NIXON

Delays Troop Withdrawals

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP)—President Nixon announced Saturday a delay at least until early September of a decision on further troop withdrawals from Vietnam.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President wants to gather additional information and further evaluate the level of enemy activity that surged upward in mid August.

Nixon also wants more information on potential enemy activity in the future and in infiltration levels from North Vietnam.

"The President will make a final decision and announcement on further troop replacements after he returns to Washington. As you know, we are due to return to Washington around the 6th or 7th, possibly the 8th of September."

But Ziegler said the announcement will not necessarily come immediately. It might be held off for days or even weeks, he said.

Red Cross Gifts Total $773

Donations to the Red Cross fund for aid to victims of Hurricane Camille had climbed Saturday to $773. This is about two-thirds of the $1,135 which had been requested of the Howard-Glasscock chapter, and Red Cross officials said they are confident the required sum will be raised by early in the week.

Gifts have ranged from $5 to $500.

"Actually, our total to date is represented by only about 20 gifts," said Mrs. Louise Allen, executive secretary of the local chapter. "We feel that so many more people will want to have a part in this relief undertaking that Howard-Glasscock chapter will more than meet its assignment."

Checks may be noted for hurricane relief, and the money will be channeled directly to the Hurricane Camille rehibilitation program. They should be made to the Red Cross (the gift is tax deductible) and mailed to Red Cross, Box 1970, Big Spring.

Virginia Floods Toll

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The swollen waters of the James River receded rapidly Saturday and Virginians by the hundreds, driven from their homes by savage floods, returned to begin the task of rebuilding.

The flood's death toll rose to 65, and 94 persons still were listed as missing. Forty-nine of the dead, and 84 of the missing, were in ravaged Nelson County.

Only the lowest-lying industrial areas around Richmond remained flooded Saturday night, and the Weather Bureau said the James should be back to normal by Sunday afternoon.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

Two of those more unpleasant inevitabilities, taxes and the weather, held the top interest this past week.

It was a week of woe for the Mississippi-Gulf Coast area, where Hurricane Camille swept in with a force seldom before observed by man. The effect locally was an appeal for help, through the Salvation Army, which wants to supply clothing to victims, and through the Red Cross, whose local chapter has been asked to raise $1,135. This fund can use your assistance—now.

* * *

The weather hereabouts was more of the wearisome same, although the thermometer did slide as low as 97 one day. A smattering of showers by week's end helped some, but real relief from heat and drouth was not in sight.

Regardless of what happens to the rest of the crop, first bales of cotton are in. Delbert Stanley last weekend brought in Howard County's first, a 500-pound bale which came off 18 acres, and that hand-picked. Stanley said finding cotton bags was a chore. Glasscock County's first bale of 475 pounds was produced by Gary Seidenberger.

HELP—TODAY

(AN EDITORIAL)

The desolation left in our neighboring states by the most recent hurricane must rank among the worst in the nation's history of storm losses. Homes by the thousands are gone, thousands more are heavily damaged, families have lost all their possessions.

Texans, remembering the help that poured in after such infamous names as Carla and Beulah, surely will respond in kind.

There are two direct ways to channel your aid, to organizations mobilized and experienced in disaster relief. Your clothing and your food contributions should go to the Salvation Army. Your cash contribution should go to the Red Cross.

The latter agency, faced with a mammoth rehabilitation task, seeks $6 million from Americans, to supplement its disaster funds.

Only $1,135 is asked of the Howard-Glasscock chapter, and about two-thirds of this is raised. The fund should be completed by Monday, so that the money can be channeled where the need is.

On this Lord's Day, you will want to remember the unfortunate. There is no better day to make out your check to the Red Cross (mark it disaster relief) and send it immediately to the Red Cross, Box 1970, Big Spring.

Filibuster Snags New Tax On Food

AUSTIN (AP) — Anti-sales tax senators, short on votes but long on talk, fought an apparent futile crusade Saturday against passage of a compromise tax plan that would put food under state and city sales taxes.

Repeated checks of the tired senators, who began the marathon session at 9 p.m. Friday, indicated final approval by at least a 15-14 vote. One senate leader predicted a last minute defectio would make it 16-13.

As the filibuster droned on and on Saturday afternoon it became obvious neither side controlled the situation.

Supporters of the bill had enough votes for final passage but they did not have enough to cut off debate so the vote could be taken.

Opponents had enough votes to keep the floor but they did not have enough to put the Senate in recess or adjournment.

Efforts to ajourn failed 15-15 and an effort to cut off debate failed 14-16.

"We'll just have the chaplain in Sunday morning for a special prayer and keep right on going through Sunday," said Sen. W. T. Moore, Bryan, head of the Senate tax negotiators.

"I'm not going to pull the bill down and I don't think they can outlast us through Tuesday."

"Our main purpose is to talk until the people find what is in this bill and we get their reaction," said Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado.

Taxpayer reaction to the plan appeared Saturday near noon when about 20 sign-carrying spectators appeared in the Senate balcony.

"Don't Tax Bread" read one sign. "Poor People Eat Too, Vote No," said another. A spokesman said the demonstrators were brought to Austin by the Texas AFL-CIO.

Several times spectators were warned not to applaud the filibustering senators.

"We've got the votes for it over here when the Senate gets through," said Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria, a House tax negotiator.

The House met briefly and quit until 10:30 a.m. Monday when it will be their turn to debate the $341 million tax package that is a so-called compromise between conflicting bills.

Gov. Preston Smith said Friday night he would sign the bill into law if both houses approve it before the end of the session Tuesday midnight.

Failure of either house to give approval would bring on at once a second special session since present financing of the state government runs out Aug. 31.

GIs Due To Reach Downed Helicopter

LANDING ZONE CENTER, Vietnam (AP)—Without losing a man killed, U.S. infantrymen captured Saturday a knoll south of Da Nang where entrenched enemy forces in three days of furious battle had halted all attempts to reach a downed American helicopter.

From the knoll, known as Hill 102 the U.S. forces were about 1,000 yards from the wreckage and were expected to reach it Sunday.

Four companies of the U.S. American division, about 250 men, occupied the hill at nightfall against light resistance after suffering half a dozen wounded. It was the first day since the battle began that the Americans suffered no combat deaths.

The helicopter, carrying seven soldiers and Associated Press photographer Oliver Noonan, was shot down Tuesday and all aboard were believed killed. Attempts to reach the wreckage set off the largest battle in the Communist command's fall campaign.

More than 500 North Vietnamese regulars are believed to have died in the fighting that broke out last Sunday when American patrols bumped into enemy forces believed positioning for an attack on the nearby refugee center of Hiep Duc.

The action intensified the next day and swelled into heavy fighting after the helicopter was brought down. American losses were estimated at nearly 40 killed and more than 160 wounded.

But Saturday, the advancing Americans met only sniper fire as they approached the hill, honey combed with bunkers. When they reached its crest, four enemy mortars crashed in on them.

"It's the old, old story," an American officer said. "Five days of fighting like hell and on the sixth day they give it to you for nothing."

The abandonment of the hill, from where the North Vietnamese could look down on the American forces trying to charge or outflank their positions, may have surprised U.S. intelligence.

Only Friday U.S. officers said the enemy apparently had determined to make a stand here to challenge American forces and to try to make a drive on Hiep Duc.

A maze of bunkers still lay between the blackened hill and the site of the helicopter crash, but officers said the enemy probably had pulled out from the low ground as well. The enemy would be at as big a disadvantage in the low ground as the Americans were in attacking the hill.

The eight Americans aboard the helicopter when it crashed included a battalion commander, Lt. Col. Eli P. Howard Jr., 41, of Woodbridge, Va., Noonan, 29, was from Norwell, Mass. He had been covering the battle.

Hurricane Camille: Some Stayed, Died

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — The Weather Bureau had been issuing advisories on Camille for days as she churned through the Gulf of Mexico.

A reconnaissance plane swooped into the storm and measured winds of 218 miles an hour. Red and black hurricane flags were up from New Orleans, across the Mississippi coast, into the Florida panhandle.

News media across the country received this story at 9:40 Sunday:

"Residents of Grand Isle, Louisiana are evacuating with Hurricane Camille now aimed at the Louisiana and Mississippi coastline."

All day such news poured out. Yet many stayed along the big beach. It was a fatal mistake for more than 300.

"The people just won't get out," said Gulfport Mayor Philip Shaw. "It's human nature to think the safest place is their homes."

"If the people had believed us, there wouldn't have been anybody in town," Shaw said. "I did all I could do, and that was to tell the people to get out. We couldn't conceive anything like this."

Civil Defense Director Wade Guice of Harrison County said he was satisfied "that everything humanly possible" was done to get the coast evacuated.

Movement away from the coast started about 10:30 a.m., after Civil Defense officials and mayors of towns along the beach agreed it should be evacuated. Guice said there was bumper-to-bumper traffic on U.S. 90.

In Pass Christian, Guice said, units even "went down there and knocked on doors. At 4:30 p.m., the evacuation was almost complete," he said. That was about five hours before Camille's eye moved inland.

"There were a few stragglers" in Pass Christian Isles, a holiday hideaway 60 miles east of New Orleans. "There were five families, four of those said they planned to leave but a fifth said it wasn't going to go. These people were urged to pull out," Guice said. "After them, no one was left to the best of my knowledge."

Pass Christian took an unbelievable pounding. Even the solid Hancock County Bank building disappeared from its spot overlooking the Gulf. More than 100 bodies have been recovered in the town.

"I guess the people just didn't realize the magnitude of the storm," said coastal Civil Defense coordinator Nap Cassibry.

Showers Dot The County

While the showers broke the heat and sent temperatures down to pleasant 75-90 readings, moisture was not heavy enough to be of much benefit except in a few areas.

Various reports in Big Spring showed up to a half-inch, with other sections having less. Coahoam had only a trace of rain Friday, none on Saturday.

Forsan missed the Friday showers, but had sprinkles Saturday. It was reported that a downpour of up to two inches hit the Lees Store area, but there was no flooding.

Luther gauged 1.03 inches Friday but had no moisture up to early Saturday evening. Moss Creek had .4 inch Friday, just a trace on Saturday.

Wall High Senior Named FB Queen

By TERRY HOPKINS

Jean Ann Block, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Block, Rt. 2, San Angelo, Tom Green County, was crowned District VI Farm Bureau Queen Saturday night at the Big Spring High School auditorium, and Donna Sheppard, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Herring, Junction, Kimbell County, won the Talent Find.

Howard County's representatives to both contests were first runners-up. Brenda Jackson, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jackson, Vealmoor, scored in the queen's contest, and Ginger Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Adams, 10 Highland Heather, in the talent find.

Miss Block, whose older sister, Diana, won the crown two years ago, is a senior at Wall High School. She is a member of the National Honor Society, active in sports, the yearbook editor, and head cheerleader. She plans to combine three majors—public relations, home economics, and nursing—when she goes on to college.

Miss Block said she's proud to be a member of Farm Bureau because of the youth work it's doing. "Especially the youth seminars," she said. "I think they're an important way of preserving democracy."

Miss Sheppard accompanied herself on the guitar to win the talent find with popular songs, "Maria," and "All My Trials."

Fraron Holik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holik, Miles, Tom Green County, was the winner of the Farm Bureau's discussion meet held Saturday afternoon at the Holiday Inn.

Other contestants for the queen's crown were Monica Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Stewart, Junction; Maurine Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bowman, Imperial; and Ruby Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubry Williams, Hermleigh. Talent Find contestants included June Stansell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Stansell, Fluvanna; and Vicki Walter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Walter, Wall.

'They're Waiting To Mow Us Down'

DETROIT (AP) — Whitney Young, executive director of the Urban League, urged some 400 welfare recipients Friday night to tell their sons to renounce violence, "because they're just waiting to mow us down."

"If there is anything that disappointed many white law enforcement officials this summer it is that we didn't have riots," Young added.

'Emily' Aims For Guaymas

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Pacific storm Emily swirled in the Gulf of California off the west coast of Mexico Saturday and authorities here feared it might trigger more heavy rains. Floods in southern Mexico have already killed nine persons and left 100,000 homeless.

The Mexican weather station in Mazatlan said the storm, with 50 to 60-mile-an-hour winds and heavy rain, appeared to be heading for Guaymas, 150 miles from the U.S. border.

But the U.S. Weather Bureau in San Francisco said Emily was heading northwest, out to sea, at about 15 miles an hour. It was last reported at the tip of the Baja California peninsula.

Although the San Francisco report indicated the storm would bypass Mexico, small craft warnings and storm alerts were in effect in Baja California, Nayarit, Sonora and Sinaloa states.

Military Pay Change Sought

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Pentagon manpower expert said today the Nixon administration hopes to win congressional approval of legislation to vastly modernize military pay — a key step toward an all-voluntary military force — before January.

Vice Adm. William. P. Mack, a deputy assistant secretary of defense for manpower and reserve affairs, said an independent group recently completed a study of the Pentagon's pay modernization program and the document should be ready for examination by Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird soon.

"He has stated that he hopes to have it to the Congress by early fall to permit some hearings prior to January, with hoped-for passage of the bill by next year," Mack said.

Housewives Eye-Opener If Bill OK'd

AUSTIN (AP) — Housewives will get a little New Year's Day eye-opener from the legislature if the compromise tax bill passes.

In most cities, they would pay an extra 35 cents on $10 worth of snacks to munch on during the football bowl games.

On a $1.25 six-pack of beer, their friendly drive-in grocery clerk will rink up another three cents.

This would be one result of a House-Senate compromise tax bill that would hit Texans for $505 million in new taxes over the next two years. Of the total, $341 million would be used for new state general revenue spending needs.

The bill would boost the sales and excise taxes paid by Texas families in several ways.

Most painful would be sales taxation of groceries, which were exempted when the state levy was first passed in 1961 to ease its burden on poor people.

Also subjected to the sales tax for the first time, effective Jan. 1, would be alcoholic beverages, farm machinery and "repairs, maintenance and other services performed on or for all tangible personal property."

Sponsors and lawyers who drafted the bill said this means laundry and dry cleaning would be taxable, as well as repairs to cars, lawn mowers, watches, furniture, toys, radios, washing machines and a host of other breakable items.

Liquor, beer, wine and ale will be taxed twice at the consumer level in many cases.

In addition to current taxes on alcoholic beverages, consumers would pay a sales tax for the first time. Customers in private clubs would pay a nickel "service tax" each time a drink or a pitcher of beer is brought to their tables.

The sales tax rate would be cut to 2.5 per cent, but consumers would pay more because of removal of the food, alcoholic beverages and repair exemptions.

In addition, they would continue to pay 1 per cent local sales taxes in most cities, for a full rate of 3.5 per cent.

In addition, city sales taxes are levied on the same items as the state tax. New items that would be brought under the tax would bring cities an estimated $70 million in 1970-71.

The windfall would be so great that Dallas officials already say they would abandon plans for a 24 cents per $100 valuation property tax increase.

ONLY HALF A BALE TO THE ACRE

Cotton Crop Pegged At 35,000 Bales

Production of approximately 35,000 bales of cotton from the 70,000 acres planted in Howard County in 1969 is expected this year, according to County Agent Paul Gross.

This is a sharp decrease from last year's production of approximately 50,000 bales, because of the lack of rain the area has experienced during the growing season.

Other persons connected with the cotton industry agreed production is expected to be approximately a half bale per acre, due to the dry weather.

Although the late season dry weather hurt crop production, moisture which fell just before or soon after planting, gave the plants a good start, Gross said.

"The hot, dry weather has been detrimental to the crop, but it would have been ideal if we had had some rain with it. We get better quality cotton when we have hot weather and rain," Gross added.

He said a late rainfall would still be of some benefit, but that it would not help as much as it would have 30 days ago.

Listed as hurting the crop in addition to the dry weather is insects, although Gross said there has been only a light infestation of the boll weevil and bollworm this year. Some light flea hopper damage also has been noted.

"A fair year," monetarily has been predicted by Alton Marwitz, State National Bank. He said actual income from cotton production should be approximately $3,000,000. He said the market should bring between 15½ cents to 18½ cents per pound or approximately $90 per bale.

As to the quality of the cotton, Gross said he is expecting it to mostly be medium quality with most of it having an inch or better staple.

"Approximately 90 per cent of the crop will be gathered by machine with the heaviest part of it coming into the gins in October and November," Gross said. Ginning is expected to start around the last of September and will be finished the early part of December, Gross said.

Valorie Gamble, Pat Cherry Win National Racing Title

Both have been riding since they learned to walk, both are members of the Howard County Sheriff's Posse, and both are national wagon racing champions.

Patricia Cherry, 14-year-old daughter of Ed Cherry, 1613 Indian Hills, and Valorie Gamble, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack W. Gamble, William Green Addition, participated in three district playdays to win the chance to compete in the national finals of the American Association of Sheriff's Posses and Riding Clubs last weekend.

The top three contestants in each event are sent to the national finals, and Miss Cherry and Miss Gamble ranked number one in District 5.

In the national wagon race, they competed against 37 pairs of district champs to win their title. Miss Cherry rides in a small wagon pulled by a horse ridden by Miss Gamble, in the race, with the object being the first pair to make it to the end of the arena, circle a barrel and return to the starting point wins.

Miss Cherry's father is a deputy sheriff and is in charge of the Howard County Sheriff's Posse, and she has been riding with the posse six years. Miss Gamble joined the posse about a year ago.

Both young women are also members of the Howard County Youth Horsemen, and have participated in the annual cowboy reunion and rodeo and the junior rodeo each summer. Miss Cherry will be a sophomore in Big Spring High School this fall, and Miss Gamble will be a freshman.

Friday Pickup Set For Fall Schedules

Lynn C. Hise, assistant superintendent for instruction, has announced the Friday schedule for Big Spring schools.

Elementary students, who have not previously registered, should do so at their respective schools from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Parents of students who registered last year should go by their school to sign the age, grade and record card.

For Runnels and Goliad Junior High Schools, students should meet in their gymnasium for orientation and pick up schedules. Seventh grade students should report at 9:30 a.m. and eighth grade students at 1:30 p.m.

Freshmen at Big Spring High School should meet in the auditorium and pick up schedules from 9 to 10:30 a.m., sophomores from 10:45 to noon, juniors from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., and seniors from 3 to 4 p.m.

John Smith, high school principal, added that new secondary students in the district, grades seven through 12, should go by the high school Monday to register anytime from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. so that schedule cards can be ready for Friday's pick-up. The first full day of classes for all students is Sept. 2.

Wild Goose Suit Filed By Actor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor John Wayne, is suing a building materials firm for $72,000 damages to his 136-foot yacht, Wild Goose, and $36,250 for breach of contract.

Wayne's suit filed in Superior Court said he chartered the diesel-powered yacht to Interpace Corp. from last May 18 to May 23. The boat ran aground May 19 in San Diego Harbor, the suit said, and sustained damages of $72,000.

The suit also said the yacht was not returned to its home harbor, Newport Beach, until July 19, or nearly two months after the end of the charter period. For alleged breach of contract Wayne asks $36,250.

LT. E. G. LUNG

Lt. Lung Gets Honor Award

Nine Air Training Command officers have been selected to receive U.S. Air Force Outstanding Transportation Officer awards, including 1st Lt. Emmet G. Lung, Webb's transportation officer. The award, a certificate of achievement issued by the Air Force Chief of Staff, is presented to "... emphasize the importance of timely, efficient and economical transportation; to encourage professional knowledge of transportation and to recognize and focus public attention on outstanding performance by transportation officers ..."

Lt. Lung came to Webb in June, 1967, to serve as vehicle maintenance officer. In addition to that job, he served a large portion of his tour as acting chief of transportation division, becoming transportation chief Feb. 13, 1969.

A January, 1967, graduate of Purdue University with a bachelor of science degree in industrial management, Lt. Lung also received an ROTC commission. He completed his field training at Lockbourne AFB, Ohio. In June, 1968, he graduated with honors from the vehicle maintenance school at Chanute AFB, Ill.

Lawrence Back From Special Science Course

Donald P. Lawrence is returning to Big Spring this week after completing training in Baylor University's summer science institute for high school biology and chemistry teachers.

Lawrence resides at 501 Edwards Blvd.

The purpose of the eight-week institute was to upgrade instruction by strengthening the subject-matter competence of science and chemistry teachers. Dr. Virgil Tweedie, professor of chemistry at Baylor and director of the program, said.

Baylor's institute was one of 428 held across the United States involving more than 18,000 teacher participants.

BARELY ENOUGH MONEY AVAILABLE

City Budget Shaping Up Tight'

Work on the City of Big Spring annual budget, the first one under the new fiscal year starting Oct. 1, shares the common problem of all local public agencies — there is just barely enough money available to meet current demands.

In the next few weeks, city officials will begin putting the final touches on the proposed budget for presentation to the city commission, and public hearing is tentatively set for Sept. 23.

As the budget figures are shaping up now, City Manager Larry Crow said last week that the city will wind up the 1969-70 year with a balance of only about $13,000, with expenditures of almost $3 million. In the last city budget that covered 12 months, ending last April 1, the city had expenditures of about $2,650,000 and wound up with a balance of about $285,000.

The city sales tax, which gave the city a larger income than was at first anticipated, has already been over-spent — all of the $339,532 collected has been pledged by the City Commission.

In addition, the increased costs of the water and sewer departments has reduced the amount this fund can be used to supplement the general fund. In other words, Crow said, the profits earned by the water and sewer departments in the past have been used to subsidize other departments, such as streets, police, fire, and others.

"Each year, we have transferred $250,000 from the water and sewer fund to the general fund. This year, we have only $130,000 that can be transferred, which means we have $120,000 less money to support many of our departments," he explained.

Higher costs in the water and sewer departments have caused this, he said. Advance estimates indicate the City's costs will be up by about $45,000 in its bills to the Colorado River Municipal Water District, and bond payments for water and sewer revenue bonds will be higher by about $35,000. In addition, water sales are running about on a par with other years, considered on a year-round basis.

"But without the income from the sales tax, we would be looking for some source of additional income," Crow said.

In the first 12 months of the sales tax collections the city received $339,532, half of which was pledged in advance to be used only for capital improvements — $169,766. This leaves a similar amount for city operations.

Of the $169,766 for current expenses, the city commission voted a reduction in the city property tax of 10 cents, which amounts to $62,550 annually, reducing the sales tax income to $107,216.

In anticipation of the sales tax income, a special citizen's study committee recommended city employe salary increases of about $120,000 annually back in 1967. Salary increases by the City Commission for city employes were increased $57,000 effective Oct. 1, 1968, and hiked again April 1, 1969 by $67,400. The latter pay increases total $124,400, which wipes out the balance of the sales tax money available for current expenses, and dips into the income derived from the property tax and other smaller revenue sources.

City income from the property tax in the new budget, Crow said, is expected to be about the same as the 1968-69 budget.

City employes now receive $2 per month for each year of service as longevity pay. This will be increased to $3 per month, effective Jan. 1. The Legislature recently approved this increase and made it mandatory for policemen and firemen. The City Commission is expected to include all city employes under this benefit, as it did when the rate was hiked from $1 to $2 several years ago. The annual cost of this hike will be $21,400.

The capital improvements share of the sales tax income has some unobligated balance, but the commission is expected to make commitments for this money. The total available for this purpose, (since sales taxes began being collected and through the upcoming budget year) is approximately $344,000. The city has spent, or has obligated, $57,000 in 1968-69; $75,731 from April 1 to Oct. 1 this year; and $160,116 in the upcoming budget. This leaves $51,153 pending for new capital improvements projects.

Annual UF Drive Begins Sept. 8

The official kick-off in the 1969-70 United Fund Campaign for $110,000 is planned for Sept. 8, according to Campaign Chairman Harry Sawyer.

At 7 p.m. dutch treat barbecue in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church is scheduled for campaign captains and workers to herald the start of the drive, which is three weeks earlier than last year.

Contributions will go to the 14 United Fund agencies in Big Spring and Howard County: American Red Cross (budget allocation: $15,000), the Salvation Army ($17,000), Milk and Medicine Fund ($2,400), Westside Recreation Center ($1,800), Summer Recreation Program ($1,175), Air Force Aid Society ($2,750), the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center ($10,500), USO ($1,000), Texas Rehabilitation Center ($500), Halfway House ($3,000), Boy Scouts ($13,600), Girl Scouts ($7,200), Young Men's Christian Association ($16,500), and YMCA Lakeview Branch ($6,000).

The fund's 1969-70 budget also allots $9,500 for campaign and year-round operating expenses, makes allowance for $3,000 pledge shrinkage, and proposes to restore $1,475 to the United Fund reserve which has been shrinking in recent years due to failures to meet goals.

This year's campaign goal has been set at $110,000, slightly more than last year's $109,225.

Division goals will have to be higher too, said Mrs. Alyce Butler, executive secretary, but the exact amount won't be determined until Monday. Campaign literature will begin to be distributed next week.

Chairmen for the nine divisions participating in the drive are Paul Meek, out-of-town; Roger Brown, big gifts; Morris Robertson, special gifts; Louis McKnight, metropolitan; Ken Perry, employe; Lt. Col. Ernest C. Cutler, Webb AFB; Erven Fisher, state and federal agencies; Larson Lloyd, town and country; and Mrs. Garner McAdams and Mrs. Harold Davis, women.

