Irish Honor St. Pat

By The Associated Press

Irish-Americans and their friends across the nation honor St. Patick today with parades and festivities.

The greatest expanse of shamrock green was to be found in Chicago. Mayor Richard J. Daley was to officiate at ceremonies where 25 pounds of green dye would be poured into the Chicago River as prelude to the afternoon parade on State Street.

Hard to believe though it may be, one Irish bar in Kansas City is going to be closed. Kelly's, a spacious spot situated in a 135-year-old building, overflows nightly with singles. And Randal Kelly, the proprietor, says that with a St. Patrick's Day crowd, "the old building just couldn't stand it."

In New York, where there are more persons of Irish descent than in Dublin, Aer Lingus-Irish International Airlines-as usual flew in a bevy of stewardesses. They were to pass out shamrocks at City Hall, sing the praises of Ireland and then fall in to parade up Fifth Avenue.

New York marchers, expected to number 100,000, will have a green stripe to guide them up the avenue for the first time in 10 years. Deputy Mayor James Cavanaugh, himself a son of Hibernia, last week gave permission for return of the center line after Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who is only half Irish, banned it in 1964. Wagner had said the stripe would prompt the Germans to ask for a blue stripe for their parade and the Italians to ask for a purple one for theirs.

Washington marchers also had a green stripe for their St. Patrick's Day parade which occurred a day early. Some 3,000 persons parade up Constitution Avenue while more than 65,000 persons looked on.

Guiness stout flowed in from Ireland was pumped from a huge van on the Ellipse, the park area behind the White House grounds. National Park Service official Art Lamb called the celebration "the most successful non-inaugural parade in the history of Washington."

John Malloy, the Irish ambassador to the United States, was to call at the White House to present President Ford with a crystal vase of fresh shamrocks flown in from Ireland. The President is scheduled later to visit the "fighting Irish" at Notre Dame.

Through the boisterous cheer of the Boston St. Patrick's Day festivities Sunday, was felt the prickly awareness of the city's school intergration problems. About a quarter of the floats and exhibits in the parade were sponsored by antibusing groups. And at the annual dinner where politicians usually tell stories about each other, many of the jokes made veiled or open reference to the school situation.

HOSPITAL TOUR—Clyde Ferguson, inhalation therapist at Cogdell Memorial Hospital, describes some hospital equipment to a group making a tour during "open house" at the county hospital Sunday afternoon. Here he is describing the use of an isolette with a rocker bed, which provides therapy for new-born infants with respiratory problems.

TWO NEW DOCTORS COMING

Visitors Tour Hospital

Scores of Snyder and Scurry County citizens, along with some visitors, got a behind-the-scenes look at Cogdell Memorial Hospital during an "open house" event Sunday afternoon.

In fact, tours of the hospital were so popular that the final group that was conducted through the varied medical facilities did not complete the tour until almost an hour past the announced closing time for the open house.

And while the tours, which were sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the hospital, sponsor of a medical student scholarship program, were still underway, Cy Miller, hospital administrator, announced that two young doctors have agreed to begin practice here, upon completion of their internships in June----provided suitable office space is available.

Miller said efforts will be pushed to provide offices in the Cogdell Center area.

He said that Dr. David Wiman and Dr. David Ray, both doctors of osteopathy, have indicated that they would come here to practice. Dr. Wiman is interning in the Dallas area and Dr. Ray is interning at El Paso.

Dr. Wiman is a graduate of Snyder High School, where his father, the late T.D. Wiman, was principal for several years. He is married to the former Frances Martin, also a Snyder High Graduate. Following graduation from Snyder High School, Dr. Wiman attended Hardin-Simmons University where he received a bachelor of arts degree and subsequently entered The Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine in Fort Worth, where he received the doctor of osteopathy degree last June 3.

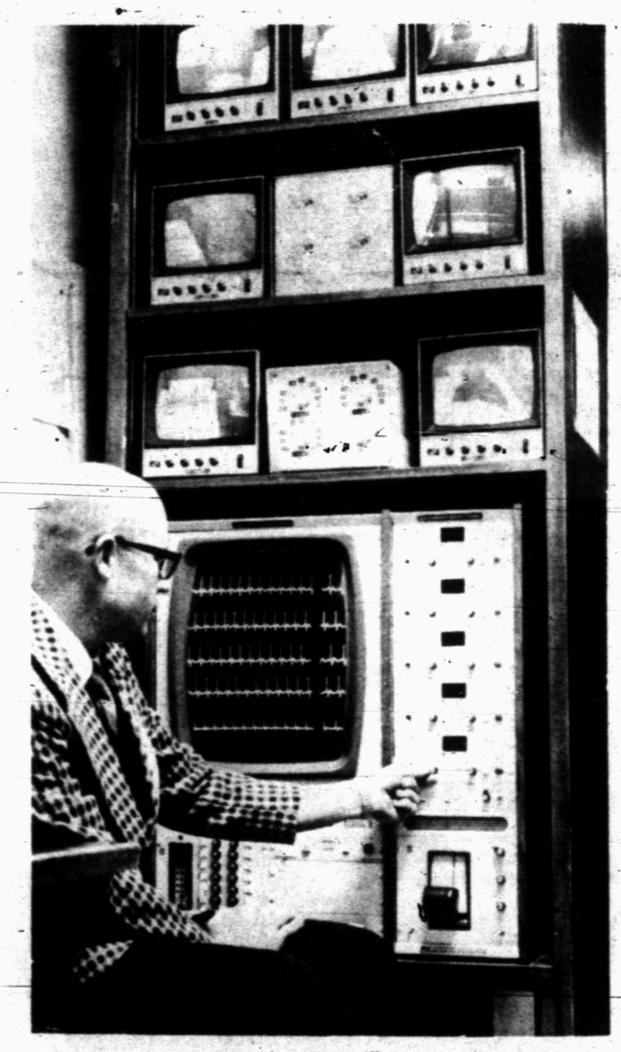

Dr. Ray, who was reared at Bridgeport, also is a graduate of the Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine.

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of Cogdell Memorial Hospital, the nursing staff and other hospital officials were on hand to greet visitors and conduct tours of the hospital Sunday afternoon. For many of the visitors, it was the first time they had an opportunity to see some of the hospital's facilities, such as the surgery, delivery room, supply rooms, records facilities, etc.

Attracting considerable interest was new equipment for monoriting heart patients, which had been installed only a few hours prior to the open house event. This new equipment, which is rarely found in small hospitals (in fact it is not yet provided in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock) is capable of monoriting a patient walking down a hallway.

The Women's Auxiliary contributed to this and other equipment now in use at Cogdell Hospital, which members of the professional staff declare is the best-equipped 100-bed hospital in this part of the country, or perhaps anywhere.

Contributions were beging accepted by the Women's Auxiliary to its medical student scholarship program. In this program, scholarships will be provided medical students who agree to come to Snyder and practice for a minimum of three years folowing completion of their medical education.

NEWEST EQUIPMENT—Lawton Taylor, maintenence engineer, demonstrates new equipment for monitoring heart patients at Cogdell Memorial Hospital during an "open house" Sunday afternoon. This equipment, the most sophisticated that has been developed so far, is rarely found in small hospitals.

Offshore Oil Rights Go To Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the federal government owns the offshore oil rights in the Atlantic Ocean claimed by coastal states.

In an unanimous opinion, the court rejected the argument of the states that pre-revolutionary charters made them the owners of the oil rights.

The ruling came in a suit filed by the Justice Department against the 13 states bordering the Atlantic. The suit was filed after Maine began preparing to sell three million acres off its coast for development by private oil and gas companies.

Maine's plans conflicted with a 1953 federal law giving the states ownership of only the first three miles of seabed off their coastlines.

But Maine and the other coastal states claimed that colonial charters gave them domain over a 100-mile wide belt of the seabed. The states argued that they did not relinquish those ownership rights when they joined the Union.

