Negro Slayer Is Suicide Victim

HENDERSON, Nov. 24.—Angus Williams, 35, negro ex-convict, who had been pursued all night by 400 possemen through East Texas pine thickets, after he shot and killed Constable Elbert Grigsby, shot himself to death today in his cabin near Tatum.

The meeting was called by Cook on suggestions of E. N. Holmgren, administrative officer of the state committee, College Station, who stated the group is considering making recommendations to national officials in regard to including commercial peanuts in the general soil depletion base, rather than maintaining a special base for the crops, in minor peanut counties outside of or bordering on commercial peanut areas.

Farmers have been advised to tell their committeemen their opinion before the meeting.

PROFITS TAX REVISION SEEN LIKELY TODAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A series of conferences on Capitol Hill today suddenly renewed speculation that the administration would speed efforts to re-assure business in regard to relief from undistributed profit tax burdens.

The move coincided with the call by Sen. Burton K. Wheeler for reassurance to business.

The Montana senator said that the administration has "slipped materially in the country as a result of the court fight and of the business recession."

"It has slipped so much," he asserted, "I'm afraid the pendulum may swing back to the reactionary."

Whether an administration-approved move would revise the profits tax at this session would result, or whether there would be pronouncements of an effort to encourage business was uncertain pending the outcome of discussions among treasury and congressional leaders.

Meanwhile Chairman William Douglas of the Securities and Exchange Commission offered the nation's stock market the choice between cooperative "progressive action" to eliminate alleged abuses or submission to thorough federal control. He spoke in the midst of the worst market slump since 1929.

Oil Belt Season Will End With Five Games Played Turkey Day

The Oil Belt football season will come to an end today, with Abilene favored to win over San Angelo, despite reported injuries to the Eagles, and thereby take the Oil Belt title for the second consecutive year. Should Abilene lose, the Stephenville-Yellow Jackets, who play the Bulldogs of Ranger this afternoon, will be left in a tie with the Eagles for the championship and it would likely be left to the executive committee of the district or the two schools as to which would represent the district, the winner being chosen on the basis of previous records.

The Bulldogs are expected to lose handily to the Yellow Jackets, previous scores indicating that the Stephenville team has a decided edge.

Early in the season Stephenville defeated San Angelo 8 to 0 and San Angelo defeated the Bulldogs 61 to 13. Stephenville defeated Cisco 45 to 0 and the Lobos downed the Bulldogs 32 to 6. The Jackets won from Breckenridge 13 to 7 and the Buckaroos won 67 to 0 from Ranger.

Sweetwater fell 20 to 0 before the Jackets and then defeated Ranger 64 to 0. Big Spring held the Jackets to a 13-12 win but defeated Ranger 20 to 0. Abilene won over Stephenville 7 to 0 and defeated Ranger 62 to 12. Eastland fell before the Stephenville machine 38 to 18 and Eastland downed Ranger 47 to 13, while Brownwood lost to Stephenville 7 to 0 and defeated the Bulldogs 46 to 0.

Eastland and Cisco, who also play this afternoon, are more evenly matched, with early season records favoring Eastland and the late season improvement by the Lobos indicating that they will have a good chance to win, so the game should be more evenly matched than the Stephenville-Ranger affair.

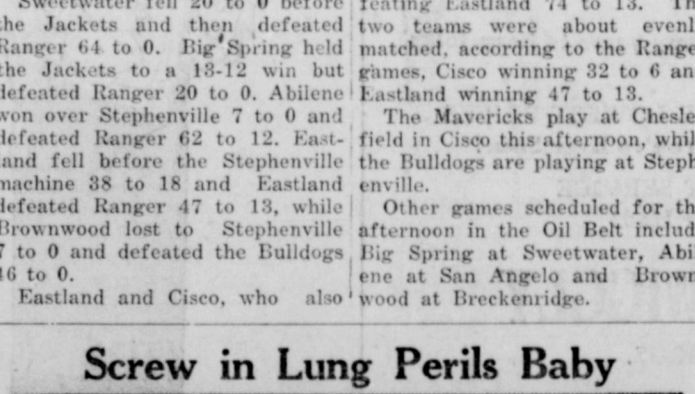

In the first conference game of the season Cisco lost to Stephenville 45 to 0 while Eastland lost to the Jackets 39 to 18. Cisco lost to Big Spring in her second game, while Eastland won from the Steers 18 to 13. San Angelo downed Cisco 46 to 0 and romped over Eastland 81 to 0. The Lobos showed their first strength when they defeated Brownwood 6 to 0 after Eastland had been defeated 13 to 9 by the Lions.

