

McALESTER WILDCAT FLOWS OIL IN N-C ANDREWS AREA

A new petroleum discovery from the Devonian is in prospect for North-Central Andrews County, about 12 miles north of the town of Andrews, at McAlester, Pecos Company No. 1 McAlester.

This prospect is flowing at the estimated rate of 10 barrels to 12 barrels of 28 gravity oil per hour, through a one-half inch tubing choke, and was not showing any water.

The production was coming from perforated section at 11,020-090 feet, in the top of the Devonian. That zone had been treated with 1,000 gallons of mud acid, and then with 1,000 gallons of regular acid, and then with 4,000 gallons of regular acid.

After injection of the 1,000 gallons of regular acid the well swelled at the rate of 15 barrels of 24 gravity oil per day.

Operator then re-treated with the 4,000 gallons of acid. After the load and residue had been swabbed off, the project kicked off and started flowing and was making a steady stream of oil.

This prospect, located 960 feet from south and west lines of section 4, block A-36, psi survey, drilled to a total depth of 11,297 feet in the Devonian. The sections from about 11,100 feet to the bottom had shown oil.

A string of five and one half inch casing was cemented at 11,290 feet. The plug was drilled out to 11,186 feet and the pipe was perforated, and the acidizing and testing was started.

SHAMROCK TESTING SE COKE PROJECT IN ELLENBURGER

Shamrock Oil & Gas Corporation, No. 1 Wendland, Southeast Coke County wildcat, seven miles southeast of Robert Lee, and in the Jose Antonio Gutierrez survey No. 22, topped the Ellenburger at 6,230 feet, which gave it a datum of minus 4,350 feet.

It cored at 6,231-41 feet. Recovery was four feet of hard, fractured dolomite, with a slight oil stain and with a fair gas show. Operator is now running a drillstem test to total depth at 6,241 feet.

On the top of the Ellenburger this venture is related to be 82 feet low to the Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware and Southern Minerals Corporation No. 1 M. G. Reed, two and three-quarter miles to the southeast.

That project, located 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 1, H&E-WT survey, treated perforated section at 6,180-98 feet, in the top of the Ellenburger, with two shot of 200 gallons of acid.

After the second injection operators swabbed down to 5,800 feet from surface and had developed only slight shows of oil and gas. The project was being re-acidized.

ALUMNI OF U. OF O. ARE INVITED TO CEREMONY

All alumni of the school of geology of the University of Oklahoma are invited to attend a recognition ceremony at the university honoring Dr. C. E. Decker, Dr. A. J. Williams, and Dr. O. P. Evans, at 10 a. m. May 31.

The affair is to commemorate each of those men having given more than 25 years of service on the faculty of the geological department of the Oklahoma school. Details of the program for the feature can be secured from Clyde W. Turner, secretary of the West Texas Geological Society, who is at the Republic National Gas Company office in Midland. Telephone number is 3009.

ARGO IS CORING AHEAD AT DEEP VENTURE IN SE REEVES

Argo Oil Corporation No. 1 Clyde Ikina, et al, Southeast Reeves County, 12 miles northeast of Balmorhea, and in southwest quarter of section 293, block 13, H&C-N survey, cored at 10,727-735.5 feet.

Description of the recovery was not reported, other than the fact that it was very hard. The section at 10,735.5-764 feet was drilled. Most of it was hard lime. A core was being cut at 10,764-773 feet. That rock is reported to be a little softer. So far, no shows for production have been encountered in this prospect, which is now well down into the Wolfcamp of the Permian.

DELAWARE WILDCAT STAKED IN W-C REEVES TERRITORY

Carter Drilling Company is reported to have made location for the No. 1 A. L. Camp, to be a 3,250-foot wildcat to test into the Delaware sand in West-Central Reeves County, 10 miles west of Toyah.

The venture is slated to be at the center of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 14, block 70, psi survey. Drilling is due to start soon.

SO&G 1 NIX IN ANDREWS
DUE TO TELL STORY SOON

Standard Oil & Gas Company No. 1 E. C. Nix, exploratory project in Central-Southwest Andrews County, 12 miles southwest of the town of Andrews, and 1,994 feet from north and 1,995 feet from east lines of section 21, block A-47, psi survey, was swabbing to test on perforated section in the lower Clear Fork-Permian at 7,370-7,425 feet.

This zone yielded some free oil on a drillstem test. All sections between this horizon and the total depth at 11,530 feet, had either been dry, or had shown water. The prospect is due to make some sort of a producer from the formation now being tested.

DEEP PROSPECTORS SOUTH OF MIDLAND CONTINUE

Pecos Man Seeks Senate Position

Hill D. Hudson, Pecos attorney, said here Monday afternoon he is a candidate for state senator, having completed his filings in each of the 27 counties comprising the huge 29th Senatorial District.

Hudson formerly was district judge and district attorney in the 10th District, including Reeves, Ward, Loving, Crane, Andrews and

Hill D. Hudson

Winkler counties. He resigned as judge in 1945 to return to the private practice of law. He is 47 years old, married and the father of two sons.

He was born in Dallas and went to Pecos in 1906. He attended elementary schools in Pecos, and took his pre-law work at Texas Christian University. He received his law degree from the University of Texas. He is a former county attorney of Winkler County, and recently served out by appointment an unexpired term as Reeves County attorney.

Platform Planks
A veteran of World War I, Hudson is a member of the Methodist Church, American Legion and Masonic Lodge.

