Samnorwood And Dodsonville Ask For Gymnasium-Auditoriums

Estimate $18,000

Architects Draw Plans And Submit Projects To District Office

Combined gymnasiums and auditorium projects for Samnorwood and Dodsonville became a step closer to reality as leaders announced plans for submitting WPA projects to the district office in Amarillo. However, both projects still have to go through the state and federal office for approval.

Plans Submitted

The Samnorwood plans have already been drawn and the application filed, according to E. G. Sanders, superintendent, who estimated that the total cost of the project would run around $8,000—with $4,000 from the Samnorwood district and $4,000 in the form of a WPA grant. Plans on this project were drawn by Davis Robinson, architect, and the application was drawn by Maurice Dickson.

The Dodsonville school Friday night employed Coleman Towns as architect, and expected to submit their project to the district office during the week. This project also includes a combined gymnasium and auditorium and the estimated cost will be around $10,000. The Dodsonville district also expects to apply for a WPA grant to cov-

Following a series of meetings the directors tenatively employed Mr. Bonner as secretary, and prepared an estimate of costs. County Alloted 67 Miles Trees In New Program

Plantings Largely Confined To Collingsworth And Near Counties

New Rulings

Payment Plan To Farmers Radically Changed Under New Plan

Reporting radical changes in the Shelterbelt program, W. P. Trice, Shelterbelt assistant, today said that Collingsworth County has been alloted 67 miles of plantings out of the proposed planting schedule to be done in Texas during the coming year. Mr. Trice is now working in this county, and said that plantings for the coming year will be confined largely to Collingsworth, Childress, Hardeman and Wilbarger Counties.

To Use AAA Acreage

Changes have recently been made in the policies governing the Shelterbelt program, according to Mr. Trice, which were necessary to be able to comply with restrictions set forth under the allotment made from the Emergency Relief Appropriation funds under which the Shelterbelt program will be carried on during 1936. At the present time only land under AAA reduction contracts will be used by the Forest Service under agreement with the landowner for the planting of the Shelterbelt, of contracted acreage, or will be allowed to make adjustment of

Insignificant Little Drum Tosses Box Cars From Tracks

It looked small and insignificant—just a little metal drum about two feet high and 15 inches in diameter. Perhaps that is the reason the night clerk paid little attention when he pulled the truck along side the freight car around midnight last Friday.

Somehow the little drum rolled, however, and landed along side of the tracks. The engine passed and the freight cars came along, and then the trouble started. The little drum caught in the axle box of a car—with a rumble the car jumped the track. It was closely followed by a tank car, and the two huge cars rolled a distance of 200 feet, tearing up the pav-

Pioneers To Meet Thursday

Expectations ran high today for one of the largest reunion picnics in the history of the county when Old Settlers gather Thursday, August 15, at the LaHue Grove, three miles east of here.

All plans were complete for the reunion, which will open with registrations Thursday morning and continue through the day, featuring a picnic lunch at the noon hour.

Local Settlers Invited

"Remember, all old settlers now residing in the county are invited," Mrs. W. O. Richards, chairman, said. "No invitations were mailed in the county due to expense it would have incurred, but everyone who has resided here as long as 25 years will be expected. In addition, a large number who have moved away already stated their expectations of attending the reunion."

Lee O'Neil, entertainment chairman, indicated that the settlers would not be bothered with a formal program, but might meet and talk over old times. However, a few of the older residents will be introduced from the platform and several old time fiddle numbers will be played.

Persons attending the reunion were also reminded to bring their lunches. Coffee and ice water will be furnished, but guests were also asked to bring their cups.

Badges For Pioneers

Formality will be practically forgotten—except for the pinning of badges on all settlers who came to Collingsworth County before 1900—and the chief entertainment will include swapping of yarns of the old days and meeting with friends of 25 years ago or longer.

Minister Price has attended both the John Tarleton Junior College in Stephenville and the University of Texas, having studied theology at the latter. Prior to his ministerial work, he taught in Wellington schools for one year and made many friends in this county.

Because of his sound philosophy, wide knowledge of the Bible, and unusual ability as a speaker, even larger crowds than attended his sermons last year are expected to attend this revival. He has the reputation of a forceful and interesting speaker and his friends are looking forward to a great revival meeting here this summer under his leadership.

Combined State And County Rate 13 Cents Lower

Tax Payers Will Have Combined Reduction Of Around $6,670

Same Valuations

No Change Made In County Property Valuations From Last Year

Members of the Commissioners Court met Tuesday and set the county tax rate at 88 cents. The state rate was previously set at 62 cents. This gives Collingsworth County property owners a combined county and state tax rate of $1.50. The combined county and state rate was $1.63 last year. Thus, the present combined rate offers a saving of 13 cents on the $100.

Court members also sat as an equalization board Tuesday and set property valuations at the same figure they were last year, Luther E. Gribble, county judge, said Wednesday. The total county valuations last year were $6,709,000. State valuations may vary slightly, but last year were around $5,250,000.

From the assessed figures last year the county taxes will amount to $59,039.20, on the present rate, and the state taxes will amount to around $32,550 on the new state rate. The combined figure will amount to $91,589.20. The combined taxes last year were around $98,260.12. The new rate will therefore save tax payers approximately $6,670.92.

Budget Is Explained

The county income has already been budgeted and will be used in the following form: 1916 Special Road Bonds, 6 cents; Courthouse

EARLY BASEBALL

While baseball as we know it is a sport of comparatively recent development, a game in which a tossed ball was batted with a rude club has been traced back to the 14th century in Europe. The present American game was probably on outgrowth of that of "town ball," played in New England from about 1830, in which the runs were made around posts set in the ground, instead of bases.

The first code of baseball rules was formulated by the Knickerbocker club of New York in 1845, the first match game was played the following year, and the first gate money series of games took place at Hoboken in 1858. The development of the game was checked by the Civil War, but was revived in 1865, when a convention was held at which representatives of 30 clubs were present.

A Rockford, Ill., team first employed regularly salaried players, but the Cincinnati Red Stockings, organized in 1868, is considered the first professional club. It made a tour in 1869, winning 69 games without meeting a single defeat. In 1870 it won 29 straight games, being defeated in the 30th by the Atlantics of Brooklyn.

Gamblers having gotten control of the game, a convention was held in Louisville in 1876, at which strict rules to overcome bribery, betting by players and other abuses were adopted, and the National League was formed. There are now more than 20 professional leagues, of which the National and the American (originally the Western, formed by Ban Johnson in 1983) are the two "big leagues."

The most significant event in recent baseball history was the appointment of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis as "baseball czar" in 1920.

SPEED TAKES MORE GAS

We heard of a motorist who, when he suddenly discovered his gasoline was very low, speeded up so as to get to the next filling station before the gas gave out. Of course, he should have known that to get the most mileage out of a given amount of gas one must not drive faster than about 20 miles an hour.

Many tests have been made to determine the rate of gasoline consumption at various speeds, and these tests have invariably shown that the faster one drives the greater the consumption per mile. A typical illustration is given by the Bureau of Standards, taking a car that gets 18.9 miles per gallon at a speed of 20 miles per hour.

At 30 miles an hour the same car will get 18 miles per gallon.

At 40 miles an hour it will get 16.4 miles per gallon.

At 50 miles per hour it fill get 14.6 miles per gallon.

At 60 miles an hour it will get 12.6 miles per gallon.

At 70 miles an hour it will get 10.6 miles per gallon.

At 80 miles an hour it will get 8.6 miles per gallon.

It is shown that the consumption of oil at 60 miles an hour is six times as great as it is at 30 miles an hour.

Excessive speed places a great strain on an automobile and shortens its life, as the engine, tires and steering mechanism are all subject to unusual year and tear. Not only as a matter of safety, but as a measure of economy as well, driving at moderate speeds is recommended to all motorists.

AN ANTI-CRIME SCHOOL

Under the supervision of the Department of Justice a new kind of school was opened in Washington on July 29, in which a class selected from the police departments of 22 cities entered upon a three month course of training in methods for suppressing criminals.

The objectives of the school are to obtain closer co-operation between federal and state officers in checking crime; to train men in scientific crime detection; and to give instruction in the methods which have proved so successful by federal officers in riding the country of it most notorious bandits in recent months.

There will be lectures by prominent police officials, criminologists and others whose study of the crime situation make them authorities on the various subjects to be discussed. In addition to the theoretical side, there will be practical instruction in the use of all types of weapons used by officers of the law.

Practice will be had on outdoor and indoor target ranges. Sharpshooting from moving vehicles, firing at moving targets, use of illumination flares, and night shooting will be among the phases of the training to be stressed.

