W. B. HAMILTON PLEADS UNITY OF METHODISM

Texhoma Head At Gainesville Conference Delivers Address

ANSWERS OBJECTION

Wichita Falls Churchman Quotes Five Reasons For Unification

GAINESVILLE, Mar. 10.—At call of the committee in favor of the unification of the northern and southern branches of the Methodist church about 200 preachers and laymen from Texas conference met in all-day session at the various churches of the North sion at the Whaley Memorial church of Gainesville today.

The gathering was addressed by Bishop Jno. M. Moore of Dallas, Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of S. M. U. C.; L. Bounds, presiding elder Methodist church at Decatur; J. A. Olds of Dallas, Mrs. S. M. Black of Denton and W. B. Hamilton of Wichita Falls.

Dr. C. C. Selecman, presided over the gathering, and in a few words explained why the important question of unification should be discussed. Methodism divided in the United States in 1844 on the question of slavery, he pointed out, and since that time there have been two branches of Methodism, which have exchanged fraternal relationships, having a common doctrine, hymn book and policy of administration. Dr. Selecman stated, "I can vote for any plan of union that twenty-five of the best men in my church have endorsed."

Called "Excess Baggage."

"The young people of Methodism are not interested in what happened in 1844 or 1861," Dr. Selecman declared. "For there is no reason for carrying forward so much excess baggage of the past. The young people north and south go to the public schools. The Rotary club is a national institution so is the Bankers' club, the Lawyers' club and other national and international organizations, which function with perfect harmony, so why should there be a sectional church."

Bishop John M. Moore, who is the author of the present plan of unification, has been identified with the question for the past 16 years, and is qualified as one man to give the exposition of the plan as he designed it. In his address he said:

"I am not here to win a battle but to give you facts about the plan of unification.

"I was born in Kentucky at the close of the civil war," the bishop stated, "and my relations fought on either side of the question of slavery, and this is no time to fight the civil war again."

Relating some of his experiences in his travels over the world, he declared that the Northern Methodists wherever he had found them, were of a spirit that is entirely Christian, and that he believed it folly not to unite with them. He continued his explanation of the plan of arranging the affairs of the church in such a manner as to facilitate the union.

W. B. Hamilton, who is president of the Texhoma Oil and Refining company of Wichita Falls and a leading layman of the Southern Methodist church, in calling the conference's attention to the very favorable progress made in favor of unification, stated that the general conference at Chattanooga, Tenn., voted more than four to one in favor of unification.

"Only one conference has voted on the proposal so far, that a missionary conference," he said, "and it was unanimous in favor of the plan. All general conference officers, all secretaries of boards of missions, Epworth league, Sunday school boards, secretaries of boards of extension, of education, of finance are earnestly supporting the plan for unification.

Recounts Surveys.

"Surveys made in districts of the North Texas conference show 72 preachers for the plan with only seven against it and five doubtful."

Mr. Hamilton, in summing up his address in favor of unification of the two branches of Methodist church, gave five reasons for adoption: First, to save men and money, both of which are so needed for extension of the Kingdom; second, for the sake of the young people, who have no interest in these historic differences; third, "because I am weary of endlessly explaining;" fourth, for the sake of America, where a united Methodism is needed; fifth, for the sake of world-wide missions.

In answering the argument raised by the opposition to unification because of the negro question involved, Mr. Hamilton stated that he is a native of Texas, that his grandfather was a slave owner prior to civil war and lived in the southern state of Alabama. He said that the objections raised were wholly imaginary and failed to show the proper faith in the Christian people who belong to the northern branch of the Methodist church. He prophesied that unification would be adopted and a united Methodism would put its combined force toward the solution of world problems.

GOVERNOR SIGNS LEASE.

Bill Will Extend University Deed on Oil Lands for Five Years.

AUSTIN, March 10.—(AP)—Gov. Wm A. Ferguson today signed house bill 277 extending for five years oil and gas leases on university land and providing for sale of future leases by the land office under the competitive bidding system, by which public lands are sold. The bill was introduced by Representative Kemble of Fort Worth.

Cash Prizes For Dog Stories

Open to Children of All Ages Who Have Dogs And Are Proud of Them

CHILDREN, most of them, like dogs. And most children have a dog—especially boys. If you have a dog and you think he is a smart dog, write to the editor of The Record News and tell about your dog. It doesn't many any difference whether he is a cur or a pedigreed canine. A dog's a dog, to the editor, and he wants to know all about some of the smart things your dog has done.

To the boy or girl sending the editor of The Record News the best written story about what his dog has done a prize of $5.00 will be given. To the boy or girl sending the next best story about his dog a prize of $3.00 will be given. And for each of the next seven best stories about dogs a prize of $1.00 each will be given.

There is just one condition—the story you write the editor about your dog must be a true story. Lots of people think dogs are almost human. Maybe you think your dog is. If so, tell about what he has done to make you think he is such a smart dog.

Beginning next Friday The Record News is going to tell you the best dog story ever told—"Baree of Kazan," and it will remain for you to decide whether Baree was smarter than your dog.

Rules Of The Contest

The story you write the editor about your dog must not exceed 400 words.

Essays must be written on one side of paper only, and neatness will be a factor in determining the award of prizes.

Sign your name and address plainly.

Address your essays to Baree, care of The Record News.

Contest is open to all children in Wichita Falls or elsewhere.

The contest will end on the night of March 19, and announcement of prizes will be printed in The Record News Sunday, March 22.

INDIANA SWEPT BY A DAMAGING CYCLONE AREA

Rochester And Warsaw Districts Badly Damaged By Tuesday Storm

INDIANAPOLIS, March 10.—Damage estimated at nearly half a million dollars was caused throughout Indiana late today by high winds, rain and hail storms. Several persons were reported to have been injured none seriously.

Houses, barns and telephone and telegraph poles were blown down and trees uprooted in many places.

Near Rochester and Warsaw in the northern part of the state the wind is believed to have reached its greatest velocity and numerous houses and barns were reported to have been demolished.

At Rochester the damage was estimated at about $75,000. The damage at Warsaw was reported at between $30,000 and $40,000.

In the outlying districts of Terre Haute ten houses were said to have been demolished, while at Lincoln the Methodist church, traction station and one business building was razed.

SIX ESCAPE BELTON JAIL.

Two Men Were Under Sentence of 18 Years for Robbery.

BELTON, Texas, March 10.—Steve Lewis and Harbe Ennis, each under a sentence of 18 years' imprisonment and facing charges in 11 additional cases in connection with the robbery of 13 stores at Killeen, escaped from the county jail early today. Two other white men held in connection with burglaries of Temple residences and two negroes also escaped.

Six Officers Guard Cotton Standards

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—Twenty-three copies of the forty sets of universal cotton standards prepared by the department of agriculture were approved today by representatives of European and American cotton associations. The remaining copies will be examined tomorrow.

Meantime six deputy United States marshals were placed on guard in the building in which the original samples copies are on display. The original samples graded at a conference of cotton men in London a year ago, have since that time been under seal in a vault at the treasury department.

POOL TABLES DISCUSSED

Senate Also Considers Putting Speed Limit On Ambulances.

AUSTIN, March 10.—(AP)—Released from a long debate over depriving the railroad commission of authority in regulating municipal gas rates, the senate this afternoon indulged itself in a wide variety of subjects, ranging from pool tables to speed limit on ambulances.

SUGGEST HEAVIER FINES

Sub-Committee Reports On Alcoholic Content of Beverages.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Opposing any increase above one-half of one per cent in the alcoholic content of beverages, a sub-committee of the house alcoholic liquor traffic committee, today made public a report recommending enactment by the next congress of legislation imposing heavier penalties for prohibition law violations.

He Put A Ruler On Globe

CHICAGO, March 10.—Dr. John Fillmore Hayford, director of the Northwestern university college of engineering died today at his Evanston home as the news of his latest honor was being given to the world. A few hours before his death a colleague had announced that his measurements of the earth had been accepted as an international standard.

Dr. Hayford had been ill since last December when he had a stroke of apopiexy.

Yesterday it was announced that the international geodetic and physical conference meeting in Madrid, Spain, had accepted his measurements of the length of the polar and equatorial axies of the earth. A year ago he was awarded the Victoria medal by the Royal Geographic Society of Great Britain for offering proof that the interior of the earth is solid rather than molten. He disproved also the old theory of earthquakes being caused by pressure of internal gases and showed that faults and dislodgments of the earth's crust were the impelling forces.

Paul Pinkle Offered Golf Club Position

Paul Pirkle, professional golf star and manager of the municipal golf course at Fort Worth, is in Wichita Falls looking over the new municipal course here. He has been offered its management by the directors of the Municipal Golf club and may take charge of it this season.

He arrived Sunday and without ever having seen the course before and without even walking over it made a 75 on his first round. Par is 72. After an inspection of the course Mr. Pirkle declared he had been over all the municipal golf grounds in Texas but that the local one surpassed in general excellence any he had seen elsewhere.

SUES ON PEANUT BUTTER

Wife Claims Husband Provides Only 'Brown' Mixture For Food.

SAN ANTONIO, March 10.—Too much peanut butter is a new ground for divorce pleaded in a petition filed in the 73rd district court today.

The petition filed by the wife declares that her husband earns $18 a week which he squanders in ways unknown to his wife. The husband refused to provide proper food for his wife and children, it is claimed and peanut butter is said to have served as food for days. There was nothing in the house to eat for one entire day except bread and peanut butter, the petition alleges.

THE WEATHER

SELECMAN TO HEAD REVIVAL ON MARCH 29

Methodists Announce Cottage Prayer Services To Herald Pre-Easter Event

Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of Southern Methodist university and acknowledged one of the ablest speakers in Southern Methodism, has been secured through the efforts of Rev. Walter J. Johnson, pastor of the First M. E. church south to conduct a two weeks revival service for that church beginning Sunday, March 29, and extending through Easter Sunday, April 12.

Baptismal services are to be conducted on Easter Sunday for all those taken into the church during the revival services, it was stated.

In preparation for the event, 15 cottage prayer services are being conducted this week in the homes of members of the congregation beside the regular Wednesday evening prayer service at which a large attendance is expected. Next week, over 60 of the cottage prayer services will be conducted in an effort to prepare the minds of the people for the services under Dr. Selecman's direction.

"We feel that it is a great privilege to secure two weeks of this great man's time," states Rev. J. J. Pinkston, assistant pastor of the First M. E. church south, "and we are doing all in our power to prepare our people for the fullest possible appreciation of his sermons."

KILLS WOMAN AND SELF

Boarder Crushes Skull of Landlady And Then Takes Life By Hanging

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., March 10.—A murder and suicide were discovered last night by police who broke open the door of a house here when they found a nine-year-old girl crying on the doorsteps.

Within they found the girl's mother, Mrs. Marie Roberg, dead on a bed. Her head had been crushed by several blows from an axe. In another room they found the body of Joseph A. Tremblay hanging with a piece of wire bound around his neck.

Tremblay was a boarder in the Roberg home and, according to police, had been drinking steadily for the past week.

He Says Mellon's Plan to Come Out

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Representative Henry T. Rainey, Democrat, Illinois, in a statement prepared today for the Congressional Record, declared members of the house ways and means committee had been notified they would be called to Washington probably October 15, to prepare a revenue bill and that the call "means that the Mellon plan is the bill which will be reported out."

Mr. Rainey charged that should the program he said the Republicans had embarked on be carried through, it would be referred to in future years as "the crime of the 69th congress."

SINCLAIR NOT ALONE

Testimony in Teapot Dome Shows Other Applicants For Lease.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 10.—(AP)—Depositional testimony showing there were numerous applicants besides Harry F. Sinclair for the lease of Teapot Dome naval oil reserve was given today, in the trial of the government's suit in equity for annulment of the lease obtained by the Mammoth Oil Co., a Sinclair concern.

LOFTIN VICTOR IN GETTING JIM WHITE WASHED

House Engrosses The Woodward Amnesty Bill By Vote Of 79 to 53

FINAL VOTE ASSURED

Henrietta Representative Declares The Measure Is Constitutional

AUSTIN, Mar. 10.—(AP)—James E. Ferguson won his seven-year struggle for vindication tonight when the house engrossed the Woodward amnesty bill by a vote of 79 to 53. There were nine present not voting.

The vote on the final passage, which is now conceded, will probably be taken tomorrow. The house adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow bringing to a close the most historic struggle ever staged in Texas legislatures.

Closing argument supporting the measure was made by Representative Loftin of Henrietta who declared that "the amnesty bill is not an attack upon the judgment of impeachment, but merely seeks to relieve against it," adding that "it is unquestioned that the legislature can pass any law unless the right to do so is forbidden by the constitution."

Supports Constitution.

Loftin's closing address came after a day long debate. "I broach my subject," he declared, "with the knowledge that there has never before been a precedent lain down in the annals of history for us to follow. I have searched the law books and legal history from the days when Socrates was tried in that pagan court of Athens, to the present time and I can find no case on record where there has ever been a public official impeached who has ever tried to be reenfranchised. So the one way we have to reach a conclusion is by the method of analogy and as a result of my study, I have come to the conclusion this bill before us is constitutional.

"There are two kinds of constitutions in this country, federal and state, both of which we must look to for guidance when we legislate. The federal constitution is one of grants, while the legislature must look to the state constitution to see whether the question before them has been prohibited, because the state constitution is one of limitations. In this connection, I take the position unless a law has been specificially expressed or necessarily implied, the legislature may legislate upon any question.

"The constitution of this state nowhere denies, nor is there a necessary implication of such denial to the legislature the right to grant pardon in case of impeachment, but on the other hand, I think that it should do so. The framers made a provision for a pardon for those who might be convicted for any crime on the face of the earth."

Cites Arkansas Court.

Rep. Loftin cited the Arkansas supreme court which held that the legislature had the right to pass a bill of amnesty before conviction.

"Their constitution is similar to ours, giving the governor the right to pardon after conviction in all criminal cases.

"The Texas constitution does not authorize the governor to set aside any judgment rendered by the court, yet it does authorize him to relieve against the legal consequences. Fear is expressed that the legislature, if it has the power to pardon in cases of impeachment, might abuse that power and thereby deprive the state of the benefits of impeachment."

Rep. Loftin cited several cases in which it was held the legislature had the right to pass a law, even when doubtful construction might be placed upon it.

Some Amnesty Hits on Floor of House

Associated Press wires fairly crackled with the witty, rhetorical and sharp expressions of friend and foe on the floor of the house yesterday and last night at Austin amid the debate on Ferguson amnesty. Here are some of them:

RAYMER OF TRAVIS: "I don't believe the people of Austin believe I would trade with the Ku Klux for political support in a race for congress and if they do I fear they have elected the wrong man to the legislature."

FURL OF DALLAS: "Take the word 'Christian' out of this bill because I'm a Baptist and I want my faith to get some credit for this act."

YEATCH OF JOSHUA: "The campaign pleas for the first primary was vindication, but you hear little of vindication before the second primary. Then it was the Ku Klux Klan and anti-Ku Klux and in the general election the issue was to beat a Republican."

WEBSTER OF LUBBOCK: "Mr. Ferguson as well as the entire Ferguson family has suffered enough in the seven years since Mr. Ferguson was impeached. After he is vindicated he will withdraw from politics and let us have some rest for a few years."

MANKIN OF GEORGETOWN: "I'm just a corn field lawyer, but I've read the constitution and this bill is unconstitutional and I like my God and my country and my constitution better than James E. Ferguson or any other man."

DANIELS OF WICHITA: "I deny before this house that I would violate my oath to support the constitution should I vote for this bill."

WADE OF TERRELL: "The sum of $156,000! That's $22,285 a year for each year since, and now Ferguson is chief counsel for the Eldridge railroad at a salary said to be $20,000 yearly."

Papa First, Then Mama, Maybe

Legislator Declares Jim Too Busy In Governor's Office To Tote In Wood And Water

AUSTIN, March 10.—Representative George Purl, Dallas, in midst of debate on the Ferguson amnesty measure this afternoon, replying to Representative Jacks, also of Dallas, demanded of the legislators "what was James E. Ferguson doing in the Spanish-American and World wars?" He asserted that a man who supported Ferguson in one of the cantonments was in danger of his life.

"We used to hear the university folks sing, 'The Eyes of Texas Are Upon you,' but we don't hear that any more," Mr. Purl said. "We hear the old song, 'You Gotta See Papa Every Day if You Want to See Mama at All.'"

This remark caused a sensation as the gallery and solons joined in the general laughter.

Mr. Purl said that Mr. Ferguson had promised to bring in "the wood and water" but had not been able to bring in very much because of "being in the governor's office all of the time."

TUT A MODERN COMPARED TO LATEST GIZIAN

Discovery At Pyramids That Of Reign 1,700 Years Older Than Amen

BOSTON, March 10.—A cable received today by Dr. George A. Reisner, professor of egyptology at Harvard and director of the Harvard university Boston museaum of fine arts Egyptian expedition, definitely establishes the tomb just discovered by the expedition near the Giza pyramids as being some 1,700 years older than the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen and of a period of which little has been discovered heretofore.

The cable was from Alan Rowe, chief assistant of the expedition, an Australian who has been working with Dr. Reisner for three years. Duncan Greenless is the second assistant of the expedition on which work began at the present place in November. It was founded in 1905 and actual work began in 1909 in this district. The text of the cable, was made public as follows:

Previous to Dynasty VI

"The new tomb reported from the excavations of the Harvard-Boston expedition at Giza is the only important intact tomb yet found previous to dynasty VI. It is to be dated to the time of King Seneferu, the first king of dynasty IV, the predecessor of Cheops that is, a period of 100 years up to about 3,000 B. C. The new tomb is situated about 100 meters due east of the great pyramid of Cheops.

"Inside was found an alabaster sarcophagus intact and on the coffin lay an elaborate woven gold mat with a line of incised heiroglyphics, giving the name Nebti-Seneferu, which seems to be the name of the person buried in the coffin. The name indicates that she was a lady, probably a princess.

"The posts of the sarcophagus are sheathed in gold and the floor of the chamber is covered with vessels of bronze and alabaster and a quantity of gilded wooden furniture which is in bad condition. Many objects are not yet identifiable.

Guard Against Public

"The Egyptian autoorities have put a barbed wire fence around the area, in order to prevent intrusion on the part of the public and the work of clearing the tomb is proceeding satisfactorily.

"This tomb is not that of either Seneferu or Cheops. It was in existence when the first pyramid at Giza, that of Cheops, was built, and the superstructure of the tomb must have been cleared away by the architects of Cheops when they built the causeway which led from the valley to the temple in front of the Cheops pyramid. The tomb is to be dated probably to the reign of Seneferu."

GERMANY WITHDRAWS GOLD

Will Establish Gold Reserve and Gets Cash From New York.

NEW YORK, March 10.—For the purpose of establishing a gold reserve the German reichs bank today began the withdrawal of $41,000,000 in "ear marked" gold which it had accumulated over the past year in the vaults of the New York Federal Reserve bank.

The first shipment of $2,500,000 already has been dispatched to Germany, the reserve bank announced and additional exports will go forward within the next few weeks. Further purchases and shipments are expected to swell the total to at least $50,000,000.

Ferguson Visits Sick Sister at Haskell

HASKELL, March 10.—Former Governor James E. Ferguson will not be in Austin to witness the conflict in his behalf, as he was called to Haskell, Texas, today because of the illness of his sister, Mrs. F. M. Morton.

RANCHMAN FATALLY SHOT.

No Charges Filed in Connection With Post Murder.

FORT WORTH, March 10.—Roy Dalton, young ranchman in Garza county, was shot and badly wounded this morning near Post. No charges have been filed yet.

CLUES FAIL IN NEW OUTBREAK OF HERRIN WAR

Bomb Is Exploded At Home Of Sympathizer Of Late Glenn Young

HERRIN, Ill., March 10.—(AP)—After a day of searching for clues that would throw light upon the bomb explosion this morning that wrecked the front of the H. O. Fowler store and apartment building slightly injuring Mr. and Mrs. Fowler and badly frightening 15 other occupants of the building authorities here tonight had reached no solution to the crime. The arrest of two Marion, Ill., youths, Paul Riddle and Esco Langford, has no connection with the bombing, police said the pair being charged only with stealing an automobile.

Randall Parks, acting sheriff in the absence of George Galligan, immediately busied himself sifting rumors and wild surmises.

Officers expressed the belief that the charge of dynamite was set for Glenn Fowler active klansman and former lieutenant of S. Glenn Young, slain klan liquor raider. Fowler works in his father's grocery store but was absent when the explosion occurred.

To Protest Against Sale of Orient R. R.

KANSAS CITY, March 10.—Exceptions will be filed to confirmation of the sale of the Kansas City Mexico and Orient railroad a telegram to Clifford Histed, Kansas City lawyer, from Frank W. Swacker, of New York, attorney for British note holders, revealed here today. Histed bought the road at a special master's sale in Wichita a year ago, with W. T. Kemper, Kansas City banker and other associates, for $3,000,000.

John C. Pollock, federal district judge set a hearing for confirmation of the purchase for March 23 in Kansas City, Kansas. Approval of the sale would permit re-organization plans of the American purchasers to proceed and remove the road from receivership.

CAL'S FAVORITE REJECTED FOR CABINET POST

Senate Turns Michigander Down As Vice-President Speeds To Floor

UP WAITING ELEVATOR

Lack Of Confirmation Announced As Hell 'n Maria Enters Room

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Charles Beecher Warren of Michigan failed to become attorney general of the United States by a single vote today in the senate.

His nomination was rejected, 40 to 40, Vice President Dawes failing to reach the capitol from his hotel in time to cast the deciding vote.

Administration leaders sought to delay announcement of the result in the hope that the vice president, who was rushing to the senate in a taxicab, would arrive in time to break the tie.

With victory in their grasp, democratic opponents of the nomination vigorously demanded that the roll call be closed with the announcement of the result, but even then republican leaders resorted to further strategy in an effort to save the nomination from defeat.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Rejection of the appointment of Charles B. Warren to be attorney general today was the first action of this nature by a United States senate in more than half a century.

Not since the administration of Andrew Johnson had unfavorable action been taken by a senate on a cabinet appointee. On January 2, 1868, the senate declined by a vote of 29 to 11 to confirm the appointment of Henry Stanberry of Ohio to be attorney general. Stanberry had previously served in that capacity and resigned.

All told, six nominees have been rejected by the senate, official records show. Three appointees of President Tyler were rejected in the years 1843 and 1844. Prior to that an appointee of President Jackson was refused confirmation.

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania announced that he would change his vote from yea to nay so that he might present a motion to reconsider the question. That changed the final result technically to 39 for and 41 against confirmation.

As soon as Senator Reed made his motion, opponents of confirmation countered with a motion to lay it on the table and demanded a roll call. That vote, too, resulted in a tie 40 to 40, but as the vice-president, who could have cast the deciding ballot, entered the chamber, Senator Overman of North Cagolina, the only democrat to vote for confirmation, switched his vote.

Final and Irrevocable.

That decided the issue, making the vote 41 to 39 to lay the Reed motion on the table a final and irrevocable action under senate rules. The only way the nomination could again come before the senate would be for President Coolidge to resubmit it.

There was no indication tonight what the president's course might be, the White House having declined to comment on the matter. If he decides not to resubmit the nomination to the senate at this time or make a new one he may either leave Solicitor General Beck in charge of the justice department until the net session of congress or make a recess appointment to fill the cabinet vacancy during that period.

Excepting Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, whose vote was cast for strategic reasons, nine republicans, the one farmer-labor senator, Shipstead, and all of the democrats present except Senator Overman, voted against confirmation.

The republicans were Borah of Idaho; Brookhart of Iowa; Cousens of Michigan; Frazier and Ladd of North Dakota; Johnston of California; McMaster and Norbeck of South Dakota, and Norris of Nebraska.

The vote on the nomination came with almost startling suddenness after six hours of debate in which Mr. Warren had been alternately defended and assailed because of his former connections with sugar interests.

