

Three-Day Rodeo Planned at Norwood September 19-23

The three-day annual fall round-up and Rodeo of the Samnorwood Rodeo Association has been set for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 19, 20 and 21, Barney Walker announced this week.

Seven major events are slated, saddle bronc-riding, bareback bronc-riding, calf roping, bull riding, bull-dogging, junior bull riding and junior calf roping.

A cowgirl sponsors contest is also planned.

More than $500 in cash prizes will be given the winners of these various events.

Stock for the show is to be furnished by Claude Hays of Weatherford, Okla., and is due to be some of the best seen in the area this season.

"This will be the biggest event of its kind ever held in our community, and we are anticipating the support of the people of this and all the surrounding counties," Mr. Walker said.

Free camping grounds will be available for those who want to bring their bedroll and tent and camp out.

Final plans are rapidly going forward and any person wanting additional information is urged to contact Mr. Walker at Samnorwood.

Fortenberry Sells Magnolia Agency

Lee Fortenberry announced this week the sale of the Magnolia Agency to A. L. (Hook) Elliott, an employee of the company for the last 12 years. The sale was effective August 25.

Mr. Fortenberry purchased the agency for Magnolia products 21 years ago from Walter Hall, who now lives in Colorado. During the years he has had the dealership, he has built it into one of the most successful oil and gas agencies in the Wellington trade area.

Mr. Elliott, as the new consignee, is familiar with all phases of the work, as well as with the needs of the customers of the company.

He announced that his brother, Harmon Elliott, will be employed in the agency and Elvis Francis, driver of the transport truck, will continue in that capacity.

Mr. and Mrs. Fortenberry will continue to make their home here, he said.

Ropers Schedule Two Matches

Wellington ropers have two matches scheduled during the coming week and several others will be set before the season ends, N. C. Beam, head of the Wellington Rodeo Association, announced this week.

The ropers will contest with a team from Clarendon here Friday night, August 29 and on Tuesday night, September 2, they will meet the Hobart, Oklahoma, ropers here.

There is quite a lot of interest, Mr. Beam said, and the ropings are offering an evening of good, clean entertainment of a type that has been ever-popular in this part of the West.

A small gate fee will be charged to defray expenses.

THEY CAME EARLY TO COLLINGSWORTH

Pictured above are five of this county's earliest settlers, who came here in the period from 1882 to 1892. In the upper picture are Mrs. W. O. Richards of Wellington, who came in 1890, Mrs. T. T. Fain of Canyon, who came in 1892, and Mrs. Z. W. Wilhite of Nara Visa, N. M., who came in 1892. Two '88ers are pictured below, C. W. Roberts of Wellington and Will Forbis of Childress, each of whom came in 1888. The pictures were taken at the Old Settlers Reunion August 15 by Julius Solomon of Fort Worth, son of Mrs. C. W. Roberts.

260 season tickets have been sold to date. That leaves 189 to be sold by September 10 after which time the remainder will go on sale as one-game reserve seat tickets, Boyd Russell, high school principal, has announced.

There are still a few seats on the south end at the 45 yard line, and all seats on the north end are between the 45 and 40-yard line. Front row seats may be had closer to the 50-yard line.

Everyone is urged to get their season tickets as soon as possible. The price of season tickets is $3.50 per book.

Wm. W. McClaskey Begins Work With Ward Motor Company

William Worth McClaskey is now associated with the Ward Motor Company, Kaiser and Frazer dealers, L. E. Ward, owner, announced this week.

He is in charge of the parts department, as well as sales and the bookkeeping department.

Mr. McClaskey, who was reared here, returned a short time ago from Odessa, where he had been employed since his release from the Army Air Forces, in which he was serving as a major.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McClaskey. Mr. and Mrs. William Worth McClaskey purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Rogers at 1203 Dalhart St.

Cotton Loan Rate For 1947 Set At 27.74 Cents

The loan rate for the 1947 crop of cotton has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Middling 15-16 inch cotton for Collingsworth County is 27.74 cents per pound gross weight. Middling 7-8 inch cotton 26.29 cents per pound. Millard Brown of the AAA office here has announced.

These rates are based on 92 1-2 percent of parity price as of August 1, 1947.

The schedule for premiums and discounts for grade and staples applicable under the 1947 loan program has been calculated in relation to the loan rate on 15-16 inch middling cotton.

The 1947 rate is 3.53 cents per pound more than the 1946 rate. In round figures the loan value is approximately $17.50 a bale more than for last year.

Quality Wheat Movement Grows

Grain dealers of Wellington this week joined with County Agent J. W. Thomas in urging farmers of the area to plant those varieties of wheat seed which are considered satisfactory by the millers and are in demand by them.

