"For Thirty-six Years A Builder In Collingsworth County"

NUMBER 6

Old Settlers Meet Friday For Annual Reunion

Plans are complete for the annual Old Settlers Reunion Friday, August 17, which may yet become a victory celebration for the pioneer men and women—victory in the third war fought by the United States during this county's existence.

Dave Thomas, who is in charge of plans, said that all original plans will be carried out. There will be no set program, but the men and women who came to this county 25 or more years ago will spend the day in visiting and reliving those earlier days of the development of the county. The reunion will be at the traditional location, the LaHue grove three miles east of Wellington.

One new feature has been added in connection with the gathering of the old timers. An Old Fiddlers (Continued on Page Eight)

Chambliss Unit Gets Citation

With U. S. Army Forces in New Caledonia—The Meritorious Service Unit Plaque has been awarded to the 22nd Quartermaster Cold Storage Platoon of which Pfc. Elmer J. Chambliss is a member. Pfc. Chambliss is the husband of Mrs. Mae Chambliss who makes her home at Wellington.

Cited for "superior performance and the achievement and maintenance of a high standard of military and professional efficiency," the unit received the award from Major General Maxwell J. Murray, South Pacific Base Commander.

The unit was activated at Fort Benning, Georgia in August, 1942, as the 283rd Quartermaster Refrigeration Platoon, and after receiving basic and technical training, it left the States for overseas duty at this South Pacific base. After serving overseas for some time, the unit was redesignated as the 22nd Quartermaster Cold Storage Platoon.

During thirty-three months overseas, his outfit has installed and maintained the refrigeration equipment for the Quartermaster Corps and all other Army installations at this base.

Waste Paper Is Sold By Scouts

Two truck loads of waste paper, collected in a drive here several months ago, were taken to Amarillo during the last week to go into war production channels, Sandy Parsons Jr., who was in charge, reported.

The paper was collected by the Boy Scouts and proceeds derived from the sale will go to them.

Between 8,000 and 9,000 pounds of paper was sent on each load. This is all that will be sent from here, as the small amount of remaining paper will not be worth trucking, Mr. Parsons said.

Jake Tarter Tells Rotarians Of Overall Cotton Situation

Rotarians Tuesday heard Jake Tarter, Wellington farmer and for many years county agent of Wheeler County, in an explanation of the working of the American Cotton Council.

Quoting figures on cotton production, Mr. Tarter pointed out that in 1927 the United States produced 78 per cent of the world's cotton, while in 1942 it was producing only 32 per cent.

This change in the cotton picture, the speaker believes, is due to research which has resulted in the production in foreign countries of better cotton cheaper than it can be raised here.

A guest of the club was T-Sgt. Joe Langford, who was released in early May from a German prison camp. Sgt. Langford answered questions by Rotarians regarding his prison life.

Religious Services Open Days Of Peace

"In all the joy we have today, the days ahead will be filled with the tasks of rehabilitating the world in peace." Speaking in this vein, Rev. Henry H. Kinkeade key-noted the thinking of the day when Wellington, with thankfulness for peace and joy that three years, eight months and one week of war had ended, gathered for the religious observance of the end of hostilities.

These services were held Wednesday morning, August 15, when an almost capacity crowd filled the Methodist Church, despite rain which fell during the early hours of the morning.

There were few in the crowd that do not have some member of their immediate family in service. Business men, their stores and offices closed for the day, were there in large numbers. A sprinkling of men in uniform was seen through the crowd.

Rev. Hubert Thomson, pastor of the church, was in charge of the program, with Rev. Odell Brown of the Church of the Nazarene leading the singing; Rev. A. A. Daly of the Assembly of God reading the scripture; and Rev. J. F. Mathews of the First Christian Church leading in prayer.

Rev. Kinkeade based his talk on the familiar scripture from the first 10 verses of the 11th chapter of Isaiah, referring to the days of peace, when God shall with righteousness judge the poor, and when the wolf and the lamb shall lie down together.

"We can't have a new world without a new people," the speaker declared, as he urged that all people look to God for leadership.

It will be this looking to God, he pointed out later, that will enable each person to know what is right to do in the days ahead.

