Libel Suits Filed Here Echo History Of 'XIT' Ranch

Over Million To Be Sought In Six Cases

Fred Spikes of Lubbock Asks $200,000 in First Suit on File Here; Other Lubbock Persons Plan to Sue

Evetts Haley Sued

Claim Relative Pictured as Member of Gang of Cattle Rustlers in Publication of Historical Association

ONE suit charging libel and asking damages amounting to $200,000 has been filed in 99th district court here and four others for the same amount are to be filed here and another in Crosby county, naming as defendants J. Evetts Haley, Travis county and former official of the Panhandle Historical society, the Capitol Reservation lands, and Francis C. Farwell, Charles F. Harding and Frederick B. French, trustees of the land syndicate, Lockhart, Garrard and Brown, attorneys for the plaintiffs, announced late Saturday. The total to be asked in all suits will be $1,300,000.

Fred Spikes, a son of the late John Spikes, and himself one of those characterized in the book as an alleged member of a "gang of cattle rustlers," filed the suit in this county.

Employed As Historian

The petition, a lengthy one, recites that the Capitol Reservation Lands, is owner of a large ranch in the Plains and Panhandle of Texas, known as the "Capitol Reservation Lands," that on these lands the ranch known as "XIT"

Lubbock Group To Hear Legge

Federal Farm Board Chairman and Arthur M. Hyde to Talk in Amarillo Friday; Local Delegation Will Attend

A large delegation of Lubbock and South Plains farmers and business men are expected to gather in Amarillo next Friday, July 11, to hear Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, and Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, who are scheduled to speak on that date.

Legge and Hyde are making an extended tour of the wheat belt, speaking during this week in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, with the Amarillo engagement the only appearance in Texas. Reason for their tour of the wheat belt is the present low ebb of the wheat market. It is anticipated that they will discuss the world wheat situation, and will undoubtedly have much to say regarding cooperative marketing and the Farm Board's policies now and in the future.

To Sponsor Visit

Texas A. and M. college is sponsoring the visit of Chairman Legge and Secretary Hyde to Texas and every county agent in the Panhandle will no doubt be in Amarillo to hear them speak.

Efforts will be made to have Lubbock represented in full force because of the interest attaching to the membership drive of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association in which this city is headquarters, the drive set to start on July 15. An attempt was made to secure either Chairman Legge or Secretary Hyde for a speaking engagement in Lubbock for next Saturday, but they both had arranged to be in Enid, Oklahoma, for that date.

RESCUE EFFORT FATAL

Girl Saved but Rescuer and Spectator Meet Death

MADISON, Wis., July 5.— (AP) — In an attempt to save little Marion Olson from drowing in Lake Mona here Wm. F. Ladwig, a railroad crossing flagman, was drowned today. A spectator on shore died of heart disease. The girl was saved.

She slipped from an inflated inner tube on which she was floating. Ladwig, unable to swim, stepped into deep water and sank immediately.

The man who died of heart attack was "Bulldog Dan" McCurran, 83, a recluse who had lived near the lake many years.

Fights for U. S. Beauty Crown

Miss Alberta McKellop, above, who as "Miss California" won second honors at Miami, Fla., beauty contest for the selection of Miss America last March, now threatens court action against the judges unless they name her to succeed the winner, Miss Janet Eastment, of Fort Worth, Texas, who was disqualified because she was married. The San Diego Chamber of Commerce has joined Miss McKellop's fight for recognition.

Statement Is Made Here by G. E. Lockhart

Lubbock Candidate for State Representative Would Divide Texas in Five States; Favors Tech Appropriation

G. E. Lockhart, Lubbock attorney and candidate for representative from the 119th district, Saturday issued his first statement regarding the approaching election and his candidacy. Mr. Lockhart, a resident of the South Plains for twenty years, has been engaged actively in the practice of law for 21 years.

"The most important subject which affects this whole district," stated Mr. Lockhart in outlineing his platform, "is Texas Tech. This is not a Lubbock institution and everyone in this district should be as much interested in the institution as any citizen of Lubbock. I will do all in my power, if elected, to secure such appropriations as may be requested by the Board of Regents of the school. I also favor adequate appropriations for rural schools."

Unfairness Claimed

Mr. Lockhart also declares that "West Texas has been discriminated against in the distribution of taxes,

Postal Confab Is Ended Here Late Saturday

Officers Elected

John R. Green of Lubbock Is Promoted from Second to First Vice-President by Postal Supervisors Here

MARKED by the passage of resolutions expressing deep appreciation at the wonderful reception accorded postal authorities by the city of Lubbock, both officially and semi-officially, the annual conventions of rural mail carriers and postal supervisors came to a close Saturday afternoon. Previously the postal clerks closed their convention Friday afternoon and the ladies auxiliary of the rural carriers the same day.

"Let me say that Lubbock is not only the first city we have held our convention in for some years that did what it promised to do for us, but it is the first to do even more than they promised to do," Paul Attaway, Winnsboro, president of the rural carriers, declared at the close of the convention.

Entertainment Lauded

A. J. Michener, postmaster at St. Louis and official representative of the department, stated that he had never attended a convention of postal employes, "where they were any better entertained than right here in Lubbock."

Election of officers marked the closing sessions of the two groups. The rural carriers selected Waco as

Find Body of Slain Woman

Note Telling of Other Bodies Along Road Indicates that Slayer Is "3-X" Murderer of Queens, New York

(By Associated Press)

BUTLER, N. J. July 6. (AP)—The body of a young woman, shot twice, was found in an automobile on the Mariontown road about five miles northwest of here late today. In the car was a note saying "you will find the other bodies along the road."

The note telling of other victims was unsigned, handwritting experts this morning will compare the writing with that on the notes written by the "3X" murder of Queens, on the theory that the slayer is the maniac who has terrorized the New York borough and committed two murders there.

Discovery of the body and the note started state troopers under the command of Sergeant Simpson of the Pompton Lake station on a hunt along lonely roads of the surrounding territory for other victims mentioned in the note.

The Mariontown road is a deserted thoroughfare sometimes used as a short cut between Butler and West Milford. The coupe was noticed along the road throughout the day. Last night passersby looked in and saw the body slumped on the floor with two bullet wounds in her head.

YOUTH SLAIN

NEW ALBANY, Miss., July 5. (AP) —Angered because of the youth's alleged attention to his daughter, Houston Hale, 55, Enterprise, Miss., late today shot and killed Roy Hall, 22, of New Albany, and seriously wounded the victim's brother, Chas. Hall, 21.

Local Couple, Lost In Mountain Storm, Found After Night Hunt

COLD and exhausted from 12 hours of hopeless wandering through the endless maze of slopes and canyons of the White Mountains during a storm, H. Y. Price, Jr., and Miss Willie Mae Hawthorne, of Lubbock, were found Saturday morning at 6 o'clock by a rescue party organized when the two failed to return from a hike into the mountains near Ruidoso, N. M., according to a telephone message to the Avalanche-Journal last night from R. V. Gault, senior forest ranger.

While anxious friends joined with rangers and guards in a search which started Saturday morning at 1 o'clock and continued until 6, Price and Miss Hawthorne aimlessly were seeking a way out of the hills alone. Shortly after they had become separated from others of their party they became lost from each other, according to their story.

Returned To Camp

Numb from exposure to the cold mountain night, the two young people were not returned to Ruidoso until 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and news of their rescue did not reach Lubbock until after nightfall.

The party, numbering 15, left the lodge Friday afternoon to hike to the top of a mountain about eight miles away. They divided into groups of five each and the two who became lost were of the same party. Their companions, after having gone about six miles, turned back but Price and Miss Hawthorne continued on to the top. When they attempted to return to the lodge they lost their way. After wandering until dark, Price left the girl, who had tired, to see if he could discover others of the party or give signals.

Following Tracks

When he failed to return she started searching alone. Price returned later and found her gone. After a long search he discovered her tracks along a small stream and was tracing them when the rescue party arrived. They were about one-half mile apart at the time.

Three Persons Are Killed in Factory Blast

Two Children Among Victims of Fireworks Explosion in New Jersey; Another Child Missing; Three Badly Hurt

(By Associated Press)

NEPTUNE, N. J., July 5.—(AP)—Three persons were killed two of them children, another child is missing and three adults were seriously injured in the explosion of a fireworks factory on the outskirts of the city late today.