The out-of-town and the big-gifts divisions have already kicked off their drives, Mrs. Butler said, but so far not much has come in. Webb AFB has started picking up its materials, and has set Sept. 2 as the kick-off date for its drive activities.

California Is In The Black

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California ended the fiscal year with a $524 million budget surplus, but Gov. Ronald Regan's finance chief said today, "We don't have any money to throw around."

All of the surplus, a record for the state, is committed to programs and to the Republican chief executive's goal of having a balanced budget in 1970-71 without a tax increase, officials said.

Controller Houston Flournoy said Friday two factors contributed to the surplus-greater than expected return from Reagan's $1 billion tax increase program of 1967 and inflation resulting in higher tax payments to the state. The Reagan administration said its economies added to the balance.

RANCH COOLER—The meat and milk house from the historic JA Ranch near Clarendon is being moved to the authentic Ranch Headquarters on the 12-acre site of the new Museum at Texas Tech. Before electric power was available, spring water kept milk and dairy products cool in the stone structure, foreground. Attached to it, left background, was the meat house where beeves, hams and bacon were strung up to cure by means of heavy hooks in an immense roof log. Vats of lard also were put up in the meat house. The cooler will be restored to its original condition at Texas Tech so that visitors may see a true picture of 19th Century ranch life.

Tech Ranch Is Given Milk, Meat Cooler

LUBBOCK — The Ranch Headquarters Committee Saturday announced that the meat and milk house from the historic JA Ranch near Clarendon will become a part of the collection of authentic ranch buildings recreating on the Texas Tech campus an outdoor museum of ranch life.

M. H. W. Ritchie, current owner and operator and grandson of the original owner, Cornelia Wadsworth Ritchie Adair, made the gift to the Ranch Headquarters, established to preserve the ranching history of the Southwest.

"I am conscious of the historic significance of the JA Ranch Headquarters buildings and loathe to part with any of them," Ritchie said, "But by letting the Ranch Headquarters at Texas Tech have the milk house and meat cooler, I feel it will be an appropriate and permanent monument to my ranch and family."

The "cooler" is the third acquisition announced by the committee. The first was a blacksmith shop from the Renderbrook-Spade Ranch at Colorado City, and the second was the headquarters of the Capote Ranch 18 miles west of Gonzalez.

The meat and milk house was described in 1885 by a correspondent for the Galveston News."

"Near the (mess house) is a dairy where the butter is made and the milk stored." Attached to the buttery was the meat house where beeves, hams and bacon were strung up to cure by means of heavy hooks in an immense roof log. Vats of lard were also put up in the meat house. The structure of the stone buttery reveals the pioneer ingenuity credited so often to the builder of the JA Ranch, Charles Goodnight.

It was serviced by spring water piped down a grade to the milk house and meat cooler on the Palo Duro Canyon ranch. The spring water was fed into a trough in which crocks of milk and butter were placed and covered with cloths. The vessels were cooled by the evaporative process.

What Goodnight built, he intended to last. The log cabin he built on the JA still stands as part of the ranch's big house, the mortised ends of the logs as stable today as they were when they went up in 1879.

The cooler is equally sturdy, though it has stood in disuse for many years, abandoned when electricity was brought to the ranch. Dr. W. C. Holden, ranch historian and co-chairman of the Ranch Headquarter Committee, said that the historic structure could be restored to its original condition.

The JA, now a ranch of about a quarter of a million acres in the Panhandle of Texas, once was far larger. It belonged to John Adair and Goodnight, with Adair furnishing the capital to start it and Goodnight managing and building it. During the 10 years of Goodnight's direction, the JA earned a substantial annual profit on the capital invested by Adair, an Irish country gentleman with a large estate at Rathdair, Ireland.

During the time that the ranch was building under Goodnight's direction, 300,000 cattle were handled. Several of the ranch buildings he had built still stand and continue to do useful service. The ranch headquarters are registered as a national historic landmark.

Holden emphasized that the JA building had significance in addition to its age and architectural features.

"It is representative of the cattlemen who went into the ranching business to stay," he said. "The Adairs were more than speculators, and Goodnight was more than a ranch manager. They combined to form a ranch that would endure, and it has."

Uvalde Man Dies In Road Crash

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — A Uvalde man was killed and two Corpus Christi residents were injured in a car-truck accident Friday night on U.S. 83 near this Southwest Texas City.

Juan Guzman, 28, a Uvalde truck driver, was killed in the crash. Injured were Lawrence Reynolds and Ronnie Horn.

Hit-Run Death

DALLAS (AP) — A car killed Robert Nichols, 27, in northeast Dallas early Saturday and police said the driver did not stop.

Nichols, of Garland, had stopped his automobile and alighted to fix mechanical trouble. He was a Collins Radio employe.

Old Magazines Sought For Classroom Teaching

O. A. Madison, audiovisual coordinator for Big Spring High School, is appealing for back issues of magazines which have stories in them on science, history, business, mathematics and other subjects.

These magazines are being used in the high school for creating teaching materials for the classroom.

Madison turns such articles from magazines into usable form by mounting them on stiff cardboard, laminating them for permanance and adding them to the teaching materials library.

He calls this material "instant bulletin board" because teachers can have a bulletin board "in an instant," a process that normally takes hours of the teacher's time.

"Since each page is printed on both sides, two copies of each article are required to make one display. There are several articles not yet complete because of the lack of a second copy," Madison said.

He urged residents to send magazines to the school no matter how old they may be or they may call the high school and the magazines will be picked up.

Pair Held In Man's Death

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Police held a man, 27, and his woman companion Saturday in the death of Meryl D. Grayson, 37, of Midland outside a motel.

Grayson's body was found in a car Thursday night when officers were summoned to stop a fight. Another call, before they arrived, advised them a man apparently had been killed.

Officers said Grayson was beaten and choked.

The couple in custody were booked on a charge of being drunk. Dist. Atty. James Mashburn said the findings in an autopsy would determine whether he filed additional charges.

Texas Has Eight Capitals

AUSTIN — Some Texas cities have a "capital" idea. They claim to be one. And, perhaps they are. There are eight cities that call themselves "Capitals of the World." And they can build a pretty solid case for their claim.

Tyler is Rose Capital of the World. More than half of the field-grown rose bushes in the United States come from an area surrounding Tyler.

Bandera is the Cowboy Capital. And a corral-full of modern dude ranch resorts are sprinkled throughout the Central Texas Hill Country.

Terlingua, in the Trans-Pecos, may be the capital with the fewest citizens. Population is nine. But it's the site of the annual chili cookout contest, and it's called the Chili Capital of the World.

The panhandle has two capitals — Friona for its maize, and Perryton for wheat.

Col. Trumble, Lt. Col. Baker Retire Wednesday At Webb

Two Webb officers will retire in ceremonies Wednesday. Col. John B. Trumble, the base civil engineer, and Lt. Col. John D. Baker Jr., chief of maintenance, will retire in ceremonies in the 3560th Pilot Training Wing headquarters building.

Col. Trumble, who has been at Webb since July, 1968, retires to private business in Boulder, Colo., where he and his family will reside. While at Webb, Col. Trumble directed the maintenance of the physical assets on the base, and helped start many improvement projects, including the new corrosion control facility, the bowling alley, the addition to the academics building, the data processing addition, and Webb's new USAF hospital complex.

COL. J. B. TRUMBLE

LT. COL. J. D. BAKER

Col. Trumble came to Webb following a three year tour at Headquarters, PACAF, at Hickam AFB, Hawaii. While in Hawaii he served as executive officer for the PACAF Deputy Chief of Staff for Civil Engineering and as director of resource planning. He spent two years in Vietnam as director of civil engineering for the Air Force Advisory Group, in Saigon and at Tan Son Nhut AB.

During a six year tour of duty at the Pentagon in Washington, D.C., he was chief of the missile facilities branch, concerned with maintenance and operation of missile sited and allied equipment.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Col. Trumble earned his bachelor of science degree from the College of Agriculture. He entered the military in 1942 and served with the U.S. Army in field artillery for one year before entering the Air Corps in 1943. He graduated from flight school at Lubbock Field, and was subsequently sent to the 12th Combat Cargo Squadron in Burma, where he recorded 98 missions in the C-47 Skytrain and the B-25. After the war he took part in the Berlin Airlift from his station at Fassberg AB, Germany, logging 120 flights.

Col. Trumble and his wife, Evelyn, have six children. John and Margret, the Trumbles' oldest children, live in Peoria, Ill., and Okinawa, while Mark, Danny, Tony and Brian live with their parents in Webb Village.

Lt. Col. John D. Baker Jr., chief of maintenance, came to Webb after a one-year tour as chief of maintenance at Sheppard AFB. He served as commander of the 304th Field Training Detachment at Sewart AFB, Tenn.

A command pilot with over 5,000 hours flying time in 26 different aircraft, Col. Baker completed flying training and received his commission in September, 1943, at Williams AFB, Ariz. His first assignment was the 414th Night Fighter Squadron in Corsica. He saw action over Italy, Belgium and Germany, flying the Beaufighter, an English plane, and the P-61.

Col. Baker retired from the Air Force after World War II and spent five years as a civilian, before he was recalled to active duty in January, 1951. He was then assigned to the All-Weather Fighter School at Tyndall AFB, Fla. The Fighter School was later transferred to Waco, and Col. Baker moved with it. In 1953 he went to maintenance officer's school at Chanute AFB, Ill. At his field training assignments he has supervised maintenance training for the KC-97, B-52, KC-135 and C-130.

Col. Baker and his wife, Carolyn, have two children. Their son, John Douglas, is a senior at the University of Arkansas, and their daughter, Dana Margaret, a recent Big Spring High School graduate, is married to Lt. R. A. Weaver.

Col. Baker will be replaced by Lt. Col. Thomas Difloure Jr., Webb's Organizational Maintenance Squadron commander.

Attaches Payroll Check Of Official

CONROE, Tex. (AP) — The August payroll check of Montgomery County commissioner Bobby Yancey has been attached by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service toward satisfying tax claim of nearly $15,000.

This was disclosed in a notice the Houston office of the IRS sent to Montgomery County auditor Joe Ivy Aug. 11.

The IRS letter said it would continue to attach Yancey's monthly checks until the full amount was satisfied, Ivy said.

Yancey, who became a county commissioner at the start of 1957, also confirmed the attachment. He became involved with tax problems mostly through livestock transactions, he said

GETS LEGION OF MERIT
Col. Anderson Atkinson (right), Gen. John Dyas

Col. Atkinson Receives Air Force Legion Of Merit

The Air Force's fifth highest military decoration, the Legion of Merit, was awarded to Col. Anderson Atkinson, Webb's deputy commander for Operations, last week for exceptionally meritorious conduct while serving in Southeast Asia late last year and early this year.

Making the presentation was Brig. Gen. John R. Dyas, chief of staff, headquarters Air Training Command, Randolph AFB, who was at Webb Thursday on an orientation visit.

Col. Atkinson received the award for his performance as deputy commander for Operations, 366th Tactical Fighter Wing, Da Nang AB, Vietnam, from Dec. 1, 1968, to June 1, 1969. He displayed "aggressive leadership, exemplary foresight and untiring efforts which contributed immeasurably to the success of air operations in Southeast Asia," the citation accompanying the award said.

The citation further stated that Col. Atkinson's "personal actions were instrumental in sustaining an extremely high state of morale and professionalism within the tactical force under an extremely hazardous combat environment.

Pre-School Workshop Opens Wednesday For Teachers

The pre-school workshop for Big Spring teachers, Wednesday through Friday, will feature an address by Dr. Walter H. Adams, vice president for Academic Affairs, Abilene Christian College. His topic, "Some Great Teachers I Have Known," is the highlight of the general session Wednesday in the high school auditorium at 9 a.m.

Dr. Adams, who assumes his position as vice president Sept. 1, is already familiar with Abilene Christian College. He received his bachelor's degree in education from ACC in 1925 and has been a dean there for 37 years.

In 1927 he received his master's degree in education from Stanford University and received his doctorate in guidance and personnel from Columbia University in 1933. In 1968 he was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree by Pepperdine College, Los Angeles.

Dr. Adams is past chairman of the Texas State Board of Examiners for Teacher Education, and the Texas Conference on Education; past president of the Association of Texas Graduate Schools, and the Association of Texas Colleges. He is also a member of the National Society for the Study of Education, the National Education Association, and Texas State Teachers Association.

After Dr. Adams' address the workshop will dismiss for lunch and teachers will meet again from 1:30 to 4 p.m. in their buildings of assignment. There will be a reception honoring new teachers from 8 to 10 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Thursday, the general session gets under way at 9 a.m. with S. M. Anderson, superintendent, presiding. Dr. Marion Sell, West Texas Education Center, and O. A. Madison, AV coordinator for the Big Spring schools, will talk about "Media and Methods." There will be a coffee break at 10:30 and faculty business meetings at 11.

At 1 p.m. elementary and secondary school teachers meet with their principals in their buildings of assignment until 4 p.m. Friday the teachers will be available for registration.

Sadler Says Mafia Is Out To Loot School Children

AUSTIN (AP) — Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, arch foe of pirates, peckerwoods and Charley McCarthys, added another group to his list of sunken treasure villains Saturday: The Mafia.

Sadler testified before the House Rules Committee, which is considering a resolution to censure him for allegedly misrepresenting facts to a House committee.

ENDS AT MIDNIGHT

The resolution was referred to a five-man subcommittee, but the committee chairman, Rep. R.H. Cory of Victoria, said the full committee definitely will get a chance to vote on it, probably Monday. The special legislative session ends at midnight Tuesday.

The Rules Committee voted to ask Gov. Preston Smith to open the special session to consideration of antiquities bill to regulate treasure hunting. If there isn't time for that, the committee wants Smith to call another special session.

The censure resolution, by Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi, says Sadler told a House committee on April 9 that "He had concluded the best possible contract" with Platoro, Ltd., of Gary, Ind., a marine salvage firm.

Platoro recovered gold coins, silver discs and other treasure in late 1967 from the site of a Spanish Galleon wrecked in a hurricane off Padre Island 400 years ago.

NO CONTRACT

The resolution says the committee later learned there was no contract, but it learned this after the regular session, when it was too late to pass an antiquities bill.

Sadler admitted to the Rules Committee he was "a little bit evasive" last spring, but he said it was necessary so Texas could get its hands on two more truckloads of treasure still in Platoro's Indiana office.

"I stated at that time the State of Texas had a contract with Platoro. That was correct. And I say that under oath at this time. But I did not state that Platoro had a contract with the State of Texas," he said.

GLANCES, SMILES

Sadler answered a question by Rep. Guy Floyd of San Antonio by saying "I knew at that time it was misleading. I was busy practicing law before you were born. But I did not misrepresent anything."

Old statehouse pros packed the committee room, watching and listening to Sadler in wonder and amusement, exchanging glances and occasional smiles.

"If anyone can ever show that Platoro had a contract with me, I will resign my office and turn it over to alot of loose mouth folks that want to run for land commissioner," Sadler said.

PECKERWOODS

Sadler earlier characterized these people as peckerwoods and Charley McCarthys.

Sadler earlier characterized these people a speckerwoods—a term he didn't define—and as Charley McCarthys—the wooden dummy that perched on the knee of ventriloquist Edgar Bergen for many years.

Sadler denied choking Rep Jake Johnson of San Antonio, the Palestine commissioner's severist critic. Johnson said Sadler did so when Johnson tried to inspect the treasure at the Land Office.

Without using Johnson's name, Sadler called it "a little unfortunate incident. . .when a poor little old fella came over there. I got him by the tie."

BULLDOZER MOVES IN—A forestry service bulldozer moves in to cut a fire break around flames which raced through Reeche Canyon south of San Bernardino, Calif. The blaze was threatening homes in the $30,000 to $50,000 range. Fire was whipped by 25-mile-an-hour winds.

Brush Fires Rout Hundreds In California

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP..) — Fires that forced more than 400 persons to flee their homes crackled across 50 miles of brush and grass Saturday. Firemen said it would take days to control them.

One of 700 firefighters was injured.

Centers were set up at fire stations to handle evacuees.

Crews from city fire departments and state and federal forestry camps worked in 100-degree heat to cut lines around fires, in San Diego County, where three blazes blackened more than 50,000 acres.

Some firefighters were transferred from two smaller blazes that scorched 1,900 acres in bordering San Bernardino County before they were controlled during the morning.

"We've been lucky," said a spokesman for the State Division of Forestry. "The fires are burning away from populated areas. But it will be days before we can get them under control."

The spokesman said many of the evacuees, who left their ranches when the fire burned toward them Friday night, were expected to return by Sunday morning.

The injured fireman bruised his legs when he was caught in a rockslide. He was not hospitalized.

Street Employes Busy During July

The city street department had a busy month during July.

According to its monthly report, it graded 365 blocks of streets and 157 blcoks of alleys, while 12 blocks of streets were rebuilt and 96 blocks of shoulders were cleaned and graded. City crews cleaned 275 cubic yards of trash from streets and alleys with heavy equipment and hand cleaned 25 blocks of alleys of 125 cubic yards of trash.

There were eight pavement cuts repaired during the month, two made by Pioneer Natural Gas Co. and six made by the city water department.

On North Scurry from Northwest Seventh to Northwest Ninth 708 running feet of four-foot sidewalk was finished. NCY crews hauled off 45 loads of weeds from downtown right of ways.

Thieves Nab Auto Items

Big Spring police Saturday were investigating the theft of automotive equipment from Chuck's Automotive, 900 W. Fifth St.

Police said taken from cars outside the building were two bucket seats, a rearview mirror and a shift knob for a 1964 MG and two tires and wheels for a 1965 Chevrolet. Total value of the missing items was listed at $100.

In late Friday activity police investigated the theft of a 12-guage shotgun from the residence of Leo Vollmer, which had been taken sometime between July 20 and Aug. 15 from a hot water heater closet in the house at 3707 Caroline St. Value of the gun was listed at $75.

A four-track stero player, valued at $45, was reported stolen from a car owned by Brent Brooks, Route 2, Big Spring while the car was parked on a parking lot at IS 20 and US 87 Friday morning.

CARD OF THANKS

Our sincere thanks to the kind friends, neighbors and relatives and especially the nurses and doctors for expressions of sympathy, and other courtesies extended to us during our recent bereavement.

Cotton Yield In County Is Estimated At 35,000 Bales

Dry hot weather in Howard County this summer was listed as the main factor which will keep cotton production this year to approximately a half a bale per acre, or 35,000 bales, according to County Agent Paul Gross.

Gross explained that the hot weather has been detremental to the crop, but that it would have been ideal if there had been some moisture with it.

"You get better quality cotton when you have hot weather and rain even now would be of some benefit, but not the benefit we would have gotten thirty days ago," the agent added.

Alton Marwitz, vice president and agricultural loan officer of State National Bank said he is expecting yield to be approximately 35,000 bales or a half bale of cotton per acre this year.

He said the county can expect approximately $3,000,000 income from cotton plus support payments made to farmers by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

Listed as the next harmful thing to the dry weather this season has been insect infestation, although Gross said both the boll weevil and boll worm have been light, mainly due to the hot weather.

Gross said the cotton coming in this year is expected to be medium quality, with most of it being of an inch or better staple.

He said the 35,000 bales does not top the best year the county has had, as a record crop was recorded last year when 50,000 bales were harvested. The lightest year was in 1967 when only 19,000 bales were made.

Approximately 90 per cent of the crop is expected to be pulled by machine this year.

Ginning in the county is expected to start strong around the end of September, with the main part of the work being done in October and November.

Firemen Answer Two Fire Calls

Big Spring firemen were called to the scene of a house fire at 3:10 p.m. Friday at 1500-B Wood St., which was out on arrival.

Occupant of the house was listed as Lt. J. L. Wise. Cause of the fire was unknown.

Firemen also extinguished a small grass fire at 11:50 p.m. Friday near Moss Elementary School. Cause of the blaze was listed as burning trash.

Fleeing Car, Pursuing Vehicle Meet In Crash

A minor accident in Big Spring City Park at 9:53 p.m. Friday brought a high speed chase by police which ended in a major accident between the car being chased and the police vehicle.

Following the major accident at Sixth St. and Austin St., Isidoro Galan of 808 Nolan, was treated and released from Cowper Clinic and Hospital.

The incident started with a minor accident in City Park when a car driven by Galan struck a parked vehicle owned by Wiley G. Holley of Odessa. Police said the Galan car then left the scene of this accident.

A city patrol car driven by Gary V. Wells of 4112 Muir St. started pursuit of the Galan auto near the entrance to City Park.

At the intersection of Sixth St. and Austin St. the Galan vehicle hit a tree and bounded back into the side of the patrol car. Damage to the Galan car was estimated at $225 and at $400 to the patrol car.

Galan was arrested for driving while intoxicated and disorderly conduct, but was later released on a $500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter.

Both vehicles were headed east on Sixth St. at the time of the accident.

In a second major mishap at 2:33 a.m. Saturday Jerry Wayne Roach, 19, of Midland was treated and released from Webb AFB Hospital after his car was in collision with a pickup truck parked at 1111 11th Place.

Roach's vehicle veered off and struck a tree stump which was knocked into the rear of a car owned by Ruth Grantham, 1111 11th Place.

BILLY RAY RIVES

Rives Is New Patrolman

Billy Ray Rives, 23, of 1507 W. Cherokee St., started to work Friday aftrenoon as a patrolman with the Big Spring Police Department.

Rives, who has been assigned to the patrol division here, came from the West Columbia police force where he had worked for a year as a patrolman.

He has attended the Southwest Academy for Law Enforcement at College of the Mainland in Rosenburg and is a 1965 graduate of Perryland High School.

He is married to Patsy Ann Rives and they have one son, Don Reuben, 2.

Storm Loss In Climbing

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The latest estimate by the Insurance Information Institute is that insurance companies will have to pay between $200 million and $225 million to cover insured losses caused by Hurricane Camille.

The institute had previously estimated the insured loss at $100 million. A spokesman said Friday that extensive flooding and disruption of communications still are hampering evaluation of losses, particularly to oil properties.

The spokesman said insurance policies covering losses to fixed properties and their contents normally exclude damage from waves and flooding but that some marine policies do provide for such losses.

Insurance investigation teams working in the area of greatest damage — Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama — are estimating the insured loss to fixed property and contents at $165 million.

This includes $138 million in Mississippi alone. Louisiana losses are estimated at $25 million and Alabama's $2 million.

Insurance men estimate insured losses of more than $40 million for non-fixed property losses such as automobiles, ships, boats, marine cargoes, goods in transit, piers and bridges and oil property in the Gulf of Mexico.

Damage to mobile homes was estimated at $9 million.

Westbrook To Begin Classes On Wednesday

WESTBROOK (SC) — Westbrook Public Schools will begin the 1969-70 school year Wednesday, following a two day pre-registration for high school students, according to the new superintendent, L. M. Dawson.

Dawson is returning to his hometown after serving 13 years as superintendent of Fluvanna schools. He said classes would begin at 8:25 a.m. Wednesday.

Junior high and high school students will meet in the auditorium at 8:30 o'clock opening day for a brief orientation before beginning regular classes. The first six grades will have an auditorium session at 1:30 p.m. for orientation.

School buses will operate on regular schedule Wednesday morning, and lunch will be served under new personnel. Mrs. A. C. Putman is supervisor, assisted by Mrs. Edgar Andrews, who has been with the school a number of years, and Mrs. Clyde Chambers, who is also new to the system. Students will be dismissed at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Pre-registration for high school seniors will be Monday at 1:30 o'clock. Freshmen will pre-register the same day at 2:30 p.m. Pre-registration will continue Tuesday, with sophomores reporting at 1:30 p.m. and junior class members at 2:30 p.m.

DEATHS

Mrs. Whitaker, Colorado City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mrs. Lizzie Whitaker, 77, died at 2:30 a.m. Saturday in the Root Memorial Hospital after a short illness.

Harris, Dumas; James Harris, Ridgecrest, Calif.; four daughters, Mrs. Fred Johnson and Mrs. Ed Sandusky, both of Merkel, Mrs. A. B. Boyd, Trent, and Mrs. Walter Martin, Cottage Grove, Ore.

Ex-Employe Loses Appeal In Case Against Schools

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The 11th Court of Civil Appeals has refused a motion for rehearing in the case of Charlie Nichol Farrar vs. the Colorado City Independent School District. It previously had declined to hear the case appealed from the 32nd District Court here.

Farrar, who had been tax collector for the school district, filed suit against the district in May, 1968, alleging he had been "wrongfully discharged" by Supt. James McMath, whose action was upheld by the school board.

The case was heard by Judge Joe Dibrell of Brownwood, who dismissed it, and Farrar's attorney carried the matter to the appellate court.

Last Spring, both Farrar and his attorney, Dell Barber of Colorado City, ran for places on the local school board. Both were defeated.

Mower Theft

The theft of a lawnmower, valued between $5 and $50 was reported to Big Spring police Saturday by Jack F. Johnson of 1312 Dixie Ave. Police said the mower had been taken from the man's back yard.

Youth Recognition Night Slated At VA Hospital

The annual Youth Appreciation Award Service of the Veterans Administration Hospital here will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in room 232 of the Hospital.

