Refuge Land Transfer Termed 'Logical'

By Pat Blair

AUSTIN — State and federal officials are in general agreement that the transfer of 19,000 acres of Aransas Wildlife Refuge land to state control "seems logical," according to the Governor's press secretary, John Ford.

But working out the details of that transfer, Ford said, is expected to take several months.

Clements met Monday morning with Ray

Arnett, assistant to the secretary of the U.S. Department of the Interior for fish, wildlife and parks, and J.R. Spradley, solicitor for the U.S. Department of the Interior. Also attending the Houston meeting were the Governor's general council David Dean and an attorney from Clements' office, Chuck Bailey.

That meeting followed a visit Sunday by Arnett and Spradley to Matagorda Island — site of the 19,000 acres in question — as guests of T.L. Winn of Dallas. Winn owns some 11,000 acres of land on Matagorda.

The Washington representatives also met with Perry Bass, president of the Texas Parks & Wildlife Commission, on St. Joseph's Island.

Following those meetings, Clements Monday evening said, "I find our discussion resulted in general agreement. I don't know of any basic disagreement between us."

"But," Clements added, "the details of working out our concept will undoubtedly take several months." The Governor said he was "impressed" by the cooperation of the Department of the Interior and said the transfer of the acreage to the state "will be good for Texas and good for the Department of the Interior."

The plan for transfer of the land on Matagorda Island to state Parks & Wildlife management was announced in a letter dated May 29 from Secretary of the Interior James G. Watts to Governor Clements.

Watts in the letter said he preferred to give the land over to the state in an effort to "cut the red tape" involved with federal management. The land has been managed by the Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service.

Following the Monday meeting, Clements pledged that "no damage whatsoever will occur to the wildlife on Matagorda Island when the Texas Parks & Wildlife assumes management. I believe all pertinent programs will be enhanced under our Texas supervision."

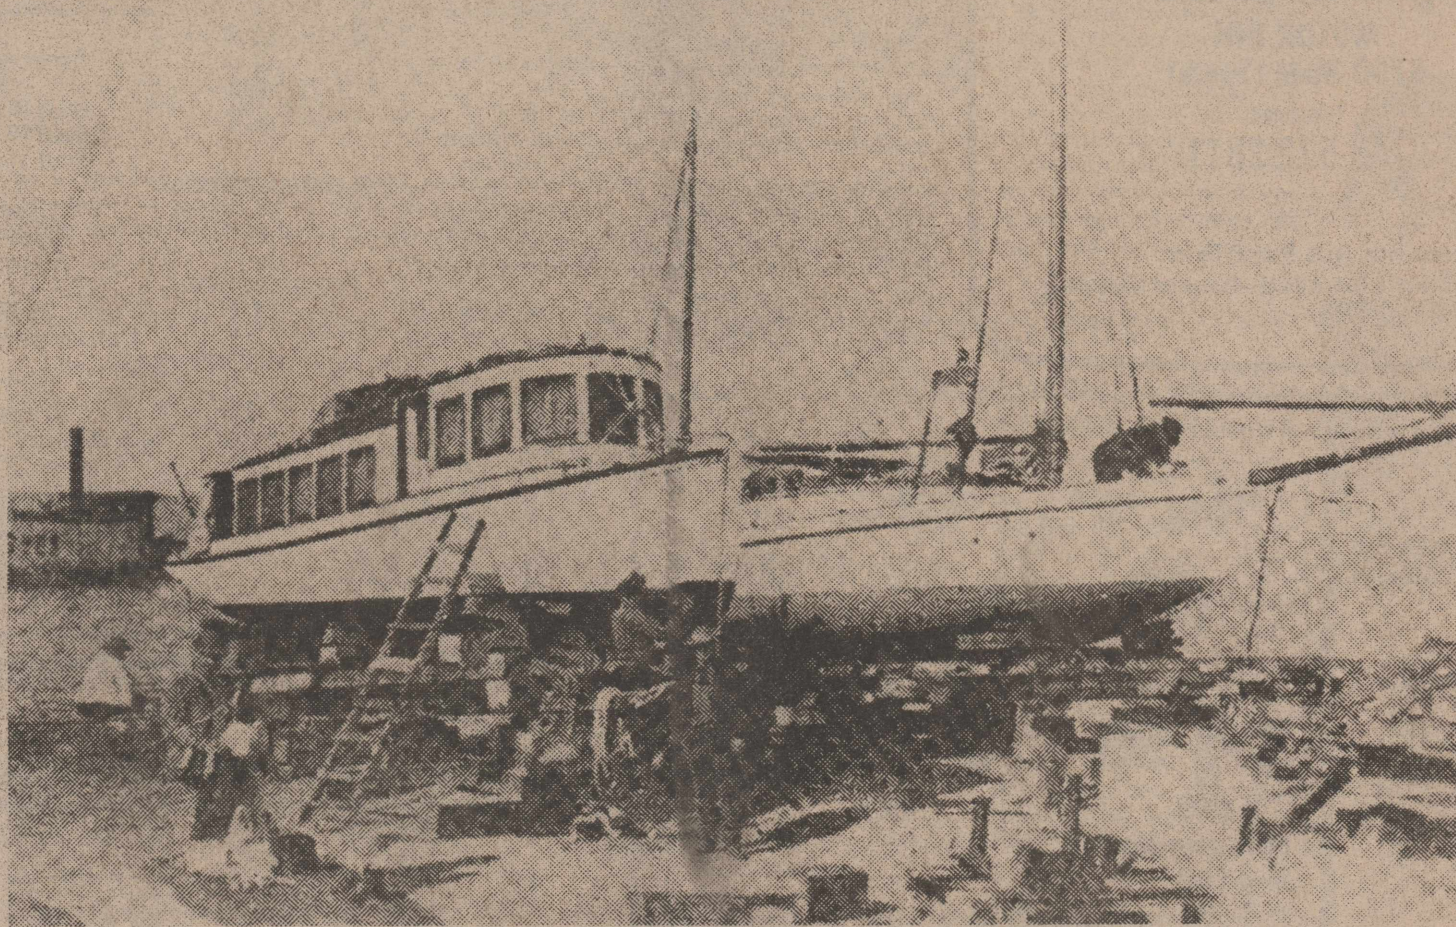

Responding to concern expressed recently over the fate of several endangered species that make their home on the island, Clements said Matagorda "will not be a 'Coney Island' management." He pledged that access to the 19,000-acre area will be "limited" and "under tight control" and that no vehicles of any kind would be allowed.

