"Zero Hour" Is Near; Troops Along Borders

Reds Near Lomza Flanking Threat To Warsaw

BY DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 14 — The zero hour for an all-out Soviet assault on East Prussia appeared to be approaching rapidly today as Russian armies massed in a great threatening arc before the borders of that German province.

Russian units to the south were 15 to 17 miles from the East Prussia frontier, while to the east other Soviet forces were seven to 10 miles away and to the north from 30 to 35 miles.

Stronghold Is Menaced

Red army forces apparently striving to rip Nazi defenses in East Prussia wide open from the south menaced the enemy stronghold of Lomza, vital communications center that links embattled Warsaw with the Junker province.

(The German radio said strong Russian forces supported by many tanks and planes "succeeded in gaining some ground" northwest of Bialystok — the drive threatening East Prussia from the south and Warsaw from the north).

Counterattack Vainly

Great tank battles continued west of the Vistula in the Kielce region about 100 miles south of Warsaw and within 35 miles of Krakow, the last great Polish Bastion guarding industrial centers of German Silesia 75 miles from advanced Russian elements. The Germans were counterattacking vainly.

Virtually no news came from the siege of Warsaw itself where the Russians were planted just outside the Polish capital on the eastern side of the broad and swift Vistula.

Cross Three Rivers

Since Friday the Russians between Warsaw and East Prussia have bitten deep into German lines, capturing 530 settlements and forcing three rivers, the Narew, the Upper Bug and the Biebrza, crossed Sunday. Progress here was one of the major strategic victories of the summer

Churchill, Tito Meet In Italy

LONDON, Aug. 14 (U.P.) — Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Tito, commander of the Partisan army in Jugoslavia, discussed political and military questions "in a spirit of entire frankness" in Italy Saturday and Sunday, the British government announced today.

Dr. Ivan Subasitch, prime minister in King Peter's Yugoslav government, also participated in the conferences and the three leaders "propose to continue these discussions, which are animated by a desire on each side to make the largest contribution to the common welfare of Jugolsavia."

FORRESTAL IN ITALY
WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Forrestal was disclosed today to be among the high Allied leaders present in Italy during recent days.

Conference Site Undisclosed

Churchill's arrival in Italy was announced Friday. Tito arrived in Rome earlier last week. Scene of the conferences was not disclosed.

An Algiers broadcast, heard by BBC in London, said the meetings were held in Rome, but there was no official confirmation.

(Rome dispatches said Lt. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commander of United States Army Service forces, also was in Rome last week, and attended Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson's audience with Pope Pius XII.

(Vatican sources attached considerable importance to the conference which, they said, was arranged hurriedly without the usual advance preparations).

New Allied Aerial Blows Strike Japs

"Heat" To Go On, Nimitz Pledges

BY J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

Japan's shaky system of island fortresses spanning the 3,500 miles from Paramushrio to Halmahera have come under new Allied air attacks, giving explosive emphasis to Adm. Chester Nimitz' pledge to "put the heat on as hard and fast as we can" in the Pacific war.

Nimitz spoke yesterday after a visit to the Marianas, now abuilding as a principal forward base for U. S. forces driving westward. The Pacific fleet chief said he might move his headquarters there. If he does, he would be closer by 1,000 miles to Tokyo than he now is to San Francisco.

Philippines Bombed Again

He told newsmen the war might be won without invading Japan. "This war is a new experience for Japan," he declared. "We don't know how much they can take before they'll throw in the sponge."

At the southern end of the air war, the Philippines took their fourth bombing in five days. Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced that patrol planes sank a 3,000-ton freighter in Davao gulf Saturday.

Bonins Bombed Again

At Halmahera, island steppingstone between Davao in the Philippines and New Guinea, night patrols set fire to a 1,000-ton vessel and hit other ships. Installations in the Talaud islands, between Halmahera and Davao, also were bombed.

Nimitz' Marianas-based Liberators bombed Chichi Jima in the Bonins—600 miles from Tokyo—on Friday, hitting an airfield and a ship.

Other raiders hit Paramushiro 500 miles north of Japan in the Kuriles, Pagan and Rota in the Marianas, Truk atoll, and enemy positions in the U. S.-dominated Marshalls. The raid into the Bonins was notable for the lack of interception and light ack-ack.

Negro Voters Form League

DALLAS, Aug. 14. (U.P.) — A brand ned organization — created to stimulate statewide negro voting — emerged on the Texas political scene today.

The group, which could conceivably bring a new era in Texas politics, was formed in Dallas last week and given the name, Texas League of Democratic Voters. Announcement of its formation was made by W. J. Durham, Dallas attorney, who was named chairman of the group's executive committee.

Plans Sub-Chapters

Durham, who said the organization was completed at a Dallas meeting Thursday, disclosed the group plans creation of sub-chapters in every precinct possible in the state to see that "every" Democrat goes to the polls on election day.

The Thursday meeting was attended by 150 negroes from various parts of the state, Durham said.

Other officers named in the new group, he said, included:

Dr. C. U. Franklin, Sherman, president; J. H. Clouser, Galveston, treasurer, and J. B. Grigsby, Houston, secretary.

To Swing Powerful Bloc

Obviously a result of the Supreme court's ruling that negroes may vote alongside the white man, the League of Democratic Voters was expected to swing a powerful bloc of negro voting strength into state politics.

The number of negro poll tax payments and registered exemptions in Texas reaches more than 131,520 at the present time, Durham estimated, basing his figures on a survey of 131 counties of heavy negro population. He said that if all state negroes had paid their poll taxes this year, there would have been 571,000 quali-

U. S., England Are In Accord

Security Talks To Begin Next Week

BY R. H. SHACKFORD
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 — A new note of optimism surrounded the impending talks on a world security organization today with the disclosure that the Allied "Big Three" already have exchanged plans and that two—the United States and Britain—are in general accord.

The first official word of a pre-conference exchange of ideas between Washington, London and Moscow came from Sir Alexander Cadogan, Britain's permanent undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, who arrived here over the weekend to head the British delegation at the Dumbarton Oaks conference.

HULL BACK TODAY
WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 — Secretary of State Cordell Hull returned to his office after a two-week rest today to find a new note of optimism concerning the talks on world security which begin here next week.

Begin Next Week

The documents exchanged by the three governments will form the basis for the discussions, which begin next week. China also will figure in the talks but at a later stage with only the United States and Britain since her principal foe, Japan, is at peace with Russia.

The Anglo - American - Russian talks originally were to have started today, the third anniversary of the signing of the Atlantic Charter, but were postponed a week when the Soviet Union requested more time to make preparations. Cadogan said however, that the Russians already have sent over a document on the subject for a pre-conference study by the American and British experts.

British In Agreement

At a press conference with the Earl of Halifax, the British ambassador who arrived back in this country with him, Cadogan revealed yesterday that the British were in agreement with President Roosevelt's outline of an international organization made public June 25.

The president's plan called for a world assembly of all nations, a council of great powers and a certain number of others elected annually to be charged with keeping the peace, a world court, and agreements among the big powers

"Big Inch" Pipeline One Year Old Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)— The world's biggest oil pipeline, a $95,000,000 project of 1,363 miles from Longview, Tex., to the New York-Philadelphia area, begins its second year of operations today, Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes announced.

A total of 96,292,000 barrels of crude oil have been delivered by the "big inch" line, which has done the work of 23,000 tank cars operating on an 18-day turnaround schedule, Ickes said.

"If the line had not been operating, we would not have been able to keep the United Nations' fighting forces in the Mediterranean and European theaters of operations fully supplied while meeting all essential industrial and domestic needs," Ickes declared.

"The delivery of Texas crude oil through the line to eastern refineries has prevented what could easily have developed into a catastrophic oil shortage along the Atlantic seaboard," he reported.

NAZIS IN 'CORRIDOR'—Germans were fleeing by every method from military transport to bicycle today in an effort to escape a trap (shown on map) set by the Allies on the escape road to Paris. A giant Allied pincers was reported within 18 miles of closing on Nazi forces estimated at 100,000 strong.

American Artillerymen Thrill French Peasants With First Rodeo Ever Held In Normandy

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS In France, Aug. 1 (Delayed) — Artillerymen of the 90th infantry division thrilled doughboys and French peasants with the first old-fashioned rodeo ever held in Normandy.

The rodeo was held in a pasture during a recent battle lull with troopers from Texas, Oklahoma, Idaho and the Dakotas performing the standard bulldogging, calf roping, steer riding and trick roping contests in a rough holiday from firing their big guns in this rough and ready war. By nightfall they were more bruised and tired than if they had spent the day tossing hundreds of shells at the Germans — instead of being tossed themselves by thousand-pound steers.

Gathered For Miles

The stock for the rodeo was supplied by excited French cattle owners and natives who gathered from farms miles away to see American cowboys in khaki demonstrate the broncho busting they had seen before only in Hollywood horse operas.

There were not any fancy silk shirts on the riders. There were no ten-gallon hats to slap against the heaving horses flanks but the hedgerow audience whooped it up in the best tradition of the wild west and there were thrills and spills to satisfy everybody, including the puzzled steers.

Idaho and Texas divided honors. Corp. Glen Dismore of Eden, Tex., tied up the roping contest and T/5 Elzia "Cowboy" Rodden, Gooding, Ida., came out on top in the fancy riding contest. The favorite of the farmers however was the wild cow milking contest. They got more excited than the cows.

Nelson Asks Shops For Greater Output

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. (AP)— Production Chief Donald M. Nelson appealed to foundries and forge shops today for increased production to "meet the imperative needs of the fighting fronts."

Commanders in every war theater are asking for more heavy trucks and artillery, the War Production Board chairman said.

"We could increase production of these and other needed weapons if we had enough of the required castings and forgings," he added.

Nelson's letter was distributed with issues of The Labor and Management News, a WPB publication sent to all factories where labor - management committees have been set up to speed arms production.

Airline May Be Started Oct. 1

Essair, Inc., "hopes" to start service on its projected Amarillo-Houston airline through Lubbock "about" Oct. 1, according to information received at the chamber of commerce here, officials there said this morning.

A temporary permit to establish such a line was granted to Essair by the Civil Aeronautics board about a year ago. The permit also contemplates service through San Angelo and Austin.

Letters to the chamber of commerce said, according to officials there, that although Essair is expecting planes to be alloted to it by the Army so that service may be established, it will be necessary to overhaul and remodel them completely before operations can be started. Just how long this may take is uncertain, the letter added.

Navy Ordered To Take Over Shops

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)— President Roosevelt directed Navy Secretary Forrestal today to take over nominal control of five machine shops in San Francisco where machinists lodge has defied War Labor board orders for several months.

The union leadership had refused to lift a ban on overtime and Sunday work. WLB officials have termed this a "limited strike" because the work week was limited by the union to 48 hours.

The union ban covered 104 shops. WLB Chairman William H. Davis told Mr. Roosevelt in a letter, however, that the five companies ordered taken over employ the greatest number of machinists and have been affected most by the refusal of lodge 68 to withdraw the overtime ban. The members of the board are hopeful that the seizure of those five plants will result in the removal of the ban."

Bus Routes Frozen At Present Status

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. (AP) — No new inter-city bus routes or extension of present routes will be permitted while the shortage of heavy tires continues, the Office of Defense Transportation announced today.

"With many inter-city buses laid up and unable to operate on established routes because of the tire shortage, there is no point in authorizing new service," explained Col. Monroe Johnson, ODT director. "We have no way of knowing when a sufficient supply of large size truck and bus tires will be available to meet replacement requiremetns."

Axis Prisoners In U. S. Total 226,416

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. (AP) — The War department has disclosed that on August 1 there were 226,416 Axis prisoners of war in the United States.

Most of them are working, the department said, in occupations ranging from farming to logging.

Great Armadas Of Planes Hit Nazi Targets

War Industries, Battlefronts Are Blasted From Air

LONDON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Great armadas of American and British planes numbering well over 3,500 today bombed war industries in southern Germany, enemy installations throughout France and shipping in the great port of Brest, while harrying the Germans in their perilous retreat in Normandy.

CAN'T KEEP COUNT
LONDON, Aug. 14 (U.P.) — Destruction of German rolling stock by the Allied air force was mounting so rapidly today that even Supreme headquarters was unable to keep its tabulations up to the minute.