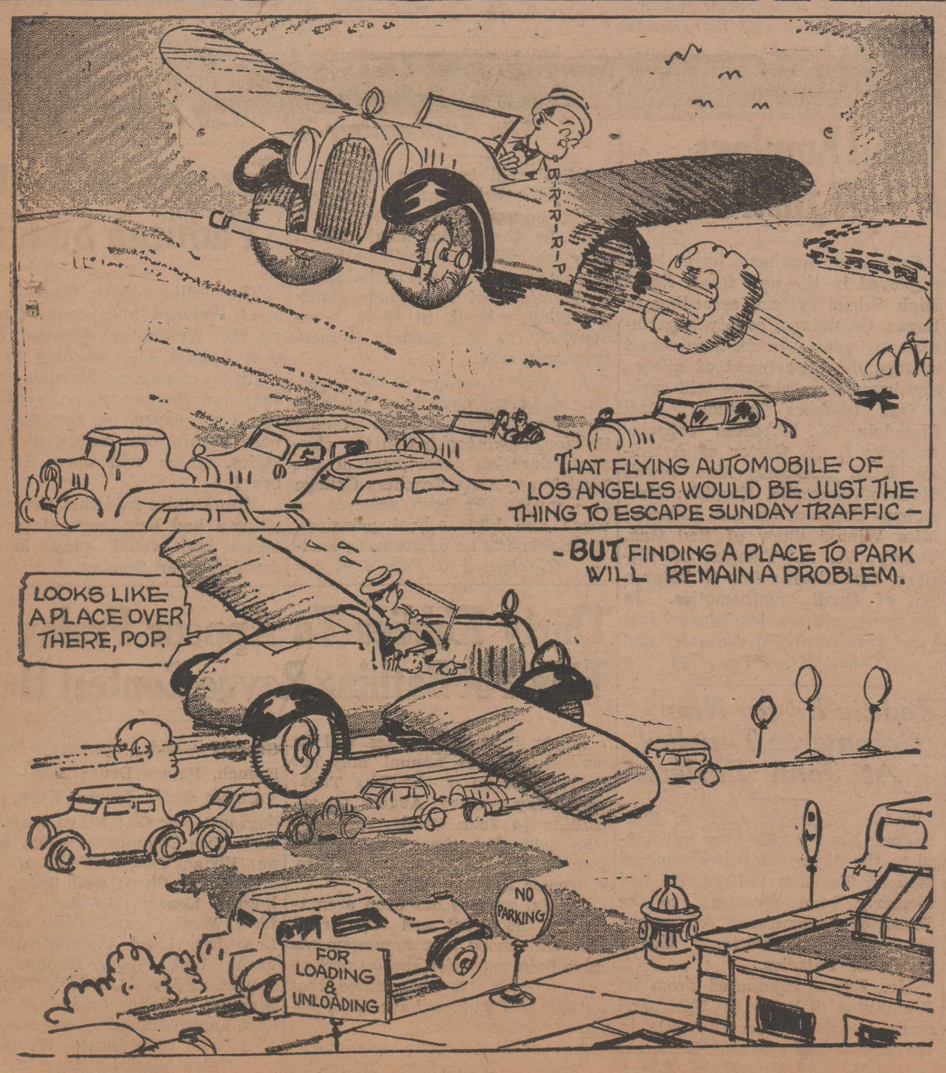

The men completing the course will be sent to become instructors in their own police departments. It is planned to put about 100 selected men through the school each year for a period of five years.

There can be no doubt that the system of instruction outlined will be productive of much good, and make the way of the bandit a good deal harder than it has been heretofore.

Oh, Well, We Can't Have Everything

OUR PAST

By C. C. BISHOP

After the fall of Fort Parker on the 19th of May, 1836, which was located in what is now Limestone county, word was sent out to other settlements to retreat as the Indians were coming.

From Nashville two young men were sent on horse back to a settlement in Bell County, to give the warning. The people of this community at once began their retreat. This was known as the Childers party.

This company included the following persons: Captain Goldby Childers and wife, their three sons, Robert, Frank, Prior and their four daughters, Catherine, Amanda, Caroline and Elizabeth; Rev Isaac Crouch, Orville T. Tyler, Robert Davidson, Ezekiel Robinson Old Man Rhodes, Mr. Shackelford and the two couriers—seventeen persons in all.

On the second day having passed out of the timber and were in an open country Messrs. Crouch and Davidson, whose families were at Nashville, decided to ride on and reach Nashville earlier in the day than the others. They had ridden on about five hundred yards ahead of the wagon. Captain Childers was then walking about one hundred yards ahead of the wagon, driving his horse before him. Some of the men were driving the cattle some distance in the rear of the wagon.

These men suddenly discovered about two hundred mounted Indian warriors advancing upon them from the rear at full speed. They gave the alarm by yelling "Indians! Indians!" and abandoning the cattle, hastened to the wagon. Captain Childers, hearing the alarm, repeated it to Messrs. Crouch and Davidson and rushed back on foot to the wagon.

A few shots were exchanged but none of the party were killed when the Indians discovered Messrs. Crouch and Davidson making their way back to the wagon, immediately divided into two columns and passing one on each side of the wagon in pursuit of these two men. Their horses were not fleet and the Indians soon overtook them about one half mile from the wagon and there murdered them in cold blood. They remained some time at the place where Crouch and Davidson fell, apparently quarreling over trophies—scalps, guns, horses, saddles, etc.

While this tragic scene was being enacted, the remainder of the party quickly turned and hurried to a grove of trees about one quarter mile distant, this being good protection as prairie Indians would not go in timber to fight. Just at this moment the two brave youths that had ridden out from Nashville to give these people warnings, one of them halloed "Let's go" and off they rode on good horses, leaving the small party to apparently doomed to a certain and horrible death.

The Indians never attacked the party again, and when their deserters had reached Nashville, they reported they had seen the last one of them killed. They gave a very interesting account of how the battle took place and how one of them had killed the last Indian in a hand to hand combat. He was the acknowledged hero of the hour, when, lo! The little party whom he had deserted in their extreme peril unexpectedly appeared.

Had they in fact thus perished, as he thought inevitable, his story would have stood unchallenged and his heroism would have been far-famed.

The above story has been received from two sources, one by publication and the other by an oral statement. The Captain Childers in this story is the grandfather of our fellow citizen, R. E. Childers, and the Robert Childers in this battle was his father.

The Great American Home

Martha, Typical Home-Maker

Text: Luke 10:38-42; John 11:17-28

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for August 18.

We shall study Martha as a typical home-maker. With all justice to Martha, who may be greatly wronged by the contrast we make between her and Mary, one may question just a little her right to the title of typical home-maker.

Our homes would be much poorer and probably less comfortable without the Marthas with their care for many things, with their concern for dust and disorder, and their worship of broomsticks and dust cloths, to say nothing of their zeal for cooking, and seeing that we are well fed and, in general, well cared for.

But such zeal at times does not tend entirely to the making of the home. The rigid discipline of too efficient housekeeping may be apt, on occasion, to break, rather than make, the home.

A Canadian artist, who attained some fame, once contrasted the conditions in his home with those in the home in which he was brought up.

In his early childhood he was in a house where the costly furniture was covered lest the children should scratch or mar it. The home was not a place of enjoyment where things were used for their intended purpose, but a place where discipline and restriction were evident at every turn.

He determined that when he had a home and children of his own, the home should be a place where furniture was used and enjoyed—a place where normal and joyous life was lived by the family insofar as he could arrange and encourage it.

Good home-making must take into account the sentimental Mary as well as the practical Martha. It was Mary's glory, and her fault, that she forgot some commonplace things in her contemplation of their guest and all that He had to teach them.

Here was opportunity incomparable with matter-of-fact routine. It was, perhaps, ungracious that she should not have assister her sister Martha.

Perhaps, however, the Master would have enjoyed the hospitality of the home just as much if the meal had been very simple, and Martha, instead of being so fussy about much serving, had also sat at His feet.

There is an inmate richness of good home-making and of hospitality in receiving guests that cannot be translated into terms of mere preparation and serving. A home is first of all a place in which to live.

After we have developed in our home Martha-like efficiency we need something more. In fact, perhaps the only way to insure a good home and good home life is to begin with the one thing needful that Mary chose. It gives us the right sense of values and saves us from the consequences of too much discipline and efficiency.

Isn't it the TRUTH?