Although planning is still underway on possible use of the area under state management, Clements said some 400 acres at the extreme northeast end of the island, near the abandoned airbase, might be converted into an area for picnic, beach use and other recreational activities.

However, the Governor emphasized again that the only access would be by "a small TP&W ferry. No vehicles will be allowed."

He added the rest of the area will be kept in its natural state.

Ford said the Governor "wants to dispel the propaganda that the whooping cranes' habitat is on Matagorda Island." Ford added that the state already manages the wetlands where the whooping cranes do nest.

TIMELESS OCCUPATION

Men work on a boat in a "shipyard near Rockport" in this photo taken around 1910. Shipbuilding is still an important industry in Rockport although the methods have improved a bit in the past seven decades. The changes, the growth, particularly in the past year, will be spotlighted in the Pilot's 6th Annual Progress Edition coming out this weekend.

Cancer Crusade Tops Goal, Aiming For Record

The 1981 Aransas County Cancer Crusade has gone over the goal, but Cancer Society members are still trying to beat last year's record of $8,000.

Goal for this year was $5,000, and donations to the Aransas County unit of American Cancer Society have topped that

"But last year," she added, "we went over $8,000 on the Crusade, and we'd like to at least match that figure before the Crusade ends." Ending date, she added, is August 31.

More than half of the money donated to the American Cancer Society is used either for cancer research or to aid cancer victims, according to Wayne Pafk, president of the Aransas County ACS unit.

Approximately 38 cents of every dollar donated to the Cancer Crusade goes to 11 major Texas hospitals, medical schools and universities where research is underway on possible causes and cures of cancer.

Another 22 cents of the dollar funds services to cancer patients. The Rev. Walter Clark is in charge of the Aransas County service program which provides sickroom equipment, "comfort items" and other forms of assistance including transportation to and from treatment centers if needed.

Approximately 24 cents of every dollar donated to ACS is used in the Society's public education program which is designed to show people how they can prevent or minimize their chances of getting cancer.

Another 13 cents of every dollar is used to keep members of the medical profession informed on current developments in cancer treatment, 11 cents goes toward the funding of the annual Cancer Crusade and six cents is for program development and administration costs.

W.C. Underwood headed the business campaign for this year's Crusade.

Instead of a door-to-door residential campaign in this year's Crusade, the Aransas County ACS has asked area residents to mail their contributions to the Cancer Society.

Contributions are tax deductible and contributors are asked to mail them to the American Cancer Society in care of Mrs. Thomas McArdle, 1426 Paisano in Rockport.

Pilot Announces Plans If Post Office Strikes

In the event of a strike by employees of the United States Post Office, Pilot subscribers who receive their papers in the mail will be able to obtain their copy at the Pilot office. Since third class mail will not get priority handling if a strike occurs, out of town mail subscribers may have to wait a few days for their Pilot.

Aransas, Rockport Officials Invited To Groundbreaking

ARANSAS PASS — Aransas County and Rockport officials will be among those invited to groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Coastal Bend Hospital building, tentatively set for the first weekend in August.

Ben Pate, administrator for the hospital in Aransas Pass, said county and city officials from Rockport, Aransas Pass, Ingleside and Sinton will be invited to the groundbreaking. He added physicians from throughout the area will be invited and said, "We expect a pretty good turnout."

Site work is already underway for the new hospital which will replace both the existing Coastal Bend (formerly Lyman-Roberts) and Aransas hospitals.

The proposed 75-bed facility will almost double the present capacity of the two existing hospitals and will incorporate features such as a sterile surgical unit, maternity ward, and fully equipped emergency facilities.

Pate said complete plans for the new hospital will be unveiled at the groundbreaking.

Marshall Construction Company of Corpus Christi is contractor for the job, with a bid of $4,145,000 on the project. Architect is Jack Rice Turner.

The Coastal Bend Hospital board of directors recently sold $9.5 million in bonds at a 14.5 per cent interest rate to pay for the project which includes construction, equipment, furnishings and other facilities for the new hospital.

Bonds will be retired through revenue and will not require any tax money, Pate emphasized.

The new hospital will be constructed on the site of the present Coastal Bend Hospital. The existing building will continue in use until the new facility is substantially completed at which time the hospital will move into the new building and the present building will be demolished.

Sherri Longino Prepares For Thailand

By Becky Werhan

Sherri Longino is excited, and with good reason. Sherri, daughter of Ray and Dee Longino, has been selected as a Baptist journeyman to Bangkok, Thailand and will be leaving to assume her post "hopefully in about two months."

A recent graduate from East Texas Baptist College, Sherri was accepted for service by the Foreign Mission Board early in the spring. She had become interested in the mission position through a roommate at ETBC and then "got real excited about it" at a Baptist Student Union Convention. She obtained a job list and submitted an application, complete with a 10 page life history and eight references.

Though journeymen are often called missionaries, there are some differences between the two. A journeyman is between the ages of 22 and 26, a college graduate with a degree, interested in foreign religious mission work and must be prepared to serve for two years.

After rigorous interviews and selection, Sherri underwent a five-week intensive training period at Meredith College in Raleigh, North Carolina, from June 10 through July 16.

The days began for Sherri and the 82 other trainees at 5:30 a.m. with a two-mile run and continued until 9:30 at night. The trainees studied world religions, evangelism, mission work, personal development, linguistics, Baptist doctrines and Baptist history.

Sherri confesses, "I didn't think I could do it at the beginning," but says that the rigorous training and preparation for the journeyman post has taught her a lot.