Wheat varieties recommended are Westar, Comanche, Tenmark, Turkey and Wichita.

Varieties which wheat men should black list, as named by both Mr. Thomas and the seed men, are Chiefkan, Red Chief and early blackhull.

The Panhandle as a whole had a considerable quantity of undesirable wheat this year, and Collingsworth County's bumper wheat crop showed up with only 59 per cent of the crop of those varieties which are desirable.

It is money in the pockets of the individual growers, and to their own interest that the recommended varieties be planted, it was pointed out.

Former County Pastor To Conduct Quail Methodist Revival

Revival services will open at the Quail Methodist Church Sunday, September 7, and will continue through the following Sunday, September 14.

The Rev. Vernon Willard of Ovalo will be in charge of the preaching. He formerly was pastor of the Glen Davis Memorial Church at Dozier; the Cook Memorial Methodist Church at Samnorwood and the Aberdeen Methodist Church in this county.

Pastor of the Quail church, which is on the Clarendon circuit, is the Rev. M. W. Reynolds.

The public is cordially invited to attend any or all of the services.

Two City Baptist Churches Unite

Consolidation of the Central Baptist Church with the Fundamental Baptist Church, it was announced by representatives of the two churches this week.

The Rev. O. B. Hutson, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, which has held its services in the Primitive Baptist Church on Arlington Street, has been called as pastor of the Bible Baptist Church at Vernon.

The Rev. George A. Shoff, pastor of the Fundamental Baptist Church at the corner of 9th and Floydada Streets, will continue as pastor of the church.

Approximately 70 members from the Central Baptist Church came into the Fundamental church, making a membership of around 170.

Plans for a building program will get under way within a short time.

Hybrid Corn Yield Is Good in Spite Of Hail Storms

A sample of the kind of corn Collingsworth County can grow, even under adverse conditions, was brought to The Leader this week by R. H. Goodnight of Wellington. The corn was raised on his farm in the Buck Creek community.

Of the Oklahoma hybrid variety, the ears averaged nine and one-half inches in length. The bright yellow kernels were well filled out and in close-set rows.

But the thing which pleased Mr. Goodnight most was that it has come through severe hail storms and is still making good corn.

Cotton Growers Get Free Classing Service

Free classification of cotton and market news service, provided by the U. S. Department of Agriculture under the Smith-Dooley Act passed by Congress in 1937, is available again this season to cotton farmers who are organized in their community to improve cotton.

In Collingsworth County eight groups, covering all communities in the county, have made application for the free classing service, and all gins are cooperating in the program, according to the Cotton Branch office of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, at Altus, Oklahoma. That office reported that during the past four seasons an average of nearly 85 per cent of all cotton produced in the county was classed for these groups.

One of the purposes of the free classing and market news program is to give the cotton grower the grade and staple on each bale of his cotton, according to Official Cotton Standards, and put him in a better bargaining position when he sells his cotton. This knowledge will also help him to judge what varieties are best adapted to his community and his own farm, will help him check up on the performance of his planting seed, and will show him the effect of good harvesting and ginning practices on the quality of his cotton.

Mrs. Tom Graves Of Aberdeen Area Dies Saturday

Area Receives Scattered Rain

Scattered rain which fell over the area Monday night and Tuesday morning, August 25 and 26, giving relief from the heat and bringing the hope that these may be the first of the rains which generally fall here during the latter part of August and September.

Wellington recorded .65 of an inch of moisture. The rain was heavier in the Dodson area, with as much as one and one-half to two inches estimated. This extended in all directions from the town.

The rainfall was lighter in the western portion of the county, reports indicate.

East of town, several communities received only showers or no rain at all.

Rain was reported in the Lutie area and extending east toward the state line.

North of that point, however, the fall grew lighter, and around the county line only a sprinkle was reported.

Road Bond Issue And Amendment Are Defeated

Collingsworth County voters in the special election Saturday, August 23, rejected the proposed $60,000,000 bond issue for state colleges; defeated the proposed $60,000 road bond issue for this county by failing to poll a two-thirds majority; but approved the county tax re-allocation measure by the slim margin of 7 votes.

In showing a majority vote against the proposed constitutional amendment which would have provided a 30-year building fund for state colleges, county voters followed the trend shown in a majority of the Texas counties, however the vote of the larger cities gave the amendment a 12,506 lead at the last count, with a total of 95,248 for the amendment and 82,742 against it.

The county vote was 275 in favor and 349 opposed to the measure.