Three blasts, following each other in quick succession, razed the factory, owned and managed by Frank Cimino and his story and a half home which stood on the lot.

The dead: Cimino, Consiglio, 70, father of Frank Cimino; Cimino, Millie, 9, daughter of Frank; Renna, Dolores, 2, 321 Nevins street, Brooklyn.

The seriously injured: Cimino, Mrs. Mary, wife of Frank; Renna, Mrs. Nancy, mother of Dolores; Del Fiore, Alfred, an employ.

Sitting Near Blast

Dr. M. Gould, Perth Amboy, N. J., optometrist, was sitting in his automobile a few feet from the Cimino home with J. L. Coddington, also of Perth Amboy, when the blast occurred.

Dr. Gould said the elder Cimino was sitting on an upper porch of the factory building. Mrs. Renna, her daughter, Dolores, and Millie Cimino were standing in the yard.

Then the afternoon quiet was shattered by a blast which was quickly followed by two others. And almost immediately the house and factory which stood side by side were enveloped in flames.

Dr. Gould said he saw Mrs. Renna, her clothes blazing, pick up the two children, one under each arm and start toward the street. Before

VICTIMS IMPROVE

Three Girls Hurt in Holiday Accident Are Better

Reports last night from the Lubbock Sanitarium stated that conditions of the three young women who were injured July 4th in accidents in this section were somewhat improved.

Miss Beatrice Lott, former day superintendent of the Lubbock sanitarium, was seriously hurt when the auto in which she was riding overturned on the highway between this city and Post. She sustained a fractured right ischium and injuries to her back.

Misses Billie Pirtle, of Anton, and Vesta Weldon, of Littlefield, were painfully hurt when a car driven by Zenn Brown, also of Littlefield, overturned near Sudan.

All were said to be resting easily last night.

SIX ALIENS ESCAPE

Federal Prisoners Still at Large After Break

CROOKSTON, Minn., July 5. — (AP)—Six federal prisoners, all aliens, escaped from the Polk county jail here today by removing the bricks from around a ventilator. No trace had been found of the men after an all day search.

Those who escaped are Roy Barnard, Arthur and Thomas McDonald, Daniel McCarthy, Dennis McClafferty and Henry Eichela.

Big Hearted Mayor

Prisoners Freed By Acting Official

ATLANTA, Ga., July 5. (AP)—Atlanta policemen were hurrying hither and yon today in efforts to re-arrest as many as possible of the 268 municipal prisoners Acting Mayor J. Allen Couch freed yesterday in generous celebration of Independence Day.

Thus far 50 of the convicts granted amnesty have been taken into custody again on old charges, and the police hoped to have a greater number back in their cells before nightfall.

Jail Emptied

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale was out of the city yesterday and Couch, who is a member of the board of aldermen, emptied the jail out of the bigness of his heart. The police department and the recorder's office protested, but the acting mayor stuck by his guns.

However, many of the prisoners are habitual offenders, and the police stole a march on Couch by the re-arrests on old charges.

Seems Wrong

Mayor Ragsdale returned today and said it "seems wrong to me and I don't think he had a moral right to take that action." The mayor, however, doubted if there is any legal remedy.

The city construction department said Couch's action cost about $50,000, as prison labor is used for municipal work, and it will be several days before enough men are sentenced to carry on the enterprises that stopped when the convict workmen were set free.

Gangster Slaying Takes Two Lives

DETROIT, July 5. (AP)—The second gangster assassination in thirty-six hours today sent A. Hamtrack prohibition investigator and an alleged bootlegger to their deaths, bringing the total number of gun victims here this week to four.

The investigator, Barney Roth, was shot down in the kitchen of his home by one of two who entered at breakfast time. The other man shot Johnny Mietz, was to have been arraigned in federal court today on a beer making charge. Mietz had been sitting on Roth's front porch waiting for the latter to go to court with him.

HELD FOR AMARILLO

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 5. (AP)—Charles A. Becker, chief of police, said tonight that E. B. Copher, arrested here yesterday, was being held for authorities at Amarillo where he is wanted on a grand jury indictment charging theft of an automobile.

American Shot In Fight with Chinese Bands

Communist Bandits Turn on U. S. Gunboat After City Is Looted; Seamen Silence Riflemen; Englishmen Shot

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 5. —Difficulties with revolution-torn China, already climaxed by a state department protest, were augmented today by a radio report to the navy department that an American bluejacket had been killed in a battle with bandits.

The seaman was Samuel Elkins, of Brooklyn, N. Y., attached to the United States gunboat, Guam. He was struck by a bandit rifle ball during a short encounter at Yochow, Hunan, China, when brigands turned from looting the city to fire upon the ship.

Fire On British

A new report from Shanghai said three British gunboats had been fired upon at the same time, and two sailors wounded before the British and American seamen silenced the bandit riflemen.

British and American seamen silenced the bandit riflemen.

A report of the encounter sent to Secretary Adams by Rear Admiral Charles B. McVay, commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet said:

"U. S. Guam reports she was heavily fired upon by communists at about 1 p. m. July 4, while convoying the Neihing past Yo Chow. Fire was silenced by 26 rounds three inch and 1,200 rounds machine gun.

Seaman Killed

"Seaman first class Samuel Elkins was killed by rifle bullet. "No sign of foreigners in Yo Chow."

SEEK PHANTOM RIDER

Masked Man on White Horse Terrorizes Citizens

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 5. (AP)—A masked man who rides a snow white horse on a mission of terrorizing residents of the wild Fletcher Park country in Albany county, is sought by Wyoming officers. The authorities believe his activities presage a cattle war.

Reliable reports received by R. John Allen, state law enforcement officer, say the masked rider has posted notices through the area where he operates warning certain persons to leave the country. It is reported he has shot at several persons and wounded one.

Throughout the district the horseman has become known as "the phantom rider." He wears a mask that covers his entire face except the eyes and has always been seen astride a snow white horse.

Lubbock Milk And Ice Fund Threatened With Suspension Unless Relief Comes

UNLESS immediate action is taken toward relief, the Avalanche-Journal and Federated Aid societies milk and ice fund is threatened with suspension, according to announcement last night by Mrs. W. T. Milam, chairman of the fund.

With approach of mid-summer when milk and ice are needed more than ever, officials of the movement are becoming anxious over the greatly depleted condition of the treasury. All families have been cut from the daily list with exception of those who are sick and unless funds are received within the next few days even these will have to be neglected.

"We have worked diligently through many months," stated Mrs. Milam, "and a great deal of real good has been accomplished. Many families are still in dire need with sickness in their homes and and our workers watch with care every cent that goes out for daily we see the fund grow smaller. I believe that an appeal to the citizens of Lubbock will bring the required results and donations for this cause will flow in."

All donations should be ad-

Two Hunter Brothers Awake From Well Earned Rest To Accept Role As Heroes

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 5. (AP)—Their aerial labors ended after 553 hours, 41 1-2 minutes of continuous flying to a world's record, the Hunter brothers awoke today to face the trial of unaccustomed roles.

Contentious managers — six of them—public adultion, and the insistent solicitation of professional exploiters combined to make their return to earth as harrowing as the three weeks they spent in the air over Sky Harbor airport.

Switch Managers

The two brothers, John and Kenneth, who piloted the "City of Chicago" to a new world's record by a margin of 133 hours over that of the St. Louis Robin, arose at 11 o'clock, after 10 hours of sleep, breakfasted and, with the other Hunter brothers, Walter and Albert, switched managers for the fifth time.

All four were then rushed to a Loop theatre with their sister, Irene, to begin vaudeville appearances. Their plans following the next week in the theatre, were indefinite. They said Monday in their home town, Sparta, Ill.

Bob White Victim of Slaying Northwest of Lubbock; Dairy Owner Is Being Held in Jail

W. T. Sessums Surrenders to Officers Following Fatal Altercation; Threats Against His Family of Ten Children Claimed in Statement; Wrench Found

BOB White, about 28, is dead, and W. T. Sessums, local dairy owner, is in the county jail following a shooting affray which occurred about 1 o'clock last night at Sessums' dairy, five miles northewst of Lubbock.

Shortly after the shooting Sessums asked his wife to go to a nearby house and telephone officers to come after him. A Mr. Cox, living one-half mile north, was called and he telephoned the police. Deputy Will Earnest and Policemen C. E. Luce, J. D. Johnson and Bill Mabray hurried to the scene.

