Insurance OK'd On City Building

Wellington City Council moved Monday night, June 18, to take out insurance on the City Hall-Fire Department-Community Building complex, which has been without insurance of any kind.

The council approved a policy which would give $250,000 coverage including $25,000 coverage on the contents of the building and the remainder on the building itself. This carries a $100 deductible clause, which is inserted in regard to damage such as broken windows from hail stones, etc.

The policy was awarded to Wells & Wells.

City Manager Lyman Daniel estimated the replacement cost of the 16,000 square foot building would amount to at least $20 per square foot, or a total of $320,000 to rebuild the structure as it now is.

Three Wellington youths, Larry Doty, Lee Templeton and Don Allred appeared before the City Council to request tennis courts which would be built between the swimming pool and airport terminal building. Doty was spokesman and presented a plan the boys had drawn.

Mayor Bill Hatch praised the boys and the presentation which they made. The council deferred action, however, to confer with school officials as to tennis courts they may have in mind. Mr. Hatch added that it is unlikely they could be built this summer due to the work already scheduled.

The council turned down the only bid received for a new police car and instructed city manager to look into the possibility of installing a new motor in the present PD car.

Dr. Chas. B. Jones, long-time city health officer, was re-appointed to that position.

In other action, the council looked over a list of delinquent property taxes and decided that the owners should be notified and an attempt made to collect these.

Plans to fog the city for mosquito control were discussed briefly. This has been done once this summer, Mr. Daniel said, but some of the effect was lost

County Represented On New MHMR Board

Three Wellington women have been appointed to the District 6 board of the Panhandle and to study ways and means of providing solutions to these needs.

To introduce the program, Allen Walker of the Amarillo Center for Human Development, met with the Wellington advisory board Monday, June 11.

Mrs. Kenyard Poteet and Mrs. Bill Hall were appointed by County Judge Zack Thomas to represent the Collingsworth County. Mayor Bill Hatch named Mrs. B.M. Sims to represent the city.

Other counties in District 6 are Hall, Donley and Armstrong. The first District 6 meeting will be held at Cherokee Inn Restaurant Thursday, June 21, with the 12 members of the committee of trustees from the four counties attending.

Miss Louise Evans, a member of the Mental Health Mental Retardation Board, Amarillo, will meet with them. Most widely known for her work as a newspaper woman, Miss Evans has been in Wellington a number of times in other capacities. For several years, her work has been with the MHMR program in Amarillo.

This revision of the program is state-wide, directed toward developing regional and community programs which would service all Texas citizens. It carries out new policies of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board.

Twenty-one counties of the Panhandle are under the jurisdiction of the Amarillo Mental Health Mental Retardation Regional Board of Trustees. It is divided into six districts, which are then grouped in three divisions District 6 is in the Eastern Region. Others the Western and Central Divisions.

The 12-member Committee of trustees of District 6, of which the three Wellington women are members, will name two persons to sit with others on the Eastern Division Committee of Trustees, and that body in turn will appoint two members to the Regional Board of Trustees.

Wellington's Satellite Training and Work Center has been a unit of the Amarillo State Center for Human Development for more than a year and has gained recognition throughout the Panhandle for its program of work and the manner in which its teacher and teacher aid have carried but this program.

The objectives of the re-organized regional plan is to identify the mental health and mental retardation needs of 21 counties of the Texas Panhandle and to study ways and means of providing solutions to these needs.

To introduce the program, Allen Walker of the Amarillo Center for Human Development, met with the Wellington advisory board Monday, June 11.

Mrs. Jimmie Sessions reported on changes to be made in funding the Wellington center and said that more students are expected to be enrolled by the fall semester in the satellite center. Possible fund raising projects were discussed, as the local center must bear certain of its expenses.

Attending the Wellington meeting were Mrs. Sessions, Mrs. Sims, the Rev. Ted Savage, the Rev. James Boswell, Tom Anderson, Enoch Fuller and Mrs. Dan Hiett.

Probation Officers Home from Workshop

The two staff members of the Multi-County Juvenile Probation Program attended the 8th annual Interagency Workshop of the Institute of Contemporary Corrections and Behavioral Sciences at Sam Houston State University June 4 through 15.

They were Bob Watson, chief probation officer, and Mrs. Kenyard Poteet, probation officer.

The workshop had an enrollment of 186, and 307 applicants were turned away, Watson reported.

Present were juvenile and adult probation officers, representatives of sheriff's departments, police departments, the Department of Corrections, Texas Youth Council, school teachers and counselors, and social workers.

The program of work presented viewpoints that ranged from conservative to liberal, Mr. Watson said. Some expressed the belief in prisons without walls, while others wanted no probation or parole whatsoever.

Among the top discussions were "Corrections in Transition," discussed by Winston Moore who has made a name for himself as director of Cook County, Illinois, Department of Corrections.

"The Female Offender" was explored in depth by Martha Wheeler, superintendent of Ohio Reformatory for Women, Marysville, while Dr. Robert

A. V. Mote, 71, Retired Farmer, Dies on June 13

Youth Camp Opens 1973 Season Sunday

Hay Camp Ranch opens its youth camp Sunday, June 24, the first unit of what will become the finest family type recreational complex in this section of the southwest.

A.B. Dean, owner, said Tuesday that approximately 15 boys and girls, ages 9 to 15 years, will be here for the first camp session. They will come from as far as California.

He named three other areas in which construction is presently under way:

- Two new swimming pools.
- The pro shop and golf cart storage.
- The irrigation line to the golf course.

Hay Camp Ranch Camp will be under the personal supervision of the ranch owners, Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Dean. Beginning with this two-weeks session, activities will include horseback riding, nature studies, art and swimming.

Three staff members were announced this week. Heading them is Richard Kordes of Los Angeles, a professional horse trainer and nature expert who has worked in 4-H and horseman ship camps throughout the nation.

Bill Spillman Graduates at NG Academy

Bill Spillman was graduated from the Texas National Guard Academy in ceremonies held Saturday evening, June 16, at Camp Mabry, Austin.

Upon his graduation, Spillman was commissioned a second lieutenant in the National Guard. He will be attached to the 2nd Battalion, Mechanized, of the 142nd Infantry out of Amarillo as a liaison officer.

Sixty-nine men were graduated in this class, the sixteenth to be held.

The graduation and awarding of commissions came at the end of two weeks training for the officer candidates.

Mr. Spillman served a tour of active duty after he was graduated from Baylor University Law School, and during the last year he has gone to Austin once

Other staff members will be Cynthia Sonntag of Dallas and Sandy Owens of Prescott, Arizona.

The young campers will sleep in bunk houses and eat wholesome southwestern chuck wagon type food. They will live much of the time in the out-of-doors, in an area as rich in nature and wildlife as any in the southwest.

