the 500's.

As he became familiar with the things of nature, he wanted to use them for his living. Therefore, all the books on the useful arts, like agriculture, cooking, carpentry, medicine, etc. are in the 600's. Two new titles you might enjoy here are "Hi-fi stereo for your Home" and "Fireside Book of Guns."

It soon became apparent to man that just living was not enough. He must have some refinement to satisfy his soul, as well as the necessities for his body. Therefore, all books on fine arts are classified in the 700's. Bernasconi's "The Collectors' glossary of antiques and fine Arts" and "Hart's "The Royal Ballet in Performance" are new selections here.

Nor was it enough to live and enjoy life. He wished to express the emotions that he felt through literature. Therefore, the books of poetry, essays, letters, lectures, etc., are in the 800's.

Soon man wanted to leave a record behind him of all the things that he had thought, worked on, felt, achieved. That he called history; therefore, the books that record man's accomplishments are in 900's. New books in this section are D'Arcy's "The Meaning and Matter of History: A Christian View", "Behind Enemy Lines", regarding underground movements during World War II; "Pork Chop Hill: the American fighting man in Action, Korea, spring, 1953"; Paton's "Hope for South Africa"; Tolbert's "The Day of San Jacinto"; "The Rise and Fall of Sir Anthony Eden" and "Jungle Pilot; the life and witness of Nate Saint."

How To Give Your Baby The Right Start In Life

A BABY begins learning attitudes—of trust or distrust—long before there is any conscious memory.

A baby first becomes aware of things outside himself by the way in which his needs are taken care of. If he is kept comfortable, if all his needs are met, he comes to think about the world as a safe dependable place—a place to be trusted. However, if he must spend much of his early months yelling and asking someone to come "fix him" and when he does get "fixed" it's never quite enough or quite right, he learns that the world is a frustrating, threatening place, a place you cannot be sure of.

BASIC TRUST

This early learning of trust or distrust is a learning of feelings, it's quite different from training the body to perform a skill, or the mind to remember a fact. And because this feeling-learning is purely emotional it becomes part of the very substance out of which the baby is made. The earlier in life a feeling is learned the harder it is to change it. This doesn't mean that the feeling of trust or distrust acquired in early infancy cannot be modified in later years—it certainly can. However, the baby whose first emotional learning is one of trust has an easier time than one whose early learning needs to be changed later.

How do we go about giving our babies the feelings which will be of greatest service to them all their lives?

In the beginning a baby is only fully awake when he is distressed and most often his distress is due to hunger. A young baby sometimes seems to be just one big mouth with a few arms and legs attached. Eating is the all-important activity. But the sucking in of milk is not all there is to eating, the baby needs the sensation of being held, of feeling close to a warm human person. He needs to be fondled and rocked at the same time he is eating.

As the baby gets older he often wants the loving and the fondling during waking times when he is not hungry. When he asks for it, give it to him.

Baby Knows

Going through the motions of loving is not enough for a baby. A baby has an uncanny ability to know whether you mean it or not. If you are impatient, if you are irritated, if you are worried and distraught about almost anything your baby knows it and he will whimper and fret even in your arms. You can often hide your feelings from a grown-up, but you cannot pretend with a baby. He knows by the feel of your arms and hands whether or not you are relaxed and comforting or whether you are in a hurry and find him a brother and a nuisance.

There isn't any one way that's right and all other ways are wrong in handling a baby. Babies are individuals and want different amounts of affection. Parents, too, have thousands of ways of showing their love. Some parents are soft and boisterous, some are sober and reserved. Genuine love shines through any mannerisms.

It is also true that the best of parents do get tired and cross and there is plenty in this hectic world of ours that is worrisome.

No baby is ever going to have all his needs taken care of all the time and maybe it's just as well he doesn't. But if he has more satisfying trusting experiences than the opposite, he will grow through infancy with enough basic trust in the world to build a likeable and satisfying personality for himself.