The Lobos held Abilene to a 13 to 0 win and Abilene won from Eastland 21 to 6, while the Lobos lost 33 to 0 to Sweetwater and Eastland was defeated by the same team 49 to 7. The Breckenridge game also indicated Cisco's late strength, the Buckaroos downing Cisco 21 to 12 after defeating Eastland 74 to 13. The two teams were about evenly matched, according to the Ranger games, Cisco winning 32 to 6 and Eastland winning 47 to 13.

The Mavericks play at Chesley field in Cisco this afternoon, while the Bulldogs are playing at Stephenville.

Other games scheduled for the afternoon in the Oil Belt include Big Spring at Sweetwater, Abilene at San Angelo and Brownwood at Breckenridge.

Those persons paying taxes in one lump sum have until February 1, 1938, to pay 1937 assessments without penalty.

Ravenous Sea Gulls Peck Holes In Roof

FIVE MEETINGS FOR NAMING GROUPS TO ADMINISTER '38 FARMING PROGRAM ARE SET

Five meetings of farmers and ranchers of Eastland county to elect committeemen for the 1938 farm and range program were announced Wednesday by County Agent Almo V. Cook for next week.

All farmers, ranchers and landowners in Eastland county were urged by Cook to attend the meeting in their respective section of the county and vote in their election.

The committeemen elected at the meetings must derive the principal part of their income from farming or ranching and must be a resident of the section of the county for which they are elected to serve. They are not eligible to hold office as committeemen if they are holding or become a candidate for an elective or appointive county, state or federal office, it was explained.

Any person who solicits election as a committeeman is not eligible to serve.

The five divisions of Eastland county for the purpose of electing committeemen and conducting the agricultural conservation program for 1938 are the same divisions as those used in the 1936 and 1937 programs. Farmers and ranchers bordering on the boundary lines may vote in either election but may not vote in both elections.

The five divisions of the county are described, briefly as follows:

Section 1—All of county commissioners precinct No. 1, including Eastland and Ranger. Election meeting to be held at Ranger at 2 p. m. Tuesday, in the Gholson hotel.

Section 2—All of county commissioners precinct No. 4, including Cisco, plus a strip of land from the north end of the Rising Star commissioners precinct cut off by the road running east and west through Cook community. Election meeting will be held at Cisco at the City Hall, Monday at 2 p. m.

Section 3—The eastern half of county commissioners precinct No. 2, including Gorman and Desdemona. Election meeting will be at Gorman at the theatre Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Section 4—The western half of county commissioners precinct No. 2, including Carbon. Election meeting will be held at Carbon at the Methodist church Thursday at 2 p. m.

Section 5—All of county commissioners precinct No. 3 except the northern part cut off by the road running east and west. Election meeting will be at the Rising Star theatre at 2 p. m. Friday.

Every farmer, rancher and landowner of the county in Eastland county was urged to attend one of the meetings and vote as all are eligible regardless whether they were signers in the 1937 program. Ranchers were reminded that the one set of committeemen elected will administer both the range and farm program.

At each meeting, after committeemen are elected, a discussion on grades and quality of peanuts will be held. The discussion will include ways to improve grades also, it was stated.

Proclamation of 87 Years Ago Is Applicable Today

AUSTIN, Nov. 24.—Although Thanksgiving Day first was proclaimed a state holiday 87 years ago, much of the original proclamation might have been repeated appropriately by Gov. James V. Allred in this year's proclamation.

Gov. P. Hansborough Bell issued the first Thanksgiving proclamation for Texas. It did not call for the usual November observance, but for a day of thanksgiving on the first Thursday in March, 1851. The proclamation was issued on the last day of 1850. In scholarly language it reviewed events of the year for which the governor deemed a day of thanks should be observed.

None of the Presidents of the Republic of Texas had issued any Thanksgiving proclamations. So far as records show none was issued by any governor preceding Bell. One later governor omitted the annual proclamation, explaining he thought prayer and thanksgiving a religious matter that should be kept distinct from affairs of the state.

That times do not change greatly is illustrated aptly by the old proclamation. The year 1850, Governor Bell said, "has been pregnant with peril to our glorious institutions of government and full of incident worthy to be engraven on the memories of the living and by them to be faithfully recorded for the information and benefit of posterity."

"Our beloved state has had her travails and full share of political inquietude. But if evils manifold and great have assailed our shadowed the harmony and tranquility of the country, issues out of its misfortunes have been happier than was anticipated by its most devoted and sanguine friends. We are yet, however, in the midst of stormy agitations from which the country can be relieved only by the exercise of the most exalted virtues."