The vote on the proposed road bond issue for improvement and purchase of equipment showed a vote of 343 for and 306 against. This lead, however, did not provide the two-thirds majority which is required by state law before a bond issue can be passed.

Approval of the tax re-allocation measure, which will enable the commissioners court for the next six years to re-allocate money from one fund in the county budget where it is not needed to another where it is needed, passed by one of the narrowest margins of any measure in recent years. The vote was 330 for and 323 against. Measures of this type can be passed by a simple majority.

Singley Bros. Put In Seed Cleaner

Jones Singley announced this week that the firm of Singley Bros. had installed a new Clipper Cleaner that is manufactured by the A. T. Ferrell Co. as well as a new treating machine.

Both are considered the best on the market today, Mr. Singley said. With the growing importance of the production of certified alfalfa seed in this area we felt that we were justified in planning ahead and going to the expense of installing this equipment.

"While alfalfa was our main thought in making the investment, I would like to point out that the new cleaner works just as perfectly on any type of field seed," Mr. Singley added.

R. L. Porter Jr. to Work for Coffee Co. In Wichita Kansas

R. L. Porter Jr., left Wellington Sunday for Wichita, Kansas, to begin work Monday morning, August 25, as a salesman for the Arnold Coffee Company. His territory will include all of the city of Wichita.

Mr. Porter was reared here and graduated from Wellington high school. He served several years in the Army Air Corps, part of the time in England. Until recently he was employed at the J. T. Slay Grocery.

His wife and two children, Gordon Lee and Ila Beth, will remain here until Mr. Porter locates living quarters for them in Wichita.

The Buck Creek Philosopher

J. A. Offers Unpaid Bills As Proof Prices Are Too High

Editor's note: The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek has offered to help the Attorney General of the United States with his investigation of high prices, but we doubt he'll get anywhere with it.

Dear editor:

I read in a copy of the Dallas News which my neighbor had been using on his tractor seat to keep the sun from getting it too hot while he went to the house to get a drink of water Monday afternoon where the Attorney General of the United States has heard prices is too high and has set out to investigate the matter.

Now I don't want to horn in on somebody else's job, and I don't suppose no investigation I made would be scientific, but if the Attorney General wants to save time and money I believe I can help him out, at a reasonable price.

I don't know what method he will use, but it probably will involve a lot of travelin around and checkin up and require a lot of help and cost the government a lot of money, which I am in favor of if it will reduce prices, whereas my method will get the same results and won't cost the government much more'n one Senator's stamp bill for two or three months durin a election year.

For several years now I been savin some of my grocery and dry goods and hardware and miscellaneous bills, in fact I really don't need to save em as I get new ones every month coverin the same old ones, some business men bein more optimistic than others when it comes to the delicate matter of my credit standin, and if Attorney General Clark really wants to find out right away whether prices is too high or not. I will send him my batch of bills if he will agree to settle for em.

Just to give some indication of how high things are now and how a man can't stand up under the load, I can show the Attorney General for example a bill I owe for 75 cents for three pounds of round steak I bought in 1937, and right alongside it a bill I owe for $2.40 for three pounds of round steak I bought month before last. What I would like to ask the Attorney General is if a man can't pay for two-bit steak, how in thunder can he pay for 80-cent steak? And it ain't just in the meat line. I got unpaid bills in all other lines: drugs, plow points, hame strings, ice cream, overalls, dried beans, light bread, etc., provin for the record as they say in Washington that things is too high, and have been for years.

If the Attorney General wants to save some money, I will turn over to him all my unpaid bills for the past ten years and he can have his investigation done up in one package. You may even have a personal interest in this as I think I remember seein three or four duns from you in them bills.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Former County Man Experiments With Grasses at Dalhart

(Editor's note: The following story concerning A. Q. (Smokey) Bonner was taken from the Amarillo News Thursday, August 21. Mr. Bonner lived at Wellington a number of years ago and is widely known in this area.)

Crested wheat grass and Canadian rye may in years to come replace some of the native grass on Panhandle ranches.

A. Q. "Smokey" Bonner, pioneer Panhandle rancher, has been checking a little into the crops. They are both widely known on the Soil Conservation Service land utilization acreage in North Dallam County where the government several years ago bought wheat is considered sub-marginal land which it is stabilizing in grasses to eliminate wind erosion threats.