More speeches were expected, and after presiding most of the day, Vice President Dawes retired to his hotel a mile away for a rest, having received, his friends said, assurances from leaders on both sides that there would not be a vote before adjournment.

Even when the roll call started, administration leaders apparently were confident that they would have a vote or two, at least, to spare, and they made no move to summon Mr. Dawes, concerning themselves merely with rounding up senators from the corridors and offices.

While the crowded galleries looked down with an air of rather tense expectancy and senators themselves refrained from the usual hubbub, the roll call proceeded with the vote almost equally divided. So it went nip and tuck to the end, the result standing at the call of the last name, 40 to 39 in favor of confirmation.

One in Reserve.

Field marshals on both sides had rounded up all their forces, but opponents had in reserve a single senator, George of Georgia, who had declined

Rabbi Put Under Arrest After He Bothers Coolidge

New York Elder Kept Dunning President For Campaign Debt

NEW YORK, March 10.—Rabbi E. B. M. Browne, head of the American Jewish Seventy Elders and pastor of Temple Zion in the Bronx, was arrested today on a warrant in which the complainants, Calvin Coolidge and Frank Stearns, charged him with annoying the president. The rabbi is 72 years old.

It is charged that the rabbi inflicted upon the complainants an avalanche of letters demanding that he be reimubrsed for half of $25,000 he asserts the American Jewish Seventy Elders spent in campaigning for President Coolidge last fall.

Held in Yorkville.

Rabbi Browne was arrested by secret service agents and arraigned in Yorkville court.

When the rabbi produced apparently authentic letters from former Presidents McKinley, Harrison, Roosevelt and Harding, he was paroled without bail for examination next Monday.

The secret service agents testified that the Coolidges and Mr. Stearns had received a great number of letters from Rabbi Browne demanding that they pay him $12,500 and that they had replied to many of these letters.

Rabbi Browne claimed he was the only surviving pallbearer at the funeral of President Grant and that he had once employed the late President Harding as a private secretary.

Once Hired Harding.

In 1888 he said Mr. Harding had just taken over the Marion Star and the rabbi, who was supporting Benjamin Harrison, brought the Ohioan to New York as his secretary during the campaign. He exhibited a letter signed with President Harding's name congratulating him upon his birthday and recalling "old times."

Rabbi Browne said at the request of Tammany Hall he had held a convention of the Seventy Elders at Atlanta last year, where Governor Smith was named as their democratic presidential choice. When Smith failed of nomination at the national convention Rabbi Browne switched to President Coolidge and spent the $25,000 campaigning for him, the rabbi said. He added that he thought the president should "go halves" with the elders.

EFFORT MADE TO SETTLE THE CLAIM.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The case of Rabbi E. B. M. Browne of New York, charged with annoying President Coolidge, has been handled here by the secret service which is charged with the personal career of the executive.

Efforts were made to settle the case without court action, but it was said that the rabbi would not agree to desist from sending letters to the White House.

White House officials expressed surprise that President and Mrs. Coolidge were named as complainants, explaining that the scores of letters which have been received from the rabbi have been refaered entirely to under secretaries at the executive office. It was believed, however, that since they were addressed with the complainants' names that this resulted in mention of the president.

Letters from Rabbi Browne have been coming to the White House for many years, officials said. Those in regard to the campaign fund began to come last July. Many were addressed to Frank W. Stearns, close friend of the president.

Everett Sanders, secretary of the president, declared none of the complainants knew anything about the prosecution or had initiated the action.

DRESS MAKERS QUIT WORK.

$9,000 Workers Stop Machines But Stay At Factory; Dispute Wages

NEW YORK, March 10.—All members of the Cloak and Dress Makers union, whose maximum strength is given as 30,000, were instructed to stop work in 1,500 shops today until they were paid the 10 to 15 per cent wage increase agreed to by jobbers and contractors February 24. As yet no formal strike is in progress, the workers remaining at their places, but doing nothing.

When Girls Trust Men

Esther was the simple, trusting kind of girl — and when she gave her heart to Carl — and he talked to her eagerly of marriage, she believed herself secure in the certainty of perfect happiness. But that was before she introduced Carl to her nearest and dearest girl friend. Then Esther suddenly discovered that Carl had secretly transferred his affections. And thus began the age-old battle of love fought out in the eternal triangle. Did Esther succeed in holding her affianced husband? And was her friend really guilty of treachery? Read what happened in the story entitled "A Baby's Arms" in April True Story Magazine. And this is but one of 16 big features in the April issue.

Where's Sally? Reporter Finds Her At Her Old Haunts By Long Search

I wonder what's become of Sally
That old gal of mine.
The sunshine's missing from our alley
Ever since the day
Sally went away.
No matter where she is
Wherever she may be
If no one wants her now
Please send her back to me.
I'll always welcome back my Sally
That old gal of mine.

Wonder what's become of Sally?

It has been years since anyone's heard anything from her—back in the days when we used to wait on the high school steps for Sally to come poking down with a crowd of laughing girls, books on her arm, her hat swinging by a ribbon and her curls flying.

Boy! but she was pretty.

And so blamed independent.

I think we loved her best the day she sneaked into training quarters when we were all out on the field and hid a note under Hunky's pillow telling us where to pull up a floor board and find two big pans of her nut fudge.

She Was Beautiful

I'll never forget how beautiful she was the first time she pinned up her curls and wore a shimmering low evening gown to Virginia's Christmas dance.

Where on earth is Sally?

I was going through the lobby of the City National bank the other day and I asked Oral Jones if he knew where she was.

He didn't.

The last time he saw her, he said, was in Oklahoma City eight years ago when she was visiting the Beach's.

Durn it! Where's Sally?

I thought perhaps Frank Queisner would know, but the last he heard from her she was going to school in Baltimore, studying art and dancing.

Charlie Snider said he saw her in Los Angeles several summers ago riding around in a lemon colored Rolls-Royce with a million dollar bull dog hanging his ugly chin over her pretty little elbow.

Joe Dickey used to give her quite a rush, so I asked him about her.

Gosh! Where's Sally?

Joe didn't know any more. It had been years since her last letter.

Allen Montgomery and Joe Carrigan heard me talking about her but didn't appear interested until I mentioned her second husband and the fancy name she now had engraved on her calling cards.

Thought They Found Her

"Clendenning?" they howled in chorus. "Why, you must mean Sal Clendenning the peach we met several years ago at a Florida house party. She did say she was from Texas, but we didn't know she was an old flame of yours. The last time we saw her she was sitting with her curly head against a huge white pillar dressed in breezy sport togs swinging her trim little ankles as she sat there in the moonlight lazily twanging a banjuke. She was in the center of the crowd and they were all crooning "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi"—meaning her.

Where's Sally?

What's become of Sally? No one seems to know.

Jack Barnard said the last time he was in New York he heard she was dancing her way to success in Paris vaudeville.

Where in the world can Sally be now?

I thought George Hodgins might know, so I went down to the police station and told the chief I had asked everywhere about her, but that no one knew where she was.

"For Heaven's sake, man," he shid, "why didn't you come to me in the first place? I was just talking to Al Hanks one of the trash collectors about her. He saw her just the other day.

"She's back in the alley, the same old Sally,' Hanks told me," said the chief.

Blue Defenders Will Soon Sight Black Envaders

Airpplane Scouts Search For Transports of The Approaching Fleet

ABOARD U. S. S. SEATTLE, AT SEA OFF THE WEST COAST OF MEXICO, March 10.—(AP)—Nine thousand square miles of sea off Lower California has been covered to date in the fascinating manuevers of 100 American naval war craft; on the one hand by the vigilant, speeding, sweeping, searching activity of the defensive blue fleet of 52 fighting vessels, and on the other hand by the relentless, time-crushing drive of the invading black fleet which hour by hour moves closer to its Pacific coast objective.

With each drive of the propellers of the 57 black fighting craft grimly advancing the great guns of the dreadnaughts nearer to this, their mission of destruction, and as the hours speed by and no contact yet is made with the enemy, the nerves of 25,000 men aboard the two fleets become more taut.

The blue scouting fleet is utilizing scout planes catapulted from the decks of the new scout cruisers. These planes each contain a skilled naval pilot and a trained naval observer, each of whom must be well versed in naval tactics and principles to accomplish his mission.

They cruise at a speed of from 90 to 100 miles an hour at an altitude of 1,500 feet over wide sectors, four or five hours ahead of the parent ship.

These scout planes look for the wakes of vessels in the sea or for enemy craft. Larger craft can be discerned at a distance of 20 miles under favorable conditions and can be identified at eight miles. Submarines may be seen fairly easily when they are from 25 to 30 feet under the surface or cruising at depths at which they expect to use their periscopes.

"Chase Me Kids, I'm All Lit Up" Says Car Pilot

And Irate Cops Start Search When Squeal Comes From Town

ATLANTA, Ga., March 10.—Search was instituted by police today for the driver of an automobile bearing on the tire cover the suggestion: "Follow me, chickens, I'm full of corn."

If the driver is apprehended, he will be charged with disorderly conduct, as the sign tends to disrupt the morals of the community, said the police.

The dragnet was ordered for the man "full of corn" after the police received a letter from an Atlanta citizen protesting against "an atrocious sign being exhibited to the eyes of the good people of Atlanta."

1196 SPINACH CARS SHIPPED

Over Two Hundred More Are Yet To Come From Laredo Section.

SAN ANTONIO, March 10. — Nearly a quarter of a million dollars worth of spinach has been shipped out of the Wintergarden district, lying southeast of San Antonio, and a number of similar value is just beginning from the Laredo section, according to officials of the San Antonio, Uvalde and Gulf and I. G. N. railways.

Eleven hundred and ninety-six carloads of spinach have been shipped from Crystal City, Carrizo Springs and Big Wells, with approximately 200 carloads to come, railroad officials said.

HERE'S THE LATEST--COD LIVER OIL IN TASTELESS TABLETS

Great Flesh Builder For Skinny, Weak, Run-Down People—Full of Vitamines

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when the nasty, fishy-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out.

Medical science progresses rapidly, and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamine food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets under another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of cough syrup.

Thin, run-down, anaemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in 30 days just get your money back.

One woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor—another 10 pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine, 12 pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. Smith Drug Co., Tipton Drug Co., or any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only 60 cents for 60 tablets—and don't forget that they are wonder workers for feeble old folks.

Waurika Chamber Plans Big Things In Reorganization

City's Clubs Will Unite In Cooperative Program Following Banquet

WAURIKA, March 10. — The reorganization of the chamber of commerce was effected Tuesday night when the business and professional interests of Waurikawere represented at a banquet in the dining room of the Stuard hotel. One hundred business and professional men and women were present. Previous to this meeting the executive board consisting of 14 men and women, selected by the business men's club to direct chamber of commerce activities for the ensuing year, had been meeting regularly, with particular attention given to the membership and budget committees.

The plans for the drive for new members and added finances were well formulated.

Mayor a Speaker.

The meeting was presided over by the president, E. B. Ellis. C. H. Storms, mayor of Waurika, spoke first, setting forth the purpose of the meeting which was the uniting of the various scattered club activities. The city was asked to have a committee functioning with the chamber of commerce, and yet keep inviolate its own club prerogatives, pledging support and loyalty to the various progressive undertakings of Waurika.

Donald Stuart, chairmah of the membership committee spoke convincingly of the necessity of an enlarged membership, with the organization on firm financial base. Providing for the employment of a paid secretary. Ed Overholzer of Oklahoma City, president and manager of the Oklahoma City chamber of commerce, gave the principal talk of the evening, stressing the community needs that are met with the "functioning of a good live chamber of commerce.

Co-operation Is Asked.

He spoke from out a full and varied experience with towns large and small, and his peppy organization talk was brimming with enthusiasm. W. Y. Dilley closed the program with an appeal for co-operation from all the business and professional interests of the town urging that what benefitted one was for the good of all and progressive town building was along the lines of co-operation always. As he finished the membership committee composed of ten men and women, immediately circulated membership cards which in most instances were promptly signed, and the re-organization was completed.

Road Bond Election Asked in Hardeman

QUANAH, March 9.—Petitions bearing 255 names were presented to the county commissioners today praying for a county-wide election on a bond issue of $800,000 for paving the Colorado-Gulf highway through Hardeman county. This election will be called for about the middle of April. On January 17 a bond issue in the same amount was voted upon, but lost by a few votes, in a "shoe-string" district approximately six miles wide embracing the present C-G highway and the Ft. Worth and Denver railroad.

Kluxers Used Clamp On Nose To Disguise Voice Kimbro Says At Houston

HOUSTON, March 10.—Alleged inside workings of the Harris county ku klux klan, the controversy as to whether or not tarring and feathering and whipping parties would be continued, and the relations of the local klan to the Atlanta headquarters were aired in fifty-fifth district court, Tuesday by George R. Kimbro, Jr., former grand goblin, on the witness stand.

Judge Ewing Boyd held that the evidence was admissable to show the character of men Kimbro was dealing with, in his suit to obtain approximately $500,000 in damages from the klan for alleged injuries to his name and business reputation.

Mr. Kimbro declared that he was banished from Sam Houston klan here on orders from Atlanta after he had differed with E. Y. Clarke, Hiram W. Evans and other imperial officers in regard to "putting a lid on the rough stuff."

Not For Pink Tea.

"If this is going to be a pink tea organization, I am not in it," Kimbro stated that Evans, the imperial wizard, told him when he talked to him about putting a stop to the "tar and feather parties," and other "outrages" which he investigated.

Kimbro said he had orders to investigate these whippings and parties published in the newspapers and to make a general denial that the klan had any part in them.

The first party he investigated was that of I. B. Hobbs, Houston attorney, who was taken out and given a coat of tar and feathers, Kimbro stated. McCall was present in the party, Kimbro stated. The other an automobile salesman by the name of McGee, the Hunt case at Goose Creek and two in Oklahoma, Kimbro stated. He kept McCall from going to the scene of the tarring and feathering of the negro dentist, the witness said.

After making an investigation in regard to the various parties staged by the klan at Goose Creek, Kimbro said he remonstrated with the preacher in charge and was promised that the "outrages" would be stopped. They were not stopped though, Kimbro said.

Couldn't Stop Parties.

"I was told by the imperial klaliff that there was no way of stopping the parties and that the best way for me to handle them was to keep them under cover," Kimbro stated.

At one time when Colonel Simmons and E. Y. Clarke were in Houston, Kimbro said, he talked the matter over with them. "Colonel Simmons outlined the manner in which these parties were pulled at this meeting. He told of a particular party the boys in Birmingham had pulled for his benefit. A negro was taken out and after the coat of tar and feathers had been applied, the klansmen participating shot at his feet in order to make him run faster," Kimbro detailed.

Simmons on this occasion, according to Kimbro, explained the workings of a certain clamp which klansmen could put on their noses and disguise their voices when on one of these parties. McCall gave an order for some of these for Sam Houston klan Kimbro said. "Simmons also told of a jacket which klansmen could wear so that if they lost their robes they still would be disguised," the witness stated.

to vote when his name was called because of a pair with Senator Phipps, republican, Colorado. A transfer was found for him and his vote brought a deadlock.

While leaders on both sides were sending pages scurrying in search of one or two absentees and were eagerly watching the entrance doors a drama little less stirring was being enacted behind the scenes. When it became apparent early in the roll call that the result would be extremely close, Vice President Dawes was summoned on the telephone. He was urged not to wait for his official car, but to get a taxicab and make all haste.

His secretary, E. Ross Bartley, meanwhile hurried to the main floor entrance, stopped the taxicab before it reached the senate porte-cochere and hurried the vice president to an elevator which had been waiting on signal from Senator Cameron, republican, Arizona, who had stationed himself on the front portico.

But Mr. Dawes arrived in time only to hear the result on the second vote where his presence was of no avail because of the switch in ballot by Senator Overman.

With the casting of Senator George's tying vote on the first ballot—and on a tie the nomination was rejected under the rules—there was hasty conferences of leaders on the republican side and the tally clerks paused in their work.

"Let the result be announced," shouted Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, a leader of the opposition.

Senator Jones of Washington, the republican whip, arose slowly to announce that Senators Warren of Wyoming; Edge of New Jersey; Greene of Vermont; Phipps of Colorado, and Lenroot of Wisconsin, all republicans, were absent.

Again there were demands that the roll be closed, and Senator Reed of Pennsylvania changed his vote explaining that he did so in order that he might make a motion to reconsider.

President Protempore Moses then declared the vote to be 39 yeas and 41 nays and the nomination to be rejected. Instantly a burst of applause swept around the senate galleries and brought a sharp rebuke from the presiding officer for the breach of the senate rules.

Offer to Reconsider.

During the ensuing confusion, Senator Reed of Pennsylvania offered his motion to reconsider. Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, another leader in the opposition, was on his feet immediately with a motion to lay that motion on the table. Then a second roll call proceeded amid much hubbub. When the last name had been called, the count again stood at 40 to 40 but this time a tie would have been a victory for the administration as the Walsh motion would have been lost.

Before the result could be announced, however, Senator Overman announced that, since he was convinced that his democratic colleagues did not want Mr. Warren as attorney general he would change his vote so as to support instead of oppose the Walsh motion. That made the result 41 to 39, and closed the issue unless the nomination is resubmitted.

Just before the vote on confirmation, the two senators from Michigan —Couzens, republican, and Ferris, democrat—voiced their opposition to the nomination.

Senator Couzens said he did not believe Mr. Warren would inspire confidence as attorney general.

"I would not hesitate to put Mr. Warren in the department of justice," he said, "if I were going to have the right to watch him and follow him. I would not hesitate to say that under those circumstances he would do his duty."

Chaplin to Take Mother from U.S. Under Alien Law

Under Requirements Of Immigration Law She Is Not Admissible

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Mrs. Chaplin, mother of Charlie Chaplin, the motion picture star, must leave the country by March 26 under a ruling by immigration officials.

Attorneys for Chaplin today were informed that the extension granted Mrs. Chaplin a year ago to remain here until March 26 will not be renewed. She came to this country several years ago from England to undergo medical treatment and has been held inadmissable as an alien under the requirements of the immigration law.

CHARLIE TO SEND HER TO VANCOUVER.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 10. — A statement from the studio of Charles Spencer Chaplin, screen comedian, whose mother, Mrs. Hanna Chaplin, must leave the United States by March 26, under a ruling by immigration authorities, said today that she would "probably make her home in Vancouver, B. C."

Mrs. Chaplin came to this country three years ago suffering from nerve shock due to the German air raids over London during the war. She has been living at a beach home provided by her son.

The statement did not say how long Mrs. Chpalin intended leaving the United States.

Discoveries May Add Lost Chapter to History

Another chapter of history's closed book is being revealed as a result of discoveries made in excavations in Italian Tripoli. Finds of first importance have been taken out of the ruins of the long lost city of Sabrata. Inset is a magnificent Roman bust taken from the remains of the Temple of Jove, shown here.

Seneferu's Tomb More Important Than Tut's Grave

Should Tomb Be Pharoahs, His Modesty Would Be Surprising

LONDON, Mar. 10.—Egyptologists here agree that if the tomb found by the Boston-Harvard expedition deep down in the rocks near the great pyramid at Giza proves to be that of the Pharaoh who immediately preceded the renowned pyramid builder Cheoph, its importance is far greater than that of Tut-Ankn-Amen because it is some thousands of years older and the contents may throw light upon that remote period about which very little is known.

The Pharaoh Seneferu — whose name is variously spelled by English Egyptologists—was the first king of the fourth dynasty (about 400 B. C.), while Tut-Ankh-Amen reigned as late as the eighteenth dynasty, the history of which is fairly familiar. Moreover, Tut-Ankh-Amen was a relatively unimportant king, while Seneferu is regarded as one of the founders of the Egyptian empire, a man of great enterprise and energy.

Cairo dispatches yesterday telling of the discovery said the sarcophagus had been unearthed intact with much funeral furniture inside. Near the sarcophagus which was a large one of marble with gold decorated columns and resting upon what seemed to be a plate, was the seal of Seneferu.

BELIEVE PHARAOH WAS BURIED IN PYRAMID.

CAIRO, Egypt, Mar. 10.—Although it is generally hoped that the newly discovered tomb at Giza, unearthed by the Boston-Harvard expedition, contains the mummy of the Pharoah Seneferu and records of his reign, there is considerable doubt as to this among the Egyptologists here. A number of them consider it unlikely that a king who built himself two pyramids—at Medum and Dahshur—should finally have been so modest as to order his own interment 90 feet below the surface, thus obliterating the personality of the powerful and prosperous ruler.

They therefore express the opinion that it is unwise to raise great hopes at present lest the public be disappointed if the saracophagus reveals only the mummy of a member of the king's family or even perhaps some retainer, such as a serving man or barber.

SENEFERU IS HARDLY IN TOMB, SAY CURATOR.

BOSTON, Mar. 10.—Dr. George A. Riesner, curator of the Egyptian department of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and professor of Egyptology at Harvard university, who heads the joint expedition which has been conducting explorations in Egypt for 18 years, last night imputed the newly discovered tomb to some lesser personage than Kings Seneferu or Cheoph, although he did not minimise the importance of the find to the knowledge of early Egyptian history.

The scene of the new find is within 100 yards of the great pyramid of Cheop and within 300 yards of the Sphinx where tourists pass. The 90-foot shaft is 50 feet square.

Forty-Eight File For City Offices In Altus Election

Thirty-Two Are Democrats And Twelve Are Republicans

ALTUS, Okla., March 10.—With filing closed, 45 men and three women are filed for city offices on the Democratic and Republican tickets in the primary election to be held here March 17. Thirty-two of these candidates are Democrats and 12 are Republicans.

The next city clerk is certain to be a woman as Adella Minor, Democrat, and Grace White, Republican, received the nomination on their tickets without opposition.

Two Republicans and two Democrats are filed for mayor. Two candidates for alderman are to be selected from each of the four wards. The Republicans have no contests while the Democrats have five candidates from each ward.

Following the primary March 17, in which both parties will select their candidates, the general election will be held in May.

Democrats filed for office are M. M. Oates and S. E. Hickman for mayor. L. L. Smith, S. H. Starkey and J. L. Lee are filed for treasurer. Adella Minor is unopposed for the nomination for city clerk.

The race for city marshal on the Democratic ticket is one of the most interesting on the list. Four candidates, Henry Southall, C. I. Johnson, Everett McKinley and B. Ware, are out for this office. A. O. McCarty is the only candidate for street commissioner on either ticket.

Candidates for aldermen from ward one are A. J. Wright, R. A. Booker, G. E. Thorp, E. G. Fuqua and Joe K. Williams; from ward two, W. C. Jarboe, R. C. Bowden, M. T. Cochran, F. G. Simpson and R. B. Kizziar; ward three, C. C. Mansfield, Irby R. Elkner, T. V. Scatterfield, D. S. Austin and M. B. Lloyd; ward four, Bob Blanton, E. B. Allen, G. H. Stacy, T. J. Elliott and Oran Vorhees.

Tom Jackson is unopposed for school treasurer and Mrs. E. L. Garnett is unopposed for school trustee.

The nomination for mayor is the only one contested for by the Republicans. M. D. Johnston and E. C. Holt are candidates for this nomination.

Grace White is the Republican candidate for city clerk; B. M. Ward, for city treasurer, and Howe Earls for city marshal. In the race for aldermen, the Republicans have entered A. M. Jackson and Leonard Todd in ward one; R. B. Fox and C. G. Glaxiner in ward two; C. W. Snyder and H. Anderson in ward three; and J. E. Kalo in ward four.

TO RENEW THE BATTLE

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Vice-President Dawes has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at the Lexington-Concord battle celebration on April 18.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

WHERE MEN OF VISION CARRY ON.

If cotton is the king of Southern products then Texas is close to the throne. Texas is the banner cotton state. It has been known to produce a crop of 5,000,000 bales in a single year. First Williamson county held the sceptre as the banner county. Then the honor passed to Ellis. Now cotton is grown in the very foothills of the mountains on the western border line of Texas.