The two-day box score as of dusk Sunday was: railway cars, 6,955; locomotives, 396; motor trucks, 1,376 and tanks, 55.

They struck from British and Italian bases.

Up to 1,500 Flying Fortresses and Liberators from England attacked German war industries at Mannheim and Ludwigshafen and German airfields, rail yards and bridges in both Germany and France.

Strike From Italy

Another great fleet of up to 750 American heavy bombers struck from Italy at military objectives in the south of France for the third consecutive day. They also battered the northwest Italian coast again. The heavies flew without escorts. Mustangs and Lightnings flew separately and spent the day strafing targets in the same areas which the bombers hit. Targets were not immediately identified.

Hundreds of British medium and heavy bombers hammered Nazi lines in the Falaise sector to pace the new Canadian offensive. A large flight of heavy Lancaster bombers earlier had bombed German shipping at the beseiged port of Brest in Brittany.

Battered Divisions Bombed

Another day of excellent weather sent the tactical air forces lashing anew at von Kluge's battered divisions, and the Berlin radio declared Allied bomber and fighter formations had swept over southern Germany to Bavaria and then returned to the northwestward.

Cloudy weather gave the German Seventh army extra protection during the night, but American Marauders and British Mosquitos pounded Nazi troops, sup-

Secret Weapon Said Completed

LONDON, Aug. 14 (U.P.) — A German spokesman told neutral correspondents today that Germany's new secret weapon, "V-2, had been completed and would be used by the German Army, Navy and Air forces at the supreme tactical moment."

The spokesman's remarks were reported in dispatches from neutral capitals as the German bombardment of London with "V-1" —robot bombs — neared the end of the second month without sign of slackening.

Not Variation Of Robot

The spokesman said the new weapon was not a variation of the robot bomb, but rather was "a completely new and absolutely secret weapon" which can be fired even by ships at sea and over long distances.

Another dispatch reaching London said the Germans were planning to use robot incendiary bombs against England.

British sources attributed the increasing number of reports of German secret weapons to a Nazi desire to spread alarm among the Allies and to lessen dissatisfaction on the home front with the setbacks on the eastern and western battlefronts.

London had a respite from robot bombs in daylight yesterday, but the assault was resumed on both the capital and other districts of southern England shortly before midnight and was continuing in daylight today.

Shell Warnings Are Heard In Dover Area

DOVER, England, Aug. 14, (U.P.) —Shell fire warnings sounded in coastal towns in this area today as German long range guns on the French coast fired across the Dover straits.

The shells came over intermittently. Early reports failed to indicate whether any damage had been done.

Escape Gap Less Than 16 Miles Wide For Nazis

Cream Of Germany's Forces In Normandy, Estimated At 100,000, Caught In Trap; Allies Swiftly Collapsing Huge Pocket

BY GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 14. — American tanks and infantry advanced 7 to 12 miles and Canadian armored infantry leaped forward in a new offensive today, striking for the destruction of the cream of Germany's forces in northwestern Europe, caught in a closing ring with an escape hole less than 16 miles wide.

"It will be a military miracle if the Germans should get out anywhere near whole," an Allied staff officer declared, "this is the end of a German army."

British, Canadian and American troops were swiftly collapsing a huge Nazi pocket, spurred by Gen. Eisenhower's declaration that they had a fleeting opportunity to score their greatest victory in the west, a victory which might bring the fall of Paris like a ripe plum.

American armored spearheads, which had swept dramatically behind the Germans from Le Mans, forming the southern jaw of an Allied nutcracker, had completely closed around Argentan.

Canadian tanks and infantry, carried forward in tough armored track vehicles called "Priests," jumped off in a major attack which gained two miles and crossed the Laisen river toward Falaise, the northern jaw of the clamp.

ROAD TO BERLIN
The shortest distances to Berlin from advanced Allied lines today:
France—595 miles (unconfirmed) (gain of 28 miles in week).
Russia—328 miles (unchanged for week).
Italy—692 miles (gain of two miles in week).

The effect was to cut to less than 16 miles the gap through which Field Marshal Gen. Guenther von Kluge was making frantic efforts to extricate approximately 100,000 Germans—a fourth of the entire force with which the Allies have come in contact since D-day.

Mowed Down By Hundreds

In a smoking cauldron, covered like a lid by thousands of Allied bombers pouncing on every German in sight, the enemy fought a bitter, tangled battle to escape extermination.

American troops, closing in on the 30-mile deep pocket, found Germans mowed down by the hundreds. The American advance was so fast the infantry found the enemy's smoking machine-guns with belts still loaded.

So confused was the enemy that remnants of six divisions were found on one narrow three-mile front.

Greatest American advance was along the middle of the contracting claw east of Mortain where the infantry bore down on the vi-

Destruction Of Nazi Army Near

Week Should Be Most Momentous

By MERRILL MUELLER
Representing the Combined American Networks

GEN. EISENHOWER'S ADVANCED COMMAND POST, Aug. 14. — The destruction of the German Seventh army is about to take place in the present battle of France.

Gen. Eisenhower, Supreme Allied invasion commander, predicts this coming week will be one of the most momentous in the history of this war—a fruitful week for us and a fateful week for the enemy.

FRENCH DIVISION FIGHTING
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Aug. 14 (U.P.) — The French Second armored division, commanded by Brig. Gen. Jacques Leclerc, has gone into action on the American sector in France, it was announced today.

Leclerc's forces comprised the first full French division to join in the battle of France, although French paratroopers have been in the lines since D day.

Leclerc is the colorful desert commander who led the famous march of Free French troops from Lake Chad to Tunisia during the North African fighting last year.

Peace cannot come with the major victory we are about to accomplish, because there still are three German armies remaining in France which are not engaged. It is true that some divisions from these three remaining armies have been shifted into the present battle and are lost in the Allied pocket.

Some of the enemy divisions east of the Seine are lower units of poor quality, but the fact remains that these three armies have plenty of drive and fire power.

Only a political collapse within

New Super-Gas For B-29's To Be Made

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (U.P.) — Production is expected to begin this fall on a super-gasoline which will enable American long range bombers to carry out attacks on Japan on a "suburban service schedule," the Petroleum Industry War council reported.

The gasoline will be designed especially for B-29 Superfortresses, which already have struck at Japanese war plants four times, and their running mates, the new B-32, now in production.

The council said that about 80 per cent of the nation's refineries are ready to begin production of the fuel now but that refining probably will not start until there is a decrease in requirements for 100 octane fuel now powering Allied bombings over Europe.

The new fuel is a refined and more potent version of the 100 octane gas.

War Not To Be Over By Sept. 15—Lloyds

LONDON, Aug. 14 (U.P.)—Lloyds offered six to one odds today that the war in Europe will not be over by Sept. 15.

The insurance company, although "not encouraging circulation of the quotation," was accepting premiums against the Sept. 15 termination from persons with "insurable interest."

Allied Advance In Italy Slow

ROME, Aug. 14. (AP) — Eighth Army troops have captured Froptone, 27 miles inland from the Adriatic coast in the Apennines, in the only major advance along the Italian front, headquarters announced today.

Sniping died down within Florence, enabling Allied military government officials to supply the stricken city with food, water and other necessities without major difficulties, the Allied command said.

Only Scant Fighting

Empoli, the Arno river city west of Florence, fell to the Eighth Army without a fight yesterday. Although enemy movements were observed on the north side of the Arno near Pisa in the Fifth Army sector, there was only scant fighting on the whole front.

Mediterranean Allied air forces, hammering for the third successive day at German defenses in southern France, struck at Rhone river bridges and coastal installations yesterday. Objectives in north Italy also were hit.

Reprisals Threatened

Gen. Alexander's headquarters said a pamphlet issued by Nazi Marshal Kesselring threatened stringent retaliation against Italian civilians for attacks which

Public Hearing Set On County's Budget

Public hearing on the 1945 county budget was set for Monday, August 28, at the semi-monthly meeting of the Lubbock county commissioners' court this morning.

It was pointed out that the 1945 budget shows an increase of $19,627.23 over that of 1944, due to the fact that provisions must be made for replacements, when conversion to civilian goods starts of worn out machinery and office equipment, etc., on roads and in offices in the courthouse. Much of this equipment has not been available since early 1942, and some parts are impossible to get.

The budget for 1945 has been set at $414,440.66, as compared with $394,813.43 for 1944.

Smokers In Texas Face New Worry; "Makins" Short Too

(By The United Press)

Texans facing the most acute ready-rolled cigarette shortage in history, with no relief in sight, had a new worry today.

Those who have switched to "makins" and turned to rolling their own cigarettes were confronted with an increasing shortage of tobacco for that purpose and wholesalers said they understood that some of the more popular brands of cigarette tobaccos would not be available after the current supply is exhausted.

A spokesman for a large chain of Dallas tobacco-supply firms said the shortage of "makins" had not become acute until about 10 days ago as more and more ready-roll smokers turned to the old-style smoke because of increasing absence of the popular variety on store shelves.

The cigarette shortage, particularly acute in the southwest and south where war plants and Army camps have swollen populations and increased demands on top of an almost 100 per cent hike in consumption by the normal population suffering from nerves and strain, will last at least until some time after the war in Europe is

Boys Fighting In Europe May Come Home Via Suez, Tokyo

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Aug. 14 (AP) —Lt. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of Army Ground forces, said today that "much of the Army now in Europe may return home via the Suez canal and Tokyo, after years of absence."

Lear expressed this view in an address prepared for the annual encampment of the United States Spanish War Veterans in connection with an assertion that "a great many men will be needed for the decisive operations in the Pacific to carry through the final assault against the Japs."

"Victory in Europe is in sight —how soon I can not proffer a guess," said Lear. "When this victory is gained, we shall turn much of our fighting force and all of our strength and hatred against our enemies in the Pacific. We will wreck them completely and permanently in a military sense."

He urged that the people "realize the importance of the continued emergency," adding that "their attitude should be one of supporting the recommendations of military planners — definitely, positively and without the slightest trace of equivocation."

M. U., and who aided in the organization of the Southwide W. M. U. She served as the president of the Texas W. M. U.

Miss Lansford is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lansford of Ralls, and was a 1944 graduate of the Ralls High school. She is active in the young people's work of her local church, and takes part in many musical programs.

Sixteen Fannie Breedlove Davis Scholarships have been awarded in Texas. One each has been awarded in New Mexico and Louisiana and two in Oklahoma.

Counties comprising District 9, from which Miss Lansford was chosen include Bailey, Briscoe, Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Parmer, Randall, Swisher, Terry, and Yoakum.

Sergeant Finds One Way To Hold His Gal

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 14 (AP)—Sgt. Albert Noona of Camp Chaffee, Ark., on his way to Fort Leavenworth, Kans., to pick up a prisoner, stopped off here to see his girl—and wound up by becoming completely attached to her.

He and the girl, Doris Goodman, were strolling through Swope park when Noona decided to explain the handcuffs to her. Not until they were handcuffed together did the sergeant discover he had lost the key.

Two hours later—after Sunday crowds and the monkeys had stared wonderingly at the couple—police located a key that would fit.

As Noona departed for Fort Leavenworth, he said he didn't think he would handcuff the prisoner after all. "Those things are dangerous," he said.

Negligible damages were reported by the fire department which answered three alarms Sunday afternoon: 1:43 o'clock from 1008 Main sereet, when a car caught fire; 4:10 o'clock from 1627 Tenth street, when meat was scorched on a stove; 6 o'clock, when the awning in front of Levine's, at 1009 Broadway, caught fire.

C. R. Barber, 42, was released from county jail here after posting $1,000 bond, following filing of complaint with the county attorney Saturday. He is charged with liquor law violation and authorities said an enhanced penalty would be asked as he had been convicted on June 30, 1944, for a similar offense.

Hope's Plane Forced Down In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 14. (U.P.) — A transport plane carrying Comedian Bob Hope and four members of his USO camp show was forced down 225 miles north of Sydney today but all aboard escaped injury.

The transport, en route from Brisbane to Sydney, developed engine trouble and made an emergency landing on a sand bank near Laurieton, a village of about 300 persons.

Hope told the United Press by telephone that the entire party was safe and probably would resume their flight to Sydney tomorrow.

Aboard the plane with Hope were Frances Langford, Jerry Colonna, Patty Thomas and Tony Romano.

