PREACHERS FIGHT RABBIT RACES

MYSTERY SURROUNDS ROBBERY OF BANK

THREE SUSPECTS PROVE THEY ARE NOT BANK THIEF

BANK EMPLOYEES SAY MAN WHO ROBBED THEM IS NOT CAUGHT

(By the Associated Press)

DALLAS, April 2. (AP)—Police here today apparently were stumped in their search for the lone, unmasked robber who held up a Garland bank Thursday noon and fled to Dallas with about $5,000, part of which he spilled in an automobile crash near town. Three suspects arrested today could not be identified by anyone, including the bank victims who were locked in the vault, as the overall-clad young man who emerged from his car wreck and escaped into Dallas in a commandeered delivery truck. One of the suspects, for whom police and county officers maintained an all-night vigil, gave himself up this morning, but denied any knowledge of the robbery, saying that his arrest was only to clear himself of suspicion. Officers took him to Garland, where Mrs. Oscar Morrison, bank bookkeeper, declared positively he was not the man wanted. W. C. Jamison, cashier, was not so positive, but could not identify him.

Salesman Proves Innocence

DALLAS, Texas, April 2. (AP)—An automobile salesman arrested here this morning in connection with the robbery of a Garland bank, is not the man who locked three people in the vault and escaped with more than $5,000 yesterday, bank attaches declared after officers took him to Garland for identification.

It was learned later that the man had not confessed as officers intimated, but merely had said he understood they were looking for him, and wanted to talk with them. He was arrested and taken to Garland for possible identification.

Bookkeeper Clears Him

Mrs. Thelma Morrison, bookkeeper, declared that the suspect was not the man, W. C. Jamison, cashier, who was locked in the vault with Mrs. Morrison, and a negro customer, said he was sure, while the negro was not positive. The salesman said to have denied to officers any connection with the hold-up. He called Allen Seale, special investigator, merely to clear himself of suspicion. It was learned officers are expected to return to Dallas with him before noon.

Instructions Given To Davis Case Jury

TOPEKA, Kan., Apr. 2. (AP)—The jury trying Johnatan M. CARROLL FACES JAIL SENTENCE

Theatrical Producer Who Was Host At "Bathtub Party" Charged As Perjuror

(By the Associated Press) NEW YORK, Apr. 2.—Indicted for perjury as an aftermath of his bathtub party Earl Carroll, theatrical producer, was confronted today with the prospect of a heavy fine and imprisonment.

A federal grand jury has indicted him on six counts for swearing that the party on February 23 was dry, and that there was no one, nude or otherwise, in a bath tub filled with liquid, variously described as fruit juice, ginger ale and wine. The grand jury believed testimony of other witnesses that the party was wet and that somebody had a bath.

Penalty Is Heavy

The maximum penalty on each count of the indictment is five years imprisonment and $2,000 fine. It lies within the discretion of the court whether sentences on each conviction may run successively, which would mean a maximum of thirty years imprisonment.

Carroll, who is producer of several Broadway shows featuring feminine beauty, was arrested after the indictment was returned yesterday. He pleaded not guilty and furnished $2,500 bond. His counsel requested early trial.

Among the witnesses who appeared before the grand jury was Joyce Hawley, a show girl, who retained a lawyer to bring suit for $3,000 against Carroll, which she said he promised her for her bath. The producer gave her $20 and told her to forget it, she said several weeks ago.

Has Small Consolation

Carroll now has for consolation the statement of federal officials that he could have easily eluded indictment. They said that the grand jury was not interested in the moral side of the party, but only wanted to know where much liquor came from. Under the prohibition law, the theatrical

PUNCTURE WAR IS TO BE OPENED

Automobile owners and operators will have a much easier time on the streets of Lubbock after Monday of next week, so far as punctures are concerned, under plans of an anti-puncture campaign originated by leaders in the Scout movement here.

The five troops of Lubbock will patrol the streets of the city, both business and residential Monday afternoon, picking up all nails, wire, cans and boards, or anything that might hamper the automobilist in negotiating the streets. Each troop will have a section of the city and will prize has been offered to the troop gathering up the largest amount of refuse of this nature.

The refuse will be brought to the city and concentrated either on the court house lawn or at the municipal building, when the winners will be declared. Only streets will be policed by the boys. L. S. Harkey, area commissioner, who is taking the lead in the movement, said Friday.

The boys will start out Monday afternoon after school, and hope to finish their work the same day. The campaign will work admirably with the clean-up drive that is to be carried on next week.

MURDER FINALE IN FAMILY ROW

One Man Dead and His Son-in-Law Injured in Argument Over Domestic Status

(By The Associated Press) HOUSTON, Apr. 2.—Funeral arrangements were being made today for W. F. Schultz, 67, of Houston, who was fatally shot last night in an altercation with his former son-in-law, Adelle M. Miller, 32, who is at the Baptist Sanitarium with a knife wound near his heart.

Miller has been charged with murder filed before Justice of the Peace Campbell Overstreet and is under guard at the hospital.

Judge Overstreet, who likewise held the inquest, took testimony from Mrs. Rita Schultz Miller, divorced wife of the wounded man, and from Mrs. Schultz, widow of the dead man. Miller refused to tell police his version of the story.

Trial Not Yet Set

Examining trial of the murder charge has not been set and will not be docked until Miller is ready to leave the hospital, it was said.

Mrs. Miller told police she and Miller had been divorced for some time and that Miller came to see their children.

Miller asked her, she said, to talk with him for a little while.

"He started cursing an about that time the door opened and father came in," she said. "Mr. Miller mad a lunge at him and hit him with his fist and knocked father several feet. Then father came at him with a knife and Mr. Miller shot twice. Father walked around the room a few seconds and said 'He's killed me' and fell to the floor."

Walker Jr., United States Commissioner that the indictment failed to show that Saunders had committed an offense against the United States. Judge Anderson in so holding overruled a petition presented in behalf of the government seeking Saunders' arrest and his removal to St. Louis.

PASTORS OPPOSE SUNDAY PROJECT OF LUBBOCK MEN

SIGN RESOLUTION WHICH ASKS CURTAILMENT OF "BUNNY FROLIC"

Charging that the proposed rabbit race to be held here next Sunday at the Lubbock Coursing Park is altogether inhuman and not in keeping with the law governing cruelty to dumb animals, that the race is a violation of the Christian Law of the Sabbath, and that it becomes doubly deplorable in view of the fact that it being held on Easter Sunday when the Resurrection of the Lord is commemorated throughout the Christian world, pastors of the various churches of the city have raised their voices in protest of the proposed event.

A resolution, protesting staging of the races, signed by eight pastors of as many churches and presented to the press for publication, cites three reasons for the action taken, but explains that the pastors are not protesting against the ordinary rabbit drive for extermination of a destructive pest. The resolution, however, points out that the pastors are opposed to cruel and inhuman treatment of any animal.

Resolution Is Written
"We, the pastors of the various churches in the city of Lubbock, the resolution reads, "having had our attention called to the proposed rabbit race to be held at the Lubbock Coursing Park next Sunday, hereby publicly raise our protest, for the following reasons:

"First: We consider such so-called sport as being altogether inhuman. The same law which prohibits the bull fight on account of cruelty to the animal should also protect other dumb brutes.

"Second: Such practices are clearly violations of the Christian Law of the Sabbath, and it becomes doubly deplorable, that of all days of the year, Easter Sunday should have been chosen as the day for such cruelty.

"Third: We further contend that taking such undue advantage of captured animals is altogether devoid of sportsmanship.