The government countered that England did not have that much seabed to give away and that, even if it did, the charters were invalidated when the U.S. Constitution was ratified.

Writing for the court, Justice Byron R. White said earlier Supreme Court rulings bound the court in deciding the Maine case.

The court ruled in 1947 in a California case that the states were not even entitled to ownership of the first three miles of seabed. Congress acted in 1953 to restore ownership of that area to the states.

"As the court viewed our history, dominion over the ... sea was first accomplished by the national government rather than by the colonies or by the states," White said.

In arguments before the Supreme Court, the states said they must be given control over offshore drilling for economic and environmental reasons.

The states said they run the risk of profound environmental damage yet must bear millions of dollars in uncompensated costs from any drilling in federal waters. Under the present program, states receive no share of revenue from oil produced in federal waters.

Ford Argues For US Involvement

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)— Urging rejection of the "new isolationism," President Ford expressed confidence today that Americans know they cannot "resign from the world."

Ford argued for continued U.S. involvement in world affairs — and particularly for foreign aid programs — in a speech prepared for a special convocation at the University of Notre Dame campus near South Bend.

While his text placed heavy emphasis on foreign aid, mainly economic assistance, it made no metion of his controversial requests for more military aid for Cambodia and South Vietnam.

As Ford arrived at South Bend airport, he was seranaded by a high school band and cheered by more than 1,000 pesons. They stood behind a fence to shake hands as he greeted them campaign-style. He paused to remove a loosened cufflink and left his cuff flapping.

Thousands more lined his motorcade route into town, many of them school children waving small American flags.

As it arrived downtown, the motorcade became a St. Patrick's Day parade. Standing in his open-top limousine, Ford waved beneath banners proclaiming in green letters: "Welcome President O'Ford."

The parade marched along an avenue renamed "O'Ford Boulevard" for the occasion.

Through a loudspeaker, the President thanked the crowd, estimated by newsmen to exceed 10,000, for its "unbelievable welcome."

"God bless you all on St. Patrick's Day," Ford called out.

At one point, the President left his car to walk along the fringes of the crowd. There were only a few signs of dissent. One read: "And who elected you?"

Besides making his speech and receiving a doctor of laws degree during his first campus appearance of the year, Ford was to entertain newspaper and broadcast executives from six states at lunch, hold a locally broadcast news conference and have a working dinner with governors before returning to Washington.

Governors were invited from Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Maryland and Virginia — all those from states east of the Rockies who did not meet with him during earlier trips to Georgia, Florida, Texas and Kansas.

Noting that Notre Dame has students from more than 60 countries, Ford said:

"Let this demonstrate to all Americans that other people place a high valuation on what America has to offer. Let it demonstrate that the University of Notre Dame rejects the new isolationism."

Texas Utilities, Soviets Ink Pact

DALLAS (AP) — An agreement between the Soviet Union's scientific research agency and Texas Utilities Services Co. was announced today that will make available Russian technology for gasification of deep lignite coal deposits in East Texas.

The contract agreement between Texas Utilities and V-O Licensintorg of Moscow was announced jointly here and in Moscow.

"The contract with Licensintorg is to make available to Texas Utilities the technology of a process for gasification of lignite coal," said P.G. Brittain, president of the Texas company which sells electricity to about one-third of the area and population of Texas. It is made up of Texas Power & Light Co., Dallas Power and Light Co. and Texas Electric Service Co.

Brittain said the technology for the deep lignite recovery process is "proven" in the Soviet Union but unproven in the United States, making the agreement in the research and development category.

He said evaluation of test sites for the project will be completed in East Texas in the next several months with the help of Soviet scientists and technicians. He said these tests will be made first in Texas Utilities' existing lignite coal fields.

"The project will be directed toward deep lignite coal deposits not otherwise recoverable," Brittain said. He said this involves coal below the 150-foot level.

He said the contract with the Soviet Union is complex but involves less than $2 million, which will not include the Texas company's costs at the sites of the project.

Brittain said the lignite gas would be used by Texas Utilities as an alternate energy source since it has low British Thermal Unit (BTU) properties. It would not be economically feasible to transport the gas over long distances, he said.

"I don't see this as a panacea to the fuel situation, but we feel we have an obligation to explore all energy sources," Brittain said.

County Agrees On Deep Creek Item

Scurry County Commissioners this morning indicated that they would approve a resolution committing the county as a local sponsor of a Deep Creek Flood Control project if such a project should prove feasible.

The commissioners studied a resolution approved last week by the Snyder City Council and asked the county judge to prepare a resolution for the county which would be virtually identical to that adopted by the city, except for one minor addition. The city's resolution provided for the city to provide 50 per cent of the funding requirements of local sponsors "which includes the cost of purchasing land rights, administering contracts, providing legal assistance and other miscellaneous costs which are required of the local sponsors and which may be legally assumed by the City of Snyder."

Members of the commissioners court indicated that this resolution was acceptable to them provided that "operation and maintenance" could be spelled out as part of the local sponsors' cost.

City manager George Patterson told the court that if they would prepare such a resolution, he felt that the city could take care of the addition at a special meeting.

The resolutions by the city and county are being prepared this month so that an application for a planning grant can be made to the State Soil and Water Conservation Board, with hopes of favorable action late this spring or early this summer.

Erwin Pavlik, district conservationist with the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District, said the sooner the resolution reached the state board, the better the opportunity to get the planning grant approved this year. The planning grant, which is federally funded through the Soil Conservation Service, would finally determine whether the proposed project here is feasible and also would pinpoint proposed structures.

The project has been under consideration since the flood of Aug. 13, 1972, which caused almost a million dollars in property damage here.

20% Credit On Insurance Rate

The Texas Board of Insurance has approved a 20 per cent credit on the fire insurance rate in Snyder, City Manager George Patterson has reported.

Patterson said the 1975 rate is the same as that approved for 1974, and marks the sixth year in a row that rates have either remained stable or dropped. He said the rate reflects the effectiveness of the city's fire department in keeping fire losses to less than 24 per cent of the amount paid in fire insurance premiums.

Snyder's five-year insurance premiums amounted to $655,980 while the five-year insurance losses amounted to $161,784. Snyder's key rate for fire insurance has not increased since 1966.

Tax Cut Action Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee said today tax credits for homebuyers should be removed from tax cut legislation.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., made the statement to reporters as Treasury Secretary William E. Simon told Congress increases in the federal budget deficit could rekindle inflation, start a new recession and cause higher unemployment.

The tax cut may win congressional approval this week, although its reception at the White House could hinge on whether Congress makes some commitment to holding down spending.

Also expected to get Senate and House committee action today and Tuesday are proposals for emergency military aid for Cambodia. Democrats in both chambers have criticized any increase in aid, and the House committee already has rejected one compromise.

Ullman said the $3-billion tax credit proposal for home buyers, approved by the Senate Finance Committee, must be taken off the anti-recession tax cut bill.

He also said it is bad tax policy for the bill to contain a special $1 billion tax benefit for such financially ailing companies as Chrysler Corp., Lockheed Aircraft Corp., and Pan American World Airways.

The House-passed version of the tax cut bill contained neither the homebuyers provision nor the ailing companies feature.

Rep. Herman T. Schneebeli, R-Pa., senior GOP member of the Ways and Means Committee, agreed that the tax cut bill is the wrong place for the home buyers provision. He, too, said he is still opposed to attaching the ailing companies provision.

VISITS BIRTHPLACE—T. A. (Tollie) Faver, 2005 Avenue M, celebrated his 80th birthday today, and here is shown at the old family home place south of Fluvanna. He was born in a dugout to Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Faver. His father brought the first riding cultivator into the county and also walked and led the first white-faced bull that was shipped into Scurry County to the 9-R Ranch, 15 miles west of Snyder. Faver reminded that it was March 27, 1895, that all of the cattle that were unsheltered in this area froze to death. Hundreds of animals froze with "snow banked up to their bellies."