The wage loss, medical expense and oversead cost of insurance associated with 1942 nation occpuational accidents amounted to $1,000,000,000.

Maintenance Still Is Military Problem

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 14 (AP) — The Army is built, the Navy is "well along" but maintenance still is a problem, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of Selective service, told newsmen at a press conference here.

General Hershey, who is making a tour of western states, declared that despite the present satisfactory situation "you've got to brace yourself for the prospect of seeing men sent into service, many overseas, month after month even after the war has ended."

This will be necessary to effect an orderly demobilization which, he said, should be directed to relieving first those who have seen the longest service. After peace comes, he added, the factor of dependency should be given more weight than is warranted while the war is on.

In all probability, Hershey reported, Selective service will have to continue drafting 100,000 a month "or a little less, almost indefinitely."

campaign, for the Germans had mounted massive counterattacks in futile attempts to destroy this threatening wing of Rokossovsky's forces.

Rokossovsky's army group was pressing north and northwestward on a 65-mile front from the Bug northwest of Warsaw. The important communications center of Lomza, Ostrow and Ostroleka lay within his grasp, and there are virtually no other large towns before the east Prussian frontier.

To Outflank Warsaw

At the same time, a Soviet communique disclosed that the twin armies of Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky and Gen. G. F. Zakharov, whose mammoth drive to outflank Warsaw on a 100-mile front has reached almost the entire length of the Warsaw-Bialystok railroad, had cleared the Germans from more than 180 settlements northeast of the Polish capital.

The Russians announced Gen. Andrei Yeremenko's Second Baltic army, now almost half way across Latvia, had killed or captured nearly 70,000 Germans in a month, boosting to 609,526 the Nazi casualties inflicted in the summer offensive.

Armies Are Trapped

Yeremenko's Lativian legions, driving toward the Baltic, captured the rail-highway center of Madona, 75 miles east of Riga. Other units reached within 55 miles of Riga on the southeast in Russia's attempt to smash remnants of two Nazi armies trapped in Estonia and Latvia.

North of Yeremenko's forces, Gen. Ivan Maslennikov's troops swept beyond captured Voru, nearly 38 miles inside Estonia and 95 miles from the Gulf of Riga. These forces have occupied over 60 settlements in 24 hours, the Russians said, and the swift pace seemingly indicated early collapse of German power in the Baltic.

Weed Mowing Job Is Progressing Slowly

The city's voluntarily assumed annual job of mowing weeds from vacant lots is proceeding steadily, but more slowly than had been expected, according to a report at the city hall this morning.

Delays have been caused by the necessity for repairs to the mowing machine, officials said. Work at the present time is progressing in portions of the city west of Avenue Q and north of Thirty-fourth street. When this is finished, the machine will be shifted to areas south of Q.

Officials gave assurance that the job will be carried to completion as soon as possible, and they asked patience on the part of those who are waiting for vacant property adjacent to them to be reached.

House Favors State Aid Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) — Reeling under a crushing Senate defeat of the Murray-Kilgore reconversion plan, administration Democrats today moved hopefully toward an attempt to revive in the House their program for higher federal benefits for war workers.

Their chances for success looked slim. Several members of the House ways and means committee, which will start hearings Tuesday, made it clear they lean strongly toward the "states' rights" bill of Senator George (D-Ga), which Republicans and southern Democrats pushed to Senate passage last night, 55 to 19.

Rep. Carlson (R-Kan) predicted that the ways and means committee, which includes a number of states' rights advocates, would also approve "the George bill or something close to it."

Barkley Swings Over

Senate Majority Leader Barkley (Ky) swung to the Murray-Kilgore side in the closing Senate debate, and later made it clear the fight for federally-fixed insurance payments to displaced workers had not ended.

As passed by the Senate, the George measure sets up an Office of War mobilization and reconversion headed by a presidentially-appointed director to handle demobilization planning.

The Murray-Kilgore bill would have created more elaborate reconversion machinery, fixed uniform insurance rates as high as $35 weekly, provided for federally-financed vocation training for idle persons and substantially boosted mustering out pay and jobless payments to returning war veterans.

It never reached a direct vote. The first ballot was on part of the George program offered as a substitute, and that carried, 49 to 25. On final passage, when it was clear the proposal was doomed, Barkley and several other backers of the Murray-Kilgore proposal swung over to the George bill.

A last-minute compromise offer by Senator Kilgore (D-WVa) to cut the maximum benefit payments from $35 to $25 a week availed nothing.

Veteran RAF Gunner At 19 Is Visiting Grandparents Here

It perhaps would have been unnatural had Billy Vessey not "joined up" with a British or a Dominion unit.

The "leading aircraftsman" attached to the Royal Air Force as an "air gunner," now 19, is on leave expiring next week from his Halifax, N. S., base, visiting with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Furgeson who live on the Levelland highway.

VESSEY

Vessey came to the States from England in 1938, a brief time before his mother and two brothers, one of whom Vessey has never seen, moved from bomb-rocked London to the comparative safety of Yorkshire and after his father, an engineer, had entered the Rolls-Royce Merlin engine works at Manchester.

After the luftwaffe began assaults on London young Vessey had to be restrained from running away to Canada and attempting to enlist, but was promised if he would attend school he would be allowed to go after becoming "of war age." He completed Frenship school—then took off.

Is Waist Gunner

His station is at the waist gun of a lend-lease Catalina amphibian that engages in submarine patrol and convoy protection off Newfoundland and Labrador. He wears the Maple Leaf indicating "foreign service" and has the equivalent of a wound stripe awarded after his ship, a Fairey Battle, made a forced landing on the Bay of Fundy in sub-zero weather and he and the pilot were marooned "something less than 24 hours before a rescue craft put in." By that time the pilot was dead.

His mother was Sybil Furgeson.

Vessey was enlisted at Vancouver, B. C., was "on course" (training) as an air gunner at Edmonton, Alberta, and at the University of Alberta and at Trenton, Ont.

Unless he is fortunate enough to get a "flip" (an aerial hitchhike) he will return Tuesday.

ROYAL FURGESON MEETS HIS SISTER IN LONDON

Reunion of a Lubbock soldier and his sister in London through "prompt help and courtesy of the American Red Cross," was reported in a letter from London received Friday by Mrs. Alyene Furgeson, district clerk here.

Mrs. Sybil Vessey, formerly Sybil Furgeson, and Sgt. Royal Furgeson, former Lubbock district clerk who resigned to enter the Army last year, spent the greater part of two days together in London before Furgeson's "D-day plus" sailing for the Normandy peninsula.

"Without the help of the Red Cross I believe it would have been impossible to have seen Royal," Mrs. Vessey, mother of Leading Aircraftsman Billy Vessey, former Lubbock county student now attached to the Royal Air Force.

Two Days Very Happy

"Those two days were very happy to us. I hadn't seen Royal since 10 years ago when he came here to visit. It was a great pleasure to hear a Texas accent again. . . . I waited with a Yorkshire friend in a cafe. Royal came in. Recognizing him, I stood up and he pointed his finger, shouted, 'Doggone you, Sybil!' and got his arms about me for a reunion my Yorkshire friend said created quite a sensation in the crowded cafe."

Mrs. Vessey said, "It certainly is up to the folks back home to help the American Red Cross—and the balance sheet will show results favorable to those back home folks by service rendered to the boys who are streaming from there to here."

Parents of Mrs. Vessey and Royal Furgeson are Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Furgeson of near Lubbock on the Levelland road.

Oklahoma Governor May Be Speaker

DALLAS, Aug. 14. (AP) — The Dallas Morning News says Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma will be invited to address the state Democratic convention in Dallas Sept. 12 "if the pro-Roosevelt leaders in the state are able to carry out their present plans."

Kerr was temporary chairman and keynoter of the Democratic national convention in Chicago.

If the Oklahoma governor addresses the convention, the News added, "his appearance is not expected to prevent a bitter fight from being waged between the pro-Roosevelt and the anti-New Deal factions of the party."

TO AID VETERANS

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 14. (AP) Lions clubs, their new international president said today, have resolved to make the providing of jobs for returning veterans and war workers their principal undertaking in the ensuing year.

Giant Variety Sale By Government Is Due After The War

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) — For sale: PT boats, girdles, chewing gum, men's underwear, camping equipment, K rations, war plants, jeeps, landing craft, electric fans.

Not to mention cameras, binoculars, typewriters, houses, shoes, farm land, power plants, public address systems, candy bars and airplanes.

But take it easy. The jeep isn't on the sales floor yet, nor have girdles gone back into mass production. This is just a preview of things to come, when the world's biggest variety store, owned and operated by the U. S. government, throws open its doors to bargain hunters.

Plan Being Organized

They're organizing it now up on capitol hill, under the high-sounding title, "surplus property disposal."

Laying groundwork for this new business is the job of Chairman Carter Manasco (D-Ala) and members of the House committee on expenditures in executive departments, now toiling over a surplus properties bill for House consideration Monday.

The enterprise is doomed to be a financial "failure" from the start. Out of the estimated $105,000,000,000 worth of goods and property, Manasco says a major portion will be worthless, from a sales viewpoint, as soon as hostilities end.

"Who wants a $70,000 anti-aircraft gun, for instance?" he remarked in an interview. "We'll be lucky to clear $10,000,000,000 to apply to our war debt."

U. S. Officers Said Taken At Hengyang

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Nazi DNB agency transmitted a dispatch to the controlled European press today quoting Japanese "Military quarters" as saying that "about 20 United States army officers were made prisoner when the Japanese captured Hengyang" in China's Hunan province.

The DNB dispatch, reported by the Federal Communications commission, declared the American officers had been sent to Hengyang "a few months ago to direct defense."

U. S. Escort Vessel Downed By U-Boat

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) — The destroyer escort Fiske was sunk by an enemy torpedo recently in the Atlantic, the Navy has announced.

The brief announcement gave no indication of where the Fiske was hit by the torpedo launched from a German U-boat.

Next of kin of all casualties aboard the vessel which was under Command of Lt. John A. Momly, 27, have been notified, the Navy said. Comly is listed as a survivor.

The Navy gave no indication of the number of casualties among the approximately 150 men aboard the Fiske.

The Fiske was built by the Consolidated Steel corporation at Orange, Texas, and was commissioned August 25, 1943.

Supplemental Points Given Some Sectors

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. (AP) — Availability of fresh vegetables will be restored Aug. 18 as the yardstick in granting supplemental ration points for canned vegetables, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

This test was abandoned when most major canned vegetables were made point-free early this summer. With a number of such items now back on the ration list, supplemental points are being issued again, OPA said.

They are given in areas where the supply of fresh vegetables is not considered sufficient to meet minimum nutritional needs.

Baker Island Near Gilberts Long In Use As U. S. Base

7TH AAF HEADQUARTERS, Central Pacific, Aug. 10. (Delayed) (AP)—Brig. Gen. Robert W. Douglas, jr., commander of the 7th U. S. Army Air force, disclosed today that Baker island, some 2,000 miles southwest of Honolulu, has been an important American airbase for almost a year.

The general said a Central Pacific American task force moved bases of the 7th to the little island, within 600 miles of the Gilbert islands while they still were dominated by the Japanese. He added, "our occupation of Baker island was one of the best secrets of Central Pacific operations. Jap reconnaissance planes which attempted to penetrate the defense screen were shot down.

"It is doubtful if the Japs ever discovered that we were there. As we were only 600 miles from their Gilbert island bases, we expected that they would bomb us. They did not do so although they did attack our installations on other islands somewhat farther away."

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 14. (AP)—Nearly 10,000 Australian girls have married American servicemen since the latter started coming here in large numbers early in 1942, and already 1,000 of these war brides and some 200 babies have gone to the United States.

Another 134 brides are awaiting transportation and 2,000 others have applied for permits to enter the United States.

The largest single contingent—296 wives and 72 babies—recently embarked on a pre-war American luxury liner.

JOIN GULF'S "Anti-Breakdown" Club TODAY!

• Before this war is over, there may be only two kinds of people in America . . .

1. those who can still get to work in automobiles,
2. those who are forced to walk.

If you want to be in the fortunate group who will still ride to work in automobiles, join Gulf's "Anti-Breakdown" Club today. How do you do it? Just come in for Gulf's Protective Maintenance Plan!

