ABDUCTOR OF MAN AND WIFE SHOT TO DEATH

TEXAN'S SLAYER APPREHENDED BY ANTLERS SHERIFF

ANTLERS, Okla., June 26.—(AP)—Milt Good, who escaped from the Texas penitentiary November 29, 1925, was arrested near here late today by Sheriff Nevins Kirkpatrick. Good was serving a 35 year sentence for killing two Texas cattle inspectors.

Good escaped with Tom Ross who had been convicted with him for the killings. Ross was sentenced to 55 years.

Sheriff Kirkpatrick had been trailing Good for several days in the eastern part of the county, where the Texan had come to visit relatives.

W. D. Allison and H. L. Roberson, the inspectors, were killed in thelobby of a hotel at Seminole, Texas, April 11, 1925.

SIX MILLIONS NEARED BY '26 WORK IN CITY

Total for First Half of Present Year Runs To $5,915,353

'25 IS $5,908,233

Figures for Past Week Drop Below Previous Week's Record

Building permits totalling $114,280 during the past week forced the total building for the first half of 1926 well past the figure for the whole of the preceding year, 1925. Building for 1926 on June 26 totalled $5,915,353; building for the entire preceding year totalled only $5,908,233.

The week's figure at that, however, fell more than $300,000 below the figure for the week before, a total of more than $471,000 having been issued then, of which, however, more than $300,000 represented suburban work. The past week's figure represented 50 items, all for work in the city proper, and all of small denomination.

The list of permits follows:

J. W. State, residence at 1419 Ninth street, $2,930.

J. R. Parker, residence at 1414 Filmore, $4,000.

J. R. Parker, residence at 2504 Avenue E, $500.

J. R. Parker, residence at 2208 Taft street, $800.

Otto M. Lambert, residence at 2008 Victor, $3,000.

Otto M. Lambert, residence at 2010 Victor, $3,000.

P. H. Swinney, alter house at 2112 Avenue E, $175.

R. T. Hammersley, residence at 2204 Harvard, $3,000.

From Beauty to Political Race

Republicans of Clearwater, Florida, in seeking for a candidate to oppose the democratic nominee for election to the legislature have decided on pretty Miss Marie Leist, recent winner of the Florida West Coast-American Legion beauty contest, feeling that the attractive and brilliant young lady will win with ease. It was Miss Leist who introduced the idea of conducting school classes on the gulf beaches for her young charges.

YOUTH DRIVEN TO IMMORALITY BY PROHIBITION

Chicago Congressman Blame Crime There on Bootleg Booze

YOUTH INDICTED

Consideration of the second deficiency supply bill, which among other items carried $2,686,700 to supplement the $10,635,685 already provided for prohibition enforcement during the fiscal year beginning July 1, served as the means of introducing the subject.

While Representatives Gorman, republican, Illinois, and LaGuardia, progressive-socialist, New York, vigorously assailed the dry law and condi1tions under it, Representative Upshaw, democrat, Georgia, urged his party to come out with a "ringing" pronouncement in support of the eighteenth amendment in the 1928 presidential campaign.

Crime Attributed To It

Mr. Gorman charged prohibition with a grave responsibility in recent crime waves in his home city of Chicago while Mr. LaGuardia concentrated his attack on Lincoln C. Andrews, asaistant secretary of the treasury, who is in charge of prohibition enforcement.

Assailing Andrews as a "typical crinning office holder who is seeking to please the administration, the drys and the wets," LaGuardia shouted that the proposed distribution of the 232 additional dry agents to be employed under the new appropriation "is not to prevent liquor coming into the country, but to facilitate the entry and to give concessions at certain ports for that very purpose."

Mr. Upshaw reviewed the last presidential elections and accused President Coolidge of not taking a definite stand on the ku klux klan and said the democrats had been afflicted with "too much Madison Square Garden."

Comparing conditions in Chicago as he knew them as a letter carrier eight years ago with those at present, Mr. Gorman said that his route lay in an "oderly community" but now "there is much crime."

"Young boys and girls," he said "in the days I traveled there, now grown into early manhood and womanhood, instead of drinking beer in their own homes, as was the custom of their parents now drink poison at house parties, dances, cabarets and elsewhere.

Youthful Drunkenness

"There is more drunkenness among these young people today than there was among the adults of eight years ago when I worked in their midst. The girls who don't drink strong liquor are rare exceptions and they all whiff that eternal companion of drink, the cigarette.

"The young men all drink and they get stupidly drunk from the rotten stuff they drink. Other vices have come among these plain folks as a result of strong drinking. Indulgences in intoxicating liquors at their dances, parties and other gatherings have produced immoral and suggestive dancing among them and a combination of both drinking and dancing has brought on an aggravated immorality.

"These simple people are no better off since prohibition. They are worse off. For the most part they were a temperate people before prohibition. Now, they are a community of drinkers. They make their own home brew and they distill their own booze, strong, vile and unaged, that are destructive to the membranes of the human body. They drink it now with glee and noise because the law says they cannot drink it."

Mr. Gorman urged wets and drys to "compromise a little" and adjust the standard of prohibition so that people who desire it, may have 2.75 per cent beer in place "of the poison they are now consuming."

Papa Spanks, Now He's In Hospital

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 26. (AP)—W. W. Moss, an automobile salesman, lay dangerously wounded in a local hospital tonight and his wife was held in the county jail on a charge of shooting with intent to kill, as a result of a quarrel at the Moss home early today.

The quarrel came after Moss had gone to his home and found himself locked out, he told authorities. He forced entrance through the kitchen door.

"She slapped me and I gave her a spanking," Moss said.

"I went to bed and she shot me while I was asleep."

Mrs. Moss told the county attorney that Moss had picked up a footstool and was attempting to strike her when she fired at him.

SHALLOW GRAVE REVEALS BABY

New Born Infant Found Dead on Vernon Creek Bank

VERNON, June 26.—Wilbarger county officers are making an intensive search for a man who late Friday buried the body of an infant girl on the banks of Paradise creek, close to the Fort Worth and Denver railway.

The body of the infant was recovered shortly after it had been placed in a shallow grave. The baby, perfectly formed and weighing about six pounds, was evidently born alive, physicians who examined it declared. Belief was expressed that the infant may have been smothered and buried shortly after. The body was wrapped in a towel and placed in a small wooden box which was taken to the banks of the creek.

Several important clues were found in the lonely grave, officers reported. The box had been wrapped in a newspaper of recent date.

A man was seen to go to the creek banks Friday night and place something in a small hole which he dug. Believing that it might have been liquor, officers were called and the mound explored. This resulted in the unearthing of the tiny corpse.

BOY ESCAPES TO LEAD POSSE TO PRISONERS

DEMANDS $15,000

Kidnaper Releases Woman, But Barricades Himself From Attack

COALGATE, Okla., June 26—(AP) Emmet Bales, abductor of John Simpson, wholesale merchant, was killed tonight by a member of the sheriff's force that surrounded the house in which Bales held Simpson prisoner.

Members of a posse led by Fred Sherman, sheriff of Coal county, had entered the house in an attempt to make Bales' surrender peacefully. Sherman said Bales was shot by one of the possemen when he reached for his gun. The sheriff refused to say who did the shooting.

Bales' death brought to an end a day of harrowing experience for Simpson, his wife and 9-year-old son who were kidnaped and forcibly held prisoners earlier in the day.

Bales, failed merchant at Tupelo, Okla., was seeking to force collection of $15,000 which he claimed Simpson owed him.

Simpson was receiver for Bales' store, which failed recently. The grocer insisted that Simpson owed him $15,000, Mrs. Simpson said after she was released. She said Bales forced her husband to sign a certified check for $15,000 while they were imprisoned in the farm house today, and declared he would keep Simpson in custody until the check was cashed.

Intercept Them.

The Simpson family had started to Henryetta in their automobile to spend Sunday when Bales and another man intercepted them, Mrs. Simpson said tonight.

Bales forced them to go to the farm house.

Henry, the Simpson's small son, escaped from the house on the pretext of getting a drink, and ran to another farm house and telephoned for help.

The sheriff immediately went to the house where the Simpsons were held, conversed with Bales who kept Simpson in front of him as a shield, Mrs. Simpson said. Sheriff Sherman finally persuaded Bales to take the Simpsons back to Coalgate, where it was agreed that Bales was to try to cash the check.

SON OF HOGG ENDORSES DAN

Declares Beloved Father Would Vote for Moody In Election

KAUFMAN, June 26.—(AP)—Will C. Hogg of Houston declared that if his father, former Governor James S. Hogg, were living he would support Dan Moody in introducing Moody to an audience here Saturday.

The audience overflowed the district court room, and James E. Young, representative from this district, addressed those unable to crowd inside while Moody spoke to those in the auditorium.

Several speakers were heard before Moody was presented. T. L. Wynne, chairman of the meeting, replied to attacks on Moody's war record by reading a letter purporting to be from the war department to the effect that the candidate had been transferred at his own request from a deferred classification to one which mean immediate induction into service.

Former Judge J. A. Cooley, another speaker, was introduced as "the man who carried Kaufman county for Ma Ferguson." Cooley said, "Everything has not been as I expected. I am for Dan Moody and want you to help me elect him as a public duty."

Moody devoted much time to discussion of the bond validation issue. He charged that Ferguson stands for repudiation of the bonds, and added that a considerable portion of the various issues were bought by fraternal organizations.

Referring to Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's offer to resign if Moody led her by one vote in the first primary, Moody declared that "Some people call it a bet; it is not a bet—it's a lead pipe cinch."

A delegation from Terrell, headed by City Attorney Morris Brin, attended the meeting.

Blistering Sands Of Mexico Give Way To Path Of Roses For Leader Of Angelus Temple, Returning Home

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—(AP) Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, who dropped from sight at the beach May 18, to reappear in Douglas, Ariz., June 23, relating a story of abduction, torture and privatation, came to the end of her homeward trail here today, surrounded by thousands of milling admirers. She trod a carpet of roses in fragrant contrast to the blistering sands of the Mexican desert across which she said she fled last Tuesday.

M. F. McCarthy, special agent of the Southern Pacific, in charge of a squad of guards at the railroad station said that the arrangements to guard Mrs. McPherson and the preparations made by her followers to greet her were more detailed and lavish than those attended the visits to Los Angeles of President Wilson, King Albert of Belgium, or former President Taft.

Tears of joy stood in thousands of eyes, trickled down the wrinkled cheeks of old men and women whose religious fervor and tithes from their savings have helped the exponent of the "four square gospel" to build great circular temple from which she broadcasts the tenets of her faith.

From the throats of the younger of her followers poured cheers and shouts, calls of welcome and cries of fervent loyalty.

Hosanna" and "hallelujahs" echoed and re-echoed and over the great assemblage there swept an undertone from hundreds of lips of Angelus temple adherents a devout "praise the Lord."

Great throngs of the curious as well as temple followers jammed the streets in every direction from the station. In these ranks there broke a new the controversy which has raged about the case since the day in May when Mrs. McPherson walked into Santa Monica surf and her secretary, Miss Emma Schaeffer and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, announced that she had been drowned.

The temple pastor, accompanied by her mother and her two children, Roberta, by her first husband, Robert Semple, now dead, and Rolf, the son of her second husband, Harold McPherson, from whom she is divorced, walked from her car and into the station lobby surrounded by eight body guards. These special officers rode with her from Douglas after repeated threats of violence against her there.

The Angelus temple band, white uniforms glistening in the summer sun struck a triumphant air as their pastor appeared at the door and faced the tremendous crowd.

Then the joyous procession formed and the leader of her faith were escorted by cheering thousands back to her temple.

There again she will take the flower-draped chair which has stood vacant beside the pulpit ever since her flock was told Mrs. Kennedy on the sorrowful night of May 18 that Mrs. McPherson had gone to her death in the Santa Monica tide.

During the journey to Los Angeles, D. H. Greenwood, city building inspector of Tucson, Ariz., added to the day's developments when he boarded the McPherson train at Tucson and, after looking at the evangelist, declared she was the woman whom he had seen on the streets of Tuscon four weeks ago.

Mrs. McPherson, somewhat taken aback, asked Greenwood on what he based his identification. Greenwood declared he recognized her by her hair, the thinness of her face and her figure.

Asked by Captain Cline if he was positive in his identification, Greenwood replied:

Claims He's Negro To Marry Woman, Wants Annulment

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 26.—(AP)—George Riola, a white man, testified that he had represented himself as a negro in order to marry Sadie Riola, negress, during his trial yesterday for alleged failure to provide for his twin sons by the woman. He was given a suspended sentence of six months in county jail and ordered to pay $30 per month for support of the boys.

Riola announced he intends to petition and court far annulment of the marriage. Marriages between white persons and negroes are prohibited by state law.

Klan to Remain Out of Politics

SAN ANTONIO, June 26.—(AP) The ku klux klan issue is not interested in either state or local politics this year, according to Ralph J. King, secretary of the San Antonio klan.

A meeting held at the klavern in Pecan Grove, south of the city, Friday night, was in the nature of a "revival," and not a word of politics was spoken, he said. The principal speaker was a Fort Worth baptist preacher and the meeting was presided over by Rev. Lloyd B. Bloodworth, imperial representative, King said.

"Like the child who got burned playing with fire, the klan will stay out of politics," King said.

Rain and Lightning Do Dallas Damage

DALLAS, June 26.—(AP)—More than an inch of rain fell here Saturday after an electrical storm during which lightning strokes caused much alarm and slight damage.

A steeple of the Grace Methodist Church in East Dallas and several trolley and light poles were struck during the display. Electrical service in parts of the city was interrupted briefly. More rain is forecast for Sunday.

Heavy precipitation also was reported from Garland, Greenville and Waxahachie.

Unveil Monument To Soldier Dead

ST. NAZARIE, France, June 26.—(AP)—The monument designed by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney to commemorate the landing of the first American troops on French soil nine years ago was unveiled today with impressive ceremonies.

Not since the last troops left in 1919 had the city seen so many American sailors, marines and high ranking officers.

The monument presented to France on behalf of the people of the United States by the American ambassador, Myron T. Herrick, is probably the most striking of the war memorials erected in Europe.

Three hundred feet out in the harbor, posed on top of a 70-foot masonry pillar, it depicts a doughboy in steel helmet standing on the back of an American eagle and carrying in his right hand a sword with the hilt upward in the form of a cross.

Blind Son Kills Father in Fight

PITTSBURG, Kan., June 26.—(AP)—A fight between a man of 50, armed with a razor, and his stepson, of 21, blind and with only one arm, ended in a victory for the youth and death for the older man in a rural home near here at 4 o'clock this morning. Roy Atkinson is held in jail while the step-father, John W. Buffington, lies in a morgue.

The youth—known by the name of Buffington—graduated this year from the state school for the blind at Kansas City, Kan. He says he acted in self defense.

Harris Denies He's Jim's Candidate

DALLAS, June 26.—(AP)—Grover Cleveland Harris, Dallas candidate for the democratic nomination for state treasurer, took exception in a statement Saturday to the charge he said had been made by State Treasurer Hatcher that James E. Ferguson had selected two Dallas candidates for the office in order to defeat the incumbent.

"Ferguson had nothing to do with my entry in the race, though quite obviously, I shall be glad to have his support," Harris said. "I am running on my own qualifications. I should be glad of the support of other candidates for governor. If elected, I shall work in harmony with the candidate selected by the voters.

Elks Will Honor Atwell on Journey

DALLAS, June 26.—(AP)—Judge William H. Atwell of Dallas, grand exalted ruler of Elkdom, will be escorted to the annual reunion of the order at Chicago by a special train chartered by Dallas members, according to announcement Saturday. The reunion meets July 12 to 15.

Aboard the special will be the El Paso juvenile band, which will parade in Dallas before departure of the special on July 10. Other delegations from various points in the southwest also will be aboard. Judge Atwell and his party will be in a private car.

Injured in Fall

LeRoy Wilks, salesman for the Marcus Tire Company, was painfully injured Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when he was wrestling with employes of the company and fell, striking his head against a cement floor. He was knocked unconscious. He was rushed to the General Hospital in a Merkle ambulance, where it was thought his injuries were not serious, hospital attendants reported.

SURVEY SANITATION.

AUSTIN, June 26.—(AP)—The state health department's "sanitary squad" under direction of V. M. Ehlers, chief sanitary engineer, is making [illegible] surveys of a number of Texas towns with a view of eliminating mosquito breeding places, inspecting tourists camps and food establishment.

TUBERCULAR VICTIMS.

AUSTIN, June 26.—(AP)—Tuberculosis kills from 4,000 to 5,000 persons in Texas a year, most of them being between 18 and 45 years old, with more victims among the males, and the financial loss in Texas annually is $100,000,000, Dr. C. E. Dunham, director of the bureau of vital statistics said here.

Woman Tosses Oil From Window, Two Kiddies Are Dead

WOODWARD, Okla., June 26.—(AP)—Helen Bush, 3, and Juanita Dunlap, 2, died today at a local hospital from burns received when ther were deluged with flaming oil, flung from a window by the Dunlap child's mother, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bush, Supply, Okla.

Mrs. Dunlap was starting a fire and became frightened when it exploded, hurling the oil can from the window. Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap live in Sweetwater, Texas.

Petrolia Damaged By Heavy Windstorm

PETROLIA, June 26.—One of the heaviest rain storms of the season broke over the Petrolia area about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon when two inches of rain fell in less than 20 minutes.

A high wind that at times approached cyclonic velocity accompanied the rain, while a little hail was mixed in. Several large shade trees here were blown down and slight damage was reported from a few residences. The loss, however, was not heavy.

Smith Condition Is Still Critical

Ernest Smith of Burkburnett, who was injured Friday afternoon when he dived into Red River swimming pool near that city, is suffering from a broken neck and fractured skull, and is in a critical condition at the General Hospital, where he was brought for treatment Friday night.

Smith had entered the pool and had dived, striking his head on a hidden pipe used to drain the pool. He is a pumper on a lease of the Texhoma Oil and Refining Company near Burkburnett.

Governor Arrests Woman Auto Driver

LONG BEACH, Cal., June 26.—(AP)—Governor Friend W. Richardson turned policeman here last night and arrested and took to the police station Mrs. Zoe Clark, 38, of Long Beach, charging her with driving an automobile in a reckless and impudent manner. The arrest followed a traffic accident in which a fender of the governor's car was crushed and he himself thrown against the front seat, bruising his arm.

Mae Murray Soon To Marry Bivaini

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 26.—(AP)—Filmdom looked forward today to what promises to be its next outstanding marriage—that of Mae Murray, blonde vamp of the screen, to David Bivaini, who is described as having once been a prince in what is now the republic of Georgia.

A marriage license was obtained by the couple yesterday. It was said that the wedding might take place within a day or so.

Miss Murray is 33, while her fiance is 27. They met three weeks ago.

Aboard the special will be the El Paso juvenile band, which will parade in Dallas before departure of the special on July 10. Other delegations from various points in the southwest also will be aboard. Judge Atwell and his party will be in a private car.

Injured in Fall

LeRoy Wilks, salesman for the Marcus Tire Company, was painfully injured Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when he was wrestling with employes of the company and fell, striking his head against a cement floor. He was knocked unconscious. He was rushed to the General Hospital in a Merkle ambulance, where it was thought his injuries were not serious, hospital attendants reported.

SURVEY SANITATION.

AUSTIN, June 26.—(AP)—The state health department's "sanitary squad" under direction of V. M. Ehlers, chief sanitary engineer, is making [illegible] surveys of a number of Texas towns with a view of eliminating mosquito breeding places, inspecting tourists camps and food establishment.

TUBERCULAR VICTIMS.

AUSTIN, June 26.—(AP)—Tuberculosis kills from 4,000 to 5,000 persons in Texas a year, most of them being between 18 and 45 years old, with more victims among the males, and the financial loss in Texas annually is $100,000,000, Dr. C. E. Dunham, director of the bureau of vital statistics said here.

I'M THE GINK

I'm the ginklette who refuses to start my child off in life with a decent, intelligent knowledge of the origin of life. I let him pick up his knowledge from alley and dirty stories. I have a lot of false modesty about the fundamentals of life, and I won't discuss them. They may be sacred, but I just must blush and refuse to discuss them. Of course, it may mean years of suffering to my children, but I just must retain and defend my "modesty."

INDEPENDENTS CRUSHED

Gasoline Retailers of Dallas Forced Out of Business

DALLAS, June 26.—(AP)— The Independent Station Dealers association of Dallas county announced today that six gasoline retailers of the county had been forced to close their doors the last week because of inability to make satisfactory arrangements with Major oil companies.

H. O. Dooley, chairman of the executive committee of the association stated that the pinch of the recent gasoline price changes was beginning to be seriously felt by "uncontrolled independent service station owners."

RUMORS OF $300 OFFERED FOR EACH.

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, June 26.—(AP)—Milt Good and three other convicts, Tom Ross, Clarence Whalen and George Arlington, escaped from the state penitentiary here November 29, 1925 in one of the most daring deliveries in history of the prison.

Good was under a 35-year sentence and Ross under a 55-year sentence. They were convicted of murder in connection with the killing of H. L. Robertson and Dave Allison, government cattle inspectors, at Seminole, Gaines county, about three years ago.

During the summer of 1925, Good was granted a short furlough by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson.

An automobile, with motor running and a woman at the wheel, was waiting a short distance from the prison for the four convicts, lending credence to the theory that the break which was well planned in all details.

Governor Ferguson obtained all members of the Texas ranger force to hunt for the escaped convicts and offered a reward of $300 each for the apprehension of Ross and Good. There is a standing reward of $50 for return of any escaped prison.

Capt. R. W. Aldrich of the Texas rangers expressed to the Associated Press his gratification at capture of Good, and the hope Rosso soon would be apprehended.

And When Hot Weather Comes, The Ice Cold Beer You Drink Is Product of New Home Industry

Cops Find Flourishing New Business Existing In City As Demand for Mild "Kicks" Increase In The Summer Time

When you are drinking your next bottle of ice cold beer, if, by any chance you are one of those that do it may add the zest of preciousness to the beverage to consider that all the stuff that's made reaches its intended human consumer after all. Just how much beer Wichitans will drink this sunimer, or have drunk till now, in direct defiance of the Volstead law and the Texas dry act will probably always remain one of the unknown factors in prohibition enforcement for this section.

It isn't a question of sale, only, officers seeking to enforce the laws point out. Quart and half-gallon cans of prepared malt which places "beer" of a sort, within the grasp of anyone who is willing to spend a minimum of time and trouble on its preparation are on display in the show windows and front shelves of every grocery and and help-yourself store in the city. One quart of the malt makes more than five gallons of the beverage, all within the privacy of the home, with none the wiser save maybe the servants and whatever guests may drop in and be served.

This "manufacture" and traffic in the illicit alcolholic drinks officers are making no attempt to stop. The federal courts have refused to clutter their dockets with the ordinary beer cases and the national laws have been construed in some places not to include the so-called beer. In most instances there is no sale involved, and possession for use as a beverage only does not make a good case to present to a jury.

But there are those who don't make their own, and those who have gone into business to satisfy the demands of those who want it.

The result is what police call the "choc" joint. The ordinary "choc joint" ranges from anything from a servants house or a residence in the better section of the city to a filling station of a cold drink stand by the side of the road. A questionable looking orange-colored apaque drink is sold at either a quarter or a half-dollar a pint bottle. Alcoholic content ranges from six to 12 percent.

It is toward this type of business house that prohibition enforcement officers direct their efforts in the summertime. Whiskey sales invariably fall off with the ice cold beer replacing the "pint" or "quart" that the bootlegger's patron would buy if the weather were not so warm.

Just how successful raids have been during the last three weeks is apparent from a list of figures compiled by George Hodgins, chief of police, Saturday. There have been an even dozen places raided, within that time, and in those raids "beer" to the equivalent of 1,700 pint bottles, or more than 200 gallons taken to the city hall and poured into the sewers. There have been 25 arrests made in connection with the places, those arrested invariably getting a $15 to $50 fine in corporation court on a vagrancy charge.

Only a small percentage of those selling beer are negroes, the chief states, white people, many of them living in some of the better class homes of the city, have taken the business up.

Similar work on a smaller scale is being done by the sheriff's department. Two arrests were reported one night this past week by Deputies Ballard and McCormick, who drove up to a small cold drink stand, asked for beer, had it served and then made their identity known to the salesman who was induced to spend the remainder of the night in the county jail.

A Fort Worth constable recently, raiding such a place put himself behind the counter and within an hour or so had 40 requests for "beer."

The conclusion is obvious, according to Chief Hodgins." There is lots of beer being drunk in the city—"but he points to his list of figures, "not all that is being made is finally drunk. Just lots of it finds its way into our hands."

SAN ANTONIO, June 26.—(AP)—Junior airplane pilot ratings were granted 11 national guard air service officers Saturday upon completion of their four months' course of training at Brooks field. Only one Texan was included in the nine states represented by the finishing officers.

He is Lieut. J. M. Hutchinson of Houston.

News OF THE SALE

The Second Week Opens Tomorrow

This big celebration goes into its second week tomorrow. The opening day, Wednesday, went far, far beyond our most optimistic hopes. People crowded the store all day as it has never been filled before. There has been a steady stream of enthusiastic buyers in every day. Next week, the last six days of the sale bring more opportunity for saving. We predict one of the busiest week's in our history, for the values in this sale are extraordinary, even for a P. B. M. Anniversary. Come this week and save.

"Big Stick was President"

When C. J. Bernard came to Wichita Falls to open his second mercantile store.

The Spanish American war cleaned up deplorable conditions in Spanish possessions and gave to the world "Teddy Roosevelt." Roosevelt's Cowboys wrote history in the battles of that war and the great American himself stepped to the front as the most fearless leader of the age. All of us remember and love Roosevelt. His presidency filled with accomplishment, placed United States at the front of all nations. His fearless administration and the frequency with which he yielded his ever present "big stick" endeared him to all peoples. His grit and determination caused every nation to respect his country, including imperial Germany. Roosevelt, born fighter and leader, was defeated in his race for a third term when he split the ranks of the G. O. P. and came near to carrying the country for the Bull Moose party.

Free Parking

For greater convenience while shopping, all who attend our Anniversary may park their cars free in the Wichita Parking Station, next to the Majestic theatre. Bring your tickets to the store to be stamped.

NEW DEMANDS FOR BOND CALL

Wave of Sentiment Is Sweeping State In Past Few Days

AUSTIN, Tex., June 26.—Mass meetings will be called during the coming week in a renewed drive for a special session of the legislature to validate Texas road district bonds. Governor Ferguson will be petitioned to issue a call for a session immediately after the first primary, to be convened even before the August primary.

This information has been gained from preparations being made in several cities. Mass meetings in Houston and Dallas have already been called, and the movement set under way not only to have these assemblies petition Governor Ferguson that the extreme urgency of the bond situation makes the session necessary, but to cause the property owners and voters in other cities and towns throughout the state join in the same demand.

Miller to Call It

It is known that should by any chance, Mrs. Ferguson resign her office in July, under the terms of her challenge to Attorney General Dan Moody, that Barry Miller, who would become governor, would convene the legislature at once. He has publicly declared his desire for a session, and pointed out the losses to Texas investors through the chaotic condition of the market for Texas securities of all kinds.

The discovery that not only the state's public school fund, but fraternal organizations with thousands of Texas members to suffer loss by injury to the value of the road district bonds, has forced the question of a session—now getting to be and old question—acutely to the front again.

The new demand from the people for a validating session is distinct from the political campaign, and is a movement for protection of Texas property and, security values, it is said. It took shape when bond houses refused to bid on Texas securities—not road district bonds but municipal bonds—offered for sale, and immediately after the utterance by James E. Ferguson at Wichita Falls which has been seized upon as one of the campaign issues. Mr. Ferguson's statement, it is recalled, was to the general effect that "our children will curse the day," etc., that the obligation is affirmed to pay back the money secured on the bonds; and that "those trying to get a session of the legislature would saddle onto Texas people the millions which supreme court said they didn't owe."

No Call Before Primary

It is less than 30 days until the first primary, and only two months until the final vote in the nominations. It has become obvious that Governor Ferguson will not call the validating session before the first primary. The statement from the governor's office that a conclusion has been reached that only by a vote of the people of the districts can the bonds be validated, has been construed as holding some promise a session might meet later to pass the kind of law the governor's husband said she favored. That, according to construction which it was said could be placed on the Ferguson statement, might mean a change in the law providing a method for voting the bonds, and submission, at the same time, the voting of bonds identical with those already issued, in each district. Such a statute, going farther than the proposed "validation after the vote" measure which bond lawyers and the attorney general department have said would be sufficient, could be enacted in August or September and the vote taken in all the districts within the time afterward provided by law for the official publication of notices.

This leads up to the thought that Former Governor Fergurson knows a session starting perhaps a week before, or called before hand to start after the second primary, could accomplish nothing affecting outcome of the governor's race. That is, the legislature itself could complete no investigations or take no action within a few days affecting the outcome of the election; though the actual calling itself of a session might have either a weakening or a strengthening effect on the Ferguson candidacy. On the basis of its extreme necessity, and the fact that a session would have little concern with or influence upon the election, the Texas property-holders and citizens, particularly hundreds of insurers in fraternal organizations whose treasuries own the jeopardized bonds, will begin within the next week's time to renew the pleas for a validating session.

"Will Mrs. Ferguson call it?" is a question over which more people now feel concern than at any previous time since the Archer county decision.

Airplane Riders May Telephone to Friends in Berlin

BERLIN, June 26.—(AP)—Passengers on the auge air liners of the German air service which on some planes surnishes movies and phonograph music for the diversion of air travelers, will soon be able to pick up a wireless telephone receiver and despite the roar of three 120-horsepower motors talk with any telephone subscriber in any large city of Germany.

Wireless telephone experiments between pilots on two of the night air routes and landing fields have proved successful. The pilot, circling over Stockholm, Sweden, in a thunderstorm talked with Templehofer field, Berlin, for five minutes.

Ziegfeld Decrees 'Clothed' Follies

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP)—More clothes are decreed for girls, society and sportswomen in France whence come the styles, and the New York stage is involved in fashion's latest ukase. Florenz Ziegfeld, who admits he imported the hands of "less artistic producers" that he is going to lead a campaign for more clothes in glorification of the American girl on the stage.

In a statement deploring the "darings and coarseness" of present exploiters on Broadway, the theatrical producer says the stage must be cleaned up. He asks the theatre goers to co-operate by supporting only those shows that are free from displays of naked women.

Although he says he was the first producer to stage nudity in New York City, he did it artistically, he avows, with no immodesty intended, whereas, imitators, lacking artistic guidance, have done otherwise. Broadway producers, he added, "are pandering to the vilest tastes of play goers to force a box office stampede."

Ferguson Still Outwardly Serene And Confident Despite Fact That Time Has Left an Imprint on Him

Veteran Political Observer Finds Jim Very Much In Action as Other Observers Predict Moody To Lead Ticket In Primary

BY HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD

AUSTIN, June 26.—General round-up day comes late in July and July is almost here. General round-up day is the day when the democrats of Texas will cast their primary ballots. They will name all the candidates for office, major and minor, unless a run-off will be necessary in the dog day period of August.

A close-up view of Farmer Jim is ever interesting. Away back in 1914 the writer had his first close-up view of Farmer Jim, in a political sense. It was in Blum, in Hill county, when Farmer Jim made his first formal bow to the Texas public as a candidate for the high office of governor. History has been made since that eventful day and Fergusonism has been an issue in the politics of Texas ever since. It should not be necessary to write that the side lines of politics are very interesting. And we have the side lines with us this year.

There are many rumors afloat in the haunts of the politicians. These rumors never break into print. There are many gossipy stories afloat. There are men who say that the physicians of Farmer Jim have advised him to abandon the life strenuous, to get out of the campaign and to return to the shade of his own vine and fig tree, or his cotton plants or his orange grove down in Liveoak county. There are others who say that he has read the handwriting on the wall and that the Fergusons may withdraw from the campaign before the coming of primary election day in the month of July.

Makes 20 Speeches

Farmer Jim on the first lap of his campaigning made 20 speeches and then returned to the capital city for a rest of 24 hours, for a conference with those closest to him and to take the air wafted from the tops of the Colorado mountains, which are the sentinels of the Colorado river. It was then that the writer won another close-up view of Farmer Jim. The finger of time has made its inroads on Farmer Jim's face since the Blum opening. His life has been strenuous; his campaigns have been nerve racking, his ups and downs have left their imprints, but Farmer Jim was as gay as ever on the surface, as audacious as ever in his greetings and seemingly as confident as ever as to his future.

He declared that his voice was as resonent as ever, his throat as thoroughly fibered as ever, his physical condition as fit as ever and the people as fond of the Fergusons as they were in the campaign when Colonel Thomas H. Ball was put away. Farmer Jim has absolute confidence in himself. He has the same exhalted opinion of his invincible hold upon the mass. Farmer Jim came alone. There isn't one of his kind left on the surface of the earth. He insisted that the writer, in order to become well informed, should take a week as a travelling companion of Farmer Jim in order to get next to conditions.