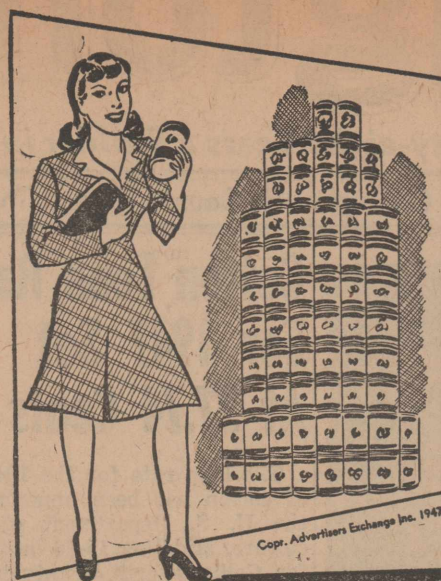

Bonner said both the rye and wheat grass make good winter pastures. Cattle will graze them till mid-July. After that they go to seed. Cattle don't bother them. The seed is threshed out by wind and rain, falls to the ground, and brings on more wheat and rye.

Bill Alexander, Dallam County AAA administrative officer, said the ripened wheat and rye stalks eventually fall over, rot and add humus to the soil. Both crops, Bonner and Alexander said, are as self-perpetuating as are Buffalo, Gramma or any other of the native grasses.

Ed Shirley, who handles cattle, says the rye is particularly good grazing. "It has lots of protein."

Chief drawback to ranchers getting crested wheat grass started is cost of the seed. Rye seed is not so high. Considerable time also is required to get them started. As Bonner said: "The government has more time and money than the average Panhandle rancher."

Misses Pat and Anita Pitcock of Amarillo and Fredia Johnson of Shamrock spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives and friends.

S. R. Pinkston coming by with a copy of "Goodrich's National Geography" published in 1846—a hundred and one years ago! Texas was still a Republic when it was printed and was described as having indefinite boundaries, particularly in the Northwest. Its population was estimated at around 100,000, and Collingsworth and surrounding area was shown in the "Great American Desert." Victoria was queen of England—a very young queen, and Napoleon was still referred to as "the great Emperor."

But the question comes up, Is it Ann or Nell that has lost three? And even that difference will be gone when their permanent teeth grow in.

Split Duck Season And Bag Limit Cut Awaits Hunters

COLLEGE STATION — Open seasons for duck hunting in Texas this year will be from November 4 to November 17 and December 16 to December 29, according to the Texas Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit and the Texas A. & M. department of fish and game. Under new regulations of the Department of the Interior, states west of a certain north-south line are allowed to choose either a season of 35 consecutive days or a split season of 14 days each, and Texas has chosen the latter.

Both the hunting season and bag limits have been reduced in order to stem the noticeable decrease in waterfowl which has occurred during the past three years, according to the Secretary of the Interior, who states: "If the sport of wildfowling is to continue, we must regulate the take to less than the season's increase."

Texas, in the Central Flyway, with birds coming from the Canadian and Alaskan breeding grounds is better off than eastern states, the breeding grounds for which are in unfavorable condition.

Daily shooting hours for waterfowl have been reduced to the period from sunrise to one hour before sunset, with hunting not permitted before noon on the opening day of each split season. The duck bag limit has been reduced to four a day, with eight in possession. The daily bag limit for geese or brant in Texas is also four, with only one Canadian or one white-fronted goose. Post season period for possession of migratory game is still 90 days.

Not more than one wood duck may be included in the bag of four. American and red-breasted mergansers may be possessed 25 singly or in the aggregate.

Regulations prohibit taking waterfowl by bait or with live decoys.

Daily Rest Needed For Refrigerators

COLLEGE STATION — Your mechanical refrigerator needs a rest, too, and should not run more than eight hours out of 24. Mrs. Bernice Claytor, home management specialist for the Texas Extension Service, warns. If the motor runs more than one third of the time, the temperature may be set too low, or the refrigerator door may not close tightly so that warm air may be leaking into the cabinet.

Mrs. Claytor says 40 degrees F. is normal except for the freezing cabinet. The only time the temperature needs to be set below this is when desserts or other foods are being frozen. After this quick-freezing, the temperature control should be returned to normal to keep the motor from overworking.

Test for leaks by closing the door on a piece of ordinary wrapping paper about the size and thickness of a dollar bill. If the paper pull out easily, the gasket is not tight enough to keep warm air from passing into the refrigerator. This may be because the rubber in the gasket has become brittle and hard. Or it may be the fault of the door. Try tightening hinges or latch to make the door fit more snugly. Test again with paper. If the door is still not tight, get a new gasket.

If the temperature is normal and the door does not leak, but the refrigerator still runs too much, call in a serviceman.