By SISTER MARY
Breakfast—Grapefruit juice, cereal, thin cream, breakfast codfish, corn, bread, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Stuffed eggs, canned beans and butter sandwiches, corn, oatmeal cookies, milk, tea.
Dinner—Casserole of smoked halibut, string beans, head lettuce with Russian dressing, cottage pudding with maple sauce, bran bread, milk, coffee.
Orange juice rather than grapefruit should be served to children under ten years of age and children under school age should not be allowed to eat the breakfast fish.
This codfish dish is so much worth while, however, for the average family that the recipe follows.

Breakfast Codfish

Three-fourths pound salt codfish, 3 slices fat salt pork, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, paprika.
Soak fish in cold water to cover overnight. Drain from this water and cover with boiling water. Simmer until tender, about twenty minutes. Drain and dry. Try out salt pork, cooking until meat is crisp. Remove meat to a hot platter. Roll fish in flour and cook in an appealing brown in the hot fat. The fish should brown quickly since it is cooked brown quickly since it is cooked until tender and needs no further cooking. Place fish on platter with pork. Pour off all but 2 tablespoonfuls of fat in frying pan and stir flour into the remaining 2 tablespoonfuls. When thoroughly blended and smooth, slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Cook until thick and smooth. Season with paprika and pour around fish and pork. Garnish with sprigs of parsley if convenient and serve.

AMERICAN LEGION QUOTA IN THIS STATE LAGS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 2.—Completion of Texas' quota of the $5,000,000 American legion endowment fund for disabled veterans and orphans of the World War in the near future will figure largely in determining the success of the Legion's work in raising the fund, it was learned here today.
National Commander John R. McGuire, in a special message to Legion posts in Texas, and to citizens of the state generally, urged that efforts be made at once to complete the Texas quota for the fund. He said that upon Texas' response to this call from the orphans and the disabled of the war will depend in considerable measure the success of the Legion's efforts to complete the unraised balance of the fund.
The quota fixed for Texas was $225,000, the commander stated. Of this amount, $130,000 has been remitted to national headquarters here. To date only 102 out of the 394 posts in the state, something like twenty-seven per cent, have done anything for the fund, according to the records at headquarters.
A campaign is now under way in Fort Worth, the commander said. Dr. W. T. Dunning, of Gonzales, department commander, and Stayton, M. Hankins, department adjutant, are both highly desirous, according to the

Veteran Reporter Is Still Good At The Age Of 86

FORT WORTH, Apr. 2. (AP)—Seeing returned forty-niners' pitch octagonal $20 gold pieces at a peg—closest take all—is one of the early recollections of T. O. Walker, probably the oldest active livestock reporter in the world. At 86, "Colonel Timothy" is still going strong, writes three "leads" a day on an old double deck typewriter and is a general favorite with cattlemen, packers and commission men at the Fort Worth Stockyards.
Walker was not christened Timothy, although few know it. Early in life the Gaelicized name was substituted for the "Timothy" his parents bestowed upon him in Claremont, N. H., where he was born. He likes it, for it suits him. He is a newspaper man all the way through. He published his own sheet, the Bloomfield (la.) Democrat, for 29 years; and worked on two Iowa dailies, at Burlington and Des Moines, and two weeklies, at Marshalltown and Eldora, beside his own paper.
Close to politics all his life, he decided to enter never touched him. He was reading clerk in the Forty-eighth Congress, was a collector of internal revenue for six years, and for 21 consecutive years was reading clerk of the Iowa State Democratic convention. He has been all over North America, including Alaska and Honduras. The Associated Press has carried his livestock reports since the year Garfield was assassinated.
In that year he began covering the stockyards for the afternoon Associated Press member—the Fort Worth Telegram, acquired in 1903 by the Ft. Worth Star, which is the Star-Telegram of today. His earliest newspaper experience was with "pulling the devil's tail" on an old Washington hand press, from which he rose to president of the typographical union here, serving three terms. His "inside" newspaper experience in Fort Worth was on the old Register, of which he was first editor.
Longhorn steers were still arriving occasionally at the Fort Worth stockyards when Walker sold his Iowa pa-

Three Held Here ON LIQUOR LAW CHARGES

H. O. Buck, former automobile salesman here, W. T. Middleton, and Burford Abbott are in the county jail here on charges of possession and transportation of intoxicating liquor, the former charge filed against the first two and the latter against Abbott.
Buck and Middleton, together with 31 quarts of "Old Taylor" whiskey, were taken from a residence in the south part of the city about midnight Thursday, and Abbott was arrested on the west end of Main street later in the night. Three quarts of liquid labeled the same as that taken from Buck and Middleton were found in Abbott's car.
Evidence surrounding the case of the first two men arrested lead the officers to believe that they are a part of a ring of liquor smugglers that is operating in Texas and the Southwest, they said, as their method of operation is similar to that of other cases where arrests have been made. The beverage, alleged to be whiskey, was found at several places of vantage about the residence, including the left officers said. Labels of "Old Taylor" were found on some of the bottles while other containers of similar size and containing apparently the same kind of fluid, had no labels.
The three men will be held pending action of the Lubbock county grand jury which goes into session here Monday. Buck and Middleton have been under surveillance of officers for some time, and officers were in possession of proper credentials for the arrest, Sheriff H. L. Johnston said Friday.

Tech Matadors Lose First Practice Tilt Of Season Against Veteran Crew Of Skipper Sled Thursday Afternoon

Coach Freehand's Tech college baseball squad, which meets the Canyon Normal Buffaloes in the initial contest of the season here Monday went down before a crew of veterans gathered together by Skipper Sled Allen on the Tech field Thursday afternoon 18 to 7 while a driving wind from the west sent dust showers across the lot to hamper participants. The exhibition abbreviated to seven innings, was the first appearance in season of the Matadors, and although they were erratic at times, the squad as a whole acquitted itself nobly.
Volney Hill, star performer on the gridiron during the past season, who is one of the most likely looking prospects of the baseball crew, and Jess Wright, southpaw, did mound duty for the Matadors, while "Skeet" Ratliff held down this position for the veterans. Hill and Wright allowed seventeen bingles, several of which for extra bases, and the Tech squad gathered ten safeties off the delivery of Ratliff, two of which were for three bases, and one for the circuit, the last showing excellent form and lots of leg going to Hill, who in addition to stuff from the mound is one of the hardest hitters of the squad.
Ike Curtis, former member of the Amarillo Golden Sanderom championship diamond squad, who appeared in a Tech uniform yesterday for the first time, was on the receiving end for the Matadors and showed his usual stuff which is known throughout the Panhandle-Plains. Curtis, in addition to being one of the most heady catchers of his class, clouts the ball with a wicked swing, and much is expected of him in the heavy Tech schedule ahead.
Coach Freehand presented an incident different somewhat to expectation, partly due to injuries. Scott was sent to the hot corner where Windy Nicholas usually performs, and Nicholas was sent to the outfield due to a strained tendon in his right arm, and Watkins, a Falls product, went into the short field in place of "Red" Hamilton, the latter of whom was turned over to Skipper Allen's nine

Around The Lot In Major Leagues Training Camps In South And West

(By the Associated Press)

Rights, liberties and personal freedom of the big league baseball players are limited even in exhibition games. And pitcher Grimes-of the Brooklyn Dodgers has discovered that questioning an umpire's decision is barred in Nashville, Tenn. He was ousted from the park for such an offense there yesterday in a game which his club lost to the New York Yankees.