Hudson said he favors the redistricting of West Texas as provided in the constitution, and is for a reorganization of the state's criminal code. He said he is not in favor of a general bonus for veterans, but is for some sort of benefits for disabled veterans and their families. The candidate stated he is for state aid for youth centers to provide adequate recreation for teen agers. He believes state aid for public schools should be on a flexible basis to meet the immediate needs of school districts.

Hudson was accompanied to Midland by John P. Tomlin, his law partner.

The early morning minimum temperatures Tuesday ranged from 59 at Amarillo and Fredericksburg to 74 at Galveston.

The forecast for Tuesday night and Wednesday called for continued partly cloudy skies and not much change in temperatures.

Wallace-Stalin Exchange Pips New Top Issue

WASHINGTON (P)—Premier Stalin's offer to negotiate a "Henry Wallace" peace program and the Dewey-Stassen debate shoved Communism into the top rank of political issues Tuesday.

Stalin's suggestion that proposals made by Wallace be used as a basis for reviving U. S.-Russian talks apparently gave new ammunition to the Third Party candidate's enemies.

Gov. Thomas Dewey of New York and Harold E. Stassen, campaigning for Oregon's 12 Republican presidential nominating votes, fought a no-decision radio battle over the question of outlawing the Communist Party.

Dewey, who had the last word in a broadcast from Portland Monday night, claimed Stassen "surrendered" in his fight to make the Communist Party illegal. Stassen's friends denied this.

As for Wallace, politicians predicted Stalin's praise of the Third Party candidate's ideas for international agreements will react against the former vice president in a campaign that already has produced some harsh criticism of the Kremlin's policies.

Differ On Mundt Bill
But Wallace, who wrote Stalin an open letter two weeks ago suggesting new Moscow-Washington talks, called Monday night's reply "a real offer by Russia to sit down and try to find a way to end the cold war."

Dewey and Stassen agreed in their debate that the Communists are working under Moscow direction to overthrow free governments, including the United States, and are menacing world peace. But their agreement ended at that point.

Stassen contended that the Communists should not be permitted to operate both in the open and underground. He said the Mundt-Nixon Bill, hearing a House vote, in effect outlaws the Communist Party.

Dewey, who said the bill doesn't outlaw the Communist Party here, said it would be a general bonus for veterans, but is for some sort of benefits for disabled veterans and their families. The candidate stated he is for state aid for youth centers to provide adequate recreation for teen agers. He believes state aid for public schools should be on a flexible basis to meet the immediate needs of school districts.

U. S. Request For End Of Strike Ban Held Up By Judge

WASHINGTON (P)—The civil contempt conviction against John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers was dismissed Tuesday at the government's request.

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, however, took under consideration a government request to end the anti-strike injunction against Lewis and the union.

Goldsborough said the plea for dropping the injunction came as a surprise and he was not prepared to rule on it immediately.

Goldsborough added he is not convinced there is no danger of a new coal strike.

The injunction was issued by Goldsborough April 21. It replaced a temporary restraining order of April 3.

It was obtained under the Taft-Hartley Act to end a six weeks coal strike, touched off by a dispute over pensions for elderly miners.

In seeking the dismissal, Attorney General Tom Clark informed the court the government felt the pension dispute is being handled appropriately, that the miners are at work and the "public interest is secure."

Two-Way Conviction
Lewis and the union were convicted of both civil and criminal contempt for disobeying the original injunction.

10 Killed In New Jersey Plant Blast

KEARNEY, N. J. (P)—

A shattering tank explosion and fire shortly before midnight Monday night killed at least 10 persons at the sprawling Koppers Company Tar and Chemical Division plant.

Nine bodies were taken from the ruins of the building along the Hackensack River and a tenth victim died in a hospital. Firemen searched the wreckage for additional victims of the blast that set off a fire in an adjoining building of the plant.

The company's office in Pittsburgh said the explosion occurred when a strong wind blew part of the contents of a 50,000-gallon tank of a distillate against a hot pipe.

The distillate, used in making other chemicals, "flashed," and then set the tank afire. A service building, laboratory and machine shop were damaged.

First reports said the blast was caused by blazing naphthalene.

Psychiatrists Say Big Spring Bank Robber Is Sane

DALLAS (P)—Two government psychiatrists testified Tuesday that William Larry Martin, charged with robbing a Big Spring bank, is sane.

The testimony came after the 29-year-old defendant, tall, dark and neatly dressed in a dark pin-striped suit, pleaded innocent.

The first psychiatrist, Dr. Henry S. Colony, was called after Martin's attorney, Mike McKool, entered a motion of insanity for Martin.

Doctor Colony, supervisor in psychiatry at the U. S. Public Health Hospital in Fort Worth, testified that Martin had been given numerous tests at the hospital from March 27 to April 9 and the tests revealed nothing abnormal.

The doctor testified that Martin was "mentally competent at the time we examined him and also at the time the robbery was committed."

Doctor Colony said that Martin claimed a loss of memory. Another prosecution witness, Dr. B. I. Kahn, said that Martin's claimed loss of memory, "fits no known clinical pattern."

Both witnesses are Navy doctors. By consent of both sides, the jury will consider the insanity motion and later consider the charge if the latter is necessary.

Cowgirls Ride Against Time In Rodeo Here

The Cowgirl Sponsor Contest at the 1948 Midland Rodeo, June 3-4, will be a time event, open to the world.