Heavy Wrench Is Found

White was found lying in a small room with blood stains over the floor and bed. A heavy piece of wrench, about 18 inches long, was found near his left hand, according to officers. He was said by Mrs. Sessums to have been left handed.

Examination of the body revealed four wounds, one through center of the heart, another over the left eye, a third through the neck and the last in his left wrist. Sessums gave officers a .38 pistol from which five empty shells were extracted. A fifth bullet was found imbedded in the wall behind White's body.

Recognizing the officers when they drove up, Sessums was said by Will Earnest to have declared, "I've done the worst thing I ever did in my life, Mr. Earnest, I've killed a man." He was brought to town immediately and lodged in jail.

Inquest Continued

Justice of the Peace G. R. Scott opened his inquest last night but stated that it would not be completed until today when officers said charges probably would be filed against the dairy owner. Nature of the charge, according to Judge Scott, will be either murder or homicide.

In a verbal statement to officers, Sessums said White had advanced toward him with the heavy tool in his hand. He said White, who came here two months ago, had quarreled with other workmen at the diary and several of them had left, Sessums also was said to have told of having heard threats against himself and family of ten children, oldest being 12 years.

Wife Feared White

Describing events leading up to the shooting, Mrs. Sessums last night told officers that she often had lain awake at night through fear of White and what he might do. "We hired him about two months ago," she related, "and knew practically nothing about him. I have heard him speak of a brother in St. Louis. Last Sunday he had a fight with Frank Graham, another employe, and Graham left. He had told Langley Adams, who also worked for us that he was going to kill my husband and that he had a heavy piece of iron under his mattress.

"My husband overheard him tell another man this afternoon that he was going to kill him and the children tonight. We ate supper as usual and White retired to his room. I

Absentee Voting To Begin Monday

Beginning Monday the absentee vote for those who expect to be away from their homes on primary election day, July 26, will begin, it was announced at the office of the county clerk.

Absentee voters, Amos Howard, clerk, explained, have ten days in which to vote. They must have them returned on or before July 16.

Ballots are being mailed out by the clerk these persons.

Others who happen to be in Lubbock from other counties, may have until three days before the primary, to cast their vote here with the county clerk. These ballots must be voted in the clerk's office and be given to him three days before the primary.

Owing to intense interest in the year's election, a large absentee vote is anticipated.

DREAM OF FAME ENDS

Ride Over Niagra Falls Is Fatal to Buffalo Chef

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 5. (AP)—Niagara's thundering horseshoe cataract ended another dream of fame and fortune today as it took the life of George L. Stathakis, 46-year-old Buffalo chef, who attempted to ride through the maelstrom in a barrel of his own construction.

Thousands saw the barrel of wood and steel plunge over the cataract. But not a vestige of the barrel or a trace of the man's body was found afterward.

Hill had predicted the trip would end in death. He even had an undertaker on hand.

Armed Men in Hunt for Two Negro Slayers

Search Echo to Argument in Which Two Whites and Two Blacks Killed; One Negro Hanged, Another Shot

(By Associated Press)

EMELLE, Ala., July 5.—A band of armed men estimated to number from 25 to 50 tonight searched a swamp near the Mississippi line for two negroes, Tom Robertson and his son, Oliver. Participants in an argument with a white man yesterday night that caused four deaths, two white and two negroes. Two other white men were hurt and two unidentified negroes were believed hiding in the woods, wounded by possemn's guns.

The dead:

Grover Boyd, white.

Charlie Marrs, white.

John Robertson, brother of Tom Robertson.

Esau Robertson, son of Tom Robertson.

Two Others Hurt

Jim Ayeres, white, suffering cheek wounds received in a battle with the negroes last night, and Clarence Boyd, nephew of Grover, was injured seriously about the head with a bottle held by a negro.

Grover Boyd was shot down from behind by one of the negroes, and Charlie Marrs was killed while possemen and citizens stormed John Robertson's house last night, where the negroes had taken ref-

Sunday-School Lesson
BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic:
Abraham, A Pioneer of Faith.
Scripture Lesson:
Gen. 12:1-3; 13:7-12; Heb. 11:8-10.

1. Now Jehovah said unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto the land that I will show thee:

2. And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and be thou a blessing:

3. And I will bless them that bless thee, and him that curseth thee will I curse: and in thee shall all the families of the earth be blessed.

Gen. 13:7. And there was a strife between the herdsmen of Abram's cattle and the herdsmen of Lot's cattle: and the Canaanite and the Perizzite dwelt them in the land.

8. And Abram said unto Lot, Let there be no strife, I pray thee, between me and thee, and between my herdsmen and thy herdsmen; for we are brethren.

9. Is not the whole land before thee? separate thyself, I pray thee, from me: if thou wilt take the left hand, then I will go to the right; or if thou take the right hand, then I will go to the left.

10. And Lot lifted up his eyes, and beheld all the Plain of the Jordan, that it was well watered every where, before Jehovah destroyed Sodom and Gomarrah, like the garden of Jehovah, like the land of Egypt, as thou goest unto Zoar.

11. So Lot chose him all the Plain of the Jordan; and Lot journeyed east: and they separated themselves the one from the other.

12. Abram dwelt in the land of Canaan, and Lot dwelt in the cities of the Plain, and moved his tent as far as Sodom.

Heb. 11:8. By faith Abraham, when he was called, obeyed to go out unto a place which he was to receive for an inheritance; and he went out, not knowing whither he went.

9. By faith he became a sojourner in the land of promise, as in a land not his own dwelling in tents, with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise:

10. For he looked for the city which hath the foundations, whose builder and maker is God.

Golden Text: By faith Abraham, when he was called, obeyed to go out unto a place which he was to receive for an inheritance: and he went out, not knowing whither he went.—Heb. 11:8.

Introduction

"The race seemed verging again on the brink of those horrible and unnatural crimes which had already necessitated its almost total destruction; and it was evident that some expedient must be speedily adopted to arrest the progress of moral defilement, and to save mankind. This enterprise was undertaken by Him whose delights have ever been with the sons of men, and who in after days could say, with majestic emphasis, 'Before Abraham was, I AM.' And he accomplished his purpose then, as so often since, by separating to himself one man that through him and his descendants, when they had been thoroughly purified and prepared, he might operate upon the fallen race of man, recalling it to himself and elevating it by a moral lever, working on a pivot outside itself."—F. B. Meyer.

Abraham

Abraham's birthplace was "Ur of the Chaldess," now identified by most scholars with the modern Jugheir, in Southern Babylonia, bordering on the district called Chaddes. This region had been settled, for the most part, by descendants of Ham, who "were grossly idolatrous."

Abraham's father was Terah, who was an idolater (Josh. 24:2) At Ur of the Chaldees Abraham married the beautiful Sarah, and after this marriage, for some reason not stated, Terah set out for the land of Canaan, a journey of about nine hundred miles, making the usual detour to the north. After travelling about two hundred and forty miles to the northwest the little party reached Haran, a city of Mespotamia, where Terah settled down, abondoning his purpose to go to Canaan. There he remained probably for sixty years, dying at the age of 205.

The Call Of Abraham, v. 1

"Now Jehovah said unto Abram." "Abram" means "exalted father." The Lord afterwards changed his name to Abraham (Gen. 17:5) which has the same meaning, emphasizing the idea of exaltation. "Get thee out of thy country." Probably Ur at first, and now Haran where he had been long enough to make it his familiar and dear home. "And from thy kindred, and from thy father's house." Abram left most of his kindred in Mespotamia, and sent thither, years after this, for a wife for his son Isaac. Thither too, his grandson Jacob went in his turn, to find a wife among his kindred.

"Be Thou A Blessing," v. 2

"And I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and be thou a blessing." Here is a great Christian principle thus early in the Bible. Those whom God has blessed are in their turn to bless others. We thank thee for the pleasures we have enjoyed and for those we have been able to confer.' So runs a prayer of a favorite writer. Our own blessing is likely to wither unless we try to extend it to others. Christians wonder often that they have so little joy in their own hearts. Frequently the reason lies in the fact that they have not made themselves a blessing to others."

"And I wil bless them that bless thee." God is on the side of his saints. God, we may say, is grateful for any kindness shown to them. Christ said that the least service done to his poor, his sick, his prisoners, his strangers, is a service done to him, and will be richly rewarded. So it was with Abram and his friends all through the life of this Friend of God.

