Texas Accidents Claim Eight Lives

FOUR MEMBERS OF FAMILY VICTIMS

TRAIN STRIKES CAR NEAR GEORGETOWN; ANOTHER MAY DIE

Eight persons are dead and another near death today due to accidents in Texas yesterday.

Four members of the J. B. Cousins family of Rannels county, were killed yesterday and a fifth not expected to live, when their car was struck by a M. K. T. passenger train near Georgetown.

Accidents at Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth and Georgetown took four more lives.

SURVIVING YOUTH MAY DIE ALSO

GEORGETOWN, Sept. 15 (AP)—Little hope remained today for the recovery of J. B. Cousins, Jr., 8, who was injured yesterday when his father, mother and two brothers were killed as a Missouri-Kansas-Texas passenger train demolished their automobile at a grade crossing near here.

The dead were J. B. Cousins, Sr., 34; Mrs. Cousins, 32; Archie, 6; and Harold, 2.

Wesley, a farmer of Talpa, Rannels county, had left his home because of drought conditions and brought his family to South Texas to pick cotton.

They started out Sunday afternoon for a ride and were driving along an unimproved country road when the car came upon a grade crossing, just as the train emerged from a cut through the side of a

NEW GIANT X-RAY IS DEVELOPED BY SCIENTISTS IN CALIFORNIA; CAN BE DETECTED THROUGH LEAD, CONCRETE

(By Associated Press)
PASADENA, Calif., Sept. 15.—A new giant x-ray tube designed to unleash heating powers which cannot be surpassed even with the use of costly radium has been developed at the California Institute of Technology here, it was learned today.

While the institute physicists do not profess to have discovered a new cure for cancer or other diseases, they say their new tube more than answers the recent appeal by the Radiological Research Institute of New York for tubes to produce x-rays of a hardness and penetration heretofore unknown.

Carolee Furman, funds. The tube was designed and developed by Dr. C. G. Laughton and his associates. Dr. Robert A. Millikan, noted physicist, acted in an advisory capacity. Funds for the research were furnished by the Carolee Corporation of New York.

Further experiments are being carried out daily to determine methods of using the unusually high voltage.

Dr. Laughton and his associates say they were producing x-rays with more than 600,000 volts. The tube, experimented with for the last three years, recently was rebuilt by Dr. Laughton to allow operation and observation at close range. Measuring ten feet in length and 12 inches in diameter, the tube is mounted in a concrete

STORMS HIT FOUR STATES

ENTERPRISE IS LEADING BY TWO MILES

AMERICAN BOAT AHEAD IN SECOND RACE FOR AMERICA'S CUP

U. S. S. KANE, OFF AMERICA'S CUP COURSE, Sept. 15. (By Radio to the Associated Press)—The Enterprise rounded the 20-mile mark in her race in defense of the America's cup against the Shamrock V at 1:29:35 (EST). She was two miles or more ahead of the British boat.

The white hull American boat made the second leg of the 30-mile course in an hour and one minute as compared to the hour and 40 minutes she required to complete the first leg. The second 10 miles was a reach as compared to a windward beat for the first leg.

The Enterprise put the wind off her port quarter and almost directly astern as she turned for home. The Shamrock's only chance to overtake the flying American defender was for the latter to break down or have a sail carried away, which was unlikely in the light breeze that was blowing.

Shamrock rounded the marker at 1:31:35, nine minutes and 10 seconds behind the American boat.

Two Girl Murders Within Month CREATES UNREST IN INDIANA CITY; 17-YEAR-OLD GIRL MURDERED IN BED

(By Associated Press)
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 15.—Another girl murder as atrocious, as unprovoked and apparently as barren of clues as the first, has transformed South Bend into a city of agitated citizenry calling upon the law for the quick arrest and punishment of the slayers.

Alice Wolman, 17 years old, was murdered in her bed yesterday. So quick was the killing and so silent that three other children asleep in the same room—one of them beside her in the bed—were unaware of it. A few minutes later the thumping of the girl's body on the stairway to which, dying, she had crawled, awakened the household.

Two youths questioned. Two young men who had been paying her attention had been questioned by police without, however obtaining any clue to the identity of the killer.

Less than three weeks ago the body of seven-year-old Margaret Appel was found in an alley near her home. She had been attacked, then murdered.

The two killings today prompted the taking of added precautions for protection of South Bend school children. There was a noticeable absence of children from the streets last night.

Youth Re-questioned. Alex Potrack, 18, who was twice questioned yesterday and who was to be re-questioned today, told police he and Alice were engaged to be married.

Hunter's Body Is Found After 7 Years

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 15 (AP)—The body of Ed Gerhardt of San Antonio, who was drowned nearly seven years ago while duck hunting with friends, was found yesterday by boys wading in Medina Lake. Brown protruding from the hunter's boots stuck in mud attracted the attention of the boys. His widow identified the body by means of an engraved watch. Gerhardt, in a boat with Ed Duncan and Will Brown, friends, was hunting ducks in 1923 when the boat capsized and he was drowned.

THREE KILLED, MANY HURT IN AREAS

HEAVY RAINS FOLLOW DISTURBANCES; BIG PROPERTY LOSS

(By The Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 15.—Lightning and wind storms accompanying heavy general rains killed three persons, injured many others and caused considerable property damage in Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma over the week-end.

The rainfall, which reached torrential proportions at some points in the area, filled creeks to overflowing and threatened to send larger streams to high stage.

In Oklahoma the precipitation displaced a heat wave, which had sent the mercury to the 100 degree mark in the northern section of the state.

Lightning Takes Toll. A lightning bolt striking during a rain and hail storm near Bush Center, Kan., Saturday killed Roy Cook, 37, of Bush Center and Herbert Herlihy, 53, Tulsa, Okla.

Gilbert Solto, 9 years old, was killed by lightning near St. Charles, Mo. His uncle, Louis Solto, was made unconscious by the bolt.

Windstorms of near hurricane velocity swept northern Oklahoma late yesterday causing $100,000 damage at Tulsa and injuring four persons. A huge oil tank near Maud, Okla., exploded when struck by lightning, destroying seven dwell-

FULL COOPERATION IS GIVEN WEST TEXANS FOR NEW LINE

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Sept. 15.—Cooperation from the attorney general's department was pledged today to a committee of West Texas citizens here seeking official backing for the proposed Texas and Pacific Northern railroad from Big Spring to Vega.

Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt told the committee he would assign one member of his staff to work with West Texas citizens in gathering data on development which would result from construction of the line; and further said that if it appeared necessary he probably would file an intervening petition before the interstate commerce commission on behalf of citizens of the area.

Charles Le Approved. He pointed out the fact that he had approved the charter for the line indicated the department's approval of the project.

The committee previously had obtained pledges of cooperation from the railroad commission, Governor Dan Moody and R. B. Sterling, Democratic nominee for governor, the latter pledging aid to anything which would develop Texas in an informal conference.

The commission promised that one or two members of the commission would sit in on all hearings regarding the proposed line, including the hearings before the interstate commerce commission and would make a recommendation to the interstate commerce commission regarding need for the line.

Were for West Texas. While the commission did not definitely commit itself the indication was that it would favor the construction, all members declaring they were for anything for the development of Texas. The decision to assign one or two commissioners to the case was made without hearing any testimony.

From the railroad commission the committee went to the governor's office.

Bromley Turns Back In Flight Across Pacific

AMERICANS LAND WITHIN FEW MILES OF SCENE OF TAKE-OFF AFTER RUNNING INTO ADVERSE WEATHER AND HAVING GAS LINE BROKEN

(By Associated Press)
TOKYO, Sept. 15.—The fourth attempt of Harold Bromley, American aviator, to span the Pacific ocean ended today when he and his co-pilot, Harold Gatty, were forced by adverse weather to return to within a few miles from where they had taken off for America nearly twenty-five hours previously.

Bromley landed the huge monoplane "City of Tacoma" near the village of Shitahari on Cape Shirayama, Aomori prefecture, at 8 a. m. (1 p. m. p. a. t.) neither the pilot nor Gatty were injured, but dispatches did not say whether the plane was damaged.

Had Flown 2,400 Miles. The monoplane, attempting a 4,000-mile flight over the ocean to Tacoma, Wash., was in the air 24 hours and 53 minutes and from calculations apparently had flown approximately 2,400 miles.

The plane had reached 300 miles beyond Cape Lopatka, nearly half way to the western-most Aleutians before turning back when the fliers encountered thick fog and head winds.

No Radio Heard. Fear for the flier's safety had increased when no reports were received after they began its hazardous flight. Although the plane carried a wireless set, operators on ships at sea and land stations were unable to pick up signals from the fliers. It was believed rain had disabled the radio set.

Before their takeoff from Samushiro beach, near Sambori, at 5:08 a. m. Sunday (12:08 p. m. Saturday p. a. t.), the aviators had been promised ideal weather along almost the entire distance of the great circle route to Tacoma.

Headwinds and adverse weather halted the progress of the big vermillion monoplane, which was capable of flying less than 100 miles an hour, and Bromley apparently realized the futility of trying to reach Tacoma and turned back.