LOW IRON

Low iron settings should be used in pressing synthetic fiber fabrics, experts say. Rayon or synthetic settings should be used. Either a steam iron or a dry iron with a press cloth is suitable.

Tourists Honest, But Forgetful

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (AP)—They leave their children and pets behind but they're honest and naturally Merrill Ellinor loves them.

Ellinor means tourists—and tourist mean his living.

He operates 650 villas housing as many as 3,200 guests a night. Since he opened in 1949, he has cashed 120,000 checks and only $316.12 of these proved worthless.

"Right off hand," says Helen Lovell, the operation's chief cookee, "... anything ... anything that hasn't been left behind at one time or another."

An out-of-state couple traveling with their five children checked out one afternoon and, as usual, two maids were sent to prepare the villa for the next occupants.

The maids found a 5-year-old lad on the living room floor reading comic books. "Hasn't your family gonev," he was asked. He waved his hand and said without looking up "Oh they're around."

His parents returned in an hour to get him.

Another family left their pet pooch tied to a bed post for three hours—and they said when they came back it might have been longer if one of their children hadn't, suddenly noticed the absence.

Miss Lovell says many guests inadvertanly carry off items but the majority is returned. She says such a case is typical:

"Dear Mr. Ellinor. Enclosed find frying pan...."

The pan of heavy cast iron had been carefully wrapped and sent first class mail—the postage for more than the pan was worth.

'Roman Rollick' Initiation Held By Latin Class Friday Evening

PREPARING—These second year Latin students were dressed and ready to make the initiation ceremonies of their pledges something to remember Friday night. The balloons were painted like heads of Roman emperors to give the feeling of mystery. Front row from left; Kay Powell, Diane White, Annette Blum, Candy Weyel, John Curry, back row; Donna Lenoir, Mary Clare Peebles, Jean Young, James McKinnon and David Kee.

One of the most colorful parties of the season was the "Roman Rollick" initiation held by the Latin class of Snyder High School, Friday 13, at 7 o'clock, honoring pledges Sue Taylor, Kathy Mott, Keitha Walton, Dickie Clemmer, Esther Firestone, Weldon Merritt, Stig-Olof Fernstrom, Richard Smith, Duke Mitchell, James Sullivan, Sue Christenson and Janice Sawyer.

The unusual decor followed the theme of ancient Rome and catching the eye of the initiates on arrival for the formal candlelight service in the "atrium" of the Martha Ann Woman's club were balloons, decorated like faces of emperors of Rome.

Carol Strom, club president, read the impressive formal Junior League candlelight service and the reward of studying Latin I and II were the spirits Winona McClanahan and Ronnie Spittle. Apple were passed to "slaves" who dropped the seeds into pots, symbolizing the kindling of their interest for Latin.

David Wiman, vicepresident was initiation chairman. He was assisted by Jean Young, Buddy Patterson, John Curry, Mary Ann Moffett and Dick Martin, James McKinnon, Betty Boren, Annette Blum and Ronnie McGrew.

The initiation consisted of worknig off "black marks" and a trip to the underworld. The pledges were required to please the Roman gods by undergoing terrible punishments imposed on them by the old members. The "Kiss of Venus" was a typical hardship endured by the new members.

Former Latin students were among the invited guests.

A supper was served for the group at Little Mexico Restaurant to end the evenings rollick.

BREWING POT—Carol Strom is shown putting mysterious potion in the brewing pot as part of the formal invitation of the Latin Club. Winona McClanahan and Ronnie Spittle watch the eerie manuver.

PLEDGE RIBBONS—Buddy Patterson is pictured above pinning the purple and gold ribbons on pledges Sue Christenson and Janis Sawyer.

OFFICER—Weldon Merritt portrayed a centurian officer at the initiation ceremonies held Friday night by the Snyder High School Latin Club.