Abraham Goes To Canaan, vs. 4-9

So Abram went, as Jehovah had spoken unto him"—one of the most glorious examples of obedience in all history. He was seventy-five years old when he left Haran,—in the prime of life for those days of long lives. He took with him his beloved wife, Sarai, and his nephew Lot, together with their households, servants, and retainers. He also took, of course, his domestic animals and his other possessions, facing with courage the very real dangers of desert robbers. It was a long, hard journey of some six hundred and sixty miles, westward, and then southward along the Jordan. The thrilling account tells us briefly of Abram's successive camping paces as he moved southward, and does not omit to mention the altars to Jehovah which he set up at each camp. That was his one significant act, proclaiming the purpose of the migration.

Abraham And Lot, Gen. 13:7-12

"And Abram said unto Lot, Let there be no strife, I pray thee, between me and thee, and between my herdsmen and thy herdsmen." Abraham possessed the spirit of the coming Prince of Peace. "For we are brethern." Abram forebore to stress or even mention the facts that he was the older, the uncle of Lot, the leader of the expedition, the one to whom God had given the entire land; he chose to speak as Lot's brother, his association on equal terms, his loving friend.

"Is not the whole land before thee?" With these noble words Abram throws the choice wide open to his nephew, without any restriction. "Separate thyself. I pray thee from me; if thou wilt take the left hand, then I will go to the right; or if thou take the right hand, I will go to the left." "Better for relatives to live amicably apart than to be quarrelsome partners."

Lot's Choice, V. 11

"So Lot chose him all the Plain of the Jordan." "What a man chooses, and how a man chooses, when opportunities and alternatives and choices are put before him—nothing more surely discovers a man than that. "And Lot journeyed east; and they separated themselves the one from the other." Every man's life is largely determined by his choice of friends and associates.

Abraham's Chosen Home—Hebron

Abram dwelt in the land of Canaan." "Quite in the south of the country stood even then Hebron, one of the very oldest towns in the world. The situation is one of the most favorable in the whole of Palestine. He had chosen well,—a high and healthful region, far from the temptations of worldliness and heathenism. And Lot dwelt in the cities of the Plain, and moved his tent as far as Sodom." Migrating eastward with his flocks and herds, Lot gravitated over closer to the wicked city, where at last he came to dwell, so that he shared the ruin which befell it.

The Sacrifice Of Isaac, Gen. 21:1-8; 22:1-19

The account of Abraham's obedience when commanded by God to slay his son on the altar of Mount Moriah, the site of Solomon's Temple, is one of the most moving scenes in the Bible. It sets forth the trusting character of the patriarch, and it prevents a wonderful parallel to God's offering of his only-begotten Son, on the hill of Calvary near Mount Moriah, as a sacrifice for the sins of the whole world.

The Field Of Machpelah, Gen. 23:1-20

The death of Sarah at the age of 127 was a sore grief to Abraham. It made necessary the purchase of land for a burial place, the only portion of Canaan that the roving patriarch ever owned. This was the famous double cave of Machpelah, where not only Sarah was buried but Abraham himself, and then Isaac and Rebekah and Jacob and Leah. Over the cave the Moslems built a great mosque, guarding the spot with the utmost strictness. It is inclosed by an ancient wall 197 by 111 feet and 40 feet high, of solid masonry from eight to nine feet thick. Machpelah is one of the most venerable and authentic memorials of antiquity.

The Death Of Abraham, Gen. 25:1-11

In his old age Abraham was blessed by Jehovah, "in all things," and especially in seeing Isaac happily married to the kindly Rebekah. So he died "in a good old age," no less than 175 years, and was buried in the cave of Machpelah by Isaac and Ishmael. "Grandly sets the sun of such a life."

The Faith Of Abraham Heb. 11:8-10

The glorious list of heroes of faith given in the eleventh chapter of Hebrews devotes more space to Abraham than to any other person, justly regarding his life as the supreme Old Testament illustration of that great quality.

"By faith, Abraham, when he was called, Obeyed. And he went out, not knowing whither he went." In general, he knew that he was going to Canaan; but of Canaan he probably knew almost nothing, no more than the Pilgrim Fathers knew of America. His life was an adventure of faith, as all great lives are.

"Whoever else may miss heaven we know that Abraham is there. The rich man in hell saw him afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom, and Jesus Christ, said 'I say unto you that many shall come from the east and the west, and sit down with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven.' May we all reach that blissful shore, take our seat by his side, lean upon his bosom, and share his matchless crown.

Negro Sunday School Confab To End Today

Three-Day Session of Brazos River District of Colored Cumberland Presbyterian Church Held in Lubbock

A three-day session of the Brazos River district colored Cumberland Presbyterian Sunday school convention will come to a close today, following an attendance of approximately 35 out of town delegates. Highlight of today's session will be the Gold Medal contest in which J. L. Estell, of Galveston, is offering a $25 cash prize to the individual or Sunday school who turns in the most money for the convention.

The session Friday night was featured by addresses from both colored and white representatives. Rev. Nelson was in charge of the meeting. A welcome address was received from all six of the negro churches of the city together with another from Rev. O. N. Baucom, pastor of the white Cumberland Presbyterian church. E. L. Klett spoke in behalf of the City of Lubbock. Response was made by Dr. P. R. Smith, president of the Mary Allen seminary, of Crockett.

Pearl Jackson was elected president with others as follows: Erma Lois Harris, vice-president; Lorena Branch, secretary; Gladys Schantz, corresponding secretary; Rachel Jackson, chorister; Jamie McNetll, treasurer, and Evelyn McCrummen, reporter.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Rev. J. T. Clinton 1916 Avenue O, for mission study.

READY FOR ANY ASSAULT

Bishop Cannon Says Board To Fight All Attacks

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N. C., July 5 (AP)—The Methodist board of temperance and social service is ready to meet any assault upon the prohibition law, Bishop James Cannon Jr., president, said in an address at the board meeting here.

"We hold it to be the settled policy of the nation imbedded in the constitution by overwhelming majority after a century of conflict. We do not propose to surrender the protection afforded by this constitutional provision against legalized liquor traffic," he declared.

"Other questions are important but at this time when the enemy is making prohibition the main issue our people should give their hearty active support to those candidates who favor the prohibition law."

Lubbock Men Will Invite Editors Of West Texas To Gity Next Year

Having entertained the Texas postal workers and carriers with distinction during the three days just passed, and viewing a coming list of state and sectional sessions awarded, Lubbock citizens are preparing now to invite another convention to meet here.

On Friday and Saturday of this week representatives of the Avalanche-Journal, chamber of commerce and local business firms will go to Abilene where the West Texas Press Association will be in annual session. The Lubbockites, opposed by Cisco, Stamford, El Paso, Mineral Wells and Carlsbad, New Mexico, will ask for the 1931 meeting of the association, which is the largest sectional body of its kind in the world.

Local Group Is Ready

Charles A. Guy, editor of the Avalanche-Journal; A. B. Davis and Garnett Reeves, of the chamber of commerce; T. A. White, Southwestern Bell Telephone company, and Clarence A. Sheffield, of Hotel Lubbock, are some of the local people who will be in Abilene to deliver Lubbock's invitation to come to the South Plains next year.

According to George F. Smith, secretary of the association and editor of he Scurry County Times-Signal at Snyder, the Abilene meeting will be the most pretentious the association has ever held. Membership is extended throughout West and Northwest Texas and many of he outstanding newspaper men of the section are scheduled to appear on the program.

Gravestone To Be Simple For Wiley

WASHINGTON, July 5. (AP)—The headstone at the grave of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, in Arlington National cemetery will bear the inscription "Father of the pure food law."

Dr. Wiley, long a crusader for pure food laws, died Monday. He was a corporal of the 137th Indiana volunteers in the Civil war and had expressed the wish to be buried in Arlington.

Learning it was against the rules to allow a special memorial stone and inscription for Civil war enlisted men his widow decided to have the burial in Rock Creek cemetery.

Just a few hours before the funeral yesterday, the war department informed Mrs. Wiley the rules had been waived. Dr. Wiley was buried in Arlington with full military honors.

Texas Solon Held In Tennessee For Reckless Driving

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 5. (AP)—Representative John C. Box of Jacksonville, Texas, was on his way home today after being detained here on a reckless driving charge preferred by officers of a nearby county at the request of a New York tourist.