"I think the training brought out more about me, to me. I learned who Sherri is, what Sherri can do and what Sherri can handle. I learned how to use my gifts and talents."

How Sherri will be using those talents in Bangkok will be working with college-age students, teaching English for 20 hours a week, and serving as a student activities teacher. In addition, she will put out a mission newsletter and teach Bible classes.

The Thailand post was actually the second one given to Sherri. Originally she was assigned to a position in Rowunda, South Africa, teaching children in the bush. She explains that she was reassigned "because the Foreign Mission Board fits you with a job that you can do and that you want to do." The Board, feeling that she was better suited to work in Thailand, reassigned her there.

Until her foreign work permit comes through, Sherri will remain in Rockport staying with her parents. When sent overseas, she will remain there for two years with no visits home. She explains simply, "I'm there, that's it."

After the journeyman post is finished, Sherri plans to go into campus evangelism and would like to be a Baptist Student Union co-ordinator in Texas.

She now holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Sociology with a double minor in social services and religion and plans to obtain her Master's Degree in Divinity or Religious Education.

She says she's already learned a lot though — "I've learned that I can do it. Anything!"

Chief Offers List For 'Burglar Proofing'

Homes and apartments in the U.S. today are being struck by burglars on the average of once every 20 seconds," says Rockport Police Chief Joe Hinojosa.

In Rockport, he added, burglaries appear to be on the increase in keeping with the national trend.

"The chances are the burglar was attracted to these homes by clues," Hinojosa continued. "Thieves look for what police call 'targets of opportunity'."

But homeowners can make themselves less of a target, he pointed out in a recent release to the Pilot, by following a few guidelines before they leave for vacation:

First, the Chief said, "notify the police department as to the time you will be away."

Next, lock all doors and windows — and, Hinojosa said, lock the garage door.

Put away items such as jewelry, furs, cameras or coin collections in a safety deposit box or other secure place, cancel newspaper and other deliveries and arrange to have your mail held at the post office or forwarded to you.

As an alternate solution to the problem of deliveries, Hinojosa suggested arranging for a neighbor or friend to pick up the newspaper, mail and other deliveries.

Place several lights on an automatic timer.

Place an audial appliance, such as a radio, on automatic timer.

Adjust blinds and draperies to make the house appear occupied.

Do not leave any note on the door that may indicate your absence.

Arrange to have the lawn cut and the yard work done.

Arrange for a friend or neighbor to check the home regularly.

Ask neighbors not to tell strangers such as salesmen or repairmen of your absence.

Do not advertise your absence in the newspaper's social notices.

Remove ladders from sight and, if possible, lock them away.

Do not hide house keys under doormats, flower pots or similar places where burglars might look for them.

Check garage windows or any other windows or openings that might admit someone into your home.

Finally, the Chief said, make a list of all your valuables, including serial numbers if possible, record when they were purchased and for how much, then keep this list in your safety deposit box for quick access if you should be burglarized.

Pet Talks By Dr. Hap Lutz Parvovirus Warning

Dr. Lutz is a graduate of Baltimore City College and Texas A&M University. He specializes in small and exotic animal practice. He was an instructor of small animal diseases and surgery in the Veterinary School at Texas A&M and was in private practice in Waco for 25 years.

Parvovirus Epidemic in Coastal Bend Area Again. What is known, what is not known, and what can be done?

I have had several reports from a number of my veterinary colleagues in the Houston and Corpus Christi area that Parvovirus has killed many dogs in the past few weeks. These are dogs that have not had the initial two inoculations, or the six months booster shot.

One of the larger clinics in Corpus informed me that they diagnosed 12 cases, one Monday and 15 on Tuesday, with a mortality rate of 30 percent.

This disease was first reported by the Texas A&M Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Clinic at College Station in the spring of 1978. Since that time, the disease has occurred in various parts of the United States, Canada, Australia, England and Belgium.

It is very inexpensive to prevent this disease, but can be expensive to treat. The option is yours — why take a chance?

Seventy percent of these cases reported to A&M affected dogs between the ages of four to 12 weeks. However, it can affect dogs of all age groups. Cornell University, N.Y., has confirmed these findings. A characteristic of this disease is its sudden onset and rapid spread through a given dog population.

The severity of this disease requires immediate veterinary attention. The sooner the animal is treated the better the chance for recovery. The main source causing the spread of the virus is contaminated feces. Once the feces dries and crumbles, the virus becomes airborne.

Because of the high death rate, why take a chance? Vaccinate your dog against this disease before he becomes exposed. There are two injections given two weeks apart.

To maintain the immunity, a booster shot must be given every six months. It requires 14 days for the body to develop antibodies. Don't wait until Parvovirus hits the Rockport community as it will be too late.

Matagorda Rocket Rotary Topic

Rockport residents probably will be able to witness the blastoff of the Space Services Inc. test rocket from their own homes, according to Walter Pennino, public relations director for the firm.

Pennino talked to Rotary Club's luncheon meeting at the Sandollar Restaurant Wednesday, July 15.

Pennino said the test flight of the 55-foot projectile is tentatively scheduled for dawn Friday, July 31, from its recently constructed concrete launch pad on Matagorda Island.

However, he said a definite decision as to the time of the launch depends on results of ground tests of the rocket set for July 26, 27 and 28. He added that billowing smoke and flames should be visible in Rockport.

It is hoped that necessary clearance will be obtained for a 50-mile altitude flight, Pennino said. Otherwise the flight will be shortened with the splashdown probably about five miles out.

The higher altitude flight is expected to drop the spent rocket in the Gulf 12 to 14 miles from Matagorda Island.

The rocket carries no parachute or other recovery devices. However, it is hoped that the rocket will have sufficient buoyancy to permit recovery by a boat which will attempt to follow its flight aided by a helicopter overhead.

It is reported that several boats are planning to take paying passengers to the vicinity of the launch. No provision has been made for sightseers on the ground during the launch, according to Pennino.

