Landlords To Be Assured Of A Fair Income

No Indications Of Extent Of Boosts In Rents Offered

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 3—The government came up today with a new formula for figuring fair rent ceilings—but it provided no immediate answer on how much it will increase rents.

The new formula will be applied to the 14,000,000 dwellings still under federal rent control. It was worked out under orders from Congress to provide the landlords with a "fair net operating income."

Details Are Revealed

Housing Expediter Tighe Woods last night announced details of the new "yardstick," designed to provide property owners a net operating income of 25 to 30 per cent on rental units.

The new policy, Woods said, will not mean a general, across-the-board hike in the nation's rent bill. But in announcing the basis under which all future rent increases will be granted, the housing director left unanswered:

1. How much will average rents go up under the new rule which Congress ordered in approving the 15-month extension of federal rent controls?

2. How widespread will new increases be and in what areas will they occur?

Woods said, in effect, that these questions now are a matter for landlords and tenants to determine—with area rent offices acting as referee.

To Allow Increases

Under the new policy, "small" landlords—those renting one to four dwelling units—will be allowed rent increases if net income is less than 25 per cent of gross income. In such cases, rents will be upped to a 30 per cent level.

For "large" landlords—those renting more than four units—increases will be permitted to bring operating income to 25 per cent if the net figure is now below the 20 per cent mark.

Woods said it impossible to tell how many rents will be increased under the formula. No accurate figures are available to show how much landlords' net operating incomes now average.

In addition to setting up the amount of net income to which landlords are entitled under the law, the procedures also outline specific steps which must be tak-

Spring Boosts Credit Buying

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP) — Springtime weather, longer credit terms and scattered price cuts all seem to have had a part in pushing installment buying of automobiles to a new peak in March.

Government figures showed today that the debt contracted by time purchasers of automobiles jumped by $117,000,000 in March to a total of $2,113,000,000.

Heaviest Season

These and other credit figures were studied by Federal Reserve board officials in connection with two easings of credit control they have ordered since March 7.

However, it was noted that the coming of spring historically starts the heaviest season for auto sellers. A number of price cuts, here and there, were also given consideration.

Sellers of refrigerators, furniture, television sets, washing machines and other controlled items got nowhere on the strength of the first (March 7) relaxation of controls. This order dropped cash down payments to 15 per cent from

Reds Balk On Blockade Plan

Overdue Relief To Consumers Forecast In Postwar Decline

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 3 — The President of the United States Chamber of Commerce said today that a "recession from postwar peaks" of business is inevitable. He added that it will bring "overdue relief to millions of consumers."

Earl O. Shreve, in the keynote address at the chamber's 37th annual meeting, also told some 2,500 business leaders:

"When the current readjustment has run its course, and buying for inventory replacement revives, business should find itself on a sounder and infinitely more satisfactory basis."

Higher Taxes Opposed

The shift to a "more solid and orderly pattern of prosperity" will be blocked or delayed, Shreve said, if the government raises taxes and lays down economic controls—as proposed by President Truman—or embarks on a policy of in-the-red financing.

"It is self-evident to all thinking men," he declared, "that the federal budget should be balanced through the economy in spending—not through higher taxes."

To other speakers at the first general session of the four-day meeting offered plans to bulwark prosperity, at home and abroad:

Businessmen should give "prompt attention to the task of pricing consumers back into the market" by lowering prices and bringing out new products, said Harry A. Bullis, board chairman of General Mills, Inc., Minneapolis.

Laying Groundwork

A price decline is "natural and inevitable," Bullis said—"we are laying the groundwork for a long and sustained rise in the living standard of America."

And a Canadian, President Henry G. Birks of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Montreal, proposed an "ABC" committee of American, British and Canadian businessmen to labor for the freeing of world trade from currency and other trade barriers.

Such a committee could do much, Birks predicted, to promote the economic cooperation which he said is essential to the success of the North Atlantic alliance.

Shreve and Birks agreed that, in the words of Shreve, "the chances of enduring peace have improved" through signing of the Atlantic pact. The U. S. Chamber president said:

"So long as the West remains strong and shows determination to resist the expansion of Russia, peace should be maintained."

Are Eloquent Arguments

The records set by American industries since the removal of wartime restraints, said Shreve, are "eloquent arguments for freedom of enterprise and for freedom of markets."

Accident Injuries Fatal To Tulia Man

AMARILLO, May 3 (U.P.)—Morris B. Johnston, Tulia mechanic, died in an Amarillo hospital last night from injuries sustained Sunday midnight in a traffic accident north of Tulia.

Three other persons from Tulia were injured seriously. They were Mrs. Johnston, wife of the victim, Mrs. M. E. Johnston, daughter-in-law, and Mary Ariola, daughter of Eli Bradford Ariola, the driver, son-in-law of the Johnstons.

The injured were in the Swisher county hospital at Tulia. Ariola said the accident occurred when the lights on his car went out, causing him to lose control.

Accident Fatal To San Antonio Child

SAN ANTONIO, May 3 (AP)—A freak accident at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Hummell in Alamo Heights today cost the life of 15-months old Robert H. Hummell.

The child apparently pulled a large glass from a shelf. It fell to the floor and broke and the infant apparently fell on it, striking the glass with his head and fracturing his skull.

Cross-Country Trip In Iron Lung Ends

Husband's Deft Use Of Can Opener Saves Life Of Wife

(By The Associated Press)

ITHACA, N. Y., May 3—A pretty, young mother stricken with polio ended a cross-country trip today in an iron lung—alive because of her husband's deft use of a beer can opener.

Death rode over the Union Pacific flyer that brought Mrs. Shirley Palmer, 27, across the western plains yesterday.

But her war pilot-husband was beside her when the electric motor operating the air pump of the portable iron lung burned out.

Because he crouched there and operated the lung pump by hand for more than 10 hours, she enters Biggs Memorial hospital today for treatment.

When the handle on the lung bent under pressure of the marathon operation, Bob Palmer 31, was desperate.

He told reporters:

"I began to wonder what I was going to use for a new handle. I had the can opener handy, and it had a little

FEDERAL COURT CEREMONY HELD

Five New Citizens Take Oath In City

By EDWARD WELSH
Journal Staff Writer

Five persons became citizens of the United States this morning in the Lubbock district of Federal court, with a solemn oath of allegiance they stepped across the threshold from alienship to citizenship.

Two were former citizens of Canada and one each came from France, Italy and England. All are now Texans as well as Americans.

Mrs. Grace Vivian Neubauer came to the United States in June, 1946. As a war bride she came by way of Sydney, Australia. She now lives with her husband, William C. Neubauer at 311 Vernon. Mrs. Neubauer was born in Canada.

U. S. Resident Since 1907

Another Canadian who became an American today is William Thomas Bell. Bell has been residing in the United States since 1907. His present home is at 1911 Avenue K.

Mrs. Bernadette Georgette Blum, another war bride, comes from France. The petite blonde arrived in this country in October, 1946. As she took the oath this morning, her husband, E. L. Blum, stood behind her holding their month old son in his arms. The baby took the proceedings without a whimper of recognition that his mother had just severed her final ties with her native land, France.

From London, England, comes Mrs. Mary Isabel Alsup who now resides with her husband on Route 1, Lubbock. Like the other three young women, Mrs. Alsup was a war bride when she arrived in the U. S. in May, 1946.

Happy To Be Here

Mrs. Lena Anna Reeves, now living at Levelland, came to this country with her G. I. husband in September, 1946. She is very happy to be in this country, she says, away from all the fears and misery that have beset her native land, Italy.

The class in naturalization was conducted by O. W. Manney, examiner for the U. S. Department of Justice. He presented the peti-

Mercury Hits 102 In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

The hottest day of the spring—102 degrees—was reported yesterday at Presidio with numerous state points reporting readings in the mid-90s or higher.

Except for the extreme west and southwest portions of Texas, weather conditions were unsettled. It was cloudy and foggy and increasing southern winds were moving across the state at 15 to 20 miles per hour.

The conditions probably will result in widely scattered thundershowers, the weather bureau predicted.

No Showers Reported

The Big Bend country up through El Paso and the area around Amarillo saw the sun today, but skies were heavily overcast elsewhere. However, no showers were reported on the 8:30 a. m. observation. Drizzles had been reported earlier at Waco and San Antonio.

Besides Presidio's 102-degree readings yesterday, others were 98 at Big Spring, 96 at Salt Flat, 95 at Wink, 92 at El Paso, 91 at Lubbock, and 90 at Fort Worth and Junction.

Lows this morning ranged from 58 at Dalhart to 77 at Brownsville. Yesterday's low maximum was 82 at Houston.

Call For Help Is No Joke This Time

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 3 (AP)—Bryon Eugene Earheart's swimming companions paid no attention—just laughed — when he screamed for help and dropped out of sight in a lake Monday. They said he "was always kidding that way."

An hour later the 17-year-old boy's body was recovered.

Lester Wright, 29, one of Earheart's friends, said the boy was a good swimmer and "a great kidder—if we'd only known he wasn't kidding."

Killed instantly were Rolly Hooten, about 41, of Kempner; Mrs. Hazel Burnett of Lampasas, and a Mrs. Thompson of Lampasas.

Identification of Mrs. Thompson was tentative.

Allies Request End Of Berlin Ban On May 9

Critical Stage Is Reached In Talks On Major Problem

(By The United Press)

LONDON, May 3—The western powers have asked Russia to lift the Berlin blockade next Monday in return for holding a foreign ministers council meeting on May 23, it was reported reliably today.

Russia, on the other hand, has suggested it would be better timing to lift the blockade early in June and to call the council meeting for the middle of June.

Critical Stage Reached

Western diplomats conceded that the critical stage now has been reached in the East-West negotiations to settle the Berlin crisis and other German problems.

These sources said this week should determine whether the Berlin blockade was to be ended or whether the world's hopes for a settlement were again to be blasted as they were last summer.

Diplomatic reports said the East and West were in agreement on these two points:

1. That the Soviet blockade of western Berlin and the West's counterblackade of the Soviet ozne should be lifted simultaneously at an early date.

2. That the Big Four council of foreign ministers should resume discussions on Germany as soon as the blokades are lifted.

Disagreement Is Reported

The reports said there is disagreement on these points:

1. The Russians want the council meeting to begin a week after the restrictions are lifted. The West wants a two-week difference.

2. The West wants the blockade lifted on May 9 and the council to meet on May 23. The Russians propose the middle of June for the council meeting.

3. The Russians want the current preliminary talks to continue with the U. S. acting as spokesman for the West. The West wants British and French representatives to join the talks before agreement is reached on the dates.

Seven Persons Dead In Flames Of Home

HINTON, W. Va., May 3 (AP) — Seven persons perished today at 2 a. m. when fire swept through a two-family frame house.

Fire Captain John Lively said it burned so quickly all seven of the sleeping occupants were trapped.

The bodies recovered were identified as those of:

Mrs. Anna June Deeds, 24-year-old divorcee, and her two children, Drema Kay, 4, and Hazel Joyce Deeds, 6; Mr. and Mrs. James Ellison and their three-month-old daughter, Diana Frances, and Homer Tincher, about 30, a visitor.

Youngster Crippled By "Punishment"

Boy Still Loves His Mother Despite Fire Injury To Hand

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 3—Mrs. Geraldine Vetter—accused of burning her nine-year-old son's hand over a gas flame as punishment—still has the boy's love.

"I want to kiss my mother," cried Philip Vetter yesterday as he left the witness chair in a court room where the 38-year-old mother is on trial.

The boy, who had told the judge and jury he loves his mother "very much," tried to run to her. But the judge ordered him taken from the room.

The jury saw the boy's right hand, which he can't open. Part of one finger has been amputated.

The boy, who has been a patient at Bellevue hospital since he was burned last Thanksgiving, told the jury his mother caught him smoking a cigaret.

He said his mother—charged with assault and endangering of a minor—lit the gas on a stove "and put my hand over it." He testified he pulled his hand out of his GREYING PUSSY—In Greencastle, Indiana, Mrs. James W. Wright's Persian cat was jet black (above left) until it went after a bird. The cat, reaching for a canary, pulled the bird's cage from a hanger; and at the same time, a flower pot fell and rolled after the retreating cat. It was several hours before the frightened pussy was found. In a few days it began to turn white (above right). The first change was a ring around the feline's neck; then came a gradual greying.

Slap On Baby Girl's Head Cracks Skull, Brooklyn Father Held On Homicide Count

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—An unemployed Brooklyn father has been charged with killing his three-months-old daughter by slapping her on the head when she cried while the mother was at work in a factory.

Detectives said the father, Bernard Kluefer, 27, demonstrated what happened, using a doll placed in the crib of his dead daughter, Doreen.

The prisoner burst into tears and protested that he hadn't meant to harm the child, the detectives said.

"She was crying, and it got on my nerves," he was quoted as saying.

The father, who has been employed in a paper box factory, was locked up Monday night on a homicide charge.

Kluefer was minding the baby last Friday, and when the wife returned from work she found her unconscious. The baby died Sunday in a hospital. An autopsy performed Monday showed a fractured skull caused death, assistant Kings County Medical Examiner Mendel Jacoby said.

VANDENBERG SEEKS FUND CUT

Solons Join Drive For Budget Slash

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 3 — Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) joined Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today in a drive for a five per cent cut in government operating expenses.

Vandenberg said that if the slash is applied across the board to appropriations bills as they come before the Senate, he will ask that founds for the European recovery program be cut in a like amount.

Previously, the Michigan senator fought to prevent any slash in the $5,430,000,000 Marshall plan authorization, although he said that was only a ceiling under which the appropriations committees had a free hand to make reductions.

Situation Is Discussed

"I don't know any business that couldn't make a 5 per cent cut in its housekeeping costs if it had to," Vandenberg said. "With expenditures going the rate they are in the government, I'd like to see that economy applied."

How far the current economy drive may get is a question that will have to await action on all appropriation bills. The Senate is just beginning to take them up.

Senator Taft also talked over the situation with a reporter. He said he will ask the Senate Republican policy committee to decide tomorrow what course the party ought to take in an effort to cut expenses to the point where it will not be necessary to raise new taxes to avoid a deficit.

Taft and Senator Bridges (R-NH) led a move last week to cut $11,000,000 off the $2,429,000,000 labor-federal security appropriations bill, the first regular money measure to come before the Senate.

Notice Is Filed

When this effort failed, Taft moved to send the bill back to the appropriations committee. Parliamentarians ruled that the move automatically ordered a 5 per cent cut in the total figure at which the bill was approved by the House.

But Senator Green (D-RI) filed notice in the Senate yesterday he will ask for a new vote on the question.

While Vandenberg said he favors cutting appropriations bills 5 per cent below the House-approved totals, Taft said he wants cuts of 5 per cent below the figures approved by the Senate appropriations committee.

Straw Hat Day To Be Observed Here

Wednesday is Straw Hat day in Lubbock and merchants were advising men who want to be in style to wear their summer headgear tomorrow.

The Weather bureau added some off-the-cuff advice: Better wear a chin-strap, too, the wind's going to be strong.

Lubbock men's stores and department stores agreed to designate Wednesday as official Straw Hat day, a time when somber felt fedoras are discarded in favor of flashier, well-ventilated models.

Their judgment was backed up by Tuesday's maximum temperature of 91 degrees and today's expected maximum in the high 80's. Temperature Wednesday is expected to be about the same.

Winds up to 30 miles an hour, possibly accompanied by some dust, are predicted for Wednesday.

Youth Held In Wife's Death

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 3 (AP) —A teen age husband with a boyish face told police he shot his 17-year-old wife to death because "she wouldn't come home to her babies."

The youth, 19 year-old Joseph Lailheugue, was booked on a charge of murder.

Detective John Sabatier said the calm, lanky husband told him he shot his attractive brunette wife four times with a .25 caliber pistol yesterday after she laughed at him when he brandished the gun.

Sabatier said the young husband, a freight car merchandise checker, related that his wife left home April 24 but that he found her in a rooming house and asked her to return for the sake of their two children.

Changed Her Mind

"She was almost packed when she changed her mind again," the detective quoted Lailheugue.

"Then she said I couldn't have the kids, that she would kill me before she would let me have them."

Lailheugue said he then brought out the pistol, which he "just happened to have along," and when his wife, Joy, laughed, he shot her.

Lailheugue himself telephoned police when the frightened landlady refused.

Texas House Rejects Office Terms Limit

AUSTIN, May 3. (U.P.)—The Texas House today rejected the U. S. constitutional amendment which would limit presidents to two terms in office.

By a vote of 72 to 64, the lower chamber adopted a motion by Rep. Ray Kirkpatrick of Trenton tabling the amendment.

The House thus repeated its action of two years ago, when Texas became the first state to reject the proposed amendment, shortly after its submission by the 80th Congress.

Texas Man Receives Concussion In Wreck

CLOVIS, N. M., May 3 (AP) — John Gausin of Abilene, received a concussion of the brain in an auto collision Saturday night in which six others were injured.

His physician said today that Gausin is resting comfortably in a Clovis hospital, but that blood pressure is up, indicating brain damage.

Miss Evelyn Hogue of Hobbs received a broken jaw and Bernon Roberts of Portales a ruptured bladder. Miss Hogue is to be released from a hospital here today. Roberts was taken to a Lubbock hospital.

Man Rams Armored Car; Billfold Lost

FORT WORTH, May 3 (AP)— An armored truck loaded with money bags collided today with an automobile driven by Charles Fincher, 30.

The truck turned over. Fincher was knocked out of his car by the force of the collision.

Navy Declares Red Plans Are Nipped In Bud

Officers Say That Navy Has Not Left The Shanghai Area

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, May 3.—United States, British and French naval craft left the Shanghai waterfront because of a reported Communist plot to block their passage to the sea, a U. S. Navy spokesman said today.

The spokesman, from the staff of U. S. Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger, said "reliable sources" told the United States Navy that Communists planned to scuttle a ship near Woosung, the Chinese Nationalist garrison, that would have blocked the larger ships from the sea.

To Offset Accusations

The spokesman evidentally disclosed this "plot" to offset accusations that the U. S. Navy had "run out" on Communist threatened Shanghai.

Details of the "pot" came from the same source which had previously tipped the Navy the Communists had a similar plan to bottle up naval vessels in Tientsin earlier this year, the spokesman said.

The Navy evacuated numerous persons from Tientsin shortly before the city fell and the route to the sea was cut.

The Navy spokesman said the Woosung "plot" was "nipped in the bud." He declined to give details saying it was a Chinese matter.

He said after the plot was "nipped" the American President Lines liner President Wilson came up to the Shanghai waterfront past the Woosung garrison. The Wilson tied up at a bund pier and evacuated 300 persons after an overnight stay.

All Ships Are Watched

It was learned the Nationalists were eyeing closely all ships in the Woosung area to prevent any scuttling attempt.

The spokesman said the Navy had not left the Shanghai area. He said at present three destroyers and an LCI (landing craft infantry) were anchored near Woosung, 12 miles from here. An LST (landing ship tanks) was due tomorrow. He said the LCI was making a daily shuttle run between Shanghai and Woosung.

The spokesman, at a news conference, pledged the Navy would keep ships here as long as there was any possibility of an emergency evacuation. He said the present group of ships can accommodate the 1,650 Americans still in Shanghai.

The Navy spokesman disclosed that the transport Chilton, last major U. S. vessel to leave the Shanghai waterfront, had gone to Tsingtao with all of the marines who had been quartered aboard her.

This disclosure recalled Admiral Badger's statement of last win-

Education Bill Is Given Okay

AUSTIN, May 3 (AP)—The Senate today completed legislative action on the first of the Gilmer-Aikin school bills by accepting House amendments to the reorganization measure.

The vote was 19 to 8 on accepting House changes in Senator Jim Taylor's bill, key measure in the Gilmer-Aikin plan.

Jester Gets Bill

The Senate's action sent the bill to the desk of Gov. Beauford H. Jester who has advocated the Gilmer-Aikin plan.

The principal change made in the House on Senate bill 115, the Taylor measure, was to make the elective board of education a 21-member instead of a 9-member body.

The Senate's adoption of the House amendment came without debate.

Taylor's bill would reorganize supervision of the public school system from the state level. It abolishes the elective office of state school superintendent, substituting a commissioner of education named by the elective board. The board is now appointive.

House Okays Bill

In the House, a near-58 million dollar money bill for state-supported colleges went to the calendar for action. It was the last of the major money bills which have been hanging in the appropriations committee. Two years ago, the legislature voted 46 million to support colleges during the current fiscal periods.

Former 'Flying Tigers' Leader Warns Of Danger In China War

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—Gen. Claire Chennault said today the security of the United States is at stake in China and pleaded for "positive action" to aid anti-Communist forces there.

The wartime leader of the "Flying Tigers" told the Senate armed services committee that the best part of China already has been lost to the Communists "by our passivity."

"If we do not act soon, all China will be lost, he added.

The retired Air Force officer, now head of a commercial airline in China, urged at least a minimum program of aid so the anti-Communists can hold a "beachhead for the resurgence of Chinese nationalism."

Specifically, he said there are "vast stockpiles" of arms in the Philippines and other Pacific areas that could be used.

Gravely, he warned that Russia is standing "on the brink of unlimited successes in the Far East."

And if China is swallowed up by the Communists, Chennault said, Indo-China, Malaya, Siam, Burma and Indonesia also will fall to the Communists.

In turn he said Communist occupation of southeast Asia "will bring interrupted drive into the critical region of the Middle East."

Trip To Europe 'Strictly For Pleasure,' Says Thomas Dewey

ALBANY, N. Y., May 3 (AP)—Governor Dewey pinned a "no politics" label today on his European tour, but left the door open for a comeback on the national scene.

"The trip is not a mission and not political," the twice-beaten Republican presidential candidate insisted at a news conference.

"I won't discuss American or European politics" overseas, he promised. "I'll leave that to people like Henry Wallace."

Raps GOP Tax

Dewey took a parting shot Monday night at the GOP legislative tax revolters who tried to cut his record-smashing $937,000,000 budget and lopped $48,000,000 off his tax bill.

He dismissed his fight with the rebels as a "rather noisy controversy" that failed to cut a penny from his "rock bottom" budget. He portrayed himself in a radio review of the 1949 session of the legislature, as an economical, progressive administrator.

The governor, accompanied by Mrs. Dewey and his secretary, Paul E. Lockwood, sails Thursday from New York City on a six-week visit to England, France, Germany, Italy, Switzerland and the low countries.

"Strictly Vacation"

At the news conference he said it was "strictly a vacation" in which he was traveling as a private citizen — not in any official capacity.

He expects, however, to talk with leaders of the governments of the countries he visits. And he indicated he had been in touch with Washington sources to bring him up to date on major international problems.

Dr. Grant, who recently returned from a brief preaching mission to the Hawaiian islands, discussed the geography, history economics and customs of the islands.

Two members of the local Junior Optimist club made speeches in the Lubbock finals of the annual Optimist International speech contest for boys. Dale Wooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wooley of 2602 N. Third, and Jordan Curington, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Curington of 311 Ave. X, spoke on "Youth Looks Forward to Its Civic Responsibilities." The winner of the local contest is to be announced at Thursday night's regular Junior Optimist meeting, and will later compete in the District 7 finals at Oklahoma City.

Ivan L. Little, J. L. Upshaw and J. W. Reid were judges for the speaking contest.

Ernest O. Stewart, jr., made a brief talk urging full cooperation of the Optimists in the current Cleanup, Paintup, Fixup campaign.

One new member, George Spinning, was introduced.

G. C. Stewart presided at the luncheon, with invocation by M. L. Shepherd. About 65 members and guests attended.

Range For Guided Missiles Is Sought

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The United States is negotiating with Britain to set up a guided missile range with launching sites in Florida and a checking station in the British-owned Bahama Islands.