The representative was stopped here by a motorcycle officer. Chief of Police Haynes said he released Box when the latter pleaded his constitutional rights as a congressman.

The constitution provided that senators and representatives shall not be subject to arrest on misdemeanor charges "while attending sessions of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same."

The chief of police said Representative Box told him he "sideswiped" a New York automobile as he passed it about 30 miles from Knoxville, while en route from Washington to his home in Texas. The name of the New York driver was not learned.

All Is Well
Prince Of Wales' Hat Is Found

WEST HARTLEPOOL, England, July 5. (AP)—Members of the greens committee of the dignified old Seaton-Carew golf course, who had been seriously contemplated hardi-kari and other forms of self destruction for the last twenty-four hours, resumed their normal mental comfort today when they learned that the Prince of Wales' panama hat had been found.

The prince, who played the course yesterday with Lord Londonderry, Lord Castlereach, and Captain Aird, sought comfort by giving his hat and tie into his caddy's custody.

At the end of the round the caddy was horrified to find he had lost the hat. Wales took the incident philosophically, but said he hoped the headgear would be recovered. "It is not very valuable as far as cost is concerned," he said, "but I value it."

The hat had the words "New York" stamped on the inside. The prince explained that it had come from abroad, but did not say whether he had bought it or it was given to him.

Today word was received from Wynyard hall, where the prince is a guest of Lord Londonderry, that the hat had been picked up on the eighth green and returned to the owner.

No Decision On Bridges Reached

DALLAS, July 5. (AP)—No definite decision was reached at a conference between highway officials of Texas and Oklahoma about converting the Red River bridge company toll bridge across the Red River opposite Gainesville into a free structure, Judge C. C. Huff, one of the conferees said today.

The conference was to be continued next week probably at some point in Oklahoma.

Lew Wentz, chairman of the Oklahoma Highway commission; W. R. Ely of Abilene and Cone Johnson of Tyler, Texas highway commissioners, Judge Huff, Randolph Bryan of Sherman, Gibb Gilchrist, Texas highway engineer, and others were in the conference.

Members of the conference said an effort was being made to gain approval of the Texas and Oklahoma commissions of a plan to have the secretary of war restore the toll rates collected before they were lowered on petition of the two states, this concession to be made to allow the bridge company to retrieve some of the claimed financial loss which would be sustained should Texas build a free bridge thus putting the privately-owned structure out of business.

Darst Creek Area May Be Prorated

AUSTIN, July 5. (AP)—Proposed proration of the Darst Creek oil field in Guadalupe county, near the Luling wells, was being considered by the railroad commission, after a hearing Wednesday.

P. C. Sealy, chairman of the advisory committee on proration for the field, proposed that production be prorated in relation to the outlet estimated at slightly over 20,000 barrels a day on a basis of 75 per cent of the allotted proration and 25 per cent of the unit allowance, and, second, on the same outlet basis and 100 per cent on the basis of the potential per unit.

Tilden Comes Back To Capture Wimbledon Net Title

Champion Cubs Assume Undisputed Lead In National Loop Chase

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Avalanche Sports Editor

Lubbock Hubbers encounter first class opposition today when they journey to Tahoka to take on the league leaders in the South Plains league in the first scheduled game of the season between the two clubs. A win over the Lynn county sluggers will put the locals in a tie with their rivals for first place in the circuit. In the event Lamesa's winning streak continues at the expense of the Levelland entry today, here will be a triple deadlock for the top perch in the loop.

Advance predictions have been running true to form in the Plains league with Tahoka, Lamesa and Lubbock standing out as the chief contenders for the pure money offered the champions. Hoyle draws the hurling assignment for the Hubbers today and if the black-thatched right-hander is right, Manager Luenberger and his brigade stand a good chance to topple the Tahoka outfit from its lofty pinnacle.

Thus far Hoyle has held the "Indian Sign" over the Brownfield aggregation. In the two games between Lubbock and the Terry county nine "Blacky" has been credited with winning both.

The third and deciding game of the Lubbock civic club series is scheduled Monday afternoon between the rampaging A. B. C. diamond artists and the heretofore undefeated Rotarians. While the Rotary club has not played a game this year, members of the "Old Men's organization" are claiming the championship of all time. Tomorrow's struggle, starting at 6 o'clock in the evening will decide this much-discussed issue and if the 1930 title is settled upon the elimination plan, the Rotarians can win the coveted gonfalon by turning back the youthful Primer boys. On this basis, Kiwanians eliminated the Lions; the A. B. C.'s in turn eliminated the Kiwanians and now it's up to the Rotarians to put out the Primer crew.

Tomorrow's contest will be a battle between youth and age. Winfield Watkins is scheduled to start on the mound for the A. B. C. boys and Ewing Freeland will likely start for the Rotarians. The daddy of Texas Tech athletics is a flinger from way back, blessed with worlds of stuff and remarkable control. The game should turn out to be the best attraction staged thus far in the civic club series.

Take a look at this Rotary infield—Byron Dickinson on first base; Charlie Guy on second; J. A. Raley, Jr., at shortstop and Henry Franka on the hot corner. If that combination isn't capable of bringing home the well-known bacon, there "ain't" none to be had.

Knute Rockne, the football wizard of Notre Dame, is recovering rapidly from his recent illness and is laying plans for what promises to be a great season for the Ramblers. "Rock" has been thrown for a number of loses by a recurrence of blood clots, but he has made a remarkable recovery and is again in the midst of the activities he loves best—football and the gridiron. At present he is contributing a daily column of newspaper stuff and before the summer is over he will enjoy a trip abroad before taking up his fall football campaign.

Next Autumn Notre Dame will play one of the hardest football schedules ever mapped out for a college eleven. The fighting Irish open at home against Ray Morrison's Southern Methodist Mustangs. Game with the Navy Indians, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Drake, Northwestern, Army and Southern California follow in succession. The date with the Pennsylvanians at Franklyn Field, Philadelphia, will mark the only Eastern invasion of the Notre Dame band, which for the time being has given up its Southern rivalry with Georgia Tech.

Bobby Jones stands out as the leading favorite in the U. S. Open golf tournament which opens at Minneapolis this week. He has just returned from England where he tucked away both the British Amateur and open championships. Opposing Jones will be the cream of the professional and amateur talent of the country, many of whom have been resting up for the National open while Bobby has been off on his foreign golfing wars. In spite of this, Denny Shute, Leo Diegel and other prominent experts of the nation are picking the Atlantan to come through with flying colors.

"Bobby Jones can be ill or off his game and still beat the rest of us," commented Diegel upon his return from the British links.

TWO RECORDS BROKEN

A. A. U. Swimmers Continue Fast Pace in Meet

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 5. (AP)—Two American records were broken today as the National A. A. U. swimmers plunged into the third of their four day championship meet. The new marks were established in the women's 880-yard relay, won by the Los Angeles Athletic Club, and the men's half mile relay, won by the New York A. C.

Mack's Stars In Fight for Batting Crown

Mickey Cochrane Has Lead Over Al Simmons in Friendly Duel; Backstop Raises Average to .403

CHICAGO, July 5. (AP)—Another battle in addition to the fight for the American League pennant is going in the camp of Connie Mack's Athletics. It is a friendly duel between Al Simmons and Mickey Cochrane for the batting champion. ship. Batting close to a .500 clip during the eleventh week, Cochrane ousted his teammate from the lead hiking his season's average during the period to .403, while Simmons slumped three points at .397, unofficial averages including games of Wednesday disclosed. Simmons' mark was good enough for second place, however.

Seven out of the ten leading batters in the league at the conclusion of Wednesday's contest either were Yankees or Athletics, the averages revealed, while most of the leadership were cornered by players of the two teams. In additional to Cochrane and Simmons, the leaders were: Dickey, New York, 391; F. Rice, Washington, 389; Gehrig, New York, 386; Ruth, New York, 378; Combs, New York, 370; Hodapp, Cleveland, 366; Foxx, Philadelphia, 354 and Judge, Washington, 351.

Babe Hogs Honors

Babe Ruth still held the most individual honors with his 31 home runs and hits for a grand total of 203 bases, while the rest were divided among the players. Rice led in stolen bases with a dozen. Gehrig led in most runs batted in with 84. Combs had 12 triples, Monanus of Detroit led in doubles with 25 and Hodapp had the biggest collection of hits, with 108.