The meeting is expected to be attended by approximately 100 persons, who will see various types of certificates given to the youth who work for no pay at the hospital, according to Mrs. Ara S. Cunningham, director of voluntary services.

She said approximately 30 youths give of their time at the hospital with as many as 500 hours of free time being donated by one youth.

A certificate of outstanding service will be presented to the youth by Dr. H. C. Ernsting, chief of staff and chairman of the Veterans Administrative Voluntary Services.

Two certificates of merit will be presented to youths with more than 300 hours of free service to the hospital. These certificates will be presented by Mrs. Cynthia Fritsche, assistant chief of nursing services.

R. W. Waters, assistant chief of medical administration services and W. H. Brooks, chief of the personnel division will present 18 certificates of appreciation for 100 hours of service or more.

Jack D. Powell, hospital director, will present the certificate of exceptional service and give a welcoming address.

Entertainment for the meeting will be provided by "The Golden Horns", a Big Spring High School stage band and Ruth Russell, a youth volunteer, will present a musical prelude to the program.

YOUNG CANCER VICTIM BACK IN HOSPITAL

Danny May Miss Kindergarten

A lot of people remember Danny Leuschner, his misfortunes, his courage and good spirit, in his up-and-down battle with cancer of the lymph glands.

He had made good progress for a time in his fight, but now he is back in the M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston, and it looks like he won't get to enter kindergarten.

Danny, now 5, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Leuschner. Back in 1967, his illness was discovered, but it wasn't until spring of 1968 that he got in a serious way, and had to have some help.

When his plight became known, many people responded, and money to help pay the terrific cost of treatment went into a fund administered by the Security State Bank.

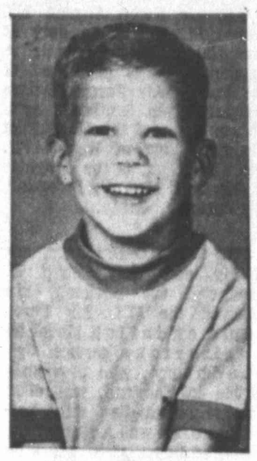

Danny made progress, and for a time was able to be back at the family home, 1706 Alabama. But even so, he spent 20 weeks out of 1968 in the hospital.

His mother has written about his return to the Houston treatment center:

"So many people at Big Spring and surrounding communities sent cards and good wishes and offered their prayers that there was no other way, except for Danny to get better. His progress grew in leaps and bounds and he was so excited about starting to kindergarten this fall.

"Two weeks ago Danny became ill and was admitted again to M.D. Anderson. Danny enjoyed his cards so much — maybe the people of Big Spring could take time to send another card. He is in Room 612 West, M. D. Anderson Hospital, Houston."

Danny's father is an electronics specialist at Webb AFB, and has been taking other jobs to help meet expenses. Until the lad's illness forced her to take a leave of absence, Mrs. Leuschner had worked for the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

Blast Planned To Spark Gas Recovery Protested

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — An underground nuclear blast scheduled for Sept. 4 in western Colorado could lead to a new natural gas industry for mountain states. But opponents of the project say they are worried about other effects.

The issue is whether radioactivity from the blast and hundreds of others that might follow it will contaminate air and water or will enter the food chain from vegetation to animals to humans.

The experimental explosion, Project Rulison, is sponsored by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and Austral Oil Co., based at Houston, Tex. Also participating are numerous federal agencies—and some two dozen private companies.

The $6.5-million venture, largely financed by the private businesses, calls for a 40 kiloton explosion—equivalent to 40,000 tons of TNT—8,442.5 feet below the surface of Battlement Mesa 40 miles northeast of Grand Junction, Colo. It is intended to jar natural gas out of Mesa Verde sandstone where it had been locked for eons.

Gov. John A. Love, a Republican, says he thinks it should proceed. He points out that "very competent people" from the AEC and state and federal health services have declared it safe. The question of future explosions must be decided on the basis of the initial test, he insists.

Lt. Gov. Mark A. Hogan, a Democrat, is calling for a post pontment until absolute safety is determined by someone other than AEC officials. He has asked the public to join in the demand.

Dr. H. Peter Metzger, head of the Colorado Committee for Environmental Information, says any changes resulting from the test blast cannot be undone and future generations will have to live with the consequences.

The committee, composed of scientists, has submitted technical questions to the AEC on such subjects as the amount and kind of escaping radioactivity. It claims the people have a right to decide from the facts whether possible economic benefits "are worth the risk of serious long - term environmental contamination.

The AEC estimates it would take 20 megatons—500 times the Rulison charge—to unlock 300 trillion cubic feet of natural gas diffused through rock formation in Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Wyoming. The AEC says nuclear shakeouts also might be applied in Kansas and Texas.

Hogan says he has been advised 200 blasts would be required just to develop the Colorado field.

Comparatively few objections have come from the area itself, where creation of a new industry is foreseen.

It follows up a smaller subterranean explosion set off in northwest New Mexico Dec. 10, 1967. That project, Gasbuggy, was 26 kilotons, set off 4,200 feet below ground.

The AEC says gaseous radioactive effects from Rulison should be only one-tenth those of Gasbuggy, which produced a huge volume of contaminated gas.

The Rulison explosive already has been inched into the test hole about 7½ miles from Grand Valley, the nearest town. Alternative layers of sand and gravel are being poured into the casing to cover the fission bomb to ground level.

Ground zero will be marked the day of the Rulison blast by a colored weather balloon anchored atop Battlement Mesa. The ground will shake but project sponsors expect no other outward sign of the explosion.

Inside the earth, sandstone will be vaporized, forming a spherical cavity 160 feet in diameter. Liquefied rock will collect at the bottom and will harden, sealing within it most of the radioactivity, AEC experts say.

Rock for 740 feet around will be cracked, freeing gas. No fissures are expected to open to the surface.

THE WEEK

Both bales were earlier than the openers of a season ago.

Getting back to taxes: There was a flurry of activity all week, as attorneys worked out a compromise on new rural land values that would be acceptable to both property owners (who had threatened court action against a higher schedule of values), and to governing bodies pressed for more money.

Under the program generally accepted, the hike on pasture lands was cut back from 78.5 per cent to 52 per cent, and on cultivated lands from 27.7 per cent to eight per cent. County commissioners, the school board and the HCJC board voted to accept the new schedule. The school district's board of equalization, however, was questioning where its authority stood. Another question: What happens to the various public budgets?

* * *

The Chamber of Commerce (which has nothing to do with taxes) is planning a special banquet for rural residents, as a Farmer-Rancher Appreciation affair. Merchants in the city will be hosts, and the event is aimed at good fellowship. A date has not been set.

* * *

Oil activity continues in the Hutto Field just east of town, with Amerada-Hess announcing two completions. This has gotten to be a recent "hot spot."

* * *

Names in the news: O. B. Bryan, a friendly fellow from over Stanton way who manages the Cap Rock Electric Co-Op, was honored by colleagues in being named president of the Texas Cooperatives. And out at Webb AFB, C.M. Sgt. Herbert Craig was named wing sergeant major, a rating that puts him at the top of enlisted men. His job, under Col. Harrison Lobdell, is to maintain liaison between the wing commander and enlisted personnel.

And the city is losing Bobby Jack and Jo Priddy, he a minister of enlistment and youth education at First Baptist Church, and she a school teacher. Priddy resigned his post to join the staff of a church at Port Neches.

* * *

Howard County Junior College showed off its handsome new student center lounge the other night. This space was once a dust-blown open patio, and now it's a beautiful room tastefully furnished and giving an atmosphere of real get-together-ness.

* * *

Howard County received word that it could move into the old post office building, to start remodeling toward a new and larger library facility. This may be a slow project, but it is going to be a real asset to the whole county.

* * *

Big Spring is listed among cities that would be served by a proposed new airplane taxi and cargo service. Lubbock-Amarillo Armored Service has asked for a state certificate to provide quick-haul delivery via air to a number of Texas towns.

* * *

The city has finished its seal-coating work on streets, covering some 135 blocks at a cost of around $15,000. This keeps the streets in good repair, but drivers could ask is all that loose gravel necessary?

* * *

Grass fires continued to plague the area, and some of them were serious. If we can't get rain, then we can be more careful.

* * *

Tragedies in the area included a traffic crash near Garden City, in which Dennis Doyle Starks of San Angelo lost his life.

* * *

Summer may be ending sooner than you think. Some schools are open, and Coahoma, Forsan and Colorado City all reported some increase in enrollments. And the traditional Quarterback Club barbecue (attracting some 600) signaled that football time is right upon us. In fact, the first home game in Big Spring is Sept. 12. Season tickets are selling, and may go above previous year's marks.

ON SOUTH PLAINS

Dryland Cotton Deteriorating

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Teasing showers and a few spotted good rains early in the week didn't even dent the statewide drought. The prolonged hot and dry weather, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, is pushing crops to maturity and the harvest pace above average.

He said crop prospects declined and yields of most crops are below average. Ranges literally now "burn." However, much dry forage is still available and livestock are holding up well, he said. Feeding is becoming more widespread and some increase in livestock marketings were noted in some areas.

District agents gave Hutchison these reports:

Dryland cotton on the South Plains (Lubbock) is deteriorating and rain is badly needed. Irrigated cotton made good progress. Irrigated pastures, sugar beets and soybeans are progressing nicely. Carrots, cucumbers, onions and potatoes are being harvested and silage crops are going into silos. Ranges are very dry and need rain. Cattle were in fair condition. Early dryland grain sorghum is being harvested and later plantings are in drought stress. Irrigated sorghum is good.

Showers in North Central Texas helped a little but all counties are still very dry. The sorghum harvest was in full swing with yields far below normal. All crops are suffering from drouth and ranges are very dry and providing no green grazing. Livestock were in fair condition.

Hot, dry weather in Far West Texas broke cotton open and some counties have ginned their first bales. The sorghum harvest is on way and dryland yields are very low. Irrigated alfalfa is producing excellent hay. The onion and cantaloupe harvests are about over. Ranges are very dry but livestock are still in good condition. Some feeding has started.

The South Texas cotton harvest moved full speed ahead. The sorghum harvest was about over. Moisture is short to very short and vegetable growers are irrigating around the clock. Rangelands are very dry but livestock in general are still in good condition.

Wedding At Fort Concho First Time In 80 Years

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Ft. Concho Chapel had its day.

Spec. 4 Anthony Bir, 20, has his bride. San Angelo has witnessed the blending of two eras.

It all happened Saturday in the little rock chapel which hasn't had its doors open for a wedding in 80 years, the length of time since Ft. Concho was the home of military men sent to the frontier to fight the Apache Indians.

But Saturday the doors opened, the one ceiling fan was whirling, and the antique organ was peeling its best sounds.

There were other noises, too, in the tiny chapel — sounds a fort resident in 1880 wouldn't recognize.

There were the sounds of television cameras, high-heeled shoes on the wood floor, and cars bringing passengers to the chapel.

But the two eras were blended the minute Spec. 4 Bir and best man Spec. 5 Michael Goss of Orlando, Fla., walked down the aisle with their 1800-style caverly uniforms complete with sabers, helmets and boots.

Then came the maid of honor and finally the bride, Patricia Benton of San Angelo in her hooped skirt, also typical of an era almost forgotten.

The ceremony was typical of a wedding of any era—except that near the end guests were asked to remain seated while photographers took pictures.

At the reception, also at Ft. Concho in one of the officer's quarters, the bride's cake was traditional but the groom's cake was made from a recipe used by the wife of Col. Benjamin Grierson, first Ft. Concho commander in 1867.

By Monday, Ft. Concho chapel will be closed and a wedding committee of seven men representing the board of city develop ment who paid the expenses of the event, will be disbanded.

Bir, from Marion, Ind., is stationed at Goodfellow Air Force Base in San Angelo with the Army Security Agency detachment. He met his wife in San Angelo.

When the couple decided they wanted to get married in the chapel at Ft. Concho, community leaders stepped in to help them. Ft. Concho, which closed in 1889, has been restored as a museum.

Bir had one problem. While he wanted to get married in an old uniform, his specialist rank did not exist at the time the uniform was worn.

His Army commander solved the problem by temporarily promoting him to sergeant. But Monday, the promotion will be rescinded.

Six Students Stage Sit-In At El Paso

EL PASO (AP) — Police Saturday arrested six students staging a sit-in against El Paso's city sales tax at the lunchtime rush hour in a downtown restaurant.

The six are delegates to the annual congress now in session of the National Students Association (NSA) at the University of Texas at El Paso.

The students were charged loitering after tying up lunchtime traffic in the Oasis Restaurant, just across the street from one of the hotels where NSA delegates are quartered.

Other students poured from the hotel and cheered as blue-clad El Paso police donned riot helmets and entered the restaurant to make the arrests.

Among those apprehended was William Shamblin, 22, NSA vice president and a graduate of the University of Alabama.

A half dozen coeds, most dressed in minishorts, also were involved in the sit-in but police released them outside the restaurant. One coed, attempted to climb into a police car to place herself under arrest but police refused to arrest her.

The students were protesting use of tax receipts which they claim are not being used to create better housing and living conditions for residents in the city's depressed areas.

Some 1,000 students from across the country are in El Paso for the meeting, scheduled to end next Friday.

In general, the students in El Paso have been orderly. Those arrested were among a group of 17 who have entered various El Paso stores over the past two days to make small purchases and then to decline payment of the sales tax.

Most merchants have refused to press for payment of the sales tax when students have objected. The Oasis Restaurant management followed this approach today but the students insisted the tax law be enforced. They appeared happy only when police showed up and arrests were made.

Marker Planned

STANTON (SC) — The Martin County Historical Survey Committee Thursday evening heard a report on the museum exhibit for the Old Settlers Reunion. Discussion concerned locations for the museum and the possible location of several historical markers. It was decided that a marker commemorating "Mariensfeld," the first name of the town of Stanton, would be placed on the courthouse lawn by the first of the year. The committee voted to continue the sale of Texas place mats as a project. There were 13 members present.

PAISLEY ARRIVES TO PROTEST—The Rev. Ian Paisley, left, accompanied by Dr. Carl McIntire, of Collingswood, N.J., president of the International Council of Christian Churches, arrives at Stormont Castle Saturday to protest the disarming of the controversial B-Special police. The castle, in a Belfast suburb, is the seat of the Ulster provincial government.

B-Specials Start Handing In Arms

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Britain's security crackdown began to take the fuse out of the explosive Northern Ireland situation Saturday. Arms were turned in and a protest demonstration banned.

The controversial B-Special police, an all-Protestant reserve force blamed by Ulster's Roman Catholic minority for the violence in last week's religious rioting, began turning in weapons at central armories under British army orders.

Militant Protestants planned to protest the disarming of the B-Specials in a motorcade to Stormont Castle, seat of the Ulster provincial government. But the attorney general's office barred the demonstration and the 200 supporters of the Rev. Ian Paisley made no attempt to defy the ban.

Paisely denounced the ban as a sympton of "military dictatorship" in Northern Ireland, but entered Stormont alone to file his protest peaceably.

His restrained action appeared to remove any immediate threat of renewed violence against the controversial decision to disarm the B-Specials.

The British military commander in Northern Ireland, Lt. Gen. Sir Ian Freeland, ordered Ulster's 8,000 B-Specials Friday to turn in their arms. They will be reissued again only on his order now that he has assumed responsibility for all security forces in Ulster, including the police.

The order was seen by hardline Protestants as a threat to their safety. They regard the B-Specials as a front line defense against Catholic civil rights demonstrators and republicans seeking to unite Ulster with the Irish Republic to the south.

Carolyn Montgomery To Be With Choir At Lamesa

CAROLYN MONTGOMERY

Carolyn Montgomery, a 1969 graduate of Big Spring High School, will appear Wednesday night with Tour A of the Continental Singers in Lamesa.

Tour B will present a program Thursday night in Big Spring at First Baptist Church, 705 W. Marcy.

Miss Montgomery, the daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Reuben H. Graunke, 256-A March Circle, joined the troupe June 13 in California. She auditioned last summer when the singers performed here and was notified in October she had been accepted.

The Tour A singers began in Tarzana, Calif., toured the United States and the Bahama Islands, and are now en route to California. Miss Montgomery will return home Sept. 4.

The young musicians are responsible for their own expenses, although many have sponsors who help defray costs of the tour. First Baptist Church here acted as Miss Montgomery's sponsor.

She plans to work in Big Spring this fall and make the tour again next summer, she told her parents in a phone call this week.

The program Wednesday will be in the First Baptist Church, Lamesa.

The Continental Singers consists of four groups of young musicians, composed of high school seniors and college students, making summer tours through the United States, Europe and South America. Each group contains a 20-member orchestra and a 20-member choir.

The concerts are religious in nature, but are non-denominational. Students are accepted only after a personal audition.

Miss Montgomery was a soprano in the a cappella choir at Big Spring High School, and is an active member of First Baptist Church. She sings in both the youth and adult choirs.

Case Of Missing Jewelry Solved

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — A missing case of jewelry, lost in May in a London airport, came home to a Houston woman by way of Midland.

Mrs. H. W. Linnstaedter of Houston, formerly of Midland, lost the case containing jewelry worth $15,000 at London's Heath Row Airport May 15.

Police were called but a search of the airport failed to find it.

But then Thursday, Midland City Manager James Brown received a letter from a custom's official at the airport, C.B. Spry. Spry said he had found the case at the airport this past week.

U.S. Air Force Major Kenny D. Cobb, was recently decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross for outstanding and courageous airmanship in Vietnam. He was cited for heroic action when he kept his battle-damaged F-4 Phantom from crashing into the populated area near Da Nang Air Base. He remained with the crippled aircraft, directing it over known hostile territory where he bailed out as the Phantom started to plummet to earth.

Shortly after he landed in a rice paddy, the major was picked up from the enemy-infested area, which later became the scene of heavy fighting. Major Cobb, who received the Purple Heart for injuries sustained during the ejection, was honored at March AFB, Calif. He is aide-de-camp to General Jack J. Catton and has since accompanied the general, new commander of the Military Airlift Command, to MAC headquarters at Scott AFB, Ill.

A senior pilot, the major completed 52 combat missions, 31 of them over North Vietnam prior to the bombing halt last year, during his tour of duty in Southeast Asia. He was commissioned in 1955 through the aviation cadet program. He earned a degree in science from Southern Colorado State College in 1965. Major Cobb's wife, Nancy, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Milford, 1305 Princton, Big Spring.

RECEIVES PROMOTION — Fred A. Riggan has been promoted to sergeant in the U.S. Army while serving with the 25th Transportation Center in Pusan, Korea. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Riggan, 510 Benton. Riggan entered the Army in April, 1968, took his basic training at Fort Polk, La., then trained further at Fort Benning, Ga., before going to Korea nine months ago. He is due to return home Dec. 17. Mr. and Mrs. Riggan have one daughter, Cheri, who is two months old.

Army 1st Lt. Paul E. Moore, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne C. Moore, Sterling City Route, Big Spring, was assigned July 14 to the I Field Force, Vietnam Artillery as an automatic weapons platoon leader. His wife, Carol, lives in El Paso.

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 days on Grapefruit Diet

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. (Special) — This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S.

Because this diet really works. We have testimonials reporting on its success. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. No weight loss in the first four days but you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1½ pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there will be no hunger pangs. Revised and enlarged, this diet lets you stuff yourself with formerly "forbidden" foods, such as steaks trimmed with fat, roast or fried chicken, gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon fats, sausages and scrambled eggs and still lose weight. The secret behind this "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not form fat. And the grapefruit juice in this diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger"), to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. A copy of this startling successful diet can be obtained by sending $2 to

Citrus Diet Plan

SUNDAY

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This Sunday is yours to devise whatever thoughts, or plans of action, would move your life to solid ground. You would be wise to attend the services of your choice. Or participate in studies that renew the proven way of doing things. Seek progress and stability.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You are eager to make a finer place for yourself in the world. Find the right plan that will enable you to do so. You can enlist the aid of influential persons. Make as many new contacts as you can. Benefits can be considerable.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) This is a fine day to contact wise individuals who can add to your enlightenment and help you to advance. A plan for early travel can be formulated now. Make this day and evening happy, productive.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Follow your intuition today to help you solve your dilemma. One who is attached to you can be very affectionate. Be responsive. Have you read that new book you're so interested in?

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Talk over with your associates certain problems that will lead to a far better understanding of what to do in the future. Show true cooperation. Try to please all your partners.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Talk with co-workers today. Plan your work together more intelligently. Come to a true understanding. Take the health treatment you need. Avoid doing strenuous work.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get out to those fun outlets that let you forget your worries and foibles. Be charming with everyone. You can put those fine talents to work in a very ingenious way. Others can find you delightful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Do some special favors for those at home and there will be more harmony in the days ahead. Plan how to beautify your home, pleasing those who visit there as well. Don't forget to visit some good relative you have neglected lately.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show your regular associates that you are as concerned about their welfare as you are of your own. Add to present feelings of good will. Be sure to attend services. Then meet with congenial friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Think how you can make the place where you live more charming. Plan how to get ahead faster in the future. Follow your hunches. Schedule the new week intelligently so that you accomplish a great deal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Enjoy that favorite hobby today. Be as active as you can. Show that you enjoy pleasing your good friends. Don't make an appointment and then not keep it. This is a very bad habit.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Some study in a quiet room is good now. Others could distract you from concentrating. Meditation brings the right answers. Evening is ideal for romance and the happy things of life.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Ideal day and evening for participating in the activities with good friends that could lead to the benefits you want. Encourage a new acquaintance. He, or she, could become a delightful friend.

MONDAY

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You can start the week right by accepting delays that are in the path of your activities. They soon pass. You find you are able to put in effect some course of action that can bring you a new awareness of modern trends, especially in the world of art, music, color or culture. Be alert.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Your friends are willing to help you with personal matters. Forget about money for the time being. Accept an invitation or give a party yourself. Be happy with congenial people.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Think in terms of worldly success instead of your personal desires. You can accomplish a great deal now. You must handle civic affairs cleverly. Take time to help others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Put those clever ideas to work now and you can be very successful. Forget that dull routine. You need new information. Go to one whose experience has been different than yours.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Keep the promises you made; then you can be with your good friends. Follow your intuition and you will understand how to please your mate more. Make your life more satisfying.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Once your work is completed, take care of those association matters you have been neglecting. Then enjoy your hobbies. You can talk about your ambitions at the same time. Avoid persons who waste your time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Find more modern methods of handling jobs assigned to you. Try to improve your appearance by buying a new wardrobe that appeals to you. Make sure that everything you choose is in excellent taste and the color is right.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get out and enjoy yourself. Don't get depressed listening to that person who wants to keep you down all the time. Be with persons who are on your intellectual level. Have a wonderful time, for a change.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Improve the appearance of your home and make it more delightful to live in. Buy furniture or gadgets. Tell your kin what you plan to do. Get their approval and all will be fine. Be happy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is the right day to buy supplies for whatever you have planned to do. Set up appointments with persons who can assist you. Plan trips, write letters, telephone others, etc.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are able to get the support of a financial expert. This important person agrees with your ideas for a more modern means of operation. You can add appreciably to your assets. Increase good will. Be wise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) This is a good day to get out of the house early and spend the day with good friends — people you really like who you haven't seen in some time. Be your own gregarious self. Start expressing yourself as you want to. Show ingenuity in entertaining your friends.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) One who believes in you will go along with some confidential matter that means a great deal to you. You are a compassionate person and should help those who come to you for assistance. Be generous.

SICKNESS HAS NO OFFICE HOURS

If you are fortunate, sometimes when you are sick, there is no urgent rush for the medicine you need. Perhaps delaying the treatment will not seriously inconvenience you. But, as a rule, if you are sick, the quicker you begin taking a medicine, the sooner you will get relief. Delay can be dangerous. We dispense prescriptions as quickly as safety permits.

The wisest rule is to take every medicine your Doctor directs as soon as possible, as often as he specifies and unless he tells you differently, take all the medicine he prescribes until none is left.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Grand Slam Homer Destroys Houston

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Hickman's second homer of the game, a grand slam in the seventh inning, helped the Chicago Cubs stop the Houston Astros 11-5 Saturday and break a three game losing streak.

Ken Holtzman, 15-7, making his first appearance since hurling a no-hitter against Atlanta Tuesday, benefited from the Cub power display, which also included home runs by Ron Santo in the first inning and consecutive shots by Ernie Banks and Hickman in the fourth.

Hickman's slam was the fourth of his career as he notched his 12th and 13th homers of the season, six this month.

With the Astros ahead 5-4, Fred Gladding took over for Tom Griffin in the seventh, which began with Don Kessinger singling to center. After Glenn Beckert forced Kessinger, Billy Williams broke an 0-for-19 streak with a double. Santo was purposely passed and Banks fanned before Hickman unloaded his homer, the first off Gladding in 59 1-3 innings. The Cubs added three more in the eighth.

An error and Santo's 26th homer of the season gave the Cubs a 2-0 first inning lead.

Billy Martin's Missus Won't Second Guess Him

Example:

Richie Reese hits a bases loaded home run that gives the Twins a crucial victory over Baltimore.

En route to the airport the next day to send the manager off on a roadtrip, Mrs. Martin poses a question many Twins fans were asking.