Now the growers of the gulf coast country, in the Nueces river valley are claiming that in the very near future Nueces county will be the banner producing county of the world. Only last year the yield for the county was almost 100,000 bales and in 1923 the yield was almost as great. All this has to do with the story of the visit of the lawmakers and the press correspondents first to the winter garden of America and then the run from Brownsville to Corpus Christi.

Hidalgo and Cameron counties have had their run on this page. They are in the winter garden of America on the banks of the Rio Grande. In these counties mighty projects of flood control, the impounding of flood waters for irrigation purposes and the reclamation of vast bodies of overflow land are well on the way. Men and money are transforming this lower valley into a section that bids fair to become famous the world over.

Willacy county adjoins Cameron. And the same future is predicted for Willacy after conservation and reclamation work has been accomplished that has fallen to the lot of its neighbors. Not many years ago the flat country along the Corpus Christi bay for a distance of 100 miles was a waste of wilderness. It is known as the blackland section and it has been transformed from a waste into a cotton producing country of remarkable productivity. There are thousands of acres of land planted to cotton.

People have been coming in droves in recent years. Just a few years ago there was no market for the land. Now it sells for two hundred dollars an acre and investment companies readily loan sixty dollas per acre to the holders of the land who need the money. Cotton growers of the middle west and central west and the far west of Texas are reminded that they have a real competition on the gulf coast. Cotton is planted in March. Cotton is picked in early August. If there is a scarcity of cotton this early in the season the buyers are there with the fancy prices. These blacklanders of the gulf coast are in the market first. They are close to the gulf ports of Texas. Men who have lived in Texas 25 or 30 years and who have been familiar with the settlement of all the newest sections are amazed when they think of what has taken place in the Corpus Christi country and the winter garden of America in the magic valley. Corpus Chrispi is pulling for deep water and the great brush waters are being constructed and the deep sea channel and turning basins are now in the hands of the dredgers. More than $5,000,000.00 will be expended in this mighty program of gulf port improvement. William Elmer Pope is the leading spirit among these builders of the gulf coast and Nueces valley country.

They are mighty chesty down there at the present time. They see the ships of the seven seas carrying the products of Texas to alian lands. They see in the distance the greatest cotton producing section of the southwest. They see a vast system of docks and elevators and mills. This is their dream and men and money can make dreams come true.

Congressman John M. Garner has represented the magic valley and the lower coast country in congress for many years. Senator Archie Parr has represented the magic valley in the upper house of the Texas legislature for many years. These lower districts are sending up-to-date young business or professional men to Austin to assist in the making of the laws of the state.

They are builders down there. They are for flood control down there. They are for storage of the flood waters down there. They are for the drainage of swamp lands down there. They are for the reclaiming of overflow lands down there. They are for concrete highways down there. They are willing to bond and mortgage all their possessions down there, knowing or hoping at least that when the harvest time comes their dividends will be large.

These builders of the lower country are for a skyscraper Texas. They demand a forty-story structure instead of a two or three-story ramshackle frame building. They are talking factories and mills for the future. They long for the time that there will be tanneries, cotton mills, woolen mills, glass factories, brick making plants and all the other accessories of a manufacturing civilization.

In Cameron county they are over turning the virgin soil and planting cotton this season. Robert Stewart of Hidalgo county, perhaps the foremost personage on its firing line is experimenting with 37 different varieties of cotton seed, gathered from all the cotton producing countries of the world.

There is a builder in Hidalgo county who has planted 25 acres to cantaloupes this spring and expects to place them in the New York market two weeks in advance of the Imperial Valley product. It has been discovered that the magic valley has an ideal soil for the production of Irish potatoes, and a large crop will be grown this year.

Lon C. Hill, widely known throughout the southwest has a thousand acre cotton farm in Cameron county, all new land, broken this year and is going to gamble heavily on the fleecy staple.

There is a chain of ports from Port Arthur to Point Isabelle on the gulf coast and the Panama canal is not far away. These are some of the things that have taken place in the lower country where men and money are building an empire and the warning is given to the people of other sections of Texas that it will be well for them to come out of their trance.

GENERAL MITCHELL'S DEMOTION

The brigadier's stars now shining on the shoulders of the "flying general" will change into a colonel's eagles on April 27. General Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, reverts to the rank of colonel. His place is taken by Colonel James F. Fechet, qualified pilot and flying officer for more than seven years. General Mitchll gambled his stars in the hearings before the house aircraft committee. He has lost his fight.

In his punishment there is a mingling of justice and injustice. He had defied his superior offiecrs, flouted the secretaries of war and navy and kicked ragged holes in discipline. Men have been court-martialed as well as demoted for less. His demotion is not surprising. He made it well nigh impossible for the war department to do anything else.

Nevertheless, there is some injustice in punishing an officer who was in great part right. He forced from unwilling superiors the admission that our air defenses are weak and insufficient and that we are not a first class air power. He robbed us of what little complacency we had. Bureaucrats have had a bad time with him. He is anathema to quarterdeck paraders. Faith in the battleship has been worse shaken by his verbal bombs than dreadnoughts were ever shattered by his aerial bombs. He has revealed dangerous errors, omissions, incompetency, inefficiency and lack of any genuine aerial defense policy.

Unquestionably he has been useful in rousing national interest in a vital question. That usefulness might have been greater had he been less prone to overstatement and a little less of a grandstander. He hurt his own cause in recent hearings by picking quarrels and hunting trouble instead of following through his crusade against archaic policies and exposing weaknesses.

Toward the end of the inquiry he let his enthusiasms soar away with his judgment. He overplayed a good hand. His condemnations were too reckless. It was impossible to believe, as he contended that the army and the navy were in hopeless hands. Certainly every officer who disagrees with Mitchell is not a stuffed tunic tricked out in medals and service ribbons or an archaic, brass-batted inefficient. Surely all aerial wisdom will not die and pass out of the service with him.

Had he not alienated much of the opinion that was with him in the beginning, his case would be stronger. If he had not virtually demanded that he be "sacrificed" and had not developed a full-blown martyr's complex, the echoes of his going would be uglier. His demotion would be taken as full proof of his charges that any officer who defies the high command and speaks his own mind then and there signs his professional death warrant. The Mitchell defiance, however, was too studied, too deliberate, too evidently a craving for the marytr's crown. The country heard him asking for exactly what he got.

Nevertheless, the sacrifice of his own career will advance his cause. He has not been silenced. Nor has he lost his fight. While the nation is not ready to take its defense policy from him, he has made it think more in terms of air power than ever before. He may not be the Moses to lead it out of the policy wilderness, but he is at least one of the prophets; and he can worry bureaucracy as much from the outside as he has from the inside.

General Mitchell dramatized an issue, and time will deal fairly by him. Whatever the report of the aircraft committee may be or whether the "flying general" carries on his crusade in or out of the service, the sixty-ninth congress must deal with the issue he dragged out of departmental dust and obscurity.

WHITE INDIANS.

"White Indians" at Panama, who turn out to be albinos after all, are not so amenable to exploitation as the "blonde Eskimo" discovered by Stefansson. Since Balboa (not Cortez, as Keats had it) and his men stared in silence on a peak of Darien, the natives of the San Blas hinterland have given no end of trouble to outsiders seeking to penetrate their country, and the journals of those who surveyed alternative routines for an Isthmian waterway are full of accounts of these strange, shy people and their jealous suspicion, which can be understood. The recent penetration of their country, though the world was aware that anthropology was the motive, appears to have aroused a furious resentment on the part of folks, "half-devil and half-child," and they are making Panama villages nearest their jungle haunts pay for the excursion of the scientists. In this crisis of midnight forays and counter-attacks, fair words will do more to bring about peace than rifles unequally matched with poisoned arrows, and the Indians have apparently been induced to listen to the commissioners delivering a message of amity. The situation would have supplied Conrad with material for another chapter of "Lord Jim."

REFUGE.

The only refuge from disagreeable conditions and environment outside, is in greatness inside.

There is no use trying to fight littleness with littleness, nor to put out the flames of petty annoyance with the gasoline of opposition.

We must retreat within ourselves and be above the things that annoy us or there is no permanent solution of the question.

I am in receipt of a letter from a man who says as follows:

"I have followed up your editorials on different things for some months, but there is one you forget to write and that is, a wife's attitude to a husband who is sick and out of employment. I am the man, and I haven't education enough to write just as I feel, but I have been put out of a home that I paid rent for just because my wife sees other men stronger and better looking and employed. This just got the woman disgusted with me. I was a jealous man and it came out one evening. Can't you write something that will draw her to her right mind. I have a daughter sixteen years old and she is right with her mother. I do not want her to be against her mother, but how do I feel?

"I am heart-broken. Please do not publish this letter; just write your ideas of it in your earliest publication."

I have not published all of the letter and hence have, to a degree at least, complied with my correspondent's request.

From the whole case, it may be an unpleasant thing to say, but it seems to me the man is suffering from littleness. He has allowed himself to be swamped with self-pity and in circumstances that are disagreeable.

He needs to develop his own soul into strength and courage and patience and to have an outlook, within himself, that shall enable him to see past his immediate vicissitudes.

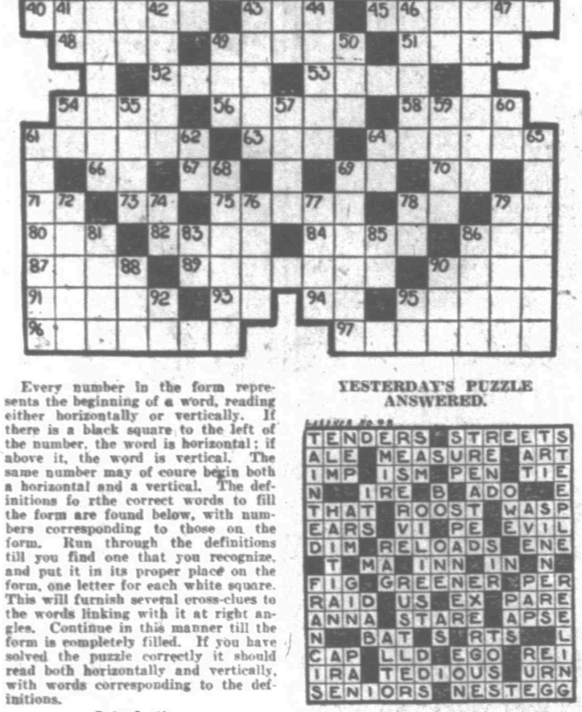

Greatness or loftiness is even better than goodness. The road to it is hard and often lies over one's prostrate self, but the end renders it worth while the taking.

Of course, not being conversant with all of the circumstances, my judgment in this matter may be incorrect, as so much depends upon personalities, but in the average I think that I am right.

Cross-Word Puzzle

Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number, the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may of coure begin both a horizontal and a vertical. The definitions fo rthe correct words to fill the form are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the form. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in its proper place on the form, one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross-clues to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly it should read both horizontally and vertically, with words corresponding to the definitions.

Introduction.

The smartest fashion is to solve a cross word puzzle without a dictionary. Even if this weren't impossible in some puzzles, it is a silly dictum because half the fun of a puzzle is looking through the dictionary and finding queer, interesting words by the way. For instance you meet such fellows as "tchick" and "bdellium" to amuse you. Don't throw away the key to your dictionary!

Horizontal.

1. Act of one that girds.
7. Pertaining to the root.
13. A stranger.
14. A preposition.
16. Electrical Engineer (abbr.)

Irrigation

ADEQUATE FACILITIES FOR DELIVERING WATER.

"Tell them to provide adequate engineering facilities such as canals, laterals, water gates, and so forth, as they will conserve water and prevent the water logging of soils."

The above is another piece of advice given by the lower Rio Grande irrigaton farmers to Dr. Youngblood for transmission to the people of this section.

Instead of applying to the farmers here it is really something for the consideration of the boards of directors of the two irrigation districts.

These Rio Grande men simply mean to say that the project should be complete; that it should have canals which will lead water to every tract to be irrigated; that these canals should be provided with the proper number of taps or outlet boxes, checks, headgates, spillways, etc.

When irrigation was first started in the west it was the practice to have the irrigation companies build only the main canal, or at most a few of the principal laterals. The settlers then got together and built such laterals as might be necessary to supply the lands in their district. Each individual then built his own own supply ditch from the community lateral.

Later on when the Carey Act companies were building projects the law required them to build a lateral within one-half mile of each legal sub-division of 160 acres.

Still later developments in irrigation have shown the advantage of the irrigation company or district building maintaing, and operating the laterals right up to each farm no matter how small.

POEMS THAT LIVE

IN THE FIRELIGHT.

The fire upon the hearth is low,
And there is stillness everywhere,
And, like winged spirits, here and there
The firelight shadows fluttering go.
And as the shadows round me creep,
A childish treble breaks the gloom,
and softly from a father room
Comes: "Now I lay me down to sleep."

And, somehow, with that little prayer
And that sweet treble in my ears,
My thought goes back to distant years,
And lingers with a dear one there;
And as I hear my child's amen,
My mother's faith comes back to me—
Crouched at her side I seem to be,
And mother holds my hands again.

Oh, for an hour in that dear place—
Oh, for the peace of that dear time—
Oh, for that childish trust sublime—
Oh, for a glimpse of mother's face!
Yet, as the shadows round me creep,
I do not seem to be alone—
Sweet magic of that treble tone
And "Now I lay me down to sleep!"
—Eugene Field.

More Truth Than Poetry

A RAY OF SUNSHINE

Though foreigners often have said
That ours is a hard-working race,
Which constantly forges ahead
At a fast and continuous pace,
Though doing our job with all possible speed
Is something we always talk most about,
I've never been one of the folks who agreed
That this was a trait we should boast about.

It's a pity, I always have held,
That a people untrammelled and free
Should be, by blind instinct impelled,
To ape the unreasoning bee.
If work is a curse that was set upon man
(And there seems to be no valid doubt of it)
We ought to be thinking as hard as we can
For good clever ways to get out of it.

And this, so an Englishman finds,
Is the thing we are doing today;
We are busily bending our minds
Toward learning to loaf and to play.
He says our devotion to work is all rot;
He has golfed with our great and illustrious,
And stopped at their houses, and all of the lot
Are everything else but industrious.

This Britisher fills me with cheer,
And brings me a good honest thrill.
If the waning of hustling is here,
There is hope for my countrymen still.
I hope that his theory doesn't go wrong.
We trust he is fully assured of it,
For work is a habit we've had far too long,
And oh! how we yearn to be cured of it!

HEALTHFUL OCCUPATION.

In Rhode Island and Indiana men like to go to the legislature because it keeps them out in the open air.

PRETTY TOUGH.

One can see what the servant problem has come to when the richest heiress in the world has to do her own housework.

THE SINCEREST FORM OF IT.

Charlie Chaplin is suing another actor for imitating him, which seems to show that these movie actors do not crave flattery as much as it is commonly supposed.

WHAT EDITORS ARE SAYING

If you think the critical eyes of the world are not on you, all the time, in everything you do and say, just try to get away with a crooked stunt after everybody has been putting you down as a straight fellow. The real and the life-long crook might do a dozen things worse and they would be hardly noticed, but the first misstep of yours from the path of rectitude wrecks you, brother, and wrecks you right. —Stamford Leader.

There have been several verbal bricks thrown across the floor of the legislature in Austin during the present stormy session, but it remained for Representative Irwin, of Dallas, to get a real one behind the ear as he was going to his hotel. It does not pay to probe, or maybe he probed too deep.—Frederick Leader.

The flu has been getting people down but it has failed to stop old Mr. and Mrs. Gossip.—Foard County News.

Unquestionably the most disagreeable person in the world is the "political preacher," when he is not on your side.—Olney Enterprise.

The "Coolidge on the Farm" film has been withdrawn from the movies. The farmers are sure of that even if the farm relief program, recently put aside, should not be taken up again. —Altus Plain Dealer.

It is now proposed to inoculate oysters against typhoid. Good. Every oyster should be compelled to comply with the law.—Iowa Park Herald.

No one has ever found a substitute for moderation.—Bowie Blade.

HOW IT STARTED

"Knocking the Spots Out of Him."

This is an expression used very frequently in common speech in the sense of overwhelming superiority or a "walk-away" victory. Of late it has come into use to express punishment or chastisement, but it is with the meaning of showing superiority of skill and achieving an easy victory that it had its origin.

The saying comes to us from the days when every household had its firearms and even children were taught to use them. Marksmanship was the great accomplishment. And though William Tell was dared to shoot an apple off his own son's head, the usual test of much vaunted skill in this direction was to make the target a playing card and the man who could "knock the spots" out of this was admitted to be an expert marksman and an easy winner in any contest.

And so the expression has come down to us to be used in the broader application of unquestionable victory in whatever the matter may be that is under discussion.

Spring hay-fever,
We sneeze of thee:
Account of the pollen
Of timothy.

A good cook and a bad grouch.

"There's health in the "dozen,"
In the bath and the rub,
If you'll get up and take it—
Lazy, old Dub.

Contrary to appearance, overweight is not a sign of good health.

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE,

PISCES.

If you have had in contemplation for some time past a decidedly radical change in your surroundings, a breaking off of old and unsatisfactory ties and the formation of new and better associations, there could not be, according to the planetary aspects, a more propitious opportunity for doing so than that offered during the early part of the day. The signs denote that what his hitherto been complex will today be understandable, and the vibrations will furnish the urge to take any step, about the expediency of which you have been in doubt, but about the rightness of which you have always been convinced. The aspects, later on in the day, will be reactionary, but will not militate against the ultimate success of efforts made earlier in the day. In business, only routine matters should, if possible, receive attention, and speculation or risk avoided.

The child born today is destined, despite the numerous ailments to which it will be subject during infancy, to develop along physically normal lines, provided that it be properly nurtured, and surrounded with wholesome environment. Its disposition will be a cheerful one, and it will be gifted with a keen sense of humor. Its character, whilst not very firm, will be attractive, and it will have a very magnetic personality. Owing to the natural charm of its mannerisms, it will, probably, attain material success ver yeasily. This will not be an unmixed blessing, as the child will intutitvely acquire the habit of exploiting its inherent gifts, without striving to give them a sure and solid foundation.

Those of you who today celebrate the anniversary of your birth, are, for the most part, very forceful, extremely ambitious, and industrious, but your forcefulness often falls short of the mark, as a consequence of cocksureness and lack of judicial temperament. It is most unfortunate, for the success of your many well conceived plans, that you can see no other point of view than your own, and neither seek nor listen to the well meant advice of others. "Too many cooks spoil the broth," is an adage both trite and apt. On the other hand, it must not be forgotten that "two heads are better than one." In your politics, religion, business and home, you are, in your opinion, always right, even though this attitude forces you sometimes to the conclusion that all others except yourself are out of step.

Outside of this glaring weakness, you are, when allowed your own way, a very likable person, and those of your friends, who, realizing your character, never attempt to argue with you, find you sincere and loyal, and those bound to you by cler[illegible]ties are the recipients of an ever abi[illegible] and never changing love.

Successful people born on this date are: Francis Wayland, educator, president of Brown university; James Speed, lawyer, attorney-general under Lincoln; Thomas Le Clear, portrait painter; Henry J. Bigelow, surgeon and educator; James H. Spotts, rear-admiral, a distinguished officer of the Civil war; Thomas Hastings, architect.

BATTERED SAFE FOUND

Strong-Box Taken From America Filling Station Located.

A chisel and seldge hammer completed the work of the thieves who some time Sunday night removed the office safe of the American Refining company filling station at Ninth and Brook, it was revealed early Tuesday afternoon when the looted strongbox was found on a country road a mile and a quarter west of the old Rod and Gun club lake west of town. The bottom had been cut and batered out and all the cash, with the exception of $1.45, removed.

The safe was found by City Plainclothesmen Bryan and Allen who ran down clues obtained in the finding of some checks along the Iowa Park road. Checks to the amount of $80 were recovered with the safe.

The big box was ruined in the opening process and will be of no further use. It has been returned to the refining company.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

WHEN A MIDDLE-AGED HUSBAND TIRES OF HIS OLD WIFE AND STARTS LOOKING FOR A 1926 MODEL, IT IS HER DUTY TO STAND BY HIM UNTIL THE INDIAN SUMMER ROMANCE HAS PASSED.

A group of women were discussing the case of another woman whose husband had tired of her at middle age and was trying to get her to give him a divorce. It is the most common of all tragedies, and the most heart breaking, for to lose a husband by death is as nothing compared to losing him through disloyalty.

The widow's grief is, at least, a clean grief. She has the consolation of her memories of a fine, true man and the knowledge that she did not give her love unworthily, while the deserted wife has nothing but bitter pealousies, futile regrets and the searing knowledge that through the long years she has fed her heart to a dog.

Yet this happens every day. Men grow weary of their perfectly good wives, as they do of their last year's automobile, and with no more reason. Both are doing their work perfectly, but the paint has worn off a little and the men just naturally want a new 1926 model, with streamline effect, that can hit it up to ninety miles an hour and break all the speed laws. And so the old wife and the old car go into the discard, and the problem of what the forsaken wife is to do is just as unsolvable as what to do with the used cars.

It was this question of whether a woman whose husband wishes to be rid of her should sit tight or give him his freedom that these women were dissasing.

"Well," said one woman, "my husband would not have to ask me for a divorce but once. I would hand it to him on a silver salver. I can't imagine a woman having little enough pride to hang on to the coat tails of a man who is sick and tired of her, and who has come to loathe the very sight of her. When love is dead, the only decent thing is to bury it, not to keep the rotting corpse hanging about your neck, vainly trying to breathe the breath of life into it.

"Of course, it is a hard thing for a woman to face the fact that the husband she still loves cares nothing for her, and she goes through hell itself when the man she gave her youth to, whom she worked for, and scrimped and saved for, and who has literally climbed to fortune and place on her shoulders, wants to kick her out like a wornout old horse, but I cannot see that she gains anything in the way of happiness or peace by forcing him to continue in a relationship that has grown repulsive to him, and by binding him to her by fetters that gall him.

"When you have to have a major operation, have it done quickly and get it over with. So I say that it is better for the woman to give her husband the freedom he craves and take a fresh start and build her life along new lines. Thank God there are a number of things in the world besides philandering husbands!

"It wouldn't take me more than two minutes to forget a man who had so little sense of duty; so little loyalty and appreciation that he could forget twenty years of devotion, of struggles together; who could forget the children a woman has borne him and the little coffins they have wept over for the first flapper who came his way and made eyes at him. Good riddance of bad rubbish, say I."

"Wrong, all wrong," replied another woman, "you are looking at the matter from the woman's point of view. Perhaps it would be better for a wife to end her hopes and fears once and for all by divorce, instead of living on with a man who humiliates her every day of her life by making her see that she bores him, that she no longer has any attractions for him and that he considers that she is acting the dog-in-the-manger part by not letting him go to his new love.

"But you forget that it is a part of a wife's obligation to protect her husband, and to save him, if she possibly can, from wrecking his life. And if she refuses to get a divorce she can at least keep him from taking the last fatal step in folly that would bring unending misery upon him.

"For these hectic love affairs of middle-aged men are nearly always a passing infatuation. They are the last flare-up of youth and romance, a false fire that burns down to ashes if you only have the patience to wait on it.

"All of us who have children know what it is to nurse a baby through its second summer when it is cutting teenth, and we know that if we can get it through that trying time the child is reasonably safe.

"I is the same way with our husbands. Around about the time when he's 50 nearly every man has a second summer of sentimentality, and if we can nurse him through that while he is cutting his wisdom teeth he is safe for the balance of his life. Bpt it is a trying time for them and for us, particularly if our husbands have made money, for it is then that the gold-diggers are after them.

"It is then that a man kids himself into thinking that he is just as young as he was when he was 21, and that his wife is too old for him. It is then that he wants to run around with flappers and believes that a girl young enough to be his daughter loves him for himself alone. And it is then that a woman should stand by and rescue her husband from the harpies that prey on middle-aged men with fat pocketbooks.