Bigger Ackley Park Rodeo Is Planned

Spectator's attending Elk City's 9th Ackley Park Rodeo, August 30 and 31, will see numerous added exhibitions included, none of which have been included in any of the previous eight shows held there, according to Bee Walker, farmer-ranchman, who is managing director of the rodeo this year.

Walker stated that the board of directors adopted as their slogan for the 9th annual rodeo, "It's different." Then they started scouting the best rodeos in the nation for specially talent in keeping with their newly adopted slogan.

The special attractions, including trick riders and ropers, trained cattle, clown acts and a professional rodeo band, were signed months in advance and are all tops in the entertainment field, Walker announced.

One extra contest feature, steer roping, is also being included in each of the three performances this year. Steer roping, not to be confused with calf roping, is said to be one of the most rugged events known to the rodeo business because of the danger it involves for both the cowboy and the steer.

Contestants in this event will include only two cowboys, Slim Whaley, Duncan, who has 25 years experience in rodeo participation, and Amy Gamblin, Wilson, Oklahoma. Whaley and Gamblin will rope and tie two longhorn steers each at each of the three performances and at the conclusion of the final performance, Sunday afternoon, the one who has roped and tied six steers in the shortest length of time will receive the total prize purse for this event.

Managing Director Walker said that while the parking situation has always been good considering the large crowds attending previous shows, it has been worked out to perfection this year, with plenty of free parking space and outlets in all directions which will permit the crowd to get away without traffic jams or congestion.

The three performances will be held at 2:30 Saturday and Sunday afternoon and at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Editorial

Late vacationists might well ask themselves whether they have seen Texas. The thought is prompted by a folder which shows that Texas is so big that were it pivoted on an axis at Texarkana, El Paso would be up in the cooling breezes of Wisconsin and continuing the circuit would pass into the Atlantic around Jacksonville, Fla. The state isn't going to pivot, but in that expanse from Texas to El Paso and from Texline to Mission are mines, mountains, Douglas fir, three-coat nights, the last of the cowboys and plenty of lemonade.

As a matter of fact, Texas is attracting more Texans every year. Gradually the word is getting around that one hasn't seen a sunset until he sees it from the Palo Duro Canyon. The tarpon are cutting up at Port Aransas. Limpa Canyon is cool as Colorado and near by are icy springs spurting 25,000,000 gallons a day. There is a spot for every mood.

Texans ought to get better acquainted with Texas. Instead, they retreat every August to the Tetons or Trail Ridge, there to brag about the state they leave and two thirds of which they have never seen.

The automobile which speeds at seventy miles an hour is shrinking Texas into something we all can sparingly cover. Those speeds are bringing a lot of grief. At the time they are making us less provincial, more cosmopolitan, more aware of our neighbors' virtues. Two weeks are too short to learn Texas. But maybe through a succession of Texas vacations we could learn a bit of its infiniteness, from the majesty of sweet gums in the Big Thicket to the purple haze that settles over a yucca at sunset.—The Dallas News.

• We Are Hosts

When the people of this section come to Bellville to do their shopping, as all of us want them to do, they are our guests. As our guests it is our responsibility to see that their stay with us is comfortable. It is human nature to stay away from a host who takes no interest in one's personal comfort, quite as it is human nature to want to visit again with one who is hospitable.

When our friends come to Bellville they are in need of clean drinking water, of a place for recreation for the children, and of a lounge and comfort station, for the ladies particularly. These facilities are more or less available now. Are they adequate?

It would be well for our chamber of commerce, our retail merchants association and other civic organizations to counsel among themselves and with their city commission to see that such courtesies are plentiful and always available for our friends who come here to shop and to visit with us—Franz W. Zeiske in The Bellville Times.

• A Morning Prayer

I will try this day to live a simple, sincere and serene life, repelling promptly every thought of discontent, anxiety, discouragement, impurity, self-seeking; cultivating cheerfulness, magnanimity, charity and the habit of holy silence; exercising economy in expenditure, generosity in giving, carefulness in conversation, diligence in appointed service, fidelity in every trust and a childlike faith in God. In particular I will try to be faithful in those habits of prayer, work, study, physical exercise, eating and sleep which I believe the Holy Spirit has shown to be right. Amen—Franz W. Zeiske in The Bellville Times.

Warning

At least four people have been bitten by a dog known to be afflicted with hydrophobia. How many other dogs have been bitten will be a matter of conjecture. Dogs that have been bitten will later develop the disease and bit others. Unless prompt measures are taken the disease will spread to coyotes and cattle just as it has done in neighboring counties.

It may be a case of locking the barn after the horse is stolen but drastic measures had better be taken at once to prevent the spread of this dangerous disease—Anton Koch in The Quanah Tribune-Chief.