"I enjoyed the opening weeks of the campaign," said Farmer Jim. "No, the heat is not insufferable as the nights are cool and invigorating. You ask me to estimate the size of the total vote, well, I figure the total vote will reach the 700,000 mark. O we've got 'em. Mrs. Ferguson will receive more votes than Moody and Lynch combined. You can't fool me when I get out among the people. I've been out among 'em. I'm going to get away this evening for another speaking tour. Yes, I expect to continue the speaking campaign until the night before primary election day. It is easy this time. Mrs. Ferguson will be the nominee. There will be no run-off."

Then Farmer Jim made a rush for the elevator and the close-up view was dissipated for the time being. Farmer Jim hasn't lost his nerve. He hasn't lost confidence in himself. He hasn't lost his audacity. He hasn't lost his voice. He hasn't lost his colossal stock, reserved stock of epithets or his cargo of invective.

Never Can Tell

But one can never tell. Appearances are deceptive. Farmer Jim has a magnificent poker face. For the first time in his political career his audiences have been heckling him. On occasions he has lost his temper. When Farmer Jim loses his temper he throws caution to the winds. He lost his temper years ago when he vetoed the appropriation bill for the university. It cost him his crown. He was ousted from office. He was impeached and then thrown out. He placed the club of those who ousted him.

He has lost his temper many times in this campaign and wise men say that he will pay the price. He lost it when he branded the Baptists as monkeys. He lost it when he invited a row with the American legion. He lost it when he branded Joseph A. Kemp as a dotard and the agent of New York bond buyers. This led one of his political critics to say that the three chapters of the campaign would carry these sub-titles: Vindication, Repudiation and Annihilation. But back to the mutton. This close-up view of Farmer Jim interested the writer and it may interest the reader.

First, he placed the total vote at 700,000. Not long since the writer placed it 650,000. A friend of the writer, a man who carries a union card and who is for Moody for governor, two years ago came within 3,000 of guessing the vote of the Fergusons at the July primary. He came within 10,000 of guessing it in the runoff with Felix Robertson. He has made another guess this year as to the standing of the candidates after the July primary ballots have been counted. He predicts, like Farmer Jim, a total of 700,000 divided as follows: Moody, 315,000; the Fergusons 250,250; Davidson 134,750.

Farmer Jim in the close-up view and interview, modestly claimed more votes for the Fergusons than the combined votes of Moody and Davidson. Many years ago old Cach Chandler of Michigan was the national campaign manager of the republican party. It was the memorable battle between Grover Cleveland and James G. Blaine. At mid-night after the ballots had been partially counted, the result was close. It was then that Chandler wired the republican managers in the doubtful states, "claim every damned thing in sight."

Farmer Jim is claiming every damned thing in sight a month before the ballots are placed in the box. This is good politics. It keeps up the courage of the faithful who might jump if they thought the jumping good.

And the writer had a close-up view of the red-headed attorney general on the same day that he rested his optics upon the voice and the tactician of the Fergusons. Of course the red-headed one was in a hurry. He swept through a hotel lobby like a whirlwind. He carried the Moody smile on his face. Everything looked good to the red-headed one. His campaign has been a series of delights and outpourings of the people. He was going to catch a train, he said, to carry him to another outpouring.

Confident? Yes, he had the victory won. On the same day Lynch Davidson was in a distant city. It was impossible to obtain a close-up view. From the platform he stated that he was the man of the hour, and he was going to get more votes than Farmer Jim and Fighting Dan. He held an oil can in one hand and an empty whiskey bottle in the other, figuratively speaking, and voiced his belief that these emblems or instruments or containers of commerce are the sworn foes of society and the people.

Well, the peole are the masters and the ballot is the thing. Regardless of estimates there are many who believe that there is a land slide coming on primary election day and that the red-headed contender will be the hero of the slide. This hasn't a thing to do with close-up views or interviews. This story started with Farmer Jim and it will close with Farmer Jim. He is on the road again and swears that he will remain on the road until the Fergusons have picked up a fourth democratic nomination for the office of governor.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(AP)—Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, was directed today by the senate campaign funds committee to produce the books of the league for a period as far back as 1917.

BLANTON RIVAL GOES ON BALLOT

Congressman Loses In Attempt to Keep Opponent's Name off Ticket

AUSTIN, June 26.—(AP)—The name of Judge J. R. Smith of Burnett county, democratic candidate from the seventeenth district will appear on the ticket, despite the protest of Thomas Blanton of Abilene, the incumbent, Fred Smith of Austin, a leading supporter, announced today.

Smith based this statement on a ruling from L. C. Sutton, assistant attorney general, that the chairman of a district executive committee must be also the chairman of some county committee of the district.

Blanton protested the placing of Smith's name on the ticket, contending Smith had failed to file his name with Fred Cockrel of Abilene, who Blanton says is the district chairman. Several days ago, Mr. Sutton held that where there is a valid district chairman, a congressional candidate must file his name with that chairman, before being eligible for w place on the ticket.

Fred Smith said Mr. Cockrell is not a county chairman and that under the latest ruling of the attorney general's department cannot be the district chairmen. Smith exhibited a letter from D. A. Gregg, acting secretary of state, to the effect there is no record in his office of Cockrell, or anyone else being chairman of the seventeenth district. Smith claims that Congressman Blanton has been contending that records in the secretary of state office would show Cockrell is the chairman.

Smith said that Brown and Llano counties are the only two in the district that have taken notice of the Blanton protest. He said that unless officials of this county concede there is no valid district chairman, mandamus proceedings will be filed immediately to compel them to do so. Should any county leave Smith's name off the ticket, the election in those counties would be contested, Smith stated.

DODGE IS BURIED

RIVERDALE, N. Y., June 26.—(AP)—More than 200 friends of the late Cleveland H. Dodge, philanthropist and capitalist, who died at his home Wednesday, crowded the small Riverdale Presbyterian church today for the funeral services.

The Rev. M. Duff, pastor of the church, officiated. The Presbyterian rites were observed.

Suffered Terribly

"TWO years ago, I was in the worst of health," says Mrs. H. S. Spivey, of Goshen, Ala., whose picture is printed above. "I was weak and nervous. I was in bed for several weeks. My family thought I was going into a decline. I had a small baby, but was not able to take care of it myself. My husband helped me all he could. I was dreadfully distressed by my condition.

"My case was very stubborn and would not respond to any treatment. I tried everything that was recommended to me, but nothing helped. My nerves were 'all to pieces'. The least thing sent me into hysterics. My back ached continually. I really suffered terribly.

"My mother said all along the real cause of my illness was womanly weakness. She suggested Cardui, but I was taking something else, so did not take her suggestion. Finally, seeing that I was daily getting worse, she insisted that I give Cardui a trial, so I got a bottle and began taking it. At the end of that first bottle I was so much better that my husband got me four bottles, so I could keep right on with the Home Treatment.

"I kept it up until I was entirely well. I have been in the best of health for the last year."

Showing In Jack and Montague County Forecast New Activity

JACK COUNTY WELL MAKING A BIG GASSER

Hooser Test Near Gainesville May Open New Territory There

Several small wells completed in Archer, Young and Montague counties with a number of both proven and outside locations being made in these areas, the showing of the Bond et al cable tool test in Jack county, and also of Jno Hoosier's No. 2 test in Cook county near the town of St. Jo, and near the Montague county line made the past week an interesting one in North Texas oil fields. The last two tests, especially indicate that perhaps the summer will be more than usual. The Stephens county tets of L. P. Hammond in southern Oklahoma was also brought in the latter part of the week and in the first 24 hours produced between 450 and 500 barrels.

Jack County

The report from the test of Bob Bond and Shaw-Rathke on the Shafelt land, McKinsey survey, in the postt oak county of Jack, Sent the scouts an dbrokers scurrying at an off hour to the scene of the strike. The well is estimated as making 5,000,000 feet of gas and approximately 100 barrels of oil from a sand topped at 1,780 feet. This is thought to be the Strawn sand, and will look more interesting to the major companies than has the shallow sands which for the most part have been furnishing the production for that county.

Archer County

In Archer county, some nice inside producers and also a few extensions were brought in by the Pandem and Marland companies on their leases on the Thomas land Northwest of Archer City. The former company also placed on the pump their No. 1 Whitehead in the new Barclay pool in Young county, and made locations for two more tests on this property. Hamilton and Martin also brought in their No. 4 as a small producer on their 160-acre lease. In the Rachuig pool, northwest of Olney two nice completions were made, one by the Atlantic and the other by Chenault, Palmer and Burch of Wichita Falls.

Condemned Once, Rogers Pool, Olney Territory, Is Now Liveliest Spot

OLNEY, June 26.—Regarded as condemned territory until a few weeks ago because of half a dozen dry holes in a wide circle, the Rogers pool is the most active area in the Olney district at present. It has seven producers with one well due in Sunday and five wells drilling.

Hamilton & Martin's No. 2 Whitehead in the Rogers pool is good for 75 barrels at 650 feet and the No. 1 Rogers of the Robert Oil company tion is a 50-barrel well. The No. 5 Rogers is expected in Sunday. The Robert Oil corporation for a reported consideration of $75,000 purchased the one-half interest of its associates, Barclay and Wright, in the Rogers lease during the past week. Settled production on the lease with three wells was 105 barrels. The fourth well was completed after the sale.

Chenault, Palmer & Burch's No. 4 Rachuig, two and one-half miles northwest of Olney, was completed several days ago for 150 barrels at 1,100 feet.

Broadcasting Plant Located In Hutchinson County Keeps In Touch With Central Office In Oklahoma; One Relay Through Kansas Found Necessary

TULSA, Okla., June 26.—The Texas Panhandle oil field, which many assert may become the world's largest individua l oil area, was brought closer to Tulsa Thursday when the Skelly Oil company completed and put into operation its new Panhandle radio station. It is the third radio plant of the Tulsa oil concern.

The new Skelly radio station is located on the Cunningham lease in Section 4, block B-4 of the south Hutchinson county area, and the first message that was filed at 11:40 a.m. was relayed through the main radio plant—WAH at El Dorado, Kan., and reached Tulsa—WEH—within five minutes after it was originally dispatched into the air.

Interference Hurts.

But for local interference at Tulsa that necessitated the relaying via El Dorado, the message would have reached Tulsa within one or two minutes. The first message contained 46 words and was received and copied at the rate of 30 words a minute.

The Skelly Oil company was the pioneer midcontinent oil concern to use the radio as a means of communication between its refinery, offices and field headquarters. In the summer of 1922 the Skelly Oil company and Tulsa World established WEH, but later the Tulsa World withdrew from the arrangement. The three stations, including the new Panhandle plant, are equipped with one kilowatt tube transmitters working on a wave length of 1,599 meters.

G. A. R. Slocum, sales manager for Skelly, is head of the radio department, with M. B. Lowe as chief operator. He operates the main stations WEH at Tulsa, and Irm B. Graham is operator at WAH (El Dorado) and S. Rambeau will operate the new Panhandle station. He is temporarily doing work at the Tulsa station while Lowe has been perfecting the Panhandle station.

With Skelly 3 Years.

Lowe has been with Skelly for three years, Graham about two years and six month and Rambeau is just entering its service. Both Lowe and Rambeau are old radio men, having been in the United States navy before and during the world war, and also in the United States merchant marine. Both were at Bar Harbor (Maine) station after the war.

"Our average time for receiving and delivering a rush message is one minute, depending upon the number of words," said Skelly occicials. "Depending on the number of words. When conditions are clear we seldom transmit under 30 words a minute and often reach 35 words a minute. This is considered very speedy in wireless work, due to using the Continental Morse code. This is the same as used in the merchant marine, navy and foreign countries where wireless telegraphy is carried on."

GAS OUTPUT LOW EARLY IN YEAR

Movements From Refineries Increase In Summer Months

While petroleum refineries for the United States during the first four months of 1926 shipped 92.2 per cent of their production, compared with 87.5 per cent for the same period of 1925, the combined experience of the past eight years indicates that but 82.5 per cent of their gasoline output is moved during the first four months of the year.

Taking the same eight years as a basis it showed that May shipments figure 101.2 per cent and June increase to 107.5 per cent.

A very close relationship exists between output and shipments, petroleum economics find. Daily shipments for the first months of 1926 were 28,963,875 gallons and for the same period of 1925 they totalled 24,687,150 gallons, and production figures were 3,385,529,000 gallons for the first four months of 1926, or 11.345 per cent increase.

Stocks Increase.

Stocks of gasoline at the close of the 1925 period was 1,717,592,000 gallons and for 1926 period was 1,926,725,000 gallons. Measured by these quantities stocks of gasoline at the close of April would constitute a 70 days supply in 1925, compared with a 67 days supply this year. However, as the 1926 shipments include an export movement, principally from the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific coast, that is probably in excess of the overage to be maintained throughout the year, the day's supply based on past business would appear more favorable than the actual fact.

Usually, basing the conclusions on the combined experience of the years from 1918 to 1925, inclusive, shipments and production of gasoline at all United States refineries during the first third of the year constitute 24,607 per cent, and 30,908 per cent of the respective totals for the year. If these percentages are applied to the quantities shipped and manufactured during the current year, total shipments for 1926 would be 13,162,000,000 gallons, and total production 12,196,000,000 gallons. Last year total shipments were 10,532,000,000 gallons, hence, as no one expects a 23 per cent increase in gasoline shipment, the shipments during the early months of the current year can be viewed as representing an abnormal percentage of the total for the year. The same is true to a lesser extent of the figures for gasoline production, unless an increase in stocks is to occur, or shipments show an increase of approximately 16 per cent over those of 1925.

NEW CADDO PRICES

The Texas company has voted new crude prices for the Caddo area of north Louisiana. The prices for heavy oil range fro $1.70 a barrel for 29 to 31.9 gravity, down to 40 cents a barrel for 26 gravity and under, against a former price of $1.85 a barrel for 32 gravity and under.

The proven acreage in California is now computed at 121,486 acres, says the California State Mining bureau. This is an increase of 2,457 acres over 1925 figures.

W. C. Kaths of Kansas City, Mo., former head of the Larabee Milling company and J. K. Mahoney, of El Dorado, Ark., have been elected directors of the Lion Oil Refining company.

W. D. Hume, president of the Cumberland Oil and Gas company, is visiting at Muskogee. His firm is drilling in west Texas.

News Of The Fields

Bond-Shaw-Rathke, Shafeldt

Bond et al, W. Shafelt land, approximately three miles south of Bryson in Jack county, McKinsey survey A 1980 is reported to be spraying 5,000,000 feet of gas and an estimated 100 bbls. of oil from sand topped at 1780 feet.

PIPELINE RUNS SHOW INCREASE

Gain of 1,680 Barrels Noted In Week's Production Report

Pipeline runs in the Wichita district again show an increase over the runs of the previous week, showing a gain of 1,680 barrels over the previous week. Wilbarger county again shows the largest increase but not as large a one as was the case of the previous week. Montague county and Young county again show substantial gains, the latter county being helped by the new completions in the area around Orth.

Runs for the district over the week were as follows:

	Last Week Bbls.	Prev. Week Bbls.
Electra	16,476	16,480
Burkburnett	12,260	12,270
Iowa Park	4,470	4,520
Archer City	32,720	32,245
Clay	500	505
Wilbarger	15,115	14,625
Montague	4,400	4,195
Young	7,715	7,505
Jack	110	110
Throckmorton	570	570
Total Daily Production	95,560	92,870

Stanley-Wynne, Wilson

Long et al have spudded in their No. 1 test located 1475 feet N and 890 feet E of SW corner of block 77, Harris subdivision of Club ranch, D. M. and C. S. Harris land.

Camp, Guthrie

The Camp Oil company has spudded on their wildcat test located in the NE corner of SW 40 acres of block 7, section 24, A 846, Wm. Guthrie Land, about 10 miles S of Electra in Wichita county.

Petroleum Producers

The Petroleum Producers company No. D3 in block 28, M. Roberts survey A 24, Kemp and Allen Land in Wichita county are drilling at 1285 feet.

Plug to Be Drilled Tuesday, St. Jo Test

A test which is attracting quite a bit of attention at this time, both by the Major and Independent operators is the Jno. Hoosier No. 2 A. Hyman in northwest Cook county and near the town of St. Jo. Casing has been set and cemented in the hole at 1246 feet, and the plug will be drilled out Tuesday. This test is 60 feet south of the same operators No. 1 which was started some months back to be drilled to a depth of 3500 feet, picked up a good looking sand at 1248 feet but went into it with a big bit, and after a number of attempts to get a casing seat, drilled ahead through a reported 60 feet of sand and on to 2000 feet where they hit the big lime, and then skidded to drill another hole to the higher sand.

The operator putting down this test is reported to have spent quite a bit of money for nearby leases and also for royalty under its test and under adjoining leases. Some of the major companies have also taken on a few drilling blocks after their representatives had seen the oil from the hole which covered the slush-pit and which tested better than 33 gravity.

George Pace of Wichita Falls is drilling a test on the adjoining block to the south of the Hoosier property, and will be looking for the sand the early part of next week.

Marland Has Good Upton County Well

SAN ANTONIO, June 26.—(AP) Extending the proven area approximately one-half mile northeast, the Marland Oil company's Burleson in Upton county yet uncompleted, flowed 770 barrels in the first 24 hours, and is estimated as a 1,500-barrel producer. At 2,121 feet, the well is four feet in the pay.

Oil Gossip

C. S. Miller from the Fort Worth office of the Tidal Oil company is here for a few days looking after the company interests in this district.

Chester Wynne has been in the Laredo district since Monday looking over the Staley-Wynne holdings there, and is expected back here today.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

LOWER BODIES COME TO U. S.

America In Position to Lead In Production of New Models

BY E. W. HOLDEN,
President Holden's Motor Body Builders, Pty., Ltd., Adelaide, Australia.

"A month among the motor car manufacturers of England and several weeks among the largest builders of automobiles in this country has left me with a sincere conviction that something new and strikingly different from past practices is going to happen in the great volume production, light car field in the United States.

The influence of this move, when it is made, is not going to be confined to the light car field alone, but is going to be felt in all of the price and size classes among your motor car users. When it comes it will present the European type of light car adapted to American uses and having many features about it which will be typical of American design and production methods.

It will be a blending of America and Europe into a composite production which I believe I can safely say will excel anything yet produced either here or in Europe in its particular size class.

In price it will have to be different from European cars for it will have to sell at considerably below the European price for light cars, which ranges from $1200 to $2000. Yet I am quite certain that American builders will find a way to include everything in the way of quality which has been found in European cars of this type and still keep the price well below $1000.

It will be quite different from American built light cars for, if it follows the European practice of developing high power from small piston displacement, high road speed and fast acceleration, it will require something entirely new in the way of body construction, chassis design, spring suspension and braking equipment.

Australia Long Way

Australia is a long way from the United States, but as a country we have been a heavy patron of your motor car manufacturers. We have felt for considerable time that there would be developments here in the way of a new type light car which would help materially in solving some of our problems and that this car would be developed to meet some of your own question marks in automobile performance.

Assuming that the European type of car is copied or adapted to your own methods in this country, it is safe to assume also that this car will have the standard tread of 56 inches which will give your body designers full chance to incorporate into such a car all the well known room and comfort qualities of the American built automobile body.

I have seen European bodies which measured well below six feet from the ground to the top of the roof. It would seem to me that you could develop a body here, affording all the necessary road clearance, which would not exceed 68 inches in height and still have all the head room that you have been accustomed to.

True, such a body would appear quite low when it was first seen, but this impression would soon wear away when the practical advantages of the low body were taken into consideration.

A lower body, properly designed for room, would give a far smarter looking car than any of your standard light car productions at the present time. If you are to follow European trends in smart performance in light cars, you will quite naturally build smart appearance into your productions.

From the practical viewpoint of a body builder it seems to me that some builder could put into light car construction all the grace of line which characterizes your larger cars.

Height Is Practical.

Considering that a total height of 68 inches is practical and taking into consideration the probable length of a new type American built light car, I see no reason at all why the designers should be restricted.

Given the right kind of chassis, I am quite confident that a designer could keep within 68 inches in height, give even greater leg room than you have at present in your light cars, give the normal amount of head room and the standard width of seats front and rear and yet produce a car which would be conspicuously trim and nobby in appearance.

In Europe the light car is the favorite among all classes of buyers. It will surprise us when your new light car does appear if it is not seized upon immediately by car owners who have been accustomed to the finest in automobile construction as a very welcome and judicious addition to their present cars especially for town use and for use as transportation to clubs.

It should also prove a real boon to people who find the use of an automobile essential in their business or professional life.

OWNERS TAKING CARS O'ER SEA

Tourists Ship Own Automobiles for Trips Through Europe

Americans who visit France this season are going to see places of interest other than the famous social centers, if one may judge from the rapidly growing practice of taking private motor cars right along on the same steamer that takes one to the continent.

The big French liner "Paris" on its last trip out, for example, carried no fewer than 25 passengers who checked their automobiles right along with their baggage and will drive them right off the dock at Havre.

Among these were Miss Anne Morgan, noted society leader and welfare worker, who took along her Chrysler Imperial "80" town car; Mrs. Edna Chase, editor of Vogue Magazine, with her Chrysler Imperial "80" sedan limousine; J. P. Dognin, who will drive a Chrysler Imperial "80" body builder in France; Katherine Whitmarsh, who took along a Chrysler "70" roadster, and Keith McLeod, who shipped his Chrysler "70" coach. Five of the 28 private cars shipped on this voyage of the "Paris" thus were Chryslers, indicating the immense popularity of this line.

American cars are for sale and for rent in France of course, but the ideal way to tour the country or visit the places of interest is in one's own car with which one is familiar and is fond of; and now that the steamship companies have made it so convenient and inexpensive for tourists to take along their private cars, more and more of them are doing so.

Under the present plan, it is no longer necessary to crate an automobile in order to ship it on an ocean liner. Instead, one drives it right on the dock, it is hoisted on board by a gigantic crane, and is tethered in the hold of the vessel by means of ropes attached to the wheels. On arriving at one's destination, one's car is set gently out on the pier and the owner gets in and drives away.

Miss Morgan will use her Chrysler in visiting the devasted regions of France, for the rehabilitation of which she has been working ever since the Armistice, while the others will employ theirs in touring France and other European countries.

Gasoline Taxes Revenue Higher

AUSTIN, June 25.—(AP)—Revenues in May from the once-cent gasoline tax amounted to $415,000, an increase of $32,000 over the April collections, Comptroller S. H. Terrell announced today. The five companies paying the largest tax are: Gulf Refining company $103,710; Magnolia Petroleum company, $86,886; Texas company $80,191; Pierce Oil corporation $33,440, and the Humble Oil and Refining company, $28,726.

Oldsmobile Sales Set New Records For Fiscal Period

During the fiscal year which closes July 31, more Oldsmobiles will have been sold than during any similar period in the 28 years history of Olds Motor Works, factory officials report. Although only 11 months of the present fiscal year have elapsed, all previous records for an entire sales year have been broken.

Sales of Oldsmobiles since Jan. 1 have been particularly high, surpassing previous peak records. Monthly records for retrial sales of Oldsmobiles were broken twice during this period, in both April and May.

While the automobile industry as a whole has enjoyed a substantial increase so far in 1926, the gains made by Oldsmobile have been four times greater. During the first four months of the year (the latest National Automobile Chamber of Commerce figures available) the industry made a gain of 18.4 per cent over the same period in 1925. For the first five months this year the General Motors Corporation, which produces approximately one-fourth of all automobiles made in this country, netted a gain of 56.9 per cent. During the same months Oldsmobile retail sales to consumers increased 75.2 per cent.

LAUNCH STEAMER

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—(AP)—The steamship Malolo, one of the largest passenger vessels ever built in the United States and designed to cut the time between San Francisco and Honolulu, was launched at the Cramp shipyard at 3:30 p. m. today.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 88

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children and particularly old folks, should be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

RICKENBACKER STANDS RACE

Long, Hard Daily Runs Hold no Terror For Quality Car

DETROIT, Mich., June 26.—"More and more is the motorist of today demanding not only beauty, not only clean-cut lines, not only attractive color combinations, but, what is more, he is insistent upon a car that can continually stand the grind day in and day out, month in and month out, for years, says B. F. Everitt, president and general manager of Rickenbacker Motor Company.

"Most of us forget," continues Mr. Everitt, "it is only a few years ago when a 25 or 50 mile drive in an automobile was considered quite a trip, whereas nowadays it is nothing for a motorist to expect his car to go 300 to 400 miles a day. Tens of thousands of motorists do this every day. Of course such service can only be expected from a thoroughly high grade, well engineered, finely manufactured piece of mechanism.

Always Well Built.

"Rickenbacker has always been built on such sturdy, service giving lines. All steels and other materials that go into the Rickenbacker are built to Rickenbacker specifications and must be subjected to rigid Rickenbacker tests. That is why unusual mileage is not an unusual thing with Rickenbacker. Every part and piece of this car is designed for long, constant service. Rickenbacker springs are special, the double depth frame is optical, the motor, which is designed and built in the Rickenbacker shops, has every modern feature for long service and long life, including such advanced features as force-feed lubrication. Four-wheel brakes are another feature which long ago Rickenbacker incorporated and pioneered to give the motorist finer and better service for both boulevard traffic and cross country runs.

"The long list of new cross country records established by Rickenbacker amply prove this car's ability to stand the grind under the most adverse conditions in all parts of the country.

Many Testimonials.

"Hardly a day passes but what we do not hear from a number of Rickenbacker owners telling us of an astonishing endurance or speed feat they have performed in their car. This is all due to the high quality of materials, the high quality of workmanship and high grade manufacturing methods which go into the famous Rickenbacker six and eight.

"Business continues with us in a good healthy volume," continued Mr. Everitt. "Our recent price reductions on the six are still attracting wide and favorable attention in all parts of the country. Telegraphic orders continue to pour in from not only the Pacific coast and the Atlantic coast, but from most of the leading centers in practically every State in the Union."

Roaming The Air

The amusement and education provided by radio, together with the usefulness of it to farmers, is making it one of the chief topics of discussion when they meet.

Broadcasting of the river stages for the locktenders from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill., is one of the daily morning features of WLW. The information is supplied by the United States weather bureau.

All radio transmitting stations in the United States can be operated lawfully only under a license issued by the department of commerce. This law applies to amateurs, but does not affect receiving sets. Some countries license receiving sets and charge a fee for their operation.

It was really the move of the high-priced advertisers that first brought talented artists before the microphones of the better stations. Now thousands of dollars are spent yearly for the operation of many stations. Some programs cost a station as high as several hundred dollars a day, and this in addition to the great outlay made when the station is built.

A radio program that is over in a few minutes, often is the result of hours of preparation by the program manager. In addition to the time the manager spends, it often requires many more hours to provide for special hookups to insure the quality of the broadcasts.

WHT programs have been heard aboard the liner Pan American while it was off the Brazilian coast—a distance of 5,000 miles—according to a message sent the station by the wireless operator on the ship. Special programs will be given for the ship during the Saturday night Your Hour League.

William T. VanOrman, pilot of the American balloon that won the Gordon Bennet trophy in the recent international balloon race, carried with him during his flight a standard make American radio receiver, with which he was able to keep in constant touch with land. In his message to the manufacturers following the race, VanOrman said: "When all other methods of navigation failed in severe 12-hour rain, radio gave us bearings, enabling us to fly Baltic to Sweden and victory even Madrid, Spain, was heard; performance of set extraordinary."

Questionnaires have been sent to all broadcasters in order to determine their position on the White-Dill radio control bill. All possible questions arising from the bills are asked and an effort is being made to learn just what kind of radio legislation would be most beneficial, both to the broadcaster and to the listeners.

New tubes for government receiving sets must be so constructed as to be immune from damage from vibrations of passing trucks or from artillery fire.

A prominent manufacturer forecasts the 1926-1927 volume of radio business as 50 per cent greater than in the preceding year. The prediction is based on June orders and shows a healthy, growing condition entirely freed from any so-called "depression."

Five thousand distributors of radio merchandise have made investments in the industry totaling $120,000,000 and the investments are growing.

The first secret club initiation ever given by radio was recently conducted by WJJD. The B. & B. Club, composed of thousands of boys and girls, were given advanced ranks by means of a key sheet sent out in advance. The radio parts consisted only of certain words with the key sheet supplying the others. By this means no one listening in could understand the procedure without the key sheet. Neither could anyone with the key sheet fathom the mysteries without hearing the broadcast.

Radio tubes are now being constructed with built-in pads of soft rubber between the contacts and the glass container to reduce noises in the set.

Contributors from listeners to the Your Hour League of WHT have become so numerous that the Friday evening programs are being set aside as special occasions for broadcasting them. The contributions are of every imaginable type so that listeners are assured a variety in tuning in on the programs.

Three periods a day have been set aside at WHT for the broadcasting of sport and financial news. At 1:50 o'clock in the afternoon, early stocks and general financial trends are broadcast. At 7 o'clock in the evening sport results, including final baseball scores and other athletic results are given and at 11 o'clock sport gossip about the important figures in the athletic world is on the air.

It is estimated that a super-power station has a listening audience of approximately 5,000,000 people and that on special occasions when programs of outstanding merit are broadcast, the audience is swelled to 15,000,000.

WJJD announces that it will soon begin broadcasting reception weather forecasts. These are to be given four times a day and will be based on observations of the United States weather bureau. The station will attempt to tell listeners what to expect in the way of radio reception and also will give directional forecasts for reception of its own programs.

The newly elected president of the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs advocates the use of radio in the schools to extend music of the better class and to widen appreciation of it. She will ask the 150 federated clubs to assist schools in procuring receiving sets and will endeavor to have stations broadcast high class musical programs during school hours for the benefit of the students.

Overland Will Compete With Chevrolet, Ford

Statement made on apparently good authority says that Willys-Overland, Inc., is shortly to bring out a new, light four-cylinder car which will be directly competitive with Ford and Chevrolet. It is expected that a general announcement will be made about July 1 and that the new car will follow the European style of construction in that it will be capable of high speed, will be low in construction and will travel much farther on a gallon of gasoline than present cars.

New earnings of the company for May are expected to be in the vicinity of $2,500,000 and all departments are working at capacity. A new record in Willys-Knight production was achieved during May when, on one day, 410 of the new Willys-Knight 70 models were built.

SUSPEND TELEPHONES

It has been impossible to communicate between the capital and Valencia and Barcelona since 7 o'clock Thursday night.

'Advertise Texas' Campaign Meeting

WACO, June 26.—(AP)—The executive committee of the Advertise Texas campaign which was inaugurated recently, will meet here Tuesday to discuss plans for the drive. John W. Carpenter of Dallas, chairman of the advisory committee, will tell of plans made thus far in the campaign at a banquet Tuesday evening which is being given by the Waco Advertising club in honor of visitors. W. V. Crawford is managing director of this campaign, headquarters of which will be here.

Russell Scott Is Found to Be Sane

CHICAGO, June 26.—(AP)—Russell Scott, erstwhile Canadian financier tonight was found to be sane by a jury in a sanity hearing, thus paving the way for his execution for killing Joseph Maurer, a Chicago drug clerk, in a holdup two years ago.

May Be Head of Army Air Service

F. Trubee Davison may become the head of the Army Air Service under the provisions of the new Army air service bill. The office, that of Assistant Secretary of War, is one of the Presidential appointments; President Coolidge is known to be favorably disposed toward Davison who was a member of the Yale Aviation unit before and during the war.

Durkin's Ousted Fiancee Testifies

CHICAGO, June 26.—(AP)—Elizabeth "Betty" Andrews, 21-year-old sweetheart spurned by Martin Durkin when his luck broke good, testified today for the prosecution which is seeking to send Durkin to the gallows for the murde rof Edward C. Shanahan, federal officer.

Sobbing convulsively, the young woman told of the movements and conversations of the defendant, Bringing from the state's attorneys the suggestion that their case might end with the testimony of only a few more witnesses.

Mrs. Hodge In Charge of Hats At the Parisian

With the increased flow of summer hat-seekers at The Parisian, Mrs. Augusta South, owner, has announced the millinery department under the exclusive management of Mrs. Ange Hodge.

Mrs. Hodge has been for the past two seasons been with P. B. M. company and has done expert work in millinery. In addition, she has had extensive experience in buying. She has spent a number of years in designing millinery and has also been department head together with her selling experience, Mrs. Hodge plans to devote her undivided attention to this department alone and believes that this concentrated management will greatly develop the already flourishing millinery shopping at The Parisian.

"The Parisian specializes in distinctive hats furnished from the New York importers," Mrs. Hodge stated. "These shipments are made by The Parisian's New York Buyer who is in that city the year round selecting the latest modes and designs of milady's chapeaux. Every line, curve of brim and crease of crown expresses individuality that only exclusive hats maintain."