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 24.—The Ford Company assembly plant here was operating as usual today after non-striking employees battered through picket lines to take their places on the assembly lines.

Preacher Is Found Guilty of Murder

PITTSFIELD, Ill., Nov. 24.—Rev. Colonel Newton, frail Baptist preacher, was found guilty today by a circuit court jury, of the murder of Mrs. Maybelle Kelly, his admiring parishioner.

Newton was calm as the verdict was read.

"I'm not much surprised," he said. "What, with all the prejudice and publicity, I'm going to ask for a new trial."

Former Eastland Man's Home Burns

The home of Leroy Stone, superintendent of the Blackwell public schools and formerly head of the mathematics department of Eastland High school, was totally destroyed by fire last week, friends were advised Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone and their daughter, Sandra, were at the school attending a basketball tournament when the fire occurred.

The fire originated, it was stated, in the top of the house, apparently from defective wiring, and neighbors were able to save some of the furniture. Clothing, kitchen ware, silver and other household items were a total loss and were not covered by insurance.

Striving for Something More

Seed of that happy phenomenon, Thanksgiving, was sown back in the legendary days of our earliest settlers when, around the third Thursday of one cold, snowy November, they came to the conclusion that their half a loaf was better than none—and gathered to praise the thought.

By grace of public proclamation and a national weakness for turkey, that earnest little beginning has grown into a custom of sturdy proportions.

And as a custom, it is such a good one that it stirs conjecture of what might happen if it lasted the year around.

Imagine all the cliques and classes, all the social and economic subdivisions of the nation giving up their private ambitions in order to keep the Thanksgiving spirit at high tide for, say, 12 whole months.

Strife and turmoil would disappear magically. The labor wars would feed up and collapse; there would be no more high tax worries, no more carrying at Nazis and Communists. There would be no concern over Japan's war on China, or the high cost of living, or the neighbor's roving chickens, or Sweden's fifth football defeat of the year.

In plainer words, life would be just too nice, too sweet, to grow to be real in a modern era which requires lots of weather—and the ability to fight back when it's called for.

Today's human beings aren't striving merely for enough corn and meat to carry them through a hard winter. They have to contend, as well, with a welter of new political, economic and social schemes which may remold life virtually over a week-end.

Perhaps that's why we can't spend a whole year as disciples of the credo of gratitude. Like those early pioneers, we have other duties that monopolize our attention. Three hundred and sixty-four days of the year, we are striving to keep our balance and our jobs through the confusion that has become the hallmark of the first half of the 20th century.

Keeping the level head through the depression deeps and the weird aftermaths of the depression has required all the balance, judgment, and discernment the nation could muster.

But we did remain sane and the nation is still intact. There can be no gloating until many still hungry persons are fed and clothed, but in the meantime, Americans have proved to themselves that they can take it on the chin, and they have every right to be thankful for that.

Texas May Supply
Meerscham Pipes
For Entire World

AUSTIN, Texas—Many rare minerals are available in Texas, the mineral resources committee of the State Planning Board reported in findings filed here.

Uvalde deposits of Sepiolite have been discovered sufficient to supply the world with meerscham pipes for 100 years. The deposit is within sight of the home of Vice President John N. Garner.

Uvalde's rock asphalt already has become widely known and is used in many places for paving.

Potash is found in large quantities in several West Texas counties. Sen. Morris Sheppard has sponsored national legislation calling for surveys of its extent and accessibility. It is in demand chiefly as a fertilizer.

Precious metals in Brewster county have been mined for many years. Some of the less known minerals obtainable in Texas are: vermiculite, a mica like insulator; mineral wool; serpentine, a roofing paper filler; graphite Iceland spar; pumiceite; feldspar; various granites, marbles and pottery clays.

Salt, sulphur, lead, cooper, gypsum and quicksilver are being produced already in large quantities in the state. The sulphur deposits are estimated to be 90 per cent of the United States total.

"THANKS A MILLION".
FOR ANOTHER MILLION
IN 1937!

Again in 1937, for the second consecutive year, motorists will have purchased more than one million Chevrolets; and they are now giving an even greater measure of friendship and favor to Chevrolet for 1938.

Again this year, at Thanksgiving time, we of Chevrolet wish to express our deep and sincere appreciation for the loyal friendship of motor car buyers in 1937 and, in fact, throughout more than a quarter-century.