The sponsors this year will ride against time in a "leg race," with six legs spaced at 60 foot intervals. Each girl will be given two rides, with a given number of entries riding at each of the five rodeo performances. Riders will be disqualified for knocking down or missing the legs. A $10 entrance fee will be charged.

Winners in previous contests here were selected by judges, with the contestants judged on personal appearance, appearance of horse and saddle, ability of girl to ride, and ability of horse to be reined.

Faster Show
Officials said the contest at this year's show will be much faster than ever before due to the time element involved. The ability of the girls to ride will be thoroughly tested in the different contest. Cash prizes will be awarded daily.

In addition to the regular contest, an added event is scheduled in which the rodeo spectators will select the best dressed cowgirl participating in the contest.

The winner will receive a registered Quarter Horse colt, officials said.

Midland Airpark Returned To City

Negotiations for the return of Midland Airpark, formerly Midland Airport No. 2 to the City of Midland, were started Tuesday at a conference between city officials and representatives of the War Assets Administration and the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

The council agreed to take the field back and authorized Mayor R. H. Gifford to negotiate for its return. Under the proposal, the city will get possession of all buildings and equipment now on the field with the exception of facilities being used by the National Guard and Reserve Officer unit.

The airpark was built by the city, with CAA assistance, in 1942-43, and was leased to the government in 1944. It was declared surplus to War Department needs several months ago.

R. B. McCalland represented the WAA at the conference. C. L. Burr was the CAA representative.

Stalin's Reply To Wallace Letter Is Newest 'Incident'

WASHINGTON (P)—The United States Tuesday termed Premier Stalin's newest "peace" statement encouraging, but again brushed aside any direct Soviet-American negotiations on issues involving other nations.

The government's attitude was voiced by the State Department. A formal statement charged that Russia is, in fact, responsible for failures to reach agreement in the United Nations and elsewhere on the international issues listed by Stalin.

On its face, the statement ruled out the possibility of a two-nation settlement of disputed world problems by the power giants, the United States and Russia.

But the State Department did not close the door to any moves by Russia toward solution of specific issues through established world agencies.

The department's statement came after a busy morning of conferences among top officials and presumably included White House opinion on Stalin's broadcast reply to an open letter from Henry Wallace.

Same Problem Again
It was only a week ago that Secretary Marshall and President Truman had to cope with the problem of Russia's "acceptance" of what Foreign Minister Molotov considered an American bid to Soviet-American discussions of outstanding differences.

After a week of trying to knock down the idea the United States wanted or would agree to any kind of two-nation talks with the Soviet Union, Marshall's ranking advisers thought they had the situation under control. Then Moscow broke out Monday night with Stalin's public statement on a letter from President Truman.

"I do not know," Stalin said in his first public pronouncement in more than a month, whether we (Continued On Page Ten)

Jews Claim Capture Of Arab Acre

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL (P)—Jewish Army sources said the ancient all-Arab town of Acre surrendered unconditionally early Tuesday after a 72-hour battle in the streets.

Acre is just outside the area of Palestine designated as Jewish under the United Nations partition plan.

To the East, Jewish sources in Haifa declared 500 Arabs were drowned when Jews opened a dam and flooded plain lands south of the city. The Jews said they shot down one of the attacking planes and damaged another.

From atop the historic hill from which Napoleon once tried unsuccessfully to storm Acre, Jewish commandos swooped upon the ancient city and penned up an estimated 4,000 Arabs, Haganah said.

Under a protective curtain of fire from the hilltop, a Jewish convoy pushed through the outskirts of the coastal town. The vehicles were hit by only a few bullets. A Jewish commander said it was the first convoy to get through in two months.

City Of Midland Gets Rain Gaged At .61

Midland lawns and gardens were benefited Monday afternoon by a highly localized rain amounting to .61 of an inch, according to the City Rain gauge. Some hail accompanied the moisture.

The rain seemed confined by the city limits. It extended east almost to the fairgrounds, West a couple of miles, and South barely past the city limits. North of the city, it covered part of the farming section for a few miles.

Farther North, it skipped some areas and drenched others as far as Lubbock. Andrews and Seminole got good showers. It was reported, with some sections near Lubbock, received several inches of rain Sunday night and Monday. Several ranchmen in Andrews County reported scattered showers.

Homes In Klamath Falls Heated By Hot Water Wells

KLAMATH FALLS, ORE. —(AP)—This bustling southern Oregon town of 25,000 persons is built on a hot spot—which around these parts is considered a fortunate happenstance.

Hot ground water beneath the streets has been tapped to heat some 400 homes. It also heats a swimming pool, two hospitals, a high school, newspaper office, several apartment houses and business buildings.

It sterilizes dairy and soft-drink bottles and has kept the boiler out of local self laundries.

A new three-million-dollar veterans hospital to be built here will be the latest lucky outfit to forget fuel bills if the test well now being drilled hits hot water.

To do that it must probe an uncertain subterranean stream that boils diagonally across beneath the town. This stream flows along earth faults, the main one of which is estimated by geologists to be thirty miles long. Along its course outside town ranchers tap its warmth to keep henhouses like June in January and to warm drinking water for their livestock during the raw winter here east of the Cascades.

New Use
An entirely new use is being developed by the state highway department, which proposes to de-ice a slippery approach to town in winter by pumping anti-freeze into a well to warm it, and then running it through pipes laid in the pavement.

However, you don't just sink a pipe anywhere in Klamath Falls and hit hot water. A new well only a few feet from a hot one may prove to be a dud.