Parents Must Strive to Mold Character of Child

By HELEN WELSHIMER
NEA Service-Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Whoever said that we're never too old to learn appears to have made a mistake. Sometimes, after the age of six months, the time limit is passed. Mary may already have become a wall-flower and Johnny may never learn not to be afraid to fight the boys in the alley after school!

And it won't be Johnny and Mary's fault. The blame is on the shoulders of their parents who neglected their social life when they were six and seven months old.

Dr. Charlotte Buhler, professor of child psychology at the University of Vienna, has been studying all the stages of infancy for years and years. Hundreds of infants and older children are brought to her laboratory every year.

And now she has prepared a guiding set of rules for parents, which tell how you may decide if your child is normal, and also how you may keep him that way.

Mrs. Pearl Greenberg, a student of Dr. Buhler's who assisted in the translation of her recent book, "The First Year of Life," is familiar with the noted psychologist's views.

"A child must have relations with others, although he is only a few years old," Mrs. Greenberg says. "If he doesn't, he will develop shyness. If he is going to be comfortable with other children, he has to play with them from the very beginning."

Social Graces Learned When Mary and Johnny have their first birthday parties they aren't supposed to hide behind the door. Social contact will be an old story by then.

Don't leave your few months old child lying in its crib and breathe a sigh of relief because he requires so little attention. You'll be sorry if you do, perhaps, when you try to teach him the meaning of the family language.

"If a child isn't talked to, he doesn't get the proper vowel sounds. It will be more difficult for him to learn to speak than it would have been if he had received conversational attention," Mrs. Greenberg explained.

Also, watch the toys you give your child. "First toys should be simple," the child psychologist has learned. "They must be the type that can be handled easily. They should be bright and attractive in color. A variety should be used. However, an infant should not be overstimulated by being given too many toys at one time."

For here again, Mary and Johnny will pay the price in the future when they begin to want entirely too many beads and bracelets and roadsters.

Needs Normal Background This child is a product of his environment and heredity," Mrs. Greenberg believes, as does Dr. Buhler. "The first year he must have a normal healthy background. If he is neglected during the first twelve-month period his development may be retarded."

However, you can make a child nervous, far more nervous than he makes you, if you don't show some poise about your relation with him. Be calm, be considerate, be interested.

For there's wisdom in the mind of a two and three and four months old youngster, even if he doesn't know it.

As the hundreds and thousands of infants enter the laboratories of Dr. Buhler for observation and experimentation, she has come to learn certain important facts about the first year of life.

It is no longer necessary to wait until a child goes to school to know if he is capable of learning his ABC's and locating Madrid and Peking on the map.

A few simple rules of observation will tell you if he or she will have a chance at the presidency some day.

Here are a few of the normal observations as Dr. Buhler and Mrs. Greenberg see them.

When a child is two months old he should be able to hold his head up when placed in a prone position. He should be able to focus his eyes on a moving shiny object, to return the glance of the adult, and to show by his reactions that he distinguishes between the adult's natural and growing tones of voice.

If a child has a good inherited body, he will hold his body straighter and walk sooner than the youngster who hasn't.

There is an important turning point at the tenth month. Here are a few of the things which the normal child will do:

Turn his head toward a sound. If he doesn't, his hearing or his mentality may be deficient.

Move his arms across face readily when he awakens.

Give way to tears, frowns, tight shutting of the eyes, and rubbing of the face against the pillow when angry. Don't boast of your child's sweet disposition, unless you are sure that he can show a little spunk when the world doesn't suit him.

Open his mouth after removal of food if not satisfied.

Hold his head up when lying on his stomach.

Stretch his legs, arms, fingers and tongue.

Move in one direction and back again.

Handle static objects.

Then, too, don't be contented if the child is quiet. You'll know he is normal if he makes a noise. Habitual crying, sounds of accomplishment, repetition of his own original code of sounds, sighing, growling and movement, all in the right direction.

Dr. Charlotte Buhler, left, head of the Department of Child Psychology at the University of Vienna, believes that a child's life is affected to a great extent by influences it encounters before the age of one year. The picture at the right shows an assistant examining a baby to see if it has the consciousness of its legs and arms which denotes that it is physically normal.

All Actions Have Meaning Notice, too, if your ten months old child rubs his eyes, open his eyes widely when crying, becomes ill-humored when a person, once seen, goes away, is comforted by caresses, and a little observation will help him wonderfully in his babyhood.

None of these, or dozens of other actions, are aimless.

They are all part of infant development. It's a wise parent who knows the future of his own child. And a little observation will help him wonderfully in his babyhood.

"We believe that we can see whether a child has normal mentality," Mrs. Greenberg said. "The whole public is becoming child conscious. We do not say that a child is not normal if he does, or does not, do this, but our observations have taught us that if a child responds in the manner which we have described, he is normal."

So don't wait until Mary and Johnny count their ages by years. Get busy while they still deal with months. If you want to train them in the way they should go.

Don't worry if they cry too loud. It proves their lungs are strong.

Mrs. Y. W. Rogers Is Winner In Radio Audition For Panhandle In Amarillo

Mrs. Y. W. Rogers, 1919 Broadway, who won in the annual Atwater-Kent radio audition conducted yesterday at 1 o'clock in Amarillo, will compete in the state audition in Abilene during the first week in October, it was announced this morning.

High School Girls Need Employment

A number of high school girls need part-time work in order that they may be able to remain in school during the winter, Miss Nell Farmley, dean of women, said this morning, and women in the city who can offer employment are asked to call Miss Farmley.

Some of the girls want to work in homes for their room and board and others want only intermittent employment, she said.

PLATFORM OF SOCIALISTS ANNOUNCED

TWENTY-ONE PRINCIPLE PLANKS IN SLATE FOR ELECTION

(By The Associated Press)
DALLAS, Sept. 15.—The Texas Socialist party's platform, announced here today, advocated immediate reformation of the state government to include 21 socialist principles. The party has placed a full state ticket in the field headed by L. L. Rhodes of Grand Saline as its nominee for governor.

The platform included demands for a state-owned bank and stringent usury laws; state inspection of weights, grades and prices of farm products; exemption from taxation of the average home and farm actually used by the owner; equal taxation for improved and unimproved land; limitation of land ownership; a minimum rental law; repeal of poll taxes; old age pensions; state insurance; abolition of the fee system; state civil service; minimum wage for women and children and union wages for all state employees; amendment of the workmen's compensation law to make payments equal to wages during disability and a state insurance company to handle such; conservation of natural resources, and the "steady roasting" of municipal and state ownership.

Against Militarism
The platform opposed "militarism in all its forms," the national guard, the state rangers and training camps. It favored state-built, county-built and city-built roads as against building by "private capitalist contractors," and commented that "all public work done by private contract is a fruitful source of graft and bribery."

For education, the platform demanded "large appropriations for schools."

LOUISIANA IS TO MOVE FOR ROAD BONDS

POLITICS FORGOTTEN AS TWO SIDES OF RACE JOIN WORK

(By The Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15.—The state of Louisiana, ripped and torn by factional Democratic politics for the last two years, has declared a political holiday.

Governor Huey P. Long and Mayor T. Semmes Walmesley, titular heads of the two opposing factions, have sheathed their swords and agreed to work together for adoption of a $60,000,000 state bond issue to build state highways and public works in New Orleans and reduce the debt of the New Orleans dock board.

Sends Congratulations
Such a truce was indicated Tuesday night when Mayor Walmesley rushed to be the first to congratulate Governor Long on winning the Democratic nomination for the United States senate over Senator Joseph E. Ransdell.

The mayor and his old regular Democratic organization had fought the governor without quarter and seldom has such bitterness and ferocity been engendered in a campaign anywhere. "Crook, thief, liar," were hurled at each from the rostrums of the state through the air and through the newspapers.

When the returns were counted Governor Long had won by close to a forty thousand majority and the old regulars reverted to the old political adage "if you can't lick 'em join 'em."

After old regular caucuses, the New Orleans association of commerce appeared as an intermediary and a conference was arranged in Governor Long's apartments in the Roosevelt hotel. Each side expressed a willingness to cooperate and conditions were drafted. Among the conditions was a provision that any further impeachment moves against Governor Long be dropped, that the old regulars would support the governor's bond issue and that certain safeguards be thrown around the expenditure of the bond issue funds.

Schools Put Halt To Scouts' Work

Little activity is scheduled in boy scout circles over the South Plains area, announcement at headquarters of the organization here this morning revealed.

D. T. Jennings, scout executive will meet with the Scouts troop today for the purpose of planning a court of honor to be held in that city within the near future.

The American Legion post at O'Donnell has outlined a program of community-wide interest on Wednesday night for scouts and their parents which possibly will draw some attendance from Lubbock.

Plans for the organization of a second troop of scouts will be made at a meeting to be held at 8 p.m. on Thursday of this week, according to local officials.