This was disclosed today by the State departments press officer, Michael McDermott. He said talks have been going on for "some time" and indicated the joint project is in the final stage of diplomatic arrangements.

Need For Political Action By Nation's Doctors Emphasized

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, May 3 — Doctors no longer can avoid politics, individual or nationally, Dr. Tate Miller, Dallas, president of the State Medical association, said today.

"Washington has lowered the flood gates and the political waters have risen and come to us . . .," Miller told the opening session of the association's eighty-second annual convention.

The profession's political problems exist, he said, at both state and national levels.

Action Is Scored

"In Austin, where once an expression from the doctors was all it took to have a medical bill of any sort passed, we now have extreme difficulty in getting a simple fundamental educational bill passed," he said.

"In Washington extreme effort is being expended to tear down the national medical structure which has taken generations to build."

The recently proposed compulsory health bill means "we must gird our loins for another conflict," Miller said.

Speakers Are Heard

Dr. Cecil Striker, Cincinnati, told of plans to launch a nationwide program for mass-sugar tests, similar to the mass x-ray programs for tuberculosis, as a means of curbing diabetes.

Striker, senior attending physician at Cincinnati's Jewish hospital, said the U. S. Public Health Service and the American Diabetes association are cooperating in the surveys to find unknown diabetics.

Yesterday, Miller told a group of general practioners that 90 per cent of the ailments of humanity can be treated by the family doctor.

He spoke before the Texas Academy of General Practice, one of 11 medical groups which held meetings preliminary to today's opening of general sessions for the state society.

U. S. Patrol Not Far Behind German Border Police When Trouble Starts

By DON DOANE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ARZBERG, Germany, May 3 — A crackle of gunfire shattered the quiet of a winter night. German border police suddenly found themselves in a battle with Czech border guards across the German-Czechoslovakian frontier.

Seventeen minutes after the first shot was fired, American constabulary troops arrived.

This gun duel of last Jan. 20—set off by a smugglers' attempt to sneak ball bearings from Germany into Czechoslovakia—illustrates the role the constabulary plays in guarding Germany's frontiers.

The constabulary no longer patrols the actual border. That job was long ago turned over to the German police. But the constabulary troopers stand so close back of the German police that they can reach a border trouble spot in a very few minutes.

Night and day, in all kinds of weather, constabulary patrols range the roads of this border area. In jeeps and armored cars, armed with pistols, rifles, machine guns, sometimes light cannon, they cruise back and forth.

Smugglers and illegal border crossers must reckon with them as well as the lightly armed German police. Communist-fearing Germans, living close to red-ruled Czechoslovakia, see these patrols and take heart.

The patrols bring this isolated border into close contact with far away U. S. army headquarters. In four minutes or less they can flash a message from radio equipped patrol jeeps to constabulary headquarters in Stuttgart, nearly 200 miles away. But calls for calls for help are infrequent. The men deal with most troubles on the spot. They are a hardy, battle-trained outfit.

Most of the troopers around here are combat veterans. Like Sgt. David A. Brown of Childress, Texas, the top enlisted man in the small group stationed here. He won a silver star fighting his way from Italy to Germany.

To see how these patrols operate, let's follow this six-man group on its daily rounds:

Cpl. Herbert Allen, 199 North Avenue, Wakefield, Mass., is in charge. Other members are Pfc. Frank W. Milligan of 150 Franklin St., Lawrence, Mass.; Pvt. Paul Bradley, 2410 North Bouvier St., Philadelphia, Pa.; Pfc. Richard T. Slawinsky, box 263 Mylith Park, Wauconda, Ill.; Pvt. Earl W. Crum, 215 North 15th St., East Orange, N. J.; and Recruit Joseph Anderson, 2300 North aVn Buren, Bay City, Mich.

Before they set out on their eight hour patrol, they are briefed by Brown or by their commanding officer, Lt. Francis A. Richter, Homecrest Road, Jackson, Mich.

If there are tips of smuggling attempts or border crossers, they are alerted. On the road, they watch for everything. They are the eyes and ears of the occupation army. They patrol the country roads for 30 miles around. They cruise through small villages, checking with German border guards and village police as they pass by. When they come in, another patrol goes out. On clear days, they are reinforced by tiny observation planes, flying low overhead.

U. S. Constabulary speeds to border to check with a guard

There is very little legal traffic across the border since the Communists took over Czechoslovakia. But illegal border crossers are much more numerous. Forty or fifty sneak across into Germany every week, fleeing the red regime in Czechslovakia. This figure is for only about 40 miles of border.

For a while last year, after German police took over the border control, there were no American troops in this border region. Since they returned, to this area, troopers say Communism has waned among the Germans around here.

"The Germans used to eye that Czech border a few miles away and decide they'd better play it safe by pretending to be Communists, just in case the reds ever moved in here," one veteran of border patrols related.

"Now, heartened by the presence of U. S. troops, they are daring to act as they feel, and spurn Communism."

Success Of Berlin Airlift Is Proven, Veteran Airman Says

An Air force officer who has witnessed the Berlin airlift from its beginning says that in his opinion the massive transport operation into the German capital has been a success.

First Lieut. Leo G. Bradford, who arrived in Lubbock last week to begin a 45-day leave after three years' service in Germany, said Monday that he thought the airlift had proved to the German people that Anglo-American officials are earnestly trying to rebuild the German nation on a Democratic basis.

"And," he added, "I think the Germans are beginning to understand that."

Gets Valuable Experience

Aside from its psychological implications, Lt. Bradford said he thought the airlift had been of great value to the United States in that "it has given our Air Force an opportunity to gain experience that it might never have had otherwise."

Lieut. Bradford, who took about six weeks off from his regular position of assistant adjutant general of the 7200 Air Force Depot wing to fly planes in the airlift, had nothing but praise for the men who have made the operation a success.

"And I'll have to admit," he said, "that it has succeeded far better than I thought it would when it began."

The early days of the lift, Lieut. Bradford explained, were dark ones for U. S. airmen involved. Pilots were on a "12 hours on, 12 hours off" basis for lengthy periods; there was a shortage of both pilots and planes; living conditions often were unpleasant; and bad weather made flying extremely hazardous.

Picture Has Brightened

Now, he said, the picture has brightened considerably. The original schedule of one plane into Berlin every three minutes, day and night, still is in effect, but facilities have been expanded greatly. The old C-47 planes have been replaced entirely by larger C-54's, and new airports have been put into operation in the Berlin area, relieving traffic congestion there.

"When I left Germany several weeks ago," Lieut. Bradford said, "the average pilot was on duty 12 hours then off 24. And about every 10 days he received a three-day 'break.'

Asked if Russian fliers had interfered directly in airlift operations, he said that because of Air Force security regulations he preferred to withhold comment.

Got Wings at LAAF

A veteran of more than nine years' service in the Air Force, Lieut. Bradford received his pilot's wings at Lubbock Army Air field in September of 1942. He later served at a number of air fields in this country before going to Germany three years ago.

A high point of his return last week to Lubbock was his first sight of his nine-month-old twin sons, David Galen and Don Michael. The boys were born in Lubbock after Mrs. Bradford's return from Germany last year, and because of the airlift Lieut. Bradford had been unable to leave Europe until recently.

Mrs. Bradford, the former Arline Younger, lives with her mother, Mrs. Viola Younger, at 1513 Eighteenth. The Bradfords also have one daughter, Delinda Ann, 3.

At the conclusion of his current 45-day leave, Lieut. Bradford will be assigned to Carswell field, near Fort Worth.

DeMolay Initiates 16 Candidates Here

Candidates initiated included Clarence Reagan, Rodney Roper, David Smith, Joe Guy Smith, Lynn Turner, Howard Wayne Walker, Al Alschuler, Jack Burt, Tyler Curtis, Billy Edwards, Roy Furr, jr., Richard Hitt, Charles Holmquest, J. T. Jones, jr., Bobby Mitchell, and Marshall Pharr.

Degrees were conferred by Jimmy Kennedy, master councillor, who also made the "Flower Talk." Among visitors from the Masonic bodies who made brief talks were Dr. A. A. Holmquest, Leslie Roper, C. E. Mitchell, Dr. C. B. Batson, J. T. Jones, and W. R. Dean. C. B. Boydston, chairman of DeMolay advisory council and John Ross, chapter dad, also spoke briefly from the viewpoint of the Masonic sponsors.

Jim Jaquet, outstanding DeMolay leader from Clovis, N. M., who is at present a Texas Tech student and is active in the local chapter, discussed DeMolay customs and opportunities, especially as they pertain to new members.

An interesting feature of the Monday night ceremony was the initiation of two brothers, Joe Guy and David Preston Smith, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smith, of 2304 Thirty-first.

The E. Y. Lee chapter recently has been commended by the Grand Council of the Order of DeMolay in Kansas City for its outstanding record of growth and member interest.

Six Persons Killed In Bolivian Riots

LA PAZ, Bolivia, May 3 — Bolivia counted at least six dead and 50 wounded today as the result of bloody riots which followed Sunday's parliamentary elections.

Armed guards protected the presidential palace. President Enrique Hertzog feverishly conferred inside with political leaders in order to avert new outbreaks. A state of siege was proclaimed.

Election returns showed the President's Republican Socialist union party had retained control of Parliament. However, the national revolutionary movement (NRM) made sharp gains.

Divorce Kept W. C. Fields From Marrying Mother, 'Son' Claims

LOS ANGELES, May 3. (AP)—Comedian W. C. Fields once told a Follies girl he would marry her if he could obtain a divorce, so states a deposition filed here by a man who claims he is their son.

The claimant, William Rexford Fields Morris, 31, Dallas, Monday filed the deposition by his foster mother, Mrs. Rose Holden, Belleville, N. J., to support his contention for a share in Fields' $800,000 estate.

Morris, an airlines employe, asserts he is an illegitimate son of Fields and the late Bessie Chatterton Poc a Ziegfeld Follies girl, and was reared by Mrs. Holden. Fields starred in the Follies for many years.

Mother Files Statement

Last week another deposition was filed in Morris' behalf by Mrs. Bessie Adelaide Witherell of Onset, Mass., identified as the chorus girl's mother.

In the latest deposition—an 80-page document—Mrs. Holden said:

"Fields told Bessie that he would marry her, but for the fact that his wife, from whom he was separated, wouldn't give him a divorce."

Mrs. Holden's sworn statement said she was a close friend of Fields and Miss Poole and brought up their son from the day of his birth in 1917 until he was a man.

"Before the baby was born," Mrs. Holden's deposition said, "Bessie told be Fields was the father."

She added that Fields himself arranged to pay, at first, $12 a week to Mrs. Holden and later fixed the figure at $50 a month. She said she received that amount for many years, but that Fields ceased contributing in 1936.

"He Didn't Deny It"

"I thought about suing Fields for the money and time I had given," her deposition said, "but I didn't want to hurt his good name, or to hurt Billy, either."

The deposition included a letter from Robert P. Burkhalter, identified as an attorney for Fields for 20 years, and which said in part:

"Bill never denied the fact that he was the father of Billy, or that Bessie was the boy's mother."

Tourists Visit In Switzerland

All Swiss Railways To Be Changed To Electric Power

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The series of articles being written by Margaret Turner, Woman's Editor of the Lubbock Avalanche and Journal publications, from Europe continues today).

ZURICH—Springtime has come to this largest city in Switzerland which stretches for miles along Lake Zurich and up in the hills and everywhere one looks she sees bowers of fruit blossoms and flower gardens. The amazing thing about it to us is that only two weeks ago the ground was covered with a foot of snow.

Zurich is a clean and modern city with wide streets down which many cars made in America are driven. "We like your cars very much in Switzerland," explained Sidney Fanconi, American Express representative, who served as interpreter and guide from the front seat of the Chrysler in which we rode.

• • •

By next year it's said all Swiss railways will be running on electric power and we believe we have never appreciated the use of electricity more than on our train ride to Zurich, with arrival after nightfall. For miles and miles before coming into the city we rode along the lake front, looking across to the small towns and villages on the foothills, each ablaze with light. The ride from the station was much as one would enjoy in any American city. It was quite a contrast to Paris and Vienna, both of which are rationed on electricity and turn their lights off two days each week from 7 in the morning until 6 at night. The streets in those two cities are dim and all of the shop windows are dark.

• • •

With all of their home produced electricity the people of Zurich have not seen fit to install traffic lights and a policeman, wearing white gauntlets that extend past the elbows, stands at the intersections, waving his arms this way and that. Whether or not he blows a whistle we don't know, but one of them yelled "Hey" at us when we stepped into the street too soon.

• • •

During our sightseeing tour of Zurich, which was arranged solely for the three of us, since we have arrived well ahead of the expected tourist exodus from the United States, we saw a profusion of fruit trees in bloom, lilacs in deep purple, beds of pansies and geraniums blooming in pots along every window sill. "The Swiss like a lot of flowers," Sidney proudly explained. This we believed before the day was over, because we could not remember one yard, no matter whether it was an estate or a peasant's home, in which flowers were not in bloom.

In one of the parks there were beds of bright red and yellow tulips, blazing under a sun as warm as summer and blankets of forget-me-nots and daisies covered the countryside which was not yet under cultivation.

• • •

Our afternoon ride to Rhine Falls took us through a number of villages, all as clean as a hospital hall. We saw the entire families at work in the fields, most of them spreading fertilizer and saw our first evidence of up to date methods in a tractor which a youth was racing down the furrows. In contrast to Austria, we saw few oxen and the plow horses appeared in much better condition than those we had noticed in other countries.

It was, as we have said, as beautiful as May and women were scrubbing steps and polishing windows. "Spring time is a clean time," said our guide.

• • •

As we drove through a farming village, we stopped for a funeral procession. The hearse, drawn by a horse draped in a black robe, resembled a large surrey. A somber-faced man, in rusty black, led the horse, and the funeral procession followed, men, women and young people, all in black, walking in pairs. Each man doffed his hat as he passed our car, and although we knew it was rude we could not help but look and it salved our rudenesss somewhat to see that the mourners were staring at us

• • •

Later at Stein on the Rhine, when we were enjoying a tea hour in a garden, we saw a wedding party. As the bride came through the gate, someone in the party stepped on her train and she frowned a moment and then laughed. When she passed us we noticed she wore the same kind of stars in her eyes that are peculiar to brides everywhere. Despite the riot of blossoms in yards and florist shops, the men in the party wore artificial carnations in their lapels. Two of the young men seemed to be attending the bridegroom and Sidney told us they were "best men." "We have only one best man in America," we told him. "Well here in Switzerland we have two," he laughed.

Picnic Will Be Tonight

Continuing rush activities, Texas Nu chapter, Delta Theta Chi sorority, will hold a picnic tonight at Mackenzie State park. Members and guests will meet in the home of Mrs. B. B. Borden, 2433 Twenty-second, at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Lela Craddock is in charge of arrangements.

Thursday night the sorority will honor rushees at a coke party in the home of Miss Alta White, 2020 Fifth street, apartment 52, at 7:30 o'clock.

Rushees are Misses Jeanie Fry, Rena O'Neill, Dovie Parr, Marie Riley, Viola Limmer, Sue Tyson, Gail Tyson, Nan Powell and Mesdames Shirely Hudson, Martha Sue Cawthorn and Wilda Reynolds.

Sorority members are Misses Lola Bellah, Shirley Jean Allen, Craddock, Betty Ann Crow, Cleta Doughty, Mary Catherine Fincher, Florene Fisher, Nita Haseloff, Mary Keesee, Vickie Martin, Frances McArthur, Juanita Parr, Cleta Parker, Dahlia Trammel, White, and Mesdames T. Lubbockites At Meeting

Mrs. A. L. Wallace and Miss Lenora Nickels flew home Monday from Oklahoma City where they attended a two-day meeting at which the nationalization of Kappa Kappa Iota sorority for teachers was completed. The two Lubbock delegates are from the Texas Alpha conclave of the sorority.

The organization's new president is Mrs. Ia Duggan of Tulsa, Okla., who visited recently with the local conclave.

Headquarters for the meeting were at the Oklahoma City YWCA building. A coffee, luncheon and banquet were held for the delegates.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

As a pre-bridal courtesy to Miss Mary Helen Nunnallee, a party was given in the home of Mrs. W. M. Ryan, 2018 Seventeenth, Monday night. The honoree who will marry Jack Shelley Saturday at First Christian church was presented a white bed spread by the hostesses, Mesdames Ryan, R. L. Hooten, G. E. Dawson, O. R. Bantz, Ance English and Ben Eskridge.

Mrs. R. V. Williams greeted guests and presented them to Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. G. D. Shelley, mother of the bridegroom-elect, and Miss Nunnallee. Mrs. G. H. Wilhite and Mrs. English presided alternately at the punch bowl.

Others in the houseparty were Mesdames Wesley Deats, D. B. McAllister, J. W. Kolb, Helen Van, and Miss Chalones Matthews. Approximately 50 guests called.

The tea table was laid with a white linen cloth and decorated with blue and white iris and white candles. Bouquets of red corses and blue iris were arranged in other party rooms.

Calvary Baptist Women At Meetings

Helen Leech circle of Calvary Baptist WMS met Monday with Mrs. R. J. Teal for a Bible lesson by Mrs. J. D. Blethroade. Mrs. James William presided. Twelve members, three new members and one guest attended.

A meeting of Ruby Hayden Parker circle of the WMS was held in the home of Mrs. Bryan Landers with Mrs. Cecil Brashear presiding. Each of the five persons attending quoted favorite Bible verses. Mrs. J. H. Comer and Mrs. Selena Martin reviewed the book, "This World's Goods," for Hardy circle in the Comer home. Five members were present.

Mrs. E .C. Wood was hostess to Blanche Groves circle and Mrs. A. A. Bratcher presided. The lesson for the four persons attending was taught by Miss May Horne.

Mary Louella Dunn Circle At Meeting

Mrs. J. W. Taylor was hostess to seven members of Mary Louella Dunn circle of St. John's Methodist church Monday. A lesson on "Panama and the Virgin Islands" was brought by Mrs. Troy Price.

Two People Feel Compatible When Alone, But Are Antagonistic In Larger Company

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Is there something radically wrong in a relationship when two individuals are compatible when alone together, but seem to antagonize each other when with several other people?

Bill is a veteran, 21, attending college and making good grades. I, at 19, am studying college courses at night school and I believe my intelligence is comparable to his. We have been going together for more than a year, and both of us were reared in homes where economy is a watchword.

We attended the same high school, thus have mutual acquaintances. Our religion, nationality and social backgrounds are alike; and we have many like interests and traits. We don't make new friends readily and undoubtedly are the introvert type. Pastimes we enjoy together are movies, drives in the country, card games and long talks.

FRUGAL GIRL RESENTS MAN'S CANNY THRIFT

WE are thrifty, as I have said; but I seem to contradict my own nature when I resent the fact that Bill avoids spending for entertainment on our dates; and yet almost systematically takes advantage of my family's hospitality once a week, when plentiful refreshments are served. It is fair to me to expect something in return? I have never considered myself an expensive date; and now I wonder, have I carried frugality to an extreme?

Due to our talks, and small favors he has done for me, I have come to feel that Bill cares for me, and I am strongly attracted to him; but still there are doubts in my mind as to the durability of our relationship. Bill's sharp manner of speaking and his ego-centricity cause me the most indecision and worry. What, if anything, is lacking? Should we try to see more of other people, or can we find happiness primarily together? Please advise. (Signed) B. C.

THEY'RE MUCH ALIKE AND DISLIKE SELVES

DEAR B. C.: The human being is a social animal, who needs to associate confidently and casually with a various stream of fellow beings, in order to keep his interests out-flowing.

If he gets rutted in solitary ways, he tends to become self centered and self concerned, fearful and critical of himself and others; and this debility in turn imposes a growing barrier between himself and humanity, so that he winds up neurotic or hypochondriac, unable or unfit for human fellowship eventually.

Your relationship with Bill appears to be a case of "like attracting like," but with the disturbing flaw that neither one really likes himself, fundamentally. Each being an introvert—i. e., afraid of unfamiliar persons — you have views and traits in common, so that you look at life from somewhat the same angle, and thus feel fairly at ease when alone together.

GET SELF RELIANT; THAT'S THE REMEDY

BUT in situations where you two are surrounded by extrovert companions, you feel socially inadequate, hence inferior, as compared to them. You feel that you are somehow "wrong." And in that instant you downgrade yourself and your "like" partner, Bill. He feels the same about himself and you, and that's why a cross-current of hostile "rejection" vibrates. As you say, you "antagonize each other" at such times.

It's certainly no remedy to sidestep normal fellowship and cleave more exclusively to each other. Rather, for health, each should endeavor, within himself, to build a bridge to other people; and should gain courage via psychological education that nurtures self esteem.

Also, each needs to develop tension-releasing social skills that (1) bring the whole being into play and (2) can be group-shared—such, for instance, as dancing, tennis, swimming, musicianship, etc., instead of sticking in a rut of physically passive pursuits. At present, you're somewhat like a drowning pair clinging to each other for support; and I think each should learn to float on his own power. —M. H.

Five Fire Alarms Answered In City

City firemen answered five alarms Monday afternoon and early last night, but damage was light in all cases.

They were called shortly after noon to the State Highway department building on East Broadway, where a small blaze on the roof had been extinguished upon arrival of fire equipment.

At 4:20 p.m., a city truck caught fire at 1716 Ave. K, requiring one booster truck from the fire department to extinguish the blaze.

Sherrod Hardware store, at Thirteenth and Ave. J, caught fire on the roof about 7:35 p.m. when a neon sign shorted out. The fire was out within ten minutes after arrival of firemen.

A refrigerator motor caught fire at 7:40 p.m. at a residence at 4017 Fourteenth, but was out on arrival of firemen.

A cushion in a trailer house on East Thirty-fourth street caused the last alarm at 8:30 p.m. Residents extinguished the fire before arrival of fire trucks.

Spain To Ask Loan By U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—The State department has given Spain permission to negotiate directly with the Export-Import bank for an American government loan.

Press officer Michael McDermott, in announcing this, said a Spanish, government representative will come to Washington soon to talk with bank officials.

Spain Poor Risk

At the same time, a highly informed government official said the United States still believes Spain is a poor credit risk.

This official said he assumes the bank will turn down the Spanish request for credits unless Spain makes certain economic reforms suggested by the United States.

McDermott insisted under questioning that Spain's forthcoming talks with the bank in no way represent a change in American policy toward the Franco government.

Reforms Are Urged

Also in response to questions, he said he had no idea how much money Spain wants to borrow.

The economic reforms which have been urged upon Spain by Paul Culbertson, American charge d' affairs in Madrid, included:

1. A revaluation of Spain's money rates.

2. A move to channel more of Spain's domestic resources into private industry instead of the government.

3. Steps to bring Spain's adverse "balance of payments situation" into line by selling more goods abroad."

Ukulele And Banjo Are Making Return

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP) — The American Music Conference says the ukulele and banjo are staging a comeback.

Public interest in the two strummed instruments is greater than at any time since the carefree '20's, the conference officials said.

The banjo boom began first. The conference said American servicemen apparently acquired a taste for banjo music while stationed in England, where the instrument's popularity never waned.

The new popularity of the ukulele began on the west coast, and is moving east.

Seven Negroes Get Death For Raping Virginia White Woman

MARTINSVILLE, Va., May 3 (AP)—Death in the electric chair had been decreed today for seven negro men found guilty of raping a white Martinsville housewife five months ago.

The last two of the seven defendants, James Luther Hairston, 19, and John Clabon Taylor, 20, were convicted Monday night by a Martinsville circuit court jury.

Hairston and Taylor were tried jointly on motion of their own attorneys. Their conviction climaxed the series of almost identical cases which opened April 18 after a motion for change of venue had been denied by Judge Kennon C. Whittle.