"For the men are self-deceived. They aren't really young. They only think they are. They are just as middle-aged and settled as their wives are. They are not really in love. They are too old for the grand passion. Their little near-romance soon evaporates into thin air. Nor are the women in love with them. They are only marrying the men for meal tickets, and ninety-nine times out a hundred the man who has swapped his old wife for a new one bitterly regrets his bargain.

"And so I say that a woman should refuse to give her husband a divorce just to keep him from making this terrible mistake."

"The most unhappy man I know is a man who forced his wife to divorce him so that he could marry a beautiful young girl," remarked a third woman. "He told me that he had been married to her but three days before he realized that they had nothing in common, that he was an old man tied to a girl who cared nothing for him except what he could give her.

"And he said that when he thought of his wife, who had given him a lifetime of devotion, he wept tears of remorse.

"He said that if only his wife had had patience to have borne with him a little while he would have waked up from his day dream and it would have saved them both."

"Anyway it goes," said the first woman, "it is the woman who is left with the bag to hold."

Dirt, Disease and Work

Most housewives spend a great portion of their time in the kitchen, hence it should be kept free from dirt and dust.

Compare the coal heated houses with those who enjoy the advantages of natural gas. Note the dirt against cleanliness. See in your mind's eye the amount of extra work the task of keeping clean calls for in coal heated home. That will cause you to greater appreciate the great advantages of the natural gas service you enjoy.

STUCCO OFFERS BUILDER WIDE FINISH VARIETY

So many home builders are interested in stucco and its possibilities in texture, color and service, we are glad to quote here what the Portland Cement Association says about stucco as an exterior finish.

"It is a material that meets with the ready approval of the owner, who appreciates the rich, attractive effects which can be obtained by the use of stucco, and the architect, who welcomes a medium in which the ideals of texture and color harmonies can be so easily and effectively carried out.

Stucco in Many Finishes

"The variety of textural finishes that can be produced in stucco is endless so that anyone's taste can be gratified; if no previously used texture is acceptable, new ones can be developed, as is constantly being done by stucco specialists who know the possibilities of their medium. The stuccoed wall makes an excellent background for shrubs and for vines, which find the roughness of the surface well adapted for tenacious clinging. The importance of this feature is best appreciated by those who realize the dollars and cents value of beautiful shrubs and vines in the improvement of property.

"The economy of stucco is not the least appealing of its good qualities. The materials from which it is made are available everywhere. Its application is not so difficult but that good stucco workmen can be obtained in any locality. Stucco surfaces are permanent in color and texture; the fact that they need not be renewed every year or two means that expensive paint bills are practically eliminated. Depreciation is also reduced and a material saving is effected on the miscellaneous upkeep and repair costs pertaining to any building. Further economies result from the increased fire safety of stuccoed houses, for since stucco is an incombustible material, it is evident that it would lessen danger from fires of exterior origin and tend to prevent the spread of fire in densely built up sections.

"Standard methods of applying stucco are outlined in the specifications prepared by the American Concrete Institute. Briefly, these specifications require that standard Portland cement be used; that the aggregate be clean, coarse sand or stone screenings, well graded up to ¼ inch in size; that the water be clean and free from oil, acid, alkali or vegetable matter; that masonry surfaces to which the stucco is applied be thoroughly cleaned and wetted sufficiently to prevent undue absorption of moisture from the stucco; that the ingredients of stucco be thoroughly mixed in the proportion by volume of one part of cement to three parts of aggregate, with only sufficient water added to produce a good workable consistency, and that if hydrated lime be used, not more than 20 per cent by volume, of the amount of cement, should be added; that the application proceed continuously in one general direction without allowing the stucco to dry at the edge, taking advantage of a natural break, such as a window or door, to stop work when necessary; and that protection from hot sun rays or drying winds be given subsequent to application for a period of 48 hours and the stucco kept damp by sprinkling for an additional five day period, so that it will harden slowly, and develop maximum strength and resistance to weather."

OF INTEREST TO NEWLY WEDS

Copyright 1924—Architects' Small House Service Bureau. Plan No. 4A34.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN
FOR NARROW LOT

FIRST FLOOR PLAN FOR WIDE LOT

THIS Colonial bungalow, plan 4-A-34, should be of special interest to younger people getting started in life, or to older folks who have given up the larger house and want less room. It is a home for a small family. It provides nearly every comfort and convenience demanded by the modern housewife. Among its many advantages are those of reasonable building costs and adaptability to a narrow lot.

Because the house is comfortably close to the ground it promises a cool interior in the summer time. The overhang of the eaves casts an attractive and welcome band of shadow across the window tops. The roof is ventilated by a half-moon window in the gable.

At the side is an open porch of generous dimensions, restful and inviting. This porch is a particular advantage, for its convenience to the kitchen permits its use as an outdoor dining room. On cooler days the table may be set either before the open fire in the living room or in a bright corner of the kitchen.

When you enter this house from the end, consider the vista. The whole living room lies before you. At the far end is the fireplace, beyond it a glimpse of the sunny dining corner, and through the door at the left you look out upon the open porch.

Corner cupboards, provided with enough shelves and drawers to delight the most exacting woman, are on each side of the sink, just where they are most convenient in connection with the preparation and serving of meals. Beneath the cupboard nearest the back door is the refrigerator.

The large, comfortable living room has windows and doors on two sides. The wall space has been carefully planned for large pieces of furniture. On one side of the hearth is a coat closet. An inner hallway leads past the bed rooms, which have liberal closet space and two windows each. Outside the bathroom door are built-in shelves for linen.

If your lot is 50 feet or more in width, the house may be placed lengthwise, with the main entrance to the living room through the side door. If your lot is not so wide, the narrow side may be placed toward the street, and the porch and entrance detail adjusted to your taste. The drawings show how this can be done.

If desired this plan can be turned so that the entrance is through the side of the living room. The plans show how this can be done.

There is a full basement beneath the house.

The construction is frame. The exterior wide siding; the roof shingles.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The plans for small homes are furnished by the Regional Bureau of the Architect's Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., an organization made up of the representative practicing architects from leading architectural offices throughout the United States. This bureau is controlled by the American Institute of Architects, and has the endorsement of the Department of Commerce, United States government. It is practically a non-profit making public service, and has as its purpose the furnishing of a very complete and dependable small house plan service at modest cost. For information regarding the blue prints and specifications, address the Home Building Editor of this paper. The United States bureau maintains an information department to answer home builders' questions at no charge. Enclose stamped addressed envelope.

WHAT YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW ABOUT BUILDING

Questions addressed to the paper will be answered by the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects and indorsed by the department of commerce, United States government. Inclose self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

A—Run the stack three feet higher than the ridge.

Q—We are told not to stucco our house as soon as it is built, but to wait till spring for fear that the house may settle and our stucco crack. Is this good advice?

A—There is something in this. However, there is no need of waiting so long. If you build your house in the spring and stucco it in the fall by that time all the settlement will probably have taken its course. It would be wise to put on the waterproofing, metal lath and the first coat of stucco directly after the house is built.

Q—What is the ideal exposure for the different rooms of an ordinary home?

A—The living room and living porch should be to the south or southwest, the dining room should have an eastern exposure for morning light, the principal bedrooms should have advantage of the best summer breeze. The best outlook from the living rooms shall be given much consideration in arranging the rooms and facing the house.

Q—The house next door to mine has been built on the edge of the lot with the cornice extending over onto my property. Is there a certain time after which this property covered by this cornice is no longer mine?

A—You will certainly lose your rights if the cornice stays there beyond a period provided for by the statutes of your state. If you think that at some future time you may wish to have that cornice out of the way, you had better have it adjusted now or make some definite arrangement with your neighbor whereby for a compensation he may keep his cornice where it is for a limited time. Have this agreement written out and a copy filed with your recorder.

Q—How much extra will it cost to add a fireplace to our house while building. Can much be saved by building an inside fireplace instead of an outside one?

A—The extra cost for a fireplace ranges between $250 and $400, depending on how many flues it contains, its size, height, the design of the mantel, and so on. An inside fireplace saves the difference in cost between face brick and common brick for that part of the stack which is within the house above grade. This is not a very considerable sum.

Lockhart Well Guage 135 Bbls. For First 20 Hrs.

38 Degree Gravity Oil From New Caldwell County Producer

LOCKHART, March 10.—Storey and LeFever's No. 1, Brewer, seven miles northeast of Lockhart in Caldwell county, near Lytton Springs, flowed 135 barrels in the first 24 hours guaged from sand at 1,252 feet.

Five new locations have been announced—Evan Oil company on the Brewer, Gulf on the Beatty, Armstrong Brothers on the Riddle, Grayburg Oil company on the Cardwell and Sun Oil company on the Rew Gomillion, all nearby.

The Evans Oil company has begun laying a four-inch water line from Lytton Springs, two and one-half miles away, and will supply water from the tanks and springs there for drilling purposes.

The oil from the well tests 38 degrees gravity.

She Wanted Water Worse Than Oil

LOCKHART, March 10.—"If it had been a stream of good clear water shooting up over the top of the derrick I would have been more satisfied than I am to see the oil."

That's what Mrs. J. C. Brewer, farm owner on which Caldwell county's newest pool has been opened, thinks of the oil. She would rather see a good artesian well supplying enough water to insure a crop on her 300 acres of rich farm land than all the oil in Caldwell county, she says.

The water problem at Lytton Springs promises to be as great for the drillers as for the crops. The entire length of the Lytton Springs creek has been leased for water rights by companies, and other possible sources for drilling water have been grabbed, lock, stock and barrel.

WORTHAM CRUDE BRINGS $2.30

Contracted for at That Price, New York Dispatch Says.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Advices f rmoTexas state that a contract has been closed for 100,000 barrels of Wortham crude oil at $2.30 per barrel, an advance of 30 cents a barrel.

Action o nthe reorganization plans of the Standard Tank Car company has been deferred by stockholders until March 16, when they will vote on a new issue of preferred stock and retirement of the present trust certificates for new ones bearing a lower rate of interest.

Wells-Guiberson Interests Sold

VERNON, March 10.—The independent Oil and Refining company of Okmulgee closed a deal here today for the Wells-Guiberson lease, the east 40 acres of the southeast quarter of section 99, H&TCRR survey, block 14, Wilbarger county, for a reported consideration of $400,000.

The lease contains three wells and two drilling wells and a production of possibly 500 barrels a day.

The lease was on Waggoner land.

J. K. HUGHES BUYS OXFORD'S WORTHAM

CORSICANA, March 10.—A deal has been closed between the J. K. Hughes Development company and the Oxford Oil company for the Oxford Wortham holdings. The consideration was not disclosed.

The property consists of four acres with three wells producing 800 barrels of oil a day.

News of the Fields

Atlantic, Burnett

The Atlantic Oil Producing company and Everest were bailing late yesterday afternoon on their No. 1, Burnett, located in the northwest corner of the southwest 40 acres of the northeast quarter of section 2, William Carrol survey, abstract 234, south of Burke Station, Wichita county. Sand was topped at 1,540 feet.

The well is located a mile or so east of the Fowlkes Station production.

Atlantic, Parrish

The Atlantic Oil Producing company has set casing on a sand at 1,558-50 feet in their No. 1, Parrish "C," in the southeast corner of the southwest 40 acres of the southwest quarter of the H&TCRR survey, abstract 1197, north Archer county.

The well s located west of the regular Parrsh producton here.

Skinner, Newton

Skinner et al are shut down for water at about 1,300 feet in their No. 1, Newton, located in the center of the north line of block 3028, TE& LCO survey, northeast of the town of Throckmorton, Throckmorton county.

Wells, et al, Waggoner

Wells and others are shut down for water at about 850 feet on their No. 1, Waggoner, in the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 21, H&TCRR survey, block 14, Wilbarger county, after drilling up a bailer at about 800 feet.

Montague Test

Daniels and Rutis were coring ahead yesterday in their No. 1 Howard, Finis Robertson survey, north Montague county, with the well showing oil from sand at 1,270-80 feet.

White Bros., Kunkel

White Brothers expected to drill in last night on their No. 5, Kunkel, third location east from the southwest corner of their 54 acres, on the east side of the Carey district, south Archer county. Casing had been set in the lime at 1,141 feet, below which it was expected to go into the sand, the well having been bailed dry preparatory to drilling in. The depth, 1,141 feet, indicates and eastward dip to the producing stratum that may confine the pool to even smaller limits than at first expected.

The No. 4, in the northwest corner of the same lease, was reported yesterday making a casing seat below 1,100 feet.

S. E. Company, Pace

The Southern Exploration company is drilling at a depth of 1,518 feet in its No. 1, Pace, block 112, Harris subdivision of the Club ranch, central Archer county. The well will be drilled to 1,600 feet.

S. E. COMPANC, Dunn .. 6 ....A.

The Southern Exploration company was coring yesterday into a sand encountered at 1,749 feet in their No. 1, Dunn, Byers subdivision, in the Petrolia district, Clay county. Decision as to whether to set casing and test was being withheld pending taking of a core.

Texas Company, Hill

The Texas company's No. 3, Hill, offsetting its No. 1 producer, south line of the north half of block 2406, TE&LCO survey, west end of the Harmel pool, is standardizing with a sand at 1,365-72 feet.

Muse et al, Schlegel hole partially filled with oil from Muse and Robertson's No. 1, Schlegel, in the northwest corner of the Muse-Robertson south 20 acres, BBB &CRR survey, abstract 31, is going on the pump with the expectation of making a 40-50 barrel well from about eight feet of sand picked up at 1,183 feet. The well constitutes a small southeastward extension to the Gambrell pool northwest of Olney in Young county.

Noble Well

Reports from the Sloan-Browning-Whatley (Noble) well in the center of section 42, H&TCRR survey, block 14, Wilbarger county, are that it is flowing through 3 1-2 inch casing at a rate of about 150 barrels a day from sand at a corrected depth of 2,246 feet. The tsring of small casing was run successfully, but the well to date has failed to live up its initial promise.

Texhoma, Burnett

The Texhoma Oil and Refning company and Cullum's No. B-3, Burnett, south of Fowlkes Staton, Wichita county, are on the sand at 1,808-11 feet with casing eet at 1,794 feet.

East Carey Test

Petroleum Producers and Andrade et al are again today below 1,300 feet after finishing a fishing job which held them up for some time on their No. 1, Kunkel, in the southwest corner of their 51 acres east of the Carey district, south Archer county.

1,000 Present at Reeves Funeral

BURKBURNETT, March 10.—More than 1,000 persons here attended the funeral services held Tuesday afternoon for Dr. D. H. Reeves, well known Burkburnett physician who died Sunday night in Wichita Falls after a long illness with heart trouble. Theservices were held in the First Methodist church, which was packed to capacity with more persons on the outside than were able to get in.

The rites were conducted by Dr. M. L. Hamilton, pastor of the church, assisted by the local Masonic lodge of which Dr. Reeves was a member. Members of the local chapters of Elks, Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias also attended in a body.

Following the funeral, the remains were sent by the Collier Brothers undertaking company to Ridgeway, S. C., for burial, accompanied by a brother, Dr. E. E. Reeves of Pittsburg, Pa.

Mrs. Reeves, who was prostrated with grief, was too ill to attend the funeral.

LFET HAND TURNS ALLOWED

Police Will Permit Extra Turns At Seventh-Scott, and Eighth-Ohio.

Seventh and Scott and Eighth and Ohio intersections were added Tuesday as corners where left hand turns may be made by automobiles. This makes three corners in the business district where such turns are permissable. The third is at Tenth and Lamar.

The police department has found by experiment that the ban against left hand turns at those three intersections was working an undue hardship on the motoring public, and for that reason the turns are being allowed on the green light.

Some difficulty is still being found with drivers who persist in making right hand turns against red lights. Orders have been issued time and again against the practice and prosecutions are to be made if the violations do not cease.

Galveston Court Is Social Asset To City-Holbrook

Senator Against Change As Judge Plays Cards With Him

AUSTIN, March 10—(AP)—Senators permitted a bit of levity to creep into the decorum of the upper house today, while the senator from Galveston, Mr. Holbrook, and the senator from Houston, Mr. Murphy, twitted each other in a neighborly fashion over the perennial proposition to remove the first court of civil appeals from Galveston to Houston.

The court has found its abode in Galveston for about a quarter of a century; but every two years, according to Senator Holbrook of Galveston, his colleague from the neighboring city on the ship channel tries to coax the senate into moving this court to Houston.

The proposal bobbed up today as a amendment to a bill by Senator Moore creating a new court of civil appeals at Greenville. This always means a re-arrangement of all the civil appeals courts.

Calls It Social Asset.

Holbrook said the court was a social asset to Galveston and if it were removed he wouldn't have "anybody to play bridge or pinochle with," which he submitted were among the recreations of the court.

"Senator Murphy attempts this thing from year to year, from session to session and from generation to generation," said Senator Holbrook. "It's his hobby. Nobody demands removal of the court; nobody wants to move it but Senator Murphy. The court has been in Galveston for 25 years. They are well taken care of. We have supplied their quarters and a library. The judges themselves want it to remain there."

Senator Murphy retorted that "90 per cent of the cases in the court come from Houston." He said the judges wanted to move it to Houston because all three members of the court and their families now live in Houston.

Quotes Chief Justice.

"The chief justice, whom you play cards with, has told me that you have misquoted him about this thing," said Senator Murphy, to Holbrook. "What the chief justice said was that he didn't want to take any part in the controversy."

Senator Ward pleaded with the senators "to let her (Galveston) have that little court to keep her stimulated."

"Houston," he said, "is getting everything she asks for. She has a handsome, bright senator here and many other resources. Let's stop the fussing and let the senators from Galveston and Houston be harmonious hereafter."

In spite of Holbrook's plea, the bill with its amendment moving the Galveston court was sent to engrossment by a vote of 17 to 8. Senator Holbrook later said it didn't have a chance to pass, and that the senators were "only fooling."

GLOVER ADDRESSES CLUB

University Club Hears Explanation of X-Ray By Local Physician.

Dr. Milton H. Glover addressed members of the University club Tuesday noon at the weekly luncheon at the Kemp hotel on "Treatment and Use of X-Ray in Medicine and Surgery," telling of the comparatively new science. His talk was illustrated with displays of the various types of X-Ray tubes, and at the close of the lecture, negative of X-Ray pictures were shown in the darkened dining room before the audience.

The club will be addressed next week by Dr. Q. B. Lee on "The Advancement in Medicine and Surgery During the Past 25 Years," it was announced by the president of the club, Dr. J. W. Cantwell.

SPEAKING OF PITCHERS

The Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast League claims the phenoms of all phenoms. He is Dr. G. B. Stewart of Stockton, Mo., signed by Salt Lake as a hurler. The medico is a big southpaw who won twenty out of the twenty-three complete games he pitched last season. In the 20 complete games he struck out 387 batsmen for an average of 16 plus per game. For nine straight games he averaged 18 strikeouts. He ended the season by hurling a non hit, no run game and fanning 22 batsmen. The Nevada club of Missouri, a championship aggregation, borrowed George Lyons from the Braves to hurl at Stewart, but the left-hander beat the former Brown star 1 to 0 in 14 innings. Scouts predict Stewart will move up to the majors this year, probably at some big price.

Two Forign Derby Favorites.

Two of the early favorites for the Kentucky Derby, Master Charlie and Nicholas, are English born and honors in the fifty-first renewal of the classic, which will be run at Churchill Downs, Louisville, on Saturday, May 16, may fall to a thoroughbred of foreign breeding or blood. No derby of the immediate past has had more candidates of genuine class of foreign antecedents.

Master Charlie, son of Lord Archer, and Nicholas, son of Stefan the Great, were brought as weanlings in Great Britain by Phillip T. Chinn of the Himyar Stud of Kentucky. They were sold as yearlings at Saratoga in the summer of 1923. Master Charlie won renewals of the Tijuana Futurity, the Colorado, Hopeful and Kentucky Jockey club stakes, earning more than $95,000. His purchase price at the sale was only $1,000.

Nicholas was bought by Frank Farrell of New York for $4,500. He won a maiden race at Aqueduct and the Albany Handicap and Sanford Memorial stakes at Saratoga and the Babylon Handicap at Aqueduct. After his second triumph at Saratoga Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt II paid Farrell $60,000 for him.

Pack and Tribe Hook up Friday In Practice Tilt

Indians Romp Through A Snappy Workout Tuesday

Coach Bubs Mosley joyfully acclaimed Tuesday afternoon the fact that he had stumbled upon a new slab artist of no mean ability in young Bill Kelm. "Big Bill" is the third member of the Indian mound staff to come forth and give Mosley a good corps to work on in the coming season.

The big chief of the tribe also found a new maskman in Ray Hershi to help in the work of handling the offerings of Crites, Deems and Kelm.

The Tribe romped through a two-inning practice tilt that showed up many fine points in the team. Caskey caught a fine game from his position behind the plate. Jack Thurman put up a great battle at the keystone bag. John Clary looked good with the willow by driving the old agate far and wide in the practice session.

The Indians and Coyotes will possibly mix it next Friday in a practice game to see what can be done with Henderson's sluggers.

FINANCE FOURSOME FAILS.

One Millionaire Skeptical About Merits of Golf.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Wall street learned today of the failure of plans for a two-million dollar foursome on the golf linnks at Jekyl Island, Ga.

J. P. Morgan, George F. Baker, Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City bank, and Alvin W. Krech, chairman of the Equitable Trust company, were involved in the plans for the match. Efforts were made last week to bring together the four who represent institutions with assets well above two billion dollars.

The proposal failed through the opposition of Mr. Krech, who is skeptical regarding the merits of golf as a pastime. The other three are enthusiastic about it and Mr. Baker is playing 12 holes a day on the island, or four more than John D. Rockefeller does at Ormond Beach, Fla.

Mr. Baker, who is 84 years old, learned to play golf after he was 70 years old. He also learned how to smoke cigarettes after his 70th birthday.

REUNION INTEREST GROWING

Many Wichitans Expected to Attend Annual Convention in May

The annual Confederate veterans' reunion to be held in Dallas in May will attract a large number of Wichitans, in the belief of Judge Edgar Scurry of this city to whom a large number fo requests for information on the convention are being received. Because of the nearness of the convention city and the excellent entertainment advantages it offers it is thought Wichita Falls, as well as this section of the state, will be well represented.

Judge Scurry finds interest in the reunion keen even at this early date. A number have approached him asking data on hotel accommodations, railway fare and other essential items.

JAIL ANNEX STARTED

Foundation Work Is Almost Finished; Capacity of Bastile to Be Doubled

Laying of foundations for the new county jail annex is progressing rapidly and actual construction work on the new structure will be started within a day or two, it was stated Tuesday. The addition to the bastile will about double its capacity and will do much to relieve the congestion now felt.

FORT WORTH YOUNGSTER AND WEWOKA WILDCAT SUBSTITUTE FOR DARCY-TRAMMEL SCRAP

Oklahoman Comes Rated As Classiest In Southwest At His Weight—Dicky Trains With Duke

Norba Vance, called the "Wewoka Wildcat" by Oklahoma mitten enthusiasts, versus Dicky Dixon, Fort Worth featherweight flash!

That's the feature event of Thursday night's American legion fistic program which is being put on especially for the entertainment of Skipper Tanner's Spudders in spring training now at Athletic park.

The legion had billed Jack Darcy, brother of the Australian Les, with Duke Trammel o fFort Worth at the urgent request of Darcy who declared that he would slap Dukum for a row of spirits of ammonia bottles before ten two-minute rounds could be traveled, fistically speaking. But Jack has departed, surreptiously, and phantomlike. Neither whence nor whither, can Promoter Wofford tell you.