He spoke of the days when peace (Continued on Page Eight)

City Schools To Open Term On September 10

The Wellington public schools will open their 1945-46 term Monday, September 10, Supt. Logan Cummings announced Monday morning. Actual school work will begin at that time, and will be preceded by enrollment for all grades on Thursday and Friday, September 6 and 7. The enrollment schedule will be announced later.

Mr. Cummings also announced the election of one new teacher and the resignation of four members of the high school and junior high faculties. Mrs. Gus Barton, who taught in the local system in the 1943-44 term, has been elected and will probably be placed in East Ward, the superintendent said.

Resignations have been received from Mrs. Irene Harris, home economics instructor for several years; Miss Bonnie Jean Smith, Spanish instructor; and Mrs. Jimmie Richards, junior high teacher. Mrs. Harris has joined her husband who is now in California after service with the Navy in the Southwest Pacific. They are living at Hayward, Calif. Miss Smith has accepted a position in the Canadian schools, and Mrs. Richards in the Albuquerque, N. M., schools. Mrs. Richards moved to Albuquerque at the close of the last term, and where Mr. Richards has a tractor agency.

Considerable improvement is under way on the school buildings, including painting of halls and class rooms, repairing of desks, and waxing floors. Two new janitors were also hired, Bill Grissom and O. N. Ray.

New Central Pastor Named

Rev. O. B. Hutson of Decatur has accepted a call as pastor of the Central Baptist Church in Wellington, following the resignation of Rev. J. R. Lawson, which was effective two weeks ago.

Rev. Hutson is a former pastor at Bridgeport, and during his pastorate there he was responsible for the building of a new church.

Rev. and Mrs. Hutson are the parents of three children.

Rev. Lawson had been pastor of Central Church for five years and two weeks at the time of his resignation. Although he has not yet announced his future plans, he stated that he will remain in the ministerial work. Rev. and Mrs. Lawson and their two children will remain here for the present.

Plans For Permanent Cemetery Upkeep Given

The City Council and the Cemetery Association have adopted a tentative plan for the beautification and the permanent upkeep of the two cemeteries in Wellington. This was revealed in a joint statement issued this week by Mayor Pink Sullivan and Dave Thomas, president of the Cemetery Association.

Institution of the plan would depend upon the willingness of people who have relatives buried in the cemetery to allow the City to level all mounded graves to allow the substitution of a carpet of grass as is done in many cemeteries today, Bura Handley, city manager said. Mr. Handley pointed out that the plan would not be put into effect if it did not meet with the approval of the majority of the people.

The joint statement follows: "Due to the unkept condition of our cemeteries for the past several years, the ground has become very uneven, and weeds have choked out all of the native grass. It is the opinion of both the City Council and the Cemetery Association that the ground should be leveled down, markers made and placed on unmarked graves and the streets in the cemetery worked over and graded.

"The City proposes to do the above work provided they have the permission of the various owners of the different burial plots to do the work with equipment and machinery which they have at their disposal. The city would be able to do the proposed work with money that is available; but it would be impossible to do this work at the present time by hand labor with the finances available.

"A large per cent of the graves have no permanent markers. It is proposed that the city make some type of marker out of concrete or steel and place at the head of these unmarked graves. These would be such that they could not be pulled up or removed. All of these markers would be of the same type and would be painted white.

Foot markers on all graves that have tombstones would be placed flush with the ground in order to be able to level the mounds after which time grass would be sown. To make this plan effective and make a permanently well kept cemetery the dirt should not be mounded up over the grave. This will enable the City to use a power mower to keep the grass and weeds at a minimum height.

"The City has a mower, mounted on a tractor, that could be used (Continued on Page Eight)

District Firemen Convene Here September 11

The Wellington Volunteer Fire Department will be host to the Panhandle Firemen's Association Tuesday, September 11, in what will be one of the most important meetings of the state this year for firemen.

Members of 56 fire departments through the Panhandle will be invited to attend, Bura Handley, Wellington fire chief, said. Outstanding speakers will be secured for the sessions, and a number of distinguished guests will attend. Pumpers races, with prizes for the winning teams, will be held. Water polo will be a feature of the afternoon and a barbecue is planned for that night, followed by additional entertainment.

"Since there will be no state firemen's convention this year, we are expecting the largest attendance in recent years at a district convention. But in order to do this, we will need the complete co-operation of the entire citizenship of Wellington," Mr. Handley said.

Forest Ryan Returns To U. S.