The section of town where really hot water is found—at depths varying from 200 to 700 feet—is limited. It is known locally as "Scotchman's Paradise" because natural hot water provides cheaper heat than any fuel—even wood, which is plentiful here in nearby timber country.

Two Boys Find Rifles, Go On Shooting Spree

CHENEY, WASH. —(AP)—Two boys, eight and nine, broke into a slaughterhouse and found a .22 caliber rifle and 1,500 rounds of ammunition, Deputy Sheriff John Scott said recently.

During the rest of the day, Scott said, the youngsters:
Shot out light globes, windows, fuse boxes and switch boxes in the slaughterhouse.

Killed several magpies and a duck.

Cut down four shanks of beef in the cold storage plant and gave them to some hobo who met on the way home.

Decided they could shoot an ear off a cow they saw in a pasture.

"One of them said he thought he did, too," Scott said. "Anyhow, one of the cows fell down and then got up again."

Their parents have agreed to pay for the damage, Scott said.

Police Seek Boy Bitten By Rabid Dog In Nashville, Tenn.

AUSTIN —(AP)—Texas State Police sent out an urgent message Monday night in an effort to find a boy who was bitten recently by a rabid dog in Nashville, Tenn.

The message, relayed from the Tennessee Highway Patrol, said the boy was with one of two New Jersey families en route to Los Angeles by way of Houston and San Antonio.

Police said the boy, who was not identified in the message, should report to a doctor at once. They said the dog with him was bitten, too.

The names of the families were given as Mr. and Mrs. Ray Van Blocken and a Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke, both families of Middleton, N. J. Police believed they were somewhere between Texarkana and Houston Monday night.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. —(AP)—The former manager of the Albuquerque Better Business Bureau, Don Dreesen, has been fined $500 and given a suspended one-year prison sentence on a charge of extortion.

In the trial of the case here Monday, Dreesen pleaded no contest and the defense counsel did not challenge the state's evidence.

The defendant was accused of accepting $500 from Morton Gould, former salesman for a local anti-freeze manufacturer, last December to give "a clean bill of health" to the firm's product.

GOT QUICK RHEUMATIC RELIEF WITH MERTOX

"For the past 15 years I have been bothered with frequent rheumatic pains in my left shoulder. This trouble later spread to my right shoulder also," writes Mr. J. C. Kirklund of Dallas. In my work I have to use my arms a lot, and my shoulders were beginning to stiffen up. After taking Mertox Compound for a short time this condition was quickly corrected, so that now I am free from rheumatic trouble and free of the aches and pains. I was also troubled with gas and bloating, which were very painful. I felt tired and rundown; just seemed to have no life or pep at all. Had severe headaches, too. The gas would seem to press against my heart and lungs and make it hard to breathe. Now I can eat anything, even meat, which was impossible before taking this splendid medicine. My bowels are now regular and I do not have to get up at night as I did before."

You can get Mertox Compound from any Texas drugist at the new REDUCED price.

Psychiatrists Seek Cure

The UN's World Health Organization has announced it will summon the pick of the world's psychiatrists to London this Summer and try to find the cause and cure of mankind's case of jitters.

Already, WHO officials say, 200 organizations in this country are gathering data on the subject. And the London conference will be only the first in a series of international meetings to study global nervousness. WHO's executive secretary is quoted as declaring, "The cure must start with the individual. He's nervous and a little afraid."

It is frequently said that there are not enough qualified psychiatrists in the country to care for those in dire need of treatment. This state of affairs is probably general. At the same time we feel safe in saying, despite our limited knowledge of the subject, that to the psychiatrist there is scarcely such a thing as a "normal" human being.

So how will the psychiatrists go about starting to cure the individual? And what individuals—all of us, or just those who are "nervous and a little afraid?" How will they cull the patients from the thin ranks of the calm and courageous?

It would hardly be feasible to try to set up enough psychiatric clinics even to care for those who need treatment and know it. Centers in New York, London, Moscow and other great cities would not be enough, for nervousness and fear are not exclusively big-city afflictions.

So, if there aren't enough psychiatrists to analyze the world, then what? Will the international conferences wind up writing a set of rules or a book that is required reading? Probably not, for the world's collective psychosis would require individual treatment for hundreds of millions of people. Curing anxiety and fear complexes is not a mass-production job.

Doctors can diagnose something like malaria or pellagra pretty accurately. And they are reasonably sure that if they give the malaria victims quinine, and the pellagra victims vitamins and a more diversified diet, and give the treatment long enough and in sufficient doses, they can control most of the cases. But psychoses can't be controlled by such general treatment.

So what will WHO do to whom? Perhaps the international psychiatrists' meetings will discover that people are nervous and fearful because there is the possibility of war—atomic, biological war in which no one is safe. Maybe they are also nervous and fearful because living costs are high, and food is skimpy, and the prospects of improvement don't seem too good.

The cure for the last type of jitters would seem to be up to statesmen, economists, businessmen and workers, not psychiatrists. That leaves the war jitters. Now, if the world's top psychiatrists could only get J. Stalin, V. M. Molotov and a few others to lie down on the doctor's couch and just start talking freely about what bothers them...

Why The Secrecy?

Congressional hearings on the ERP received the full publicity and included all shades of opinion. But now the House Ways and Means Committee is holding closed meetings on extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, a subject inevitably bound close to European and world recovery.