STRANGEST PEOPLE ON EARTH COMING TO LUBBOCK WITH RINGLING BROTHERS AND BARNUM AND BAILEY TOMORROW

There may be stranger people on the face of the earth than the Ubangi savages, the outstanding feature of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus, coming to Lubbock Tuesday, but explorers of the far places have not reported them. Head hunters, pygmies, Igorroes, Solomon Islanders of cannibalistic yearnings—these are weird folk, but the disc-lipped women of the Ubangi tribe from the interior of the French Congo make them seem tame. The Ubangi belles have lips and mouths of enormous size, developed by the insertion of small wooden discs in babyhood and the substitution of larger discs as the girl child attains age. Only the women have the disc-lips or "duck-bills."

Agents Visited Area
These tribesmen and their sensational interesting women were brought from the Ubangi-Shari-Chad territory of the French Congo by Dr. Eugene Bergonnier, who, with his wife, accompanies them with "the greatest show on earth." They are, of course, to be seen in the main performance, and they are on view in the menagerie, where all may inspect them at leisure. Agents of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey spent three months with Dr. Bergonnier getting the Ubangi from their village in the deepest interior of the black continent to the west coast, where they boarded a coastwise tramp steamer. Notwithstanding the change of climate, the Ubangi have remained healthy and happy. If they are amazed at the wonders of modern civilization, they do not voice any such reaction. They are the first of their kind ever to leave their habitat, but they show very little interest in their strange surroundings.

The circus is to show at the Gilliland circus lot, south of the fair grounds.

TWO IMPORTANT GOVERNMENT UNITS, TARIFF COMMISSION AND FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD, TO BE REORGANIZED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Reorganization of two of the government's most important organizations—the tariff commission and the federal reserve board—will become effective this week.

Two veterans in government service will become the new heads of these two agencies. Henry P. Fletcher, of Pennsylvania, for many years one of the nation's diplomats, will become chairman of the tariff commission Tuesday. The same day, Eugene Meyer, of New York, who steered the war finance corporation and federal farm loan board through strenuous days, will take over the governorship of the federal reserve board.

To Name Others
President Hoover is ready to name the other five members of the tariff commission in time to take office Tuesday, the deadline fixed by the Smoot-Hawley tariff act for its reorganization.

Thomas Walker Page, a Virginia Democrat, who once before served on the tariff commission, is the one by other nominee whose choice for the new commission has been announced at the White House.

Evenly Divided
The new law requires that the reorganized tariff body be composed of three Democrats and three Republicans. Of the six members now on the board it is regarded as certain that Edgar D. Brossard, of Utah, a Republican and Alfred P. Dennis, of Maryland, a Democrat, will continue in service. This leaves two more places to be filled.

A host of work confronts the new tariff commission. Even before its reorganization, the special investigations ordered by congress into the newly-enacted rates in the Smoot-Hawley act.

President Has Power
The recent tariff act places on the commission the responsibility for fixing the rates giving to the president the power either to accept or veto its recommendation. Meyer will succeed as governor of the Federal reserve board Roy Young who resigned to become the governor of the Boston federal reserve bank. The appointment of Meyer was made possible when Edmund D. Platt, the vice governor resigned. Both Platt and Meyer came from the New York federal reserve district.

Two Prisoners Are Dead After Drinks

LEAVENWORTH, Kans., Sept. 15 (AP)—Federal penitentiary officials late Saturday announced two prisoners at the prison annex, Fort Leavenworth had died after drinking shellac containing wood alcohol and a third convict who drank the fluid was expected to recover.

The dead were Wallace Waldron, negro, 33, received November 16, 1929, from Chicago to serve four years for violating the anti-narcotic act; and Clarence Nickerson, 29, received December 13, 1929, under 18-months sentence for violating the anti-narcotic act. Nickerson's body will be sent to Union City, Pa., and Waldron's to Chicago.

The prisoners drank the liquid Friday morning while at work in the prison paint shop and soon became violently ill.

Opera singers in Stockholm became highly indignant when they were ordered to reduce. One would think it would aid their scale work.

Bids Received on City Fuel Contract

Bids are being received at the city hall today on fuel oil requirements of the city for the next six months and awarding of contract for supplying the need is expected to be made within the near future.

The city will use approximately 390,000 gallons of fuel oil in generating electricity here during the next half year period, officials stated. All of the oil is used at the local power plant.

Several bids had been received at noon today and others are expected this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP)—President Hoover today told Mayor Harry A. Mackey of Philadelphia that he would attend the opening game of the World series in that city October 1.

the Preserves that boiled over ... and Why!

"They're beauties!" said Mrs. Brewster to herself as she paused—hands on hips—to view her afternoon's achievement—a score of glistening jars of preserves, standing in soldierly rows on the kitchen table.

"Sweetened to a T", she added as she tasted the final batch, now almost ready to be removed from the stove.

Just then—in the hall upstairs—the telephone rang!

When Jim Brewster came home a little later he found his wife still tearfully scraping the stains from her new stove.

"I can't," she faltered, "I just can't watch preserves and answer the telephone at the same time. I might have known they'd boil over!"

Jim slipped his arm about her consolingly. "Never you mind," he comforted. "Tomorrow, I'll order an 'extension' telephone right in the kitchen."

Telephones where you need them save time, patience, housewifely disappointments—and mishaps such as this.

Few know that the extra cost of an "extension" is between two and three cents a day.

By a wisely-placed "extension" or two, an expert telephone man can often double the convenience of the telephones in your home. Call the business office of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

"They're beauties," said Mrs. Brewster.

THE PLAINSMAN
Says:
That Girl on Broadway says pose is that something which enables a woman to appear serene—even when she knows something is loose.
Being dignified doesn't leave much time for work. On that basis one may well know that The Plainsman is the hardest and most consistent worker in all this broad open country.
BY THE WAY, Lubbock is going to get some free publicity in newspapers all over the United States as well as a number of publications in Canada. A feature service supplying interviews of various men, both famous and infamous, has written The Plainsman for an interview to be published in all the papers it serves. The interview had to be based upon some form of community activities and The Plainsman, with an eye to getting the name Lubbock into all those papers, knocked off an opinion.
This opinion is one which The Plainsman has aired before various and sundry chambers of commerce leaders but has never written upon it before. In case the home folks are interested in the kind of fluff going out with Lubbock's name on it, we'll reproduce it here. It follows:
IT HAS often occurred to me that the practice of community building—or rather the practice of engaging in it—has never struck deep enough home to that great group of our citizens covered in the blanket characterization of 'the man in the street'.
That occurrence has led me further; has caused me to ponder over the condition in order to reach some direct reason for its existence.
In every city, village and hamlet in our country we find as bulwarks of the chamber of commerce, commercial club or what ever the civic vehicle happens to be called, the same little group of business men. This same little group bears the burden for the whole of the community in the expenditure of effort, time and usually, finances. The average citizen who profits and whose family profits indirectly from the varied labors of the few, doesn't seem to feel that he, too, is responsible for helping make his town just a little better than it is.
The cause of the trouble, as I see it, is the average commercial organization does not realize that, beyond the few men who are vitally interested in civic development, are scores of other men who could and would help—if properly approached and cultivated. Generally speaking, the chambers make little effort to interest in actual co-operation, any one outside the 'faithful few' and as a result the term 'chamber of commerce' is foreign to many who reap great gain from its activities.
'Man-power' is as valuable in civic endeavor as it is anywhere else. From the psychological point, alone, it is priceless in welding community thought—in the making of that intangible treasure, 'public opinion'. If our chambers of commerce will see the light, make a little room for the 'average citizen' and give him an occasional opportunity to be heard, the individual, the city and the chamber itself will be broadened until all are vital parts of the community in which they flourish.
Now that may just be another one of The Plainsman's 'wee ideas' but he clings to it nevertheless. The proof of the pudding is right here in Lubbock—as well as everywhere else, and whether or not anything can be done to correct it is a matter of opinion.
Understand, this opinion is in no way a criticism of Lubbock's 'Faithful Few'—not at all. In fact we wouldn't have gotten to first base without them. But the fact that the same names and the same faces appear in all civic endeavors here bears out The Plainsman's point that one group is—and has been—doing it all. That's not right.
This column is honest when it says that the chamber of commerce here else should make it a point to enlist the active co-operation of every available man-verse in the chamber, and to go out of its way to do it. The results, we believe, would be well worth the effort.
That Man on Avenue Q says no happy may be good news but you can't say the same about no luck.
What most football teams need is a quarterback to smother in football that he flunks mathematics.
TWO of the girls in the office were talking this morning about the dates they had last night.
"You know, honey," said one, "I've decided that I don't like John. Last night I wanted to show him how well I could whistle, and when I pucker up my lips do you know what he did?"
"No," screamed her friend in agony of suspense, "what did he do?"
"The big sap let me whistle!"
The reason some great men are lonely is because they sacrificed too many friends on the way up.

The Women Geographers Are Keeping Busy And They've Been Just About Everywhere, Correspondent Discovers

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—No one ought to be surprised any more to learn about anything women are doing, but it is something of an eye-opener to discover the Society of Women Geographers and the many exploits of its members.