You who motor have always been exceedingly generous in your response to Chevrolet products, and this year you have been particularly generous, as is clearly indicated by the following facts:

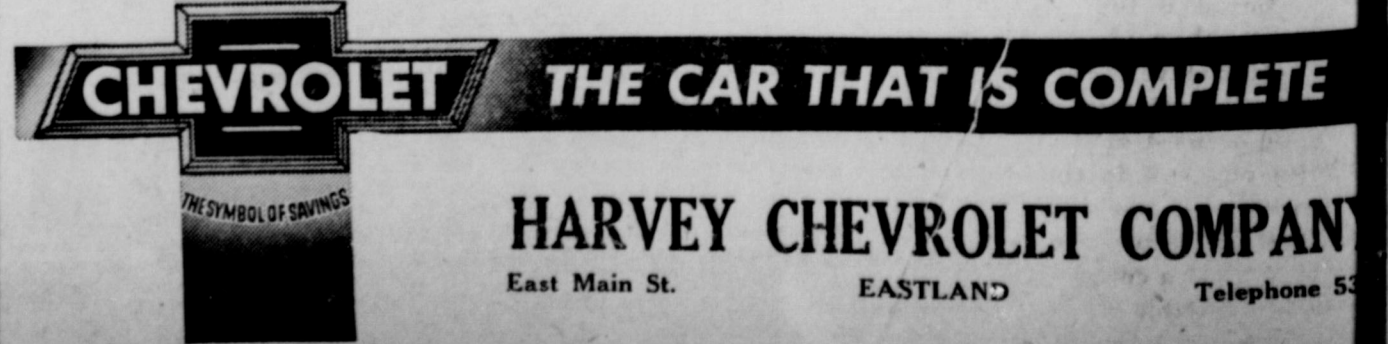

You have displayed such keen and enthusiastic favor for Chevrolet that this is the second consecutive year in which you will have purchased more than one million new Chevrolets!

You have shown the same eager liking for Chevrolet trucks and commercial cars, with the result that they have become known as the thrif-carriers for the nation!

You have paid Chevrolet dealers an overwhelming tribute of confidence by purchasing more than 1,750,000 used cars from the only men who sell used cars bearing the famous Guaranteed OK tag!

And now you are giving still further evidence of your friendship by awarding the new Chevrolet for 1938 the most enthusiastic endorsement any new Chevrolet has ever received!

Thank you for your friendship . . . "thanks a million" for another million in 1937 . . . and you may rest assured that Chevrolet will also express its appreciation in deeds by continuing to serve you faithfully and by continuing to build the kind of car you'll always prefer to own. CAST OF CHARACTERS
ROBERT BARRY—hero, explorer.
MELISSA LANE—heroine, Barry's partner.
HONEY BEE GIRL—Indian, member of Barry's party.
HADES JONES—pioneer, member of Barry's party.

Yesterday, Bob Barry dangled at the end of 800 feet of rope. He came down slowly, his hands in his pockets.

CHAPTER VI
 HOLLMAN couldn't know, of course, that Bob Barry was safe on the "front porch" of Defiance Castle.

The man above had sensed, rather than actually seen, that something was wrong with his boss. He had seen the two girls below pointing excitedly, and too late it had dawned on him that this cliff had a dangerous overhang. It would be much bigger in reality than it appeared from below, he knew; distances are deceptive that way. When the rope had acted crazily, away and jerking, Hollman deduced that Bob was trying to climb back up to safety, but had fallen in the attempt.

Actually, Bob had given one final swing and let go—to land on his goal, the rock ledge that held the bell. Other troubles were ahead—such as the way to get back down to camp again—but for the moment he was safe. He had done an acrobatic stunt which he himself would have called crazy under most circumstances. He looked down to see both girls waving at him.

"ALL RIGHT!" he yelled. "Sorry to frighten you!"

He couldn't catch their answer, but he did hear Hades Jones, who was directly at the base of the cliff now.

"You dang young fool, we'd ought to lift yore SCALP!" Hades never was one given to gentleness. "Ain't choo got no sense?"

"NO!" yelled Bob, agreeably. "Fighter out a way for me to get down, Uncle Hades."

He couldn't hear Hades any more, and he didn't need to. He could well imagine the mouthing the old man was doing. He shouted down for Hades to go after Hollman.

GETTING down didn't prove half the task Bob at first feared it might. First, though, he made a hasty survey of Defiance Castle—he wouldn't have missed that even if he rotted on the ledge later. He found 19 rooms in the place, and crumbled walls of what must have been six or eight more. The rooms were invariably small, about 8 by 10 feet in most cases; obviously there had been many occupants, and space was precious.