He worked out a couple of days under the close scrutiny of several locally famous fight critics, uttered a few more boasts, challenged Wichita Falls and the world at large, but failed to receive the stamp of approval of the sporting gentry of this city. Evidently miffed by the lack of enthusiasm displayed by those who saw him in action the two occasions, and possibly fearing that after all, everything might not be as rosy as he had thought when he stepped into the hempen square with the Cowtown puncher, Jacques betook himself from our midst.

Another "Champion."

Promoter Wofford believes the Vance-Dixon go will be a whizz. Vance is hailed as the champ of the southwest, more or less. Not so long ago he cracked the well-known Duke Devol on the frontpiece for a quartet of flops, and has otherwise displayed a prowess that should some day rate him as one of the best of the topnotchers in his class. That the little fellow is no slouch can be reckoned when it is divulged that Hamp Brown, fighting welter who has battled many times before Wichita Falls fans, has been signed solely as his sparring partner. Hamp has done little scrapping of late, but has devoted his waking moments to giving and taking with Vance.

If Vance is as good as all this, the writer said to Wofford, what chance does the frail Dixon stand with him? The promoter came back with a quick shot and parry.

Dixon Going Good.

"Dixon," chartled Don, "as you know, is no slouch himself. He fought here several times last summer, and went over well. But Dicky was not in the best of condition. Working in a department store down in Fort Worth he was unable to take care of himself as much as he should. But Dixon is doing nothing but fighting these days. Why just last week he knocked out Jack Arnold of Dallas in a Dallas ring. The Dallas News said the next morning that he was the best boy who has appeared in a Dallas match for the past several years.

Trammel vouches for Dixon's condition. In fact, the Duke has taken an interest in him, and works out with him daily in their Fort Worth gym.

The scrap is to be over the ten-round route.

Two other bouts and a negro battle royal have been lined up. Tabby Levine, Wichita Falls feather, is to step with Eddie Snelson of Fort Worth in a six-rounder. Snelson last week knocked out the elder of the two Kid Mprdocks in Breckenridge. Murdock not so long ago fought Tabby to a draw.

Jack Williamson of Oklahoma City and Sammy Riley of Altus, welters, are to mix it in another six-rounder.

The main events will be worked out in the legion hall this afternoon at 3:30 said Woffard.

JACK DELANEY TAKES PLACE WITH JACK THE GIANT KILLER

Ovila Chapdelaine, That's His Real Name, Stops All the Highly Touted Boys In Four Rounds

By ROBERT EDGREN.

Jack Delaney takes place in history with Jack the Giant Killer. He is the long, lean Canadian who makes a favorite sport of knocking gents loose from their reputations.

Delaney's real name is Ovila Chapdelaine. The first time he fought the announcer forgot his name and stuttered: "In this corner—now—in this corner that chape Delaney." Delaney being a good fighting handle Ovila kept it and addled "Jack" because half the Canadian fighters were already known as Mike and Pat. Delaney was born in St. Francis, Canada, year 1900 of French-American parents.

Delaney has more intelligence than the average boxer. He uses his brain while fighting, instead of being content to swing his fists for general results. As a result he is unmarked after a lot of hard fights—hard for the other fellows, that is. Jack was once knocked out, by Augie Ratner. Jimmy Slattery outdanced him a couple of times. Delaney has been known to fight indifferently well, usually when he had a cold in the head or something. Nobody ever accused him of being chilled below the ankles.

Stops Boys With Rep.

His chief amusement is knocking out some bird who has been plastered all over the news for a few months and has achieved a reputation. As far back as four years ago Bert Colima was the big wow in Pacific coast fight circles, and was sent east to clean up and win the middleweight heampionship. Colima's enthusiastic followers expected him to turn that little trick withing three or four weeks—that's how good they thought he was. Delaney knocked Bert for a return ticket in just seven rounds.

After that, a year or so later, Delaney met George Shade of the celebrated Shade family, and pulled him down in the first round. This might have attracted more attention to Delaney if Jack hadn't been flatened in a round himself, by Augie Ratner, who neve had a massacre punch. Delaney has an off night now and then. This was one.

Last year Ovila Jack began to shine like a regular star. Paul Berlenbach had been piling up a world's knockout record when he was matched against Delaney. Dan Hickey thought "Punch 'em Paul" would do best by rushing Delaney steadily until the knockout. Paul tried it and slapped Jack around the ring considerably until the fourth round, although dropped once in the third. As the fourth started Paul leaped across the ring catching Delaney in his corner. Rising, Jack pulled his right fist up from somewhere around the bottom rung of his chair and handed it to Berlenbach just below the left ear, dropping him. Berlenbach was knocked helpless by the punch, and after going down a second time for another count of eight he reeled around the rin wide open for the finishing blow Delaney was preparing to deliver, when referee O'Sullivan stepped in and caught Berlenbach in his arms to save him. It was technically a knocyout but for the referee.

Then Came Tiger.

That fight made Delaney famous, and he traveled around boxing fairly good middleweights but doing nothing sensational, for a few months. He even lost one six-round decision to Jimmy Slattery.

This winter one Tiger Flowers hopped into the middle of the limelight and looked like a regular kayo king. He flattened Tut Jackson, Jamaica Kid, Battling McGhee and other large and rugged gentlemen of color, and wound up by knocking out Johnny Wilson, former middleweight champion, in three rounds.

All of this entitled Tiger Flowers to go against Jack Delaney, and when they met in the Garden Flowers was a big favorite in the betting. Tex Rickard having named him as a likely successor to Harry Greb.

Delaney boxed in his usual deceptive style, evading Flowers' terrific attacks by so small a margin that it looked as if he might be knocked out any minute, but remaining unhurt and ready t otake advantage of an opening. It came when Flowers was rushing savagely. Delaney whipped in a right uppercut to his chin and the referee could have counted a thousand before Flowers knew what struck him. In fact the knockout was so sudden and unexpected that Flowers' manager let out a loud shriek the next day, claiming Delaney had a hunk of lead in his glove. What promised to be an interesting scandal was dissipated by the boxing commission, which investigated the charges and decided that they were of the pipe dream variety. However, scandal is hard to down, and Flowers, after winning several fights with knockouts, was given a return match with Delaney February 26.

Jack Wastes No Time.

This time Delaney punched Flowers dizzy, and early in the fourth round dropped him with a right hand punch on the jaw. Flowers got up, but evidently was deciding that fighting was no business. He ducked to the floor when Delaney was about to let one go, and Delaney ran over him the way Gunboat Smith ran over Carpentier in London. Referee Haley asked the commissioners at the ringside for advice, gave the fighters five minutes' rest while the conference went on, and started them again.

Delaney wasted no more time, but knocked the Tiger person out with a healthy right on the chin. Then he had his gloves cut off in the ring and exhibited them to prove there was nothing in them but a row of knuckles wrapped in soft tape.

As Delaney can easily make the middleweight limit a young gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Harry Greb, is likely to be offered an interesting evening in the near future.

MYER PRINCESTIN DIES.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Myer Princestin, former world's record holder in the running broad jump and winner of Olympic championship in 1900, 1904 and 1908 for the United States, died today at Mount Sinai hospital. He was 45 years old.

ATZ ARRIVES AT CAMP

FORT WORTH, March 10.—Jake Atz, veteran leader of the Panthers, arrived this morning from his winter home in New Orleans to assume charge of the squad. Pitcher Kemner arrived this morning from Quincy, Ills.

But Seven Vets of 1924 Return To Houston Fold

New Pitchers To Replace Dick Knight And Barfoot

ONLY TWO HOLDOUTS

McCurdy And McCarty To Sign Their 1925 Contracts

HOUSTON, March 10.—Only seven of the 17 athletes who were on the Houston payroll at the opening of the 1924 Texas League baseball campaign seem destined to perform in Buff uniforms this season. The survivors, two of whom are still unsigned, are Harry McCurdy, John McCarty, Del Gainer, Hap Hollohan, Johnny Kane, Peter Compton and Marvin Goodwin. The Mac brothers, Harry and John, are the two who have not bound themselves to new contracts. However, the differences between the players and the owners are not great.

Players who were on the local roster at the 1924 start, but who are now missing and will continue to be missing are Ben Dimond, Johnny Monroe, Tex McDonald, Chick Hafey, Clyde Barfoot, Michael Kircher, Jack Knight, Bill Pertica, George Swarts, Hunter Hill.

Dimond has been released so that he might manage a club at Enid, Okla. Monroe was traded to Omaha, Hafey was sold to the Cardinals; Barfoot was traded to a club on the coast; Kircher was released to Red Snapp at Okmulgee; Knight was drafted by the Phillies; Swartz and Pertica were otherwise disposed of. And a deal was made whereby Tex McDonald will ply his third-basing trade in another sector.

Many New Faces

If new faces are what fandom demands the local club owners have been doing their part in bringing about a change, particularly among the pitchers. Manager Goodwin is the sole survivor of the six who were on duty at the outset of the last campaign. In the places of the other five are new men, some of whom have good records and some who come as experiments.

John Berly is to be back in the fold and with his added experience should prove of real worth. Berly spent year before last on the Cardinal bench. Last year he had plenty of work to do with another club of lower classification. Selars and Burns obtained in trade are counted upon to help fill the gaps left by the trading of Barfoot and the drafting of Jack Knight.

Nearly Same Infield

The Houston infield this year will not differ materially from that of last, barring second base where Frankie Fuller is to play. Gainer is slated for first; Kane for short. Three or more men will battle it out for third. Hollohan, Beggess and Gallagher are candidates.

In McCarty and Compton Houston has a pair of dependable bitters as well as worthy defensive players. The other outfield post formerly filled by Chick Hafey remains to be covered. Houston purchased Goff from New Haven to fill this gap, but Goff, like Gallagher of New Haven, has not signed.

In preparation for the training season Secretary Fred Ankenman had 60 loads of loam dumped upon the west end outfield and then properly scattered. This has served to raise the level of the field and to give it better drainage. There are no longer any holes to deflect grounders. Last year the ground was lumpy in spots and balls that should have bounded true darted off at odd angles. On other occasions they took erratic hops and hit the players in the chest, tummy or shins.

Mexico Plans to Organize National Baseball League

Hal Chase Would Be Landis Of South American Republic

DOUGLAS, Ariz., March 10—(AP)—Banished from organized baseball for alleged participation in the world series scandal of 1919, Hal Chase, restwhile first baseman of the Cincinnati National League baseball club, now proprietor of a luxurious cafe in Augua Prieta, Mexico, across the border from Douglas, is about to organize a national baseball league in Mexico on the invitation of the Mexico City government, he said today.

According to Chase, the plan proposed by a high Mexican official would make the former first sacker into a Landis in the Central American republic, heading an organization to be known as the Mexican National Baseball League.

Chase said he is now working on organization plans, that the money for the venture has been raised and that the league will be in operation in several of the larger Mexican cities as soon as plans can be provided.

"It won't be but a year or two now," said Chase, "when any baseball team before annexing the title of world's champions will have to beat our best team.

"The Mexicans are natural ball players and are developing a love for the game equal to the most frenzied fan of the United States.

"I feel that I will have an opportunity here in Mexico of placing baseball on a sound and honest foundation and demonstrate to baseball fans of the United States that I was the Dreyfuss and not the Benedict Arnold of organized baseball."

STANLEY KETCHEL COULD HAVE BEAT DEMPSEY, SAYS GUNBOAT

Present Champ Has No Opposition; Sam Langford Was Better Than Jack, Avers Smith

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

There has been considerable talk of late regarding the status of Jack Dempsey as a champion and the relative strength of the leading contenders for his crown.

Every one has his own ideas.

So list to what Gunboat has to say.

Now Gunboat Smith fell short of winning the heavyweight championship, but he won considerable fame as a mauler.

He holds a twenty-round decision victory over Jess Willard.

He beat Sam Langford in 12 rounds—although Samuel later socked the Gunboat on the forward turret and sank him.

He fought Jack Dempsey twice and won a decision the first time. That was early in Dempsey's career. But it stands as an achievement.

So let us say that Mr. Smith should have some idea of things fistic.

Now he arises to remark that:

Jack Dempsey should be rated high as a heavyweight and a champion, but the fact that he has had poor opposition has made him appear greater than he really is.

Dempsey can lick Tommy Gibbons in three rounds.

He can flatten Harry Wills in the same number.

Bartley Madden would be the best heavyweight in the world, barring Dempsey, if he could hit.

As for Gibbons, Bartley Madden would make him look foolish were they to meet.

Luis Firpo is a clown.

And That's That

Smith's remark anent the respective prowess of Madden and Gibbons was caused by recent rumors that the two may be matched as part of the campaign to work up another battle between Gibbons and he champ.

Smith, going into the Dempsey matter again, says that Stanley Ketchel, if alive and in his prime today, could whip the present heavyweight champion.

"Ketchel was the best man, pound for pound, that the ring game has ever knew. And he was the gamest," says Smith.

The Gunner is fair enough to pay a neat tribute to Sam Langford. The laughing black man was the best man the Gunboat ever fought, he avers. This after consideration of Dempsey, Carpentier and the host of other men who crossed gloves with Smith.

Smith met Carpentier when the French flash was at his best—just before the World war. Carpentier knocked Smith down in the first round with one of his famous leaping rights when Smith turned away from him. Smith, however, weathered the blow and had the fight won in the sixth round when he let it on a foul. Smith says himself the blow was low and tells why.

Hit Carp too Quick

Carpentier has a trick of stooping low, especially after he is hit, and then coming up and in with one of his famous leaping punches. Smith had clipped him on the chin and the Frenchman had gone down. Smith figured that when Carpentier did regain his feet he would come upk fighting so stepped in ready to hit him as he arose. Smith hit too quick, before Carpentier had risen free from the floor and the referee allowed the claim of Manager Deschamps that Smith had fouled Georges.

Smith is now working in a brokerage office in Wall street and trying to sock the stock market for a k. o.

If he gives the market as good a run for its money as he did the heavyweight both he and the market will have an interesting time.

TEX RICKARD ON TRIAL.

Boxing Promoter Charged With Fight Film Conspiracy.

TRENTON, N. J., March 10.—Tex Rickard and six associates went on trial in the federal court today for conspiracy to transport the Dempsey-Carpentier fight films from New Jersey in illegal interstate commerce.

For transportation of a fight film into a state where the fight did not occur the penalty is a fine of $1,000. For conspiracy in this connection jail terms may be imposed.

Second Stringers Turn Tables on Coyote Regulars

Coyote baseball athletes went through another short practice tilt Tuesday afternoon in which the second stringers turned the tables by walloping the regulars 8 to 6 in a four-inning game under assistant coach Hall, who acted during the absence of Henderson.

They all seemed to sep up and soak the ball on the nose for all they had in them. Claude Miller was the outstanding hitter of the day with a home run to right center, a double and a walk in three trips to the pan. Harrold "Lefty" Lesley played a brilliant game on first for the regulars by capturing anything that happened along his way. He also came through with a pair of bingles, one going for a double to center.

Johnnie McMahon continued to flash in center by turning in several fine catches of flies, but the ground balls spoiled his day over the rough grounds.

FIVE ADDITIONS MADE TO SPUD CAMP TUESDAY

Osborne Shows Up Early During Morning With Young Recruit

GEO. DISTEL ARRIVES

Metzler And Maxwell Get In During Afternoon Round

Five new additions arrived at the Spud training camp Tuesday. Bob Osborn, starboard slabbist on whom quite a bit of the pitching duty probably will fall this season, hove into camp early Tuesday morning from El Paso, his home, bringing with him George Bell, a young right handed semi-pro.

Alex Metzler, young outfielder who cavorted in the port pasture during the 1924 season with the Spudders after Art Weis went to the Cubs late in the race, turned up full of ginger, and ready to go.

George Distel, shortstopper obtained from Portland of the Coast league by Prexy Harvey and who is well known to Texas fans, having done a hitch with Galveston in 1923, drove in overland from his home in Indiana yesterday afternoon. He'll be out for his first practice this morning.

Lots of Pep.

The fifth addition to the spring trainees was Lefty Maxwell, young pitcher who lives in Archer City, out to take a fling at gaining a berth with Tanner's corps.

The squad chased through a pair of workouts, taking a light session during the morning, but cutting loose, more or less, during the afternoon. There was a host of railbirds clustered in the grandstand. Some came to see the slugging Ping Bodie, colorful veteran pastimer purchased the past winter from Des Moines of the Western. But Ping won't answer the roll call until Thursday, according to Spudder Secretary Gray, who said that Bodie had wired him that he was leaving Los Angeles, where he wintered, Tuesday.

Dorman Steps Out.

"If Freddy Dorman can rit, he'll make it mighty hard for some infielder," were the words of many fans yesterday. Freddy covered short during infield practice, and he grabbed 'em going and coming. His fielding performance was little short of sensational. As a speed merchant Rabbit Tavener, last year's heralded Panther shortstopper, has nothing on Dorman.

Pete Turgeon, second sacker, though not in the best of condition by a long shot, hopped about the keystone in almost mid-season form.

Al White, second baseman, shifted to short last season and now placed at third, seemed at home all right, all right, around the hot corner.

Morning practice sessions will start at 9:30, and the afternoon work is billed for 2 o'clock, announced Tanner.

Playing with Fire
The Story of a Social Climber
by Lucille Van Slyke

Awfully hard to keep her voice level. And she was frightfully dizzy when she went back to her appointed seat. She remembered that she had had no luncheon but couldn't think of a thing in the world that she wanted to swallow.

How the minutes dragged! She went back to information booth, consulted the bored clerk again, asking him again if he was sure there was no earlier train.

"None that make any sort of connections with your town, ma'am," he replied. "You could take a train here but you'd only wait somewheres along the line till this through train came on, or else if you went on now and changed, you'd have to change twice and would be getting into Deerhead at 3 in the morning. Day coaches only."

Decidedly, that wouldn't do. She went back to her bench. Five o'clock now. Stimson would be wheeling the teawagon out on the terrace, there would be lemonade for Nannette and iced tea for Aunty Dee. Maybe some of the neighbors would have dropped in. She could visualize them in their cool, pretty frocks, sipping tea and laughing and gossiping. Filling in the time until they would drift to the country club to pick up their golfing brothers and husbands. They wouldn't miss her at all, but she would miss them horribly. She could imagine Quim's sister explaining things brusquely:

Hateful to think how people would stare at Quim! Dear, grizzled Quim, who had been so generous with her! Brusque, of course, keenly critical—but justly so. None of Chet's easy going, mamby-pamby way about Quim!

She shuddered when she thought of Chet, with his picayune economies and his small town standards.

"I must have been made to have thought that I loved him!" She remembered that dreadful day when Chet and Quim had faced each other in the ugly little sitting room of the hotel. Chet so ineffectual and cowardly and Quim, towering over him, looking through and through him.

"Quim looks downwright distinguished!" she exulted in her thoughts. "Any woman would be proud of Quim!"

An incoming crowd was pouring out from a gateway, porters with bags, men, women, children, shoving into the station, scattering every direction, she watched them idly.

"Not one man as splendid looking as Quim—"

Then suddenly, she stifled a little cry.

Quim himself was coming through the gate, hurrying ahead of the porter who was struggling with his bags. He didn't see her, but rushed past the little figure waiting on the bench. She could hear his dear voice saying: "Stay here with the bags. I want to telephone—"

How tired and hot he looked! Half ill with worry! Quite without her own volition she called out, "Oh, Quim!"

CHAPTER 84
In Which They Discuss Climbing

Quim's eyes, as he hurried toward her, were inscrutable.

"Rosalie!" he exclaimed, almost angrily, "Didn't you get my message?"

She nodded. She couldn't speak.

"Couldn't you wait, couldn't you understand that the reason I asked you to wait was to save you from wrecking your whole life?"

She looked down at her fingers, tightly clutching her purse, and swallowed hard.

"I couldn't stand it any longer," she said.

Her throat felt dry and tight. She wanted to reach out and touch him. She was so glad to see him that she couldn't think what she was saying or doing!

It was with difficulty that she kept herself from catching his long expressive hand in hers and laying her cheek against it. She wanted to cry out.

"Quim, forgive me! Quim take me back and give me another chance!"

But she just sat twisting her fingers against the leather of her purse, waiting dully for the awful minute when he would turn away and go out of her life forever.

She heard him saying gruffly, to a surprised woman beside her, "Would you mind moving over?"

Then he sat down, put his hand on her arm and bent over, speaking quietly but rapidly.

"If that chap really loved you he wouldn't want to wreck your whole future. For God's sake, Rose, let me see him and talk to him, explain that at the most it is only a few weeks before you will be free, just a few weeks and then you can go to him openly and decently instead of sneaking out—"

"I'm not sneaking!" she interrupted.

"What else can you call it?" he demanded.

"I wrote you, I—" she was stammering horribly. What could she say? If she explained to him that she was not running toward Chet but away from him, Quim would think she was trying to make up with him! This queer new pride that sustained her made her ashamed to have Quim think that!

"Understand clearly," he spoke more quietly now, as though he were talking to Nannette, "I'm not blaming you, not arguing with you, I'm just telling you something for your own good, because I have your interests at heart. You're young, you love each other. That seems to you all that matters right now, but by and by you'll learn that a lot of other things matter too.

You'll want his respect as well as his love, some day and then—"

"Quim!" she interrupted, "please, don't go on talking like that! I just can't stand it! I know how horrid you think I am! I know how badly I've behaved! I was nothing but a horrid, grasping little fool! Nothing but a hateful little climber shoving and pushing in where I wasn't wanted and where I didn't belong! But truly, it wasn't just on my own account that I wanted folks to like me, and to ask me to their parties! I wanted you to be proud of me! I wanted you—not to be ashamed of me! Probably you can't believe that, but it's true! And even now that it's all over, I can't bear it to have you go away thinking I'm as bad—as you think I am. You've been splendid. I can't ever be splendid like you—but I can be ashamed that I haven't been! So I thought that the best I could do would be to be fair. It wasn't fair for me to go on taking things from you when I had nothing to give back. This much I want you to know, I'm not going to Chet. I'll probably never see him again. I never want to. I don't just hate him, I know that probably I was as much to blame as he was, I thought he was somebody that he wasn't. I imagined a whole lot of things about him that weren't so. Just as you imagined things about me, thought I was sweet and good—when I was a hateful, scheming little beast!"

She lifted her eyes at last, eyes as tragically unhappy as his. But suddenly she caught her breath. For Quim was looking at her, with a queer youthful gleam in his.

"Say that again!" he murmured. "Say again that you never want to see that man again!"

Her laughter, tremulous and sweet bubbled out.

"Quim!" her words fairly sang, "are you glad?"

Both his hands were over hers.

"That's what I'd been praying for," he said earnestly. "That you'd grow tired of him! That I'd have another chance to make you like me a little—to make you want to stay with me—to—"

The porter coughed apologetically. "Does you want me to stand around these here bags all evening, boss?" he asked suggestively.

Quim stared at him, dug for change, tossed it at him and forgot the bags again.

Rosalie's laughter was perilously near tears.

"I don't just know as I want to stay with you here—in this railway station," she didn't know what she was saying she was so happy, "Because I've been here for years and years and years! But, oh Quim! If you'd let me go back home with you!"

"If I'd let you! My darling!" his boyishness was downright funny, "I'd almost carry you back on my shoulders if you'd go! It never was home, until you came—we all make mistakes when we're young! Perhaps it's not fair of me to say what I'm going to say—but now that I'm older I know that Nannette's poor little mother didn't care very much about me and I didn't really love her. Like you and your Chet—I just loved an idea—and I thought she looked as that idea ought to look. The very first day that I saw you, that dear old idea came back to me."

"But I was only a horrid, scheming, climbing—"

He put his fingers across her lips "It's no crime to want to climb dear," he said soberly.

"And probably a climbing rose has stiffer thorns than a little wayside rose that is born to blush unseen. I don't want you to stop climbing. The higher you climb the more beautifully you can bloom and the more joy you'll be to the world in which you climb. Climb all you please, so long as you don't climb away from me!"

"Quim," she said with charming irrelevance, "I don't deserve you at all and I don't care if I don't! I'm going to make people think that I do! You shan't ever be ashamed again of silly things I do! I shall try so hard to make you proud of me! All I want in this world is for you to love me!"

