Kennedy Against Red China Entry Into United Nations

Well, – Someone Has To Do The Job

It's all in a day's work for Jack Green, painter. It doesn't matter to him if he is on the ground floor or hanging out a window 13 floors up. It's just more of the same. Green, who lives at 2505 W. 80, is one of the workmen employed on the Settles Hotel renovation job. Here he is 12 floors up (in the circle) and a closeup of the comfortable "armchair" from which he works. The view, he said, is good from his point of vantage and these mornings, the air is fresh and cool.

Allies Set U.N. Battle Against Russ Bomb Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States and its Western Allies mobilized today for an assault on the Soviet plan to climax its nuclear weapon test series with a 50-megaton blast.

The forum was the General Assembly's top Political Committee, which begins debate on proposals for a nuclear test explosion moratorium after defeating Soviet efforts to have the test issue blanketed into the general disarmament discussion later.

The committee debate was expected to bring repeated calls for Moscow to call off the superbomb explosion. The United States and its Allies hoped the debate would marshal sufficient antitest opinion to force the Russians to reconsider.

Sweden already has indicated the mounting concern among U.N. members over the Soviet announcement by appealing to the Kremlin to reverse its decision to touch off the giant bomb before the end of the month.

The 101-nation committee wound up two weeks of wrangling over priority Wednesday night with two rounds of balloting that signified defeats for the Soviet Union.

The committee voted 83-10 with 4 abstentions to list as its first item India's proposal for a new voluntary moratorium on nuclear testing. The Soviet bloc and Cuba cast the negative votes.

The committee then approved a U.S. move to debate along with the Indian plan a U.S.-British resolution calling for a treaty to end tests under effective international control.

This vote was 54-13 with 31 abstentions. The Soviet bloc, Cuba, Mali, India and Senegal voted no. Most of the abstentions came from nations that took part in the recent Belgrade conference of so-called nonaligned nations.

A Big Help

Milk and ice appear commonplace today. But there are many families where these things are luxuries, rarely put on the table. The Milk and Ice Fund steps in to help these families, particularly children, when no other aid seems forthcoming. BERLIN AIR CORRIDORS

West Rejects New Russ Note

WASHINGTON (AP) —Diplomatic sources said today Moscow has sent a note renewing a Soviet stand on Berlin air corridors that is unacceptable to the West.

The text of the Soviet note, delivered to the American, British and French Embassies in Moscow, was not immediately available here.

Informants said the Soviet communication replied to Sept. 8 Western notes warning the Kremlin that any interference with the air traffic linking Communist-encircled West Berlin with West Germany would be "aggressive action."

Moscow was said to have declared again its view that the air corridors are only supposed to be used for supplying the Western garrisons in Berlin. The Western powers regard the air lanes as a vital lifeline for the city, to be used for general civilian purposes and otherwise without Red interference.

BAD OMEN

The Soviet note was not regarded as a good omen in the simmering German dispute about which Secretary of State Dean Rusk spoke at a news conference Wednesday. Rusk, giving the first public U.S. government assessment of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speech to the Communist party congress in Moscow, said he could not pas preliminary judgment because the full text of the long Khrushchev address is still not available here. He declined to say whether it makes the prospects for peace better or worse.

Khrushchev's relaxation of his Dec. 31 deadline for his peace treaty with Communist East Germany, Rusk said, "may serve to reduce tension somewhat."

But Khrushchev's "general observations about the German and Berlin problems show little if any change from what has been said before," Rusk added.

PLAYED DOWN

The secretary of state made a point of playing down the rift among the Allies in their approach to negotiating with the Soviet Union on the German question. And in doing this, in effect, he lectured against the French view that intensive Western preparations now for East-West negotiations would appear to the Kremlin as a sign of Western weakness.

Instead, Rusk served notice that the United States intends to continue its exploratory talks with Moscow to see whether there are possible grounds for negotiations. Paris has been cool to these talks.

Rusk said, the U.S.-Soviet discussions have only been a sounding out operation, not negotiations, and, second, "when a serious and dangerous difference arises," great-power statesmen should "establish contact in order to clarify the situation and to guard against a catastrophe which might be brought on by ignorance, miscalculation or mistake."

JUST KEEP ON

The alternative, Rusk indicated, "would be for the two sides to growl publicly at each other until somethings happens."

At the same time, Rusk stated, the inter-Allied differences have more to do with procedure than with substance and that the Western powers are agreed on defending their vital interests in Germany and Berlin. And he said he believes Khrushchev understands "the seriousness of Western determination" on Berlin rights.

He said among other points that "would have to be further clarified" in U.S.-Soviet talks is whether the Russians would negotiate on more than just Khrushchev's plan for a peace treaty and demilitarization of West Berlin. That alone is too narrow an agenda for the West to discuss, he said.

On other matters, Rusk:

Reported the Russians have given no assurances that their 50-megaton nuclear bomb, which Khrushchev indicated would be set off at the end of this month, would not send harmful fallout over the United States.

WON'T GO ALONG

Indicated that if the Soviet Union switches its tune after completing the current atmospheric nuclear tests and calls for an uninspected ban on such explosions, the United States will not go along. The United States, which has been conducting tests underground, has taken the position that the Soviet blasts might force the United States to undertake atmospheric tests.

Served notice that the Western powers intend to send personnel into barricaded East Berlin from time to time and expect the Soviet Union to recognize Western rights to circulate in the Communist part of the city.

Sought to knock down reports that the United States is considering a withdrawal of forces along both sides of the Iron Curtain in Central Europe as part of a possible settlement on Germany. Rusk said regional force reduction might be possible under a disarmament agreement, but any "disengagement" in a political settlement might cause abandonment of responsibilities and creation of a vacuum not conducive to peace and stability.

YUGOSLAV AID

Defended U.S. aid to Yugoslavia over the years as helping the Communist country maintain independence of the Soviet bloc. There was an outburst of criticism from some members of Congress and others recently following disclosure of U.S. sale of surplus jet planes to Yugoslavia.

Predicted Red China would not win a U.N. seat this session. Rusk noted far more U.N. members recognize Nationalist China than recognize the Peiping regime.

NEWS BRIEFS

MOSCOW (AP) — Former Premier Georgi Malenkov and former First Deputy Premier Lazarus Kaganovich were violently denounced before the Communist party congress today.

Why the congress is devoting so much time to raking over its skeletons puzzled diplomats. One explanation was that the party leaders felt obligated to report to the congress how the campaign against the Stalinist cult of the individual was coming on.

Others suspected that there were still supporters of the ousted Stalinists in the party here—and not only in Albania—and that renewed public denunciations were considered necessary.

UF Drive In Home Stretch

No new 100 per cent groups were included in reports Wednesday at the United Fund Headquarters, but funds turned in almost matched those of the day before as the $5,000 mark was topped for the second consecutive day.

A total of $5,358.90 was brought in by workers bringing the drive total to $66,802.59, or about 63.6 per cent of the projected goal of $105,000.

Almost all groups reported Wednesday, indicating that they are all straining toward the goal, Angy Glenn, manager, said.

"Division heads are keeping in touch with team captains. Team captains have almost daily contact with their workers. With such close tabs maintained on progress, there is little need for report meetings," Glenn said.

As the drive heads down the home stretch, leaders in the campaign will keep the goal before their workers urging them to keep up the good work until the $105,000 mark is topped.

The Coahoma group was scheduled to have its first report meeting Friday, but that report has been delayed, Robert V. Middleton, county area chairman, said.

Working in the Coahoma area are R. A. Foster, Joe Nixon, Lawrence Abbregg, F. M. Holley and Bill Read. Results of their drive will not be known for a few days.

"They have not really begun the campaign," Middleton said. "I am leaving it pretty much up to them since they know best how to conduct the drive in their area."

Angy Glenn urged all citizens to back the single drive which will benefit 12 organizations. Included are the Red Cross, YMCA, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Milk and Ice Fund, Crippled Children Center, Texas Rehabilitation Center, Summer Recreation Program, Air Force Aid Society, West Side Youth Center and Texas United Fund.

Criminal Jury Docket Slated

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, said it was probable a criminal jury docket will be called for his court to open on Nov. 6.

He said he had discussed the docket with Dist. Atty. Gil Jones and that two days were suggested —Nov. 6 and Nov. 27. Caton believes that the earlier date will be selected.

Preliminary to the setting down of the cases for trial, four defendants were called into court and attorneys appointed to represent them.

They were W. C. Jackson, who is facing four indictments for worthless check, forgery and theft; Arthur Downs, forgery; Alex Gonzales, possession of a narcotic; and Charles Glenn Connelly, incest and statutory rape.

Manager Checks On Plant Plans

City Manager A. K. Steinheimer left Thursday morning for Dallas to consult with Forrest & Cotton, consulting engineers, on plans and specifications for the addition to Big Spring's sewage treatment plant to be built under the bond program.

The plans are to be submitted to the State Health Department before Jan. 1, along with assurances that the plant will be built, to complete arrangements for a federal grant of $250,000. Big Spring was included in the list of cities eligible to receive a grant applied for on condition that satisfactory plans were approved and assurances made that the contract would be let and work completed within a specified time.

Forrest & Cotton have had plans drawn up for the work, scheduled for 1962, and are complete with the exception of a few minor revisions suggested. Steinheimer will work with the engineers Thursday and Friday in completing the revisions so that plans will go to the State Health Department in a short time.

Shriver Reduces Number Of Crowd At Corps Protest

NEW YORK (AP)—Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver said in the text of a prepared speech Wednesday that "only 150 students of a student body of more than 1,500" attended a Nigeria meeting protesting Margery Michelmore's comments about squalor in the African country. He omitted the comment on delivery.

He spoke at a fund-raising meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Earlier in the week, Shriver had said "the idea of blowing up a riot of 150 people to between 800 and 1,500 is the same line the Communists have been parroting."

The director's figure of 150 contrasted with the figure of 1,000 reported Sunday from Ibadan, Nigeria, by Associated Press correspondent Robert N. Lindsay, who was at the rally.

Asked about the discrepancy, Lindsay cabled the following reply from Nigeria:

"At the end of the students' rally I asked the student union president, A. E. Dapo Falase, who presided, how many students he estimated were present.

"Falase said: 'How many do you think?'

"I replied: 'From my experience of crowds in many parts of Africa I would say about 900.'

"Falase said: 'I know student crowds at this university and there are at least 1,000 here.'

"I said: 'Would you mind checking that with some of your colleagues?'

"Falase asked three student union officials. None of them gave an estimate of less than 1,000, and two exceeded that figure."

Lindsay said that as far as could be determined, no Peace Corps members or officials were at the rally. U.S. Embassy personnel had been advised to stay away.

When a reporter showed Lindsay's account to Shriver, he said: "I know my figure is accurate. I have sources of information that this man doesn't have."

Paar Hits Press For Telling 'Lie'

Another reference to the number of persons at the meeting was made by Jack Paar on his show Wednesday.

"In an AP release from Nigeria, we were told of a rally which was attended by 1,000 students, and, on the basis of this, there were headlines in many newspapers calling for abolition of the Peace Corps.

"On the basis of reports later circulated by the State Department, there were only 150 persons at this rally.

"Another lie has been foisted on the nation by the press.

"They took a story from some stringer—that's newspaper parlance for a reporter in a foreign country—and they fed you a story that a thousand people were rallying against this young girl, when it was really 150."

Lindsay, the Associated Press staff member who sent the story, is 51, worked for newspapers in his native Scotland and in South Africa, then served as a lieutenant colonel in World War II. He joined the AP staff in London in 1945, and was a supervisor there in 1952 when he left to take a post with the government in Kenya.

He returned to the AP staff in March 1960, and helped cover the Congo crisis and a number of other major stories in Africa.

Paar did not check with The Associated Press before making the statement. His show was on the air several hours after the AP carried on its news wires Lindsay's cabled comments on his estimate of the crowd.

Meeting Tonight Of Volunteers

The quarterly meeting of the Volunteer Council of the Big Spring State Hospital tonight will be highlighted by the presentation of awards to volunteers who have donated upwards of 100 hours of service.

Several volunteers have surpassed that mark by a vast margin, according to Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent, and will receive bars to attach to pins previously earned. Awards for 100 hours will be pins for women and lapel buttons for men.

U.S. Policy Detailed At News Briefing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said today that "The United States firmly opposes the entry of the Chinese Communists into the United Nations" or any of its agencies.

This was a statement Kennedy had intended to make at a news conference had he been asked about the situation. A question about it arose today at the regular news briefing held by presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger.

Salinger was told that there has been some speculation at the U.N. on whether exploration of U. S. relations with Outer Mongolia was softening this country's opposition to admitting the Red Chinese to the world organization. Outer Mongolia as well as Red Chine is seeking U.N. membership.

Salinger was asked whether there has been even a slightly perceptible change in American policy on this point.

Salinger said probably the best way to answer this was with the statement that Kennedy had had ready for last week's news conference. He read it off:

"The United States has always considered the government of the Republic of China the only rightful government representing China and has always given full support to the position and to all the rights of that government in the United Nations. Therefore the United States firmly opposes the entry of the Chinese Communists into the United Nations or into any of the components of the United Nations."

Bicycle-Riding Lad Injured In Crash With Car

David Webb, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Webb, 1106 State, was taken to the Howard County Hospital Foundation Wednesday afternoon by River ambulance, after he was injured in a car-bicycle collision at the intersection of East Fifteenth and Owens.

He was riding his bicycle on Fifteenth, after he left school, and was in collision with a car driven by Alice Nann Coker, 16, also a student, of 1710 Morrison.

David was reported by his physician as in satisfactory condition Thursday morning. He suffered a mild concussion.

Police investigated a one-car accident at the Key Motel, US 80 west, in which no injuries were reported. Driver was Gordon Keith Hahnis, 205 Lockhant.

Cooler Air Over State

By The Associated Press

Cooler air spread over Texas Thursday as a mild cool front pushed southward across the state.

Pre-dawn temperatures ranged from 35 degrees at Dalhart to 66 at Galveston. Early in the day the front lay on a line extending from Texarkana to Waco and Junction and westward to the Mexican border.

Skies were partly cloudy to cloudy in portions of West Texas and fog was reported before dawn at Alice, Palacios, Lufkin and Beaumont. Elsewhere skies were clear.

The cool air was expected to spread over most of the state during the day. Increasing cloudiness was predicted for most sections but no rainfall was forecast.

Maximum temperatures Wednesday ranged from 65 degrees at Dalhart to 90 at Presidio. No rainfall was reported in the state.

A Lost Art

Bob West, a professional horse-trader for most of his 70 years, stands with his sidekick, 13-year-old Vernon Fisk. West figures horse-trading is a lost art, but the emphasis on rodeos and riding clubs nowadays is making it a right nice business.

Horse Trader Is Still In Business

LaDONIA (AP) — Any old horse-trader worth his salt knows he's going to get skinned now and then.

But if he figures to do much trading nowadays, allows Bob West of Ladonia, then he'd best learn to take his licking with his earnings.

At 70, West is still wheeling and dealing in a profession that most people thought long dead. He is a genuine horsetrader, and has been since he was a kid.

The Ladonia native is handling five to 10 horses per week. Business is good since interest in rodeos and horseback riding picked up.

West figures there aren't many honest - to - goodness horse-traders left. At least, not in these parts.

It takes some particular traits. You have to be about a half-way psychologist, a judge of good horseflesh, a natural - born trader with a streak of honesty. You've got to like both folks and horses, he says.

Horses and mules were big business when I started," he recalls. "I made the first sale to Dr. Moore and Claude Terrell, I think it was, ever held up in Paris." There was a slack period in the horse business, along during and after the war. Then it picked up again.

"Market's right good now," observes West. "Most demand is for nice ponies, 650 to 800 pounds. They bring $135 to $175, depending on the age. Gaited horses go good. Quarter - horse colts, too."

West makes all the horse sales roundabouts. He buys some, keeps the best, runs the rest back through the ring. "You got to stand good behind a horse," he adds. "And all those you buy don't work out. You got to learn to take a beating, like you learn to make money."

The old trader lives alone on the north edge of Ladonia. His sidekick is 13 - year - old Vernon Fisk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Fisk, Ladonia. Vernon travels with West to the sales. He picks up pocket money riding, and admits he even trades a little now and then."

West figures the best thing a horse - trader can do is watch his trading reputation. "You got to play fair," he advises. "Else your work ain't much good when it comes to horses or anything else."

Cast Polishes Rough Spots

The 16-member cast of the Big Spring Civic Theatre's "You Can't Take It With You" is hard at work polishing the rough spots on their fall production. The play, a three-act comedy, will be presented at the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium, Oct. 26 and 27 at 8 p.m.

The cast includes the Martin Vanderhof family and their guests. Penelope Sycamore is doing what she likes more than anything else in the world. She is writing a play—her eleventh. Daughter Essie likes to dance—has practiced for eight years. Ed, Essie's husband, likes to print — anything. And then there's Alice, the only sane member of the family. Tony, Donald and Rheba, and many others.

It all adds up to an unusual cast and fine entertainment.

"You Can't Take It With You" was written by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman and was first produced at the Booth Theatre in New York City in December, 1936. In the original stage cast Josephine Hull played Penelope Sycamore and Henry Travers played Grandpa Vanderhof.

ETERNAL LIFE

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, 3900 West Highway 80 P.O. Box 1383.

Eternal life is one of God's exceeding great and precious promises. "In hope of eternal life, which God, who cannot lie, promised before the world began" (Titus 1:2).

This promise is to the obedient. Speaking of Christ, the Bible says, "And being made perfect, He became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him" (Heb. 5:9).