Sgt. Forest Ryan, one of this county's men to serve in two overseas theaters, called his mother, Mrs. Dora Ryan, Sunday from Virginia to tell her of his arrival in the United States.

Sgt. Ryan is in the 10th mountain division, which trained in Colorado as a ski unit. His first overseas service came in the Aleutians, where he was assigned for six months. After several months back in the United States, he was sent to the European Theater, fighting in Northern Italy. He was in Europe approximately eight months.

He is due to go first to El Paso, after which he will receive a furlough. Sgt. Ryan will visit his wife in Amarillo before coming to Wellington to visit his mother and other relatives.

He returned to the United States aboard the Mt. Vernon.

Clyde Lancaster Coming Home

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 13—Among the most enthusiastic observers of Army Air Forces Day was a group of Texans. Special reason—the Army Air Forces Air Transport Command was speeding them home from the wars.

Wiping out a distance of 7,300 miles as if by magic, the ATC planes put them into Miami Army Air Field just hours after taking off at Casablanca, North Africa. Twenty-four hours after arriving at Miami, ATC port of aerial debarkation had them on their way again, for Camp Blanding, Fla. From Blanding, they move on by rail to centers nearer their homes, where they will be separated from service, or given furloughs before reassignment.

Among the returnees were T-5 Clyde Lancaster of Wellington, 27, who has served 23 months overseas with the Engineers and has five battle stars.

Gosney Is New Flying Teacher

Jimmie Gosney, a licensed pilot, is now giving flying lessons at the Wellington municipal airport to a group of local air enthusiasts.

An experienced pilot, he has been flying since 1940, and in 1943 and 1944, he served as a civilian instructor for the Army at Stillwater, Okla. He comes here from Sapulpa.

His plane, a Porterfield trainer, is licensed by the government and is one of the most popular types available for civilian flying.

Lessons are given each day between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m.

PREACHES HERE

Rev. J. L. Warrick of Durant, Okla., is conducting revival services at the Church of the Nazarene in Wellington, which will close Sunday, August 19. Services are held twice daily.

HOLDS REVIVAL

Rev. K. L. Van Houten is now conducting revival services at the Church of the Nazarene in Dodson. This meeting opened August 12.

General Rains Start August 14

General rains, starting as the Japs surrendered, brought needed moisture to crops in Collingsworth County August 14 and 15.

Up to the time The Leader went to press the rain measured one-half inch but skies were still overcast. Heavier rains had already fallen in other parts of the county.

Local showers falling Friday and Friday night, August 10, provided relief from the mid-summer dry weather over part of the county.

Exactly one inch of moisture was recorded in the government rain gauge in Wellington. This fall, however, tapered to not more than half an inch a mile south of Wellington. Rain southeast of Wellington, toward Fresno, was slightly less than here, but it grew lighter toward Dodson and only a shower fell there.

Japs Surrender Unconditionally

Japan has surrendered unconditionally, President Truman announced at 6 P. M. (CWT) Tuesday, August 14. As the official announcement came ending the bloodiest and most colossal war in the history of mankind, there was jubilation as well as prayers of humble thanksgiving here in Wellington.

After having lived in tense expectancy since last Friday, people were even more keyed up throughout Tuesday. Wellington just as many other cities had started one celebration at 3:00 a. m. in the morning only to learn that the report was unofficial.

Then at 6 o'clock President Truman made this statement:

"I have received this afternoon a message from the Japanese government in reply to the message forwarded to that government by the secretary of state on August 11.

"I deem this reply a full acceptance of the Potsdam declaration which specifies the unconditional surrender of Japan.

"In this reply there is no qualification. Arrangements are now being made for the formal signing of surrender terms at the earliest possible moment.

"General Douglas MacArthur has been appointed the supreme Allied commander to receive the Japanese surrender.

"Great Britain, Russia and China will be represented by high-ranking officers.

"Meantime, the Allied Armed Forces have been ordered to suspend offensive action.

"The proclamation of V-J Day must wait upon the formal signing of the surrender terms by Japan."

In Washington

The second world war, history's greatest flood of death and destruction, ended with Japan's unconditional surrender.

Formalities still remained—the official signing of surrender terms and a proclamation of V-J day.