The larger of the swimming pools is located in the golf course area. Its area will be 1,800 square feet - small olympic size. The smaller pool, of 1,000 square feet, will be in the youth camp area.

The storage area and pro shop at the golf course should be finished by the end of this week, Mr. Dean said.

The two spring-fed lakes are filling with about 15 feet of water in the larger. They have not been stocked, but fish have come into them through the springs and some are already of eating size.

CAROL COLEMAN, VIRGINIA RAILLARD

Wellington Is in the "Texas" Background

Canyon. Three people with roots in Wellington will have important roles to play in the presentation of the Paul Green drama and musical romance of the Texas Panhandle when it opens on June 21st. They are Carol Coleman, David Groves and Virginia Fortenberry Raillard.

Carol Coleman is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Coleman of Wellington. She will serve on the hospitality staff.

She was drawn to the production by a natural interest in theatre which has expressed itself in appearances in various dramatic productions during her high school experience. At present, she lives in Canyon with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. John Coleman.

David Groves (not pictured) will be in charge of the sound at the theatre this summer, having responsibilities in the light and sound booth for the third season. David has won many honors as a trumpet player and it is his trumpet which is heard each evening at the beginning of the show. In addition to his musical activities Mr. Groves has served as lighting technician for many of the major theatrical productions at the University. He is a member of the honorary musical fraternity, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and is in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. For the last three months Mr. Groves has been spending every available moment at the theatre helping to install a new lighting system. Plagued by very slow deliveries of parts, the crew is working against time this week to finish.

Mrs. Brown Breaks Arm

Mrs. Johnny Brown received a broken right arm in a fall in the kitchen of her home Sunday, June 17. The accident occurred just before she and Mr. Brown were to leave for church.

Both bones in her arm are broken, and after receiving emergency treatment here she was taken to Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo. Surgery was required, according to Don Welch, West Texas Utilities Company manager, but Wednesday morning she was reported as getting along fine. She was due to be released from the hospital shortly.

Mrs. Brown is a long-time employee of WTU.

Early Vietnam Vet Benefits to Expire in 1974

Although G.I. Bill education benefits for thousands of veterans of the early Vietnam Era will expire May 31, 1974, the Veterans Administration emphasized today the May 1974 expiration date does not affect G.I. Bill job or farm co-operative training, apprenticeship or flight training benefits for these veterans.

This clarification was made by Jack Coker, Director of the Waco Regional Office. He pointed out that most education benefits for these discharged prior to June 1, 1966, would expire on May 31, 1974, the eighth anniversary of the current G.I. Bill.

The 1966 law allows each veteran eight years to complete his training. The time is computed from the individual's date of discharge or from the date of the law, whichever is later.

Coker explained that the original bill did not include flight, apprenticeship, on-the-job and farm-cooperative training, so eligibility for these benefits will not expire for Post Korean veterans until August 30, 1975, which is eight years after the date they were authorized by law.

4-H Bug Hunters Prepare For Busy Season

WANTED BY 4-H INSECT HUNTERS

MOSQUITO

Harmful to Humans and Animals.
Spreads harmful diseases.

17 YEAR LOCUST

Harmless. One of Nature's Phenomenal creatures. Appears every 17 years. (1956, 1973, 1990)

GYPSY MOTH

Harmful to foliage and plant life. "Bug Hitchhiker". Prevalent in Northwest and Northeast parts of U.S.

SPECIAL—The great insect hunt is on! And leading the brigade of hunters this summer are some 55,000 4-H boys and girls in the national 4-H entomology program sponsored by Hercules Incorporated.

This year is expected to be a particularly busy one for the young 4-H entomologists. With a wet spring through much of the nation, mosquitoes are promised in great numbers. And other insects are expected to provide good hunting for the young people armed with net and killing can.

Supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service, the 4-H entomologists start their study by making collections of insects common to their areas. They learn insect control and as much as possible about each species.

Along with the problems caused by a huge infestation of mosquitos, the young entomologists are confronted with increasing numbers of gypsy moths, particularly the Northeast and Northwest sections of the country.

Gypsy moth larvae are particularly damaging to the foliage of trees and other plants. And as hitchhikers, they are unsurpassed as they travel from one area to another by car, truck, camper and rail.

Campers are particularly cautioned to remove insect larvae from their gear before travelling home or another destination.

Of a less pesty nature is the expected appearance of the 17 year locust during 1973. The locust population will be in the millions but fortunately, they do little or no harm to plants, animals and humans.

Lookings for the gypsy moth, the 17 year locust and helping control mosquitos are just a few activities carried on by 4-H'ers in the 4-H entomology program.

Besides helping young people in their study of science and the appreciation of community for insect control, the 4-H'ers can earn other recognition provided by Hercules Incorporated.