Lazerri Socks Homer

Banishment of Grimes was not the feature of the battle, however. Lazerri winning the plaudits of the customers by smacking a homer with the bases full to guarantee victory for the Yankees. The Philadelphia Athletics displayed a keen batting eye in their defeat of the Rochester Internationals at Waynesburg, Pa.

Walberg and Simmons each connected for a circuit drive in the first frame on Wednesday's coming with three runners on and Simmons' with two on bases. Wambagane made a three-bagger for the Athletics in the second inning.

Five Other Games Played

Five other games comprised yesterday's big league exhibition program. In their contest with Toledo at Jackson, Tenn., the New York Giants showed the championship brand of ball which some spectators believe will land them a pennant this year. Southworth made a costly error, misplaying a fly and allowing the Toledo aggregation to score two runs.

Boston Braves, all jubilant and high spirited over their season's record, closed their Florida training period by beating Providence. The Cleveland Indians beat the Toronto club at Atlanta, and how head for New Orleans for three games and several days of practice on "indie baseball." The Indians are in fine trim for the start of the season.

TRAILING THE BIG LEAGUERS

KID GLEASON, LEFTY GROVES AND CONNIE MACK A PENNANT COMBINATION

By BILLY EVANS

The Philadelphia Athletics lost the American League pennant last season because they faltered in the stretch due to lack of poise.

The Athletics comprise a great ball club. Any team that beats the Mackmen out this year is going to be might close to the top.

As I watched the Athletics prepare for the coming grind that Connie Mack hopes will bring him his first pennant since 1914, the actions of one athlete stood out. He struck me as the most valuable addition of the winter to the Athletics.

I have in mind that youthful rookie William "Kid" Gleason, age 22, as spry as any man on the field and, as Al Simmons remarked to me:

"He can trim anybody on the ball club." Al had reference to physical prowess.

Big Help Already

I look for "Kid" Gleason to work a marvelous change for the better in the morale of the Athletics. As a matter of fact, it is already apparent.

Gleason is one of baseball's most colorful characters. He understands men. He caters to a player's disposition and temperament. He gets the most out of him.

"Kid" Gleason is making the Mackmen believe in their greatness. On each individual he is impressing the fact that there isn't a better ball club in the league than the A's. Likewise he is stressing the importance of each player in bringing about a desired result—the winning of the pennant.

Any ball player who has ever worked under "Kid" Gleason is strong for him. The "Kid" has no greater admirer than Eddie Collins, who played under him as a White Sox—was his captain.

"Gleason will work wonders with the Athletics," remarked Collins to me when I looked over his team at Shreveport. "Gleason is the greatest single influence for good I ever saw on any ball club. He inspires you."

With Connie Mack supplying the strategy and "Kid" Gleason the inspiration, the Athletics have just about the best combination possible in baseball.

World of Stuff

In the ranks of the Athletics is a pitcher who, aside from Gleason, just about holds the destiny of the club in his hands. I am speaking of "Lefty" Groves.

If "Lefty" Groves can win 20 ball games the Athletics will be tough to beat. If he can turn in 25 victories the team will be all the tougher.

I watched Groves pitch five innings against the Philadelphia Nationals at Bradenton. It was the most impressive spring pitching I have seen.

Groves retired nine of the 15 batters on strikes. It seemed as if he had two strikes on every man that faced him. He allowed only four hits.

No pitcher in the majors has more stuff than Groves. Lack of control has been fatal.

Two men, "Kid" Gleason and "Lefty" Groves, are the high spots in the Athletics. Gleason will supply the team with much-needed poise. Can Groves give it the added punch that many mean a pennant?

SLATON TIGER NINE HOLDS FORTH AS STRONG CREW

To the Lubbock Journal:

SLATON, April 2.—Coach Gus Miller, of the famous Slaton High school baseball team, announces that he has a better team, with more indications of games to be won than he has ever had in Slaton schools. The Tigers won two district championships last year and indications this year are that they will be in the State contest in a more formidable way than they were last year.

Stone, center field, and captain of the team is making the best showing.

BOXERS PREFER TO HAVE ANY NAME BUT OWN

BOSTON, April 2. (AP)—"What's in his name?" asked Shakespear in his Romeo and Juliet, and the retort about the rose with any other name would be as sweet suggests that a fighter with any other name than that born at birth can fight just as hard.

How many of the fight fans of today remember the correct names of the boys of the squared ring? Of a list of 100 of the old timers, not one, from records, used the same name inside the ropes as he did on the streets.

They chose "handles" which in some cases were made to fit by dropping or changing a letter or two, or by changing the spelling to retain the same pronunciation. Freddie Cole chose the latter way of spelling Kohl. The majority, however, discarded their own names and sailed under "monikers" which made Irishmen of Jews and Poles, but brought home the bacon just the same.

"K. O." Brown followed Freddie Cole's lead and bid farewell to Valentin Braun for the duration of his

STRANGLER LEWIS MEETS MATCH IN FIGHT

CHICAGO, Apr. 2. (AP)—Instead of collecting, Ed (Strangler) Lewis, claimant of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, may have to pay for his most recent engagement.

All the Strangler received was a split lip and an opportunity to see the judge. His opponent, Charles Wheeler, 52 year old broker, is proud of mind and more of body—proud because family history will record that he engaged the Strangler and is sore as a result of the grabbing tactics of Lewis.

The Judge also wants to see Mr. Wheeler. He too, may have to pay. Spectators who saw the "affair" with out paying said honors were even when eight hundred pounds of policemen broke the Strangler's famous hold from Wheeler's neck.

The "affair" started when two automobiles in which the combatants were occupants scraped fenders in a snow ridden street. Angry words followed.

"I usually spank people who talk like that to me," Lewis was quoted. Whereupon Mr. Wheeler smote Mr. Lewis on the lip.

For a brief period spectators saw Lewis use his fists, but the Strangler, finding his opponent capable, resorted to his profession until both resembled snow men.

Now they will air their trouble in court, each preferring charges against the other.

Real life. Jake Kilrain changed a letter and rearranged J. J. Killian to give him the identity which became so wide-spread during his climb to fame.

But, not a few of these changed, and in their places came appellations which alleged youth or ability, some true and some false. Among the most popular seemed to be "Young." Fourteen of the hundred wore this title, with "K. O.'s." James Jimmies, Mike and Steve following in close competition.

Descriptive titles also were and are popular, such as Sailor, One Round, Wildcat, Dixie Kid, Louisiana, Gunboat, Cyclone, Shark, Red John, Big Frank, Country, Yankee, Ginger, Curley, Irish, Sweet, Corporal, Milwaukee, Chief Miner etc. The names alone were a book in themselves and suggested everything that could possibly be designated by a letter of the alphabet.

Some of the adopted and Christian names of the older boys were: Jack Britton (William J. Breslin);

Phil Brock (Phil Solomonowitz); Tommy Burns (Noah Cross); Billie Berger (William Neiderberger); Sailor Burk (Charles Prasser); Morrie Bloom (Morris Blumberg); George Chip (George Chiplones); Tom Cairo (Nittian Nargolsky); "Young" Corbett (William H. Rothwell); Dixie Kid (George Jaus); Jim Flynn (Andrew, Chirbright); Wildcat Ferns (Clarence McQuibbin); Steve Ketchell (Lester Oakes); Patsy Cline (Fasquale Gargro); Louisiana (Joseph Biberberg); K. O. Mrs. (Louis Marzoles); Gunboat Smith (Edward Eckblad); Willie Troubles (Benny Bar-gordas).

