Explorer Scouts Distinguish Selves

Rockport area Boy Scouts who are members of Explorer Troop No. 49 were outstanding performers in winning the Explorer Olympics of the 15-county Gulf Coast Council held Feb. 27 at the U. S. Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi.

Competing against 150 boys from 10 other South Texas cities, the 14 boys from Explorer Troop No. 49 distinguished themselves and deserve the plaudits of everyone in the Rockport-Fulton area.

The youths who did so well were Richard Montemayer, Rickey Valdez, Donald Setterbo, Benny Harris, Dean Richard, Steve Arispe, Tony Garcia, John McCready, Nicolas Ramos, Wally Sanford, Rene Pena, Dionicio Benavidez, Jr., Freeman Lemay and Oscar Pina.

The local boys won first place in the Olympics; their five entries in the cross-country run finished in the top places; and in the shotput, 100-yard dash, canoeing, 400-yard shuttle, science test, math test, basketball free throw, rifle, bowling and driving competition, our boys dominated these events.

The fine performance of the local boys, and the pride in their accomplishments, is well described in the following letter which Chester Johnson, Explorer Advisor, Troop 49, sent to Dave Segler, athletic director at Rockport-Fulton Junior and Senior High Schools, and to the entire physical education branch of Aransas County schools;

"The image of your fine overall athletic program at the Rockport-Fulton schools came to the surface for all present to see in the results of your finished products as our Explorer Post No. 49 boys won first place at the Explorer Olympics again Feb. 27.

"You and your staff are to be highly commended and I wish you could have been present to see the finish of the cross-country run (four miles) when our five entries took the first six places (except number 5 spot) with 20 competing.

"The shotput, 100-yard dash, canoeing, 400-yard shuttle, science test, math test, basketball free throw, rifle, bowling and driving competition were dominated by your well trained boys.

"May I go a bit further to say that while it is normal to have impudence from our youth today, this group of young men were so well behaved that their overall behavior and conduct was notic-

Janecek Chairman Cancer Crusade

W. W. (Bill) Janecek has been named chairman of the Aransas Countiy Unit of the American Cancer Society's 1971 educational fund raising crusade which begins April 1.

Rev. Charles Fake of Aransas County Unit announced the appointment. He stated that Bill had accepted the position "because of a deep understanding that the fight against cancer must not lose momentum but must be speeded up." In accepting the position in this area, Janacek stated that "last year insufficient appropriations hampered important cancer research programs. The Society received far more requests for grants, many which merited scientific support but could not be funded due to lack of money. While ACS increased its research expenditures, some promising developments in the search for the causes and treatment of various types of cancers are marking time."

Janecek, a relatively new member, has eleven years service with CPL in Corpus, Columbus and Rockport. While in Corpus, he was active in YMCA work and was chairman of the training committee for 1964 United Fund Drive. In Columbus, he was co-chairman of the Community Chest, secretary of Rotary Club, president of the Chamber of Commerce for two years. He was director of Industrial Foundation and of South Texas Chamber of Commerce. He has been District Commissioner of Braman District Boy Scouts and chairman of Community Betterment committee. In Rockport, he was co-chairman of United Fund in 1970 and is a director of Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of Sacred Heart Church.

Bill said it is the hope of the organization to persuade the hard core of registers to join the rank of the "checked-up" this year. "We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime, and will be urging people of Aransas County to join this fight — to protect themselves with a checkup and others with a check to their American Cancer Society."

SHELL DREDGING DAMAGE DISCUSSED

Shown seated at the table are Senator Bill Patman of Ganado, left, and Senator Tom Creighton, meeting with other members of the Senate Water and Conservation Committee. Senator Patman, Vice Chairman of this important committee, is discussing The Proposed Water Code of Texas, which will update the outmoded 1925 version of water statutes.

AUSTIN — State Senator Bill Patman said recently that a new approach should be taken to the damage done by shell dredging along the Texas coast. "We need to recognize the increased dangers to life and property adjacent to the bays caused by the removal of oyster shell reefs," said Senator Patman.