Electra Purchases Land for Cemetery

ELECTRA, June 26.—A deal was closed the past week whereby the city of Electra acquires a five-acre tract of land from the E. M. Friend homestead, this to be used for the expansion of the Electra cemetery. The purchase price involved was about $5,000, it was announced by Commissioner C. R. Miller.

The need for additional land for the cemetery has been acute for some time. The new tract will be improved and gravel roads constructed and trees and shrubbery set out.

The High Cost Of Excess Weight

Excess weight in motor trucks is expensive. It increases the purchase price and it costs as much to carry as an equal weight of pay load. Its cost is even greater, because it must be carried all the time.

Graham Brothers trucks have a larger proportion of payload to chassis weight than is usually available in their respective capacities. Careful buyers are giving this due recognition, as their marked preference for Graham Brothers trucks indicates.

Built by the largest exclusive truck makers in the world—powered by Dodge Brothers dependable engine—these trucks are capable of an exceptional amount of profitable work over a long period of life.

TRUCKS OUSTING DESERT CAMELS

West Australia Turns From Beasts to Gasoline Vehicles

Camels, those dependable beasts of burden, which have carried the wealth of the Orient since early Biblical days, are finding their usefulness in West Australia curtailed by the adoption of the motor truck.

In the vast stretches of grazing land in West Australia where sheep raisers number their flocks by the hundred of thousands, camel caravans for years have been the media in hauling the wool clip to the warehouses near the seacoast. The loads they were able to haul were considered large for such beasts, but their gait was slow and often rising markets got away from growers before they were able to make delivery of their wool clip.

But this condition is rapidly passing. Adoption of Graham Brothers trucks by these sheep raisers has enabled them to rush their wool clip more quickly to the marketing points and consequently convert it into money more readily.

This situation was disclosed by W. J. Winterbottom, managing director of the Winterbottom Motor company, dealers for Dodge Brothers, Inc., at Perth, W. A. and Hubert S. Harden, director of the Standardized Motors, Ltd., who, with Jack Kloster works manager of the same company at Sydney, N. S. W., also Dodge Brothers Inc., Detroit.

Mr. Winterbottom has the distinction of having imported the first Dodge Brothers Motor car into West Australia. This was in 1915. Prior to this he saw the importation of the first American made automobile into Australia, back in 1903. He has been a resident of Perth for 20 years and this is his third visit to Detroit. "Wool and wheat are the mainstays of our economic life in West Australia" said Mr. Winterbottom. "Sometimes we have droughts, but these appear only to stabilize our farming industry. We do not have much rainfall in our section, nor have we any rivers of consequence to drain our lands. Our mountains are not high and very little help from the snow is expected.

"Our farmers are rapidly turning to the use of the motor car and truck. We do not have the fine concrete roads in our rural sections that you have in the United States. Many of our roads are macadamized and have been down for years.

"The cost of motor cars and trucks in Australia is practically 100 per cent greater than in the United States. This is due to the heavy import tax and the heavy freight charges. Petrol, or gasoline, costs approximately 60 cents a gallon with an additional tax of six cents a gallon for the state. We have no oil wells, although the commonwealth has offered a subsidy of $100,000 for anyone who drills in an oil well of good production. All our oil and gas must be imported. Gasoline comes in four-gallon tin cans. Recently several American companies have opened gasoline and oil stations similar to those in the United States.

"Our sales of Dodge Brothers Motor cars and Graham Brothers trucks have steadily climbed annually until in 1925 we did a gross business of 1,306,900 pounds sterling or $6,534,515. We have what is regarded as one of the finest motor car establishments in all the British Empire."

Rupert S. Harden, of the Standardized Motors, Ltd., is just as enthusiastic over the sales of Dodge Brothers Motor cars and Graham Brothers trucks in New South Wales.

"We began handling Dodge Brothers motor cars back in 1919 and our first year's sales totaled 300 cars and trucks. We expect to sell 3,000 cars and trucks in 1926" he said.

"The Australians have much of the British conservatism in them and for this reason they wish dependability and sturdiness in their means of transportation. That is the reason Dodge Brothers motor cars and Graham Brothers trucks have found such ready sales in our country."

Plan Three-Year Arctic Stay

Autos Bought On Fats, Not Fancy, Durant Head Says

That the automobile buying public can not be fooled by extravagant claims, but buys its cars on sound value was pointed out by Colin Campbell, vice president of Durant Motors, Inc., in a recent interview.

Mr. Campbell said in part:

"This is an era of extravagant claims in automobile advertising.

"It is natural and right that any organization should be enthusiastic about any meritorious product it may make or sell. We expect that published advertisements and sales talks will 'put the best foot foremost,' and feature the strongest points of the goods. Exaggeration, however, sooner or later reacts strongly against those who employ it.

"The people of this country want something more than windy extravagances, fancy phrases and unsupported claims—they buy cars on demonstrated facts.

"Cars should be, and are, sold by appearance, demonstration and proved performance.

"Speed, acceleration, smoothness of operation at low speeds, hill-climbing ability, performance on poor roads, easy riding qualities—these can all be demonstrated.

"Economy of operation and upkeep can be demonstrated only by long service—but Star cars in the hands of thousands of owners have given this demonstration and their performance is proved by hundreds of letters written us by pleased owners all over the country.

Charges Dismissed After Man Wanders for Two Years

TULSA, Okla., June 26.—(AP)—After two years of wandering over southern United States as a fugutive from justice, A. C. Misell, former Valdosta, Ga., bank president, today was a free man.

District Judge Charles Walker held that Georgia indictments charging him with false publication of his bank's condition were insufficient to warrant his return to eGorgia for prosecution there.

HUP 8 SETS NEW ROAD MARK

Flashes From Seattle To Portland at 50 Miles Per Average Clip

Flashing from the Olympic hotel, Seattle, to the Manley Auto company, Portland, 205 miles, in four hours and 9 minutes, a Hupmobile Eight, driven by W. C. Hilligoss, recently set a new road record between the two cities. Deducting a six-minute stop at Chehalis Wash., for gasoline and oil, the car's running time averaged 50.83 miles an hour—a gruelling test for both machine and driver.

In the car when it made the record run were five Seattle residents—Mr. Hilligoss, wholesale manager of the Sunset Motor company, Hupmobile distributors of that city; W. P. Elwell, president of Hedlund and company, W. B. McGurdy, manager of the President theatres; Allan Thompson, secretary of the Young Men's Business club, and Ralph W. Barron.

Detours on the main Highline route forced them to follow the longer valley route, adding 11 miles to their journey.

Mr. Elwell, commenting on the run, said: "The opportunity of making a rather long trip in one of your cars was an occasion for surprise in several instances. First, the high speed possible with very little or no vibration; second, the smooth riding with no swaying or skidding at fast speed around corners; third, the economy in gas and oil; and, fourth, the easy handling of the car. I was pleased at the very thorough demonstration and feel that all the claims made for the car are justified by its actual performance on the road."

Saffron Skin from Sour Bile

South Georgian Drives Out Enormous Quantity Sour Bile with Dodson's Liver Tone

After a long period of the worst form of weakness and the terrible feeling of sickness that comes from a system loaded with sour bile, Mr. Sam Puckett says: "When I kept getting those bilious attacks reckon I took enough calomel to kill a mule. Got worse all the time. Finally I turned saffron color all over. My wife happened to read about Dodson's Liver Tone in the Weekly Constitution, so we drove to town and got a bottle. It was like magic. It drove quarts of sour bile out of me as black as ink. From that day I have felt as if I had a new liver, and whenever I begin to feel weary and bilious, with no appetite, a dose of Dodson's Liver Tone puts me to rights."

This wonderful, quick-action, liver starter ought to be in every household, if for no other reason than to stop the use of dangerous calomel. Dodson's Liver Tone is pleasant to take, even for children, and never makes you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs but a few cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Continuous Service

Sometimes the butcher is "just out" of what you want.

But your gas company never stops. It keeps right on serving you every minute of every hour.

Once in a great while it may be necessary to shut off a small section for an hour or two while mains are replaced. Then we all learn to appreciate what advantages there are in continuous service, in having gas ready for you at all times.

Happily such shutdowns rarely occur. Maybe if they happened oftener more of us would realize what a wonderful blessing natural gas has been to this part of our great Commonwealth.

Important Notice to Property Owners

DO YOU HAVE HAIL INSURANCE?

Your Windstorm Policy does not protect you against Hail damage, unless the policy contains the Hail Endorsement. This endorsement is attached at the premium rate of 10c per hundred dollars of insurance.

After the recent storm in Dallas, Texas, a few weeks ago, the largest percentage of the property owners did not have the hail endorsement attached to their policies. Hence suffering great loss.

In the future in issuing new policies and renewals, we, the members of the Wichita Falls Insurance Exchange, to give our patrons the maximum protection under their Windstorm Policies, will attach the Hail Endorsement and include same in the premium charge. If you do not desire this extra protection upon receipt of such notice, we will eliminate this hail endorsement.

In case you do not have this Hail Endorsement on your present policy and you desire same, notify your Insurance Agent and he will provide this protection for you.

WILLIAMS TAGS IT ON HOUSTON

Old Trojan Allows Three Safeties In 7-Round Contest

HOUSTON, June 26.—(AP)—Wichita Falls split even on the series with the Buffs Saturday by winning 1 to 0 in seven innings. Rain fell in torrents after Vigare had singled to start the Buffs' half of the eighth and the game was called by Umpire Osborne.

The only run of the game was scored in the eighth when Defate's hit over second took a bad bounce to escape Powell. Defate went to third on the blow and when Corrigan's throw to third hit the runner on the arm and bounced into the dugout, Defate scored. Williams and Bob Burns, neither of whom has started many games in recent weeks, both hurled well, the Spudder pitcher having the better of the argument.

The veteran Spudder right-hander had everything his own way throughout the seven innings. Houston batters were almost helpless, combing but three safeties, all singles, from Williams' delivery.

Wichita Falls touched Burns up for seven hits, five of which were singles. The extra base blows were DeFate's lucky triple and a two-bagger by Washburn. Williams' only inconvenience outside of the three scattered singles was an error by DeFate. The veteran did not walk a man.

Pate And Walberg Give Up Only Four Hits, But Lose Go

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(AP)—Although they were let down with four hits by Walberg and Pate the Senators defeated the Athletics, 3 to 2, today in the first of a two-game series. Johnson, after losing seven games, was credited with the victory, although he was relieved by Marberry in the seventh with three on bases. Hale batting for Walberg in the seventh, was hit on the body by one of Johnson's fast ones, and had to be attended to. The Philadelphia club's trainer before he could proceed to first base. Score:

QUICK AND COEN WIN JUNIOR NET CROWN.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 26.—(AP) Jimmy Quick, Dallas, and Junior Coen, Kansas City, both national ranking junior stars, defeated Joe Smith, St. Louis, and Garth Landis, St. Joseph, in the finals of the junior doubles division of the state tennis tournament here today, the scores being 6-3, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1.

Coen was off his game, while Smith, playing with Landis, starred. Landis was on par with the others in the match. Coen and Quick are also in the finals of the men's tournament doubles. The doubles and singles will be completed Sunday.

Jungaleers Topple Redskins in Brace

DETROIT, June 26.—(AP)—The Tigers ran their string of consecutive victories to six today by winning a double header from Cleveland, 5 to 0 and 7 to 2. Ed. Wells held the Indians to five hits in the first game to score his fourth shutout victory of the season and his second over Cleveland. Detroit scored four runs off Karr in the first inning of that game on three doubles and a single. After that Karr held Detroit to two hits until he was removed for a pinch hitter in the seventh. The second game was a pitchers' battle between Buckeye and Gibson for six innings but Detroit scored five runs in the eighth off Shaute who pitched the last two innings. Score:

BOB TRIED TO STEAL TOO MANY HASSOCKS

Surprise For Customers At Kiwanis-Rotary Game

They're billing it as the biggest baseball thrill of the year, this Kiwanis-Rotary club combat slated for the Spudder diamond Monday afternoon at 3.30. Maybe, maybe—there'll probably be quite a few thrills there, but whether or not the baseballic caliber is a question the average sports scribe refuses to comment on out of a matter of self preservation.

It's admitted the Kiwanian Bear Cats and the Rotary Wheelers are two powerful combinations, but nobody has said what they are powerful at or what kind of combinations they are—that is, nobody but members of the warring clans.

John Thomas, Rotary chief tactician, isn't putting out anything. In fact, neither team has divulged its batting order. Evidently think a lot of that so-called element of surprise. And you can lay a safe bet the surprise will be there all right, all right—for the customers, anyhow.

Advance sale of tickets indicates that a large crowd will be present to witness the battle of the "has beens"—for every player on both teams insists that he is a regular ball player. The stipulation that there shall be no practice and that no one shall play who has handled a bat in the last five years does not trouble either side.

Both clubs will put a team of business men in the game and much bewildered over the failure of the Rotary camp to give any advance information on the line-up. Sandy Sanderford will probably take the box for the Kiwanis although it is not certain. Two dark horses in the shape of Walter Robbins and Lester Jones, promise real surprises when they come to bat. Jouette Bonner and J. L. Jackson, Jr., the latter ,the Kiwanis prexy, are both slated for important work.

The gate receipts are to be placed in the Kiwanis day nursery building fund.

Browns Split Twin Offering With Sox

CHICAGO, June 26.—(AP)—St. Louis broke even with Chicago today in a twin bill by taking the first game 5 to 4 while Chicago took the second game 6 to 3. Erratic playing by the locals coupled with Sisler's steal of home in the ninth inning gave the visitors their victory. Chicago droves Wingard and Davis off the hill in the second game while Thomas held the St. Louis team to five hits, three of which came in one inning and gave Sisler's team their scores. Score:

'We Had Lots of Luck,' Says Bobby As He Checks Out

LONDON, June 26.—(AP)—Bobby Jones, at once the most famous and by his own confession, about the happiest man in England, left for the United States today wearing the plus fours in which he won the open golf championship at St. Anne's yesterday.

With Walter Hagen, Jim Barnes, El Watrous and others of his American colleagues, Bobby traveled all night from the famous golf course in order to catch the boat train for the Aquitania at Southampton at noon and had no time to change from his war kit into civies.

The party was the center of attraction at the Waterloo station. Everybody was in the best of spirits and the new champion was in a particularly happy mood.

"I shall probably be doing a jig all the way across the Atlantic," he said.

Chatting with reporters Jones said, "We had lots of luck, you know. I think some of the British players were just off form. Good players can not always be right at the top of their form. Form goes up and down like a weather chart and it very often happens in these big championships that one man—often an outsider—is just coming to his best as the championship is played. The result is that he wins, beating men who are possibly better."

Robins Buy Bohne

CINCINNATI, June 26.—(AP)—Sammy Bohne, Cincinnati utility infielder, has been sold outright to the Brooklyn Nationals. He was not obtained by the waiver route as reported yesterday. Bohne has been notified of his sale and will depart for Brooklyn immediately.

Bears Make It Two Over Sports

SAN ANTONIO, June 26.—(AP)—San Antonio made it two straight from Shreveport by taking the series final Saturday, 10 to 6, staging a seven-run rally in the eighth to overcome the Sports' lead. Southhits up to the bombardment.

Newman, lately of Terrell, pitched most o fthe game for the Bears, it being his 1926 debut in a Texas league game and hurled creditably, but weakened in the eighth and was relieved by Lindsey.

Flashkamper, Bear shortstop, got four singles and a double in five times at bat.

Rain Gives Cats 7 to 5 Victory

Panthers Rout Hughes, But Exporters Chase Burns

BEAUMONT, June 26.—(AP)—Fort Worth evened the short series with Beaumont by a 7 to 5 victory today in a game halted during the seventh when a heavy cloud darkened the sky until it was too dark. Rain broke just after time had been called. The Cats hopped on Hughes and he retired without having scored an out. Hansen rushed to the mound cold, was nicked for three runs more in the second but held them safely thereafter. The Exporters drove Burns from the hill in the fifth.

Waco Bunches Hits And Defeats Dallas

WACO, June 26.—(AP)—Bunching hits in the third and sixth innings, coupled with a home run by West in the sixth with the bases loaded, gave the Cubs the last game of the series over the Dallas Steers here today 8 to 6. Dallas rallied in the seventh to make five runs, including a homer by Tate. Shires, the Cubs' first baseman, was a sensation on the defense, robbing the Steers of several hits to right. After Freese was relieved by Cannon in the seventh Steers were held in check.

ST. LOUIS, June 26—(AP)—Eddie Held of the Algonquin club, St. Louis, 1923 title holder, today again won the trans-Mississippi golf championship. He defeated John Dawson of Glen Oak, Chicago 7 and 5, in the final match of the twenty-sixth annual tournament over the Algonquin course.

TURGEON TOPS RUN GRABBERS

Spudders Tie Exporters For Loop Batting Lead

Discounting the players in comparatively few games, there was a triple tie for the individual batting leadership of the Texas league through Wednesday's games, with Williams and Woeber of Dallas and Oliver of Beaumont all batting .376. The mass of hitters fell into a slump and several frequenters of .300 company were among the missing.

Turgeon of Wichita Falls leads in run making with 69, two better than Hack Miller of Dallas. Tom Connolly of Beaumont on Wednesday hammered out his 100th hit, the first league player of 1926 to reach the century. Hack Miller holds an easy lead in home runs with 21, Woeber following with 16. Rabbitt of San Antonio tops in stolen bases with 15, Bauman of Dallas and Flashkamper of San Antonio following with 12.

There is another tie for the club batting leadership, Wichita Falls and Beaumont each averaging .314. Dallas has clubbed its way to an even .300. Wichita Falls leads in runs, Beaumont in hits, and in home runs, San Antonio in stolen bases.

AS WALT GOES SO GOES SENS

Big Train Defeated More This Year Than In 2 Past Races

By GEORGE CHADWICK
Special Correspondent
Copyright 1926, By the Consolidated Press Association

NEW YORK, June 26.—It is time to tell a mournful tale, shed a tear for a real baseball hero and point sadly to a large chunk of baseball history that has been created right under the major leagues' nose.

The "big train" as they have called him—the peerless Walter Johnson—has lost more games, combining the work of his early home season and his first western trip, than he lost during all of the 1925 season or that of 1924, in both of which Washington won the American League pennant.

The great pitcher is charged with eight defeats in the two rounds this season. In all the 1925 season he lost only seven games, repeating his 1924 record. In 1923, when the Senators finished fourth Johnson lost 12 games. The most games he ever lost in his career totalled 25 as against only 13 victories in 1909, but Washington did not have much to help him out in those days.

The eight defeats this season are taken specially into consideration for the good reason that they already overtop the records of the championships years of the Senators. There are those who are saying that this presages ill success for the champions in their fight to win their third pennant in succession.

Is He Slipping

Some say that Johnson, the great speedball pitcher, is slipping. Many think that the long game he pitched and won at the start of this season affected him adversely. If the Washington club thinks Johnson is slipping, it could get a speedy reply on that question by asking waivers on him. It wouldn't be necessary to ask waivers. Give him to New York and the Yankees will breeze through. Give him to either Chicago or Philadelphia and the Yanks would have to send a hurry call for more T. N. T. and all the reserves to check the attack.

Yet it is an historic fact that this great pitcher has lost more games already this year than he lost in either of the two preceding years—and if he loses six more games he will have lost as many in 1926 as he did in 1924 and 1925 combined.

If, in 1923, when Johnson won 17 games and lost 12, the Senators were unable to win a pennant, would it mean that if he lost only four more this year and made his total 12, the champions would fail to hold their title?

Analyzing the games Johnson has pitched in June, including Washington's first trip west, the result is less depressing, so far as his personal performances are concerned, than as a seeming demonstration of the fact that the Senators have lost their punch in close games.

On June 2, a defeat was charged to Johnson when he retired from the game at the end of the fifth inning, with the score 5 to 2 against him and New York doing the pounding. But Johnson is not the only pitcher whose curves have been flattened by the Yanks' bats.

Lost 1 to 0 Game

Johnson lost a 1 to 0 game in Detroit on June 7, and that hurt. When a pitcher of his strength must lose a one-run game, it tells heavily against a team that is shaping its course on the theory that seasoned pitching will bring it through. He pitched again on June 12, and Washington won, but Marberry got credit for it, going in as relief after a pinch hitter was installed. Such contests are about six and six as a rule on pitching balances. Johnson might have won out but he didn't have a chance.

On June 16 he pitched another beautiful game and lost to Chicago because Washington could make only 2 runs against 3. A pitcher who can hold any team to four runs or better is entitled to better help than that.

On June 20, in Johnson's last game in the west he got into another tough one in St. Louis and lost because the Browns scored in the seventh; yet his team mates could have won for him had they been lighting into the ball as they did the last two years.

Perhaps Washington would not be singled out as the most conspicuous losing team right now, were it not for the fact that their pitching ace has been defeated more times thus early than he was in 1925 or 1924. But the record is not all the fault of the pitcher. His fellow players couldn't overcome a total of 20 runs against him in five games. That isn't much of a total to flatten in five games.

Perhaps as Johnson goes, so goes Washington. And perhaps the spring trades didn't go right at all, and Washington might better have reached farther for run making power and not worshipped so fervently at the shrine of experienced pitching, because it isn't helping the good pitching that it gets.

Order Lockhart to Race in Abilene

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(AP)—Frank Lockhart, the western driver who won the Indianapolis speedway automobile race, has been notified by the American Automobile association's contest board that he must fulfill a contract to race at Abilene, Texas, July 5 under the threat of suspension from all A. A. meets.

The board asserted that after the victory at Indianapolis Lockhart wanted to cancel the Abilene agreement, made prior to that race. It also asserted that "his first taste of fame made him forget the dirt track contests," and that with his Indianapolis victory he had been asked to appear in a collar advertisement and "at least four offers to drive new speedway cars were made to him."

Lockhart is racing in Detroit tomorrow and the notification of the board's ruling was sent to him there.

Reds Pound Meadows And Songer While Mays Holds Bucs

PITTSBURGH, June 26.—(AP)—Cincinnati tightened its grip on first place today by nosing it two straight over Pittsburgh 9 to 1, in a wery pitched game by Mays and a loosely fielded affair by the Pirates. Meadows string of consecutive victories was shattered at eight, and today's defeat was his first of the season. Wright, local shortstop, was missing from the game due to an attack of influenza and he was unable to accompany the team to Cincinnati tonight. Score:

Rajah's Home Run Tags Cubs, 8 to 7

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—(AP)—Manager Rogers Hornsby's home run with two men on in the seventh gave the Cardinals a victory over the Chicago Cubs today, 8 to 7. The Cardinals thus went into second place as Pittsburgh lost to Cincinnati. Jones held the Cardinals in check until the seventh when they started a batting rally which brought in six runs. In all, eight pitchers were used, four by each team. Score:

Fight World On Edge For Coming Berlenbach-Denlaney Go

BY ROBERT EDGREN.

No ring contest in years has excited more interest in New York than the fray between Light-heavyweight Champion Paul Berlenbach and Jack Delaney, promoted July 15 by Fugazy.

There is no easy picking of a winner in this bout. It is one of those rare contests in which even the men closest to the boxers will not know much more than the cop on the corner about their respective chances.

If Paul Berlenbach had not so completely outclassed Young Stribling in their recent bout the "wise money" might have gone on Delaney. Under the circumstances it's likely Berlenbach will be favorite by a slight margin. An unbeaten champion is a natural favorite, especially when he is young and still improving. There's no doubt that Berlenbach is improving in every fight. In the first two or three rounds with Stribling, Paul showed a clever trick of ducking under punches. He could do that with Stribling, in spite of Stribling's speed, because Stribling doesn't hit straight. He's almost a swinger. It will be harder to duck Delaney's punches. Jack shoot's them straight.

Berlenbach is almost a one-handed fighter. Certainly his left is his best hand. Berlenbach's sparring partners tell an interesting story about the way Berlenbach was sent in to fight Stribling, showing how carefully Dan Hickey sizes up the fighting style of Paul's opponents. Hickey figured Stribling using those half swinging right hand blows and then falling in to grab Paul's left arm and stop the champion's winning body punches from getting through. He told Paul to lean to the left every time Stribling closed. This dropped Paul's left shoulder and arm beyond Stribling's gripping range and kept Paul's left clear. Stribling tried to hit and grip, and Paul socked him in the body. The blows that Paul landed with that left during the first few rounds knocked all the fight out of the Georgian.

Berlenbach Has Punishing Left.

"I only wish Berlenbach had knocked the boy out in the fourth round," said Pa Stribling mournfully. "It would have been much better for the boy. It would have saved him from taking a lot of punches that didn't do him any good."

Jack Delaney has the best pair of educated mitts in the boxing trade. He boxes like a master. Being strongly built, quick enough, and having close judgment of speed, position and time, he is a corking hitter. Delaney uses his left hand to stab and annoy and make openings. He can fence with that left. There's a jar in it. It's dangerous—too dangerous to be disregarded by anybody. It opens the way for the right, and the right travels straight across to the kayo spot. Delaney has knocked out Tiger Flowers a couple of times, has flattened many others, including cagy Mike McTigue, knocked out Berlenbach in the champion's early days and is likely to knock out anybody. He knocked Paul down a couple of times in their last fight. Paul knows Delaney can drop him if the punch gets over. July 15 you can expect to see a new defense against Jack's right. Dan Hickey is working on it.

One thing in Berlenbach's favor is that he isn't in the least afraid of Delaney's punch. He has taken it, hit the floor, and bobbed up into the fighting again. He's confident that he can take anything of Delaney's that he has to take, weather it, and wear Delaney down. He nearly wore Delaney down in their last bout. Afterward Delaney said:

"Paul had me knocked out once and didn't know it. I mean that time he hit me in the body when it looked as if I had the fight won easily. He paralyzed me so that my hands came down and I couldn't move for a moment. I was expecting the finishing blow to come over when I thought I might do something with my head when my hands couldn't save me. I said, 'How's that, referee?' Paul thought I was claiming a foul. He dropped his hands, stepped back and turned to look at the referee. The referee said 'All right,' and Paul came again, but by that time I could get my hands up and my strength was coming back."

As Paul Berlenbach sat beside Jim Jeffries and Tom Sharkey at a dinner the other evening I studied Paul's hands. They were as big as Jeff's, with thick, powerful wrists and thick fingers. Paul "drops 'em." He has good all around fighting equipment. He is cool, unexcited at all times, aggressive and yet crafty. He has plenty of strength and endurance, and he can take punches as well as any man fighting.

One thing that makes Berlenbach a good proposition in the betting—if any—is that he has the habit of winning. He always thinks he can win. He isn't cocky or conceited, but he isn't doubtful about winning, either. A man in that frame of mind is doubly hard to beat.

AT TAMALEVILLE TODAY

Our muchly mangled Spudders after finally getting a break, in fact, two yesterday at Houston, open a three-day foray on Honus Mitze, Ping Bodie and company this afternoon in San Antonio. The great Pizzols, who failed dismally in his first visit to Wichita Falls wearing Bear spangles, of course, will endeavor his utmost to make Pres Gardner and Brainard "wish they hadn't." It would be a treat to Wichita Falls fandom today if it could witness the square-rigged ball murderer as he tries to avenge that shipment of his sturdy remains to the Alamo burg several weeks ago by Spudder mags.

LUCK CHANGING

If yesterday's fortunate turn of events means anything, the jinx is splattered ar l our noble athletes should be well on their way now toward a string of victories similar to those set up twice in recent weeks. Instead of the breaks, as usual, going against the Brainardian brigade Saturday, fortune favored. Williams blanked the Buffs seven stanzas. In the seventh, DeFate hit a single, or maybe double, that took a dirty dive and went for three bases. Then Tony scampered home when the throw-in to third hit him in the back. That was the only run of the game. That's luck for you. Then it rained before the Buffs could get away with anything, so the contest was copped, 1 to 0. Yessir, it looks like the tide is about to change, the breaks do a sudden about face and aid the hitherto apparently jinxed walloping Wichitans for a while.

JUST WAIT

The week for the Spudders was disastrous while Dallas and Fort Worth played highly consistent ball with Beaumont flashing to the fore, greatly at Wichita Falls' expense. Opening Sunday, Brainard's boys split a bargain bill with the dungeon dwellers. Rain Monday and Tuesday caused postponement of games. Then Wednesday at Beaumont, the Spudders were trod on by the Shippers in a pair. Coming back Thursday, they were sloughed again by Galloway's gallopers. Friday saw Tom Estell drop a hard-luck game in Houston while the Spudder bat pile lay stagnant. Yesterday produced the second victory of the week, the second in the last ten tiffs. Now, with their aces coming up and the heretofore league leading bulldogeners due to break out again, having laid off the past two days, the situation takes a roseate hue. Anyhow, if the boys can old their own the rest of the way, maybe do just a little better than that, indications are situation takes a roseate hue. THUMBS DOWN ON DUTCH

Dutch Mantell breaks into print at Amarillo, defending his run-out actions of Thursday night when he was supposed to tangle with Yaqui Joe at the legion arena. Dutch deliberately ups and declares he was booked in Wichita Falls without being notified. Looking at the situation from both Dutch's and Wichita Falls Matchmaker Ross' viewpoints it's thumbs down for Mantell. In truth, the monkey-man had a tough match coming up in Amarillo Friday night, one that meant much to him should he win. He was slated in Wichita Falls, too, had agreed to the match. After thinking it over, Dutch probably came to the conclusion he had better forego the bout here, in order to be at his best in Amarillo the following night. Nothing very peculiar about that. Only Dutch should have informed the Wichita Falls promoter earlier than Thursday afternoon, a few short hours before his scheduled scrap with the Indian.

Little Jackie Gorman, the midget who gave Matty Matsuda the toughest scrap the Jap ever realized during his long campaign in Wichita Falls, want to come back and take another crack at Matty. But when told about Mantell's actions Jack said, "Lemme have that guy. I'll fix him!" Believe it or not, it's doubtful Mantell could be herded onto the canvas with Jack. Gorman gave Mantell a boisterous thumping a year or so ago. Dutch knows, also, that if Jack ever got him in a bad way during a match he would carry right on through without any show of quarter.

NEW YORK, June 26.—There is a persistent story going the rounds that Jack Dempsey just now is well below the 188 pounds which William Muldoon of the New York boxing commission claims that he weighs.

The white light gossips, many of whom are insiders in the fight game, have it that Jack is below 180 pounds, and that he was forced to give up training because of his loss of weight.

In such case would he be at his best to stave off the clever boxing and pressing of a younger opponent like Gene Tunney next September? Probably not.

In any event, if his condition is as reported, it would be murder to put him into the ring against Harry Wills, with his advantage of 30 pounds or more in weight and his greatest strength and pushing and hauling tactics.

Maybe Rickard knows just how the situation stands, and for this reason passed up Harry in favor of Tunney. Some day the story will get out, but just now all that can be done is to pick up tips and hints and plain gossip.

Looks Like Tunney Bout

It does look as though Dempsey and Tunney would appear in Jersey City. Rickard has been renovating the big wooden bowl on Boyle's 30 acres and has been conducting bouts there to pay for the repairs. He must have had some good inside information or he never would have defied the New York boxing commission as he did this week.

For one thing the commission has no control over Dempsey or Tunney, since neither holds a license to box in this state.

Should the New York board call on the Jersey board to refuse saction for the bout, the Jersey solons no doubt would rule that they are powerless to act inasmuch as the fighters have violated no New York ruling, since they are not under the jurisdiction of the New York body. This is one way out of it.

Another would be for Rickard to sell the contracts of both fighters to a Jersey promoter.

Despite all opinions to the contrary Rickard has done nothing much for the boxing game other than to inaugurate prohibitive prices for bouts and to pay fighters unheard of purses.

Before the advent of Rickard as a full fledged promoter, five dollars was considered a good price for a front seat, and champions were willing to fight. Now Tex thinks nothing of asking $50 a ticket.

Tex'A Profiteer

The public has been gulled and bamboozled to an extent where it is willing to pay for a "ringside" seat at battle with no assurance that the fight can be viewed.

The Firpo battle is an instance. The "ringside" seats stretched on the level throughout the playing field and when the fight began and fans stood up only those in the first few rows could see what was going on. And two or three dollars was charged in the farther reaches of the stands and bleachers, where all that could be seen was two indistinct figures milling about in the glare of electric lights.

The Carpentier-Dempsey battle was bunk from the start. Rickard is responsible for prima donnas of the game. The chances are that Dempsey would have been a real fighting champion had not Rickard spoiled him with quarter-million dollar purses.

So, with the big fellows getting unheard of purses, other promoters with less backing have suffered and the boxing game would be better today if Rickard had kept out of it.

BUFFS BUY BROVOLD

HOUSTON, June 26.—(AP)—George Brovold, formerly an infielder with the San Antonio Bears, has been bought by the Buffs from Mobile of the Southern association, President Ankenman announced Saturday. Brovold was sold to Minneapolis of the American association last summer and the Millers sold him to the Southern club this winter. Brovold refused to report and has been at his home in Minneapolis this spring.