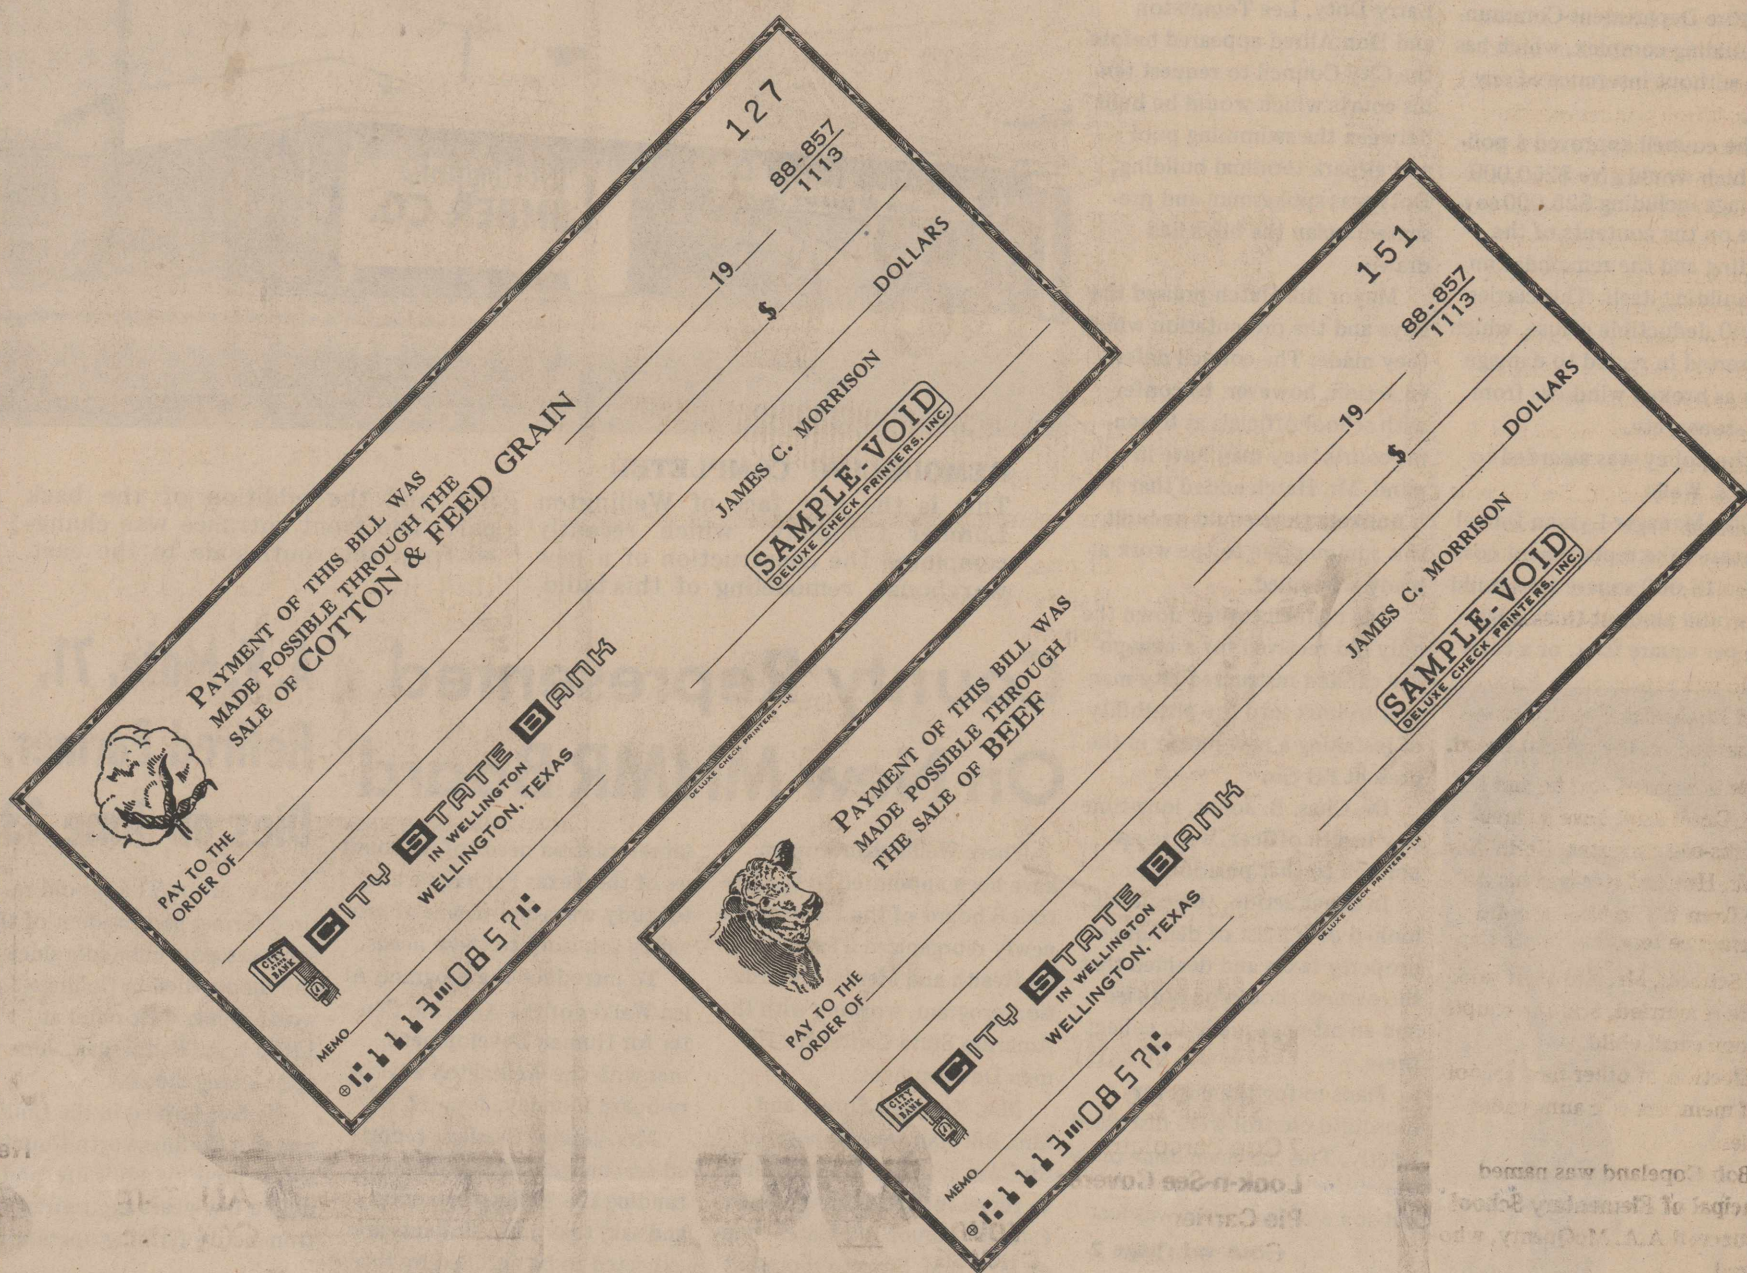

Four young entomologists, in each county, can earn medals of honor and one $50 U.S. Savings Bond is to be awarded the winner in each state. They are then eligible for one of 16 trips to National 4-H Congress, Nov. 25-29, in Chicago, and consideration for one of six national scholarships of $700 each.

For more information on how to join the 1973 4-H insect hunt, contact the county extension office.

4-H Has Bike Safety Program

Red Raiders Girls 4-H Club met at Ellison Park Thursday, June 14, for a picnic and bicycle ride to Marian Airpark Swimming Pool.

Fix-It Tip

Teach the children that good bike care begins by keeping the "wheels" dry and clean. Exposed parts that have become muddy and wet should be wiped off as soon as possible.

Removing the chain does not require removing the rear wheel. There is one link that snaps open and careful looking will find it. Links can be replaced individually, doing away with the need of replacing the entire chain. Repair links may be bought at a bicycle shop.

Lubricate pedal bearings often. Keep all saddle bolts and handlebars tight. Check the fork assembly since this also can become loose.

Your safety is our concern.