Quim laughed softly.

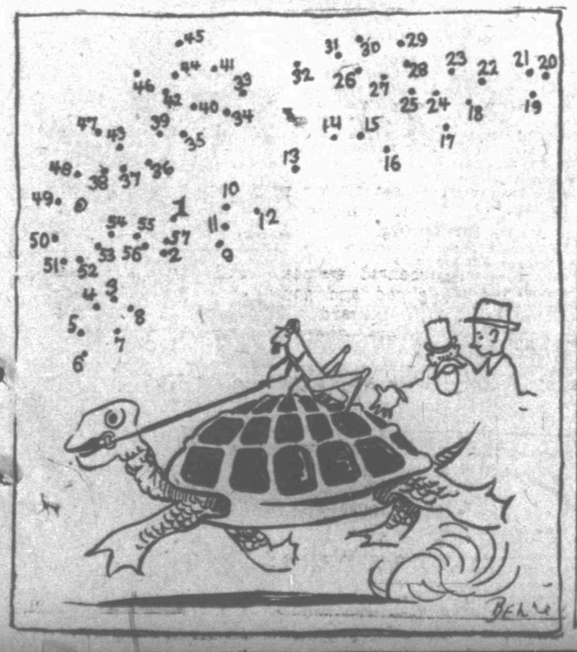

"That's not all I want in this world," he said, "I want something else beside, I want you to love me!"

It was a little like another marriage service really, the sweetly sober way she lifted her eyes and said:

"I do!"

ARREST PERSIAN PRINCESS

Member of Royalty Rents Auto And Then Sells It.

PARIS, March 10.—The Princess Kadjar, wife of a Persian prince belonging to the highest aristocracy of Persia, was arrested here in court today when she admitted to the investigating magistrate she was unable to refund the value of an automobile, estimated worth between 30,000 and 40,000 francs, which she hd hired of the owner and subsequently sold.

She was sent to St. Lazaire prison, but it is expected her brother, Count Nieroth, will be permited to provide bail for her this afternoon. The husband of the princess is said to be in America.

REFUSES WAGE INCREASE

Democrat Representative Declines $2,500 Raise in Salary.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Representative Tucker, democrat, Virginia, has refused to accept the $2,500 increase in his congressional salary on the ground that members of the last congress who were re-elected were chosen to positions carrying only $7,500 a year.

Mr. Tucker's grandfather, Henry St. George Tucker, a representative in the 14th congress, refused an increase for the same reason and the money has remained to his credit in the treasury for 108 years.

He is survived by seven children, thirty-five grand children, seventy-one great grand children and one great great grand child. Burial will be made in the family cemetery at Dexter Wednesday afternoon.

ASKS AUTOPSY AT DEATH

San Antonio Man Requests Cause Of Death Be Determined.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 10.—Knowing that death was near, Harry Cooper of San Antonio requested that an autopsy be performed on his body for the benefit of other sufferers from a strange disease which was taking his life. Cooper died last week.

In the prime of his life, Cooper was attacked by an almost incurable kidney disease. The most scientific of treatment, was, in his case of no avail. It was the second known case in the United States.

Cooper had lived in San Antonio for the last 12 years and was formerly a resident of Victoria, Texas.

LEGAL NOTICE

* * *

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the Secretary of the Interior until noon of March 23, 1925 for the purchase of oil and natural gas gasoline obtained by the Interior Department from wells under its jurisdiction in the Red River bed. The bids on oil and natural gas gasoline should be submitted separately.

At the present time the daily production of crude from these wells is about 650 barrels and the natural gas involved is about 16 million cubic feet per month having a gasoline content of about 5¼ gallons per thousand cubic feet of gas.

Bidders should indicate their price for oil in terms of a differential with respect to the highest price paid by any one of the following companies, for oil of like gravity from the fields in Wichita County Texas.

Prairie Oil and Gas Co.
Texas Pipeline Co.
Humble Pipeline Co.
Magnolia Petroleum Corp.

The contractor for the oil will be required to accept it at the gage tanks now installed on the property and subject to the gaging methods and deductions now in effect.

The bid on natural gas gasoline should be a percentage of the total marketable gasoline recoverable, to be paid either in gasoline or cash as the department may elect. If payment is taken in cash the price shall be the same as that currently received by the contractor for his share of the gasoline. The natural gas will be delivered on the lease to the successful bidder at the wells or gas traps in a manner now in effect and the contractor will be required to return the dry gas at a suitable point or points to the gas distributing system now installed on the property. The contractor will be allowed to use a reasonable amount of dry gas for plant operation, the remainder to be returned to the properties as fuel.

Payment for either oil or natural gas gasoline shall be made at least twice a month.

As part or all of the property involved may pass at any time from the direct operation of the Department to lessees, no specific guarantee as to duration of the contracts can be given except that they will cover such oil and natural gas gasoline as may be produced while these properties are operated by the Interior Department. A clause will be inserted in the contract so that in the event the oil or gas applicable to the proposed contract shall be reduced to one-half the original quantity or less because of such leases to private operators, the contractor will have the right to withdraw from his agreement by giving 60 days notice in writing to the Secretary of the Interior.

This clause will not apply to ordinary decline of production. Bidders are required to submit individual bids for the oil and for the natural gas gasoline. There is, however, no objection to any bidder submitting a bid on both oil and natural gas gasoline.

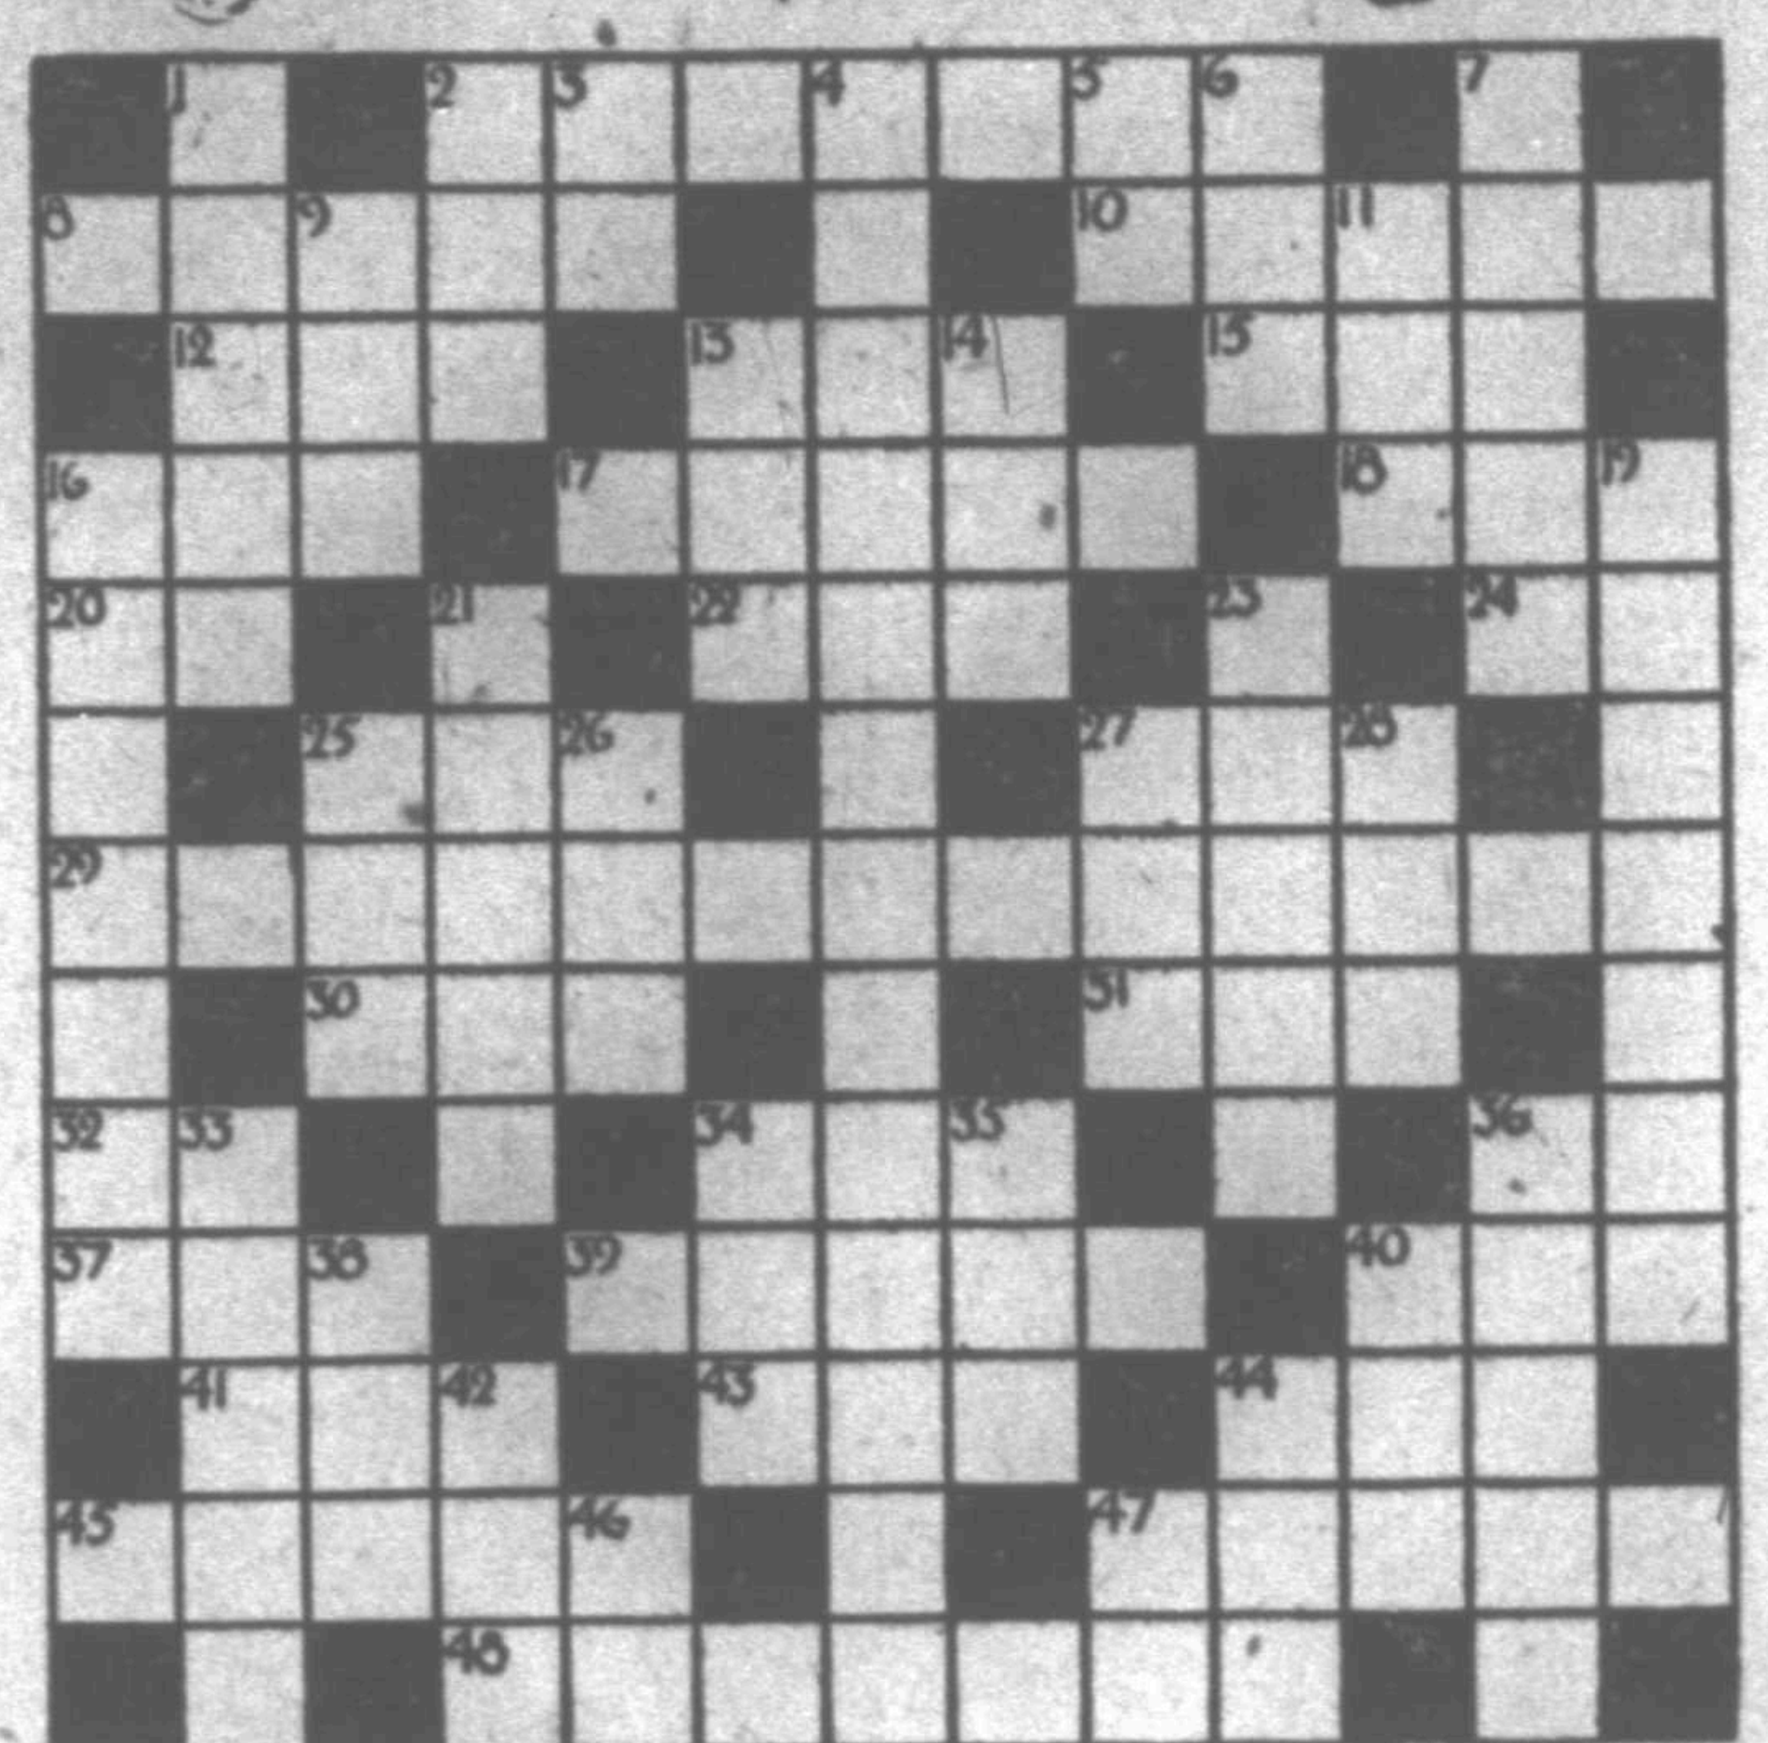

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a surety bond in the amount of $50,000 on oil and $4,000 on natural gas gasoline for the faithful performance of his agreement.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids as the interest of the Government may require. Proposals must be securely enveloped and marked. "Proposals for the Purchase of Oil and Natural Gas Gasoline from Red River Bed," and addressed to the Secretary of the Interior, Washington, D. C.

State Aid Is Allowed to Hardeman Schools

QUANAH, March 9.—The common schools of Hardeman county have been granted $10,420 rural aid by the department of education upon recommendation of S. E. Clark, who inspected the schools recently. This amount exceeds any grant in the past.

Bailey high, Forestburg, Elm Grove, North Groesbeck, Friendship, Willow View, Red River, Hooleyan, Center Point, Big Valley, Trueheart, Marshall, Cergyview, Star Valley, Medicine Mound, Groesbeck, Whittle's Chapel, Goodlet and Robertson will receive aid. Three schools will receive the limit, $1,000. The other awards will run from $120 to $800.

DESPONDENT, HE TAKES LIFE.

Body of Ft. Worth Man Found in His Room With Hole in Temple.

FORT WORTH, March 10.—Despondency, the result of five weeks of unemployment, was blamed by police today after Jake Williams, 29 years old, former employe of the Gulf Refining company, killed himself in his room on the north side. He shot himself through the right temple with a revolver. Neighbors who heard the report of the pistol attributed the noise to an automobile tire explosion. Williams' body was discovered about four hours later by his cousin.

Altus Jury Acquits Negress of Murder

AUTUS, Okla., March 10.—Gussie Brown, colored, who shot and killed Ted Anderson, colored, here in November was found not guilty on a charge of murder here Monday afternoon. The Brown woman claimed she shot Anderson in a quarrel in which each accused the other of trying to rom a blind negro visiting here.

TO EMPLOY NEW SCULPTOR

ATLANTA, Ga., March 10.—That the Stone mountain Confederate monument association is making progress toward the employment of a sculptor to carry on the memorial was declared in a statement issued today by President Hollins N. Randolph. Mr. Randolph said that many qualified sculptors "stand ready and willing" to do the work.

WHITE TO GET POST

SAN ANTONIO, March 10.—While the outcome of the race for the United States marshalship in San Antonio is problematical, the opinion seems to be current in Washington that Scott White of El Paso will come out ahead of Major H. C. Glover of this city. This was the tip brought back by Congressman Claude Hudspeth of El Paso, who spent today in San Antonio, enroute home.

PECOS COMPACT RATIFIED

SANTE FE, N. M., March 10.—Both houses of the state legislature today voted to ratify the Pecos river compact between New Mexico and Texas.

AGUILAR IS DISCHARGED

SAN ANTONIO, March 10.—Charges pending against Candito Aguilar of San Antonio son in law of the late President Carranza, alleged conspiracy to set on foot a military expedition into Mexico, were dismissed in federal court today.

Half Cent Stamp to Be Issued in April

WASHINGTON, March 10.—A one-half cent postage stamp will be issued for the first time by April 1. The new denomination has become necessary because of the new postal rates on third class mail effective April 1. A 1½ cent stamp bearing President Harding's picture is being prepared also for this class of mail.

The design and color of the new half center has not yet been decided

Extension of long term notes rather than short term credit to Germany was advocated today by Herbert M. Guttmann, managing director of the Dresdner Bank of Berlin wh ois in this country discussing financing problems with American bankers.

What Germany needs at present, he said, is enough working capital to enable it to rebuild all that has been destroyed and to make good all that has been neglected in the way of commerce and industry.

Expenditures for new building in February in the leading cities of the country are estimated at $209,421,500 by Dun's review. This exceeds the aggregate for January by 14.2 per cent but is 14.1 per cent below the amount for February 1924. Permits issued in New York City for the month had had a value of $52,763,900, a decline of 84.5 per cent under February last year, whereas the total for outside cities of $156,657,600 disclosed a gain of 10.9 per cent.

A new issue of 40,000 shares of common stock o fthe motion picture capital corporation, will be offered tomorrow by Lyman D. Smith and Co., Stock exchange members at 17 a share. The corporation makes loans to motion picture producers and others and rehypothecates such loans at banks.

A petition to close the New York Cotton exchange on Good Friday, April 10 and Saturday April 11, was being circulated among the members today.

A record high price of $13,000 for a seat on the New York curb market was paid today by Charles S. Leahy, who bought the membership of J. J. Stewart Campbell.

The quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share previously paid on the "A" and "B" common stock of nited Light & Power Co., was increased to 45 cents a share today and a stock dividend of 1-40 of a share alos was declared, which is payable in class "A" common on May 1. Regular quarterly preferred dividends were authorized.

Stockholders of P. Lorilliard & Co., have authorized an offering of 100,000 shares of common stock to employes at not less than $30 a share.

Livestock

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, March 10. — Buyers had a keen appetite for yearlings Tuesday, and on that class of cattle the market was very active at an advance of 25c; steers, cows and bulls remained steady, and sold readily on that basis. Talk of lower prices for calves went the rounds, but when sales were made they were in line with Monday's levels. Receipts were estimated at 3,500 head of cattle and 600 calves. Some good yearlings were here, two cars of steers were better than the average and two drafts of calves were toppy. Most of the supply, however, was of an ordinary type and mixed shipments were numerous.

One car of fed steers was good enough to bring $7.50 and another sale was made at $7.25. Medium to good cattle went at a spread of $5.50 to $6.50. The supply went scaleward in good season.

Cows met with a good demand, but the market was hardly better than steady. Carlot sales ranged up to $5.10, and small drafts were reported at $5.26 to $6.00. Fair to medium cows cleared around $3.25 to $4.25. Canners brought $1.85 to $2.10.

Receipts of heifers and yearlings were insufficient to go around and trading was lively from start to finish. Several cars were taken at $8.60 to $8.90.

Bull receipts were small, and the bulk of the supply moved at $3.00 to $3.75, with a few beef bulls making $4.00.

Most of the calf supply went over the scales at an early hour. Two rather large drafts brought $9.00 and several cars brought $7.00.

Hog prices were around 20 to 52 cents lower on the opening rounds, and the movement was very sluggish. Buyers were decidedly bearish and were pegging for a full 25c cut.

General quality average was below the recent standard, and nothing was to be classed as really toppy. One car went at $14 but a range of $13.50 to $13.75 applied to the bulk of the receipts. Around 1,600 head were here. Packing sows and pigs held to a generally steady level. Good sows went at $12.50 to $13.00, fat pigs sold at $10.25 to $10.50 and good stock pigs made $10.

Receipts in the sheep house were limited to 400 head. The market was steady with a double deck of clipped lambs going at $12.50 and $10 and some wethers making $9. Late Monday a string of 1,148 lambs sold as feeders on an order at $15.25, and a string of yearlings went to a feeder buyer at $12.00.

Cattle: Receipts, 4,100, including 600 calves. Market 25c higher on yearlings, steady on other kinds. Beeves, $3.50@9.00; stockers, $3.25@7.25; fat cows, $3.25@6.00; cutters, $2.25@2.75; canners, $1.50@2.10; heifers, $3.25@7.50; yearlings, $3.50@9.00; bulls, $3.00@4.25; calves, $3.00@9.00.

Hogs: Receipts, 1,600; market around 20 to 25c lower. Top, $14.00; bulk, $13.50@13.85; best medium weight, $13.75@14.00; good mixed, $13.50@13.75; good light, $13.25@13.50; fair mixed, $13.00@13.25; fair light, $12.75@13.00; common, $8.50@10.50; packing sows, $12.00@13.00; pigs, $8.00@10.50.

Sheep: Receipts, 400; market steady. Lambs, $13.50@15.50; feeders, $12.00@15.00; yearlings, $11.00@12.00; wethers, $9.00@10.50; ewes, $8.00@9.25; culls, $1.50@3.00; stockers, $3.00@5.00; goats, $1.50@3.00.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 10.—The cotton market today was generally quieter than has been the case for the past 10 days and fluctuations followed a narrower range, after an early spurt, in spite of poorer cables than due, which carried prices up 11 to 15 points, due mainly to the cotinued lack of rain fall in the west the market sagged off on liquidation due to the disappointment at the failure of support to the constructive side by the outside public and less favorable cables. At the lowest of the day, reached around noon, prices were 1 to 2 points below yesterday's close on old crop positions and 1 to 2 up on new crops.

During the late afternoon there was a rally on the international spinners federation report of large consumption of American cotton for the first six months of the season and the official report showing that the average rainfall for Texas during February was only .48 of an inch as compared with 1.78 last year and the average rainfall for the season since October 1 was 4.98 inches against 17.60 inches last season fo rthe same period.

At the start, the market was steady in the face of unfavorable Liverpool cables and first trades showed gains of 2 to 4 points. Prices gradually improved until May sold at 26.05 and October 25.55 or 11 to 17 points above the previous close. The market then eased off until in the early afternoon May traded down to 25.92 and October to 25.19 or 13 to 16 points down from the high. The rally of the afternoon advanced prices to the earlier highs for most months and July made a new high at 26.35 and December at 25.32.