But from the moment President Truman announced at 6 p. m. Central War Time, that the enemy of the Pacific surrendered unconditionally, the world put aside for a time woeful thoughts of the cost in dead and dollars and celebrated in wild frenzy. Formalities meant nothing to people freed at last of war.

To reporters, crammed into his office, shoving now-useless war maps against a marble mantle, the president disclosed that:

Japan, without ever being invaded, had accepted completely and without reservation an Allied declaration of Potsdam dictating unconditional surrender.

General Douglas MacArthur had been designated supreme Allied commander, the man to receive surrender.

There is to be no power for the Japanese emperor—although Allies will let him remain their tool. No longer will the warlords reign, through him. Hirohito—or any successor will take orders from MacArthur.

Allied forces were ordered to "suspend offensive action" everywhere.

From now on, only men under 26 will be drafted. Army draft calls will be cut from 80,000 a month to 50,000. Mr. Truman forecast that five to five and a half million soldiers may be released within 12 to 18 months.

The surrender announcement set in motion a whole chain of events. Among them:

To a Japanese government which once had boasted it would dictate peace terms in the White House, Mr. Truman dispatched orders to "Direct prompt cessation of hostilities," tell MacArthur of the effective date and hour, and send emissaries to the general to arrange formal surrender.

The War Manpower Commission terminated all manpower controls. The navy piled a $6,000,000,000 cancellation of contracts on top of a previous $1,200,000,000 cut in its shipbuilding program.

Congress was called back to (Continued on Page Eight)

Here At Home

As some people quietly wept, others rushed to town to take part in the celebration that started immediately. Although it lasted from 6 till midnight and was noisy enough, there were no accidents. There was considerable noise from fireworks, but most of it came from automobile horns. These began to play out about eleven o'clock because the batteries of the cars had run down.

Officers took pistols away from two sailors for firing too low over the heads of the crowd and some motorists were cautioned about excessive speed; but no arrests were made. In fact, the demonstration although boisterous and noisy was orderly.

But even as some celebrated there was considerable thoughtful talk as people gathered in public places. Satisfaction was expressed over the appointment of General MacArthur to receive the Jap surrender, as well as the announcement that 5 and one-half million men would be discharged from service and that workers were no longer frozen on their jobs.

Some farmers expressed the opinion that the elimination of the freeze order might go far to relieve the very tight labor situation in agricultural communities such as this. Already a number of workers in war plants have returned to Wellington with the intention of making this their permanent home if they can find a place to live. The town needs from 50 to 100 new homes immediately; but local lumber dealers were skeptical about how soon any would be built.

The tremendous task of reconstruction and the even greater one of establishing and making an effective peace brought grave and sober thoughts to many.

3rd Sunday Singing Scheduled August 19 At Nazarene Church

The regular Third Sunday Singing is scheduled for August 19 at the Church of the Nazarene.

Special numbers will be given by the Stamps Men's Quartet from Oilton, and group singing will be from the new books, which have just arrived.

The singing will begin at 2:30 p.m., with W. S. Brewer, president of the association, in charge.

Officer Commissioned Overseas Tells Of Concentration Camp

Lt. Carter Holcomb, one of the two men from this county ever commissioned on the battlefield, reached Wellington July 23, after 11 months in Belgium and northern Germany. The other local man so honored was Milburn Derryberry, who was promoted from sergeant to second lieutenant while serving in Southern France.

Lt. Holcomb's promotion came March 12, while he was serving as a first sergeant in the medical corps at Cologne, Germany. His advancement came after his superior officer was evacuated—replacing a first lieutenant who was transferred up the line to fill the place of a captain.

He served in the medical corps of the 329th Medical Battalion 104th Infantry, of that division known as Gen. Terry Allen's Timberwolves. He has been in service for three and one-half years.

This young officer saw his first fighting in Belgium in October 1944, when he was serving with the First Canadian Army. In mid-November he moved into the First American Army near Aachen and served with them until V-E Day. He wound up with a medical unit a little north of Leipzig on the Elbe River.

In describing the excellent medical care which the wounded receive, Lt. Holcomb declared that of between 600 and 700 casualties handled, only one man died, and out of six and one-half months combat service he saw, only eight men died after being brought to the collecting company.