On occasions when you detect the odor of natural gas, it could be coming from the range where a burner may not be turned off completely or from a pilot light that's out. However, if these are functioning properly, and the odor seems to be quite strong—here are 4 easy steps to insure your safety:

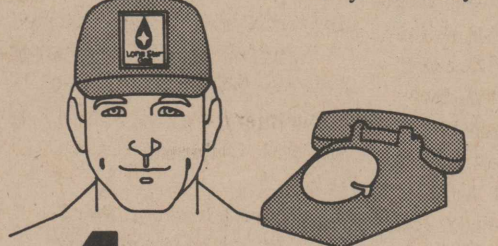

1 First, open the windows and doors to allow ventilation of the room.

2 Second, don't switch anything electrical on or off. Don't use the telephone, and don't light a match.

3 Third, leave the house and go next door to telephone the Fire Department as a precaution for your safety.

4 Fourth, telephone Lone Star Gas and wait until we have checked the source and made certain that you can re-enter safely.

Although you may never have to worry about gas leaks, we at Lone Star feel you should be informed on what to do should the situation occur. Please inform your family of these 4 safety measures, and keep these steps for reference.

Good Fish Ponds Are Possible With Care and Management

Several persons in the District have good fishponds. Many others would like for their fishponds to be better than they are.

A good fishpond doesn't just happen; especially in this area. It takes some thought and care in order to be successful. The absence of any one of the basic needs of fishponds often means the difference between success and failure.

Shallow water areas less than three feet deep promote weed growth and provides too much escape cover for small fish, thereby limiting food supplies for larger fish. Shallow water is also troublesome for the fisherman. Steeply sloping banks solve this problem.

BY TOMMY POWELL UNIT CONSERVATIONIST, SCS

The best fishponds are protected from access by livestock. Livestock muddy the water and keep pond banks unstable, which increases shallow water areas. Good vegetation stabilizes pond banks.

A pond is exceptional if it needs no added fertilizer. Mineral fertilizer indirectly provides food for fish by promoting microorganism growth. It also controls underwater weed growth by limiting the sunlight available to these weeds.

Fertilizing should begin in April in this area. Use about 8 pounds nitrogen and 8 pounds phosphate per surface acre of water for each application. Fertilizer sacks can be split and placed in water that is about a foot deep, scattered over the surface. Wave action will spread the dissolved fertilizer nicely.

A pond usually needs several fertilizer applications during the growing season. Nail a white six-inch disk to the end of a stick and hold it eighteen inches below the water surface. If you can see the disk, it is time to fertilize again.

There are several chemicals available that will control water weeds. Without a good fertilizing program however, these weeds will usually return.

A pond will reach its maximum poundage of fish production for a given fertility level within a couple of years. Thereafter you can promote an additional 50 pounds of fish growth only by removing 50 pounds; or you can increase the fertility level.

If you catch a fish large enough to eat, don't put it back in the pond. Removing it is normally good management.

There are several other general rules of good fishpond management. The Soil Conservation Service office in Wellington has additional information on fishpond management as well as other aspects of wildlife habitat management.

Flashing Blue Light a Warning

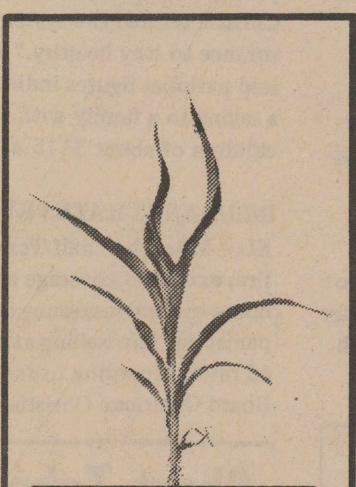

AUSTIN— That flashing blue light on the lake shouldn't be too hard to figure out— it means the same as a flashing red light on land.

When out boating and a flashing blue light comes your way, take heed. A lawman may want to talk to you.

According to law, you should reduce power to a no-wake speed until the intentions of the officer are made clear to you. If he wants to talk to you, you should stop the boat and wait for the officer to come to you.

Flashing blue lights on the water are limited to game wardens and other water safety officers.

Knowing the Safety Rules a Part of the Bicycling Game

The most popular sport hereabouts is not swimming or youth baseball or golf or the other usual summertime activities. It is the fast-growing recreation of bicycling!

There have always been a few intrepid adults who bicycled around town, but for the most part it was a youth affair. Now Wellington is a part of the bicycle brigade, just as is the rest of the country.

From tiny tots barely able to maneuver down the street to senior citizens, we go about our peddling, by two wheeler of three wheeler. Bicycling has become a family affair and more and more frequently the covey of cycles bearing parents and children are out on Wellington streets. Altogether it is one of the finest and most encouraging pleasures we have had to come along.

But it does bring out one thing. While many of us know the rules of the road, we do not necessarily know the rules of the bicycle path. For the most part, they are the same as for cars. Four-H has a bicycle program which some of the little girls are receiving.

If we are to encourage this fine and healthful recreation, we must at the same time encourage bicycle safety as a way of life for all who ride.

Sharks Wear Bright Colors.

More than 10,000 sharks travel through the Atlantic Ocean adorned with bright red, yellow, and blue decorations bearing messages in five languages, courtesy of private and Federal scientific establishments and sport fishermen.

Shark-tagging is but one of the many tools used by marine scientists in the Commerce Department's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to chart the migrations of a variety of wide-ranging deepwater fish prized by big-game anglers. The shark-tagging project, carried out since 1964 at NOAA's National Marine Fisheries Service Narragansett (R.I.) Laboratory, is the most extensive such program in the world. Under the direction of biologist John G. Casey, it is closely integrated with billfish and tuna tagging studies conducted at the Woods Hole (Mass.) Oceanographic Institution.

To date, 10,500 sharks have been caught, tagged and released. Returned tags from recaptured sharks number 335, these from 11 species including blue, sandbar and mako sharks. To date the maximum distance covered is 2,070 miles by a blue shark (New England to South America); the maximum time between tagging and recapture is over 7½ years for a sandbar shark. Tags have been returned from commercial fishermen of 18 foreign countries (35 per cent of total), and U.S. sport and commercial fishermen (65 per cent).

AUSTIN, TEX.- Texas state government may see far-reaching new changes in budgeting techniques, hopefully to save money and curb a tax increase.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe expressed enthusiasm for the Georgia "zero base" budget methods inaugurated by Gov. Jimmy Carter two years ago.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and a delegation of Texas Budget experts, including Sen. A.M. Aikin of Paris, visited Georgia last week for a briefing by Carter's aides.

When the officials returned, Briscoe said he expects to "be proceeding with implementing (changes) very shortly."

Hobby is chairman of the Legislative Budget Board, which ramrods the Texas budget process. Briscoe said he will instruct his own budget office to take the Georgia system as a model in preparing the executive department's spending recommendations.

Under the "zero base" system all agencies are instructed to start "from scratch" in drawing up their appropriations requests rather than taking present levels of spending as their beginning point.