Agent Hopes Publicity Helps

By JACK SCHREIBMAN
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The FBI agent in charge of the hunt for Patricia Hearst says the highly publicized attempt by the FBI to talk to sports radical Jack Scott could end in Scott's simple refusal to cooperate and the FBI's polite backdown.

Charles Bates told The Associated Press Sunday night that his men would have to "turn around and walk away" if Scott refused to talk to them.

Scott and his wife, Micki, have been sought for questioning since they were linked in news reports last week to an eastern Pennsylvania farmhouse where Miss Hearst and Symbionese Liberation Army members Bill and Emily Harris may have hidden out last fall.

He said there is no warrant out for Scott's arrest. "All we can do is tell him we'd like to talk to him. If he doesn't want to, he doesn't have to. If he refused, I'd say, 'Thank you very much.'"

Reports of new leads may convince Miss Hearst and Harrises to turn themselves "without anyone being hurt," Bates said.

But the fugitives could also reason: "'Oh, well, they know now where we've been recently and they may know now, so we'd better get lost or hide,'" he said.

"It's too early to assess. I'm hoping that it helps. But I won't know until the thing's over."

Bates denied published reports that Scott had eluded FBI agents in a high-speed chase in Berkeley last week and later abandoned his rented car.

He said of the reported chase: "Nobody would elude us once we found them. I don't know where that came from. There was never any chase. We haven't been out trying to grab him."

Bates refused to comment on a report that Harris' fingerprints were found in a New York City apartment Scott left last September.

The Chicago Tribune said Sunday that Scott apparently left that apartment to join the fugitives at the Pennsylvania farmhouse rented by Mrs. Scott and that the FBI told the Wayne County, Pa., sheriff's department that Miss Hearst "was supposed to be pregnant or pretending to be pregnant."

Bates said he could neither confirm nor deny reports that the fingerprints of Miss Hearst, the Harrises and indicted fugitive Wendy Yoshimura were found in the Pennsylvania farmhouse.

Asked if there were any basis for a warrant against Scott, Bates replied: "For what? It's a lot tougher to charge a person than people think."

He said it could not be determined when fingerprints might have been made and there is nothing illegal in the mere rental of a farmhouse by the Scotts.

Judge Restricts Kleasen

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — District Court Judge Tom Blackwell restricted the co-counsel status today from Robert Kleasen, accused in the slayings of two Mormon missionaries.

Kleasen attempted to cross-examine his own lawyers at a hearing in which the attorneys renewed their motion to withdraw from the case.

Blackwell said he would continue to allow Kleasen's co-counsel status but would limit interrogation of witnesses to lawyers with a law license.

"I intend for the truth to come out," the defendant said. "I have nothing to hide."

When asked by one of his lawyers if he was "the accused on these murder charges," Kleasen replied: "If there were any murders, I guess that's a fair statement."

Blackwell ordered Kleasen's sanity trial to proceed at 2 p.m., starting with jury selection.

Earlier, lead defense counsel Bob Gibbins objected to Blackwell's permitting Kleasen to act as co-counsel, saying it was a comment on the weight of the evidence.

Senators OK School Proposal

AUSTIN (AP) — Senators voted 26-2 today to make the private College of Osteopathic Medicine at Fort Worth a public school.

The Senate also had notice that Sen. Bill Moore might bring up his controversial bill to raise loan interest rates.

The sponsor of the school proposal, Sen. Betty Andujar, R-Fort Worth, said the new state school would be "fully independent," but it would be governed by regents of North Texas State University.

Merging the school into the state system, Mrs. Andujar said, would offer a "partial solution to the needs of the state of Texas" for more doctors, particularly in the rural areas.

Sens. Mike McKinnon, D-Corpus Christi, and Raul Longoria, D-Edinburg, voted against the bill.

Grandparents Are Pressed Into Service

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Grandparents, those folks so well versed in dispensing love and affection and an occasional hug to a small child, are being pressed into service at the suburban Prairie Norton School.

It's the idea of the principal, Robert Walker, who believes that with the doses of education sweetened, a child feels secure in school and learning comes easier.

Twenty-two grandparents are spending regularly scheduled time in a quiet corner of the classrooms where they listen to a child read or help him with a problem, bolster his self-confidence and sometimes hear a secret or two.

Walker says the grandparents were reluctant at first when he went to a senior citizens center to recruit volunteers.

"But now they come a little earlier each day and stay a little longer, and some say they'll come two mornings a week instead of one when the weather gets better," he said.

The children are benefiting, too, as they become closer to the "classroom grandparent," Walker said. He explained he measures the success of the experiment in the relaxed contented faces of the pupils.

Walker emphasized that the project is not a regular tutoring program and the grandparents' roles are not the same as the volunteer mothers who serve as teachers' aides.

"Children need love and affection and some, in the first grade, just need it more than others," he said.

Three-way tie in the fools' sweepstakes

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been happily married for eight years. (No kids.) I thought we had a perfect marriage, and so did everybody else in town. We're in business here, and everybody knows us.

Last year a friend of my husband's was killed, and my husband started helping his widow. I was never invited to go along when he was helping her with whatever he was helping her with so much. He helped her over several weekends, so I finally told her that I needed him to help ME on weekends, but she didn't seem to care.

Finally, I found a love note in my husband's pocket. It was from her to him. Signed, too. I accidentally found it in his pocket. (This woman was supposed to have dearly loved her husband.) I know that this woman and my husband had no previous affair going while her husband was living.

Now, my husband has moved out of our house and is living with her. And on Main Street yet. I asked him if he wanted a divorce, and he said: "No." He is supporting me and living with her. He says I am a wonderful woman but he was just drawn to her. He knows if I divorced him, she would expect him to marry her, and he doesn't want that.

I have a question for you: Which of the three of us is the biggest fool? Me, for still caring for him? Him, for destroying his image in town? Or her, for letting him live with her and ruin her reputation?

DEAR LEFT: I would call it a three-way tie.

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman, not young anymore, and I am married to a man who is older than I am. He's in poor health, and stubborn as a mule. He refuses to make a will, and I am told that if he should die without making a will, the government will take half of everything he has, and there will be such a high tax on what is left over, I may have to go to the poor farm. Is that true?

I don't have much education and wouldn't know how to talk to a lawyer, so please don't tell me to go to one. We are not rich, but we have worked and saved for nearly fifty years and I don't want to lose my security.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: The place to get the facts is from a lawyer. Don't worry about your lack of education. He [or she] will explain everything to you in language you can understand. And don't be ashamed to ask questions.

If the bank you do business with has a trust department, it can also be helpful. Don't believe rumors. Get the facts; you'll be glad you did.

DEAR ABBY: I have a strange problem. I have been happily married for 14 years. My father-in-law remarried six years ago. His wife has a habit of giving me second-hand gifts.

In the days of the mini skirts, she gave me four half-slips that came down past my knee, a purse with a telephone number in it, and six nightgowns that smelled of mothballs!

This woman dresses beautifully, has excellent taste in clothes, and I cannot imagine why she would pass on these second-hand gifts to me that she wouldn't wear herself. And she certainly can afford to buy new gifts.

Should I return the next gift that is obviously second-hand, and tell her I have no use for it? Or should I say it doesn't fit? Or what?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Accept the gift graciously, and dispose of it any way you wish.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DONALDA IN SHAKER HEIGHTS: Girls who wear see-through blouses are easily seen through.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Market Advances

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market made another broad advance in active trading today amid evidently rising hopes for an economic upturn soon.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 4.61 at 778.08, and gainers held a 3-1 edge on losers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon told the Senate Budget Committee this morning that "the downward slide of the economy is losing momentum." His remarks followed Friday's news that businesses had been able to work down their inventories by $148 million in January.