Familiarity with the real name of Kid McCoy came with his West Coast trouble, when he gave the courts his Christian name as Norman Shelby. John T. and Joseph F. Hagan picked the names of Young Jack and Jack O'Brien. No one yet seems able to solve the reason why Barcordas chose his handle of "Kid Troubles," unless he had plenty of them.

Officers Seek Two Young Bank Thieves

TURLOCK, Calif., Apr. 2. (AP)—Officers today were seeking two young men, who posing as bank examiners, yesterday held up three employees and a customer in the Security State Bank here and escaped with approximately $13,900 in loot.

The robbers worked quietly and systematically entering the bank shortly before closing time, handcuffed those in the bank to bar on the floor, obtaining the money and fleeing from town in an automobile 45 minutes before the hold-up was discovered.

One fine thing about the republican dispute, as far as party interests are concerned, is that Texas was picked as the battleground. The party never has polled enough votes in Texas until the last general election to entitle them to the questionable privilege of a primary and of course not having enough followers to accomplish any definite results in this State, the outcome of the party can't be hurt.

However the outcome of the dispute, the republicans with which Creagery et al noticed the charges of Mr. Wurzbach would seem to indicate that the Texas solon almost scored a bull's eye with his verbal shaft. A general election in Texas this year most probably will tend to counteract the deception bound up in the vote in 1924. Newspapers generally consider it will be so light as not to be worth the cost of tabulation.

NO CITY PLAN

Boston has discovered that it has to have a new street cut through the heart of its wholesale district, and preliminary steps have been taken. The street will cost the tidy sum of 22 million dollars.

Pretty expensive street, isn't it? Especially when it could have been provided for in Boston's infancy with little or no extra cost.

A good many Southwestern cities, including Lubbock, will wake up some day and discover that a new street or streets, must be created. It's going to cost a pile of money, but the resultant benefits will probably outweigh the cost. The city is that something isn't done now about city planning.

Most cities are like the classic example of the aimless calf and the subsequent city, which sprang up along the cowpath laid out by the aimless calf.

Has Lubbock a definite, or even an indefinite, plan for future growth? It hasn't. Neither has Amarillo nor San Angelo nor Fort Worth. Few cities have—and those few cities are finding that it is costing them many millions of dollars because they waited too long to do something definite about city planning.

Too bad, of course, but it is typical of the haste and waste with which American cities grow.

BOOST!

Boost your city, boost your friend, Boost the lodge that you attend, Boost the street on which you're dwelling, Boost the crowd that you're selling, Boost the people round about you; Possibly they can do without you; But success will quicker find them If they know that you're behind them. Boost for every forward movement, Boost for every new improvement; Boost for stranger and the neighbor, Boost the man for whom you labor. Cease to be a chronic knocker, Cease to be a progress blocker, And if you would have your home town better Boost it, boost it to the final letter. —Anon.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

CONGRESSMEN IN PANIC SINCE THEIR BOOTLEGGERS GOT HIMSELF PINCHED

By CHARLES P. STEWART NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON. — Politicians are skerry folk. Take 'em here in Washington. Let the least little thing happen that threatens to get 'em "in bed" with the voters—"back home" and they are the worst worried crowd anybody ever saw. My, what a panic they've been in ever since "George, the bootlegger in the green hat" got caught. George—some people may know his other name, but probably not many, for he's a reticent guy—"worked" in the House of Representatives office building. He and his green lid have been familiar sights in its corridors for a long time. But the capitol police booked him at last.

It's true, he didn't stay hooked. He dropped the suitcase he was carrying when Officer Chorley hailed him, and made his getaway. Chorley knew him and thought he could find him, so he let him go, preferring to stick to the evidence in the suitcase. As Chorley suspected, it proved to be the real "old stuff." Accordingly a warrant was worn out for George. At this moment of writing it's expected he'll be brought in any minute. Most likely he'll actually be in the boozegow, or maybe out on bond, by the time these lines see print.

From the political standpoint, the serious part of the situation is that George specialized on the congressional trade and is believed to have had more of that kind of customers than any bootlegger in Washington. Now the question arises: Has he a list of his patrons, and, if so, is there danger it will fall into the hands of the police?

Making the acquaintance of a new friend, in whose company you can find intellectual stimulus and delightful companionship is about the only thing that is better than making the acquaintance of a good book. Pickleness is the result of being unable to appreciate what we have, and the disposition to exaggerate the value of what the other fellow has. There are usually a few things that people deserve praise for that everybody seems to forget to mention. Another thing we should not forget to remember is that reforms are always most unpopular where most needed. The things you are going to do next year won't pay your grocer's bill.

THESE WOMEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY After supper at a night club with a beautiful girl called NONA, who is jealous of his friendship with other woman, HARRY MORTON, middle-aged, rich, attractive returns to his city apartment, to find his adopted daughter, AUDREY, awaiting him at two in the morning. She says she wishes he were not wealthy, so she could enjoy more of his company. Morton, whose business is unknown, has been a center of curiosity in Peoria for fifteen years. On his return home with Audrey, he finds a shabby stranger awaiting him, whom he throws out of his house. He orders a private detective to trace the man, saying that the stranger claims to be Audrey's stopfather, and has attempted to collect money. He gets word that the stranger has been arrested. With Audrey, Morton goes to Chicago, where he takes dinner with NONA, beautiful young woman who is in love with him, and Lois, of whom Nona is jealous. The girls quarrel, and Nona, angry over Morton's attentions to Lois, tells him to go. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY (The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

"I think that will be about all for this evening," he said.