Governor Carter asked all Georgia agencies to detail how they would operate under existing revenues, a 15 percent cut and a slight increase. He also insisted that they list their own priorities of programs as a guide to the legislature in directing economies.

Briscoe has emphasized repeatedly that he proposes to follow that procedure in weighing the value of existing educational programs, as he maps his recommendations for revision of the public school finance system.

LEADERS CHALLENGED - One of the top leaders in the National Democratic Party was in Austin last week. That's a unique political position for a head of the nation's largest corporation.

C. Peter McCollough, chairman of the board of Zerox Corporation, told top business executives in the capital city that social problems in the United States have become problems of business and industry and challenged the Austin leaders to quit treating symptoms of problems instead of causes.

Businesses must become less resistant to change, American institutions must examine all fundamental values in the 1970s and establish a new framework to come to grips with new problems.

EDUCATION STUDY ORDERED - The State Board of Education agreed to go along with Governor Briscoe's request for a complete study of the school system after some griping that the job already had been done.

Some board members claimed they had gone over the system with a fine-toothed comb since the initial Rodriguez case decision in 1971 faulting present finance methods for public education.

Briscoe, meanwhile, said he isn't asking for "just another study." What is needed, said Briscoe, is to determine the fair market value of each school district. A fundamental change, he insisted, is necessary in methods of evaluating wealth of a district. There will, pledged the Governor, be no sacred cows in his coming study.

"It would be unfair to commit the people of Texas to another spending increase measured by billions without taking every step to first correct the crumbling foundation of public school finance," said the Governor.

ENERGY CRISIS STEPS ORDERED - State agencies have been called on by the Governor to cooperate in fuel supply and energy-saving plans, including travel curtailment and use of car pools.

Brig. Gen. James Rose was named to coordinate energy conservation efforts among state agencies.

At the same time, it was announced bids on the state's annual fuel contract will be three cents a gallon higher than at present for gasoline and four cents more for diesel fuel. The State Board of Control was able to contract for about the same amount of gasoline and slightly less diesel fuel, although consumption usually increases about 10 per cent per year.

The agencies, directed the Governor, must not only keep fuel consumption within given allotments but attempt to build up reserves due to uncertainty of future supplies.

COURTS SPEAK - The Court of Criminal Appeals held the state's 1967 law against incitement to riot unconstitutional.

The State Supreme Court affirmed a Potter County commissioner's decision that a dead man's name can legally appear on an election ballot.

The High Court ordered release on bond of a Carrollton lawyer pending a June 20 hearing on a contempt of court order in which a Wichita Falls judge accused the attorney of unprofessional conduct following a divorce action.

AG OPINIONS - A person under probated sentence for violation of narcotics laws can be granted another probated sentence for a later felony violation of the same act, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

* School districts should receive their pro rata share of any county permanent school fund distribution based on their resident scholastics of free school age. The money does not alter entitlement to state funds.

* There is no authorization for a pawn transaction in excess of $2,500.

* Commissioners courts may authorize payments of accrued vacation time and other earned compensation but may not authorize payment at death of other benefits not previously earned or accrued.

* A person who owns the land at the time an oilwell is abandoned is the legal "landowner" liable for cost of plugging if operators do not fulfill their obligations.

* The Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation cannot use appropriated funds to pay back wages to employees unlawfully terminated under discriminatory practices rulings, but legal adjustments can be made.

APPOINTMENTS - Reagan Houston, San Antonio attorney and banker, was designated by Governor Briscoe as State Highway Commission chairman.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

Watching pompous and/or little men in big britches, seasoned and unseasoned, performing in front of the TV cameras at the Senate "hearings" is a sort of disenchanting experience.

This Perry Masonic show without any Perrys makes some concerned citizens wonder how the country runs as well as it does with senators, high-muck-a-mucks and news embroiderers like these.

It is sort of like the letdown a kid gets when he first notices that Santa Claus has hair on his knuckles just like dad's.

June 30 Last Day to Ask Sign Permits

AUSTIN-- Owners of signs along Interstate and federal-aid primary highways face a June 30 deadline to apply for a permit and a license for them.

The Texas Highway Beautification Act, in effect since June of 1972, requires owners of signs which are within 660 feet of Interstate or federal-aid primary highways and are visible from main traffic lanes to file permit requests with the district offices of the Texas Highway Department. The permits cost $5 each.

Before permits can be approved, sign owners must obtain a $25 state license and post $2,500 bond for each county in which they have a sign. Maximum bonds of $10,000 are required of owners with signs in more than three counties.

Both license and bond applications can be obtained from Right of Way Division, Texas Highway Department, P.O. Box 5075, Austin, 78763, or any Highway Department district office.

Signs advertising the sale or lease of property upon which they are located or related solely to activities conducted on the property are exempted by the act along with underground utility markers, signs erected for official purposes by Federal, State and local governmental agencies and, in some cases, those posted by churches and nonprofit service organizations.

Permits should be requested from the following Highway Department District Office, P.O. Box 909, Childress, Texas 79201.

The telephone number is WE 7-2571 and the address 1700 Avenue F, NW.

LETTERS from the People

Dear Deck,

I have just finished reading the current issue of the Leader and my thoughts are carried back to more than twenty-five years ago when you hired me to be a printers devil on the paper. Its difficult to believe that so many years have gone by and yet it seems as if it were only yesterday.

Since my days at the Leader I have worked on most of the major newspapers in Texas and Colo., yet I remember my time on the Leader as the most enjoyable and rewarding of all. The training I received there made an impact on my life in a most positive way.

Even though I have not been involved in newspapering for the past several years, the ink still flows in my veins and there are times, as now, when my thoughts turn to those early years on the Leader and the significant part they contributed to my life.

Just wanted to write and say thank you for the opportunity you gave me. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Farrell R. Kent

"Good Memories" of Wellington Recalled

"I have nothing but good memories of Wellington," Victor Williams of Austin reminisced as he made his first visit to his home town in 33 years.

Now the band director of J. Frank Dobie High School in Austin, he, along with his wife, and daughter drove over town Saturday hunting the places he knew well. They were en route home from a Colorado vacation.

He graduated from high school in 1939, and the following year his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Williams moved to Lubbock, Mr. Williams with the Ft. Worth and Denver Railway.

Guy, the other son, is now an appraiser for Wells Fargo Bank in Los Angeles. He is a Tech graduate. Gail, only four when the family left, is Mrs. James Gough of Houston. She works with her husband in his advertising agency, the Gough Group. Like others in the family, she is a musician and composes and has had several recordings.

Mr. Williams died in 1963 and Mrs. Williams lives in Dallas, where she still teaches piano.

Victor Williams recalled some of his years in Wellington:

"I worked for Leon Blonstein on Saturday at $2.00 a day," he said. "I was also the local sign painter. I did the Piggly Wiggly sign, IGA and the one on Cicero Smith Lumber Company. It was a block long."