"I asked him, 'Rich Reese is going to be in the lineup tonight, isn't he?'" said Mrs. Martin. "He said no, and I thought he was kidding me."

Rick Renick started the game instead, Martin's explanation that certain left-handed pitchers give Reese trouble.

"Renick got two big RBI's in the first inning and we won the game," said the manager's wife. "I really wouldn't dare to disagree with him about baseball. Once in a while I start to second guess him but I realize what he is doing is probably best."

How does the manager's wife size up Minnesota's pennant fight with the Oakland A's in the American League's West Division?

"I've felt all along we would be in first place," she said. "We haven't been getting the front-line pitching we needed. But the players are coming through. I don't think too many people expected Oakland to pull out some of these ninth inning miracles."

Petite Gretchen Martin, her blonde hair smartly combed to one side and accented by corkscrew curls, started learning her baseball when she lived in Alliance, Neb., and Martin was beginning his big league playing career in 1950.

"The first major league game I saw was in September when Billy had just been called up by the Yankees in 1950," Mrs. Martin said.

Billy met and married Gretchen in 1959 near the end of his playing career. He later scouted and coached for the Twins, becoming manager this season.

What is her reaction to some of Martin's outspoken comments, which have prompted national headlines?

"Billy is good copy and always has been. He doesn't fit the mold of the man in the gray flannel suit. It's just his nature to speak out on what he thinks."

Baltimore Beaten By Oakland A's

OAKLAND (AP) — Pinch hitter Bob Johnson tied the score with a sacrifice fly and Bert Campaneris singled home the go-ahead run as the Oakland Athletics scored three times in the eighth inning and pulled out a 4-2 victory over Baltimore.

The triumph kept the second-place A's 2½ games behind Minnesota in the American League West.

Dick Green started the eighth-inning uprising with a double as the A's pinned the defeat on Mike Cuellar, 17-9, and ended his seven-game winning streak.

Tommy Reynolds beat out a bunt and Johnson, batting for catcher Phil Roof, hit a sacrifice fly, tying the score 2-2. Tito Francona, another pinch hitter acquired from the National League Friday, batted for reliever Paul Lindblad, 8-4, and singled and Campaneris followed with another single, driving in Reynolds.

ANAHEIM (AP)—Joe Azcue and Jim Spencer homered in support of Rudy May's five-hit pitching and the California Angels stopped Detroit's five-game winning streak 5-2 Saturday.

Azcue snapped a 1-1 tie with his second homer of the year—and first since being traded from Boston to California—in the fourth before Spencer put the game out of reach with a two-run blast off Detroit starter Mike Kilkenny to cap a three-run uprising in the sixth. It was Spencer's second home run in as many games and seventh of the season.

Tom Shaw Is Leading Avco By Seven Shots

SUTTON, Mass. (AP)—Exuberant young Tom Shaw rapped in a 10-foot eagle putt on the final hole Saturday for a five under-par 67 and expanded his third round lead in the $150,000 Avco Golf Classic to a whopping seven strokes.

The 26-year-old blond, who waved and smiled to the huge gallery all the way around the 7,212 yard, par-72 Pleasant Valley Country club course, had a 54-hole score of 203, 13 under par.

Bobby Stanton, a slim Australian, and burly Bob Lunn made mild runs at Shaw, but never really came close and fell further back with Shaw's finishing kick. He closed birdie, eagle.

His lead was the largest 54-hole margin of the year on the PGA tour. The previous record margin was five by Ray Floyd in last week's PGA championship, and Lee Trevino in the Tucson Open.

Stanton, who had a 66, was second at 210, while the 210-pound Lunn had a 67 for 211 and third place.

Tied at 213 were Jack Montgomery, 69, Bobby Mitchell, 70, and Australian Bruce Crampton, 70.

Shaw, who has claimed right along that he was only breaking out of a five-month slump, said the biggest difference has been in his putting.

Stanton, 23, rang up seven birdies and only a single bogey. His 66 gave him a 54-hole total of 210.

Lunn, 24, playing out of Sacramento, Calif., reeled off seven birds and bogeyed two holes en route to his 67.

Shaw, who came into the press room with his putter, which he calls a mini-mallet, bogeyed the fifth, three-putting, but got it back with a chip which left him a two-foot birdie putt on the next hole.

He also birdied the ninth, putting an eight iron two feet from the pin, but bogeyed the next when he missed the green and failed to get it up and down.

The event was scheduled for national television, but the NBC baseball game of the week between the Houston Astros and Chicago Cubs ran late, the golfers played quickly and only two holes of action were televised.

PLAY INTERRUPTED
Local Team Is CC Leader

COLORADO CITY — A light shower interrupted play in the first annual Colorado City 25ers' Partnership Golf tournament here Saturday, with the result that eight of the 13 Championship flight twosomes will be forced to resume play in a shotgun start at 9 a.m. today.

Ted Gross and Marvin Williams, a Big Spring tandem, lead the five who did finish with a low-ball score of 68.

Two teams are deadlocked for second place with 69's. One consists of Richard Pachall and Jackie Thomas, Big Spring. The others includes an Odessa pair, Danny Fisher and Bob Nelson.

In the Handicap division, two Loraine men, Woodrow Pratt and Lynn Hamilton, lead by five shots with a 56.

Pop By Grote Sinks Dodgers

NEW YORK (AP) —Jerry Grote's pop fly dropped among three Los Angeles fielders and Donn Clendenon dashed home all the way from first with New York's winning run in the ninth inning as the Mets defeated the Dodgers 3-2 Saturday.

Grote's high pop fell beyond Maury Wills' grasp with Willie Davis and Ted Sizemore also chasing the ball. Clendenon who had walked, was running all the way with two outs and scored easily.

It was the eighth victory for the Mets in the last nine games.

The Dodgers tied the game suddenly with two out in the eighth. Manny Mota stroked a single—only the fourth hit off Met starter Don Cardwell. Davis followed with a triple, scoring Mota and when Cleon Jones threw wild, Davis also scored.

The two runs ended a scoreless string of 21 2-3 innings for Cardwell.

Houston Sets Vets' Contest For Sept. 1

HOUSTON — Two great former St. Louis Cardinals, Red Schoendienst and Enos Slaughter, join a pair of outstanding ex-Philadelphia Phillie pitchers, Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons, as participants in the Houston Astros' annual Oldtimers Game on Monday evening, Sept. 1.

The 5:30 p.m. Labor Day Oldtimer Game will find the 1952 National League All-Star Squad meeting a team of Houston Oldtimers in a "prelim" to the 7:30 game between the Astros and the Cardinals.

Schoendienst, Slaughter, Roberts, Simmons, Grady Hatton, Granny Hamner, Hank Sauer, Jim Hearn and Bob Rush are the latest members of the '52 NL All-Stars who have accepted invitations to play.

Now the Cardinals' manager, Schoendienst played 19 years in the major leagues, most of them at St. Louis. He posted a .289 career batting average.

"Country" Slaughter, one of the game's most colorful players, logged 19 major league seasons, with a .300 career average. Playing most of the time for the Cards, Slaughter knocked in 1,304 runs, hit 169 homers and batted .291 in five World Series.

Roberts is one of the top pitchers in baseball history. In 19 years, he compiled a 286-245 record, pitching for the Phils, Orioles, Astros and Cubs. He is No. 10 in all-time strikeouts (2,357), No. 6 in games started (609), and had four seasons with 20 or more wins. He threw 305 complete games and 45 shutouts during his long and distinguished career.

Simmons, who teamed with Roberts on the Philadelphia scene for many years, finished with a 193-183 record, 36 shutouts and 1,697 career strikeouts in 20 years in the majors.

Hatton, a former Astros' manager, batted .254 in 12 years in the majors, most of them with Cincinnati.

Hamner played 17 years in the big leagues, hitting .262.

Badgers, Miners May Have Best Of Sophs

Take heart, college football fans. Orange Juice Simpson has gone on to the pros, but here comes Grape Juice Johnson.

Sonic Boom Glasson also is among the sophomores and junior college transfers about to burst upon varsity gridirons this fall.

Wisconsin is certain Greg "Grape Juice" Johnson, all 6-1, 190 pounds of him, will awaken the slumbering Badgers with an outside running game. He averaged a gaudy 9.1-yards-a-carry in five spring game-type scrimmages.

Five of this exciting halfback's six spring touchdowns were of more than 30 yards, including an 88-yard kickoff return.

If there are any doubts where Clyde Glasson, Texas-El Paso's glittering transfer, got his nickname, just check the stopwatch. It reads 4.3 seconds in the 40-yard dash and 9.3 in the 100 for this 6-0, 170-pound wide receiver.

TEXAS LURES PRIZE

But back to the halfbacks. While Wisconsin lured Johnson from East St. Louis, Ill., Texas got its prize yearling—Jim Bertelsen—from Hudson, Wis. Leading candidate for the berth vacated by the departed Chris Gilbert, Bertelson paced the frosh with 685 rushing yards—most productive by a freshman in the Darrell Royal era.

Oregon slotback Bob Moore, 6-2, 215, is called by coach Jerry Frei the best athlete the Ducks ever recruited as he steps up from the best freshman squad the school has enjoyed. Moore is a great receiver who can run the 40 in 4.6 and high jumped 6-7 as a schoolboy.

AT O. U.

At Clinton High School, Roy Bell gained over 5,000 yards rushing and scored 39 TDs. Now he moves onto the University of Oklahoma varsity to take over wingback chores from Eddie Hinton while ticketed for some backup relief for Steve Owens at tailback. Bell led unbeaten Sooner frosh with a 6.7 rushing average.

Glenn Doughty, 6-2, 197, took over Ron Johnson's tailback assignment at Michigan during spring practice despite the fact he'd never played in the backfield before.

Ron 'Po' James, who rushed 1,291 yards as a varsity-eligible freshman, and Roy Patterson, a 9.6 sprinter, make the picture brighter at New Mexico State. Tiny Howard Stevens, 5-7, 165, Randolph-Macon, churned up 1,486 yards enroute to 142 points last year.

TROJANS READY

Southern California, which has lost only twice in two years, is about to spring quarterback Jimmy Jones, from Harrisburg, Pa., on the public. The many-talented 190-pounder is battling senior Mike Holmgren to succeed Steve Sogge.

At the same time on the coast, Washington has high hopes for 6-3 Steve Hanzlik while JC transfer Dennis Dummit, best passer on campus, has enabled UCLA to switch Bill Bolden to wide receiver.

Auburn is counting on the battery of quarterback Pat Sullivan and split end Terry Beasley to give impetus to an all-out Southeastern Conference title bid.

Up from the unbeaten '68 frosh where he passed for 671 yards and rushed 107, Van Brownson is a promising Nebraska yearling. Halfback Jeff Kinney is a versatile Husker who runs the quarterback option well and is a fine receiver.

Rhome May Help Cleveland Club

CLEVELAND (AP) — The hopes of the Cleveland Browns for a repeat Eastern Conference title in the National Football League and for their first visit to the Super Bowl may rest with the quarterbacks and offensive tight ends.

At quarterback, it would appear that Coach Blanton Collier has added strength with Jerry Rhome joining veterans Bill Nelsen and Frank Ryan. Rhome was picked up in an off-season deal with the Dallas Cowboys.

But Nelsen has been plagued throughout his career with injuries to both knees, and had cartilage removed from his left knee during the off-season. Although Collier optimistically says the knee is "gaining in strength," it is questionable whether Nelsen can physically endure the season.

LOST HIS JOB

Ryan lost the starting job to Nelsen last season after failing to move the club, and Rhome has been plagued in pre-season with a sore passing arm and "needs work," according to Collier.

Milt Morin, who blossomed last year into one of the outstanding tight ends in the league, underwent back surgery in the off-season and it's unknown when, and how much, he'll be able to play this season.

His top replacement, veteran wide receiver Eppie Barney, is only 6-foot-1, 200 pounds, and is considered too small for the position. Collier admits Barney's size changes offensive strategy.

Another problem is on the defensive line, where there is a shortage of experienced backup men to tackles Jim Kanicki and Walter Johnson. Collier also wants a better pass rush this year from second-year man Jack Gregory and converted tackle Marvin Upshaw.

With the NFL's leading rusher anl scorer, Leroy Kelly, returning at halfback, and with three strong candidates to replace retired Ernie Green at fullback, the Browns' running game looks as strong as ever.

Battling for the starting fullback spot are Charley Harraway, who took over last season when Green was injured, and rookies Robert "Bo" Scott and Ron Johnson.

Scott averaged 5.5 yards a carry in four years with Ottawa in the Canadian League and led the league in rushing twice. Johnson, the Browns' No. 1 draft pick, broke Tom Harmon's career rushing record at the University of Michigan with 2,440 yards.

WARFIELD BACK

Leading pass receivers again this year will be Paul Warfield, who set a club record last year with 1,067 yards, and end Gary Collins, the former holder of the record, who was injured most of last season. Collins appears completely recovered.

Up front, the Browns have a veteran offensive line led by guards Gene Hickerson and John DeMarie, tackles Dick Schafrath and Monte Clark, and center Fred Hoaglin.

The team ranked near the bottom of the league in kickoff and punt returns last season, but Collier thinks he has solved those problems with his rookie backs.

Cleveland Browns At A Glance

When Palmer Is Hurting, His Home Town Suffers

LATROBE, Pa. (AP) — Palmer Burgers, a concotion of ground beef, swiss cheese and rye bread, still sell for $1.10 in the grill room at the Latrobe Country Club.

They're wearing no black mourning bands or flying flags at half-staff for hometown hero Arnold Palmer in this western Pennsylvania steel town but that doesn't mean that when Arnie gets a back-ache Latrobe's 25,000 residents don't wince with pain.

"It was really sad," said Patty Aikens, 26, who has been Palmer's private secretary for seven years.

"He tried and worked so hard. He would play and practice until he could hardly stand and then he would come into the shop to work on his clubs. He was so eager to win."

"But when he came back from Dayton, he didn't mope," she added. "He was in a very good humor. His spirits lifted all of us."

Latrobe, 30 miles east of Pittsburgh in the rolling Allegheny Mountains, is a community kept alive by steel mills and the world's most successful and magnetic golfer.

Last week the musty little town was threatened with loss of its premier asset. Palmer, playing in the first round of the PGA championship at Dayton, Ohio, and seeking the only major title he hasn't won, felt a stab of pain go through his right hip. In distress, he struggled around the course in 82, the worst round he ever had shot as a pro golfer.

Then, hurting and worried, he flew home, wondering if he could ever win another tournament. His career appeared in jeopardy.

"I can't go on like this," he said. "I won't play any more serious golf until I get this hip well."

The uncertainty tossed a dark shroud over the game which Palmer dominated through most of the 1960s and almost personally built into a giant enterprise with weekly purses ranging between $100,000 and $250,000 and young men putting for instant fortunes.

"There is a possibility of a cure with proper rest and therapy," said Palmer's private physician, Dr. Carl Eisenbeis of Pittsburgh, "but there are no guarantees.

Annual Labor Day Meet Dead Ahead

By JOHN HILBIG

Big Spring's 38th annual Labor Day Invitation Golf tournament is scheduled for Aug. 29 through Sept. 1 at the Country Club.

Letters have been sent to 160 members of the Big Spring Golf Association, inviting them and anyone else to play. Entry fee is $20, with the deadline set at 6 p.m. Thursday; the field will be limited to the first 240 paid entries, pro C. G. Griffin said.

The championship flight will consist of 54 holes of medal play while all other flights will compete in match play and will be seeded by attested handicap. Anyone may request the championship flight.

On tap Friday, along with regular qualifying play, are the First National Bank Cup matches. Ted Gross, club champion, and Ted Hull, captain, will lead the local team of eight. The other six members will be determined from the lowest scores of 72 holes of medal play. So far only 13 members have started qualifying.

George Powell, Colorado City, will be visiting captain, and will choose players to make up the out-of-town team.

Saturday and Sunday will be taken up with first and second round matches, while Monday will see the finals in all flights. Roy Peden of Kermit is the defending champion.

Anyone who has paid his entry fee can begin practicing on the course today. A light sprinkle on the back side Saturday afternoon has not affected play any.

Prizes for the tournament are a set of eight first-line irons for flight winners, a set of three first-line woods for runner-up, a golf bag to the consolation winner, and a dozen golf balls to the consolation runner-up.

Twins Batter Yankees, 8-3

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Twins jumped on New York ace Mel Stottlemyre from the very first pitch of a five-run first inning and bombarded the Yankees 8-3 Saturday.

Ted Uhlaender ignited the rampage with a line shot which bounced off Stottlemyre's right leg. Stottlemyre, 16-11, elected to stay in the game, only to be met by a flurry of extra base hits—Tony Oliva's run-scoring double, Harmon Killebrew's 36th homer with a man on and doubles by Rich Reese and Graig Nettles.

Leo Cardenas' two-out, run-scoring single finished Stottlemyre, who later was taken to a hospital where precautionary X-rays showed a bruised shin.

The Twins built up an 8-0 lead on Cesar Tovar's steal of home—the front end of a triple steal—in the second and Uhlaender's two-run single in the third as Jim Perry coasted to his 15th victory in 20 decisions.

The Yankees, losing their ninth in 11 games against the Twins this season, broke Perry's shutout spell with a three-run sixth. Jimmie Hall drove in two runs with a triple and scored on Jerry Kenney's single.

Culp Records 17th Victory

BOSTON (AP) — Veteran Ray Culp bested rookie Billy Wynne in a pitching duel to record his 17th victory Saturday as the Boston Red Sox edged the Chicago White Sox 2-0.

The ace right-hander, who has lost eight games, scattered five hits in recording his second shutout and ninth complete game of the season.

Wynne permitted only four hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth. The Red Sox nicked him for a run in the fourth, however, when Mike Andrews walked, Dalton Jones singled him to third and Carl Yastrzemski grounded into a double play. They scored again in the fifth when Rico Petrocelli slammed his 30th homer of the season.

Lombardi's Spell Is Fading In Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The ghost of Vince Lombardi no longer bangs over Lambeau Field. Little by little, the Green Bay Packers are moving out from under the spell of the man who drove them to five National Football League titles and two Super Bowls in nine years.

The street outside the stadium still is called Lombardi Avenue and pictures of his championship teams still cover the walls. But the plush office from which Vincent once directed every facet of the club's operation, now is occupied by Phil Bengston, always an assistant coach until last year.

SAME AUTHORITY

When Lombardi came to Green Bay in 1959 the executive committee insisted he be in full command as coach and general manager with complete autonomy. Last winter they decided to give Bengston the same authority — and responsibility. He was told that failure to win would not be held against him but the job of fielding a typical hard-hitting Packer club would be his responsibility.

"It is something like the situation when a preacher or priest leaves a parish," said one director. "The worst thing his successor can do is try to emulate the man he follows. Phil can't be a Vince Lombardi. And the worst thing he could do would be to try to act like him."

There is absolutely no danger on that account. Bengston, who once played tackle for Bernie Bierman at Minnesota, is a different type.

Phil speaks softly and seldom raises his voice on the practice field but he has been known to crack down hard on any two who might try to take advantage of him.

Some critics will tell you that the Packers were fat cats last season who expected to win automatically. Once again Bengston takes the opposite view.

"I think it was just the opposite," he said. "If anything, some of the fellows were playing not to lose. Under the pressure of trying too hard to win they became too conservative and lost a little bit of their aggressiveness.

"Remember, the margin between winning and losing last year was pretty small. If we had beaten the Vikings we could have won it. Our kicking hurt us and so did the loss of Bart Starr who missed 28 quarters half the season although Zeke Bratkowsi now retired to the status of an assistant coach did real well. Naturally we feel we would have been better with Bart."

NEW TOUGHNESS

Some observers claim to see a new toughness in Bengston since he has become the boss both on the field and off the field.

"I am not conscious of any change," said Bengston. "Maybe in three months from now I will realize that I have changed some. But I don't think so. Nobody here is trying to get by on past reputation."

Bengston does not find the work of a general manager too much to handle because he delegates authority to the other people in the organization. For instance, he used Pat Peppler, director of personnel, to help with the contract signing.

"It looks like another real close race in our Central Division," said Bengston. "We'll probably all be knocking off one another again. On paper, you'd have to say Minnesota should be the favorites. They won last year and they have a fine defensive line."

Win, lose or draw, Packer fortunes appear to be safe in the capable hands of Phil Bengston. He is not a Lombardi but who is?

Duck Hunters Could Use Point Spread, Too

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of these days point spreads are likely to be as important to duck hunters as they are to basketball and football fans.

In the case of waterfowl gunners, these point spreads will determine how many ducks and what kind they can take home.

One delegate to the Waterfowl Advisory Committee meeting here recently said "this is the only ultimate solution to the problems that confront us."

The point systems being considered — some will be actually employed on an experimental basis at certain locations this coming season — will determine the species, number and even the sex of the daily bag.

Under one typical plan each hunter would go into the marsh or waterway in the morning with 50 points to his credit.

Relatively scarce ducks such as canvasbacks and red heads and heavily shot ducks such as mallards would count high points. High density ducks like teal and scaup would carry lesser point penalties. Hens would account for more points than drakes.

For example, a mallard hen would carry a penalty of 50 points and bagging one would end the days shooting.

Canvasbacks, red heads and wood duck hens would also be 50-point ducks.

But teal, shovelors, male pintail and widgeon and scaup of either sex would carry only a 10 point penalty. A hunter could shoot five of them in a day's outing.

All other ducks would carry 25 points.

Steers Work As Unit Starting On Monday

The Big Spring Steers, out to improve upon the 5-5 records achieved their last two years, start working as a unit bright and early Monday morning.

School doesn't begin until a week from Tuesday. Between now and then, coach Spike Dykes and his aides feel they must achieve an enormous lot.

The Black and Gold open their 1969 season here two weeks from Friday night, at which time they will be seeking to avenge a 21-14 defeat suffered at the hands of Lubbock Monterey.

That will be the only warmup game for the Bovines before they launch 3-AAAA competition in Midland against Lee.

Dykes wants the players on the practice field no later than 8:15 a.m., he said.

Big Spring will be much smaller than it was a year ago and possessed of less speed. However, the locals probably will be deeper in most spots than in 1968 — and they appear to have a bunch of boys who lust to play.

Gary Hinds, regular at the position last year, and Gary Hughes — both seniors — will fight it out for the quarterback spot and Dykes reasons he couldn't be better off at the position. Juniors Scott McLaughlin and Dave Duncan give the Steers good back-up men at the spot, too.

Big Spring's best bets for all-district, all-area and all-state honors may be Hinds, fullback Leonard Basco, end Jimmy Farris, tackle Robert Dennis and guard Fill Guinn.

Principal losses to the club were fullback-linebacker Rocky Wooley, running back Roy Lee Warren (all-district and the league's leading ground gainer)

The Steers will work out in the mornings and again in the evenings, rather than risk getting someone sick in the heat.

No great changes are likely in the Longhorn way of doing things but the coaches will continue to stress defense.

Newcomers to the Big Spring coaching staff include Bill Bryant, Bob Stanley and Jack Gray (up from the ninth grade Toros). Sam Aguilar is the new trainer on the scene, a most welcome addition to the staff.

Steer roster:

Coach Dawson said that several additional players are being acquired from both the NFL and the AFL. The Rufneks are on an expanded workout schedule in preparation for the opening league game September 2 against the Sacramento Capitols in Sacramento, Calif.

Two Ponies Hurt In Early Drills

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist is having injury problems and the Mustangs haven't even donned pads yet during their Autumn football workouts.

Offensive left tackle Bill Jackson suffered a slight shoulder separation Friday in a blocking drill. He may miss SMU's home opener against the Air Force Sept. 13.

Reserve fullback Walter Haynes pulled a hamstring muscle and will be out indefinitely.

All-Winning Team

REGINA (AP) — Unbeaten Saskatchewan won its fourth straight game in the Canadian Football League by whipping the Edmonton Eskimos 24-9 Friday night.

AT OAKMONT

Men's Amateur Opens Monday

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The 69th USGA Men's Amateur Tournament, often a stepping stone to the pro golf tour, starts Wednesday at the quaint, but luring Oakmont country Club.

Among those now on the pro tour who have won the Men's Amateur in the past are burly Jack Nicklaus, ailing Arnold Palmer, Deane Beman, Dan Sikes, Bob Murphy and Bob Dickson.

Of the 150 players who will tee off Wednesday morning, 125 have had to qualify at 36-hole local qualifiers across the country. The other 25 players are exempt.

The youngest player in the Amateur will be 18-year-old Lenny Wadkins, a Wake Forest College student. The oldest is 47-year-old Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia.

The last major tournament played at Oakmont was the U.S. Open Championship in 1962 when Nicklaus won his first of three Opens, defeating Palmer in a playoff.

Oakmont's 187 sand traps make it a deceptively difficult course. Like beaches, the traps are long and wide and filled with silicon sand.

Oakmont pro Lew Worsham, a former Open champion, says the rough will remain about three inches deep, about 1½ inches along the edge of the fairways.

The 72-hole tournament will be played over 6,885 yards, seven yards shorter and 35 traps more than for the Open in 1962.