My Home used to be my castle, where I could live without annoyance—When the door bell rang I could expect a friend or neighbor. But that is not so any more, with solicitors, agents, peddlers, ringing my door doorbell from early morning—yes, even 'till late in the evening using "something free" or smart story methods to gain admission to my home. In fact says the Prudent Housewife and Miss Thrifty Shopper—"I am pestered with peddlers trying their specialty sales arguments on me every day of the week until they have become a NUISANCE."

Who are these bell ringers?

As a Rule many are Floaters---here today and gone tomorrow. They are NOT responsible financially, morally or otherwise. They are NOT taxpayers or voters in any community. Where a local citizen is representing a house-to-house selling firm, he or she secures the majority of business thru the friendly sympathy racket and NOT on the merits of the product. This condition is OVERWORKED in every community---and Master Peddlers are always looking for this class of representative.

Many Are Irresponsible. Men who cannot hold a position of any responsibility for any length of time---and continually float from one job to another. The large number of classified ads reading "Agents Wanted---Canvassers---Peddlers---Solicitors---Representatives to sell from house-to-house" confirms the uncertainty of the peddler.

If a Strange Man Came to Your Door---with nothing to sell---asking for permission to come into your home---WOULD YOU LET HIM IN?

Can You Afford to Take a Chance?

What Values Have These Peddlers To Offer?

Do you always receive THE SAME QUALITY as in sample shown? A large majority of these Peddlers are representing firms which go into the wholesale market and buy SECONDS—IMPERFECTS paying equally as much as your merchant does for perfect standards. When the merchandise you ordered from the peddler arrives—and it DOES NOT PROVE SATISFACTORY—Can You Get Your Money Back? Try to locate the clever salesman who collected your deposit.

Office of City Marshall

PAUL HARDY
WELLINGTON, TEXAS

A WARNING FROM THE MARSHALL
TO THE HOUSEWIVES OF WELLINGTON
AND FARMERS OF THIS VICINITY:

THIS IS A WARNING To beware of thieves posing as solicitors, salesmen or inspectors. Strangers seeking admittance to premises as salesmen or inspectors, SHOULD NOT BE ADMITTED UNTIL THEIR CREDENTIALS HAVE BEEN CHECKED UP AND VERIFIED THROUGH DEPENDABLE LOCAL PERSONS OR LOCAL INSTITUTIONS.

In many cases strangers without reliable credentials are spotters for professional criminals and according to our records, lack of caution on the part of Collingsworth County housewives in admitting such strangers often-times results in costly property losses and bitter experiences.

Do not pay cash in advance to strangers on any merchandise. In many cases and from experiences reported to the Sheriff's office the customer never received anything for the cash advanced nor has any refund been made of the original cash deposit.

Do not cash checks for strangers, or issue a check for a down payment on an order to a stranger. The Sheriff's office has hundreds of dollars of worthless checks on hand and many times checks issued on payment to strangers have been altered and later cashed by third and innocent parties.

IT'S BETTER TO BE SAFE THAN SORRY—BE SURE YOU KNOW WHO THE STRANGER IS AT YOUR DOOR before granting admittance to your home. In case you are suspicious phone the sheriff at once—phone 87—as we are anxious to co-operate with our citizens at all times.

HIGH PRESSURE FREE GIFT PEDDLERS have been working the resident and farm districts of late—selling all kinds of merchandise offering something free as a means to get into the home. In most cases there is nothing free to be given away.

ONE NEED NOT BE AFRAID of offending the honest solicitor . . . salesman or inspector living here or representing local firms. THEY HAVE THEIR CREDENTIALS WITH THEM AND WELCOME INVESTIGATION. That is why they are required to carry credentials. Protect yourself, ASK FOR CREDENTIALS SHOWING THEIR IDENTITY.

Bang's Disease Tests Will Be Made In County

Interested Parties Urged To Sign Application Blanks

County Agent John O. Stovall has been notified that the government will conduct a series of tests in Collingsworth County for Bang's Disease in dairy and range cattle, in event enough interested producers sign application blanks, which are now in the county agent's office. This service, like many others, is given free by the government agents, and all interested parties are urged to call at once and see the application blanks and sign same.

Government Veterinarian

The government veterinarian will be in the county just as soon as the agent's office notifies him that he has as many as 20 herds to test. There must be at least 20 herds listed before the government will conduct the tests. The cattle will be handled in about the same manner as the T-B tests, which has just been completed; that is, the government will buy all reactive cattle.

If the agent can get as many as 20 herds listed at once the tests will start immediately, as there is a veterinarian in the district who will be available just as soon as he completes a little work in another county. Stovall states that unless this work is rushed, this matter might cause the county to lose this service, which by all means should be conducted, as there is considerable loss to cattlemen and dairy herds, where this disease is found.

All community agricultural committees are asked to take this matter up in their meetings and report to the agent's office without delay.

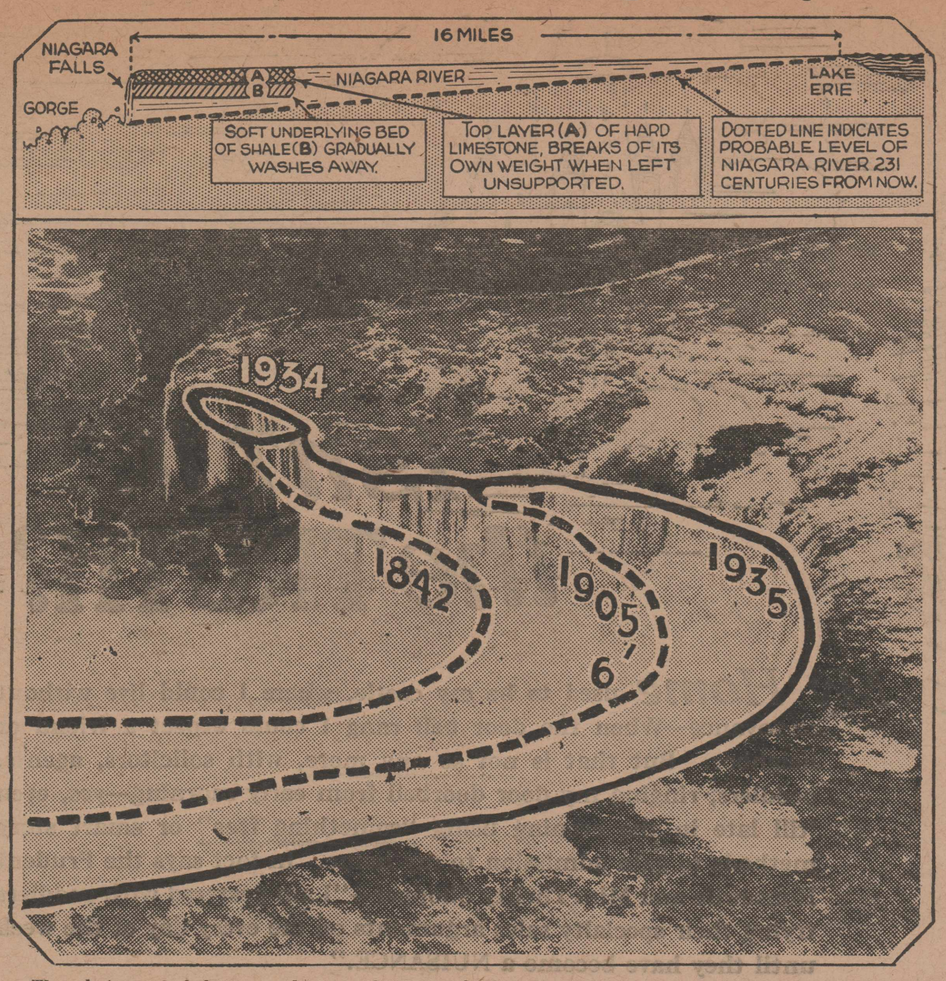

PROFIT FROM TOMATOES

CANTON.—One hundred and six dollars profit on one and one-half acres of tomatoes and still making more, is the report of W. O. Finch of Van Zandt County, according to V. O. Teddie, county agricultural agent. This is a net profit, and the crop is only 75 per cent harvested. Finch hired all the work done on his demonstration, and this amounted to $55. His fertilizer bill was $14. The gross receipts up to the present have been $175.

Finch says that the following contributed to the success of the demonstration in spite of adverse weather conditions: tomatoes were planted on fresh, well drained land; being timbered land and fresh, bushes were allowed to grow up from root stocks and shade the tomatoes to keep them from sun-blistering; and the proper cold framing was used.