11 Days Of Court

Eleven days of court proceedings were required for the seven to be tried and found guilty of raping Mrs. Ruby Stroud Floyd on the night of January 8 as she walked in the negro section of East Martinsville.

Identified by Mrs. Floyd as those who raped her "12 to 14 times" on the Danville and Western Railway tracks and in a nearby wood were James Hairston, Taylor, Joe Henry Hampton, 20; Frank Hairston, jr., 19; Booker T. Milliner, 20; Howard Lee Hairston, 19, and Francis Desales Grayson, 37.

State police produced at each of the trials statements of confessions which they said the negro men had signed. Nevertheless all the men pleaded not guilty when they faced the court.

Several claimed they were frightened and did not know what they were signing when they put their signatures to the documents. Others said they signed because the police "promised to do all they could" to help them if they did so. This was denied by police at the trials.

Says She Didn't Resist

James Hairston testified Monday that he had attacked Mrs. Floyd but that she did not complain or resist. Taylor did not take the stand in his own defense.

Mrs. Floyd, wife of a Martinsville merchant, has been under medical care since the alleged attacks. She has been hospitalized four times, once in Duke university hospital.

None of the seven convicted men has yet been sentenced by Judge Whittle. The judge has indicated he will pass sentence on all at once, at a later date.

Under Virginia law, the jury determines guilt and fixes the punishment in criminal cases.

Big Crowd Attends Tech Parents Day

Nearly 400 persons attended the Parents Day and recognition services held at Texas Tech Sunday.

Ted Forsythe, chairman of Parents day, said visitors first attended a recognition service in the recreation hall where student personalities were introduced. This was the first time this service had been carried out, but Forsythe said its success indicated it would be a permanent part of Parents day.

Dr. Wiggins Speaks

From there crowds moved toward the Tech gym to hear Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech's president, speak. On the way they watched a parade of the R.O.T.C. unit at the college. The cadets staged a parade for the visitors.

Students with high scholastic honors were recognized in the services which were held in the gym. Dr. Wiggins told visitors Tech was proud to present her outstanding scholars for public recognition.

Dr. Wiggins went on to say Texas Tech had a brilliant future and by producing honor students such as the ones being introduced it could only add to its good name.

Each of the students was introduced to the audience. A total of 89 students in the Rec hall and gymnasium were introduced.

Levelland Students To Present Operetta

LEVELLAND, May 3 (Special)—An operetta, "Love Pirates of Hawaii," produced by the Junior High school music department will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight in the school auditorium.

Leading sopranos will be Ann Taylor and Gayle Sawyer, while leading alto roles will be sung by Mary Beth Eatherly, Kay Russell and Bobbie Sue Norris.

Playing the parts of native Hawaiian students are Phillis Phillips, Winona Richards, Annette Rawls and Betty Copeland.

An Hawaiian girls' chorus is made up of Sue Heath, Carrie Ferrell, Marie Presley, Shirley Pearson, Jimmie Lou Brown, Patsy Ruth French, Juanelle Baitrington, Bonnie Yancey, Joy Waiser, Martha Cuba, Charlene Tatum and Mary Lou Campbell.

Pirate voices will include Mary Alice Phillips, Lucinda Bertciel, Mary Marcom, Mary Frances Forehand, Nancy Ruth Lawlis, Sue Jo Cole, Velta Stevens, Rowlenne Pool, Lois Leonard and Carolyne Crump.

Tech Students Will Attend Textile Meet

Fourteen members of the Texas Tech chapter of Phi Psi national textile engineering fraternity will leave Wednesday to attend the national convention in Atlanta, Ga.

There are only nine student chapters of the organization in the United States. Fred Williams, a Tech graduate, will be assistant director of the convention this year. He is the superintendent of the Piedmont Mills.

Tech Faculty Group To Attend Meeting

Dr. Ernest Wallace, assistant dean of arts and science at Texas Tech, was to present a paper entitled, "Comanches on The White Man's Road," before a meeting of the Texas Archaeological and Palaeonthological Society in Alpine today.

The meeting which is being held at the same time as the Southwestern division of the American Association of Advancement of Science convention in Alpine also is being attended by several other Tech faculty members.

Dr. Leroy Patton, professor of geology, was to present a paper before the latter group. R. W. Strandman, professor of biology, was to read a paper before the Science convention. Strandman was to tell of advancement on biological science.

Other faculty members attending the convention include Prof. Emmet Hazelwood head of the math department, and Prof. E. Richard Heineman also of the math department.

1948 Pulitzer Awards Made

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Pulitzer prizes have been awarded to "Death Of A Salesman," the smash Broadway hit, and to "Guard Of Honor," a novel about a wartime air force general.

The writers were named yesterday by the trustees of Columbia university — 45-year-old James Gould Cozzens as the outstanding novelist of 1948 and Arthur Miller, 33, as the outstanding dramatist.

Robert E. Sherwood received an award for his intimate biography, "Roosevelt and Hopkins."

The Pulitzer committee decided that the Nebraska State Journal of Lincoln, Neb., rendered the "most distinterested and meritorious service" among the nation's newspaper. The Journal was honored for promoting a presidential preference primary.

Other Awards Made

A New York Sun series by Malcolm Johnson on waterfront crime was adjudged the year's outstanding example of local reporting by a newspaperman.

These awards, and others for outstanding work in the fields of journalism, letters and music, were made by the Columbia trustees on recommendation of the advisory board of the graduate school of journalism.

The awards—given for the 32nd year—were established in 1917 through a gift of $2,500,000 made to Columbia university by the late Joseph Pulitzer, former publisher of the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A cash award of $500 is given each individual winner, and a $500 gold plaque to the winning newspaper. The drama award covers the year from April 1, 1948, to April 1, 1949, and all other awards are for the calendar year 1948.

Sherwood was the only previous winner of this year's list. He received prizes in the field of drama in 1936, 1939 and 1941.

Award For Music

The music award went to Virgil Thomson, 52, music critic of the New York Herald-Tribune, for the accompaniment to "Louisiana Story," documentary film on the drilling of an oil well in the Louisiana bayous. It was the first time the committee had awarded a prize to music connected with a motion picture.

Lute Pease, 80-year-old cartoonist and the oldest man ever to win a Pulitzer prize in that field, was honored for a cartoon in the Newark (N. J.) Evening News. The cartoon showed a broken window pane labelled "Coal Strike" with a lower line saying "U. S. Economy." A judge was shown pointing a finger at United Mine Workers Boss John L. Lewis, who was asking innocently, "Who, Me?"

Two newspapermen won prizes for the year's best editorials, in the first joint award of its kind since 1936. The winners were John H. Crider, 43, editor-in-chief of the Boston Herald, and Herbert Elliston, 53, English-born member of the Washington (D. C.) Post staff.

C. P. Trussell, of the New York Times, received a prize for excellence in covering the national scene from Washington.

Honored For Series

Price Day, of the Baltimore Sun, was honored for a series of articles on India's first year of independence, which was adjudged the best reporting on international affairs.

The newspaper photography award went to Nathaniel Fein, of the New York Herald-Tribune, for a picture of the late Babe Ruth. The picture entitled "Babe Ruth Bows Out," showed Ruth, bat in hand, as he was honored at the Yankee stadium shortly before his death.

"The Disruption of American Democracy," an historical study of the political crisis that led up to the Civil war, won a prize for Roy Franklin Nichols, of the University of Pennsylvania.

Peter Viereck, of Mount Holyoke college, South Hadley, Mass., was honored for "Terror and Decorum," a collection of his poems published in magazines.

A PUFF OF WIND BLEW HER AWAY—Adelaide Rudolph of Cleveland, Ohio, is old and weighs only 99 pounds. Her friends have often humorously predicted that a puff of wind would blow her away one day. That's just what happened. On a windy, rainy night as she hurried to catch a bus, the wind caught her umbrella and lifted her off her feet. She fell to the pavement and suffered a broken collar bone and a black eye. Here in the hospital, Miss Rudolph worries only about missing her 91st birthday party while Sister Alice fixes her hair.

"AN INCURABLY BACKWARD CHILD? NONSENSE!"

Mississippi Doctor Works To Prove That Cases Of Feeble-Mindedness Not Hopeless

By MARGARETTA CLARK
NEA Special Correspondent

UNIVERSITY, Miss., May 3 — Dr. Bernardine Schmidt insists that there is no such thing as an incurable "feeble-minded" child. She is proceeding to prove her point at her clinic for backward children at the University of Mississippi, perhaps the only one of its kind in the world.

To the clinic each week come 12 children, some so "hopeless" that they cannot walk or talk. Because of the limited number of appointments she and her assistants can handle, and because the demand for admittance from all over the world is so great, Dr. Schmidt's clinic has a three-month backlog.

Many Tests Given

The 12 youngsters are given many tests, in a friendly way that relaxes them. They are tested for sight and hearing, since such mechanical difficulties are frequently confused with low mentality. They are tested for their ability to get along with other children. They are tested for muscular coordination, for aptitude, for intelligence.

From the data collected, Dr. Schmidt maps out a program of training at home and at school for parents and teachers.

Before coming to Mississippi, Dr. Schmidt taught special classes of problem children in Chicago. It was during that stretch that she concluded that every child—even those born with the condition known as Mongoloid—has a chance to lead a normal life.

One of her star pupils there was Mongoloid, with the typical Oriental appearance and broad head.

Could Say Two Words

"He was 12 years old when his mother brought him to me," she says. "He had so little coordination that he could hardly stand and could say only two words: 'cup' and 'saucer.' I remember how proud his mother was because it had taken her only five years to teach him to say 'saucer.' He was seven before he could say 'cup.'"

CAN HE HEAR? Dr. Schmidt tests hearing of Billy, to see if perhaps a mechanical difficulty like deafness is responsible for his mental slowness.

The last time Dr. Schmidt saw him, he was in his early twenties. At that time he was a traveling stock clerk for a Chicago firm and was supporting his family with his earnings. He drove a truck in making deliveries and kept account books. He had also become normal in appearance.

Of the 254 children she taught in Chicago, 91.8 per cent advanced out of the feeble-minded class, and almost 60 per cent became "normal" in intelligence. Over one-quarter finished high school, and well over three-quarters had jobs.

Dr. Schmidt, a slight, 32-year-old woman who graduated from Chicago Teachers College when she was 15 and opened a school for backward children because she was too young to get a regular teaching job, is particularly incensed at some psychologists who give up.

IQ Rating Can Change

She points out that they will announce, after giving a child a test, this his I.Q. is so low that he is "hopelessly feeble-minded."

An I.Q. rating can change, she says, like a temperature reading. Just because a person had a fever of 102 is no proof that he'll have that temperature forever, and an I. Q. of 30 can also change with proper care.

"We haven't had any cases that were hopeless," she says. "We never say any case is hopeless. We just start in with the person and work."

Even children with physical abnormalities that ordinarily brand them as feeble-minded for life are not without hope.

"We have just assumed on the basis of physical appearance that these types were congenital morons and made no attempt to teach them anything," Dr. Schmidt says.

Those with damaged brains can be corrected, with another portion of the brain taught to take over the duties of the damaged section.

In the Special Education Clinic here, no attempt is made to teach or train the children and grown-ups brought to it.

The work is confined to diagnosis — tests for hearing and sight, muscular coordination, aptitudes, social adjustment, and intelligence tests. Then Dr. Schmidt and her assistants map out a program of training at home and at school, for parents, relatives, and teachers.

Today more than 50 schools in the United States have on their staffs teachers trained by Dr. Schmidt in the education of feeble-minded and "problem" children.

She is concentrating her energy on training teachers as rapidly as possible. She emphasizes that they must have a sound foundation in elementary education. To build that foundation, Dr. Schmidt and her three assistants run the clinic as extra work, without pay.

"Lost" Children Play Hide-And-Seek With Searchers, Finally Join Hunt For Selves

QUINCY, Mass., May 3 (AP)—Two little friends took a stroll in the marshlands Monday.

Hours later they were deep in volunteers—hunting for themselves.

The parents of Jane Marcou and Richard Paul, both 7, reported they were missing.

Volunteers went into the marshland. Jane and Paul spotted several of the men sweeping the marshes. But they thought the men were chasing them. So they hid.

Another little friend came across the youngsters in their hiding place. He told them the men were searching for "a little boy and girl."

Education Bill Sponsors Fight Civil Rights Provision In Plan

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—A civil rights amendment to the $300,000,000 federal aid to education bill was up for Senate action today, but sponsors of the legislation were confident of beating it.

The amendment, offered by Senator Lodge (R-Mass), would deny aid funds to states whose public elementary and secondary schools are not open to pupils "without regard to race, color, creed or national origin."

Senator Aiken (R-Vt), Douglas (D-Ill) and others said that adoption of the amendment would kill the whole bill because of the opposition of senators from southern states which have separate schools for whites and negroes.

The issue came up after a thumping 68 to 11 vote yesterday against another Lodge amendment that would have revised the formula for allotting funds to the states for teachers' salaries and other school operating expenses.

Lodge proposed giving the states a flat $10 a year for each public school child, instead of taking into account not only the number of children but also the annual income payments in each state, as the bill provides.

Payments To Vary

Under the bill the federal payments to the states would vary from $5 to slightly over $29 per pupil, with the largest per pupil allotments going to the poorest states.

Lodge said the bill's formula is not a true measure of the relative wealth of the states.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) defended the formula and said Lodge's amendment would destroy the purpose of the bill: to "more nearly equalize educational opportunities in the states."

Another pending amendment, backed by Senators Tydings (D-Md) O'Connor (D-Md), Cain (R-Wash) and Bricker (R-Ohio), would deny federal aid to states which already are making the minimum school expenditures required by the bill.

The measure now provides that all states shall get at least $5 per pupil, and Tydings estimated that his amendment would save $90,000,000 a year in the cost of the program.

Downtown Lubbock Property Is Sold

A piece of downtown business property in Lubbock was purchased by Hiram Parks, Brownfield theater owner, for $33,000, the warrenty deed filing showed this morning.

Parks bought the property from G. F. Wacker of Oklahoma, who owns a chain a variety stores.

The property was described as lots 4 and 5, block 136, original townsite. It is located on the south side of Broadway between avenues F and G.

Parks said he had no immediate plans for the 50 foot frontage at present. A building with 25-foot front covers part of the property. A lease is in force until Jan. 1.

Post Physician Is Named Group Head

Dr. D. C. Williams, Post physician, was elected president of old Mayo College Ex Students association in a weekend convention of the group here, it was announced Monday.

John D. Mitchell, Odessa banker, was elected vice president, Claude Hale, internal revenue deputy collector of Lubbock, secretary treasurer.

Those in attendance—from Amarillo, Matador, Lubbock, Smyer, Seminole, Hobbs, N. M., Odessa, and Post—voted that next year's annual convention, on the last Saturday of April, will be planned far more extensively than ever, so that a much larger attendance can be assured.

E. C. Nix of Seminole, outgoing president, presided. Arrangements were made by a Lubbock committee of Homer L. Pharr, chairman, and Rev. J. F. Nix an Hale.

Negro Drops Suit Against U. S. Army

PHILADELPHIA, May 3. (AP)—Devereaux Tomlinson, 26-year-old Philadelphia negro, has dropped his "segregation" suit against the U. S. Army.

Franklin H. Williams, counsel for Tomlinson, said yesterday the suit had been withdrawn because of Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson's recent anti-discrimination order.

Johnson's directive told military officials not to practice segregation or discrimination against negroes.

Tomlinson brought his suit after draft dodging charges were filed against him. He was a member of the merchant marine during World War two.

He said he failed to appear for induction because his draft board declined to "guarantee" he would not be segregated because of his race.

Hubbers Trounce Oilers, 14-4

Lubbock Moves Into Deadlock For Fourth Spot With Lamesa

The West Texas-New Mexico League race must be getting slightly discouraging to the Albuquerque Dukes, who have won more games than anyone else, but who still are in second place.

Last night, for example, the Dukes battered their way from behind a 15-14 deficit going into the ninth to score three runs and lick Clovis 17 to 15. It was their tenth victory in their last 11 games.

★ ★ ★

But the Borger Gassers merrily kept pace by trouncing the Amarillo Gold Sox in a game that resembled football more than baseball, 24-14. It was the Gassers' ninth straight victory after dropping the first game of the season and it kept them in first place by mere percentage points.

Lubbock Moves Up

The rest of the league went through minor upheaval, with Lubbock jumping from a sixth-place tie with Clovis into a fourth-place tie with Lamesa. The Hubbers soundly trounced the Oilers 14 to 4, while Lamesa was taking its third straight loss at the hands of the revitalized Abilene Blue Sox 5-1.

The revised standings have Amarillo in third place by a bare half game, with Pampa only a half game behind Lubbock and Lamesa. And Abilene is beginning to breathe heavily on Pampa's neck.

It was a zany night in the zany league, with 94 runs crossing the plate before the shooting ended. Biggest volleying done was in Borger, where the Gassers and Gold Sox blasted the offerings of each other's pitchers all over the park. Four home runs helped enliven the proceedings, with Bob Ferguson, Gordon Nell, Ernie Faccio and Bob Johnston doing the heavy sticking.

Clovis Aids Dukes

The Dukes had to have some sloppy fielding on the part of Clovis help them in their ninth-inning bid for victory. The Pioneers booted the ball everywhere but to the right baseman, while Duke runners almost fell from the exhaustion of running the bases. It took three hours and 17 minutes to get the game in and it was enlived by both Dick Dawson and Manager Rershel Martin getting the heave-ho.

Rene Vega was the cause of jubilation on the part of Manager Hayden Greer at Abilene. The little twirler allowed only four hits in chalking up a 5-1 victory over Lamesa's Loboes, who suddenly have turned sour. A double and an error was the only thing that robbed him of a shutout.

Russell Notches Win

Lubbock also had some good hurling last night, with Cotton Russell becoming the first Hubber to go nine innings and win his game. He had good support from Hubber bats, which climbed on Charles Bodine for 10 hits and 10 runs in the first four innings.

Two big blows paved the way for the Hubber victory. Jim Prince, who's looking better every day, especially by comparison in this series, blasted a three-run homer in the first inning and two more runs came in during the same frame. Next inning it was Mike Dooley's turn and the Hubber catcher sent a drive screaming over the leftfield fence with the bases loaded. It was Dooley's second grand slam blow of the short season.

Behind that kind of support, Russell settled down to pitch himself a six-hit victory.

JOHN MEYER SLATED TO HURL FOR HUBS

Expected to start on the mound tonight for the Lubbock Hubbers is John Meyer, a six-foot, 185 pound righthanded pitcher, who was optioned to the Hubbers yesterday by Greenville of the Big State League.

Meyer was due to arrive this morning and will make his debut in Hubber uniform tonight.

George Schepps, Hubber general manager, said that Meyer has a good fast ball, the usual assortment of curves and pitching know-how. He was with Gladewater of the Lone Star League last year, where he won 14 and lost 10. His earned run average of 4.10 was exceeded by only 10 other hurlers in the league.

The new Hubber was signed in 1947 by Doc Prothro, former Pirate coach, and was optioned that year. Last year was his second in organized ball. He was bought during the winter by Schepps.

Meyer's home is in Memphis, Tenn., and he will be accompanied here by his wife and two small children.

Player Not Injured

The Hubbers also got additional good news yesterday when, after thorough physical examination by Dr. J. H. Stiles, club physician, it was learned that there was nothing wrong with three players.

Bubba Kaine, utility infielder-outfielder, who was struck on the forehead by a thrown ball April 25 in a game against Albuquerque, went on the recent road trip. He complained of headaches and club officials were afraid he might have a slight concussion.

But x-rays yesterday failed to disclose any sign of concussion and doctors diagnosed the trouble as a sinus infection with which Kaine is bothered.

Don Hensiek, pitcher, who has a sore arm, also went under the scrutiny of the x-ray machine. Investigation failed to disclose any bone chips or other complications and light exercise was recommended.

Joe Wisniewski, outfielder, who had a case of flu, was examined again and declared fit and ready to play. Wisniewski still isn't strong, but he has been working out in Lubbock while the club has been on the road.

Wisniewski was in the lineup last night and probably will remain in it.

Brooklyn Nine Noses Out West Point, 4-3

WEST POINT, N. Y., May 3 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers pushed across a run in the tenth inning on an infield error and wild pitch to defeat Army, 4 to 3, in their annual exhibition with the Cadets on Doubleday Field here Monday.

Ben Suttle kicked a grounder by Cal Abrams and then overthrew first base in his attempt to get the Dodger outfielder. A wild pitch by relief pitcher Dick Perry sent Abrams across the plate with the winning marker.

Hogan Advises Against Rushing Play

Golfers Should Use Extreme Caution In Stormy Weather

YANKEE HOPE — Bob Porterfield, above, sophomore hurler for the New York Yankees, is expected to return to the firing line for the Bronx Bombers within a few days. Porterfield, one of the top reasons for the Yankees' hopes for another American league pennant, injured his pitching arm and has been out of action for several weeks.

By BEN HOGAN
CHAPTER X

Stormy Weather Golf

Most of us don't like to play golf when it is raining and stormy, but there are times when we are forced to play. For instance, when a rain storm comes up and your opponent wants to keep on playing and you continue to play as an accommodation to him, or when you are playing in a club tournament and don't like to quit until directed to do so by the committee. On such occasions a knowledge of how to play under stormy weather conditions comes in very handy.

One of the most common errors made by golfers who have to play the game in wet weather, is that they try to offset bad playing conditions by striving to attain their maximum capabilities, or even beyond, on every shot. They speed up the tempo of their swing in an effort to hit the ball harder and farther, but instead of overcoming the handicap they are playing under they usually increase their scores by a considerable number of strokes when it isn't necessary.

What you really should do when forced to play under bad weather conditions is to exercise restraint and play cautiously and well within yourself at all times. Care should be taken to hit the ball cleanly on all shots rather than the ground behind it.

If you should happen to hit the ground first, rather than the ball, water will get between the face of the club and the ball and cause it to slide. When that happens you're apt to lose control of the ball at a critical time when the loss of a stroke or two will cause you serious trouble.

Get Firm Footing

In taking up your stance make sure that you get firm footing. It is easy for your feet to slip in wet weather and an inopportune slip during the course of your swing could be disastrous.

Make sure that you get the ball up in the air. Tee your ball up slightly higher in order to be sure that you will hit it clean.

Take a little more time with your tee shots. Concentrate on hitting the fairway, even if you have to sacrifice distance by doing it. Playing out of the rough with any degree of accuracy or when it is wet.

Naturally, you're not going to get as much distance as you ordinarily do with either your wood clubs or your irons. Therefore, where you might be inclined to take a four-iron for a shot under normal conditions, take a three-iron to play the same shot in wet weather.

If you are forced to play a ball from a heavy, close lie, concentrate on getting it up in the air. Use a shorter range club because the ball will float anyhow. That is because in playing the ball out of the wet grass you're not going to be able to control the spin as well as if you were playing the same shot off dry grass.

Take very few chances. Don't try to cut corners. Invariably fairway wood shots and long iron shots take an unnatural flight off wet turf. For that reason play for the center of the greens instead of shooting dead for the pins when they are cut into the corners of the greens or hidden behind bunkers.

Furthermore, on a wet day you can throw away your brassie and one-iron. It is almost impossible to get the proper flight on the ball with such straight-faced clubs.

Most trap shots have to be

Yankees Meet Browns Today

BY JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The baseball spotlight was focused today on the New York Yankees and Cincinnati Reds as the first set of intersectional clashes in the majors got under way.

Having demonstrated, rather amazingly, their ability to cope with their associates in the eastern half of the American league, the surprising Yankees now face their big test in the west.