The Yankee continued their heavy firing during the week, increasing their team batting average four points to .301 for the lead in that field; Philadelphia still led in team fielding with a .974 per centage.

Herb Pennock, New York's veteran hurler, won another game during the week for the mathematical leadership over pitchers in the circuit. Pennock's record up to Wednesday night was seven victories and one defeat. Wells, his pitching teammate, had six wins and one defeat while "Lefty" Grove of the A's won one and lost one during the week for a record of 8 victories against three defeats. In strikeouts Grove was far ahead with 101 victims.

Although sixth in team fielding, Boston led in double plays with a total of 78.

REACH FINALS IN TOURNEY

CHICAGO, July 5. (AP) —George Sutter of New Orleans advanced to the finals of the Western singles tennis championship today by defeating George Jennings of Chicago, 6-4, 6-0, 7-5.

In the women's singles Catherine Wolf, Indianapolis, became a finalist by conquering Lucy Jane Hedberg, Chicago, 8-2, 6-0.

Little Gene Moore Close Behind In Swat Chase

DALLAS, July 5. (AP)—Although he dropped below the .400 mark for the first time in many weeks, Ossie Eckhardt of Beaumont continued to lead the Texas League batting parade through games of Thursday, was right in the leaders heels with an average of .393.

Other leading hitters in 100 or more times at bat were:

Pfitzgerald, Wichita Falls, .363; Rye, Waco, .360; Hunt, Houston, .356; Schinke, San Antonio, .356; Joe Moore, San Antonio, .356; L. Brown, Fort Worth, .345; Perry, Shreveport, .341; Munson, Waco, .339.

Youngsters Shine

While Eckhardt continued to lead the unscreened two other former football heroes, Joel Hunt of Houston and Larry Bettencourt, Wichita, had tied up the leadership in a half dozen other departments. Bettencourt paced the field in homers, with 23, had batted in the most runs, 78, and was tied with Hunt of Houston in runs scored, each with 72. Hunt led the base stealers with 20 thefts, was tied with Eckhardt in the matter of total hits, 120, and was runner-up to Bettencourt in runs batted in with 68. Quite a showing for the collegians.

Pfitzgerald, Dallas veteran, also touched off the most doubles, 31, and Jackie Tavener, Fort Worth, was tied with Joe Moore, San Antonio, in triples, each with 10.

Tuero Sets Pace

If he maintains his present gait, Oscar Tuero, Shreveport's Cuban veteran, promises to lead the league's pitchers for the second straight season. So far the ancient spitballer has run up the remarkable record of 10 victories and only one defeat.

Hal Wiltse, Wichita southpaw ace and young Allen Stout of the Buffs remained deadlocked in total victories, each with 13. Stout ran his strikeout list to 94 during the week.

Washam Named Tahoka Mentor

Baylor University Graduate to Succeed Winfield Nicklaus at Lynn County Capital; Dean Is Assistant

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

TAHOKA, July 5.—Weir Washam, graduate of Baylor University, Waco, and a well-known athlete of that institution, has been selected as coach of athletics in Tahoka High school to succeed W. W. (Windy) Nicklaus, who has resigned after serving two years. Washam, for the past year has been freshman coach of football and basketball of Baylor University. He was also a star athlete of Waco High school under the tutelage of Coach Paul Tyson. Besides coaching, he will teach history.

V. A. Dean, Southland, a former student of Texas Technological college, Lubbock, has been elected as assistant to Washam and will also teach science.

With the selection of a coach of experience, Tahoka hopes to put forth athletic teams of better quality. Nicklaus has built up foundation material for future teams, and although Tahoka lost many of her best athletes by graduation this year it is thought that she will put forth a strong football team this fall.

STRIKES OUT 20

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 5. (AP)—Tom Bridges isn't experiencing hard times with his strikeout specialty.

The 19-year-old Evansville pitcher recently struck out 19 batters. Last night he beat his record by fanning 20 Springfield batsmen and running his total for the Three Eye league season to 155. His best innings against Springfield were the sixth and seventh when he whiffed six in a row.

SOUTHPAW'S PARADISE

Shelby, N. C., Is Mecca for Left-Handed Golfers

SHELBY, N. C., July 5. (AP) — Shelby, home-town of North Carolina's governor, is a town of left-handed golfers.

At least all its linksmen of any note swing from the port side. Governor O. Max Gardner and his executive counsel, Odus M. Mull, have used the southpaws since their sandlot baseball days, and see no reason for changing on the golf course.

Dr. Zeno Wall and Rev. L. B. Hays, local clergymen, who frequently form a foursome with the governor and Mr. Mull, are also left handed. And, so is Fred Webb, 15, boy sensation of the recent Southern Amateur tournament at Greensboro.

It's all because the Shelby club pro advises players to swing from the side that suits them best, Mr. Mull explained.

Old Vet Regains Crown

"They never come back," says a well-known epigram of sports, but Big Bill Tilden, at the age of 37, disproved this saying before a gathering of 15,000 at Wimbledon, England, yesterday when he turned back the brilliant Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Texas, in straight sets for the title he last won nine years ago. Complete story in column to right.

Texas League Kid Twirler Becomes Star

'Little Gene' Moore Couldn't Make Grade as Hurler but Now Gives Steers a Big Punch at Bat

DALLAS, July 5. (AP)— "Little Gene" Moore wasn't so good as a southpaw pitcher this year, but in the short space of a month he became a sensational outfielder.

Moore brought in from the West Texas League by Dallas last season, hurled three victories for the Steers. He couldn't get anyone out in the games he toiled in this year, however, he did show plenty of power at the bat.

Used as a pinch hitter the 19-year-old youngster knocked the ball all over the lot, and Manager Jake Atz gave him a chance in center field. There he crashed through and as a regular outfielder he has been hitting .400 or above in addition to fielding like a veteran.

Recently he drove in eight runs in one game with a brace of homers and three singles. Several scouts have been looking him over, and fans don't expect to see him here another year.

Since 1918 the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league has sold $676,000 worth of players to the major leagues.

Bill Papke, the old middleweight, now lives in Los Angeles. He retired with wealth.

A ton of money from the east poured into Los Angeles and San Francisco on Carnera to win over Godfrey, according to Tom Laird, San Francisco sports editor. The Italian was a 2 1-2 to 1 favorite to win and a lot of San Francisco gamboleers, who had seen the Carnera-Chevalier fiasco, bet on Godfrey. A Philadelphia newspaper is running a column called "The Foul Bag" in which irate citizens air their bruises. Baron Jimmy Dougherty, manager of Godfrey, says "that big hound quit on me," referring to Godfrey's fouling of Carnera. Knute Rockne saw the Poughkeepsie regatta but refused to talk football because it was so hot. It must have been warm there. Babe Herman made his first error of the season on his birthday recently. Victorio Campolo wishes to have it announced that his brudder, Felipe, is only manager. Evidently he's not doing piece-work.

RALLS AFTER A COACH

Crosby County High School In Need of Mentor

(By Staff Correspondent)

RALLS, July 5.—Ralls is hunting for a first class athletic coach to take the place of G. P. Lovvorn, who recently resigned after several years of service as head of the athletic work of the local school.

Lovvorn had planned to return the coming year but he received an offer he felt he could not pass up. It was the post of director of athletics of Plainview High school.

No successor has been named and the board is looking over the field to see if a good man can be secured. Lovvorn built up a good strong group of teams while here.

Allison Loses Tough Battle To Old Master

Mrs. Moody and Elizabeth Ryan Cop Women's Doubles Championship; Americans Cinch Three Titles

By FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England, July 5. (AP)—Bill Tilden, at the age of 37, today came back for the Wimbledon tennis title he last won nine years ago, and by defeating Wilmer Allison, the Texan, in straight sets, 6-3, 9-6, 6-4, again climbed to the singles champion's throne.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Elizabeth Ryan, present and past Californians, captured the women's doubles title 6-2, 9-7. In an exciting match with Sarah Palfrey and Edith Cross, the one from Boston, the other from San Francisco, Miss Ryan then paired with the Australian, Jack Crawford, to win the mixed doubles championship 6-1, 6-3, from the Germans, Daniel Prenn and Fraulein Krakwinkel.