Fennel Bread

INGREDIENTS: 1-3 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon salt, 1-3 cup dark molasses, 1 teaspoon fennel seed (crushed), 1-3 cup butter or margarine, 2 cups boiling water, 2 packages active dry yeast, ½ cup warm (105 degrees) water, 6 cups sifted white flour, 2 cups rye flour. METHOD: Into a large (4 quart) mixing bowl stir together the sugar, salt, molasses, fennel seed, butter and boiling water until butter melts; cool to luke-warm. In a small bowl, sprinkle yeast over ¼ cup warm water; stir to dissolve; add to mixture in large bowl Stir in 4 cups white flour; mix at slow speed on electric mixer for 10 minuates. With spoon, beat in remaining white flour and rye flour (batter will be heavy and elastic but too sticky for kneading). Scrape batter from sides of bowl; cover with a clean cloth; let rise in a warm (80 to 85 degrees) place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk (about 1 hour). With about 25 strokes beat down batter. Turn batter into two well-greased loaf pans (each 9 by 5 by 3 inches); spread tops evenly. Cover and let rise in warm place free from draft, until batter reaches ¼ inch from top of pan (about 1 hour). Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven about 40 minutes, or until well browned.

TWO OVENS

A new 40-inch range has two pull-out ovens. You can clean them by sliding them out like drawers. Sides, bottom and even the back wall can be cleaned 50 per cent faster than in ordinary ovens without the customary back-breaking straining and stretching.

Two Devilish Devices Help Navy Select Its Space Men

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—The Navy has developed two devilish devices — literally nauseating in their effects—to help select and train men for space flight.

One of them looks like a giant concrete mixer. It tumbles you about inside.

The other is a one-room house on a kind of turnstile. It looks as innocent as a merry-go-round at the county fair, but it packs a sickening wallop.

After rides on each, I am more content to leave space flight to the Mercury Astronauts and other venturesome souls. I didn't lose my lunch during the experience, but I didn't feel in the mood for a roast beef dinner for quite a while.

The vices are located at the Navy's School of Aviation Medicine here.

Project scientists say the concrete mixer, technically called the "human disorientation device," offers a unique tool for simulating some of the stresses that might be encountered in a manned space vehicle even under "normal" operating conditions—to say nothing of gyrations that might occur if the vehicle went haywire on the highways to Venus.

And they say the rotating house, which should be nicknamed the "USS Nausea," shapes up not only as one of the training grounds for spacemen but also as:

1. A possible training quarters for men who might have to operate huge rotating radar antennas that are under construction.

2. Possibly the best laboratory tool yet devised for developing adequate defenses against motion sickness—the still-elusive malady that bedevils mariners, airmen, and even kids taking a Sunday ride in the family automobile.

The concrete mixer is an aluminum cylinder in which rotation occurs in both horizontal and vertical planes.

You enter by a trap door in the side of the cylinder. Straps bind your legs and your thighs; metal supports are brought against your thighs; metal supports are brought against your knees; a helmet-like headpiece is fitted snugly on your head.

You grasp two handles attached to the seat. The scientists pull at your straps to see if they're tight enough, then slam the door shut. You're alone in the darkness with your jitters.

Now the trap begins to move, first to the right in the quickening circles, then to the left, and then you realize you're being tumbled head over heels, and all you can think of is the roller coaster at the beach when you were a kid.

You try to be scientifically observant of your reactions. But mostly they are in the vein of "I hope that guy can turn the damn thing off."

Well, finally he does. But now, you have another date—with a rotating room in another building.

Enroute, you learn that the room is made to rotate in a way which might be necessary in a satellite or spaceship to offset the phenomenon of zero gravity or weightlessness.

That is, it may be necessary to generate an artificial gravity in a spaceship to keep men, instruments, kitchen utensils, and food from floating around. It can be done by spinning the satellite.

You arrive at the rotating room just in time to interview four volunteers who have been traveling in "space" for the past 48 hours.