This means not only that public and press are barred from the hearings, but that the committee can hear only such witnesses as it wants and ask them only such questions as they choose, without outside question or comment. This seems neither consistent nor in the public interest. We hope that the committee may see fit to change its mind and open up the hearings.

The main issue decided in most arguments is who can argue the best.

At Least A Little Progress

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Republican Letter Indicates Leaders See 'Fight Ahead'

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Republican senators concerned may not like this, but a GOP letter sent out in Ohio to solicit campaign contributions stressed the angle that there would be "a fight ahead" to elect a Republican majority in the Senate next November.

Thirty-two senators are to be elected. Fourteen are Democrats, 11 of them are from the Solid South. That leaves 18 Republicans needing reelection for the GOP to maintain its 51-45 Senate majority.

A loss of four seats would give the Democrats control, 49-47. The Republican fund-soliciting letter admitted "there is great doubt that the Republican senators from Oklahoma and Kentucky can be re-elected." They are oil-millionaire E. H. Moore and ex-Gov. John Sherman Cooper, respectively. Other contests the Republicans expressed concern about are for the seats now held by Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia, Edward V. Robertson of Wyoming and Guy Cordon of Oregon.

The honor of pulling the worst pun in this session of Congress probably goes to Senator Ralph Flanders of Vermont. It was inspired by GOP Senator Harry Cain of Oregon who has caused his party's leadership all kinds of trouble over new housing legislation. When explosive Senator Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire had heard all of Cain's chatter that he could stand, he rose wrathfully to demand, "Are we going to commit hara-kiri? I ask you, sir!" Whereupon Flanders broke in with, "Is it hara-kiri, or Harry Cain?"

Opinion of top Washington officials is divided three ways on prospects of war with Russia. Military leaders are inclined to fear the worst, for it's their business to be prepared for any emergency. In the middle are officials who fear that we may blunder into a war through some action of Yugoslavian hot heads or others that Russia will be unable to control. At the other extreme are those who feel that Russia doesn't want a war and that Moscow has enough disciplinary control over her satellites to make sure that the USSR doesn't become involved in a war if she doesn't want one. What all this adds up to is that nobody really knows.

Washington officers of the Federation of American Atomic Scientists think they have evidence to prove that Senator Arthur Vandenberg really wants the Republican presidential nomination. They find their evidence in Vandenberg's support for a two-year, instead of a five-year, appointment for David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. The scientists say it's because Vandenberg doesn't want to antagonize Taft. They reason that, if Taft can't get the nomination for himself, he will throw his support to Vandenberg—rather than Dewey or Stassen—provided Vandenberg doesn't oppose Taft too much on the Lilienthal issue.

New Jersey Rep. J. Parnell Thomas' Un-American Activities Committee is showing signs of wanting to drop its investigation of Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of U. S. Bureau of Standards. The committee originally charged Condon with being the weakest link in atomic security, but the committee has delayed its hearings indefinitely. Dr. Condon's request that the FBI report on his loyalty investigation be made public now robs the committee of its most potent issue.

This letter has already been examined by the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy. If, after raising such a fuss about getting the letter, it should be made public and show nothing to incriminate Dr. Condon, the Thomas Committee would be left without a case.

Reporters thought they had discovered a new hideout for top administration officials and members of Congress. A United Press newsmen scooped the town by catching Secretary of State Marshall, Senators Vandenberg and Connally emerging from the Blair House late one night. Next day, Marshall admitted he had been meeting congressmen there for quite a while. "I don't describe every movement to spokesmen," said Marshall. "I still have a few confidential moments in life."

The real reason for use of the government's official guest house for distinguished visitors is that it's the only bit of U. S. property where conferees can get refreshments late at night, in case the sessions last long and the conferees feel faint.

Meet The Rabbit, New Variety Of Deep Well Pump

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

TULSA, OKLA.—(AP)—The "rabbit," a steel jumping-jack that takes off from the bottom of an oil well, is going to give the motorist much of his gasoline in the future. The rabbit is a new kind of oil well pump, exhibited at the International Petroleum Exposition here. It has been perfected after several years work by the National Supply Company of Pittsburgh, the Hughes Tool Company of Houston and the Taylor Instrument Company of Rochester, N. Y.

Much of the nation's oil has to be pumped. More and more of it is at the bottom of wells getting too deep for the usual pumps. Wells now go down three miles with four miles in prospect and the rabbit is expected to be able to go to any depth.

Steel Cylinder This mechanical animal is a steel cylinder, with a hole down the center and right through the bottom. As seen in a big glass model at the exposition, the rabbit drops down a pipe, which has a larger pipe all around it. As he goes down, the rabbit's bottom is closed and the force of his landing opens this closure. Oil flows up through the rabbit, pouring out of his head. It fills the pipe with quite a slug. In a real oil well, this slug is from one to six barrels. The bottom valve closes and then this automation suddenly starts upward, with no visible explanation. He leaps with about the speed of a scared jack-rabbit and this gave him his name. He keeps going up at a fair automobile rate of speed, pushing the oil to the top of the well.

Motivated By Gas The invisible motive force is gas. This is pumped under pressure down the pipe enclosing the rabbit's runway. It is timed to flow underneath his seat when his bottom valve closes. The gas pressure chases him to the top. The timing controls are automatic and were made by the Taylor Company.