Although they received rough treatment by Boston in their 11-2 defeat Sunday, Casey Stengel's men took 10 out of 13 from the east, and seven out of eight in the stadium.

Have Two-Game Edge

That showing gave them a two-game bulge on the rest of the field. More important, however, are their two-and-a-half and three-and-a-half game leads over Cleveland and Boston, the teams generally figured to battle for the flag.

Whether the Yankees can do as well on the road as they did at home remains to be seen. If they can return home in first place after a dozen tilts on foreign fields, then you can stamp them as definite pennant threats.

The Stengelmen open today in St. Louis, where they face the Browns twice. Then they engage the White Sox three times in Chicago, the Tigers three times in Detroit and the Indians once in Cleveland. There also are three games in Philadelphia as a prelude to their return home.

Reds Big Surprise

The big surprise in the National league has been furnished by Bucky Walters' Reds. A last place choice by nearly every expert in the pre-season pool, the Reds have caused a lot of red faces by winning seven of their first 12 games. That put them in second place, only a game behind the pace-setting Boston Braves.

The Reds, with their pitching ace, Ewell Blackwell, still on the sidelines, have combined good pitching by veterans Ken Raffensberger and Johnny Vander Meer and timely hitting by Johnny Wyrostek and Red Stallcup, to win a majority of their games.

However, the next 10 days should show whether the Reds are better than anyone thinks they are, or are merely playing over their heads. The Ohioans inaugurate a three-game series in Brooklyn today, and follow up with two in Boston, four in Philadelphia and two in New York.

Brooks Start Slow

In addition to the showing of the Yankees and Reds, the biggest surprises of the infant season have been the poor start of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Red Sox, and the fast getaway of the Chicago White Sox.

Neither the Dodgers and Red Sox, pre-season favorites to meet in the World series, has been able to do better than .500. The Dodgers won only six of their first 13 games, and the Red Sox split their first 12. On the other hand, the Chisox, doomed to the American league basement by a majority of the scribes, have won eight and lost five to take over the runner-up honors to the Yankees.

There were no games scheduled yesterday in either league.

Junior Optimists Shade Hubs, 11-10

Dewey Tucker hurled the Junior Optimist baseball team to a 11 to 10 protested victory over the Hubber Junior nine at the Optimist diamond Monday.

Dale Wooley was the leading hitter for the winners, with five for five. Dalton Boyd led the losers with five for five.

The game was protested when the umpire called time just as the winning run was scored. A decision is to be rendered later by officials of the two clubs.

Westerners Win Title

Lubbock Tops Bulldog Nine

PLAINVIEW, May 3—Lubbock High school's Westerners cinched the south half championship in District 1-AA baseball here yesterday with a 15-5 triumph over the Plainview Bulldogs.

A game scheduled in Lubbock at 4 p. m. today closes out the regular season. Lubbock will play the winner of the north half for the district championship next week. At present Amarillo and Borger are in the running for the top half championship with the Sandies having the edge in games, 3-1 to 2-2 for Borger.

The usually dormant hitting attack of the Lubbock nine came to life, and 16 safe blows were made, including a homer by Centerfielder Jimmy Sexton and triples by Shortstop Charles Galey and Right Fielder Garnet Reeves. Plainview was limited to three hits off Lefty Benny Day who scored his second conference victory, working four innings before retiring in favor of Jimmy Richards. Richards gave up no hits and allowed no runs in the three remaining innings. Jim Hazelton went the route for Plainview.

Errors Aid Westerners

Errors—nine in number—by Plainview aided the Westerners, but the outcome of the game would have been the same had the errors been fewer. There was no denying the power at the plate which finally came through in Monday's game.

Six Westerner batters shouldered the load in the wild tilt which saw the Lubbock squad score in every inning except the third and fifth.

Leading the attack with four hits in four times at bat was Galey, and he scored four runs. A triple over the head of the right fielder in the seventh should have gone for an easy homer, but Galey missed second and had to retrace his steps to touch the bag.

Another perfect day was posted by Powell Hinson, third baseman, who had three for three and scored three tallies. Garnet Reeves, rightfielder, came to life with four hits in five times up, batting in five runs and scoring three himself.

Sexton got two hits in four trips, including a homer hit down the third base line in the second inning with no one on base, and Morris Turner, catcher, had two hits in five times at bat. Jimmy Hamilton, second baseman, made the other hit.

Score Two In First

The Westerners got off to a good start in the first of the initial frame, scoring two runs. With one out Hinson hit a single and advanced to third on Galey's single into left field after Jessie Fullerton struck out. Galey went down to second without a play being made on him, and Reeves knocked both batters in with a Texas-leaguer into left field. Turner flied out to the second baseman, John Long, to retire the side.

In the second inning 11 Lubbock batters marched to the plate to score seven runs on two hits—a homer by Sexton and a single by Turner—four Plainview errors, and four walks by Hazelton.

The Westerners put together three hits for two runs in the fourth, scored two more on three hits in the sixth, and closed out the scoring in the seventh with a brace of runs on a pair of hits.

Plainview scored four runs in the third frame to threaten the Westerner lead and added one in the fourth, but that was all there was as Richards came in to hold the Bulldogs hitless the remainder of the game.

Cooper Scores Fly

In the third frame Plainview's Durwood Neie, shortstop, got on base when Hinson overthrew first base, and took second on the error. The next batter, Hazelton, popped a ball high into the air between home and first base, and Turner, Fullerton, and Day all came in to play the ball, which fell in fair territory; advancing Neie to third. John Long singled to score Neie, sending Hazelton to third, and Long went to second. Hazelton scored the second run on a wild pitch, Cooper walked. Howton singled in Long, with Cooper advancing to third. Bill Blair sent a long fly into center field which was caught by Sexton, but Cooper scored on the fly for the final score of the inning.

Former Hubber Gets Tenth Round-Tripper

Serena Smashes Two Homers; Dallas Swamps Padres, 12-3

(By The United Press)

The Dallas Eagles, losers of only two games of the 19 they've played in the Texas league, served notice today they aren't taking any defeats lying down.

The Eagles were shutout 2-0 Sunday by the second-place San Antonio Missions but whirled back last night to crush the Padres 12-3 under a barrage of extra-base hits.

The victory pushed San Antonio a full 4½ games behind the powerhouse Dallas team and was a particularly sweet one for Manager Jimmie Adair's crew since all other first-division teams lost.

Serena Gets Homers

Third-place Shreveport was dropped 2-1 by the cellar-dwelling Oklahoma City Indians. And Fort Worth, a weak fourth in the standings, lost another decision to Houston, 4-2.

Bill Serena wielded the biggest bat in the 11-hit Dallas attack as he drove out his ninth and tenth homers of the season, one of them with two teammates on base.

Serena, however, was forced to share honors with lanky Buck Frierson, who drove in five runs with a single, double and home-run with two on.

John Novosel cracked a homer off winning Pitcher Iott in the fifth frame. No one was aboard at the time.

At Shreveport, the victory-starved Oklahoma City Indians scored their initial run in the first frame, saw the Sports fire back to knot the count in the third, but pushed over the winning counter in the seventh.

Rozek Notches Win

Richard Rozek hurled the Tribe to their fourth win in 19 starts as he allowed only five hits and proved tight in te pinches. It was Rozek's second victory against one loss.

Meanwhile, the Houston Buffs were forced to come from behind to drop the skidding Fort Worth Cats.

Reliefer August Zande twirled the last six innings for the Buffs and didn't allow a run, while his teammates came through with single runs in the sixth, seventh and eighth frames The Cats had led 2 to 1 from the third inning.

Tulsa snapped its losing streak with a vicious home-run attack at the expense of te Beaumont Exporters to win 10-5.

Joe Adcock paced the four-ply department with a fence-clearing shot in the sixth when the bases were loaded. Steve Filipowicz and Walt Wrona also hit homers, but with none aboard.

Some of the league's better pitchers are to see action tonight.

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

From the depths of the crystal ball, where we have been gazing at the shape of things to come, we note that apparently Lubbock is to have another softball champion. The Bluebonnet-Sunbeamers, defending Texas Softball League champs, got the season off to another good start Saturday night at Jumbo Webster Field by taking both ends of a twin bill from the strong Maurice Shop of San Angelo. San Angelo last year had the most challenging team in the league and they are not rated any weaker this season. So the double victory at the outset of the league race was particularly rejoicing.

• • •

There were times Saturday night when the Sunbeamers didn't look so hot. They made errors and they hurt, but they were hitting hard enough to overcome that. The Bumpass clan has come up with another versatile group of players, a group that is similar to last year's team. If they can keep up the early pace, Lubbock will be glad to honor them again next fall. Incidentally, some money changed hands on the game in the college dormitories here. Bert Hester, a Tech athlete, hurled the first game for San Angelo and G. W. Warden, another Tech student, hurled the second game for Lubbock. Students were betting that they'd both win, that Hester would only, or Warren would only.

• • •

E. A. "Chris" Christensen, proprietor of the Lubbock Bowling Club alleys, where the Avalanche-Journal is sponsoring the West Texas-New Mexico Bowling tournament, is still laughing over an incident that happened Sunday night. One of the shifts was on the line when feathers suddenly sprayed out of air conditioner units that are at both sides of the alleys in the rear. Chris grabbed the PA system and told the keglers to hold up. He and several others grabbed brooms and cleaned up the mess, then went to investigate. Chris thought that possibly a practical joker had emptied a pillow into the air conditioner unit.

• • •

When he finally looked into the five-foot high barrel contraption that revolves, he saw a pigeon. It apparently had flown into the fans on the outside of the building, been sucked into the rotating barrel and plucked as clean as a baby's face. It almost broke up the Sunday night bowling session. Chris said that it was the first time anything like that had ever happened, so far as he knew.

• • •

Lubbock bowlers, incidentally, came into their own this past week end and should walk off with the lion's share of the prizes. Chris thought that he had bowled exceptionally well when he hit 1,900. He had, but the Brown brothers, Ben and T. I., sneaked in ahead of him. Ben rolled 1962 for his nine-game total and T. I. hit 1919. Ben's average for nine games was a pretty terrific 218 average, while there was nothing with the 212 and 211 posted by T. I. and Chris respectively. It's a well-run tournament and the bowlers are hitting the lanes on schedule. A large number of spectators are taking advantage of having one of the state's best tourneys here to come in, sit down and watch the events unfold. Why don't you?

• • •

The news that Bill Henderson is to meet Chino Alonzo of Douglas, Ariz., in Levelland May 31 will be welcomed by a lot of people. Henderson needs to fight regularly and it isn't too long after his fight here with Jean Mougin. Alonzo, as you may remember, earned a clear decision over Sammy Galvan in a fine six-round semi-final on the most recent Jaycee fight card. Henderson licked Galvan twice and his match with Alonzo will be followed closely. The Arizona fighter displayed ability to take leather, as well as dish it out and he should extent Bill. It ought to be a good scrap for the money.

• • •

The Hubbers no sooner return to town than they begin looking like the club they did in spring training, except for the errors. Manager Jackie Sullivan said that he thought the main trouble had been over-eagerness on the part of the players to win. They were trying so hard that they were pressing. When they relaxed, they found the range. The Lubbock manager wasn't depressed and neither were the players. They know that they have a winning combination and, over the course of the season, they intend to demonstrate it. Sullivan had himself something of a night to break a hitting slump and the entire team began to look more normal.

• • •

THE ROUNDUP: Albuquerque and Clovis are said to have a big player trade almost lined up . . . Paul Hinrichs beat Louisville for Kansas City last night, 6-2, although he went out in the eighth . . . And Ossie Kolwe hurled the last four innings for Sioux City, which lost to Omaha 13-6 . . . Certainly are a lot of protested games in the WT-NM loop this year. Wonder why? . . . Nelson Davis' wife arrived Sunday night . . . There's more and more talk of bringing Jean Mougin back in June or July for a match with Lew Jenkins—here. . . . The rumor mart has Charley Seiber, Amarillo High school ace, going to Yale . . . Abilene's victory-hungry Blue Sox optioned Victor Hugo (the outfielder, not the author) to a Kentucky club . . . Is there any golfer in Lubbock who's been playing longer than Chick Trout (43 years) ? If so, let us know.

Hogan Advises Cautious Play

blasted out anyway, but particularly after the sand has been wet. It is the same kind of a shot out of the trap in wet weather as it is in dry, except that you have to take a little heftier swing because of the heaviness of the sand.

Remember that the ball usually stops very close to where it lands on wet greens. You'll get practically no roll on your ball and will have to plan your strategy accordingly.

When playing golf during the time of the year when your section of the country is subject to sudden storms make sure that you are equipped to meet any emergency along those lines. Carry a sweater and light waterproof windbreaker in your bag. Most of the tournament golfers carry this equipment, plus umbrellas. Umbrellas come in handy to keep you and your clubs dry while playing in the rain.

You should also be equipped with a towel or cloth to wipe your clubs and grips dry. Leather grips get slick and have to be wiped before each shot.

Avoid Storms

Many clubs are now equipped with an All Weather Grip which is made of cork, rubber and linen thread. They're very useful and enable you to get a good grip on your club no matter what weather conditions you're playing under.

Whatever you do, however, don't try to keep playing during an electrical storm. Conditions on golf courses are more dangerous than you realize and too many people playing golf have been struck by lightning and killed or seriously injured. Don't take any chances. Stop playing at once when an electrical storm comes up.

Tomorrow: Wind Shots.

Texas PGA Tourney Competition Opens

DALLAS, May 3 (AP)—Sixteen foursomes moved out today in a best ball feature of the Texas PGA week-long golf tournament.

Included among the 64 professionals were three women—Bettye Mims White, Dallas, who officially turns pro today; Louise Suggs of Lithia Springs, Ga., and Patty Berg of Minneapolis.

Byron Nelson, defending Texas PGA Open champion, will play in the best-ball event.

Another woman pro was added to the field today with announcement by Betty Jameson of San Antonio that she would be here tomorrow for a golf clinic.

Five professionals qualified for the National PGA at Richmond, Va., in sectional rounds yesterday. Jack Harden of El Paso shot a four-under-par 138 for the 36 holes to lead the 30 pros posting scores.

Second were Ray Hill of Shreveport and Raymond Gafford of Fort Worth with 141. Frank Champ of Lake Charles, La., and Charles Klein of Amarillo captured the two other spots with 143's.

Nelson is exempt from qualifying, being a former National PGA champion.

San Angelo Takes Lead In Longhorn

(By The Associated Press)

San Angelo held the undisputed lead in the Longhorn league today.

The Colts did it by winning while Odessa lost last night.

San Angelo used 13 hits to beat Vernon 13-9. Camillo Bello and John Klick blasted homers for the Colts, the former with two on and the latter with one aboard

Odessa fell before Big Spring, 7-5. Fred Rodriguez was hammered for 13 hits but was tight in the clinches, striking out 13.

Midland moved into a tie for second place with Odessa and Big Spring by beating Sweetwater. Three Sweetwater players, including Manager Dick Gyselman, were put out of the game for arguing with an umpire.

Ballinger edger Roswell 8-7, pounding 11 hits. Ballinger used four pitchers.

Texas Aggie Frosh Down Texas, 10-5

AUSTIN, May 3 (AP)—Al Ogletree's grandslam homer paced the Texas A. & M. freshmen to a 10-5 victory over the Texas frosh here yesterday.

Ogletree, ex-Austin high catcher, homered with the bases full in the fourth inning. Meanwhile, pitcher Bob Tankersley hurled three-hit ball for the fish.

Kal Segrist of Dallas hit a three-run homer for Texas in the fifth inning off Tankersley. The fish got 11 hits off three Texas pitchers, Red Adams, Ray Tartt and Welly Tassos.

Waco, Austin Score Big State Triumphs

(By The Associated Press)

The Big State league race is as close as pants and suspenders.

Last night both the leaders—Texarkana and Wichita Falls—took a licking while Waco and Austin moved up, Austin coming from fifth to fourth.

Today there's only three and one-half games separating first and last.

Sherman-Denison plunked into the cellar by being edged 8-7 by Temple while Gainesville was dividing a twin bill with Greenville to go up into seventh place. Greenville won te first 4-3 and Gainesville took the nightcap 7-1.

Texas Baseball Star Is Being Tried On Desertion Charge

PEARL HARBOR, May 3 (AP) — A Texan who starred in Navy baseball is being court martialed here on a charge of "desertion in time of war."

Louis B. Williams, 24, Hutchins, Tex., offered a defense plea yesterday that the Navy 2-year statute of limitations outlawed the offense. It was rejected by the court.

Led Navy Team

Last August, he led a Navy baseball team to the Pacific championship. When it was packing to leave for the all-Navy playoffs at San Diego, he gave himself up.

Williams says he never left Pearl Harbor during the three years except to play baseball. Playing under the name Roy, he was a .400 hitter and a star left fielder.

He says he slept in the ordnance section main barracks, wore a uniform, slid into chow lines when hungry, attended station movies and even worked occasionally at the supply base.

The desertion charge carries a maximum death penalty.

Bradley Asks Okay Of Pact

WASHINGTON, May 3. (U.P.)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Army chief of staff, said today the North Atlantic pact will put this nation's defense frontiers "in the heart of Europe."

Bradley said future plans for the defense of western Europe with American assistance—he did not specifically mention U. S. troops—call for averting "the terrors of another enemy occupation" of that area.

Urges Quick Approval

"Only upon that premise can nations closest to the frontiers be expected to stake their fortunes with ours in the common defense," he told the Senate foreign relations committee in urging quick approval of the defense treaty and its related arms-for-Europe program.

Speaking as a member of the joint chiefs of staff, Bradley pointed out that other pact nations are in a position where any aggression into western Europe will mean "conquest of their homelands."

"I assure you that our frontiers of collective defense lies in common with theirs in the heart of Europe," he said.

Saved By Europeans

Bradley said "any plotting aggressor" realizes that, in the final analysis, western Europe can be saved only by the western Europeans.

But he added:

"If we Americans, together with the western Europeans, believe that economic assistance can bring economic stability, we should also believe that military assistance can bring military stability to us all."

Bradley said that, given "sorely needed" materials and proper training, European divisions established on their home soil "will be in a firm position of readiness."

New Citizens

tions of the five applicants to the court and stated that:

"The backgrounds of each and every one of these applicants has been thoroughly checked. All are of good moral character and have subscribed to the principles of this government. All are free of any criminal record or subversive activity."

Waiting Period Shortened

Because each of the applicants had married an American citizen the preliminary of 'first papers' was waived and the waiting period in residence was shortened from the required five years to two.

Presiding Judge Joseph B. Dooley, Amarillo, told the applicants that responsibilities go hand in hand with the pride of American citizenship.

"You have now renounced all ties with any other nation, state or potentate," Judge Dooley told them.

"The position of the United States in seeking world peace is well known. The U. S. is charged with a heavy obligation to hold back the tide of totalitarianism. All of our citizens, new and old alike, are obligated to play their individual parts in this destiny."

Had Studied Oath

It was obvious that the five new citizen took their oath with sincerity and a knowledge that they had taken a step of enormous consequences. They repeated the oath without faltering. Each had read and studied the oath many times.

One young attorney who was seated in the court room waiting to try a civil case remarked that the dignity and meaning of such an occasion served as a reminder that "too many old citizens take their citizenship for granted and do not shoulder the obligations that go with it."

Rent Formula

Must Lodge Petition

Landlords first must petition area rent offices for increases under the formula. That provides automatic motification to renters, who then will be given an opportunity to oppose the increase.

Explaining operation of the "fair net income" yardstick, Woods offered this sample case:

A "small" landlord with a total income from rents of $1,000 annually has operating expenses — including taxes—of $600 a year, plus a depreciation allowance of $200 a year. This leaves a "net operating income" of $200 a year or 20 per cent of his gross rental income.

He then is entitled to a rent ceiling increase to boost his net income to 30 per cent. In this case, such an increase on the property is $12 per month which brings the landlord's gross take to $1,143 a year. The figure is obtained this way:

Multiply the landlord's operating expenses, including taxes and depreciation, by 100 and divide by 70 (the allowable percentage of expenses). The answer is, the amount to which the rent can be increased. In the case above, that's $1,143.

For "large" landlords, the formula works the same way except for the lower percentage figures: Multiply operating expenses, including taxes and depreciation, by 100 and divide by 75 (the percentage allowable for the "large" operation).

Daily MARKET

Stock Market

MARKET IS SCRAMBLED

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP) — A late rally chipped away at early losses in the stock market today.

At the final bell gains and losses, mostly fractional, were thoroughly scrambled. Most stocks, though, closed above the lows of the day.

Turnover was about 800,000 shares.

Dow Chemical was one of the few stocks to change more than fractionally. The shares advanced 1½ at one time following word of an increase in the company's dividend.

Also up were General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Westinghouse Electric, American Woolen, Standard Oil of California, Texas Co., and Twentieth Century-Fox.

Marked down were Republic Steel, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, Phelps Dodge, American Can, Johns-Manville, U. S. Gypsum (at a new low for the year) Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Pacific Western Oil.

Palmer began his 10-hour job of working the pump by hand when the electric motor gave out east of Cheyenne.

The conductor wired ahead to North Platte, Neb., for a new armature or a new power and pump unit.

There were no replacement parts at North Platte. But the Omaha fire department wired that a brand new pump unit awaited the Palmers there. And Palmer carried on until they reached Omaha —squatting, then kneeling, then sitting, changing his position to ease his muscles.

The Palmers are natives of Newark, N. Y., near Rochester. They were living at Encino, Calif., and Palmer was an art student at Los Angeles when Mrs. Palmer was stricken.

Mrs. Palmer was transferred from the pullman car to an ambulance at Syracuse for the last leg of the trip to Ithaca.

INDIA BUYS DEFENSES

NEW DELHI, May 3 (AP) — India has agreed to pay Britain $400,000,000 for the defense stores and installations left behind in the sub-continent when the British left India in 1947. Finance Minister Dr. John Matthai told questioners in the legislative assembly that India agreed to make the initial payment on behalf also of Pakistan which was to reimburse India later. He added Pakistan's share of the liability was $50,970,000.

Leo Durocher Is Reinstated

CINCINNATI, May 3. (AP)—Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants, was reinstated today.

Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler said he head no evidence sufficient to support a charge by Fred Boysen, a New York fan, that Durocher had assaulted him.

Report Is Given

In his findings, Chandler, who suspended Durocher last Friday after Boysen said he was knocked down and kicked at the Polo grounds, said:

"On Friday, April 29, Commissioner Chandler announced the suspension of Manager Leo Durocher, following an incident at the Polo grounds the afternoon before, in which Durocher was allegedly involved.

"At the time of the suspension, a hearing before the commissioner was set for today.

"No statement has been made to the press by the commissioner nor by this office since the official announcement.

"Durocher's suspension by the commissioner was a preventive, rather than a punitive action. Prominent representatives of the colored race and others had made representations to the commissioner, which indicated the possibility of further incidents.

Persons Are Interviewed

The commissioner's representatives have interviewed alleged eye witnesses in New York. The commissioner has had a full hearing in this office of all interested parties in baseball, and has considered numerous affidavits submitted.

"The evidence is contradictory. Manager Durocher was involved in an incident with Fred Boysen, a Porto Rican, and apparently came in physical contact with Boysen. The evidence, however, is not sufficient to warrant the belief that Durocher deliberately assaulted Boysen.

Will Rejoin Team

"Under the circumstances, the suspension against Durocher is lifted immediately and Durocher will rejoin his team on Wednesday, May 4.

"There is ample evidence that the Polo grounds was not properly policed on the afternoon of April 28, or Fred Boysen would not have been permitted to move about in the box seat section, for which he had no ticket, and to hurl insulting language, which he directed at Durocher principally, and would not have been on the field at the conclusion of the game (between Brooklyn and New York).