BOB'S VICTORY BEST OF ALL

McCarthy Declares Jones Is Greatest Living Golfer

BY RAY McCARTHY.
Special Correspondent to The Record News

NEW YORK, June 26.—The remarkable achievement of Bobby Jones in winning the British open championship has definitely established that distinguished young Georgian as the greatest living golfer in the world today.

In winning a most coveted title, that has been in competion for 66 years, Jones equalled the low score

Ray McCarthy, noted golf expert of the Consolidated Press Association, whose dispatches appear every Sunday in The Record News, called the turn this season every step of America's clean sweep of the major British golf competitions.

First he predicted the victory of the American Walker cup team. Then, despite the fact that no American born amateur had ever previously won the British amateur title, Mr. McCarthy predicted that an American home bred would win—and Jesse Sweetser vindicated his judgment.

In this last two dispatches, Mr. McCarthy definitely picked Bobby Jones to beat out Walter Hagen and named the Atlanta amateur as the probable winner of the British open title—in the face of records which showed that no amateur had won this classic in 20 years.

record of 291 for this tournament, made by Jim Braid, English professional in 1908. Only twice in all the years of this tournament has the score of 295 been beaten. Bobby's four rounds of play at St. Anne's were as follows:

72, 72, 73, 74. This is the most consistent golf ever played in the British open competition. This in itself is proof that Bobby is the greatest living golfer. He did not obtain his wonderful victory through any one exceptional round, but rather by steady, consistent scoring in four rounds.

Jones' victory in the British open is the first achieved by any amateur since Harold H. Hilton won the title in 1897, nearly 30 years ago, or some five years before the Georgian first saw the light of day. Jones also earns the unusual distinction of being the first American amateur ever to win the British open title and one of three amateurs who in 66 years have captured the crown. Hilton and John Ball were the others, Hilton winning in 1892 and again in 1897, and Ball in 1890.

Has It On Hagen.

There may be some who will dispute Jones' right to the title of king of them all and say that Walter Hagen is the better golfer. The records, particularly those of American open championships over the past six years, completely prove Jones' superiority.

In seven open championships, including this year's British classic, Jones has led Hagen on every occasion except one, that at the Columbia Club, Washington, in 1921.

Jones' total for these seven tournaments is 2069 strokes. Hagen's is 2092, a difference of 23 strokes. Bobby's average score per round has been just 74 strokes, or an average of two over fours for 28 rounds of competitive golf against the greatest players in the world. Hagen's average score per round is 74 3-4 strokes. Thus Jones has led Hagen nearly one stroke per round in 28 rounds of hard competition.

The match between this pair played in Florida last winter can be tossed into the discard when comparing these two great golfers. Jones, who is an amateur in every sense of the word, and who is given to taking golf very lightly, should never have played the contest, particularly at that time.

Golf with Hagen is a business, which accounts largely for the difference in temperament. With Jones golf is only a game and those who know anything about athletics must realize there is a vast difference. But when it comes to championship tournaments under championship conditions Jones has risen to the occasion in a manner which has fully justified the claim that he is the greatest of them all.

Deserves Credit.

All this does not include Bobby's great world record of 134 made in the qualifying rounds of the British open last week. Fortunately for the Atlanta wizard there was an interval of practically a week between the qualifying rounds and the championship, during which Bobby had a good chance to recover from the physical reaction that always sets in after any record breaking round of golf. That Jones was able to come right back one week later with another series of perfect scores demonstrates better than anything else his wonderful golf form.

Al Watrous deserves great credit for his showing in the British championship. Only 23 years of age and competing on foreign soil for the first time, this young man who learned the game caddying on the links of Westchester, N. Y., clubs, has proved his caliber. Watrous will bear watching in future tournaments.

Great credit is also due Freddie McLeod and the veteran J. H. Taylor for their performances. McLeod, who went abroad principally for the purpose of coaching young Roland Mackenzie of Washington, was in the thick of the fight up to the last round. And Freddy is by no means a young man. He was national open champion in 1908, nearly 20 years ago.

Studebaker Pledge to the Public on Used Car Sales

1 All used cars offered to the public shall be honestly represented.

If a car is suitable only for a mechanic who can rebuild it, or for some one who expects only a few months' rough usage on a camping trip, it must be sold on that basis. Each car must be sold for just what it is.

2 All Studebaker automobiles which are sold as CERTIFIED CARS have been properly reconditioned, and carry a 30-day guarantee for replacement of defective parts and free service on adjustments.

This is possible because tremendous reserve mileage has been built into every Studebaker, which it is impossible to exhaust in years.

3 Every used car is conspicuously marked with its price in plain figures, and that price, just as the price of our new cars, is rigidly maintained.

The public can deal in confidence and safety only with the dealer whose policy is "one price only—the same price to all." For to sell cars on this basis, every one of them must be honestly priced to begin with.

4 Every purchaser of a used car may drive it for five days, and then, if not satisfied for any reason, turn it back and apply the money paid as a credit on the purchase of any other car in stock—new or used.

It is assumed, of course, that the car has not been smashed up by collision or other accident in the meantime.

1925 Studebaker Standard Phaeton

1924 Dodge Brothers Touring Car

1924 Ford Coupe

OLD AGE

Is the Only Thing That "Comes to Him Who Waits

You family men—you fellows who have been paying doctors' bills—buying dresses and automobiles, struggling along and hoping for that "tomorrow" which never seems to come—just let me tell you something!

If comfort, independence, freedom and security mean anything to you, take your first step toward prosperity—and DO IT NOW! You can buy that lot, that home—you've been dreaming about—and you can buy it in the same way you paid that doctor's bill—the same way you bought that car—a little at a time. But when you purchase this, you're planting the acorn that grows the oak. Your savings are going to grow—instead of go. I'm not talking speculation. I'm talking about the surest thing on earth—Wichita Falls real estate. I'm talking about freedom from rent—a HOME—a chance to accumulate—the confidence that comes with ownership.

I'm Talking About Scotland Addition which affords the opportunity and the plan for you to own your home. For over 20 years in this city I've been helping fellows just like you, to get a start. You simply need the will—the determination. SCOTLAND ADDITION is close in to the business district and the great industries of Wichita Falls. It is the only close in addition on the market where the wage earner can get a foothold. It is the place for you to own your home.

If you want further information on "How to Start Building for Future Freedom," come to my office.

ROSEMONT BURIAL PARK

Perpetual Care Cemetery

A reserve fund set aside out of every sale of a lot is just as essential to perpetuate a cemetery as it is for a reserve fund to be set aside out of your premium to make good your life insurance policy.

It has been found by experience in old and settled communities that cemeteries operated by cities or individuals which do not have a reserve fund finally grows up in weeds, and in many places houses are built where the dead were formerly buried.

When you buy a lot buy in the place that gives you this protection. We will sell you a lot on easy terms to be paid for over a period of years.

Big Crowd Hears Sartin in Address At Eliasville

ELIASVILLE, June 26.—Between 2,500 and 3,000 people heard B. D. Sartin of Wichita Falls in an address here this morning in the interest of his candidacy for congress from the 13th Texas district. Judge Sartin heavily scored the record of Gwinn Williams, incumbent, paying particular attention to the vote for the Italian debt settlement whereby millions were loaned that country at a comparatively low rate of interest and his vote against the Haugen bill with its promise of similar relief for the farmers.

From Eliasville Judge Sartin went to Woodson and spoke to a large crowd there. He spoke again tonight to a crowd of between 300 and 400 on the court house lawn at Throckmorton.

A large crowd heard Judge Sartin Friday night in an address at Seymour also.

For the same period of time in 1925, an increase of more than $300,000 is shown for this year.

Monday	$509,005.42
Tuesday	583,188.83
Wednesday	667,305.06
Thursday	786,735.13
Friday	393,682.11
Saturday	393,682.11
Saturday	451,135.99
Total	$3,483,142.55
Week ending same period 1925	$3,114,676.49
Increase	$368,466.06

The Story Spreads

The most powerful motor of its size

500 more sold today. Study the trend

"LIKE a comet."

The evidence is conclusive.

Only 6 months old—yet 30,000 sold in the past 90 days.

No other new car of this price has even approached such a record.

A definite new engineering trend has set in. Be cautious of the resale value of motor cars that have been "modern" too long.

This new "70" Willys-Knight Six is admittedly the most up-to-date car in America, and already the most popular car of its price.

It has the most powerful standard motor of its size so far produced in this country.

It embodies the most advanced—the most efficient engineering from both sides of the world.

Tests prove it the most efficient automobile built—and the most active.

This is why it has created such a nation-wide sensation. This is why it is the fastest-selling new Six of its price in the world.

The motor of the new "70" Willys-Knight Six is an exclusive feature. It gives you exclusive performance advantages which no other type motor can hope to equal.

This is the famous Knight sleeve-valve motor, patented, which other manufacturers would give millions to get.

Repeated tests for many years have proved this to be the most efficient type of automobile motor built . . .

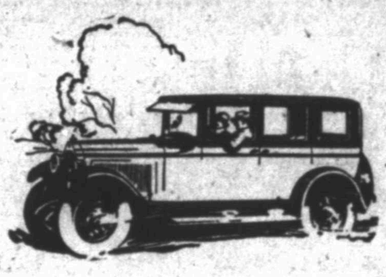

Quieter, more powerful, more efficient than any other motor of its size when new, the Knight sleeve-valve motor grows smoother, more powerful, more efficient with every mile.

It has no valves to grind . . . It has no springs to weaken.

It has: Speed between 60 and 70 honest miles an hour.
Extraordinarily long sustained high speed.
Power on any hill to pass most cars in high.
Quick as a cat—acceleration 5 to 25 miles in 7½ seconds.
The tax saving is only part of its economy.

So far as we know, no Willys-Knight motor has ever worn out.

This supreme advantage is winning new Willys-Knight Six purchasers by the thousands. It enables owners to drive their cars far beyond the life of the average car. It means a top place in resale value.

Sales prove this new "70" Willys-Knight Six is the most suitable car for most families. Please ride in it. You will find it the most economical and continuously satisfactory car you can drive.

The new Willys Finance Plan means less money down, smaller monthly payments; and the lowest credit-cost in the industry.

"70" Willys-Knight Six from $1295 to $1495; Willys-Knight Great Six, a luxury car as superior in its class as the "70", from $1750 to $2495. Prices f. o. b. factory. We reserve the right to change prices and specifications without notice.

MEETING PLANS BEING STUDIED

Prominent Club Women Of The State to Be Invited

The Woman's Educational Encampment of the Home Demonstration clubs will be held at Call Field August 18-20, according to plans made at a meeting of the council Saturday afternoon at the chamber of commerce when representatives of eight clubs of the county were present. Mrs. Pearl Ponder Chamberlain, head of the Home Economics department of the John Tarleton college, and Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner, rural worker and organizer, are to be invited to be present at the encampment, as well as other well known workers of the state.

Announcement was made at the club that Mrs. Mae Hunnicut, president of the Rural Farm club, and Mrs. E. T. Groves, member of the County Line club, who recently won in a cooking contest, will be sent to College Station complimentary of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce.

Premiums Discussed

In the business session, the premium lists of the Texas-Oklahoma fair were discussed and suggestions made for a premium list. The Home Demonstration clubs discussed and adopted the following list as suitable for the clubs:

Canning: eight jars of fruits, vegetables, pickles, preserves, jelly; meats, fried, creamed, pork roast, pork sausage, beef roast and chile; clothing, woman's dress, child's dress, cotton, boy's suit, cotton, child's made-over dress, woolen, child's made-over suit, boy's woolen, baby layette, including cap, dress, slip, braided rug, luncheon set, and six handkerchiefs, dresser scarf, pillow cases, bedspread, illustrated poster and record book.

Reports Made

Reports were given on the spring garden contests with County Line winning first place with 208 points; Barwise, second, 200 points; in the irrigated valley, Bowie, 277 points; Lake Dale, 312 points.

The members discussed, also, the Girl's Home Demonstration Club Encampment. Prizes were offered by the Barwise club for the first place in the bread contest, and second in the dress; County Line, offered first in the dress, and Ruyle Farm second place for bread contest.

The next meeting of the council will be July 24, it was announced. Mrs. G. C. Hathaway, chairman, presided at the meeting.

Business Firm to Present Municipal Band in Concert

Complimentary to the citizens of Wichita Falls, P. B. M. company will present the Municipal band in concert Sunday, July 4. This announcement was made Saturday from the chamber of commerce, following the appointment of a committee at the business council Friday, to work out details for a series of Sunday concerts during the summer. This committee, appointed by Vice Chairman E. G. Hill, is as follows: J. L. Jackson Jr., D. G. Ripley and Dr. S. A. Barnes. The time and place for the July 4 concert will be decided upon at a meeting of the committee to be held probably Tuesday.

It is believed other business firms in Wichita Falls will desire to give these complimentary concerts as has been inaugurated by P. B. M. company. In this the chamber of commerce will lend every aid in the hope of making these concerts entertaining for the people of Wichita Falls, who will remain at home during the summer months.

The question of the Sunday concerts was brought to the attention of the business council Friday for the first time. The hope was expressed at that time that they could be given each Sunday afternoon or evening during July and August.

Record News Boys Have Great Time In Lake Plunge

Record News newsies—the enterprising salesmen who distribute the paper each morning on the downtown corners, had a hilarious time Saturday afternoon when they were given complimentary swims at Lake Beach, Lake Wichita park.

The boys were taken out to the lake in cars from The Record News and there were the guests of the lake management. They spent an hour or more in the water and gave the park probably its most noisy crowd of the season.

The summer swims will probably be made a regular feature for the youngsters during the hot summer months.

Enroll Pupils

Enrolling pupils for the Yale Avenue Evangelical Daily Bible vacation school is keeping a committee busy, according to reports from the church Saturday. The school will be held at the church beginning July 5 and continuing through July 30. It will assemble at 9 o'clock and last until 11:30 a. m. for five days each week.

The school will be free and is non-sectarian, it was announced. Teachers from every denomination have been secured for the faculty. If the attendance justifies, a class for adults will be conducted at night.

Mytinger Returning

J. C. Mytinger, president of the chamber of commerce who for several weeks has been in the north and east on business, is expected home within the next few days. It is expected as soon as he returns a meeting of the municipal water committee will be called to consider recommendations to the city council relative to another survey of the needs of the city. It will be remembered that a bond election was ordered for the early part of June but a delay was asked that the matter might be given further study and that an additional survey might be made.

SHOCK FOR BRIDE

BELFAST.—Two hours after her marriage Mrs. Ruth McGovern found her husband fatally shot. His funds had been exhausted by paying the wedding expenses.

Kiwanis 123 456 789; Rotary 987 654 321; Still Its a Ball Game

Blood was beginning to flow in the camps of Kiwanis and Rotary Saturday as business men who have suddenly acquired ideas that they can play ball, made final arrangements for Monday afternoon's battle of the century.

The "game," for it really must be designated as such, conscience and perspective notwithstanding, will be played at Spudder park, starting at 3:30 Monday afternoon. Tickets cost 50 cents and all proceeds will be devoted to cutting down the Kiwanis club's indebtedness on the new day nursery which it sponsored.

Tanner the Umps

An important question that threatened to jeopardize proceedings at the last minute were amicably settled Saturday when Buddy Tanner agreed to take out some extra life insurance and serve as umpire. On various occasions during his life-time, the peppery Tanner has had occasion to advise umpires regarding decision. He will be in need of all this experience Monday. Police Commissioner Frank Queisser announced Saturday that he would furnish a detail of cops to lend such protection as might be needed in case Kiwanians and Rotarians went after Tanner with violent intent.

A set of special rules was adopted Saturday by a joint committee from the two clubs, these including the following:

No player will be permitted to have tar or mucilage in his glove.

In all disputes between players, or between player and umpire, Marquis of Queensbury rules must be rigidly observed.

No official score shall be kept.

Who'll Try to Play

Managers of the respective teams, after making doleful surveys of all possibilities, Saturday announced their tentative, or composite line-ups. It should be explained that none of those selected will probably be capable of lasting over an inning or two, and for that reason an ample substitute list must be provided. At any rate, here are some of the names that may appear on the casualty lists after the fight.

Kiwanis: Ray Patton and Gene Montgomery, catchers; J. D. Paxton, R. H. Peterson and Homer Sanderford, pitchers; Van Leslie and H. L. Goldstucker, first base; Frank Quiesser and Wiley Brown, second base; B. G. Sharpe and J. G. Dixon, third base; Cliff Camp and Ray Grimes shortstop; D. M. Bernard, Joe Pate, Jim Gant, Jouette Bonner and Bill Little, outfielders.

Kiwanis water boy; J. W. Akin; Kiwanis bat boys, Fred Datson and O. E. Nichols; Kiwanis mascot, Dave Paul; Kiwanis assistant mascot, W. S. Langford.

Rotary's Decrepits

Rotary: J. P. Terry and Larry Hanlin, catchers; John Kilgore and R. E. Shepherd, pitchers; Charles Pogenphol, first base; O. H. Kellogg, second base; Fred Elbert, third base; Horrace Robbins, short stop; John W. Thomas, H. R. Hanks, W. O. Beeman, I. R. Sheldon, Ben Williams, L. R. Stringer and C. Wilberu, outfielders.

Rotary water boy, Ed Railey; Rotary bat boys, J. W. Culbertson and M. J. Gardner; Rotary mascot, W. B. Hamilton; Rotary assistant mascot, W. L. Robertson.

A first aid committee will be on hand to lend all assistance that may be needed. It will. The committee: Drs. F. R. Collard, O. W. Wilson, J. B. Nail, V. E. Wratten, C. W. Castner, Curtis Atkinson, F. F. Brown, Wallace Masters, N. H. Coleman, M. H. Glover, Fred Goss, George Hampshire, C. R. Hartsook, Q. B. Lee, J. W. Powers, Frank S. White.

PLANS SHAPING FOR AUDITORIUM

Chamber of Commerce Directors to Hold Meeting In Next Few Days

Definite steps which it is believed, will lead to early erection of a magnificent public auditorium, will likely be taken within the few days by the directors of the chamber of commerce, who will present recommendations to the city council. A meeting of the board will be called for this week at which time the resolution, unanimously adopted by the business council on Friday, will be presented. This resolution asked that the directors immediately take action on the matter.

That no particular site has been selected by the chamber of commerce directors or by the city council is the statement of Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce.

No Site Considered

"The question of a site will receive attention at the proper time by a committee appointed by the mayor," said Mr. Harrison. "Our citizens generally are giving the matter their most earnest and serious thought and every site suggested or offered will receive careful consideration. All classes of our people are interested in this auditorium.

"We are convinced now more than ever of the need for an auditorium. Several conventions are to be held here next year and these will not be the success they should be unless this auditorium is ready by that time."

"As all the people will enjoy the auditoium I think all the people should help pay for it and it appears to me that the time is ripe for a bond issue for this purpose.

Mr. Harrison calls attention to a number of the conventions to be held next year from which Wichita Falls will receive state-wide publicity. Among the larger conventions will be the Texas Federation of Labor and the Texas Typographical Union which will be held in April. From 600 to 1,000 delegates usually attend these meetings. Following this the Knights of Pythias will assemble here in May. The average attendance at this convention ranges from 1,500 to 2,000 delegates. Then comes the Postmasters Association of Texas, and the Postmasters league. Several hundred postal officials attend these annual meetings.

Then the Big One

Climaxing the conventions to be held during the first half of the year will be the West Texas chamber of commerce, which it is expected will bring more than 50,000 visitors to the city.

There will be undoubtedly 5,000 registered delegates for this convention," Mr. Harrison concluded, "and a hall to accomodate fully that number should be erected. The other thousands who will be here during the convention will come as sightseers. This is a great convention and in my opinion will become greater as the result of the Amarillo convention. Wichita Falls must be prepared with a proper meeting place and the only solution will be the education of the municipal auditorium."

Sartin Busy

Judge B. D. Sartin, candidate for congress from the 13th district, made three speeches Saturday, speaking first at the picnic at Eliasville, just before noon, at 3 o'clock at Woodson in southeastern Throckmorton county, and at 8 o'clock last night at Throckmorton.

A number of the Young county and the district candidates spoke at the Eliasville picnic Saturday. Among those from Wichita Falls were both Joe B. Carrigan and Ben P. Allred, candidates for the office of district attorney.

HAVE OIL HEARING.

A hearing was held before Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court Saturday in connection with a final arrangement of the affairs of the Southwestern Buckeye Petroleum company, in the hands of Ray S. Nixon, receiver, by order of the 89th district court, since the days of the Federal Red river receivership. The receiver is making an accounting to Judge Wilson, preparatory to disposition of the assets and final closing of the receivership.

TRANSIENTS IN NEED OF HELP

Welfare Workers Get Many Pleas for Assistance By Tourists

There are limits to the funds of the community chest, but welfare workers said Saturday they believed that word had gone out that an inexhaustible supply of money could be brought into use for the asking in Wichita Falls.

This week the social workers have had a number of transient cases, including one from Indiana, Missouri and Pennsylvania. What to do is the question facing the workers, for they feel the charity work belongs in the first place with the local people, yet the others are stranded and help is needed.

Need Some Help.

Near the baseball park is a family, a father and mother accompanied by their grown son and his wife. They need oil and gas and a new inner tube to take them to the wheat fields where they said they had started when they were stranded here. They left Pennsylvania several months ago, and have traveled through Louisiana and on to Texas in search of work. They told the welfare workers that they had had employment along the way to keep them easily, but since the illness of the elderly woman they had found the going not so well.

Out of Funds.

Another case is that of a mother and her 19-year-old son who are from Missouri. She is taking her son to the west for his health, because it is believed he has tuberculosis. They are out of funds and for the time can go no farther, it was said.

Another case is that of an elderly man who also has tuberculosis but can get no farther on his way west because of the lack of money. Another case is that of a man with double hernia was reported yesterday.

Welfare workers are doing their best to take care of the cases, giving justice to each of them, it was said yesterday.

New Trustee

Al Anderson of southern Wichita county was named the new member of the board of trustees of the Cobb school district by the county board of trustees in a special meeting at the office of Burl Bryant, county superintendent, Saturday. G. W. Norwood, another trustee of the district, has tendered his resignation from the Cobb board of trustees, but in his absence Saturday, there was no action taken in this regard. The third trustee is John Nitzschke.

Lemons Bleach the Skin White

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

SUNSHINE CASE TO BE CLOSED

Eddleman Files Application To Terminate Refinery Receivership

A hearing on the application of E. R. Eddleman for a termination of the receivership of the Sunshine Consolidated Oil company will be held next Saturday morning in the 30th district court before Judge P. A. Martin, according to a setting arranged late yesterday.

The application of Mr. Eddleman, receiver for the concern since December of 1924, for a windup of the affairs of the receivership was filed with the district clerk Saturday afternoon. The petition states that all assets of the company have been liquidated and paid out to creditors on a basis of 38 cents on the dollar, and that there is now in the bank in the nature of assets only $46.20.

The amount paid to the creditor's accounts totals $96,364.44. Total receipts during the past six months of operation as of May 31, are listed as $2,727,418.32, with disbursements totalling $2,699,872.12.

The Sunshine Consolidated Oil company, one of the oldest concerns in the city, was thrown into receivership more than a year and a half ago upon the application of L. F. Roanming et al, Earl H. Eddleman, a vice president of the old Texhoma Oil and Refining company has been in charge of its operation.

Lots of Eats and Fun at Panhandle

A luscious barbecue with all the standard trimmings was the principal feature on an evening of fun at the Panhandle Boiler Works Saturday evening when workmen at the place and a number of invited guests enjoyed a unique party.

The affair was an informal social function that was voted one of the most enjoyable of its kind ever held here.

A large crowd attended.

Storm Threat

A stormy threat that failed to bite as severely as it barked gave Wichita Falls an uncomfortable few minutes early Saturday afternoon. A high wind and dense clouds of dust rolled in while an ominous looking bank of black clouds gathered in the north, but that was about all it amounted to.

The dust storm came after a morning of sultry heat that presaged a climatic disturbance of some kind. It was brief, but while it lasted it was severe. A noticeable drop in temperature accompanied the clouds and a few scattered rain drops fell. These speedily subsided, however.

The late afternoon skies cleared away and the early evening was cool and pleasant.

15 Moody Rallies

The coming week-end will see 15 Moody-for-Governor rallies held in the interest of the attorney general's candidacy for governor, according to announcement by the Wichita Falls Moody organization Saturday. Twelve such meetings were held Saturday of the past week. No speakers for this week's meetings have been announced as yet.

This week's rallies will be held at Henrietta, Seymour, Burkburnett, Iowa Park, Electra, Knox City, Benjamin, Bridgeport, Bellevue, Alvord, Olney, Vernon and Chillicothe.

NEFF UNDECIDED ON LOCAL TRIP

Fomer Governor Not To Appear Here Now In Moody's Behalf

Pat M. Neff, former governor, will not appear in Wichita Falls just yet to fill a speaking engagement in behalf of the candidacy of Dan Moody, it was announced by the Wichita Falls Moody Club Saturday. In a long distance phone conversation yesterday Mr. Neff told friends here that he had not as yet made up his mind as to the part he was to take in the campaign, but that in event he did take the stump later in the year he would include Wichita Falls in the list of his engagements.

Mr. Neff has never openly declared himself for any of the three candidates, and his status Saturday remained as much a mystery as ever. He is tacitly understood, however, to be a Moody supporter.

Pioneer Woman of City Dies Saturday

Mrs. Carrie E. Sellers, 60, one of the pioneer residents of this city, having lived here for the past 25 years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. L. King, 400 Adams street, Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

The funeral services will be held from Riverside cemetery Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with burial in Riverside. Rev. J. P. Ingle will be in charge of the service. Pallbearers are named as follows: Frank Cripliver, Harry Gray, W. L. King, W. O. McAda, Melvin Lowery, Tommy Harding, Marvin Carr and John Nelms.

Mrs. Sellers is survived by two sons of this city, C. C. and J. H. Sellers; two daughters of Wichita Falls, Mrs. William Kirby and Mrs. H. L. King; another son, Ike Sellers of Abilene and a brother, A. L. Suggs, also of Abilene, all of whom will attend the funeral.

SICKLY, PEEVISH CHILDREN

Children suffering from intestinal worms are cross, restless and unhealthy. There are other symptoms, however. If the child is pale, has dark rings under the eyes, bad breath and takes no interest in play, it is almost a certainty that worms are eating away its vitality. The surest remedy for worms is White's Cream Vermifuge. It is positive destruction to the worms but harmless to the child. Price 35c. Sold by all drug Store.—Adv.

In The Pictures

Mrs. Fred C. Clark was before her marriage the past week, Miss Lorene Crozier. Mr. and Mrs. Clark are taking an extended wedding tour, after which they will be at home in this city.

Miss Gladys O'Neill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. O'Neill, and will leave Tuesday for Kickapoo Kamp to remain until the first of September. Miss O'Neill graduated from the local high school this spring and is a popular member of the younger set.

Little Master Norman Allen Nelson is the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eithel Allen Nelson and is one of of Wichita Falls' finest specimens of babyhood.

Miss Josephine Fisk, popular soloist, made quite a "hit" in Amarillo at the meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce last week, when she wore Spanish costume and gave Spanish selections, playing her own guitar accompaniment.

Mrs. George Keith Jr., of Dallas, remembered by many friends here as Rosa Lee Stanfli, has returned home after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Stanfli and Mr. and Mrs. George Keith Sr.

Baptist Circles to Hold Meetings Monday.

Three circles of the First Baptist Woman's Auxiliary will meet Monday afternoon as follows:

Circle One, with Mrs. J. E. Eazell in the Iowa Park road, at 2:30.

Mrs. John Z. Martin of Breckenride, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Richolt.

W. F. M. S. to Hold Social Session.

The ladies of the Grace Methodist W. F. M. S. will meet in social session at the home of Mrs. J. T. Bentley, 1300 Bell Stret Monday afternoon when Mrs. O. W. Ross, president of the society, who has been ill several weeks, will be guest of honor.

Mrs. F. A. Ray and Misses Francis Ray and Elizabeth Carter are leaving Tuesday morning overland for a visit with relatives in Frederick and Roosevelt, Okla.

The Vacation Rush — Royalty Entertaining
Everybody Traveling — The Debs Appear
Abroad and at Home — Still the Weddings

DEAR KITTY:

My entire attention is directed to the vacationists these days, Kitty, as they are the only individuals doing anything worth while—and faith, bless me, 'tis a sorry sort of a soul that hasn't some kind of a trip in the back of his head. My Irish always gets up when I talk of trips, and oft-times walking downtown when me eye falls on a person carrying a satchel, I murmur wistfully to the companion at my side, "Somebody's off for a good time," and just as often I get the answer back, "Oh, pshaw! they're just as apt to be bringing their laundry downtown in that, or maybe it's a nurse going to some nearby town to do duty in a country place, and you know you wouldn't be in her shoes, now would you?

Be that as it may, everybody's traveling somewhere these days, and the only ones I would not change places with are the school teachers off taking special courses at summer schools in some burning hot city.

* * *

BUT for real junketing, turn to the crowd just out of school, and college, for they're off with a bound, full of pep and ready for any sport from a speed boat upset in the water to a drop from an airplane on the green sward below.

Now, the next thing is off to camp, where canoeing, hikes, story telling around a camp fire in the woods and living in knickers offers inducements for the college-bred girl far more alluring than a beau anytime, and dress-up parties at a resort hotel.

More girls from Wichita Falls than ever before are entering summer camps this year, and several groups have already gone. Today, Jane Moore, daughter of Mrs. Charles Tucker leaves for Fort Worth where she will join a party and go to Camp Nakanawa, located near Mayland, Tenn., Tuesday, Gladys O'Neal will leave for Kickapoo Kamp six miles from Hollister, Mo., in the Ozarks. In her party will also be Laura Lee Hampshire, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Hampshire and Miss Sewannee Vancleve of Burkburnett. The girls expect to remain two months.

While the young people are spending their summer in camps, many of the older members of the family are planning tours of Europe. Among the latest addition to the long list of local European tourists, have been added the names of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kemp and Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Golding. Mrs. Golding is now in Atlanta, Ga., where she has been for some time visiting her parents and relatives. She will probably not come back to Wichita Falls before starting abroad around the first of August.

* * *

AND then as is usual, numerous vacationists plan to summer nearer home, and one who for several years has kept open house at Colorado Springs for her family, is Mrs. Jeff Waggoner and she is already in Boulder, going there with Gose from California where she was called by Gose who received an injury in an athletic contest at Leland-Stanford university where he has been in school several years. With his improvement from the injury, he and his mother went to Boulder where he will take a subject in the university during the summer term, preparatory to finishing his course at Leland-Stamford next year. After the six weeks at Boulder, Mrs. Waggoner will probably go to Colorado Springs and prepare for her usual open house during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Richardson and baby and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pond and children are planning to spend the summer in Colorado and the two couples will take a house together.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Harrell and family will probably spend part of their summer in Santa Fe, N. M., where they will go for the benefit of their son, Paul's health. The latter now being confined in a rest cure sanatarium at El Paso where he went following a severe attack of influenza. Miss Virginia Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Robertson, who is also out there for her health, is reported improving.

Mrs. William Maloney is planning to leave the middle of next month for an extended visit in Connecticut, Massachusaetts and Maine, where she will visit relatives. She and Mr. Maloney are entertaining as their house guest at present, their brother-in-law, S. J. LeClair of Attleboro, Mass.

But allowing my thoughts to wander again to those who are to ing abroad, reminds me of St. John Wright's London letter, which is a sort of year's record of happenings over there pertaining to Americans,

He says that London's record number of royal hostesses have begun their entertaining for the season, and are staging parties on a larger scale than they have attempted for several years. They will almost rival the principal American hostesses in numbers if not in sheer prodigality, for there will be fifteen royal hostesses in town throughout the whole season—which this year is to extend until the end of August.

Princess Mary has started entertaining at Crewe House, and has already given several large parties; among her guests this week were Mrs. Houghton, wife of the American ambassador, the Duchess of Roxburghe, who was formerly Miss May Goelet of New York, and Mrs. Harry Brown of Chicago. Princess Royal, Princess Louise, and Princess Arthur of Connaugh all have interesting plans for the next two or three months and will be doing considerable amount of entertaining at their respective town houses. Other royal hostesses include Lady Patricia Ramsay, still known as "Princess Pat," Princess Beatrice, Lady Maud Carnegie, and the Dowager Marchioness of Milford Haven, while Queen Mary herself will be responsible for at least twice as many parties at Buckingham Palace as was the case last year.

Princess Mary will have double duty to perform, for she is acting as hostess for her brother Wales at some of the many parties he is giving in London now.

* * *

MOST of the U. S. debs are making their courtesies at Buckingham Palace at the second series of courts which are being held at the end of this month. This is arranged primarily for the convenience of U. S. visitors who this year recon to be in London in the strongest force towards the end of this month and during August, according to the London letter.