Asked why Matagorda Island was selected for the test rocket, Pennino replied that its relative inaccessibility and distance from populated areas were factors, added to the fact that one of the men interested financially in the commercial satellite project also has an interest in the Matagorda Island property.

G.C.H. Hudson Company built the rocket which is constructed of quarter-inch aluminum. It cost approximately $1.2 million without including any local costs.

He added that the actual satellite with its propulsion rockets — probably seven in number clustered around the satellite — will cost approximately $30 million. The satellite is designed with payload space and capacity of 5,000 pounds.

The space vehicle already is designed and ready for production as soon as results of the local rocket tests are compiled and evaluated, Pennino said, adding that it could be in operation within six months.

Asked about use of the satellite, Pennino said gas and oil firms are interested in its exploration possibilities, firms operating oil tankers world-wide would use it to pinpoint location of their ships at any time day or night, direct television firms probably would use it to broadcast their programs via the satellite and there would be many possibilities for its use in various other forms of communication.

The Space Services Inc. project represents the first commercial application of space techniques by a non-government organization. The National Aeronautics and Space Agency will have two representatives from Houston and at least one from Washington at the launching as official observers, Pennino said. Until his recent retirement, Pennino was associated with NASA.

Saturday and Sunday, July 25 and 26, are "Clean Up" days at the new soon-to-be-opened Catholic School. School committee members Rachel Guerrero, Lilia LeBlanc and Mary Frances Zapata (left to right) are getting ready for the clean-up weekend at the building, which has been vacant for 12 years. Those interested in helping out (and the committee hopes there are a lot) should arrive at the school grounds from 10 a.m. on and bring a sack lunch and if possible, water buckets, brooms, mops and other cleaning supplies.

Endowment Awarded To Bee County College

BEEVILLE — Bee County College has been named recipient of a $25,000 Scholarship endowment established by Mr. and Mrs. Jon Newton honoring former District Judge Joe C. Wade and in memory of Reese Wade, now deceased.

Newton, a former Beeville attorney, state legislator and Texas Railroad Commissioner, and his wife Judy, said the endowment will be primarily for pre-law students beginning their studies at BCC.

Dr. Grady C. Hogue, BCC president, said the Newtons were honoring the Wade brothers "in appreciation of their fine service for many years to residents of Beeville and Bee County."

Judge Joe Wade, who served as Bee County Judge from 1947 to 1957, was named 156th District Judge in 1957, and served in that post until retirement in 1974. He was born in Rockwall in 1905.

The judge's brother, Reese, born in Rockwall in 1902, died January 28, 1975. He had managed the Beeville law firm Wade and Wade for many years before affiliating Newton as a partner in the 1960's.

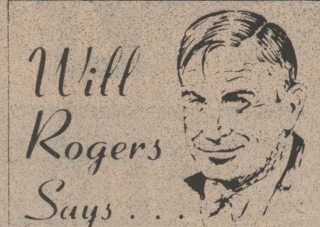

Out of the family of Judge and Mrs. Henry Wade of Rockwall — eight boys and three girls — the Beeville Wade brothers were among six sons who became lawyers.

Both were graduates of the University of Texas Law School, and the elder Wade served as Rockwall County Attorney from 1927 to 1935, when he moved to Beeville.

Newton pointed out that "Although neither Reese nor Joe had any children, both have given many young people their encouragement, support and advice, and eventually many of them became lawyers, too."

"We sincerely appreciate recognition of Bee County College by Mr. and Mrs. Newton in this generous offer to see that students needing financial support can succeed," Hogue said.

"We got a powerful government, brainy men, great organizers, many commissions, but I don't want to discourage our secretary of the treasury, and his carefully worked out budget, but you let folks in this country go hungry and they are going to eat, no matter what happens to budgets, income taxes, or Wall Street values."

"Washington mustn't forget who rules when it comes to a showdown."

Committee Turns Over $25,000 To Fund

At the end of fiscal 1980-81, members of the Women's Committee, Aransas County Medical Services Inc., turned over approximately $25,000 to the Aransas County ambulance service.

Accent On Health

Don't let food poisoning spoil your summer fun. Even though there are several types of bacteria which can cause food poisoning, most of the time this health problem is caused by Salmonella organisms.

Through their body discharges, the disease may be spread to other people. The incubation period varies and may range from a few hours to several days. The most common symptoms are vomiting, diarrhea, stomach cramps, chills, and fever.

"Salmonella germs don't like heat, so the adequate cooking of food is one of the best and most practical methods of preventing Salmonellosis," said Lenwood L. Scholtz with the Food and Drug Division of the Texas Department of Health.

But once the food is cooked, it should be served soon and then promptly refrigerated.

Bacteria in food can multiply quickly at temperatures ranging from 45 to 140 degrees Fahrenheit — from cool to warm.

"The best rule is to keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold until they are served," Scholtz said. "Keeping food just barely cool or warm doesn't help a bit. Keep the food below 45 degrees or above 140 degrees."

Since Salmonella germs are endemic in poultry and to a lesser extent in pork and beef, these products should be thoroughly cooked. Many people apparently feel that once meat and poultry are cooked, it is safe to leave them out at room temperature. This is not so. Cooked food at room temperature can become a haven for bacterial growth.

When planning your summer cookouts, remember that the germs which cause food poisoning prefer the same foods you do such as meat, poultry, fish, shellfish, cream pies, custards, and potato salad. These foods should be kept in the ice chest.

"One mistake outdoor cooks frequently make is to take juicy meat from a plate, put it on the fire, and then return the cooked portions to that very same plate with the juice on it," Scholtz said. "They are contaminating the meat again in its original juices."

Or, picnickers may use a knife to cut up the meat before barbecuing, and then use the same knife to cut up lettuce for a salad. This may lead to cross contamination because the germs from the meat contaminate the salad. Some people feel that cooked foods should be left out to cool before being put in the refrigerator. Hot foods can be cooled quickly by setting their containers in ice water a few minutes before refrigeration.