This plan was conceived by experts in car care. Gulf developed it because car maintenance is a most important civilian job. (The Government says civilian car maintenance is one of the services essential to winning the war because 8 out of 10 war workers use automobiles to get to work.)

Protect your car at 39 danger points!

GULF'S Protective Maintenance Plan includes Gulflex Registered Lubrication, which reaches up to 39 vital engine, chassis, and body points. Six special Gulflex Lubricants are used. They reduce wear, and make your car last longer.

Save those bearings and piston rings!

THE OFFICE of Defense Transportation and the American Petroleum Institute recommend changing oil regularly. And it's equally important to use a good motor oil . . . an oil like Gulfpride, "The World's Finest Motor Oil," or Gulflube, an extra-quality oil that costs a few cents less. Protect your motor from undue wear!

GULF

Gasoline powers the attack . . . Don't waste a drop!

Make those tires last longer!

ASK YOUR GULF DEALER to have your tires recapped, adding greatly to their length of service. Ask him to inspect for cuts and bruises, and make needed repairs . . . to check air pressures, and inflate tires properly.

Stretch gas coupons!

AIR-FILTER CLEANING, spark-plug cleaning, and radiator flushing help give you better gas mileage. A clean air filter makes gas burn more economically . . . clean plugs increase power . . . and a clean radiator prevents overheating, thus saving gas.

Browns Cling To 6 1-2 Game Lead

Leaders Split With Boston Red Sox

By GLEN PERKINS
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The American league was in a state of agitation today regarding the St. Louis Browns and their six and a half game lead in the league race but, oddly enough, nobody seems to be able to do anything about it.

The Browns, circuit doormats for so long that they established squatter's right on the cellar, began their current Eastern trip with a six and a half game lead and the margin hasn't varied a bit in six games already played. Without benefit of higher mathematics it's obvious that a continuation of that lead will result in the first American league pennant in history for the St. Louis club.

Knock Off Yankees

The Brownies opened their road jaunt by knocking off the champion Yankees three times out of four—a feat which should have stretched their margin. But the second place Boston Red Sox kept pace by turning the same trick against Chicago to keep the same margin. Then yesterday, when the two clubs opened their four-game series with a double-header, each team won a game and the margin remained intact. Thus, even if the Brownies drop their last two games with Boston, they will have passed the alleged power of the East and move on to tackle the weaker Washington Senators and Philadelphia Athletics with a minimum of a four and a half game margin, possibly all the stretch they would need to nail that flag to a pole in Sportman's park.

Yesterday's opener in Beantown was a game expected of two top clubs. It was decided in the 13th inning on Bobby Doerr's 15th homer which gave Boston a 7-6 edge. Rookie Rex Cecil, recently purchased from the San Diego club of the Pacific coast league, arrived in town shortly before game time and pitched the last four innings to gain the decision in his first major league game. The second game was called at the end of five innings because of Massachusetts' Sunday law. The Browns, with Nelson Potter pitching, gained a 6-1 triumph.

Rookies Came Through

Chicago and New York shared at Yankee stadium in a pair of lopsided ball games. Rookie Mel Queen crowned the Sox with a five hitter in the opener to win his first major league game, 10-1. Another rookie, Russ Derby, hit a grand slam homer for the champions to give Queen more than enough lead. Orval Grove pitched the Sox to an 11-3 win in the finale.

The Philadelphia Athletics halted the winning streak of the Detroit Tigers at nine games by beating them 6-1 in the first of their two games at Shibe park. Don Black's three hitter proved too tough for the Bengals and deprived Hal Newhouser of his 19th win. Dizzy Trout, however, became the first major leaguer to record 19 decisions in the nightcap when he pitched the Tigers to a 6-0 shutout.

Senators Best Indians

Washington's Senators snapped out of their five game losing streak taking both ends of a twin bill from the Cleveland Indians in the capital, 2-1 and 4-1.

The National league had a fest or famine day with all clubs either winning or losing two. The leading St. Louis Cardinals provided home fans with a double win 4-1 and 7-3, over the Brooklyn Dodgers that slid the "Bums" back into the senior circuit basement.

The Philadelphia Phillies came out of the cellar with a 3-2 and 7-6 triumphs over the Chicago Cubs at Chicago.

The Cincinnati Reds bested the New York Giants, 4-3 and 9-2 before a home crowd.

Rip Sewell pitched five-hit ball and clouted a home run to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-1 victory in their opener against Boston in the Smoky City. Frank Colman's two run homer in the eighth inning of the second game supplied Fritz Ostermueller with the margin of triumph in a 3-1 game.

Sinkwich Holding Out For More Pay

DETROIT, Aug. 14 (AP) — Fireball Frankie Sinkwich, former Georgia All-American halfback, was the man on the spot today as the Detroit Lions of the National Pro Football league tucked away the signed contract of Bullet Bob Westfall, fullback star of University of Michigan's elevens of 1939-41.

Sinkwich, who had a successful initial season with the Lions in 1943, is holding out this year for an undisclosed salary figure described by Lew Cromwell, general manager of the club, as "ridiculous."

With Westfall in the line for a regular backfield berth, the Lions' need for "name player" Sinkwich has declined considerably though club officials still are anxious to have him back at his halfback post if he can be signed at what they call a reasonable salary.

RACE MEET OPENS

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP) — The $5,000 E. H. Harriman challenge trophy stake for two-year-old trotters will feature the opening tonight of a two-week grand circuit harness racing meet at the Saratoga raceway.

Topping the field are two prospects for the 1945 Hambletonian —Jenifer Hanover, a McElwn filly, who raced well at Old Orchard, and Titian Hanover, winner of the national stake at the main track.

Pepper Martin, At 40, Still Thrills Baseball's Customers

By CHIP ROYAL
AP Features Sports Editor

BROOKLYN, Aug. 14. — The ball game was going along at a snail's pace. The hunk of beef waiting at home seemed a long way off. Then the announcer said:

"Attention please! Martin now playing center field for Hopp."

Martin? Martin? That name sounded familiar. Could it be—why, sure enough, it's the wild horse of the Osage, looking as frisky as ever.

Gallops Out To Pastures

As the fans cheered, Pepper almost galloped out to the green pastures. And many thousands couldn't help but think of other days when the Oklahoman had thrilled them.

A guy in the third seat to the left piped up:

"Gosh, I always wanted to see Pepper Martin in action. Wait 'til you the Cardinals go now. He's the original Gashouser!"

The fellow on the right sighed and said:

"They can have their Babe Ruths, Marty Marions and Carl Hubballs, but I'll take the old Pepper. Can you imagine that guy still going strong at 40?

"He's a real ball player," continued the fellow on the right. "Did you see that piece where Herb Pennock, the big boss of the Phillies, called him the marvel of the league?

"How can anyone who ever saw the Pepper forget him? He's the shining example of how a ball player should be at all times. He always gives the mostest of everything every day and every way.

"I don't get mad very often but a pal of mine really made me hit the ceiling when they first announced that Pepper was coming back. This pal said: 'What can that old hoss do at his age?'

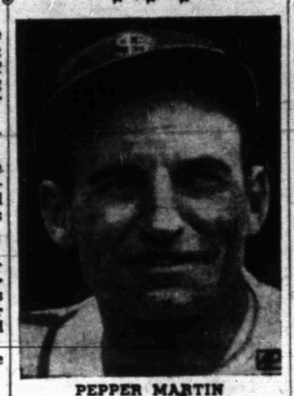

"What can he do, says I? Just watch him. He's a ball player—always has been. He can steal bases, run like wild. He's alive—and that's more than you can say for a lotta guys out there this year."

Number One Ballplayer

Just about this time, the gent on the seat to the left finally found an opening and let go with:

"You said a mouthful, chum. I'll take Pepper anytime for my money. Did you see where Herb Pennock, the Phillies' boss, called him the Number 1 ballplayer he's ever seen?

"Do you remember how he ran wild against the Athletics in the 1931 World Series? Did you ever see him go hurtling head-first into a base when he was in his prime?

PEPPER MARTIN
Trying As Hard As Ever With The Cardinals

Wotta a man!

"A friend of mine, out in St. Louis, told me all about Pep," continued the man on the left. "I don't think there's ever been a ballplayer who had so many gay moments and times

"Didya' ever hear about the prize fighter he managed . . . or the time he drove the midget racing auto, just for fun . . . or when he bulldozed a steer in a St. Louis rodeo one night and almost drove that bum Branch Rickey crazy . . . or when he went into the ice cream business? Boy, there a man's man!"

Just about that time, Pepper went charging over the outfield to snare a long fly and practically every fan within reach sighed and said:

"Wotta man at 40!".

Overweight Bears Will Face Fines

COLLEGEVILLE, Ind., Aug. 14 (AP)—The Chicago Bears, preparing for their meeting with the College All-Stars at Evanston, Ill., Aug. 30, have decided to do something about their "beef trust" — a dozen portly gents pounds over their playing weight. Overweight stars will be fined $40.

For instance, Tackle Al Barbartsky, former Fordham star, has to cut down from 240 to 225. Others who'll have to go on a restricted diet include Bulldog Turner, 258; Gary Famiglietti, 249; Jame Sweeney, 259; Ed Simonich, 237; Doug McEnulty, 237; Dom Sigillo, 235; Fred Mundee, 227; Elmo Kelly, 225; Jimms Fordham, 225; Paul Podmajesky, 224; and Pete Gudauskas, 225.

Qualifying In PGA On Today

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 14 (AP) —Primed and ready after a last day practice assault that saw old man par battered from pillar to post, the country's leading golf professionals swung into the title chase of the National PGA championship today in the first eighteen of 36-hole qualifying play at the Manito course.

The second qualifying round will be held tomorrow to determine the 32 low scorers who will remain in the running for the $20,000 in prize money. Match play eliminations over 36 holes will start Wednesday.

Longworth Gets Ace

While practice rounds mean but little when the real competition begins, pre-tournament fireworks Sunday were spectacular, touched off by a hole in one. Ted Longworth, bulky Portland, Ore., pro bagged the Manito ace. He hit a 4-iron shot on the 155-yard third hole and the ball rolled into the cup as if the act had been rehearsed.

The Longworth special helped create a two-under par 70 but this was only an ordinary performance in the light of a 67 produced by Neil Christian, veteran Spokane entry, and 68s by a pair of Pennsylvanians, Henry Williams, jr., of Roxersford, and Bud Lewis of Oreland. Lewis, incidentally, shot a 32 on the back nine, two strokes short of the course record.

Nelson, McSpaden Rest

The first and second tournament choices, Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., and Harold McSpaden of Philadelphia, who between them have cleaned up on most of the big events this year, passed up last day practice. Nelson is nursing a cold.

Proceeds of the tournament will be turned over to Spokane's two army hospitals.

Germain Is Rapidly Becoming Miss Golf

CHICAGO, Aug. 14. (AP) — Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, who rapidly is becoming Miss Midwest of Golfdom, may be the gal to beat in the All-American Women's Open tournament which starts a week from today at the Tam O'Shanter course here.

Lt. Patty Berg of the Marines and talented Betty Hicks are entered in the All-American event, but that professional two-soms can worry plenty over Miss Germain, who breezed to her second straight Women's Western amateur title here last Saturday.

Dot's easy 5 and 4 triumph over Phyllis Otto of Omaha, Neb., in their 25-hole title match at Onwentsia Country club made her the seventh player in the 44-year-history of the amateur meet to retain her title and the first since Mrs. Opal S. Hill copped it in 1931 and 1932.

The Philadelphian wound up 106 holes of competition, hampered by heat and gusty winds, just 16 over Onwentsia par and was only three over standard figures for the 32 holes played in the title match. Miss Germain shook off Miss Otto with a rousing one-under-par 37 on the third nine for a four-up lead at the 27th.

PATTERSON WINS BY TKO

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 14 (AP) — Jackie Paterson, world flyweight champion, battered and bloody about the face, came off the ropes and gained a technical knockout over Ronnie Clayton of Blackpool in the 12th round of a scheduled 15-rounder Saturday night.

Texas Schoolboy Grid Race Nears

Total Of 105 Teams Set For The Season

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Less than three weeks away is the twenty-fifth annual Texas schoolboy gridiron campaign with 105 teams ready to go to the post.