Owing to the recent strike most of the events have been put back for a month, so now August's social calendar is more crowded than hostesses care to think about. Indeed a general appeal has just been issued to the London and Anglo-American hostesses in London to use mutual consideration in planning parties, to avoid clashings and social bickerings the London letter states.

But I have chattered so much about people's trips and London society that I have almost forgot to say a word about June's most important happenings—the visitors and the weddings. We have had a dozen visitors here the past week and weddings sprinkled along the way. Two in particular who have gone home are Louise Bryan of Dallas who was the guest of Mrs. P. S. Richardson and Mrs. Ralph Pond, and for whom no end of social affairs were given, and the other, Martha Long of Vernon who was the attractive house guest of Donna Mitcham.

A winsome bride-elect for whom several quite nice showers and other social functions have been given, is Bettye Rae Glidewell, whose marriage to Monte Wolford of Abilene is announced to take place Wednesday.

If you think from now on until September, when the college crowd makes ready for their get aways, that I'll have anything to tell you but folks going away, you have another think coming to you. Every day sees some journey embarking on some sort of a joorney. Thus you see that no matter what I begin talking about, I jump back to the trip-makers. However as I know you are always interested in who's going away, and where to, I make no apologies for my news. If you know any other kind, be sure and send it along to——

Miss Elliott to Become Bride at Sunday Ceremony

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Armenia Elliott, daughter of Mrs. J. F. Elliott, to B. E. Godfrey, at the home of the mother of the bride elect this morning at 10 o'clock. The ceremony will be read by the Rev. Leslie Miller, pastor of the Grace Methodist church in the presence of a few friends and relatives of the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey will be at home in their new bungalow, 2203 Brown street.

Several delightful pre-nuptial affairs have been given in honor of the young people and among the most enjoyable was the 8 o'clock dinner given by Miss Cleta May Wilson at her home Wednesday evening when a color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the table appointments. A basket of shasta daisies centered the table and favors were miniature bridesgrooms and wedding rings.

Covers were laid for the bride and groom-elect and Messrs. and Mesdames H. B. Brown, R. P. Sinn, Misses Mabel Gwinn, Clara Whitten and Messrs. T. Horton, J. Stewart and S. Smith.

Given Kitchen Shower.

On Friday evening Miss Elliott and Mr. Godfrey were given a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. H. B. Brown when those present were Mesdames Margaret Swofford, Ina May Gibbs, Grace Heflly, M. W. Cobb, G. D. Ireland, C. E. Patty, C. E. Yoakum, J. F. Elliott, R. Grubbs, F. Hickman, L. Stroughers, W. P. Jacks and Misses Mabel Gwynn, Thelma Wilhite, Mabel Walker, Beulah Elliott, Clata May Wilson, Carolyn Yoakum and Bettye Gene Jacks.

Clasby Gleaners Enjay Social at Baber Home.

Members of the Clasby Gleaners Sunday school class of the First Baptist church enjoyed a social session at the home of Mrs. J. M. Miss Mary McIlheran, executive, also attended the meeting and discussed the summer camp to be held at Craterville July 17 to 30.

Most of the girls in the group are looking forward to at least one session at camp. Their guardian, Miss Alice Downing, who is attending the Artist Colony in San Angelo, will be home in time to attend camp, and will be the Handcraft counellior for the sessions. Miss McIlheran also gave a short account of her trip to convention at Stockton, Calif. Lemonade and wafers were served to Dorothy Smart, Dorothy Dobbins, Ferne Mashburn, Louraine Prichard, Ruth Keevil, Francis Tyson and Lucile Harper.

Cantawayua Group Number One

The Cantawayua group met at the home of the guardian, Mrs. Frank W. Jones, Thursday morning. After a short business session, the girls worked on their symbols for headbands.

It was voted to take over the making and filling of their quota of Christmas sacks for the boys in the government hospitals. This work is to be done through the Red Cross, the Camp Fire Girls of the city having pledged at least 35 of these bags. Ola Francis Walton met with the group and expressed her desire to become a member. Other members present were: Dorothy Sommerville, Martha Lou Laws, Mary Hyatt, Dorothy Lee Taylor, Estelle McPhial, Rose Mary Catter.

Woodman Circle Plan Lawn Party

Woodman Circle Grove 1487 met in the auditorium of the Labor Temple in all day session Friday when a lawn party was planned to be held at the home of Mrs. Tom Roark, 1912 Holliday, on Wednesday evening for members of the Woodman of the World and their families.

Several applications were read during the business session and degrees given.

Luncheon was served at the noon hour and the table was prettily decorated in cut flowers. For an hour the drill team gave some new floor work which was very much enjoyed.

A large crowd was present.

Bride Is Honored At Miscellaneous Shower Friday

Honoring Mrs. I. A. Haigwood, a recent bride, Misses Clara Krajca and Eva Richardson entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. M. C. Preslar Friday evening. Pink gladiolius and other colorful blossoms and greenery were used in profusion in the decorations and during the evening readings were given by Alton Fittz, Lowana Preslar and Lafawn Duncan.

Fowler Bible Class With Mrs. Randall.

Members of the Fowler Bible class of the First Presbyterian Church were entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. C. Randle on Eleventh street with Mesdames W. H. Apple, F. M. Kell, C. J. Shumake and J. S. Pitman joint hostesses. The reception suite was beautifully decorated for the occasion in flowers and flags.

An enjoyable program included two reading, "A Visit to the Photographer" and "Listening In on the Ladies' Aid," by Anita Burgess, and Mrs. Underwood gave two solo numbers, "Lassy" and "Mountain Girls Lament." Miss Rebecca Meadors gave two violin numbers, with Mrs. Harwood Stacy at the piano. The Rev. Dan Grieder gave messages from modern contemporary poets, reading "Patterns," by Amy Lowell, "The Ballad of the Harp Weaver," by Edna St. Vincent Millay and Alva Willgus led the patriotic singing accompanied at piano by J. S. Pitman. Mr. and Mrs. Underwood gave a duet "Song of Love," and Mr. Underwood gave a voice number, "On the Fields of France." Mr. Pitman gave a piano selection.

An interesting diversion was furnished in searching the home for what was hidden, which revealed small firecrackers. The winner finding the most was rewarded with a sparkler and proved to be Miss Rebecca Meadors.

Mrs. Frank White, recently from Terrell, Texas, told the class who they have in their midst in the person of the Rev. D. Grieder, assistan, pastor, and spoke for the assistance and cooperation of the women in his work.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames C. W. Beavers, J. T. Butts, J. M. Bell, J. W. Crews, Ella Chandley, J. W. Culbertson, E. A. Fowler Goff, M. Gaffney, Misses Kate and Jodie Haynes, Mesdames F. M. "Little Cabinet" of 17 High Women Officials in Washington Exert Big Influence in Affairs of the World

College Graduates, War Nurses, Political Heads, Police Woman and Day Laborer Included In Curious Organization at Capitol

BY OLIVER P. NEWMAN

A cabinet meeting attended only by women has just been held in Washington. Not a male was present. Secretary Kellogg, Secretary Mellon, Postmaster General New and the other regular advisors to the president were conspicuously absent. In their stead were 17 keen-eyed, purposeful members of the opposite sex, grouped about a long conference table in order of rank. They were:

Mabel Walker Willebrandt of California, assistant attorney general of the United States.

Bessie Parker Brueggeman of Missouri, chairman of the United States compensation commission.

Jessie Dell of Georgia, member of the United States civil service commission.

Mary Stewart of Ohio, director of the junior division of the United States employment service, department of labor.

J. Beatrice Bowman of Iowa, superintendent of the navy nurse corps, United States navy.

Held Every Week

This paradoxical gathering, however, was not a token of the latest achievement of the feminist movement. As a matter of fact, this cabinet meeting is held almost every Friday But it does not threaten the regular, semi-weekly meeting between the president and his ministers. It is not even held at the White House but at a luncheon table in the University Women's club, two blocks away. And its name is modified in Washington vernacular to "Little Cabinet." Its members comprise the 17 women from 13 different states holding presidential appointments or the more important departmental appoints.

The "Little Cabinet" was organized soon after the war as an informal, social lunch club, where the women in high office could exchange views and experiences. It has become an institution almost as well known in the national capital as the real cabinet, with perhaps as great (if not greater) influence on public affairs. Incidentally, it has just as much license to the use of the title that has been wished on it. The president's cabinet has no legal status whatever. Instead of forming his cabinet of the heads of the government departments the president could, with equal authority, call in Jack Dempsey, the speaker of the house, the prince of wales, Al Smith and anybody else he happened to think of or want.

The "Little Cabinet," therefore, has as much official status as the big cabinet. And a lot of people think that the little cabinet's advice on affairs of state might sometimes be better.

Works in Harmony.

The little cabinet works in close cooperation and harmony with the "Women Wire-Pullers" of Washington—the skilled, professional representatives of the great organizations of women of the country, which maintain offices in the national capital all the year round and work constantly for the advancement of women's interests. They also help each other constantly and effectively, though without the blare of trumpets and beat of tom-toms that sometimes accompany the activities of the regular "Wire-Pullers." Each little cabineteer, however, has built up a strong influence, both in and out of congress as she has gone along, and she often brings it into play quietly in behalf of a fellow member.

Little cabinet members also quietly defend and protect each other under attack. Hit one of the little cabinet and you hit them all. An intrepid congressman may rise and object to the work of one of them. The next day he gets a brick from 16 different directions. He may not know it but the official he criticizes is a member of the little cabinet. Her associates rush to her defense without even being asked to do so. Also, such powerful national organizations as the League of Women Voters, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Y. W. C. A., or the Consumers' League are likely to take a hand—because their Washington representatives are in daily, friendly association with the little cabinet women, and are under orders to help in the work that the little cabinet women are doing.

It is a remarkable group of women who sit around the lunch table at the University Women's Club in Washington. They are not tyros. They are not mere figures that have been picked up by superior male politicians and put in place. They have not been made what they are by the simple process of giving them titles. They have fought their way up from the ranks, almost without exception, and won to the top by sheer force of merit and grit. Their backgrounds offer striking and interesting contrasts.

Mabel Willebrandt is usually mentioned first. Her correct, full name is Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt but it is significant that the little cabineteers usually drop titles and middle initials in speaking of each other. It is "Julia" Stimson, and "Bessie" Brueggeman, and "Grace" Abbott and "Mary" O'Toole, rather than "Major" Julia Stimson, "Mrs." Bessie Parker Brueggeman, "Miss" Grace Abbot and "Judge" Mary O'Toole.

Mrs. Willebrandt, as assistant attorney general of the United States, is one of the biggest little cabineteers. She began life milking a cow and doing other drab jobs on a Kansas farm, where she was born only 40 years ago. Now she sits in with the biggest lawyers of the department of justice and of the country, looks them straight in the eye gets their full respect and does a he-man's job as the assistant attorney general in charge of the department's work with prohibition, taxation and prisons. Her idea of a happy day is about 14 hours of driving work—a schedule to which she became accustomed when teaching school all day and putting herself through law college in California, where she was a recognized force in the legal profession and in the republican party before coming to Washington.

"I like my work," said Mrs. Willebrandt, with the serious directness that characterizes her attitude towards everything. "I have never experienced any serious difficulty in dealing with men. Of course, every woman first has to convince men that she is capable. Men still have to be shown that but once they understand it, all complications based on the fact that a woman is a woman disappear."

A capable-looking, substantial woman of between 40 and 50, with pleasant features, friendly smile and kindly eye, sits near Mrs. Willebrandt. Her appearance indicates nothing to cause fright and yet, when she was given the appointment that qualified her for the little cabinet, all sorts of alarming stories were afloat about her. She is Miss Jessie Dell of Georgia, the newest member of the cabinet, who holds one of the highest positions to which any president has appointed a woman. She is one of the three members of the civil service commission, the other two being men.

A Rank Outsider.

Jessie Dell was a rank outsider. She was a democrat and a member of the national women's party—the militant crowd of suffragettes considered outlaws by both republicans and democratic women. Nobody thought she was seriously considered for civil service commissioner. She herself thought so least of all.

Miss Dell, however, had one qualification and two backers that weighed heavily with the president. The qualification was the fact that she had been a government clerk in the civil service for 25 years The backers were General Lord, director of the budget, passed the budget bill. Miss Dell had been a clerk in General Lord's office when he was finance officer of the war department during the war. He and Senator Smoot both knew her qualifications—and the president jumped at the chance to reward a quarter-century of faithful service.

All of this was whispered about among the little cabinet and their women friends in both polical parties, with the result that practically a full attendance was present at the special little cabinet luncheon held to initiate Miss Dell into the select circle, where she is now cordially welcomed.

A third high presidential office held by a woman is the chairmanship of the United States compensation commission—the board that determines the allowances to civil employes disabled in Uncle Sam's service. President Harding named to the position Mrs. Bessie Parker Brueggeman of Missouri., who had led the Harding campaign in her state prior to the election

FAT PEOPLE SHOULD CHEW SILPH IT'S HARMLESS!

MILLIONS of Americans chew gum, most of them simply because they enjoy doing it, though a considerable proportion have discovered that the stimulated flow of saliva aids digestion. It is well known to many that chewing gum provides the best possible means of administering certain ingredients, gradually and in a manner which insures their thorough assimilation without burdening the system. The most remarkable discovery, however, in regard to chewing gum as the perfect means of administering for specific purposes, undoubtedly is the preparation known as "SILPH." This is a delicious, refreshing chewing gum which from many letters received, takes off fat in a most pleasant way without any discomfort or ill effects.

The reducing elements in "SILPH" are provided by a special formula including the extracts of certain sea plants and herbs. Not until the perfecting of "SILPH," however, was the ideal manner of administering them provided.

"SILPH" is supplied by the Silph Co., 9 W. 60th St., N. Y. C., and is sold with a guarantee by all up-to-date drug or dept. stores—One should beware of inferior imitations and ask for the green box, 50c, one size only.

An Appreciation

We are grateful . . . grateful for the hearty response that greeted the announcement of our Semi-Annual Clearance Sale which has just drawn to a close. Never in the history of this store has a sale been met with such enthusiasm and never have so many people responded to a single event.

Then our last Dollar Day—It was a success beyond a doubt. Thousands of shoppers thronged our aisles throughout the entire day and at the close of the sale we found that it had set a new record for the store—A high mark in single day merchandising.

We have pursued a policy which we inaugurated with the opening of our doors . . . We have offered only the best quality of merchandise to our customers . . . We have set prices on it that would allow us only a legitimate profit and not an exhorbitant gain . . . We have advertised dependable merchandise truthfully; not a single item has been misrepresented and every reduction announced has been a reduction . . . We have been courteous to our patrons; have tried to give them a service that would make their visit to our store a pleasant one.

We pledge ourselves to try in the future to give, if possible, better values . . . better service . . . that we may continue to hold the good will of our old friends and enrich our following with new ones and continue to grow in a healthy manner with our city.

Electra-Harrold Road Is Opened

ELECTRA, June 25.—The first traffic passed over the new stretch of pavement on the Colorado Gulf highway between Electra and Harrold, three days sooner than was officially announced by John Nabors, Wilbarger civil engineer. The announcement was made by Mr. Nabors that the official opening of the road would take place Saturday morning, but due to the fact that the pavement was in better condition than first thought the detour signs were removed early Thursday morning and the flow of tourist began. With the exception of a seven-mile strip of unpaved road between Oklaunion and Harrold, the highway is complete from the Henrietta line in Wichita county to Condon Springs, three miles northwest of Vernon, making better than 70 miles of pavement on the Colorado Gulf highway in the counties of Wichita, and Wilbarger.

Lions' President Takes His Office

ELECTRA, June 25.—At the regular weekly luncheon of the Lions club Thursday at the Marriott hotel, the new president, F. M. Baker took charge of the meeting and made an interesting speech. Other business of the meeting was the election of a delegate to the International Lions club convention in San Francisco, Calif., July 21-24. R. G. Davidson, a well known business man was unanimously elected while several others have signified their intentions of attending the convention. These are, Bart Magee and wife, C. W. Coffey, the former president of the local club and wife, and W. W. Smith and wife. There was a very fine attendance at the meeting, and Mr. Morgan Hall, gave several vocal selections accompanied by Miss Letrice Wefford, the musician for the Lions club.

GAS EXPLODES.

Operator of Asphalt Distributor Burned in Blast.

GEORGETOWN, June 26.—(AP) An explosion of gasoline in an asphalt distributor injured G. A. Hempel, foreman of the Brown & Root Contracting Company here today.

Hempel was burned about the face when he removed the cover from the distributor. Glasses saved his eyes.

Pastors Of City Churches Extened Special Invitation

PROGRAM OF VALUE READY

Special Meetings to Be Held; Congregations Move Out Doors

Church goers of Wichita Falls will be interested in the sermon subjects announced by ministers of the various denominations of the city for services today. An invitation has been extended by each one to attend the services, and an appeal is made to those who are not in attendance at some other church to be present for at least one service. Sunday schools and Bible schools taught by well known business and laymen of the churches offer unusually good programs, and invitations are issued by them to the public.

The final services of the First Southern Presbyterian church revival which has been in session for the past two weeks will be held today, concluding with the evening service when the evangelist will speak on "The Value of the Soul." The services are being held under a tent on Avenue H. in front of Junior college.

Will Keep Cool

Fans and other cooling apparatus have been installed in the Highland Heights Christian church and special services will be conducted by the minister, Dr. Paul Henry Packard.

The evening service of the First Methodist church, south, will be held on the lawn back of the church if the weather permits. A sermon of particular interest at this period of time is announced by the pastor, Dr. Walter J. Johnson. He will speak on "Causes of Failure Before Marriage."

Morning

Inspiring organ numbers by Mrs. J. W. Akin, Jr. Anthem, "More Love To Thee, O Christ," (Speaks)—Mrs. F. M. Hansen and choir.

Evening

Old fashioned congregational singing led by Joel H. MacGregor, assisted by church orchestra and an augmented Chorus, "Peace Be Still," (Palmer) —Choir.

Quartet, "Just Outside The Door," (Ackley)—Messrs. Hansen, MacGregor, Bohmfalk, Gray.

The morning sermon will begin at 10:50 o'clock and will close at 11:50, it was announced by Dr. Johnson.

The First Presbyterian church plans open air services for the evening with the Rev. Daniel E. Grieder preaching on "Christ's Analysis of Character."

Alva Willgus will sing "Out of the Depths" (Rogers) at the morning service and the Sunday school orchestra under the direction of Mr. J. S. Pitman will play in the evening service, which will be held on the church lawn at 8:00 o'clock. Miss Rebecca Meadors will play a violin solo. Mrs. O. E. Maer will be at the piano.

"The Country Church Member Moved To Town" is the subject announced for the evening sermon at the South Side Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. T. J. Furniss.

Service for Scouts

Rev. Leslie Miller, pastor of Grace Methodist church, is having a special service Sunday evening honoring the Boy Scouts of the church. His subject for an illustrated lecture is "Boy Power." At the morning sermon he will speak on "Character and Interpreter of Truth."

Mrs. Marguerite Windisch of El Paso will give a lecture and message at the First Spiritualist church at 8:00 o'clock Sunday evening, it has been announced.

A special service will be conducted all day Sunday at the Salvation army by Ensign H. S. Wilkins of Dallas, young people's secretary. At the evening service a farewell to Captain and Mrs. Fred Wilks who are leaving for Wisconsin will be a feature.

At the First Church of Christ, Scientist, the morning sermon will be a lecture on "Christian Science."

Rev. Fred T. Datson, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, will speak on the subject, "God's Open Doors," beginning at 11 o'clock.

The morning service of the First Christian church will begin at 10:25 o'clock and will close at 11:30. Dr. Floyd Allan Bash, pastor, will speak on the subject, "Saved From An Easy Chair." Mayor Shepherd will sing "My Wonderful Dream." The evening service will be featured with the singing of the hymns of Fannie Crosby.

Rev. J. R. Balch of Seymour is conducting the revival service at the Highland Heights Baptist church. For the morning subject he will speak on "Thy Kingdom Come," and in the evening on "What Must I Do to Be Saved."

AUSTIN, June 26.—(AP)—A $700,000 bond issue for levee improvement district No. 3 in Henderson, Anderson and Navarro counties, was approved today by the attorney general's department. The district is three miles wide, nine miles long and contains 18,000 acres of land.

Will Lecture In City

"As character is the basis of credit, so is self-control the basis of harmony and efficiency." And Mrs. Bertie Roberts Chambers, exponent of longer and happier lives, teacher of better ways of living, will tell Wichitans how to acquire all of this in three lectures to be given at the First Christian church on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Chambers comes to this city well recommended by ministers doctors and teachers from all parts of the state. She has appeared on the program of the Southwestern Federation of Applied Psychology clubs and was elected first vice president of that organization which covers all states in the southwest below Missouri.

The subjects Mrs. Chambers will cover in her three lectures are "How to Get What You Want Out of Life;" "What Are You Making of Yourself?" and "The Power of Personality in Business Success."

Mrs. Chambers has been in Wichita Falls a week and has talked before all the leading men's clubs of the city. Her lectures are free of charge and the public is invited to attend.

Mayor Shepherd will sing "My Wonderful Dream." The evening worship hour begins at 8:00 and this Sunday is to be a song service of all songs by Fannie Crosby. A quartette and the Boys' Choir will sing "Soft Floating on The Air." The pastor's sermon is "The Touch of Faith."

KIMONOS TOO BIG

Japanese Editor in France Says Nipponese Sheiks Can't Use Typewriters.

PARIS, June 26.—Typewriters and kimonos do not go together so feminists of Tokio are taking to European dress altogether for business wear, according to Shizue Miyagawa, editor of the Woman's Herald of Tokio. She is making a six months' survey of western ways.

"Kimonos are not easy for hopping tramcars," she explained, "so now we wear them only for serious calling and prefer modern dresses for business. It is cheaper, too."

The number of feminists in Tokio is fixed at 900 by Miss Miyagawa, who is an officer of the Japanese Woman Suffrage Association.

SPIRITUALS POPULAR

American Negro Airs in Increasing Demand in German Theatres

BERLIN, June 26. — American negro spirituals and negro work songs are becoming increasingly popular in Germany. While critics frown upon jazz and jazz symphonies they hail the spirituals as the greatest American contribution to modern music.

Edna Thomas of New Orleans, scored such a success with a program of negro songs that she consented to give a second entertainment with 8 days. Miss Thomas was accompanied by Miss Constance Piper, daughter of Edgar B. Piper, editor of the Portland Oregonian.

CORNS

Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, suffcient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.

INDEPENDENT SCHOOLS

THE right to the continuing existence of schools apart from the public schools was permanently assured by the "Oregon decision" of last year, in which the supreme court of the United States unanimously held that no state may compel children to attend public schools when there are other schools which provide the same, or relatively the same course of study. For these outside schools, which represent an old American institution and which formerly were misleadingly called "private" schools, a new name is coming into vogue—the "independent" school. The change is a good one, writes the head master of Riverdale county school, Riverdale, N. Y., for very many of the independent schools are not privately owned or the attendance privately dictated. Apart from the universities and colleges, which of course must be counted, the independent institutions are not alone religious or denominational schools as some writers seem to have supposed, but include boarding schools, experimental, "country day," vocational, etc. Practically all of them are supported, like the universities and colleges, partly by tuition fees and partly by endowments.

Although the public school system is desirable and permanent, meeting an unquestionable need, it is well that the supreme court has confirmed the citizen in his right and freedom to choose for his children the kind of school he prefers—the church or denominational school, the boarding school, the country or city school, the experimental, progressive, conservative or vocational school. To compel attendance at a single school under public management is no more appropriate in a free country than to compel attendance at a single state church.

DEMAND MELLON'S SCALP

NOW the anti-saloon leaders of Ohio are growing a trifle venemous. They held a state conference and adopted a resolution calling upon President Coolidge to dismiss from his high office Andrew W. Mellon. These Buckeye drys insist that Mellon is not the man to bring about drastic enforcement of the prohibition laws.

This is not true. Mellon and his friends spent $1,600,000 to win republican primary nominations for George Wharton Pepper and John S. Fisher. Isn't Fisher a dry? Isn't he going to be the republican governor of Pennsylvania? Isn't Pepper a dry? Isn't he sleeping in the political boneyard? It was not the fault of the Mellons and the Grundys that Pepper lost.

Gifford Pinchot, a dry of the drys, was a candidate for the senatorship. He lured all the dry drys away from the standard of Pepper. He received 390,000 votes, and this let Vare in. Why pick on Mellon. Didn't he knock in the staves of two or three fat barrels and let the coin flow on primary election day for a dry candidate who was a friend of the president of the United States.

These anti-saloon leaders of Ohio should be ashamed of themselves.

WHY HE BALKED

HENRY FORD has refused to pay $5,000 for George Washington's compass to be placed in the Ford museum of American history. This compass is owned by George W. Baylor who resides on the Summerset road near San Antonio. Baylor fixed the price of $5,000; Henry would not pay the price. If the compass of George Washington isn't worth $5,000, then it isn't worth 5 cents. Henry should be ashamed of himself. Now how did the George Washington compass fall into the hands of a Texan? Where did he get it?

A FANCY PLATFORM

ZIM, the evangelist is a candidate for governor. He has an interesting platform. He is for 30c cotton. He is for an amendment of the Texas constitution, "which shall bond Texas, buy our cotton and stabilize it at 30c."

By the end of his first term he hopes to have the grafters, the peanut political lawyers, the jellybeans, the flappers and other political parasites packing up to move out.

This isn't all. "Then we shall put none but honest to God, clean souled men and women in office," is the pledge of Zim, the tithing evangelist.

Now how is it possible for the dainty flapper to be classified as a political parasite. She doesn't vote. She doesn't attend political meetings. She isn't a political booster. She is a butterfly and as God made all the butterflies, he must have made them for a useful purpose.

HOMES FOR OUR DIPLOMATS

THE president has signed the bill authorizing the expenditure of ten million dollars during the next five years for the purchase of suitable buildings in which to house American embassies, legations and consulates. A sufficient answer to the opponents of this bill is the mere fact that rents alone have cost the government more than the interest at 4 per cent on the sum to be expended in the purchase of new quarters. In London alone the rent bill for office space, not including the residence of the American ambassador, is said to amount to about $30,000 anually. It is stated that in only fourteen of the world's capitals have we as yet acquired permanent quarters for our legations. For many years the complaint has been made that the inadequate housing conditions of American representatives abroad were a discredit to this nation as well as a trial for the men in the diplomatic or consular service.

The reports show that in many cities in Europe as well as in more distant parts of the world our consuls live and have offices in rented houses which are inadequate and often discreditable to a great nation. It is said to be quite common to see the agents of large American corporations housed with much more comfort and dignity than the official representatives of the United States. The money now appropriated cannot meet all the needs, but at many points will make the housing of our foreign representatives more in harmony with the dignity and power of the United States.

THE IRRIGATION DIFFICULTY

THE hanging in effigy of Secretary Work and Reclamation Director Meade has called the attention of a startled public to a curious situation. The hanging in effigy was done by water-takers from the government's irrigation works in Nebraska because their water was cut off, and their water was cut off because they "would not pay their arrears of charges or give their notes therefor," claiming that the secretary promised them an extension and did not keep his promise. On the other hand it is stated that the interior department has been trying in vain for several years to induce the farmers to pay up or give their notes for the arrears. According to the accounts the farmers have refused to do either in the hope that congress would finally come to their relief, wipe out the debts, and make the water free. Such is the situation facing the government after being induced by the western politicians to spend $27,000,000 on irrigation.

The city man pays his bill or his gas is cut off. So the water-takers from a private irrigation company would pay their bills or accept the inevitable consequences. But the Nebraska farmers are said to be of the opinion that government water should be as free as government land formerly was, and resent every effort of the government to get its money. The fundamental difficulty seems to be traceable to the widespread impression that the government can use ford to make costly improvements without charge and that the people generally can be rightfully taxed to that end.

PRODDING THE TEACHER

THERE are 37,000 school teachers in Texas. Secretary R. T. Ellis of the Texas State Teachers association says there are 17,000 of the 37,000 who are doing nothing to better the profession. Teaching, he argues, will not become a profession in Texas until the teachers' tenure of office is made secure during good service; until there are fewer short terms with months of starvation between, until the teachers themselves work together for professional advancement.

An army of 37,000 banded together should be able to do something in a political way. If their demands are legitimate, they should be able to enforce them. If their cause is righteous they should be able to enlist the sympathy and the support of the people.

There are places in Texas where the church denomination of the teacher is a bar to either employment or advancement. There are places where the political affiliations of a teacher calls for the black list. And yet, Texas is said to be a democratic state where all creeds, religious and political, are tolerated.

Secretary Ellis should get in behind his 17,000 derelicts who do nothing for the advancement of teaching as a profession. There are many politicians among the teachers. They should know the road to take.

Outlines Vacation With Subway Hamper —By Lardner

The vacation season is with us again and as usual at this time of yr, my mail has been full of requests from admirers to give them idears in regards to where to go and what to do on their holiday. It looks to me like the most satisfactory way to reply to the above is to write a acct. of my own recess of a yr. ago assuring readers that they can do worse than duplicate same as it was the most enjoyable and interesting as well as expensive vacation in all my experience.

Will confess at the outset that the idear was not mine but that of a old pal of mine, Elliott Blufe of Trousers, Vermont. Elliott has been employed for the past few yrs. as a hamper on the N. W. subway. His duties is to hamper passengers and prospective passengers by starting out the same turnstile they are trying to come in and vice versa, getting in front of people that are in a hurry and asking them questions, playing he is a guard and calling out the wrong stations, and etc. He uses his own judgment and gets good results. Elliott lives near us and when I told him I was going on my vacation he said he would go with me and the next question was where.

Duck Remains Aloof.

"Listen," said Elliott, "let us go on a hike."

"Hike?" I repeated bewildered.

He exclaimed that "hike" was just his word for walk and when we had stopped laughing it did not take me long to get into the spirit of the thing and help him with the plans. We acted just like a couple of kids.

We started from my house on a Sunday morning in June, our packs containing only the articles necessary for comfort and enjoyment. Each carried a suitcase with dinner clothes, clean shirts, socks and underwear and sleeping bags, a clothes hamper with enough plain food to last a wk., portable typewriter, golf bag, card table, box springs, camera, tennis rackets, canoe, shears and paste and 3 ft. shelf books. In addition each brought his favorite musical instruments, Elliott a harp and trap drums and myself bass violin and tuba. We acted just like a couple of kids and even my wife smiled at us as we set out, though it was perhaps the smile that hides a tear.

"The main thing to remember on a hike," said Elliott, "is to take an interest in Nature. We mustn't pass no beautiful tree or bird without disgusting same and night times we must lay on our backs and study the stars."

Hardly was the words out of his mouth when we passed a beautiful bird which Elliott identified as a Long Island duckling.

"I don't see how you tell them without apple sauce." I wondered.

Elliott tried to coax the bird into joining our expedition by imitating a duck's call, but the little chap proved anything but ductile.

"They will always follow a real duck," said my companion. "I wish we had brought Dr. Pluver."

It must be exclaimed that Dr. Pluver is a chiropodist here in Great Neck and has lost 97 of his last 100 patients. One of his most notorious blunders was made in the case of Emil Hoostraw whom he treated for callouses of the heel and whom it turned out was really suffering from train sickness. The laughable part was that when the autopsy wax performed, Hoostraw's heels were found to be perfect.

A Change of Plan.

"I never seen a man so well heeled," was the comment of Dr. Walrus, the corner's prysician.

"When he came to me, he certainly was calloused," said Dr. Pulver indignantly.

"Not half as careless as yourself," rejoined Dr. Walrus, turning the laugh on the older man.

However, the two are great cronies off the screen amounting almost to an affair.

Finely tiring of Elliott's farcical efforts to decoy the duckling, I succeeded in getting him to resume our hike, which was without incident for the next few yards, but as we came to the first cross street our eyes fell athwart an animal which my comrade said must be a horse as it was hitched up with leather fastenings to a milk wagon.

"Why not a cow then?" I asked. "Horses don't give milk."

"And that company wouldn't have an animal that gave milk," Elliott retorted. "Do you think they are Santa Claus?"

We Acted Just Like a Couple of Kids.

Both of us had to laugh. We were behaving like a couple of children. There is nothing like a hike to bring out the best that is in a man.

"Do you realize," said Elliott "that we could take a train from here to New York and from the same station in New York take a train to Atlantic City?"

This sounded good to me as we had now been riding "Shanks' mare" for nearly half an hr. In little more than another hr. we had checked everything but our suitcases and golf bags in the big New York station and were on our way to the famous Jersey resort.