Americans Win 3 Titles

Thus with Mrs. Moody's victory yesterday in the women's singles over Miss Ryan added to the total, three Wimbledon titles—have gone to the United States in the greatest sweep any nation has ever gained at Wimbledon. Miss Ryan shares a fourth, and the fifth will cross the Atlantic Monday afternoon when George Lott and Johnny Doeg play Allison and John Van Ryn for the men's doubles crown. These five are all the titles there were to be won in the two weeks of international play.

King George, Queen Mary and Prince George, the latter president of the all England club, in a generous sporting gesture came to Wimbledon to see the Americans take over the historic spoils. Having no Englishmen at all to cheer for, the crowds vented their enthusiasm on their monarchs. The Queen, in a pink gown topped by a tall toque of pink beige with pastel tints around the crown, and the king in a summery suit and light grey derby, were cheered lustily as they were seated just as Tilden and Allison started warming up.

But Tilden Did

"They never come back," according to a well worn epigram of sports, but Tilden did—and with all the convincing mastery of old. Allison played brilliant tennis, without doubt as brilliant as he displayed in toppling Henri Cochet, the Wimbledon titleholder, on Wednesday, but Tilden's genius at a game calling for youthful stamina, delicate skill and lightning judgment enabled him to dominate today's play throughout most of the match. The plaudits of a gallery of nearly 15,000 were for the great defense of the agile Texan rather than the hope held out that he could win.

Again Tilden's tremendous speed from service served him well. In long games Allison was fighting to save his service while Tilden's smashing service aces always were in reserve to be unloosed in the moment of crisis. Allison's speed at times was more marvelous than Tilden's. From his almost frail physique he drew shots that left his tall opponent standing.

Kent School Crew Loses To Britons

HENLEY, England, July 5. (AP) — The Kent School, of Kent Conn., was eliminated in the semifinals of the Thames challenge cup competition today, bowing to Worcester College of Oxford University by when critics were agreed that the New England schoolboys were going on to duplicate the feat of Browne and Nichols, of Boston, in winning the cup in 1929.

While Kent school followed into defeat the Princeton lightweight crew eliminated by the schoolboys yesterday, one contender from overseas came on to win a Royal Henley title. Jack Guest, of Toronto, easily captured the Diamond Sculls, defeating O. Boetzelen, of Berlin by half a dozen lengths in the final heat. Boetzelen yesterday defeated Joe Wright, Jr., countryman of Guest and the favorite.

GOODMAN ALL SET

Bobby Jones' Conqueror Has High Hopes for Open

OMAHA, Neb., July 5. (AP)—Johnny Goodman, "the young man who beat "Bobby Jones," has his eye on the National Open golf tournament at Minneapolis July 10.

Goodman, who has been very much out of the public eye since his sensational defeat of Jones in the National Amateur play last year has high hopes for this year.

He has been playing under par golf for a year and his putting is considerably improved.

It was his deadly accuracy on the greens that made possible his toppling of the great "Emperor of Golf" in their match last year.

In the qualifying meet here recently, Goodman forged his way to the lead of the entire field.

Herman and Henry Perlick, the "Fighting Twins" are identical in physical measurements, yet the former fights in main bouts and the latter in the preliminaries.

Draft Regulations Due to Be Aired When 2 Major Leagues Meet in Joint Session at Chi

NEW YORK, July 5.(AP) A special joint meeting of the National and American leagues baseball club owners will be held at Chicago Wednesday. It will mark the first such meeting of the majors in midseason.

The conference will consider the report of a joint committee appointed last December for the special purpose of deciding ways and means to remedy the present agreement for the draft of players which is considered unsatisfactory.

Other relations between the minor leagues and the two major leagues have not been satisfactory to either group for several years and some changes probably will be suggested.

New High School To Be Completed

BROWNFIELD, July 5. —(Special.)—The new $75,000 high school building erected in the Brownfield district is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy several weeks prior to the opening of the fall term.

As soon as it is completed work will likely commence on a gymnasium building which will be located between the new building and the grammar school building. Its capacity is expected to be capable of taking care of most of the athletic activities of the school. The high school building will have an auditorium which will have a seating capacity of about 1,000 which is expected to be sufficient for present requirements.

A Catcher's Misspent Life

Roger Bresnahan ought to be a millionaire instead of coaching the Tiger pitchers. All the old big league catchers should be in rocking chairs on Easy Street these days clipping coupons off fat bonds. They should have gone into the prize fighting business where a man gets paid handsomely for taking a punch below the belt.

In the course of his career, Bresnahan took hundreds of swiftly pitched foul tips in the groin. Yet did old Roger assume the horizontal position of the modern fistic foul claimer, holding his side and writhing in pain? He did not. He just "shook 'em off," and went on catching.

Mickey Cochrane, the alert catcher for the A's, offers some interesting testimony on the low blow in baseball.

Faster Than Fists

"Every catcher in the leagues," says Mick, "including myself, is frequently struck in the groin with a foul tip that comes with rifle speed from the bat. And it comes faster than human fists can strike. Did you ever see a catcher toted away to the bench after taking one of 'em? No, you didn't. Neither did I.

"A couple of years ago we had a young pitcher named Lloyd Powers. One day in batting practice, one of the boys lined back a terrific smash that struck Powers flush on his protector. It knocked him down and we ran out to see how badly he was hurt. He was up before we got there, and he went right on pitching. After practice he showed us his protector. It was dented almost flat.

"Can these bozoes like Carnera or Godfrey hit like one of those line drives or like a fast pitch that is tipped foul? Pshaw! John Barrymore isn't the only great actor in the world, after all."

Watch the Ringsters

In corroboration of Mickey's testimony, did you ever follow closely the actions of a fouled fighter from the instant he is struck until he leaves the ring? I watched Phil Scott carefully at Miami and Max Schmeling after being struck low by Sharkey in New York. Both recovered rapidly. I never will believe that either of them was hurt so badly that he could not have continued after a rest of three minutes.

Invariably boxers who are fouled are able to walk out of the ring after the decision has been rendered.

The foul blow is not as incapacitating as it is made out to be by those lily-livered lobsters who groan and thrash about the floor holding their groins as though they had just taken a flock of machine gun bullets in a vital spot. The man who invented the modern protector, which is used in most fights, will stand up there and let Sharkey, Godfrey or anybody else hit him as hard as he wishes, flush on the protector and deny any suffering.

I believe there is only one way to end fouls and that is to end them. When a boxer claims foul, let him be examined, and if he has been fouled, he should be allowed five minutes' rest. Then, on with the dance.

Many Pickers To Be Needed

C. W. Woodman, Director of Farm Labor Bureau, States 160,000 Cotton Pickers to Be Used in Texas

PORT WORTH, July 4.(AP) —More than 160,000 cotton pickers will be needed in Texas this year to gather the state's cotton crop, it was estimated today by C. W. Woodman, director of the farm labor bureau of the department of labor. The first movement of these pickers will be started immediately toward the lower Rio Grande valley, where about 68,000 cotton pickers will be needed and the next movement will be to the Corpus Christi section where about 68,000 pickers will be required, Woodman said.

Woodman will leave Sunday night for San Antonio where he will join Francis I. Jones, director general of the government's employment service, who has been in the south making a survey of the entire cotton belt's labor situation. The two will go later to Brownsville to consider conditions there and will later visit the new permanent office that has been opened by the farm labor bureau at Edinburg which will serve as the gateway for all cotton pickers and farm laborers going into the lower Rio Grande valley.

O'Doul on Top Of Swat Heap In Older Loop

NEW YORK, July 5.(AP)—If the fourth of July tradition of baseball extended to the batting averages, Frank O'Doul of Philadelphia would have a reason for hoping for his second successive hitting championship of the National League. O'Doul, champion last year, appears at the top of the last batting list compiled before the season's traditional turning point, coming in with a .401 mark in the averages released today, which include last Wednesday's games.

But O'Doul is hard pressed by his teammate, Chuck Klein, and a few other steady hitters are not far behind. Klein has an average of .399, while Bill Terry of New York and Paul Waner of Pittsburgh are tied for third place at .389. The list of leaders has changed considerably in the past week or two with the elimination of several men who have not been playing with sufficient regularity, and averages, as a whole, are lower.

Others Not Far Behind

Behind Terry and Waner come Herman, Brooklyn, .380; Stephenson, Chicago, .379; Grantham, Pittsburgh, .365; Heilman, Cincinnati .364; Frisch, St. Louis, .362 and Bissonette, Brooklyn, .357.