R. J. Kidd, athletic director of the league, today announced the list of schools accepting the football plan for 1944 and while two teams that made the race last fall have dropped from class AA ranks, three have been added, thus this season will show a gain of one.

Borger Is Back

Burkburnett has discontinued football in district 2 and Mexia has dropped from class AA district 10 to class A district 30, but Borger returns to district 1 after a year's absence, Port Neches has been added to district 14 and Kingsville is back in district 16 after laying out a year.

The only change in the AA setup finds Greenville transferring from district 5 to district 6.

This year there will be no split districts since none contain more than eight teams. Withdrawal of Mexia from district 10 caused this sector to conduct its race on a round-robin basis.

Squabble In District 12

There is a problem to be solved in district 12 where Jacksonville and Palestine have declined to play Lufkin as the result of a squabble last year and it is expected that the district executive committee will meet soon in an effort to straighten this out.

As things now stand Lufkin will begin the conference race with two victories without firing a shot.

Here is the line-up of teams of 1944:

District 1—Amarillo, Borger, Brownfield, Lubbock, Pampa, Plainview.
District 2—Childress, Electra, Graham, Olney, Quanah, Vernon, Wichita Falls.
District 3—Abilene, Big Spring, Lamesa, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, Sweetwater.
District 4—Austin (El Paso), Bowie (El Paso), El Paso High, Ysleta.
District 5—Bonham, Denison, Gainesville, Paris, Sherman.
District 6—Arlington, Denton, Highland Park (Dallas), McKinney, Sulphur Springs.
District 7—(Fort Worth)—Amon Carter-Riverside, Arlington Heights, Fort Worth Tech, North Side, Masonic Home, Paschal, Poly.
District 8—(Dallas)—Crozier Tech, Forest, North Dallas, Sunset, Adamson, Woodrow Wilson.
District 9—Breckenridge, Brownwood, Cisco, Mineral Wells, Ranger, Stephenville, Weatherford.
District 10—Bryan, Cleburne, Corsicana, Ennis, Hillsboro, Temple, Waco, Waxahachie.
District 11—Athens, Gladewater, Kilgore, Longview, Marshall, Texarkana, Tyler.
District 12—Henderson, Jacksonville, Livingston, Lufkin, Nacogdoches, Palestine.
District 13—(Houston)—Austin, Jeff Davis, Lamar, Milby, Reagan, Sam Houston, San Jacinto.
District 14—Beaumont, Conroe, Galveston, Goose Creek, Orange, Port Arthur, Port Neches, South Park (Beaumont).
District 15—Austin, Brackenridge (San Antonio), Corpus Christi, Kerrville, Laredo, San Antonio Tech, Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio).
District 16—Brownsville, Edinburg, Harlingen, Kingsville, McAllen, Robstown, San Benito.

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP) — Francisco Segura of Ecuador, the highest ranking amateur in the game, and Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, the national women's champion, were upset yesterday in the finals of the Eastern Grass Court Tennis championships.

Segura lost in straight sets to William Talbert of Indianapolis, 9-7, 6-4, 6-4, while Miss Betz fell before Louise Brough, Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-3, 6-1. It was Segura's first setback in a major tourney this year.

BY JIMMINY WINS

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—Alfred Parker's by Jimminy, the 3 to 5 favorite, won the 75th running of the historic Travers Stakes at Belmont Park Saturday. Mrs. Henry Phipps Free Lance was second and William Ziegler, jr.'s Bounding Home, third.

WEST NEGROES WIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 14. (U.R) — Despite the absence of Leroy (Satchel) Paige, the greatest negro pitcher of them all, the 12th annual negro East - West baseball clinic was played last night before a crowd of 46,247 fans who jammed Comiskey park to see the West win 7-4 and even the series at six games each. Paige, star hurler of the Kansas City Monarchs, who has done much to boost negro baseball to its present position, announced Aug. 1 that he would lead a 16-player walkout unless 100 per cent of the game's proceeds was turned over to war relief.

But last night, Paige was the only player missing and his team won without him.

25 YEARS OLD THIS MONTH, BUT

NO TIME FOR CANDLES!

Much as we'd like to sit back and do a little bragging about the fact that we're twenty-five years old—and a quarter of a century in the printing and office supply business is something to brag about—we're much too busy helping folks with their printing and office supply problems to light any candles for the cake we haven't had time to bake.

Instead, we'd like to thank all of our loyal customers . . . the newcomers, as well as those of long standing . . . for their patience and co-operation in these trying times.

We're doing the best we can in spite of all the limitations—but we're looking forward to the day when "Our Boys" will be back and we can again render the kind of service that gave us our reputation for prompt and efficient service.

Modern Geography: Germany is bounded on the north by water and on the east, west and south by Allied troops!

IT occurs to The Plainsman that readers of any column sometime tire of the written thoughts of any one individual—especially in the good, old summer time, when Old Sol bears down and makes everyone more or less bored with "things as usual."

Therefore, on each day during this week, we shall present herein short comments by some widely known personage who has a message based upon some problem or condition of our times.

We start off with Ben Ames Williams, the famous author, whose idea of victory is, to say the least, somewhat different from the idea of the average American. Other of our guest commentators will be Sophie Kerr and Cornelia Otis Skinner, authors; Emil Ludwig, the historian, and George Creel, who headed, in World War I, the Committee on Public Information, in this war called the Office of War Information. Each will discuss a different subject with which readers may not agree, but which undoubtedly will stir their interest.

Here goes, with Guest Commentator No. 1:

ILLUSION OF VICTORY

By Ben Ames Williams

GERMANY won World War I. When the armistice comes, she will have won this one.

Even unconditional surrender is only a phrase, without real meaning. Not peace treaties, but the ability to capitalize the fruits of battle, distinguishes the winner of a war from the loser.

Williams

In Europe before 1939, Germany had the largest cohesive population; she had the largest industrial plant; she possessed at least half of Europe's total "worth" in people and plant.

Since 1939, she has increased that proportion. From the point of view of population, she has killed at least one non-German for every German who has been killed; she has transported hundreds of thousands more; and she has undoubtedly won among the conquered peoples many converts. By using to the breakdown point the industries of conquered countries, by transporting to Germany or by destroying what she could not use, by making the conquered countries tributary feeders to Germany's industrial needs, her industrial pre-dominance in Europe is greater now than it was before 1939.

Only an honest recognition of this fact can make possible the framing of a peace which will deprive her of victory.

On the day of her surrender, Germany will be the victor in this war.

DR. Clifford B. Jones, who retires soon as active president of Texas Tech, will make his last, important official appearance on the campus on Wednesday night, when graduation exercises will be held.

Dr. Julien Paul Blitz, head of Tech's music department who is in charge of music for the graduation, is therefore doubly anxious that all the church choir talent available in Lubbock will be present at the affair.

Vocal music, Doctor Blitz tells us, will be rendered by members of choirs of all the churches of Lubbock. He has contacted as many choir directors and singers as he possibly can, but hasn't gotten hold of all of them.

Doctor Blitz asks us to issue, for him, an invitation to all choir singers and directors to be a part of the Tech's graduation exercises Wednesday night. Singers are to gather in the administration building's sallyport at 7:30 p. m., and will dedicate their efforts and talents to Doctor Jones who, with the arrival here next month of his successor, Dr. William Marvin Whyburn, will become the first president emeritus of the college.

LIKE a great many other Lubbock and South Plains citizens, The Plainsman has been both saddened and sobered over the deaths, within the last few days, of former Mayor Carl Slaton and R. S. Rodgers, sr. Both were good citizens. Each was typical of the kind of men no city can ever afford to lose.

Mr. Slaton, as three-time mayor, in recent years here was in the forefront of Lubbock's municipal and civic affairs. Mr. Rodgers, older and not in good health for some time, stayed in the background, giving his time and energy to his business.

Yet the two men had several characteristics in common, chief of which were innate gentlemanliness, kindliness, patience and tolerance.

There are other men in Lubbock, doubtless, whose fair attitude toward their fellow men equals that displayed by the late Messrs. Slaton and Rodgers. But we believe we are right when we say that none among us surpasses either in that regard. Carl Slaton and R. S. Rodgers, whether consciously, or not, came as close as any men we've ever known to following the Golden Rule.

They treated others as they, themselves, wanted to be treated.

When a friend, neighbor or acquaintance erred, they attempted to find reasons to defend him; they eschewed the usual practice of trying to place blame, or laying a basis for criticism.

AS an intimate of Mr. Slaton, The Plainsman upon many occasions has seen the former mayor make allowances for criticisms of some official city action when a less kindly and tolerant man would have struck back, viciously, with all his might. Early in life, Carl Slaton learned not to permit himself to be upset by reverses, large or small. He was philosophical, as the rest of us well might be.

While we were not a member of the inner circle of Mr. Rodgers' friends, we recall two particular occasions when he went out of his way to perform for us a friendly, generous service. There was no ulterior motive involved. Had Mr. Rodgers not taken time out to give us a helping hand, we'd never have known that he had failed to do so. But Mr. Rodgers was the kind of man who liked to do things for people when he had a chance. Upon the two occasions we know he favored us, he did so simply because to him it was the right thing for any man to do for any other. Both occasions are some years in the past, now, but we've never forgotten either. Nor shall we, even though he is gone from our midst.

The Plainsman has resided in Lubbock more than a score of years now. From time to time—and more frequently of late—we have seen those who have been our friends, many of whom have accomplished much for Lubbock, cross the divide from which there is no returning.

We realize, of course, that is the way of life; that nothing can be done to change the scheme of things.

Yet we never expect to be able to steel ourself against these losses—and would not, even if we could.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT
(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

THEY are more than just three politically-minded women — Clare Booth Luce, Helen Gahagan, and Helen Hayes, all three now in the political spotlight.

Gahagan

They have introduced glamor into politics, and that may have a wide - reaching effect. Ever since women entered politics they have taken an unmerciful amount of razzing. Because the woman politican was so often lacking in feminine appeal, it was easy to caricature her as a battle axe, totally lacking in womanly grace and a sense of humor.

Hayes

Men laughed at the caricature — and women were frightened by it out of trying to get into politics. After all, they didn't want to be like the caricature of a woman politician.

But when women with the grace and charm and femine appeal of Miss Booth, Miss Gahagan, and Miss Hayes (all Mrs. in private life, incidentally, and that helps) decided to go into politics — the women started to take notice.

Luce

These women all live in sophisticated worlds. They are style-setters, pace-makers. Any one of them could launch a mode.

And it looks as if that is exactly what they are going to do—make it as smart for women to be interested in politics as in the past decade it has been smart for them to belong to garden clubs.

If their interest in politics does that, they are probably the three most important women in the country today. For once the erroneous notion that a woman politician has to be a hard-boiled old battle-axe is out of the public's mind—women will take to politics the way they've taken to business, industry, and the professions.

Query to a certain type girl (whose name is legion): Can't you think of some new and subtle way of saying, "Why are all the nice men married?"

Today's Journal Editorial

PLANS FOR "STREAMLINING" CONGRESS

The proposal now receiving serious consideration that Congress drastically revise its rules of procedure is sure to produce a mass of suggestions and ideas relating to the subject.

For that matter, the flood appears already to have begun. Reports indicate that people in all parts of the nation are taking pen in hand to offer their ideas and advice to their congressmen. This is all to the good. Even though most of the suggestions may be valueless, they reflect a public interest in government which always is healthy in a democracy. And some of the suggestions unquestionably will have merit.

One scheme for which organized support already is reported is that the House and Senate be abolished and that a single house be substituted—in other words, that the 'unicameral" legislative system be adopted for the United States. An intensive effort appears to be in the making to develop public sentiment to support the idea.

Naturally, the chief argument of advocates of the proposal is that an unicameral Congress would operate more swiftly and efficiently. The contention is that, under the present system, controversial legislation has to run the gamut of time-taking debate both in House and Senate before final action is possible. The argument continues that one house and one debate would make for speed.

This might or might not prove true. Under the present system, while one House works on one measure, the other branch is attending to another. This naturally weeds out most proposed legislation. It also assures relatively prompt attention to measures proposed. Obviously, one house would have to consider bills one at a time, a condition which easily could result in a paralyzing bottleneck.

But by far the strongest argument in favor of the dual house system is the protection that each branch supplies against hasty actions or mistakes by the other. Furthermore, longer discussion by two separate groups offer added guarantee that faults contained in any proposed legislation will be discovered and exposed.