Few other changes have been made at the 63-year-old course, divided by the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Huge rolling greens could also provide trouble, especially if late summer rains sprinkle the tournament.

Among those not required to qualify for the championship include current champion Bruce Fleisher of Miami, the top 10 finishers last year, of the British and U.S. Walker Cup teams and playing members of the U.S. World Amateur Championship of 1968.

Former champions who still are exempt from qualifying are William C. Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., the 1964 champion; Gary Cowan, Kitchener, Ont. Canada; and Fleisher.

Officials say they expect a crowd of from 4,000 to 5,000 for the championships.

Coahoma Bulldogs Slate Five 7:30 Grid Games

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Bulldogs, who completed their first week of drills Saturday, will play non-conference games with Rankin, Winters, Ozona, Stanton and Rotan before plunging into 5-A competition against Cooper the night of Oct. 17.

The Bulldogs, 10-2 last year, will play all their non-conference games at 8 p.m. and start conference games at 7:30.

Coahoma lost only to Ozona in regular season play last year and yielded to Sonora in a sea of mud in the playoffs.

Coahoma's schedule:

VARSITY

(C) — denotes conference games.

B TEAM

S 13 — At Colorado City, 7:30 p.m.; S 20 — BS Soohs here, 10 a.m.; O 3 — Colorado City here; O 17 — Big Spring Soohs here, 10 a.m.; O 23 — Stanton here; O 31 — At Seagraves, 6 p.m.; N 6 — At Stanton.

Houston To Host Young Men's Play

HOUSTON (AP) — A field of about 100 collegiate and schoolboy stars from 10 states is expected Thursday for the opening round of play in the first annual Young Men's All-American Golf Invitational.

Favorites include Ben Crenshaw, Austin; Bobby Walzel, University of Houston, and Bucky Ayers, Cedartown, Ga.

Fourteen In Row

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Overcall, unbeaten this season, won his 14th straight race by taking the $25,000 Tar Heel Pace at Roosevelt Raceway Friday night. The 6-year-old paced the mile in two minutes flat and paid $2.40.

Big Breakthrough Looms In TV Racing

NEW YORK (AP) — The networks are pouring gobs of money into the live telecasting of baseball, basketball, golf and college and professional football.

How close are they to live, home telecasting of what is said to be the nation's No. 2 spectator sport, auto racing?

"The major breakthrough already has been made," said Jim Spence, coordinating producer of the ABC television network's "Wide World of Sports" show.

"It may come," says Bill France, who heads the country's largest stock car racing circuit. "But right now, no one from the networks is running around looking for a television package from auto racing."

ABC-TV for years has carried filmed segments of auto races on its weekly "Wide World of Sports" program. Occasionally, too, the network has carried segments of the 24 - hours of LeMans live and in color from France.

RARE TELECAST

NBC television has never carried a live auto race. The CBS network carried one live from Daytona Beach, Fla., in 1959 but since then has stood aloof of the sport.

Last year, ABC-TV produced a direct telecast of a 100-mile USAC national championship car event from Springfield, Ill. The major breakthrough for ABC came July 19, however, when it colorcast a 200-mile Indianapolis-car event live from Trenton, N.J.

The Trenton telecast, Spence said, was the first of many projected live colorcasts of major auto races. He noted that ABC has contracted to carry the final hour of the World 600 stock car race next May at Charoltte, N.C.

"We feel that the future of our Wide World of Sports is in live presentations," he said, "and we plan to televise as many live auto races as possible in this series. We believe the electric excitement of the sport can best be transmitted to an audience by live coverage."

Spence admitted there are problems in telecasting auto races that are unique to most other sports.

"If it rains, for instance, the Indianapolis-type cars and late model stock cars simply will not race, in which case the network is left with an hour and one-half of air time to fill.

"Time is another problem. Poor weather conditions or accidents can bring out the caution flags, slowing the race down considerably and quite possibly extending it past air time. A major accident can cause a race stoppage with the same result.

NOISE A FACTOR

"And there's the noise. At Trenton, ABC had to construct a special, glass-enclosed booth for the announcers. The din created by 26 cars, added to the usual crowd roars, makes it virtually impossible for cameramen to hear directors or for viewers to hear the commentators."

Spence says there are surprises, too. At Springfield last year, the race was run on a dirt track and dust clouds created by the race cars wreaked havoc with the telecast.

JOHN RAY DILLARD

RUIDOSO, N.M. — Ten of the Southwest's finest three-year-old thoroughbreds go to the post today in the 11th and featured race to compete for one of the richer purses of Ruidoso Downs. This race is held annually at the beautiful mountain track and is open to the world of three-year-old thoroughbreds going a mile. There were four late supplements into the race and all four qualified for the finals.

Bravoria, a classy one, owned by Cascio and Johnson of Omaha, Neb., will probably be the favorite, purchased as a two-year-old at $50,000. The brown colt is valued at $100,000, and his earnings are $52,510 for this year alone.

Yet there are two Texas horses with highly favored Battle Bound owned by T. D. Terrill of Fort Worth, and Doyle G., owned by Johnny Ray Dillard and A. A. Davidson of Big Spring, who ran the fastest trials. There are three New Mexico owned horses with Roman Wager, owned by C. E. Alexander of Lovington, N.M., Dawn's Dandy, owned by G. B. Hancock of Ruidoso Downs, N.M., and Running Sam, owned by J. D. Adkins of Tucumcari, N.M. Also on the list are two Louisiana horses, Rio Puerco and Nor Dob, owned by L. R. Shaw of Covington, La.

The total purse will be $28,000 with $14,000 to first place, $7,000 to 2nd place, $3,360 to third place, $1,680 to fourth place, $1,120 to fifth place, and $840 to six place.

Doyle G. — Jimmer-Musical Note. Owner — Dillard & Davidson; Trainer — Davidson; Jockey — Wallace; Time — Won trial heat in 1.324; 9 starts — 3 wins — 2 2nds; Earnings — $3,251.

Battle Bound — Bounding Over-Antietam Battle. Owner — T. D. Terrill; Trainer — Jim Curry, Sr.; Jockey — Jim Curry, Jr.; Distance — 7½ furlongs; 9 starts — 3 wins — 1-2nd; Earnings — $5,851.

Elgin Boy — Hoist Away-Speedy Countess. Owner — B. H. Schermerhorn; Trainer — P. H. Oliver; Jockey — W. H. Hodges; Dist. — 7½ furlongs; 6 starts — won 3 — 1-4th place; Earnings — $1,361.

Bravoria — Big Brave-Vittoria. Owner — Cascio & Johnson; Trainer — R. H. Brasher; Jockey — L. Byers; Dist. — 7½ furlongs; Time — 1.33.4; 12 starts — won 9; Earnings — $52,510.

Running Sam — Hellroscope-Astro Girl. Owner — J. D. Adkins; Trainer — T. Stevens; Jockey — J. Wallace; Dist. — 7½ furlongs; 6 starts — won 3; Earnings — $1,361.

Twilight Rhythm — Sunrise County-Symmetry. Owner — A. Antwell; Trainer — W. H. Tomlinson; Jockey — B. Powell; Dist. — 7½ furlongs; 13 starts — won 3. 1-2nd, 1-3rd; Earnings — $6,760.

Dawn's Dandy — Turf Fan-Early Dawn. Owner — G. B. Hancock; Trainer — Owner; Jockey — J. Cox; Dist. — 7½ furlongs; 8 starts — won 2, 2-2nds, 1-4th; Earnings — $2,261.

SWC Elevens Will Greet 262 Veterans

DALLAS (AP) — Southwest Conference football team return a staggering 262 lettermen this year — the 56th season for the storied league.

Among the returnees are more than 65 per cent of the 1968 starters, the greatest number in SWC history.

The Texas Aggies suffered the greatest numerical loss between seasons, returning only 23 of 48 lettermen, while Southern Methodist lost only nine among the 43 letter winners.

SMU has already opened fall practice while Rice, TCU and Texas Tech get underway Monday. Arkansas, Baylor, Texas A&M and Texas report Friday.

About 85 candidates are expected to begin two-a-day drills at Texas Tech Monday. Coach J. T. King said the Red Raiders will put on full pads twice daily until classes begin on Tuesday, Sept. 2.

A whopping 100 prospects are expected to report to TCU head coach Fred Taylor for two-a-days in shorts Monday. TCU also will put on the pads Thursday before beginning classes on Monday, Sept. 1.

At Arkansas, Coach Frank Broyles figures his team will get an unexpected bonus from having the artificial Astro-Turf on the practice fields and in Razorback Stadium.

"Truthfully, it wasn't in our minds when we decided to put down the artificial turf, but it will certainly be a big help to us in morning workouts because of the heavy dew we've always had to contend with," Broyles said.

About 90 varsity candidates will assemble at Texas A&M Wednesday. They will work out in shorts Friday, Saturday and Monday. Their first day in pads will be Tuesday, Sept. 2.

Bills Hurled Into Defeat

By The Associated Press

Johnny Unitas put the arm on Buffalo.

Unitas, Baltimore's fine quarterback who sat out most of last season with a sore elbow, unfurled two touchdown passes — one for 70 yards — as the Colts beat the Bills 20-7 in exhibition pro football Friday night.

The victory was the fourth pre-season success over American Football League opponents for the National Football League Colts, who seem to be trying to prove something since their Super Bowl loss to the New York Jets.

"With the exception of that 70-yard pass play by Unitas, I thought our defense was presentable," said Coach John Rauch of Buffalo.

O. J. Simpson, who got considerable more work this time than in his first pro outing last week, played half of Friday night's game. The glamorous rookie back gained 25 yards on five carries and caught two passes for seven yards. He also ran back a kickoff 23 yards.

How did it feel to get a little more action?

"I've had two contacts now," said O. J., "and my confidence is increasing."

Unitas' touchdown passes of four and 70 yards connected with tight end Tim Mitchell. Lou Michaels added field goals of 45 and 38 yards to the Baltimore cause.

Dove Season Opens Sept. 1

A few changes have been made in mourning dove hunting season and regulations for 1969 in the north zone.

The season will extend from Sept. 1 to Oct. 30. Daily bag limit is 10 and the possession limit 20; shooting hours are from noon to sunset each day.

Shotguns must be plugged permanently to three-shell capacity and may not be larger than 10 guage. Hunting doves with rifles is prohibited.

Last year the bag limit was 12 and the possession limit 24, while shooting hours started at 1 p.m. daylight savings time.

The north zone includes all counties north of Angelina, Trinity, Madison, Brazos, Burleson, Lee, Bastrop, Caldwell, Guadalupe, Wilson, Atascosa, Frio, Zavala, and Maverick Counties.

For information concerning the south zone, contact the game warden or local officials.

Halas, Thorpe Head Old-Time NFL Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — On Sept. 17, 1920, in Ralph Hays' auto agency in Canton, Ohio, a group that included George Halas and Jim Thorpe sat on the running boards of the Huppmobiles in the showroom and formulated a plan for an organized professional football league.

Out of that meeting came the American Professional Football Association with Thorpe the president of a league that included such legendary teams as the Decatur Staleys, Massillon Tigers and Canton Bulldogs.

The APFA eventually evolved into the more familiar NFL — the National Football League — and now in its 50th anniversary season America's first pro football league has decided to honor the players who provided the impetus for the tremendous growth of the sport.

To do so, the NFL is publishing, with Simon and Schuster Inc., a history of the league called "The First Fifty Years." The book punctuates the highlights of the half-century with the naming of five all-star teams covering the five different decades and leading up to the final selection of the top stars of the first 50 years.

The first decade team, covering the 1920s, was released Saturday and shows those two running-board sitters, Halas and Thorpe, among the top performers in that era of one-platoon football when everyone played 60 minutes.

Halas, named to the team as an end, and Thorpe, named as a back, are among 18 players selected as the best of that decade, including 16 who have been installed in the Pro Football Hall of Fame that now stands at Canton, Ohio as a monument to the first meeting.

Also listed among the top players of that era were two others who like Halas went onto club executive positions, Curly Lambeau and Jimmy Conzelman; Cal Hubbard, currently the supervisor of officials for baseball's American League, and Harold "Red" Grange, the famed Galloping Ghost.

The team was picked by the Hall of Fame selectors in NFL cities from nominations submitted by each of the teams in the NFL.

The NFL's All-1920s team with name, years played and teams:

Beathard Lauded After Triumph

Beathard entered the game in the second half Friday night and guided the Oilers to a 19-17 exhibition football victory over the Chicago Bears before a standing room only crowd of 45,225 in the Astrodome.

He hit Mac Haik on a 11-yard scoring pass with 1:26 remaining in the game to give the Oilers the victory.

With less than five minutes left, the Bears had forged ahead 17-12 on Gale Sayers' 97-yard kickoff return for a touchdown and appeared to have the game won.

Haik caught the game-winning pass in the extreme right corner of the end zone just before going out of bounds.

The Oilers went ahead 9-0 by scoring a safety late in the second period and a 99-yard touchdown runback of a field goal try missed by Mac Percival in the third.

Chicago scored 10 points in 52 seconds in the third on a one-yard plunge by Mike Hull and on a 25-yard field goal by Percival, the only one he hit in six attempts.

Houston rookie kicker Roy Gerela also booted a field goal, a 30-yarder that gave Houston a brief 12-10 lead in the fourth period.

"It was a tough game," said Lemm. "It's always tough when you play the Bears, because they're always a real aggressive ball club.

"Beathard did a good job. He is really maturing as a quarterback. He is taking charge and chewing a few guys when they make mistakes. This is the sign of a leader."

"We had to win this one," Beathard said. "Things are beginning to fall in place for me now."

Sayers said the Oilers have some outstanding players.

"I found the Astroturf was really hard when you fell on it," he said.

Speaking of his game-winning catch, Haik said, "Everyone carried out his assignment on the play perfectly and Beathard laid the ball right in there where it belonged."

As a rookie last year Haik caught only 32 passes but eight of them were for touchdowns.

Quarterbacks Don Trull and Bob Davis played in the first half for Houston but were unable to move the team consistently. Virgil Carter went all the way for the Bears and connected on 13 of 31 passes for 143 yards.

The victory boosted Houston's exhibition mark to 2-1 and the loss evened the Bears' preseason record at 2-2.

Troop 16 Grabs Honors In Scout Swim Carnival

Troop 16 won team honors in the District Boy Scout swim meet held in the Airmen's pool at Webb AFB Saturday morning.

The activity attracted an estimated 150 boys from a three-county area.

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — Chris "Plums" Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., won the women's Canadian Junior Open Tennis Championship Friday. She defeated Louides Diaz, Mexico City, 6-2, 6-3, in the girls under-18 class.

Eight Steers In Comeback

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Longhorns open fall football practice Friday with the year's hopes riding to a large extent on how well eight potential starters fare after operations in the off season.

"How will they react, how will they cut, how can they run? That has to be the main key," said assistant coach R. M. Patterson.

Those who underwent surgery before or during spring training include All-Southwest Conference end Deryl Comer, center Forrest Wiegand, tackle Bob McKay, defensive linemen Bill Atessis, Greg Ploetz and Travis Roach and linebackers Raymond Fontenot and Mack McKinney.

"It should take two or three days, but we should be able to tell something about the knee injuries while working in shorts," said Patterson.

The Horns will work out twice a day, with one session starting at 8:30 a.m. and the other at 7 p.m., on experimental artificial grass until Memorial Stadium's astroturf is put down about mid-September.

Texas opens the season Sept. 20 at California and plays its first home game Sept. 27 against Texas Tech.

Fire Damages At Track Can Cost Millions

NEW YORK (AP) — Injuries to horses are part of thoroughbred racing's life—acceptable because the nature of the sport makes them inevitable. Not acceptable, but just as real a part of this life, is fire.

In fact, barn fires killed 93 horses in the past 10 months, 55 were lost the same way in 1967, and 722 died in 55 track fires between 1946 and 1966.

Total property damage from those fires runs into the millions of dollars. It is difficult to put a dollar value on the horses lost, since their worth is based on earning potential and subsequent breeding revenues.

HORSE COMES HIGH

But an idea of their worth can be seen from the facts that a Bold Ruler filly lost in a 1967 fire was valued at $250,000. Brooklyn Bridge, destroyed in a fire at Boston's Suffolk Downs, was valued at $30,000 and three of those lost in last spring's Lincoln Downs' blaze were Count Jopa, nominated for the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont, and stakes winning Jet Formation and Femtastic.

The history of race track fires in one that makes a stable one of the most difficult of all structures to insure against fire. American insurance companies refuse to handle the underwriting, reinsuring the risk with Lloyd's of London.

What is being done and what can be done about this costly and senseless side of racing's existence?

Professional horsemen are calling for racing commissions to make it mandatory for track owners to provide fire-proof facilities.

The Maryland commission took this step soon after 44 horses were lost in a blaze at Bowie in 1966. The commission ordered that all new stables built at the state tracks be fireproofed.

A method of accomplishing this—the one that was used at Bowie and two other Maryland tracks, Laurel and Timonium—is the use of a chemically treated wood.

"The lumber chars instead of burning, and is self-extinguishing when the source flame is removed," says B.G. Bartley Jr. of Koppers Company, Inc., producer of the treated wood.

SYSTEMS INSTALLED

Another safeguard is the installation of sprinkler and warning systems, especially in older barns. Dry-pipe sprinkler systems have been installed at Aqueduct, Belmont Park and Saratoga in New York.

Equally important, if not more so, would be the adoption of a fire-prevention program at all tracks. This program, being urged by many horsemen, would include periodic inspection of all wiring systems, systematic turning of hay in the stables, elimination of green hay in storage, lightning rods and round-the-clock security guards.

The Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association also has made available a published list of known arsonists.

Cards Enter Aug. 30 Meet

The Big Spring Cardinals will compete in a baseball tournament in Midland Aug. 30 through Sept. 1.

Other teams entering the two-game elimination contest will be the Lamesa Red Sox, the San Angelo Lions, the Midland Colts, the Odessa Angels, the Pecos Wildcats, the Lubbock Raiders and the Snyder Redlegs.

Trophies will be awarded to first and second-place teams, and on Sept. 1 the best from each of the eight teams, determined by the managers, will play an all-star game.

Cardinal Manager Benny Marquez and Coach Pat Martinez Sr. are looking for extra pitchers for the tournament. Anyone interested can contact them or go to the Lakeview playground Tuesday for a workout.

NORMAN LUBOFF brings his choir to Big Spring Municipal Auditorium on February 5, 1970. In the inset, Mrs. R. W. Thompson and Mrs. Richard A. Shook of the Big Spring Concert Association discuss the appearance here of the famed choristers and musicians with Mr. Luboff conducting. Since the choir first began touring in concert performances in 1963, it has averaged more than 100 performances per concert season, attesting to the popularity of its dynamic conductor-arranger-composer.

WERNER TORKANOWSKY, music director for the New Orleans Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, has Big Springers in the palm of his hand even before the scheduled performance here November 19. The Big Spring Concert Association members, planing details of the opening program, are, from left, Mrs. Don Womack, Mrs. Star Warford, Robert E. Hickson and Bill Bradley.

KID THOMAS VALENTINE comes from New Orleans, the cradle of jazz, to present his Preservation Hall Jazz Band to local audiences on April 30, 1970. Over the years, Valentine has maintained the moving beat that made him famous during the early days of American Jazz. Looking forward to the coming concert are officers of the Big Spring Concert Association, including Mrs. Marvin Miller, secretary; Dan Shockey, president; Mrs. Roy Cederberg, first vice president; and Mrs. Floyd Mays, third vice president.

THE NORWOOD PUPPET THEATRE will present "Puppets in Potpourri" at the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium on March 2, 1970. Its creator, Elton Norwood, has designed and constructed all the puppets himself, receiving awards from India, Japan and the Puppeteers of America. The presentation promises to be sophisticated and delightful, according to Big Spring Concert Association members, Mrs. Richard Shaver and Col. Donald Jones.

Casually Yours

By JO BRIGHT

My mulish little Mustang started our vacation by needing a shot in the battery. Playing dead did him no good, however, so we are off to race with the wind down that hot cement track. We'll both be back in the corral Sept. 8.

NOTEWORTHY: Big Spring has a fine group of lawyers, but doubtless there will be room for a comer like young Jimmy Thomas if he could be talked into coming back home to practice. Jimmy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thomas, is a senior law student at the University of Texas who has earned some recognition. When a second year student, he received an award from the Baker-Botts Firm in Houston, and last year his scholastic standing won him the American Jurisprudence Award.

CHIT-CHAT: Mrs. Chub (Martha) Jones looked pretty in yellow print pants with apron top when she stopped to chat a minute Friday. They're still living in Dallas, and liking it, but Martha was here to be with her mother, Mrs. Irene Eppler, who had surgery last week . . . a veddy British farewell party was held Friday afternoon honoring Mrs. Sylvia Hopkins of New Market, Suffolk, England, who has been here as a house-guest of her brother-in-law and sister, S. Sgt. and Mrs. Tom Bare. The party, held in the home of Mrs. Charles Boyd, was attended by British Wives Club members who took tea and typical English refreshments. Mrs. Hopkins is returning to England today to her job with Pye Transistors . . . understand my little friend of long ago, Karen Roundtree, daughter of former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lebkowsky of Odessa, was attendant this weekend for the Ginger Brown-Anthony Emerson wedding. She's driving a new Nova so guess Schlitz is selling pretty good in Odessa . . . Two more of the wedding participants, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ream, are leaving afterward for a quick holiday in Ruidoso. Little Stacey Ream will stay with grandparents, Dick and Ruby Ream . . . Don't forget to congratulate Mrs. Ann Curry McComb who received her master of education degree at North Texas State University Friday evening, with majors in elementary education and counseling. Ann previously attended Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., and received her BA degree at Arizona State University. She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Currie . . . Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Morris went to San Angelo Saturday morning for the graduation of their granddaughter, Mrs. Virginia Morris Polo, at San Angelo State University. Virginia received a BA in English, with minor in speech . . . Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Mays are back from a brief vacation in Columbia, S.C., where they attended a family wedding, and Polly and the youngsters may be off again next week for a tour of the Palo Duro Canyon . . . Dr. and Mrs. R.B.G. Cowper are planning a flying trip to Japan real soon . . . others who did some flying were the Jack Cooks who joined the Gil Jones for a flight to Mercedes to tour the Pinnacle Boot Company, an interest shared by Gil and Kent Morgan.

GADABOUTS: Guests of the Ira Norrells and the Ralph Wilsons have been the David F. Caplan family of Hampton, Va., where Caplan is an attorney for NASA. They all went to Juarez where they ran into some more Wilsons, Robert and Sherry, who were with other Big Springers, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wise, and Mac Dixon and Donna Golhke of Phillips . . . little Bill Edwards is being spoiled by his grandparents, the Tony Taronis, while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Edwards of Lubbock are vacationing in Tampa, Fla., at the home of Edwards' brother-in-law and sister, Capt. and Mrs. Kim Zella . . . Mrs. Ruth Burnum, now teaching in El Paso, is a guest of Mrs. O. T. Arnold and Mrs. T. M. Collins . . . here until Monday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Miller Harris are their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Harris and family of Lakewood, Calif.

Reminder to the bridge players: A bridge party will be held at 2 p.m., Aug. 31 in conjunction with the Labor Day Golf Tournament at Big Spring Country Club. Club membership is not necessary, partners will be available and winners will be based on net results. Winner gets $25, and second place receives $15.

Display Colorful Closets On Shelves

The National Cotton Council suggests you add color and extra storage space at the same time by putting up open painted shelves to display cotton decorator towels.

Container Garden Holds Deck Safely

A deck built high above ground won't need a safety railing if heavily "planted" along its outer edge with a container garden. Be sure framing is designed to carry extra weight.

MRS. CHARLES BROOKS STONE

Wedding Rites Held Saturday

A double ring ceremony, uniting in marriage Miss Mary Jo Simpson and Charles Brooks Stone, was performed by the Rev. Elra H. Phillips Saturday evening in North Birdwell Lane Methodist Church.

Basket arrangements of white gladioli and greenery adorned the altar, and the prelude of nuptial music was played by the pianist, Miss Peggy Grant.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Billie Simpson of Big Spring and E. D. Simpson of Fort Worth. Parents of the bridegroom are S.M.Sgt. and Mrs. E. J. Cobb. Sgt. Cobb is now on military duty in Vietnam, and Mrs. Cobb came from her home in Belton to attend the wedding.

The bride's wedding attire was a street-length of white bridal satin designed with long belled sleeves of Chantilly lace trimmed in seed pearls. A row of self buttons extended from the mandarin collar. Her illusion veil was held by a petal cluster outlined with pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white glamelias centered with a yellow glamelia corsage.

Mrs. Belton Byrd of Houston attended her sister as matron of honor and was attired in a street-length sleeveless dress of moss green. Her bouquet was a mixed spray of yellow and green flowers.

The bridegroom's grandfather, E. S. Brooks of Belton, served as best man. The ushers were Don Simpson, brother of the bride, and Bill Crutcher.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, the bridal couple received guests at a reception in the church fellowship hall. Miss Karen Breithaupt of Odessa presided at the registry, and assisting in the house party were Mrs. Marvin Hall, San Angelo; Mrs. Corene Shortes, Mrs. True Dunagan, Mrs. W. F. Harrell, Mrs. Arthur Bates and Mrs. J. F. Knapp.