The rabbit comes down by gravity, and fast. But there is enough gas in the tube to cushion his landing against damage. The pushing gas is caught at the top and used steadily. The gas naturally present in the well, not enough to raise oil, also is used to boost the rabbit. One rabbit well is producing at 9,100 feet. Another is being fitted for two miles. Present rabbits can deliver up to 600 barrels a day.

Vary cheese fondue, an economical basic dish, by adding a small amount of canned or cooked chopped shrimp before it is baked. Serve with a hot tomato sauce flavored with basil.

Bunions Are Caused By Wearing Too Short Or Pointed Shoes

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.

Written for NEA Service

A bunion is generally found on the inside portion of the foot, at the base of the great toe. It sticks out and is likely to be red and extremely painful. The point of the big toe is bent inward so that it lies almost across the other toes. The most important symptom is pain, which is always present when a shoe is worn.

The most frequent cause of a bunion is wearing of shoes which are too short or too pointed. Hence, it is important to prevent bunions by careful fitting of shoes.

There are two lines of treatment. One involves an operation, and the other is non-surgical. The first thing to try, of course, is the non-surgical treatment, which consists merely of using shoes which are large and round in the toes, thus preventing pressure on the bunion. Complete absence of pressure for a long time is helpful.

Surgery may be necessary if the bunion does not yield to other methods. The bunion is frequently associated with the accumulation of fluid in the joint lying at the base of the big toe. This fluid can be removed by a needle in some cases. A cut can be made which will allow the fluid to drain off and the swelling to decrease.

Finally, there is an operation, which is necessary in bad cases, called a bursotomy. This involves

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS
QUESTION: Are there specialists who treat lymph glands?
ANSWER: The lymph glands may become enlarged as a result of a number of different conditions. Consequently, there are no specialists who deal with lymph glands alone. The problem is to find the cause of the enlargement and then to use the best method of treating that cause.

the removal of some of the excess bone and soft tissue which go to make up the bunion. The foot and toes are then usually placed in a plaster of Paris cast which holds them in the correct position until the wound made by the operation has had a chance to heal. It is, of course, far better to prevent bunions than to engage in the long and costly process of trying to correct them.

Studebaker Announces New Line Of Trucks

SOUTH BEND—A new 1949 line of trucks, identified as the '49ers', was announced Tuesday by The Studebaker Corporation as full production was attained in the company's big new assembly plant acquired recently from the government.

The building, one of the most modern in the country, contains approximately 1,000,000 square feet of floor space. Concentration of truck assembly operations under one roof is expected to result in a new peak for productive efficiency.

The '49er trucks, covering a wide range of models and capacities, take in 12 different wheelbases. To the one-and-one-half-ton list is a 171-inch wheelbase model designed to take either a 14 or 15-foot body. In the lighter field, a new intermediate model is introduced, a three-quarter-ton truck. Besides these there are models in the half-ton and one-ton classifications.

In announcing the new truck series, K. B. Elliott, vice president in charge of sales, pointed out that Studebaker engineers devoted special attention to improved mechanical accessibility and driver comfort with many pleasing innovations.

Theater To Begin 'Borrowed Time' Tryouts Tuesday

Midland Community Theater tryout readings for the next major production, Paul Osborn's imaginative comedy, "On Borrowed Time," will begin at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the City-County Auditorium and continue at 8 p. m. Wednesday, Director Art Oble announces.

The casting committee, Loretta Marsh, Joe Koepfer and Bill Engle, will be faced with the selection of a large male cast. All roles are open to the public. Anyone is invited to attend the informal readings.

"On Borrowed Time," the well-known story of a little boy and his grandfather chasing Death up an apple tree, will be presented June 25-27. It will be staged here in a somewhat simplified one-act version as it was produced at the Cleveland Playhouse, Cole stated. "The setting, however, will offer a challenge to theater set-makers." Everyone interested in backstage work is urged to contact Cole.

The most difficult of the large group of male roles is that of the seven-year-old boy, Pud. The child does not have to be exactly seven. Cole pointed out, but must be quite small. The role of "Grandpa" is perhaps one of the best character roles ever offered in Community Theater plays to date. The three female roles include the grandmother, young Marcia and Aunt Demeter.

Cole announced that Children's Theater productions have been postponed until September due to other Summer activities.

Nobody Loves Forever

THE STORY: Jessica Blake has almost forgotten the guy, carefree life she once knew in the drab, monotonous existence she shares with her husband's mother and sister, Lucy, while she waits for Tom Blake to return from overseas. The only bright spot in her two-year-old daughter, Betty, Jessica Blake had seen Jessica Gordon, home from finishing school in June of '42 to find her sleepy, southern town overrun with soldiers from a nearby camp. One of them—tall, blond Yankee—looked to following her everywhere. Tom Blake, "He's gone on you, honey," said Mary Belle, her best friend. Jessica, however, at first, later fell in love with him. Her enraged father threatened to turn her out. When Tom told Jessica he would have a few days' furlough before being shipped overseas and pleaded for an immediate marriage, Jessica went through with a hole-in-the-oven ceremony. Next day she returned home alone to pack.

BEFORE she reached the porch of the old rose brick house, Jessica dropped her wedding ring into her purse. Within the house silence greeted her. The door to her father's study stood open but he was gone. She rushed upstairs, hung open her own door and threw herself down on the bed. For an instant she lay quite still, inert and emotionless. Then she began to sob hopelessly and bitterly. How undid this wretched mistake! She did love Tom—yes, she loved Tom—dearly, if love meant the wild delirium they had shared together. But the price was too high. This was no longer home. She had exchanged home for uncertainty. The tears came in a flood. She had promised to meet Tom, to go away with him. She must prepare to leave at once. As she wrapped herself in a robe, Annie, her personal maid, who had waited on her hand and foot since babyhood, tapped on the door. "Miss Jessie, you sick?" Annie came in carrying a breakfast tray and stood with her dark eyes bent anxiously upon the girl. "No, I'm not sick," she threw up her head belligerently. "I'm married!"