The close was near the top, showing net gains for the day of 10 to 15 points.

There was nothing new in the spot situation except that the demand was more moderate while waiting on the predictions in the west. Cotton goods reports were generally favorable and exports continued liberal with every indication they would continue to run well ahead of last year for the balance of the season.

Exports totalled 40,718 bales of which New Orleans contributed 27,403 bales and Charleston 9,461 bales.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, March 10.—Further weakness developed in today's stock market despite a sharp rally in wheat prices and publication of a favorable tonnage statement by the United States Steel Corporation. Heavy selling of stocks, many of which dropped 1 to 5 points generally was believed to have been inspired by speculative uneasiness over the money situation and reports that spring business in some lines was not up to early expectations.

Selling pressure was directed chiefly against some of the so-called pivotal industrials. American Can broke from a high of 180⅝ to 175½ and then rallied to 176, where it was off 4⅝ on the day. Baldwin showed a net loss of 4⅞ at 134½. U. S. Steel common closed at its low price of the day 122⅝, off 1⅛. Studebaker yielded fractionally to 44⅛.

The steel corporation reported an increase of 247,448 tons in unfilled orders as of February 28, or about 50,000 tons above preliminary estimates. While this statement generally was regarded as bullish it failed to have any effect on the steel shares, probably because of a feeling in some quarters that the increased business represented a last minute rush of orders to take advantage of the lower prices prevailing in the first quarter. Ludlum Steel broke 3¼ points to 44⅝, or about 10 points below its recent high.

American bank note broke 22 points to 184 on one sale. Nash Motors dropped 9½ points to 252½ on a small turn over. Net declines of 3 points or more also were recorded by American Car and Foundry, American Express, Associated Drygoods, Chicago Pneumatic Tool, the Commercial Solvents issues, Loose-Wiles Biscuit, Porto Rican tobacco, Savage Arms, Tidewater Oil, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, Ward Baking "A", Western Union Telegraph and Wilson and Co., preferred.

Further selling of the St. Paul issues reflected growing concern over that road's ability to take care of its maturities this year without being forced through a reorganization. The common duplicated the year's low of 11½ while the preferred dropped 1⅜ points to 20. Recent heaviness of New York Central was said to be due to liquidation for the account of Union Pacific subsidiaries. Baltimore and Ohio and Rock Island common each dropped more than 2 points, while losses of a point or more were recorded by "nty" common, New Haven, Norfolk and Western, Northern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Chicago Great Western preferred, Chicago Northwestern, Lackawanna, Kansas City Southern, Lehigh Valley and several others.

The foreign exchanges displayed a firm tone. Demand sterling ruled about half a cent higher around $4.76¾ and French francs improved slightly to 5.13½ cents. Other European rates showed only nominal changes.

Call money held steady at 4½ per cent. Time money and commercia lpaper rates were unchanged with business small in volume.

LEGAL NOTICE

* * *

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the Secretary of the Interior until noon of March 23, 1925 for the purchase of oil and natural gas gasoline obtained by the Interior Department from wells under its jurisdiction in the Red River bed. The bids on oil and natural gas gasoline should be submitted separately.

At the present time the daily production of crude from these wells is about 650 barrels and the natural gas involved is about 16 million cubic feet per month having a gasoline content of about 5¼ gallons per thousand cubic feet of gas.

Bidders should indicate their price for oil in terms of a differential with respect to the highest price paid by any one of the following companies, for oil of like gravity from the fields in Wichita County, Texas.

Prairie Oil and Gas Co.
Texas Pipeline Co.
Humble Pipeline Co.
Magnolia Petroleum Corp.

The contractor for the oil will be required to accept it at the gage tanks now installed on the property and subject to the gaging methods and deductions now in effect.

The bid on natural gas gasoline should be a percentage of the total marketable gasoline recoverable, to be paid either in gasoline or cash as the department may elect. If payment is taken in cash the price shall be the same as that currently received by the contractor for his share of the gasoline. The natural gas will be delivered on the lease to the successful bidder at the wells or gas traps in a manner now in effect and the contractor will be required to return the dry gas at a suitable point or points to the gas distributing system now installed on the property. The contractor will be allowed to use a reasonable amount of dry gas for plant operation, the remainder to be returned to the properties as fuel.

Payment for either oil or natural gas gasoline shall be made at least twice a month.

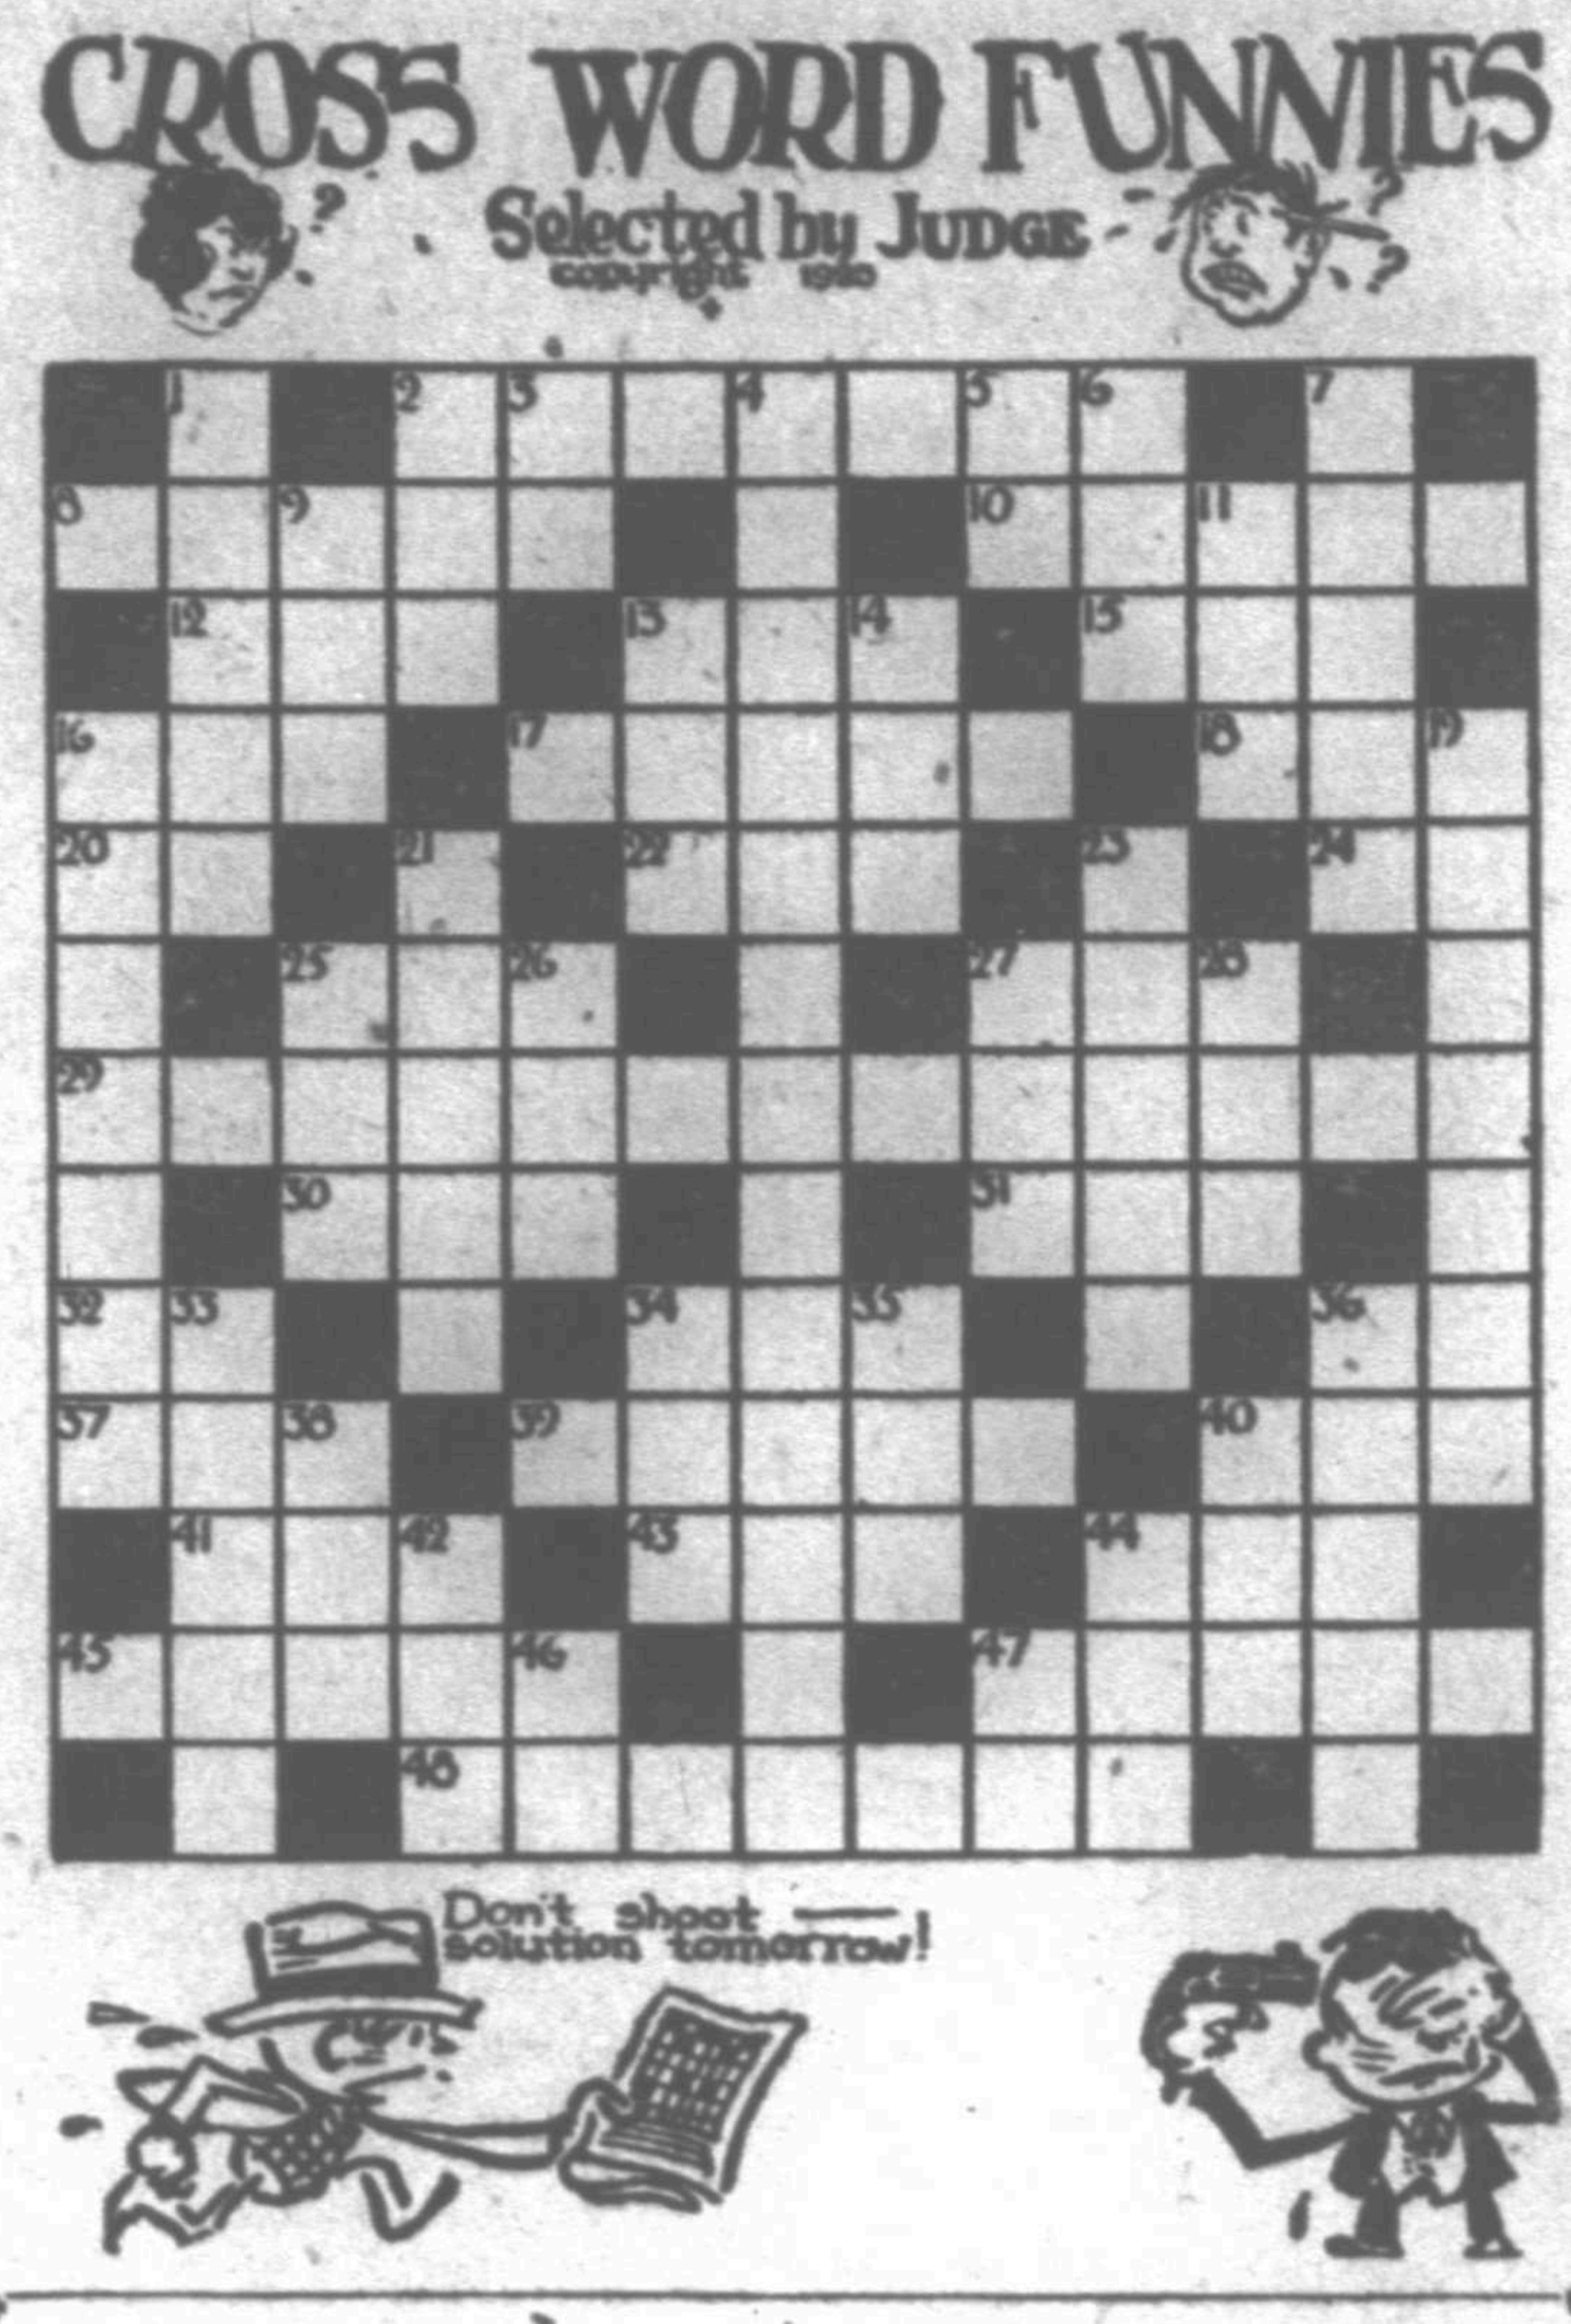

As part or all of the property involved may pass at any time from the direct operation of the Department to lessees, no specific guarantee as to duration of the contracts can be given except that they will cover such oil and natural gas gasoline as may be produced while these properties are operated by the Interior Department. A clause will be inserted in the contract so that in the event the oil or gas applicable to the proposed contract shall be reduced to one-half the original quantity or less because of such leases to private operators, the contractor will have the right to withdraw from his agreement by giving 60 days notice in writing to the Secretary of the Interior.

This clause will not apply to ordinary decline of production. Bidders are required to submit individual bids for the oil and for the natural gas gasoline. There is, however, no objection to any bidder submitting a bid on both oil and natural gas gasoline.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a surety bond in the amount of $50,000 on oil and $4,000 on natural gas gasoline for the faithful performance of his agreement.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids as the interest of the Government may require. Proposals must be securely enveloped and marked, "Proposals for the Purchase of Oil and Natural Gas Gasoline from Red River Bed," and addressed to the Secretary of the Interior, Washington, D. C.

State Aid Is Allowed to Hardeman Schools

QUANAH, March 9.—The common schools of Hardeman county have been granted $10,420 rural aid by the department of education upon recommendation of S. E. Clark, who inspected the schools recently. This amount exceeds any grant in the past.

Bailey high, Forestburg, Elm Grove, North Groesbeck, Friendship, Willow View, Red River, Hooleyan, Center Point, Big Valley, Trueheart, Marshall, Cerryview, Star Valley, Medicine Mound, Groesbeck, Whittle's Chapel, Goodlet and Robertson will receive aid. Three schools will receive the limit, $1,000. The other awards will run from $120 to $800.

DESPONDENT, HE TAKES LIFE.

Body of Ft. Worth Man Found in His Room With Hole in Temple.

FORT WORTH, March 10.—Despondency, the result of five weeks of unemployment, was blamed by police today after Jake Williams, 29 years old, former employe of the Gulf Refining company, killed himself in his room on the north side. He shot himself through the right temple with a revolver. Neighbors who heard the report of the pistol attributed the noise to an automobile tire explosion. Williams' body was discovered about four hours later by his cousin.

Altus Jury Acquits Negress of Murder

AUTUS, Okla., March 10.—Gussie Brown, colored, who shot and killed Ted Anderson, colored, here in November was found not guilty on a charge of murder here Monday afternoon. The Brown woman claimed she shot Anderson in a quarrel in which each accused the other of trying to rob a blind negro visiting here.

TO EMPLOY NEW SCULPTOR

ATLANTA, Ga., March 10.—That the Stone mountain Confederate monument association is making progress toward the employment of a sculptor to carry on the memorial was declared in a statement issued today by President Hollins N. Randolph. Mr. Randolph said that many qualified sculptors "stand ready and willing" to do the work.

WHITE TO GET POST

SAN ANTONIO, March 10.—While the outcome of the race for the United States marshalship in San Antonio is problematical, the opinion seems to be current in Washington that Scott White of El Paso will come out ahead of Major H. C. Glover of this city. This was the tip brought back by Congressman Claude Hudspeth of El Paso, who spent today in San Antonio, enroute home.

PECOS COMPACT RATIFIED

SANTE FE, N. M., March 10.—Both houses of the state legislature today voted to ratify the Pecos river compact between New Mexico and Texas.

AGUILAR IS DISCHARGED

SAN ANTONIO, March 10.—Charges pending against Candito Aguilar of San Antonio son in law of the late President Carranza, alleged conspiracy to set on foot a military expedition into Mexico, were dismissed in federal court today.

Half Cent Stamp to Be Issued in April

WASHINGTON, March 10.—A one-half cent postage stamp will be issued for the first time by April 1. The new denomination has become necessary because of the new postal rates on third class mail effective April 1. A 1½ cent stamp bearing President Harding's picture is being prepared also for this class of mail.

The design and color of the new half center has not yet been decided

Extension of long term notes rather than short term credit to Germany was advocated today by Herbert M. Guttmann, managing director of the Dresdner Bank of Berlin wh ois in this country discussing financing problems with American bankers.

What Germany needs at present, he said, is enough working capital to enable it to rebuild all that has been destroyed and to make good all that has been neglected in the way of commerce and industry.

Expenditures for new building in February in the leading cities of the country are estimated at $200,421,500 by Dun's review. This exceeds the aggregate for January by 14.2 per cent but is 14.1 per cent below the amount for February 1924. Permits issued in New York City for the month had had a value of $52,763,900, a decline of 84.5 per cent under February last year, whereas the total for outside cities of $156,657,600 disclosed a gain of 10.9 per cent.

A new issue of 40,000 shares of common stock o fthe motion picture capital corporation, will be offered tomorrow by Lyman D. Smith and Co., Stock exchange members at 17 a share. The corporation makes loans to motion picture producers and others and rehypothecates such loans at banks.

A petition to close the New York Cotton exchange on Good Friday, April 10 and Saturday April 11, was being circulated among the members today.

A record high price of $13,000 for a seat on the New York curb market was paid today by Charles S. Leahy, who bought the membership of J. J. Stewart Campbell.

The quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share previously paid on the "A" and "B" common stock of nited Light & Power Co., was increased to 45 cents a share today and a stock dividend of 1-40 of a share alos was declared, which is payable in class "A" common on May 1. Regular quarterly preferred dividends were authorized.

Stockholders of P. Lorilliard & Co., have authorized an offering of 100,000 shares of common stock to employes at not less than $30 a share.

Livestock

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, March 10. — Buyers had a keen appetite for yearlings Tuesday, and on that class of cattle the market was very active at an advance of 25c; steers, cows and bulls remained steady, and sold readily on that basis. Talk of lower prices for calves went the rounds, but when sales were made they were in line with Monday's levels. Receipts were estimated at 3,500 head of cattle and 600 calves. Some good yearlings were here, two cars of steers were better than the average and two drafts of calves were toppy. Most of the supply, however, was of an ordinary type and mixed shipments were numerous.

One car of fed steers was good enough to bring $7.50 and another sale was made at $7.25. Medium to good cattle went at a spread of $5.50 to $6.50. The supply went scaleward in good season.

Cows met with a good demand, but the market was hardly better than steady. Carlot sales ranged up to $5.10, and small drafts were reported at $5.26 to $6.00. Fair to medium cows cleared around $3.25 to $4.25. Canners brought $1.85 to $2.10.

Receipts of heifers and yearlings were insufficient to go around and trading was lively from start to finish. Several cars were taken at $8.60 to $8.90.

Bull receipts were small, and the bulk of the supply moved at $3.00 to $3.75, with a few beef bulls making $4.00.

Most of the calf supply went over the scales at an early hour. Two rather large drafts brought $8.00 and several cars brought $7.00.

Hog prices were around 20 to 52 cents lower on the opening rounds, and the movement was very sluggish. Buyers were decidedly bearish and were pegging for a full 25c cut.

General quality average was below the recent standard, and nothing was to be classed as really toppy. One car went at $14 but a range of $13.50 to $13.75 applied to the bulk of the receipts. Around 1,600 head were here. Packing sows and pigs held to a generally steady level. Good sows went at $12.50 to $13.00, fat pigs sold at $10.25 to $10.50 and good stock pigs made $10.

Receipts in the sheep house were limited to 400 head. The market was steady with a double deck of clipped lambs going at $12.50 and $10 and some wethers making $9. Late Monday a string of 1,148 lambs sold as feeders on an order at $15.25, and a string of yearlings went to a feeder buyer at $12.00.

Cattle: Receipts, 4,100, including 600 calves. Market 25c higher on yearlings, steady on other kinds. Beeves, $3.50@9.00; stockers, $3.25@7.25; fat cows, $3.25@6.00; cutters, $2.25@2.75; canners, $1.50@2.10; heifers, $3.25@7.50; yearlings, $3.50@9.00; bulls, $3.00@4.25; calves, $3.00@9.00.

Hogs: Receipts, 1,600; market around 20 to 25c lower. Top, $14.00; bulk, $13.50@13.85; best medium weight, $13.75@14.00; good mixed, $13.50@13.75; good light, $13.25@13.50; fair mixed, $13.00@13.25; fair light, $12.75@13.00; common, $8.50@10.50; packing sows, $12.00@13.00; pigs, $8.00@10.50.