Eternal life is something to be received "in the world to come" (Mark 10:30). At the present time we receive eternal life in the sense of promise. It is called a promise. And it is a wonderful promise. Let us lay hold on it. Let us not fall short of it.

Let us obey the gospel. Let us continue to be obedient children, after that. See II Thess. 1:8, 9; Heb. 4:1; I Tim. 6:12, 17-19.

Because the promise of eternal life is within the reach of all, we invite all to the revival now in progress at 3900 West Highway 80. Give consideration to your need of eternal life.

Mr. Rogers' sermon tonight at 7:30: "God's Case Against Israel."

Awaits Verdict

Lillian Reis, one-time chorus girl accused of masterminding a burglary that police claim netted her and her accomplices nearly a half million dollars, awaits a jury's verdict in a Pottsville, Pa., motel with her attorney, Edward J. O'Connell. The 32-year-old night club owner was accused of hiring burglars to crack the safe in the Pottsville home of a wealthy coal magnate. The case has been marked by violent deaths of two of the alleged participants.

Reis Trial Ends With Hung Jury

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)— The burglary trial of former chorus girl Lillian Reis ended with a hung jury Wednesday night after the panel was unable to reach a verdict on prosecution charges that she plotted a $478,000 theft, then used some of the money to purchase a nightclub.

Judge Charles W. Staudenmeier dismissed the panel of five women and seven men after it had reported for the second time it was hopelessly deadlocked. The jury, which had heard more than 40 prosecution witnesses and 5 defense witnesses during the five-week trial, had deliberated 16½ hours since receiving the case late Tuesday.

An unimpeachable source said that on the first ballot the vote was 6-6; then on the second ballot and at least 18 thereafter the vote was a steady 7 for conviction and 5 for acquittal. The source said that all five women were for convicting her in the Aug. 7, 1959, burglary at the home of coal magnate John B. Rich.

NO EXPRESSION

Miss Reis, 32, a striking brunette, stood without expression as she heard the jury foreman, Cora Thompson, tell the judge: "There is no change whatsoever; it is still the same as before."

Then Staudenmeier, who presided over the trials of three men convicted in the burglary last spring, told the jury: "This is something we regret, that you are unable to arrive at a verdict. All the court can do for its part is to explain the law. The jury must find the facts. You are discharged."

Miss Reis, who was released in $15,000 bail, told a newsman she felt she should have been acquitted.

But, she added, "it's pretty much of a relief and a step in the right direction, don't you think?"

Asst. Dist. Atty. Calvin Friedberg, the prosecutor, said that he assumed Dist. Atty. Robert Harris intends to retry Miss Reis on the burglary charges.

"I'm convinced the evidence warranted a conviction," said Friedberg, "and I'm hoping when the case is retried there will be one."

Harris' term expires at the end of this year, and he is not seeking re-election. The next term of the Schuylkill County Court is Nov. 6.

An odd twist to the case is that Miss Reis' defense attorney, John Lavelle, is running for district attorney on the Democratic ticket in the November election. Should he be elected and a retrial scheduled after Harris leaves office, a special prosecutor would have to be appointed, probably by the Pennsylvania attorney general, to try the case.

INDICTMENT

Miss Reis still is under indictment by an Atlantic County, N.J. grand jury on a murder charge in the August 1960 slaying of Vincent Blaney, whose body was found in the Atlantic Ocean. Police said Blaney, one of the six defendants in the case, had been killed to keep him from turning state's evidence.

Vincent's brother, Richard, also was killed in gangland fashion last summer after he had testified for the prosecution at the trials of the three men who were convicted—Robert Poulson, John Berkery and Ralph Staino Jr. Richard, who had said he testified from accounts of the burglary given him by his brother, also was to have been a star witness at Miss Reis' trial.

Still facing trial in the burglary is the last of the defendants, Clyde (Bing) Miller, who testified for the prosecution against Miss Reis.

Miller, who testified he had lavished more than $100,000 on Miss Reis for the privilege of meeting her twice a week in hotel rooms over a two-year period before the burglary, is accused of tipping her that Rich had plenty of money in the safe.

The defense had contended that Miss Reis had money that Miller had given her and also money from her stepfather, Sidney Reiskin, of New York, stashed away before the burglary to buy the Celebrity Room night club in Philadelphia, where she once had danced as a chorus girl.

Jury Quickly Convicts Bearden In Air Theft

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—An all-male jury took only 22 minutes Wednesday to convict Leon Bearden, 38, of hijacking a continental airlines jet airliner over New Mexico Aug. 3.

Bearden was found guilty of kidnaping, obstruction of interstate commerce, and violating the Federal Motor Vehicle Theft Act.

Bearden and his son, Cody, 16, both of Coolidge, Ariz., await sentencing.

Attorneys told jurors the Bearden trial was the first of its kind.

Cody Bearden went on trial with his father but Monday pleaded guilty under the Juvenile Corrections Act to transporting a stolen vehicle across a state line.

U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomason said he would wait on presentencing reports on both father and son before setting a sentencing date.

Defense attorney Robert S. Pine asks for a verdict of innocent by reason of insanity for Leon Bearden.

As an example, Pine pointed to Bearden's withholding until his trial the claim that government intelligence agents were responsible for the hijacking.

Bearden testified Tuesday that U.S. intelligence agents had threatened to put him and his wife, Mary Ruth, 34, in prison if the hijacking wasn't carried out.

Prosecutor Lawrence Fuller told the jury, "Bearden apparently went to great lengths to cook up the cloak and dagger story."

"Bearden is crazy like a fox," he added. "It took a smart man to realize the possibilities of shoplifting a $5.5-million item."

Court sources said they expect Bearden to appeal in his own behalf. He has 10 days in which to file the motion.

The prosecution asked life imprisonment for Leon. Cody cannot be confined beyond his 21st birthday, Nov. 13, 1965.

The Beardens seized control by pistol point of the 707 jet airliner over Columbus, N.M., on a flight from Phoenix to El Paso.

Leon Bearden ordered the pilot to head for Cuba, but the pilot talked him into allowing a landing at El Paso for fuel.

At El Paso, the pair held the 5 crewmen and four of the plane's 55 passengers hostage. Federal officers surrounded the plane.

The tense standoff lasted several hours. The Beardens ordered the pilot to take off, but officers punctured the plane's tires with machine-gun fire. The Beardens then were overpowered.

The Effect Of 'Garden Living'

Elaborate planting and interesting fence and terrace design mark the mall at Park Hill Terrace, new apartment center which is open for public inspection Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon. While there are community type attractions in the mall, a recreation patio and a swimming pool, the apartments —32 in all—also have privacy through fenced patio entrances, as shown, and through extensive insulated construction. Every one is invited to tour the new development, at FM 700 and Westover Road.

MODERN LIVING CONCEPT

Park Hill Terrace Opens This Week

Big Spring's largest coordinated apartment center, and one encompassing a completely modern concept of living, goes open for public inspection Friday evening.

This is the Park Hill Terrace, a garden-type, distinctively-planned 32 unit living center, located at the curve of FM 700 at the Westover intersection.

The entire weekend will be for open house, Friday evening, Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon from 1 p.m.

The developers, George H. Jacobus and Truman Jones, and the resident manager, Mrs. Clyde Polin, said they are hopeful a large crowd will tour the center and examine in detail typical apartments.

"COMMUNITY" LIVING

Park Hill Terrace, in the modern manner, combines a "community" type of facility, in that there is a planted mall opening from all units, joint-use swimming pool and a community room and terrace; while at the same time the use of fences and partitioning and particularly depth in insulation provide the greatest privacy.

There are 32 units in the Center, eight of them one-bedroom, 24 two bed-room. All the one-bedroom apartments already have been leased, as have a number of the larger apartments.

Apartments are available either furnished or unfurnished. Even the latter have their own carpeting and drapes, as well as range and refrigerator.

Each set of quarters has its own heating and air-conditioning, thermostatically controlled.

Rental includes all utilities except electricity. Grounds will be kept up by the owner, as will general disposal of garbage after tenants have deposited in their individual, recessed containers. A maintenance man will be on hand at all times.

Park Terrace, designed and constructed under Jacobus' supervision, is built in the Western style, of low silhouette which fits harmoniously into the hilly terrain that is its setting. A wide mall extends from north to south and affords a scenic view of mountains at each end.

ENTRANCE FROM MALL

Entrance into the apartments is off this mall. It has been done with attention to detail, in use of walks and stepping stones, concrete benches and evergreen planting, so that it has a park effect.

Buildings themselves are in Mexican fired brick and rough-hewn cedar.

Each apartment is entered by a gate through the cedar fencing, and this gives each unit a private patio of its own. There will be individual mail delivery to all apartment gates.

PLANTING

Extensive planting has been done, including 16 large live oak trees brought up from Southeast Texas. A tremendous amount of cactus and similar Western type planting has been done, in addition to a variety of Youpon holly, pyracantha and honeysuckle. The ground areas will be covered entirely in vinca, and 14,000 of these plants have been set out.

Jacobus pointed out that all plants are of the type that will remain green the year around.

The mall's appearance is further enhanced by a judicious use of fencing, and the placing of both lounge furniture and permanently fixed benches. Gas lights are spaced over the whole outdoor area.

HEATED POOL

At the south end is the community recreation area, a large space surrounding a swimming pool which is heated and dual-filtered. Just off the pool area is a community house which contains shower facilities. Next to it is a laundry area with automatic washers for use of those tenants who desire same.

Also in this area is a storage section, with a bin of 50 cubic feet set aside for each apartment, permitting storage of off-season items. There is also one large storage room.

Arrangement of the apartment sections (in blocks of eight) has been such that there is no feeling of "sameness." Different levels and setbacks have helped create an individual design.

PAVED PARKING AREA

The Center is completely encircled by asphalt paving, permitting easy handling of vehicles. There is parking space ample for an average of four cars per living unit.

To insure privacy within the the apartments, double walls, with dead-air space as well as special insulating material, have been constructed. Ceilings also are of a special acoustical type.

Living room, hall and master bedroom of each unit have nylon carpet. In those furnished apartments, pieces are of modern design, with tables Formica-covered.

Kitchens have custom-built birch cabinets with commodious storage, and sink, refrigerator and stove in matching decorator colors in the different apartments. Each range has a vented hood, and a 22-inch oven. The refrigerator is 11.8 cubic foot capacity.

Colored fixtures are used also in the bathrooms, with all-tile baths, all with shower and sliding glass doors. Additional storage, with shelving and drawers, is provided in the bathroom.

There is a closet in each living room, as well as a large closet in the master bedroom. The second bedroom in those units so designed, as a long closet with double-entry doors. Linen storage space is in the hall.

"We have tried to include details that make for gracious living," said Jacobus. "We believe there is an attraction here—in the garden - type of accommodation that will appeal to many people who do not want to be burdened with the costs and responsibilities of home ownership. Certainly we hope Park Hill Terrace is an asset to Big Spring."

Lions Awed By Weaponry

Lt. Col. Fred H. Dietrich briefed the Downtown Lions Club members on the "U.S. Air Force Today and Tomorrow" at the Wednesday luncheon and left their minds in a whirl.

His descriptions of the functions and capabilities of the fighter-interceptors such as F - 102, F-105 and F-106, the bombers like the big B-52, the potent B-58 Hustler, and the gigantic B-70 prototype, were breath-taking enough, not to mention the X15 rocket plane which has streaked 3,920 miles per hour.

A run down on the stock of missiles, both operational and experimental, left his listeners somewhat awed. The Atlas and Titan, both liquid fueled, are now operational with accuracy to at least 5,000 miles, he explained. The Minuteman, a solid fuel device, is coming into the picture because it requires only a 30 second launching period. The silos which house these missiles take enough steel to build 32,000 cars and enough concrete to build a double lane highway from Big Spring to Houston. One complex is connected by 2,000 miles of cable to control firing. Subterranean control centers have a 60 - day self-sufficiency, he said.

Besides, the nation has mobile rockets cruising about the country's railroads constantly while the Strategic Air Command keeps its craft constantly aloft. Col. Dietrich listed numerous other missiles such as the Mercury and Dinosaur, and mentioned the Apollo, which is tagged as the moon vehicle.

The race into space is important, he said, because the control of space today is as essential as was control of the sea a hundred years ago. He was introduced by Col. Don Pendergrast of Webb AFB.

Airman's Car Badly Damaged

A young airman and his wife escaped injury but their 1954 sedan was extensively damaged at 9:30 a.m. today when a right rear tire blew out.

Thomas Van Vacter, 20, en route from Columbia, Mo., to Biggs Air Force Base at El Paso, said that he was travelling west on IS 20 near the Cosden Refinery. The rear tire blew out and Van Vacter said he applied his brakes. The car swung completely around and crashed into the guard rail on the south side of the road. It terminated its spin facing east.

State highway patrol officers investigated the accident. Damage was estimated at around $250 to the car.

First Freedom Forum Session Slated Monday

The first session of the Big Spring Jaycee - sponsored Freedom Forum has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 23 at the Howard County Junior College auditorium. The master of ceremonies will be C. L. Kay, vice president for public services and industrial relations at Lubbock Christian College.

"The Battle Ahead," will be the topic featured for the first session.

"This gives attention to the world conflict between freedom and regimentation. It will show the historic growth of Communism, and the present status of Socialism in the rest of the world, the failure of Socialism to produce economic prosperity and the reasons for this failure. These reasons are found to be in opposition to the basic nature of man, and emphasize that man's creative and productive genius can only thrive in a climate of freedom," Kay said in discussing the subject.

The Forum will run each Monday night for six weeks, and will feature such other topics as: "The Structure of the American Way of Life," "Threat of Communism," "Threat of Socialism," "The Profit System," and "How to Save America — Your Responsibility."

The lessons, which are described as objective, accurate, non-political, educationally sound, and professionally taught, will cover two hours each session. The latest development in educational visual aids and equipment will be used to present the material in charts, graphs, maps, film strips, and moving pictures.

"The purpose of the Freedom Forum," James Cope, chairman of the Jaycee group sponsoring the sessions said, "is to ascertain where we are in the 'Cold War,' to learn the true nature of Communism, to show the relationship between Socialism and Communism, to emphasize what must be done to preserve individual freedom, and to learn to appreciate our free enterprise system more fully."

Ahmad Takes Role In Stride

WASHINGTON (AP)—The happy camel driver from Pakistan is taking quite naturally to being a VIP.

Jet planes, flashing camera bulbs, sleek limousines and sights beyond his wildest dreams just bring a broader smile to Bashir Ahmad's moustachioed countenance.

Bashir smiles and smiles. He's amused at how Americans are all smiling with him, too.

Unable to read or write his native language, Urdu, when he arrived in the United States as the guest of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Bashir has quickly learned about autograph seekers. Now, he painstakingly signs his name—a wavy line and a series of specially placed dots. You'd be surprised how many times he's asked to make his sign.

Bashir is so famous his wife back in Karachi says she's worried about whether she should welcome her husband back in their same hut after his visit to America. She's looking for a two-room house or a flat, reports from Karachi say.

And, Bashir's camel must be worried, too. It is refusing to eat.

But none of these reports, relayed to Bashir on his American tour, can dim his enthusiasm for his adventure, which is unfolding in the best fairy-tale style.

Today Bashir, 46, in his black frock coat and white pants, saw the sights of Washington and lunched with the ambassador of Pakistan in his country's embassy here.

Bashir met former President Harry S. Truman Wednesday in Independence, Mo.

Bashir, who speaks eloquently through his interpreter, Saeed Khan, told Truman he was honored to meet someone with so much experience in world affairs. He said Truman's gray hair was evidence of that experience.

The camel driver talked with the former president about such far off things as camels.

"I hope some day I can come to Pakistan and, with your help, actually ride it," said Truman of the camel.

With Mrs. Johnson as his guide, Bashir will visit the White House Friday. It's still not known whether he'll get a personal hello from President Kennedy.

Surely nothing can surprise this smiling little man from Pakistan.

In his absence from home, the U.S. Embassy is supporting Bashir's family with 20 rupees—about $4—a day, the sum he normally earned with his camel cart.

But now Bashir has been told he has been appointed a director of a Pakistan movie company, and his first remuneration on his return will be 2,000 rupees—$400.

"God is very kind," said Bashir when he heard that news.

Zale Has Gain In Sales, Net

DALLAS — Increased sales and net earnings were reported by Zale Jewelry Co., Inc., for the six months ended Sept. 30, 1961.

The nation's largest retail jewelry firm announced net sales of $25,904,965 for the current six-month period compared to $23,920,698 a year ago.

Net earnings after taxes reached $964,862 up from $944,819 for the comparable period a year ago.

Esparze Faces Assault Charge

A charge of assault with intent to murder was filed this morning against Augustin Esparze following the stabbing of Gayetano F. Galvin at El Toro Cafe, 305 N. Greer, Wednesday night.

Galvin was taken to the Howard County Hospital Foundation with a slash on the face and in the right side and was reported in serious condition Thursday morning.

Witnesses, including Esparze's former wife, Augrera Saenz, said that the stabbing was a result of Galvin's attempt to keep Esparze from getting behind the counter where Augrera Saenz was working.

Police arrested Esparze in front of Jumbo No. 2 on Northwest Fourth and he admitted the stabbing.

Charges were filed in Justice of the Peace Walter Grice's Court, and tentative bond set at $3,500 pending the outcome of Galvin's condition. Grice said if the man died the charges would be changed to murder with malice.

Taylor Arrives

Gen. Maxwell Taylor, right, President Kennedy's special military adviser, is greeted by South Viet Nam Chief of Staff Gen. Le Vanty, back to camera, on his arrival in Saigon. Taylor, who flew to Saigon on Kennedy's orders, is making an assessment of the situation in Communist-threatened South Viet Nam.