Membership in the society, which has its headquarters in Washington, is open only to those women who "have done work of distinction in the world's store of knowledge concerning the countries on which they have specialized, and have published in magazines or in book form a record of their work."
They've Been Everywhere
Except for the North and South Poles and the top of Mount Everest it appears that virtually every spot on the earth's surface has been subject to visits from these women explorers. Some of them have traveled to far places on scientific work, others to find something to write about and others from no more than an itch to go places.
Harriet Chalmers Adams is the society's president. Recently she was through all the countries along the Mediterranean on a seven-month tour, making a special study of Sicily's historic connection with Spain. Now she is off again, bound for Ethiopia, Eritrea, Italian Somaliland. She has browsed all over the world with her husband, Franklin Adams, counselor of the Pan-American Union, who now has to stay in Washington.
Mrs. Della J. Akley, another member, recently returned from her fourth trip into Central Africa, bringing much information and hundreds of photographs of forest pygmies whom she studied over a five-month period. The king of Belgium has appointed her to a commission which supervises hunting licenses and other matters in the Congo.
Dr. Harriet M. Allen of Mount Holyoke College has toured prehistoric sites in Italy, Egypt, Palestine, Syria, Brittany, Spain and the Pyrenees and represented the American School of Prehistoric Research at the excavations in the Cave of the Vaches at Athlit, Palestine. Dr. Florence Bascom of Bryn Mawr, who has been associated with the Geological Survey since 1909, is working on four geologic folios which will complete folio mapping of eastern Pennsylvania.
Mary Hastings Bradley is going back to Africa, entering from the west coast, penetrating the Cameroons and traveling by Safari to Bangui and Zemie, where she will study fetish-worshipping natives. After that she is going to Persia and Turkestan. Mrs. Caroline Benedict Carroll, who succeeded her late husband as lecturer on archaeology at George Washington University, joined an archaeological group in Mexico this summer after a previous season studying the art of Greek cities in Asia Minor and a motor trip along the trail of Roman conquest in Gaul.
Sally Clark, another member, once saw and shot two black-maned lions at the same time, the only big game hunter who ever did. She mounts her own victims. Not long ago she spent a month on a big game hunt with a woman companion, a guide, 14 negroes, a mechanic and three trucks. Elizabeth Dwyer sailed with her husband, Dr. Herbert Dwyer, last March on an expedition to the source of the Orinoco river, in which general region they had previously discovered a

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

CITIZEN OF OLD TIME
WOULD BE AMAZED
AT MODERN MARKETING
IF A CITIZEN of the eighteenth century could by some miracle be transplanted intact to our own day, I am inclined to believe that the method of selling food would impress him as strangely as any of the changes he would see.
After the first shock of automobiles, steam engines, plumbing, telephones and airplanes had been survived, and he or, more likely, she, had a chance to live clear through a day, carrying out all the ordinary transactions of life, I wager my statement would be confirmed.
That a table should be loaded with oranges, grapes, apples, and green vegetables at nearly any time of year would leave them aghast.
Sugar! in any quantity in a great bowl on the table! For anyone to take as much as they might wish! A hundred and fifty years ago sugar was a rare luxury. It was kept locked up in a box in the kitchen. The form of the handle on the sugar tin in your kitchen is a survival of this. You will notice that there is a place where you can insert a padlock. And such sugar as your ancestors would see on your table. They were used to coarse brown sugar. Only at the end of the eighteenth century was beet sugar manufacture begun in Germany.
Then, while bread! The bread of the eighteenth century was milled by stone grinding, which left all the husks in the flour. Milling began about 1810 and gradually resulted in a fine flour.
Meat would also cause some amazement. Wellington's soldiers were said to be a noble and hardy looking crew, but their rations consisted of one pound of wheat a day. No meat.

But the most astonishing thing for our ancestors to see would be the method of marketing our provisions. In their day there was a miller, and a butcher, and a baker, and a green grocer, and a fishmonger and so forth. What each had to stock was the limit of selection. To walk into a single store, ask for anything that happened to come into your mind and get it would simply seem like magic to the old folks.
With all the advantages of this industrial revolution, certain disadvantages have arisen. Dependence on canned goods, and prepared foods, and delicatessen sort of food, is resulting in many instances in deficiency diseases. Fresh food is absolutely necessary for good health. The ease with which sugar and candy can be obtained has probably resulted in a much more obese adult population than our ancestors knew. And with obesity comes the possibility of a train of diseases of nutrition.
EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening cannot diagnose or give personal answers to letters from readers. Where questions are of general interest, however, they will be taken up, in order, in the daily column. In New York
With Swan
Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Those perambulating Manhattanites who have drifted out to Hollywood and then drifted back to Broadway invariably manage to bring back amusing tales of the strange ways of the movie colony.
For the veracity of these, I cannot vouch. I merely hold the opinion that Hollywood is a place where the incredible can happen—including some of their films.
My latest secret agent is Wolfe Gilbert, and if you don't recall the name just start humming "Waiting for the Robert Lee." That, with a hundred other hits, can be claimed by "Wolfe."
At any rate, he tells a tale of how he arrived in the most publicized town on the map under a contract to write songs for the singles, talking or whatever it is when they make up their mind.
"They laid out a very lovely park on this lot," recites the song writer. "It had walks and gardens and fountains and lovely benches and all that sort of thing."
"One morning all of us in the so-called creative department were called upon to send in suggestions concerning this park. We could say what we liked about it, and what we disliked and all that. Well, fresh from New York and trying to be funny, I sent in a note saying that all the park lacked was a couple of bumps on the benches."
"You'd expect that to get a large laugh, wouldn't you? To my amazement I received a note a few days later recommending me on my suggestion. Someone thought it was elegantly atmospheric. Can you beat it?"
He brings another tale of a celebrated star who, whether he wanted it or not, found himself in possession of one of those fabulous dressing room bungalows with which Hollywood is cluttered. The star happened to live but a few blocks away and saw no reason for this sumptuous and extravagant gesture in the direction of his ego.
It was noticed that he went to this bungalow but seldom. Finally someone decided to discover what he used it for.
"Oh," remarked the star, "I hang my underwear upon the chandeliers."
And William Keefe, another one of our Broadway boys who has made good in the small cities, sends one about the old tale of the music films, most of which have caved in recently.
One of the celebrated button-hole makers who helps run film-making was faced with a heavy payroll of song writers, directors and what-not. His sums of money had been tied up and there seemed to be no outlet.
"Well," commented the demo, "we've had troubles in the pictures for years. First it was wine and women and now it's song."
There's one more from Wolfe about a conference concerning the music which was to accompany a certain picture.
All the musicians were consulted and, after hearing the film story, Wolfe suggested that Groucho's Funeral March be used in a certain scene.
"O. K.," but don't write more than two verses and a chorus for it," the ex-cloak-and-suiter admonished.

NORTH CAROLINIAN DECLARES SOUTH'S DEMOS NOT TO MARCH UNDER FLAG OF 'ROOSEVELT, RASKOB AND RUM' UNIT

(By The Associated Press)
WILMINGTON, N. C., Sept. 15.—The statement that southern Democrats will not march under a banner inscribed "Roosevelt, Raskob and Rum," was made here Saturday night by Dr. Arthur J. Barton, of Wilmington, chairman of the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League, in criticizing the announcement of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York favoring repeal of the dry law and advocating states rights in the matter of prohibition.
Dr. Barton, who is pastor of Temple Baptist church here and chairman of the commission on social service of the Southern Baptist church, charged that during the last campaign Governor Roosevelt underwrote Gov. Smith's wet platform from end to end and belabored prohibition as the source of all evil and crime.
Barton's Hot Change
"Nobody," he said, "supposed for a moment that he has had any change of heart."
The statement said Gov. Roosevelt and John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic executive committee, "are much mistaken if they think southern dry Democrats will follow them in their efforts to deliver the country from the 'damnable affliction' of prohibition."
Will Not March
"Southern Democrats," said Dr. Barton, "will not march under a banner inscribed 'Roosevelt, Raskob and Rum,' and if the Democratic party lifts up such a banner it will only bury itself a little deeper."
"If the party can not find some way to deliver itself from Mr. Raskob and establish a different type of leadership, it will have no hope of resurrection. Prohibition is the established policy of our government, and has the support of the great majority of the people."
"The people are going to protect and promote this greatest piece of reform legislation. Any candidate or party, aspiring to reach the White House on a platform seeking to destroy prohibition will be smashed."

Sale of Holdings Of Grain Is Urged

TOPEKA, Sept. 15. (AP)—In a letter to Alexander Lege, chairman of the Federal Farm board, the Kansas drought relief committee today urged the farm board to give consideration to the sale on long time terms, of its grain holdings and other feeds which it might purchase, to individual stock feeders in need of assistance to carry their livestock through the winter.
The committee said in its letter, it did not interpret proposed sale of the feed under such terms "as being loans, which could only be made through cooperative associations."
The committee said it interpreted the agricultural marketing act "to give the federal farm board, through its agencies, the grain stabilization corporation and the Farmers' National Grain corporation, the power to buy feed where it is available and sell it the associations or individuals on such terms as the board may determine."
The 100th birthday anniversary of the discovery of the match will soon be celebrated in France. Out of sheer gratefulness, every user of a cigar lighter will send along expressions of congratulation.