Their spaceship is an enclosed merry-go-round about 15 feet in diameter and 10 feet high, with padded walls.

Two automobile seats are arranged near one part of the wall, facing various instrument panels. There's an electric cook stove, shelves well-stocked with canned food and paperback whodunits.

Coming back to a stationary floor after two days of motion, all but one of the men acted as though they had been on a drinking spree. After welcoming them back from space, scientists put them through a series of body-balancing tests, including standing on one foot.

By far the steadiest member of the crew was Robert Greenmun, 45, of St. Augustine, Fla., a civilian, who is deaf.

The reason for his steadiness, scientists explained, is that his particular type of deafness is due to loss of function of the inner ear. That is, his semi-circular canals and also his otolith organs do not function; hence he is comparatively immune to the dizziness and other effects of prolonged rotation.

The other crewmen reported squeamish stomachs and great difficulty in walking during the first day even though rotating at only 2.2 revolutions per minute.

Scientists explained that things are roughtest during the first day. Then, the men become more or less adapted, according to the sensitivity of the inner-ear mechanisms which varies with individuals. However, when the machine comes to a stop, many of the reactions set in again. Tummies kick up, the room appears to whirl and rock, and stationary objects seem to move back and forth.

Now you and several scientists go aboard for a half hour workout at 10 revolutions per minute.

In less than a minute as you sit there, you begin to sweat heavily, and you get a nasty feeling in your stomach.

Epic Film Is Finished By Villagers

By GEOFFREY MILLER

LYTCHETT MINSTER, England. (AP) — The ordinary folk of this sleepy English village — the lady of the manor and the dairymaid the village doctor and the cowherd—have teamed together in a novel work of religious faith. They've made a movie.

Using their own camera, working every Sunday for three years, they produced an epic film of the life of John the Baptist.

It is now going round the world.

Not long ago the movie, called "Voice in the Wilderness," was shown at the 16th International Conference on Audio-Visuals in the Church at Green Lake, Wis. It has been screened also in New York and Ottawa. New sound tracks are being prepared in German, Iranian and Japanese.

It was the lady of the manor—to whom English country folk still touch their caps in deference—who thought of it all. Actually Lady Madeline Lees, grey-haired widow of a baronet, doesn't live in the manor any more because she can't afford it.

Making the movie fulfilled her life's ambition. Years ago, she watched the villagers of Oberammergau in Bavaria presenting their famous passion play. She vowed she would make Lytchett Minster, home of the Lees family for generations, the English Oberammergau.

"The only way to achieve it seemed to be by means of a film," she says.

"My husband and I had been to Palestine. We began to reconnoiter Palestinian scenery in and around Lytchett Minster."

Local ponds and streams became the River Jordan. Clay and sand pits served as the desert. For the streets of Jerusalem and Nazareth, there were the backyards and stables of the manor house itself.

Lady Lees' husband, Sir John Lees, died in 1955, but she carried on with her idea with the help of her family and the villagers.

To raise money, she sold her automobile and set up a refreshment bar on the grounds of the manor house to serve coffee and sandwiches to passing motorists.

In the end the movie cost around 2,500 pounds ($7,000). Lady Madeline still has not paid it all off, but British churches are hiring it at 2 pounds ($5.60) a showing, and overseas royalties are flowing in as well.

Lady Madeline's son, 34-year-old Sir Thomas Lees, learned how to handle a movie camera. Roy Gornold, who has had professional movie experience, helped Lady Madeline with her script.

Then the villagers were rounded up for the acting parts. Clifford Mountford, who is studying to be a Methodist minister, played John the Baptist. Lady Madeline's daughter Faith was the Angel Gabriel. Donald Davey, a teacher at the village school, was Joseph.

Peter Chown, the local doctor, was chosen as Jesus of Nazareth.

"We picked him because of his outstanding character, bearing and height," Lady Madeline says. He is 6 feet 7 inches tall.