Lt. Holcomb was one of the medical officers who helped clean out a Nazi concentration camp at Nordhausen, Germany. Of 3,000 confined to the camp, only 700 got out alive—and these were barely living. At the time the American medical units reached the camp, they were dying at the rate of from 80 to 100 a day. Suffering from unspeakable starvation and torture, Lt. Holcomb found grown men among the survivors who weighed about 70 pounds.

And just a mile away there "good Germans" who did not conditions were such as the For them there was no f age.

Uncle Sam Pins Orchids On Local Women For Saving Used Fats!

Things have really been happening to fat-salvage-collection figures since town and farm women got busy on the job! Latest official government records show that their fat savings have left the excellent record of city women way behind.

But it isn't a drop too much. This year, we face a shortage of 1 billion, 500 million pounds of fats in domestic supplies. Tons more of war and home-front supplies made from fats are needed!

Farm folks get more meat these days than most city people—so it's up to them to save the fats. Skin stews, soups, gravies. Scrape pans. Melt down meat trimmings. It all helps you fill the fat-salvage can, and you get up to 4¢ and 2 red points a pound. If you have any difficulty, call your Home Demonstration or County Agent. Approved by WFA and OPA. Paid for by Industry.

"Practically Yours" is the Paramount Picture destined to put movie goers in a happy frame of mind. Starring Fred MacMurray and Claudette Colbert, it arrives Sunday at the Ritz Theatre. The story tells about a Navy hero home on leave and the hilarious things which befall him. An excellent cast of laugh-getters support Fred and Claudette, including Robert Benchley, Gil Lamb, Mikhail Rasumny and Cecil Kellaway. In one scene, lovely Jane Frazee sings a specialty number. A Mitchell Leisen production.

Editorial

This is an undisguised appeal for help from the people of one small Texas town and surrounding territory to the people of all other similar Texas towns and communities. And to make it as short as possible, here is the story:

For over seventy-five years the people of Cherokee County have tried to develop their deposits of high-grade iron ore. Shortly before Pearl Harbor, in spite of opposition of the big steel interests, a new attempt was launched which later resulted in the approval of the construction of a blast furnace and chemical plant at Rusk, county seat of Cherokee County. In approving the project as a war industry, Donald Nelson said he was doing so because of its great possibilities in the post-war period. The plant was about four-fifths completed when work was halted Friday, July 13, pending investigation of the post-war need.

There is not space to go into that except to say that this need was already established and to add that Governor Coke Stevenson immediately came to Rusk to check into the matter and wired his protests to the War Production Board and the Defense Plant Corporation in Washington. Henry Love, State Commander of the American Legion, did the same thing. Every Texas representative in congress has pledged his support as have both Texas senators. They are all interested because the development of the natural resources of Texas is not a local matter.

The plant will use vast amounts of scrub oak and gum which are crowding out the great pine forests of East Texas. The Texas Forest Service and the U. S. Forest Service have both brought this fact before the Washington authorities. The preservation of the natural resources of Texas is also no local matter.

The plant will benefit every community in Texas because it will preserve Texas pine forests and thus help to keep down the price of lumber. It will offer local competition to the big steel interests of the North and East. It will provide labor for many war veterans. And it will do any Texan good to see a Texas underdog win a hard fight.

And so the people of Rusk and Cherokee County are asking the readers of The Leader to flood the War Production Board and the Defense Plant Corporation with letters asking that the plant be completed. It must be done right away because next week may be too late.

• Living Together In Peace

There is nothing about this present civilization that guarantees its continuity except its wisdom to prevent its own destruction. This world has seen a number of civilizations come and go. Their end came because they were not able to solve their problems. This civilization may end one day for the same reason—inability to solve the problem of living in peace.—The Messenger, Perrysburg, Ohio.

• Run By Rule

Recently published criticism of the hospital and medical service provided by the United States Veterans Administration, is bearing fruit by starting corrective measures. The Administration suffers from the same ailment that afflicts most government bureaus. They must run by "rule" and there is no incentive to keep up-to-date, for there is no competition to meet.—Anacortes American, Washington.

• Suez Canal

The British still insist that they cannot allow our ships to pass through the Suez Canal free of charge, or even as a credit against lend-lease goods which we are sending them. Ever since the war started we have allowed the British ships free passage through the Panama Canal. At the same time, the British charge us $100 per head for hauling our returned soldiers back from Europe, whereas we charge the British $75 for hauling British soldiers. Uncle Sam is a grand old sucker, so far as Europe is concerned, and we will continue to pay for the war.—Clyde Warwick in The Canyon News.