Nature Destroying Beautiful Niagara, Her Own Creation, Geologists Say

The photograph below reveals how the Horseshoe Falls has receded since 1841 under the effects of erosion. The above chart illustrates why the Falls may disappear in future centuries.

For generations brides have raved rapturiously to bridegrooms over one of the most magnificant spectacles in this part of the world—Niagana Falls.

But distant descendants of these same newlyweds may have to share post martial bliss at a Mars crater resort, or some other future messa for honeymooners. There will be no Niagana Falls then; at least, so scientists predict.

Devouring its own bed, Niagana Falls is retreating up the river at a rate of approximately four feet a year. By the 231st century, the Falls will have receded the 16 miles to Lake Erie, and have become a tumbling, cascade-dotted river.

Ironically, the natural process which made Niagana Falls possible is now gradually erasing it.

Some 50,000 years ago, the short river running from Lave Erie to Lake Ontario "first spilled over the dolomite ledge at Lewiston" (near the Ontario end of the river.)

During these 500 centuries the ous crash that drowns the roar of the Falls.

It is when this happens—as it did in 1931 and 1934, when Nia-Niagara river has never ceased digging, biting, and undermining the rock in its bed. In this manner were created the great cliffs over which roar and plunge thousands of gallons of water daily.

In this manner will these cliffs be dissolved until, in the year 23053, geologists estimate, Lake Erie waters will surge to Lake Ontario on a level, though turbulent course.

Nature has been aided considerably in her erosion work by the makeup of the land underlying the Niagara river. The water plunges over a bed of hard dolomite, or limestone. Underneath lie successive strata of soft shale and sandstone.

Water and spray nibble away at the soft layers until, lacking support, thousands of tons of rock making up the hard surface tumble into the gorge with a thundergara "bit its lip" to the extent of first 75,000 and then 30,000 tons of rock—that the public learns what insidious erosion is doing to the majestic Falls.

Can Niagara be saved? A report published by the International Niagara Board in 1930 indicates that it can. Wires resembling natural rock ridges and placed, submerged, across the current would, according to the document, divert some of the water to the thin American Falls or to the naked flanks of the Horseshoe Falls. Such diversion would spread the flow evenly over the whole bring and retard erosion.

A condition of the scheme was that Niagara power companies were to tap some of the diverted water. It was because of this clause that the U. S. Senate has failed to emulate the Canadian parliament in approving the plan.

Meanwhile, rock falls in huge blocks weighing thousands of tons, and nature continues inexorably to level one of the greatest natural marvels of the Western Hemisphere.

Priest Says Last Rites In 1918, Man Is Alive

Brookfield, Mo., Aug. 2 (AP).-Father F. P. Coupal, Catholic priest lecturing here, stepped up to a postoffice window and recognized postmaster Arnold Breen as a World War soldier to whom he had given the last sacrament in an emergency hospital in France.

"The doctor at the hospital told me you could not live another hour and he had already assigned your bed to another soldier," Father Coupal told Breen.

"Well, I lived and I am very much alive," repeated the Postmaster as he shook hands with the priest.

Double Price On Cull Poultry

By MRS. L. E. BRISBIN

W. T. Munnerlyn of the Department of Poultry Husbandry of A. and M. College who was in charge of the killing and dressing of poultry, pointed out to a group of farm women that they could double the price of their cull poultry by killing and dressing them attractively instead of selling them in the usual way. Mr. Munnerlyn stated that the experiments to date have revealed that meat should be chilled as soon and as quickly as possible. Both dry and wet method of picking the fowls were illustrated, and Mr. Munnerly pointed out that the dry method should be used whenever possible, and that only your chickens or those with pin feathers die to moulting should be wet picked. The dressing methods attracted much attention.

How To Appreciate Movies

By MRS. J. W. CARREKER

"If pictures give information to children, they remember seventy per cent of it," said Mrs. Virginia Sharbouough of The University of Texas when she gave her lecture on How to Appreciate Motion Pictures. "Therefore parents should learn the worthwhile pictures, for over seventy per cent of the pictures today pertain to sex and crime."

The idea of motion pictures came from moving book leaves. Previous to 1895 Edison thought motion pictures a toy, but after that time he made many inventions for it. At present in the making of pictures it takes three weeks to complete a seventy minute picture.

To enjoy a motion picture, one should study the type of picture that he is attending.

Spray For Rose Bushes

By MRS. M. A. NELSON

There are two groups of insects that bother roses, and they are the cockroach and the leaf worm. Both of these insects may be killed by preparing a spray in the following manner: Two pounds of lead arsenate or calcium arsenate in fifty gallons of water makes a very effective spray. For sucking insects use nicotine sulphate dust or spray. To prepare this dust the following recipe is to be followed: One pound of lime, one ounce of black leaf 40, mixed very thoroughly will kill these insects.

Good Mattress Important

By MRS. V. M. BROWN

Comfortable, beautiful sleep depends on a good mattress. It is important that a good mattress should be made from cotton raised on the farm. Satisfactory and comfortable mattress can be made at home if directions are followed carefully. The necessary material and equipment are: a work table 83 inches long, 61 inches wide, a broomstick for beating, 9 1-2 ounce of feather ticking 36 inches wide, 50 pounds of clean, long staple cotton, strong cord for stitching roll, needle for tacking mattress roll, and one spool of thread No. 20 and needles to carry.

Mattress should be made to fit bed. Measure bed and add in length one one-half inches to over foot in length, and one one-half inches to over foot width. This allows for the roll. Tear a five-inch strip for the boxing of the entire length, leaving the material 31 inches wide. Cut four strips of ticking 83 inches long and 31 inches wide. Stitch two 31 inch strips together, using a half inch seam. Stitch the two remaining strips together in the same way and this makes the top and the bottom. Round the corners of top and bottom. Make three four-inch tucks in each corner. Pin the tick in place with straight pins. Whip the top to the boxing, using a blind stitch. Use strong thread, making the stitches invisible. When sewed, beat to fluff the cotton. Tack the roll, drawing the thread tight and tying.

Beat both sides thoroughly, turning several times for thirty minutes. Sun and beat each day for two weeks. After two weeks, turn and beat once a week. To keep mattress clean, use a spring cover, a mattress slip, and a mattress pad that can be laundered often.

Soil And Pot Plants

By MRS. G. A. RICHARDS

I, as a delegate to the Short Course, have derived so much good that it would be impossible to list every thing here. One thing that I was especially interested in was "The Making Soil and Potting Plants" by P. B. Monosmith. He divided it into three different parts; ordinary soil, common soil, and ideal soil. Take three ordinary pots of soil, one of sand, and one of part peat; mix together, and you have an ordinary soil. Take three jars of soil, one of leaf mold, and one of charcoal, and one of well rotted manure, mix together, and you have what is called an ideal soil. This will grow anything without any soil mixed to it. Mix three jars ordinary soil, and one of course sand, and one of well rotted manure, and this will make a very good soil for pot plants.

Other features that I enjoyed were: Keynotes of Family Life, by Mrs. Virginia Sharborough; Making Soil and Potting Plants by P. B. Monosmith; Branches and Functions of A. and M. College, by T. O. Walton; Texas Home Demonstration Association, by Mrs. Jose Englin; How to Appreciate Motion Picture Shows, by Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham; Home Demonstration Work in Porto Rico; Home Demonstration Women Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow; Killing and Dressing Poultry; and the wardrobe contest.

In addition to meeting and talking to so many people from all over Texas, I heard this remark three times while on trip to Short Course: "And you are from West Texas out where everyone is so friendly." This reminds me of these words:

Out where the west begins
Where the snow falls whiter
And the sun shines a little brighter,
And the handcrasp a little tighter,
There is where the west begins.

Mrs Ada Cole of Chicago was reprimanded in court for throwing stones through the windows of her husband's home when he failed to make his alimony payments.

Care Advised In War, Leaf Worm

COLLEGE STATION.—Due to the scarcity of the usual poisons used in the fight against leaf worm infestation, and in reply to numerous inquiries regarding advisability of the use of white arsenic and lime mixtures, R. R. Reppert, Extension Service entomologist, has said that the danger to the cotton itself is so great that he cannot advise their use.

Mr. Reppert said, "We are fully aware of the fact that farmers are using such mixtures as well as liquid mixtures of white arsenic and sal soda. We also appreciate the fact that by careful use, based on experience, farmers with such mixtures will be able to kill insects and yet experience a minimum of injury to the plant itself. However, in many other cases, inexperience will result in serious injury to the cotton plant, approaching in some cases an almost entire loss."

He advised against the use of any poisons other than calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or Paris green. The latter poison should be diluted with four to five parts of lime, Mr. Reppert said.