Jim Walter was the Big Board's most active issue, up ½ at 31⅞ in trading marked by a 192,400-share block at 31½. The company reported a strong earnings gain for its fiscal first half ended Feb. 28.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index climbed .86 to 80.86.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was up .25 at 45.12.

Champion Home Builders, the Amex volume leader, was up ¼ at 4½.

HOSTESS WITH THE MOSTEST

Perle Mesta Dies At 85

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Perle Mesta, who entertained thousands of the powerful and the would-be powerful at her gay and informal parties as Washington's "hostess with the mostest," died in a hospital here Sunday night while her brother held her hand. She was 85.

Mrs. Mesta, famed for bringing together political foes, movie stars and foreign heads of state, moved here 13 months ago to be near her brother, D.W. Skirvin. She left Washington secretly because she "wanted no tears" and no farewell fanfare. Skirvin had been commuting regularly between Oklahoma City and Washington to visit his sister after she suffered a broken hip in a fall two years ago. She never fully recovered from the injury.

In an interview last year, Mrs. Mesta discussed her role as reigning Washington hostess for nearly 30 years.

"My parties play a political role, definitely. If I'm interested in a bill, like the Equal Rights Amendment, I'll try to get people who are for it and against it at the party," she said.

She once said that a successful party is the combination of cool guests, hot food, cool music and a warm hostess.

It is said that many political compromises were worked out at Mrs. Mesta's parties, which were known for relaxation and a bit of gay abandon rather than laborious philosophical discussions.

Through the years, her guests were treated to piano recitals by Harry S. Truman, a Comanche war whoop from diplomat Patrick Hurley, a rendition of "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" by Dwight D. Eisenhower, a whistling performance by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and Sen. Tom Connally's version of "My Old Kentucky Home."

Born in Sturgis, Mich., on Oct. 12, 1889, Mrs. Mesta moved to Oklahoma City after her father struck it rich in Oklahoma and Texas oilfields. Her father, who built one of the city's most luxurious hotels, the Skirvin, left his fortune to her.

She went to Washington in 1907, an accomplished pianist and singer with aspirations toward a career in opera. In 1916, however, she gave up her career plans to marry George Mesta, founder of Mesta Machine Co. of Pittsburgh. She inherited Mesta's fortune when he died in 1925.

Her name was later linked with numerous suitors, but she never remarried.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

If you garden, why not make your yard attractive to wildlife while producing for your pleasure?

The National Wildlife Federation asks you to picture, if you can, a suburban garden ringed with asters, marigolds, lilacs, hollyhocks, mockingbirds, praying mantises and raccoons.

The right kind of planning will add so much to your garden and a book published by the federation, "Gardening With Wildlife," shows you how.

The book promotes a new concept in gardening for city folk, suburbanites and country dwellers. Make your garden an attractive place for winged, furry and crawling creatures by providing the right plants for food, adequate water, shelter and nesting places.

A garden receptive to wildlife, the book says, will let you "claim your kinship with the creatures awaiting you outside your back door, for your sake as well as theirs."

There are garden plans for all U.S. climates and most small animals. The skunk is omitted, however, as "one wild animal which is simply incompatible with suburbia."

There are tips for living economically and in harmony with nature, such as:

"A tomato juice bath will remove the odor from a household pet that has tangled with a skunk.

"Marigold leaves contain scented oil glands that emit an odor repulsive to flies, fleas and other insect pests.

"Some state forestry departments will provide tree and shrub seedlings, including the wildlife-attracting autumn olive," at low prices.

"Reliable and usually free soil tests can be obtained through county agricultural agents ... "

Roger Tory Peterson, an ornithologist, wrote the first chapter, in which he says "The imaginative gardener sows his borders not only with red, pink and yellow hollyhocks, but also with red cardinals, rosy purple finches and yellow grosbeaks."

Naturalist George Reiger points out in "Planting an Oasis for Wildlife" that gardens for wild creatures do not require the meticulous maintenance needed for formal plots. He also lists flowering trees and plants that will provide natural food for wildlife all year.

Len Buckwalter and George H. Harrison tell about the favorite foods of many bird species: bluejays and woodpeckers like suet, the tufted titmouse prefers sunflower seeds and the bluebird seeks morsels of chopped apples or raisins. You'll find specifications and drawings for bird feeders and baths.

A month-to-month planting table for gardening with wildlife under various climatic conditions is contributed by Donald O. Cunnion.

And there is a chapter devoted to remedies for problems posed by wildlife, by Jack Ward Thomas and Richard M. ade of narrow gauge chicken wire around the new greenery at distances that will keep rabbits from gnawing; if a chimney swift has chosen your flue for a nesting spot, clean the chimney and cap it with screen.

The first woman patent holder was Mary Keis, who obtained a patent in 1809 for a method of weaving straw with silk or thread.

Onassis Leaves Bulk Of Estate To Daughter

By ELIAS ANTAR
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — Aristotle Onassis left his widow Jacqueline about $120 million, most of his valuable paintings, and trust funds of $15 million each to her two children by President John F. Kennedy, family sources in Athens report.

They said the bulk of the Greek shipping magnate's estimated $600 million fortune will go to his only surviving child, 24-year-old Christina.

Art dealers in Athens conservatively estimate the value of Onassis' collection of paintings by Gaugin, El Greco, Van Gogh and Picasso at $20 million. One dealer said that several paintings already were hanging in Mrs. Onassis' Fifth Avenue apartment in New York.

Sources close to the family said Jacqueline had received a settlement at the time of her marriage to Onassis to provide for the two Kennedy children through a trust fund, with cash for herself and unlimited expenses while Onassis lived.

Onassis died in Paris Saturday at the age of 69. Doctors gave broncho-pulmonary infection as the cause of death.

Family sources said Onassis' body will be flown by private jet from Paris to Greece on Tuesday for burial and will be accompanied by Jacqueline, Christina, and other close members of the family.

The plane will land at Actium on Greece's west coast. From there, the relatives and the body will be taken to nearby Levcas and then aboard Onassis' palatial yacht Christina to the Onassis-owned island of Scorpios for the burial service immediately after arrival, the sources said.

Onassis' fortune is not expected to be diminshed appreciably by inheritance taxes. The shipping magnate's numerous and varied holdings are spread through a maze of companies that mostly are domiciled in Monaco and other tax shelters.

Onassis' only son, Alexander, died in a plane crash in 1973, at the age of 24. Friends said grief over his son's death contributed to the father's physical decline.

Christina, Onassis' daughter by his first wife and a divorcee before she was 21, had grown closer to her father since his son's death and was with him when he died Saturday at the age of 69.

Onassis was married to the former Mrs. Kennedy for 6½ years. She had brought him from Athens to the American Hospital in Paris early in February after he became ill but was in New York when he died. She returned to Paris early Sunday and spent 15 minutes alone with her husband's body in the hospital chapel Sunday night.

A Mrs. Sirros, a member of the Onassis household, said the 45-year-old widow "is bearing up well and is okay."

Her two children, Caroline and John Kennedy, left the family's New York apartment early Sunday night and were believed flying to Paris. They also inherited multi-million-dollar trust funds from their father.

A source in Athens said Onassis would be buried Tuesday on Scorpios, his private island in the Ionian Sea, where he and Mrs. Kennedy were married and where his son is buried.

"Alexander is buried on one side of a 200-year-old chapel to the Virgin Mary, and Mr. Onassis wanted to be buried on the other side of the chapel," said Mrs. Sirros.

Onassis Empire To Stay Intact

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Aristotle Onassis' empire, a spider's web of international corporations, is expected to remain intact and continue flourishing.

Although Onassis made the key decisions, he had some of the world's most talented businessmen advising him in the accumulation and control of an empire estimated at more than $1 billion. His advisers sit in London, Monte Carlo and New York, the control points for worldwide interests in shipping, real estate, mining and a variety of other fields.