On the whole, the system has worked pretty well. Those who favor a change to the unicameral plan will and should have their job cut out for them in trying to persuade Americans that their ideas are sound.

Background Of The Reconversion Dispute

Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 — Inside story of the resignation of two War Production board statisticians, Irving Kaplan and Lewis Bassie, is one of the most important affecting future U. S. economy. Certain Army brass hats are seething over the situation. The War Production board is split into two separate camps.

Here is the backstage story of what all the argument is about.

The WPB statistical division, under Charles E. Wilson, last week circulated a monthly progress report. Then, no sooner was it in the hands of top WPB executives, than the report was mysteriously called back. Urgent demands were made by Wilson's office that it be returned immediately. All but perhaps two copies were destroyed.

PEARSON

That report, while pointing to deficiencies in certain key war materials, otherwise painted a very rosy picture of war production. It showed that there was nine months supply of ordnance on hand, plus one month supply being assembled, plus five months supply in scheduled production. The report stated that the war could run for one year and three months on the ordnance now stored up or coming off the assembly lines, without ordering anything else.

The report also showed that the total supply of small arms would last for five whole years of war.

The supply of tractors, trucks and trailers, plus those being assembled and in actual production, was enough to last one year, according to the WPB report.

Guns and fire control weapons were listed as sufficient in storage to last eight full months without turning another wheel, plus four months supply being assembled and repaired, plus two months supply in scheduled production.

Ammunition for big guns (excluding small arms) was listed as enough stored to last one whole year. Including amounts in scheduled production, big gun ammunition was listed as sufficient to last twenty-three months.

"This analysis," WPB reported, "does not take into account supplies already issued and in the hands of troops in the United States."

RELEASE OF LABOR

SUMMARIZING the whole picture, the WPB Statistical division concluded:

"Available supplies insure the War Production board's ability to flow adequate equipment and ammunition in adequate volume to our troops overseas and to sustain the large scale operations planned. Increased production of certain types of ammunition is nevertheless essential in order to insure adequate supplies of specific items."

The report went on to cite the increasing production of steel and copper and to point to surpluses on hand. It also contained this significant statement:

"The decisive factor in the decline in labor requirements in the munitions industries has been the continued rapid increase in output per worker. This trend will continue accelerating the release of labor as munitions production declines."

This statement was made just at a time when War Mobilizer Byrnes was bowing to the Army and taking the unusual step of superseding Donald Nelson by announcing that, because of manpower shortages, no civilian conversion could be started without the okay of Manpower Chief Paul McNutt.

The WPB report also took issue with Byrnes regarding manpower shortages by stating:

"The turning point of direct war requirements for manpower has been passed. With the armed forces now at peak strength, the further large releases from the munitions industries which are in prospect will be available for civilian production."

CONFLICT

THE men who prepared this report have been doing the same job for a long time. No previous fault had been found with their work. But the report happened to be at cross-purposes with the views of some of the most important people in Washington — General Somervell, War Mobilizer Byrnes and General Electric's Charley Wilson.

They have opposed peacetime conversion now, have battled against WPB Boss Donald Nelson on this point. Nelson, on the other hand, maintains that it takes just about as long to tool up factories for peacetime work as it did to tool up for war. He points out that, when Henry Ford converted from the Model T Ford to Model A, it required months. Therefore, unless industry is given some chance to get ready for peacetime work now, Nelson maintains, we will have several million unemployed in a few months time.

So when their report was mysteriously yanked back and destroyed, its chief authors, Kaplan and Bassie, resigned.

Senator Kilgore of West Virginia, believing that it will be highly demoralizing to the enemy to know the tremendous arms surpluses accumulated here, intends to ask for a thorough Senate airing of the entire question.

NOTE — Best illustration of the conflict between big business and little business over peacetime conversion is the manufacture of electric irons. The big companies didn't want the WPB to permit electric iron manufacture, because little companies would get a head start in the peacetime market. Little companies, however, were idle. Finally, WPB permitted the small companies to make irons, but stamped the trademark of big companies on them so the latter wouldn't lose their peacetime markets.

JIMMY DURANTE says, "Everybody wants to get into de act!" I want to qualify that. "Everybody wants to be an actor."

Okay, reading public. You want to be an actor. And somebody pulls a few magic strings and suddenly you find that you actually are an actor. Now what have you got?

A life of glamor? A bed of roses? A round of night clubs, night after night? Sleep till noon, breakfast in bed as big as the top section of a Fifth Avenue bus? A plunge in your own pool that looks like a small section of the Pacific that's been wrapped up in blue tile? Glamorous gals and exciting guys stepping in and out of your home all day?

Son, if, you've got that you've really got something. You've got a part that calls for you to play the part of the public's popular idea of what an actor's life is like.

This is what the life of an actor is really like . . . or at least, the way I've found it out here in the Hollywoods . . . .

The Way It Really Is.—You come home at about seven and the first thing that greets your eye is a lawnmower standing out in front screaming for attention . . . the wife tells you that the handyman has found himself 60 a week and overtime at a war plant, or has joined the Army, or has gone East, where lawn mowing pays better . . . so you work up an appetite pulling a couple of hundred weeds, evening off the hedges, watering the flowers or cutting the grass.

When it gets dark you discover the hall light isn't working and a fast telephone call informs you that the electrician is at the Mocambo looking for a closeup of a movie star, so you scout around in the dark, looking for fuses, shortages, and blubs . . . crack your shin a couple of times and finally give it up as a bad deal and go to some other portion of the house where the lights still work.

After dinner you discover that the bedroom alarm clock is gone . . . sent out to be fixed and not back . . . and afraid you are going to miss your early morning studio appointment before the cameras . . . you sleep fitfully and nervously, awaking every 15 mintes to make sure you don't oversleep.

Up till now you could be any ordinary business man troubled with usual domestic plagues . . . but from here on it becomes different.

You're an actor. No sleeping until 7 a. m. before going to work . . . you have to be up at 5:30 so you can get to the studio by seven . . . by 8:30, a nice time to be getting up in itself, you have to be all made up, in costume, and ready to get to work before the camera. So, you spend the night worrying about getting up on time, wake up just as tired as you were before going to bed, slide down the stairs, grab a cup of coffee and do a Dagwood as you hotfoot for the studio.

At the studio the shooting starts at 9 a. m. Today the first scene calls for you to ride on a bicycle. So you mount the bike and ride on a tread for about three hours until everybody is happy and all concerned feel that the scene is finally right.

THEN it's off to the commissary for lunch, usually a glass of milk and an avacado sandwich—and if you don't like avacado, you better have no appetite because avacado is all they have today (and for that I wince with you).

Of course, beefs nothwithstanding, I haven't yet had the desire to get back to the Hoboken news beat; and I've never heard of anyone out here who honestly would say the hell with the movies and my 10 grand a week, I wanna go back to jerking sodas or slinging hash, but it's not the Hollywood you read about either. No plush, no crystal chandeliers, sixteen cylinder jaloppies and cerise chaise lounges; no baccanalian parties; it's just as much of a job as the one you've got today, fella, just as tough, but probably a lot more lucrative. And when you see pictures of movie folk out in the night clubs, the odds are they were either sent there by the studio press department, or else it was the cook's night out or maybe they're on the same holiday that you and the missus like to grab off every once in a while.

A lot of petty jealousies and trade squabbles that are fed to you right off the griddle are usually tripe dished out by those seeking favors from those in favor; your actors fight as much as your competing grocery owners, if that much, and performers don't go around seeking to glamorize themselves at the expense of others.

Harmful stories about scene stealing are rarely well founded and usually stem from someone with a private gripe; sure the actors who know their way around will take time out and play a lot of gags and practical jokes on newcomers, but these are only played on the people they like. They don't waste their time playing around with people they don't want around.

OF course, actors inherit the human frailities and I don't think every movie star's private life could be spotlighted as the perfect model for human behavior. But the weaknesses are the same you will find among people in any profession.

And, I am proud to be one of an industry that has done so much unselfishly for the war effort, both here and overseas. Of course, I am still a little new around these parts, but I certainly hope I can do as much and approach the enviable record set by some of the veteran inhabitants of movie town.

I bet when my old boss on the Jersey Observer reads this, I'll get an offer to come back . . . as a truck driver!

Ernie Pyle Describes "Battle Of Hedgerows"

By ERNIE PYLE
Special Correspondent

ON THE WESTERN FRONT (By Wireless)—I know that all of us correspondents have tried time and again to describe to you what this weird hedgerow fighting in northwestern France has been like.

But I'm going to go over it once more, for we've been in it two months and some of us feel that this is the two months that broke the German army in the west.

ERNIE PYLE

This type of fighting is always in small groups, so let's take as an example one company of men. Let's say they are working forward on both sides of a country lane, and this company is responsible for clearing the two fields on either side of the road as it advances.

That means you have only about one platoon to a field. And with the company's understrength from casualties, you might have no more than 25 or 30 men in a field.

Germans Use Native Cover

Over here the fields are usually not more than 50 yards across and a couple of hundred yards long. They may have grain in them, or apple trees, but mostly they are just pastures of green grass, full of beautiful cows.

The fields are surrounded on all sides by immense hedgerows which consist of an ancient earthen bank, waist high, all matted with roots, and out of which grow weeds, bushes, and trees up to 20 feet high.

The Germans have used these barriers well. They put snipers in the trees. They dig deep trenches behind the hedgerows and cover them with timber, so that it is almost impossible for artillery

SOMETIMES they will prop up machine guns with strings attached, so they can fire over the hedge without getting out of their holes. They even cut out a section of the hedgerow and hide a big gun or a tank in it, covering it with brush.

Also they tunnel under the hedgerows from the back and make the opening on the forward side just large enough to stick a machine gun through.

But mostly the hedgerow pattern is this: a heavy machine gun hidden at each end of the field and infantrymen hidden all along the hedgerow with rifle and machine pistols.

Men Try To Keep Hidden

Now it's up to us to dig them out of there. It's a slow and cautious business, and there is nothing very dashing about it. Our men don't go across the open fields in dramatic charges such as you see in the movies. They did at first, but they learned better.

They go in tiny groups, a squad or less, moving yards apart and sticking close to the hedgerows on either end of the field. They creep a few yards, squat, wait, then creep again.

If you could be right up there between the Germans and the Americans you wouldn't see very many men at any time—just a few here and there, always trying to keep hidden. But you would hear an awful lot of noise.

OUR men were taught in training not to fire until they saw something to fire at. But that hasn't worked in this country, because you see so little. So the alternative is to keep shooting constantly at the hedgerows. That pins the Germans in their holes while we sneak up on them.

The attacking squads sneak up the sides of the hedgerows while the rest of the platoon stay back in their own hedgerow and keep the forward hedge saturated with bullets. They shoot rifle grenades too, and a mortar squad a little farther back keeps lobbing mortar shells over onto the Germans.

The little advance groups get up to the far ends of the hedgerows at the corners of the field. They first try to knock out the machine guns at each corner. They do this with hand grenades, rifle grenades and machine guns.

Germans Retreat Slowly

Usually, when the pressure gets on, the German defenders of the hedgerow start pulling back. They'll take their heavier guns and most of the men back a couple of fields and start digging in for a new line.

They leave about two machine guns and a few riflemen scattered through the hedge, to do a lot of shooting and hold up the Americans as long as they can.

Our men now sneak along the front side of the hedgerow, throwing grenades over onto the other side and spraying the hedges with their guns. The fighting is very close—only a few yards apart—but it is seldom actual hand-to-hand stuff.

SOMETIMES the remaining Germans come out of their holes with their hands up. Sometimes they try to run for it and are mowed down. Sometimes they won't come out at all, and a hand grenade, throw into their hole, finishes them off.

And so we've taken another hedgerow and are ready to start on the one beyond.

This hedgerow business is a series of little skirmishes like that clear across the front, thousands and thousands of little skirmishes. No single one of them is very big. But add them all up over the days and weeks and you've got a man-sized war, with thousands on both sides being killed.

Texas Soldier Faces Trial In Stabbing

TRINIDAD, Colo., Aug. 14 (AP)—Pvt. Jerry E. Kent was back in the Camp Carson stockade today facing court martial trial on knifing charges, after an escape Thursday night.