Mr. Williams received his bachelors and masters degrees

Vacation Doesn't Stop School System Activity

Classes in Wellington Schools ended with graduation Friday, May 25, but the following Monday saw another round of activity begin.

Much of this involves school staff members and auxiliary personnel, but there are some students back in school for short-term activities, also.

Supt. Thayne Amonett is working in his office 12 months a year, and that office is open just as it is any school day.

High School Principal E.W. Clement works 11 months each year, taking off only during July. He'll be back at work August 1.

Vocational Ag instructor Rodney Myrick is the faculty member whose work lasts the year-around.

The two vocational home-making teachers, Mrs. P.M. Scott and Mrs. Gary Killian, have one month, July, away from teaching. During June, they carry out a series of projects with girls enrolled in homemaking classes. The first two weeks of August are usually given over to workshops.

Driver Education is still another summer activity, for both Junior High Principal Dick Hamilton and a number of younger high school students. The class work and driving will be over in about two weeks, then will come the tests by the drivers license division of the Texas Department of Public Safety before the youngsters can receive their restricted drivers license.

Another office open the year around is that of the tax assessor-collector of the school district, Mrs. Nita Brantley. Working with her are Mrs. C.L. Watts, deputy, and Mrs. Dallas Holland. There are no student employees in the office during the summer.

This summer for the first time there is the tutoring program sponsored in co-operation with the Community Action Program, and co-ordinated by Mrs. Barbara Williams. Twelve student tutors work with youngsters 14 years and under who need a little additional help with their school work.

Another big job delegated to the summer months is repair of the school plant. This year, the custodial staff is doing all this work. Members include Glad Montgomery, who is coordinating the custodial staff, Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Ledbetter, James Mathis and Alva Byrd.

At present, they are painting portions of the cafeteria and building a small storage room in the cafeteria.

When that is completed, they will paint the lobby in the gym, and the coaches offices.

Floors in all buildings will be refinished, "and maybe some other things if there is any time left," said Supt. Amonett. All the time this work is being done, grounds on both the high school-junior high and the elementary campuses will have to be maintained.

For most of the teaching staff, work doesn't stop in the summer, either, for most are compiling teaching aids and material they will use next year.

Several are enrolled for graduate work of special courses.

Miss Rita Lowrie is in West Texas State University completing work for her special education certificate.

Charles Floyd, science instructor, will be in Texas Tech for the second summer term for studies in the composite teaching field of science, preparing himself to teach any of the sciences a high school might offer.

Louis Graham, special education teacher, is testing pre-school students during the first part of the summer.

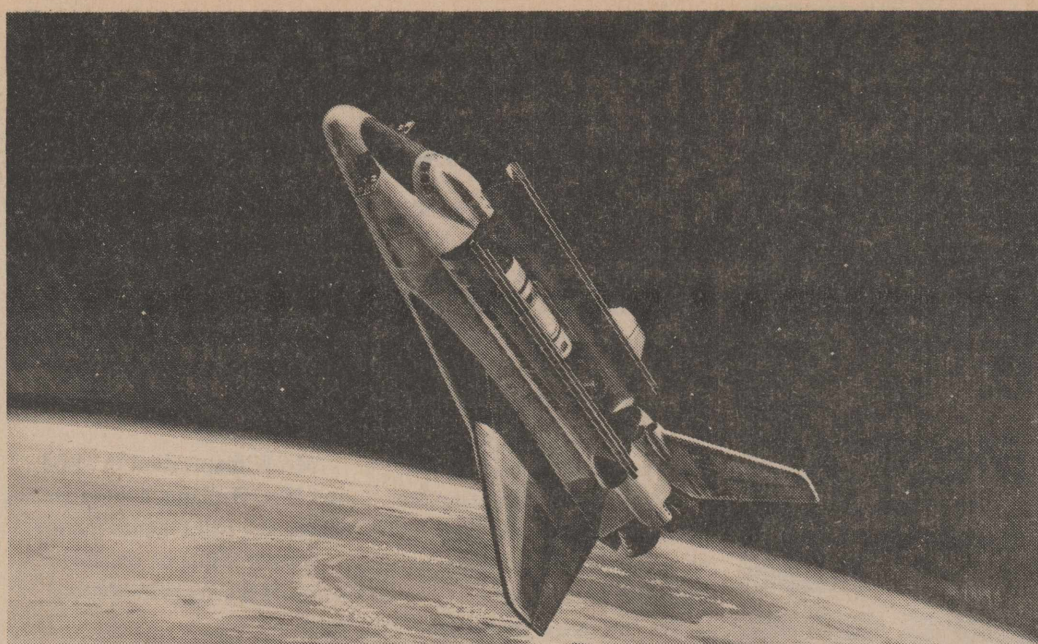

Mrs. Estelle Peeples Gregory of Eugene, Oregon, is here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O.W. Peeples, and her brothers and sister, Hubert Peeples, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Peeples, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Estes, and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Peeples of Samnorwood. She will be here until June 21.

Other special tours for TPA convention-goers will be taken of the Municipal Zoo, Houston Museums of Natural History and Natural Art, NASA, the Heritage Center and the Galveston beaches.

Traditional features will be a past presidents' breakfast, election of new officers, presentation of award winners in the annual newspaper contest and an awards breakfast.

Tournaments include a tennis tourney and an annual golf tournament held at the Memorial Park courts and Hermann Golf Course, respectively.

A post-convention tour of the Caribbean on the "Song of Norway" cruiser has been offered members of the Texas Press Association.

P&WD Sweeps News Awards

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. -- An international first-place award for "outstanding total conservation information program" in North America has been awarded for the second consecutive time to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The department's Information and Education Division took honors in seven out of 10 communications categories in retaining the over-all title of the American Association for Conservation Information awards program for its 53 state agency members in the United States and Canada.

"This highest honor is most gratifying," said TP&WD executive director Clayton T. Garrison. "But most of all, it emphasizes the importance of frankness and honesty in disseminating information to the public and the press. As never before in our history, the department is taking massive strides in expanding Texas recreational and wildlife resources. Every step of this progress, each achievement along with occasional setback, has been detailed in our public information programs."

Earlier this year, the I&E Division and director Richard A. McCune were cited by the Texas Outdoor Writers Association for "maintaining open lines of communication."

AACI honors included a fourth first-place award in six years for "Texas Parks and Wildlife" magazine, Neal Cook, Editor. Also winning first places were the photography section, Jim Whitcomb, chief photographer, and wildlife conservation exhibit, Tom Abbott, supervisor.

Second places went to the department's news service, David Baxter, news chief, and annual report, Tom Diltz, publications supervisor.