U.S. Guerrilla Experts Give Gen. Taylor Briefing

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —U.S. guerrilla warfare experts gave Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor a secret appraisal today of the way South Viet Nam's American-trained army is standing up under the Communist Viet Cong offensive.

President Kennedy's special military adviser drove from the U.S. Embassy to headquarters of the U.S. military assistance advisory group for what was described as a detailed situation analysis.

The briefing prepared the general and his staff for a flying inspection tour he will make Friday and Saturday into some of the delta and highland areas where the "quiet war" is raging in mostly small, vicious guerrilla actions.

President Ngo Dinh Diem's newly declared state of national emergency did not have any noticeable effect in Saigon.

Armed guards stood before the president's palace. Sentinels with machine guns patrolled the National Assembly Building. Police and soldiers were seen at key points all over the city. But that has been normal for some time.

U.S. officials said they were taking normal security precautions for Taylor's tour of the outlands. They obviously were on the alert against a possible effort by the Communist Viet Cong or their supporters either to harm or embarrass Taylor. So far there have been no incidents of this sort.

Champs Named At State Fair

DALLAS (AP)—A 1,020-pound Hereford steer named Pumpkin is the grand champion of the State Fair of Texas junior steer show.

The 17-month-old animal was exhibited Wednesday by Larry Minks, 14, a 4-H Club boy from Hereford in the Texas Panhandle.

The reserve championship went to a Hereford steer exhibited by Myrtie Davis, 12, of Merkel, a Taylor County 4-H Club member.

In the junior lamb show the grand championship went to an entry of James Rutledge, 15, a 4-H Club member from Girvin. The reserve champion was exhibited by Bob Kropps, 14, of Lockney.

A crowd of 73,458 visited the fair Wednesday to bring the total attendance at the 1961 exposition to 2,076,233.

Today has been designated as Mexico Day at the fair.

German Paper Aids Wind Victims

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel said today a German newspaper's campaign will bring about $175,000 in contributions for Hurricane Carla victims.

Daniel was informed by telegram by the Berliner Morgenspost that 700,000 marks has been raised by the drive.

McAllen Demos Switch To GOP

McALLEN, Tex. (AP) — The switching of 157 McAllen area conservative Democrats to the Republican party was announced at a political rally here Wednesday night.

The announcement was made to a crowd of 600 that heard Jack Cox of Breckenridge, who ran for governor as a Democrat and since has joined the Republican party, declared "a change is brewing in Austin."

Finn Pays Honor Debt To Hoover

NEW YORK (AP)—When Finnish President Urho K. Kekkonen visited Herbert Hoover Wednesday, he was paying a debt of honor to a man renowned in Finland as that country's savior.

And Finland holds no virtue higher than payment of its debts —unless, perhaps, it is honor.

Hoover's involvement with the small Scandinavian country began in November, 1918, less than two weeks after the Armistice that ended World War I. The former president, now 87, tells of it in Volume III of his book, "An American Epic."

Hoover, then head of the American Relief Administration, was visited by a Finnish delegation seeking food to save their ravaged country from starvation.

The American promised 10,000 tons of emergency supplies, and the Finns left. But they returned a few moments later.

"How much will it cost?" they asked.

"Don't worry about it," said Hoover. "Arrangements will be worked out."

"We will pay," said the Finns resolutely. "Our people will work and pay."

KEPT PROMISE

The Finns kept that promise. They have been working and paying regularly ever since—despite depression and war, despite the heavy demands made on the country by the Soviet Union since Finland's heroic "winter war" with its giant neighbor in 1939-40.

And they have felt and expressed a great gratitude toward this country in general and toward Herbert Hoover in particular.

In the days after the Armistice, Hoover's relief agency provided Finland with $28 million in food and clothing. The Finns still call this "the Hoover loan."

As this monumental work of relief got under way, Hoover received a letter from Finland's food minister, saying: "You have completed the greatest and most humanitarian act that anyone has ever performed .... You, esteemed sir, have saved Finland."

Hoover, who also played a leading role in the recognition of Finland as an independent government by the Allies after World War I, describes in his book a visit to the country: "The government of Finland had repeatedly invited me to visit that country in order that the Finns might express their appreciation. I did so early in 1938. Their recognition was tremendous, with events staged over five days."

But gratitude, the Finns felt, was not enough. There was still a debt to be paid—$9 million—and they got to work paying it. They are still paying it, and they have made clear that they intend to continue paying until 1981, when the 62-year payment program ends.

QUESTION OF HONOR

In 1949 the United States urged Finland to forget the rest of the debt. The Finns graciously refused. There was, after all, the question of honor.

This country had no intention of wounding the small nation's pride. Instead, it invested the Finnish payments in a special fund that has enabled about 1,000 Finns to study here over the past 10 years.

Since the first Hoover loan, Finland has borrowed about $150 million more for improvement projects. They are, of course, paying this back, too.

When Kekkonen arrived for a four-day visit to New York, he moved into a room at the Waldorf Towers, where Hoover also lives.

One of the Finnish chief executive's first acts in the city was to hold a 15-minute chat with the former president. Neither man cared to discuss what was said, since the talk was informal.

Perhaps, it was a mutual "thank you."

Philippines Hero Dies

MANILA (AP)—Sergio Osmena, 83, president of the Philippine Commonwealth after World War II, died today of heart and kidney ailments.

A leader in Philippine politics for nearly 40 years, he became vice president when the commonwealth was born Nov. 15, 1935, and succeeded to the presidency in exile in Washington Aug. 1, 1944, a few hours after his longtime associate and sometime rival, President Manuel L. Quezon, died of tuberculosis.

A few months later Osmena landed with Gen. Douglas MacArthur on Leyte at the start of the Philippines' liberation. Osmena took over direction of the monumental task of restoring order, cleaning up the widespread destruction of the war, and dealing with those Filipinos who had collaborated with the Japanese during the occupation.

Udall Urges Water Solution

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—"Unless ways are found to conserve more fresh water and to convert salt water cheaply into fresh, the United States only 20 years from now will lack enough water to meet its basic needs."

Thus, Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall underscored one of the nation's major problems, and called for an adequate national effort to solve it. He spoke to the National Reclamation Association convention.

GIVE THE UNITED WAY

DEAR ABBY

He Deserves Much More

DEAR ABBY: For five years now we have taken on the full responsibility of our son's illegitimate child. The mother of this child is very irresponsible, and left the child with me since birth. My son and this girl have been going together since the baby was born, but have made no marriage plans for the future. They both date other people. The child sees his mother occasionally, but is confused about who she is because I am the only "mother" he has known, although I have him call me Nanna to let him know I am not his mother. We are the child's legal guardians, and our only concern is that this child should have a happy, normal life. Please help us clear up this mess while there is still time. HEARTSICK NANNA

DEAR NANNA: To be honest with you, I think you have another child to raise. Why don't you ask for a legal waiver on the boy from both parents, adopt him, and give him the normal life he has coming to him?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I like a kid and he likes me. He is 18 and I am 16. My father says this kid looks like a wise guy, and he won't let me go out with him. I think this is very unfair as my father only saw him once for a little while. Can you help me? SIXTEEN

DEAR SIXTEEN: Parents have been known to misjudge people, but they usually are correct in their first impressions. Take your father's word for it, and be a wise girl.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: This might sound like a very petty thing to complain about, but it means a lot to me. My husband doesn't remember my birthday, our anniversary, the children's birthdays or any of the smaller occasions, like Valentine's Day and Mother's Day. He DOES remember Christmas because there is so much advertising about it. I don't love him any less for it, but I can't help feeling a little hurt. Don't tell me I should be glad he doesn't get drunk and chase women. I know all his good qualities, but I wish he were a little more thoughtful. When he forgets, he feels guilty and apologizes. I never mention how hurt I am, but I hate being—

"FORGOTTEN"

DEAR "FORGOTTEN": Don't sulk in silence. Start your own advertising campaign by sending your husband little reminders a week or two in advance. You will be remembered and your husband won't feel guilty because he forgot.

Football Titans Have Rugged Going Friday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wichita Falls merely looks on this week but other Texas schoolboy football favorites will be at it hot and heavy trying in the drive for district championships.

Wichita Falls, the Class AAAA favorite, has an open date.

Brownwood, champion of Class AAA, makes its conference start, meeting Vernon.

Denver City, kingpin of Class AA last season, plays its second conference game against Stanton, expecting to stay in a tie for the District 3 lead.

Albany, the winningest team of them all with 20 straight, meets Eastland in the second District 10 conference test.

From Panhandle to Gulf the teams will be playing conference games. Of the 258 contests scheduled in the 4 classes, only 7 are non-conference affairs.

Forty-three of the 46 undefeated, untied teams have games this week. Prospects are for a sharp cut in the list, maybe to 30.

In three games unbeaten-untied teams meet. Silsbee and Huntsville do the honors in Class AAA, an opening game in District 10.

Class A has two such games—Springlake vs. Kress in District 3 and Hull-Daisetta vs. Anahuac in District 25.

Jacksboro, the favorite in Class AA although defending champion Denver City also is unbeaten and untied, plays a conference game against Nocona and is expected to win it easily.

The unbeaten and untied teams that see action this week are:

AAAA—Ysleta, Big Spring, Fort Worth Paschal, Tyler Lee, Corpus Christi Miller, Freeport, Houston Milby, Ysleta Bel Air and Wichita Falls are idle.

AAAA—Belton, Silsbee, Huntsville, San Antonio Sam Houston, San Benito, Rio Grande City. Sam Houston is in the peculiar position of not being able to compete for the district championship because of a suspension but its victories against other teams in the district will count against those teams. Del Rio is the opponent this week.

AA—Tulia, Floydada, Denver City, Quanah, Haskell, Hamilton, Jacksboro, Plano, Pewitt, Hillsboro, Hearne, LaGrange, Little Cypress, Sweeny, Hebbronville, Pleasanton.

A—Gruver, Springlake, Kress, Wink, Sonora, Albany, Brownsboro, Gaston, Garrison, Thrall, Hull-Daisetta, Anahuac, Waller, Rio Hondo. Forney has an open date.

San Angelo Fems Low In Meet

Billie Dillon (left) of Big Spring is shown handing trophies to two San Angelo women in the One-Day Women's Invitational Golf tournament held at the Big Spring Country Club Wednesday. They are Mrs. Dick Turner (center), medalist with an 82; and Mrs. Clayton (Twila) Webster, who had low net with a 69. Mrs. Turner defeated Mrs. Webster in a special playoff to win the title.

Mrs. Dick Turner Is Winner In Fem Meet

At trophy-awarding time following the Women's One-Day Invitational Golf tournament held at the Big Spring Country Club Wednesday, the only players called to the speaker's rostrum to receive trophies were residents of San Angelo and Big Spring.

San Angelo players won the top three awards. Big Spring entries claimed the other five.

Winner of the tournament was Mrs. Dick (Leila) Turner of San Angelo, who apparently has learned her lessons well. She is the wife of the golf professional at the San Angelo Country Club.

She defeated another Angeloan, Twila Webster, on the fourth extra hole. Mrs. Webster settled for low net honors in the championship flight.

Mrs. Turner had an 18-hole low gross score of 82, eight over women's par. Mrs. Webster, making use of a 13-stroke handicap, finished with a net score of 69.

Nell Lockett, San Angelo, wound up with low gross honors in the first flight with an 89. Madeline Atkins, Big Spring, finished with low net laurels in that flight with a 70. She had a handicap of 19 strokes.

In the second flight, Libby Sanders and Ann McComb, both of Big Spring, won honors. Mrs. Sanders had low gross with a 95, Mrs. McComb low net with a 66. Her handicap was 34 strokes.

In the nine-hole flight, Lannie Griffin, Big Spring, posted the low gross, a 56. Winnie Patterson, Big Spring, had the low net, a 41. All players in that flight had an 18-stroke handicap.

The day's entertainment was climaxed by a buffet dinner in the club house.

In all, 59 players made the rounds and they came from Monahans, McCamey, Tahoka, Midland, Eldorado and Odessa, as well as from San Angelo and Big Spring. San Angelo was represented by 13 players, Midland 10.

A stiff breeze caused scores to skyrocket in some instances.

Jr. High Action Is Carded Here

All junior high school football teams here but the Runnels seventh graders will see action today and tonight.

The Runnels ninth graders (1-5) tangle with Snyder Lamar at 8 p.m. in the old stadium here.

In a previous meeting between the two clubs, Lamar won by a score of 8-0. Runnels has defeated Sweetwater, 14-0; and lost to San Angelo Edison, 16-6; Sweetwater, 28-6; Big Spring Goliad, 14-0; and Lamesa, 20-6; in other games.

Goliad's ninth graders visit Sweetwater for a 7:30 p.m. engagement.

Goliad is 2-4 on the season. The Mavericks lost four in a row, then turned around and won two.

Their wins came over Big Spring Runnels, 14-0; and Snyder Travis, 8-6. They have lost to Snyder Lamar, 14-0; Lamesa, 12-0; Snyder Travis, 20-8; and Snyder Lamar, 14-0.

When they upset Snyder Travis last week, it was the first loss in 21 games for the Travis team.

The Yearlings have beaten Sweetwater, 16-0; Snyder Lamar, 16-6; Sweetwater, 8-0; Big Spring Goliad, 12-6; and Lamar, 14-6, in that order this fall.

Lakeview's ninth graders, still unbeaten after three starts, visit Lubbock for a contest Friday night.

Lamesa Goes To S'water

LAMESA (SC)—District 3-AAA action gets under way this week with pre-season favorite Sweetwater hosting the surprising Lamesa Tornadoes and Snyder and Lake View, the two teams tabbed to battle for runner - up spot, tangling at San Angelo.

Lamesa, picked to finish fourth in the five - team loop, emerged with the best non - district record after winning five and losing one. Sweetwater had a 3-2 mark, but the two defeats were at the hands of 4-A schools Abilene and Big Spring.

High - scoring Lake View and Colorado City each posted 3-3 records against outside opposition while Synder wound up with a 2-4 won-lost mark.

Four loop members chalked up victories Friday to close out non-district play. Sweetwater enjoyed an open date before tackling Lamesa. The Tornadoes downed Phillips, 14-6; Snyder topped Levelland, 27-25; Colorado City whipped Littlefield, 27-14; and Lake View slammed McCamey, 31-12.

NBA Begins 16th Annual Cage Campaign Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Two of college basketball's most successful coaches, Frank McGuire and Eddie Donovan, make their professional debuts tonight as the 16th National Basketball Association season begins with a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

With a new team in the Chicago Packers, a new schedule of 80 games per team, and prospects of an "old look" with St. Louis and Boston again favored in the division races, the NBA starts with Los Angeles playing Philadelphia and Chicago opposing New York.

The other teams will be in action by the end of the week, getting under way a season that will still be tapping along when baseball resumes next spring.

McGuire, long-time winning coach at St. John's and North Carolina, is the new coach of the Philadelphia Warrirors — a formal way of spelling 7-foot-2 Wilt Chamberlain and cohorts. Donovan has the unenviable task of trying to shape the hapless New York Knicks into a winner, taking over a team that won only 21 of 79 games last season. Eddie came to the Knicks from St. Bonaventure, where he had nationally ranked powers the last six years.

More Game Fish In Lake Thomas

More game fish have been put into Lake J. B. Thomas, R. A. Schooling, lake superintendent, announced Thursday.

The Texas Game & Fish Commission brought 10,000 black bass from the hatchery at San Angelo, and these measured four to five inches.

In addition, another 10,000 channel cat were introduced into the big lake.

Meanwhile, the Colorado River Municipal Water District is conducting some fish pond operations of its own in order to step up the volume of fish in the lake.

Johnny Rebels To Seek 20th Win In A Row

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mississippi's football team has two objectives this weekend at Tulane, and, not necessarily in order of importance.

They are: Get back the No. 1 spot among the college football teams in next week's Associated Press poll, and beat the Green Wave, increasing their defeatless string to 20 games.

Despite a 47-7 victory over Houston last week, Ole Miss went from first to second, with Michigan State now No. 1.

The Rebels have put the mission in good hands—the offense and the defense. Both have been dynamic. The offense is ranked second nationally and the defense 10th. Tulane, which has lost three of four games, is not close to the top 10.

Doug Elmore is in charge of the offensive. He is successor to the graduated All-America quarterback Jake Gibbs, who has hardly been missed. Elmore has gained 559 yards in the Rebels' four victories, and has been handicapped by his team's greatness. He just hasn't been able to play for an extended period in any one game.

The defense is a team proposition. Ole Miss Coach John Vaught is blessed with enough manpower for three fine teams.

But still Mississippi ranks second to Michigan State, and all the statistics in the world don't mean a thing today to the Rebels. They may mean more next week if objective No. 1 is accomplished.

Ole Miss is not above taking a helping hand from Notre Dame, which plays Michigan State this week. The Irish got a psychological lift Wednesday—if they needed one with five straight losses to the Spartans—when their practice field was invaded by 2,000 whooping students who staged a rare, impromptu demonstration.

Bill Schoonover, Syracuse's first string halfback, was sidelined for Saturday's game against Penn State with a broken hand, joining varsity performer Dick Easterly, another halfback, on the sidelines along with a flock of second team performers.

Texas Christian worked its all-sophomore backfield of quarterback Gary Mills, halves Larry and Gary Thomas and fullback Tom Crutcher, along with injured quarterback Sonny Gibbs, in preparation for the Texas Tech game.

Fullback Bill Merlini and end Hank Large of Princeton will be out of Saturday's game against Colgate with injuries while Cornell halfback Marcy Tino will miss the Big Red's homecoming contest against Yale after being sidelined with recurring knee trouble.