"Zero-Zero" to "CAVU"

By BILL HUGHES

In the August 23rd issue of Collier's there is an article, "They're Still Expendable," by John Lord Lagemann which everyone should read. Not only should it be read but it should be given considerable thought; and when the head ache has subsided it should be reread and the brain punished some more. Regardless of predetermined opinions on the subject, the reader should make an honest effort to clearly understand what the writer is saying and not permit prejudice and emotion to read into the article things that are not there.

If democracy has any living vital meaning to the people of the United States here is a fundamental problem the responsibility of which does not merely rest with out elected officials and administrators but upon every single man and woman—young and old—in all of our forty-eight states and outlying territories. It makes no difference whether you are a veteran of war industry, a veteran of peaceful industry, or a war veteran, one, both, or all three. Ex G. I.'s and civilians are one and the same. We are citizens of the United States of America. We are civilians now and the potential power of peaceful industry. The fundamental problem that is ours is the problem of unemployment, or to put it in its positive form, opportunity of employment for all.

That Ex G. I.'s are considered together as a group in this problem of employment is due both to the large number of them to be absorbed effectively into our nation's economy as respectable bread-winners, and to the general factors that they have in common, all as a result of the war. Some of these factors are the loss of "time and experience", "seniority", unfortunate "notions of the fabulous ease and affluence of civilian life"—"the disheartening contrast between his heroic achievements as a fighting man and his limited prospects as a wage earner."

While "They're Still Expendable" is written on behalf of this one of many groups, the tremendous size of it in relation to the whole of our population must not be overlooked; and of equal importance is the low level of the average age. Both of these factors make the successful readjustment of this group a thing of vital importance to the solution of our fundamental problem; and the responsibility rests equally on the thought and effort of all civilians—ex-G. I.'s and non-ex G. I.'s alike.

If you do not believe that unemployment is a serious and fundamental problem, then turn to the story of man, History. There I believe you will find that of all things unemployment has toppled more nations and destroyed more civilizations than any one other thing. Were it not for the misery, disillusionment, and demoralization that is created by unemployment, were it not for the fact that over the past twenty-five years the problem of unemployment has steadily grown more acute, the United States and democracy would have little to fear from the illusionary ideology of communism. In the last fifteen years alone we have spent incomprehensible sums running into the billions on the economics or the materialistics of this problem. Yet, the answer remains still "just around the corner."

Today we are now well launched upon another billions of dollars experiment, our G. I. Rehabilitation program. If this program is not likewise to be doomed to the way of all flesh, I should like to suggest for consideration that material expenditure alone can be no more effective at peace than it could be at war; and all the money in the world without the will to self discipline and personal sacrifice of our men and women could not have whipped the Axis powers. Freedom of speech and press, freedom of worship, the right to vote, the right to choose our employment, the opportunity to rise above inheritance were not won nor made without personal sacrifice and self discipline, the courage to believe and the will to do. What makes us think that we can keep and defend these without use of the same stuff that made them possible in the beginning? War or peace, the survival of the fittest and the fight for a better world insists upon them. Money without character produces chaos.

There are two ways to get rid of a headache: (1) Aspirin; and (2) the divorce court.

Why should you be the goat, and risk your present and future reputation, when it's a demonstrated fact that unless new homes are wired for ELECTRIC RANGES they're not modern now and will be even farther behind the times ten years from now. Survey after survey proves that!

Protect your reputation by building houses that are truly modern. Avoid kick-backs by including wiring for an Electric Range.

An Electric Range requires only: 3-wire service from point of cut-in to the distribution panel; a minimum of two No. 6 wires and one No. 8 wire; a 60-amp. switch with overload protection and a 3-wire circuit from the distribution panel to the range outlet in the kitchen. Tech, A&M Study Cattle Deaths

LUBBOCK — Texas Technological College and Texas A&M College this winter will launch a long-range cooperative research program to determine causes of cattle deaths resulting from grazing winter wheat, conducting experiments on 8500 acres of land at the Pantex Ordnance plant near Amarillo.

Pres. W. M. Whyburn of Texas Tech has signed a use permit from the War Assets Administration authorizing the college to use the land for seven years upon payment of one dollar to WAA. Buildings, including laboratories, are now on the acreage, and their use is included in the permit.

Tech Dean of Agriculture W. L. Stangel, in this capacity of director of farms, will be in general charge of Tech's operations there. The colleges hope to develop grazing practices that will eliminate livestock losses during periods of grazing on winter wheat and other lush pasturage following study of the nature of physiological disturbances resulting in animal deaths.