Kent was charged with assault with intent to commit murder, in connection with the alleged knifing last July 29 of Pvt. Woodrow W. Yeary in a Colorado Springs cafe. Yeary was released from the station hospital on Thursday.

Kent, who was captured yesterday at Trinidad, is from Cross Plains, Tex. He had served 13 years of a 40-year sentence in a Texas prison on a murder charge before receiving a parole in 1943. He was inducted into the Army at Lubbock, Tex., in 1944.

U. S. Group Fights Behind Nazi Lines

Long Toms Deliver Drugs To 'Lost Battalion' In France

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ON THE MORTON SECTOR In France, Aug. 14—American Long Tom 155's, delivered life instead of death, fired shells filled with blood plasma, morphine and sulfa-drugs to a "lost battalion" fighting on a hill behind German lines.

For five days the battalion of a young American infantry division fought behind enemy lines, causing great havoc and refusing two demands to surrender from Hitler's prize SS troops. They were supplied by food in "dive-bombing" by P-47 Thunderbolts and with medical supplies by Long Tom artillery shells.

The battalion was part of a division which has been in the line more than 40 days. Although tired, it bore the brunt of an attack by more than four Nazi armored divisions, standing firm even when battalion and regimental command posts were overrun and switchboard operators had to use bazookas to drive off the enemy.

Directed Artillery Fire

The battalion command directed artillery fire on German positions, and the infuriated Germans retaliated with mortar fire and a renewed counterattack. But the battalion held.

Yesterday during daylight the Germans, striving desperately to withdraw, took to a road with a large convoy of tanks and guns. The lost battalion on the hill spotted the column, called on artillery, and every American gun along that sector of the front rained shells down while the battalion corrected their fire.

The total destruction of the column was told in these words by an observer on the fading radio:

"Tired as we are and hungry as we are, there is not a man who is not happy as can be at the sight."

Relief Route Opened

Late today a regiment fought its way to the battalion position, opening up a relief route.

While the problem of feeding the battalion was solved from the air, getting medical supplies there was a different question.

This was solved when someone thought of taking smoke shells, cutting out the insides, packing medical supplies in cotton and firing them to the hilltop with 155s from miles back.

The battalion reported all except the morphine arrived in good shape, even to the blood plasma in glass containers. Some of the morphine was too battered for use.

Typical of the fierce action the division engaged in in holding the Nazi attempt to drive to the sea was that of Capt. W. W. Druckenmiller, Oakharbor, Ohio, who rushed from a command post with a bazooka — a two-man weapon — loaded and fired it and knocked out a 45-ton panther tank. Then he picked up a carbine and shot the tank crew one by one as they tried to escape.

Great Aerial Blows

plies and transport far beyond the battle zone, and other Mosquitos attacked the German industrial city of Hanover. All the Marauders and Mosquitos returned.

Marauders, bombing with the aid of flares, rained explosives on troops and ammunition stores dispersed in the forest D'Halouse, 15 miles east of Mortain, where the Germans were putting up the stiffest rearguard resistance.

Mosquito squadrons bombed and strafed rail lines from the battle area to Paris, and many radiating northeast from that city. Direct hits were scored on a bridge over the Orne.

The Germans probably were in for another day of blistering air attack such as yesterday's, in which Allied airmen flew more than 5,500 sorties in all-day blows at everything moving between the battlefront and the Seine river.

Bomb Gets German Plane On Way Down

ROME, Aug. 14. (U.P.) — Bombardier Lloyd Brown of Boise, Ida., in a recent Flying Fortress raid over Hungary unleased a 500-pound bomb which smashed into and destroyed a German plane below his ship and then continued unexploded toward the target, it was reaveled today.

"It should be some kind of a record," Brown said as he related how the German interceptor plane ran into the bomb last Wednesday and "disintegrated in a shower of sparks."

Sgt. Joseph Fletcher of Henderson, Tex., ball turret gunner, verified his story.

MANY LEADERS DEPRESSED

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP) — Motors, rubbers and selected industrials attracted modest bids in today's stock market although many leaders were a trifle depressed by lack of investment interest.

Such support as appeared in the rather lackadaisical session again was based partly on the idea the surrender of the Nazis would find the home front better prepared for reconversion that most had expected. There were numerous doubters, however, and these continued to lighten accounts and adjourn to neutral territory to await more definite bullish inspiration.

Rails and steels were indifferent performers from the start. The recently bulging junior automotive issues, which reacted toward the end of last week, displayed signs of life for a while but failed to follow through and near closing trends generally were notably irregular.

Ahead fractionally the greater part of the time were Chrysler, General Motors, Graham-Paige, Hupp Motors, Goodyear, Goodrich, American Telephone, American Can, Eastman Kodak and Texas Co.

Services For Carl Slaton Held Sunday

In the presence of mourning friends who filled the lower floor of First Methodist church auditorium almost to capacity, funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon for Carl E. Slaton, 54, one-time cowboy, business man, civic leader and three times mayor of Lubbock.

The impressive services were relatively brief amid a profusion of floral tribute. Dr. C. A. Bickley, pastor of Asbury Methodist church, read from the Scriptures. Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of First Presbyterian church and long-time friend of Mr. Slaton, delivered the funeral sermon and conducted brief services at the grave in Lubbock cemetery. Miss Joyce Watson sang a solo. Arrangements were in charge of Rix Funeral home.

Mr. Slaton died late Friday afternoon of a heart stroke while sitting in his automobile downtown. Unknown even to his close friends, he had been suffering from a serious heart ailment for some time.

Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church, of which Mr. Slaton had been a member since moving to Lubbock from Seminole in 1938, was out of the city.

Thousands Of "Supermen" Captured By "Paper Barrage" Yanks Have Been Dispatching

By TOM WOLF
NEA Staff Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, Aug. 14. — Dr. Goebbels has met his master. Where the surrender is the payoff, Herr Doktor has lost the battle of words.

Of 50,000 prisoners taken by the Allies, to date, more than 20,000 have had with them some of the Allied propaganda leaflets with which they have been shelled and bombed continuously since D-day. At Cherbourg over 2000 of the master race surrendered directly to the "hog callers" — trucks equipped with loud-speakers for smooth talking right at the front.

Politics Are Out

"Nazi supermen in the front line foxholes aren't interested in politics," explained the head of the United States First Army's Psychological Warfare section. "They're interested only in air and artillery support. It's the man just back of the front with whom you can talk politics."

To reach this man just behind the front German positions were bombed with over a million copies of a four-page newspaper which we wove—from the words of Hitler himself and of Nazidom's top princes — a gray tapestry of collapse, confusion and distrust. Hour after hour BBC and ABSIE echoed this message.

JUICY BITS BY HITLER

The men at the very front weren't entirely neglected in this political education. Twenty-four hours after Hitler's midnight speech America's much-feared artillery opened a leaflet barrage. Into the foxholes floated a single page printed on both sides quoting the juiciest portions of Hitler's and Goering's speeches.

In some cases the leaflets were addressed to specific units. Crack troops were told they were needed at home where the Battle of Germany really is being fought. But by and large the atiempt on Hitler is playing a small part in the leaflets shot to the front. "Our job isn't to convince them Hitler's a heel," said the First U. S. Army PWD Chief, "but to convince them we won't shoot them if they surrender — as they've been told we do."

Almost all the leaflets being shot to the foxholes stress one of three points: You have no support; we treat prisoners magnificently; your officers are deserting you.

"At first we told them to shoot their officers if their officers tried to prevent them from surrendering," said the Colonel. "We quickly found this backfired. It created an artificial solidarity between the officers and men. So now we sow distrust in a different way. We know, for example, that many officers are staying away from the very front. So we tell the soldiers 'Where's the Luftwaffe? Ask your officers.' The officers aren't there to be asked."

AHEAD OF THE FRONT

To put a clincher on embarrassing questions, psychological warfare uses sound trucks brought as close to the front as possible. Loudspeakers are then strung out, not at the front, but in front of the front — some have been as close as 40 yards from the enemy. This is particularly effective because it shows the enemy how close we are.

American soldiers born in Russia, Poland, Germany, speaking native tongues, urge erstwhile compatriots to listen to friendly reasoning and surrender. "We don't try to strike terror in Jerry souls," said the Colonel. "We assume the artillery already has done that. Our payoff is to convince them that now is the time to surrender. We offer a man the line of least resistance on a purely personal basis."

Prisoner of war figures alone aren't an adequate criterion of the success of psychological warfare's work. Many prisoners volunteer information that others would like to surrender but are afraid. Creating a desire to surrender is just as important a part of Psychological Warfare Division work as getting prisoners.

News Brief

Black Highbrow, 8-year-old gelding owned by John A. Stinson of Lubbock was named grand champion of the stakes in the Tennessee walking horse class in the final judgings of the Red Cross benefit show which came to a close in Tri-State fairground at Amarillo Sunday night, according to information received here this morning. L. A. Godwin entered two horses, McDonald Diamond, which won third place in the model class, and Star Melody, junior horse, which won third in the fine harness class. Kalarama Shadow, owned by Dr. V. V. Clark, was named fourth in the ladies' three-gaited class.

"Makins" Short Too

over, one wholesaler said, pointing out, however, that the opinion was his own and no better than anyone else's.

Snuffs, Chewin' On Increase

Cause of the shortage, he said, was due primarily to extra heavy demand of the armed forces for the smokes which have been termed excellent morale builders among the troops. But, also contributing factors were the increased consumption among civilians and a shortage of tobacco and manpower at the manufacturing plants.

Coincidental with the increased sale of cigarette tobaccos, the wholesalers report a marked increase in the sale of snuffs and chewing tobaccos, although this increase has been noted for some time on a smaller scale due to the fact many war workers, unable to smoke on the job, had turned to other forms of tobacco.

Cigars Are Short Also

So far there has been no marked shortages of pipe tobacco, but the jobbers wouldn't predict what the situation would be as more ready-roll smokers turned to that form of smoking and when cooler weather, the normal time for heavy drain on pipe tobaccos, arrives.

Neither has there been any shortage of cigarette papers.

Name brand cigars have joined cigarettes in being conspicuous by their absence from tobacco counters. But there most of the blame is laid to manufacturing manpower problems and increased consumption — and not so much to the armed services' demands.

Momentous Week

Germany — another attempt on Hitler to succeed — could possibly deliver this war to an armistice within the next week. There is a slight chance that a political collapse may show its first manifestations on either the Russians or the Allied battle fronts with the German army's effort to rid itself by revolt of its new Nazi commanders. But even so, our terms still are unconditional surrender and clear roads to Berlin.

Gen. Eisenhower has been in almost constant conference with all his battle commanders for the past three days. He is working at a pressure reminiscent of the closing days of the Tunisian and Sicilian campaigns.

Closing Days Of Campaign

These are the closing days of the campaign in northwestern France and the next phases are the campaigns of northteastern and southern France.

Gen. Eisenhower asks his command for even more self determination and speedy action. He is commanding a naval, air and army cordon around what is left of a German army, once under Rommel's command — a cordon without a passageway for the escape of a single Nazi.

If it succeeds, Paris is the plum for the taking with little effort.

Allied troops have produced a tremendous battle situation about to pay dividends of a great victory in the field. There will still be much fighting left to do in Europe thereafter.

SPAAF Soldier Dies After Truck Mishap

Pfc. John J. Egan, 24, of New York City, died late Sunday in South Plains Army Air field's post hospital of injuries suffered several days ago in a truck mishap when on duty at an auxiliary field near Idalou, it was announced this morning.

Other than to announce that he was on a routine training operation at the time of his injury and that his mother, Mrs. Ethgel V. Egan of New York City, had been in Lubbock several days, there was no further detail.

Funeral arrangements had not been announced, but it was expected the body would be sent to New York.

fied colored voters in Texas.

Three Texas counties — Marion, Harrison and San Jacinto — have a negro population majority. Populations of Camp, Grimes, Freestone, Leon, Newton, Panola, Robertson, Walker and Waller counties are split almost evenly—half black, half white. Many other Texas counties have large negro populations.

Durham gave this conspectus of the organization's aims:

"The Texas League of Democratic voters will operate as an integral part of the national Democratic party, and for the purpose of building up membership in the national Democratic party and promoting honesty in the election of public officials and to work for the general welfare of the Democratic party.