"It's safe to refrigerate hot foods just as long as they don't raise the temperature of the refrigerator above 45 degrees Fahrenheit, jeopardizing the other foods therein," Scholtz said.

For more information, contact Lenwood L. Scholtz, Food and Drug Division, Texas Department of Health, 1100 West 49th Street, Austin, Texas 78756.

Veterans Administration News

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q — What is the work-study program for veterans?

A — The work-study program is an arrangement for veteran students drawing Veterans Administration educational benefits and attending school on a full-time basis, whereby they can work in VA facilities to supplement those benefits.

Q — I am buying a house with a Veterans Administration guaranteed home loan and have been told the closing costs will be relatively high. Can I include them in the amount of the loan?

A — No. All closing costs must be paid by the veteran from his own resources without borrowing.

Q — If a military retiree is rated 100 percent disabled by his branch of service but has never applied for a service connected disability rating from the Veterans Administration, will his surviving spouse receive VA Dependency and Indemnity Compensation benefits upon his death?

A — Application for DIC must be made. The surviving spouse is not automatically entitled to VA DIC benefits and only the VA can make a service connected determination for DIC benefits.

Q — My father was killed on active duty. I am 19 years old and would like to know if I am eligible for educational benefits from the Veterans Administration?

A — You are probably eligible for benefits for survivors and dependents of veterans. Contact the nearest VA office for assistance.

Stay alert and stay clear—

AVOID POWER LINES

Putting up the antenna for your TV set or for the base station of your CB radio can be dangerous unless you take certain precautions.

Plan the project carefully if you install the antenna yourself. First, know where all the power lines are—then stay well away from them. Any contact between a power line and you or your antenna can be serious.

Make sure you locate your antenna (including the supporting mast and guy wires) at least one and a half times its total height from all power lines. For example, an antenna 30 feet high should be 45 feet away from power lines in all directions.

Don't use a ladder near power lines—during an antenna installation or while performing any other task. The danger from using a metal ladder is obvious. But a wooden ladder can conduct electricity, too, if it's damp or if it has dirt or paint on it.

Electricity brings a more comfortable life to all of us, but it must be treated cautiously. Stay alert—and stay clear of power lines!

Firemen were called to battle two minor fires on Key Allegro and at the Rockport Bakery on Highway 35 North Friday, July 17.

At the bakery, hot grease leaking onto the wooden floor under a gas-fired oven was blamed for a fire alarm Friday morning.

Mary Wilkins at the bakery reported that use of a fire extinguisher brought the fire partially under control by the time Fulton Volunteer Fire Department units arrived at the scene.

She praised the quick response of the volunteers. Fast action by volunteers from both the Fulton and Rockport fire departments

Gurleys Win 6-Day Trip To Hawaii

Rockport residents Lois and James Gurley are back home after a six day award trip to Hawaii. The Gurleys were winners of the vacation from Beeline Fashions, Inc. The couple won the trip for expanding and developing the company's field sales organization.

While in Hawaii the Gurleys stayed at the Hyatt Waikiki in Honolulu, enjoying the sunshine and beaches.

They attended a special Hawaiian Jamboree awards breakfast where awards were given for outstanding achievements.

Beeline Fashions, Inc. and its subsidiaries do business throughout the United States and Puerto Rico. The company is ranked as a leading merchandiser for women's fashions through their in-home fashion shows.

Rockport's Pyle Lands 18½ Pound Ling In Tournament

By Ted Norman

The 1981 Port Aransas Outboard Fishing Tournament will probably go down as one of the best ever as over 600 fishermen in 150 outboards tried their luck at catching record breaking fish in the annual event.

Ralph Pyle of Rockport took second place in the ling division with an 18½ pound catch.

Mike Divin of Pleasanton was clearly the big winner of the event with a 31½ pound barracuda and a 43½ pound wahoo.

A 32 pound record breaking dolphin was hauled in by Mark Skrobarczyk of Corpus Christi.

Charlie McDonald of San Antonio took the champion sailfish, a 66½ pounder, while James Barnett of Corpus Christi was second with a 59½ pound sailfish.

No marlin or tarpon were caught during the event.

The largest warsaw was a 1 pound, 10 ounce fish taken by Joe Armentrout of Pasadena. Sylvia Nugent of Aransas Pass hauled in a nine ounce warsaw.

Mike Nugent of Aransas Pass landed a 14½ ounce red snapper.

Jeff Nugent of Aransas

Pass landed a 25½ pound barracuda to take second in that division.

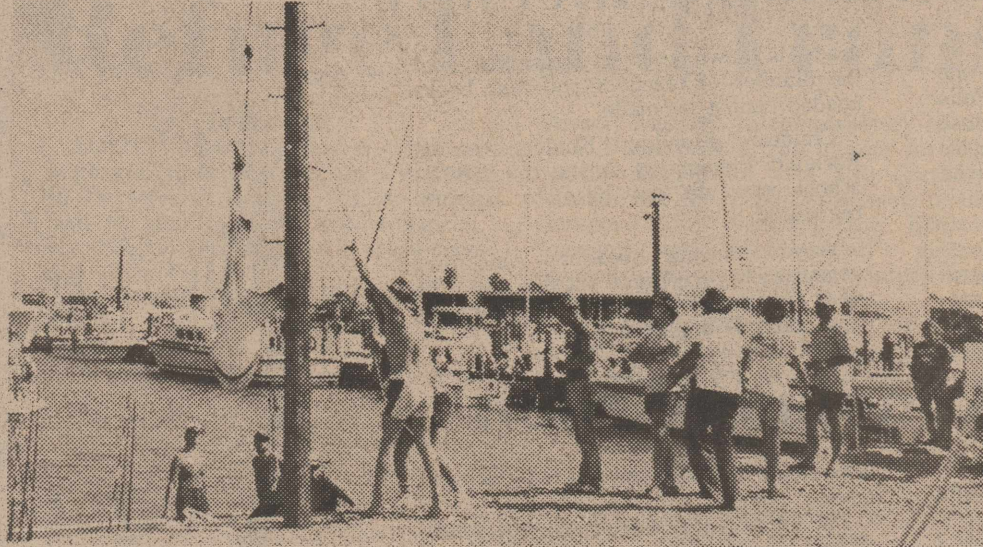

Doug Hass of Portland won second place in the dolphin division with a 26½ pounder.