Burke Is Linked With Bank Robbery

PATERSON, N. J., Sept. 15. (AP)—The hunt for Fred Burke, notorious Chicago gangster, sought in connection with the St. Valentine's day massacre in 1929 and for crimes in half a dozen middle-west states, shifted to the east today as police saw his handwriting in the $15,000 robbery of a South Palmer bank. Burke's gallery photographs of Burke and August Winkler, a confederate, were tentatively identified by three persons who witnessed the hold-up of the Merchants Trust company last Wednesday. Doris Saunders and Kenneth Peacock, bank employees, and Mrs. Anna Forst, a customer, said the pictures "resembled" two of the three robbers who locked them in a vault.

Just Silly

The Communists, arrested at St. Perry, O., last summer, held up to their red comrades all over the nation as "lame" after a judge sentenced to five years in prison and then $5,000 apiece.
The sentences helped other Communist agitators very materially. They saved them something to boast; enabled them to declare the Communists in this country being "persecuted."
However, these Communists have been knocked out. The court of appeals has reversed conviction of the Martin's trio. The judge who wrote the opinion did not pass on the constitutionality of the law under which the Communists were sent. He simply remarked that the majority were just plain silly and prejudiced.
The reason some great men are lonely is because they sacrificed too many friends on the way up.

PANTHERS AND SPUDS BATTLE IN DECIDING GAME TODAY

FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD NEW YORK TWINS ARE ENDEAVORING TO SWIM ENGLISH CHANNEL TODAY; MOTHER CONFIDENT

MORE WORK IN STORE FOR GRIDMEN

BOTH TECH AND HIGH SCHOOL HAVE BUSY WEEK AHEAD

With four days to go before their first game of the season, the Lubbock High school Westerners will go through the paces of training and drilling today in a new order.

Out at the fair park field, which is in the best shape of its history, Coach Henry Franks' scampers Westerners, all thirty of them, will drill today in anticipation of an invasion Friday by the Colorado High school Wolves. The first conference game is with the Pampa Harvesters next Friday week, and until last week the Westerners had been drilling in the Pampa game and drilling especially for the charge of the Harvesters.

Something happened last Friday afternoon, however, to cause the Westerner mentor and machine to change course.

It happened over at Abilene, where the Colorado Wolves, Class B team led the Abilene High Eagles, one of the league Class A teams of the Oil Belt, for more than four quarters. In an overhead game the Wolves swept over the Eagles and led them a dog's life until five minutes after the last quarter opened. The Eagles came to life however and beat down the attack for a victory. Those same Wolves will play their aerial circus, will be in Lubbock this week-end, and for the next four afternoons Coach Franks will spend his time perfecting a pass defense and a running offense to be used against the invaders.

The Matadors settled down to more hard work this morning as the second week of training rolled around. Last week, starting Wednesday, the Tech mentors drilled their charges in defensive plays, paying particular attention to blocking, tackling and charging the offense. This work will continue for a day or two, though on a more strenuous basis, before the Matadors get down to the business of offense.

Individuals Get Attention
Special attention is given to individual players on the Tech field, with an eye to personal perfection. The four coaches, Cavthon, Morgan, Goughly, and Smith, have divided the squad of 30 into four groups, so that much time may be spent with individuals.

It is likely that the squad will start scrimmage sessions this week, and the coaches announce that they will start running plays early. Unusually hard exercises were given the Matador candidates last week in order to toughen up feet and muscles as early as possible. The first game will be played here September 20 when the Wayland college eleven of Plains invades the Matador stronghold.

DOVER, Eng., Sept. 15.—Berenice and Phyllis Zittenfeld, 15-year-old New York twins, were engaged today in an attempt to swim the English channel.

Entering the water at South Foreland at 4:50 a. m., the twins drew slowly away from land and headed toward the far away French shore.

Mother Confident
Their mother expressed confidence that her children would complete the long grind successfully. "We came over two years ago," she said, "but the girls were not in shape for the ordeal."

Conditions Fair
The twins, who are making an attempt to win the Dover gold cup, were taken to their starting point by a motorboat and commenced their swim under fairly good conditions except that a smart northwesterly wind was blowing which they may possibly feel when they get farther out into the channel.

As the girls struck out an American flag used by Mrs. Millie Gabe Carson of New York in her channel swim in 1926 was hoisted at the masthead of the accompanying motorboat. Spartan, in which the pilot and Mrs. Zittenfeld rode. Mrs. Zittenfeld will attend to the twins' feeding arrangements.

At 10:30 a. m. the girls were four and the half miles directly off Dover, swimming strongly but being carried westward by the tide. The sea was choppy and the swimmers apparently had a hard fight ahead.

STANDINGS IN TENNIS MAY CHANGE
DOEG'S VICTORY AND TOURNAY PLAY MAY CAUSE ACTION

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—A 21-year-old Californian, John Doe, sat on top of the tennis heap today while experts spent their spare time predicting a wholesale shift in this country's ranking list.

Doe won the national singles title in a spectacular duel with Frank Shields, 19-year-old New Yorker, on Saturday and thus became the youngest player to capture the crown since Billy Johnston first reached the heights in 1915.

But more to the point, where the question of a new ranking list is involved, is the fact that Doe, in his march to the finals, eliminated Big Bill Tilden, for ten straight years this country's No. 1 player, and Francis T. Hunter, who has been rated just behind Big Bill for some years.

On the basis of 1930 performance, there is a strong possibility that at least three youngsters, Shields, Sidney B. Wood of New York, and Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, Calif., may crash their way into the first ten. Whether Tilden will lose his place at the top of the lists to Doe is a moot point, for the tall Philadelphia player played marvellous tennis in Europe this season. Hunter is virtually certain to be dropped several pegs from the No. 2 spot he now occupies. Doe, ranked No. 3 last year, hardly can be denied a higher place. George Lott, present No. 4, has shown little this year and may take a tumble.

The Texans, Wilmer Allison and Berkeley Bell, may be ranked high-

BETTENCOURT BREAKS UP 4-ALL TIE IN NINTH INNING

(By The Associated Press)
FORT WORTH, Sept. 15.—All square after four games, Wichita Falls and Fort Worth were ready to play their best brand of baseball in today's fifth and deciding game in the Texas league playoff series—a game which will determine the team to meet Memphis, Southern association champions, in the Dixie series starting Wednesday.

In coming up on equal terms with Fort Worth yesterday, Wichita Falls had to stave off a Cat rally in the eighth before winning, 5 to 4, in the last inning. Hal Witte started the affair, and thanks to three runs his mates scored in the second and third, he breezed along easily until the eighth when a single, a double and a home run by Clarke, a pinch hitter, tied the score at 4-all, the Spudders having tallied once in their half of the frame.

Bettencourt Does It
Larry Bettencourt put Wichita Falls very much in the series again with a clean double over the head of Moore, Cat centerfielder, scoring Fitzgerald with the winning run. Fitzgerald had reached a scoring position with a single and was moved up by Klossa's sacrifice.

MEMPHIS TO HAVE HEAVY HITTING TEAM
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 15 (AP)—Memphis will send into the Dixie series next Wednesday in quest of the south's highest baseball honor, a team which will include nine players with batting averages of .300 or better and a crew of seven pitchers, all with marks of .500 or better and three holding places among the "big five" of the league hurlers.

The average of the 18 men eligible to compete in the post season series as members of the Memphis club is .27 years, and their average for years in professional baseball seven.

Batters Divided
Right and left handed batters are evenly divided: seven of the 18 are players with previous major league experience and three have competed in previous series between Southern association and Texas pennant winners for the southern title.

"Doc" Frothrope, playing manager and native Memphian, who came back from the major leagues two years ago as manager of the Memphis club and in his third year as manager realized his ambition of piloting a "home town" club to a pennant. With Sam Vick and Stanley Benton are the trio who have gone through previous Dixie series. Harry Kelly and Vic and Benton have played in the major leagues.

George Pierce Is Off for A. & M.
George Pierce, former star of the Lubbock High school Western grid team, left yesterday for College Station where he will enter his sophomore year at Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college.

His father, Chas. A. Pierce, said this morning that George would turn out for a berth on the football team. He played last year with the Aggie freshman eleven. He is a backfield man.

er than the No. 7 and No. 8 positions they now hold for both have played spectacularly this season. John Van Ryn is the present No. 5; Fritz Mercer, declared ineligible for amateur competition on Saturday, is No. 6; Wilbur F. Coen, No. 8 and Gregory Mangin, No. 10.

Kentucky motorists consumed 143,717.831 gallons of gasoline in 1929.

STORM BREAKS UP GAME

TAHOKA, SOUTHLAND TO MEET AGAIN IN TITLE TEST

TAHOKA, Sept. 15.—(Special)—The sandstorm that swept over a major portion of the South Plains halted the third game of the five-game series between Southland and Tahoka for the championship of the South Plains league here yesterday in the fourth inning, and the contest was ruled no game.

Tentative arrangements have been made for the playing of the game Tuesday at Tahoka, though no definite decision has been reached. The teams meet today in Southland for the fourth scheduled game.

At the end of the fourth inning yesterday, Tahoka was leading Southland 8 to 6 in a free hitting, free scoring affair. Burleson was on the mound for Tahoka with Gregory pitching for Southland. Lefty Squires probably will start for Tahoka today. The teams are at present on an even basis, each having won and lost one game of the series.