"Clubs and leagues are responsible for the policing of their baseball parks and people who go to the games have an obligation to conduct themselves with decency. Fair play demands that vicious name calling by fans, in the direction of players, be not indulged in. Ball players have a right to protection from unwarranted abuse."

Faulty Fuses, Black Smoke Cause Concern

Two unrelated events led to widespread concern that a major fire had broken out in south Lubbock early this afternoon.

Billowing black smoke was carried by a stiff south breeze into the business section, and when traffic light began "blinking" simultaneously, police and fire departments and the Avalanche-Journal were flooded with inquiries.

The "fire" was a trash fire at a junk yard on South Ave. G, where parts of old automobiles were being burned.

The blinking traffic lights were due to some fuses blown out in the control system, the police department said. Timing of the lights had been off all day.

'Overnight' Stay Now In 60th Year

BOSTON, May 3 — When 85-year-old Oliver C. Elliott went to the Boston Industrial Home he was broke, hungry and in need of a bed.

Authorities there took him in and let him chop a pile of wood for his first night's rest.

That was in 1889. He's still there.

Elliott worked up to be superintendent in 1903 and is now celebrating his 60th year in the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Purcell escaped injury by going into their storm cellar when they noticed the approaching storm.

Generous Pennsylvanians Aid Stricken Youth With Big Smile

By JOSEPH AGOR
NEA Staff Writer

SHAMOKIN, Pa., May 3.—Practically everyone likes "Buzz" Khitmer. Maybe it's the broad smile that comes to his face so easily; maybe it's because, to quote his mother, Mrs. Ruth Whitmer, Buzz is a "fine boy."

But Buzz is a sick boy, too. At the age of 12 doctors found him diabetic; at 17 he was pronounced tubercular.

Buzz is 25, and he has only one worry. He can no longer aid in the support of the neat little home his mother maintains for Buzz and a sister.

His father, a miner, died more than 20 years ago. Buzz is an only son. One sister is married, another is working her way through a special nursing school. The third is working part time in a local taxtitle mill.

Buzz (his real name is Russell) worked when he had the strength. He dropped out of Shamokin High School for a semester because of ill health, then went back and completed his course.

The help that Buzz Whitmer needs to fight off two deadly diseases is shaping up in the form of the "Russell Whitmer Fund." A West End business man who knows Buzz started the whole thing, and soon had several others, including a well known local physician, interested.

Recently, smiling as usual, Buzz was taken to a convalescent camp, where he probably will spend the next year. His physician friend made the arrangement for Buzz to enter the camp. And he was driven there by another of his new-found friends, a busy business man who is one of the sponsors of the fund to pay the bill.

Young Buzz doesn't pity himself and he doesn't want charity. His buddies at Golden Gate Station, where the "bunch" gathers, will tell you a lot about Buzz. They may heckle and "needle" each other unmercifully, but to them Buzz is "a great guy."

The kids, with the impulsive generosity of youth, have set up a "Buzz Box" in the gas station. The slot in the top of the box is for coins, and the coins will go into the Russell Whitmir Fund. The kids heard that treatment such as their favorite buddy needs calls for money. They don't have much money, but they're out to do their part.

At the Whitmer home, a small but brightly cheerful place, Buzz and his mother talked freely of the boy's condition. There was no embarrassment, no whining about their situation. In answer to a question concerning his ambition, Buzz smiled (always the big smile) and admitted he wanted to be a boyish dream must now seem far away to the stricken youth.

Buzz readily consented when asked if he'd pose for the photographer. He tried to look serious when the bulbs flashed and he made a good job if it. His mother had only a small snapshot of her son, but sure enough, there on the little picture was the unconquerable smile.

CZECHS EXTEND SERVICE

PRAGUE, May 3 (AP)—Czechoslovakia is extending its overseas telephone connections, the Communist newspaper "Rude Pravo" says. In addition to facilities with most of the countries of Europe and the United States, it listed these as soon to be linked up: Alaska, Bahama Islands, Barbados, Bermuda, Costa Rica, the Dominican Republic, Guatemala, Haiti, Hawaii, Honduras, Jamaica, Nicaragua, Panama, Puerton Rico, Salvador and Trinidad.

One Of Two Liquor Cases To Be Tried

County Attorney Waggoner Carr said it was uncertain which of two liquor law violation charges would be tried when a jury panel reports this afternoon.

Cases of either Waymond Bush, a Lubbock negro, or S. M. McCann, 44, of Slaton, will be tried, it was annouced.

The jury panel was recessed at 9:30 a. m. until 1:30 p. m. when the defense obtained a continuance in the case of Charles R. Rouse, charged with drunk driving, and a resetting for Thursday in the case of W. C. Crecelius, charged with liquor law violation. Rouse said in his motion material witnesses were absent. Crecelius' counsel is out of the city.

Old Familiar Face Reveals 452 Pints

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 3 (AP) —Should auld acquaintance be forgot, and never brought to mind?

Absolutely not thought vice squad officer Ray Peddicord when he saw an old familiar face behind a steering wheel here Monday night

"There's a bootlegger I haven't seen for years," he explained to his fellow vice squader, officer Joe Birdwell.

The two coppers pulled over in their prowler car for a friendly chat with 51-year-old Allison Shadrick. Allison said he'd been out in California for a while, where the laws aren't so dry as they are in this prohibition state.

Just for auld lang syne, the two officers decided to see if Shadrick was taking any cups of friendship anywhere.

He was—452 pints of it.

"They're More Efficient, Businesslike"

Paris Designer Likes American Models Better Than French

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU
United Press Fashion Writer

NEW YORK, May 3 (U.P.)—The president of one of Paris' top dress-making firms came out strongly today in favor of American models.

For other than the usual reasons.

"They are serious," Raymond Barbas said with feeling, "efficient, businesslike. They are always on time."

Little Appointmnet . . .

Barbas shrugged. "She does not appear on Monday."

That's tough on business. The dresses of a Parisian dressmaker are quite literally made on the models. If she's not there creation ceases. If she's not there, the completed dress cannot be shown to a customer.

So Barbas likes to have a couple of American girls on the premises.

He has them, despite the fact the job has less glamour and less pay than it does in New York. A top Parisian model, Barbas explained, gets $100 a month, which is more in Paris than it is in New York.

Barbas prefers American girls who are doing something else — like studying.

They work about five and a half hours a day, five days a week, leaving plenty of time off to be scholarly, he said. He expects them to stick around for six months to see those collections through from creation to final sale, though.

There's another compensation, Barbas said. They don't have to be built like the beanpole American models.

"We like them womanly, more like our customers," he said. "Not like a knife."

Okay Of Labor Bill Forecast

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP) — Speakers Rayburn (D-Tex) predicted today the House will accept the new compromise Democratic labor bill with its Taft-Hartley features.

Shortly before the House convened for its fifth day of labor debate, the veteran Texan told reporters he expected the measure to draw strong Democratic support from both the north and south.

The compromise is far different from the simple T-H repealer unions want. For one thing it would continue the present law's 80-day injunctions for dealing with national emergency disputes, but some of the procedure in this section would be changed.

New Restrictions Seen

In two respects, the bill would impose new restrictions on employers.

It would require them to file detailed financial statements, similar to those required of labor unions. Also, it would extend the loyalty and non-Communist oath not only to principal officers of unions and firms but to policy-making groups as well.

Non-Communist oaths are required now only of union officers, and only unions have to make detailed financial reports if they want to use national labor board facilities.

Five Votes Seen

The parliamentary situation indicated possibly five House votes on the compromise.

Only in the House itself is a roll-call vote obtainable. When it sits as a committee, the House votes either by voice, with members shouting "aye" or "no"; by standing vote, with members standing to be counted, or by teller vote, with members walking up the center aisle and being counted as they pass.

Range Riders Will Assist In Search

AMARILLO, May 3 (U.P.)—The colorful Will Rogers range riders took to the saddle today on an errand of mercy.

They joined the Potter county sheriff's department in a search for Willis Moore, 68, patient at the county convalescent who has been missing since last Thursday.

Residents north of Amarillo said they saw a man wandering about near Amarillo creek Sunday afternoon. The range riders will search the Canadian river breaks today.

Pastor Charged With Murder Calm At Last Rites For Wife

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 3 (AP)—Jean Gareis Hetenyi was laid to rest today, 10 days after her body was found in the Genesee river.

The Rev. George P. Hetenyi, who is charged with murder in the death of the former Oakland, Calif., concert violinist, sat with a calm demeanor throughout the funeral rites for his wife in St. Andrews Episcopal church. He formerly was a pastor of Texarkana and El Paso, Texas.

A throng estimated at between 800 and 900 nearly filled the church while more than 500 onlookers gathered outside.

Hetenyi, manacled between two deputy sheriffs, repeated the Apostle's creed, the Lord's Prayer and the responses.

Had Prayed Silently

Earlier he had looked on his wife's body for the last time in a flower-bedecked casket in a funeral parlor. He prayed silently and made the sign of the cross.

Another 200 or 300 people watched the brief ceremonies at Mrs. Hetenyi's grave in Riverside cemetery which overlooks the river from which her bullet-ripped body was taken April 23.

After the onlookers had left, deputy sheriffs returned Hetenyi to the grave upon his request to see the casket lowered.

Prisoners Receive Clemency Actions; 3 Pardons Revoked

AUSTIN, May 3 (AP) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester today announced these clemency actions:

Conditional pardons granted:

Hollis Kimble, five years in 1948 from Taylor county for swindling. To Taylor county.

J. L. Coghlan, six years in 1947 from Swisher county for forgery. To Wisconsin.

Andrew Dicarlo, four years in 1947 from Randall and Potter counties for assault to rob and burglary. To New Jersey.

Cond. Pardon Reinstated

Encarnacion Ochoa, 25 years in 1936 from LaSalle county for murder. Initial clemency granted October 12, 1939. (Reinstatement of conditional pardon revoked February 3, 1949).

Conditional pardons revoked:

Richard Dillon, 50 years in 1940 from Montgomery county for murder. Initial clemency granted April 26, 1945; conditional pardon granted Oct. 24, 1947.

Jack Stewart, 37 years in 1933 from Rockwall, Robertson, McLennan, Dallas, Wise, Harris, Bowie, Tarrant and Montgomery counties for burglary and repetition, assault with intent to murder, robbery with firearms, theft over $50, burglary of a railroad car, robbery, robbery by assault, felony theft and failure to stop and render aid.

Granted In 1945

Initial clemency granted March 21, 1945; conditional pardon granted September 21, 1948. (Report on file states that subject was charged on April 9, 1949, for theft over $50).

Leslie Dial, two years in 1947 from Garza, Lubbock, Crosby and Mitchell counties for burglary and theft over $50. Conditional pardon to Jefferson county granted Aug. 13, 1948.

20 and extended the payment time to 21 months from 18.

Installments Drop

Reserve board data for March, freshly compiled, showed a decline of $52,000,000 in installment credit outstanding on the purchase of these articles—meaning repayments on old debts of this kind were larger than new debts by that amount.

That provided a motive for the April 23 announcement by the board of a second easing of terms to permit a 24-month payment limit, a ten percent cash payment for goods other than cars (neither control-easing made any change in the one-third down payment required for cars), and removal of restrictions on goods costing under $100.

Federal Judge Joseph B. Dooley today continued the case of the Union Supply company versus the Levelland Country Club, the Levelland State bank and the First National bank of Levelland.

The supply company is suing to recover $5,650, the amount of a check made payable to the supply company and which was given to a former supply company employe by the country club.

The supply company says the former employe deposited the check in his personal account in the Levelland State Bank.

The check was drawn on the First National bank of Levelland.

The supply company claims the banks failed to exercise proper care in handling the check. The Levelland State bank contends the supply company failed to hold its former employe to a proper accounting.

Henderson To Meet Alonzo

LEVELLAND, May 3 (Special)—Bill Henderson will meet Chino Alonzo in a 10-round lightweight boxing match here May 31 in the final event of a Jaycee-sponsored fight card.

Henderson, who has lost only two fights in his professional career, will probably be favored to take Alonzo in the fight. The only setbacks given to the Lubbock scrapper were two lightweight bouts with Jean Mougin, former French lightweight champion.

Alonzo appeared in Lubbock last week in a Jaycee sponsored fight program, decisioning Sammy Galvan.

Also appearing on the card will be Gene James, Lubbock heavyweight, but his opponent has not been named. In two professional appearances, James has won both fights with TKO's.

Promoter of the fights will be Dickie Griffin of El Paso.

Death Gun Is Found In Milwaukee River

MILWAUKEE, May 3. (AP)—The gun which brought death to 16-year-old Pat Birmingham was fished from the mud of the Milwaukee river yesterday.

Milton Babich, 19, has told Dist. Atty. William J. McCauley that he dumped the body and the .22 calibre target revolver into the river at that point last Feb. 10. He claims Patricia died by accident that day when the gun discharged twice as she picked it up by the barre land he grabbed for the handle.

He said he hoped to frighten her so she wouldn't tell that her sister, Kathleen, was pregnant.

Babich, who eloped with Kathleen two days before the West Allis high school girl's body was found, March 20, has been charged with first degree murder. He faces preliminary hearing on that charge tomorrow.

McCauley said last night that the gun taken from the river had been identified by the operator of a West Milwaukee sporting goods store as one he sold to a youth who gave the name of Victor Babich.

McCauley previously had quoted Milton Babich as saying he purchased the death gun at that store, giving the name of his older brother, Victor.

McCauley evaded all questions on whether any finger prints were found on the weapon, stating only that it would be sent to the state crime laboratory at Madison for "tests."

Addition of the morning line to Hialeah's printed program this season has been enthusiastically received.

Call For Courthouse Bids Expected Today

A special meeting of the county commissioners' court at 5:30 p.m. today is expected to result in official call for bids for construction of Lubbock county's $1,500,000 six-story courthouse building.

It was announced Monday that bids will be received at a meeting of the court Wednesday, June 15, at 2 p.m.

The call for construction bids on the huge project indicates an early start of work on the building. Plans and specifications have been completed by Haynes and Kirby, Lubbock architects.

Details of the categories of contracts on which bids will be asked will be decided at today's meeting, County Judge Walter Davies said. Most of the work will be grouped under general construction, heating and air conditioning, plumbing, electrical and elevators.

Funeral Is Held For Waco Couple's Child

Graveside services for Vickie Ann Rogers, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Rogers of Waco, were this morning in Lubbock cemetery.

Rev. Albert F. Laing, pastor of First Nazarene church, officiated. Plains Funeral home was in charge of burial.

Survivors include the parents and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hettler of 1911 Ave. L, Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers of Tennessee.

Two Feared Lost In Corpus Christi Bay

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 3 (AP) A Corpus Christi teacher and his wife were missing today after going fishing Sunday in Corpus Christi bay in a 12-foot skiff.

They are John Paul Kelly, 40, teacher at a local junior high school, and his wife, about 36.

The search began when their 12-year-old son, David, notified officials at the school that "mother and dad didn't come home" after setting out on the fishing jaunt.

Waco Housewife Far Outdistances Glamor Gals As Write-In Candidate For Baylor May Queen

WACO, May 3 (U.P.)—"We want Mehaffey" was the rallying cry on the Baylor university campus today as law students led a revolt against an annual May queen custom.

Reports circulated that the secret counting last night of ballots for the 1949 Baylor May queen showed Mrs. A. J. Mehaffey, a Waco housewife, a write-in winner by a substantial margin.

Mrs. Mehaffey, who doubles in brass as a Baylor law student, reportedly far outdistanced the official candidates, 19 glamor gals from Texas, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

Identity Kept Secret

Identity of the co-ed chosen in the traditional Alpha-Omega-sponsored election is officially a secret. It is never revealed until coronation time, which this year will climax tomorrow's All-University Play day.

Every indication, however, was that Mrs. Mehaffey, the mother of a nine-year-old boy and eleven-year-old girl, would not be named queen no matter what the vote.

Dean Abner McCall of the law school said her candidacy had been filed 48 hours late. He added learnedly, "if she wasn't entered, how could she win."

Plan Own Coronation

But the Mehaffey-for-May-queen forces said a separate coronation would be held if one of the glamor belles is officially awarded the crown.

Mrs. Mehaffey said she was surprised by the campus furore and completely baffled by her sudden rise to collegiate fame.

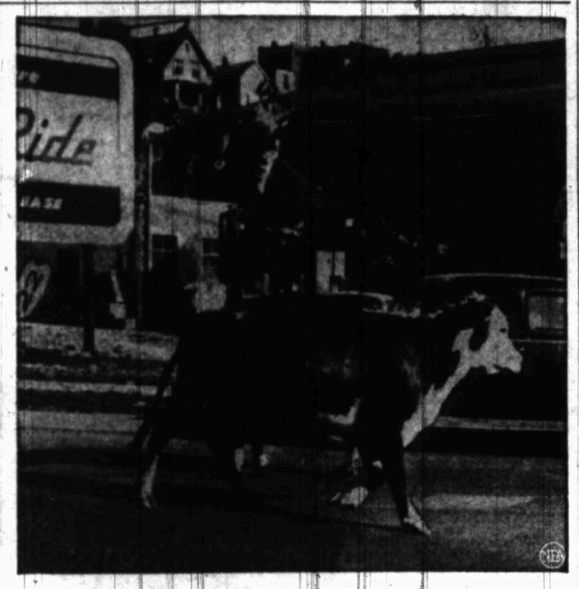

The wife of a Waco dealer in used cars and alligator steaks whose trade name is "Pore Old Mehaffey," the 1929 graduate of Baylor said she hadn't even planned to attend the May festivities on the Baptist university's usually staid campus.

Body Of Woman Is Finally Identified

WESLACO, May 3 (U.P.) — A copper-haired woman found dead a week ago in a lake near the U. S.-Mexico border was identified Monday as Mildred Louis McEuen, 33, of Bakersfield, Calif.

Police officials said her criminal record stretched from Indiana to California over the last 10 years. She was originally identified as Anna Louise Holloway of Corpus Christi, one of her aliases.

Attorney Jack Ross said he was awaiting a report from the state Health department in Austin on the cause of the woman's death.

Mother's Milk Bank Aiding Many Babies

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 3 (U.P.)—One southern welfare enterprise has just celebrated its second anniversary.

More than 300 babies have been supplied with milk since the opening of the Jacksonville Mother's Milk Bank, Inc., Mrs. Dorothy Horsfall, president, said.

The bank was started by the Jacksonville Pilots Club, which gathered dollars from contributors and got professional advice from a group of physicians.

Originally, the bank was to serve the area east of Oklahoma and south of Kentucky. However, shipments of milk have been made to such places as Newark, N. J. and Chicago.

Milk is furnished any baby whose doctor requests it and no charge is made if the parents can't afford to pay.

The bank gets its product from volunteer mothers who have more than enough milk to feed their own children. It stores the supply in deep freezers.

It is supported financially mainly from funds sub-appropriated to the Florida state board of health and the City of Jacksonville health department.

Two Convicts Sought After Prison Break

RICHMOND, May 3 (U.P.) — Two convicts at the Harlem prison farm No. 1 near here eluded a volley of bullets and slid to safety from a second floor window early today.

Prison officials identified the men as Rudolfo Ayala, 25, serving a five-year sentence for burglary from Bexar county, and Juan Olivo, 22, sentenced to life for criminal assault from Nueces county.

The convicts sawed through a bar in their cell window, and made a rope of sheets. A guard saw the escape and fired four shots.

The state highway patrol, prison guards and sheriffs deputies formed a posse and set up highway blockades.

Prison farm Manager Capt. Joe Hines said he believed packs of bloodhounds had picked up the scent of the escapees.

'No' Seen As Answer To Czech Request For U. S. Credit, Aid

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—A request from Communist-run Czechoslovakia for U. S. aid in holding off a threatened economic pinch seemed destined today for a final, flat "No."

Czech negotiations asked for the help as part of a deal to settle American claims for private property taken over by the Czech government—particularly since the Communists seized control 14 months ago.

Officials said the Czechs pleaded they could not pay off unless the United States granted credits of $50,000,000 or more and also eased export controls on shipments to their country.

The initial American response to that suggestion was so chilly that the negotiations which opened last month are now at a standstill. The head of the four-man Czech delegation, Evzin Loebl, has returned to Prague.

Replacement Needed

If talks are resumed he must get a replacement for his deputy, Dr. Hugo Skala, who quit as soon as he reached the United States and asked the State department for asylum as a political refugee.

American officials recalled that Czechoslovakia turned down an invitation to share in the European recovery program after the Marshall plan was blasted by Moscow. They suggested that if the Czechs are having economic trouble now they should ask Russia for help—not the United States.

From Skala, a former top official of the Prague finance ministry, and from other sources, the State department has received reports that Czechoslovakia is facing economic difficulties which threaten an early crisis.

Resources Fallen

Skala told the Overseas Writers club Monday that the Czech government's foreign exchange resources have dwindled to around $28,000,000 from an original total of about $400,000,000.

By next month, he predicted, there will be no funds left to buy cotton and other imported raw materials.

A delegation headed by Prime Minister Antonin Zapotosky received a promise of Russian help in Moscow last December but this aid reportedly has failed to meet Czechoslovakia's needs.

This situation, Skala suggested, may explain in part why Russia is willing to talk about lifting the Berlin blockade, provided the West's counter blockade against Eastern Europe is ended.

American property in Czechoslovakia was once valued by the census bureau at $140,000,000. In the negotiations for a settlement the United States asked $40,000,000 compensation for nationalized property, after scaling down values for war damage and other factors.

Want Large Credit

The Czech offer was $22,500,000, it was reported, to be paid in 10 years. But the negotiators added that unless they get a credit for two or three times this amount, along with an increase in trade with the United States, they can not pay.

Loebl, head of the Czech group, is deputy prime minister for foreign trade. He left for Prague after two preliminary meetings with an American group headed by Paul Nitze, State department economic official.

Methodists To Have All Family Program

All Family night will be observed at 7 p. m., Wednesday at Asbury Methodist church with a recreation program, a meal on the lawn and a program in the church auditorium.

The event will be in observance of Family week, said Dr. C. A. Bickley, pastor. A motion picture about the home will be shown and songs about home will be sung.

On the planning committee are Arch Harper, Mrs. Uel D. Crosby, Earl Harris, Jack Christian, Mrs. L. D. Marshall, Gene Horton and Charles Kelly.

On the recreation program, some of the families will participate in stunts.

Actress Like Any Other Girl In Love

Ingrid Bergman Troubled By Her Tangled Marital Status

ROME, May 3. (AP)—Like any girl in love, Ingrid Bergman walked Stromboli's sunny shore today hunting a design for happy living.

In her heart was the answer to a question which might have been lifted from one of her Hollywood scripts:

Did she love Roberto Rossellini, stormy genius of Italy's film world, as Italian newspapers reported?

Or were there more happy years ahead with her doctor-husband, Peter Aron Lindstrom, whose marriage with the actress has for years been about as near an idyl as Hollywood could boast?

Only She Knows Answer

Nobody knew the answer.—except the 31-year-old film star.

But Robert Conway of the New York Daily News, who talked with her for four hours on Stromboli, said Miss Bergman had "tacitly confirmed" that she is in love with Rossellini.

Conway quoted Ingrid as saying she and Rossellini "wanted to keep it quiet."

She refused to deny that she will divorce Dr. Lindstrom, father of her daughter, Conway cabled his paper.

But Dr. Lindstrom still had to be heard from.

His dramatic halfway-around-the-world flight from Los Angeles resulted in a face-to-face meeting with his wife, film circles said. What the results were no one knew.

Another question mark was whether Rossellini was free to marry. He has been separated from the mother of his children for some years. Italian press reports said. But there has been no confirmation of rumors that he received a recent Hungarian divorce.