"These reefs, which have taken millions of years to build up, serve as vital barriers and breakwaters against wave turbulence," the Ganado Senator continued.

"Replacing exposed shell reef, or even the shallow water area caused by the presence of a shell reef, with a 45-foot hole in our bay areas, such as may be caused from shell dredging, is simply inviting trouble," said Senator Patman.

"This session of the Legislature should consider giving some state agency the power to deny applications to dredge shell in the bays of Texas when such dredging would likely place life and property ashore a greater peril during the hurricane seasons," said Senator Patman.

C of C Board Holds Productive Meeting

With president R. L. Eckman presiding, the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors met Tuesday noon at Key Alegro Restaurant and reported on a busy program of action.

Insurance. Jack McDavid reported on attending a House legislative committee hearing on insurance bills at Austin. He and others, representing the Chamber of Commerce, the Navigation District and local business and home owners, went to Austin to do everything they could to look out for the future interests of insurance policy holders. In addition to McDavid, others who attended the hearing were Sam Wilcox, Jerre Ledbetter, Navigation District Attorney Ellis Clark and City Attorney William Bloch.

Excess HUD Homes To Be Moved

Excess mobile homes in the Coastal Bend area being leased by the Department of Housing and Urban Development will soon be moved to the national disaster area in northern Mississippi which was devastated by tornados.

"Officials in Washington have informed me that HUD will have a role in the Mississippi delta area similar to the one we played here after Celia," says Don Earney, director of the HUD Celia Field Office. "Thousands of families are homeless there and the use of government-leased mobile homes to house them has been authorized," he continues.

"We now have 150 HUD mobile homes in the Coastal Bend area which can be ready to start rolling within 48 hours, but many more will be needed to meet the tremendous needs now existing in Mississippi," Earney adds. "For that reason, we are asking all local occupants of HUD mobile homes who are now able to turn them back to consider the great personal suffering of these people and to make available HUD mobile homes as soon as possible," says Earney.

The HUD director does note, however, that no HUD mobile home occupants in the Coastal Bend area will lose their temporary housing while they still have a legitimate need, but he does feel those occupants who are just lingering in the HUD units are "causing a prolonged hardship for their fellow Americans who have also become victims of a natural disaster."

Area residents who are living in HUD mobile homes can turn them back by calling their local housing authority or HUD management office. In Rockport, the Housing Authority phone number is 729-5718 for Mrs. Ruth Dietrich.

The bids received were from Picton-McMillan Construction Co. and from Paul Harris. Aldermen Charlie Garrett and N. F. Jackson voted to table the bids. Aldermen Mrs. J. W. "Tony" Harden and Joe "Pepe" Zambrano abstained from voting, and Mayor Delmar R. Hiller then voted with Garrett and Jackson, so the bids were tabled.

Also on April 3 the city will hold a special election asking the voters for authority to sell the land now occupied by the Little League Park and the land where the old fire station was located.

Mrs. Ruby McLester was surprised by a birthday party. Cake, coffee and punch were served after the meeting.

The Kinsey Report

Most happy people are those who get involved in things.

Just look around and notice the men and women who have smiles on their faces and who are enthusiastic. Most of them are busy people who are involved in one or more activities.

This week, for example, a well known local businessman was bubbling over with enthusiasm and pride regarding the fine showing of local Explorer Scouts in the Explorer Olympic competition in Corpus Christi. He couldn't say enough about the accomplishments of these youths, their sportsmanship and their gentlemanly behaivior.

Several ladies I know are so active in several organizations that they never have time to get bored, feel sorry for themselves or wonder what to do with their spare time.

So, if you're bored or lonesome, why not volunteer to do something worthwhile for your church, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, American Cancer Society, or some other organization?

By helping others, you'll "get out of yourself."