In two weeks we were back at home with a fine coat of nasal sunburn and only the vaguest of memories in regards to our summer holiday.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

CANCER

Today's planetary aspects are neither favorable, nor adverse, although between noon an 2 p. m., there will be sensed a feeling of depression, which will induce an air of criticality, and a trend to become peeved, without rhyme or reason. Taken all in all, however, the day may be considered, from an astrological view-point, as colorless, and there will be an entire absense of everything that stimulates or encourages. With the prevalence of such influences, the only safe course is to confine your attention to the usual observances and customary recreations of a Sunday, without endeavoring to do anything that is erfrom the even tenor of your way.

Children born today will be blessed with vigorous constitutions and, although they may not escape all the ailments to which infancy is generally subject, their natural strength and well-developed physical powers will enable them to very quickly overcome their transitory weaknesses. The signs denote that they will, without any serious setbacks, attain a vigorous adulthood. The children will, in their early years, prove to be more evasive than frank, and, in spite of their strength, will not show that degree of courage that gladdens every parent's heart. They, in order to counteract these idiosyncracies must not be coddled but must be taught, by stern measures when necessary, that the good things of life are never acquired by evasiveness or by cowardice—either moral or physical.

If today is your birthday, you are kind, loving, tender and true. It is difficult to think of anything to say that could be more satisfactory or gratifying. You may lack what the work-a-day world calls vim, aggressiveness, or self-assurance. You, however, realize that the greatest desideratum in this life is happiness. You have sought it and fought it, by moulding your character along the lines indicated. You not only are happy yourself, but try to make all those around you happy.

Your ideals and aims are high, and though they may not point the way to material success in any marked degree, as mere financial success has no attraction for you, you generlly, by a quiet persistency and unfailing patience, achieve that which you set out to accomplish.

You are very demonstrative in your love, not only in actions but in words, and you render your family a devotion that is the envy of all those who know you, and makes them look upon your home life as a model and ideal.

ALTUS, June 26.—All stores, the postoffice and banks of Altus and the Jackson County courthouse will be closed Monday, July 5, in observation of July 4, which comes on Sunday. Jackson County commissioners will meet Tuesday for the beginning of the July work, instead of the first Monday.

The Married Life of Helen And Warren

"I'm sorry Madame Duret is so late," apologized Mrs. Stevens. "It's after nine! I do hope nothing has happened."

"Sh—sh, dear," nudged Helen. "Now, please don't make any horrid remarks."

"Then why ring me in? If I'd known it was another spook party—you couldn't drag me here with a derrick."

"Well, if the spirits don't put up a good show—we'll exit," laughed Mr. Stevens, good-naturedly tolerant of his wife's interest in every new cult or "ism."

"My taxi—your crowded streets! It took so long," in a foreign accent.

"Madame Duret is from Paris. She's been in New York only a few weeks, explained Mrs. Stevens. "Now Madame, where would you like to sit? Will this chair be comfortable?"

"Ah, not so big. Not such high arms. Yes, that's better. Now, a table—and a cloth. A large cloth—to come to the floor."

A card table proved acceptable. But Madame rejected several covers until finally a satin bedspread was produced.

"Pass these around, please. You all see—no wires. Nothing attached."

"Now we will put them here. So!"

Raising the spread, she placed them under the table.

"Now, only two sitters at a time. Mrs. Stevens in the first sitting, please. The spirits come quickly to one who is responsive. Thank you. Now a gentleman."

"Now, you all see? My hands and feet securely held."

At a satisfied murmur from the group, Madame requested the spread be lowered.

"Now, whatever happens do not release my hands and feet. When the spirits come, they will ring the bell or tambourine. Then you may ask your questions. Now we will have it dark, please."

Mr. Stevens obligingly turned off the silk-shaded lights.

"Yes, all of them. Thank you. One of my controls is a little girl, Pansy. She is very playful. You must not be frightened if she pinches your ankles. My other control is White Wing, an Indian boy. I never know which will come."

Then a metallic jangle. The tamborine.

A spirit! Proclaiming its presence!

In the dim light from the hall, the medium was faintly outlined. Her head hanging forward—an attitude of utter exhaustion.

"Pansy? Yes—it—is—Pansy," she labored. "Now—the—questions—"

"Should Mother make that trip to Oregon?" came Mrs. Stevens' awed voice?"

Three knocks. In spirit parlance, "Yes." Weird, muffled knocks that seemed to come from nowhere. Even in the shadowy light they could all see her hands, still securely held.

"Had I better sell those C. & O. bonds?" was Mr. Drake's query.

One knock. "No!"

Two more questions each, adequately answered, and the first sitting was over. The medium threw back her head, freed her hands, and called for the lights.

"Yes, Pansy is very playful," the medium recovering theatrically from the strain of the spirit control.

"And she pulled my skirt! I felt it!" tremulously excited. "When she pinched my ankle—I could even feel her nails. Oh, Madame Duret, that was a marvelous materialization!"

"You are so very psychic," unctuously. "That is why the sitting was so successful. Now for the next. Would that skeptical gentleman like to sit in?" to Warren, whom she had been covertly watching.

"No, you don't want me in on that," he grinned.

But Mrs. Stevens insisted.

"Mr. Curtis is always so skeptical, Madame. You must convert him."

The same throbbing silence.

Then the bell! The tambourine!

"Your—questions?" panted the medium.

Another spirit pinch made Helen forget the questions so carefully framed. But at Warren's prompting cough, she manged a flustered querry.

"Should I—should we buy that summer cottage at Beachwood?"

Then Warren's explosive,

"I think the spirits have gone on a strike. Turn on the lights!"

"Swith 'em on, Stevens! Quick!"

Ranger Declares Negro's Story of Cruelty Is False

CALDWELL, Tex., June 26.—(AP)—Charges made by a negro at Austin recently that he had been beaten and held in virtual peonage on a Burleson county farm were declared to be untrue today after an investigation by Ranger W. M. Moseworth.

W. M. Strube, county commissioner, said Saturday that the negro was a tenant farmer in the bottom lands near Caldwell and that he had refused to work out his crop.

When the owner of the farm, a white man, attempted to persuade him to continue at work the negro is alleged to have made threatening advances.

The farmer, Mr. Strube said, seized a chain and whipped the negro in self-defense. The negro fled to Austin and told authorities there he had been whipped and forced to work on the farm, according to Mr. Strube.

PRODIGAL SON PARABLE FILMED

Why back in the days when caravans were popular instead of automobiles and caravansaries were the forerunners of road houses, the prodigal son left home to become a self-made man—with the aid of his father's coffers and advice. The former he clutched and the latter he cussed as he mounted his mule and set out for the city under the villainous guidance of a wicked merchant. For then, even as now, there were sirens and scoundrels, gamblers and pawnbrokers to make the road to the city attractive and easy going for the country boy.

With the siren's help he saw the town—so thoroughly that he was soon hotfooting it for home, this time cherishing his father's advice and cussing the coffers.

William Collier, Jr., plays the part of Jether, the country boy, Ernest Torrence is the professed protector ad Greta Nissen entices as the beckoning city girl.

Whether you are a willing or an unwilling twentieth century wanderer, or even no wandered at all, you will be sure to be fascinated by this Paramount picture opening at the Olympic theatre today. You will be convinced, more than ever that the old song is right—"there's no place like home."

Wallace Beery, Tyrone Power and Kathlyn Williams complete the featured cast of the production, which was written for the screen by J. T. O'Donohue from the stage spectacle of the same name by Maurice Samuels. Raoul Walsh directed.

Borderland Frolics In "Percy" New Ray Film at Gem

Mexican Oasis for Thirsty Americans Shown In Clever Comedy

The pilgrimage to Tijuana and Mexicali has become as much a part of the West Coast tourists' itinerary as the visit to the Montmartre district in Paris. Those who are not so fortunate (or unfortunate) as to visit the twin hells on the Border, may see a very good likeness of the same in Charles Ray's second Pathe-picture, "Percy," produced by Thomas H. Ince and which will be at the Gem theater Tuesday.

The Red Owl saloon set in this picture is typical of the dance halls in these two towns, and the atmosphere much the same. In it are seen renegrade types of all nationalities, flotsman and jetsam, and a goodly sprinkle of thirsty Americans "whooping it up" or sight seeing.

The elaborately stocked bar is also a feature, and there is shown every sort of gambling divice known on the Border. The large piece of furniture that looks like a grand piano with its woks taken out is a crap table. There are also a sand poker table, roulette wheel, and Faro bank. The huge wheel displayed prominently in the center of the room is known as the Wheel of Fortune. Small change is not despised, and there are slot machines where one gambles with nickels. From one playing caro suits come out. With another the hazzard is on different colors. The queerest of all is the "Chuck-a-luck"—three big dice in a cage. Sometimes they call it "Hightonymous."

Between these games of chance, the bar, feeding the musicians' "kitty," and the dance hall sirens, who work on percentage, the stoutest American bankroll is warranted to fade quickly away.

LOIS MORAN ON ROAD TO FAME

Little "Wonder Actress" Approaching First Magnitude.

Lois Moran, the "wonder actress," is conceded by all critics to be on the high road of film success although she has just completed her third picture and hardly completed her 16th year.

Miss Moran's latest screen vehicle is "The Reckless Lady," from the novel by Sir Phillip Gibbs, which is now at the Strand theatre. In the featured cast are Ben Lyon, Belle Bennett, James Kirkwood, Lowell Sherman and Charlie Murray.

The little actress was discovered by an merican film producer in Pagis, although she is an American. Her first two pictures were such instantaneous success that she is now approaching the threshold of stardom. She has appeared in "Stella Dallas," Richard Barthelmess," "Just Suppose," and now in "The Reckless Lady," a Robert Kane prodction for First National.

Miss Moran is the distinct opposite of the flapper type. Her hair isu nbobbed. She is reserved in manner, but her beautiful face is a remarkable study. The ease and clarity of her expressions are almost breath-taking. And she has a sweetness and wistful fragrance about her that is utterly captivating.

'LITTLE CABINET'

of 1920 and who had gained national reputation as an organizer and administrator at that time. Long before 1920, however, Mrs. Brueggeman had won her spurs in state affairs, and is one of the foremost members of the little cabinet today.

Two foreign-born women hold honored positions in the little cabinet. They are sturdy Mary Anderson of the women's bureau and quick-tongued Mary O'Toole of the Washington municipal court. Born on a farm in Sweden less than 50 years ago, Miss Anderson came to America an immigrant, in search of freedom and opportunity at the age of 15.

"My first job was a place as household domestic in an average, middle west family, in an average, middle west small town," explains Miss Anderson, who now stands at the head of her adopted Uncle Sam's department devoted to the welfare of women. "It was the only work I knew and the position offered the only opportunity at hand."

She Gets a Job.

Rapidly learning to speak and write English the Swedish girl soon sought greater opportunity in Chicago, where she got a job in a shoe factory. For 18 years Mary Anderson labored nine or ten hours a day at a stitching machine but she also rose to prominence in her national union, where her activities attracted the government's attention. When President Wilson wanted an experienced woman to direct the important work of the new women's bureau he took Miss Anderson, whom Presidents Harding and Coolidge were glad to retain.

Judge O'Toole comes from the "auld sod." Like Mary Anderson she sought the land of opportunity but chose a professional career instead of industry. Spending her early life in New York state, where she still holds citizenship, Judge O'Toole came to Washington 20 years ago and plunged into the law. She climbed to recognized position in her calling and, when the opportunity came to President Harding in 1921 to put a woman on the city court of the national capital, he selected her. Another member of the little cabinet, Katheryn Sellers of Ohio, had been appointed juvenile court judge by President Wilson. Her term expired under President Coolidge but lawyers, welfare workers and politicians all concurred in her reappointment, so the little cabinet continues to have two judges in its membership.

Two other important little cabineteers are Miss Grace Abbott of the children's bureau and Miss Mary Stewart of the United States employment service, both in the department of labor. Miss Stewart came to the government with breezy western enthusiasm based on several years of teaching school, fighting for suffrage and mixing with the professional politicians of republican presidential campaigns. She is one of the most skilled politicians in the little cabinet. At the same time the give and take, rough and ready, quick-action methods of suffrage and campaigning days fit her for her present work and give her opinions weight at the little cabinet table. Miss Abbott, in contrast, comes from the ranks of the professional social worker. A small town girl, from Grand Island, Neb., she became a school teacher at home and later joined the famous colony at Hull House, Chicago, where she did welfare work and taught in the civics and philanthony courses at the University of Chicago. When Julia Lathrop was made first chief of the children's bureau she brought Miss Abbot to Washington as one of her assistants and when she retired, in 1921, she was credited with having brought about Miss Abbott's appointment as her successor. From background and government service, therefore, Miss Abbott brings to the little cabinet luncheon table still another point of view.

The stormy petral of the little cabinet is Mrs. Mina Van Winkle, who has had more publicity than most other members because of her activities as a lelutenant of polics and head of the policewoman's bureau of the Washington police department. A dignified and handsome woman of 40, Mrs. Van Winkle enjoys the advantage (in her numerous controversies) of independent means. She doesn't have to have a job, so when congress investigates her or when hard-shelled, officials superiors (not yet reconciled to the idea of women police) try to discipline her she speaks right up in meeting, calls things by their first names, fights back—and wins her point. Her long experience as one of the leaders for women's suffrage in New Jersey, together with her natural ability as an organizer an dpolitician, also help. Incidentally, every other member of the little cabinet will roll up her sleeves and go to the front for "Mina" at a moment's notice, as she is perhaps the most popular member of that air-tight little organization.

One of the most respected members of the little cabinet is Dr. Louise Stanley of the home economics bureau of the agricultural department—the only scientist in the group. Her title was conferred by Yale for scientific work; she is not an M. D. Her job, briefly, is to help the housewives of America apply the facts of science (chemistry, nutrition, physics, biology) to their kitchens. A Tennesseean, Dr. Stanley was educated in the Universities of Nashville, Chicago, Columbia and Yale. Her work has carried her from a professorship in the University of Missouri to international conferences on home economics abroad and, finally, to the directorship of the most important activity of that character in the government service. Her career brings to the little cabinet still another type of woman who has gone to the top in her chosen field.

Five members of the little cabinet won fame in the war. One of them, Miss Anita E. Phipps, the daughter of a distinguished general, was an ambulance driver and is today the only woman on the general staff of the army. As chief of "woman's relations" she sits across the table from generals and colonels and advises them what women will think and do about various military policies. She keeps up a close liason with organized women and their representatives in Washington, so that the war department won't pull any bones without knowing it.

The other four war workers are nurses, at the head of the nursing services of the army, navy, veterans' bureau and public health service respectively. Long before America went into the war Miss Stimson (now a full-ledged major in the army), Miss Bowman, Miss Minnegerode and Mrs. Hickey had fought their way up close to the top in their profession, after doing all the gruelling work in the ranks. Anybody who has known a superintendent of nurses of a big hospital can easily picture these four capable, hard-working women, now approaching middle life. It takes physical vigor, keen intelligence, tact, personality and strength of character to run the nursing end of a hospital, and these four little cabineteers have those qualities in abundance. Each stands at the head of a vitally important service embracing several hundred nurses, whose technical qualifications and personal conduct depend on her. No shadow of politics entered into the appointment of any of these five women, whose counsels receive instant and respectful attention from their little cabinet colleagues.

The membership list closes with two of the most romantic figures of the group—two young women holding highly responsible offices under the government never before entrusted to feminine hands. These appointments—made by the president of the United States—were also strictly on merit. In fact, they were earned in competitive examination with hundreds of young men. Younger than the other cabineteers because of the character of their positions, Miss Lucille Atcherson of Ohio and Miss Patty H. Field of Colorado, are nevertheless proudly welcomed by their elder colleagues when in Washington. The former is third secretary of legation for her Uncle Samuel at the American legation at Berne, Switzerland, and the latter is American vice consul at Korea, just now detailed for duty as vice consul to the Netherlands, at Amsterdam. They are the first women in history to begin careers in the field of diplomacy—a calling which the little cabine believes will attract many more women like Miss Atcherson and Miss Field in the future.

WAR COPY CHEAP.

Clean and Well Preserved Paper Brings Small Price at Auction.

PARIS, June 26.—A clean and well preserved copy of the mobilization order that called the French army to the colors on Aug. 2, 1914, has just been sold at public auction and realized 90 francs or rather less than $3.

Copies of this momentous little oblong document have become extremely rare. Those that were posted in every town and village in France naturally soon became illegible owing to exposure to the weather and disappeared.

When the war was over a copy on a building near Maxim's restaurant was discovered in good condition and was covered with glass and protected by a frame for the benefit of posterity.

WILLIAM COLLIER Jr., AND GRETA NISSEN IN THE PARAMOUNT PICTURE "THE WANDERER" A RAOUL WALSH PRODUCTION

At the Palace Theatre

Soldier in Scotch Army Masquerades As Lady at Palace

When is a man called a lady? Seemingly this is a most ridiculous question but nevertheless it is the subject upon which the feature picture at the Palace theatre is based.

Roy Sewart, stalwart hero, plays the part of the "Lady" of this category.

To be sure this role necessitates his wearing skirts but they are of the kind that any woman would look over once and then hang up in the closet forever. Because the skirt that Stewart wears exposes his bare knees.

Those of you who have already seen the picture, or know that this photo drama is an adaptation of the book by Norton Parker entitled "My Lord of the Double B," are familiar with the type of "lady" referred to.

However, "The Lady from Hell" is none other than a soldier in a Scotch regiment likened to our own United States marine corps. Because of the aggressiveness of this group of men and their tenacity in swarming over the trenches during the World war they were nicknamed by the enemy "Ladies from Hell."

FALL OF ALAMO SEEN ON SCREEN

The screen version of the great epic, "with Davy Crockett at the Fall of the Alamo' at the Garden theater Sunday and Monday, deals with the life of this hero from the time of political defeat in Tennessee until he lay a ghastly martyr to the sacred cause of liberty.

Scattered in the dust of decades are the ashes of Davy Crockett, but in the story he lives again with his kindly, aiding grace toward others and his willingness to die for an ideal.

Battle Pictured

The arrival of the party at San Antonio just in time for Crockett and his friends to take part in the defense of the Alamo is pictured. The heroic defense, that will live as long as the valorous deeds of men are chronicled, is shown in all its vividness.

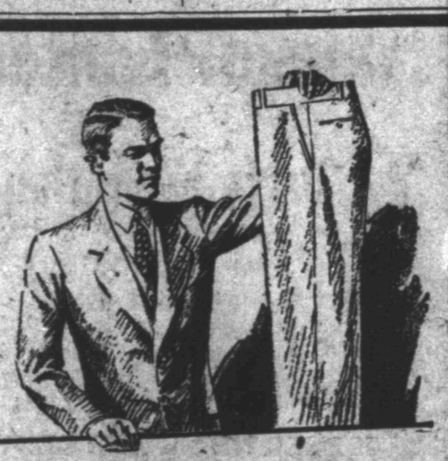

Names that are enshrined in the heart of Texas and all of the United States, come into the story as characters. Travis, Crockett, Bowie, Bonham—all dear to the hearts of their countrymen because they fought with full knowledge that the inevitable end of the fight would mean death to themselves but a triumph for their cause.

Alamo the Center

The Alamo is naturally the center of action for the story. That sacred building where Texas heroes kissed the lips of immortality, has been reproduced in exact likeness to the structure as it was in 1836, roofless and battle scarred, but none the less a grim and inspiring monument to the intrepidity of the gallant band who withstood for a time the hosts of the Mexican dictator, Santa Anna, only to fall before the vastly superior numbers.

No more inspiring story of valor has ever lent its color to the pages of history than the fall of the Alamo.

The screen story gives the events in an interesting sequence with the undeniable courage and dramatic high lights strongly in evidence.

Rapid Progress Being Made On New Garden of Dreams

HOME GOES UP WITH RAPIDITY

Record News Garden Of Dreams Is Being Pushed Ahead

The many people of Wichita Falls who have seen "El Jardin le los Suenos" in Westmoreland Park can hardly realize the rapidity with which construction has taken place during the last month or so. Scarcely six weeks ago Mayor R. E. Shepherd laid the corner stone of the Record News Home Beautiful and since then it has virtually sprung to existence.

J. C. Thompson and C. J. Patt, architects, have embodied in this Home Beautiful their highest type of Spanish architecture and have included all the atmosphere and romance of Old Spain with the appointments and refined comforts of the modern age.

On the Boulevard.

The two lots which constitute a site 200x250 feet, are located on Kessler boulevard in Westmoreland and are among the most beautiful tracts in the addition, providing a wonderful setting for the Garden of Dreams, and assuring the maximum of both charm and comfort. It was with this in mind that a dual water system to encourage the beauty of the section was installed. The Garden of Dreams will share in the advantage of this exceptional arrangement and will find boundless use for the underground sprays in the landscaping of the garden. The city water is piped to each building tract, and in addition there is a second water system, supplied by gravity from Westmoreland's own reservoir west of Call Field providing ample pressure for the operation of the lawn sprinklers. The environment of the Garden of Dreams will be worthy in every detail of its attractiveness.

Under Taylor Brothers & Company the contractors, the construction has entirely coincided with their policy of quickest work and best quality. This company is one of the oldest general contracting firms in the city, having established themselves some 18 or 19 years ago. With a business that has developed by leaps and bounds from a small plant to an incorporated firm, the company has received a maximum of the largest building contracts in the city, as well as various out-of-town jobs. C. R. Taylor and John Taylor represent satisfaction of the highest degree in their contracting.

Start on Interior.

Interior finishing work will soon be started, the wire lath being put on last week. Plastering and mill work will be under way soon. The two huge windows in the front of each wing of the house are in readiness for the stone freize work and elaborate columns that will be the outstanding feature in the exterior architecture. The house is of brick with a California plastering of rough texture over this. Plastering will take place within a few days. The garage and garden wall are also ready for plaster and the fountain will be set Monday or Tuesday, it was reported.

The latest methods of finishing floors, which includes surfacing as well as the finishing proper, will be done by A. D. Brown, floor surfacer and finisher. His work on the Garden of Dreams will be done by means of electricity in the surfacing process and the finest of materials will be used in the dining room, bedrooms and hallways, oak being used throughout. The other rooms will have tiled floors worked out in harmonizing color schemes. Floor lumber as well as the remaining requirtments will be furnished by the Miller Lumber Company. Oak and long leaf yellow pine will be used. Taylor Brothers and Rhine will supply the mill work. A full line of doors, windows, mouldings, stairs and cabinets are turned out of the shops which are equipped with the most modern machinery. In addition, a regular furniture department is equipped to manufacture desks, chairs, tables and any other required articles.

The Garden of Dreams without a doubt will be the most striking of the many beautiful homes in Wichita Falls. Not a detail has been omitted, nothing has been overlooked to place "El Jardin de los Suenos" among the front ranks of the most beautiful examples of Spanish architecture in the Southwest.

Eat Rye Bread

BERLIN, June 26.—"Germans! Eat rye bread, th ebread of your fathers, is the slogan raised in an appeal to the public which appears in Deutsche Allgemaine Zeitung.

The article points out that Germany with an adverse trade balance of 3,600,000,000 marks last year, imported no less than 3,700,000,000 marks worth of cereals and agricultural produce, of which 300,0000,000 marks was for wheat and wheaten flour alone.

The annual consumption of breadstuffs is figured at 167.1 kilos per head, whereas the country's own production furnishes 165.6 kilos (116.7 kilos rye and 48.9 kilos wheat) so that only a very small percentage would need to be imported if people could only be induced to eat rye bread. But this, the writer declares, is just what the people will not do. They clamor for white bread although rye bread is much better for them and would moreover, help to redress the country's adverse trade balance.

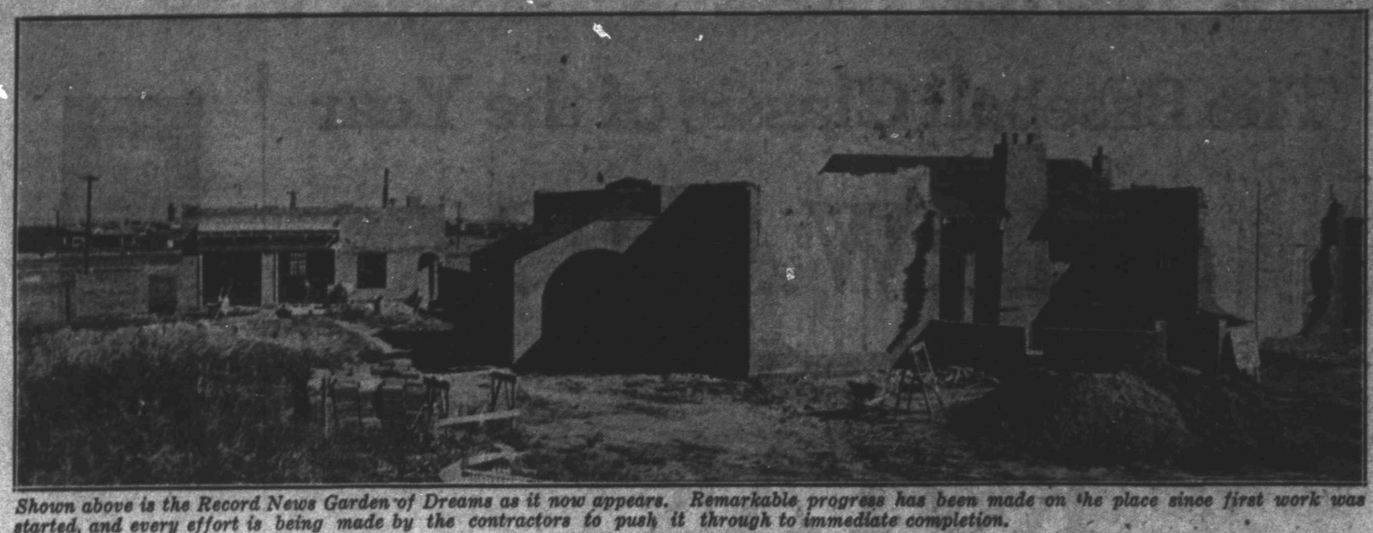

Help From Church

PARIS, June 26.—On the Place des Etats-Unis at Chateau Thierry near the memorial monument to the Third American division, is an American institution which has become a kind of godmother to the citizens of the battle-swept town. Here at the Methodist memorial there is a wide range of welfare activities such as are common in the United States but almost unknown in France.

In addition to classes in English for children there is practical instruction in nursing and in child-rearing among other welfare activities. Dr. Julian S. Wadsworth, formerly well known minister in New England, is head of the memorial assisted by Mrs. Wadsworth and a staff of experts.

Hundreds of Americans touring the battlefields stop at the memorial each year, as the war museum which it contains has a unique collection of souvenirs from the Belleau Wood battlefield. In the courtyard of the house are captured German cannon which give the place a war-like appearance wholly in contrast with the work of peace which is carried on within.

Where The Garden of Dreams Is Taking Shape

Shown above is the Record News Garden of Dreams as it now appears. Remarkable progress has been made on the place since first work was started, and every effort is being made by the contractors to push it through to immediate completion.

Finishing Touches To Be True Artisty In New Garden Of Dreams

With the furnishing and decoration of a new home comes the essential touches that count so much in the final results. These most important factors that will be developed to the highest degree of artistry in the Record News "El Jardin de los Suenos," have been contracted by the Freear Furniture company and Chas. E. Watson Paint company. Every piece of furniture will be selected and placed by Ivan Murchison, of the Freear company who has recently been to the New York markets, and secured some distinctively beautiful Spanish furnishings. Charles E. Watson has for a number of years made a special study of Spanish interior effects and cooperative plans are being made for color schemes in the interior decoration and furnishings. With the further progress in the structure of the house, additional suggestions will be offered.

Odd Pieces.

Many odd and beautiful pieces, desks, cabinets, tables, chairs, bedroom and living room suites and unique chests with the old rusty finish so prevalent in furniture of this style, will be included in the selection from Freear's. A wall desk with embossed leather decoration in colors, spraddle-legs, wrought iron reinforcements and raised wood circlets and knobs is among the New York arrivals.

A beautiful bedroom suite in Spanish green with shaded effect and polychrome colors will probably be placed in one of the bedrooms with corresponding decorations. Mr. Murchison has planned the placing of many artistic purely decorative pieces such as plaques, mirrors and bric-a-brac. A special selection of the amour bronze plaques done in polychrome colors with varying design was made in New York.

Draperies will be of finest quality brocaded damask. The final choosing of the furniture will be in the early part of July when Mr. Murchison will make an extended trip in the north, visiting the Grand Rapids, Chicago and New York markets.

"Rough Finish."

Charles E. Watson has planned the finish of the walls in a rough texture suggesting the old-time appearance of Spanish dwellings. This is made possible by a composition known as Craftex which is applied over the canvas sheeting and plaster used in the foundation of the walls. A feature of outstanding distinctiveness will be a raised ornament of plaster or cement composition in the wall space of the chimney over the mantel. The design will be purely Spanish, perhaps a Spanish galleon and will harmonize with the living room decoration.

Mr. Watson has the interior painting contract and will use a glazed antique stipple on the bedroom woodwork. This produces a soft, evenly graded finish though applied with short touches, and is being used in many of the houses of Spanish architecture.

Panhandle Supplies All Requirements Of New Home Beautiful

The entire requirements of the Record News "El Jardin de los Suenos" in steel reinforcing, cast iron vents and angle iron was furnished by the tank and structural steel department of the Panhandle Refining company, which has proved and is increasing its value in the building of Wichita Falls.

The present capacity of the manufacturing plant includes all structural iron and steel articles required in the large downtown buildings as well as any building in the city, trusses, girders, lintels, columns, teeiron, see iron, fire escapes, steel bridges, ornamental iron, reinforcing steel smoke stacks, steel wire-line spools, barrel tanks, truck and wagon steel tanks and welding work of every description.

The growth of this industry has been remarkable since its origin in 1917, it now being the third largest of its kind in the state. From a $200,000 concern in 1915, it has expanded to an $11,000,000 industry in 1926.

Home Beatiful Kitchen To Be One Of Which Any Housewife Could Be Proud

A kitchen that any housewife would long for, will feature the Home Beautiful as one of the most modern, perfectly equipped establishments in the many Wichita Falls homes.

The Wichita Falls Electric company is installing a number of electrical appliances, including a Hot-Point super-automatic electric range, Sepco automatic heaters for bath room installation and the new Sepco circulation water heater.

A Big Convenience.

"The Hotpoint range has proved to many women that the modern, easy way to cook is by electricity," the local dealers claim. "The range is an added convenience and gives exact results the first and every time. Electric heat is clean and the gleaming white enamel keeps clean. The white porcelain cooking top does not stain and there are no troublesome smokey smudges left on cooknig utensils which so often result from gas cooking, be it ever so well regulated. The fireless cooker type oven uses only a small amount of electricity but does not cook by the gradually diminishing stored heat."

No Heat Wasted.

In speaking of the many qualities of the range, it was stated by Mr. Spraggin of the Electric company that no waste of heat was involved, no fumes or gases resulting.

The bath room heaters will be installed in the walls and are especially adapted to all climatic conditions. "They have proved that properly constructed buildings can be satisfactorily heated by electricity. Healthful results are among the foremost advantages," Mr. Spraggin said. They will be of white porcelain with grilled protection fronts.

The new Sepco water heater has been installed in the basement to insure instant hot water at all times.

Latest Type Of Heater Installed In Home Beautiful

A heating system of the latest type boiler known as the "Tonda" has been installed in the Record News Home Beautiful. The furnace is a product of the American Radiator company and was contracted through the Wichita Hardware company, in addition to the entire plumbing in the house.

The hot air furnace is steel cased, the steel jacket being lined with a two inch layer of asbestos. This tends to make it doubly economical in fuel consumption, according to the local dealer. Radiators of the Corto pattern and especially adapted to the construction of the "Garden of Dreams" will be used.

Plumbing progress has reached a stage near completion. The tubs in both baths have been set, enabling work on the arched recess ceiling above. The rapidity with which installation has taken place has been remarkable and as soon as corresponding work on the house permits, the entire work will be finished which will be in a short time.

Men Learn to Cook

BERLIN, June 26. — Cooking schools in Berlin primarily intended for women and girls, this year are being over-run with applications from men, both single and married, anxious to learn to cook for themselves.

Bachelors confess that they are tired of restaurant fod and want to prepare their own meals. They hope also that it will be cheaper. There are jobless husbands who have wives in remunerative employment or else in bad health, who have to adapt themselves to a reversal of the housekeeping position—a veritable revolution in German life, the hausfrau having hitherto held undisputed sway in the kitchen.

Women cookery teachers say that at first men see mto have "fingers all thumbs" owing to their lack of early home training. But they quickly surpass female pupils in acquiring general proficiency, being as a rule much handier in using labor-saving devices at which many women still look askance.

PLASTER ADDS SPANISH TOUCH

Shoop and Williams Get Contract for Outside Work

Plastered in a rough stucco of light cream color, the Record News Garden of Dreams will truly appear to be a dwelling of Spain. Shoop & Williams, plastering contractors, have developed to a fine point effects that suggest the old walls of Spanish houses, standing for years and achieving a mellow beauty possible only through the works of time.