Rossellini, producer of "Paisan" and "The Open City," and Miss Bergman are making a picture, "Of God's Earth," on Stromboli, a volcanic island between Sicily and Italy.

Some cynics, taking not of the film in the making, still thought the real-life romance might be a publicity stunt. But most reporters seemed to be taking it seriously.

The independent newspaper "Momento" said today that Dr. Lindstrom had "no hopes" of avoiding divorce.

The Rome paper reported he came to Italy to secure the divorce "as quietly as possible."

Uncle Sam Kind But Firm If GIs Slip On House Payments

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 3. — If times get tough for a veteran who has bought a home with a GI loan, Uncle Sam is going to be an understanding but firm landlord.

This is apparent from the machinery that the Veterans' Administration is now setting up for handling a veteran's debt to the government resulting from defaulted GI loans. And it can be seen in the great number of "cures" which the VA has already effected in loans which have threatened to go bad.

Must Give Proof

All a veteran has to do is prove to the VA that he's doing his best but can't quite meet a high monthly payment, or that he was forced to give up a house due to circumstances beyond his control.

The VA can then make arrangements, in most cases, to reduce the size of the payments by extending the loans over a longer period of time. In the case of foreclosure, it can cancel or compromise on any debt which results from the government paying up on its guarantee.

Approximately 1,500,000 home loans have been made under the GI bill, with the government's guarantee in the program more than $4,000,000,000. So far, less than one-tenth of one per cent of that amount has been needed to pay claims against bad loans. And, of the 67,869 loans which have threatened to go bad, the VA has cured 42,887 through refinancing, extending the length of payments or other means.

He Can Appeal

Either the veteran or the lender can appeal to VA for help in making different arrangements when payments become too burdensome, or when it looks like a vet may have to give up his house for other reasons.

Although not anticipating any great increase in foreclosures on GI homes, the VA is introducing the new procedure for handling defaults in order to be prepared for anything that might happen.

A three-man Committee on Waivers and Compromises is being set up in each regional office, with authority over cases involving less than $2500 paid to lenders for the guarantee. The maximum which could be paid is $4000. For cases over $2500, there is a similar committee in the central office of VA in Washington.

After the VA has made its final accounting with a lender on a default case, a form letter is sent to the veteran showing how much he owes the government, and advising him of his rights in trying to get the debt canceled, reduced or terms of payment arranged.

Has 30 Days

The veteran has 30 days in which to reply. He must include in the reply, "a complete statement of financial circumstances, including income from all sources, current expenses, and all assets and liabilities." During the 30 days, the VA cannot withhold any pensions or other benefits which it is paying to that vet.

If the veteran fails to reply within the time, the VA can start withholding benefits or do anything else within its power to collect. If the vet does answer, the VA must wait until the committee recommends what action should be taken.

A VA official says that the debt will be waived only by committees in special cases: "Such a case," he says, "would be one in which the veteran is found to be without fault, where recovery would be inequitable, and where enforced hardship on the veteran or his family."

The committees can also spread payments on the debt over as long a period as they see fit. A regional committee's decision must be unanimous. If it isn't, the matter is referred to the committee in Washington which can decide with a majority vote. A veteran can appeal from a decision of the regional committee to the central committee, but the action of the central committee is final.

Due to your failure to pay your contractual obligation on the subject loan, it became necessary for the Veterans Administration to pay a claim under Section 506 of Title III of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act to the holder thereof. As a result of this claim, you are indebted to the United States in the sum of $ with interest.

IT'S A GREAT DAY when a veteran and his family move into their home, but, if things get tough, they're liable to get a letter, like the insert, from Uncle Sam's Veterans' Administration.

Harlem, now a Negro center in New York, was once a village on Manhattan Island.

British Diplomat Makes Death Leap

MANILA, May 3 (AP)—Police tonight blamed the death leap of British diplomat John Herbert Dickinson, 37, from a bank building on his mental condition.

Dickinson, charge d'affaires of the British legation, plunged from the legation's fifth floor offices in the bank building earlier in the day.

Police said a series of three notes disclosed he was depressed and unable to "think straight."

One note was addressed to police. Another to his widow, Gwendolyn, formerly of Toronto, Canada, and the third to Ronald Finlay, British vice consul in Manila.

Dickinson came here from an assignment in Warsaw in November of last year.

India has banned erection of new theatres to save essential materials, and observers say the quality of Indian films has deteriorated.

Trash Pickup Will Start Wednesday

Cleanup Drive Being Pushed

Preparations for the biggest trash pickup in Lubbock history will begin today as another major feature of the 19th annual City Cleanup, Paintup, Fixup campaign now in progress, General Chairman Ernest St. Clair, jr., announced Monday.

A sound truck will spend a large part of today cruising in the Southwest Lubbock area south of Nineteenth street and west of Monroe Avenue urging residents of that district to collect their trash and put it in their alley for pickup Wednesday.

The district is one of nine into which the city has been divided for the pickup. Each district has been assigned to one or more service clubs, which will be responsible for hauling trash from its area upon a specified date within the next nine days.

Instructions Given

The Rotary club has been assigned to the Southwest Lubbock district. All available city trucks will be concentrated there tomorrow to handle as much of the trash as they can. Rotarians are to arrange for as many additional trucks from private sources as may be needed. The city will supply the crews and gasoline.

The collection will not include wet garbage or rocks. It will include all other kinds of trash. Paper should be bundled. Lawn and shrubbery trimmings should be sacked or bundled. Tree prunings should be cut into lengths sufficiently short for easy handling. Yard rakings should be placed in containers to simplify loading.

Mayor W. H. Rodgers urged fullest co-operation with this phase of the campaign for several reasons. Disposal of the trash will remove fire hazards. It will get rid of tin cans, bottles and other containers where stagnating water provides breeding places for flies and mosquitoes. It will dispose of innumerable potential tire punctures which also might result in injury to barefoot children.

Sound Truck To Aid Drive

The same schedule will be followed until the entire city and some of the adjoining suburbs have been covered by the trash pickup. The sound truck will cruise in each district one day ahead of the actual collection urging residents to get their trash together.

While trash is being collected in Southwest Lubbock Wednesday, the sound truck will be cruising in the area south of Thirty-fourth street to the city limits between Monroe and Avenue H. On Thursday, the Exchange club will arrange for the trash pickup in that area.

On Friday, collections will be made in two areas. The Junior Chamber of Commerce will be responsible for the district west of

Refunds Made For Tenants

Restitution in the amount of $411 was made to Lubbock tenants in three judgments handed down by Judge Joseph B. Dooley in Federal court yesterday afternoon. All judgments were for alleged overcharges.

The docket of criminal cases which was scheduled for hearing yesterday was set down until May 16. The purpose of this postponement was to allow the federal grand jury, which meets in Dallas, May 9, to include any additional criminal cases in the present term docket.

Refunds Ordered

One judgment included an injunction to prevent the landlord from further overcharges. Court costs of approximately $35 were added to each of the cases. One other motion was set down until Tuesday morning to allow the plaintiff, Housing Expediter Tighe Woods, through attorney J. Edwin Fleming, to produce a witness.

In the first judgment O. B. Poe was ordered to repay $133 rent overcharges to tenant Bob Dellow. Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Camp was instructed to make restitution in the amount of $118 to T. W. Weathersby, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mooney were ordered to return $160 to former tenants Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davis.

The Davises were the only tenants to appear in the Federal court. Mrs. Davis took the stand to identify two cancelled checks showing the amount of rent she had paid for a furnished apartment at 2003 W. Twenty-seventh. She stated that they paid $50 per month for a period of approximately eight months before they were asked to vacate to permit use of the property by the landlord's family.

Roy B. Carnes, district manager of the office of rent control, took the stand to testify that the registration of the dwelling at 2003 W. Twenty-seventh called for a rental of $30 monthly. The registration was made in November, 1945. Carnes said that "no orders have been issued to authorize the rent increase."

An injunction was granted to prevent the Mooneys from charging more than the legal amount from present and future tenants.

THE QUESTION

THE ANSWERS

ROYAL FURGESON, 2119 Thirty - First, district clerk, "His general facial expression, not any particular feature as his eyes or his hair, but mainly whether or not he is smiling or has a friendly look. It's hard to say definitely because it involves his personality, which is hard to define, but which I think is evident from the very first impression."

VIRGIL YOUNG, Vernon, trucker: "I think it would be their personality. It's whether they're in a good humor or not; also whether they hold your interest in conversation."

MRS. C. M. KAIGLER, 1402 Ave. T, speech teacher: "Their pleasant reaction to my meeting and naturalness in everything they say and do; the expression in their face and eyes to show whether they like people, as I do."

C. W. (CHUBBY) HICKS, Lubbock route 7, superintendent of drivers of Lubbock Bus Co.: "It's just according to how they approach you. Guys approach us for jobs. A fellow who's friendly and comes in and don't think he knows it all makes a better impression. If he comes in with old dirty clothes, you wouldn't want to hire him."

CHARLES L. COBB, 3207 Twenty - fifth, partner in McWhorter, Howard, Cobb and Gibson: "I like a person to look me straight in the eye with either a smile or an apparent ability to smile. When the occasion arises, a lot depends on the particular individual, whether he is young or more advanced in years, but I believe the first attribute named are those I notice, regardless."

BRUCE SPENCER, Ralls, retired druggist: "Personality and friendliness and honest appearance. Usually my first impression is my best one, whether it's good or bad, although it doesn't work that way 100 per cent. To meet a good fellow, you have to be a good fellow."

MASKS OUTLAWED

The city council voted unanimously yesterday to outlaw masks except for holiday celebrations such as Hallowe'en.

Charter Night Program Held

By C. W. RATLIFF
Journal Staff Writer

MONROE, May 3 — Monroe's latest organization, the Monroe Lions club, received its charter here Monday night with 250 persons attending a banquet and ladies night program in the New Deal High school gymnasium.

District Gov. W. R. Rutherford of Dumas delivered the charter to President Bruce E. Gentry, sr., of the newly organized club after which Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, professor of education and psychology at Texas Technilogical college presented a talk.

Gov. Rutherford declared the charter "a scholarship in a world organization" and commended Monroe's civic-mindedness in organization of the club.

Members Are Named

As he presented the charter, he called the club's 30 charter members to stand at the speaker's table. They were: John Abbe, Archie Acker, L. A. Barnes, J. O. Bumpass, L. C. Crews, A. A. Cox, J. W. Durham, E. J. Exum, A. L. Faubion, Billy Fortenberry, Bruce E Gentry, jr., Grady Henly, Royse F. Hess, Earl B. Hobbs, P. B. Justice, E. L. Keeton, Billy Meyers, O. L. Miller, Pat Nix, John S. Rankin, John H. Reagan, W. C. Snider, T. E. Snider, M. F. Thurman, J. W. Vanstory, Toby Waggoner, Demp Webster, S. W. Williams and Frank Worley.

Grady Henly was toastmaster at the banquet, a sumptuous meal being served by 30 girls of the New Deal Home Economics department.

Nation Must Stay Strong

Vocal numbers by Misses Jonita Jenkins and Betty Myers, accompanied by Lawrence Ivey at the piano, were given during the program.

Invocation was by Rev. John Rankin, pastor of the Monroe Baptist church and benediction was by David Dart, Church of Christ minister.

In his talk, Dr. Jackson cited the great position the United States holds in the world today and declared establishment of the incentive to work, to save, to invest and to produce has been the great factor in our nation rising to its tremendous power.

"If we ever create a situation that causes us to lose them, we'd cease to exist," he declared, "just as the great nations of the world before us have done.

"But as long as our nation is as productive and as rich as we are today, we should never fear Com-

Untreated Tuberculosis Cases Costly To State, Expert Says

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Staff Writer

DETROIT, May 3—Your state can curb the raids made on the treasury by the tuberculosis bug, the National Tuberculosis association was told today.

A Louisiana tuberculosis expert said a state and a local community could save as much as $46,000 on a single case of tuberculosis if it were spotted and treated in the early stages.

Dr. J. L. Wilson, past president of the Louisiana State Tuberculosis association, declared that when a man dies of tuberculosis without having treatment, the cost to the state and the local community still approximates $50,000.

Cost Estimates Given

He said Dr. R. I. Pierce, former head of Louisiana's state division of tuberculosis control, had worked out these cost estimates for such a case:

"Hidden costs" to the state include $20,000 for future medical treatment of four new patients who contracted the disease from the untreated man.

This, plus $9,000 in financial aid to the dependent family for an average of 15 years.

Also, the dead man's local community has lost $21,000 in income he would have made, in limited activity, for the remainder of his normal life if cured ($700 a year for 30 years).

In contrast, Dr. Wilson said, if some definite effort is made to discover tuberculosis in individuals before symptoms appear and if adequate treatment is provided, the total loss to the state and local community can be cut to about $3,700, "not to mention the life of the individual."

Plan Is Launched

He said the Louisiana State Tuberculosis association had launched a five-year plan designed to eliminate tuberculosis by seeking legislative support to have every citizen x-rayed and have positive cases adequately treated and isolated.

Wilson declared the disease could be eliminated from the nation if every state would undertake a long-range plan of case-finding, isolation and proper treatment of positive cases.

It is estimated, he said, that even now states have to pay expenses for 85 per cent of known tuberculosis cases and that sometimes the expenditure is in vain because treatment is sought when the cases already are far advanced.

He also said that many cases of the disease go undetected.

Wilson declared that unlike the situation with regard to maladies such as heart disease and insanity, the means already are at hand to eradicate tuberculosis if properly orgainzed.

All In A Lifetime — Things To Worry About

Ford Walkout Threat Slows

DETROIT, May 3 (AP) — The CIO United Auto Workers said today only "a few adjustments" in production rates were necessary to forestall a threatened strike of 60,000 Ford employes.

Ford has slowed down its Rouge plant production and removed the chief cause of a speed-up dispute, the union said.

The company, which has denied union charges of a speedup, had no comment.

Another meeting of union and company officials is scheduled Wednesday. At that time Ford is expected to answer a union request for a written agreement covering production rates.

Met Monday

The parties met Monday after a union investigating committee had checked operations at the big Rouge plant where UAW local 600 charged a speed-up.

The local's request for strike authorization was set aside last Thursday by the UAW international executive board pending the inquiry.

Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer and head of the union investigating committee, said the dispute could be settled if production were continued, "with a few adjustments," on the basis of the company's operations.

A settlement at Rouge, some sources said, might help to head off a walkout Thursday of 3,500 workers at Ford's Lincoln-Mercury plant. A strike there has been approved by the UAW board.

Agreement Asked

Ford was asked for a written agreement insuraing that assembly lines in the Rouge "B" building would be kept at "the present ration of manpower to speed of the lines," Mazey said.

"The company informed the union, he said, "that it would take our proposal under advisement and give us an answer Wednesday."

Meanwhile, 25,000 Hudson Motor Car Co. workers faced a layoff today due to a shortage of brakes in the Bendix strike. The company said it hoped to resume production early next week.

At one time prior to today's scheduled Hudson's layoff, there had been a total of 27,000 idle in the auto industry—all attributed to the Bendix strike.

Princess No Square, Joins In With Kaye

LONDON, May 3 (AP)—Th future Queen of England sang "Minnie The Moocher" at the Palladium theater Monday night.

It was the third time since Kaye's British premiere last year that the princess and Prince Philip had seen him perform. They sat in the audience for some 50 minutes and then went backstage to talk with Kaye for another 45 minutes.

Oil Discovery Is Announced

A drillstem test was run in the lime when total depth was 8,951 feet and flowed oil at the rate of 19 barrels per hour. On last report, the venture was bottomed on 8,980 feet in the lime horizon, coming out on a second drillstem test.

Location Is Staked

Location was stacked for an outpost to the Sheron Ridge-Canyon field recently opened in Southwest Scurry county as Lion Oil company No. 1 R. P. Marchbanks estate.

The top was called on 12,590 feet. It is reported 268 feet low on that horizon to Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Hicks, deep wildcat failure in the extreme southeast part of the county, 14 miles southeast of Lamesa.

It is 4,620 feet from east and 7,430 feet from south lines of league 292, Lynn CSL survey.

An Ellenburger wildcat unofficially has been reported staked in southeast Terry county by the Texas company, Amerada Petroleum Corporation, Cities Service Oil Company and Tide Water Associated Oil Company as No. 1 T. K. Ray, four and one-half miles northeast of the Adair field.

The San Andres-Permian in southwest Andrews county made water at Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1-A Andrews-University, wildcat eight miles southeast of Andrews.

Stockholders Steel Minds Against Dress, They'll Still Have Meetings In Hoboken

HOBOKEN N. J., May 3 (AP)—The quiet drone of routine business at the U. S Steel corporation's annual stockholders meeting is not usually interrupted—especially by an attractive Park Avenue matron dressed in a Gay Nineties costume.

But Monday's session was

The woman swept through a crowd of 350 persons attending the annual affair and demanded that the company hold its meetings in New York instead of Hoboken.

Mrs. Wilma Soss of 66 Park Avenue, New York City, told the directors she had rented the Gay Nineties costume to dramatize what she called the antiquated practice of holding the U. S. Steel meetings in Hoboken.

Mrs. Soss—a stockholder herself—said the company had retained Hoboken as the place for annual meetings since 1901 in a deliberate effort to inconvenience shareholders and keep them away from the meetings.

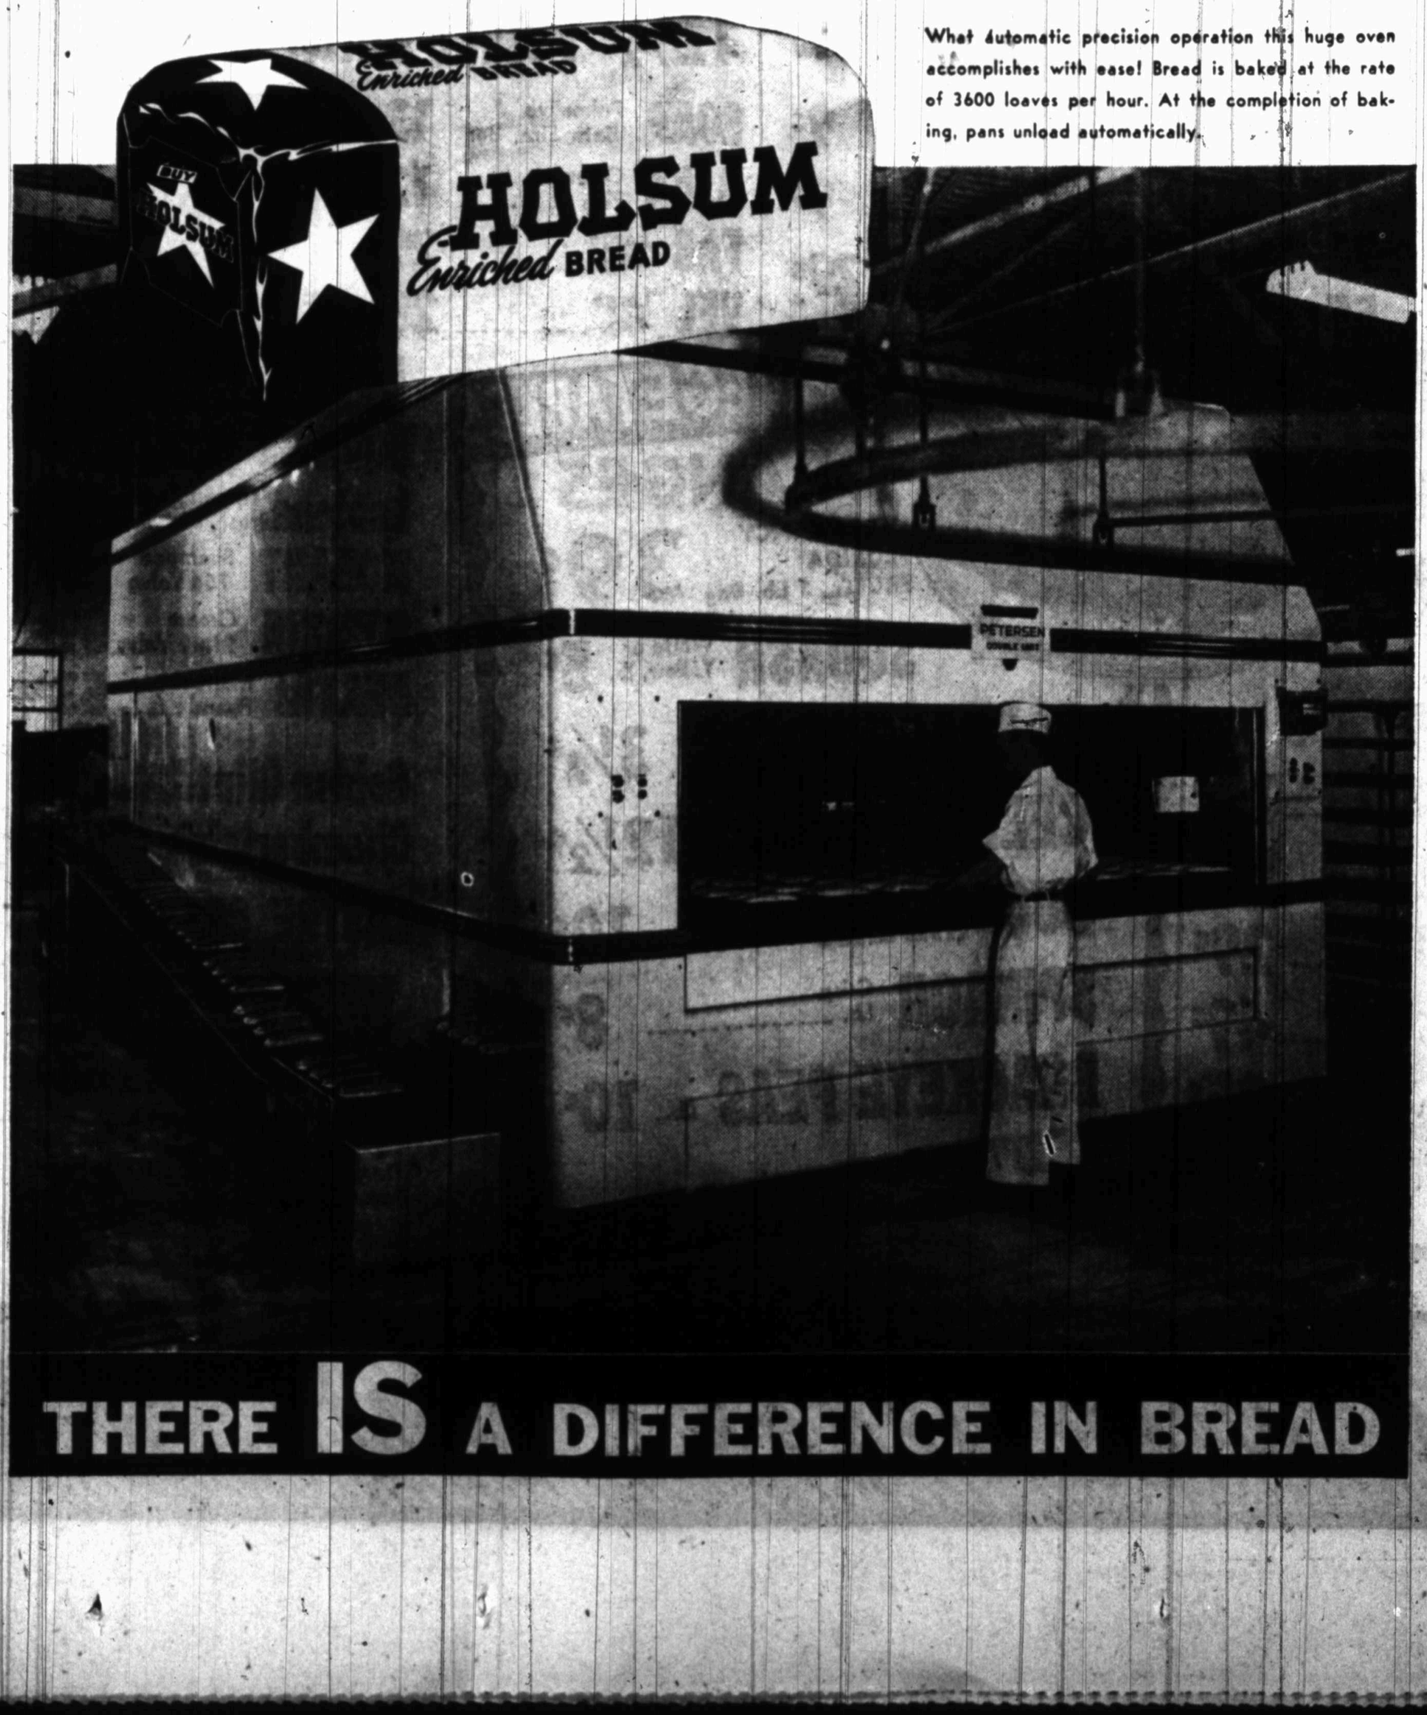

Her resolution calling for transfer of the annual meeting to New York was voted down, but a sympathetic stockholder was heard to remark:

"I hope she comes back next year—in a bathing suit."