Skorich 'Fair' To Players, Insists Help

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The other day a Philadelphia Eagles lineman was sitting in a coffee shop telling someone that head coach Nick Skorich was a fair guy and all the players thought highly of him and would do their darndest for him.

Skorich, promoted from assistant when Buck Shaw retired at the end of last year, was never told of the conversation but he was asked today what his philosophy of coaching was.

"I can tell you in a nutshell," he said. "As far as I'm concerned it's being firm and fair in getting the maximum abilities out of your players.

"To be successful you have to be a 36-man team, not a 1 or 2 or 3 man team. Every man must give his maximum. You handle each individual different but as a team you demand the same thing."

Skorich said the 1960 National Football League champion Eagles now tied for the Eastern Conference lead with a 4-1 record, have gradually improved this year. Some observers had picked Cleveland to win the title this year since the Eagles had lost Norm Van Brocklin.

Skorich said he doesn't think the Eagles, who meet Dallas Sunday in one of the top NFL games, have reached their potential but they approached it last week in a victory over St. Louis.

While the Eagles travel to Dallas, the New York Giants, who share the Eastern lead, host Los Angeles. St. Louis is at Washington and Cleveland at Pittsburgh.

In the Western Conference, San Francisco, tied for the lead with a 4-1 mark, goes to Chicago, coleader Green Bay is at Minnesota, and Baltimore plays at Detroit.

Webb To Play Soccer Game

Webb AFB will play its first soccer game Saturday at 1 p.m., when the Dusters host Sheppard AFB of Wichita Falls.

It will be Webb's only contest before going to the Air Training Command tourney at Sheppard early next month. The local airmen were eliminated via two straight setbacks in the 1960 tournament.

More depth and greater ability will enable the base team to offer stiffer competition this year, according to Phil Hines of Personnel Services. Airman 1.C. Tony Reich, who plays center forward, is team captain and coach. Other team members are:

Nicholay Dieter, Uchtdorf Dieter, Czwallina Dieter, Larry Shoemaker, Gerd Von Hobe, Horst Wicke, Jack Kattengel, Nicholas Gilman, Wolfgang Ottava, Peter Ziegler, Fred Assad, William Niles and Sam McCauley.

Padgett Named Pro Of Year

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Don Padgett, 36-year-old professional at the Green Hills Golf and Country Club in Selma, Ind., has been named PGA golf professional of the year.

The announcement of the honor awarded the native of New Castle, Ind., was made today by Lou Strong, president of the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

TCU Wogs Shade North Texans

By The Associated Press

Texas Christian University's freshman football squad walloped North Texas State University's first-year team 48-6 Wednesdy at Denton.

The Southwest Conference school scored once in the first quarter and twice in each of the remaining three stanzas. It was not until the fourth quarter that North Texas managed its lone touchdown.

The freshman squads of Texas A&M and Baylor play Thursday night in the Brazos County Shrine Club game at College Station. Also on tap Thursday is an intersectional game between Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons at Abilene.

Friday Rice and Southern Methodest freshmen squads play at Dallas in their first game of the season.

Tucker, Chapman Lead Cooper Attack

Halfback Danny Chapman is the Abilene Cooper the Big Spring coaching staff fears most in this week's District 2-AAAA football game but the leading ground gainer on the Cougar ball club is Drew Tucker.

The fullback has picked up 181 yards in 44 attempts this season for a 4.1 yard average.

Of that amount, 84 came last week against Midland Lee, at which time the Cougars and the Rebels fought to a 6-6 deadlock.

Right halfback George Partin, who will not see action for Cooper this week due to the fact that he underwent surgery on a torn knee cartilage, is second to Tucker in the Cooper ground gaining derby with a total of 81 yards gained in 29 carries. That averages out to 2.8 yards per thrust.

Don Herttenberger and Bobby McCraw team up to do most of Cooper's passing. Herttenberger has made good on 15 of 36 aerials for 147 yards and had three intercepted. McCraw has flipped 28 passes, 13 of which he has completed for 122 yards. Neither boy has thrown a touchdown pass.

Bill Boyd, a halfback who scored Cooper's only other touchdown, is the second leading pass receiver on the squad, having gathered in five for 33 paces.

Barry Phillips, a Cooper tackle who thought he might get to play against Big Spring, has had his hand placed in another cast. He injured the hand while hunting rabbits before the season began and it hasn't been healing properly.

Another Cooper player who will probably miss the action is guard Joe Kemp, out with bad ankles.

Big Spring, boasting an 5-0 record, isn't taking the Cooper game lightly by any means. Their coaches are seeing to that.

The Steers would like to make it six in a row and thereby set up a crucial test with Odessa Permian next weekend.

Texas-Arkansas Game Is Spotlighted This Week

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference football play gets into full swing Saturday with all teams in loop competition but the big game will be Texas versus Arkansas.

Texas, with a 1-0 conference mark, is rated the No 3 team in the nation and Arkansas, which has a 2-0 loop mark, is seeking its third straight championship.

The outcome of Saturday's game at Fayetteville will determine the top contender for the 1961 grid crown in the Southwest Conference.

The Baylor Bears, whose championship hopes were dimmed when they were defeated by the Arkansas Razorbacks in their conference opener, journey to Lubbock to tackle the Texas Tech Red Raiders. The Raiders, battered by Texas A&M, showed surprising strength in blanking Texas Christian last week.

The Rice Owls, a favorite in the loop race, will be host to the Southern Methodist Mustangs, who two weeks ago won their first game since 1959.

Texas Christian's Horned Frogs, already beaten by Arkansas and Tech, will be host to the Aggies, who have a 1-0 loop mark.

A sellout crowd of 31,000 is expected to be in the stands at Fayetteville for the week's stellar game. In 1959 Texas won by one point and last year the Razorbacks had a one-point margin in their victory.

Rice, victor over Florida last week, isn't expected to have much trouble polishing off Southern Methodist before an expected crowd of 40,000.

The high scoring Aggies — 38 point against Texas Tech and 55 against Trinity — are given the nod over battered Texas Christian though the Frogs are expected to provide stubborn resistance. A crowd of better than 40,000 is due for the Fort Worth game.

Despite Tech's sharp showing in downing TCU, the Baylor Bears are at least a two-touchdown favorite in the Lubbock game, expected to draw 30,000 fans.

The Texas - Arkansas and Texas A&M - TCU encounters are afternoon games while the other two tilts will be played Saturday night.

Loi And Perkins Clash Saturday

MILAN (AP) — World junior welterweight champion Duilio Loi's title defense Saturday night against Eddie Perkins of Chicago has become the hottest topic of conversation among Milanese sports fans.

The fight was first scheduled for Sept. 7, but the Italian boxer said his left hand was hurt in an earlier match and he got a postponement. Again last week Loi asked a week's delay because of an intestinal disorder.

Loi has made such requests before when a major fight was upcoming, giving rise to the legend that he is superstitious and thinks postponements bring him luck.

Perkins had no objections to the postponements.

DUNKEL COLLEGE FOOTBALL RATINGS

EXPLANATION — A dunkel is a comparative strength rating based on the season's record to date. It reflects average scoring margin relative to rating of opposition. Example: a 30.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of relatively equal rating. The system has been continuous since its origination in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

Gibbs May Get An Opportunity To Join Yanks

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Jake Gibbs, who a year ago was establishing himself as an All-America quarterback while leading Mississippi to an unbeaten season, may get a chance to become the New York Yankees' regular third baseman in 1962.

GIBBS

Three reasons were obvious Wednesday when the Yanks announced that Gibbs, 22, a bonus baby who played with Richmond in the International League last season, had been promoted to the main roster:

1. To protect their $106,000 investment as a first-year player in the major league draft in a few weeks.

2. To include him in the scramble for the world champions' job at third base should they lose Tony Kubek to the armed services and be forced to shift Clete Boyer to shortstop.

3. Because they happen to think the husky youngster from Grenada, Miss., is an exceptional prospect and might make the jump from college to major leaguer with only one year's professional experience.

Gibbs, who turned down several pro football offers when the Yanks waved their bonus check book last summer, hit .272 with triple A pitching at Richmond. A shortstop by preference, Jake was used primarily at third base with some work at second. A left-handed batter, he had 408 at-bats and collected eight doubles, six triples and six home runs. He was the Virginians' lead-off man, so his 30 runs batted in weren't considered too indicative of his clutch-hitting abilities.

"The reports on him were highly satisfactory," Mgr. Ralph Houk said before he left for a brief vacation in Florida. "What we saw of him before he left us last summer impressed us all."

The main consideration of his recall, of course, was to protect Gibbs from the major league draft, which permits first year players to be grabbed for $12,000.

Alabama Faces Rough Fight Against Vols

By TOM DYGARD

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Alabama, unbeaten and ranked fifth in the country, collides on Saturday with Tennessee, a team the Crimson Tide hasn't beaten since 1954.

The oddsmakers figure Alabama to be a one-touchdown favorite, but records have gone to the winds before in this interstate rivalry that dates back to 1901. Tennessee has a 2-1 mark.

The game stacks up as a test of Alabama's defense against Tennessee's blossoming offense.

In Alabama's favor is a potent offense of its own—something the Tide lacked in recent years—with quarterback Pat Trammell and fullback Mike Fracchia leading the way. The offense has rolled up 102 points to the opposition's 19 in four games.

Fracchie, however, remained a question mark because of a knee injury suffered in the Tide's 26-7 conquest of North Carolina State last week.

Alabama's defense is second best in the country, having yielded an average of only 119.5 yards per game. And on the ground, where much of the Tennessee offense is centered, the Tide is the toughest of all, having given up an average of only 46.3 yards per game rushing.

Three deep in talent at the important tailback post in their single wing offense, the Vols have scored 90 points in their first three games.

Glenn Glass, the No. 1 tailback, will be back in action after sitting out last week's 56-6 rout of Tulsa with injuries behind him are George Canale, a strong runner and a dangerous passer, and sophomore Mallon Faircloth, who is described by Alabama scout Harold (Red) Drew as "the one we fear."

Alabama Coach Paul Bryant, who has beaten Tennessee only once in 12 games as a head coach, sizes up the Vols this way: "They are a stronger team than last year. They have more depth, especially at tailback. But we don't think they are invincible."

A crowd of more than 50,000, the largest in Birmingham's history, is expected to see the game in an expanded stadium. The game will be televised regionally in the Southeast and parts of the Southwest.

Newcombe Draws The Pink Slip

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Don Newcombe, former major league hurler who was 9-8 for the Spokane Indians of the Pacific Coast League last season, Wednesday was given his outright release.

General Manager Spencer Harris said the move was made to let the big right-hander "make the best possible deal for himself."

Newcombe was the National League's most valuable player in 1956.

Luman Harris Is New Colt Coach

HOUSTON (AP) — Luman Harris, who became interim manager of the Baltimore Orioles Sept. 1, signed a contract today as a coach for the 1962 National League Houston Colts.

The appointment completed the selection of five assistants for Harry Craft, field manager of the Colts. Craft earlier has selected Jimmy Adair, Bobby Bragan, Jim Busby, and Ellis (Cot) Deal.

Fem Pros Head For Alamo City

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mickey Wright will be shooting for a record number of tournament victories in a single year in this weekend's Civitan Open here.

A field of 27 pros and several amateurs are to start touring Brackenridge Park golf layout today in preparation for the opening round of the $7,500, 54-hole tournament Thursday.

The San Antonio tourney is the final one of the season for the touring professionals who head for their homes after a meeting of the Ladies Professional Golf Association Monday.

Miss Wright wrapped up the money-winning championship by winning the ladies PGA title with a nine-stroke edge over her nearest competitor at Las Vegas. Her season winnings so far total $21,827.

Her present 10 triumphs in a single season tied her with Betsy Rawls. A San Antonio victory would give Miss Wright a record.

Louise Suggs, who defeated Miss Wright here last year, will also be aiming at a record this weekend. She has won four tournaments this year for a career total of 48, the same number won by Patty Berg.

Sun Devils Make Statistics Count

By The Associated Press

The Arizona State University Sun Devils aren't the leaders on the statistics sheets but they've been making statistics where they count to take the lead in the Border Conference football race.

The Sun Devils rank fourth in total offense and second in total defense. Their best ball toter, John M. Falls, is eighth in rushing and their top passer, Joe Zuger, is third in the league.

But the Sun Devils have made the yardage where it does the most good to hold a 1-0 loop record, the best in the conference. In season play both Arizona State and New Mexico State have 3-1 marks to tie for first place.

West Texas State, 2-2 in season play and 1-1 in the loop, have the best total offense mark — an average of 369 yards per game. New Mexico State follows with 359, Texas Western with 301, Arizona State with 291, and Hardin-Simmons with 178.

In rushing offense West Texas leads with a 278 - yard average per game, followed by New Mexico State with 267, Texas Western with 180, Arizona State 167, and Hardin-Simmons 82.

Peter "Pistol Pete" Pedro, West Texas State's mighty-mite, was held to 12 yards net rushing by the Arizona State defense, but he still leads the loop in rushing, 506 yards in 4 games for an average of 8.7 per carry. With 72 points for 12 touchdowns he is the top scorer and he's second in total offense.

John Furman of Texas Western moved to the top of the list of total offense leaders, accounting for 675 yards in 21 plays. Furman is also the passing leader with 463 yards.

Roger Locke of Arizona State has taken passes for 186 yards to lead in that department. Zuger leads in punting, with an average of 42.5 yards per boot.

Pete Smolanovich, 6-1 senior end for New Mexico State, kicked 10 for 10 at the extra point line as the Aggies trounced University of Pacific, 70-19. That makes it 26 for 26 on the season for Smolanovich, only six shy of the national record held by another Border Conference player — Nolan Jones of Arizona State.

In other team statistics New Mexico State leads in total defense, 245 yards per game, and Arizona State in rushing defense, 146 yards.

Arizona State was the passing offense leader, averaging 127 yards per game, and New Mexico State topped the passing defense column, allowing opponents only 59 yards per game via the airlanes.

In games this week Hardin-Simmons is at West Texas State in a conference game while nonloop action sees Arizona State meet Oregon State at Tempe, New Mexico State and Wichita University tangle at Wichita, and Texas Western journeys to San Antonio to meet Trinity University.

When Men Need Wings

BRENHAM (AP) — "There's just one way to get away from those dogs — take a airplane" is the comment of 62-year-old Tobe Washington after he served as guinea pig for one of the practice runs made by the tracking dogs owned by the Washington County Sheriff's Department.

The dogs are a cross of Bloodhound, Blue Tick and Red Bone and have personally been trained by a deputy, Arnold Loesch.

The dogs are kept at the Loesch home near Brenham, and he says if he is at home or in the office they can be ready to go in 10 minutes after a call is received.

The dogs must keep in shape just like athletes, so practice runs are arranged twice a week.

Usually persons jailed on misdemeanor charges are used as decoys, but there were only felony cases in jail this week so Washington was hired.

It was his first time to run, and he left the impression it would be his last.

Sheriff Johnnie Schulte said misdemeanor prisoners volunteer to run and receive no compensation. Felony prisoners are not used. They might not stop.

The dogs have been called to a 100-mile radius to track down mental cases, runaways, escapees, burglars and out-of-season hunters.

Outside of this area, time becomes a factor, as freshness of the trail is vital.

Weather plays an important part here, as a track stays fresh longer in cool, damp weather.

Loesch told of the time a man was burglarizing some cabins in Grimes County and the dogs were able to track him 12 hours after he left the cabin, but he said this was extreme.

The dogs are carried about in a specially made trailer that includes a supply compartment and a 30-gallon water tank.

Washington was quite impressed with the dogs' ability.

"If you got away from those dogs, they'd find your street and look up your house number," he said.

Hungarian Is Nobel Winner

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The 1961 Nobel Prize for medicine was awarded today to Dr. Georg von Bekesy, Hungarian-born ear specialist now working in the United States.

The prize amounts to 250,200 Swedish crowns—$48,300.

Von Bekesy, now working at Harvard University in Cambridge, Mass., was awarded the prize for "his discoveries concerning the physical mechanisms of stimulation within the cochlea," said the official citation from the awarding body. The cochlea is a division of the labyrinth of the ear.

The award—first of this year's series of Nobel prizes—was given after a three-hour session of the Board of Professors at the Royal Caroline Institute, which makes the choice.

Area Gas Rate Urged At Meeting

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Howard Morgan, vice chairman of the Federal Power Commission, endorsed today the principle of area rate-making for independent natural gas producers.

He said the new method would provide incentive for economy and efficiency in the industry while furnishing reasonable protection for the consumer.

In a speech prepared for the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association, Morgan said the commission is seeking for each important gas producing region a simplified area rate that would be both a floor and a ceiling.

This, he said, would provide "sufficient certainty of price and income to enable financing of efficient operations while at the same time serving as a restraint on high cost operations."

Morgan, who took office June 28 after two years as public utility commissioner of Oregon, said "present prospects are not favorable" for exemption of small producers of natural gas from regulation.

Troops Land

CHERBOURG, France (AP) — The American Army transport Upshur docked today with some 1,400 American soldiers bound for various U.S. bases in southwest France and Bremerhaven, in West Germany.

India Envoy Fits No Mold

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — America's diplomats generally come from the ranks of the Foreign Service, or well-heeled political contributors. John Kenneth Galbraith, new U. S. ambassador to India, is not from either group.

And he fits in no other mold, either.

Galbraith is a Harvard professor who is also a back-room politician. He is an economist but people read his books. And he is 6 feet 8, an impressive height on or off a basketball court.

He is an intellectual, perhaps a little chilly, certainly a most self-assured man. Yet he is at the same time a genuine wit, something of an athlete (swimming, skiing), who clearly enjoys shirt-sleeved, back-room talk.