Only one member of the cast was a visitor. Gitti Niknejad, a 21-year-old Iranian girl who had come to Britain to complete her education, played the Virgin Mary. She was a Moslem when the film making began but has since become a Christian.

Hundreds of other people living around here were used as Arabs and Roman soldiers.

Many of them made their costumes themselves. Others were borrowed from a museum.

Breakthrough On Electric Power From Atoms Is Near

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — Los Alamos scientists appear to be on the verge of a breakthrough in efforts to produce large amounts of electric power directly from the heat of atomic reactors.

From a piece of metal the size of a 22-caliber rifle cartridge, encased in a teacupful of hot gas, they produced on their first test a few months ago enough current to keep a 30-watt light bulb burning constantly.

Now they are testing an assembly containing three of these little devices, with the expectation that the combined output will at least triple the original production.

If it works as expected, there is no reason why scores of hundreds of these assemblies couldn't be put to work in the core of a single reactor to produce electricity on a power plant scale.

Their real goal is to develop a reactor designed to convert the maximum possible amount of heat directly into electric current.

The system was explained recently to newsmen touring the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, birthplace of the atom bomb. The laboratory was built by the government and is operated by the University of California Radiation Laboratory.

Dr. George M. Grover, scientist in charge of the project, said the reactor being used in the experiment is theoretically capable of producing 2,000 kilowatts in this way. This would be equal to the output of a power plant in a small town.

The little device is called a plasma thermocouple. It is a complicated relative of the thermostat on your furnace.

Conventional thermocouples consist basically of two strips of dissimilar metals touching each other. When one of them is heated they produce a tiny electric current. They are used mainly as thermometers and other measuring instruments. Their electrical output is very small.

Dr. Grover's thermocouple consists of the little cartridge, which acts as one of the metals, and a gas which takes the place of the other metal. The gas is cesium, which at normal temperatures is a light metal. This asich form which formed a part of one of the fissionable fuel elements, is lowered into the reactor core where it is heated to about 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

The heat gasifies the cesium atoms and strips them of their electrons. The result is a mishmash of atomic cores and electrons called plasma.

Although the gas at 3,000 degrees is hot, it is cold compared with the little cartridge, which is made of uranium, carbon and a metal called zirconium.

In the reactor the uranium undergoes fission, which raises the cartridge temperature to about 4,000 degrees. The fission process produces enormous numbers of electrons from the zirconium. The electrons rush into the relatively cold plasma and come out of the assembly as electric current.

Dr. Grover foresees the use of this process not only for power but also as a propulsion system for interplanetary vehicles. Hot plasma of this kind might constitute jet fuel for a space ship that has gone beyond the pull of the earth's gravitation.

Coast Guard Okays Water Safety Act

AUSTIN (AP)—Approval of the Water Safety Act passed by the last legislature was announced this week by the U.S. Coast Guard.

The federal agency will turn over responsibility for numbering boats in Texas waters to the Department of Public Safety April 1, 1960.

Boat owners must apply for registration numbers by next March 1.

The law applies generally to boats propelled by motors of more than 10 horsepower, regardless of length.

Technology Drive Urged In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The vice president of the Confederation of National Industrial Chambers said Thursday an intensive campaign is needed to spread technical knowledge and cut production costs.

Manuel Fernandez Landero said technical training within industries themselves is urgent. He spoke at the first convention of Productivity Centers. Such centers for promoting more productivity are now located here and in Monterrey, Puebla, Guadalajara, Leon and Chihuahua.

Pilots In Mexico Come To Terms

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The first fully uniformed crew in months took a Mexican plane off the ground Thursday.

It meant a partial end of a fight by the Assn. of Aviation Pilots for recognition as a collective bargaining unit. It has come to terms with government - controlled Aeronaves De Mexico Airline. Other lines have not yet agreed.

The pilots had vowed as a means of calling their demands to public attention not to wear uniforms except for bargaining purposes.