Guests from out of town were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hysmith of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Clawson, Killeen; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Simpson, Snyder; the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. S. Simpson of Jean; Jerry Shortes, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Terry Wooldridge, New Castle; and the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. E. S. Brooks of Belton.

The bridal table was laid with a white cloth and centered with the attendants' bouquets. The tiered cake was topped with wedding bells.

The Dallas-Fort Worth area is where the couple will spend a honeymoon. Mrs. Stone's traveling attire was a moss green dress, white accessories and the corsage from her bouquet.

SCHOOLS

A graduate of Forsan High School, the bride attended Howard County Junior College, being on the basketball team at both schools. Stone graduated from Big Spring High School where he participated in the DE Club. He attended HCJC and is employed in the recreation department at Big Spring State Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone will reside at 410 W. 6th.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at 8 p.m., Friday in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club. Fifteen guests attended.

Make Attractive Sheer Dust Ruffles

You can use any weight material to make attractive dust ruffles.

Dust ruffles in a little girl's room might be sheer organdy, while in her brother's, the decor might call for heavy denim.

However, the National Cotton Council suggests that you use more material when the fabric is a sheer cotton. Measure around the three sides of the bed and double that figure. That's how much fabric you'll need for the ruffle.

Family Has Gathering At Retreat

The Rev. Weldon Butler of Midland conducted worship with singing directed by Donnie Neel. Other selections were sung by T. W. Butler, Marshall Butler, Mrs. Earl Hollis, Mrs. Ann Appleton, Mrs. Dorthy Johnston and Pauline Butler. Travel slides were shown by Mr. and Mrs. Sid Avant.

Milton Butler was re-elected president, and other officers are Edward Johnston, vice president, and Mrs. Johnston, secretary.

Attending from Big Spring were Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Butler and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. M. Y. Butler and son, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hollis, Preston Easton and family, Mrs. John Appleton and children and Mrs. Linda Hull.

GETS DEGREE — Mrs. John E. Puckett has received a BA degree in psychology from Southern Methodist University, Dallas. She was on the Dean's List and plans graduate study in counseling and analysis. Mrs. Puckett is the former Linda Jay Banks, daughter of Police Chief and Mrs. E. J. Banks, 620 Birdwell, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Puckett, Gail Rt. The couple reside in Garland, and he is security specialist for LTV Electrosystems.

A LOVELIER YOU

Salads Make Ideal Dieter's Luncheon

By MARY SUE MILLER

When you are reducing, salads make an ideal luncheon during warm weather. Low-calorie salads with low-calorie dressings, that is!

Such fare, served as a main course at noontime, caters to a reducer's special needs. It supplies the bulk required to satisfy the appetite, the roughage to keep the digestive system ordered, and the vitamins to protect health and skin. Another plus for salads is their great variety. As witness these "international" recipes:

Italian Cabbage Salad: Mix two cups shredded cabbage, one diced sweet red pepper, one diced green pepper, one teaspoon celery seed and two tablespoon low-calorie Italian-style dressing. Chill for one hour. Fork onto bed of lettuce and garnish with wafer-thin tomato wedges (half tomato). Serves two, at 54 calories per serving.

Scotch Salmon: Chill one salmon steak, fresh-cooked or canned. Place whole on watercress, and garnish with crisp cucumber slices. Dress with freshly ground black pepper and tarragon vinegar to taste. Serves one with count of 110 calories.

Experiment, and you will find countless salads as delicious, healthful and reducing.

LIGHTER AND LOVELIER

Here's a painless way for teens and adults to reduce! Just send for my booklet, "Leaner, Lighter and Lovelier." It includes menus for delicious meals and snacks: Calorie counter and nutrition chart: Diet shortcuts: Spot reducers. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Sprinkle Clothes With Special Care

When sprinkling clothes for ironing, wrap each colored piece separately in plastic. This keeps them from fading on one another or on your clean white clothes. Where the atmosphere is hot and dry, it also keeps them from drying out too rapidly.

Miss Ginger Brown Weds C. A. Emerson

(Frank Brandon Photography)

MRS. CHARLES ANTHONY EMERSON

The sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church was the setting Friday evening for the wedding of Miss Ginger Kay Brown and Charles Anthony Emerson. The Rev. Leo K. Gee performed the ceremony.

The bridal aisle, illuminated by wedding tapers, led to an altar enhanced by baskets of white gladioli, spider mums and palms. Arched candelabra formed the background.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jeff L. Brown, 600 Highland, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Emerson, 1601 Stadium.

Miss Merry Lee Dibrell, organist, accompanied Mrs. Don Newsom, who sang "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" and Lester Morton, who sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was attired in a Juliet gown of white silk organza and Gothic patterned Venise lace. The moulded lace bodice featured a wedding-band neckline and dropped shoulders of lace accented with full, organza bishop sleeves cuffed in lace. The controlled bell-shaped skirt was complemented by a detachable chapel train. A bouffant silk illusion veil was gathered to a cluster of Venise lace daisies, and she carried a cascade of Frenched white carnations centered with an orchid.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Bobby Brown was matron of honor, and Miss Dee Ann Gibson was maid of honor. Mrs. Jimmy Ream was bridesmatron, and bridesmaids were Miss Karen Rountree, Midland; Miss Laurie Partain, Snyder; and Miss Jane Emerson, sister of the bridegroom.

The attendants wore Empire-styled formal gowns of pale pink patterned lace over peau de soie, designed with bishop sleeves and high collared necklines. Pink floor-length back bows with streamers formed the trains. They carried balls of white tulle accented with pink miniature carnations and Sweetheart roses.

Robert Goodlett of Denison was best man, and groomsmen were Jimmy Wilson, Gary Phillips and Roger Terry. Ushers were Robby Brown, brother of the bride; Marvin Hall, San Angelo; Jimmy Ream and Stan Risetter. Scott Emerson, brother of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the fellowship hall. The bride's table was laid with a tulle cloth over white satin with deep flounces bordered in bands of Chantilly lace gathered in swags with miniature white nosegays. The columned wedding cake was decorated with sugar lace bells and pink sprigs of lily of the valley and topped with white satin bells.

The bridegroom's table was laid with an ecru cutwork cloth, and appointments were of brass. The cake was a chocolate ring encircled in flowers.

Miss Jill Forrest registered guests. Others in the house party were Miss Carolyn Crawford, reception organist; Miss Jean Williams, Mrs. Roger Terry, Mrs. Gary Phillips, Mrs. John Ritenour, Mrs. David Shaffer, Mrs. Lester Morton, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Ream, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pollard, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Heith, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Forrest, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Shive, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bright, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Peters Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hans, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Price and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Taroni.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Goodlett Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Barney Hinds, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McNeese, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pond, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shaffer, Miss Becky Johnson, Arlington; Mrs. Harold Trachta and Mrs. B. E. Cogdell III, both of San Antonio; Mrs. Marvin Myers Jr., Sulphur Springs; Mrs. Alton Ashworth, Dallas; and Mr. and Mrs. John Partain, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Denson and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Denson, all of Snyder.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Denson, grandparents of the bride and John Brown, grandfather of the bride, all of Snyder; and Mrs. Tom Calvert, grandmother of the bridegroom, Sulphur Springs.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Emerson graduated from Big Spring High School and are attending Howard County Junior College. Following a wedding trip to the Dallas and Fort Worth area, they will reside at 1107 State. For traveling, Mrs. Emerson chose a two-piece white knit coat dress with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

REHEARSAL DINNER

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents Thursday in the Blue Room at Cosden Country Club. The head table was centered with a large candelabrum based in tulle accented with wedding bells and love birds. Stephanotis and ivy were entwined in the candelabrum and formed runners on the table.

Gifts were presented to the bridegroom's attendants. Among the guests were the Rev. and Mrs. Leo K. Gee, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Denson of Snyder and Mrs. Tom Calvert of Sulphur Springs.

Wives Club Has Luncheon Meeting

The Independent Wives Club met for a luncheon Thursday in the NCO Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base. Mrs. Gary Mitchell presided and introduced Mrs. Harrison B. Lobdell Jr., wife of the wing commander at Webb AFB, honorary chairman; and Mrs. Donald Jones, wife of the deputy commander of materials, honorary co-chairman.

Buffalo Trail Council Gains New Executive

By RHODA LEMONS

Monty P. Stokes made one of the major decisions of his life in 1947, when he gave up a promising career with the Kansas City Life Insurance Company and became a professional Boy Scout executive.

"I believe I can serve my country and fellowmen better by working with young boys than any other way," said Stokes.

It was a decision neither he nor his wife regretted. Mr. and Mrs. Stokes, new residents at 607 W. 18th, have been here about two weeks.

Stokes is executive for the Lone Star and Lone Buffalo Districts, Buffalo Trail Council, and Boy Scouts of America. His decision to enter Scouting was greatly influenced by his early training with the Scout program. He received the Eagle award and served as a volunteer Scout leader, Scout master, Cub master and neighborhood commissioner. Also, he was a member of the organization and extension committee of his Scout district.

"I became interested in Scouting as a boy, and I still believe in the basic principals and teachings of Scouting," said Stokes. He received his Scouting at the 123rd National Training School in Mindhan, N.J.

Stokes will serve Big Spring, Garden City and Sterling City. His assistant, Jerry Routtler, will live in Snyder and manage the Lone Buffalo District under Stokes' supervision.

Stokes was born Oct. 8, 1913, on a cotton farm at West, near Waco. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Mont T. Stokes. He graduated from Southern Methodist University with a Business Administration degree.

He met Miss Georgielynn E. Vandervilt while she was working at the Baker Hotel in Dallas. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Charles Vandervilt, and she graduated from Oak Cliff High School (now called Adams High School).

The couple was married Dec. 6, 1933, at the Oak Cliff Baptist Church in Dallas. They have two children. A daughter, Mrs. Carl D. (Moneta) Hill of Longview, is the mother of five children, one of whom, Ronald J., is stationed in Vietnam. The Stokes' son, also stationed in Vietnam, is Capt. Marvin R. Stokes, a helicopter pilot. His wife, Martina, makes her home in Amarillo. The Stokes are looking forward to becoming great-grandparents in September.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Stokes would rather camp and fish than any other sport, although both are golfers. They plan to use the Municipal Golf course and hope to join the Big Spring Country Club for their golf. They have a camper and already have an idea of places they plan to go to in this area, including Big Bend National Park and the Davis Mountains. Stokes has found a "private" fishing place, and there are Scout camps at both Colorado City Lake and Lake J. B. Thomas.

"I love to cook outdoors," said Mrs. Stokes, who often cooks on the patio or in the backyard when they are home.

Stokes has joined the Big Spring Rotary Club and is eager for opportunities to serve the community.

Mrs. Stokes likes handwork, bridge and gardening. She is interested in joining in women's activities in the First Christian Church, where they have membership. Also, she would like to affiliate with a home demonstration club.

"We like Big Spring and hope to stay here," said Stokes.

Miss Elaine Biffar Weds J. R. Shuffler

(Frank Brandon Photography)

MRS. JOHN ROBERT SHUFFLER

Miss Mary Elaine Biffar became the bride of John Robert Shuffler Friday evening during a double ring ceremony performed in First Baptist Church by the pastor, Rev. Robert F. Polk.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elva Biffar, 605 Johnson and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shuffler of Dallas.

Given in marriage by her brother, Glenn Biffar, the bride was attired in a full-length gown of candlelight satin; the train connecting to a yoke of Chantilly lace. The Empire waist was adorned with a bow, and the skirt featured appliques of Chantilly lace with beading. Her headpiece, formed of satin roses with lace leaves, held a veil of candlelight illusion. Atop a white Bible, a family heirloom, she carried a cascade of miniature carnations centered with a white orchid.

The prelude of traditional music was by Mrs. Forrest Gambill, organist, who accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Del Hortin as they sang "We Three Are One" and "I'll Walk Beside You." The altar was enhanced with baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli and illuminated with candelabra flanked by emerald palms.

Miss Lurae Biffar of Dallas attended her sister as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Lynn Webb, and Miss Linda Baird, both of Dallas, and Miss Ladene Hartin. The attendants were identically attired in full-length peacock blue crepe gowns trimmed with candlelight lace, and carried colonial bouquets of white daisies intertwined with blue ribbon. Their headpieces were matching blue crepe bows accented with lily of the valley.

Arthur Shuffler of Dallas served as best man, and ushers were Ray Martin of Jonesboro and Reggie Cranford. Lyn Webb and Steve Webb, both of Dallas were the groomsmen.

SCHOOLS

The bride, a graduate of Big Spring High School, attended Howard County Junior College and is employed by the Southern Baptist Annuity Board in Dallas. Shuffler graduated from Brian Adams High School in Dallas and attended Grayson County Junior College and East Texas State College. He is associated with Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in Dallas where the couple will reside at 7635 Ferguson Road following a brief wedding trip. For traveling, Mrs. Shuffler wore a navy blue knit dress, complementary accessories and the corsage from her bouquet.

RECEPTION

Others in the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Orbin Daily, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fortson, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hollingshead, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eubanks, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Eastham, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Emerson, Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Martin, Jonesboro; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Malone, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beckham, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Baird, Dallas; Jackie Dixon, Gatesville; and Mr. and Mrs. Reyford Beckham, Garland.

The tiered wedding cake, topped with bells, was placed on a table covered with white satin and overlaid with flounced net. Accenting the table was a branched candelabrum arranged with the bridesmaid's bouquets, and appointments were crystal and silver.

Couple Will Make Home In New Mexico

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Joe Porter are at home in Artesia, N.M., following their marriage Aug. 9 in the Centre Avenue Baptist Church in Artesia.

The bride, the former Miss Marsha Deen Matthies, is the daughter of Mrs. Dave Watkins, Artesia; and Bert Matthies of Monahans. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Porter, Artesia. The bride, formerly of Big Spring, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Matthies of Knott.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, Dave Watkins, the bride was attired in a dress of white dotted swiss designed with Empire waistline and large organdy collar. Her veil of illusion was attached to a circle of satin, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations with lilac chrysanthemums.

The bride attended schools in Forsan and Coahoma, graduating at Artesia High School. The bridegroom attended school in Artesia and is employed by the Navajo Pipe Line Company.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The table was covered with a hand crocheted white cloth and centered with an arrangement of lilac and white carnations. The white cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple under an arch of flowers. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Plano Home Setting For Ceremony

Miss Priscilla Forney and James R. Dawes were united in marriage Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross H. Forney, Route One, Plano. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dawes, 2804 Cactus.

The Rev. Ron Devellier, associate pastor of Northhaven United Methodist Church, performed the ceremony before a setting of garden flowers, ferns and greenery. Recorded music was played throughout the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a street-length Persian print dress in blue and rose, designed in an A-line with bell-shaped sleeves and a V-neckline. Her headpiece was an arrangement of bachelor buttons and babies'-breath.

At the wedding breakfast served after the ceremony the house party was composed of both sets of parents, along with Mrs. Ben Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Clement and Miss Martha Dawes of Big Spring, sister of the bridegroom. The wedding cake was decorated with pastel flowers.

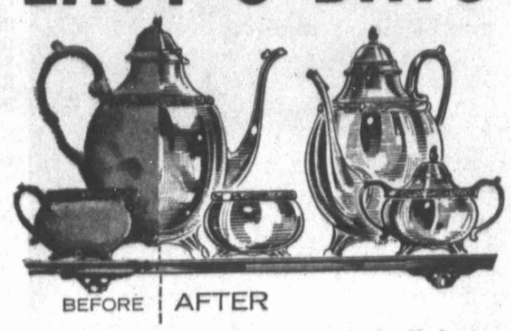

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dawes, Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Clement, Boston, Mass.; and Mrs. Douglas Manley, Schenectady, N.Y.

After a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N.M., the couple will be at home in Austin. Both will attend the University of Texas where he is completing the School of Architecture. Mrs. Dawes is a graduate of Highland Park High School in Dallas.

MRS. HOYCE WAYNE KENNEDY

Fort Worth Church Scene Of Ceremony

Miss Gyrene Lanette Koonce and Spec. 4 Hoyce Wayne Kennedy were united in marriage Saturday evening in the Rolling Hills Baptist Church in Fort Worth.

Dr. John H. Ramsey, Jr., read the rites before an arch of candles flanked by greenery and spiral candelabra. Mrs. Lovetta Chrittenden, organist, accompanied the Rev. Ronald E. Caskey as he sang "More" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Following a wedding trip, the couple will reside in Bad Aibling, Germany, where the bridegroom is stationed with the Army. For traveling, the bride chose an orange sleeveless dress with complementary jacket and navy blue accessories.

The bride graduated from R. L. Paschal High School in Fort Worth and attended Tarrant County Junior College. She has been employed as pianist at Rolling Hills Baptist Church. The bridegroom graduated from Big Spring High School and is now with the Army Security Agency.

The bride chose a formal gown of white peau d'ange lace fashioned with Sabrina neckline and long sleeves forming petal points over the hands. The tiered lace train cascaded from the neckline to chapel-length and draped around the A-line skirt to form a redingote effect. Her veil of silk illusion was accented with Chantilly lace and fell from a capulet outlined in pearls and centered with a bow.

Mrs. Benson Kennedy of Midland, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Jodie Hardie of Fort Worth was maid of honor. Mrs. Ronald A. McKnight was bridesmatron and Miss Caroline King was bridesmaid. The attendants wore blue formal gowns designed with lace bodices and lace bell sleeves. Each carried a single long-stemmed white glamelia tinted with green.

The Rev. Benson Kennedy, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Ronald McKnight and Larry Metcalf.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall. The refreshment table was laid with a blue and lime colored cloth, and silver appointments were used.

Presiding at the guest register was Miss Sheri Koonce, sister of the bride. Others in the house party were Mrs. Jerry Power, sister of the bride, Mrs. Wayne Skinner and Mrs. W. J. Chittenden.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MRS. LARRY McLAIN

It happens every time the month's first Thursday rolls around. On that day husbands are not welcome home for lunch; baby sitters are hard to come by; the nurseries are filled; the commissary, base exchange and pool are notably deserted and scores of handsomely-dressed ladies are seen filing into the Officers Open Mess. What's it all about? It's the OWC luncheon that makes each first Thursday something special for Webb women.

Preparations for each luncheon begin far ahead of the month's first Thursday, however. Already, plans are being made for this day as much in the future as June. Under the capable supervision of Mrs. Paul Foraste and Mrs. James W. Jacobs, co-chairmen of the OWC's luncheon committee, a variety of interesting programs is scheduled for the coming season of "first Thursdays."

For the summer months of July, August and September, however, the OWC relinquishes the luncheon programs to various student-pilot groups. With exuberance of youth, the student wives often design some of the more daring and original types of entertainment. The next luncheon, for example, is hosted by Class 70-04, and they are in the rehearsal stages of an original production entitled "The Lady Behind the Man in the Green Zippered Suit." Based upon the experiences of a student wife, the skit portrays some of the more humorous trials and tribulations of being married to a student at Webb. The ladies will don their husbands' green zippered flight suits as they give the world a peek at their view of the Webb experience. Hence, the title.

While most luncheon programs do not involve a theatrical production, they certainly have a high interest value to most Webb women. Decorating ideas for families who move frequently is one program currently in the planning stages for this year. Also, it is hoped that the International Service Corporation, home decorating and hosting idea consultants, will be able to speak to OWC members and guests about entertaining and decorating during the holiday season. A Mother-Daughter program is scheduled for April with a special speaker giving tips on grooming and manners for growing young ladies.

Each year holds endless possibilities for varied and interesting programs for the luncheons because there are only three themes that have become traditional annual affairs. These are the fall fashion show given in conjunction with a local ladies' clothing store; the March arts and crafts show, featuring the work of Webb people, and the Chinese auction which raises money for OWC projects.

Although the program is a vital part of each luncheon, it is hardly the whole show. Besides the entertainment, each first Thursday finds the Officers club decked with decorations which tastfully set the mood for the afternoon's event. This decor is carried even into the flavoring of the menu. Last year's Chinese auction, for instance, served egg rolls and sweet and sour pork and this summer's western theme luncheon featured barbecued chicken.

So when that first Thursday rolls around in the future, it is easily understood why parts of Webb Village seem so deserted and other parts of the base so blessed with all the lovely ladies.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Collegian: Learn To Wash Your Clothes!

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD
County HD Agent

When Prince Charles was preparing to go to Cambridge, Queen Elizabeth took a preliminary trip to that famous old school to inspect her son's quarters, and to find out what he should pack to get him through the year.

As students across the country prepare for the annual back-to-the campus trek, their mothers are fretting — just like Queen Elizabeth — about what will be needed in the way of apparel, furnishings, grooming and cleanliness aids. Most will have spent a considerable amount of time and money to get the student ready to set up in his home away from home, but will have neglected to train the student in the fundamentals of care of clothing and linens.

While some dormitories do provide linens and laundry services, many do not. Most youth are faced for the first time with the total responsibility for their clothing care.

Thanks to the advent of modern appliances and modern laundering products, there simply need be no drudgery in laundering clothing and linens. Today's easier washday demands a firsthand knowledge of a few basic procedures and rules.

START BY SORTING. Sorting is the first step in the preparation of washables for laundering. While sorting, keep three things in mind: the color fastness of an item, the type of fabric and garment construction, and the amount and kind of soil. The student might combine his sturdy whites such as sheets, towels, underwear, and shirts into one load. Colored clothing such as sport clothes, pajamas, dresses, blouses might be combined into another load. Heavily soiled clothing might be combined for a load, while delicate items could be laundered together. Nylon is a color scavenger. White nylon will pick up color from almost anything with which it is washed so it is especially important that it be washed with whites only. Woe unto the student who leaves home with all new bright linens and underwear, only to return home with them all turned tattle-tale gray!

PRE-WASH TREATMENT. While sorting, examine articles for tears, spots and stains. Mend rips or tears before washing; washing unmended clothing may increase damage. Close zippers, fasten hooks, remove unwashable trimmings. Boys need to turn down cuffs of trousers, roll down shirt sleeves and unbutton cuffs. Empty pockets — a paper match package may spread color throughout the load — or a facial tissue may make rewashing a load necessary.

A little time spent in the pretreatment of especially soiled spots is worthwhile because of the improvement in final appearance. Shirt collars and cuffs generally need to be examined. If there is more than a slight amount of ground-in soil and perspiration stain, it's a good idea to treat these areas so they will wash clean with the rest of the garment. One of the new laundry aids especially designed for soaking might be used. Or, make a thick mixture of the detergent you will use in the laundry by combining a small amount of detergent with just enough water to make a paste. Brush the mixture into the heavily soiled areas with a small soft brush such as a discarded toothbrush, sponge or a piece of cloth.

WATER TEMPERATURE. The hotter the water the faster you clean the clothes and kill bacteria — but hot water destroys the "like-new" appearance of some fabrics. Because some fabrics are not colorfast and some shrink — they have to be washed at lower temperatures. The average student may have about two wash loads a week. Generally speaking, the white load containing linens and underwear would be washed with hot water. The load of colored clothing would be washed in warm or cold water setting.

WASHING PRODUCTS. There is no single rule for the amount of soap or detergent to use. The leading washing products have usage instructions on the box which provide a good starting point. These instructions are based on the minimum amount for a normal size load, average soiling and average water hardness. Generally, a sudsing detergent should have a light layer of suds that covers the top of the wash water. Too many suds will slow the washing action and will leave a soapy residue in the clothing even after rinsing.

WASHING ACTION. The wash load should contain no more than two large pieces such as sheets, with the rest of the load made up of medium and small pieces. The clothes need to be allowed to circulate freely in the machine. Never overload.

DRYING. Drying is an important part of the laundry process. To minimize wrinkling, remove garments immediately after the dryer stops. If garments are placed on hangers immediately after removal from the dryer, collars, pockets, and trim can be straightened.

Practicing these basic steps in laundering will help keep the student's clothing more attractive and give it longer life.

SETS DATE — Mr. and Mrs. Erven Fisher Jr., 2410 E. 24th, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Suzanne, to Sgt. Joseph Stemper of Webb Air Force Base. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Stemper of Lockport, N.Y. The couple plans to marry Nov. 1.

Party Held Thursday For Bride

Mrs. Olan Chapman, the former Miss Kathy Urban, was complimented with a gift party Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Martha Stuteville, 801 Marcy.

Cohostesses were Miss Jessica Patton, Miss Julia Stuteville, Miss Lorie Grogan, Miss Becky Ringener, Miss Becky Jenkins, Miss Barbara Pringle and Miss Debi Caffey.

The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of greenery. Silver and crystal appointments completed the setting.

The couple was married Aug. 2 in Fort Worth.

MRS. TROY LYNN WILLIAMS

Couple United In Marriage

Wedding vows were solemnized for Miss Dolores Ann Richardson and Troy Lynn Williams Saturday evening at the West Hwy. 80 Church of Christ.

W. P. Dennis, minister, performed the ceremony before an altar adorned with arrangements of gladioli and pompom chrysanthemums flanked by palms and candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Beryl Richardson, 1216 Mobile, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Williams, 710 Nolan.