Galbraith had a large hand in shaping the foreign-aid and economic policies of the Kennedy administration. Now he is administering that policy in this big country, the largest democracy on earth, which currently receives twice as much U. S. aid as any other country.

FIRST TOUR

He has recently completed his first tour of India as ambassador, swinging from the serene, tropical southeast, northwards through teeming Calcutta and India's most poverty - stricken surrounding area, west to the high, green Punjab, south to the flood-plagued western plains.

He did all the things an ambassador is supposed to do—shaking hands with hundreds of major and minor officials, getting trussed up in a full dress suit, and gobbling Indian curry by the plateful.

But the towering professor got off the beaten ambassadorial track by delivering a series of lectures on economics in place of the anticipated platitudes, went stalking through rice fields in mud up to his ankles, which is pretty high up, nuzzled cows, dressed in sports shirts and Indian sandals, and frequently operated like an American politician in autumn.

He made his brand of politics pretty clear, too.

NOT HOOVER

Inspecting the giant Bhakra Dam in northwest India, he was told it was larger than the Hoover Dam in the United States.

"We Democrats call it Boulder Dam, not Hoover," he said.

Galbraith is given to wearing sports shirts, slacks and sandals to work.

Despite his size, he moves with grace and refuses to hunch his shoulders to bring himself down to a lower level. On the other hand, when sitting down he perches on the end of his spine, which tends to stretch his legs into his companions' territory.

Galbraith was born in Canada in 1908. A genuine egghead, he studied at the University of Toronto, University of California, Harvard and Cambridge. He taught at Harvard and Princeton before World War II.

His wife, who is small and looks smaller beside him, is an egghead of sorts, too. She has taught German at Columbia and Harvard universities and was working in the Library of Congress when they met. She also has a sparkling wit and a lively curiosity. Married in 1937, they have three sons, Alan, 20, a Harvard junior; Peter, 10; and James, 9.

OUT OF IVY

Galbraith ventured out of the ivy halls into Washington, when World War II broke out, as deputy administrator of price controls in the Office of Price Administration. He had become an American citizen. He left the job in 1943, at the point, he says, "where my enemies outnumbered my friends."

Journalism came next, with five years on the editorial board of Fortune magazine.

He went back to Harvard in 1949 and stayed there until his ambassadorship, with time out for two trips to India as a consultant on the ambitious Indian five-year economic plans.

He has written a great deal about India since. His book "The Affluent Society" made an international impact and has been read by India's Prime Miniter Nehru.

Kennedy and Galbraith hit it off from the start after meeting in 1959. After the new president was inaugurated, the tall professor moved into a White House office and helped work out policies on foreign aid and economics.

Fighting Maze As Well As Fire

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — It was anything but amusement Wednesday for firemen who battled a blaze in the Fun House at Euclid Peach Park, which caused damage estimated at $25,000.

Arriving at the amusement park they took over for maintenance men who had manned a fire hose. The firemen entered the fun house and found themselves confronted with a maze of partitions that are doors and vice versa.

According to Sixth Battalion Chief Emmet H. Byrne, it took the firemen five minutes to figure out how to get through the maze. Then, they had to run their hoses through the darkened passageways, across the tilted floor, to the blaze, which they put out in 30 minutes.

Sparks from a workman's torch had started the fire.

Honolulu Sells Oil Properties

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—The Honolulu Oil Corp. has sold an interest in several of its properties to two firms for a reported $362 million.

Tidewater Oil Co. bought the interest in 550 oil and gas producing wells in California and a half interest in undeveloped Alaskan leases. The Pan American Petroleum Corp. bought Honolulu's Mid-Continent, Rocky Mountain and Canadian interests.

Burleson Discovers U.N. Delegates In Social Whirl

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Omar Burleson of West Texas is finding that a high level diplomatic whirl goes with being a delegate to the United Nations.

Washington's round of cocktail parties and receptions is bad enough but the social pace at the U.N. is even worse, Burleson reported on a brief trip to Washington.

The Texan, who is serving as a delegate to the U.N. General Assembly this fall, said that one nation or another stages a big affair nearly every night and, diplomacy being what it is, many of these have to be attended lest absence be construed as a snub or an affront.

Never really enthusiastic about the U.N., Burleson holds the view that it'll have to do until something better comes along.

"At least it's a forum where nations can air out their differences," he said, "and you know the old adage to the effect that while men are still talking they're not apt to be fighting each other."

The thing about the U.N. that really annoys the Anson-Abilene District congressman, who is a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, is to hear a delegate from a nation that has been taking a lot of help from the United States get up and lambast this country.

"You'd think if they accept our aid," he added, "they would at least not bite the hand that feeds them."

Rep. and Mrs. Burleson have rented an apartment in New York for the duration of the current U.N. Assembly, which may continue until the end of the year.

AROUND THE CAPITAL:

While Rep. Frank Ikard of Wichita Falls hasn't announced the date his resignation from Congress, it's generally assumed it will be not earlier than Nov. 15.

The new Texas election law then will be in effect, requiring the winner of a special election to have a clear majority. Before that time a Republican might win with much less than a majority vote, if running against a field of Democrats—as was the case when former Ben Guill came to the House a decade ago for a few months, succeeding the now Federal Judge Gene Worley.

Sen. John G. Tower, Texas Republican, really is getting around. Here was his schedule the second week of October: In Fairbanks, Alaska, where he had addressed the GOP state convention, flew to New York; spoke in Atlantic City before stopping in Washington en route to Detroit; addressed a St. Louis party rally mid-week, then on the Louisville and Paducah; wound up the week in Boston and hit out for El Paso to start the next week's speaking engagements.

The U. S. Prisons Bureau in a new report says Texas is among the top eight states in the number of prisoners behind bars as of the first of 1961. Texas was third with 11,308, just ahead of Ohio with 11,111. California was first with 21,660 and New York next with 17,208.

The report said the state prison system population, Huntsville, accounted for 10,949 of the total. The eight states accounted for half the total state prison population of 189,924; these states had a total population of 85,602,000 or 48 per cent of the U. S. total.

For Five Years Of Service

Mrs. D. S. Deighton, center, and Mrs. Charles W. Watson received pins Tuesday at Webb AFB Hospital from Col. Robert A. Wiemer in recognition of their five years of service as American Red Cross Gray Ladies. Mrs. Watson was among the first class of Gray Ladies certified at the base, having received her cap in September, 1956. Since then, she has given more than 125 hours service per year. Mrs. Deighton, Gray Lady co-chairman with Mrs. J. P. Smith, came to Webb from Vance AFB, Okla., where she was certified in March, 1956; she joined the local group in January this year and has given more than 150 hours.

Gray Ladies Receive Pins

Pins for five years of service as American Red Cross Gray Ladies were awarded Tuesday to Mrs. D. S. Deighton and Mrs. Charles Watson at Webb AFB Hospital.

Col. Robert A. Wiemer made the presentation to Mrs. Deighton, who has served 150 hours since January of this year when she arrived at Webb, and to Mrs. Watson, who has given at least 125 hours per year since she was certified in 1956.

The second orientation class for Gray Ladies at Webb AFB for 1961 will be given Oct. 30-Nov. 1 at the base hospital.

In March of this year, 27 Gray Ladies were capped by Maj. Doris Bailey, receiving certificates from R. W. Whipkey, chairman of the Howard-Glasscock County Chapter of the Red Cross.

Classes will be held each day from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., on Ward 3 at the hospital. Free nursery service will be available for volunteers during the course and at all times they are fulfilling the duties of Gray Ladies.

Workers may serve in the outpatient clinic as well as performing their duties on the wards such as serving coffee to patients or distributing comfort items supplied by the Red Cross.

All dependents of military personnel are invited to take the orientation course and qualify as volunteers.

Cochairmen of the corps are Mrs. J. P. Smith, AM 3-3169, and Mrs. D. S. Deighton, AM 4-6658; more information concerning the course may be secured from either worker.

ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

The Homecoming fever seems to be catching. We've had more good telephone visits with old classmates during the past few days planning for a get-together after the game Friday night. Our classes go from '28 through '31 and the R. E. SATTERWHITES at 610 E. 17th are holding open house for the classes from '33 through '39. This seems to leave old '32 out in the cold somewhere, so if any of them want to be with the old folk, they may come out and join us . . . if they want to be with the 'younger' group just go on over to the Satterwhites.

Both these gatherings are strictly come and go or stay for a while. They won't be fancy but it should be fun. Come right from the game, or if you are not going to make the game, listen to the radio and judge your arrival accordingly . . . but give us time to get home . . . 2803 Cactus Dr. in Western Hills.

Sensibility Promise Of Couture Houses

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Possibly for the first time in the history of womankind, fashion is entering an age of practicality — even though man had to laugh, prod, and finally shove her into it.

The nation's buyers who made the rounds of some of the best known couture houses Wednesday were promised the sensible age by springtime.

That's when the women's apparel introduced this week will be in retail stores.

Just putting the waistline back was practical for the garment industry financially; for men who ridiculed the sack, snickered at the easy-fitting dress and merely tolerated the semifitted suit have had a damaging effect on sales, manufacturers admit.

Thus, Adele Simpson, Luis Esteves and of course, Jacqueline Kennedy's couturier, Oleg Cassini, have done more than nip the waistline in again, they've widened it all the way up to the bosom line.

To reemphasize that tiny waist, pint-sized Miss Simpson is also putting wedge-shaped shoulders on her customers. Doesn't looking physically fit have its practicality after an era of hunch-shouldered, emaciated fashion models?

For sitting down with grace and poise, or sprinting after a commuter train, Miss Simpson offers ever-so-sensible knee-free skirts. Deep pleats or gores make the ample room for getaways.

Other points of practicality are dark little blouses, little coat dresses to step into, and polka dots so gaudy you can't be overlooked.

A back zipper you can reach because it travels down the shoulder blade, not the spine, is Luis Esteves' contribution to practicality. His entire spring fashion collection is frothy, wispy and conducive to romance with silhouettes that are more than form fitting. For the sake of customers who do not have nice forms to fit, Esteves sends them dresses with built-in foundations.

Little tailored dresses are the sensible contributions of the First Lady's personal designer, Cassini. Of course, these costumes go in and out where they ought to even though the kind he designs for Jacqueline often do not.

The international flavor for the day was provided by Christian Dior's New York stylist, Guy Douvier. His dazzling group of dresses, coats, and suits are high-bosomed and smooth but not too closely fitted.

However, he, too, being a practical man, also felt duty bound to show some of the kind of ultra-feminine, ultra-fitted dresses for which practical American men pay the bills with any degree of willingness.

Holiday Groupings Made For Workers By Mrs. Smith

In games played during the session, Mrs. John Annen and Mrs. R. L. Jones won prizes; Mrs. Elizabeth Wallace was awarded the special prize.

Mrs. J. D. Knous dismissed the group with a prayer.

Candy-striped uniforms will be made by the girls at their meetings, beginning with the next gathering. The uniforms are to be worn during their work at the Rehabilitation Center.

A sleepout is planned for Nov. 3 at the Thomas home; refreshments were served to 11 by Sulima Yanez and Annie Nuttall.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Tips On Glamour Given By Actress

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—There was a full house in the vast Greek Threatre of Hollywood the night I went to see "Electra" presented by the Greek Tragedy Theatre of Athens, now touring the United States for the first time.

Afterward, I went backstage to meet English-speaking Nora Debonera who was still in costume. When I commented on the modern feeling of her gown, she said, "Many designers have found inspiration from ancient Greece."

We talked of fashion and Miss Debonera told me her sister sends her clothes from New York.

"I prefer them to the French," she confessed, "because they follow the body line."

"You are very slim," I told her. "You have an American figure."

She shook her head and replied, "It is hard work. I watch what I eat carefully. I have nothing but coffee and fruit all day.

"For dinner, I may have salad, veal, spinach and ice cream. I love ice cream," she confided.

"Do you have any Grecian beauty secrets to tell me?"

"There are many recipes that are handed down from one generation to another. I like to make a flower-water lotion. It has vitamins and some fine oils that make the skin nice."

She explained she took equal parts of flower petals that are well dried in the sun for her lotion. She uses gardenias, jasmine, roses or all three mixed. She lets them soak in hot water for 24 hours. Then she lifts out the petals, and holding them over a bowl, she squeezes them until all the juices are out. Then she puts the remaining liquid on her face with pads of cotton.

"It smells good, too," she added.

"And I like to bathe my face in the juice from a raw cucumber. This is easy to do because you use the juice as it is. You should try it," she urged as I left. "It is a natural astringent and bleach."

Stateside Cooking Far Better To The Andres

No matter where you roam there is no food prepared like in the good American way, says Mrs. Albert C. Andre, 1015 20th St.

Mrs. Andre has lived here and yon with her husband, Lt. Col. Andre, and two daughters, Sheri and Tonia. Since leaving Big Spring some 18 years ago, the family has dwelled in Japan, French Morocco and at Upper Heyford in England, where Col. Andre was last stationed with the 3918 Support Squadron.

While living in England the Andres lost no time in visiting places of historical renown and reading more and more on Britain and the royal family. It was their privilege to meet on occasion some of the peerage, and from them they learned more of English history and tradition. All of their two years in England were lived to the fullest.

In Japan, too, they experienced visits in homes of the Japanese where they adhered to etiquette of the country particularly when they dined or were guests for tea. Mrs. Andre pointed out that they especially wanted to know the people and seized every opportunity to become better acquainted.

"Most fascinating in all our travels was our sojourn in the pink city of Marrekech, French Morocco, where we were received by the Pasha, with his mounted guard, food taster and other attendants," Mrs. Andre said. "We lived in the French section but much of our time was spent in the Medina or Arabic section where we often visited with the caid or chieftains of various tribes," she continued.

Food in these countries, according to Mrs. Andre, cannot compare with home cooking in the States. In Morocco, strange herbs were used extensively, some having the taste of what might be henna. Coos Coos is a dish frequently served there and once was prepared for the Andres by an Arabic fatima in their employ.

The French prepared meals which were magnificent but heavy and rich to the taste of the Andres, and Mrs. Andre believes there is no imagination in the standard English recipes.

This being a pre-holiday season and also time for football season's one-dish meals, Mrs. Andre chose to give her favorite applesauce cake and whiskey ball instructions, as well as the chicken spaghetti recipe which she uses frequently.

APPLESAUCE CAKE

2 cups sugar
¾ cup shortening
4 eggs
2 tsps. each of cinnamon, cloves and allspice
3 cups applesauce
1 pkg. dates cut small
4 cups flour
4 tsps. soda dissolved in applesauce
1½ cups pecans

Cover ½ pound dried apples with water and cook until tender. Add 1 cup sugar and set aside to cool. Cream the other cup of sugar with shortening; add eggs one at a time, add spices, mix well and add applesauce and dates, flour, pecans and vanilla. Bake 1½ hours in loaf pan at 400 degrees. Makes five-pound cake.

WHISKEY BALLS

1 lb. vanilla wafers
2 tbsps. corn syrup
1 cup powdered sugar, sifted
3 figgers whiskey

Roll wafers until very fine and mix well with corn syrup and powdered sugar. Add whiskey little by little. Roll small amounts of mixture in palm of hand then roll in powdered sugar. If too much whiskey is added at once, the balls will be soft.

CHICKEN SPAGHETTI

1 large hen
2 boxes of spaghetti
2 cans tomato puree
1 cup celery
1 green pepper
2 tbsps. chicken fat
3 medium onions
1 large can mushrooms
1 tsp. chili powder
2 cloves garlic
2 tbsps. comino

Mince garlic, onion and green pepper. Brown lightly in fat and add tomato puree, celery, pimiento, chili powder, comino salt and mushrooms. Cook spaghetti until tender. Mix with chicken and pour sauce over all. Simmer for one hour. Serves 12.

Many Experiences To Tell

Mrs. Albert C. Andre and daughter, Tonia, who will be four this month, with their white look-alike poodles, Duchess of Silver Leaf and Sweeties Pierre Andre, who hail from England. Colonel and Mrs. Andre have another daughter, Sheri, 15, who attends Big Spring High School. Mrs. Andre is the daughter of John A. Tucker and has returned home after an absence of 18 years. Colonel Andre's home state is Oregon. The Andres have many expeiences to tell of their travels.

Appetizer

Cut avocados into halves and remove the seeds; do not remove shells; fill cavities with French dressing to which catchup or chili sauce has been added and serve as a first course — to be eaten with spoons.

Pecans, Raisins Combined In Pie

2 cups milk
½ tsp. salt
¼ cup quick-cooking rice cereal
2 eggs, separated
½ cup sugar
1 cup (5 oz.) shelled pecans, coarsely chopped
½ cup seedless raisins, rinsed in hot water and drained
9-inch unbaked pastry shell
Pecan halves for garnish

Heat milk and salt in top of double boiler over boiling water. Sprinkle in rice cereal and cook, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Cover and continue cooking for 10 minutes; cool slightly.

Mix together the butter, egg yolks and ¼ cup of the sugar; add pecans and raisins; mix with the cooked rice. Beat egg whites until stiff, gradually beating in remaining ¼ cup sugar; fold into rice mixture.

Pour into unbaked shell. Top with pecan halves. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until browned, about 45 minutes. Allow to stand at room temperature until warm, then serve at once. Makes 6 to 8 servings. Pie may be reheated in moderate oven.

One Food To Gain Or Reduce

Want to gain weight? Drink plenty of milk.

Want to lose weight? Drink plenty of milk.

That's right — drink plenty of milk—is the answer to both questions, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

When you're reducing weight, milk pays its way by contributing generous amounts of protein, calcium and other needed nutrients along with a very moderate number of calories.