His 24-year-old daughter Christina inherits the bulk of his estate. After the death of her only brother two years ago, she reportedly grew close to her father and showed a good mind for business.

Most of Onassis' many tankers and other ships, whether directly or indirectly controlled by him, are owned by Panamanian corporations. Of the 60 ships Onassis directly controlled through his Springfield Shipping Co., 59 fly the Panamanian flag with only one under Greek registry.

Onassis' luxurious 325-foot motor yacht, the Christina, is also registered in Panama.

Registry in Panama, Monaco and other tax shelters for Onassis' ships and the corporations controlling his other interests allowed him to escape taxation in the capitals from which he operated. The magnate himself reportedly held three passports, from Argentina, Monaco and Greece.

"Unravelling his empire would be like playing three dimensional backgammon," a shipping source in Athens said.

Rival Greek shipowners who feared his competitiveness admired his business acumen.

Greek shipping magnate John Theodoracopoulos described Onassis as "the founder of the present magnificent Greek shipping world. He revolutionized the building of new ships with his brilliant idea of paying for them with charters."

Under this system, Onassis would meet construction costs by chartering out a ship — to an oil company, for example — to carry cargo. The charters were usually for long periods.

Although Onassis once described himself as a "buyer, not a seller," he renounced operation rights to Olympic Airways of Greece last December after owning the airline since 1956. He decided to dump the airline following the sharp increase in oil prices, and the government was reported planning to pay him more than $70 million for his share of the line.

Onassis' American shipping interests are controlled through an American trust fund set up by Eliot Bailen, a New York lawyer and close Onassis adviser.

The trust was established in the name of Onassis' children, Christina and Alexander, and was worth $20 million at the time it was started. Its value is now estimated at more than $100 million. Sources here say Christina inherited her brother's share when he was killed in a plane crash in January, 1973.

WTC Golf Team 6th

LAS CRUCES, N.M.—Arizona State University won the fifth annual New Mexico State University Intercollegiate Golf Tournament here March 13, 14, 15 with a total score of 895. New Mexico University finished two shots ahead of host school New Mexico State University for third place with a 907. NMSU placed fourth with a 909. Odessa College edged Western Texas by three strokes to finish fifth with a 944. WTC shot 310-309-328 for a 947 total for the three days. Cincinnati Frosh Play Like Seniors

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Cincinnati has three freshmen who play like seniors and Maryland has an All-American who sometimes drifts off into playground antics, but both teams will provide formidable foes in the NCAA Midwest Regional Basketball Playoffs.

Cincinnati plays Louisville and fourth-ranked Maryland gets Notre Dame Thursday night at Las Cruces, N.M. in the mad-mad world of NCAA basketball.

What makes the 17th-ranked Bearcats from Ohio so interesting is three former school boy All-American freshmen, Robert Miller, Mike Jones and Steve Collier—particularly Collier.

The Texas Aggies rallied from 10-point halftime deficit to pull within four points of Cincinnati in the second-half on the radar accurate shots of obscure reserve Chuck Tone, who made six baskets.

Meanwhile, the 6-foot-4 Collier kept dribbling down the court and gunning the ball in the hole like he did for Southwestern, Ind., High School—four times in a row in one stretch. Collier, Franklin and Jones combined for 43 points in the 87-79 victory over the Southwest Conference champions.

"I'll tell you one thing—Cincinnati is going to have one great team in the future," said Aggie Coach Shelby Metcalf. "In fact, they're not bad right now."

Bearcat Coach Gale Catlett was not overly pleased with his charges, saying "We had too many turnovers, threw the ball away too much, took bad shots and just didn't play a good game."

He add "That's the way it goes when you play three freshmen. Of course, they are probably the best three freshmen in the country."

Meanwhile, Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell found himself moved to give an old Marine-style chewing out of none other than All-American John Lucas, who was beating Creighton like a drum with his outside gunnery.

Creighton, however, refused to fold and stayed close most of the game behind Doug Brookins' 25 points before falling by an 83-79 count before 7,100 fans in Lubbock Coliseum.

"I got on him (Lucas) because he took a bad shot," said Driesell, the perfectionist.

SHS Net Team 4th

ANDREWS—David Watlington won the boys singles division at the Andrews Black and Gold tennis tournament last weekend.

Watlington defeated Joe Locke of Andrews in the finals 6-2, 7-5 for his second straight singles championship after winning at Sweetwater the week before.

The team finished fourth in the tournament with Andrews first with 107 points. Big Spring scored 82, Monahans 77, Snyder 73, Odessa 72, Kermit 41, Pecos 28, and Crane 22 points.

In the other boys division of the team of Billy Murray and Norman Autry finished second in boys doubles after being defeated 3-6, 6-3, 3-6 in the finals by Big Spring. Ricky Medford finished 10th in boys singles and Glenn Smylie and JTerry Franks finished 12th in boys doubles.

In the girls division, Sherry Fleming won consolation finals in girls singles 5-7, 6-0, 6-1 defeating Suzan Ramirez of Crane.

In girls doubles, Snyder's girls finished ties for 7th with both teams meeting in the consolation finals. Pam Underwood and Carla Hicks defeated Carol Banks and Jill Hood 6-1, 6-2 of Odessa High School, and Pam Buchanan and Terri Orsburn defeated Pam Smith and Chris Evert of Kermit.

Lamar 9th Places 3rd

BIG SPRING—Lamar 9th grade placed third at the Junior High Track Meet in Big Spring with 68 points. Midland Austin was first with 97 points, and Midland Lincoln was third with 73 points.

Kenneth Bagley won the high jump by clearing 5-11½, and Randy Courtney was third with 5-9½.

The sprint relay foursome of Clay Peterson, Scott Hendricks, Lee Haglestein and Randy Peterson was first with a time of 47.0.

Clay Peterson won first in the century. He was timed at 10.3 in the prelims and 10.6 in the finals. Scott Hendricks was fifth with a 10.9 clocking.

Scott Hendricks was runnerup in the broad jump with an 18-11¾ effort, and Lee Hagelstein was fifth with a 17-10¾.

Clay Peterson also placed second in the 220 with a 23.3, and Scott Hendricks was fifth with a 24.1.

Mark Schaufele placed 6th in the pole vault by clearing 10-9.

Westerners, With High Hopes, Off To National

By JEFF BOX

HUTCHINSON, Kan.—Mercer County College of New Jersey, defending National Junior College cage champs, did not make it to Hutchinson's national tournament this year so the crown is up for grabs and "the Westerners have as good a chance as anyone," says Western Texas College Coach Mike Mitchell.

The Western squad left for Hutchinson early Sunday morning, stopping off at Pampa for lunch and an hour's worth of light workout. Their first game will be against Housatonic Community College of Bridgeport, Connecticut, Tuesday night at 7:45.

Starting for the Green Machine will be the usual 'Big 5'. Forwards are 6-7 Eugene Harris and 6-5 Brian Minor. 6-5 Bob Miller and 6-2 Ken Fowler are guards. 6-8 Norman Barnes will round out the starters at the post position.

"We've started these five nearly the entire season and won with them, so there's no need to change," said Mitchell.

"They (HCC) are a lot like South Plains College and Southwest Christian College," (WTC's first regional opponent) said Mitchell. "They are a short team, their tallest player being 6-5. But they're quick and aggressive as well as a good shooting team."

The northern squad is averaging 96 points a game. Houstonic defeated Jamestown, New York in a bi-region contest 102-90. At intermission Jamestown led 43-41 but the Connecticut unit rallied to win it.

WTC sports a 32-1 record while HCC holds a 28-7. "Records don't mean a thing," said Coach Mitchell. "If we don't play well and they do, we'll lose. We are going to have to work hard and play consistent to win it all!"