Deck's DIDACTICS
By H. D. W.

In five more weeks Wellington will start on the best fall that it has enjoyed in several years. It is high time that something was happening. I have never seen the morale of the business men of Wellington lower than it has been in the last four weeks. There is plenty of hope, but the confidence that begets energy and initiative is totally lacking. Everyone that I talk to seems to feel that business will be good here this fall, and yet practically none of the firms are making any effort to lay the proper foundation for its fullest enjoyment. The grocery stores and the filling stations are showing some life, but the rest are simply coasting. I am just as guilty as anyone. My usual solicitation for an advertisement consists of the following: "You don't want no ad nohow, do you?"

* * * *

At the same time that we are resting, waiting for a rain or whatever it is that we are doing, others are making plans to get the best of the early business. Over three thousand mail order catalogs from two firms have been delivered to Collingsworth County people in the past week. They are starting their fall advertising early. They want it to be working for them before the heavy buying starts. The time to contact a customer is before he buys—not after. The mail order firms know this quite well. And yet this is not as serious competition as many merchants think. The values offered with freight and postage added are not what they seem. People had rather buy from their local merchants where they can see what they are getting. But what chance have these same potential customers as long as the merchants do not tell them of the new merchandise they have on the way, in their store and its comparatively value and price. And all this time that the local merchants are keeping their plans a secret, the mail order catalogs with their illustrations and their prices are lying there in the farm homes of Collingsworth County. Is it any wonder that the mail order business is larger per capita in Collingsworth County than it is in many adjoining counties. Local merchants could have the story of their new merchandise told in these same homes each week in a more interesting manner by a medium where the reader interest is greater. The thing that would surprise the merchants the most is the number of women who come in and ask me something along this line: "Why don't you run any dry goods advertising in The Leader anymore?" That may sound like a cooked up advertisement for my own business, but it is the plain truth if I ever told it. If there has been one there have been over a hundred women of Collingsworth County, who have asked me that same question in substance in the last six months.

* * * *

Now I am not blaming anyone. There have been a number of adverse conditions which local merchants were not able to overcome. Many farm people, who have had plenty of troubles of their own, simply do not realize how hard the average business firm has been hit. But I am writing this because it is time to start stirring our stumps. This is the time to take a chance if you ever intended to take it. If you ever intended to get well try to do it this fall. And when I I say that I am not thinking of advertising alone. I am thinking of proper stocks of merchandise, proper displays, attractive windows and neat looking stores as well. Advertising is only a part of the program of any successful store. Now I do not have enough sense to run my own business any too well, not to mention telling other people how to run theirs, but I do know that this is the time for all of us to start to work. There is no sense in encouraging people to trade by mail or in Childress, Memphis and Shamrock until the middle of October and then feeling sore at them because we can't get their patronage back.

Gassers Defeat Memphis 11 To 9 In Sunday Game

Official Gasser Reporter Gives Inside Dope On Local Baseball

By KID MONROE

The Gassers took the "Who-Whoo" out of the Memphis Owls Sunday with a score of 11 to 9. Nig Wilson gets a home run—so what, little brother Woodrow, not to be outdone, grabs a bat and poles the ball far into center field. The ball was recovered one mile this side of Hedley. Brisbin puts on real show—tells Catcher Sims he's going to steal bases today. He stole 5. Strong makes beautiful shoe string catch in right field. Neeley, absent, was replaced by Horton who catches well. Horton says Jack and Raymond have no respect for a catcher's hands. Jack Knight gets three-base hits and knocks in three runs with two ; also pitched good ball. Here why I call Jack the "Dizzy Dean" of the Gassers. He says, "I can not only pitch, buy Boy, can I hit?" (Chesty.) Raymond Morgan relieved Knight in the sixth. Raymond's hit scored two runs. He also made a double play, unassisted. The Gassers registered two double places. W. Wilson played third base for his first time and got three hits. Ira Morgan held down first plate. The Gassers are playing better ball now than any time this season. Next Sunday the leading Paducah team will play the Gassers a double-header, which will be the last game of the season on the Gasser ball park—until the play off, which starts September 1. The Gassers will have three new players for this double-header, and they have been signed up for an entire month—one is a pitcher. The Paducah?Gasser double header will start at 2:30—see you there.

Method Of Killing Army Worn Given

Sections of this county, especially east along the Oklahoma line, reports state that the army worm is at work on cotton. Several farmers have become alarmed over the possibilities and steps are being taken to combat the insect.

"The army worm does its worst work after it has webbed up and the eggs have hatched out," John O. Stovall, agent, said. "Work on the destroying pests should be started before they have webbed up."

Mr. Stovall said spraying and dusting as the best treatment for stopping the insects, suggesting a spray of lead and hydrated lime.

Method For Dusting

By dusting the party should mix one pound arsenate lead with three pounds common lime, place this mixture in a muslin sack and attack to each end of a pole about the width of the cotton row and ride horseback up and down the rows, taping the pole sufficiently to cause the powder to come out and cover the cotton plant and care should be taken in dusting that the rider should face the wind in event it is blowing. The leaves of the cotton plant should be white with the dusting mixture.

Method For Spraying

Where it is possible the plants should be sprayed in that it is more apt to get the cotton stalk and leaves covered, as mentioned in dusting, the dusting powder should be applied in the morning as the plants would be more moist from dew. The spray should contain 3 pounds of arsenate of lead to 50 gallons of water, this should be mixed and shaken up thoroughly, and should be mixed at regular intervals to keep the mixture even so that it would spray easily. These are very effective methods of killing the pest if prompt action is taken when the pests show up in the fields.

Secretary Wallace On The Tariff

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace performed a signal service for the cotton farmers of the South when he pointed out the evils of the high protective tariff in his address in Amarillo. Although the injustice of the tariff was once clearly recognized in the south its evils and its unfair burden on the farmer has been overlooked in recent years due to the fact that there were some minor tariffs passed to benefit agriculture. Secretary Wallace clearly pointed out the discrimination when he said: "The tariff has cost Texas $10 for every $1 it has benefitted.

In the same way the action of Texas farmers at A. & M. is highly commendable. While it may not provide a court victory it may serve to show the American people what the high protective tariff has cost the people of this country as a whole at the same time it was putting an unfair burden on the farmer.

Both of these events were a sincere effort to show what the fundamental trouble with agriculture is and has been for many years. We are devoting this space this week—not to our own business of ginning—but to an emphasis of these two important events in order that the farmers may be reminded and come into possession of facts which concern their livelihood.

Wallace has said that there seems to be no immediate possibility of reducing the tariffs now, but he also knows that they should and must be reduced. It is time for the farmers to start crystalizing and forming an opinion that will represent their interests which are not the same interests as the industrial and manufacturing east. The present administration offers the best opportunity that the farmers of the South have had to make their wants known and to help themselves. It is time for agriculture to ask for a reduction in the tariffs.

The processing Tax—constitutional or not—is merely one form of protection to the farmer that he has never had before.

Start Centennial Building Program

Catalogs Listing $15,000 Cash Premiums Now Available

DALLAS.—Hundreds of workmen began construction today on the World's Fair of 1936—the Texas Centennial Exposition— which will open in Dallas next June.

Although scores of new exhibit buildings are to be built, work at this time is being concentrated upon remodeling of present structures. First to fall into the hands of workmen was the Adminstration building, a huge structure that is being remodeled at a cost of $125,000. An entirely new front for the Administration building has been designed by the architects so that it will conform with other structures on the Exposition grounds.

Meanwhile, demolition of other buildings on the 200 acre Fair grounds continues, with workmen razing various exhibit structures of the State Fair of Texas, which annually has attracted 1,000,000 visitors. As soon as demolition is completed, construction of exhibit palaces will begin.

Among the first of the new buildings to go up will be the architectural group, which consists of the livestock building, poultry building, agricultural building and the foods building.

To provide additional space for exhibit buildings many city blocks adjacent to the World's Fair ground have been condemned. Removal of residential structures now existing in this area is expected to start within the next few weeks.

In this section, a permanent civic center group will be built, including an Art Museum, Aquarium, Sports Building, Social Hall, Natural History building, Better Homes, and other structures of a cultural nature.

The Texas Centennial Exposition will commemmorate the rapid growth of the Southwest in the last 100 years, since Texas declared and achieved its independence. In keeping with the concrete reasons for the Centennial celebration history is the theme predominating throughout the Exposition. In addition to the great Central Exposition to open in Dallas June 6, celebrations will be held throughout 1936 at Texas' historic shrines; San Antonio, Goliad, Houston, Nacogdoches, Gonzales, Huntsville, and elsewhere.