A chorus from the church sang the selections, "O Promise Me," "O Perfect Love," "The Wedding March" and "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Gary Richardson of Sand Springs. She was attired in a formal gown of Chantilly lace over peau de soie designed with bell sleeves; the neckline and bodice enhanced with ruffles of silk organza and lace accented with pearls. Her chapel-length lace train was edged with matching ruffling, and her veil of illusion fell from a white satin rose encircled with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations atop a lace-covered Bible.

Mrs. Charles Hale of Stanton, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Mrs. Gary Richardson of Sand Springs was bridesmatron. They were attired in identical sleeveless blue satin dresses fashioned with square necklines. The backs were accented with bows and streamers, and their headpieces were Dior bows with brief veiling. They carried nosegays of white carnations with blue streamers.

Jimmy Dale Heard was best man, and Leon Grissom was groomsman. Ushers were Donald Wayne Click and Joe Heard.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the First Federal Community Room. Miss Janie Boadle registered guests at a table covered with a white linen cloth and centered with candles and a miniature bride. Others in the house party were Mrs. Jimmie Wood, Mrs. Joe Heard, Mrs. Maurice Chapman, Mrs. Clyde Denton, Mrs. Ernest Miller and Mrs. M. A. Dunagan.

A white Irish linen cloth accented with blue streamers and bells covered the refreshment table. Centering the table was a crystal candelabrum with blue candles flanked by the attendants' bouquets. The wedding cake was topped with white satin wedding bells, and crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

SCHOOLS

Both Mr. and Mrs. Williams graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College. She was a member of Phi Theta Kappa and appeared on the dean's list and Who's Who at HCJC. He was a member of the Mid-Management Club and is employed at Big Spring Hardware Company.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Dalton McCauley and granddaughter, Robbie, of Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wood and family, Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Boadle and family, Odessa; and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hale and Charles Hale, all of Stanton.

Miss DeLynn Morgan registered guests, and others in the house party were Mrs. Paul Tollett, Miss Donna Cox, Mrs. Jim Frazier, Miss Carolyn Koeppen, Mrs. Johnny Bamsch and Miss Denean Morgan.

The couple will be at home in Abilene following a wedding trip to Galveston. For traveling, the bride wore a soft blue knit dress with complementary full-length coat of blue and copper-tone plaid. She wore beige accessories.

Credit Card Frauds Are Examined

Mrs. C. W. Mahoney spoke on "Credit Card Frauds" at Thursday's luncheon meeting of Big Spring Credit Women-International at Hotel Settles.

She emphasized that the three main credit card frauds involve gasoline, retail charge and bank cards. Stressing that it is easy to lose a card, she advised keeping a list of card numbers in some place other than a billfold. If a card is stolen or lost, it can then be reported immediately to the police and company issuing the card.

Mrs. George Weeks, president, announced the combined meeting of Districts One and Two, Credit Women-International, Sept. 21-22, at the Inn of the Golden West in Odessa. Delegates from Big Spring will be named at the Sept. 4 meeting at Hotel Settles.

Make Roomy Purse From Lunch Pail

Glue quilted fabric inside the rounded top of the box in one long piece. This padded lining can serve as a pin and needle cushion if you use the box as a sewing kit.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Folks:

I was waiting in a doctor's office the other day and was fascinated to see how one father kept his 18-month-old child from being bored.

The father had a small paper cup and was teaching the baby how to squeeze his plastic baby bottle and get a few squirts into the cup and then take his own sip of milk!

What a wonderful way to train a child to drink instead of taking his bottle away from him all at once. The association between the bottle and the cup not only made the baby laugh, but as he drank it, he didn't spill a drop.

This would be a nifty idea for babies who sit in highchairs in the kitchen while mother is working. Just look at the training he will be giving himself.

Dear Heloise:

When we ran out of bread the other day I made a great discovery. Instead of toast under your soft or poached eggs, use some herb-seasoned stuffing.

I use it now even when I do have bread! . . . Barbara Miller

• • •

LETTER OF THOUGHT

Dear Heloise:

I was really brought up short the other day and perhaps it was good for me to learn this.

About a week ago my three children went to visit friends for a week. I thought this was really going to be great, as I would have so much time for myself, but . . . it didn't work out that way at all.

After the first day, all routine housework was done. But the extra cleaning chores I had saved for such a time I had no desire to do. It seems without all the hustle and bustle that I had been used to, I lost all my ambition to work.

What I am trying to say is that I realized how nice it was to have the little ones about and under my feet. Sounds crazy, I know, but true. . . . Mother

• • •

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever had trouble getting the last bit of hand lotion out of your dispenser bottle?

Well, I found it will work just fine if you insert a short piece of plastic straw in the end of the dispenser tube. . . . Mrs. G.G.

• • •

Dear Heloise:

Here's a great idea for getting out of a back-zippered dress all by yourself.

I took a plain old wire coat hanger and pulled it out lengthwise, leaving a hook on one end. This will leave a hanger about two feet long and three inches wide.

Place the hook tip through the slot or hole in the zipper tab, and slowly pull the zipper up or down with the right hand, using the hanger hook as a pulley. Instant success. . . . Mary Crooke

• • •

• • •

Dear Heloise:

One evening I was in the mood to clean the kitchen cabinets and discovered I didn't have any border paper.

These moods don't come very often, so I decided to improvise.

Lo and behold! They were much prettier and much fancier than any border paper I had ever used, and cheaper too. . . . Mrs. M.M.

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I fill the small opening in salt and pepper shakers with a plastic catsup dispenser. (Some tops may need the tip cut a little to enlarge the opening.)

Ugh . . . Heloise

MRS. OWEN WORMSER

MRS. OWEN WORMSER

Her Habit Of Helping Receives Recognition

By JO BRIGHT

The wife of Capt. Owen Wormser, a T-38 instructor pilot at Webb Air Force Base, she has distinguished herself not only in the areas that make her a model Air Force wife, but in community service activities and social life as well. A gracious and pretty brunette, she seemingly directs her energies toward anything that touches her life — receiving as much good from the results as those she has helped.

Mrs. Wormser gives much more than time. However, time is one way of recording the good that comes from its use. This year, Col. Chandler B. Estes, base commander, recognized Mrs. Wormser by presenting her with a 500-hour service pin for her work with Family Services. The hours had steadily accumulated since Capt. and Mrs. Wormser came to Webb in July, 1966. During those many months, she served as emergency chairman twice, publicity chairman and a member of the office committee.

That's one direction in which her energies have gone. There are others. As a member of the Officers Wives Club, she has served on its board as sports and games chairman and was publicity chairman for its bowling league. For two years she was a member of the Christmas Ball committee, later working on the Presentation Ball committee and being named co-chairman of the special activities committee.

Social contacts in the community soon had her as a member of Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, serving as social chairman, BSP city council representative and a member of the program committee. This fall, she begins a term as chapter president, and will more than likely, continue as a substitute teacher at St. Mary's Episcopal School.

Mrs. Wormser was well acquainted with the Air Force way of life before she met Mather AFB pilot that later became her husband. She is the daughter of an Air Force pilot, now retired, who is a flying instructor in Sacremento, Calif. Her mother is a medical technologist and school teacher. There are four boys and two girls in the family, and during their early Air Force years, they lived in South Carolina, New York, Florida, Panama, Japan, California, Texas and Utah.

Mrs. Wormser attended Pacific High School in San Bernardino, Calif., but graduated at North Syracuse High School in North Syracuse, N.Y. The summer before college she won the "Miss North Syracuse" contest, using the scholarship prize to attend the University of California at Santa Barbara. While a student there, she was named Letterman's Club Sweetheart and Playboy Queen. Since being in Big Spring, she has attended a summer session at Howard County Junior College, studying history.

Capt. and Mrs. Wormser were married July 17, 1965, while he was stationed at Mather AFB as an instructor in electronic countermeasures. They came to Webb AFB in Class 67-H, and he is now assigned to the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron.

For recreation or relaxing, Mrs. Wormser plays bridge, and mah jongg, collects cookbooks, reads and keeps up with the family pets, two Siberian Huskies.

Being an "achiever" seems to come easy to Mrs. Wormser, but she disclaims any label that hints of organization or efficiency.

"If I stay at home, I don't seem to get a thing done," she said, "but let me be pressed for time, and somehow, I can do much more."

Philathea Installation Conducted At Dinner

Mrs. W. U. O'Neal installed new officers, presenting each with a white Testament at Thursday's dinner for the Philathea Sunday school class, First United Methodist Church, in the fellowship hall.

Officers are Mrs. C. R. Moad, president; Mrs. Cass Hill, first vice-president; Mrs. R. F. Dorsey, second vice president; Mrs. L. B. Maulden, recording secretary; Miss Gladys Burnham, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Stripling, curriculum chairman; and Mrs. J. D. O'Barr, group major. Miss Roberta Gay will be pianist, and Mrs. B. M. Keese is reporter.

Serving as committee chairmen are Mrs. Hayes Stripling Sr., social; Mrs. Hugh Duncan, finance; Mrs. Bill McIlvain, world service; Mrs. Rilla Webb, visitation; Mrs. Floyd R. Martin, card; Mrs. Pat Harrison, flowers and gifts; and Miss Twila Lomax, worship center.

Miss Gay gave the program on the 23rd Psalm and served as pianist during the group singing led by Mrs. E. C. Howard. Mrs. Edward Cruz gave the invocation.

Hostesses were Mrs. J. B. Apple, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Clyde Waits and Mrs. Lester Wise.

The table was decorated with pastel net topiary trees, and the centerpiece was an arrangement of summer flowers. Mrs. Apple was in charge of decorations.

Mrs. R. Moore Named Chairman

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. Royce Moore was named nominating committee chairman at Tuesday's meeting of Ruth Sunday school class of First Baptist Church. The group met in the home of Mrs. L. M. Dawson. Other committee members are Mrs. Floyd Rice and Mrs. H. R. Parsons. Mrs. Rice gave the devotion.

Couple Marries In Lamesa Rites

Mrs. Lula Viola Boyd of Snyder and H. D. Carmichael of Ackerly were united in marriage Wednesday in Lamesa. The wedding was held in conjunction with the observance of the 89th birthday of J. H. Carmichael of Cleburne, father of the bridegroom, who was unable to attend.

The couple will maintain homes three miles west of Ackerly, where the bridegroom is a farmer, and at 2200-41st St. in Snyder. They plan to go on a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M, at a later date.

Former Resident Receives Degree

Mrs. L. D. Patterson, 611 Bell, has returned from Canyon, where she attended the graduation exercises of her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Bradley, from West Texas State University. Mrs. Bradley, the former Miss Marilene Joy Burnett, received a degree in programing and computer services. She and her husband make their home in Dumas.

Family Visits In Roy Odom Home

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Odom, 1202 Austin, have as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. James Roy Odom and daughters, Debra and Diane, all of Fort Worth. They will also visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paschal Odom, 2615 Lynn.

Fresh Paint Adds Color To Rooms

Fresh paint will brighten the family's surroundings, add a fancy touch to a home and lift the spirits of everyone.

Dark colors absorb light and make things look smaller.

Kitchens can be made bigger and lighter by painting countertops and cabinets white or a light color. Interest can be heightened by painting the inside of cabinets a bright color.

Battle of Sabine Pass

History reveals that Texas military genius burned brightest . . . not at dawn as you might expect . . . but at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Two of our state's most glorious battlefield victories were won at that hour. Each was the result of military cunning and Texas grit against almost impossible odds. Each resulted in a smashing defeat of the enemy while sustaining little or no casualties. Each was executed in less than an hour . . . one in 18 minutes. Each had a profound effect upon the course of Texas. One is eternally famous, world-wide. The other, comparatively unknown, even among Texans!

Universally remembered is the genius of Sam Houston, who snared Texas' Independence at San Jacinto by the ignominious defeat of Santa Anna at the siesta hour. But few can recall the Civil War Thermopylae at Sabine Pass when a 25-year-old Lieutenant and his 41 Irish dock workers, with six ancient cannon, pulverized a major Union Army invasion of Texas. As a result of this astounding victory, Texas was spared the post-war scourge that reduced the rest of the South to peonage.

In 1863, when it looked like foreign powers might try to involve themselves in the Civil War on the side of the Confederacy via Texas, the Union sent an armada of 22 ships and 5,000 men under a West Point general to cut off the state and subdue it separately. Not so stealthily, the flotilla from New Orleans sailed up the Sabine River where the lead gunboats planned to capture Fort Griffin, land troops and fan out, crushing all Texas resistance. But Lt. Dick Dowling of the Davis Guards and his 41 Irish longshoremen who manned the mud fort had other plans. Rather than flee, they chose to stand and face the overwhelming odds. Holding their fire on the advancing Union gunboats until mid-afternoon, they opened up when the ships were in point blank range AND when they became stuck on a mud bar which just happened to be opposite the fort! In 45 minutes, withering and accurate fire disabled the two lead ships, killed and wounded fifty men and sent the entire armada fleeing in panic back to New Orleans. The only casualties sustained by the Texans were blistered hands from red-hot cannon. The gunboat captains surrendered and 350 prisoners were taken. One red-faced shipmaster forgot his sword and Dick Dowling politely escorted him back aboard his half sunken wreck to get it.

Texans across the state are invited to join the entire Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange-Sabine area on Labor Day week-end when a four day Dick Dowling Day celebration will feature for the first time a full re-enactment of the battle, plus dozens of other activities. Of particular interest will be the "Irish spirit" which persists after 106 years . . . they are having to resort to shillelahs to persuade Texans to play the parts of the Yankees!

MIDLAND-ODESSA CHORALE

Sheppard Named Assistant Director

Kenny Sheppard, of 2105 Cecilia, Big Spring High School choir director, has been appointed as the assistant director of the Midland-Odessa Chorale, which is sponsored by the Midland-Odessa Symphony Association.

"I never expected to be named to this position," Sheppard said. He has been singing with the group four years. "I feel honored to have been chosen for this position and consider it one of the greatest challenges that I have ever encountered," he added.

Sheppard will not be leaving Big Spring to assume the position and will continue to direct the Big Spring High School choir, which he has conducted to several first division awards.

Director of the chorale is B. R. Henson, T.C.U. choral director. Sheppard said Henson will direct the group during three rehearsals a month, while he will handle the fourth one.

Approximately 50 persons in the Midland-Odessa area and other places as far away as Denver City, Pecos, Fort Stockton, Lamesa, Andrews and Big Spring, sing in the group.

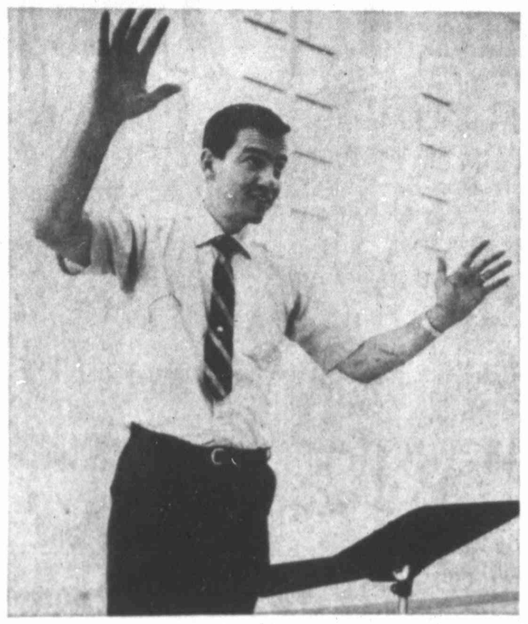

Sheppard said the group is made up mostly of choral directors and people with considerable singing experience. He pointed out that they sing only "serious music."

Besides singing several baritone solo parts himself, Sheppard has directed his choir to the winning of two sweepstakes awards at University Interscholastic League contests. His choir has won a first division at the San Angelo Choir Festival, and a first division award at the Buckaneer Music Festival at Corpus Christi. While instructing at Crockett Junior High School in Odessa three years ago, his group also brought home several first division awards from various contests.

Sheppard is a 1965 graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and a 1960 graduate of Olney High School. During the summer months he is working on a masters degree in music education at Texas Tech.

He is married to the former Ranette Wood of Archer City, and they have two boys, Andy, 3 and Jessie, 2.

Sheppard said audition for this year's chorale will be held during September at Midland, and rehearsals will begin the first week in October. He said any interested persons may contact him at the high school.

TO DIRECT CHORALE — Kenny Sheppard, Big Spring High School choir director, has recently been named as the assistant director of the Midland-Odessa Chorale, which is sponsored by the Midland-Odessa Symphony Association. Sheppard sang with the group for four years, before being named to the position.

She Falls In Love With Bullfighting

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — "I want to do it again!" exclaimed pretty Terri Fowler after her first experience in the bullring.

Says Terri: "I fell in love with the sport and simply had to try it."

Madison Gets Media Training

O. A. Madison, director of media services at Big Spring High School, will be working with school districts in this area to assist them in providing a comprehensive inservice program in media utilization.

Madison attended a Media Institute sponsored for the Regional Service Centers by the University of Texas at Austin and the Texas Education Agnecy from July 21 to Aug. 1 in Austin as a teacher-trainer. He will be attending workshops for further training this fall, January and next summer.

Madison will be working with this program for the next three years in addition to his regular school duties.

The Austin institute initiated the three-year program, financed by a Title III grant, to provide local school districts with in-depth training programs in basic classroom graphics, projected materials, and innovative media. The content for the courses will be developed with the media directors and the center instructors in sessions to be organized by the University of Texas in cooperation with the Texas Education Agency.

Madison received his BA and ME degrees from Texas Tech in Lubbock. He taught mathematics and science for 10 years and has been in the media field for nine years.

AT MEETING—Mrs. Gene Shackelford, Fort Stockton, and O. A. Madison, director of media services at Big Spring High School, were among participants at a teacher-trainer institute last month in Austin. Madison will be aiding area schools in initiating in-service programs.

Special Judge Will Hear Case

DURANT, Okla. (AP) — Dist. Judge Joe Taylor has disqualified himself from future court proceedings involving a youth charged with murdering two Durant boys.

Dist. Atty. Wallace Gates asked for the disqualification. Judge Taylor last week dismissed murder charges against Bobby Cranford, 23, Denison, Tex. Gates immediately refiled the charges.

A new preliminary hearing for Cranford is set for Sept. 4 when a Poteau special district judge will hear the case.

Knights Might Admit Women

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The Supreme Council of the Knights of Columbus voted Thursday to study a proposal that women be admitted to the Roman Catholic fraternal society.

The resolution authorized Supreme Knight John W. McDevitt to "appoint a commission which will be given the task of making a thorough study of the feasibility of qualified membership in the form of an auxiliary for the wives, daughters, mothers and sisters of members."

(From the 'Upper Room')

The Agony Of Raising Tax Values

To use a phrase, "there ain't no way" for everybody to be happy where tax values are involved. Equalization, for most of us, means upping the other fellow while giving us a better break on our own property.

Thus, oil companies a year ago said they felt they should not carry a bigger burden of taxes without some attention being given to other properties. The result was a re-evaluation survey, made by an appraisal firm employed for the purpose.

Its findings, as regards farm and ranch lands created bitter protest from owners; and, as The Herald observed, it seemed like a mighty heavy blow to take at one time. Perhaps the unfortunate part of the whole procedure was delaying too long a general adjustment to stay in line with current values and meet the needs of taxing agencies.

Nevertheless, a compromise apparently has been worked out, and presumably to the general acceptance of both the protesting property owners and the governing bodies of county, college and school districts.

This being true, the issue should be settled for the year.

An awkward circumstance was that the board of equalization, sitting for the school district (the city, too, but urban properties were not principally at issue) felt it was responsible for establishing equitable values, rendered its findings, and found its recommendations put aside. This situation might have been avoided.

Men who are willing to sit on boards of equalization each year have a demanding and frequently an unpleasant task. They are entitled to the best guidelines available and the best possible understanding of their problems.

If there is a lesson to be learned in the difficulty of re-evaluating this year, perhaps it is that, in future years, authorized officials can keep abreast of changing needs and changing times, and strive for regular and orderly processes in arriving at tax bases and fair values. Admittedly, this is a big order.

More Books For The Library

Steps go on toward the eventual conversion of the old post office building into a county library. The county has been advised that it will have a deed to the property soon, and has permission to begin remodeling.

This will be a large and expensive project, and will take some time. The county court has allocated $20,000 in the new budget for remodeling, and we predict that, in time, this will have to be supplemented.

But plans can be devised to provide a facility that will be a great improvement, even if it is a long-time process.

What the public ought to consider is that, with this much larger space, the county library will be in need of many more volumes, if it is to serve its full purpose. Currently, space prohibits the storing and circulation of many more books, but the story will be different once the larger quarters are opened.

While the county can purchase, as budgets permit, more books, the library would be greatly aided by volunteer contributions. And there probably are very few homes that could not spare some good books no longer particularly wanted.

At the proper time, an organized appeal ought to be made, and this is suggested as a worthwhile project for some club or group of clubs. We believe the response would be good.

The county will have a splendid physical plant, but it's the volumes, not the building, that make a library. It would be well for planning to be done to help bring our library up to top rating.

Discrimination In Advertising

WASHINGTON — Will television programs be as good after cigarette sponsors are compelled by a government agency to prohibit cigarette advertising? This will deprive the TV companies of more than $200 million a year in revenue.

The controversy that has arisen over the attempt to ban cigarette advertising on radio and television is not as simple as it seems. It can have economic consequences that would reduce the revenues federal and state governments are getting from a prosperous industry like television and also cause a decrease in incomes for performers and those engaged in assembling talent.

MANY PERSONS do not realize that the television networks and all the stations together collect approximately $2.5 billion a year from advertising and special programs they sell to each other, but that their expenses are more than $2 billion. Thus, they have about $500 million left before federal taxes. Approximately one-half that sum remains as profit distributed among the three major networks and 642 television stations.

If cigarette "commercials" are forbidden, the competition for the remainder of the advertising will, therefore, become even keener between the television stations and the printed publications.

THE FEDERAL Communications Commission, which allocates licenses, has sought to do away with cigarette advertising on television and radio. But no other government agency has dared to suggest that such advertising also be barred from the printed publications. Nor has there been any movement yet to prohibit the sale and manufacture of cigarettes.

IT REQUIRED a constitutional amendment to forbid the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages, and the chances are that any attempt to interfere with making and selling cigarettes would necessitate a similar amendment. The famous Eighteenth Amendment, adopted in 1920 — which made unlawful the manufacture and sale of liquor — was in effect only 13 years. It was repealed in 1933, as the American people came to the conclusion that this was a matter which could best be handled by the states individually.

What is most surprising is that members of Congress have been discussing the enactment of a law to do away with cigarette advertising on television, yet no one has come forth recommending a constitutional amendment that would forbid the manufacture and sale of cigarettes.

MEANWHILE, ..the broadcasting industry is trying to apply the "fairness" doctrine and give space on the air to warnings from various organizations concerning the alleged dangers in cigarette smoking. There is, however, no unanimity of feeling among medical experts as to the supposed damage done by cigarette smoking. Also, the truth is that when individuals see their friends and relatives smoking, they probably would not be dissuaded from beginning or maintaining the habit just because television "commercials" were stopped.

Sooner or later, the Nixon administration is going to have to take a position on the question. It will be interesting to see whether the policy adopted will be a dis crimination as between television on the one hand and printed publications on the other.

Billy Graham

I saw a sign on a church: WORSHIP WITH US SUNDAY. With all the crying needs of the world around us, it struck me as a little selfish. Maybe I'm wrong. Could you explain to your readership what worship really is: D.N.

Church worship, of course, can be many things to many people. Worship is not sitting in a padded pew, giving to benevolences and world missions. Worship is not just a boresome hour on Sunday morning spent dutifully and grudgingly. It is not the display of fine apparel, nor a period of gabby visiting with old friends.

Worship is practicing the presence of God.

It is that mysterious blending of minds and hearts we call "fellowship".

It is a church full of hearts going out to the needy, the lost, and the suffering of the world.

Worship is hearing the Word of God explained, and interpreted by the Holy Spirit.

It is healing for broken and disturbed hearts. It is accepting the love and forgiveness of God.

It is, for many, the most important, the most profitable, and the most inspirational hour of the week.

Stopping Inflation No Easy Task

NEW YORK (AP) — Clamping a lid on inflation is proving to be a longer-lasting task than had been expected by economic planners.

When the government's attack on inflation was launched in June, 1968, with enactment of the 10 per cent income tax surcharge, it was anticipated that concrete results would be evident by now. And the tight money policy, initiated by the Federal Reserve Board last December, was intended to add a powerful weapon.

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said this past week that the time has not yet come for an easing of economic restraining policies.

He told the American Statistical Association in New York that Nixon administration economists would like to see "a little more evidence of a slowing in the rate of business expansion" before changing policy.

McCracken had said earlier in the week, in a talk at the University of Wisconsin, that the usual 6-to-12-month time lapse before altered fiscal and monetary policies reduce inflation is apt to extend into "the long side of average" this time.

He said that while the economy shows a trend toward slower real gains in output "the price level has shown no comparable tendency towards a more subdued behavior." He noted that the consumer price index so far this year has been rising at a rate 50 per cent faster than last year, when the rise also was 50 per cent greater than the previous year.

In both speeches, McCracken reiterated the administration's opposition to imposing wage and price controls as a means of combatting inflation.