"(10) The commission is further authorized to recommend to each Legislature changes which will update, improve, and effect economy in the legislative process."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on the 18th day of May, 1971, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment to create a State Ethics Commission empowered to set rules of ethics for members of the Legislature, State officers and legislative officers, to investigate violations thereof, and to recommend compensation for members of the Legislature and the Lieutenant Governor and recommend improvements and economy in the legislative process."

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequiently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I need more tax forms. Where can I get them?

A—Any local IRS office should have the forms you need. Many banks and post offices also stock the most frequently used forms.

To avoid processing and refund delays, don't forget to take the name label off the cover of your 1040 tax package and put in on the Form 1040 you file.

Q—Will any Irs office compute my tax for me?

A—No, the tax computation is done at the IRS regional service center where the returns are processed. If you wish to have the IRS compute your tax, complete all the appropriate lines on your return and then mail it to IRS as you have in the past. Be sure to attach all necessary scheduled. Only those who have $20,000 or less income consisting of salaries, wages, dividents, interest, pension or annuties and claim the standard deduction, qualify to have IRS compute their tax. If you meet these requirements and are entitled to a retirement income credit, follow the instructions at the top of Schedule R, attach it to your return, and the credit will be computed by IRS.

Q—I'm taking care of my mother's tax return this year. What special benefits is she entitled to by being 65?

A—The tax benefits for older Americans are explained in a free booklet by that name which is available free at IRS offices. Ask for Publication 554.

Q—I was out of work several months last year and received unemployment benefits. Do I have to include them with the rest of my income?

A—No, unemployment benefits are not taxable and do not have to be reported.

Q—My son now buys most of his clothes with what he makes on his after school job. Will this cause any change in his dependency status?

A—If you are referring to the support test, the fact your son buys his own clothes will probably not disqualify him. Included in support are food, lodging, medical and educational expenses as well as clothing. If you provide more than half the cost of these items, you son will still qualify as your dependent under the support test.

Q—Which of my home expenses can I deduct?

A—Homeowners may deduct the real estate taxes paid on their property and the interest portion of mortgage payments. Utility costs, repair and maintenance expenses are not deductible.

Improvements to a home or property are considered capital expenditures and may be added to the property's basis.

Q—I got a statement from my bank showing how much my savings account earned last year. Should I send it in with my 1040?

A—No, the statement is only for your records. The bank has also sent the IRS a copy.

If your total interest income in 1970 was under $100 just enter it on line 14 of your Form 1040. If it was over $100, itemize using Schedule B and enter the total on line 14.

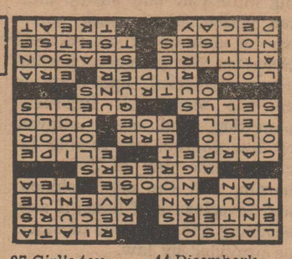

Q—My husband and I work and we pay a neighbor to take care of our children after school. We can deduct this?

A—It may qualify as a child care expense which is deductible under certain conditions. The amount of the deduction is a maximum of $600 for one dependent, or $900 for two or more dependents.

This deduction is explained on Pages 8 and 9 of the Form 1040 instructions. If you qualify, don't forget to complete Form 2441 and send it in with your Form 1940.

CHEESE-CRAB FONDUE TASTY

AUSTIN—The fondue party idea has captured the imagination of hostesses the world over. In Texas it can be given a special touch by using Texas fishery products, according to the Seafood Marketing Division of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The classic fondue is a mixture of melted cheese and wine into which the guests dip chunks of bread. As a main course, small pieces of fish, peeled and de-veined shrimp and oysters wrapped in slices of bacon can be cooked in hot (375 degrees) oil.

An interesting and tasty variation is the "Cheese-Crab Fondue," a creamy mixture which can be used as an appetizer served with Melba toast or as a luncheon dish on toast points or in party shells.

Blue crab, fresh from the Texas Gulf shores, is favored for this taste treat. Lump meat is the most expensive since it consists of large chunks of select body meat. Flake meat is smaller pieces of the white meat and still of good, wholesome quality.