In a cup or glass of skim milk, either fresh or reconstituted nonfat dry milk, or buttermilk, there are only 90 calories. In a cup of whole fluid milk there are only 165 calories.

If you're watching calories, remember that when you use skim milk, either fluid or dry, or buttermilk, you get all the nutrients in milk, except fat and vitamin A. The vitamin A may be supplied by deep green or yellow vegetables or some fruits.

Research has shown that anyone who is slimming gets along best when the diet includes ample protein. This is an added reason for including plenty of milk, particularly skim milk or buttermilk, in your diet.

Not only is milk protein among the finest, it is also a "bargain." When milk costs 25 cents a quart, the cost of an ounce of protein is about 17.6 cents. In contrast, the cost of many alternate animal proteins is around 25 cents an ounce. This is about 39 per cent higher than the cost of milk protein.

Ice Cream Balls

Nice to have in the freezer for unexpected company; balls of ice cream that have been rolled in coconut. Serve with fruit, chocolate or caramel sauce. This dressed-up ice cream also makes a great topping for fruit pies that you want to serve a la mode.

BURGUNDY BEANS

Burgundy Beans Can Make The Meal

BURGUNDY BEANS
(8 servings)

PART I

1 lb. (2 1-3 cups) dried red beans
5 cups water
¼ tsp. soda

Wash the beans. Pour into measured amount of boiling water in heavy sauce pot or Dutch oven. Boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Add soda to shorten cooking time. Cover. Allow to stand 1 hour.

Put on to cook in soaking water, adding 1 tablespoon butter or meat drippings to reduce foaming. Bring rapidly to boiling point. Cover. Reduce heat to low and simmer 1½ hours.

PART II

1 (1-lb.) can chili con carne without beans
2 cups skinned fresh or solid-pack canned tomatoes
1 cup Burgundy or other dry red wine
½ cup minced onion
1 fat clove garlic mashed with 2 teaspoons salt

Add all to beans. Simmer, covered, for about 1½ hours or until beans are tender. Stir gently occasionally. Serve as a main course dish with a green salad and hot split garlic-buttered toasted hard rolls with fresh fruit for dessert. Makes 8 servings of about ¾ cup each.

Beans may be soaked overnight in the measured amount of cold water. Always cook in the soaking water to retain full natural flavor and to save vitamins and minerals.

Beef stock or hot water may be used in place of the wine but the rich grape-y flavor given by the wine is what really makes the dish.

Little chunks of Monterey Jack or Mozzarella cheese may be dropped into the hot beans just before serving. Let stand, without stirring, for a few minutes to melt cheese.

These beans improve by standing in the refrigerator a day or more. They also freeze well.

Stewing Chicken

Did you know that you can stew a chicken either whole or disjointed? Just cover the bird with water and add a small onion and carrot, a rib of celery, a bay leaf, several peppercorns and whole allspice.

Rice Adapts Well For Buffet Supper

If you are having friends for a buffet supper, and tray service is to be the order of the day, this rice should work out well.

DIFFERENT RICE

6 tbsps. butter or margarine
½ cup vermicelli (broken into 1-inch pieces before measuring)
1½ cups converted-type rice
3½ cups chicken stock
1 cup finely diced celery
Salt

In a 10-inch skillet over low heat melt 3 tablespoons of the butter. Add vermicelli and cook, stirring often, until most of it is light gold; it's hard to get it uniform in color.

Stir in rice. Add boiling-hot chicken broth; stir well.

Cover and simmer until broth is absorbed and rice is tender—about 30 minutes.

If rice and vermicelli are not cooked through when liquid is absorbed, add ¼ cup stock (or more if necessary) and continue cooking until done.

Stir in the celery, salt to taste (amount will depend on saltiness of stock) and the 3 remaining tablespoons butter until evenly distributed. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Add Chives

Making dumplings for beef or lamb stew? Add minced chives to the dough.

Decorate Your Dinner With Whipped Potatoes

Ever thought of using your pastry tube for whipped potatoes? You can do many decorative things with it — make a spiral of potatoes on a round meat loaf, surround a sizzling plank steak with potatoes Duchess or top a meat pie with a latticework design. It's fun to do and ever so easy with instant whipped potato flakes.

The wonderful things about using these convenient "flavor flakes" is that they give you time and add creative little touches to your meals. They're a breeze to fix, for you don't have to peel, boil and mash them beforehand. Just boil salted water, add butter and milk, then pour in the flakes. Stir gently for a moment, then whip briskly.

Fit a large nozzle in your pastry bag, fill it up with potatoes and start decorating.

Here's a veal pie recipe that lends itself well to latticework potatoes:

VEAL PIE
(Makes about 6-8 servings)

½ cup olive oil
2 tbsps. tarragon vinegar
1 tsp. thyme
2 pounds boneless veal, cubed
1 cup water
8 carrots; cut into 2-inch pieces
3 bay leaves
½ tsp. marjoram
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
½ pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
1½ cups water
1 medium size onion, finely chopped
½ tsp. salt
½ cup cold milk
1 tbsp. butter
1 envelope instant whipped potato flakes
¼ tsp. garlic powder

Make a marinade by combining olive oil, tarragon vinegar and thyme; mix well. Marinate veal cubes in marinade for one hour. Saute veal in marinade until brown. Add 1 cup water; simmer one hour. Add carrots, bay leaves, majoram, salt and pepper.

Simmer for 30 minutes; add additional water if necessary. Add sliced mushrooms the last 15 minutes of simmering time. Combine water, chopped onion and salt in saucepan; cover; bring to boil. Remove from heat. Add milk and butter immediately, then instant whipped potato flakes. Stir gently with fork or wire whip until liquid is absorbed. Whip briskly. Add garlic powder; mix well.

Place meat and vegetable mixture in casserole; decorate top of veal pie with potatoes; using a pastry tube with large nozzle. Place in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for ten minutes or until potatoes are lightly browned.

GOLDEN GLOW of QUALITY

You can see the difference in Skinner Spaghetti. It has a "golden glow of quality"—a rich appetizing color. Not that white pasty look. You can tell the difference when you cook it. It cooks tender, yet firm. And you can taste the difference when you eat it. Why? Because Skinner has a revolutionary processing method and uses only 100% amber durum wheat ...the very best for macaroni products. That's why.

When planning any teen-ager party one major decision pertains to food. There are three musts about party food. It must taste terrific, it must have a "party look" (though a casual one) and it must require practically no clean-up chores once the food itself has vanished. So here's an answer covering all the above.

SUBMARINE SPECIALS

Cut five small loaves of Italian bread in half, lengthwise. In layers on bread arrange slices of salami, bologna and American cheese and rings of Bermuda onion. Combine ½ cup real mayonnaise and ½ cup of tomato ketchup or chili sauce. Spoon sauce over filling. Cut each Submarine into thirds and serve on aluminum foil.

Harvard Dean Opposes Tight Entry Policy

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Harvard's retiring dean of admissions says President Kennedy and both Roosevelts probably could nbt have entered Harvard under a more selective admission policy.

The same thing applies to Henry Cabot Lee, Republican candidate for vice president a year ago, former Dean Wilbur J. Bender says in his final report.

Bender, as dean of admissions of Harvard College, the university's undergraduate school, directed admission policy for eight years.

His final report defended his policy against critics and said he was not at all sure he would support a so-called top one per cent policy — restricting admission to students of topmost rank academic ability.

HARVARD GRADS

In his reference to the Harvard graduates who reached the White House, Bender said: "I might point out, in passing, that two of the four major candidates for the two top positions in the 1960 presidential campaign were not only Harvard graduates and from Boston; they were both Harvard sons and private school graduates and thus included in the two groups which have been the favorite whipping boys of some of the most vociferous critics of present admission policy.

"I have not examined their admission records, but it is entirely possible, in fact probable, that one or both of these men would have been denied admission to Harvard under a top one per cent policy.

"If we push this point a bit further, we can ask whether the two preceding Harvard graduates in the White House, F.D.R. and T.R., would be admitted to or would want to attend an academically elite Harvard.

PROBABLY NO

"The answer is probably no, unhistorical and foolish as it may be to discuss a question of this sort, I do not believe that the country, or Harvard, has been the worse because of its Harvard-educated presidents (and senators and Cabinet officers), few of whom have made brilliant academic records at Harvard."

As an alternative to a top one per cent policy, Bender suggested a top five per cent policy to include a variety of personalities, talents, backgrounds and career goals.

Bender posed this question: "Does Harvard want a student body selected solely on the basis of apparent relative academic promise, selected, that is, on a single-factor basis, or are there other considerations, largely non-academic, which should influence selection, and if so, what are they and how much weight should be placed on them?"

Corps Girl On Way Home

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Margery Michelmore headed today for the U.S. Peace Corps' field headquarters in Puerto Rico and possible reassignment. The Nigerian government reaffirmed its support of the American youth group despite the row set off by the girl's postcard that went astray.

U.S. embassy officials escorted Miss Michelmore aboard a plane for London Wednesday night shortly after she had paid a courtesy call on Gov. General Namdi Azikiwe. A Nigerian statement said she expressed "her regret for her thoughtless act of last week."

Miss Michelmore, 23, offered to resign from the Peace Corps last Sunday after a postcard was found on which she had described living conditions in Nigeria as primitive. Students at the university at Ibadan where she had been training circulated copies of her remarks and demanded that the 37 Peace Corps members in Nigeria be expelled.

The Nigerian statement said Azikiwe "reiterated his continued support for the (Peace Corps) program and said he was convinced it will bring benefit to Nigeria."

A U.S. spokesman said Miss Michelmore would fly direct from London to Puerto Rico to discuss her future with leaders at the corps' field training center. He said she may visit her parents in Massachusetts later.

Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver said in Washington that the girl may be reassigned to another project. He said she "has not resigned from the Pesce Corps, and we do not want her to."

The Foxboro, Mass., girl's eyes filled with tears as she talked briefly with newsmen prior to her departure from the country where she had arrived only 23 days earlier to teach English to African children.

In a halting, trembling voice she read a handwritten statement saying she had nothing to add to sentiments she had expressed earlier to Azikiwe and to students at the university where she had been in training with the other corps members.

"I am very sorry to be leaving Nigeria," she added.

A Devotional for Today

Pray at all times in the Spirit, with all prayer and supplication. To that end keep alert with all perseverance, making supplication for all the saints. (Ephesians 6:18. RSV.)

PRAYER: Father, creator of our lives, strengthen our desire to commune with Thee. Prepare our hearts for an encounter with Thee. Forgive us our sins, and deliver us from evil. Preserve our souls from death. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

West Texans To Be Bountiful

West Texas, the South Plains in particular, promises to be well fortified with state candidates next summer.

State Sen. Preston Smith, Lubbock, has dropped his hat in the ring for lieutenant governor in the Democratic primaries. His fellow townsman, Waggoner Carr, is regarded as a cinch to run for attorney general, and based on his showing a year ago, he may have a pretty fair chance to take the spot expected to be vacated by Will Wilson, Dallas, who is showing every sign of running for the gubernatorial nomination.

Mr. Wilson may be contested by another West Texan in the Democratic primaries if Marshall Formby, Plainview, former state senator and highway commission chairman, is pleased by his present round of pulse-feeling. From Breckenridge, Jack Cox, who ran unsuccessfully on the Democratic ticket last year, is going to try it this time on the Republican ticket.

Here are four possibilities for three top spots—and primary time is more than seven months away.

We're Making Progress

We all get so wrapped up in following the accounts of missiles and men in space that we lose sight of the exciting things being done with aircraft.

Tuesday, Test Pilot Joe Walker pushed the stub-winged X15 rocket plane up to 3,920 miles per hour, faster than any man had ever gone in a plane. This was only 80 m.p.h. under the designed 4,000 m.p.h. maximum speed and was 363 m.p.h. faster than the previous record set by Maj. Bob White in the X15 on return from a record altitude of 217,000 feet.

Had Joe Walker not lowered his tail flaps for 10 seconds to slow the plane, he undoubtedly would have zoomed past the 4,000 mark. Friction on his wings already was up to 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit, so hot they would have glowed in darkness. In the 10 seconds the flaps were down, temperature there rose to 1,100 degrees, just 100 degrees under the designed maximum.

It's all very breath-taking, for a plane of this type, could it sustain the necessary fuel load, could zip from coast to coast in less than an hour. But this is not the immediate implication; rather, it is reassuring to know that our designers, scientists, pilots and manufacturers are whipping the problems of heating and of re-entry into the earth's atmosphere, both for rocket ships and for space missiles. This is a field in which we have every reason to believe we are well ahead of the Russians.

People Will Decide TV Programming

WASHINGTON — Here is a lesson for those members of the Federal Communications Commission who would like to repeal the laws of human nature and cause people to listen and watch television programs they don't like or care about.

THE SO-CALLED "ratings" that survey the listening habits of viewers of television are made every day. It so happens that a few nights ago former President Eisenhower was on a non-commercial program—the expense of which was borne entirely by the Columbia Broadcasting Company as a public service. A survey showed that it was watched by about seven per cent of the people and that around 20 per cent preferred a singing show at that hour and another 20 per cent concentrated on a drama involving crime. The remainder of the night's audience watched a variety of other programs.

Yet the presentation of an interview with former President Eisenhower by Walter Cronkite of the CBS network was one of the most remarkable television programs of all times. Not only did Mr. Eisenhower make a simple, natural, and highly interesting revelation of the cares and duties of a President of the United States, but he furnished an example of candor and objectivity which has had no parallel in recent programs on public affairs.

MR. EISENHOWER is one of those rare individuals in public life who doesn't equivocate or fortify himself with balanced phrases that show a constant awareness of political pitfalls. He expressed his thoughts bluntly and honestly. It was a fascinating example of what can be done in a television interview.

But out of the television audience nightly of about 50,000,000 people, only about 7,500,000 heard and watched the Eisenhower talk.

SPOKESMEN of the Federal Communications Commission have been decrying the current types of programs of the national networks. The broadcasting companies have responded by trying to put on more "public affairs" programs. They have made a noble effort. But it's one thing to offer up good books to read and it is something else to get everybody to read them. So with television the tastes of the people vary and most of them evidently prefer entertainment, drama and adventure, and not too many of the serious programs on public affairs.

THE "GREAT DEBATES" in the last presidential campaign were watched by a big audience, but they were well-advertised in advance and were in the nature of contests. Viewers like contests—including prize fights and quiz shows. But this doesn't mean they'll always forego an evening of entertainment just to look at a "public affairs" program, though it might truly be of interest and helpful to them, too, if they did watch it.

The point to be remembered in all this is that television in America is today largely sponsored by commercial companies who want the largest audiences they can mobilize by advance publicity or otherwise to look at their shows so they can offer their products for sale to a potentially large number of customers.

MAYBE IF the Eisenhower interview is repeated some evening and is built up in advance it will get a larger audience the second time than it received the other night. But experts in the customs of television broadcasting say that, while this might increase the audience somewhat, the chances are against such a result, based on previous experiences.

So it does look as if the FCC will make more progress and the American people will get the television shows they like if the government keeps its hands off programming. The public will in due time tire of certain kinds of shows that at the moment are popular and may even increase the "ratings" on "public affairs" programs—a result devoutly to be wished—but the people will do so in their own way and when they get in the mood. The laws of human nature cannot be revised by the FCC or any other governmental body.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Nothing is more likely to provoke the anger of professional educators than to charge that the American system of education suffers from an excess of democracy.

Hence it is likely that many educators will take violent exception to some remarks made recently by Dr. Albert Szent-Gyorgyi, a Hungarian-born biologist who won a Nobel prize in 1937 and now works at the Marine Biological Laboratory in Woods Hole, Mass.

"In my new country, the United States, the development of superior creativity is greatly hampered by misplaced ideas about democracy that would have us believe we are equals," Szent-Gyorgyi said. "But nature is not democratic and, as far as intellect is concerned, does not make us all equals. . . The trend in this country is to correct the undemocratic ways of nature by lifting the retarded and reducing the outstanding to the common level."

Then he ventured this opinion: "If we had spent half as much money and thought on the unusually capable as we have on retarded children, leadership would not be such a scarce commodity. But our trend is to replace creativity by numbers, quality by quantity."

This, the reader may perceive, is not an argument against helping the retarded child or the slow learner. It is rather an argument against retarding the superior child by forcing him to accommodate himself to a median level of achievement. Both the inferior and the superior learner are to be challenged to the limits of their intellectual capacity, but not in the same classroom and not bound by the same curriculum.

In recent years the trend in many schools has been to group superior, average and backward students, despite charges that the practice is "undemocratic." Only the ignorant would attempt to argue that all men are created equal, intellectually. But some educators have accepted this argument and helped to produce mediocrity rather than excellence in our educational system.

Is this country's future to be dependent on the mediocre? The truth, of course, is that the superior student is a priceless asset to this country, for it is he who must lead this nation if it is to have any future at all.

There can be no valid argument against providing an equal educational opportunity for all children. But this does not mean that this nation can afford to make no distinction between the superior, the average and the inferior individual. The goal cannot be an equal education, but must be an educational system that challenges every pupil to the limit of his capacity to learn.

Good News For Health Victims

NEW YORK (AP) — Persons who have snapped back satisfactorily from a heart attack are finding life insurance companies today willing, even eager, to take them on as insurable risks.

So are those who have been cured of tuberculosis or whose cancer operation has been pronounced successful after a period of time.

Nor does total blindness any longer bar a person from getting an insurance policy. And the number of job categories on the proscribed list shrinks steadily.

Some newer companies are specializing in insuring cardiacs, diabetics, and those with a history of other serious ailments.

MANY IN THE insurance business see a definite trend toward expanding coverage by tapping the vast field that once was barred, or penalized by much larger premiums, as substandard risks.