There were no windows. Doors were less than four feet high. "More pygmies," Bob muttered, smiling.

That was an old mistake, he knew; the ancient people made low doors for defense. Enemies might rush a six-foot door and take a fortress, but they would have to stoop to enter a low one; one squaw inside with a club could thus defend it.

He saw an abundance of shards, and many unbroken bowls and storage jars. Several weapons were in evidence, also fireplaces, bits of wood, even charred corn-cobs which he knew to be centuries old. Partly wrapped in a shroud woven of grass fibers, now decayed, was the dried shrunken mummy of an old man.

Bob wandered, enthralled, as long as he dared. He realized his obligation to his associates, and so reappeared after half an hour on the outside or eastern edge of the great rock lip. He gave thought to getting out safely.

THE rope was beyond reach—so far that he wondered how he had ever swung far enough to leap into the cave. He still could see no possible means of entrance or egress, unless a series of six or eight long ladders, supplemented by chiseled finger and toe holds, were placed on the face of the cliff. There were some natural steps and footholds, nevertheless. Defiance Castle was the most impregnable of all the cliff fortresses he had ever seen, he knew.

When he was sure that no other means offered, Bob did a simple thing. He grinned to himself as he worked.

"I'll look like a real cave man when I descend," he told himself. He wondered what Hades Jones would say then.

With his pocket knife, he cut and tore his shirt, handkerchief, trousers' legs and undershirt into small strings and tied their ends together. He let this long string down to Mary Melissa and Honey Bee Girl, then pulled up a small rope which they tied to the string. With the small rope he then pulled up a stronger one.

Building Permits Show An Increase

AUSTIN.—Building permits during October were moderately above those of the preceding

It took time, but it was easy. He knotted the big rope at frequent intervals, for "steps," and himself was back in camp soon after Hades Jones returned with Hollman. The talk was very profuse all around, for a while, save for Honey Bee.

When food had been served, and the work of building a more permanent camp started, Honey Bee approached Bob alone, just outside the supply tent.

"I cried when you were up there," she whispered, rather surprisingly.

Mary Melissa overheard it. She was inside the supply tent, but obviously the Indian girl didn't know.

Honey Bee's inflection was one of secrecy, of deliberate intimacy. In the Indian's background, actions were direct; one took what one wanted, one said what one thought, let the results be as they may.

MARY MELISSA caught the intent in a flash, realized in that instant that Honey Bee was in love with Robert Barry. The thought astounded her.

"You—you mean—?" Bob missed it. "Aw, that's all right, Honey Bee. Don't worry about me. But I'm sorry I frightened you girls. Certainly I don't want to scare the best cook I ever had."

Mary Melissa remained quiet until they moved away. Best not reveal that she had overheard, even by accident, so personal a bit of conversation. The thing had upset her greatly. Then, on top of the excitement when Bob was in danger, served doubly to unnerve her.

She realized, though, that all this was more of her affair, that this was a business trip in the interest of science, and from her standpoint a vacation from the hectic and somewhat stifling routine of society in the moneyed East. What if the red girl did throw herself at Dr. Barry?

Mary Melissa was doing her best to philosophize, to be logical. But it wouldn't work. Logic wasn't the answer; her eyes filled with uninvited tears, and a sob came. She got up hastily then, to go and look for old Hades Jones. She must talk to somebody.

The white girl's chin was set, and her eyes were strangely hard, as she walked away. She knew there was just one thing in all the world she wanted, and she meant to have it.

SORE THROAT WITH COLDS Given Fast Relief

Take 2 Bayer Tablets with a full glass of water.

Crush 3 Bayer Tablets in $\frac{1}{2}$ glass of water—gargle twice every few hours.

The speed with which Bayer tablets act in relieving the distressing symptoms of colds and accompanying sore throat is utterly amazing—and the treatment is simple and pleasant. This is all you do. Crush and dissolve three genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets in your third glass of water. Then gargle with this mixture twice, holding your head well back.

This medicinal gargle will act almost like a local anesthetic on the sore, irritated membrane of your throat. Pain eases promptly; rawness is relieved.

You will say it is remarkable. And the few cents it costs effects a big saving over expensive "throat gargles" and strong medicines. And when you buy, see that you get genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

MOST people like an occasional vegetable dinner. When it is served to a family, the housewife must provide sufficient food to satisfy hungry children and weary husbands. She should remember that we all require a certain amount of protein daily, a good part of which is usually furnished by the meat at dinner so that in planning her vegetable meal she must provide a substitute.