One other Texas team made the Hutchinson meet, San Jacinto Junior College of Pasadena. They will battle Anderson College of Anderson, South Carolina Tuesday night at 9:30.

The winner of the WTC-HCC tilt will take on the San Jacinto-Anderson victor Thursday at 7:45 p.m. The losers will play Wednesday.

There will be 16 teams fighting for the chance to sit on the national throne for a year and, according to Mitchell, "the team that is hot will take it all. But they have to be hot, work hard, and play consistent EVERY game!"

The meet will be double-elimination, "If we lose our first game we'll have four games left If we win them all we get ninth place, lose another and we come home. If we win the first one we have three left with the championship at the end," said Mitchell.

A strong point for the Westerners is their bench. Greg Hill, 6-4, has played a number of times this season and has shown his talent. With a game high of 31 points, Hill is averaging 7.8 a tilt while nabbing four rebounds a game.

Tyrone Clopton, 6-7, is another excellent stand-in. Averaging 7.8 rebounds a game, he is also hitting the nets for 10 points a contest.

The team 'shortie,' Stanley Covington, 6-0, has proven himself under fire and is averaging six points a game.

Action begins in Hutchinson at 12 p.m. Tuesday with Sheridan College of Sheridan, Wyoming (22-6) battling College of Southern Idaho of Twin Falls, Idaho (24-2).

Lakeland College of Mattoon, Illinois (32-3) gopes against Westchester of Vahalla, New York (33-1) at 1:45 p.m.

Hutchinson J C, tourney host, (30-1), takes on Vincennes J C of Vincennes, Indiana (28-3). Game time is 3:30.

Essex County College of Newark, New Jersey (27-3) meets Utica J C of Utica, Mississippi (29-3) at 6 p.m..

WTC 32-1 and Housatonic (28-7) play at 7:45 while Anderson (29-1) and San Jacinto (35-2) finish Tuesday's contests at 9:30 that night.

Wednesday's first tilt is between Arizona Western of Yuma, Arizona (27-2) and Waukesha County Tech of Pewaukee, Wisconsin (28-5) at 1 p.m.

Grandview College of Des Moines, Iowa (26-4) plays Dekalb Community College of Decatur, Georgia (32-6) at 2:45 to conclude the first-round action.

Statistics for the Westerners' 33 battles this year appear impressive.

Leading the WTC offense is Miller, ripping in 763 total points for a 23.1 average. Next is Harris, 435 points for 15 point average. The team has scored 2852 points, averaging 89.4, while their opponents tallied only 2252, averaging 68.2.

Defensively it's Harris all the way. In the rebound department the 6-7 sophomore grabbed 351. Barnes nabbed 314 and Minor caught 258.

Leaping high, Harris blocked 63 shots and Barnes turned away 44. The team stopped 134 possible scores.

"We've had a good year so far, and we can be proud and happy, but it isn't over yet!" said Mitchell.

The team appears enthusiastic, confident and ready to meet any challenge placed before them.

"We're working hard and we'll do it all!" states Barnes.

"The tenseness is being felt by all of us and we want it bad, and we're going to get it!" says Harris.

"We'll be back this coming Sunday with the CROWN!" claims Harrison Johnson. "They're not going to stop us!"

Tiger Baseball Team Wins 3rd

MONAHANS—The Snyder High School baseball team flailed Andrews, 3-1, scoring the winning runs in the 10th inning to capture third place in the Monahans Tournament here Saturday afternoon.

Clay Bishop went the distance for the Tigers, and he yielded just five hits while striking out 15. Arnold also pitched 10 innings for Andrews, and he was charged with the loss. He struck out just eight while giving up five hits.

Each team scored one run in the first inning. For Snyder, Randy Gressett reached first on an error, moved to second when Kelly Ragland walked, and scored on a single by Robert Alderete. For Andrews, Parker walked, stole second and third and tallied on a double by Arnold.

It was a tight defensive battle the remainder of the way. Andrews put a runner on second in the 6th but couldn't drive him in, and Snyder put a runner on second in the 7th after Bo Wright made it to third in the 2nd, but neither runner could score.

Finally, in the 10th, the Tigers pushed across the two winning runs in the top of the inning. Richard Tovar led off with a single, was sacrificed to second by Bo Wright, went to third on a passed ball, and scored on a throwing error by the pitcher. Sid Perry walked, stole second, and scored on a single by Bishop.

Bishop put the Mustangs down in 1-2-3 order in the bottom of the 10th to wrap up the victory.

Tovar, with two singles, led the Tigers in hitting while Arnold, with a single and a double, led Andrews.

Other Judges Were Offered Land Deals

DALLAS (AP) — B. W. Cruce Jr. who put together the land speculation deal involving former Dallas County Commissioner Mel Price and other public officials, reportedly has offered similar deals to public office holders and their advisers.

Price committed suicide Friday, according to a medical examiner's ruling. His death only days after the Bank of Mesquite filed suit aginst him and five others alleging fraud in obtaining a $519,536 loan for a deal organized by Cruce.

In a copyrighted story Sunday, the Dallas Times Herald said Cruce approached several district court judges and a former district judge to invest in one of his land deals.

District Court Judge J. Roll Fair said he and three other district judges and a former district judge have invested in the East Fork Road Venture organized by Cruce. Fair said Cruce had sought out the judges in the deal.

Dallas County land records show Cruce is listed as trustee for 1,494 acres of land in the Mesquite, Bowlett and Sunnyvale areas.

Much of the land purchased by Cruce as trustee changed hands between 1971 and 1973 and is located in an area set for highway construction after 1990, the records show.

Fair said Cruce organized the East Fork Road Venture, which included himself, Judge James McCarthy of 116th District Court; Judge John Mead of Criminal District Court No. 4, and former 44th District Court Judge Joe Burnett.

At the time the venture was organized, Fair said the group had to assume three liens totaling $147,190. He also said the property was not purchased on the speculation it would be near proposed highway construction.

"We bought it (the land) because it had water, sewer, and electricity service there," he said. "We've been trying to sell it but so far we haven't been able to."

The Hickcox-Castle Joint Venture land deal that involved Price included 12 to 14 investors, among them Dallas Mayor Pro Tem Russell B. Smith; and Taylor B. Almon financial advisor to Dallas County on the sale of road bonds.

Discarded Tires Serve Purposes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A study by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency shows that paving roads with used tires is just one of the solutions to the waste disposal problem posed by the 200 million tire casings abandoned every year, reports the Tire Retread Information Bureau.

S-Viets Strike Across Border

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — South Vietnamese bombers struck across the Cambodian border today attempting to knock out North Vietnamese artillery and troops threatening the South Vietnamese provincial capital of Tay Ninh City, field reports said.

Associated Press correspondent Denis D. Gray reported from near the Cambodian border about 40 miles west of Saigon that he saw heavy smoke from bombs dropped by South Vietnamese warplanes rise into the sky.

Meanwhile, North Vietnamese forces pulled the noose tighter in the central highands, cutting a fourth highway into the region and leaving only one road open, the Saigon command said.

The second week of the North Vietnamese drive against the area ended with an attack on Dinh Quan, a district town 50 miles northeast of Saigon, that cut Highway 20 to Dalat.

Government officers also conceded that the North Vietnamese had captured virtually all of Ban Me Thuot, the capital of Darlac province, in the highlands. They said a few hundred government troops remain in the devastated city, isolated but in radio contact with government forces.

The fate of nine Americans trapped in Ban Me Thuot by the fighting was unknown.

Kien Duc, a district town south of Ban Me Thuot, was reported under heavy attack. A village six miles southeast of Kien Duc was overrun, field reports said.

Nearly 30 Americans have been evacuated from the highlands and half of the South Vietnamese 2nd Corps headquarters at Pleiku has been moved to Nha Trang, on the coast, because of the deteriorating military situation. Thousands of civilians, most of them military dependents, have been flown out of Pleiku.