CHAPTER V AUDREY was playing the pipe organ when Morton came in. She was in evening dress, and her opera coat lay on a chair beside her. "It's only nine o'clock," she said, rising. "Would you take me over to hear the last half of the opera? I have some tickets." Morton glanced down at his clothes. "I ought to be more festively dressed to go around with a vision like you," he said, "but I'll chance it—here." He threw the coat over her shoulders, and, with the girl clinging to his arm, he descended to the street again. "Have to call a taxi," he told her. "I sent the car back to the garage." It was only a few moments until a city-wanderer's "light" and Norton halted it. "Did you have a nice time at dinner?" she ventured. Morton considered. "Not so very," he concluded. "I was willing to be happy but I didn't get the chance." Audrey's brows were puckered in thought. She leaned against Morton and once or twice glanced upward at his face. "What is it you are really hunting for when you go out to dinner with those—those ladies?" she asked, finally. "Oh, amusement, I suppose," he said. "It is a little bit like going to the theatre. It gives one a chance to escape one's own thoughts; something bright to look at; something to laugh at; maybe. "Really, the chances are that what most of us are seeking is peace of mind—contentment. Some of us seek it one place and some another. None of us ever finds it anywhere except in the only place where contentment can exist—that's in one's own mind. You have to carry it with you." "They were fortunate in arriving at the playhouse between acts, so they were shown to their seats at once. They glanced over their programs, and, as the curtain rose, settled back to listen to the two great singers who were on the bill that night. Morton sat with his chin resting on his breast, incessantly beating time with his fingers upon his knee. The girl listened with her head thrown back, her eyes star-like as the strains of the world's greatest music master filled the auditorium. Both of them were quiet, filled with the music as they rode back to their apartment. "When a man listens to music like that he knows he has a soul, doesn't he?" Morton said, as he kissed the girl good-night. "A note, delivered by messenger, was awaiting Morton when he arrived at his Chicago office the next morning. It was from Nona. "Dear," it began, "I simply must see you. I'll be rehearsing this afternoon and tonight, but I'll be at my apartment surely at ten o'clock this evening. Please come. It is so important to you as it is to me, Nona." Morton shrugged his shoulders, tore up the note and threw it in the wastebasket. A clerk came in with a heap of documents and laid them on the desk. "If anybody telephones me, except Miss Morton, tell them to call me tomorrow," Morton ordered. "I'm not in to anybody." For the remainder of the day he buried himself in the mass of statistical reports the clerk had given him. There were columns upon columns of figures, in dollars and weights and percentages, with marginal notes in the time legible script of a trained engineer. As Morton finished with the report, he laid it in one of three baskets that lay before him, labeled "Mines" and "Transport" and "Personnel." Toward evening, with a pad of notes before him, he talked into a dictating machine for an hour or more. Then, leaving the cylinders of the apparatus in their paper cartons, he went home. He dined with Audrey, talked over the evening paper with her, and at nine-thirty laid her good-night. He watched until her door was closed and took up his overcoat and hat, leaving the apartment quietly. It was only a half-hour's walk to the apartment house where Nona lived and Morton did not call a car. It was just ten o'clock when he sent up his name by the negro telephone operator in the hallway. In another minute the door of Nona's apartment opened to admit him. He stood in the doorway looking around. The room was a bright one, done in shades of rose and gold. A small upright piano stood against the wall. On top of it were the portraits of two or three girls, made by theatrical photographers, and Morton's own picture. A long table, opposite the piano, was covered with moving picture and theatrical magazines. There were three or four giltedged chairs, two deep arm-chairs upholstered in rose silk, and a lounge, covered with stiff gold brocade. "Nobody was visible in the room," Morton looked another step forward, and looked behind the door, which still stood open. As he did so, the door closed. A strange young woman stood there. "I'm sorry," she said. "Nona will be here pretty soon. She said for you to wait." Morton inspected her. She wore a long fur coat, which she had fastened closely about her throat, but from beneath the coat peeped the lower edge of a kimono. A pair of "nudes" was on her feet, and her ankles were bare. "I was going to stay with Nona tonight," she explained. "Won't you take off your overcoat?" Morton shook his head. He had not taken his eyes from her. "I don't think I'll stay," he said. "The girl moved away from him a little. "Please stay," she said. "Nona told me that she wanted to see you about something terribly important, and she is in a dreadful frame of mind. I think it would be better if you stay." "All right," Morton took off his overcoat and seat and laid them, with his hat and stick, on the lounge. The girl picked them up and carried them into another room. Morton watched her, thoughtful. "Wouldn't you be more comfortable in this big chair?" she asked when she came back. Morton was sitting on the light gilt piano stool. "You'd better," she persisted, as Morton made no move. "That stool broke down yesterday, and it may do it again." Morton moved over to the large chair and sat down. He lost sight of the young woman for a moment, so she stopped behind him. When she reappeared her fur coat was off and only her kimono covered her thin shoulders. Morton started to arise but she perched herself on the arm of his chair pushing him backward with the pressure of her palm upon his forehead. Bending over, she laughed into his face. The light in the apartment went out and as suddenly flashed on again. A huge young man was coming into the room. Morton leaped to his feet, thrusting the young woman from him. The young man towered over him. "So you're the guy, eh?" he roared. Turning to the girl he seized her by the arm. "So this is what you're doing!" He jerked her around until they were facing Morton side by side. "Morton took a step backward, and then another. After a moment's survey of the couple before him he snatched slowly. Deliberately turning his shoulder to them, he felt in his pocket for his cigaret case, opened it, took a cigaret and lit it. "Now go on with the story," he told them. The young man hesitated. The girl, through, threw her arms around her companion and hid her face. "Oh Joe, I'm so sorry," she wailed. "I'm so sorry. How did you know I was here?" "I've been following you every night you went out," the young man said, fixing his eyes on Morton. "Now I've found out who you're been meeting. I'm going to have you both punished." Morton, puffing at his cigaret, eyed them quietly. The girl stole a glance at him and then clung closer to the larger young man. "I'm so sorry! I'm so sorry!" she repeated. The man took her by the arm and set her to one side. Then he advanced menacingly upon Morton. "You've got to pay for this or you're going to be in Dutch right!" he said menacingly. Morton tilted back his head and laughed. The young man was so near him that there was not room for a forward step, but Morton placed his fingers lightly on the other's chest and the man moved backward. Morton stroled to the end of the room, ran the shade curtain up,

TEARS AND JUSTICE

A young woman, suing a man for $50,000 for breach of promise, began to weep softly in the courtroom of Judge Timothy D. Hurley in Chicago the other day. But the cry didn't last long. "I'm not going to have a crying spell going on in my courtroom," announced the judge. "You're crying your way into a verdict and I'll set it aside as soon as you get it." The plaintiff promptly dried her tears. Shutting the valve on sobs is a distinct aid to the mills of justice.

Strangest Lenten Observance In The World Is In Salvation Army

The strangest Lenten observance in the world, perhaps, is that of the Salvation Army, which this year confines its "Lent" to the dates from March 27th to April 4th, and during that interval its officers and soldiers throughout the world will eschew candy and such small "luxuries" as may have been their usual portion in life, turning the money thus saved into a great central fund that is used for the extension and maintenance of the Army's Mission work throughout the world.

It is interesting to note that the Army flag now waves over eight-one countries and colonies and that it reaches the Gospel in fifty-eight languages. In India alone it publishes Christian periodicals in eleven languages and dialects and its 2,300 officers use every native language dialect in the carrying out of their business. It is further interesting to note that in India also one of the most serious social problems which the British government in that land has had to face is in the process of solution through the efforts of the Salvation Army. The criminal tribes, numbering thousands of nomads, whose ancestors from time immemorial have lived by violence and robbery to the extent that twenty years ago, they occupied a unique field as members of a recognized profession, have come under the civilizing influence of the Army and are being turned into respectable citizens. This after the government had tried to do the job for a quarter of a century without success. Seven thousand criminal tribe colonies are in operation under the Salvation Army direction there.

A similar work for beggar boys is carried on by the Army in Seoul, Korea, where in years past they were the greatest single pest of the Korean capital. These warts, who lived ostentatiously through begging, were by the Army's efforts, however, of criminal masters, who taught them to commit all sorts of crimes and lived on the proceeds of their misdeeds. Over a period of several years the Salvation Army has made a hard fight against this terrible system and finally has driven this scourge from the country.

These are only two of the thousand and one activities that the Army carries on throughout the world in the name of its Master, Jesus Christ.

Captain H. Uptegrove, who is in charge of the local Salvation Army camp is arranging for his self denial effort at this time.

This appeal is an annual appeal for those that are in darkness and sin. We who live in a land where we have the privilege to serve God according to the dictates of our own hearts have a lot to be thankful for, and we should do all we could to bring the same Gospel message to those who are off in the land where sin has dominion over them.

You can do your part by just helping a little in this coming week with a small contribution, mailed to the Salvation Army, Box 443, Lubbock, Texas.

Our officers in South Africa receive from $150.00 to $180.00 per year for salary, and out of this they must live and clothe themselves. And those in India and Ceylon receive from $30.00 to $100.00 yearly. They give their lives the same as the officers in America and all other countries for the service of mankind and to bring the Gospel message of Salvation.

Blacksmiths Now Fast Decreasing Army Survey Show

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—Motorization of America has almost swept away the village blacksmith and his helper and the change has brought an added problem to the army, which needs reserves of such workers to care for the 40,000 or more mounts and teams which would be used in a full strength mobilization.