Here are three dinner menus using vegetables as the main course, yet keeping the protein requirements filled.

Sport Glances. By Grayson

 Sports Editor, NEA Service

SANTA ANITA having demonstrated that there really is gold in them that California hills, more than a dozen foreign-bred horses will chase it this winter.

They are more than welcome, for the American turf is sadly in need of handicap races.

Again it principally is the Hollywood picture colony that is peeping up racing on this side. It's a case of new blood two ways—owners and horses.

Last year Raoul Walsh brought Grand Manitou from France. He also imported Sunset Trail II from Ireland in hope of copping the Kentucky Derby.

Grand Manitou did not live up to promise, although he is a stakes winner in this country and may be of considerable value later on. And the producer and director was sufficiently satisfied to try the experiment again.

So this trip Walsh is importing Froxo from France. Froxo is eligible for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap in February, while a pair of 2-year-olds no doubt will be pointed for future editions.

THERE seems little question but that the South American horses, Caballero II and Sahri II, will journey to the plant of the Los Angeles Turf Club this winter.

In any event, Senor Lawrence Barker already has three importations from Chile at Santa Anita, with more en route.

Senor Bing Crosby has a half interest in the Argentine thoroughbred, Sabueso. Incidentally, the other half of that interest rests with C. S. Howard's son, Lynn, so Seabiscuit has a family rivalry. Two more foreign plugs which will appear during the Santa Anita meeting opening Christmas Day were sired by Night Raid, which got the lamented Phar Lap.

Greatest interest surrounds the French-bred Le Bambino, however. He is owned by Monsieur Ralph Beaver Strassburger, expatriate American sportsman. The Strassburger stud is situated in France, where Le Bambino was born and where he bagged a pair of events as a juvenile, but his owner also maintains an English stable.

LE BAMBINO is a more or less diminutive animal, being about as high as War Admiral. His sire was unbeaten Cavalier D'Arpino, and Le Bambino, despite a mediocre record, has shown enough to indicate that he may be a worthy son. He prevailed twice in England this year, and raced to within a length and a half of Midway Sun in the latter's warm-up victory before the English Derby. He finished seventh in the English Derby.

Santa Anita, with its $100,000 in a lump sum, in addition to four or five other races of $10,000 and much more, is an attractive spot for owners.

As related in the foregoing, the new crop is a welcome addition to handicap competition there and elsewhere in this country, but so far neither War Admiral nor Seabiscuit has shown the slightest sign of nervousness, except in looking at each other.

Rattler Errs In Role As a Pet

By United Press

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—Friendliness of a rattlesnake at an Ouachita National Forest lookout near here resulted in its death.

The snake, named "Old Spot" by the forestry lookouts, had loitered near the tower atop Oak Mountain for two years, "chumming" with the observers. In the cool of the day the snake could be found at the foot of the tower, waiting for his human companions to come down and "play with him."

Recently a new helper who was not so familiar with the snake's ways was assigned to the tower. The helper was hanging up clothing one morning when "Old Spot" crawled up the hill. The reptile was playful, but the lookout thought the snake meant business.

"Old Spot" got too close. Now he won't come back for any more games.

"Old Spot" was one of three rattlers that were seen around in the vicinity of the lookout tower. A little later one of its mates was found dead.

The third reptile, sensing a change in attitude, apparently found a new home. It hasn't been seen since in the vicinity of the tower.

Forest rangers said that the snakes were wild, but that they never had tried to bite anyone. Forest workers even had fed insects to "Old Spot."

Purchasing Power Of Cattle Follows Trend of Numbers

COLLEGE STATION — Cattle numbers and the purchasing power of cattle follow cycles varying from 4 to 6 years in length, according to W. E. Morgan, economist of the Extension Service division of Texas A. & M. College. When the purchasing power of cattle is high, production is stimulated, and cattle numbers increase, Morgan points out. On the other hand, when purchasing power is low, production is curtailed. In 1920, there were about 49 million head of cattle in the U. S., Morgan says. In that year a steer was worth, in terms of what the ranchman could buy with the proceeds of the sale, 79 per cent as much as it was in the years 1910 to 1914. In 1930, 10 years later, there were 38 million head of cattle in the country and a steer was worth 34 per cent more in buying power than it was in 1910-14.

U. of T. Directory of Students Is Issued

AUSTIN, Texas—A directory of students of the University of Texas left the press this week with names, addresses and telephone numbers of more than 7,000 enrollees.