Widow's Storybook Romance

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — After her husband dies, a royal princess goes about rearranging her personal life in much the same fashion as thousands of other widows.

The neighbors of Cecilia Hohenzollern Harris, the Prussian princess who came to Texas as a bride 10 years ago, believe she's here to stay.

Her Oklahoma-born husband, Clyde K. Harris, died unexpectedly last year. Many assumed his wife would dispose of his interior decorator business and go back with their small daughter to live in Germany.

Last summer Princess Cecilia and her daughter Kira Alexandrine spent three months with relatives in Germany and England.

'Glad to be Home'

On their return to Amarillo, the princes told friends: "It was a fine trip, and of course I enjoyed seeing my family—but I'm glad to be home."

Blonde, hazel-eyed Mrs. Harris then busied herself with reopening her comfortable home and getting pig-tailed Kira started in kindergarten.

While she had said before that she fully expected to remain here, friends thought they detected a note of uncertainty. They say any such doubt has vanished.

It was 10 years ago this fall that Clyde Harris, a former Army lieutenant, brought his bride to start a new life on the Texas plains. She vowed at the time, with quiet determination that she would learn to like it here.

A Storybook Courtship

Their wedding capped a storybook courtship.

Harris, who grew up at Maud, Okla., and was a soda fountain clerk as a boy, had entered the Army as a private. By the end of World War II he was detailed to search out a stolen treasure in paintings and gems.

Princess Cecilia and Harris met at Darmstadt, where she had been staying. She is a daughter of Crown Prince Wilhelm, a granddaughter of Kaiser Wilhelm II and a great, great granddaughter of Britain's Queen Victoria.

In a setting spiced with intrigue, the young lieutenant found time to woo his princess while tracking a 40-million-dollar collection taken from the Duke of Hesse during the war.

Until Harris could build the handsome French provincial home he planned, they lived in a four-room apartment here.

Cecilia, born to family eminence, but—as her new friends were to discover—essentially shy and reserved, embarked on a vast readjustment.

As a housewife she was untrained to cook or sew. She couldn't even drive a car, and still can't.

Gradually she made her place in this new and strange community. Clyde, with a talent for friendship, helped his bride get to know a number of people. A few came to be close friends.

As his business flourished, Harris built the home he had designed. Into it went many reminders of his wife's former life—busts of Queen Victoria and the Kaiser, her family coat of arms, china commemorating special events in Hohenzollern history. Mingled with these were art objects Harris had collected.

In October of 1954 their daughter arrived. They named her for former Grand Duchess Kira, who is the wife of Cecilia's brother Louis Ferdinand.

Learned to Cook, Sew

Mrs. Harris Long since had learned to cook and to sew. She is a United States citizen.

Nowadays her activities center about her daughter, the business inherited from her husband and the management of her household.

Mrs. Harris looks in regularly at her business establishment and makes any major decisions. Otherwise she leaves operations to a manager and staff.

At home she has a nurse to care for Kira, a maid who comes in every day and a man to do the yard work.

She entertains once a week on average. Her preference is for small dinner parties affording quiet chats with guests. Mrs. Harris prepares the meals herself.

Once ignorant of sewing, she has grown skillful at the art of needlepoint. Her latest project, designed by Harris and carried out since his death, is a handsome rug with intertwined C's—the first initial of each — in the center.

Heavy Frost Speeds Mechanized Harvest

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Crop harvest moves farther north across the state as farmers make every effort between rains to gather their cotton and grain, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reported Saturday.

"Looking at the brighter side," Director John E. Hutchison said, "the heavy frost last week is what the highly mechanized farmers on the plains in far West Texas needed. Leaves will drop, lending the cotton to mechanical strippers and pickers, and a more speedy harvest if skies are clear."