The small black woman stared at her. "What fool thing you sayin' now? You married?"

"But I am married. To a soldier. His name is Tom Blake. I'm Mrs. Tom Blake." She snatched up her purse and opened it, dug up the ring and jammed it on her finger. She held up the hand for Annie to see.

"Your father goin' to shoot that soldier sho' as you're born, Miss Jessica. Lucky he ain't home."

"Where is he?"

"Lexington."

Jessica moved nervously back and forth putting on her clothes. She said, "I'll fix a note and explain. Now help me pack."

"Where you goin'?"

"With my husband," said Jessica jauntily. "Please get my bags and I'll tell you what to put in." She crossed the room and opened the mirrored doors of the wardrobe. She debated just what to select while Annie followed her about shaking her head mournfully and mumbling.

NEITHER heard the bedroom door open. Mary Belle Evans stuck her chestnut head into the room. "What's happened?" she demanded. "Annie acts as though there'd been a funeral."

"Just a wedding," Jessica did not turn her head.

Mary Belle said, "So he put it over?"

"What do you mean?"

"He declared he'd marry you. Everyone kidded Tom Blake for being a fool and dreaming that a girl like you—"

"Please, don't say anything against Tom."

"I suppose your father went off this morning before you returned?" Mary Belle blurted.

"I never get up until noon," Jessica said. "He wouldn't miss me."

"You'll miss him now," Mary

Belle sat down. "Incidentally, what are your plans, Mrs. Blake?"

"Tom thinks he'll spend it on a honeymoon," said Jessica uncertainly.

Mary Belle looked skeptical. "He'll take you home to meet his folks," she observed. "Got any money?"

"Not much. Why?"

"You'll need money, won't you?"

MONEY. The word meant nothing to her. There were charge accounts and bills her father always paid and pocket money when she needed it. Jessica opened her purse and counted out $3 and some change.

"Tom will give me money," she said hopefully.

"Any idea of a corporal's pay?"

"No..."

Mary Belle opened her own purse and brought up a roll of bills. "Here's my allowance," she insisted. "You must take it. I'll explain to Granddad and he'll let me have some more. You can't go off like this, Jess. Suppose you don't like Tom?"

"You're forgetting—I can't come back," Jessica brushed aside the tears and remade her face and soon Annie announced that the things she wished were packed and she would carry them downstairs. Mary Belle and Jessica followed.

Tom was at the station, big and clean-shaven and coming forward quickly to take Jessica's arm possessively. "I was a'raid you'd stand me up," he said.

Mary Belle stormed. "You should be shot for persuading Jessica to go off like this."

The train roared in and a few people who stood about the platform regarded them curiously as Tom hurried Jessica toward the day coach.

"Well, we're on our way," Tom said.

Jessica forced herself to ask, "Where are we going?"

"Akron," he tossed her bags in the rack overhead. "I'm taking you to Akron and leaving you with my folks until I'm discharged from the Army."

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Today's hand was played by Maynard Adams of Chicago, and his partner was Edson T. Wood, a real estate operator of Indianapolis, Ind. It is characteristic of the Indianapolis players that they like to bid right up to the hilt. Therefore, it was not surprising to find this pair the only one in the room to arrive at seven no trump. It would not have surprised me if Wood had jumped to seven no trump over Adams' bid of three no trump.

When the dummy went down, the situation looked rather hopeless. West had the spades, diamonds and clubs stopped. East mond West would be squeezed again. He decided to discard the nine of clubs.

Adams then cashed dummy's ace of clubs and came over to his hand with the ace of diamonds. His king of clubs dropped West's queen.

The declarer then claimed the rest of the tricks. Two hearts from dummy could be discarded on the two good clubs in declarer's hand. The losing spade could be discarded on the queen of diamonds, and dummy's ace, king and queen of spades were good for the rest.

had the heart suit stopped. However, the very fact that they had all four suits stopped proved to be their downfall.

Adams won the opening lead of the jack of diamonds in dummy with the king, and cashed the ace of hearts. When the queen dropped from the West hand, Adams figured that West had four of each of the other suits. If this was true, he knew that he would have West in a progressive squeeze.

He continued with the king of hearts, and West discarded the eight of clubs. But when the jack of hearts was led, his discard hurt. If he let go the eight of diamonds, Adams would proceed to run the diamond suit, and on the last dia-

English Students To Aid African Farmers

LONDON.—(AP)—Eight Oxford and Cambridge students will head for Africa this Summer to help harried farmers battle the crop-eating fish of Gambia.

While they are at it, they hope to think up a scarecrow which will frighten off a hippopotamus.

The special problems of the colony's farmers arise from the fact that they raise rice in flooded paddy fields along the river banks. The fish move right in and feast on the young shoots. The hippopotami wallow around and trample under the standing crops.

The farmers have tried using glittering or bright-colored objects to drive away the hippopotami, but the ravages continue.

The students plan to experiment with ditches, because the animal is too clumsy to jump; sharp, low fences, because of his low-slung chassis; electrified wiring, small detonations and flash lights.