Crabmeat labeled "Special" is part lump and part flake meat. Crabmeat picked from the shell is always cooked in order to insure wholesomeness.

Canned crabmeat is available in supermarkets but does not have the fresh taste and firm texture of fresh cooked crab.

Crabmeat is delicious in salads, casseroles and sandwiches, but for those in a fondue mood, Cheese-Crab Fondue will be a delicious treat for you.

Cheese-Crab Fondue

8 ounces fresh blue crab meat, lump or special
1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream or shrimp soup
¼ cup milk or half-and-half cream
½ cup shreaded process American or cheddar cheese
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Dash paprika
Dash white pepper
2 tablespoons sherry, optional

Drain crabmeat and remove any remaining shell or cartilage. Thaw shrimp soup and combine with milk in fondue pot. Cover and heat over direct moderate flame, stirring often. Fold in remaining ingredients except sherry.

Heat to serving temperature, then adjust to low flame to keep mixture warm. Stir in sherry just before serving. Serve with Melba toast, toast points or in patty shells. Add milk if a thinner mixture is desired. Makes approximately 2¾ cups.

Our Brother's Keeper

For too long too many of us have listened with tolerance to the professional bleeding hearts who would have us believe that we Americans are guilty of an endless list of crimes against humanity, while in fact we are the most outstanding freedom-loving nation on earth.

No other country has such a record of respect for the rights of the individual—the right to be himself, express his opinions and follow his own ideals without direction or interference from the state.

And no other nation in history has contributed as much money and as much human talent as we have in a compassionate effort to improve the lot of people everywhere. Almost every country in the world has benefitted from America's generousity, especially since World War 11.

America has a conscience. It believes in and meets its responsibility to help the less fortunate at home and abroad.

A checking account at First National is a must for most people. It provides a safe and convenient way to handle money, a device which insures a complete record of all financial transactions.

The following is a copy of a letter I recently wrote to one of our Congressmen. The settlement of the SST controversy is very important and will affect our nation for years to come. Whether you agree or disagree with me, please write your representatives and express your opinion. These men should know that people in our area are aware of the issues of today and care about their outcome.

Honorable John Young
Dear Sir:

I am writing you because I want to express my opposition to the spending of any more United States government money toward the development of a Supersonic Transport.

In my opinion, the SST would cost far too much to develop, would cause serious noise pollution problems, and would never be a money-making vehicle with direct government subsidy.

Proponents of the SST usually list three main reasons for the construction of the airplane: to maintain U.S. air superiority, to provide jobs, and to help maintain a large company that has been an important source of our nation's defense equipment. Now I can see some validity in all these points, but I notice that none of them say we need the plane for its own sake. If we build two hundred SST's and then let them sit in the airports and never fly, we would still have satisfied the goals of her backers. The chances are that real negative results would not occur until the SST was put to actual use, at which time very serious environmental and economic losses would be felt.

Sir, I honestly believe that the only people who advocate that we have the world's biggest and fastest passenger airplane are those who expect to gain from it themselves, either monetarily or politically. Most of our citizens are becoming concerned about other things besides trying to prove how rich and powerful we are to the rest of the world. For once, why don't we try to prove how much common sense we have?

The company that is developing the SST has been faced with similar losses of government contracts before. After World War I, the company changed from producing war machinery to making furniture and household appliances. Is it possible that the company leaders then were more farsighted and better planners than those of today?

If my government is going to give my money to a company so that it and its employees can continue to thrive, then I would prefer they develop something that we honestly need, like a really good mass transit vehicle and system for our country or a pollution-free garbage disposal system which could be within the budgetary limits of our smaller communities.

Please cast your vote against further development of the SST. Respectfully,

Eddie Bradley

The purpose of our leaflet on breast cancer is to show you how. And what to look for. Because breast cancer is the leading cause of cancer death in women. But it's also detectable. Early.