CHINESE League of California has estimated the 1930 apparatus park at 2,063,191, or about 10,000 cases less than in 1929.

ROBINS CLIMB BACK ON TOP OF HEAP

THREE LEADERS HAVE ALL LOST 60 GAMES; A'S STRETCH LEAD

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Brooklyn, St. Louis and Chicago lined up in a new order today, are practically on even terms in the National league pennant race. Each has lost 60 games. The difference in the number of victories puts Brooklyn a half game ahead of St. Louis and a full game ahead of Chicago. The New York Giants were practically eliminated from the race as they lost a double header to Pittsburgh yesterday and found themselves 31-2 games back of first place. The Giants lost the first clash in the tenth inning, 9 to 6, then went down before the pitching of Charley Wood in the seventh inning game, 7 to 3.

Brooklyn	53	60	.468
St. Louis	52	60	.463
Chicago	51	60	.457
New York	47	65	.418

Brooklyn's amazing Robins won their way to the top yesterday by scoring their tenth straight victory at the expense of the Cincinnati Reds. The score was 9 to 3. Thurston gave the Reds three runs in the first inning, but Jim Elliott shut them out with 6 hits in 8-2 frames while powerful hitting Rixey and Kelp soon put the Robins ahead.

Cards Drop Back
The Cardinals, who took the lead Saturday as Chicago's Cubs dropped to third through a defeat by the Phillies, promptly went back to second place yesterday as they divided a double header with the Boston Braves. Effective pitching by Burleigh Grimes and equally effective hitting by the Cards, the first game, 8 to 2, but the Braves slammed Sylvester Johnson around to take the second 7 to 4.

The Cubs and Philadelphia were idle yesterday but have a double header today.

A's Widens Margin
The Philadelphia Athletics made their hold on first place in the American league a little safer by bumping Wesley Perrell and the Cleveland Indians for a 7 to 1 triumph while Washington was losing a close decision to Chicago. Earnshaw, starting his second game in as many days, gave ten hits and came close to a shutout while Wilbur Weidie, a right-handed pitcher, is another acquisition. The Sox having purchased him from Dubuque of the Mississippi Valley league. Both players were due to report today.

Chicago's White Sox downed the Senators, 2 to 1, in a ten inning game. Four more triumphs for the A's will assure them of nothing worse than a tie for first place. Jim Moore, a recruit from Little Rock, had all the better of "General" Al Crowder in a mound duel, giving only six hits and keeping every Senator away from first base from the fourth to the tenth innings. A triple by Walwood and Reynolds' single brought the deciding run.

Charley Ruffing, big New York pitcher, led the Yankees to a 19 to 3 victory over Detroit in the one remaining contest to the Boston-St. Louis double header was rained out. He allowed the Tigers seven hits, made three of the Yanks 15 blows and drove in four runs.

ROWING THE SPORTS WORLD

WITH COLLIER PARRIS
JOURNAL SPORTS EDITOR

The Dixie series begins Wednesday, at Memphis or at Wichita Falls, depending on the outcome of the Texas league championship series. Should the Spudders come out on top the opening Dixie games will be played in Texas, otherwise the Panthers will trek to Tennessee.

This will be the tenth Dixie series, southern baseball classic, and will draw an added interest this season. The schedule after the two opening games provides for an off-day Friday and a shifting of the battleground for games Saturday, Sunday and Monday, then another off-day and the playing of the sixth game in the city in which the fray started. The site of the seventh game, if needed, would be decided by the toss of a coin.

Doc Frothrope of the Memphis Chicks will be the only playing manager. The pilots of the Texas league prospects do the directing from the sidelines. Under the arrangements made by the presidents of the leagues, each team shall have eighteen eligible players. The players will participate in the receipts of the first four games only so if the series goes beyond that number the players will be playing for fun, which may not be so funny. One rule requires that 26 new balls be provided for each game, or double the number required in regular season contests, and fines imposed on players will be $10 and up. Ten dollars was fixed as a minimum with $25 as a maximum when a player is ordered from the field.

Here we have the week of the first football game of the new season in Lubbock. Open season on high school football games was declared week before last, and the past week-end saw some sixteen South Plains teams in action. Lubbock's first game is slated for Saturday when the Colorado High eleven invades the local stronghold. Texas Tech opens the season next Saturday week with a game with Wayland college at the Tech field.

Although six members of the Southwest Conference do not start their practice game season until September 27, the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs start a base or two on their conference mates and play two games this week. It is something rarely undertaken by any team to play two games in as many days, but that is what the Frogs will do. They meet the Denton State Teachers at Denton Friday, and switch back to Fort Worth for the first home game Saturday against the Teachers from Commerce.

Will the home run king? No, not Babe Ruth nor even Hank Wilson, but Joe Mauer, first sacker of the Baltimore Orioles of the International league. Joe was formally crowned king yesterday after hitting out his sixty-first home run last Friday.

His long clout over the fence in a game with Newark broke Babe Ruth's all time record of 1927 of 60 homers for a season. Ruth made his record against American league pitchers in a 194-game season, and Mauer registered his mark in the 157th of a 168-game season.

The Texas Conference teams swing into action next week, with the Howard Payne Yellowjackets the pre-season favorites to win. The Associated Press correspondent says it has become customary to pick the Jackets to win, and that the approaching season will see no exception. If anything, Coach Joe Bailey Cheaney's task this year promises to be even easier than for the last two seasons, when his Jackets neither were defeated nor tied in their own conference.

With a backfield composed entirely of letter men from the 1928 season, the Brownwood team will be unusually strong. A couple of tackles and an end are all Coach Cheaney needs to develop from his wealth of reserve material. The other line posts will be filled by veterans. A1 but four of last year's championship favorites to win. The coaching staff will start the season, including Nig McCarver, perhaps the most valuable player in the conference last season.

The St. Edwards Saints of Austin appear to be the next outstanding favorites for the 1930 race. Coach Al Scharf will start the season with a down letter men. Ransom and Figart of the Saints are two of the outstanding broken field runners in the state, and with two other fast backs in Kirvin and Bombardier the Saint mentor will have a backfield that will give considerable trouble to the title-seeking Yellowjackets. Eleven letter men will report to Coach Cecil Orwig at Austin College, and the Kangaroo mentor believes he has a contending lineup. Simmons University Cowboys will be strong and supporters of the team are placing great confidence in Les Cranfill, new coach who is succeeding Frank Bridges.

Bob Scott Wins San Angelo Title
SAN ANGELO, Sept. 15 (AP)—Bob Scott of Colorado, was titleholder of the San Angelo Country club's annual invitation golf tournament today, after defeating John Ballard of Fort Worth 3 and 3 yesterday in the final round of the championship flight.

BUFF PLAYERS SOLD
HOUSTON, Sept. 15 (AP)—The conditional sale of Floyd Rose, right hand pitcher, and George Binder, shortstop, to the Rochester club of the International league was announced today by President Fred Ankenman of the Houston Buffs. A cash consideration was involved, with more money to be paid if the players make good at Rochester.

ENTERPRISE AND SHAMROCK V FACING ANOTHER TEST TODAY FOR YACHT CUP

(By The Associated Press)
NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—The saucy Enterprise, Harold S. Vanderbilt's defender of the America's cup, and Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's green-hulled challenger, had another engagement today.

Enterprise's victory in the initial race of the series Saturday did much to lessen interest in the international yachting classic. The spectator fleet had noticeably dwindled today from the armada which followed the racing yachts on Saturday.

Many of Saturday's spectators were those who were not fortunate enough to be able to ignore the claims of trade and industry—a week day and a forced return to shore and office.

Many who watched Shamrock's hapless chase of Enterprise Saturday were forced to revise estimations of her formed on reports that had filtered over ahead of her from British waters that she was a virtual water snake in light air. Her canvas seemed too heavy, as compared to the Gosamer wings of the American defender. Often during the race Shamrock's head sails fluttered empty while those of Enterprise followed out smoothly.

Conditions Saturday were supposed to have represented Shamrock's own choice in weather. She had showed around local waters in the fastest of sepias before the series opened.

Saturday the boats ran fifteen miles to forward and returned. Today they had to race around a thirty mile semicircular course, beginning at 10:30 a. m. (EST).

Down in St. Moritz all the bunch went to a hotel and had lunch. They sat right by a window that gave quite a wondrous view. A little lake lay calmly by and mountains rose up toward the sky. Said Scouty, "Gee, this is the nicest spot I ever seen."

"Let's rent a boat and row a while. I'm strong enough for about a mile. The rest of you can just sit still and take in all the sights. And then, perhaps, we'll be in trim to take a candy little swim. I'll tell you, very frankly, we are lucky Tynmites."

"You bet we are," another said. "Why, even now, I really dread the thought of ever leaving here. But it's on our way. It won't be long till it is night. By then we'll have an appetite. And look! There's a golf course and perhaps they'll let us play."

"My goodness," cried the Traveler. "If you young fellows think you can do all the things you talk about, you're much too strong for me. Go right ahead, though. Have your fun! And then, kids, when all is done, I'll join you in your game of golf. How dandy that will be."