• No Substitute

There is no substitute for newspapers. That fact was clearly demonstrated during the recent 17-day strike of newspaper delivermen in New York. Surveys undertaken at the request of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association proved beyond question of doubt that the American public depends almost wholly upon newspapers for accurate information and guidance.

In the survey, the principal questions asked were: "You probably are getting most of your news from the radio. Is radio completely filling your need for news?"

During the first week of the strike, replies indicated 76.6 per cent as saying "No" and 23.4 per cent saying "Yes." But after the readers had been deprived of their newspapers for another week, the percentage was: 89.2 per cent "No," and 10.8 per cent "Yes."

Not only did the great majority of folks participating in the survey favor the newspapers for national and war news, but no less for local news and advertisements.—M. S. Sellers in The Rising Star Record.

Good news from WPB is that automobile manufacturers will be allowed to make 200,000 passenger cars within a year. They will be equipped with tires and, according to present arrangements, six gallons a week.

French women, annoyed at the combination of being given the right to vote and denied cigarettes, are changing their sex on ration credentials. Which proves that where there's no smoke, there's ire.

Hitler said in 1937 that within 20 years Berlin would be entirely rebuilt. That gives the Germans 12 years to fix up the old town.

News from the Middle East seems to indicate that Syria and Lebanon want to take French leave.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

(This letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. Claud Killingsworth from their son, Claud Jr., CM 2-c, USNCR.)

Okinawa
 July 13, 1945

Dear Mother and Dad,
 I had to get up early this morning to go eat breakfast as we had fresh eggs and bacon. Was really good, I guess because we don't have them very often. We also had salt and pepper. You don't realize how badly you miss salt and pepper until you do without them for a while. Boy, we had our first square meal since the invasion here. Actually had nice tender steak, and it was really tender for once.

Our new post office is about finished. Our barber shop opened up yesterday, and our new tailor shop will be open soon, also our ship store. I'll be glad, for I really need some hair tonic and hair oil.

How's everybody getting along? Fine, I hope. I am doing fine and dandy.

Guess what! I finally got two more of your packages. The one with hot tamales, etc., and the one with the cans of candy, cookies, etc. The candy was really good. It wasn't melted or messed up in any way. Everyone sure enjoyed it and all the cookies too. The fellows in my tent naturally helped me along with it, same as I do them when they get packages. We are working afternoons this week and we sleep just about all morning, so we really have enjoyed the cookies when we get up and on going to bed. Thanks a lot for all of them. I am looking forward to getting my canned fried chicken and fruit cake. Oh boy, I can taste it now. Our packages are coming in better all the time now.

It's too bad Bobbie is taking boot so hard. I know he thinks they are working him to death, but he will live over it and most likely gain 20 pounds besides. Boot camp is no worse than what you make it. I mean if you think it is going to kill you, it gets harder and harder, but if you just say, well, there's 12 million men in the service and they all had to go through these same things, and if they took it O. K., so will I. I know Odie and some others said boot camp was bad. I'll agree with them on part of it. If I remember right, they all gained weight. I know I did. I had nine weeks of it, and I gained 14 pounds. I also had marine instructions, and if there's anything any tougher than Marine instructions I'd hate to hear of it. He will get along O. K. after he gets out of boot and gets over his shots and gets a leave home.

Well, that's enough of that. The weather here is still nice and warm, or shall I say hot? The sand really blows along the roads and taxiways. I bet I eat a gallon every day.

I'll close for now and get this ready for mailing as I go to work, so until next time goodbye for now.
 Your loving son,
 Jr.

Menlo Park, California,
 Sunday, July 1, 1945

Dear Folks,
 I have received eleven letters in the last two days and really feel good. It seems that everyone is writing me now. I got letters from Mama, Daddy, Mammy, Rosemary, Velma Rose, Mr. Cook, Mrs. Maddox, and Mrs. McDowell. Mrs. Maddox also sent me a box of magazines and a jig-saw puzzle. I will really have to do some writing to catch up.

I am feeling good today and have been sitting up working on the puzzle since dinner. I am feeling a little stronger each day, and it won't be long before I am up some. The Captain came in to see me this morning and said he was going to take the splints off my jaw. I hope he does it in the next few days.