South Vietnamese forces also were meeting stiff resistance along the Cambodian border 50 miles northwest of Saigon in an operation to drive back North Vietnamese forces threatening Tay Ninh, another provincial capital.

Viet Cong gunners fired 30 rockets into a government base camp on the outskirts of Tay Ninh, hitting an ammunition dump and setting off explosions that lasted for more than an hour.

More South Vietnamese infantry reinforcements were rushed to Hieu Thien, a threatened district town 10 miles south of Tay Ninh, to join in the counteroffensive to retake more than a half dozen outposts and villages that fell to the North Vietnamese last week.

Another district town 75 miles northeast of Saigon, Hoai Duc, also was under heavy rocket and infantry assault, the Saigon command said.

Viet Cong forces also struck within three miles of downtown Saigon, the command reported. A handful of sappers attacked a fuel depot on the outskirts of the capital, wounding 10 government soldiers and damaging rubber field tanks. About 250 gallons of gasoline were destroyed, officials said.

In Cambodia, military sources reported that the government drive northwest of the Phnom Penh airport had forced the Khmer Rouge to withdraw their captured U.S. 130mm howitzers out of range of the airfield and reduced the daily shelling of the field considerably. U.S. officials said the American airlift of rice, fuel and ammunition flew a record 46 flights on Sunday.

Airtrans Resumes Service Today

DALLAS (AP) — Airtrans was to resume passenger service Monday at 7 a.m. at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport, a spokesman has announced.

The airport board and LTV Aerospace Corp., designers and manufacturers of the computerized cargo and passenger service, reached a temporary agreement Friday on a new 6-month maintenace contract.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Many homeowners view the beginning of warm weather as the ideal time to get house and yard in shape for a long summer of enjoyment.

But lawyers in the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division caution that this is also a favorite season for unscrupulous door-to-door salesmen and reparimen to solicit home improvement jobs.

These operators pop up as regularly as Texas bluebonnets each spring, selling aluminum siding, patio, additions, pest control, new roofs, remodeling, and other jobs.

And while some door-to-door solicitors for such jobs are legitimate, our Consumer Protection attorneys emphasize that you should be especially careful to determine this in advance. That's because itinerant businessmen can disappear just as fast as they appeared on your doorstep. It's important to make sure you'll be dealing with someone who won't pull such a disappearing act after he has your money but before he completes your job.

Legitimate construction and pest control businesses and siding salesmen are as eager to see that consumers get a fair shake as consumers themselves, since they realize that unscrupulous practitioners of their trade can give the entire industry a bad name.

Some complaints about fraudulent home remodeling or repair solicitors indicate that work was not completed within the state time limit or sometimes not at all, that construction of repairs were not performed in a workmanlike and satisfactory manner, that inferior mterials were used, or that the final price far exceeded the price agreed to orally.

Problems with unscrupulous door-to-door pest control inspectors include complaints about "inspectors" who carry containers of termites and rotted wood with them when they make their "free inspection" of a house. Such an inspection virtually always results in a recommendation that a complete pest control job be started immediately. In some cases, repair of "structural damage" is also recommended.

Complaints about aluminum siding salesmen sometimes come from persons who were told they would get a "special discount price" if their house could be used as a "demonstration model." The salesman indicates that a sign will be put up for a certain number of days, with the homeowner getting a $10 discount for each day of advertising. Often the sign is never put up, and the "special discount price" usually was the regular price of the siding.

Our Consumer Protection Division recommends taking these precautions to avoid having possible problems later: Tell the door-to-door salesman you want to think over his offer, then get three other estimates for the job he proposes. Get a written estimate from the person you pick and make sure the starting and completion dates are included, along with total cost, description of work, type of materials, any guarantees, and method of payment.

Taxpayers, Students Victims In Loan Scandal

By RICK SCOTT
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Taxpayers and students may be the victims of a scandal unfolding in Texas which involves the U.S. government's $8 billion Guaranteed Student Loan program.

Estimates on the amount of money involved in Texas range from $800,000 to $8 million.

The scope of possible wrongdoing is not yet entirely clear, but some top state officials say the irregularities already found in Texas can only be part of a "nationwide scandal."

"I don't think there is any question but that this is a serious matter for the entire United States," the chairman of the state school board, Joe Kelley Butler of Houston, said last week.

In Washington, officials of the U.S. Office of Education—an arm of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW)—said there is no indication thus far that the problem extends beyond the Texas regional office headquartered in Dallas.

The region includes Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Through the loan program, the U.S. government guarantees repayment of loans made to students either by banks or schools. If a student defaults on the loan, the government repays the lender.

There have been these developments here recently:

—Officials of HEW closed the Guaranteed Student Loan office in Dallas suddenly and audited the books for possible funds misuse. Student loan program offices throughout the country are being checked by HEW, especially where cash is handled, an HEW spokesman acknowledged.

—Four loan collectors, including a supervisor, were fired from the Dallas student loan office several days later. Officials said they found evidence of "improper representations and tactics in the collection of funds on defaulted student loans."

—The Texas attorney general's office has filed suit against a number of proprietary (private and for profit) schools in the the state, alleging more than $200,000 in tuition refunds is due students who had received government-backed loans.

—A private collection agency, which was used by the government in some cases, has been placed in receivership.

—A state attorney general's task force, the Internal Revenue Service, the FBI, HEW and U.S. Customs officials have jumped into the probe, which now includes the Texas Education Agency.

Investigators believe some "defaulted" loans were actually repaid by students, but the money never found its way back to the government. It disappeared through collectors, collection agencies or in government offices.

Some methods used to collect paist due loan payments reportedly violated Federal Trade Commission laws. One young black man, who dropped out of a private business college, said a man posing as a sheriff's deputy came to his place of employment and threatened to put him in jail unless he paid.

The young man's case was only one of 10,000 cases handled by Collegiate Recovery and Credit Assistance Programs, Inc., a collection agency placed in receivership after allegations that it failed to foward $200,000 paid by students on to colleges or the government.

Several of the fired federal workers in the Dallas student loan office were former Collegiate Recovery employes.

Cecil D. Evans, deputy director of the federal loan program here, testified he received more than $2,000 in cash and trips to Las Vegas and Jamaica in return for referring colleges to Collegiate Recovery for collection on defaulted student loans.

Evans, who has resigned his post, also said he received the favors while employed as a loan officer for Republic National Bank in Dallas, one of the state's largest banks.

An internal audit of the Texas Education Agency's Division of Proprietary Schools and Veterans Education (DPVSE), to be made public soon, reportedly details lax enforcement of the Texas Proprietary Schools Act in connection with the loan program.

Under the law, a student who drops from a school either voluntarily or if the school closes, is entitled to a refund. But many students have not received refunds.

A number of schools have used the Guaranteed Student Loan program to attract low-income students. The school salesmen often work on commission.

The schools, in many cases, loaned students tuition money after the government guaranteed to pay the school if the student defaulted.

In other cases, students obtained government-guaranteed loans from traditional lenders.

When some schools closed, government collectors came after the students for repayment of loans, even though the students has not received their refund from the schools.

Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill has asked HEW officials to concentrate their collection efforts as much on the schools, which owe the money to the students, as they do on the students.

Hill's task force says proprietary schools in Texas may owe students as much as $3 million in refunds.

Also under scrutiny are the procedures under which some of the schools won the accreditation needed to participate in the federal loan program.

HEW says 7.7 million guaranteed students loans, totaling nearly $8 billion have been made since 1967. HEW is responsible for about half this amount, with state agencies backing the remainder.

The amount in default is expected to reach $202 million by June. The default rate is expected to go over 11 per cent this year and 14 per cent next fiscal year, HEW officials said.

Culture Attractions In Red

By TIM AHERN
Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Museums, orchestras, the theater and ballet are more popular than ever, but they're drowning in red ink, according to a study of 49 cultural attractions in Philadelphia.