In peacetime the army uses about 45,000 horses and mules. Within a month after a war mobilization is ordered that number would increase to more than 200,000 in active service and requiring constant attention. Yet repeated surveys disclose that few boys are engaged as blacksmiths, helpers or apprentices and that in general horseholders of today are men of forty-five years or more who went into the trade before the era of the horseless carriage had arrived.

The army experts found, strangely that while the advent of automobiles has reduced the use of driving horses, it has served to increase the demand for riding animals, as horse-lovers are able to get quickly out of the cities by motor to enjoy country riding and hunting. There also has been an increase in the use of heavy draft animals in cities and congested areas where wagons are held to take up less space in unloading at the curb than motor trucks.

A survey in New York state showed that there is a wide range of horseholders.

ATTORNEYS FAIL IN ATTEMPT TO SAVE CHAPMAN LIFE

HARTFORD, Conn., Apr. 2. (AP)—Defeated in their attempt to get the United States Supreme Court to intervene in the execution of Gerald Chapman early next Tuesday, his attorneys today turned to preparing a motion for a new trial. They will attempt to get a hearing on this motion tomorrow.

Meanwhile, states attorneys were interested in dispatches from Henderson, Ky., about a negro detained there. Thomas McKinley Whit, who says he acted as Chapman's chaffer and drove him to New Britain, Conn., on the night before of the policeman there. He said he witnessed the shooting and received between $7,000 and $8,000 from the slayer not to talk.

The murder of the New Britain policeman during a burglary is the crime for which Chapman, mail robber and bootlegger, is under death sentence.

Frederick J. Groh, Chapman's attorney, plans no further action in the Federal Court. Justices Holmes and Brandeis at Washington yesterday refused to issue a stay of execution.

PRESIDENT NAMES OHIO MAN FOR NEW POST

WASHINGTON, Apr. 2. (AP)—Carmel A. Thomas, of Ohio, was appointed by President Coolidge today as a special commissioner to survey economic and internal conditions in the Philippines.

"The decision of the President to take this step," a White House announcer said, "follows the increased interest in Congress recently in recently in regard to the Philippine islands."

"Moreover, the President feels that an intensive study of the possibilities of the island positions may lead to increased development of their natural resources and that such a study will be of great benefit and importance not only to the United States, but to the Philippines as well."

"It is his desire to obtain further information gathered by a man in whom he has confidence and whose practical experience will enable him to give the President a comprehensive and accurate report."

TEXARKANA, Mo., (AP)—W. W. Stecker of Champlin, Ill., has purchased all three of the daily newspapers of this city and consolidated them into a single morning newspaper called "Texarkana Gazette." The papers consolidated were the Texarkanan, Four States Press and Journal.

FEDERAL JUDGE ENGLISH RULED BY HOUSE TO STAND TRIAL FOR ALLEGED OFFICE MISDEMEANORS

CONGRESSMEN VOTE 306 TO 62 TO TRY ILLINOIS JURIST AFTER EPHPHETS HE IS SAID TO HAVE USED IN COURT SHOCK LAW-MAKERS

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Apr. 2. (AP)—Federal Judge English, of the Eastern Illinois district, must stand trial before the Senate for high misdemeanors in office or resign.

His impeachment on five counts was voted by the house late yesterday, 306 to 62, after three days of debate during which the frank use of leathsome epithets he was accused of having yoked in his court started the galleries and brought an abomination to members from Speaker Longworth.

Next Move Next Week The next step in the move to unseat Judge English cannot be taken until next week, since the House adjourned until Monday after approving the charging without appointing the seven members who will represent it as prosecutor before the senate, which will be called up to sit as a court of impeachment for the tenth time in its history.

Section of the managers was put off yesterday, when differences arose over their political bias-up, the judiciary committee slate calling for five republicans and two democrats and Representative Garrett of Tennessee, the floor democratic leader, suggesting a four three ratio instead, when the managers have been appointed, their first duty will be to report the impeachment to the senate, which must also sit up for consideration at 1 p. m. on the following day.

Senate to Hear Case Judge English will be summoned before the bar of the Senate after it has resolved itself into a court of impeachment by the application of a special oath to each member.

When he has made this appearance with counsel, he will be allowed a specified time in which to file a brief and answer to the five articles of impeachment, which accuse him of wrong manipulation of bankruptcy funds, usurpation of authority over state officials, use of profane language, and threatening juries and counsel in court. Afterwards, if precedent is followed, the House will present a replication to his answer and the trial itself may proceed.

Impeachments Are Few Only ten Federal judges and three Federal officers have been impeached by the House prior to its action yesterday on the English case. Of these, only nine were tried by the Senate, the others resigning and thus obviating the necessity of trial.

Five of the nine, including President Andrew Johnson, were acquitted. The Illinois jurist has served on the bench since 1913 when he was appointed by President Wilson upon the recommendation of Samuel Gompers, late head of the American Federation of Labor. His conduct during the stenographer's strike of 1922, which attracted object-ed regard, was prominently in the discussion of the charges against him, it being charged that he ordered weapons restored to "gunmen" who had been arrested in connection with the disturbances at that time, and released them.

ATHLETICS MAKE RAPID STRIDES IN SOUTHWEST

AUSTIN, April 2. (AP)—During the past five years, athletics in the Southwest have made more progress than in any other section of the country, Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the Western Conference, said here last week.

The time will come soon, as the population of Texas increases at so rapid a rate, when crowds of from 50,000 to 75,000 spectators will witness the major Southwest conference football clashes. Major Griffith predicted.

Major Griffith said collegiate baseball had been injured in a measure by the professional game, and college football, too, would be slightly injured by the professional football.

One of the most hopeful features is the broadening of the field of athletics in the universities and colleges. Practically every sport has a large number of devotees—both those try out for the varsity teams and those participating in intramural competition.

SAN ANGELO—Work is under way on the Concho river by the West Texas Utilities company in the construction of more than twenty miles of electric transmission lines to provide irrigation water for farms.

WOOL REPORT BOSTON, Apr. 2. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say:

Rather wide interest in wool is reported both here and in the West this week, more especially in the West. Prices here are no better, but the declining tendency seems to have been fairly well halted for the time being, while rather better demand from some of the smaller mills is in evidence.

The foreign markets are generally firm and occasionally a bit dearer, with consuming centers moving at a moderate pace. Mohair is steady in the local market. Kerrville, Texas, sold 400,000 pounds today at about 55 cents for goat hair and closed to 69 cents for

AGGIE FOLLOWERS PREDICT GOOD SEASON

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—Apr. 1. (AP)—Buoyed by the splendid play of the Texas Aggie baseball nine in pre-season practice tilts, red and white roots are predicting that Coach Claude Rothermel's crew will make a real bid for the Southwest Conference championship.

Work of the hurlers has been the most encouraging factor, but the Farmers have played "heads-up" baseball in all departments. The lads are taking to the inside baseball Coaches Rothmel and Bender have been giving them, and the Texas University Longhorns, as usual the favorites to cop the championship hunting, may find the going rough against the cadets.

Eight twirlers, all of whom have shown flashes of real ability, are available. Koerth, Hillin and Crawford are letter men. Of these three, Koerth has exhibited the most stuff thus far. Recruit twirlers, who are bending every effort to convince Coach Rothmel they have the stuff to take a regular turn on the mound, are Bryant, Royder, Banknight, Meadors and Wyman.

Jack Williams and "Long Sid" Kyle are the veterans about whom the outfield is being formed. Both Williams and Kyle are showing a lot of fight and hustle, and should have great seasons. The free-swinging Kyle is due to cause right-hand twirlers much misery; for the big fellow certainly takes a mean cut at the ball.