Nash-Finch Observes 50 Years Service

Wholesale Grocery Firm Completes Fifty Years Of Development

Fifty yaers ago this month three ambitious young men at Grand Forks, North Dakota, scrapping together their small savings of $400 formed a business partnership based upon an idea which in the fifty years to follow, built that company from its unpretentious beginning to one of the world's largest wholesale grocery companies. This month the Nash-Finch Company is celebrating its golden anniversary.

These young men were Willis K. Nash and his two brothers, Fred P. Nash and Edgar Nash. Later, in 1889, Harry B. Finch, now president of the company, joined the Nash Brothers in capacity of warehouse boy.

These young men believed that grocers located in outlying towns were entitled to the same service and same freshness of supplies, particularly of fruit, as grocers of the large metropolitan centers. They believed that wholesale fruit and grocery houses should be scattered throughout the smaller cities of each state, giving quick and local service; so that grocers would not be dependent upon wholesale houses located in distant metropolitan centers.

W. K. NASH

Mr. Nash, whose original $400.00 investment back of an idea has carried him to the position of one of the world's largest distributors of foods.

H. B. FINCH

Mr. Finch, the president of the Nash-Finch Company, started as an errand boy and rose to the head of fifty-seven wholesale grocery houses.

In 1916 a coffee plant was established in Minneapolis in order to supply customers of the company with coffee of high quality, freshness and uniformity. Today Nash's Toasted Coffee is one of the popular coffees of this community.

Always a large distributor of fresh fruit, the Nash-Finch Company often found it difficult to obtain the quality of fruits they desired. For this reason, the company entered the fruit growing business, and today operate fruit growing ranches in California, Idaho, Washington, Colorado and Texas. Today the Nash-Finch company operates 57 wholesale grocery houses in the states of North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Wyoming and Washington.

The original wholesale grocery house, started 1889 at Grand Forks, North Dakota, on a capital of $400.00, from which has grown the nation-wide enterprises of the Nash-Finch Company.

THE LAST CALL

By J. E. CATRON
Minister, First Christian Church

On the morning of the execution of Charles I. Bishop Juxon, read to him the twenty-seventh chapter of the Gospel of Matthew. The King listened patiently and reverently. As they passed through the park on their way to the place of execution, the King gracefully waved his hand toward a tree and said, "That tree was planted by my brother, Henry." He died every inch of a King.

Two desperate criminals, Mais and Legenza, were electrocuted in the Richmond prison in Virginia. Mais, who was one of the most blood-thirsty rats in criminal life, and whose hands were stained with numerous murders, whined and moaned and showed himself to be the most adject coward when he was led to the chair. Legenza was made of sterner stuff and called cheerily to the warden that he was leaving 22 cents behind.

I stopped one evening at Smithville, Kentucky. Over in the jail yard they were erecting the scaffold where DeBoe was to die.

I had a colored boy with me, John Sanders, and I took him over to see the scaffold.

"Put your hand on it, John," I said, "so you can tell the folks back home about it."

"No, sah," said John as he backed away, the whites of his eyes showing. "I ain't never goin' to put my hand on no sciffold, an' I ain't never put my hand on no dead man, an' I ain't never goin' to do it, 'ceptin' I'm dead, an' they lay my dead hand on him, and then I would raise up."

There is something gruesome about a scaffold, where a man must die. To stand and look, perhaps for a fleeting moment at the blue ocean of the sky; perchance a bird singing merrily in some nearby tree, and the next moment the soul fled to that "bourne from which no traveler ever returns."

Sam Matthews once said to me, "I prefer electrocution to hanging, for one can always speak of his relatives who have departed this way as having been struck by lightning."

One of my college professors use to tell a story of an old man by the name of Buscis. "The old man was very wicked," said he. "He had a long white beard and one morning when the river was running out in full tide, the old man started across on his old white mare. He was warned against trying to cross, but only spurred the old mare into the stream, and both of them went down under the current. When they came to the top the old man was holding to the old mare's tail. One of the boys on the shore yelled out, "Pap, you'll be drowned." "No sich of a thing," yelled back old Buscis. "A fortune-teller done told me that I was a gwine to live to be hung."

Thinking a marriage license made them man and wife, John Hawley and Nellie Kayeaha of Dusuoin, Ill., lived together 15 years and became the parents of 13 children. The marriage ceremony was performed recently.

A good cigarette, too needs Balance—

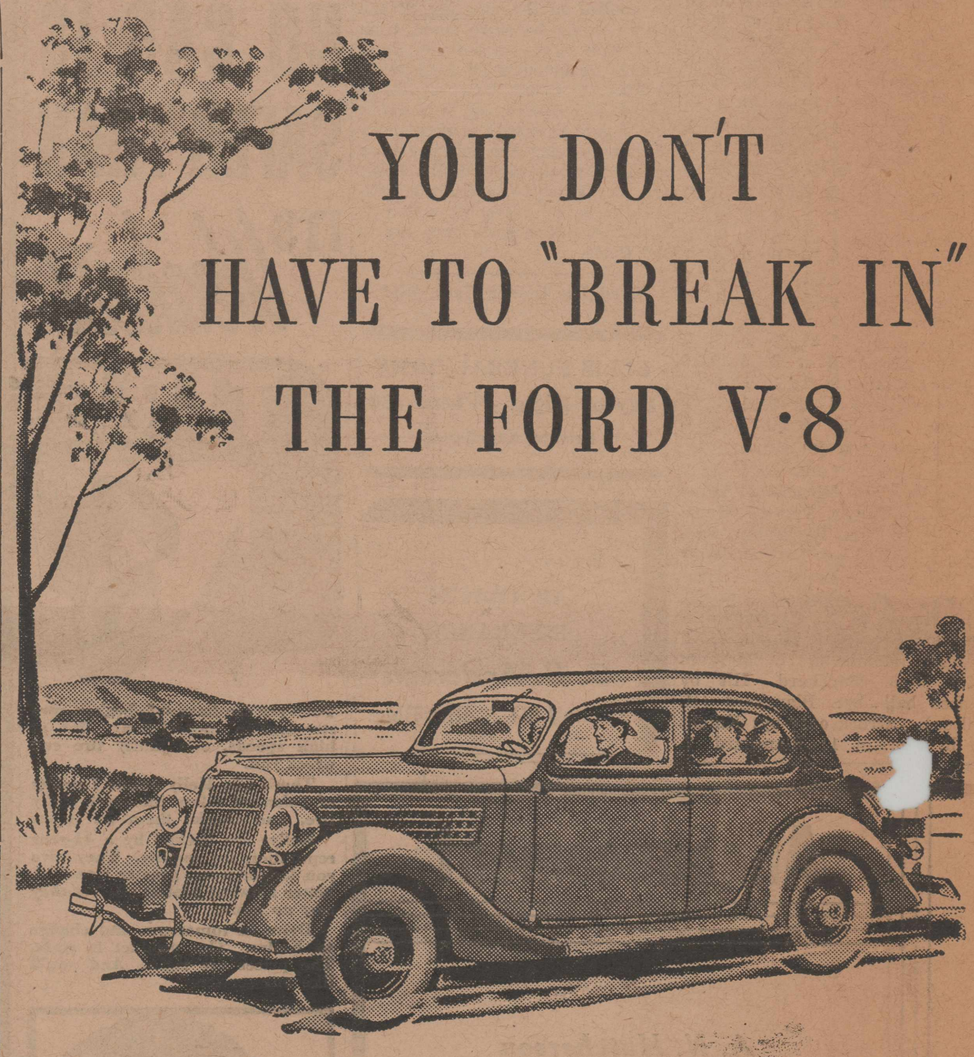

And that's why the tobaccos in Chesterfield are carefully balanced one against the other . . . not too much of one — not too little of another.

We take the right amounts of the right kinds of four types of tobacco — Bright, Burley, Maryland and Turkish.

It is this balancing of tobaccos that makes Chesterfields milder and makes them taste better.

You can drive it 50 miles an hour the day you buy it

THE FORD V-8 is ready for normal driving when you buy it. There is no tedious period of breaking-in for 500 or 1000 miles. You can drive it up to 50 miles an hour the first day. And after the first hundred miles you can drive it as fast as you desire.

That means greater motoring enjoyment for every motorist. It is especially important to motorists who are thinking about a new car for a vacation trip — to physicians, salesmen and all those who use a car for business. Instead of dragging along at slow speeds for days, you can make good time from the start.