Commies Planned Progressive Party, FBI Informant Testifies

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—A woman FBI informant testified Monday that plans for a Progressive party were discussed at a Communist meeting long before a party with that name was organized to run Henry A. Wallace for president.

Angela Calomiris, who fed the FBI information from within the Communist party for seven years, testified that she attended the meeting in the winter of 1947. Wallace's Progressive party was set up in July, 1948.

Eleven On Trial

Gates is one of eleven party leaders on trial in federal court on charges of conspiracy to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

Miss Calomiris said some members at the meeting objected to pushing a Progressive party and thought the existing American Labor party should be pushed.

Others, she said, argued that the role of the ALP was to be the Progressive party in New York state.

Miss Calomiris testified that the average New Yorker ignored Communist party street corner meetings and speakers.

'Financial Sacrifice'

Miss Calomiris, a Greenwich Village photographer, testified that she "suffered great financial sacrifice" when working in Communist ranks as an FBI informant.

That was her answer to questions whether she and the FBI had made definite arrangements for reimbursing her for any financial loss. She said no such arrangements were made.

Judge Harold R. Medina took issue with defense counsel because, he said, it tried to smear the witness' reputation with insinuations. The judge also said the defense was trying to misrepresent her testimony and other evidence.

Miss Calomiris, who was on the stand for the fifth day as the trial entered its 16th week, stuck to her original testimony that she and other members were taught violent government overthrow at party schools.

She also told of helping in a Communist drive to recruit longshoremen on the West Side Manhattan waterfront.

Fire Destroys Large Army Gasoline Dump

ALEXANDRIA, Va., May 3 (AP)—About 300,000 gallons of high octane gasoline were destroyed Monday night at Eebee field by a two-hour fire believed set off by lightning.

The gasoline was in isolated storage tanks on a cleared hilltop, part of the Army engineer corps reservation near Fort Belvoir. Lt. Col. S. Y. Coker said an official investigation would be made. There were no injuries.

Record-Breaking Air Flight Is Revealed

MOBILE, Ala., May 3 (AP) — The largest passenger load ever to fly the Atlantic was on its way to England today in a giant Globemaster.

Seventy-five Air Force men and a crew of 12 were aboard the C-74, which had been in use feeding supplies to the Berlin airport.

The passengers are replacement Air Force men on their way to overseas stations. Personnel being rotated back to the United States will make up a similar load on the return trip.

Twenty-five hours flying time will be consumed on the trip. Stops were scheduled in Bermuda and the Azores.

The military air transport service at Brookley has scheduled three flights this week for the rotation project which calls for 169 men to be transferred to England and 189 returned to the United States.

The third flight leaving Mobile will also carry cargo to make a full load and continue the regular C-74 flights in support of the Berlin airlift.

Gotham Mayor Skips Tammany Fete To Aid Anti-Tammanyites

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer passed up a Tammany Hall fund-raising dinner Monday night to deliver a lecture on party practices to a new group dedicated to smashing Tammany.

The Democrat mayor told a meeting of the insurgent Fair Deal Democrats that "I did not come here for any mud-slinging or brickbat throwing."

He declared, however, that "these conditions you complain of are not new. They're solidly entrenched. You are tackling a tough job. You've got a wildcat on your hands. You're going to get scratched."

The mayor, who called Tammany Hall a "gutter club" some months ago, is expected to seek reelection next fall, but has not announced his candidacy.

Much Opposition

The Fair Deal Democrats are supporting Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., in his fight for election to Congress. The mayor did not mention Roosevelt, who was denied the Democrat congressional nomination by Tammany, Manhattan's regular Democrat organiation.

The late president's 35-year-old lawyer son is running with the nomination of New York state's Liberal party and with the support of several other groups. He is opposed by Democrat, Republican and American Labor party candidates.

The race is for the seat in the normally Democrat 20th congressional district on Manhattan's West Side at a special election May 17. The seat became vacant with the death of Sol Bloom, veteran Democrat congressman.

Fantastic patterns in string are used by Arnhem Land Aborigines in Australia to record their history and F. D McCarthy anthropologist, recently has taken hundreds of photographs of string patterns, woven into tribal songs and dances.

Rare Virus Given Blame After Death

LONGVIEW, May 3 (AP) — Dr. Robert E. Slade, Gregg county health officer, blamed "some form of rare virus" today for a death and illness which closed two East Texas schools last week.

The schools reopened today. The Hawkins school was closed when Mary Lou Mooring, 13, died in Dallas of a virus disease.

The Sabine school was closed when Patricia Bamburg, a seventh grader, fell ill. She recovered.

Dr. Slade said schools were reopened when it was determined the disease is not transmitted from human to human. He said the disease is believed carried by some animal or fowl and might be Newcastle's disease, which is carried by chickens.

"We're almost positive it's not polio," the health officer said.

So Dear To Your Heart . . .

Ever so often, not more than half a dozen times a year, you see a motion picture that gets under your skin and you are glad that it did because it gives you a warm glow of happiness throughout and you leave the theatre wishing everyone could see it. You wish you could find words to express to them the down-right goodness of simple story telling and joyous entertainment which is in store for them.

Such a picture is Walt Disney's newest creation, "SO DEAR TO MY HEART."

The picture, done in Technicolor, a combination of live action (85 per cent) and cartoon, starring Burl Ives, Beulah Bondi, Harry Carey, Luana Patten and Bobby Driscoll, and some new lovable Disney characters, was taken from the book of the same name by Sterling North, and condensed in the December, 1948 Readers' Digest. The setting is a small mid-western town; the time at the turn of the century. The story is about a boy, probably seven or eight years old, his little black lamb, his little girl playmate, his grandmother, the village blacksmith, and the keeper of the general store. The train stops only when it is flagged and the county seat, to a little boy's thinking, is miles and miles away. Anyone who has the memory of childhood days in a small town will live this picture. It is so clean and wholesome that it goes to the roots of things fundamental, as well as spiritual, to the American way of life.

In addition to the title song, "So Dear to My Heart," other catchy tunes are "It's Watcha Do With Watcha Got," the dilly-dilly song, "Lavender Blue," "Stick-To-It-Ivity," and "County Fair."

We unconditionally recommend "SO DEAR TO MY HEART" for your family entertainment . . . a rare experience in a new kind of motion picture to charm your innermost depths.

Construction Work Is Facing Threat

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 3 (AP)—Unions and contractors met separately today to consider a compromise that would avert a stoppage on $40,000,000 worth of construction Thursday in central New Mexico.

The compromise was suggested yesterday by Ethan Allen Walker of Oklahoma City, federal labor conciliator. Its details were not disclosed.

Two AFL unions are demanding wage increases for 1,700 men.

Hod carriers and common laborers quit work 14 days ago to enforce their requests for boosts of 15 to 25 cents an hour. The men receive $1.15 now. Operating engineers quit in sympathy.

The teamsters union composed of truck drivers has served notice of a strike at 8 a. m. Thursday for a 15-cent increase.

Associated Contractors of New Mexico, representing 62 builders, are on the other side. Charles Lembke, their president, previously has said the contractors will not grant an increase in the face of lowering living costs. He said projects would be shutdown in event of a strike.

About $35,000,000 worth of the construction involved in the dispute is at Sandia secret weapons project near Albuquerque and at the atomic energy project at Los Alamos. About 3,000 men would be affected.

The Chancellor of Oxford Diocese, England, called off the proposed auction of two pieces of Communion plate (a James II chalice and paten worth $4,400) because he feared the plate "might fall into the wrong hands."

Southern California Builders Constructing Homes For $6,250

By RALPH DIGHTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES, May 3 — "Rent a new home with option to buy later," reads an advertisement in a Los Angeles newspaper.

Your first impression is that you've picked up a pre-war newspaper by mistake. But no, the date is 1949.

"You get a brand new home on a five year lease, with option to buy at the end of four years," the ad continues. "You pay $49.50 per month plus a returnable deposit of $500 on the option.

"You get this $500 back with two per cent interest if the option is not exercised. If you do buy, you get an added credit of $10 out of each month's rent to apply along with the $500 deposit on the total purchase price of $6,250."

Sounds incredible, but it isn't. It's Victor Girard's plan for beating the high cost of housing. Girard is executive director of Palisades Builders, Inc.

"That's easy," says Girard, "With our own financing we can build a home, and make a profit, for $6,250."

Girard's financing, incidentally, is done by Thomas E. Bragg, president of Palisades Builders, who guessed right when the market went sour in 1929. He is reported to have made millions while other fortunes were crumbling.

"Mass production methods, assembly line construction, with workmen moving from one house to the next with no loss of time," says Girard, "is the secret of success in building today. Savings in labor are even more important than savings in material."

One Floor Plan

The homes all have one floor plan: 685 square feet of floor space, with two bedrooms. Dining area is in the living room. The houses have cement slab floors, exposed-beam ceilings, flat roofs, and car sheds instead of garages. Girard estimates they saved $600 by eliminating the garage, and $300 by leaving the ceiling beams exposed. A pitched roof might cost another $500 additional. The shell of the house is of standard construction—wood framing and studding, with interior plastered, exterior stuccoed. They are heated by dual wall furnaces.

"These houses would not be acceptable in colder regions of the country," Girard says. "But we are building in Southern California, where the climate is mild. Why should we make people buy $2,000 worth of material they don't need?"

"The price of $6,250, I believe, is $1,000 to $1,500 below comparable houses in this area. The average down payment for non-veterans is $2,000, compared with our $500.

For the prospective home buyer, the best part of the Girard deal is this:

If the house isn't worth $6,250 four years from now, you and the builder can re-negotiate the price. If the builder doesn't set a price that suits you at that time, you don't have to buy the house—and you get your $500 back.

'American' Cotton Irks Red Scientist

MOSCOW, May 3 (AP) — The Tashkent paper "Eastern Pravda" has registered a protest against calling Soviet types of cotton "American" or "Egyptian" varieties.

"Eastern Pravda" in reporting a speech before Uzbek scientists stated that the head of the Agricultural Section of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Uzbekistan, Comrade Kudrin, had said that it is unjust that new varieties of cotton bred by Soviet scientists should be called American or Egyptian when they are in fact actually Soviet.

French Movie Actress Missing After Flood, U. S. Stars Safe

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, May 3 (AP)—Film stars Tyrone Power, Orson Welles and Linda Christian are safe today in flood-ravaged Morocco.

But Cecile Aubry, 17-year-old French film actress, was missing and at least eight persons were dead in the flood area, which includes Algeria.

(In Paris, the newspaper "France Soir" said today Miss Aubry was safe after being marooned for three days in an Arab village. The paper quoted French army authorities in Marrakech.

Host On Tour

Miss Aubry, appearing with Power and Welles in "The Black Rose," failed to return from a sightseeing tour Friday.

French soldiers helped police in the search today as the skies cleared after days of heavy rain. Power and his wife, Linda Christian, are guests of a Moroccan aristocrate there.

Welles flew to Casablanca from Marrakech this morning.

A 20th Century-Fox spokesman expressed hope that Miss Aubry might have taken refuge in an Arab home.

She was with her mother. A chauffeur accompanied them.

Pelting rains sent flash floods racing down out of the Atlas mountains. Many of south Morocco's few bridges and long sections of roads were destroyed.

Anti-Noise Week Has Competition; It's Also National Soup, Hearing, Baby Week

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 3. — Sh-h-h-h-hhhhh!

Quiet, Please. Quiet!

Prithee, let no bird call. Don't make a sound. This is national Noise Abatement Week.

Anybody who makes an unnecessary sound in the next seven days is certainly no 100 percent American.

The signal for anti-noise week was given by a strong, silent man in Albany—Gov. Tom E. Dewey. He didn't make a speech about it. That wouldn't have been right.

No. The governor issued a muffled statement instead. He said excessive noises were "one of the hidden drawbacks of our civilization."

Starts With Bang

Anti-noise week started off with a bang Both Congress and the United Nations were in session, thinking out loud as usual.

In the sports world perhaps the outstanding observer of noise abatement week has been Leo Durocher of the New York Giants, known in exuberant moments as "The Lip". For days he has rivaled the calm. But what he hasn't been saying must be a mouthful. Maybe a choked mouthful.

Noise basically can be defined as a sound made by someone else that annoys you. The trouble is that if you try to shut the other fellow up you are likely to get into an argument. Then you both make strange sounds that become noise to a third party.

One of the difficulties of Noise Abatement Week this year is that it is running into some stiff competition. This also happens to be National Boys and Girls Week, National Family Week, American Camp Week, and National Baby Week.

It's Soup Week, Too

Yes, and your favorite cafeteria feels free to serve any old noisy soup it wants because it is National Restaurant Week.

It is even impossible to have quiet around the house. Sure 'nough, it's Spring Cleaning Week, too.

You can't even beat your dog for holwing at night. This is Be Kind to Animals Week.

If you're disillusioned about anti-noise week, there is small comfort ahead. You might just as well put on your earmuffs, stuff your mouth with raisins, and crawl into the refrigerator.

Western Powers Optimistic But Cautious On Red Blockade Talk

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The East-West negotiations over raising the Berlin blockade have made sufficiently good progress so that United Nations circles are entertaining a "cautious optimism" that we may be approaching a period of better relations.

That expression "cautious optimism" strikes me as particularly appropriate, with emphasis on the "cautious." Any agreement which may grow out of the present conferences naturally will be a matter of gratification—but it must be regarded in the light of Vesuvius.

The new relationship will rumble along quietly enough for a spell, but sooner or later it will erupt again. General Lucius D. Clay, American military governor in Germany, summed up the position Monday like this:

Red Aim Still Same

"I would assume that the Soviet attitude already displayed in negotiations in the United States means the Russians would be more reasonable at a future foreign ministers' conference than they were in the past.

"But we should remember, even if a solution for the entire German problem is eventually reached, that does not change Communism. Communism's great objective remains the same—world domination."

That's the big thing to keep ever in mind, as this column has kept insisting. The world revolution which the Bolshevists launched a generation ago after the overthrow of the czarist throne will never halt until either it succeeds or comes a cropper. From time to time it changes its pace and tactics, but the old red mill keeps on grinding its grist.

Hope For Improvement

Having divested ourselves of wishful thinking we are justified in entertaining the pious hope that there may be improvement in relations between the Russian and the Western blocs. The great Moscow offensive, which overran all eastern Europe, and brought it within the Communist fold, has definitely come up against a dead end. The time has arrived for more subtle methods.

The great issue in Europe now is the disposition of Germany, long the economic keystone and strategic center of the continent. The unhappy Reich lies one part within the Soviet zone and three parts within the Western theatre, and cannot regain its former economic strength unless it is reunited.

Control of a united Germany undoubtedly is the great prize which Moscow now seeks. Many observers believe that's the real reason why the Soviet has initiated conversations to raise the blockade of Berlin and reopen four power discussions on the whole German question.

"Armed Truce"

If the powers could reach some agreement regarding the final disposition of the German problem then we might see a termination of the cold war in Europe.

We might see the Soviet bloc and the Western bloc settle down to live side by side in an armed truce.

Mind you, the great Red offensive in Asia would continue. The efforts of Communist fifth-columnists to gain control of governments would continue in all countries of the Western world. But we might have a quasi-peace which would be better than a cold war which so frequently threatens to become a hot war.

Therefore, so long as we keep basic facts fixed firmly in mind, we are entitled to join the diplomats in a bit of "cautious optimism" or at least a "pious hope."

Disinfecting Service Offered By New Firm

Add new industries for Lubbock:

A sidewalk washing and disinfecting service.

The service was announced Monday by Rex B. Williams, former Texas Tech grid star, and Paul E. McConnell, who recently moved to Lubbock from Sherman. They have formed the M. & W. Co.

The service will be performed by the company on a contract basis with Lubbock merchants. The company will provide a 2,000-gallon capacity tank truck equipped with power spray which will spray the vestibule and sidewalks in front of businesses with a DDT solution.

Additional Services Planned

The service will not only offer the protection of cleaning of the sidewalks daily but the DDT film offers additional protection from infection and will serve to keep down epidemics of polio and other diseases.

Similar service has been in operation in San Antonio, Dallas, Sherman and other Texas cities.

In addition to the sidewalk service, the company plans to offer window cleaning and floor waxing and polishing service at a later date. Five employes will start the company's operations here about May 15.

The serivce meets the requirement of city, county and state health departments and the company has been authorized by Mayor W. H. Rodgers and the city commission to start solicitation of merchants. It is planned that the service will precede city street sweepers and operate from 11 p.m. until 6 a.m.

MEET THE MANAGER—John Henry "Pop" English, manager and partner with two sons, Henry and Garth, in Pop's Farm and Ranch store, was born in Hunt county Jan. 28, 1885. He was educated in Hunt county and went to college at the old Henry and Emerson college there. He farmed in Hunt county, and from 1906 to 1911 he taught school. He left Hunt county in 1920 and lived in Henderson, Rush, Upshur and Titus counties in East Texas, where he served three years as a county agent, and managed cottonseed oil mills and fertilizer factories. He moved to Columbia county, Ark., to engage in the oil mill and fertilizer business, then came back to Gilmer, Texas, in the same business. In 1939 he established variety stores in Mount Pleasant, Hughes Springs and Atlanta, Texas. He sold these stores late in 1947 and on Jan. 1, 1948, established the store in Lubbock. Mr. English is a member of St. John's Methodist church, Kiwanis club and the Masonic lodge. He loves to play golf, but claims he just "piddles around" and says he is not an expert. Mr. and Mrs. English live at 1811-B Sixth street. Their two sons are associated in the business. (Staff Photo).

100,000 DPs Checked Through AMG Center

ROME, May 3, (AP) — Over 100,000 refugees and prisoners of war from eastern Europe passed through Trieste's transit camps since the end of the war, the Allied Military Government (AMG) of the free territory says.

Since May 1945 the refugee camps in Trieste territory gave shelter to 60,741 refugees from eastern European countries, 20,511 prisoners of war, and to 19,351 Italian citizens who abandoned the former Italian eastern territories assigned to Yugoslavia by the peace treaty.

The refugees and prisoners of war were cared for by officials of the British, American, Swiss, Yugoslav, and Italian Red Cross organizations. They were sent to displaced person (DP) camps in Italy or to their own countries.

The largest shipment to leave Trieste by sea was the recent one aboard the "Dundalk Bay" when 1,025 refugees from Poland and the Baltic countries from DP camps in western Germany left for resettlement in Australia.

The AMG never considered the "conditions of the transit camp to be satisfactory." Therefore new buildings are being constructed to give better accommodation to refugees in Trieste.

AMG is negotiating with the International Refugees Organization for the use of Trieste's transit camp as a base for the Western European refugees sailing for the Western Hemisphere and Australia.

Med Student Learns Obstetrics Hard Way

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., May 3 (AP) — Richard Tabor, first-year medical student at West Virginia university, is learning his obstetrics the hard way.

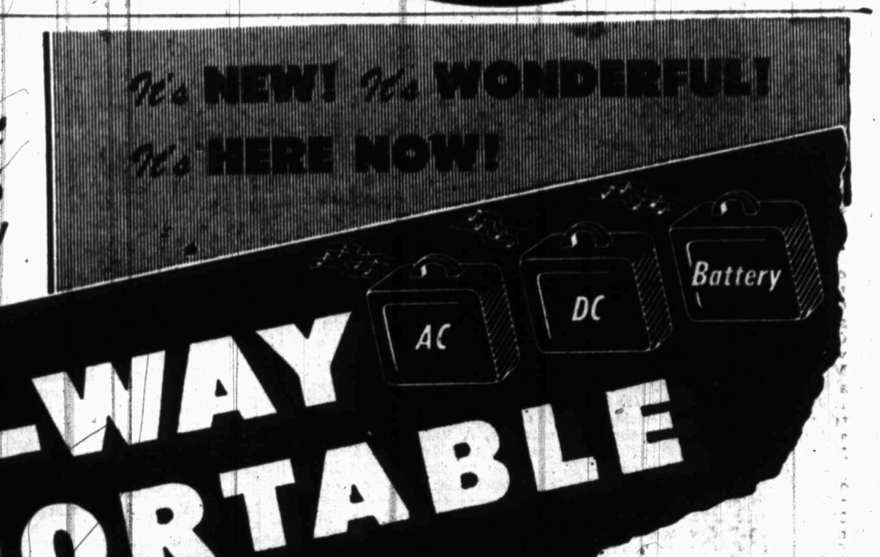

He delivered his own son Monday.

Tabor had called a doctor and arranged for a hospital room. But when he returned, the baby was on its way and he completed the delivery. His wife and the baby got to the hospital 30 minutes later. Both are "doing fine."

Recently we have been traveling the highways and byways, studying the growth on the fringes of Lubbock. More amazing than Lubbock's constant expansion on its fringes are the numbers of beer cans to be found lining the roads.

We aren't referring, so much to the single cans—of which there are many.

They can be "figured." In good, old dry Lubbock, people often drive around sipping cold beer and when finished with a can, toss it out. That's a bad habit from several different angles. It is a sloppy habit that litters the highways and offends the eye.

But even worse is the practice of people who save their old beer cans at home until they have two, three, or four dozen of them—and then carry them out into the edges of town—or onto the Tech campus—and dump them.

But nobody can find a good reason for the practice.

Garbage and trash collectors of the City of Lubbock will collect beer cans just as they will corn, spinach or pineapple cans. It isn't necessary for people to toss their own onto the Tech campus, alongside highways and county roads, or, sometimes, onto vacant city lots.

IF people dump their old beer cans away from home because they're afraid the garbage collector will "tur nthem in" for having beer, they're kidding themselves. There's no law against having beer at home, or against drinking it.

If people dump their old beer cans away from home because they "don't want the neighbors to know" they drink beer, they're kidding themselves, again. (1) It's none of the neighbor's business; and (2) the neighbors probably know it anyway.

Let's quit dumping beer cans—individually, or in packages—all over the landscape.

To do so will give us a better looking town, a better looking college campus and better looking roadsides.

IN HER interesting column, "The Curious Reporter," Opal Dixon recently asked a half dozen local women how parents and teachers may best co-operate for the good of school children.

Several of the women, including two teachers, urged frequent visits by mothers to schools attended by their children.

It occurs to us that the suggestion of frequent school visiting by mothers is one of those well-meaning ideas we all have about this, that or the other thing, but which is much better in theory than in practice.

As one with at least an average knowledge of school affairs and practices growing out of six years service on the school board and many more years than that of having children in school, we can't think of anything that would wreck a school system quicker than too much willy-nilly visiting by mothers.