I am really glad everything is fine there and that business is good. I would really like to see the new greenhouse now. I hope the tomatoes make a good crop.

This being Sunday there is not much doing here. All the boys are out on passes or a' the show and it is rather quiet here. I am the only patient in the ward that is still confined to his room, but I don't mind it much. I have lots of time to read and write. I have a set of radio earphones in my room and can listen to the radio any time I wish.

You asked if my tongue hindered my talking. Well, what with my teeth all out, the top of my mouth torn up, my lips out of line, and my jaw being held shut, I'm surprised I can even talk at all, but people don't seem to have trouble understanding me and Deavenport said I didn't sound any different. I don't believe I will ever miss it when I get my teeth in and my lip fixed up.

Well, I have several other letters to write so I will close now.

Panay,
 July 24, 1945

Dearest Folks,

Finally got settled in my new home and it seems to be the best outfit in the Army, so guess I did pretty well. What I mean, I just passed out when they told me I am going to drive a truck. Seems like a swell bunch of boys that I am with, too. One boy that was with me in S. Carolina is in this outfit. Believe it or not we have all the comforts of home, including a cook stove right in our tent. A Filipino boy does all of the work too. Hadn't more than hit camp until he had my rifle torn down and cleaned. He is more fun than a barrel of monkeys, besides all the work he does.

The natives are a lot better class than where I was. As far as I can tell now I am going to like this outfit real well. I sure was lucky to get into it in the first place.

Guess my address will stay the same for a while now. I sure hope so anyway. I did get all of my mail before I came up here though. It all came in the last two days I was down there.

Well, I can't think of anything to write right now, and I have about a thousand letters to write, so I will close for this time. Maybe I can write a little more regular now that I am settled down.
 Love to all,
 Elwyn.

Gas refrigeration is based on the circulation of a simple, harmless fluid which is made up of tiny particles called molecules. The heat from the Magic Flame of natural gas applied to this fluid causes it to rise in vapor form and circulate through the refrigerator, producing cold. This circulation goes on steadily and endlessly, but the little molecules that make up the fluid never wear out.

Actually there is nothing so technical about this action. The gas refrigerator is built simply and with no moving parts, assuring you ALWAYS of silent, trouble-free, economical refrigeration service.

If you want the best in refrigeration, you will buy a gas refrigerator when they are available again.

If I am not in the office, one of the young ladies will be glad to assist you as they have a list of all values just as I would take it for you myself. This assistance is asked due to the fact that we must conserve gasoline and rubber for the needs of our country at a time like this. # TWO WAYS TO WEALTH

1. PLANNED SPENDING
2. PLANNED SAVING

This matter of being financially independent is no simple proposition. But you do have TWO CHOICES in the matter.

PLAN No. 1 relates to planned spending. It's for people who are realistic. It's simply a matter of figuring your necessary expenses . . . and then setting aside the big portion of the balance for the things you can't buy now but which will be available to you after VJ day. The plan will work too.

PLAN No. 2 appeals to us even more. It's for those who want to SAVE FIRST, and spend afterwards. Under this plan you set aside a definite amount each month. Just say to yourself, "10 per cent of all I earn belongs to me—and I'm going to pay myself first." Then do just that! Pay your butcher and baker and candle-stick maker out of what is left. This plan makes you live within your income (plus savings)—and your butcher and your baker and your candle-stick maker will see to it that you have enough left to pay them—or else.

There you have two simple and easy roads to wealth! But saving money isn't all there is to it. Investing money wisely is even more important. That's where your banker comes in. He can and will advise you well.

AGAINST RISING COSTS

The last generation has been the most important in the history of electricity and worth ringing the bell for, because it's during this last era that the use of electricity in America has become so popular, so widespread, so useful, and so cheap.

It's during this last historic generation that most of our electric appliances have come into common use—electric refrigerators around 1925; radios around 1930; electric washing machines and vacuum cleaners in the early twenties; electric roasters and clocks around 1932; and so forth. Their economical use has been made possible through the lowered price you pay for electricity. For it's been during these same years that the price of your electricity has been coming down and has stayed down, even in wartime. For example, if you're the average user of electricity, you are now getting about twice the electricity you got fifteen years ago for the same money.