The jackfish division was taken by Joe Frazier of Corpus Christi with a 21½ pounder.

The outboards with their more than 600 fishermen had to compete in less than ideal conditions as strong afternoon winds kicked up the gulf and made it unpleasant with a strong chop and some rough sea running.

But everyone stayed in and competition was so heavy that most boats had long waits at the city dock weigh-in station.

One of the big catches in the shark division of the Port Aransas Outboard Fishing Tournament is hauled up on the scales to be weighed. The shark weighed in at 215 pounds and was far from being the size of shark taken from the waters at other times. [Pilot Photo by Ted Norman]

Rockport All-Stars Drop One

The Rockport Little League All-Stars found themselves on the short end of a 12-5 game against the Sinton All-Stars Wednesday night that saw Sinton dominate the game from the second inning on.

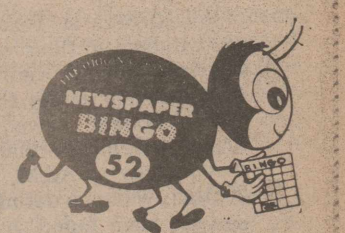

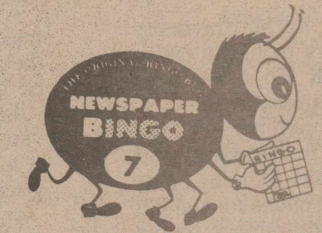

A single by Rockport's Brad Gartman drove in a run to keep the game tied 1-1 in the first inning but from there on it was down hill for the Rockport boys.

Sinton came back strong in the second inning and racked up eight runs on four hits while Rockport struggled to come alive and they were unable to score again until the fourth inning when Keith Rickman, Johnny Nunez and Allan Jennings managed to make it across the plate to score.

The Rockport All-Stars loaded the bases in the fourth on walks and scored on two Sinton errors.

Rockport added two more runs in the final two innings but Sinton walked away with a 12-5 victory.

All-Stars Dump A.P. In Softball Tournament

By Ted Norman

The Rockport Little League Softball All-Stars took a one run lead in the first inning against the Aransas Pass All-Stars and never looked back as they defeated Aransas Pass 16-6.

After Aransas Pass posted three runs in the top of the first, Rockport came to bat and with the bases loaded, Larry Randall slammed the ball for a grand slam home run.

Aransas Pass tacked on two more runs in the top of the second and held the Rockport team to one run in the bottom of the inning. Rachel Hattenback was credited with an RBI when she hit a triple driving in the fourth run for Rockport.

With the score tied 5-5 Rockport held Aransas Pass scoreless in the top of the third then posted six runs in the bottom of the inning.

The Aransas Pass girls were retired when Rockport All-Star Mary Krossgard playing in the rover position caught a fly ball and threw to first baseman Lequitia Lewis for a double play.

Anna Ayona hit a double and drove in a run giving Rockport the lead once again. Then Dianna Davis hit a double to drive in another run. Tracy Kinsel hit a long single to score two base runners. Lequitia hit a double and drove in two more runs and Rockport took a six run lead in the 11-5 game.

The Rockport All-Stars once again held Aransas Pass scoreless in the top of the fourth then came back and scored two more runs in the bottom of the inning when Diana David pounded out a triple to bring in a run.

Aransas Pass managed one run across the plate in the fifth but Rockport came back in the bottom of the inning with three runs off a double by Lequitia Lewis and a sacrifice fly to first by Sarilyn Taylor.

Aransas Pass went away empty handed in the sixth and Rockport didn't need to come to bat in the bottom of the inning and the girls came home with a 16-6 victory to their credit.

Rockport Little League All-Stars Score Victory Over Ingleside

By Ted Norman

The Ingleside All-Stars led off the game against Rockport with three runs in the top of the first inning then put the first three Rockport batters down in order to take an early lead in a game that saw the Rockport All-Stars come from behind to win 12-9.

Ingleside added four more runs to the board in the top of the second to make it a 7-0 game over Rockport.

Rene Vega led off in the bottom of the second inning with a double to right field followed by Kevin Lewis with a single.

Danny Adams got on with a walk followed by Roman Dingenary with another walk, scoring Vega to get Rockport on the scoreboard. Lewis got tagged in a steal attempt and Adams and Dingenary were stranded on base.

Ingleside went scoreless in the top of the third and Rockport came to bat and exploded for four runs on four hits and one error. And with Ingleside coming to bat in the fourth it was a 6-4 game.

The Ingleside All-Stars were scoreless in the fourth inning as they stranded three runners on base.

Rockport added five more runs in the fourth with Ross Roberts getting a single followed by Brad Gartman with another single. Then Rene Vega loaded the bases with a single and Kevin Lewis got a grand slam home run. Rockport led the game 11-8.

Ingleside was put down in order in the fifth with two strike outs and an infield play. And Rockport added another run to the board with Roberts getting on with a walk then making it home on the efforts of Vega with a double and Lewis with a walk.

Ingleside managed to score a run in the top of the sixth and Rockport didn't have to come to bat and the Rockport All-Stars marked up a 12-9 victory over the Ingleside boys.

Tourist Association To Hold Fishing Contest

The Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association has set September 12 through October 31 as the dates for the 1981 RFTA Fishing Contest.

There will be three categories including redfish, flounder and trout and three prizes will be awarded in each category.

First prize will be $100 plus a trophy, with second prize being $50 and a trophy, and third prize will be $25 and a trophy.

There will be five weigh-in stations including Sea Gun Marina in Lamar, Pouze's Pier at Copano Cove, Larry's Tackle Town in Rockport, Key Allegro Isle Marina on Key Allegro and Beach Road Bait House on North Fulton Beach Road.