Statistically minded students gained these facts from the directory: Smiths are the most numerous with 113 and Browns next with 66. There are 59 Joneses and 56 Johnsons. The popularity of President Woodrow Wilson in the period when present day students were revealed by eight with Woodrows as a given name.

Seizo Huga, farthest away registrant, will scarcely be able to go to his home at Azabu, Japan, for the mid-term holidays. It would take 17 days for the one-way journey. Three students are from the Philippine Islands, 41 from Mexico, seven from the Canal Zone, four from Puerto Rico, three from Cuba, two from Venezuela, two from Panama and two from Turkey. Canada sent one student to the University of Texas and one is here from Germany. Huga came from Japan to Texas to study cotton marketing and two students from Turkey were attracted to Texas by the university's course in petroleum engineering.

CAPE COD 'TURKEY'

Dipping into brown swells that champed hungrily at the frosted strakes of his dory, the Cape Codder crouched to his cold work with wet, streaming lines till a catch of fish had been made. Good cod was his Thanksgiving "turkey." With dull skies sinking heavily upon him and the first ghostly shafts of a nor'easter hissing from a smoky horizon, he would lift his crinkled eyes shoreward, thankful for the fish that meant both food and feast.

Sometimes, it seems, we come by our blessings too easily. We take the gifts a more progressive civilization has brought us with a complacency that robs us of deeper thrills. And the thrills are there, with but a slight exercise of imagination.

Juarez-Mexico City Highway Assured

JUAREZ, Mex. — Representatives of governors who attended a road conference in Chihuahua

City returned to report that a paved highway from Juarez to Mexico City within two years is practically assured.

The Banco Nacional Hipotecario Urbano y de Obras Publicas loaned six million pesos to the federal and state governments to begin paving the Juarez-Chihuahua City highway.

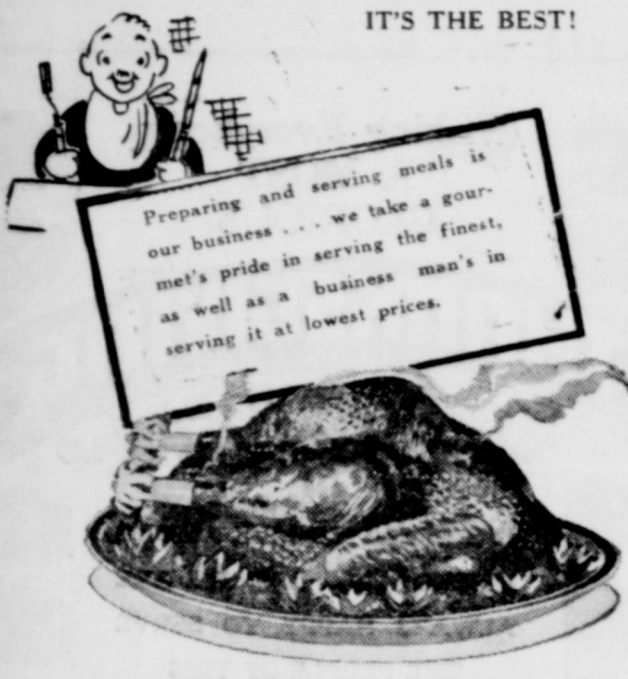

Contractors have agreed to finish the Juarez-Chihuahua City and the Chihuahua City-Cuauhtemec roads in one year. Remainder of the Chihuahua City-Parral road will be finished in 1939.

Paving of the Juarez-El Porvenir road started Nov. 1. At the same time, grading and struc-

SOMETHING TO BE THANKFUL FOR---

JUDGE LESLIE'S address at the Rotary Club last Monday on the subject of Thanksgiving was a masterpiece in both subject matter and delivery. Speaking feelingly of the Constitution as one of the blessings of humanity, he pointed out that many nations today do not enjoy liberty of thought, or action, or even conscience. How true, and what a tragedy!

AMERICANS, while they enjoy more liberties than any other nation on the globe, need to do some sober thinking and continue to stand guard at the Crossroads.

WHAT IS TRUE in our American life today was also true in the lives of these unfortunate nations, to some degree, only a few years ago.

YES, we have lots to be thankful for this year. We are at peace with the world. We have our Democratic Institutions. We have the American Home — even these and no more would make us a great nation.

THIS COMPANY joins with your friends and ours in wishing that you may fully enjoy this Thanksgiving Season.

WASHINGTON

WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — Reorganization of the federal government, for decades a diverting topic of conversation, seems likely to become a reality as the 75th Congress assembles to act or not to act on the Roosevelt program.