F. L. Shoop and E. Williams have been engaged in this business for a period of around six years, both having been in this sort of work previously. Stucco, plain and ornamental plastering are expertly done by their workmen.

Their recent contracts include the Holt Hotel, Marchman Hotel, the three Barclay garages, Ferguson apartments at Tenth and Broad, the Lake Wichita asylums, Dr. White's sanitarium, Wichita Medical Clinic, the $10,000 First Baptist Church at Vernon, the Burkburnett Methodist Church, P. P. Langford, R. H. Brown, S. P. Daniels and the C. H. Gilchrest home in North Morningside designed and built by J. A. Morrison.

Mr. Shoop believes that there is no other plaster that will present the atmosphere required by this Spanish Garden of Dreams and is anticipating an effect of unusual beauty.

Ceasar Loses Out

LONDON, June 25.—(AP)—Julius Caesar is losing prestige in England. As a consequence the old camp of the Roman soldier - statesman on St. George's hill, Weybridge, established in 54 b. c., or thereabouts, is to be wiped off the map of vacant lots and modern flat buildings erected on it.

This has been brought about by the commissioners of works who have refused an appeal of the Walton Town council to preserve the site. They contend that no useful purpose may be served by considering the question further and besides the property is too valuable to be kept idle merely as a reminder of some of the old timers.

Caesar had his camp at St. George's at the time he came to England with five legions and 2000 cavalry which were harrassed by the war chariots of the British prince, Cassivellaunus so vigorously that the Roman columns were compelled to withdraw to Gaul.

"El JARDIN de los SUENOS"

It Is Taking on Form Now

THE BEAUTY IS BEGINNING TO APPEAR—YOU CAN SEE THE PERMANENT CONSTRUCTION

Even though only the walls are up and the grounds and building are littered with construction materials, people are beginning to say, "It will be beautiful."

And those who are experienced in such things say, "It is certainly being built to last a long time."

"El Jardin de los Suenos" is beginning to take on beauty even in its rough state. And the methods of construction show how permanently this model home will be built. To carry out fine ideas of beauty in a home, to build it to last for generations instead of decades is our work, but our pleasure, too.

Drive by and see "El Jardin de los Suenos." We will be glad to show you through it any day.

EXTRA WIRES IN HOME BEAUTIFUL

With the installation of every electrical convenience in the Record News Home Beautiful, particular care has been taken to conduct the wiring throughout the house with the utmost thought and planning in regard to the technical qualities as well as practical arrangements for every comfort.

L. E. Hudgins, contractor for some of the largest and best electrical jobs in the city, will do the wiring in the Home Beautiful. His work will soon be completed as far as the actual wiring is concerned, although the fixtures and decorative electrical details will be installed later.

Have Separate Panel.

An especially constructed panel board whereby the individual bath heaters, the electric range and basement water heater are fed in addition to a separate circuit on the house distribution will be put in within the next week. Mr. Hudgins states that this panel is the latest thing in panel board construction. It will have a 50 ampere circuit instead of the usual one of 5 amperes. The entire electrical service will be 100 amperes of which there are only two or three others in the city. This will be conducted underground.

The living room has been wired for three wall brackets, a ceiling fixture and six baseplugs, the same plan to be carried out in the dining room. The kitchen is wired for the many electrical appliances required in modern homes—ironing board, toaster, range, and water heater. All the bedrooms have been adequately equipped with connections for floor lamps, reading lamps or bed lamps, dressing table fixtures and ceiling lights. A three-way control switch operating inner and outer lights and ceiling lights have been provided for. The patio in the rear of the house has seven lights in the garden wall enclosure. A porte cochere lantern has been wired over the main entrance on the east. On either side of the grilled iron gate in the low wall in the front of the house will be small Spanish lanterns.

Mr. Hudgins has for the fourteen past years done expert electrical work, half of that time being spent in Wichita Falls. A signal system of his own origination has recently been completed in the Hargrave-Walker hospital. The Barclay garage, and Marchman hotel are among his latest contracts.

The Radio Helps

BERLIN, June 26.—That religious teaching spread throughout England by wireless preachers whose fame will rival that of film favorites, is among possibilities of the future as foreseen by the Rt. Rev. Ernest William Barnes, bishop of Birmingham.

The bishop believes that young men of quality do not enter the ministry in sufficient numbers because other occupations afford opportunities of religious service which were more attractive. Before long, he thinks, the new presentation of the gospel which is now being fashioned by leading thinkers will establish itself and the better sort of influence spread by aid of radio sermons which will reach millions of listeners where today, he says, little or no religion is even given more than a passing thought.

Hoover Cleaner To Be Used In Keeping Home Beautiful New And Clean

"Perhaps the most useful household article used by hundreds of women over the country is the Hoover cleaner, a cleaner that has revolutionized the house-cleaning service," F. H. Whitley, head of the Hoover department at Perkins-Timberlake, claims in explaining the desirability of a Hoover in the Record News Home Beautiful. "Its simplicity in operation, efficiency and unusual mechanical merits eliminate it from the others for durable and satisfactory service."

Mr. Whitley explained the improved design of model No. 700 in that together with the basic principle of vacuum cleaning or suction, the new Hoover has "positive agitation," a beating or fluttering of the rug on a cushion of air that is the only actual way of dislodging sand and grime and dirt from the background of the rug. "This is only logical, since, from the earliest time of rug-cleaning, beating has been a time-tested requirement.

In addition to the suction and the beating, the Hoover sweeps. Tiny camel hair bristles on a smooth, highly-polished steel beater take care of this function. It is automatically self-cleaning and eliminates the entangling of hairs and strings. The motor requires no oiling, ball-bearings being used. The attachment cord is of tyrex rubber which does away with possible shorting, twisting and knotting frequent with a fabric covered cord."

Its established place among the 83 makes of vacuum cleaners accounts for its choice for the "Garden of Dreams," the home of modern tomorrow, completely equipped with every convenience. Mr. Whitley says that "the Hoover has had twenty-three years of successful merchandising and is the oldest cleaner made. Of the electric cleaners used in the millions of homes throughout the country, the Hoover constitutes more than 50 per cent."

In recognition of his top-notch salesmanship this year, Mr. Whitley has won attendance to the Sixth National Hoover Convention at Canton, Ohio, which will be held July 6, 7, 8 and 9. He represents the Dallas branch of the Hoover office and for the last four years has made Perkins-Timberlake his headquarters.

To Study Books

PARIS, June 26.—One hundred and one French women have banded themselves together and founded the first "Women's Bibliophile Society." It is their intention to disprove a widespread belief in France that women have no love for books, except as things to read on the same footing as newspapers and take the housewife's views that books are nothing but "nests for dust."

The society will bring out a volume a year which is to be a model of typography and illustration. It is expected there will be active competition among writers to have the honor of their works being chosen for publication under such auspices.

The "101" as the society is called, has not yet made public the names of its members. The Princess Marie of Greece, daughter of Prince Roland Bonaparte who married Prince George, the second son of King George I of Greece, has been asked to become the president by the Baroness de Brimont and Madame Albert Pigasse, who took the initiative in forming the society. On the committee will be the Princess de Bassano, Madame Paul Cladel, Princess Helene Schakhowska, Madame Maurice de Wendel, and Madame Zuloaga.

New Divorce Method

PARIS, June 26.—"The new way for divorce" is what writers in the French press sterm the manner of 14 women in Paris in five months getting rid of their husbands by shooting. Not one of the women has paid the death penalty. Two or three of them have been given prison sentences of a few months. "Divorce by Browning," is the special term used by sarcastic writers.

French juries always have been lenient with the accused in a "crime passional," but the commentators on the cases of these 14 women point out that it has not always been the woman who was wronged. The woman herself, in some cases, had deceived her husband and then killed him in order that she might marry another man.

"We are becoming accustomed to the revolver, to murder, to summary and individual justice, immediate and irreparable violence. We shall end by considering that any person in France has the right to condemn to death whom he wishes and to execute the sentence, says one writer.

SHREWSBURY, Eng.—Walking into the home of a friend, Amos Stanforth said, "Goodby, Jack," and drank acid, dying instantly.

HUGE MANTEL FOR NEW HOME

Since the building of the first homes of the country, the fireplace has been the gathering place of the family, the center of the homelife. The Home Beautiful "Garden of Dreams," will have in its living room a replica of an old stone mantel of the XV century, procured in Spain, furnished by the Wichita Builders Supply company. The mantel is of massive Cretan stone in a medium antique color with black and gold marble facing and mosaic colored tile hearth to harmonize. The color schemes in the tiles and stone will blend with the room furnishings and interior decoration.

The height of the fireplace is six feet and the mantel, six feet five and three-quarter inches in length. A freize of magnificent carvings in scroll design with Doric columns at each side complete the structure.

In the garden directly back of the living room and loggia opening to the patio and visible from the front of the house will be an artistic fountain in the garden wall. It is believed by the contractors that the fountain will be set this week. Batchelder tile of a light cream color corresponding to the color of the house, will form the structure.

Distinguishing touches in the Record News "Garden of Dreams" or ornamental nature include features furnished by the Wichita Wire and Iron company. A Spanish characteristic is iron decoration and to entirely carry out this styled, iron railings around the two large arched windows in the front of the house will be used. Their thin grilled iron designs enhance the beauty of the windows and correspond with the freize work which decorates the tops.

H. L. Ayers, partner of F. Y. Rose of the Wichita Wire and Iron company claim to produce the best quality of workmanship on their products which is of the best class performed by master workmen. A number of large contracts in the leading cities of the state have been filled by the local company. Fire escapes, wire enclosures of all kinds and decorative articles are turned out.

Music Is Barred

PARIS, June 26.—To those American who have been awakened in a small hotel in Paris on a sunny summer morning by the strains of a song in an unknown tongue on the street below, the edict of the perfect of police that singers must hereafter be licensed and sing only on fete days will come with a shock. Furthermore the songs in the repertoire must be approved by the perfect, which will be a regulation hard to enforce.

For years the street singers have been a feature of the quieter streets of Paris like the mender of old crockery and the glazier, but Monsieur le Perfect finds that there are too many of such singers. Hereafter therefore, in order to cut down the number no one may sing and pass the hat without a special police card, and a new one will be required for each fete or street fair.

The censoring of the songs will be much more difficult than the issuing of permits, for many of these street songs are made up as the singer goes along, and the police are too busy these days in directing traffic to listen to street singers in the capacity of censors.

She Saw One

PARIS, June 26.—Carter Harrison of Chicago, does not believe east Africa is over-run with lions despite Stewart Edward White's tales of shooting them with bow and arrow. However, the Illinois man admits there are lions in Nairobi—because Mrs. Harrison saw one.

As Carter Harrison tells the story in Paris he spent weeks stalking the king of beasts in East Africa with the aid of scores of native beaters, but no lion did he ever pull a bead on with his rifle.

On the last day of their stay in Nairobi, Mrs. Harrison was motoring along a road where there was considerable stunted growth and some grassland. A huge lion crashed through a bush at one side of the road, walked calmly across in front of the automobile and paid no attention either to the car or it occupants. "And I was not even there to see the beast," says Mr. Harrison.

THE MOTIF THAT WILL BE FOLLOWED IN FURNITURE

— OF —

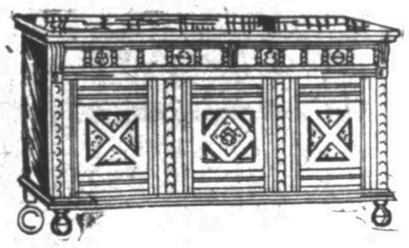

'El JARDIN de los SUENOS'

THE Spanish influence is exceptionally strong at present in architecture, interior decoration and furniture. Its vogue is especially appropriate for the Southwest, a section with a climate and environment not unlike that of Spain and close enough to Mexico to savor the picturesque and romantic side of its life.

The Spanish motif is being carried out authentically in every detail of "El Jardin de los Suenos," both in the building and its furnishings. The Spanish furniture for it was selected by our Mr. Murchison and is perfectly suited to this model home.

It is elaborately carved and gives the correct impression of massiveness but retaining something of an exquisite kind of beauty. These heavy, dark pieces give a distinctive effect against the plain plastered walls of a Spanish home. The use of leather for decoration and wrought iron as braces are quite typical of Spanish furniture, and the influence of ancient Spain's conquerors from Africa is evident in many of the carved designs used.

RUGS FROM INDIA

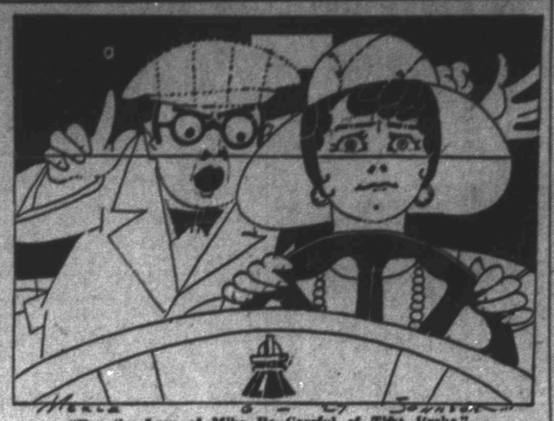

The rugs that will be used in the living room and dining rooms are reproductions of an old Spanish hooked rug brought into this country to be used in a Spanish home in Miama, Florida, and reproduced by Biglow Hartford Carpet Company of New York in the Hartford Saxon quality. The scatter rugs to be used are imported from India and are made of Angora wool. The base of the rug is beaten by hand with stick until it has become thoroughly matted together, then embroidered showing native objects such as birds, trees, etc. They are gorgeously colored and fit in perfectly with the Spanish surroundings.

A Word to the Wife—By James J. Montague

"For the Love of Mike Be Careful of That Brake."

"All right, I'll let you drive for a while. No, I'll not keep telling you how. You'll have to learn yourself. But don't blame me if you get off the road. Just use your judgment and for the love of Mike keep your nerves under control.

"Look out! There's a car coming! I know what I said, but if you're going to drive you've got to keep your eyes on the road. Golly, that was a close call. Why didn't you give him a little more room?"

"All right, I won't say anything more. That bend isn't banked. Better slow down a little. I understand, but you can't take a flat curve at thirty-five miles an hour without tipping over. Being a woman you naturally can't be expected to know anything about centripital force and momentum.

"Certainly I'm going to let you drive. I think you're going very well, but—Wow! Don't try to pass a truck like tha twhen there is another truck just ahead of it. How did you know he'd slow up and let you in there.

"No, I am not going to take the wheel myself. The only way to assure my peace of mind is for you to learn how to run the car yourself. Sometimes I get so worried while you are out in the bus that I can't think about business.

"I don't mean to hurt your feelings. You ought to know that. I'm not criticising you either, except in the way of constructive criticism. Don't take this personally, but the difference between men and women simply cannot bear suggestions from other people, and men welcome them.

"We're getting along swimmingly now, only 40 miles an hour is a bit speedy for a new driver. Supposing a cow would run out over the road just ahead of you, what would you do?

"Of course I know a cow couldn't climb a six-foot fence, but there might be a gate, mightn't there? Look out for that brown patch, it might be oil, and you know, or you ought to know how back tires will skid on oil.

"That's better, you're doing fine. But if you insist on hobbling along at twenty miles an hour we'll never get home in time for dinner. I am no advocate of scorching, but you've got to keep her going. Just settle down into the pace that is her natural gait and keep that way. You can't do that without keeping your mind on the job.

"Well, there is no reason why I shouldn't make a suggestion or two. I've been driving for twenty years now. I know, but those accidents were not my fault. Anybody will tell you that. The one thing I am is careful. It takes experience to teach you the power that is in these things and what they will do when they hit anything.

"Couldn't you see that that was broken glass ahead. It's a mercy all four tires didn't blow out at once. If you wouldn't talk so much you would be able to concentrate more. It would have been easy enough to swing out and avoid that glass, instead of dashing right through it.

"Please don't swerve suddenly that way. We almost went off the road. Yes we did too, I am over here where I can see the edge. If the wheels had gone off we'd have lost one of them or bent an axle. The important thing is to get into your head that you're in control of a terrific power, and that you are on your own and have nobody to tell you what to do in case of an emergency.

"I have seen a thousand things I might have told you about all ready, but I have kept my mouth shut because I wanted you to learn to act independently. Step her up a little. That's nothing but dust on the road. It won't skid on it.

Easy! Easy! You can't go like that over a dirt road. Any one of those bumps might throw us clear over the fence and into that rock quarry. I know what I said about stepping her up, but we were on a hard surface then. You've got to use a little judgment.

"Certainly people told me how to drive while I was learning. How else could I have learned? It is axiomatic however, that men take more naturally to driving, just as they do to all athletic sports. It is a matter of coordination. I suppose I would bungle things just as much if I tried to run the house.

"Nonsense. I never try to run the house. I told you that cook was no good because she was so sloppy with the food. And it was not my fault that you couldn't get a new one for six weeks. If you'd gone at the job systematically, the way I do in my business you'd have found one.

"No, and I don't interfere with the way the children are brought up. I make a suggestion now and then of course, because I am interested in them, but you have practically all the control of them, and even when I know you are making mistakes I keep my hands off as a matter of principal. I have always been a strong believer in division of labor in the household.

"I suppose you thought that dog would get out of the way! He did get out of the way, I know, but how could you tell he was going to? Supposing he'd stopped where he was. We'd have run over him and probably have been upset. Yes, I know he was a small dog, but you wouldn't want to kill him would you? A dog is entitled to his life, and besides when you kill these farm dogs their owners make you pay enormous prices for them and the authorities always back them up.

"Now see if you can't keep all your attention on your work, and settle down to a steady twenty-five miles an hour pace. It's getting along, and I don't want to have to spend the night in a hotel when we might just as well get home.

"Listen, when you come to the entrance of a bridge slow down. You might have met another car on that bridge, and what would you have done then? Suppose you could see that no other car was coming? The thing to do is to cultivate the habit of caution. Then you never will get into trouble.

"For the love of Mike be cargful of that brake. Jamming it down that way will set the oil on fire, and maybe the gasoline tank along with it.

"Yes, of course. But you could have slowed down gently. Anyway the other fellow would have seen you and slowed up. People are not all idiots who drive cars.

"I did not mean that you were an idot at all. I simply meant that the other fellow wasn't. No, you keep on driving. Really you're getting on splendidly and I'll not say another word to you from now on.

"Jiminiy Christmas—why didn't you sheer out then? You never can tell what the other fellow is going to do. Go on he heory that every other driver on the road is a fool and keep away from him. Then you will be safe.

"All right, I'll drive if you insist on it. But you were getting along first rate, and pretty soon I'd have been able to enjoy the scenery and not get a nervous breakdown every ten seconds. But of course when your life, as well as mine and the children's future happiness is at stake, we've got to be careful.

"What's that, a traffic policeman after us? Well watch me beat him out of his bailwick!"

Profits in Booze

PARIS, June 26.—(AP)—Bootleggers in the United States possibly will grow green with envy when they learn that plus bootlegger prices have been paid for liquor and wines in Paris.

At the auction of the Dutaste Cellar here three bottles of liquor brandy bottled in 1805 fetched 666 francs each or about $20 per bottle. One day's sales, comprising 2,000 bottles of various vintages, brought 130,025 francs. Two half bottles of green Grande Chartreuse made by the monks before they were expelled from the country, sold for 505 francs.

Among other lots disposed of were 24 bottles of liquer brandy of 1820 which brought 9,000 francs, 57 bottles of 1847 Sylva Port 10,000 francs, and 130 bottles of champagne, made in 1914 which fetched 11,100 francs.

Wanted a Smoke

BERLIN, June 26.—(AP)—President Von Hindenburg, on one of his recent visits to provincial cities, was introduced to Fridolin Fix, a farmer lad, the hero of all Thuringia. Fix joined the army at 16 in 1917 and was decorated with the Iron Cross for conspicuous bravery. He also has the reputation of being the champion cigar maker of the province.

"So long as there are heroes like you," the field marshal said as he clasped the youth's hand, "Germany never need worry. Can I do anything for you?"

Fix hesitated. "Yes, your honor, may I have a cigar?"

The reception committee roared with laughter. The president pulled out his huge red cigar case, the contents of which are for friends only as he smokes cigarets. He handed Fix a big black cigar saying:

"If only the wishes of all were as

Lydick Roofing Company To Put on Composition Topping

The Lydick Roofing company of Fort Worth, the local branch of which is located at 813 Mill street and managed by C. H. Lydick, has the contract for the composition flat roof used on the Record News "El Jardin de los Sueños." This roofing covers the wings on the east and west sides of the home. The structure of composition includes a ply of red rosin paper, five plies of Barrett specification felt over which pitch is poured, followed by the imbedding of perfectly weighed and measured gravel. The entire process is carried out according to detailed specifications by approved roofmen and is bonded for 20 years, the highest bond given in America.

The Fort Worth home office was established in 1891 and now has six branch offices in Dallas, Abilene, Lubbock, Amarillo and Wichita Falls. Roofing products of the Johns-Manville, Inc., Richardson company and Celotex Roofing company are handled by Lydick.

Some of the recent contracts of the company are on the Marchman hotel, the Morgan building, Perkins-Snider and Harvey-Snider buildings, The Holt hotel, Presbytelian church, the Zundelowitz, Crockett and Ben Franklin schools. There are buildings at present with perfect Barrett roofs that were put on 40 and 57 years ago that have had no expense whatever involved for repairs.

WHAT IF THE OYSTER HAD ANY RIGHTS IN A COURT?

LONDON.—The famous "oyster case" which puzzled many jurists has finally be decided on appeal and closed by Lord Hewitt, the lord chief justice. Briefly the facts were:

A orders a barrel of oysters from a local fishmonger D. The fishmonger procures them from an oyster merchant B and supplies them to A, who pays for them. Opening some of the oysters, C, a servant of A, finds in one of them a valuable pearl, and put it in his pocket, intending to keep it.

The pearl is claimed b the merchant B, the fishmonger D, the final purchaser A, and the servant C. In the court below judgment is given in favor of A. B, C and D appeal.

Jackson Negroes Go to Pententiary

ALTUS, June 26.—When two negroes of Jackson County were taken this week to the state penitentiary at McAlester, a total of 29 Jackson County people to be taken there for this year was reached.

The number for this six months of 1926 is larger than the number from here sentenced in any previous year. A total of 25 people sentenced to the penitentiary was the high mark for Jackson County prior to this year.

Half-Time Parents

LONDON, June 26.—Half-time parents are responsable for "the bad boy" problem which the world faces today and this problem will never be solved until the homes in which boys live are improved. This is the opinion of J. H. Duin, the chief constable of Norwich, who says "naturally bad boys" are hard to find.

"Take me to a gang of young miscreants and I will prove to you that the lads constituting the gang are full of potential charm, heroism and righteousness," said Mr. Duin. "What is generally called 'bad' in a boy usually is the use of latent energy.

When parents pay more attention to their children and cease turning them loose to run about at will, Mr. Duin believes the "bad boy" will be far less numerous.

The Bug Bites Him

LONDON, June 26.—(AP)—Golf under a red umbrella is a feat performed by the Prince of Wales at Sandwich. The heir to the throne was determnier not to let rain stop his twice-a-day round the links.

Out on the links it rained so heavily that the caddies held a red umbrella over the heir apparent and his partner while they were playing their strokes. At the 14th green a member of the party asked "is this far enough?" The prince replied "I don't mind; I like it. Let's carry on." This they did up to the 18th green.

When not on the links the prince is often seen on the lawn of small downs houses which he has rented, practicing putting. It appears this sudden liking for golf and the prince's regularity in playing whenere he gets an opportunity is partly due to the fact that he is anxious to beat his brother, the Duke of York, who at present is the best golfer of the royal family.

Southern Oklahoma Chambers to Meet

ALTUS, June 26.—Plans for a district meeting of the Southwestern Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce Aug. 10 at Marlow were completed this week at a meeting of the secretaries from Hobart, Altus, Frederick, Lawton, Marlow, Sayre, Carter, Mountain Park, Gotebo, Cordell and Erick.

Joseph L. Leopold, manager of the Southern Central Division Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will be the main speaker at the Marlow meeting when all officers and directors of the chamber of commerce from each town in the southwestern chamber of commerce are invited to attend.

The question of securing a paid secretary for the Southwestern Oklahoma organization will be discussed at the Marlow meeting, and more extensive work for the organization outlined.

ED WYNN'S QUESTION BOX

By ED WYNN

"THE PERFECT FOOL"

He Knows All—He Sees All

Dear Mr. Wynn:
Would you be kind enough to settle an argument between my wife and me. I say a person with great talent and a genius are one and the same thing, while my wife says there is a vast difference between the two. Who is right, and why?

Yours truly,
Wright Ingpad.

Answer: Your wife is right. The difference between talent and genius is that talent gets paid every Saturday.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I have read a great deal about beauty doctors and so-called face lifters. Can you tell me the best way for an aging woman to keep "her good looking youth?"

Truly yours,
B. U. Teefull.

Answer: The best way for a woman to keep her "youth," is, not to introduce "him" to any other women.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I am a boy twelve years of age and have just entered an essay competition. There are two subjects to be written about, one is "Grasshopper" and the other is "Grasswidow." Are these subjects alike or are they different, and why?

Sincerely,
X. Ample.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I am president of a debating society, and on next Saturday we are to debate the following subject, "who do the silliest things, men or women?" It would help us considerably if you would tell me the silliest thing you ever saw a man do, will you tell me?

Yours truly,
Operia Sorespot.

Answer: The silliest thing I ever saw a man do was one day in the postoffice. I saw this man wait around for two hours and the minute he saw the postal clerk turn his back he pushed four letters into the box, without stamps, thinking he was saving the postage.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
Is it true that everything that goes up must come down?

Sincerely,

Answer: Everything that goes up does come down excepting a bank.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I have a very dear friend, a Scotchman, who has just gone back to Scotland. I happen to know that he would never spend his own money to go back yet he has gone. How do you think he got back?

Yours truly,
Tom Katt.

Answer: Your friend most likely heard some one sing "The Blue-bells of Scotland" and it carried him back.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I know a lady who never got married and she is now 42 years old. I asked her why she hadn't married and she said: "Why should I get married as long as I have a parrot and a monkey?" What did she mean by that?

Sincerely,
Rone E. Ohe.

Answer: Probably her parrot swears and her monkey chews tobacco and she figures therefore she doesn't need a husband.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I read in this morning's paper that congress is trying to put through a bill to compel the government to have nothing but female clerks in the postoffice. Do you think congress is right?

Yours truly,
General Lee Vote-Twice.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
There is a chap in my class at college about 22 years of age and he has the most peculiar habit I have ever seen. Whenever I look at him he always has something on his nose, for instance, one minute he is juggling a feather on his nose, the next time he'll be strumming a tune on the bridge of his nose with the tips of his fingers. Can you tell me what in the world his idea is?

Yours truly,
Al. Loomnus.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
My father says he washes his eyes out every night before going to bed. If this is true how does he get them back in again?

Sincerely,
I. Lidd.

Answer: Next week.

ED, Wynn.

Take Up Electricity

LONDON, June 26.—Lady Astor, Lady Cowan, Lady Brooks, Miss Ellen Wilkinson and many other prominent British women are active in the Electrical Association of Women. The organization is striving for wider electrification of British homes and industry in order to lessen household duties and make England brighter and cleaner.

Lady Cowan has just returned from Canada and the United States where she has made an exhaustive study of the model homes of North American housewives. She is making a campaign for wider electrification in Great Britain. The women allied with this organization are espousing the measure now before the House of Commons for an improvement of the general electrical situation in Great Britain through a consolidation of existing plants under government assistance with a view to lessening the cost of current and evanually locating great power plants near the coal mines.

Women to Meet

LONDON, June 26.—The International congress of women will be held in Dublin on July 8. It was organized by the women's international league of peace and freedom and is expected to bring together over 250 delegates from all parts of the world under the presidency of Miss Jane Adams of Chicago.

The chief subject for discussion is "the next steps towards peace." Other subjects to be dealt with will be "economic imperialism," "colonial imperialism," "the relations of majorities and minorities," and "militarism." Among speakers expected are Mahatma Ghandi from India, Romain Rolland from France, and Miss Agnes MacPhail, a member of the Canadian parliament.

There will be 30 delegates and 10 visitors to the congress from the United States

Kings Too Cruel

LONDON, June 26.—King George, the Prince of Wales, Lord Lambourne and many other notables have been under fire of the royal society for the prevention of cruelty to animals because they engage in fox hunting.

The society was willed 10,000 pounds by Mrs. Groves Grady on condition that all members of the general and branch councils should be anti-vivisectionists and opposed to hunting and pursuing all sorts of game. This bequest was rejected by the society, and Stephen Coleridge took exception to this action.

Lord Banbury defended the rejection of the bequest, saying the patron of the society, King George, was a hunter. The president of the society, the prince of Wales, is also a hunter, as are many of the other officials. Lord Banbury said it was impossible to remove these officials but a number of voices shouted "why not?"

A motion to arrange the affairs of the society in such manner that the bequest might be accepted was rejected by a vote of 36 to 31.

CIGAR FOR HEALTH

German Medical Expert Claims Moderate Use Has Beneficial Results.

BERLIN, June 26.—"A cigar a day will keep the doctor away. Take it from one who knows," said Bernhard Berendt, Berlin's oldest resident who is entering on his 105th year. He allows an exception to the rule on birthdays when he smokes two good black stogies. Berendt is in perfect health. He has vivid recollections of political events as far back as 1848, when during the revolution he was a member of the Prussian palace guards.

"During the funeral of some of the victims," he said "King Frederick William IV appeared on the palace balcony in full uniform. 'Flaps ab' (Lids off) yelled the crowd and the king removed his plumed helmet.'

HE BOOMS ATHLETICS

German Ambassador Devotes Long Report to Praise of Swimmers' Prowess.

BERLIN, June 26.—(AP)—Baron Ago Von Maltzan, German ambassador to the United States, devoted most of his official report of the successful American tour of Erich Rademacher, world's champion breast-stroke swimmer, to a discussion of the importance of athletics in fostering international relations.

"The sending of first class German athletes to foreign countries is the most conceivable propaganda," the ambassador's report said. "More attention is paid to a record-breaking athlete like Rademacher and more benefit accrues to Germany from such a man's performances than from any number of official delegations conveying good wishes. The American press was loud in its praise of Rademacher."

The Empty Chair

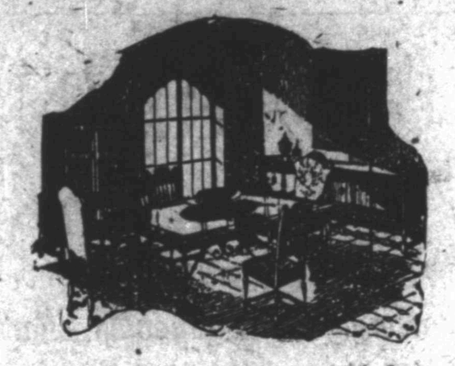

PARIS, J une 26.—There is one place—one armchair—is the technical terms, vacant in the French Academy, the home of the "Forty Immortals." The limiting of membership to 40 has been described as the ideal condition by one of the "Immortals."

"When we are 39," he explained, "everybody pays attention to us, hoping to be elected to the vacant place, but when we are 40 everybody forgets our existence till another death."

Some of the academicians would like to see Aristide Briand occupy the empty chair. Many a caucus meeting has been held and many a luncheon given recently with a view to securing his election. The movement reached the point where an invitation to present himself as a candidate could be safely extended to the statesman, more famous for his oratory than his writings. Then M. Briand's admirers among the immortals met a disappointment. He refused the flattering offer so firmly that his friends are now looking for another candidate. It is thought probable that their choice will fall upon the speaker of the chamber, Edouard Henriot, an ex-premier, whose qualifications as an author are high.

CARRY HEAVY TAX

BERLIN, June 26.—British motorists are the most heavily taxed in the world, says the motor legislation committee. Allowing for different methods of taxation in various countries the result for a 10 hourse power car works out at 10 pounds for Great Britain, 3.10 pounds for France, 3 pounds for the United States and Italy, and 2.10 pounds for Canada.

UTILITY and BEAUTY
for a Model Home

"EL JARDIN DE LOS SUENOS" is a model of home building and furnishing. Quite appropriately, it will use Frigidaire Electric Refrigeration, the modern, efficient method of keeping foods and furnishing convenient cubes of pure ice. Frigidaire will enable "El Jardin de los Suenos" to keep foods fresh and firm for a longer time than ever believed possible with the older system. And the frozen desserts and enticing ice cubes made in it will delight every day.

The Frigidaire will fit in with the beauty of "El Jardin de los Suenos", too. The cabinet, made of steel, is finished in white Duco with metal trimming, the interior lined with white, seamless, porcelain-enameled steel with rounded corners.

It will exactly fit into a niche planned for it in the kitchen of this model home.

Thus Frigidaire expresses well the whole idea of "El Jardin de los Suenos"—modern utility and convenience, with a beauty that is appropriated with the whole house.