"An intensive campaign will be inaugurated for the purpose of seeing that every Democrat in every precinct goes to the polls on election day, and hereafter to see that every Democrat qualifies to vote by paying his poll tax."

Jaycees Hear Talk About Fall Gardens

The importance of fall gardening was discussed at the luncheon of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce today noon in the Hilton hotel by Dr. W. W. Yocum, horticulturist in the department of plant industry at Texas Technological college.

He pointed out that following the last war food production from fall gardens doubled in the ten year period from 1920 to 1930, adding that it has taken another war to teach the rank and file the importance of raising fall gardens.

Dr. Yocum was introduced by Walter Switzer, program chairman. Taylor Cole, Midland, national vice president of the Jaycees, was a guest at the luncheon. Ray Blackwell, president, presided.

There are more than 100 geysers and 4,000 hot springs in Yellowstone National park.

The pamphlet said shooting would be the penalty for aiding patriot "bandits," failing to report activities of patriots, or giving them information about German military installations.

Attacks on German soldiers or acts of sabotage in Italian villages would be punished by burning the village, shooting male inhabitants over 18 and interning all women in labor camps, the pamphlet added.

Pincers Closing In On Germans

cinity of Domfront in a smash of about 12 miles by noon today. Domfront is 13 miles east of Mortain.

Barenton, on the Mortain-Domfront road, was captured in this drive.

(The German radio said there also was violent fighting near Carrouges, 13 miles southwest of Argentan, with approximately four American divisions blocking the Germans' chief escape routes.)

The Canadian offensive got off at noon following an attack by hundreds of heavy and medium bombers which smashed enemy strongpoints within 3,000 yards of the Allied front lines.

British Score Gains

The Canadians, who had been five miles north of Falaise and 1½ to 2 miles north of the Laison river, got across that major barrier. Capture of Falaise, three miles south of the river, would close another German escape point.

The British on the Canadians' right flank also scored gains of three miles and more, capturing Martainville and pushing on to near Bonnoeil, seven miles northwest of Falaise, and taking Proussy, two miles north of Conde-sur-Noireau 15 miles west of Falaise.

Seven mile spurts were made by the Americans on the west side of the pocket along the Vire-Tinchebray line.

More Prisoners Taken

It was announced that American troops on Saturday had taken 2,828 more German prisoners, bringing their four-day total to more than 13,000. German prisoners taken in France since the beginning of the campaign had now mounted to beyond 115,000.

Eisenhower, in one of his rare orders of the day to all men of the armies, air and naval forces, called it a "definite opportunity for a major Allied victory."

It may be grasped, he exhorted, "only through the utmost in zeal and determination and speedy action."

The trap was sprung, it was disclosed after five days of secrecy shrouded operations west of Paris, when powerful American armored and infantry spearheads sweeping in a 250-mile arc through Le Mans, converged upon the German flank and rear in a sudden twist to the north. This swing took the Americans through Alencon, Sees and Argentan, only 18 miles south of the Canadian First army five miles above Falaise.

Escape Roads Cut

Now the American armored "hammer" was beating the Germans against the Canadian-British "anvil" below Caen.

Field Marshal Guenther von Kluge's defense of France south of the Seine appeared doomed as his forces squirmed under frightful punishment to pull out through the suddenly narrowed gap.

Practically all his escape roads toward the Seine were cut. Allied air forces were pouncing on every movement of the Germans, wrecking hundreds of locomotives and thousands of rail cars. Not a single wagon or bicycle was immune from attack from the swarms of aircraft which buzzed over the battle area in endless processions.

Must Get Reinforcements

Roads that remained open were under Allied shellfire, and it appeared that only new German armies could stem the Normandy tide.

However, von Kluge already had drawn on 40 of the 60 or 65 divisions he was believed to have had in France at the start of the invasion. British staff officers yesterday said the Allies already had contacted 40 divisions.

Of these 15 already have been counted as destroyed or badly cut up in the beachhead battles, the St. Lo breakthrough, the Brittany sweep and the terrific battles in the hedgerows below Caen.

Now 12 more understrength divisions were believed caught in the giant bag.

Coming Hours To Show

Only the coming hours would show how many of these von Kluge would be able to extricate.

It appeared unlikely he would be able to save enough to make another strong stand below the Seine, and as yet there was no indication that he had been able to build up a reserve to defend even Paris.

He was making a desperate effort to save as much as possible, however, using haywagons, farm vehicles and even bicycles to move his troops, and leaving behind a hard rearguard crust to prevent Allied armies from the west, south and north from cutting his retreating forces to pieces.

Still Not A Rout

This resistance still was particularly strong in the north. It made Canadian and British progress extremely slow above Falaise, and prevented the Americans around Vire and Mortaine from making much better speed.

The German withdrawal still was not a rout.

Meanwhile, there still was no news of any Allied operations east of La Mans toward Paris, nor from the spearhead which crossed the Loire three days ago and struck southward 10 miles.

The Allied trap, 30 or more miles deep, was 100 miles west of Paris, but it seemed unlikely von Kluge's shattered forces could put up any further defense, on an effective scale, of the 20,000-square mile area through which the American whirlwind had swept in the past three weeks.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 14. (AP) —A four-year-old boy playing soldier fatally wounded his mother with a .22 rifle.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hamilton were resting in the back yard of their home yesterday when their son, Jimmy, picked up a rifle his father had used on a recent hunting trip. He pointed it at his mother.

This Week Fateful In European Fight

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Our best summary of the fluid and confusing battle of western Europe comes from Commander-in-Chief Eisenhower's great order of the day in which he tells his troops that they "have created in France a fleeting but definite opportunity for a major Allied victory."

These three fateful words, "fleeting but definite," tell the whole story. We mustn't take complete success for granted. Great leadership and gallantry by the Allied forces have put us in position where, General Ike says, "we can make this week a momentous one in the history of this war." But we haven't yet clinched our victory. "This week" may tell the story.

We have the Boche in a tight corner. On the Normandy-Brittany front he is engaged in a general withdrawal to the northeast, that is, towards Paris and the Seine river. Within that broad front is a cul-de-sac of death whose narrow mouth opens towards Paris. Inside this trap is a large force of Germans struggling to escape.

The Allies are attacking furiously to close the mouth of their trap, which is only a few miles wide as this is written. Canadian and British troops are driving down from the bloody Caen sector while American armored forces are striking north from Argentan.

Trapped Germans Unknown

We don't know—nobody knows—how many Germans there still are within that trap, but there may be 100,000. They are battling fiercely to escape — the primitive fight of man for a chance to live. They're reported to be doing this grimly and methodically—still exhibiting the discipline and training of what once was an almost perfect fighting machine.

Can they avoid panic and get away? Some certainly will, but only time will tell how many. This great battle, of which the cul-de-sac is only a part (though a very important one) is one of the thrilling moment of the war. Its outcome will mean much to the hopes of an early end of the Hitlerian conflict. The whole structure of the German defense in western Europe will be vitally affected by the outcome of Eisenhower's "momentous" week.

I call your special attention to the assignment of the Allied air services in this battle. With the retreating Germans swarming all roads, main and rural, out of Normandy and Brittany, the mighty American-British fleets are taking a terrible toll both in lives and in equipment. Moreover, Nazi communications not only on the battle-front but throughout western Europe are being shattered by the endless line of Allied planes.

Meanwhile the Hitlerites are getting almost no assistance from a luftwaffe which is about gasping its last. This means that the German armies are having to meet this great crisis blindfolded. They've lost the use of their eyes, for warplanes are the eyes of the modern army. That's a terrific handicap.

We can't foresee what tactics Field Marshal von Kluge may pursue in an effort to save himself. Probably he doesn't know himself at this moment. What is clear is that he apparently had hoped to pull his forces back northeastward and make a stand along the Seine river, with Paris as an anchor. This would protect the Nazi forces along the coast of the English channel and cover the ultimate retreat of the Nazis into Germany. The way things are developing he may never get a chance to put this plan into execution.

Blood Donor Center In Dallas Wrecked

DALLAS, Aug. 14 (U.P.) — City officers joined with the shore patrol Saturday in investigation of a drunken spree by a sailor on liberty from the Norman, Okla., Naval Air station, during which the basement of the Red Cross blood donor center was smashed into shambles and plasma scattered over the floor.

The sailor, after kicking in a front door and several partitions, dumped several bottles of plasma on the floor and stomped them, then hurled three cases of the dried blood, which was stored there by the U. S. Public Health service, through a partition.

Officers found the sailor asleep under a table after being called to the scene by a porter who discovered the front door smashed.

Two companions of the sailor, also from the Norman base, were being questioned, but officers did not believe they were implicated in the spree as they had left him late Friday night to take their dates home and said they had not seen him since.

"I was drunk and passed out," the sailor said, declaring he remembers nothing of his havoc-causing spree.

HIGH NAZI WOUNDED

ZURICH, Switzerland, Aug. 14 (AP)—A reliable report from Belgrade today said Field Marshal Baron Maximilian von Weichs, German commander in chief in the Balkans, had been wounded by a young Nazi lieutenant in an assassination attempt.

New Mexico appeared on Spanish maps of the New World as early as 1546.

Blalock Gives Out Statement

MARSHALL, Aug. 14 (AP) — Myron G. Blalock, national Democratic committeeman, said today he recognized the validity of the May 23 state Democratic convention in Austin, but that he did not consider binding the resolutions which prescribed conditions for the support of the party nominees.

Blalock made the comment in a letter to one of the electors, T. J. Holbrook, who had written Blalock a letter asking whether he recognized the validity of the May 23 convention, which nominated the presidential electors and elected Blalock national committeeman.

Would Split Vote

"I do not like the idea of having two lists of Democratic electors on the ballot" Blalock wrote. "The only chance the Republicans have to carry Texas is to divide the Democrats and split the Democratic ticket. That is what Rene Creager of the Republican committee so fervently wants, and it is quite significant that some prominent people who are now listed Democratic electors are almost daily asking for two lists of Democratic electors on the ticket. I do not think that a Democrat should be forced to scratch the Democratic ticket in order to vote for the Democratic nominees."

Blalock posed four questions at the end of his letter to Holbrook, asking if Holbrook planned to vote for the party; why, if he was not ready to answer, did he wish to delay, and whether he voted for the party nominees in 1940 and 1936.

Blalock recently asked the electors whether they would support the party nominees.

Holbrook had asked Blalock "Are you going to fight on the side of the regular Democracy of Texas or are you going to take orders from the Chicago meeting," and, Holbrook wanted to know, whether Blalock was "friend or foe, politically."

Blalock wrote that he had fought for the Moody committee and "there is no secret about it now and no one has ever found it necessary to write me a letter to learn which side I was on in a general election."

Ensign's Big Feet Save His Life In Parachute Jump

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Aug. 14 (U.P.) — Ensign Carl Eugene Smith, a Hellcat pilot of task force 58, is alive because his feet are so big the Navy revealed today.

Smith, of Houston, Tex., carried a bomb in his Hellcat for a raid on Palau July 27. The electrical system failed and he couldn't release the bomb. He returned to the task force but was unable to land for fear he would detonate it. So his carrier signalled him to go to 5,000 feet and bail out.

"I rolled the plane over on its back and pulled the safety belt," Smith said.

"I fell from the plane and pulled the rip cord — and the harness slipped off my shoulders."

Momentarily he plummetted toward earth—then there was a sudden jerk on his feet and ankles.

"The harness somehow miraculously caught around by ankles and feet," he said. "I managed to swing myself up and catch the straps so I entered the water stern first. Thank God my feet are big!"

A destroyer picked him up. His only injury was a twisted left knee.

Jehovah's Witnesses Gather In Dallas

DALLAS, Aug. 14 (U.P.) — More than 5,000 Jehovah's Witnesses swarmed Dallas' Fair Park last night to hear their leader, N. H. Knorr, president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract society, promise that "the Kingdom of God is nigh at hand."

The cheers of the throngs of men, women and children rang through the park ice arena as the persuasive voice from the loud speakers told the members that their persecution and the destruction wrought by two great world wars was fulfillment of scriptural prophecy.

The fullfilment, he said, is proof that "the Kingdom of God is nigh at hand."

The Jehovah's Witness leader's message was piped to 16 such meetings throughout the nation, climaxing five-day conventions of the organization.