Complete details of the proposed program have not yet been worked out, but it has been agreed that A&M will provide personnel and laboratory supplies and that Tech will supervise growing of wheat and make arrangements for cattle to be provided as needed in the study. A number of livestock owners in the region have agreed to cooperate with the college in making cattle available.

The federal government invested approximately $35,000,000 in the war time ordnance plant. Slightly more than half of it has been turned over to the schools for this research.

CONTEST WINNER "BRANDS" HIS PRIZE

A pioneer of the auto industry, hunted through the nation in a contest to discover the oldest Chevrolet truck in America, turned up, appropriately, in the possession of a Montana homesteader. The venerable vehicle, vintage of 1918, was still serving Rancher Leslie A. Storey, of Jordan, Mont., whose ranch lies 18 miles from a typical "last frontier" town. The award for owning the oldest licensed and operating truck was a new Chevrolet "advance-design" model, which Storey "brands" here with his distinctive Circle-Heart brand. It was presented to him by J. W. Burke, manager of Chevrolet's truck department, as Mrs. Storey and a Montana cowgirl Merle Spears (right) look on. Nearly 7,000 old-time Chevrolet trucks were entered in the contest won by this vehicle, which was one of 384 built by the division in 1918, its first year of truck production.

Farm and Ranch Chatter

House Bill 525, passed by the recent session of the Legislature and signed by the Governor, is believed by most livestock circles in Texas to be a step in the right direction, but some concern has been voiced over possible ways to make it effective. It is the law which requires veterinarians to brand the letter "B" on the left jaw of all cattle found to react positively to a Bang's disease (brucellosis) test.

There is no Texas statute which requires that cattle be given the Bang's test at all. Private veterinarians do not relish the responsibility called for in the new law.

However, representatives of the State Health Department, the Livestock Sanitary Commission, breed associations, Texas A. and M. College and other interested agencies and groups met in College Station last week to discuss the bill and try to set up a framework to make the measure effective.

After an all day session, those present named Dr. E. A. Grist, extension veterinarian, chairman, with Dr. T. O. Boothe, state veterinarian and D. T. Simons, secretary-manager of the Texas Jersey Cattle Club, as co-chairmen, to complete organization of a Bang's control committee of all breed associations and livestock enforcement agencies in Texas. This total group will then draft plans for an effective Bang's control program for Texas, where the number of Bang's-free accredited herds has dropped from two thousand to six hundred in seven years.

Lake Waco is going to be re-examined this fall for siltation conditions. It was surveyed in 1935, and if the rate of siltation recorded then has continued, approximately 54 percent of the 16-year old lake's capacity has been lost because of sand and mud washing into it from upstream watersheds. Other lakes in the southwest would be found in similar conditions.

Air Travel Safer than Ground Travel Young World War Two Flyer Asserts

By R. L. TEMPLETON

How about a little more concerning the relative dangers involved in the different means of transportation? I'm not arguing that the airline is the safest means of travel, but I am arguing that at least it is safer than travelling by auto. If I can put across that point, and prove it by statistics, I will have accomplished something. The greater publicity given air line crashes has caused the average person to think that travel by air is the most dangerous way to get about. Let's just see what the facts are.

In 1938 the airlines flew 14,000,000 miles per fatal accident; in 1946 they flew 34,000,000 miles per fatal accident. I give you these

	Number of Deaths	Deaths per 100,000,000 miles
Airlines	76	1.2
Railroads	145	0.16
Buses	120	0.17
Auto	12900	2.9

This chart shows that the railroads are the safest from the viewpoint of both fatalities and injuries. For the volume of passenger traffic carried less people are killed and injured on trains than by any other means of travel. The buses run them a close second, with the airlines a poor third, and the auto is so dangerous it is "plum" out of the race. While the airlines are seven times as dangerous to a passenger's life than the railroads, the auto is about twenty times as dangerous as railroads. Per mile travelled, the auto is almost three times as dangerous to passengers than are the airlines. If you don't feel like taking chances and you are going to make a long trip, the safest way is by train. Buses are just about as safe. Airlines are considerably more dangerous, but still three times as safe as making the trip by auto.

	Number of Deaths	Deaths per 100,000,000 miles
Airlines	76	1.2
Railroads	145	0.16
Buses	120	0.17
Auto	12900	2.9

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs. Issued and given under my hand and Seal of said Court, at office in Wellington, Texas, this 2nd day of August A. D. 1947.

Activity Period At Quail School

Something new has been added in the Quail School. The third period of each day is an activity period. On Wednesday during the activity period, each student is enrolled in a hobby. The hobbies open to students are fancy needlework, radio dramatics, hair dressing, nature study, hunting, fishing, and camping, study of costumes and make-up in play production, practical and applied arts, music appreciation, first aid, and games.