SENATOR MOSES GOES OUT INTO LAND OF "SONS OF WILD JACKASS," MOVE IS UNEXPECTED IN CAPITAL CIRCLES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—After conferring today with President Hoover, Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, the chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, set out for the north-west states, some of whose Republican senators he once termed the "sons of wild jackass."

The departure of Senator Moses for this region came somewhat as a surprise here in view of the decision of the senatorial campaign committee last June that it would be best to place Senator Steiwer, of Oregon, in charge of the campaign in that territory. Senator Moses was to handle eastern campaign matters.

Just what brought about the change in program was not disclosed. The new plan calls for a joint campaign trip through the north-west area by Moses and Steiwer. The only comment of the outspoken Senator Moses after his call on the president was that he intended to do "a lot of high powered listening" out west.

Another Week To Tell Well's Gauge

HENDERSON, Sept. 15. (AP)—It probably will be another week before the exact production of the Joiner No. 3 wild cat well, seven miles west of here, can be accurately gauged, oil men said today. The flow had been estimated at from 5,000 to 25,000 barrels. Not until casing is set and storage tanks built, which will require probably a week, can the production be ascertained, experts said. A gravity test made in Dallas revealed the oil of high grade. Three drilling contracts have been signed and marked leasing activity was in progress. Major companies held very little territory adjacent to the well. Thousands of bushels of figs are grown annually in Florida.

AIR SERVICES SOLD

CHICAGO, Sept. 15. (AP)—National Air Transport announced today the purchase of Stout Air Services, operating passenger lines between Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland. Both companies are divisions of the United Aircraft and Transport Corporation and their activities will be merged as rapidly as possible. Lester D. Seymour, vice-president and general manager of N. A. T., said his company carries air mail and express between New York, Chicago and Dallas.

FIVE DIE IN QUAKE

MESSINA, Italy, Sept. 15. (AP)—A check-up today revealed that five persons were killed and fifteen injured as a consequence of the earthquake and eruption of the volcano Stromboli yesterday. Ashes were piled today four inches deep on roofs and balconies of small country houses constructed for the most part of petrified lava.

TIRE SERVICE STARTED

CHICAGO, Sept. 15. (AP)—The Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced today it would inaugurate sales and servicing of automobile tires at its gasoline service stations throughout the middle-west Oct. 15.

Steam Heat with GAS

For a Single Room Or An Entire Building

Have comfortable gas steam heating without the expense of providing a central boiler, steam piping and basement space—and without high fuel costs. Each Clog Gasteam radiator makes its own steam—operated separately from the others—needs only a gas pipe to each radiator. This permits having steam heat when and where needed, and prevents fuel waste. Minimum attention necessary. Operation is highly efficient, noiseless and safe. Thousands in operation in this locality. Find out now, how you can have modern, comfortable steam heat at lowest cost.

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP)—Stocks moved emphatically downward in the earlier hours of trading today under pressure of selling in the utility, steel and merchandise groups, which yielded 2 to 3 points.

Numerous specialties lost large amounts.

Absence of much support on the way downward influenced considerable short selling and pools which had been trying to stir up public interest stood aside and allowed prices to take their course when speculators increased.

A 2-7 case dropped more than points. Westinghouse Electric, Ford

Motor and DuPont International stepped 3, while those of 2 or more appeared in U. S. Steel,

American Can, American Telephone, Westinghouse Electric, American

Electric, American Power and Light,

Johns-Manville and Union Carbide.

American Water Works was one of the few firm spots, adding a point to last Saturday's close.

A Costume of Brown

To be smartly attired this season every woman will have at least one costume of Brown. The richness of color that is possible with the varied deeper tones of Brown offer almost unlimited possibilities—in fact many are planning to "Ensemble" their entire fall selection in this one shade—

Dresses From Canton Crepe

Fine heavy canton crepes in Brown are decidedly attractive. In the tiered skirt effects and with the many odd treatments that are being given sleeves and neckline they stamp themselves as "New"—Wonderful assortments are available at—

$16.45 and $27.45

Light Weight Wool Dresses

Light weight wool garments are also being featured in Brown. For many fall occasions there can be no substitute for a smart wool garment—especially a light weight tailored type such as one sees this season—

Prices range—

$27.45 to $49.85

FALL FLOWER SHOW IS PLANNED FOR PLAINVIEW; CLUB WOMEN IN CHARGE

(Special to The Journal) PLAINVIEW, Sept. 15.—The Home Demonstration Club council and County Federation of Women's clubs are rapidly completing plans for their fall flower show to be held at the city auditorium in Plainview September 19 and 20. The flower display and demonstration club fair has grown to be one of the most educational, interesting and looked-forward-to events of the year. It has taken place of the Hale County Free fair, which has been discontinued by the chamber of commerce and agriculture because of the Texas Panhandle - Plains Dairy show, an annual event. Mrs. W. J. Klinger is again general chairman of the flower show and members of the flower committee are Mesdames Meade F. Griffin, W. J. Lloyd, O. B. Jackson and Frank Cave. Mrs. Klinger is very enthusiastic over the outlook for the show and states that, despite the shortage of flowers this year, she believes the show will be unusually successful and that many entries are expected. Mrs. B. F. Jarvis is chairman of the finance committee and is as-

WILLIAMS SEES BETTER ERA OF COTTON PRICES AHEAD DUE TO MARKET REACTION

FARM BOARD OFFICIAL DECLARES PRICES TO BE BETTER

By FRANK I. WELLES (Associated Press Farm Editor)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP).—Carl Williams, farm board member representing cotton, declared the almost total absence of reaction on either the New Orleans or New York market to the government's August cotton consumption report was the most optimistic sign of improvement he had seen this season. The report showed 208,417 less bales consumed during August than for the corresponding month a year ago but save for the faintest trace of fluctuations the effect on the market was probably the slightest at any time since monthly reports have been made on consumption.

Indicates Better Prices

Williams said the situation indicated a definite realization that cotton prices had hit the bottom and that it had put mills, which long had waited to see if prices were going lower, in position to fix prices for their seasonal purchases and had increased the buying power both here and abroad. More cotton is being bought now, he said, than at any time in the last six months. Farmers are convinced, he said, that cotton should not be sold at present prices and have proven the courage of their convictions by holding it off the market.

Co-Op Getting It

When prices do not suit the farmer who does not have to sell Mr. Williams said, he takes it back home. The farmer who must sell is putting his crop into a cooperative and getting about as much for it as he sold it on the street and has the opportunity for additional dividends when it moves to market.

Thus far this year, he said, cooperatives have received from four to five times as much cotton as a year ago.

While he said he did not expect the rate of receipts to continue, he did believe the year would find them double those of 1929.

The indicated cotton crop this year is 488,000 bales less than last year's production and 688,000 bales less than the average of the last five years. Both foreign and domestic demand for raw cotton was said by the government to have improved, the greatest increase in demand being for 7-8 to 8-inch staple inclusive although lengths of 1-15 up to 1-3-16 inches inclusive commanded considerable attention.

The August report showed a decrease in cotton imports and an increase in exports. The imports were only 1,361 bales as compared to 24,700 bales in August, 1929, and exports were 308,036 bales compared with but 226,018 bales a year ago.

Mr. Williams predicted that a little better buying power abroad would greatly stimulate American exports. World mill stocks of American cotton were estimated at 1,000,000 running bales compared with 2,120,000 last year.

URGES EXTENSION

ENID, Okla., Sept. 15 (AP).—Congressman M. C. Garber, Enid, representing the eighth district of Oklahoma, today requested the Federal Farm Loan bureau to authorize subsidies to extend semi-annual interest dates for farmers until another crop can be produced. Mr. Garber urged the plan as a means of relieving the farmers during their present difficulties.

Marines Win U. S. Rifle Match Title

CAMP PERRY, Ohio, Sept. 15 (AP).—The 1930 National rifle and pistol matches, declared one of the most successful series in results and number of contestants since the first matches were held in 1871, closed Saturday with the United States marines winning the national rifle team match with a score of 2,805 out of a possible 3,000.

The final match, with 100 teams entered, was fired over five stages, the final stage, 1,000 yards, being fired Saturday.

The United States infantry was second with 2,789, navy third with 2,790, United States cavalry fourth with 2,777, and Oregon national guard fifth with 2,773.

With Oregon in the top position among national guard teams the Massachusetts national guard was second with 2,745, Washington third with 2,721, Ohio fourth with 2,720, and Arizona fifth with 2,715.

Mineral Products Showing Increase

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP).—The value of the country's mineral products in 1929 was $3,530,000,000, which was 8 per cent greater than the value of the 1928 output.

The bureau of mines in making the figures public today said the value of metallic products of the mines was about 15 per cent greater than in 1928. Nearly half of the increase was accounted for by a rise in value of copper. All the important metals contributed to the increase, however, save gold and silver.