One move that was widely publicized was into the field of insuring persons over 65, a steadily growing sector of the population.

The Institute of Life Insurance reports only three out of every 100 applicants today are turned down for reasons of health, occupation, habits or family medical history.

As an example it cites a recent trend which has swung a large majority of companies to issuing permanent policies to healthy and well-adjusted blind persons at standard premium rates. And where an extra premium is charged it usually runs to no more than $2.50 a year for $1,000 of protection.

An example of a specialist in the field once barred as substandard risks is the United Equity Life Insurance Co. of Chicago, a legal reserve company chartered by the State of Illinois.

ITS PRESIDENT, Jerome Garland, is a cardiac alumnus. He says his experience led him to study the actuarial tables on similar victims who returned to normal everyday activities. As a result early this year his comparatively new firm began offering to insure heart disease victims whose doctors report, after a period of time, that they have recovered.

In the first six weeks the company wrote nearly $2 million in policies—all on the doctor's say-so without any physical checkup by the company.

United Equity is now extending insurance coverage to those with medical histories of arrested tuberculosis, controlled diabetes, cancer that hasn't returned after an operation.

Part of the trend toward insuring those once barred comes from a study of actuarial tables which show that most recover almost completely from the initial attacks. Part comes from the great advance in recent years in medical and hospital treatment which makes once-lethal diseases controllable. And part comes from competition within the insurance industry itself.

It has spread its sales of policies into many fields and steadily increased the variety of the benefits offered.

And still the reserves of the companies grow. So as fast as their actuaries report improved mortality findings they move into new fields.

All of this, insurance men say, should be good news to the once uninsurable.

An American Ritual

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the great rituals of American life is the business conference.

The conferences are usually held behind closed doors to give them an air of secrecy. That is a great shame.

They should be thrown open and tickets sold to the public. For the average business conference has better acting and far more drama than an off-Broadway production.

In some offices they hold conferences weekly—some even have them daily. In others the boss merely calls them whenever he is lonely and feels like bawling out the staff.

If you have ever attended one of these office matinees, you probably remember some of these typical characters:

Statistical Syd—He shows up with an armful of charts to prove his points. Halfway through his presentation, he discovers he has hung the charts upside down. This makes no real difference to Syd. His figures read the same forward, backward, upside down, or sideways.

Bulldozer Bert—"What this firm needs is some real down-to-earth aggressive thinking!" He cries, thumping the table. Everybody nods. They're all in favor of aggressive thinking, whatever that is. They are also in favor of motherhood and the federal highway program.

Mumbo-jumbo Jack—He once read a book on psychology and never quite recovered. "It's about time we paid more attention to our socio-economic public image and reconstructed our corporate contour psychicwise," he says. Everybody nods profoundly again. Why not? Why argue with a nut you can't even understand.

Gilbert the Gambler—"So we're losing money on tiddlywinks," he argues. "Let's diversify. Why not start making bowling balls? Item for item, there's a lot bigger profit potential in bowling balls than tiddlywinks."

Procrastinating Phil—When his turn comes he looks mysterious and says, "I pass for now. I'm working on something I think will solve all our problems, but I haven't got it in final form." Phil has used this same line so many times he is beginning to believe it himself.

Whereas Wilbur—The company lawyer never makes a suggestion himself. He is there for only one purpose—to arise and announce why the suggestions anyone else in the firm makes are legally impossible, plus being against public policy.

Doodling Dan—The boss' nephew sits and silently draws pictures of pretty girls on the pad before him. His plans are all made. As soon as he inherits the business, he intends to fire everybody and sell the firm to its biggest competitor.

Sylvester the Spouter—The sales manager is a master of glowing, push-button prose. "While our figures are down a mite this month," he says cheerily, "all signs indicate that next month will see a record." All signs point to a record all right—a record loss.

Omnipotent Oliver—"This confab got us exactly nowhere," says the boss, winding it all up. "The next time I call you boys in, you'd better show up with some real ideas—or there'll be some new faces at this conference table."

The session is over. The executives march out, firm confidence showing in every face.

Industry marches on!

Don't Worry About 'Floaters' In The Eye

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

I frequently receive letters asking about "vitreous floaters" in the eye—those little spots that seem to drift around in the field of vision.

Not exactly black spots, not exactly blank spots, but just tiny spots. They don't hurt. They don't itch. From the standpoint of feeling, they might as well not be there.

And from the standpoint of vision, they don't matter much either. They're just tiny little spots, often just a single one, and that's all. They aren't big enough to interfere with seeing things, or even reading.

All the same, we wonder what they are, and whether they'll get worse, and whether they are a sign that we are going blind (which we aren't) or that vision will be impaired. (It won't).

Take today's letter on the subject:

"Dear Doctor: Please advise if there is any cure for a 'vitreous floaters' in the eye.

"All the great specialists of the Middle West say there is no remedy.—E. N. P."

I'll add that specialists of the North, East, West, and South agree.

People who have this trouble—if it's really worth calling trouble—usually do a certain amount of logical experimenting, such as blinking the eyes, shifting them suddenly from side to side to see whether the spot or spots seem to move, or trying to focus the eyes on something to one side of the spots, etc.

The deceitful little spots seem to have a habit of staying in the same position, more or less, despite how we shift the eyes. Sometimes they disappear. Sometimes we get interested in whatever we are looking at, and forget all about them. Until we happen to notice them again. Ah, well, that's us! That's people!

These "floaters" are changes which occur in the vitreous (liquid interior) portion of the eye as we grow older. That is, they may or they may not.

They are a nuisance if you worry about them; otherwise they don't amount to a hill of beans.

There's one exception of what I've said: Occasionally—which means not very often—the floaters may be related to some inflammation in the eye, in which case treatment is necessary.

But if that's the situation, then there will be some indication other than just the floaters, to indicate that the eye is inflamed.

An old wives' tale. Next year try it and see. But don't try to convince your relatives. Just convince yourself, and leave 'em with their illogical belief. You can't change 'em. You'd just make 'em mad.

Around The Rim

Those Hungry Critters On The Defensive

Where in all the land is there someone with a good word for parking meters? I would rule out, of course, city administrators who apply the profit from parking meters. Likewise, I rule out the merchant who is helped by the fact that meters enable more prospective shoppers to park near his store.

This leaves only the average guy who drives up town occasionally. Of course, he, too, benefits because parking meters enable him to find a parking place after a trip or two around the block. Without them, chances are no parking spaces would be available for long periods of time.

I'M THINKING OF the guy who invariably arrives at a parking space, leaps from his car in a hurry, discovers he has no change, and inevitably gets an overtime parking ticket on the windshield before he can get change and plunk it into the hungry maw of the meter.

Perhaps there are not too many of these individuals. But I'll bet there are. There are only two meter attendants in Big Spring and they have hundreds of meters to check scattered through dozens of blocks.

But try to chase down change for two-bits in a local store while your car is parked on a red meter, and somehow they are intuitively on the spot. Excuses are to no avail.

I READ SOME months ago that a town did away with parking meters. I suspect the decision was made after a rash of such incidents.

This particular town held a formal ceremony and officially buried the last meter, in a suitable grave. It was a gala affair and most all the citizenry turned out to commemorate the occasion. It was, in short, a happy day.

In another instance, a fellow went to court over an overtime parking ticket. He told the judge that the meter and the law call for insertion of "pennies" in the meter and that a penny will not fit a parking meter.

With that, he produced an English penney, about the size of a quarter and sure enough it would not fit. The rest of his case pointed out that the United States mint does not make pennies; they are "cents," the official name.

THE JUDGE AGREED with him, threw out the charge against him, and advised the city fathers to change the wording of the law. Another similar case is currently being tried in a different state.

As a matter of fact, the meters in Big Spring also might be in trouble on this count. But I doubt it.

I suppose parking meters are one of the penalties of growth and modern living, like fallout shelters. At any rate, it's good to know that meters are on the defensive in some quarters.

Takes A Lot Of Talent In College

For years now I have been perfectly content to be 39. Honestly, I wouldn't be 18 or 19 all over again for all the fortune cookies in Chinatown!

In my teens, it was not only easy to get into college but not too hard to stay put if you minded your manners, got in before "lights out" and didn't sass the dean.

BUT NOW — even with personality and a rich father — it's hard to get past the admissions committee without a straight "A" average. And the scholastic authorities don't even seem any longer to weigh a parent's possible endowment worth before tossing out Junior.

However, it is other and more alarming complications in the field of higher education that make me grateful that I got both in and out of the Universities of Idaho and Missouri in a simpler age.

AT THIS SEASON of the year I sit enthralled before the home screen on Saturday afternoons. I marvel not at the football players, whose tasks are still relatively few and simple, but at the intricate maneuvers in the bleachers and on the gridiron demanded of student performers between halves.

Michigan State University may have shellacked Michigan University, 28 to 0, last Saturday. But the marching band, 160 strong, of the University of Michigan scored a clean - cut and decisive victory over the 140-member band of M.S.U. durduring the intermission.

SOMETIMES I honestly believe sports reporters lose all perspective and cover the wrong part of the game. Not a single one of them — the sports writers —mentioned that the Michigan U. band, in the small time allotted it, did a musical and geographic rerun of the Civil War, complete with the smoke of battle.

The M.S.U. band, 140 strong, took to the gridiron first during the intermission. For a while I thought it was going to be MSU all the way.

NEVER SAW so much wheeling and big-dealing in my life as that struttin' band did! For precision they had the Rockettes lashed to the mast. The Rockettes are only expected to dance. But that MSU band only did a soft shoe, buck-and-wing, and twist as one man, but played its own accompaniment.

And when that band wound up with "Sweet Georgia Brown" and a rhythmic shuffle, who could help but believe that all was over for Michigan U. except digging up the goal posts?

But I reckoned without that Michigan U. band and the current centennial "celebration" of the Civil War. That band marched, countermarched and charged from Bull Run to Appomattox, all the time playing Civil War tunes and wreathed in cannon smoke.

AT THE END, with the Union secured, the band formed the geographic outline of the United States, while a huge American flag was unfurled from the Pacific to the Atlantic. In our living room we stood and cheered. Who could doubt that Michigan University had won by any fair standard of critical judgment?

Then, as if to cinch that victory, the teevee cameras panned to the Michigan U. cheering section where, with the use of colored cards, a multitude of students spelled out "U.S.A."

AS FOR ALL the tricky, present - day card work in the stands, not even those on the dean's list could have been trusted to do it right in my day. It's obvious that all the young Ziegfelds, for whom Broadway is always on the lookout, are holed up in colleges today, honing up the band and the bleachers.

I'd never make it into higher education today. I couldn't pass the talent test.

We Never Get Rid Of The Extremists

WASHINGTON — Both Presidents Kennedy and Eisenhower, on the same day, recently sounded off against what is known as the "extremes" of the political spectrum—and both the Presidents were rhetorical but wrong.

MR. KENNEDY, speaking extempore at the University of North Carolina, aimed some oblique obloquy at the "fanatics" who are urging him to recognize the totality of the Communist War and to fight our enemies where he finds them.

Former President Eisenhower, in a CBS filmed interview, responded to a question about a realignment of the political parties by forming a huge Centrist concentration. He quoted himself as thinking while in the White House: "Let's make that a party and let the extremists go and take care of themselves."

WELL, THE BEST you can say is that neither President had his thinking cap on. Mr. Kennedy would hardly have spoken as he did if the speech had been prepared and reviewed in advance. He mentioned no names, and the very looseness of language enabled the Washington Post "news story" to run some propaganda. ". . . it was evident," the Post coverage ran, "that he was aiming at the fanatics of both the left and right. Some of the right-wing activists have been demanding that the U. S. abandon foreign aid and be prepared to 'stand alone' and do away with the Federal income tax. They have been saying that the Red threat is not abroad but at home, within the Government itself, and branding men like Dwight D. Eisenhower as conscious agents of the Communist conspiracy."

MOST OF the above interpolation of JFK's remarks is hearsay and hyperbole, which I'm sure the President would not endorse. For example, "conscious agents of the Communist conspiracy" is a near-quotation from a ten-year-old Senate report on Owen Lattimore. The part that "the Red threat is not abroad but at home" is a steal from the Fulbright Memo. Of course, the "fanatics" who are said to believe that there is no danger from abroad are as non-existent as a purple cow.

BUT ASIDE from the inaccurate reporting and hysterical side remarks that it engendered, Mr. Kennedy's Chapel Hill address lacked the ring of his accustomed literacy and urbanity. American history would have been a very brief chronicle without the fanatics and the holler-guys, the extremists and the die-hards.

Take Samuel Adams, Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson and Tom Paine out of the American Revolution and where would it have gone? The President has as much as said that without the raging abolitionist, William Lloyd Garrison, the fight to end slave labor in America would have been a different thing. A few years ago Senator Kennedy was chairman of a subcommittee that picked two extremists, Calhoun and La Follette, among the five greatest Senators of all time.

GENERAL EISENHOWER'S naive idea that a Centrist party could be established on "the logic and good sense of the vast number of people" is almost collectivist in its fallacy. President Washington, another outdoor man and oversimplifier in matters of thought, tried a coalition cabinet which contained the opposites, Jefferson and Hamilton. Washington soon learned that great minds cannot lie inactive in the same container. General Eisenhower himself was not elected because his political views appealed widely, but because he was a celebrity—and much the same is true of Mr. Kennedy.

ALL OF THIS is important to consider in the abstract, but it is particularly significant in our present struggle against a monolithic enemy. At every hour of history, the body of political thought and action needs the spur as well as the bridle. No constitution should be, in a famous phrase, "all sail and no rudder."

But the extremists are always with us, like it or not. Today, more than ever, we need Americans who are vocal, furious and even fanatic when it comes to resisting the polemists of Communism and their left-handed kinfolk.

Soups Set The Stage For Special Dinners

When used as a first course for dinner, soups naturally herald the nature of the foods to come. As a result, they should be as carefully prepared and served as the extra-special main course and the colorful accompaniments to follow. Fail with the first soup course, and your guests' appreciation of the rest of the dinner may suffer.

For this reason, you will want to be especially careful with dinner menus for special guests which you may be planning at this time of the year.

A suggestion of "Clam and Pea Soup," which combines condensed cream of pea soup, chicken consomme and clam juice together with sour cream. For a variation on the recipe, use cream of celery soup instead of the cream of pea. Then give it an extra-special touch by garnishing with salted whipped cream.

A perfect accompaniment for such glorified soup is in the form of Party Cheese Pastry Cut-Outs. They're easy to make with flavorful natural cheddar cheese and packaged pie crust mix.

Here are the recipes for the soup, Salted Whipped Cream and Party-Cheese Pastry Cut-Outs:

SALTED WHIPPED CREAM
(Makes about 2 cups)

1 cup heavy cream
¼ tsp. salt

Combine heavy cream and salt in deep bowl. Beat with electric mixer or rotary beater until cream holds a soft peak. Use for garnish on Clam-Pea or Clam-Celery soup.

CLAM AND PEA SOUP
(Makes eight 2-3 cup servings)

1¼ cups (one 10½ oz. can) condensed cream of pea soup
1½ cups (one 12-oz. can) chicken consomme
1½ cups (one 12-oz. can) clam juice
1 cup sour cream

Combine cream soup, chicken consomme and clam juice in large saucepan. Bring to a boil. Remove from heat and stir in sour cream. Serve hot or chilled.

PARTY CHEESE PASTRY CUT-OUTS
(Makes about 6 dozen cut-outs)

2 sticks (one 9-oz. pkg.) pie crust mix
¾ cup cheddar cheese, finely shredded
3 tbsps. boiling water

Place pie crust mix in a small bowl. Add shredded cheese and boiling water. Stir with a fork until dough loses stickiness, forms a ball, and completely cleans sides of bowl.

Roll out dough on lightly floured board. Cut circles of pastry with a 2¼-inch doughnut cutter (or vary shapes by using cookie cutters.) Place pastry circles on ungreased cookie sheet.

Overlap edges of two circles and press to form a double-ring shape. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 8 to 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve hot with soup course.

Cranberry Rice Company Perfect

For something unusual, company perfect and family delighting, serve cranberry rice. Simply combine 1 cup cooked, cooled rice with 1 cup whole cranberry sauce (use a 1 pound can whole cranberry sauce, reserving the remainder for topping).

Fold in ¼ cup powdered sugar. Refrigerate until serving time, then fold in 1 cup whipped cream and pile gaily into crystal serving dishes.

Top with a generous spoonful of the remaining cranberry sauce and you have a color-perfect, flavor-packed dessert which teams up two plentiful foods—rice and canned whole cranberry sauce.

Savory Spaghetti Has Real Appetite Appeal

For a fall dinner, there's real appetite appeal in a steaming platter or bowl of hot spaghetti with a tangy sauce ladled over it. A delicious sauce can be ready in minutes, or in hours, depending on your own time and your favorite sauce flavors.

Fastest way to a quick, hot spaghetti dinner is to buy cans of ready-prepared spaghetti sauce. Such sauces come plain, with mushrooms, or with meat. The sauce heats in the few minutes it takes to boil the spaghetti to "al dente" tenderness. . . . tender, but with just a touch of firmness in the center when you bite through a strand of spaghetti.

Spaghetti sauce mixes are also popular, and a speedy way to a quick sauce. By contrast, some good cooks prefer an "all day" spaghetti sauce, letting a combination of ground meat, seasonings, spices and tomatoes simmer slowly until rich and thick.

Here is a savory spaghetti, with a delicious cheese flavor to the tomato sauce. It can be cooked in about half an hour.