On Monday, the activity period is used for class meetings. Tuesdays are reserved for F. F. A. and F. H. A. meetings, and Thursday is used for student council and "Echo" staff meetings. The general assembly program is given each Friday during the activity period.

period. "Students and teachers have responded wholeheartedly to the new activity program. Every student looks forward to the period in the day when he can relax for a few minutes and take part in a hobby that he really enjoys. The goal of the activity program is to develop students morally and socially," Noah Cunningham, superintendent of schools, said.

STORY OF A LAWBREAKER

The driver of one of these cars was in the act of passing another motorist just as he neared the crest of a hill. He collided head-on with a driver coming over the brow of the hill, and with the terrific impact the lighter car was crushed under the heavy one. The lawbreaker in this accident was killed—so was the other driver, and a passenger was seriously injured. Passing on blind curves and on hills is simply gambling with death. Improper passing accounted for more than 35,000 highway deaths and injuries in 1946, according to the National Conservation Bureau.

Gospel of Christ

(Rom. 1:16)

THE NEW COVENANT

In time past God plainly taught that a new covenant would be given. "I (Jehovah) will make a new covenant." (Jer. 31: 31) Paul quotes this prophecy in the eighth chapter of Hebrews to say that Jesus fulfilled the promise. This new covenant is "not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers." (Jer. 31: 32) Paul says it is "a new covenant; not of the letter, but of the spirit." (2 Cor. 3: 6)

The first covenant was "of the letter" and was "a ministration of death, written and engraven on stones." (2 Cor. 3: 7) This first covenant was the ten commandments, for we read, "And he wrote upon the tables the words of the covenant, the ten commandments." (Ex. 34: 28) That being the first, and the second not being like the first, then the ten commandments are not binding today.

This does not give us liberty to do wrong, for sin is forbidden more strictly by the new than by the old. The old says, "Thou shalt not kill," but the new says, "Everyone who is angry with his brother is in danger of the judgment." (Mt. 5: 22) Not only is the act of murder forbidden but anger which leads to it becomes sinful.

The New Testament nowhere binds Sabbath observance upon the child of God, and we are therefore free from this which is of the Old Testament. Nor are we free to use any Old Testament observances that are not placed in the New Will.

Let's have faith in God and what the Bible teaches.

He had made his home in Shamrock following his return from California in November, 1946.

He was married October 19, 1902 in Johnson County to Miss Alice Woodward. She preceded him in death in 1919, and one son, Robert Alta Harvey, died in June, 1946.

On December 5, 1942, he was married to Mrs. Viola Collier in Yuma, Arizona.

Survivors are his wife; one son and four daughters: Loy W. Just about two years ago, the war ended—remember? Everyone thought then that there would be plenty of materials and equipment of all kinds available immediately. That hasn't been the case with us. We haven't been able to obtain enough equipment to complete our expansion program, and we're still short. But in spite of this, we have installed more telephones than ever before in our history. We're proud of our record—and we're driving with all possible speed to keep up with the ever mounting demands for new service.

Alabama Man Hurt In Car-Truck Wreck

A. B. Young, 55 of Toney, Alabama, received a broken leg and other injuries in a car-truck collision Monday night, August 25, approximately seven and one-half miles south of Wellington. The accident occurred at about 11:00 p.m.

Sheriff Claude McKinney went to the scene of the wreck, but as it was in Childress County, the official investigation was made by Samnorwood, Albert Bryant of Quail and Andrew J. Bryant of Shamrock.

highway patrolmen and officers from Childress.

With Mr. Young in the car were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Scott and son and Mr. Young's son, all of Toney. They were en route to the Lutie community to the home of Mrs. Scott's brother, Jess Young. None of the others suffered apparent injuries.

Mr. McKinney reported that the car, headed north, met the truck, hauling a load of wheat and driven by a Nocona couple, was going south. The vehicles sideswiped.

Describing it as one of the "cleanest" wrecks he ever saw from the standpoint of which car was at fault, Mr. McKinney said that so far as he knew, investigating officials had been unable to determine which of the vehicles was to blame for the accident.

Both the car and truck were badly damaged.

Mr. Young was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment and attendants reported Wednesday morning that he was getting along fine.

Mrs. Austin O'Neil, Jr. and son, Pat of College Station are here this week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin O'Neil and Walter Lee; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coleman.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wheeler and children, Georgia Ann, Jimmie, Dannie of Pawnee, Okla., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Wheeler this week.