Winning third places were a film, "Fish for the Future," and a "Fund Nine" campaign, for special information programs. Paul Hope is coordinator of the I&E Division Information Branch.

Ag Chemicals' Effects On Environment Studied

A study is on in California's San Joaquin Valley to find ways to allow continued use of farm chemicals at a level that avoids harm to the environment.

The National Cotton Council says one fact turned up thus far in the long-range study concerns the use of parathion, a chemical used for cotton insect control. It revealed that of the more than 130,000 pounds of this chemical used in Fresno County in a single year, only 211 pounds remained in the soil.

Breakdown which begins in the chemical shortly after its application, plus action by tiny microbes, speeds the disappearance of most farm chemicals.

National Governors Laud Texas Rangers

A resolution commending Texas Rangers for their many achievements in the field of law enforcement throughout their 150-year history was unanimously adopted by the National Governor's Conference during the annual meeting of the nation's governors last week at Lake Tahoe, Nevada.

The resolution, introduced by Governor Dolph Briscoe, praised the Texas Rangers as the oldest state law enforcement agency in North America and congratulated the Rangers on this year's observance of their sesquicentennial.

The Governors, in adopting the resolution, called attention to the heritage of the Texas Rangers "which has brought great credit to the State of Texas and to law enforcement officers throughout the United States."

Ranger Captain Clint Peoples and six other Texas Rangers attended the National Governor's Conference at the special invitation of Nevada Governor Mike O'Callaghan. Last year, when the National Governor's Conference was held in Houston, the Rangers assisted in security.

(Attached is the resolution adopted by the National Governor's Conference.)

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, The Texas Rangers, the oldest state law enforcement agency in North America, are celebrating their 150th Anniversary during 1973; and

WHEREAS, The Rangers have faithfully protected the people of Texas since 1823 when Stephen F. Austin, the father of that state, commissioned a small group to range his colony to protect the settlers from marauding Indians; and

WHEREAS, The Texas Rangers have evolved from a frontier military organization to an elite criminal law enforcement unit with the Texas Department of Public Safety; and

WHEREAS, The Texas Rangers are today specifically charged with four major duties: (1) protection of life and property from violence, (2) suppression of riots and insurrections, (3) apprehension of fugitives, and (4) investigation of major felony crimes; and

WHEREAS, Throughout the 150 years of their history, the Texas Rangers have contributed immeasurably to the safety of the people of Texas, have symbolized fearless and efficient law enforcement, and have left a heritage which has brought great credit to the State of Texas and to law enforcement officers throughout the United States; and

WHEREAS, The Texas Rangers were in charge of security at the 64th Annual National Governor's Conference held in Houston in 1972; and

WHEREAS, Seven members of the Texas Rangers are special emissaries to this 65th Conference;

NOW THEREFORE, The National Governors' Conference hereby congratulates the Texas Rangers upon the observance of their sesquicentennial and commends them for their long history of achievement in law enforcement.

Denzil Lacy and Don Lacy and their custom harvesting crew have returned from Arizona, where they were cutting wheat. They will be here until wheat in this county is harvested, then go on to Gruver.

Guests in the home of Mrs. John Henard last week end were her brother-in-law Conrade Hattich of Quanah and his daughter, Mrs. Dan Burkard of Sweetwater.

Services for Theresa Brown Conducted Here

Theresa A. Brown, 16, of Amarillo, who spent her early childhood here, died Sunday, June 17, in Northwest Texas Hospital. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Brown of 2716 South Woodland.

Although she was a victim of hydrocephalus, she became ill only three days before her death, her family said.

Theresa was born here August 16, 1956.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:00 p.m. Tuesday, at First Baptist Church here, with the Rev. J.C. Traweek, pastor of Friendship Baptist Church in Amarillo officiating. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were Robert Tomlinson, Donald Dollar, Winfred Dollar, George Barton, Jimmy Shields and Donald Langley.

The family has requested that memorials be in the form of donations to the March of Dimes.

Survivors are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Brown; two sisters, Tammy Brown and Joyce Brown of Amarillo; and her grandparents, Mrs. Geneva Brown and Mrs. Nora Johnson, both of Wellington.

Hunting, Fishing Fee Increased

AUSTIN - In ceremonies held at the State Capitol recently Governor Dolph Briscoe signed legislation which raised fees charged for both hunting and fishing licenses.

Major changes which will effect most Texas sportsmen are increases in the resident hunting license charges from the previous $3.25 to $5.25 and the fishing fees from $2.15 to $4.25.

Something new for this year, a combination resident hunting and fishing license for $8.75, was also approved by the Texas Legislature.

Resident hunting licenses are required of every Texan who hunts outside the county of his residence or who hunts deer or turkey. Exceptions are persons under 17 or over 65 years of age and individuals hunting any species of game except deer or turkey on land where they reside. An exempt license is necessary to hunt deer and turkey because of required tags.

Exempt licenses are 25 cents. A $4.25 fishing license is required of everyone fishing in public waters with the following exceptions: those under 17 or over 65, persons fishing in private waters, anglers using trotlines, throw lines or pole and line with no reel or winding device in the county of their residence and individuals holding a valid Texas commercial fishing license.

In addition to the regular licenses, the Legislature approved a special three-day resident or non-resident saltwater fishing license for $1.25. No license is required of groups of 25 or more tourists who do their saltwater fishing as a group.

These are effective Sept. 1, 1973.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—by Deskins Wells

THE BIG news this week is the meeting of Brezhnev and Nixon, which is a meeting at the highest level for the second time in the history of the two nations, The U.S. and China have met at the summit one time.

THE meeting with the Soviet leader is of direct importance to us right here at home. Among other things, Russia wants more feed grains and soy beans. This means grain will stay high in price and if grain remains high the price of meat must also stay up. And the production of grain and meat are two of our three principal sources of income.

WE NEED more oil and gas, which Russia has in quantity and we need a better trade balance with other nations which would help restore the value of the dollar. So there is sound ground for profitable trade on both sides.

LET US hope that our leaders are a little sharper traders than they were on the first wheat deal. Only a few days ago a gigantic fertilizer deal was made between an American firm and Russia with the U.S. again loaning the money to underwrite the transaction which will take several years in its entirety. Oil and gas are fine and are real wealth. But why not at least ask for some of that gold Russia has been storing.

MAKE NO mistake about it, we need that gold just as much as we need oil. The older nations have used it too long as a standard of exchange to think of abandoning it now.

THERE has been no lack of fuel in the Wellington area as the combines concluded most of their work harvesting wheat south of Salt Fork and moved north. There has been some difficulty in farmers with small acreage finding combines as growers with hundreds of acres farther north found their grain ripening earlier than normal. It has been a good year although our acreage is small and most of the harvest will be over here by the end of this week.