If a youngster isn't doing as well as he should; if he's a "problem," scholastically speaking, to either parents or teacher, it is only common-sense for the mother to seek out the teacher, go over the case and then the two work together to straighten matters out.

But as long as a kid is a normal youngster, doing at least normally well in books and some extra-curricular activities, the chances are he'll be harmed, instead of helped, by an earnest mother racing back and forth between her home and the school room.

Youngsters who have too much mothering are often injured, psychologically, worse than youngsters with too little. Certainly, the kid whose mama pursues the middle course is better off than either, because he's a kid who learns to stand on his own hind legs with neither too much, nor too little, interference and direction from his mother.

WE shudder to think what would happen if all mothers took the advice of those several women quoted by Opal Dixon and began marching on the schools of the city.

The school system would have to hire about three times as many teachers as it does now, because under the parent-teacher palsy-walsy system teachers soon would be putting in more time talking to helpful mamas than in teaching or arranging their schedules.

Furthermore, school authorities would constantly be confronted with so many wonderful — but unworkable — suggestions from parents that they would be spun into nervous breakdowns and the whole system would fall apart.

A great many well-meaning — and some not so well-meaning—souls don't realize that there are tricks to the school-teaching dodge, just as in any other business and profession and that outside ideas, no matter how altruistic, often won't work in practice.

As the parent of two kids who have completed public school and of one still in public school, we are perfectly willing to leave the broader school operations and policies to people who have given large segments of their lives to the problem of educating the young and running the schools.

We believe most other parents unaffected by what they read in the high-sounding magazines, and what they hear from the "psychologists," feel likewise.

Of course, like any other set of people, school folks can profit from some outside help and suggestion. But over-all, practical educational operation is best left in the hands of practical educators, rather than to the sweet theorists, no matter how honest they may be about wanting to help out.

MORE frequently than not, the kid who isn't getting along well in school from either the book-larnin', or disciplinary, standpoint is the kid whose parents don't make him get his home work; who don't make him behave himself at least passingly fair at home; who don't teach him to get to school on time and who blame "that dumb teacher" for the kid's own shortcomings.

All the teacher-parent conferences in the world aren't likely to help that sort of kid any, except in those rare cases when a diplomatic teacher can bring it home to the parent that the parent is largely at fault.

In other cases where parent-teacher co-operation is necessary and probably would be helpful, conferences should be held. But to suggest that mothers run helter-skelter to the schoolmarms just for jolly little get-togethers is to suggest wasted time, energy and eventual chaos in the school system.

Mamas can find plenty of work to do on the kids at home without going to the school in most instances.

BY DREW PEARSON: AMERICAN HOUSEWIFE IS DUPED BY FARBEN-IZED FOOD

Cong. Keefe Makes Disclosures On Substitutes

WASHINGTON—The American housewife doesn't know it, but more and more of the food she buys for her family contains the basic "ersatz" ingredients which I. G. Farben, the notorious Nazi cartel, developed for German troops and civilians in the last war. The German people lived on "ersatz" during most of the war.

PEARSON

The extent of this Farben-izing of American food, unbeknown to the consumer, has been partially investigated by the Food and Drug administration, which has been holding hearings on the use of synthetic substitutes for milk and shortening in bread.

However, the whole story hasn't been told the public, chiefly because of official buckpassing. Food and drug officials wring their hands any say they have no authority under the law for a full-fledged investigation. They admit, however, that more and more chemical substitutes are being used in various foods and that they do not know what the final result will be on the health of the nation.

Meanwhile Republican Rep. Frank Keefe of Wisconsin, who has been quizzing the Food and Drug administration, has made some startling disclosures about what goes into many of the things we eat. Keefe charges:

1—That bread can and is being chemicalized to a point where it has little if any nutritional value;

2—That non-nutritional chemicals, "mostly the result of the work of I. G. Farben chemists," are being palmed off on the unsuspecting public, in place of milk, fats and eggs in such foods as cake, doughnuts, cereal mixes, peanut butter, ice cream, candy, salad dressing, milk drinks, synthetic whipping cream, pickles and food flavors;

3—Manufacturers and pharmaceutical houses that produce synthetic foodstuffs have not made adequate research to determine if the substitutes are poisonous. While there is no proof of toxicity in most of the substitutes, Keefe points out that seven persons died after using a substitute salt prepared for people who cannot use organic salt in their diet.

• • •

Taste Ahead Of Nutrition

The synthetic ingredients which many bakers now use in bread is a compound of polyoxyethylene glycol and stearic acid, known as polyoxyethylene monostearate. Searic acid is derived from animal fats, but polyoxythylene glycol, a substitute similar to purified anti-freeze for automobiles, has no nutritional value.

I. G. Farben experimented wieldly with polyoxythylene products as a base for "ersatz" German foods during the war.

The American compound is chiefly by the Atlas Powder company of Wilmington, Del., and Glyco Products company of Brooklyn and is distributed in slightly different forms under the trade names "Sta-Soft" and "Myrj-45." Both keep bread soft for a long period, so that a housewife who feels a loaf in a grocery store thinks she is getting oven-fresh bread.

• • •

In fact, this deceptive quality—plus a pleasing taste the chemical gives to bread—is the chief selling point of its distributors. Vernon C. Usher, Inc., of Chicago, which makes a somewhat similar synthetic compound called "Top-Scor," frankly states, in his literature to the baking trade:

"In speaking of higher quality, we mean products that not only look good, but are appealing to the sense of taste as well . . . Bakery goods that are not overburdened with fats and other richness to the point where substantially less is eaten.

"We believe that every person—man, woman or child—eats and drinks only that which appeals to the sense of taste, with little or no thought of nutritious value; so, we emphasize that higher quality bakery goods, in our opinion, are attained by balancing formulas to a point where they are not overburdened with rich substances which, in the end, tend to discourage and decrease consumption."

• • •

ONE government agency that is carefully watching on this nutritional question is the Department of Agriculture. The department foresees not only higher support prices for surplus dairy products, costing the taxpayers millions, but a serious economic threat to dairy farming if baking chemicals come into wide vogue.

In a confidential report prepared for Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan, Ralph Trigg, chief of the Production and Marketing division, points out:

"It is our opinion that the department should object to the approval of chemical softeners as acceptable ingredients in baking formulas, because of the effect on the health of the nation, since evidence indicates that the substitution of chemical softeners for fats eggs and milk considerably reduces the food value of the product.

"If the facts warrant, and if the Food and Drug administration, because of statutory limitations, is unable to prevent or limit the use of synthetics as substitutes for natural foods in bakery products, we would further suggest that the department request new legislation on this matter."

Truman On New Mexico

When the President is pleased, his face lights up and two dimples pop into his cheeks. Thus his face gave away the other day over prospects of returning to old haunts in New Mexico.

He was invited to slip down to Santa Fe this fall for the 100th anniversary of New Mexico's pioneer paper, the Santa Fe New Mexican. Making the plea was General Manager George N. Reynolds, who called at the White House with New Mexico's two senators, Dennis Chavez and Clinton Anderson.

Truman wouldn't make any flat promises to attend, but he recalled with a chuckle his early experiences in the state. He has visited New Mexico in 1909 and again in 1924, he related. Both times he had stopped to rummage through an old curio shop and chat with the owner, the late J. S. Candelario. One prize item Candelario showed off was a trunk which he said had belonged to Lew Wallace, early New Mexican governor and author of "Ben Hur."

Truman recalled how Candelario had told him with a broad wink: "If I sell that one, it will be the ninth one I have sold."

Chuckling so that his dimples showed, the President also recalled another of Candelario's cracks. It seems he used to exhibit a small skull which he claimed was that of Napoleon. Once a doubting woman customer had asked whether the skull wasn't too small to have been Napoleon's.

"Well, that was his skull when he was a boy," the President quoted the old curio keeper's reply.

Truman explained he had returned to Santa Fe in 1924 to help erect a monument to pioneer mothers.

Always Permissible In Making A Trade

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

WHEN a sociable, friendly woman marries a man who has strong personal likes and dislikes and absolutely refuses to go anywhere he doesn't want to go or to put himself out to be pleasant to anybody he considers a boring waste of time—what can the wife do?

This question has come to my attention frequently.

MILLETT

In such a situation most women react in one of two ways. Either they try to go along with their husbands in all things and accept the husband's attitudes as their own. Or they insist on being their own sociable selves and make an effort to hang onto the friendships that are important to them and to keep up with the activities they enjoy.

The second way is by far the best way. And it can be done without any disloyalty to the husband.

Here is how Alice B. has worked out that very problem. Her husband Jim is completely absorbed in his job He has a few good friends, but thinks most of the people Alice enjoys are a waste of time. He is frank to the point of brusqueness in saying "No" to anything he doesn't want to do. And if he is bored, he makes no effort to conceal the fact.

Instead of trying to cover up for Jim, or make excuses to explain his lack of interest in social life, Alice matter-of-factly accepts Jim as he is and takes it for granted other people will, too. "Jim says he doesn't want to do such and such—but I'd love to," she says without pretense o rapology. And she goes ahead and does as she likes.

PLANS "STRATEGIC" TIMES

WHEN she can't count on Jim to help her entertain someone she enjoys and he doesn't, she thinks up things to do with the friend at times when Jim won't have to be included.

Her unfailing friendliness is actually an asset to Jim, whether he realizes it or not For those who like Alice come in time to accept Jim and often even to admire him. For Alice subtly makes it clear to everybody that Jim is a pretty special person. If she tried to cover up for him and pretend that he is different from what he is—she would be "poor Alice married to that stiff-necked Jim."

Furthermore, by insisting on being herself she has remained the kind of woman Jim wanted to marry.

All in all ,Alice and Jim have a better marriage and both are far happier than Bess and Bill. Bess tried the other answer. She has given up every friend Bill doesn't approve of. She has given up every activity he considers a silly waste of time. She has lost many of her friends—and she has lost Bill's respect. Because she has given in to him at every turn, he feels infinitely superior to her.

When they're together Bill makes cracks at Bess. And when Bill is'nt around Bess lets down her hair and asks for sympathy. She gets it, too. But nobody feels sorry for Alice. Because nobody need sto. Alice has worked out her problem so well, few people realize she has one.

SOUND OPERATION

If more governmental agencies had followed the examples and practices of the Federal Reserve board, the probabilities are that governmental regimentation would have been less obnoxious and that many types of controls would have been removed, or modified, more slowly.

The board exercises great regularity power over credit of nearly all kinds in the U. S. Many efforts have been made to terminate these controls. They have failed for a reason which was illustrated strikingly the other day when the board relaxed restrictions so as to make about $12,200,000,000 in additional money available for lending by banks. On two previous occasions recently, the board eased controls of many types of credit buying.

The agency has given the impression of being alert to changing conditions and of a desire to relax restrictions when circumstances appear to justify. The consequence is that credit controls have been retained long after many other regulatory agencies have become unmourned memories.

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Recluse Will Discover Many Puzzling Issues In America

NEW YORK, May 3.—We have just dragged a poor fellow named Paul Makushak out of a tiny box in Brooklyn, where he has been dug in for 10 years in an attempt to escape reality. When they hauled him, blinking and stumbling into the sunlight, Mr. Makushak's reaction to the world outside was negative.

RUARK

He said simply that he didn't care much for the way things were going and that as soon as people quit bothering him he aimed to crawl back in his hole. Things weren't exactly hygienic in Paul's lair, but by golly it was quiet. This odd—for today—attitude stamps Paul as mentally suspect. I wonder who's queer in the head?

If the bearded hermit is found guilty of sanity, after the psychologists get through poking and probing at him, he could be convicted of draft evasion. He failed to register for the draft, and simply sat out the war. A draft conviction would be a fitting commentary on the strange new world that Paul Makushak sees: You pull a man out of a self-imposed prison to shut him up in another box, at state's expense.

• • •

Old Statement Recalled

Mr. Makushak need not feel that time has altogether passed him by. As he was hauled from his closet, our secretary of state was demanding arms for the Atlantic pacters, but was promising stoutly that no American boys would be required to serve abroad as an adjunct to the free weapons. That struck a surprisingly reminiscent note. It seems to me Mr. Roosevelt was saying the same thing, just about the time Paul crawled into his closet and nailed up the door.

If Mr. Makishak is reading the papers, he must find it a little odd that his people are stuck with 9 million bucks worth of aircraft carrier keel. Not even the other hermits, the Collyers, had an aircraft carrier keel in the massed debris in which they dwelt. What can you do with a keel nobody wants?

I should not be surprised if Mr. Makushak were slightly puzzled over the shenanigans in Washington, where the President is unaware that construction on a billion-dollar war boat has been started, and where its construction is ordered killed without consulting the secretary of the navy or the chief of naval operations. Puzzled me, anyhow, and I ain't been shut up in a box.

• • •

HE must wonder what gives when we talk peace with the Russians on one hand while congressmen and retired generals declare war on them with the other. Headline for Mr. Makushak: Reds overrun China while diplomats discuss Berlin blockade.

After a week or so, I should like to question Mr. Makushak on a variety of subjects. What, for instance, is his stand on oleomargarine? What does he think of be-bop? How does he feel about Rita Hayworth and the Aly Khan? What is his theory about the flying discs? How about wiretapping, wrong or right? Would he favor a heavy bonus for the veterans? What about television?

As the mysteries of radar unfold about his eyeglassed head, and when he hears of the wonders of the schnorkel breathing apparatus for submarines, and has been fully indoctrinated on germ warfare, the guided missile and atomic power, I imagine some of Mr. Makushak's serenity will vanish, and he will curse the day that woman found him in his hole.

• • •

Writer Needs Peace

We have a great many new wondrous things for Mr. Makushak's inspection, mostly born since he dropped his own iron curtain. We will stuff him with vitamins, clothe him in plastic, and tuck him in of nights in a two-way control electric blanket. We will introduce him to new kinds of gin rummy and induct him into a pyramid club. We will cut him loose in a ratrace of propaganda, and then tell him to make up his own mind. I think it will be not very long before Mr. Makushak sneaks back into his burrow, but meantime, I've a favor to ask him. So long as he's not using his cave right now, I wonder if he'd lend it to me! I could stand a little quiet.

Living Forest Atop Rare Petrified One

SWEET HOME, Ore., May 3 (U.P.)—This little sawmill town is sitting in one of the largest living forests and on top of one of the oldest and largest petrified forests.

Some scientists believe Sweet Home's fossi lforest comprises the "missing link" between the very ancient petrified forests and the better-known miocene forests of Oregon and Washington.

The ancient forest now is solid agate and is computed to be some 50,000,000 years old, while the living forest which surrounds the town is not more than 200 years old.

By Bennett Cerf

"Try And Stop Me"

JOHN CHAMBERLAIN taught Sinclair Lewis the "cliche" game, in which one contestant poses a stereotyped question, and another has to give the appropriate stereotyped answer. Lewis loved it—played until three in the morning.

A few days later he called Chamberlain in a rage. "You subverter of American literature," he cried. "You and that darn game! All day yesterday, I tried to write, and every line came out as a cliche!"

A VIENNESE publisher, visiting America for the first time, confessed that he never had seen a game of golf. The late Frank Crowninshield took him to his Long Island club where they followed a crack foursome. One of the players landed in a deep trap just short of the first green. "He'll have to blast out of that one," said Crowninshield. "It must be impossible," added the Viennese. The player, however, executed a perfect explosion shot. The ball landed on the green and trickled into the cup for a birdie three. The Viennese clucked sympathetically and said (This is Crowninshield's story) "Ach, what a time he'll have getting out of that one!"

Improvements Shown At Wayland College

PLAINVIEW, May 3 (Special)—Open house inspection by visitors and students was today at the new science building and the recently renovated administration building basement on the Wayland college campus.

The basement will house equipment and facilities for the journalism department, the college news service, Wayland World Press, the photography department, practice rooms, a student recreation center, and Little Theater.

The newly-constructed science building is a former wooden barracks which has been veneered with cream brick. Interior modernization and renovation was done under the supervision of J. L. Harden, college business manager. It now is valued at over $65,000 but cost only about half that much.

Thumb-Sucking OK, Says Child Expert

OTTAWA, Ont., May 3 (U.P.)—Dr. W. E. Blatz, child specialist, took hefty swipes at psychoanalysts over the problem of child thumb-sucking.

"No lasting harm follows it," he said, "and it doesn't have the sinister meanings that psychoanalysts would ascribe to it."

He said children often were driven to sucking their thumbs because of boredom.

"It is also a perpetuation of suckling," he added, "and another reason for it is when children are afraid, they want that thumb."

Czech Workers Paid For Helpful Ideas

PRAGUE, May 3 — High rewards promised Czechoslovak workers who figure out how to improve work projects.

The ministry of social welfare announced three categories of awards for high-sounding improvements that are not completely new ideas which would qualify as inventions.

There are three groups: technical improvements, rationalization projects, and administrative projects.

Where a certain "rationalization" is attained without other results, the basic reward is the money saved during one year plus a reward according to tables—$4 to $4,000 for group one, and half that for group two.

Where there is no "rationalization" but an "ideal" improvement is attained, the reward is $2 to $2,000 if it has extraordinary and national importance.

There is one catch: when the reward runs higher than 200,000 crowns, the ministry of social welfare has to ratify the payment. It has the authority to lower basic sums.

Burglars Raid City Drive-In

Burglary of Parks drive-in, on East Broadway, was reported to the sheriff's department, together with theft of $55.25 in small change; it was announced this morning.

Investigators were told by R. R. Parks, proprietor, that a duplicate key was used to gain admittance. It was left in the door after the burglary.

Youth Fined

Diago Montaya, 18-year-old Mexican youth of 114 Ave. K, was fined $25 in corporation court after pleading guilty of theft under $5. A food store on Fourth street said Montaya had taken two pounds of pork chops, two T-bone steaks and a can of Vienna sausage from the place.

The sheriff's department announced the arrest of a 45-year-old Lubbock man approximately an hour after Sheriff Vertice Cannon of DeQueen, Ark., had telephoned to ask that the man be detained. A felony warrant has been issued in the case, Cannon said.

He was identified as Jack Dawson.

Fines Are Levied

Chief Dep. Sheriff George Eubank and Dep. Sheriff Frank Mitchell said the prisoner waived extradition to Sevier county, Ark., in connection with the case. Arkansas officials had not said when they will arrive to accept custody.

In county court Annie Sanchez, 30, pleaded guilty of simple assault and was fined $5 and court costs; Billy G. Johnson and R. Butler, 23, each were fined $75 and costs and revocation of driver's license six months for drunk driving. Willie Jones, described as a Negro, was fined $5 and costs for check law violation.

Not Guilty Verdict Returned

The same defendant was charged with a felony offense — drunk driving, second offense — in the court of D. W. Robertson, justice of the peace. Robertson set bond of $1,000 in bindir.g the defendant over to investigation of a June 6 grand jury.

A county court jury returned a verdict of not guilty late Monday in the trial of Henry D. Williams on a charge of drunk driving. County Attorney Waggoner Carr and assistant County Attorney Dudley Brummett prosecuted for the state, and the defendant was represented by Byron Chappell.

Civil Service Exams Are Announced Here

The civil service commission has announced examinations to fill several existing vacancies. The positions open are petroleum inspector, inspector of engineering materials and equipment, topographic engineer aides, training instructors in the fields of electricity, electronics and material.

The annual salaries range from $2,974 to $6,232. The majority of the vacancies are in Texas. Applications and forms may be obtained from the Civil Service Secretary, room 217, post office building.

Radio New Zealand, new short-wave broadcasting station beamed to the Pacific, New Guinea, Malaya, India, Netherlands Indies and the Far East, now is on the air.

OFFICERS ARE SEEKING MOTIVE IN FIENDISH SLAYING

Man Wired To Tree, Soaked With Gas, Burned To Death

NO CLACKETY-CLACK ON THIS TRAIN—Racing along the tracks in uncanny silence, the world's first pneumatic-tired railroad train is now in regular service between Paris and Strasbourg, France. The train consists of new-type aluminum coaches weighing only 15 tons each. Here a mechanic examines one of the novel air-filled tires in the Paris terminal. WESTON, Mo., May 3. (U.P.)—A motive was sought today in the "fiendish" slaying of an elderly man who was wired to a tree, soaked with gasoline and burned to death.

The victim was unidentified, although authorities believed he might have been a railroad section hand.

"No one has any idea what motive could be behind such a fiendish act," said Sheriff John W. Lowmiller.

Farmers Find Body

Two farmers, Billy J. Miller and Collins Yates, discovered the body while they were hunting mushrooms in a dense, isolated wood in the Missouri river bottoms near here.

The body had been lashed to a three by a copper wire at the neck.

Most of the clothes had been burned away. The lower part of the body was charred and the hands and face were blackened by smoke and flame.

A foreman of a railroad section gang, employed by the C. B. & Q. railroad to repair tracks in the vicinity, said he "believed" the body was that of one of his workers. He said the name was "Perry Enloe."

Troopers of the state highway patrol and deputies of the Platte county sheriff's office, however, could not locate any friends or relatives of "Perry Enlie" and authorities were reluctant to accept the identification.

Dead For Few Days

Coroner Thomas Hulett at first believed the man had been dead for "possibly a month." Later, however, local doctors agreed it had been "only a few days."

The railroad foreman reported that Enloe had been seen in Weston last Friday "when he came to get his paycheck." Enloe had not been seen since that time.

The body characteristics fitted that of Enloe, the section foreman said. He was a big man, about six feet tall, weighed about 180 pounds, was about 55 years old with grayish-brown hair, bald on top.

The body was found in a dank forest, half a mile from the nearest house and a quarter of a mile from the nearest travelled road. Sheriff Lowmiller said it would be impossible for a motor car to get there.

Assortment Of Articles

Nearby was an assortment of articles—a straight edge razor, a safety razor and blades, a shaving brush, a pair of scissors, a roll of edhesive tape and a half-full can of lighter fluid. But authorities doubted that the lighter fluid could have been used to start the fire.

The only article found on the body, according to Lowmiller, was a spectacles case. Inside in gold letters were the initials "A. E. S." The spectacles were charred.

Beneath the body was a pocket watch, which had stopped at 6:15. There also was a pocket knife with a plastic handle. One side of the handle had been burned off.

Traditional Bock Beer Is Claimed Just Ordinary Brew Made With Roasted Barley

By ELMER C. BROZ
United Press Staff Writer

ST. LOUIS, May 3 — The bock beer season is about over. If you like a steady diet of the stuff, now is the time to howl.

"Pure tradition," said Edward J. Vogel, Jr., brewmaster of Griesedieck Bros., one of the largest producers in this beer center. "If enough customers demanded it they'd get bock all year around."

What's bock beer? Simple, plain beer except the barley is roasted before use. Or if the brewery is on the slippery side it might put in a vegetable coloring instead. No reputable firm would do so.

Practical Beginning

Like all traditions, bock beer had a practical beginning. Before safe refrigeration, the brewmaster had to stop work in spring. His last batch was made with roasted barley so that during the summer its loss of color, through storage, would not make the brew look like water before he could get another batch together in the fall.

When the dark beer come out in spring, the customers thought they were getting something special.

The only mystery about bock beer today is the origin of the name. Vogel believes it was started by two Bavarian brewmasters several centuries ago.

These two brewers—call them O'to and Heinrich—were drinking Otto's batch of dark beer. After several hours, Heinrich had to get up. Unnoticed, a buck goat had wandered into the brewery. As Heinrich got up he fell flat on his face.

Blamed The Goat

If you like bock demand it the year round, Vogel says. You'll get it. But that would be like eating colored hard-boiled eggs on Christmas morning.

Be sure there is turkey on Thanksgiving, a good five-cent cigar when the wife has a baby, colored eggs for Easter and bock beer—but only in spring.