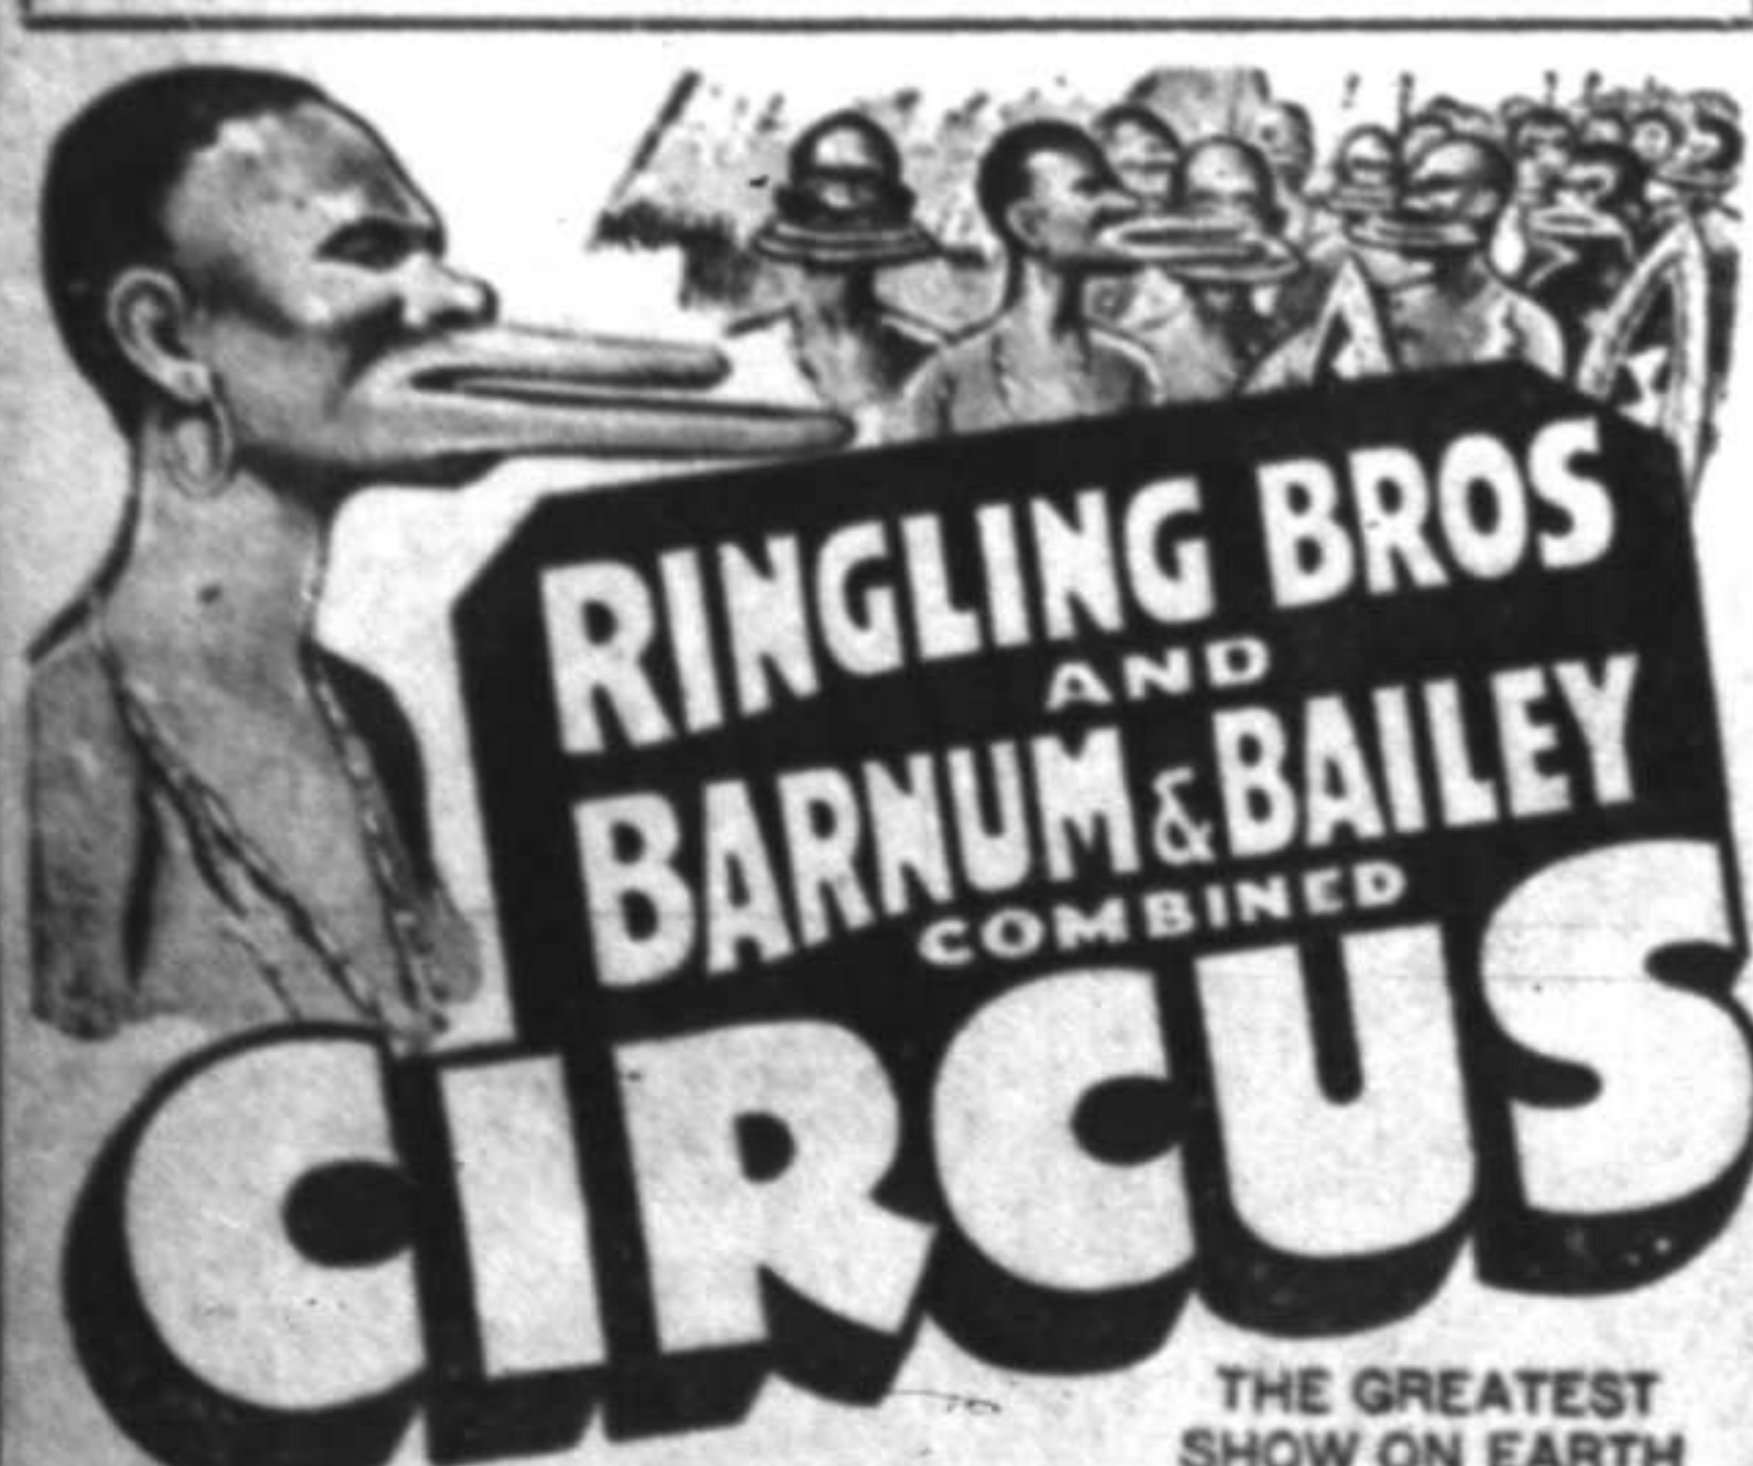

The upward trend did not bring the total to the high levels of the last ten years, the value of the mineral products in 1928 being $3,130,000,000 and $4,861,240,000 in 1920.

DALLAS, Sept. 15 (AP).—Fall activities of the Baptist church in Texas, particularly the funds campaign of Baylor University at Waco, will be planned at meetings held today and Tuesday of three church executive bodies.

The stewardship and budget conference will be held Monday with Dr. W. H. White, state secretary, in charge.

Henderson Area To Be Active In Tests

HENDERSON, Sept. 15 (AP).—Dr. A. D. Lloyd of Fort Worth, geologist on the Joiner No. 3 oil well, seven miles west of Henderson, and apparently the only geologist in Texas who had confidence in the location, predicted today that this is only the first of a number of wells to be found in the territory extending from San Augustine county to Texas.

Ed Lasseter, head driller for Joiner, said the casing will be set 1,486 feet and oil ready to turn in the tanks within twelve days.

The Chapman oil company of Fort Worth let a contract today for a derrick for a well to be drilled on the Pinkston farm two miles southwest of the Joiner well, and Dr. Roshier of El Dorado announced he would start drilling on the Studdard farm within one mile of the well at once.