The Contest is being sponsored by the Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association and tickets must be secured from members of the Association to enter the contest.

All Association members will be displaying the blue and white sign of the Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association.

All fishermen and fisherladies must register and secure entry tickets prior to weighing in fish. There are four basic rules in the contest. Fish must be caught on rod and reel. In case of a tie in fish weight, the longest fish will be the winner. Fish must be caught in Copano Bay, St. Charles Bay, Aransas Bay, Mesquite Bay or San Antonio Bay to qualify and fish must be weighed fresh.

A MESS O' FISH

Clarence and Edith Clay of Arlington show off the string of fish they caught last week in Redfish Bay. The Clays caught 26 — one red and the rest speckled trout — on one trip out. Clarence said they came down to the Palm Harbor Marina twice a year for fishing; he added the fishing trips have been part of their itinerary "for a long time."

Redfish Limit Hearing Set In Austin

AUSTIN — A hearing on proposed size and catch limits on trout and red drum (redfish) is scheduled to get underway at 9 a.m. Thursday, July 23, at Austin.

The hearing, before the Texas Parks & Wildlife Commission, is open to the public.

TP&W commissioners are considering a five-point proposal by the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department that would:

— Increase the minimum length limit for keeping redfish from the current 14 inches to 16 inches.

— Decrease the maximum length limit on redfish from 35 to 30 inches.

— Cut the redfish bag limit from 10 to five per day and the possession limit from 20 to 10.

— Cut the bag limit on spotted seatrout from 20 to 10 per day and the possession limit from 40 to 20.

A hearing on the TP&W proposals was held in Rockport July 14 and drew mixed responses from those attending. Several at that hearing however suggested that the TP&W Department should leave current sports fishing regulations as they are in order to test the effects of an existing two-year moratorium on commercial fishing of redfish and sea trout.

The commercial fishing ban is scheduled to take effect in most areas along the Texas Coast on September 1. However at Thursday's hearing, commissioners are scheduled to consider a proposal that would close the Upper Laguna Madre to commercial fishing of reds at least a month early, possibly beginning July 30.

Rockport Elementary Pre-registration Underway

Pre-registration for Rockport Elementary Kindergarten and first grade for the 1981-82 school year is now going on at the school office.

Any child who is six years old on or before September 1, 1981, is eligible to enroll in first grade. Any child who is five years old on or before September 1, 1981, is eligible to enroll in Kindergarten.

Parents must bring, at the time of registration, their child's certified birth certificate and immunization records.

The immunization requirements are, for D.P.T. — minimum of three doses with one dose since the child's fourth birthday; Polio — minimum of three doses with one dose since the child's fourth birthday; Measles and Rubella — immunization received since the first birthday and for Mumps — immunization.

School officials stress that pre-registration for these grades is very important. Unless the number of children in the grades is known, a correct determination of the number of teachers and text books needed cannot be made.

Children attending Kindergarten at Rockport Elementary during the 1980-81 school year do not have to be pre-registered.

Anyone having questions concerning registration procedures should call 729-6344 or come by the school office between the hours of 8-12 and 1-4.

Cause For Redfish Kill To Be Announced Soon

Researchers at Texas A&M University are winding up their work to find a cause for the extensive redfish kill along area Gulf beaches earlier this month.

Dr. Donald Lewis, member of the department of veterinary microbiology and parasitology at A&M, said Monday, July 20, that, while no definite cause for the kill has yet been found, a preliminary report would be provided to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department on Tuesday, July 21. It is not yet known when TP&W will make the contents of the report public, though Dr. Lewis speculated that it might be later in the week.

Lewis is a member of the department of veterinary microbiology and parasitology at A&M and is considered an expert on the diseases of fish.

He has been conducting tests and making cultures on tissues taken from several of the redfish found after the kill. A preliminary announcement was made earlier in the week by Lewis, who said that bacteria of some sort might be responsible, as bacterial growth had been observed on several of the cultures made.

The kill occurred during the last week of June and the first week of July. Some 2500 dead redfish washed up on a stretch of Gulf beach between Port Aransas and Port Isabel. The fish were all between 36-45 inches in length and showed no outward signs of disease or damage.

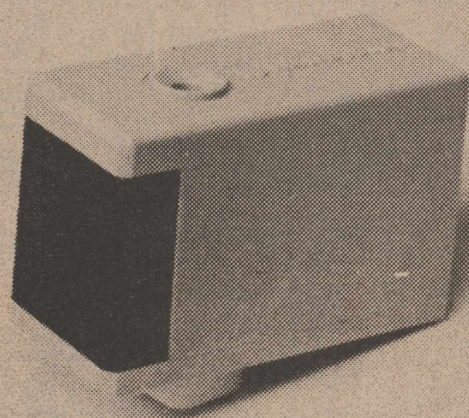

Since only large redfish in a certain area died, a single organism has been suspected as causing the kill, as a toxic substance would have affected several species of all sizes in a larger area.

WHAT ARE THOSE?

That's what twins Brenda and Bridget Hoagland, 6, asked when Maggie Hoagland came to pick up the 100 Bingo Bucks she won playing Newspaper Bingo. Maggie won for the week of July 12-17. She was playing six cards but the winner came from Super D. A new game starts in each Pilot Weekender and the prize of $100 will be given to the winner or winners of each week's game.

Rockport Officials Start Work On '81-82 Budget

Rockport's city council took its first look at 1981-82 budget matters in a workshop session at 5 p.m. Monday, July 20.

However, at this point it's all "strictly preliminary," says City Secretary Herman Johnson. At this first workshop meeting, the council was primarily interested in police department finances.

At this point, Johnson emphasized, city officials don't even have rough guestimates on how much revenue the city can expect to take in during the coming fiscal year or how much will go out in expenses.

"We'll need at least two more meetings before we know how much money we're talking about," Johnson said. Monday's was only the first of several anticipated workshop sessions on the budget.