Other candidates for the outer gardens are: Broiles, Clark, Schow, and McConaughy.

With a number of capable candidates fighting for each inner defense post, it is difficult to prognosticate the makeup of the regular infield.

"Punk" Baker, All-Southwestern baseball guard of the past season and captain-elect of the 1927 team, seems to have the call at third base, though Bell is capable guardian of the hot corner, and may take over the job most any time. Last season, Baker played the short field and Bell held down third base.

Tucker is showing much promise at shortstop, and is hitting harder than last year. On the other side of the keystone bag, Blount likely will hold forth. Blount and Tucker thus far have shown ability to work well together at second base.

Competition at first base is most spirited, with Steineker, the regular first-sacker of 1925, closely pressed by Sikos and Durt.

GALVESTON—The Galveston Electric company has secured a site on Church street and will erect a new uptown office building and salesroom. This company recently purchased the Brush Electric company in this city.

French Open Spring Drive Against Druse BIERUT, Syria, April 2. (AP)—The French began an offensive against the Druse tribesmen in Southern Lebanon this morning.

French authorities here say the movement opened under the most favorable auspices, and the Druse are fleeing in disorder, leaving a number of dead.

A French column moving on Kounetra (forty miles southwest of Damascus) drove off the rebels after a serious engagement. A column moving on Kounetra from Eara routed another Druse band, which according to French advisers, left many dead, together with quantities of arms and ammunition.

SNOWS RECEDING FROM ALL OVER SOUTHWEST

WEATHER MAN, THUGH, IS CAREFUL NOT TO SAY MUCH ON EASTER

(By Associated Press.)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 2.—Cheerful news came to the weary Southwest today in the announcement at the weather bureau here that the week-old snowstorm had spent itself, although occasional snow flurries would continue.

The weather may even be passable for Easter, that is, compared with what has prevailed. An unsettled condition for Sunday, with some chance for sunshine, was predicted.

It took a two foot stick to measure the snow blanket that covered Kansas and Missouri today, for the combined storms of the week had deposited a covering more than a foot deep. At Kansas City the total snow fall this week was 19 inches at Topeka, Kans., it was 15 inches and at Salina, Kans., more than 14 inches. St. Joe, Mo., with 13.50, had set a new weather bureau record.

Weather Man Cautious.
WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—The weather bureau was cautious today with its Easter weather predictions but forecaster Michael ventured to say that the cool weather and bright skies probably would prevail in most of the eastern part of the United States. He would not issue a definite forecast at this time.

The only disturbing factor is another storm now lurking among the central Rocky Mountain region which may develop enough strength to affect unfavorably eastern weather west of the Alleghenies.

My China Doll Seal Sale Opens On 9th Of April

The seal sale for the engagement of the novel musical extravaganza "My China Doll," which is coming to the Palace Theatre April 9, for a two-day presentation.

Barbara Bronell, America's youngest musical comedy star, who will be seen in the leading role, has made a name for herself that has been heard nearly around the world. She made her stage debut six years ago with Julian Eltinge and company touring America and the Orient the first year on the stage. She was featured as a dancer, during that period and few if any of the younger stars could out-step this clever girl, in clog buck and wing, soft shoe or toe dancing. Upon her return to the states she was featured in vaudeville for a season and then came to musical comedy, winning the hearts of theatre-goers with her youth, cleverness and pretty smiles.

"My China Doll" is a modern musical extravaganza, with just a tinge of Oriental atmosphere, enhanced by the fact that its young star, only recently returned from the Flamingo Kingdom, where she studied the manners and customs of these quaint people. In this offering she has every opportunity to display her ability in song, dance and drama, the author, Charles George, having carefully planned the many roles she is called upon to portray.

Miss Bronell will introduce many novel dances, a China doll step, Cindarella waltz, a toe dance in the Rose Hotel and a novel jazz number in Melody Town.

The story opens in New York's sinister Chinatown and continues on its journey into the land of Story Books, the Land of Music, the Valley of Flowers and leads the lovers right up to a palatial home in New York where it comes to a happy ending in a jazz wedding scene.

The story is a romance of love unbound in a novel manner and abounds in clever situations. The musical numbers are in Mr. George's best vein, and ripple with catchy rhythms.

CLUB MEMBERS TO HOLD SESSION SATURDAY

Between 300 and 150 Lubbock county club boys and girls are expected to be here tomorrow for the first general conference of the year, according to David F. Eaton, County Farm Agent who has made arrangements for the meeting.

Officers for the county organizations will be elected, plans for the year's program will be discussed, prizes in various contests open to boys and girls clubs will be announced, and many other matters of interest to club workers will be taken up, Mr. Eaton said.

The conference will begin Saturday morning in the office of Mr. Eaton in the court house, and girls who attend the meeting will make an inspection trip through the Tech College under direction of Miss Hazel Hammer, home demonstration agent.

Several local men will address the gathering on subjects of interest to the boys and girls, including a talk by Prof. Evans, of the Tech on chicken feeding, and one by Don L. Jones, Supt., of the experiment station on grain sorghums.

In the afternoon the boys will be taken through the College, especially the livestock department where they will examine several types of dairy cows, hogs and sheep.

Children's Shoes for EASTER

We naturally expect children to give shoes hard, rough wear for whether at school or play, shoes are seldom considered by the youngster. That is why we select and sell the strong, durable sort to insure longer service — being well made of best leather they are certain to give satisfaction and they're priced as low as we can possibly make them.

NEW MAPLEWOOD ROMAN SANDAL

This is the ideal type of shoes for this season of the year, neither shoe or slipper, but answering the purpose of both. Maplewood is just a shade lighter than blonde. This one has black patent underlay that is very attractive.

PASTORS OPPOSE SUDAY PROJECT OF LUBBOCK MEN

"We wish it understood that we are not protesting against the ordinary rabbit drive for the extermination of a destructive pest, but we are opposed to cruel and inhumane treatment of any animal."

All Pastors Sign It

The resolution is signed by the following pastors: Rev. Walter P. Jennings of the First Christian church, Rev. Jack M. Lewis of the First Presbyterian, Rev. E. E. White, of the First Methodist, Rev. K. I. Ingram, of the Cumberland Presbyterian; Rev. Silas Dixon, of the 19th St. Methodist, Rev. W. A. Bowen, of the First Baptist; Rev. R. B. Brooks, of the Church of Christ; and Rev. S. S. Wood, of the Church of the Nazarene. E. E. Wofford, Lubbock man, who is in charge of the park, a new innovation for this section of the country, could not be reached for a statement today.

CARROLL FACES JAIL SENTENCE

producer was automatically granted immunity from prosecution on the basis of charges through his own testimony.

But this immunity, Federal Attorney Brockner said, did not apply to the government seeking immunity for evidence and obtain its return only through testimony. He charges that Carroll led to the grand jury on three specific points. The principal accusations were that he testified he had no record of the sheets at the party; that no intoxicating liquor was served, and that no one got into the bath tub at any time while the party was in progress.

Carroll, who is 24 years old, was arrested in November, 1924, for displaying paintings of his own works in front of his premises. He protested that it was all in the name of art, and was acquitted.

Sewer Pipe Magnate Falls To His Death

SAN ANTONIO, April 2. (AP)—Gus Emmer, 55, superintendent of the San Antonio sewer pipe manufacturing company's plant at Sasameca, lost his footing on the slippery top of a fuel oil tank this morning and fell 20 feet to his death.