This taxpaying, business-managed company is proud to have brought you these benefits at a lower and lower cost. Only by hard work and farsighted planning have we been able to accomplish these results.

Cemetery Plans -

satisfactorily in keeping the ground as is done in many of the more beautiful cemeteries over the country. It also has the necessary equipment to do the preliminary work.

"Grave plots with curbs will not be disturbed; but the streets and surrounding grounds will be improved to conform with the height of the plots.

"At the present time the old Cemetery only needs the graves marked and the mounds leveled down in order to be able to use a mower; for the ground is well sodded with native grass.

"In both the old and new cemeteries, it is hoped to work out a plan whereby water may be piped to the cemetery if we have a regular man, employed at full time, to take care of the grounds and see that the water is not wasted. It is the thought of both the Council and the Association that this will go forward at an early date.

"To further this end the City and Association intend to try to work out a plan with the funeral directors that use the cemeteries to use one common sexton to do their work such as digging graves and other work involved in their business. With this source of revenue in addition to what the City could pay out of the Cemetery fund together with various donations that are sent in from time to time, there would be provided enough funds to hire a sexton. His duty would also be to keep that portion of the cemetery that could not be kept by machinery.

"Both the City Council and the Cemetery Association would like to point out that the soil on the cemetery west of town is particularly adapted to the growing of evergreens. We wish to encourage the planting and cultivation of these shrubs since they thrive on natural rainfall in this soil.

"It is strictly up to the various plot owners of our cemeteries as to whether the above plan is put into execution; and it is our joint agreement that we will be governed by your wishes.

"It is the opinion of the Cemetery Association and the City Council that all citizens, contacted thus far, agree that this is a feasible manner of maintaining the cemeteries with the funds now available. An expression of the thoughts of every person who has loved ones buried in the Wellington cemeteries is requested and will be studied with thoughtful consideration.

Signed,
"Pink Sullivan,
Mayor, City of Wellington.
"Dave Thomas, President, Wellington Cemetery Association."

Officer Tells -

But to assure that they did learn of conditions, and see what was happening almost beneath their very eyes, all male Germans were brought down and forced to bury the bodies of those who had died. The women and children were taken down for what Holcomb called a "sight-seeing tour."

"The amazing thing," Lt. Holcomb declares, "is that when you got into Germany you could not find a Nazi German—so they said—but these so-called 'good Germans' went out at night and laid mines and sniped at American soldiers.

"The only really and truly good Germans I saw over there had been in a concentration camp for five and one-half years."

Lt. Holcomb had just one word for German-Russian relations, and that is that Germans have a deathly fear of their neighbor to the east that is now one of their conquerors.

Old Settlers -

Contest under the direction of Alva Wood will be held Friday night at the high school auditorium. Awards will be given those men chosen as the best fiddlers and also one to the oldest man taking part in the contest.

"Fiddling was part and parcel of our early day entertainment here, and this contest will bring back to you many of the good old songs we used to hear at the dances and home entertainments through the county," Mr. Thomas said.

In addition to local fiddlers, a number of out-of-county contestants are expected. All competing players are asked to arrive by 7:30. The contests will begin at 8:30 and there will be no admission charge.

Lunch will be served picnic style at noon and families attending are asked to bring well-filled baskets.

While the attendance will be smaller than in pre-war years, it is felt that this reunion is important in keeping alive the pioneer traditions of the section.

work on September 5, more than a month ahead of schedule, to get busy on unemployment, government reorganization and the continuation or abolition of war agencies.

Those were developments which on any other night would have commanded smash headlines. Those developments and surrender capped a week packed with some of history's most stunning news:

The first atomic bomb on Hiroshima, Russia's declaration of war, another atomic bomb on Nagasaki, Japan's offer to surrender if she could have her emperor and his sovereign prerogatives, an Allied declaration that he would become merely their instrument.

ples of the various nations can live in peace together and when capital and labor will be able to work harmoniously, through judging each other as God would judge, not after outward appearances, but after righteousness, which has its basis in the heart.

"I wouldn't say we will see this in the next 25 years, but I do say there will be a day when it comes to pass," Rev. Kinkeade declared. "And there will be a day when the emblem of Peace will be the emblem of Jesus."

A good rain also fell from Wellington north through the Lutie community, but several miles east of there it turned into only a light shower.