BILLY Langford remarked that he had been talking to tourists from nearly every part of the nation as they stopped for gas and thus far there had been none who had any real trouble in obtaining gasoline in their travels. This is about what the other dealers say about gasoline. They think gasoline prices may go up; but that people can find gas to travel this summer at least.

THE FACT remains that there is a grave energy problem even if there is no present rationing of gasoline. For years we have been using more oil than we produced and we will continue to increase our imports. In addition we will change our way of traveling and of living. The smaller cars using less gas will continue to increase in number. People will use the larger automobiles for trips for some years; but for stop and go city traffic, greater ease in finding a parking space, the small car will be the thing.

WE COULD become a nation where people will stay at home nearly all year long.

THE FLAGS were flying all over Wellington on June 14, Flag Day. People felt pride in their town as they saw the brave banners fluttering in the June breeze. Our block lacked one and the west side of the square lacked two in being full; but there was an increase of six or seven over the town as a whole. By July 4 there may be more. Congratulations to the Kiwanis

AC New Area Testing Center For CLEP Exams

Amarillo College will become an area testing center for administering the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) according to Fred Dodson, director of the AC testing and counseling center.

The CLEP provides college credit by examination in a number of academic credit courses by successfully completing the required exams.

Each college and university maintains a list of courses for which credit will be given, and any interested students may make application to take the tests at Amarillo College.

Registration forms may be obtained from the AC testing and counseling center. Registration must be completed three weeks in advance of the test date.

These examinations will be administered during the month preceding registration in the fall and spring semesters.

July 10 is the test date slated for Amarillo College. Students will meet on the fourth floor of the Business Occupations Building, 24th and Jackson, at 8:30 a.m. on that date.

Amarillo College students must complete 15 semester hours in residence at Amarillo College before credit by examination scores will be entered on their transcripts.

Credit by examination may not be acquired for any course in which the student has previously enrolled, whether for credit or non-credit.

Additional information may be obtained from the AC testing and counseling center.

Professor Aids Returning POWs

AUSTIN, (Spl.) — Those happy American prisoners of war returning from Vietnam can thank a University of Texas faculty member who has played a major role in preparing detailed plans for the rapid repatriation of POW's.

Dr. Roger Shields, assistant professor of finance, has been on leave to head the Defense Department's Prisoner of War/Missing in Action Task Group.

In addition, Dr. Shields has studied the economic impact of the war in Vietnam and is to be involved in economic planning for the postwar period in Southeast Asia.

Club and the FFA for the work they are doing.

IT TAKES a motivating spirit to do anything. When a town shows the willingness to work together as our people have done on the flag program it bodes well for the success of other endeavors. A town with pride can become a clean, neat town and we do not have far to go to become just that. Numerous visitors in this office have mentioned the neat appearance of Wellington.

LET'S keep up the good work. The individual can help most by keeping his own premises neat and clean.

Residency Work For UT Students

AUSTIN, (Spl.) — A plan that will give fourth-year architecture students a chance to leave their campus drawing boards for several months to gain experience in a professional architecture firm has been devised at The University of Texas.

The School of Architecture's Professional Residency Program will provide on-the-job management training before a student enters his final year of study.

For 15 hours credit, a student will spend one four-month semester plus a summer as a trainee with a firm. His work will be closely monitored and evaluated.

Junior Olympics Set at Borger

This year the West Texas AAU Junior Olympic Track and Field Championships will be held at Bull dog Stadium, Borger, Texas on July 14, Preliminaries for the running events and the finals for the field events will begin at 10:00 a.m.

This Meet is sanctioned by the West Texas AAU Association and is sponsored by the Borger Chamber of Commerce. The Chevrolet Motor Division is the National Sponsor of the Junior Olympics Program. This phase of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States is designed to encourage age-level competition between boys and girls up to 18 years of age. The Program includes a variety of sports and is conducted each year throughout 58 District Associations of the AAU and involves in excess of 100,000 AAU volunteer workers. In the year 1972 over 16,000,000 youngsters competed in some phase of the AAU Junior Olympics Program.

Former Olympians who competed in the AAU Junior Olympic Program include Rayfer Johnson, 1960 Olympic Decathlon Gold Medal Winner; John Pennell, the first man to Pole Vault over 17 feet; and Don Schollander, winner of four Gold Medals for swimming at the Tokyo Olympics.

Four individuals in each of the selected events will qualify for Regional Competition. First place at the Borger Meet this year in the Intermediate (14-15 yrs) Division and the Senior (16-17 yrs) Division will qualify to compete in the Region IX Championships to be held July 21, 1973, in Waco, Texas. In addition, the next two best times or distances in these Divisions will be qualified. Winners at the Region IX Meet will qualify to compete in the National Championships in Ann Arbor, Michigan, on August 14-17, 1973.

of fabric. Caution should be used in pattern selection. The "right" style for single knits will have simple lines, and will be suitable for medium to lightweight fabrics. Look for gathers or soft draping, so appropriate for soft fabrics. Avoid such features as A-line skirts, which depend on the firmness of the fabric for shaping. Check the back of the pattern envelope for the recommended fabrics.

If a four-inch wide strip of the knit will stretch crosswise to five inches or more, it is quite stretchy. In this case, find a pattern designed "for knits only." These patterns are designed with less ease, fewer closures and darts. When made in a stretchable knit, the resulting effect is a satisfying one for the home seamstress.

SEWING SWIMWEAR — Swimmers who like sewing their own water fashions are not so rare as they used to be. Versed in both aquatic and sewing arts, they know correct application of elastic to swimsuit edges has a lot to do with swimming confidence. Now just any elastic will do — regular elastic will stretch out of shape. Swim elastic is treated for chlorine resistance.

To determine exactly how much elastic is needed, measure the swimsuit edge it is to fit. If working with three-eighths-inch elastic, subtract an inch for every seven inches of fabric. If the elastic is three-fourths-inch wide, subtract an inch for every five to six inches of fabric. Test length for comfort by holding it around the place it is to go. Cut and join the elastic ends. Mark off eight equal parts of the elastic with pins, then do the same with the fabric edge to which it will be sewn. Match up pin markings and pin elastic to the wrong side of the swimsuit, putting elastic edge next

New Pesticides Travel Long Road to Market

It takes a lot of effort — and expense — to bring just one pesticide chemical to market for man's use.

By the time it reaches the market, points out the National Cotton Council, a new pesticide has gone through 30 separate research steps. This includes 100,000 man hours of testing, often lasting as much as eight to ten years, and costing $10 million.

to the cut swimsuit edge. Stitch in a wide, long zig-zag, along inner edge of elastic. As you go, stretch just enough to