Sheep: Receipts, 400; market steady. Lambs, $13.50@15.50; feeders, $12.00@15.00; yearlings, $11.00@12.00; wethers, $9.00@10.50; ewes, $8.00@9.25; culls, $1.50@3.00; stockers, $3.00@5.00; goats, $1.50@3.00.

MARKETS

Produce

AUSTIN, March 10.—Eggs are advancing, fresh gathered firsts this morning bringing $6.75 to $7.00 per case of 30 dozen on a firming market. New York, with receipts of 47,116 cases was steady to unchanged and Chicago with 15,999 cases checked in was without feature. Ordinary firsts at Chicago were quoted at 26¼@27c.

Poultry at Texas points was slightly weaker. Hens brought 19@20c; springs, 43@45c; old roosters, 9c, and turkeys, 25c pound liveweight basis. Geese were worth $1; ducks, 75c; guineas, 25c each.

AUSTIN, March 10.—There was a big drop in vegetable shipments yesterday, this state rolling but one of the 40 cars of grapefruit, 12 (incomplete) of the 30 cars of spinach, one of the 91 cars of lettuce, three of the 47 cars of mixed vegetables, one of the 53 cars of cabbage and but one mixed car of beets and carrots.

The shipping point situation appeared somewhat firmer. Usual terms cars of spinach at Laredo moved up to 40@50c bushel with cash track shipments selling steady at 30@40c. There was little price change in cabbage at lower valley points, but considerable more interest in the deal with the cleaning up of unsold rollers. Six dollars per ton was the wagon load market to the growers and $12, with a few sales of U. S. number 1 cars as high as $15 featured the usual terms sales. Beets and carrots were unchanged.

CHICAGO PRODUCE

CHICAGO, March 10.—Butter, higher; creamery extras, 49½c; standards, 49½c; extra firsts, 47½@48½c; firsts, 41@43c; seconds, 34@37c.

AUSTIN, March 10.—A total of 76,843 cases of eggs were checked into Chicago, New York, Boston and Philadelphia yesterday, 4,130 in New York and 3,600 in Chicago going to the coolers for 1,404 cases withdrawn in the former market. Storage holding this morning, 38,574 cases New York, 13,554 Chicago, 521 Boston and 102 Philadelphia.

Dressed poultry stocks were decreased by 553,892 pounds in the day, 598,104 pounds in New York alone being checked from storage, compared with the 228,164 pounds moved in. Receipts in New York were 600,513 pounds and in Chicago 169,378 pounds. Stocks on hand when trading opened this morning were: New York, 31,041,130 pounds; Chicago, 38,922,775; Boston, 10,672,987; Philadelphia, 4,476,297 pounds.

AUSTIN, March 10.—There was distinct firmness throughout the list of spinach markets today, notwithstanding somewhat generous receipts and a St. Louis clearance of 66 cars. Washington advanced to $1.40 per Texas bushel and Boston got above the dollar mark. There was little change to the loading station markets cash track cars at Laredo bringing 30 to 40c and usual terms shipments 40 to 50c f. o. b.

Chicago, 6 Texas, 3 other arrivals, 36 track; weak, 50 to 75c.

St. Louis, 32 Texas arrived, 44 track; steady, 50 to 65c.

Cincinnati, 2 Texas arrived, 5 track; steady, 65 to 75c.

Cleveland, no arrivals, 8 track; stronger, 75 to 85c.

New York, 6 Texas, 12 South Carolina arrived; weak, 65 to 90c.

Boston, 3 Texas arrived, 38 track; stronger, $1 to $1.50.

Philadelphia, 9 Texas arrived, 2½ track; weak, 50 to 80c.

Minneapolis, no arrivals, 4 track; weaker, 65 to 75c.

Washington, 1 Texas, 3 other arrivals, 4track; firm, best $1.40.

Baltimore, no arrivals, 3 track; unsettled, $1 to $1.25.

Cabbage showed but little strength. Baton Rouge moved through but 9 Texas and St. Louis but 8. The shipping point market has a firm undertone from the cleanup of rollers, but the terminal situation is little changed.

Kansas City, 5 Texas arrived, 9 track; steady, unchanged.

Chicago, 5 Texas, 1 other arrival, 53 track; weaker, $2 to $2.50 cwt.

St. Louis, 20 Texas arrived, 66 track; weaker, $30 to $35 ton.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 10.—The cotton market today was generally quieter than has been the case for the past 10 days and fluctuations followed a narrower range, after an early spurt, in spite of poorer cables than due, which carried prices up 11 to 15 points, due mainly to the cotinued lack of rain fall in the west the market sagged off on liquidation due to the disappointment at the failure of support to the constructive side by the outside public and less favorable cables. At the lowest of the day, reached around noon, prices were 1 to 2 points below yesterday's close on old crop positions and 1 to 2 up on new crops.

During the late afternoon there was a rally on the international spinners federation report of large consumption of American cotton for the first six months of the season and the official report showing that the average rainfall for Texas during February was only .48 of an inch as compared with 1.78 last year and the average rainfall for the season since October 1 was 4.98 inches against 17.60 inches last season fo rthe same period.

At the start, the market was steady in the face of unfavorable Liverpool cables and first trades showed gains of 2 to 4 points. Prices gradually improved until May sold at 26.05 and October 25.35 or 11 to 17 points above the previous close. The market then eased off until in the early afternoon May traded down to 25.92 and October to 25.19 or 13 to 16 points down from the high. The rally of the afternoon advanced prices to the earlier highs for most months and July made a new high at 26.35 and December at 25.32.

The close was near the top, showing net gains for the day of 10 to 15 points.

There was nothing new in the spot situation except that the demand was more moderate while waiting on the predictions in the west. Cotton goods reports were generally favorable and exports continued liberal with every indication they would continue to run well ahead of last year for the balance of the season.

Exports totalled 40,718 bales of which New Orleans contributed 27,403 bales and Charleston 9,451 bales.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, March 10.—Further weakness developed in today's stock market despite a sharp rally in wheat prices and publication of a favorable tonnage statement by the United States Steel Corporation. Heavy selling of stocks, many of which dropped 1 to 5 points generally was believed to have been inspired by speculative uneasiness over the money situation and reports that spring business in some lines was not up to early expectations.

Selling pressure was directed chiefly against some of the so-called pivotal industrials. American Can broke from a high of 180⅝ to 175½ and then rallied to 176, where it was off 4⅝ on the day. Baldwin showed a net loss of 4⅞ at 134½. U. S. Steel common closed at its low price of the day 122⅝, off 1⅛. Studebaker yielded fractionally to 44⅛.

The steel corporation reported an increase of 247,448 tons in unfilled orders as of February 28, or about 50,000 tons above preliminary estimates. While this statement generally was regarded as bullish it failed to have any effect on the steel shares, probably because of a feeling in some quarters that the increased business represented a last minute rush of orders to take advantage of the lower prices prevailing in the first quarter. Ludlum Steel broke 3¼ points to 44⅝, or about 10 points below its recent high.

American bank note broke 22 points to 184 on one sale. Nash Motors dropped 9½ points to 252½ on a small turn over. Net declines of 3 points or more also were recorded by American Car and Foundry, American Express, Associated Drygoods, Chicago Pneumatic Tool, the Commercial Solvents issues, Loose-Wiles Biscuit, Porto Rican tobacco, Savage Arms, Tidewater Oil, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, Ward Baking "A", Western Union Telegraph and Wilson and Co., preferred.

Further selling of the St. Paul issues reflected growing concern over that road's ability to take care of its maturities this year without being forced through a reorganization. The common duplicated the year's low of 11⅛ while the preferred dropped 1⅝ points to 20. Recent heaviness of New York Central was said to be due to liquidation for the account of Union Pacific subsidiaries. Baltimore and Ohio and Rock Island common each dropped more than 2 points, while losses of a point or more were recorded by "aty" common, New Haven, Norfolk and Western, Northern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Chicago Great Western preferred, Chicago Northwestern, Lackawanna, Kansas City Southern, Lehigh Valley and several others.

The foreign exchanges displayed a firm tone. Demand sterling ruled about half a cent higher around $4.76¾ and French francs improved slightly to 5.13½ cents. Other European rates showed only nominal changes.

Call money held steady at 4½ per cent. Time money and commercia lpaper rates were unchanged with business small in volume.

Six Left in Race For City Council; L. Stogner Drops

Forsees Bitter Fight, So Automobile Man Withdraws

The city's political arena was depleted by one Tuesday when L. G. Stogner, a candidate for police commissioner, announced his withdrawal from the April 7 primary. In a letter to the voters of the city he sets forth his reasons for retiring from "a bitter campaign, which seems to be inevitable."

Mr. Sogner's withdrawal leaves six candidates in the race for the police chair. They are Frank Queisser, J. B. Fitts, J. W. McCormick, J. N. Wells, W. H. Conn and Frank Johnson.

The letter announcing Mr. Stogner's retirement is as follows:

March 10, 1925.

To the Voters and Citizens of Wichita Falls, Texas:

On the 20th day of February, 1925, I made my announcement as a candidate for police and fire commissioner of Wichita Falls. I did this at the request of my friends, who assured me that very little time or expense would be necessary in making this race and that no injury would come to my business because of time devoted to the campaign for this office. However, since making my announcement numerous political aspirants have cast their hats into the political arena and have caused the political waters to become more boisterous and turbulent, thus making it necessary for me to devote more time, expense and attention to a political campaign than I had previously anticipated. My business connection will not warrant this attention and as I have a desire to promote the progress and good will of Wichita Falls, and not to be entangled in a bitter campaign, which seems to be inevitable, I am withdrawing from the political arena.

With all good wishes and appreciation to my friends for their sincere support up to this time, I shall stand on the side line as disinterested spectator and watch the best man come under the rope first.

Very sincerly yours,
LEN G. STOGNER.

Mrs. Stokes to Take Stand in Own Behalf

CHICAGO, March 10.—The wife he is charged with conspiring to defame in an effort to further his unsuccessful divorce suit will take the witness stand tomorrow in the trial of W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire hotel owner of New York.

She has fought for an opportunity to take the witness stand and enter formal denial of the testimony of two sleeping car conductors that late in 1922 she made overnight trips with men other than her husband. She has insisted that she did not want to testify against Mr. Stokes, her sole wish being to defend the attacks on her good name.

PLAN NEW FIRE HOUSE

Architects Drawings for Station No. 5 Being Prepared Now

Architects plans for the new fire station to be erected by the city in the Floral Heights addition are being prepared and will be ready for submission to the city council in the near future. It is hoped that work on the new building can be started within the next 60 days and that it will be ready for use by the first of July. The new $12,000 pumper truck ordered by the council a week ago will be delivered about that time.

Present plans call for a fire station costing in the neighborhood of $10,000. It will be thoroughly modern and will make the fifth to be erected in Wichita Falls.

SEWER HEARING SET

Case Called By Judge Martin For Saturday Morning.

A hearing on the Iowa Park sewer system dispute has been set for 9 o'clock Saturday morning in the 89th district court, Judge P. A. Martin entering an order Tuesday to that effect.

The case is one in which certain residents of Iowa Park complain that the city's sewer system is unsanitary and improperly handled, constituting, therefore, a menace to the health of the community. An injunction has been sought, restraining the city from further operation of the system in the manner in which it has been conducted.

OIL EVIDENCE CONCLUDED

Jury Will Start Deliberations In Humble Suit Today.

All evidence has been introduced and arguments finished in the case of Nancy McChesney vs. C. H. Creighton and the Humble Oil company, on trial the past two days before a jury and Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court. Arguments of counsel were concluded at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and the jury excused until 9 o'clock Wednesday morning when it will return to start deliberations.

The case involves titles to a large amount of storage oil taken from an Archer county lease which is under dispute.

QUESTION DIVORCE VALIDITY

English Lawyers Differ on Legality of French Separation

LONDON, March 10.—The question as to the validity in England of the divorce secured in Paris by Mrs. Ian Onslow Dennistoun from Lieutenant-Colonel Dennistoun whom she is suing for sums of money she alleges she loaned him prior to their separation was developed today at the resumption of the proceedings brought by Mrs. Dennistoun.

A surprising statement by counsel was that Dennistoun did not dispute misconduct, and that he would say on the witness stand that the divorce was obtained by arrangement between himself and his wife.

$25 LOSS IN CAR FIRE

Box Car On Siding In North Wichita Ablaze Tuesday Evening.

Damage of approximately $25 was caused at 11:15 Tuesday night when a box car on a siding of the J. C. Anorews elevator in North Wichita caught fire. Firemen from the central station were called and extinguished the flames before they could spread and cause extensive loss.

The origin of the fire was unknown.

OLD HOME TOWN

C. W. Snider left Tuesday afternoon for St. Louis on a short business trip. He will return the latter part of the week.

Miss Lucile Johnston, deputy county clerk, is confined to her home with illness.

Mrs. Lon H. Howard, wife of the assistant postmaster, is seriously ill at her home, 1408 Filmore.

No marriage license were issued Tuesday afternoo nat the county clerk's office.

S. A. Covington, general superintendent of the Fort Worth and Denver, is in Fort Worth on business.

F. M. Rugley, city engineer, is confined to his home with illness.

Seven cases were called for trial Tuesda ymorning in city police court. Most of them were on charges of drunk.

Building Permits for 2 Days Total $28,900

Eleven building permits with an aggregate value of $28,900 have been issued by Building Inspector Fred A. Smith during the first two days of the week. The largest was for a $5,000 residence and the others have ranged from that figure down to repair jobs of $200 or less.

No cessation has been found in the building activity of the city, especially in the smaller structures, Mr. Smith has found. Homes are springing up in all parts of the city as rapidly as the ywere two months ago when the present building boom first started.

TO BEGIN MURDER CASE

Trial Starts For La Grange Boy Alleged To Have Attacked Girls

LA GRANGE, Texas, March 10. Preparations are being made here for the W. H. Langhorn, jr., murder, criminal assault and assault to murder trial which opens Thursday. Reservations have been made and local hotel facilities will be inadequate to accommodate the crowds that will attend the trial.

Judge J. M. Jeffries, who will hear the case, and State's State's Attorney Fred Blundell are expected to arrive Wednesday. Veniremen have been notified to appear at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

BELIEVE BROKER TOOK LIFE

CHICAGO, March 10.—Authorities investigating the affairs of Benjamin J. White, LaSalle street broker sought for questioning in connection with the alleged forging of preliminary papers and bonds on three non-existent school districts in Christian county, Illinois, tonight expressed the opinion that he had committed suicide.

The bonds with an apparent value of $150,000 were bought by the Modern Woodmen of America through two St. Louis bond houses.

Co-Eds Given Six "Shalt Nots," While Eds Get But One-Texas Student Vote

AUSTIN, March 10.—A double standard of ethics exists at the University of Texas in a greater degree than at the University of Chicago, according to experiments conducted with 1,000 students by Dr. A. P. Brogan of the department of philosophy and psychology. Results were announced today.

Professor Brogan collected 50,000 opinions from the 1,000 students over a period of one winter season.

They proved, he said, that seven out of a list of 16 vices, or so-called vices, are considered either "worse for men" or "worse for women."

Sex irregularity, drinking, gambling, vulgar talk, swearing and smoking are the offenses "not" forgiven the fair sex. Idleness, a tabulation of the judgments, conceded, is definitely worse for men, but nine other "wickednesses" are put on the same level for both sexes.

"Equally worse for male or female," the studes declared when asked about stealing, cheating, lying, selfishness, Sabbath breaking, snobbishness, gossip, extravagance and dancing.

Students at the University of Chicago lean more to the single standard than Texas youths, Brogan declared. Chicago co-eds in particular, the psychologist found, places sex irregularity and gambling on the same plane for men and women.

BEG YOUR PARDON

S. A. Freemon came to the Record News last night and identified himself as the owner of a brick house at the end of Front street and Seymour and also as the man who this newspaper said offered to sell his house to the city council Monday for $800 but later withdrew his offer. Mr. Freemon states he did not offer to sell the house to the city and that he intends to move in accordance "with the decree of the court."

NO TRUANTS IN SCHOOLS

Spring Weather Has But Little Effect On County Attendance

Spring weather and the allurements it has is having little or no effect on the truancy question in schools of the county, Juvenile Officer W. G. Brailey states.

Mr. Bralley has recently made a survey of attendance at practically all the larger district schools in Wichita county and in but few places he found youngsters who needed "stimulation" to keep them in class. The schools as a rule, he says, enjoy remarkable freedom from the truancy problem, and this seems to be holding good throughout this spring despite the natural tendency of youngsters to take advantage of the inviting weather outside.

Cline Nominated to Head Rotary District

GALVESTON, March 10.—Bringing to a close its two-day session here, the old thirteenth Rotary district passed out of existence this afternoon with the nomination of three district governors to head the division into which it has been divided. They were Walter D. Cline of Wichita Falls for district number 41; Sid Hardin of Mission for district number 47, and Bruce Bogarte of Dallas for district number 48. Election of the district governors who succeed to the territory presided over last year by Harry Rogers of San Antonio, will take place at the 1925 international meeting at Cleveland.

How Doctors Treat Colds And The Flu

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nausealess Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or tow Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest pocket size; 35c for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—Adv.

Woman's Statement Will Help Wichita Falls

"I hated cooking because all I ate turned sour and formed gas. I drank hot water and olive oil by the gallon. Nothing helped until I took Adlerika." Unless due to deep-seated causes, Adlerika helps any case gas on the stomach in a surprisingly QUICK time. It is a wonderful remedy to use for constipation—it often works in one hour and never gripes. Smith's Drug Stores.—Adv.

Lumber Dealers Will Form Sixth Hoo-Hoo Society

Wichita Falls Lumbermen Are Entertained By Moore And Richolt

Thirty-two lumber dealers of Wichita Falls were guests Tuesday night of the Moore and Richolt lumber company and the Steves Sash and Door company at a Dutch lunch and entertainment in the Moore and Richolt plant on Lamar avenue. Representatives of all the lumber yards in the city were present.

Included in the business transacted was a motion that all retail lumbermen here should, so far as possible, make purchases of window sashes and similar mill work from the two wholesale plants. Wholesale hardware, also, it was suggested, should be bought from local wholesalers whenever possible.

Wichita Falls has been granted permission to organize a Hoo-Hoo club, it was announced, and the organization, the sixth in Texas, will be the last allowed in the state. The other five are at Dallas, Fort Worth, Amarillo, San Antonio and Houston. The Hoo-Hoo club is an official association of lumbermen that has a national field of activity.

Raymond Gutzler of the North Side Lumber company acted as toastmaster of the evening and called on short addresses from every man present. All responded. Music for the evening was furnished by a colored stringed orchestra.

Spring Auto Exhibit Planned by Dealers

Plans for a spring automobile show in Wichita Falls assumed definite proportions Tuesday noon when local automobile dealers decided to have a committee appointed to look into the possibility of securing a building suitable for exhibition purposes.

It was announced that at the present time no suitable building was available, but that within a short time several would be completed. The committee was also ordered to look into other matters concerning the show.

A committee was also appointed to make up a booklet on local traffic regulations, which will be distributed free to members of the automobile association. The committee is composed of C. E. Nolen, chairman; J. M. McFall, W. S. Langford, W. D. Goodlett, and Jerry Moffett.

Those attending the noon day luncheon were: Frank Quiesser, C. W. Nolen, L. G. Stogner, R. M. Peyton, R. G. Sharpe, Ieland Trice, P. K. White, W. D. Goodlett, and Jerry Moffett.

Short Skirts Cause Gloom in Factories

MANCHESTER, England, March 10.—Reports from Paris, the Riviera, London and other centers of fashion that swirts this year are to be still shorter have caused a shutter of gloom to pass over workers in the textile districts where there is already much unemployment.

Lawyers Contesting Identity of Dead Man

The identity of a man dead for over two years was a moot question Tuesday in the 78th district court where the case of the Texas Employers Insurance association vs. Mrs. Nora W. Simpson was continued before a jury and Judge Guy Rogers. The case is one in which the insurance company is contesting the claim of Mrs. Simpson to an award growing out of the death of Jesse W. Simpson who was killed in a refinery explosion near Breckburnett in July, 1921.

Mrs. Simpson asserts the man killed was her husband, John H. Simpson, and in support of that claim had the body of the victim exhumed last September for identification. The insurance company holds that the man killed was not the defendant's husband.

The plaintiff rested at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and the defense immediately started introducing its testimony. Witnesses are here from a number of central Texas points where John H. Simpson at one time resided.

All of Wednesday will be required to complete introduction evidence, it was indicated yesterday.

Royal Levee Agleam With Braid and Silks

LONDON, March 10.—The Prince of Wales, acting in the place of King George, today is presiding for the first time at a "levee," one of the medieval pageants of swords and silk, gold braid and gleaming epaulettes, staged by British royalty in accordance with long standing custom.

Ambassadors in all the finery of their full dress costumes will join richly uniformed military men of high rank in making obeisance to the prince, their gorgeous attire, bespangled with medals and decorations, brightening the courtyard and reception room of St. James with an ensemble of color hardly to be equaled elsewhere these days.

Levees are exclusively masculine affairs.

TO CLOSE LIQUOR SUPPLY.

U. S. Gets Permit to Padlock New York Hotel for Three Months.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Federal Attorney Buckner today won the first of what he says may amoun tto 1,000 separate proceedings to padlock establishments selling liquor.

Federal Judge Hand ordered that the LaFayette hotel in New Rochelle be placed for three months under a padlock injunction asked by the government, and further directed the cancellation of the tenant's lease. The owner of the structure previously had agreed to Mr. Buchner's demand.

The decree provided for closing the entire building and means, Mr. Buckner said closing a furnishing store and restaurant on the ground floor and ousting fifteen other tenants. Frank Archibald, leasee of the hotel proper was granted five days stay to make appeal.

I always have my children's teeth examined by our dentist before taking them on a trip of any length. A toothache can spoil the most pleasant, holiday that was ever planned, and a strange dentist is never quite as satisfactory as one we know.

Front Street Case Will Be Aired Again

Further legal proceedings in the Front street propertly dispute will be aired out in the 89th district court Thursday morning when the case of A. R. and O. T. Watland vs. the City of Wichita Falls will be called for trial.

This case involves title to a portion of Front street which the plaintiffs contend is private ground owned by them. The city has maintained it was a public highway and some time ago secured a court ruling allowing them to pave it.

Maupin Will Head Local P.-T. A. Post

M. A. Maupin, president of the Blair-Maupin Grocery company, will be the 1925 president of the Wichita Falls Protective Travelers association, it was decided Tuesday evening at the banquet of the members of Post No. 1. Mr. Maupin succeeds Harry Bray, who was president in 1924.

H. H. May of the Goodner Grocery company, was selected as chairman of the committee in charge of the program and other preparations of the state P. T. A. convention, to be held in this city May 7, 8 and 9. Mr. May will also serve as delegate from the local post to the national convention to be held in Birmingham, Ala., next June. Harry Bray was selected as alternate. In the election of officers, Mr. May was re-elected secretary and treasurer of the Wichita Falls post.

Harry Newton was named delegate from the local club to the state convention and E. S. Goodner was made alternate.

The P. T. A. is a natinoal association for the protection of wholesalers and manufacturers in shipping and traveling. It carries with it an insurance policy, and has over 8,000 members in Texas alone, several hundred of whom are expected to attend the convention here in June.

COLD WAVE PREDICTED

Tuesday Is Fair, But Weather Bureau Forecasts Blizzard.

The weather bureau is losing all its claims as a prophet in prognosticating impending weather conditions.

The "cold wave" that has been on the way to north Texas since the middle of last week seems still to be on the way despite repeated warnings that it was due to hit most any time.

Tuesday was another bright, warm and inviting day outside with no indication of a drop in temperature. There was comparatively little wind.