SAVORY SPAGHETTI

7 ozs. long spaghetti
1 lb. sausage meat
1 4 oz. can sliced mushrooms, drained
1 medium-sized onion, sliced
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
2 8-oz. cans tomato sauce
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese (about ¼ lb.)

Cook spaghetti as directed on package; drain. Meanwhile, cook sausage over low heat until browned. Drain off all but 1-3 cup drippings.

Add mushrooms, onion and garlic to sausage. Cook until onion is tender. Add tomato sauce, cheese and spaghetti and cook until cheese is melted, stirring occasionally. Or leave spaghetti out of sauce and serve sauce over hot spaghetti.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Does Wonders

A little celery salt sometimes does wonders for a cream sauce that is to be served with fish.

This Dish Has Flavor Well-Liked

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A salmon chowder, adapted from a fish soup served in a Bermuda hotel restaurant, is one of the most delightful dishes we've come upon recently.

There really is something different about this chowder. The flour that thickens it is browned, and both beef consomme and clam juice are added.

The friend who brought us this recipe tells us that in Bermuda Pepper Sherry is served with this soup. When she got back to New York, she made the condiment by steeping six small whole red pepper pods (the sort that come with mixed pickling spices) in a bottle of inexpensive medium-dry sherry for a few days. She says that the peppers soften in the sherry and add their heat.

Here's her recipe:

ISLAND SALMON CHOWDER

2 cups chopped onion
4 tbsps. butter or margarine
2 tbsps. flour
1 can (10½ ounces) beef consomme
2 (each 8 ounces) bottles clam juice
2 cups chopped green pepper
3 cups medium white sauce
1 can (1 pound) salmon
1 cup diced cooked potato
½ tsp. dried crumbled thyme

Cook the onion slowly in 2 tablespoons of the butter until transparent; add the flour and allow it to brown. Add the undiluted consomme and the clam juice; cook and stir constantly until slightly thickened. Cook the green pepper until soft in the remaining 2 tablespoons butter; add to clam-juice mixture. Have the white sauce hot; add the salmon, broken into large pieces, and the salmon liquid, the potatoes and thyme; heat to serving temperature; add the hot clam-juice mixture. Makes 8 servings.

To make the medium white sauce use 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 6 tablespoons flour and 3 cups milk.

Lentil Stew Hearty Food For Season

Here's a thrifty and hearty dish that is popular in the South.

LENTIL STEW

1 cup lentils
4 cups boiling water
1 ham bone (from butt end of baked ham)
1 large carrot
2 tsps. bacon fat
1 medium-size onion, cut into thin strips
1 tsp. (about) salt, pepper

Turn the lentils, water and ham bone into a kettle.

Simmer 1 hour; pare carrot and add whole; continue to cook another hour or until lentils are tender.

In small skillet, cook onion strips in bacon fat until golden brown. Shortly before end of cooking time, stir in onions.

Remove ham bone; cut off any meat, dice and add to stew. Add salt and pepper to taste. Serve in soup bowls.

Makes 4 servings.

Send Rangers To Perrin, Crowd Told

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas attorney told the National Indignation Convention Wednesday night that Texas Rangers should be sent to Perrin Air Force Base if all other means fail to oust Yugoslav pilots training there.

The convention crowd, estimated at about 1,700 by police, stood and cheered when John Conlan made the remark.

The convention was formed this week to protest the training of four Yugoslav pilots and four mechanics at Perrin, in North Texas near Sherman.

Conlan told a reporter that the federal government should be given an ultimatum to end the training of Yugoslavs at the base. If no action is taken by the government 48 hours after the ultimatum is delivered, Conlan said, Rangers and Texas National Guardsmen should be sent to Perrin.

Conlan did not say what action the troops should take when they arrived at Perrin.

WHAT THEN?

Conlan said Gov. Price Daniel should be asked:

"Are you prepared to use every means at your disposal, including use of the National Guard and Texas Rangers to confront leaders at Perrin and demand the removal of the Yugoslavs?"

Frank B. McGehee, national chairman of the convention, spoke by telephone with Rep. Omar Burleson, D-Tex., and Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex. Their telephone conversations were carried over the loudspeaker at the Dallas Municipal Auditorium.

Burleson, of Anson, was contacted in New York. He told McGehee he supported two of the convention's resolutions. They call for the removal of military trainees of Communist countries from the United States, and the cancellation of contracts calling for the sale of military equipment to Communist countries.

OFFICIAL OUSTER

On the third resolution, which calls for the removal from office of the persons responsible for the sale of military equipment to Communist countries, Burleson said it would be difficult to determine who such persons were.

Wright, speaking from his Fort Worth home, was hooted and shouted at by the crowd when the crowd felt he could not answer questions with a "yes or no" answer which McGehee requested.

Wright said he had supported an amendment by Rep. Bob Casey of Houston which would have excluded Yugoslavia from taking part in the Mutual Security program. He said he did this because he had little faith in the Tito government. The amendment was not passed.

Wright also said that Congress cannot cancel a contract the President had made with a foreign country.

TOWER LAUDED

McGehee reached Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., at his home in Wichita Falls early in the night's events.

Tower said "It is my hope the administration will cease giving aid to Yugoslavia."

He said he has "always been against trafficking with the enemy" and called such action foolish.

"Senator Tower is with us all the way," McGehee said after his conversation with the senator.

Another meeting of the convention is scheduled tonight.

'Brain' Mistakes Caused Aid Waste

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office said today miscalculations by both human and electronic brains were partly responsible for what it called a multimillion-dollar excess cost of military aid to the Far East.

The GAO, which serves as a watchdog over government spending, said it had come to this conclusion after investigating nearly half a billion dollars worth of spare parts accumulating in Asian warehouses and at the Army's big supply and inventory depot in Japan.

In its report to Congress, the GAO said its survey resulted in potential savings of about $235 million in excess or useless spare parts.

Another GAO report Wednesday said improper wiring of a calculating machine had led the Army in Europe to order $7.4 million worth of material it didn't need.

In today's report, GAO accountants said the depot in Japan last year had "discovered" unrecorded material valued at $58 million in making its "first complete inventory ever taken" of military aid stocks. Meanwhile, the GAO said, additional supplies of the ordnance equipment had been ordered. The alleged error was attributed by the GAO to depot officials.

Their electronic calculating machine servants, however, were held accountable for errors in simple arithmetic that added to what the GAO called a vast oversupply of items at the depot and to the cost of foreign aid.

In one instance a machine was supposed to record the issue of 46 items, not specified in the report. But the machine reported the issue of 111,146. In another verified instance, the GAO said, the machine recorded the issue of 111,129 items to foreign countries, when the actual number was only 29. The GAO said replacements for the items, which were never issued anyway, were ordered at a cost of $177,990.

The GAO reported that this excessive accumulation of stocks in some places had been accompanied by shortages elsewhere, hurting the military aid program.

In Korea, for example, repair of 31,000 rifles and several thousand Army vehicles had to be held up for lack of parts that were available in "huge quantities" but unreported in excess in nearby countries, the GAO said.

The erratic practices of some aided countries were blamed for some of the confusion over military supplies. Thailand, for example, officially reported requirements for 3 and 12-month periods. But the GAO investigators said they had found that the Thais habitually multiplied their requirements estimates so that they actually got supplies for 24 months.

Canadian Protest To Reds Rejected

OTTAWA (AP)— Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker said on Wednesday night Canada had attempted to lodge a protest with the Soviet government over its announced intention to explode a 50-megaton nuclear bomb but it was rejected.

Diefenbaker told a newsman the protest had been rejected by the Soviet Embassy here on the ground that the bomb launching was a domestic matter.

Chicago Blast Is Investigated

CHICAGO (AP — Investigation teams sought today the cause of a high-impact explosion which demolished a cosmetic company's chemical mixing building, injured more than 250 persons, and shattered windows up to a mile away.

No one was killed in the West Side blast Wednesday, which destroyed a one-story reinforced concrete building used by Helene Curtis Industries to blend cosmetic chemicals. Authorities said they had reached no conclusion immediately as to the cause of the explosion.

Reds May Fire East Germany's Chief To Pave Way For Parleys

BERLIN (AP) — Officials and commentators in West Berlin speculated today that Moscow may soon fire its East German puppet, Walter Ulbricht.

There was widespread belief that East Germany's spade-bearded chief of state would disappear from the scene in an effort to make direct negotiations with the East German regime more palatable to the West.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev dealt Ulbricht a bitter blow in his Kremlin speech Tuesday by abandoning the Dec. 31 deadline he had set for signing a peace treaty with East Germany.

The peace treaty is the main instrument for Khrushchev's threats against West Berlin. With it the Soviet Union threatens to turn over to the East German Reds control of the Western Allies' access routes to West Berlin, forcing them to negotiate with the East Germans they have so far refused to recognize or fight their way through if the East Germans try to block their traffic.

"A peace treaty before the end of the year" has been the keynote of all East German propaganda for months. It seemed almost as though Ulbricht had staked his career on it.

Ulbricht apparently has been trying to force the Kremlin's hand. Western observers said Khrushchev's speech abruptly put him back in his place, and like a true puppet he accepted the new line without any sign of hesitation.

Western diplomats listening to the speech by Khrushchev were amused to notice Ulbricht "applauding his master like crazy after every period and every comma," the West Berlin newspaper B.Z. reported.

Ulbricht's chained Communist press reported that Khrushchev's speech under bannerlines proclaiming "the triumph of communism." The key passage of the speech on Berlin was carried without prominence and without comment.

The Berlin Nacht-Depesche said the removal of thedeadlin e "cannot have put Ulbricht in a very cheerful mood."

The West Berlin newspaper Telegraf, which has close connections with Mayor Willy Brandt, said Khrushchev could afford to drop his deadline without losing face, but Ulbricht was so committed to it that the announcement of the new line marked a black day for him.

Ulbricht has serious difficulties within his own party as a result of the wall of concrete and barbed wire he threw across Berlin in August.

East German papers admit more and more openly that there is vigorous opposition to the wall and to the atmosphere of Stalinist oppression in East Germany.

Moscow-trained, Ulbricht at 68 is an unreconstructed Stalinist. His regime paid lip service to Krushchev's abolition of the "personality cult" in the Soviet empire but never made the new line effective in East Germany.

They Need A Summit Meeting

FORT WORTH (AP)—The Fort Worth zoo has a two-headed snake with a split personality.

It's been named Double Jeopardy.

Zoo Curator Lawrence Curtis explained:

"The big problem with bicapital (two-headed) animals is that there is constant bickering between the heads.

"When one head wants to sleep, the other wants to eat, and vice versa."

Curtis said the ideal situation is "when one head dominates the other." He said the right head of Double Jeopardy is dominating the left head, which increases the reptile's chances for survival.

The right head does all the eating but the left head isn't entirely docile. Curtis said, "We've seen him sticking out his tongue, like all snakes do."

The reptile, found by a fisherman near Wichita Falls, apparently has good vision in all four eyes.

"He's able to see all sides of the situation," said Curtis.

Laborites Protest Red Bomb Blast

LONDON (AP)— Sixty-two Labor members of the House of Commons delivered a letter to the Soviet Embassy Wednesday night protesting Premier Khrushchev's plan to explode a 50-megaton hydrogen bomb.

One of the group, Sir Lynn Ungoed-Thomas, told an embassy official the explosion would be "humanely criminal and politically tragic." The embassy said the letter would be forwarded to Moscow.

100 Girls Vie For Beauty Title

DALLAS (AP)—More than 100 girls are vying in a beauty contest that has everything but a bathing suit division.

The girls—ranging in age from 13 to 17—are contestants in the first annual Miss Teen-Age American Pageant being staged here.

Forty-five states are represented by the 105 contestants, who will be judged on poise, personality, talent, intelligence, attractiveness and knowledge of world affairs.

The winner, to be announced Friday night in the Memorial Auditorium, will receive a four-year scholarship to any college in the United States plus a nationwide tour.

Governor Snubs U. N. Day

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Gov. Donald G. Nutter declares that until the United Nations becomes "something other than a forum for the enemies of this country," he will not proclaim U.N. Day on the ground "this would constitute an endorsement of the present activities of the U.N."

The wartime bomber pilot told a news conference the United Nations has turned into a debating society, particularly since the death of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Katanga Demands Refugee Removal

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—The Katanga government today gave the United Nations 24 hours to disperse thousands of Baluba refugees camping on the outskirts of Elisabethville.

The ultimatum was the result of a day of terror Wednesday in the camp during which at least 19 persons were killed and many others were savagely mutilated by rampaging Baluba youth.

Expert Urges Food Cache For Atom War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A California scientist suggests the United States build up a national food cache so that food enough for two years would be available within easy walking distance of every American in the event of nuclear war.

Dr. Perry R. Stout of the University of California, speaking Tuesday to a component institute of the National Research Council, said a $15-billion emergency food supply should be widely distributed.

Stout said: "It will not be too much to follow the Biblical admonishment that the seven lean years will follow the good. As with the ancient Egyptians, let us take 20 per cent of each year's crop and store it—assuming we can get agricultural production up to such a level."

He added: "In this age of nuclear weapons, the United States is perhaps the most vulnerable of the large nations because of the dependence of her agricultural complex upon industrially supplied fertilizers, fuels and machinery.

"Consequently, in case of large-scale nuclear combat with primary targets being our concentrated industrial establishments, agriculture, even though highly dispersed, will become paralyzed immediately."

Adding that agriculture in the United States could not be restored until its industrial base was re-established, he said food enough for two years should be cached for these reasons:

1. It would take a year to restore industry and transportation after a full-scale nuclear attack.

2. Another year would be required to allow new crops to come in and be harvested.

The agricultural scientist said a "two year survival kit" of food would require: supplies of animal protein, dessicated and compacted; carbohydrates and fats similarly treated; plus the vitamins necessary for adequate diets. And, "as for our present surplus grains, they must be gotten out of the warehouses and converted to animal protein."

He said the resources of agricultural experiment stations and food preservation industries "must be called upon for all-out research programs to develop methods for keeping foods stored for indefinite periods in the future."

No Rental Drop In Condemnations

AUSTIN (AP) — The Supreme Court, in a landmark decision on Texas property rights has held that condemnation of part of a real estate lease does not entitle the lease holder to reduced rent.

Noting that the "question has not been decided by the Texas courts," the Supreme Court reversed an Austin Court of Civil Appeals ruling and upheld a decision by a District Court.

A review of authorities, including decisions by courts outside Texas, showed that most held that rentals "are not abated in this situation, but rather the tenant is obligated to continue the payment of the rentals provided in the lease contract...we are inclined to follow the majority concept."

The case was begun by Edward Joseph, owner of a chain of Austin drive-in theaters.

Moonlighters Not Robbing Jobs, U.S. Survey Suggests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Workers holding down several jobs are not robbing fellow toilers of a chance to earn a living, the Labor Department suggested today.

It made public a new survey on the prevalence and characteristics of dual jobholding—or moonlighting as it is commonly called.

Over three million persons, or 4.6 per cent of all those employed in the country held more than one job when the survey was taken in December, 1960. This means nearly one out of 20 held second jobs.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said, however, that the number and proportion of dual jobholders has not been increasing reecnt years. Also, it was found for the first time, he said, that moonlighting is a misnomer.

More of the dual jobholders, contrary to popular belief, work on their extra jobs during daylight hours rather than at night.

Only 34 per cent of the dual jobholders were reported as working mostly at night on their extra job; 42 per cent worked mostly during weekday working hours; and 24 per cent primarily on weekends.

Goldberg had some comments on the agitation from jobless workers during periods of heavy unemployment of "there oughta be a law" banning anyone from holding more than a single job.

"The results of this survey give little support," the secretary said, "to the notion that the unemployment problem could be solved by prohibiting extra jobholding.

"The hours worked on the second jobs are usually very short, and a great many of these jobs—for example those in farming and the professions—would be unsuited to the unemployed or of little interest to them."

Only about 180,000 of the three million dual jobholders worked full time on both jobs. Typically, the total hours worked by the multiple jobholder added up to 50 on both jobs, with 11 hours devoted to the extra job.

Some examples of extra jobholding: The factory worker with a side job working evenings in a drug store, a postal clerk devoting off hours as a gas station attendant, and the office secretary doing weekend clerking in a department store.

About 850,000 of the extra jobholders had extra jobs operating their own farm or business. These are positions, the Labor Department said, that unemployed could not reasonably be expected to fill.

All in all, it was estimated that some 1.2 million of the 3 million side jobs wouldn't be suitable for unemployed for one reason or another.

Understandably, because of their family responsibilities, three-fourths of all multiple jobholders were found to be married men. Only two per cent of women workers held extra jobs.

Finally, although unemployment has been heavy among factory workers, only four per cent of them are multiple jobholders, and the extra jobs were generally outside the factories.

Argo Oil Approves Plan For Sales To Atlantic

DENVER (AP) — Directors of Argo Oil Corp. have approved a plan to sell most of the firm's oil and gas properties to Atlantic Refining Co., President Gilbert Mueller said today.

Argo owns properties in 17 Western and Southern states and last year had a net income of $4.9 million.

Mueller and A. E. Johnson, Argo chairman, said a meeting will be held Dec. 5 to allow stockholders to vote on an offer by Atlantic Refining and other unidentified firms to buy Argo's properties.

They said the offer would amount to a purchase price of about $150 million, or about $77.50 a share.

Included in the proposed sale are stocks in other oil companies held by Argo, amounting to about $11.6 million.

Argo Oil stock closed on the New York Stock Exchange Tuesday at $69.62½ a share, an increase of nearly $30 a share since July.

The firm last year produced 4,884,215 barrels of crude oil. Its properties total 764,803 gross acres of developed and undeveloped royalties and 895,439 gross acres of developed and undeveloped leases at the end of 1960.