At Lubbock, District Agent W. H. Jones reported the 50 per cent mark is near for cotton harvest, and activity is increasing as leaves drop. Practically all the grain sorghum has been harvested, and soybean harvest is in full swing.

Moisture is adequate in every part of the state except Foard and Brooks counties. Small grain growth is described as excellent, generally, furnishing much grazing to take the place of native grass killed by frost. Winter weeds and grasses are taking on new growth.

In Deep East Texas, Walter Scott said at Nacogdoches that cattle and pastures are entering the winter in top condition.

Frost damaged tender commercial vegetables and home gardens as far south as the Winter Garden Area around Crystal City, added Joe H. Rothe at Weslaco. However, cucumbers, tomatoes, peppers and some cabbage are being harvested and South Texas ranges are in good condition.

Wildlife, sheep and cattle in the Edwards Plateau continue in good shape, reported Roy L. Huckabee at San Angelo. Cotton harvest is picking up, and a short yielding pecan crop is being gathered.

Wheat planting is 98 per cent complete in the Panhandle, added W. W. Grisham at Amarillo. James Simmons at Vernon said that in the Rolling Plains wheat is planted in many counties, and 80-90 per cent finished in others. Most cotton is harvested.

Grisham also said there is a shortage of cattle reported in some Panhandle counties for the amount of grazing available.

Extent of damage in North Texas from the hard freeze still isn't determined, reported Ted Martin at Denton. And wet fields continue to hamper cotton and peanut harvest but feed supplies are ample. Tomatoes in Northeast Texas were killed and other vegetables damaged, added John Surovik at Mount Pleasant.

Far West Texas cotton harvest is expected to be sooner than average as mechanical pickers go into action after frost defoliated the stalks, said Ray D. Siegmund at Fort Stockton.

Heavy soils near the Gulf Coast are drying out slowly and some field work will resume if the weather stays, reported Silver Whitsett at Rosenberg.

Central Texas farmers still are trying to get what cotton and peanuts are left in the fields, added R. G. Burwell at Stephenville.

At Gonzales Joe M. Glover said the principal damage was to tender vegetation, but flax planting, stalk destruction and land preparation continues and livestock is in good shape.

Man Spends Night Looking For Hound

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Fred Stevenson and his Beagle hound went hunting Thursday in a wooded area of northwestern Pennsylvania.

Stevenson, about 72 of Lakewood Ohio, failed to return at 5 p.m. to a home where he had been staying. A search party was formed.

Five hours later one of the party spotted Stevenson walking along a country road. As it turned out, Stevenson wasn't lost.

His first question was, "Have you seen a Beagle hound around? I've been looking for him all night."

At last report the hound was still lost.

Inspection Is Delayed

AUSTIN (AP)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson's proposed inspection today of the east and west beaches at Galveston has been postponed indefinitely.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Jim Rogers said the trip was put off at least until next week due to poor flying conditions.

Wilson invited several legislators and state officials to accompany him on the inspection.

He planned to look over the beaches from the air and the ground for possible violations of a state law guaranteeing public access to state owned beaches.

Sammy Davis Pays His Back Hotel Bill

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "This is all a terrible misunderstanding," said Sammy Davis Jr.

The entertainer Thursday sent a check for $1,129.50 to an Atlantic City hotel which recently sued him for that amount on an unpaid hotel bill.

Davis explained: "I thought my hotel expenses were being taken care of by the 500 Club where I was appearing. I'm sorry."

Brother And Sister Apart For 42 Years

VICTORIA, Tex., (AP)—Years letter writing and research paid off last weekend when a brother and sister who were separated 42 years ago met for the first time.

The meeting took place when Mrs. J. P. Hammonds, 42, answered her doorbell and a man told her:

"I'm your brother Edward, Hazel."

The meeting was at noon and it was early the next morning before Edward White, 48, of Pontiac, Mich., and his sister decided to a stop talking so they could get some sleep. The next few days were spent filling each other in on what had happened to them since they were born.