The best reason for thinking so is the fact that reorganization bills designed to effect a portion of the recommendations of Roosevelt and his Brownlow-Merriam-Gulick committee of experts, carries an obvious price tag. The price, payable to Congress, would be the removal of a thousand or more government career men — bureau chiefs, division heads and so on — in a process which would lay their jobs open to patronage raids. And the price may be raised before Congress gives the President some of the powers he wants for the purpose of "streamlining" the executive set-up.

The administration, with reservations, backs the omnibus reorganization bill which will be pushed by Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina. The bill provides presidential authority to transfer, re-group or abolish bureaus, agencies, services and functions, except in the case of independent agencies such as the Interstate Commerce, Securities Exchange and Federal Trade Commissions.

Congress would have 60 days to veto any change it didn't like. A 15-year term civil service administrator would replace the present civil service commission and would be charged with developing a federal career service. The President would be authorized to bring about 300,000 non-exempt federal employees into the civil service and to establish a new Department of Welfare under a cabinet secretary, who presumably would be Harry Hopkins of WPA.

The President would be given six administrative assistants. The turns on the Chihuahua City-Parral highways also started. The highway between Parral and Durango already is under construction.

The remainder of the way to Mexico City has only short stretches to be improved.

name of the Interior Department would be changed to Department of Conservation and a National Resources Planning Board would be set up to study "development and utilization" of the nation's natural and human resources.

The House has passed bills with more or less similar provisions as to presidential reorganization powers and authorizing the six assistants. It has before it bills with more or less similar provisions as to civil service and the comptroller general's office.

The "price" referred to is a Byrnes bill provision permitting the President to find that any office of the head of a bureau, agency, division or service is "policy determining in character," whereafter he could name new appointees. They would require Senate confirmation. The net effect would be to make hundreds, if not thousands, of jobs now held by experienced career men an item of senatorial patronage.

Chief fight in the House, and probably the Senate, is expected to center on the provision which would put nearly all federal employees under civil service. Enactment of this proposal would be a remarkable renunciation of power (patronage power) by President and Congress.

There is also sure to be a battle against abolition of the comptroller general's office, formerly held by Republican John R. McCarl, who blocked expenditures as to whose legality he and New Dealers disagreed.

There are few who won't agree that Roosevelt never said a truer thing than his description of the federal administrative set-up as —

"... a higgledy-piggledy patchwork of duplicating responsibilities and overlapping powers."

Foreign Students Taught by Mail

AUSTIN. — Twelve students in foreign lands last year enrolled for correspondence courses through the University of Texas, according to Miss Julia Vance, registrar in the extension teaching bureau. Ten of them were residents of Mexico, while one lived in Canada and another in Aruba, New West Indies. Total enrollment was 2,027.

Out-of-state registrations were numerous, there being 123 correspondence students from other states on the bureau's rolls. There were 1, 881 Texans enrolled for courses by correspondence. The remaining student was a Philippine Islander.

The most popular courses offered by the extension teaching bureau were in the romance languages, with an enrollment of 341; education, 311; government, 184; and business administration, 180.

Six-man football teams are becoming popular in the midwest. For depression-hit schools, it's a good way to balance the talent budget.

Training Program Of NYA Youths Is Endorsed by Board

AUSTIN, Texas.—The training program for youths assigned to National Youth Administration Work Projects was endorsed last week by the State NYA Advisory Board, which voted to notify Aubrey Williams, Executive NYA Director, that the Board believes the time is at home in Texas for extending and expanding the program further. The Board commended the training program already established under the direction of J. C. Kellam, State Youth Director.

NYA youths have been assigned to Work Projects which were calculated to provide job discipline and work training, with the development of some primary skills. They have been encouraged to attend night schools and Emergency Education classes, and have been provided with some special training courses during their spare time, in order that they may gain through experience some knowledge of vocational opportunities.

The statement adopted by the Advisory Board recited that since the beginning of the National Youth Work Program, the Texas Director and his staff have striven for and have obtained a dollar's worth of value for each dollar expended. It continued: "Through parallel training courses and work experience, youths assigned to the Work Program have been given training looking to vocational and leisure time accomplishments. It now appears that, without losing sight of the necessity for getting full value for each dollar expended, the Texas Youth Administration can extend and enlarge the training aspect of the program. The State Advisory Board pledges its assistance to that end."

The statement was communicated to Mr. Williams by A. J. Wirtz of Austin, chairman of the Advisory Board. Other members of the Board are Miller Ainsworth of Luling, R. B. Anderson of Vernon, C. E. Doyle of Beaumont,