The reason for this is as important as the result. The Ford V-8 needs no breaking-in because of unusual accuracy in the manufacture of moving parts and the smoothness of bearing surfaces. Clearances are correct when you buy the car. It is not necessary to depend on a long wearing-in period to eliminate tightness and insure smooth running. Longer life, greater economy and better performance are bound to result from such precision methods. The Ford V-8 gives you fine-car construction, along with fine-car performance, comfort, safety and beauty.

Make Your Home Attractive

The careful "styling" of furniture gives new distinction to the American home. Gradually we are becoming aware that a new, a distinctly American type of furniture is being created. It is designed to meet our special needs and taste. When the so-called "modern" designs first appeared they were almost wholly of European origin or design. But our native artists have become interested in the field of creative effort. The furniture now truly typifies the spirit of the American scene.

Miss Modelle Pattillo Is Bride Of Hugo Graumann Wednesday, August 7, At Granite

In a most impressive ceremony at the St. John's Evangelistical Lutheran Church of Granite, Oklahoma, last Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Miss Modelle Pattillo of this city became the bride of Hugo Graumann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Graumann of Granite. The Rev. Hugo Leimer, pastor of the Lutheran Church there, performed the marriage vows. Bouquets of marigolds, phlox and other garden flowers and palms decked the church.

Miss Pauline Elliott of this city and cousin of the bride and Miss Christine Graumann, sister of the groom were bridesmaids. Alvin Neumann and Herbert Graumann acted as best man and attendants to the groom. Little Mildred Weber of Lone Wolf, Oklahoma, and Betty Petzold of Granite served as flower girls.

As the church bells ceased ringing the bridal company entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus" played by Miss Lillie Graumann, organist, sister of the groom. Miss Elliott, attired in a pink taffeta frock, made on bouffont lines and trimmed with brilliant buttons, entered on the arm of Herbert Graumann, marching to the end of the isle where they were stationed as other members of the party entered. Miss Christine Graumann wore a blue silk lace gown with cowl neck klines. A peplum jacket added interest to the costume. She entered on the arm of Alvin Neumann. Both the bridesmaids carried arm bouquets of Baby's breath and pastel shades of sweet peas.

The flower girls, little Misses Weber and Petzold were attractive in dainty frocks of daffodil yellow and baby blue crepe, smocked in the contrasting shade. They entered strewing flower petals from small baskets which they carried on their arms.

The bride was beautiful in her wedding gown of white silk crepe fashioned with leg-o-mutton sleeves and cowl neckline. Her veil was of silk net and lace, with the headpiece entwined with pink forget-me-nots. She carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations tied with a huge satin bow. Her accessories were in white. When the bride and groom reached the altar the entire bridal party were seated and the service opened.

"Blissful House, In Love's Communion" (Kiesel) was sung in quartet by Rev. and Mrs. H. Leimer, Miss Lillie Graumann and William Graumann. Rev. Leimer then delivered the marriage sermon, after which William Graumann sang "The Good Shepherd" (Van De Water). The vows were then exchanged and Rev. Leimer performed the beautiful ring ceremony. The bride and groom then kneeled and received the blessing. A vocal duet, "Where Thou Goest" (Hertzberger) by Rev. and Mrs. Leimer was then rendered followed by the recessional Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" played by Miss Lillie Graumann at the organ.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Graumann at 4 o'clock. The bridal pair will spend the remainder of the month of August visiting relatives and friends in Texas and Oklahoma before leaving for Stillwater, Oklahoma, the first of September where both will enter Oklahoma A. and M. this fall.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Pattillo of this city who moved here from Mangum, Oklahoma, the first of January. She is a graduate of the Ozark High School where she was an honor student.

State Continues War On Sellers Of Bad Stocks

Secretary Of State Finds Much Money Lost On Spurious Stocks

There's this much you can say for the rattlesnake—At least he warns before he strikes!

As much cannot be said for the stock promoter and seller of the blue sky and boundless sea. By subtle means, fair or foul, he gains the confidence of his victim, fleeces him or her of every available dollar and is gone again. That's the method of operation of the Securities racketeer, according to Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann, administrator of Texas new Securities Act, designed to drive out of Texas the sellers of spurious securities. Stocks, bonds, certificates of interest in oil and gas properties, and many other forms of commercial interests are defined as securities under the law.

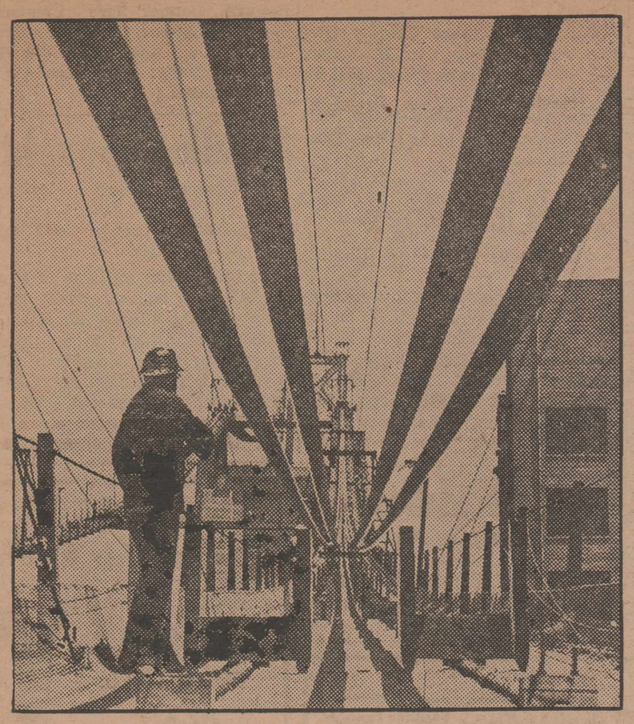

The new law became effective May 23rd of this year. Today a few of the tangible results may be summed up as follows:

Two seats of operators are under indictment awaiting trial for violation of the law. Other cases are pending. The operations of one of these parties extended from coast to coast and Canada to Mexico, with headquarters in San Antonio. He is known to have received as high as $5,000 daily from the investing public, most of whom were not able to afford the loss. The promoter and his associates lived in luxury and ease.

In El Paso a gang that has mulcted some $300,00 or more from credulous investors in the past four years. folded their tents and departed shortly after the arrival in that city of an investigator from the Department of State. It is impossible to compute the saving thus afforded. In another Texas city a stock salesman returned $4,000 to one of his victims when apprised that the State Department was investigating the matter.

"But the job has only begun," Secretary Mann declares. "Our objective is to rid this State of these racketeers so far as is humanly possible. It can be done only with the assistance of the people of Texas. No purchaser should buy any form of security without first determining if the seller is registered and licensed by the Department of State. We should likewise be apprised of cases of fraud. The time has come in Texas when the securities rackteeer must take his rightful place alongside the convicted murderer, hi-jacker and common thief—behind prison bars."

Spin Cables To Hold Pacific Bay Span

Enough wire to encircle the equator is being spun into the huge cables shown above, which support the giant San Francisco-Oakland bridge stretching its way across San Francisco Bay. This unique view of the cable-spinning operation was taken from the San Francisco side, looking toward the concrete anchorage of the bridge in the middle of the bay.

PROFITS ON TOMATOES

CONROE—From 30 cents she received from the sale of a dozen eggs in January, Irma Johnston, Montgomery county 4-H club girl, bought two varieties of tomato seed, from which she sold $5 worth of plants to neighbors and set out 1500 plants in her garden. according to Miss Lele Mae Fortenberry, home demonstration agent.

The seeds were planted in paste board boxes to insure early plants. These plants were then staked and pruned to give a better variety of fruit. Irma has reached her goal as garden demonstrator by filling the 50 containers required.

A hoard of gold pieces was found hidden in the crutches of a bagger who recently died in Istanbul, Turkey.

SIDELIGHTS

By MARVIN JONES
Congressman

The A. A. A. amendments as they passed the House of Representatives made provision for carrying on the agricultural adjustment program and for protecting the government against unnecessary suits.

These amendments passed the House more than a month ago.

The Senate has adopted a number of changes and amendments, some of which should not be permitted to remain n the measure.

The Senate amendment permitting suits by processors to recover taxes paid, in the event processing taxes are held invalid by the Supreme Court, is too broad.

The processor has simply been the agent for the collection of these taxes, which have been written into the general price structure of the country.

If such suits are permitted, and recovery is had, the money should be placed in the custody of the Court as a trust fund.

The processor, at the most, should be allowed to recover no more than the tax which he has paid on stocks which he has on hand and unsold at the time the suit is instituted.