During their stay they also will study the living habits of the local tribes.

Rising Red

Agile Cardinal second baseman Red Schoendienst goes high in the air to save a bad peg from catcher Joe Garagiola as the Giants' Whitey Lockman slides safely into second base. Pitcher Ray Poat shut out the Red Birds for the Jints, 5-0.

Longhorn League—

Cowboys, Cats, Dusters, Colts Take Loop Games

The Ballinger Cats evened a series with Midland at one game each by winning 9-3 Monday night.

The Del Rio Cowboys defeated the Odessa Oilers by the score of 4 to 2 behind the pitching of Norton who gave up only two earned runs.

The Vernon Dusters dusted off the Big Spring Bronchos in a heavy-hitting game by the score of 10 to 7.

The San Angelo Colts duplicated their performance of the night before when they trimmed the Sweetwater Sports 11 to 7.

DOWN Sports Lane

with TANNER LAINE

We greeted Delbert Downing back to Midland with a tease: "Don't believe your fish story, didn't see the fish."

And Downing had a fine comeback: "Don't believe your baseball story (Midland 40, Del Rio 4), didn't see the game."

Joe Clark gives us some Ragtime Doubles results, kugged at Piamor Palace: E. B. Doster of Big Spring and Terrell Matthews of Odessa, 1,170; E. Jones of Midland and Matthews of Odessa, 1,147; Scott of Odessa and Matthews, 1,146; Jim Payne and Scott of Odessa, 1,137; Payne and Jones, 1,124.

Midland, Big Spring, Monahans and Odessa leglets participated. The Ragtime Doubles is a "traveling event" and is held at different cities on weekends.

Catcher Mike Tresh of the Chicago White Sox belted a home run early this season against Detroit's Al Newhouse. It was the second four-master Mike had hit in his major league career which dates back to 1933. Tresh's first homer was hit off Emil (Dutch) Leonard, now of the Philadelphia Phils, in 1940 when Leonard was with Washington. Both were hit in the Sox' home ball yard, Comiskey Park. Commented Tresh after his second shot cleared the wall:

"Think of all the homers I've missed by not swinging for the fences. His team mates have dubbed him 'Sluggo Mike.'"

ROUNDUP UP THE STRAYS
Sure enough, for the abuse (physical) on the umpires at Sweetwater the other night—Mack Dunlap of the Sports takes the blame and draws a $10 fine from the Longhorn League, bearing out our Sunday column. Let's review that game of Sweetwater meles; the umpire was cuffed, their caps jerked off, thrown at, and otherwise abused.

Sweetwater is 40 miles from Abilene. Gus Steiner is a new umpire in the Longhorn League. Ben Francis, Haddican who played with Sweetwater in the Longhorn last year is with Waco and hitting over .300. He is remembered for his choking so high on the bat. But he could hit and run. Odessa's American Legion Junior Baseball team is organized and several of the Broncho stars are on the roster.

So the MHS boys on the Legion nine here will greet some "old friends." Bill Hannah is a new third baseman of the Sweetwater Sports, coming from Albuquerque.

Here's Ernie Nelson's record at Greenville: games 5, innings pitched 34, bases on balls given 9, struck out 14, won 3, lost 2. John Leeson, executive business manager of the Sweetwater Sports is 19 years old. He announces the purchase of a new hurler, Ken Keller, who comes from the Arizona - Texas League. Now is the time for all good friends of Texas Tech and those interested in good football: out here in West Texas to plug Tech's entry into the Southwest Conference. Write your state officials, write the Southwest Conference, do something. It sure would be nice to be able to drive up to Lubbock and see SMU, Texas, Texas A&M, Rice, Baylor, Arkansas play. $30 for strays, pulling up by our bootstraps.

Rio Collins hit a triple for Midland and Jim Prince got two doubles. Eddie Melillo got two safeties. The third and deciding game of the series is slated Tuesday night. Midland then moves home for a seven-game stand.

Pampa's Oilers Widen Loop Lead

By The Associated Press
Pampa had a working margin of two games in the hectic West Texas-New Mexico League race Tuesday.

The Oilers splurged for nine runs in the fourth inning Monday night to lick Amarillo 21-10 while second-place Borger was losing to Lubbock 13-3.

In other games, last-place Clovis edged Abilene 7-5 and Lamesa beat Albuquerque 5-3. It enabled Lamesa to move out of a tie with Albuquerque and into undisputed fourth place.

Bob Cruces of Amarillo hit his fourteenth and fifteenth homers in the game with Pampa.

Lubbock had four home runs in licking Borger.

Cats, Missions, Sports Hang Up Loop Victories

By The Associated Press

Monday night, Fort Worth trimmed Houston 2-1 as Carl Perkins chalked up his sixth pitching victory of the campaign. Don Ranges blasted a double in the sixth to drive in the winning runs. The game was out to eight innings so Houston could catch a train for Beaumont.

Tulsa passed up an opportunity to go ahead of Dallas when the Oilers lost to cellar Shreveport 3-4. Dallas fell to fourth place by losing to San Antonio 6-4.

Shreveport scored in the ninth to beat Tulsa with Russ Moore, who pitched only one-third of an inning, getting credit for the victory.

San Antonio came from behind for two-run blasts in the seventh and eighth innings to lick Dallas. This game also was out to eight innings for San Antonio to catch a train.

Oklahoma City and Beaumont were not scheduled.