BROWNSVILLE—Electric pumping plants are taking the place of steam power all along the Rio Grande in the lower valley.

Gray-Haired Romeo Browning May Face Courts As Result Of 'Love' Affair With 'Peaches' Hennan, 15

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Apr. 2.—Edward M. Browning, wealthy real estate operator today found his latest Cinderella venture beset from three quarters. The children's society had begun an investigation of his relations with 15 year old Frances ("Peaches") Hennan, who he has intimated he will marry as soon as she becomes 18 next June.

Frances is recovering from a cold thrown in here face while she slept in her mother's home last Saturday. Browning is 37 and divorced his wife in 1923.

CHURCHES OF CITY HOLD UNION SERVICE

Rev. Milo Atkinson, evangelist of Wichita Falls, who is conducting a revival at the First Christian Church, preached at a union revival service at the First Methodist Church this morning at 10 o'clock on "The Fellowship of Christ's Sufferings." Congregations of the Cumberland Presbyterian, First Presbyterian, First Methodist and First Christian Churches and friends of these churches were present. Pastors of the four churches are holding pre-Easter revivals now.

No services will be held in the churches Saturday but will be held in all of the churches on Sunday. All except the First Presbyterian Church have been holding services for two weeks and that church opened meetings last Sunday.

Christ suffered in the spirit more than he suffered in the flesh, Rev. Atkinson said, and "Christ's sufferings should suffer when they see their fellowmen who are not saved, he added. "Christ laid down the principles of living and not the rules for living and our lives should be patterned after His."

"Our physical bodies should be willing servants of our spirits as Christ's body was his servant. His spirit was in subjection to that of God and our spirits should be likewise placed in the command of our Master," he said. He spoke of the physical suffering of Christ on the cross and said that many men have suffered more physical torture than that, but that men do not suffer in the spirit as Jesus did.

Lubbock Nurses To Attend Clean-Up Meeting At Slaton

Miss Ann Bruckner, public health nurse, and Miss Jane Hooks, a nurse in the Ellwood Hospital, are planning to go to Slaton this evening to meet with the members of a committee on cleaning up the city. It is possible that some of the doctors will accompany them.

Slaton is planning a clean up campaign to be conducted simultaneously with the one in Lubbock. The committee was to have met last evening but postponed the meeting in order that more of the city officials might attend the meeting.

Idolus is planning a clean up campaign but it may be conducted later than the one here, Miss Bruckner said.

SCOUTS WILL AID IN CLEAN-UP

The five local troops of Boy Scouts will aid very materially in the clean up campaign that is to be carried out here next week under plans announced here Friday by L. S. Hickey, area commissioner.

Each troop will be given a certain district of the city, and Tuesday afternoon will patrol this district, advising residents there of the aims and objects of the campaign, pointing out what is expected of them in gathering up trash and rubbish, and explaining how and where to put the collected rubbish so that it may be picked up by wagons that will be sent out by the city.

The Scouts will stop only at places that they can see are in need of cleaning, as it is not the object of the drive to molest those people who have already cleaned up their premises.

The following week, after the wagons have made the rounds of the city picking up trash, Scouts will again patrol the city for final inspection, and will report to the authorities any places where the owner has not complied with the rules of the campaign.

her to dance—all without a proper guardian. It is time that something was done about it.

She was a student at the Textile High School for girls but has not attended classes since last fall.

A school investigator was once informed at the Hennan home that the girl had been sent away to recuperate from pneumonia. Browning, however, admitting that during her absence that she had been with him at many parties.

Detectives seeking the acid thrower, questioned friends of Frances in the Phi Lambda Tau society where Browning met her. Jealously may have been the motive for attack, police say.

The Phi Lambda Tau society is also under investigation by the children's society, because of Browning's intimacy. Browning gave them their society pins, sent them flowers and attended parties.

Use White Lines In Parking, Chief Urges

The citizenship of Lubbock and visitors can add very materially in handling traffic in the business district if they will abide by white lines on the curbs in parking, Chief of Police T. E. May, said Friday.

The lines are put there for the convenience of motorists, the Chief said, and they have been so placed as to provide ample space between the cars to prevent possible accidents on one way or the other or enters to park. "If the drivers of automobiles will be governed by these lines, a very noticeable increase in parking space will be seen, Chief May said.

SUBPOENAS TO BE ISSUED BY WET SUPPORTERS

WASHINGTON, Apr. 2. (AP)—The Senate prohibition committee voted today to issue subpoenas for 13 witnesses which the vote desired to have heard next week.

The committee divided four to one. Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, voting alone to sustain the request of Senator Edge, republican, New Jersey that a number of police chiefs, judges, sheriffs, doctors and others be formally subpoenaed to appear here on the bills for modification of the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment.

PHILLIPS OIL CO. BUYS LANDREATH PROPERTIES

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Apr. 2. (AP)—Purchase of more than 16,000 acres of the Landreath Production Corporation's oil holdings in Texas by the Phillips Petroleum company of Bartlesville, was announced today by Frank Phillips, president. Phillips did not confirm a report that the transaction involved more than $4,800,000.

This property is only partially developed, having sixty wells and having 4,800 barrels daily production of high grade crude oil, Phillips said. Eleven wells are being drilled. Five miles south of Brokenbridge, a 2,000 acre block has three wells producing and one well drilling while 248 acres in cross cut district, Brown county, is offset by large producers on different sides. A block of 10,000 acres is located ahead of production in the Panhandle district upon which one well is now being drilled. While these new properties will increase the Phillips' production, Phillips believes that its main value lies in the large profit reserves they add to the company's holdings.

Hindus and Moslems Fight In Calcutta

LONDON, Apr. 2. (AP)—A serious riot between Hindus and Moslems in Calcutta, India, this afternoon, is reported by the exchange telegraph correspondent there. Many were killed or injured in the clash, which occurred in the northern section of the city. The shops and houses in the principal streets have been closed.

Plan To Tighten On Volstead Act Heard Baseball Gables

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—Tightening up of the provisions of the Volstead Act was proposed to Congress today by the administration as an essential to successful enforcement of the prohibition law.

other things: The placing of all cereal beverage plants under governmental supervision. Issuance of warrants for the search of private dwellings on evidence of manufacture of liquor for commercial purposes. Howdy Neighbor!

Nowhere in the world has this quaint salutation such a depth of sincerity and meaning as here in Lubbock. Nowhere else is there such a beautiful neighborliness as in this city. Nowhere are neighbors so appreciative and nowhere else does one find neighbors who so well know how to say, "Howdy, Neighbor" and mean it. Nothing strikes the visitor as forcibly as this splendid, hearty greeting and the hospitality in which it finds expression, and when visitors leave they take with them an indelible impression of Lubbock's Friendliness and Neighborliness.

In no other city have friendliness and neighborliness so broad and full a meaning as here in Lubbock. How often do not these two Lubbock qualities discount the dollar? Where else could one find such neighborliness between business men and customers.

Hawkins feels particularly grateful for the expression of neighborliness which has greeted us since our arrival in Lubbock. Our business career is just beginning here and with it our part in the neighborly spirit of Lubbock, and it is the earnest hope of the firm that our beautiful New Store will be a meaning toward enlarging upon your friendliness and neighborliness in the future.

Hawkins is your Newest Neighbor and Lubbock's boosters. Our location is a new building, a new store and new merchandise, just across Broadway south of the new Hotel Lubbock.

An expression and a visit of your will be appreciated with a hearty cooperation on our part to build Lubbock in the future the city of the Plains. Visit us so that a fuller meaning of the sincere greeting may be mutual to us both.