The wholesaler should be allowed to recover taxes paid on any stocks which he has on hand and unsold at such time.

The retailer and distributor should certainly be accorded the same privilege.

In fairness, the balance should go to the consumer who is the ultimate purchaser, but he probably could not be located.

No just man would deprive a citizen of his right to recover any taxes improperly paid by him. On the other hand, no reasonable man should ask to recover taxes which he has passed on.

It would be manifestly unfair to permit the processor to recover taxes on goods which he has already sold. At any rate, the processor should be requested to show conclusively that he neither took any part of it off the price paid to the farmer and that he did not pass any part of it on to the consumer.

We know that the processing tax was a definite factor in the price of all goods sold after such tax became effective. It remains a very definite factor in cost at this time, notwithstanding the fact that many manufacturers are withholding the tax in the hope that the Supreme Court may eventually declare it invalid.

It would create chaos to invite tens of thousands of suits to recover hundreds of millions of dollars when the processors merely the agency through which these taxes were passed on to the general public. The government cannot allow this to become a racket by the processor for recovery of taxes which were really paid by the ultimate consumer.

Either the amendment should be eliminated entirely or modified so as to avoid the abuses which it invites.

The bill will now go to a joint conference group representing the House and the Senate, whose duty it will be to iron out the differences between the bill as it passed the House and as it passed the Senate.

I am very hopeful that we will be able to reach a proper agreement, as it is all-important that the farm program be continued.

Plan Square Dance Contest

An old fashion square dance will be sponsored in Wellington August 30 and September 6 by the Wellington Kiwanis Club, according to announcements today. Prizes totaling $10 will be awarded, and the contests will be held in the high school auditorium.

First Contest August 30

The preliminary contest will be held Friday night, August 30, and will begin at 8 o'clock. Semi-finals and the final contest will be held Friday, September 6, and will begin at 8 o'clock.

Contestants will include eight sets. Each set will consist of a caller, fiddlers, and four couples. Sets may enter the contest by sending their captain or chairman to Roy Horn at the Toggery. Persons wishing to enter were encouraged to enroll as soon as possible.

Contestants will perform the square dance for 15 minutes and the waltz for 10 minutes. Four sets will be eliminated the first night, and on September 6, the remaining four sets will compete to select the final winner.

Judge On Points

The contests will be judged on the following points: old time costumes, 100 points; caller of the set, 150 points; fiddlers for the set, 150 points; square dance, 300 points; waltz, 300 points. Three judges will judge the points. On the night of September 6, a special contest will also be held to select the winning fiddler.

The following prizes will be awarded: best set, $5.00; best caller, $2.50; best fiddler, $2.50.

Admission charges of 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children will be made. Members of the Kiwanis committee on arrangements were John O. Stovall, J. B. Castleberry and Deskins Wells.

Persons residing in Collingsworth or adjoining counties are eligible to enter the contest.

friends and acquaintances here. He came to this county in 1903 and purchased the general store at Aberdeen from Judge E. H. Small. After operating this store for several years, he moved to Wellington and spent his time as a general trader. He also acquired a place west of town and "Penrod Hill" was named for him, since it stood near his place.

He left this county in 1918, and went to Happy, Texas, where he purchased land. Since that time he has resided on the Plains, and at the time of his death lived in Lubbock.

Among those who attended the funeral services were: F. C. LeDerer, R. H. Templeton, R. J. McClure, and John Anderson.

Bonds, 16 cents; Jury Fund, 7 cents; Road and Bridge Fund, 30 cents; General Fund, 25 cents; Courthouse and Jail Fund, 4 cents.

The special Road Bond Funds of 1916 mature in 1936 and amount to $70,000. However, $12,000 is now in the sinking fund on these bonds. The courthouse bonds still have $138,000 due. The Jury Fund is self explanatory as to its usage. The Road and Bridge Fund of 30 rents is the highest rate allowed by the state laws for this fund.

The general fund of 25 cents includes all salaries except those of the commissioners. The Courthouse and Jail Fund is used for repairs, improvements and maintenance of buildings and grounds.

er of boys and now has charge of the Canyon Maverick Club which is an organization for under-privileged boys.

Miss Frances Weimhold of Sudan and a graduate of Texas Tech has been selected to head the new department of home economics. Miss Weimhold comes highly recommended and was recently elected as dietician for the new girls dormitory at Texas Technological College. She has had considerable experience in girls Glee Club work. Miss Weimhold is now at Samnorwood supervising the installation of the home economics equipment.

As vocational agriculture teacher, the board selected Mr. E. A. Peck from Manor, Texas. Mr. Peck comes recommended as one of the best agriculture men in the entire state by the State Department of Education. He, too, is now on the job, organizing his work and getting ready to put over a program that will be outstanding in this part of the state.

To succeed Miss Wilma Jarrel former teacher of primary work in the Lutie school, Mrs. Sam White has been selected. Mrs. White is well known over this section and has an enviable reputation as a teacher of primary work.

Mr. Huelyn Laycock who was principal of the Abra school the past year will fill that position in the Dozier school for the coming year. The primary position in this school has not yet been filled. It is not planned to make any other changes in the faculty of the grade schools.

In making the above mentioned selection of teachers the board and superintendent believe that they have secured the best material obtainable. These teachers along with the new departments of agriculture and home economics and the addition of a new gymnasium-auditorium, second to none in this section, should give the Samnorwood district a school organization that will be among the best of the kind, if not the best, in the State.

ing parallel to the tracks in front of the depot.

It took a special crew more than two hours to get the cars back on the tracks, and then they looked at the little, insignificant drum.

For once, a reporter had no trouble in securing information, because the tag on the drum showed that it contained 585 pounds of metal being shipped by the Wellington Leader to St. Louis.

Complete Change

Wellington was cut from 13 to four persons, but a trained welfare worker will be sent from Dallas to supervise TRC work.

Work programs are expected to start in the future and will be handled entirely from the Pampa office. Work lists will be sent out from Pampa and all checks will be sent from there, both to merchants and to workers. Persons may expect a slight delay in the arrival of their checks, it was noted.

Further details of the new Relief WPA program, as applied to workers, have not been released here and are still indefinite as far as the local relief office has been informed.

contracted acreages selected by the Forest Service with the landowner. During the life of the AAA contract no rental will be paid by the Forest Service for the use of the said lands.

Lease-Option Agreements

The Forest Service will make lease-option agreements with the landowner to allow immediate occupancy by the Forest Service; to insure control of the land used for the Shelterbelt project after the expiration of the crop reduction contract; and to provide for purchase at a stipulated price at such time as the government may select.

No Fences At Present

Also, according to Trice, under the new restrictions of the available funds the Forest Service will not be in a position to furnish fencing material to protect the trees from stock either by fencing or herding; however, if the landowner has the materials for fencing the Forest Service will furnish all labor to build new fences or to rebuild old ones on the Shelterbelt strips. The landowner will also be required to prepare the land for the planting of the trees, but the Forest Service will furnish the trees, the necessary labor to plant them and will be responsible for future cultivations of the strips.

Land negotiations are now under way in Collingsworth County, according to Trice, and interest in the project is shown by many landowners.

are also many old timers who he knew in earlier days. He was a member of the Church of the Nazarene and was held in high esteem by his neighbors.

The funeral was attended by a large crowd and following the funeral march was a song, "Shall We Gather at the River?" An obituary was read by Mrs. Carter, followed by a song by the Dodsonville quartet. J. P. Ingle read the scripture reading and the sermon was given by Rev. Catlin. Other songs were "Oh, Think of the Home Over There," and "No Disappointments in Heaven."

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Virginia Lewis; six sons, M. Manly Lewis of Sayre, Okla.; Beverly Lewis of Delhi, Okla.; O. W. Lewis of Wellington; Luther Lewis of Wellington; Leroy Lewis of Springfield, Mo.; Cecil Lewis of Sweetwater, Okla.; three daughters, Mrs. Augusta Dawson of Dodsonville; Mrs. Ola Patterson of Wellington; Mrs. Auga Patterson of Bethany, Okla.; two brothers, J. R. Lewis of Tucson, Ariz., and J. S. Lewis of Mt. Pleasant, Texas.

Pall bearers were Charley Owens, Jerry Martin, O. B. Tyler, Ellis Carter, Frank Ford, and Z. O. McKinney.

In case the projects are approved, both schools expect to use their present auditorium space for class rooms when the new structures have been completed.

Since the projects meet with WPA specifications and both communities are willing to pay a portion of the costs, sponsors believe that they have excellent chances for approval.