The Greater Philadelphia Cultural Alliance conducted the study to show the economic importance of culture in hopes of obtaining more financial support from the business community.

Henry E. Putsch, executive director of the alliance, says that while attendance at cultural events is steadily increasing, organizations such as the world-renowed Philadelphia Orchestra are losing money.

"The Orchestra is always sold out, and there's only so much you can charge for tickets," he said. "The money raised from tickets in no way covers expenses."

The same holds true for other attractions, such as theater and ballet, he said.

Orchestra tickets now cost $2 to $25, compared with $1 to $10 five years ago. Ballet or theater tickets are priced at $3.50 to $10 today, compared with $2.50 to $10 in 1970.

The 49 organizations considered in the study employed a total of 5,100 persons and had a combined budget of $64.1 million last year.

They reported operating deficits of $35 million, and although most of the deficits were made up by government subsidies and individual and foundation contributions, yearend deficits still totaled $2.5 million.

Putsch says the major economic importance of cultural attractions is their "multiplier effect" — money spent in the city by people who come to attend cultural events. He says the actual dollar impact from culture's multiplier effect is $160 million a year in Philadelphia.

And although local cultural events are sometimes costly, they are still less expensive than vacations away from home, says Putsch.

"We're finding that a lot of persons in the area are staying here now and going to things here instead of going away for vacations," he said.

Agents To Investigate Every Major Utility Co.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal agents, probing allegations that oil companies charged illegally high prices, are going to investigate the records of every major utility in the nation, a Federal Energy Administration official says.

The investigation, which centers around the rapid rise of prices during the Arab oil embargo, was said to involve possible fraud and millions of dollars of illegal overcharges to customers such as the utilities.

Grand juries in Jacksonville, Fla., New York and Los Angeles already are looking into the possible price manipulations by oil suppliers, the FEA official said Sunday. Similar cases may also be presented to grand juries in Houston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston.

"We are going to investigate every major utility company in the nation," the FEA official said.

Under investigation are allegations that importers and suppliers falsified documents required by the Customs Service, such as mislabeling the country of origin of some oil delivered by tankers to the United States during the 1973 embargo.

For example, one alleged case of fraud reportedly involved a tanker in an East Coast port with oil claimed to be from Venezuela, the first nation outside the Arab bloc to raise prices to $10 a barrel.

But the oil reportedly was from Nigeria, where the price was still $5.50. That alleged overcharge came to $2 million.

In Los Angeles, customs agents reportedly were looking into purchases by the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power.

John Russell, a buyer for the department, said agents have checked department records several times. Russell said as far as he knows the probe involves only one company in Los Angeles but he declined to name it.

Customs agents reportedly were checking purchases by the department of oil at $25 a barrel, five times what it had paid before the embargo.

Russell said there was one instance where the department paid $25 a barrel for 150,000 barrels of oil from Peru through Cirillo Bros. Co. of New York.

The next highest amount paid was more than $24 per barrel for one million barrels from Coastal States Marketing in Houston, he said.

"Another term contract subject to escalation was a joint offering from International Gas Traders of Lugano, Switzerland, and Petrobay, Ltd., a Bahamas corporation with offices in Quincy, Mass.," he added.

Around the country, investigators have found possible violations involving at least $21 million and possibly as much as $100 million in their examination of fuel purchases by public utility companies, the FEA official said.

Some $15 million in possible fuel overcharges have been found in five out of the seven utilities studied as part of FEA's "Project Escalator," the investigation into fuel purchases by electric utilities, he said.

He said the Customs Service also found possible overcharges of about $250 million to $500 million in its investigation of 30 oil importers in six major ports.

About 30 customs investigators and 60 FEA probers are working directly on electric utility fuel purchases, and about 80 FEA investigators are working on "Project Manipulator," looking into possible violations of price regulations on so-called "old oil" and "new oil," he said.

Three Arrested In Kidnaping

WOODWARD, Okla. (AP)—Two Texans and an Oklahoman were in custody today after sheriff's officers disarmed them at a roadblock and set free a 27-year-old woman they had kidnaped.

Pat McLaughlin was set free about 3 a.m. Sunday, only minutes after she had been taken from her home near Sharon, a community 11 miles south of Woodward.

Three men took her hostage and left her husband tied with an electrical cord, Sheriff Creel Gaston said.

"They told him they'd turn her loose unless he called the law, and said if he did he wouldn't recognize her," Gaston said.

"He told me he didn't believe it took him more than two or three minutes to get loose."

The car was stopped two miles northwest of Seiling by deputies Ray Brewer and Bruce Slidell.

"She was riding in the back seat, and one was holding a gun against her head when they stopped them," the sheriff said.

"The first thing he said was, 'Your husband didn't listen to me.'"

The men surrendered after one of the deputies fired a shot into the air, Gaston said.

The men were identified as Joe W. Robinson, 22, of Arnett, Dennis L. George, 20, of Higgins, Tex., and Clovis Allen Smith, 21, also of Higgins, and a soldier stationed at Ft. Sill Army base at Lawton.

Discipline Alternatives Emphasized

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Independent School District is emphasizing alternatives to corporal punishment—paddling—and suspension to discipline problem pupils.

Officials say the 22 alternatives were prompted by failure of the old standby methods and partly because of pressure from legal action.

One alternative is role-playing, where teacher and pupil swap roles. Others include withdrawal of privileges, demerits, less structured scheduling and on-campus suspension.

Dr. Lamb

Missing calcium with milk allergy

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I can't tolerate milk. When I drink even a cup of milk (one-quarter of a cup in my coffee throughout the day) I get cramps after my evening meal followed by diarrhea. I stopped all milk and my bowels are not normal. I find I can eat an ounce of cheese about once a week without discomfort. I can also tolerate some ice cream.

I feel I'm missing calcium I need. I'm 53 and female. My family doctor said this is common in some people but doctors haven't found a way to help. He said I will get my calcium in other foods.

I read your column where you stated that in order to avoid brittle bones in later years it was good to get plenty of calcium. What would you suggest I take to replace this lack of calcium in my diet?

DEAR READER—You are one of the millions of people who have intolerance to milk sugar (lactose). These people lack the enzyme in the small intestine needed to split the double milk sugar so it can be absorbed. And they suffer the miseries of hell when they get too much lactose from using products made with milk.

A method has been developed to split the double sugar (lactose) in the milk before you use it. Unfortunately, this is not yet available to the public. Frankly, since there are literally millions and millions of people with some degree of your problem, I do wish the dairy and food industry would get with it and use this process to make milk and milk products that are free of lactose available to the public. You would think with such a potential market they would be interested in capitalizing on it.

It isn't so easy to just get calcium from other foods. I think calcium deficiency is one of our most common nutritional problems in the United States in adults.

Salmon and sardines with their bones are good sources. You can get some from mature beans and nuts. I often recommend that people like you try the milk substitutes available in the supermarkets for infants who can't tolerate milk. These are made of soybeans but they contain all the things milk contains that you need for your health.

The trouble with the soybean substitutes for milk is that they are great gas formers for many people. You'll substitute the diarrhea from milk intolerance with gas pains form the soybeans. This too could be improved with known means of treating bean products. I often wonder how many little tykes too small to do anything but cry are suffering from gas pains from these milk substitute products.

As you can see from my remarks, the solution to your problem is not a satisfactory one at this date. But, it could certainly be helped with a little effort from the food industry.

Meanwhile, if you can't tolerate the soybean products as a substitute, you can always get your calcium from some of the non-prescription items such as bone meal. I hate to recommend that, as I like to see people get their calcium and minerals from good, wholesome foods. And finally, if anyone is not getting enough calcium for any reason, his doctor could prescribe calcium tablets.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on balanced diet, send 50 cents and a long self-addressed stamped envelope to the same address and ask for the "Balanced diet" booklet.