The cost of living again rose sharply in July but at a slower annual rate than in June. The Labor Department reported its consumer price index climbed five-tenths of one per cent in July to 128.2 per cent of the 1957-59 average, meaning it now costs $12.82 to buy items which cost $10 a decade ago.

The main cause of the increase was higher prices for food services.

The July rise was at an annual rate of six per cent, down from 7.2 per cent in June. The July index for all items was 5½ per cent above a year earlier. This year's living cost increases have been the highest in 18 years.

A poll of 122 leading economists and statisticians indicated a belief that real growth in the economy — the increase in gross national product adjusted for price changes—would come to a virtual halt in the current quarter.

If the composite forecast is correct, it would represent "agonizingly slow progress in cooling off the economy," said Morris Cohen, chairman of the business and economics statistical division of the American Statistical Association.

Another survey — conducted by the Federal Reserve Board — indicated that major U.S. companies expect their capital spending authorization to level off in 1970. If so, this would be good news to inflation fighters, who have been alarmed at the high level of spending for new plants and equipment.

The Federal Reserve said that aside from the utility industry, companies, on balance, have slightly reduced their anticipated authorizations for the second half of this year and left plans for 1970 about the same as they had expected earlier.

The Commerce Department reported that new factory orders for durable goods in July rose 5½ per cent from the June level to $30.8 billion.

After two consecutive monthly declines, the rebound resulted mainly from a sharp increase in Defense Department orders of military goods. There also were increases in orders for iron and steel and consumer durables.

Steel production last week interrupted a long decline by rising 1.5 per cent to 2,604,000 tons from 2,565,000 tons the previous week. Steelmakers expect a steady increase in coming weeks as they fill heavy orders, particularly from automobile companies.

Automobile production climbed this past week to an estimated 121,867 passenger cars from 72,632 the previous week and 45,763 a year earlier.

ECONOMIC PICTURE

- Consumer prices keep going up
- Cost of living rises sharply
- Capital spending to level off
- New factory orders are increasing
- Wage, price controls still opposed

To Your Good Health

Allergic To Her Wedding Rings

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you give me any reason why, after six years of marriage, I am allergic to my wedding rings? The doctor says this is what it is. As long as I'm not wearing them, my finger is okay. Will I ever be able to wear them again? When I wear them, it starts with an itch, then a rash, and finally the skin peels.—MRS. P.

This is what is known as a "contact dermatitis;" you have become sensitized to the metal in the rings — probably. Quite a few people are sensitive to certain metals. One suggestion is to have a jeweler coat the inside of the rings with material to prevent actual contact with the skin.

However, there is another possibility. Sometimes it is not the metal which bothers a person. In some cases, particles of soap or detergent seep in under the rings and cause the trouble. This is also a contact dermatitis, but from a different material.

Try rinsing and wiping the inner surface of the rings, and also the finger, after you have used soap or detergent. This helps some individuals.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Around school there has been a lot of talk about sex education, more about the morality of it than the facts of it.

Some friends insist that venereal disease is not as contagious as we are led to believe; also that there are cases of gonorrhea contracted through means other than sexual contact. What I have read says it is impossible. Or is someone pulling my leg? I think these people should be enlightened on the real facts, don't you?—M.S.V.

Venereal disease is highly infectious — studies indicate that such diseases, when present, will be transmitted in about two sexual contacts in three.

There is nothing mysterious about venereal diseases. When a person gets. an infectious disease, he harbors the germ — and he can transmit the germ to someone else.

Since the germs, particularly that of gonorrhea, thrive best in a mucous surface, sexual contact is by far the most common means of transmission. But they can transmit the disease if they are conveyed by any other means while the germs are still alive. For one important example, small babies, especially girl babies, should not be cared for by someone with active gonorrhea.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a widow interested in a man 53 years old, but wonder how his vegetarian diet will affect him. He eats no fish, no meat, but three eggs a day, cheese, nuts, fruits, and vegetables, and is in apparent good health.—G.M.

Strictly speaking, he is not on a "vegetarian diet," because he is getting some food from animal sources — the eggs and the cheese (and I presume he drinks milk.)

While I am not a believer in "vegetarian diets," if a person gets adequate protein, there's no reason why health should suffer. Meat and fish are excellent sources of protein — but since eggs and cheese are also, I can't see that your friend is harming himself.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms, treatment, how to speed recovery — write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for his booklet, "The Pesky Prostate," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

That's Turn-Over Water You're Drinking

Well, is the lake turning over, or not?

The answer be left to the engineers, but there are a great many of us who will testify that something has happened to the taste of the water.

Around our house, when the faucet flows, one thinks the sink scringes from being drenched with such a dosage. Imagination maybe, but the coffee has taken on a mighty perculiar twang.

DRINKING WATER is like, maybe, seeing a kid grow up; if you see him every day during his adolescent years, you don't notice how tall he has become. Leave for three years and come back snd you are impressed that the lad has become a man.

And people who have been off on vacation and returned are the ones most impressed by the change in the water. "What's happened?" they ask. The rest of us, drinking the stuff every day, have gotten our gullets accustomed to it.

OR, A VISITOR from some city of beautiful flowing springs will positively gag, because he just hasn't been subjected to this lake-turnover bit.

It appeared that the lawn was the first to react to that water change. I don't know about your grass, but if it's like ours, all the water in three counties won't restore its verdancy. Some people might say it's the chlorine, or the copper sulphate, or the activated carbon, or whatever other chemicals are being used. I say the grass gasps for some pure-dee old rainwater.

The birds were the next to notice the change. They have been flying to the rim of the bird-bath, taking a whiff, or a taste, and soaring off for better water-holes, no doubt.

NEVERTHELESS, people are saying that the lake, due to certain climatic changes, is doing somersaults. If and when such a thing happens, sediment on the bottom is brought to the top; sediment, we have been told, is a nice word for mud.

There was a time when some little boogers called algae were blamed for the change of taste. The algae, it seems, break loose during this water inversion and stink up the whole bit.

I HATE to be a pessimist, but if things keep going like they are, the only way to turn over the lake will be to go out there with a dozer, scrape up the mud and debris on the bottom and flip it over.

To forestall this, I turn to the creation of a supplication that might go like this:

"The way to make us feel joyous and gay
Is for Lake Thomas to run over the spillway."

Or, in lieu of such good fortune:

"Tis better to have water which tastes like gall,
Rather than to have no water

Yours for a rainy season,
BOB WHIPKEY

Art Buchwald

That 'Exclusive' Little Number

(Art Buchwald has disappeared for a few weeks. He left some of his "classics" behind.)

Every woman likes to own "one nice thing." It may be a dress, it may be a suit, it may be a coat, but it gives her a certain amount of happiness to know she's been extravagant about one item in her wardrobe.

My wife is no different from any other woman in this respect, and last spring she decided to buy her "one nice thing" at Chanel's. It was a cream-colored wool suit with a trim of gold on the jacket pockets and sleeves. She paid somewhere in the neighborhood of three figures for the suit, but she felt it was worth it.

"It was," she said, "the only nice suit I've seen in the collections."

A FEW WEEKS later, we were dining at the Tour d'Argent when a woman came in wearing the same Chanel suit.

"That lady has the same suit on as you have," I said.

My wife seemed a little annoyed, but all she said was, "I recognize her as a Chanel customer. I suppose she has as much right to the suit as I have."

Several days went by and we were taking tea at the George V. Two women walked in, each wearing the suit.

I NUDGED my wife in a friendly fashion. "Don't look now, but those two women are wearing your suit. They look to me like twins."

My wife was so angry she refused to eat her chocolate eclair, so I ate it for her.

For a month nothing happened. My wife wore her suit and I almost forgot about what it had cost, when one day I was passing a shop in the Lido arcade, and there in the window was my wife's suit.

I RUSHED home to tell my wife the good news. She wouldn't believe me, so I insisted on taking her down to the Lido arcade to see for herself. Sure enough, there it was in the window and selling for about $90 in francs.

"I think yours is better made," I said, trying to think of something nice to say. But my wife is a very emotional woman and all she could do was bite her lips and dab her eyes.

The suit in the Lido arcade should have been the tip-off for her, but she said: "Maybe the ordinary shop girl won't appreciate the simple design."

HOW WRONG she was! The following week I saw dozens of girls wearing copies of the suit. Some had red fringe, others had black fringe, some were blue, some were green, but the design was the same.

At the end of each day I came home to report to my wife on how many copies of her suit I had seen that day. I thought on the days she didn't get out that she would like to know. But she seemed very surly when I told her, and once she ran out of the room when I said, "Should I count it as your suit if instead of wool it's made of orlon with dacron fringe?"

TWELVE DAYS later I accidentally saw in a New York paper a full-page ad. Ohrbach's was having a sale on my wife's suit. I got so excited I called her immediately.

"Guess what?" I said.

"Ohrbach's is having a sale on my suit," she said.

"How did you know?" I asked.

"Why else would you call me at 2 o'clock in the afternoon?" and she hung up.

The Paradox That Is Britain

LONDON — This is the summer of the heat wave, the summer that will be talked about wistfully in dank, dark summers for years to come. It is the summer of the greatest tourist boom this civilized old city has known in recent times when despite new building there is a shortage of up to 20,000 hotel rooms.

As the debate goes on over whether little England, shorn of the responsibilities and privileges of a great power, is an acceptable status, civilized is a two-edged word. For the detractors at home and abroad it means overcivilized — decadent, effete, played out. The Tories boil with indignation at many of the sights and sounds — and smells — of contemporary London.

JOHN BIGGS-DAVISON, Conservative member of Parliament for Chigwell, fulminated in a letter to the Evening Standard about the condition of Piccadilly Circus, "Once the focus of a great commonwealth of nations." Around Eros (the statue on a raised platform in the center of Piccadilly Circus), like barbarians camped amid the momuments of a dying civilization, sprawled with their luggage and their litter, one finds a pseudo-hippie horde. "What," cried out Mr. Biggs-Davidson, "became of London's pride?"

CERTAINLY, FOR the Biggs-Davisons the sprawled hippies, from many parts of Europe with a good representation from the United States, are a revolting spectacle. Long-haired, many of them bare foot, in dirty blue jeans, squatting on their duffle bags, huddled under blankets, they are figuratively, if not literally, thumbing their noses at the swirl of traffic that rushes around their island retreat.

For others who admire the self-respecting way in which Britain has been able to put down power, foreswearing the habits of empire, civilized has another meaning. It means the civility, the courtesy, the understanding of a people who have learned to live in their crowded islands with quiet contentment.

BRITONS WHO sat spellbound before the television screen for the moon landing are all but unanimous in their enthusiasm for the American achievement. It was the triumph of technology and teamwork, with the astronauts exploring a new world that had been from the time of creation beyond the reach of man. All the media celebrated in every detail this American triumph.

Partly this was the pride that Britons feel in having given the initial impetus to establishing the land across the sea. The son had done the mother proud. In the special relationship with America that Britain clings to, the ties to the past are of paramount importance.

TODAY IT is a love-hate relationship. The United States has the great power role that Britain exercised throughout the previous century. The question is whether under far more difficult circumstances the Americans can employ the restraint which must go with great power if we are to escape Armageddon.

One week the moon triumph holds the headlines in the press. The next week the big, staring, black headlines record the so-called ritual murders in Hollywood. And Sen. Edward Kennedy's tribulations get more space than in American newspapers. When the giant across the Atlantic, the super-power, shows a seamy side it is inevitably big news.

FOR MANY Britons this is doubtless a source of sorrow and regret. You want your son towering against the Western horizon to do well. But for the others the German word schadenfreude, joy in others' trouble, may be part of the reaction. Surrendering the habits of empire is far from easy.

EYECATCHER — Your attention is caught either by the balloons or the bikini-clad model holding them on Chicago street. Stroll was plug for National Root Beer Week.

HEIR APPARENT — Prince Don Juan Carlos of Borbon, above, has been designated the future chief of the Spanish state in succession to Generalissimo Francisco Franco

HOW DOES IT RUN — John Kennedy, son of the late president, and friend identified as Henry attempt to operate mini- jeep during holiday on Greek island of Scorpios.

TUNED IN — Marine Lance Cpl. David Cruz, El Valle, N.M., follows progress of Apollo 11 via helmet-mounted radio while on guard at Da Nang's Marble Mountain.

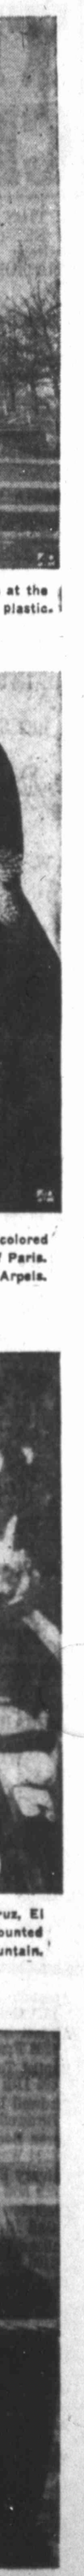

NEW BOAT DESIGN — New fad for bathtub admirals involves racing the tubs. This catamaran style boat consists of two fiber glass bathtubs powered by outboard motor.

VERY PHOTOGENIC — But who does the sign refer to, Patrick the sheepdog or model Phyllis Sands? Event was a pet premiere in New York's Central Park.

Whatever the events of the day . . . a space achievement or a campus confrontation . . . you can count on getting the full story of what happened whenever you read this newspaper. It's part of the American way of life . . . our freedom to print all the news and your freedom to read about it. It's a way of life that didn't just happen . . . it was won for us by the same men who won independence for this nation. They realized that people must have free access to information in order to progress — that's why they guaranteed us freedom of the press in the very first amendment in the Bill of Rights. This American tradition is perpetuated every time we go to press and every time you pick up this newspaper and read it.

Stars Film Movie In 'Space Ship'

In one of the most remarkable assignments ever demanded of motion picture stars, Keir Dullea and Gary Lockwood, cast as astronauts in "2001: A Space Odyssey," spent six weeks of working days inside the cramped perimeter of a giant space-ship called "Discovery."

Created and constructed by a top team of engineers from Vickers Armstrong, the Centrifuge required six months to build and perfect as a practical working structure complete with a control panel which operated the intricate machinery required to control the critical rotation of the massive device.

The space-ship dominated one of the eleven sound stages at MGM's British Studios. These stages were filled with the complex of futuristic sets entailed in Kubrick's vision of the future in "2001: A Space Odyssey."

During their protracted interplanetary travel as astronauts in the film, Dullea and Lockwood were able to engage in a relatively normal domestic routine. Extensive electronic equipment screened the books, magazines and newspapers of their choice and other relaxation stemmed from taped music and a library of films. A well-stocked larder of special space-age foods provided their dietary requirements and a compact gymnasium enabled the actors to maintain their physical health.

During the six weeks of filming in the Centrifuge, Dullea and Lockwood worked "in solitary" and under claustrophobic conditions imposed by the set. The entire structure was sealed for the "takes," with the camera photographing from a predetermined position inside the Centrifuge and with Stanley Kubrick directing the scenes from the outside with the aid of radio equipment and a television monitoring set-up.

This is only one of the many marvels of "2001: A Space Odyssey," dramatic story of the exploration of the Earth, the planets of our solar system and a journey light years away to another part of the galaxy, exploring the infinite possibilities that space-travel opens to mankind.

SPACEMAN — Space-suited Gary Lockwood stars as Astronaut Poole in "2001: A Space Odyssey," beginning tonight at the Jet Drive-In. The film is an epic drama of adventure and exploration of the moon, the planets and the stars in the year 2001.

Carnival Scheduled

Webb Air Force Base will be holding its annual Labor Day weekend carnival Aug. 29 through Sept. 2. The purpose of the event is to provide a local interest to keep people off the road that weekend. The carnival will be held on the baseball diamond across from the Service Club.

There will be pony rides, bingo, a ferris wheel, penny pitching, ring toss, a family variety show, and even a baby elephant. Advance tickets will be on sale until the first day of the carnival at reduced prices. They can be bought at any squadron or the Personnel Services office. During the carnival tickets will be 25 and 35 cents.

The carnival will be open from 4 p.m. to midnight Friday and 1 p.m. to midnight Saturday through Monday. Tuesday night the game booths will be closed, but the rides will stay open.

There will also be a dance Friday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Service Club. Admission is $1. The dance and carnival are open to the public as well as all military personnel.

Planetarium Shows Begin

The first public program at the Big Spring Planetarium will be presented at 8:30 p.m., Aug. 26, according to Gary Carlson, planetarium director.

The subject of the program will be eclipses, and material concerning the penumbral eclipse of the moon early Wednesday morning will be presented. Carlson will also give a short exhibit on the sky over Big Spring as seen at this time of the year.

The planetarium is located on the north side of Big Spring Senior High School. Only the north door of the planetarium will be open, Carlson said, and is easily reached by the west entrance off Tenth Street.

Starting Wednesday

Jilted Lover Gets Revenge In Thriller

"Daddy's Gone A-Hunting," like any traditional thriller, takes a long time to set up a suspenseful situation, but the climax is a real cliff-hanger and should have audiences on the edges of their seats.

The picture, starting Wednesday at the Cinema, has a moral too, which could be summed up as 'Hell hath no fury like a psychotic male jilted by his girl friend.'

A newcomer named Scott Hylands plays the vicious fellow who is all charm on the surface when he picks up Carol White in San Francisco where she has arrived by plane from England. She determines his true nature, jilts him and marries another man. Hyland, bent on revenge, kidnaps her child.

The movie, filmed on location, also stars Paul Burke, Mala Powers and Barry Cahill.

ROMANTIC DUO — Angie Dickinson and Glenn Ford are the romantic principals in the fast-draw drama, "The Last Challenge," Saturday at the Jet Drive-In. Chad Everett also stars in the exciting story of the challenge for the title of fastest gun in the West.

Million Dollar Legs Hidden

The girl whose legs were insured by Lloyds of London for one-million dollars has never worn a mini-skirt. She started her film career in long dresses and recently played her most important dramatic role — with her legs covered.

The fragile, brown-eyed blonde is Angie Dickinson, who doesn't resort to the obvious. She has appeared opposite some of the screen's biggest stars and has never needed a gun to get her man.

But a revolver plays an important part in her latest role in MGM's "The Last Challenge," an action-packed western in which Angie is seen as a dance hall charmer in love with Glenn Ford.

"Westerns can sometimes prove a thankless job for an actress," she says. "But I was lucky with this picture because our producer-director, Richard Thorpe, refused to make the heroine the usual blatant, paint-rouged, stereo-typed girl. I don't wear a single red satin dress."

Miss Dickinson has a soft spot in her heart for westerns ever since the day she played her first featured role and walked onto the streets of Old Tucson to confront John Wayne in "Rio Bravo."

OVER THE ROOFTOPS — London's Big Ben witnesses a spot of magic as the fearless Peter Pan guides the Darling children over the rooftops to Never-Land in "Peter Pan," starting Thursday at the Ritz.

Never-Land Hero In Disney Cartoon

Heretofore, the young heroines have found preference in Walt's great animations — Snow White, Cinderella, Alice in Wonderland and other lovely mortals and fairy princesses.

There was Pinocchio, of course. But he was a puppet who only became human as a final compassionate gift of the Blue Fairy.

Fairies and spirits generally are females, in the very nature of things wrought by poets and fabulists. The romantic usefulness of the gallant males involved in these wondrous tales, usually a prince charming, was to awaken some spellbound maiden with a decorous kiss. That was the literary fashion of the heydey of elder fantasy.

But even with the pixie lad created by James M. Barrie for his famous play, Walt had to free the character from half a century of distaff dominance on the stage. The role had been traditionally taken by such celebrated actresses as Maude Adams, Cissie Loftus and more recently by Glynis Johns, Jean Arthur and Mary Martin.

In his own all-cartoon translation of "Peter Pan" with its vastly extended scope and magical effects, Disney pictures Peter as a very human boy, although armed with superhuman powers in dealing with the wanton villainies of Captain Hook and his pirate rogues during the spectacular adventures on the isle of Never Land. He is seen as a boy of about twelve, daring, invincible, with impish humor, red hair and a gruff masculine voice and behavior. He can lick anything that wears the face of wickedness or threatens the guileless youth of Wendy and her brothers on their last fabulous fling before having to grow up. A true champion, Peter — exactly to the liking of the entertainment seeking family of today, and a great figure in Disney's gallery of animation immortals.

Film Fiction Now Factual

The laughs on "The Liquidator" set were loud and long when director Jack Cardiff ordered a prop man to install a microscopic microphone into a cocktail olive and sink the contraption into a dry martini. Leading the laughter was star Rod Taylor who, as secret service agent Boysie Oakes, has to use the device in screen version of John Gardner's best-selling novel, also starring Trevor Howard and Jill St. John.

"I know this is supposed to be a comedy," said Taylor, "but really . . ."

Nevertheless, he was the first to stop laughing when he learned that this self-same rig was presented to a United States Senate committee investigating invasions of privacy. The joke was a joke no longer. A gin-proof microphone had been perfected, slipped into an olive with a toothpick forming the transmitter, and dropped into someone's glass at a top diplomatic cocktail party. And every word of the drinker's conversation had been picked up by an eavesdropper operating a receiving set outside the building.

Taylor was to find out that much else of "The Liquidator" which started as fiction had turned to fact before the film had completed shooting. For example, in one sequence, Boysie Oakes is being vetted for enrollment into the secret service and is appalled that the security chief knows not only the precise status of his love life, his bank balance down to the last penny, and every verbatim word of certain compromising conversations he had months ago.

Fiction? Not at all. Security agencies everywhere in the world are devising such fantastic snooping devices that the most outrageous spy film can be reduced within weeks to a piece of straight news reporting.

Continental Singers-Orchestra
Yes, we implore you to set aside 8 O'Clock, Thursday, Aug. 28, to hear the famed Continental Singers and Orchestra. On behalf of the whole community, because of the enthusiastic response to their appearance last year, we have offered our comfortable, air-conditioned sanctuary for this exciting program.
This interdenominational group of 20 outstanding college-age singers and 20 talented instrumentalists has been acclaimed in all the United States and in 20 other nations.
These young Christian artists bring all the freshness, vibrance, and imagination of a Fred Waring group to the field of Gospel music, hymn arrangements, concert anthems and folk adaptations.
There is no charge, but you won't hear anything on a concert stage that will surpass it. Come and be thrilled by it, and bring a friend to share it.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You are the only person who can help me, so please answer this in a hurry and help me get my sister back to normal.

After an ideal 20-year marriage, my sister's husband lost his head over a beautiful but dumb 19-year-old kid. Right now he and his child bride are honeymooning in Europe and my sister is home crying her eyes out.

What happens to an intelligent man when he hits 50: How can he walk away from the woman who has loved him for 20 years just because a pretty young thing comes along?

This has shaken up the whole family. Now we all look at our husbands and wonder which one of them will be the next to run off with a teenager. Please give us your support.

BELLEVILLE, MICHIGAN

DEAR BELLEVILLE: All intelligent men do not lose their heads when they hit 50. Obviously your sister's "ideal 20-year marriage" was not as ideal as it appeared to be. It's unfair to sit in judgment knowing nothing of the human needs of the people involved.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am tall, dark and considered handsome. I am in the medical profession which affords me an excellent opportunity to meet attractive young women. (Nurses, patients, doctors' daughters, etc.)

My problem is that I am 30 years old, and some of my friends have told me that if I am thinking about marriage to forget it because 30 is considered "over the hill." Is it?

MEDICO

DEAR MEDICO: Don't be silly. At 30, you are young enough to CLIMB the hill.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our child Rick is 14, and he doesn't know the first thing about how to handle money. It's all his father's fault because his father didn't have anything when he was a boy, and he wants his son to have it better.

Rick gets 10 dollars a week for just breathing. He's supposed to keep his room picked up, and I don't mean make his own bed, I mean just drop his dirty socks and underwear in the clothes hamper. But he doesn't even do that.

He's never saved a quarter in his life, but he sure knows how to get money. His father pays him 10 dollars for every "A" and 5 dollars for every "B." Also, this big lummox had two teeth extracted last week so he let us know that he was putting his teeth under his pillow in case the "Good Fairy" wanted to "buy" them. Well, his father slipped a 10 dollar bill under his pillow that night and "bought" the teeth. (Isn't 14 a little old for that?)

Please say something about the importance of teaching children the value of a dollar.

RICK'S MOM

DEAR MOM: Before you can teach your small boy how to handle money, you'd better teach your big boy how to handle his son. Every child should be taught to save a part of everything he gets. Your husband, as well intentioned as he may be, is denying his son the very experiences that made a man out of HIM. The way to learn the value of money is to WORK for it.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Guide For Youth Books

To the Editor:

As the school year approaches, the following clipping from a 1929 publication could be useful to parents and teachers. It follows:

In choosing books for children these rules, recently laid down by an author of books for boys, are worth the consideration of parents:

"Read your children's books yourself. Or better still, get your boy or girl to read them aloud to you. Ask yourself during the reading:

'Do the young characters in the book show respect for teachers and others in authority?

'Are these characters the kind of young people you wish your children to associate with?'

'Does the book speak of and describe pranks, practical jokes and pieces of thoughtless and cruel mischief as though they were funny and worthy of imitation?'