HATCHER HITS JIM'S CLAIMS

Fergusons Characterized As "Ungrateful And Inconsistent

MADISONVILLE, June 26.—(AP) Speaking in behalf of his candidacy for reelection, State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas here today accused James E. Ferguson of being "ungrateful and inconsistent."

Hatcher said that Ferguson was asking a second term for Mrs. Ferguson while opposing a second term for Hatcher. "Ferguson is attempting to confuse the voters and carry out his threat of breaking me by causing six candidates to have their names placed on the ballot for treasurer so that I will have to make the race for a second term," he said.

Hatcher said the treasury department under his administration had rendered real service and that not a single criticism had been lodged against his conduct of the office.

The candidate denied Ferguson's campaign statement that his wife had placed the state on a cash basis, declaring that it was his own efforts in obtaining cooperation of reserve banks and borrowing $2,600,000 which had prevented a technical deficiency. The state was on a deficiency of $3,226,000 on Jan. 1, last, Hatcher said.

"By borrowing the money I have been able to pay all the state's debts in cash instead of script, and this is the greatest service the state has rendered its creditors in the present administration," said Hatcher. "For this service Ferguson is ungrateful. This service has done more to raise the state government in the estimation of the outside world than anything else."

Hatcher said that Ferguson had asked for the Austin bank balances of the treasurer and then had failed to let the people know what these balances were. He said Ferguson was not sending out campaign literature quoting the state balance in one of the Austin banks, the Texas Bank and Trust Company, without giving the balances in the other banks.

TURTLE FARM IS STARTED.

American Epicures Create Demand for Terrapin on Frenchr Tables.

LONDON, June 26.—To satisfy the demand for terrapin created by American epicurean visitors, a turle farm has been started near Maidstone, Kent. It will breed the particular species which make the most delectable dishes.

Hitherto, practically all the terrapin used in England have been brought from Maryland in tanks and kept at the various hotels until wanted for the table.

The farm already has proved itself a success. Americans say the diamond-backs raised here taste just as good as the home variety.

Spanish Don Keeps Bellboys Busy Bringing in Reports from Front.

PARIS, June 26.—One man in Paris is following the scant news that leaks through from Lisbon with eager interest. From his room in a great hotel he keeps bellboys busy ringing up all the news agencies to get the latest developments. When he learned that General Gomes da Costa was master of the Portuguese capital he was heard to murmur, "Perhaps after all the 'crazy' woman was right."

The man is the royalex ile, Manuel II, made king of Portugal by the assassination of his father, Carlos I, and his elder brother, Luis. The 19-year-old king kept his throne for less than three years, when a republic made him an exile.

DISMISS HEARING.

Ousted Mayor of Goose Creek Loses New Trial Motion.

AUSTIN, June 26.—(AP)—Motion for rehearing of the case of C. I. Fortinberry against C. R. Myers, from Harris county, involving the mayoralty of the town of Goose Creek, was overruled by the supreme court today.

Fortinberry became mayor of Goose Creek, despite the fact that Myers received more votes, because the latter had not lived in the town 12 months as required by law. Myers sought to oust Fortinberry. In the district court Fortinberry won.

ROUND UP VAGS.

"Kingdom of Zapata" on Southern Rim of Texas Offers Contrast To Modern and Growing State Points

Quaint Little Town 60 Miles From Railroad Is Nevertheless Filled With Happy and Contented Folks; May Get Railway

LAREDO, Tex., June 26.—(AP)—The law-abiding and peaceful "Kingdom of Zapata" recently came into the limelight with the most dastardly murder committed within the "domain" during the past 15 years—the murder of Sterling Huntley. As in previous cases of this sort, the crime was committed by criminal trespassers.

The "Kingdom of Zapata," and the quaint little town known as Zapata, county seat of Zapata county, which is one of the southernmost of the tier of south Texas counties bordering on the Rio Grande, are unique. The "Kingdom of Zapata" is composed of Zapata county.

If one has never visited the "Kingdom of Zapata," a community of peaceable, law-abiding citizens, he has missed a portion of the Lone Star state that offers an opportunity to see "something diferent." Their manner may be foreign, they may be old-fashioned, they may be different and unobtrusive, but the people of Zapata county are of that hospitable, generous-souled class that makes the stranger feel at home.

No Modern Conveniences

The present day inhabitants of the "Kingdom of Zapata" find contentment in the things that be. They are not blessed with the numerous modern conveniences other American communities enjoy—they have no paved setreets, no electric lights, no street railways, no waterworks plant, no motion picture shows or opera house. They are 60 miles from the nearest railway tract, and the only means of rapid communication they have with the outside world is over the military telephone from the town of Zapata to Fort McIntosh in Laredo. But withal they are satisfied. They have their church in which they worship their God, and their school in which they educate their youth.

They seek little that is foredn. But it is believed the day is near at hand when the "Kingdom of Zapata" will boast a railway, for it is a section rich in agricultural and oil production potentialities.

Indian Town

When Texas gained its independence fro mMexico in 1836 there was loeated where the town of Zapata now stands an Indian village called "Habitacion," (Habitation). The Indians held forth three for a number of years thereafter, being in charge of Habitacion, after many fights with Mexican outlaws, even after eGneral Taylor marched into Mexico with his victorious American army in 1845.

The first Anglo-Saxton settled in Zapata county just after Texas was annexed to the Union, and was shortly followed by others. In 1850, after driving the Indians out of Habitacion, the pioneers erected a stone and adobe building known as the "Redmond building," in honor of one of the pioneers. This building was surrounded by a high, thick wall and served as a stockade to shelter the settlers from Indian attacks. About 1850, the name of the vilage was changed to Carrizo.

Zapata county was created in 1858 from portions of Starr and Webb counties, and organized teh same year, with Carrizo teh county seat. The county was named in honor of Colonel Antonio Zapata, one of the Mexican-American pioneers of the section.

Storm Threat Is A Dud Saturday

DALLAS, June 26.—(AP)—Six thunder storms bringing heavy rains, occurre din Dallas in the last 24 hours. Rains are reported from Amarillo, El Paso, Brownsville and Palestine. The weather bureau here said Saturday and Sunday would be unsettled without much change in temperature.

STRIKE GOOD THING

British Health Improved and Stimulated by Walk-Out, They Say.

LONDON, June 26.—The recent general strike was a salutary and invigorating experience from a health standpoint, says the New Health Society's organ "New Health." The unwonted excitement, the break of the humdrum routine of every-day life, and the brisk exercise in crisp air instead of that in a crowded bus or train, have been for many persons truly healthful and nvigorating, says the Journal.

The society expresses the belief that unrest and discontent among workers are largely based on lowered health and vitality. The enthusiastic vigor of the volunteer during the strike set an inspiring example to the practitioners of "ca canny," as time-killing is called.

Purchasers Refuse To Tell on 'Leggers

AUSTIN, June 26.—(AP)—Persons who deal with bootleggers "are reluctant to reveal details and when used as witnesses will clothe their thought in the most favorable language possible to the accused," Judge O. H. Latimore of the court of criminal appeals said today. Common experience teaches this, he said.

These declarations are contained in his opinion dissenting from action of the court in reversing and remanding the noe-year sentence of I. L. Sawyer from Hill county for possession of liqour after granting a motion for rehearing.

GRANT REQUISITION.

AUSTIN, June 26.—(AP)—Requisition of the governor of Illinois for the rendition of Willie Budrow, alias King, alias B. O. Bandereau, wanted in Jackson county, Illinois, on a charge of grand larceny was honored today by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. Budrow is under arrest at Dallas.

YOUTH DROWNS.

GEORGETOWN, June 26.—(AP) Eugene Lewis, 17, was drowned at Schwertner today while in swimming. The youth's younger brother saw Lewis disappear in the water and ran for assistance but when the body was recovered life was extinct.

Panhandle

Supplies That Dependable Unit

With a Panhandle you pave an easy way to have sparkling dishes, tastier foods and cleaner windows. To enjoy whiter linens, softer woolens, smoother skins, more lustrous hair.

At last you can have a machine which will cut furnace and repair bills and save soap.

For the Panhandle is a simple, compact machine which makes hard water soft. It removes from the water those materials which "lime-up" pipes and kettles and waste costly coal and gas. It does away with the hard water film which clouds glassware, robs foods of their finest flavor, dulls the white lustre of linens in the wash and leaves the "high water mark" around the sides of bath tub and lavatory bowl.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Masel and Evanelle Howe whose birthdays come on the same day, were honored with a party by their mother at the family residence three miles northeast of city, Tuesday afternoon. The children came at 3 o'clock and spent the afternoon in playing games, with an interesting feature of the afternoon being a fish pond with dolls, whistles and other toys being fished out with a long cane. Games were played on the lawn, and the mother served soda water, candy and ice cream to the children late in the afternoon. The young ladies received many lovely gifts from their little friends. They were celebrating their eight and ninth birthdays respectifully. The guests included, Tommy Rowe, Mary Alice Hopkins, Bobby and Blanche Buttler, Ruth Bessent, Alma Lee Harvey, James and Walter Harvey, and Georgia Faye Bryar, James and Harvey Buttler.

MIDWAY B. Y. P. U. PICNIC.

The members of the Midway Baptist church B. Y. P. U. enjoyed an old fashioned hay-ride and picnic at the Lions club park, Tuesday evening. The members of the B. Y. P. U. met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones, near the church, north of the city, and all got on hay wagon, and started for the park. The trip to and from the park was full of thrills and all the party spent some time in singing. Upon reaching the park, games were played, the young people played in the swings and went boating until lunch was spread under the trees in the park. They returned home at 9:30 in the evening. The party included, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rowe, chaperones, Misses Blanche Buttler, Cliffie and Jodie Mae Smith, Ethel Jones, Eva Smith, Willie Bell, Violet Jones, Mesdames. Alton Halbrook, Alvin Halbrook, Jack Bridwell, Cecil Bryan, Tommy Rowe, Junior Rowe, Hurl Givens and Mr. and Mrs. Odgen Givens.

ALMA LEE HENRY HONORED.

Little Miss Alma Lee Henry was honored with a party at her home north of the city, Saturday evening, when her young friends came in and played games with music until a late hour. Punch and cake were served late in the evening. Those present were Misses Evelyn Pitts, Bertha Martin, Dierne and Nellie Mae Gamlin, Messrs. Cecil and Howard Terrill, J. A. Jones, C. R. Reamey, James and Howard Buttler.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB.

The County Line home demonstration club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. E. T. Grove on West Garrison avenue, with a poor attendance due to the harvesting season being on. Both the demonstrating agent and president were absent, and as a result the lesson was withheld to be combined with the lesson on "Summer Deserts," at the net meeting, July 6, at which time Mrs. F. A. Weston will be hostess at her home north of the County Line school. The afternoon was spent in a social gathering with games and music and stunts being the features. The hostess in her pleasing way gave several interesting selections after which punch and cake was served. Those in attendance were Mesdames B. A. Weldon, C. A. Witenbach, J. J. Wolf, William Jensen, J. B. McKinnis, Bob Adams, Misses Ethel Mae Adams and Sofie Jackson and the hostess.

Special mention was called to the council of the club at the Wichita chamber of commerce hall next Saturday, and a splendid attendance from the clubs is urged.

GROUP MEETING.

The Woman's Missionary society of the First Methodist church held a group meeting in an all-day session on Tuesday, June 22, at the First Methodist church of Electra, with guests from all the churches of this county responding with delegates. Mrs. S. Trevathan district secretary presided at the morning session. The delegates who responded to the roll call in the morning were from Texhoma, Burkburnett, Valley View, Iowa Park, Electra, Circuit, Thrift, Stringtown, Wichita Falls and Electra.

The following program was given: Opening song, "Stand Up, Stand up for Jesus." Devotional by Mrs. John Dyton, of Electra; prayer by Mrs. J. W. Wright of Valley View; Christian Missionary giving, by Mrs. T. A. Bankhead of Thrift; study of council and conference reports, Mrs. J. D. Majors, Burkburnett; Does the participation in Missionary work through the Missionary society help us to grow and how? Mrs. J. C. Hand, Iowa Park; introduction of visitors.

After the morning session lunch was served in the basement of the church by the ladies of the Electra society to about 150 guests.

The afternoon session was as follows: Mrs. W. N. Vernon of the rural circuits, presiding. Devotional by Mrs. W. H. Stroud; prayer by Mrs. Ida Basham, president of the Electra Missionary society. Mission and Bible study, by Mrs. C. W. Dennis, Forney. Song, "Love Lifted Me," by all. Demonstration by Electra Missionary society. Solo, Mrs. J. B. Hopkins, with Mrs. E. V. Talton, accompanist; what we are doing to reach our rural women, general discussion lead by Mrs. L. J. Crawford of Electra. Song, "Onward Christian Soldiers," by congregation; benediction by Mrs. Denny, Iowa Park.

ELECTRA MAN TAKES TENNESSEE BRIDE.

A marriage of much interest has just become known, when W. E. Thomas, who for the past five years has made his home at the Electra hotel, and who is a driller for the Rowe Drilling company, returned to the city this week bringing with him a bride. Mr. Thomas and Miss Laura Record of Henderson, Tenn., were married at the home of the bride in that city, June 15, and went by automobile for a brief honeymoon before coming to Electra. They visited for a short time with Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Massengill, before going to Archer City where they will make their home. Mr. Thomas is drilling in the Archer City oil fields. He has many friends in this city.

SIX TABLES OF BRIDGE.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. W. H. Ogden entertained at her home on West Ida avenue with six tables of bridge honoring Mrs. John F. Burton, a recent bride. Miss Irene Keller sang "Truly I Do," and "I Wish You Were Jealous of Me," and also played several piano selections. Pretty score cards were used, and the prizes were a pair of silver candlesticks for Mrs. Burton, the guest; Mrs. G. J. Gillis received a bottle of perfume for high score and Mrs. E. S. Oats was given a lovely vase for consolation.

The guests for the afternoon included Mesdames Jere Barnes, George McGann, Ed. Campbell, Paul Green, C. R. Conyers, Sam J. Dotson, S. T. Cummings, Matt Chaffin, Frank LeBus, Dave Brown, T. H. Miss Helen Garrison of Oklahoma City, a talented young girl just entering her teens, who is an accomplished violinist and who is the house guest of Miss Frances Lemons, gave several violin numbers, accompanied by Mrs. A. K. Price, pianist. Those having the pleasure of hearing these talented musicians were Mesdames J. L. Vertrees, W. T. F. Bush, A. E. Landon, O. E. Heacock, W. H. Lemons, Ed V. Parsons of Fort Worth. Misses Frances Lemons, Edwina Alexander and Maxine Eason of Fort Worth.

CLUB WOMEN

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club hied themselves to the City park Thursday night of last week to enjoy a picnic supper. Everything necessary to make a picnic supper a real success was in evidence. Plenty of mosquitoes, a large number of flies, a good sized shower with an accompaniment of thunder and lightning, and well packed lunch baskets containing the most tempting viands of the season. With the first pattering of rain the club hurried to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cole where the supper was enjoyed to the utmost, and where defiance could be hurled at all the unpleasant circumstances, including the weather man's storm. The meeting was very much enjoyed.

ENTERTAINS AT DINNER

Mrs. Joe Wood entertained Tuesday wtih a lovely mid-day dinner, at her hospitable country home. Places were laid at the flower-centered table for Mrs. A. M. Wiseman of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. B. F. COMPLIMENT FATHER

To celebrate Father's day Mrs. E. Sessions entertained Sunday with a mid-day dinner. The table, beautifully laid, was centered with a crystal basket of flowers. While honoring her father, W. H. Leininger of Lawton, the dinner was also complimentary to her mother, whose birthday was on that day. A lovely big birthday cake, candle-trimmed, added to the table decorations and shared honors with the gifts presented Mr. Leininger. Those present were the honor guests, their son, Lawton, their daughter, Mrs. Esther Russel, and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Russel of Lawton.

BEREAN CLASS

The Berean class of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school planned a picnic for Thursday night of last week. When all other inducements have been known to fail a Sunday school picnic is a sure means of producing rain. Thursday night was no exception and the threatening weather prevented a number from attending. However the supper was hastily eateh at the City park and a good time had by all before the night's deluge begun.

WESLEY CLASS

Wesley class was entertained Thursday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. W. R. Sparks, Mrs. F. M. Palmer and Mrs. I. F. Curry, assistant hostess. The lesson was led by Mrs. W. W. Morrison, and was interesting. There was a business session, plans were made for the summer work of the class and there was a song fest. An iced collation was served at the close of the afternoon to the 17 members who were present.

Which Is Another Demonstration of the Superiority of This Wonderful Sweeper.

WHICH of these 7 points can you disregard in your cleaner?

In buying an electric cleaner there are several basic qualities upon which you must depend, if it is to give you the thorough cleanliness which every careful housewife demands in her home.

1 It must be so designed that it relieves you of your hardest cleaning tasks. These are beating and sweeping. The Greater Hoover doesn't merely beat, but: For the first time, it makes possible "Positive Agitation" of floor coverings.

2 Your cleaner must be the most efficient dirt-gatherer obtainable: By actual test, in the ordinary cleaning time, The Greater Hoover beats out and sweeps up from carpetings an average of 101% more dirt.

3 You are interested too in having your cleaner prolong the life of your rugs: The Greater Hoover is an even greater rug-saver; the oftener a carpet is cleaned with it the longer that carpet will wear.

4 Your cleaner should require a minimum of your care and attention: The Greater Hoover is virtually service-proof, every part, including the new motor, requiring no oiling.

5 Your cleaner will be most efficient when it dusts as thoroughly as it removes dirt from rugs: The Greater Hoover increases the efficiency of its remarkable dusting tools because of its 50% stronger suction.

6 The dirt your cleaner gathers up must be safely and positively imprisoned in the bag, until you empty it. And, sometimes, as the bag becomes dirty, you may want to wash it. Now, The Greater Hoover provides for both these contingencies: Its exclusive dust- and germ-proof bag is now washable.

7 You want a cleaner of which you can justly be proud, both as to its appearance and its considerateness of your comfort: In form and finish The Greater Hoover is of startling beauty; and every new feature insures greater operating ease.

Which one of these seven attributes of The Greater Hoover can you disregard in purchasing your electric cleaner? Yet, what other cleaner can you think of that combines all seven, or even a majority of all seven?

When you can completely meet your need, at an outlay so small as we require for the purchase of The Greater Hoover, is it not extravagance to meet it only partially, by choosing some other cleaner? The Greater Hoover is the answer.

DE MOLAY WINS BIG CONVENTION

District Meeting In 1927 To be Held In Wichita Falls

Announcement was made yesterday the second annual DeMolay district convention will be held in Wichita Falls in 1927. The convention comes to this city as a result of the work of Hope chapter of DeMolay at the recent convention held in Breckenridge at the first meeting of the eighth district of Texas under the auspices the second convention.

The local chapter of DeMolay had the honor of conferring the initiatory degrees on the large class of candidates with representatives from Fort Worth, Dallas, Cleburne, Decatur, Denison, Denton, Ennis, Farmersville, Terrell, Gainesville, Graham, McKinney, Mineral Wells, Wolfe City, Stephenville, Waxahachie, Leonard, Bonham, Greenville, Breckenridge and Wichita Falls. Hope chapter sent a delegation of 36 members, which included the officers, degree team and several candidates, by special train to make a strong bid for the convention in 1927. The Breckenridge chapter and all the visiting delegations were very favorably impressed with the work conferred by the Wichita Falls chapter and with the delegation as a whole, and when the session was called for determining which chapter should be given the honor of holding the convention next year, not a single vote was cast in opposition to the motion that Wichita Falls hold the second convention.

HE TAKES TO DRINK

BERLIN, June 26. — Imitating what he called the preposterously abbreviated styles of women landed Paul Freihoff, 24, a locksmith, in jail for a night and cost him $10.

Freihoff explained to the court that on returning from work he was shocked to find that his 22-year-old wife had bobbed her hair and purchased nude-colored stockings and a late-model afternoon frock. The sight drove him to drink, he said.

Police found him parading the streets clad only in a shirt and bedroom slippers. Arrested for disorderly conduct he pleaded that he wanted to teach his wife a lesson, but the court failed to be convinced.

Camp Fire Girls To Have Two Weeks In Camp At Craterville

Two weeks of summer camp at Craterville park, Okla., have been assured the Camp Fire Girls of Wichita Falls by their camp committee of the local council of Camp Fire Girls, when the final plans were made in a meeting this week. Swimming, hiking, handcraft, games and other features will be included in the camp life.

Mrs. George Hengy of Dallas will be in charge of swimming; Mrs. Robert Mahood of Aspermont will have charge of camp craft; and Miss Alice Downing of this city will serve as handcraft councillor. Miss Mary McIlheran, executive, will be in charge of the camp.

Texas U. Graduate

Mrs. Hengy is a gradnate of the University of Texas and is holder of many swimming and athletic honors of that institution. She is a Red Cross examiner and will instruct the girls in swimming and life savng, and pass them on tests in Red Cross and Camp Fire tests.

Mrs. Mahood has her certificate from the national guardian's training course and has served as woodcraft councillor in Camp Fire Girls summer camps for two years. It is expected that she will bring some of her members to the camp with her.

Miss Downihg, handcraft councillor, is planning especially to do the things that relate directly to out-of-doors, using as much as possible materials found in and near camp. She was a member of Camp Fire before the local headquarters was established, and is at present serving as guardian of a group, having received her guardian's certificate at the guardian's training course conducted by local executive in the spring of this year.

To Live in Tents

The girls will live in tents which are arranged in a circle, will have comfortable wire cots with mattresses for sleeping. Groups who come with their guardians will be grouped together as nearly as possible with the guardian as tent councillor. In case of girls coming without guardians, an adult tent councillor will be in charge of the tent.

"Self government" to some extent will be a new experiment this year. It has proved very successful in many Camp Fire camps, and will gradually be introduced into Letola, it was said.

The regular daily schedule will be kept strictly, with proper amount of rest, sleep, hikes, and every precaution will be taken to keep the girls healthy and happy throughout the entire two weeks.

Camp rally will be held at Havener's park July 14, from 3:30 to 9:00. Plans are under way to hold the water carnival in connection with it. Supper will be served to all who make reservations. All Camp Fire Girls are urged to attend camp rally, whether or not they have ever attended summer camp, or expect to this year.

Parents and friends are also invited to attend.

Delay Is Basis For Tragedy, Says Seymour Preacher

"Most of the tragedies of life happen because people linger and delay and procrastinate," Rev. J. R. Balch, of Seymour who is conducting the revival services at the Highland Heights Baptist church, said in an address to the congregation Friday. "Abraham entertained the men on the way to destroy Sodom. God did not choose to destroy the wicked city without telling His friend Abraham; He would not have destroyed people if he could have found ten righteous men in Sodom, he said in speaking on the subject, "Lot Lingered."

"The good people in every city save the wicked from destruction and are worth more to it than all of the wealth, he said in part.

Then some lessons are evident from the story: (1) Lot had the word from God that the city was to be destroyed and yet he lingered. The word of warning given by the great God of eternity is not always sufficient to move men to repentance. Many more might have been saved during the Galveston flood had they heeded the warnings sent out before hand.

(2) Lot lingered because of his family. The crowd keeps us from doing what we would otherwise.

(3) Everything Lot had was in Sodom. Material possessions do often hinder and cause us to delay the main business of life. Let us hear God and, "Escape for thy Life."

THEY GET ALL EXCITED

BERLIN, June 26.—A German view of the "easy-going" Englishman is making the rounds of comic supplements of the newspapers. The story records three Englishmen walking silently down the street. An automobile crashes into a horse. They pause for a moment and then resume the walk.

"First Englishman, an hour later: 'Did you notice how the automobile ran over the horse?'

"Third Englishman, thirty minutes later: 'Will you two finally stop quarreling?'"

BIKE THIEVES BUSY

BERLIN, June 26.—German police, though little bothered by automobile thefts, because there are so few automobiles, are faced by a wave of bicycle robberies. The police commission reports that an average of 15 bicycles are stolen daily, in Berlin. Organied gangs are said to be making thousands of marks a day stearling, repainting and reselling the two-wheelers.

Newspapers, following the example of some of their American contemporaries in regard to automobiles, publish daily the number of bicycles stolen or recovered.

BUILT TO BE A MODEL HOME

Is Being Built With Our Lumber

"El Jardin de los Suenos" was designed to be a model in home building. Therefore everything that goes into the making of it must be good. Our lumber is being used. Quite a moral there.

The fact is you must use quality lumber to build a fine home. No home is better than its lumber, so you can't afford to use less than the best.

ELECTRA WHEAT CONTRACT MADE

Elevator Agrees to Mill, Store And Dispose Of Grain for Growers

ELECTRA, June 26.—The Farmers Elevator company has made a contract with the Texas Wheat Growers association to handle the 1926 crop of wheat, the last of the three years' contract made between the farmers and the Texas Wheat Growers association. In the past two years the farmers were not permitted to ship their wheat to any point or to sell without the consent of the Texas Wheat Growers association. However this contract made between elevator and Wheat Growers association, will provide for the cleaning, grading and storing of the wheat, yet the wheat will still be subject to orders from the directors of the Wheat Growers association, of which Ford S. Keller is secretary and manager of the Wichita district.

In the past two years the farmers have been compelled to load their wheat from their wagons and trucks into cars provided for by the Wheat Growers association, while this year the Elevator company will have the loading in charge or storing as the case may be, if there is a car shortage, as it appears there will be this season, with a large wheat crop in every section of the country. This will keep down a real congestion and rush in Electra.

The contract calls for only a minimum rate for the handling of the wheat to be charged.

Heretofore the Wheat Growers association has always employed a man to grade this wheat, and tend to the loading, but this will be under the direction of the Elevator company and arrangements will be provided for the shipping of a part of the wheat to a central point of distribution.

HER TITLE DISPUTED

Scores of German Women Come Forward to Deny Champion's Claim

BERLIN, June 26.—Mrs. F. H. Crittal, who first rode a bicycle in 1897, and was heralded in some newspapers as the original lady bicyclist in Great Britain has been denied that distinction by scores of women. They offer proof they were riding wheels as far back as 1880 when the cyclists' touring club was organized and included women riders in its membership. G. Herbert Stancer, secretary of that club, says there were doubtless women riders of bicycles in England before 1880.

DIVE IS FATAL

Boy Breaks Neck Plunging Into Waters of Lake Worth

FORT WORTH, June 26.—(AP) Leighton Hightower, 16, suffered a broken neck when he dived into three feet of water Friday afternoon at Lake Worth and died Saturday afternoon at a local hospital. Two companions pulled him from the water and found him paralyzed below the neck. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hightower.

FRESH BREAD.

Loaves Made From Wheat Gathered and Threshed Same Day.

LYONS, Kan., June 26.—(AP)—Harvesters who worked on the farm of Jean Gray here yesterday morning ate bren last night made from the wheat they had harvested.

The wheat was cut by a combine, rushed t oa Lyons mill where it was ground into flour and returned to the Gray farm in time for thehousewives to make bread for the evening meal.

Two P. B. M .Department Heads

Head of Hosiery Department of P. B. M. Co.

"Style is the keynote of our great collection of hosiery for the 33rd anniversary sale," says Miss Garrison. "Hosiery has become one of the most important accessories of the costume and styles in Hosiery change rapidly. Just now the sunburn shades and soft pastels are much in favor, with the light hose of the season continuing in popularity. Sheer chiffon is the preferred hosiery now. Saxony lisles are smart for children now."

E. B. McCRACKEN.

Head of the Men's Clothing Department, P. B. M. Co.

"Men seem to like our clothing, judging by the number that have been to our anivnersary," says Mr. McCracken. "Well dressed men everywhere recognize the fineness of good suits from Society brand, Cohn-Goldman and Schoeneman. It's a pleasure for us to fit men out in them, for we know how much good clothes mean in a man's success. And it's a pleasure to offer them at reductions like these anniversary discounts."

Hundreds Watch Oil Tank Ablaze

DALLAS, June 26.—(AP)—Hundreds of motorists sat through most of last night, parked at a safe distance, while 5,000 barrels of crude oil were consumed by fire at the Texas Oil company tank farm at Gates, seven miles west of Dallas.

The fire started by lightning about 7 p. m. Friday, was not "buce" until after 2:30 a. m. today. Shortly after midnight the tank collapsed, but a levee thrown about it prevented the burning oil from reaching other tanks.

The spectacular blaze brought a great audience of automobdists who watched workmen attempto pump the oil from the tank. The intense heat frustrated these efforts.

FLEA DAMAGES COTTON

Pest Making Raids on Farmers in McLennan County

WACO, June 26.—(AP)—The cotton flea will seriously damage cotton crops in McLennan county and adjacent central Texas territory unless farmers take immediate eradication steps against the pest, according to E. R. Eudaly, county farm agent.

He declared that the plant will be retared in growth, the bolls will not develop unless the flea is battled. Already, he said, squares are showing effects of the insect's ravages.

ARREST PLOTTERS

Portuguese Police Nab Several In Plot Against Government

PARIS, June 26.—(AP)—A dispatch from Lisbon says the police of the Portuguese capital have arrested several political personages, including Colonel Helder Ribiero and Pestana Junior, who were, respectively, ministers of war and finance in the Santos cabinet which resigned in February, 1925.

Manifestos were seized, protesting against the present political situation in Portugal.

Rogers Planning Rotary Extension

SAN ANTONIO, June 26.—(AP) Extension of Rotary beyond the 35 countries in which it is now represented will be one of the chief aims of Harry H. Rogers, new president of Rotary International in his noe year incumbency.

eGrmany will be the first objective, he said.

"We hope to send Rotary into many new countries and to make it stronger in countries where it is just beginning to be known. After that, we hope to strive to higher standards of business and to raise the level of relations between employer and employe, and between competitors."

Rogers will announce his plans in detail at next Friday's meeting of the local club.

ALL WANT THE PLAY

German Producers Make a Bid For Latest Play From Popular Author

BERLIN, June 26.—Five theatrical producers in six cities have purchased the stage rights to Gerhard Hauptmann's latest play, "Dorothea Angermann." They did not even read the manuscript.

It remained for Paul Barnay of the "backwoods town of Breslau," as he said, to protest against "high-handed methods" and refuse to buy "a cat in a bag."

Max Reinhard had purchased the rights to the play for Berlin and Vienna. Producers in Hamburg, Leipsic, Frankfort-on-Main, and Drusseldorf had done the same without knowing what the play was about. Barnay's letter to Hauptmann's publishers caused a sensation.

Buy Model Farm Out of Oil Profit For Caldwell County

LOCKHART, Texas, June 26.—(AP)—One hundred and fifty thousand dollars is reported to have been paid for 1,000 acres between Luling and the San Marcos river by the purchasing committee of the Edgar B. Davis Foundation. The land is to be used as a model farm for the benefit of the people of Caldwell and Guadalupe counties.

This project is part of the charitable undertakings announced recently by Davis, president of the United North and South Oil company which was sold a few weeks ago to the Magnolia Petroleum company for $12,000,000. The wells of the company are in Caldwell and Guadalupe counties.

Davis on July 1, is to distribute bonuses to the 50 employes of his company. It is said some of the employes residing in Lockhrt will receive a comfortable fortune. It is estimated about $1,000,000 will be distributed.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons, Broke, Would Take Up Body of Fighter

CHICAGO, June 26.—(AP)—Telling a story of poverty, a woman who said she was the widow of Bob Fitzsimmons, once heavyweight champion pugilist, today requested permission of Superintendent of Police Collins to exhume Fitzsimmons' body to reclaim some of the diamonds which he had set in his teeth.

Lou Housman, theatre manager and friend of the late prise fighter, said he believed the widow wanted the diamonds as keepsakes for he said they were not of great value. The last time he had heard of Fitzsimmons' widow he said, was a year ago in southern France.

Superintendent Collins said his caller left no address, but said she could call in a week. Collins said he woud refer her request to the corporation counsel.

A RELIGIOUS STRIDE

BERLIN, June 26.—"Why should it not come to pass that the king and queen should feel quite at home worshiping occasionally at the city temple of Wesley's chapel," suggested the Rev. F. W. Newland, president of the Congregational union of England and Wales. Mr. Newland says a great stride toward religious equality and co-operation was made by the king a few months ago when he appointed a Wesleyan minister to be one of his chaplains.

Mrs. Wise kept her kitchen cool, and her temper the same

When you see Mrs. Wise after dinner, she's smiling, cool and not at all fagged out the way some housekeepers are in hot weather. She says nice things to her husband, looks cool and fresh and seems to be enjoying the summer.

Mrs. Wise cooks with gas, keeps her kitchen cool and her temper the same way, even during these sultry, nerve-wracking days. You know her, for there are thousands of her in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Wise says she absolutely could not stand the kitchen if she didn't use gas, the fuel you can turn on and off so quickly and easily, that doesn't give off soot and fumes. She lives up to her name.