White and Mrs. Hammond were born of the same parents. Mrs. Hammonds was only four months old when her parents placed her for adoption with Mrs. Caroline Spalding of Saginaw, Mich.

This was in 1917 when White was nine and had been in a state adoption home in Coldwater, Mich., with a brother, Raymond, for two years.

A Pinconning, Mich., couple Mr. and Mrs. Charles White, adopted Edward, and, later, Raymond. But Raymond died at 14.

White grew up, and went to work in Pontiac when he became curious about his background.

He wrote to an adoption agency in 1932 and learned the name of his parents and established that they lived in Flint, Mich.

Later, he started a search of records at the Genesee County courthouse. The documents there showed his parents had been divorced. The records also showed the existence of a sister.

He checked into the old probate court records and found that his sister had been adopted as a 4-month-old infant by a Mrs. Spalding of Saginaw.

In September White went to Saginaw and learned that Mrs. Spalding had moved a long time before. But a neighbor said she had the Texas address of the woman and her daughter.

Assuming that Mrs. Spalding's daughter was the sister he had never seen, White dispatched this wire to Victoria:

"Dear sis: Did not know of your existence until a month ago. Through probate court and Mrs. Spalding, I have found you."

More telegrams, letters and phone calls followed. Then White decided to drive to Victoria.

Texas Poets Win Two Of Three Awards

DALLAS (AP)—Lone Star state poets won two out of three annual poetry society of Texas contests open to all American writers and two of the three major money prizes offered in 1959 by the society.

But the biggest cash prize, the Dr. A. Joseph Armstrong Memorial award of $125, went to a Virginian, it was announced at the society's annual awards dinner here Saturday night.

She is Ulrich Troubetzkoy of Richmond, a former newspaperwoman who is now managing editor of Virginia Cavalcade, the state magazine of history. Her "Dr. Armstrong walks in the Browning Library," was judged the best poem commenorating the work of the late Dr. A. Joseph Armstrong of Baylor University, Waco.

The two Texas winners of contests open to all American writers were Ruth Averitte of Fort Worth, whose "Peace at Zero" won the Aline B. Carter Peace Award, and Claire Mellin Puckett of Rosenberg, whose "Not by Steel Alone" captured the Harry Kovner prize.

Marion J. McDaniel of Pep, Tex., a school superintendent, won the second largest award of the night — the Old South prize of $100 — given by Georgia B. Lucas of Austin. His winning poem was "The Fruitbearers."

The Hilton Ross Greer Memorial Prize of $50 went to Julia Hurd Strong of Houston, one of the night's top winners, for her "Grapevine on a Sagging Fence."

Houston poets won eight first prizes, placed second in seven and third in seven other contests to dominate the honors for the evening. Dallas poets were second with three first prizes, nine second-place, and seven third-place honors.

Steer From Ike's Farm Is Champion

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — An Angus steer raised on President Eisenhower's farm in Gettysburg, Pa., brought $1.45 a pound as the grand champion carcass steer of the Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Heckett of Valencia, Pa., entered the high bid at an auction Thursday night for the carcass classes. The black animal weighed 692 pounds dressed.

It was raised by the partnership of George E. Allen and B. G. Byers of Gettysburg, R.D. 2, friends of the President.

Japanese Group To Lose Investments

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A Japanese group will lose at least 85 per cent of its investment in common shares of the Toyoda De Mexico Co., the head of the semi-official National Financiera said Thursday.

National Financiera, a financing and developing agency, announced earlier it had purchased Japanese holdings in the company, which manufactures sewing machines and textile industry equipment.

General Manager Jose Hernandez Delgado issued the press statement.

Strike Blamed For Unemployment Hike

AUSTIN (AP) — Unemployment climbed 2,832 from the previous week as 44,121 persons filed unemployment claims last week, the Texas Employment Commission says.

The TEC blamed the increase on factory layoffs resulting from the steel strike.