Later, a proposed 1981-82 budget will be presented to the public in at least two, possibly more public hearings.

The budget must be adopted before the city's fiscal year begins on October 1.

Telephone Services Test Cancelled By Legal Action

AUSTIN — Southwestern Bell Telephone Company today announced on behalf of the Bell System that the electronic information services trial planned this summer in Austin, Texas, was being cancelled.

In announcing the cancellation, Southwestern Bell Vice President-Revenues and Public Affairs Paul F. Roth cited "protracted regulatory and legal proceedings" as a major reason for the company looking to "other means to move ahead" in finding out how equipment works and customers react to receiving information and transacting business via a television-type screen from their homes and offices.

Seven hundred Austin residents and business customers were to test a full menu of home information services over a 14-month period in the proposed trial scheduled to begin this summer.

The services were to be delivered electronically, over Southwestern Bell lines, from a computer data base to the participants' homes and offices.

The trial would have allowed users access through a terminal to data bases that included Yellow Pages and White Pages telephone directory listings in the Austin areas as well as various other kinds of consumer and business information.

In a later phase of the proposed trial, participants would have been able to select and order merchandise, enter personal information such as appointment schedules and notes, and change entries at their discretion. The Bell System would have provided both computers for data storage as well as transmission facilities, according to company officials.

Southwestern Bell had filed an appropriate tariff — although this was only a trial and customers would not be charged — with the Texas Public Utility Commission in May 1980. The PUC approved the tariff a month later.

But six months later, in December 1980, the Texas Daily Newspaper Association filed a complaint with the Commission and has been attempting to prohibit the trial ever since.

Roth, in noting newspaper opposition, said:

"We continue to believe the concerns of newspaper publishers in Texas are based on a misunderstanding of the objectives of the proposed trial. We believe the issues they raised can be satisfactorily resolved in the public interest without recourse to the courts and without further burden to the regulatory authorities. We shall continue to pursue this objective."

The Southwestern Bell vice president also said there were "other avenues" for the company to follow in its research on electronic home information. He said other companies, both in the United States and abroad, were engaged in this effort to develop electronic home systems and Southwestern Bell does not "intend to let the parade of competing technologies pass us by."

AT&T Board Chairman Charles L. Brown recently told a Senate committee holding hearings on a proposed revision of the Communications Act of 1934 that they believed the differences between the publishers and the telephone companies could be ironed out.

He stressed that the Bell System was not interested in entering the electronic news business.

AT&T also is participating in a trial with Knight-Ridder newspapers in Coral Gables, Florida. In that trial, 160 families are receiving news reports, home shopping services, in-home banking, entertainment and travel scheduling and ticketing and other such offerings.

Home terminals and transmission services are provided by the local Bell System operating company — Southern Bell — and a Knight-Ridder subsidiary, Viewdata Corporation, provides the data base of information services.

Avoid Excess Nitrogen On Lawns

Inside...County Extension
County Extension Agent
San Patricio-Aransas
Counties-AG

Homeowners who use too much nitrogen fertilizer on their lawns may be covering up some serious lawn problems. Grass invaded by weeds, weakened by insect or disease attacks or showing the effects of thatch accumulation may be boosted temporarily by nitrogen fertilizer.

However, unless the primary problem is diagnosed and solved, the addition of nitrogen will only add to the problem.

Excess nitrogen stimulates growth which adds to thatch accumulation. Also, excessive use of nitrogen produces succulent growth that is more susceptible to chinch bugs and such diseases as brownpatch and leaf spot.

Water requirements also increase when too much nitrogen is applied.

Apply nitrogen fertilizer conservatively and only when the grass shows symptoms of nitrogen deficiency — pale color, slow growth and abundant seed-heads.

On St. Augustine grass or Floratam lawns, use spring and fall applications of nitrogen. Apply nitrogen at a rate of one pound per 1,000 square feet (12 pounds of 8-8-8 fertilizer or eight pounds of 12-6-6 fertilizer) in the spring and two pounds per 1,000 square feet in the fall.

In this area applications of iron (iron sulfate or iron chelate) may be required to give the grass a dark green color.

If grass clippings are routinely removed from the lawn, at least one additional application of nitrogen will be required during the growing season.

St. Augustine grass growing in moderately shaded areas requires less nitrogen than that growing in full sunlight. A single fall fertilization in these areas is adequate.

Bermudagrass lawns need about twice as much nitrogen as St. Augustine lawns to maintain color and growth. However, application rates should not exceed one pound of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet at any one application.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

SOLAR FACTS

One of the most important developments in passive solar heating is the Trombe wall, an indirect-gain heating method developed for a house designed by Felix Trombe and Jacques Michel in Odiello, France, in 1967.

In designing the house, Trombe and Michel decided to use a new approach to storing solar energy and distributing it to the building's interior living area.

Up until this time, the most commonly used passive heating systems incorporated direct-gain methods, which often call for a room with a south-facing glass exterior wall and heat-absorbing masonry for the room's floor and its back wall (i.e. the wall facing the exterior glass).

For the Trombe house, however, the two designers decided to place a 24-inch thick masonry wall directly behind the double-glazed, south-facing exterior glass. This formed an air space of approximately three inches between the double-paned glass and the thermal storage wall. In addition, vents with movable dampers were placed near the top and bottom of the masonry wall.

To absorb as much of the heat passing through the glass as possible, the wall was painted black on its exterior side. During the day, it was found that the sun often produced temperatures of 150 degrees Fahrenheit on the exterior surface of the masonry wall, and temperatures of 140 degrees Fahrenheit in the air between the glass and the wall. The heat absorbed by the masonry wall was conducted slowly through the wall and released into the adjacent living area by radiation at night when the heat was needed.

The vents at the top and bottom of the thermal wall were used to provide distribution of heat into the living room during the day. This is achieved through means of natural convection. As the air between the exterior glass and the masonry wall is heated, it will rise naturally. As this heated air moves upwards, it flows through the vents at the top of the wall and into the adjacent living area.