The slugging leaders have taken firm holds on their places with few signs of their being dislodged. Kiki Cuyler of Chicago remains the most effective all around slugger, leading in three departments. He has scored 72 runs, made 12 triples and has stolen 18 bases. He also is second to Klein with a total of 74 runs batted in and well up on the list for total hits.

Klein has batted in 77 runs for his only point of leadership and stands second to Bill Terry with 103 hits. The New Yorker has piled up 107 safe blows. Frank Frisch of the Cardinals still leads in hitting doubles with 24, one more than O'Doul has made, while Hack Wilson of Chicago once more has drawn ahead in the home run race with 23, leading Wally Berger of Boston by one.

Phills Lead Hitting

Club batting leadership remains in the hands of the Phillies with a .326 mark, while Cincinnti holds the fielding lead with an average of .977.

Bob Osborn, Chicago's young relief pitcher, has taken the sole leadership in pitching with five victories and one defeat although Tom Zachary, leader of the American League last year, has a better average, winning three games and losing.

Wilson (Buster) Charles, Haskell Indian athlete, participates in seven events in track meets. The Indian established a new record this year in the Kansas relays.

District Co-Op Drive For Members To Start July 15

Campaign Will Last for Month Or More; Lawrence Westbrook In Charge; Murray Optimistic

Every Cotton Farmer in Area Will Be Given Opportunity of Joining; Hope Is to Lead State and Nation

Tuesday, July 15, is the date set for opening the membership campaign in district 2 of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, the headquarters of which are at Lubbock, according to word received from Lawrence Westbrook, of Dallas, director of organization for the association.

Mr. Westbrook will probably arrive in Lubbock some time this week to lay preliminary plans for launching the drive. On the 15 it is likely that secretaries of all chambers of commerce in this district will gather in Lubbock for a day or more of conferences with Mr. Westbrook and other officials.

Although the Lubbock district was the first in the state to have a chamber of commerce underwrite the guarantee of $27,500 for district and branch offices of the cooperative, because of southern sections of the state maturing its cotton earlier than the Plains country, membership campaigns were instituted in those areas prior to the one here.

The drive in the Corpus Christi district has resulted in very gratifying results, a large percentage of cotton growers of southwest Texas signing marketing agreements with the association. In the Waco district, where the campaign started only a week or so ago, hundreds of thousands of acres of cotton land and thousands of cotton growers are being lined up for the cooperative.

Murray Sees Best Results

Abilene's district has seen active membership drives in various counties of that area, with unusually fine results obtaining.

"We believe," declares R. J. Murray, president of the Lubbock chamber of commerce, "that our part of Texas will not only lead this state in new members of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, but that both in members and achievements we will far exceed anything in the entire cotton belt.

Texas Co-Op Leading

"The South Plains already leads the state and nation in activities and achievements of cotton cooperative associations," he continues. "We have more than one-fourth of the members of the old association and half of the gins owned by them in Texas. And the Texas association, at the time the Federal Farm Board assumed direct supervision of all cotton cooperative associations of the south, possessed more real assets than all the other associations combined, so I have been told by C. O. Moser, vice president and secretary of the American Cotton Cooperative Association."

Mr. Murray sounds the warning, however, that this district can lead only providing the cotton farmers join the organization.

"It will be our aim," he says, "to see that every farmer in our district learns full details of the proposition. It will not be our fault if we do not get them to join by more than a big majority."

MAY INCREASE DUTIES

LISBON, Portugal, July 5. (AP)—Reports are current here that the Portuguese cabinet will increase the duties on American automobiles 50 per cent in reprisal at increased import duties under the new American tariff measures.

MAY EMPLOY OFFICER

HOBBS, N. M., July 5. (Special)—Traffic has become so congested on Carlsbad avenue here that traffic cop may be employed. Lights for governing the traffic from cross streets may be installed.

Favorable Crop Conditions Seen

Crop conditions of Lubbock county are very favorable at this time, according to County Agent D. F. Eaton.

"We seem to have had more than the usual crop of weeds this year," he says, "but farmers have been fighting them hard for the past several weeks and have succeeded in cleaning their fields well. Most farmers are about caught up with their work.

Acres in cultivation in Lubbock county this year are in the neighborhood of 300,000, Mr. Eaton believes. About 60 per cent of this is planted to cotton, the remainder to sorghums and other small grains.

The feed crops show a healthy increase over last season and, at least upon farms in cultivation prior to 1930, an appreciable decrease in cotton acreage is evident.

Payne Quotes Statistics of Co-Op District

Population and Number of All Farms in Lubbock Area Show Increases More Than Double Ten Years Ago

Of the 48 counties comprising district 2, of the Texas Cotton Co-Operative association, district offices for which are at Lubbock, there are only 26 counties having cotton production recorded. The remainder of the district is wheat country.

N. H. Payne, field representative of Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, in compiling statistics for the district, reports a total membership in the area of 5,670, with cotton ginned for the past season totalling 590,870 bales.

Area Doubled In 10 Years

While all of district 2 takes in practically all of the Texas Panhandle, and the past ten years of development reveals more than 100 per cent increases in population and number of farms, the cotton producing counties of the area show greater growth.

Figuring the counties of Gray, Wheeler, Donley, Collinsworth, Briscoe, Hall, Childress, Hardeman, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Foard, Cochran, Hockey, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Andrews and Martin as producers of cotton we discover several interesting things.

These 29 counties, for instance jumped from total population in 1920 of 154,724 to a total of 318,069, a gain of 166,345. From a total number of farms of 16,480 in 1920, these counties grew to have 33,873 farms in 1930, or a net gain of 17,393.

Figures quoted are this year's census figures, with the exception of the counties of Briscoe, Childress, Hardeman, Lamb and Foard. For population of these counties, estimates for 1928 were quoted, and for number of farms, the government census for 1925 was quoted.

"Of these 33,873 farms in our known cotton growing counties," remarks Mr. Payne, "it seems safe to estimate at least 30,000 cotton farmers in our district. As we have only approximately one-sixth of these signed up, another 10,000 farmers joining the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association would mean about half of our total prospects."

Cooperative Marketing Was Only Proven Means Offering Farm Aid

Governmental Policy Result of Thorough Investigation

By AL HILL
Avalanche-Journal Farm Editor

If there had been any proven and practicable means of aiding agriculture under prevailing conditions, other than that of cooperative marketing, the Agricultural Marketing Act would never have been passed by the United States congress. Neither would there be a Federal Farm Board, if some better plan of administering this act were available.

In effect, American agriculture is not only aggravated—it is bankrupt. The government has decided upon a definite policy of "receivership." Whether or not any individual sympathises with the government, with the board or with the act itself, makes no difference. It is the law and it will abide.

From the time when agriculture began to take a back seat in the national spotlight, until passage of the Agricultural Marketing Act, farm leaders had been scrapping to arrive at an understanding of the best methods of gaining equity with other industries. Ultimate answer always proved to be—after production efficiency had been achieved—selling of commodities through concerted group action.

And, unless it had been conclusively proven to legislators of this country, beyond shadow of doubt, that cooperative marketing associations—owned by farmers and managed by farmers and controlled by farmers—can and do and have succeeded, our present policy would not include governmental sponsorship of cooperatives.

It can be marked down upon the slate of public consciousness that, in the case of the marketing of cotton, for instance, had facts been available to the effect that cotton merchants offered better service at less cost to the producer than did the cooperatives, then the government would be backing the merchants instead of the co-ops.

Senate Investigation Cited

Document No. 100, 68th Congress Senate Investigation, first session, on April 28, 1924, a report of the Federal Trade Commission on the cotton trade in response to senate resolutions, and covering the season of 1922-1924, helps to close the argument pertaining to cooperative marketing.

"In recent years the cooperative marketing of cotton has become a very important agency in the distribution of the cotton crop," declares the summary of this report. "There are today some 12 very important associations of growers, nine of which in 1923 handled in the aggregate approximately 700,000 bales of cotton.

"These associations are non-profit organizations and usually only growers of cotton may be members.

Believes Co-Ops Succeed

"The commission believes that the cooperative marketing of cotton has been successful thus far and if wisely managed is not likely to fail, as some merchants maintain, even in periods of low prices."

In a later paragraph in this summary is the following:

"The results for the cooperative concerns in comparison with those of the merchants in the year 1922-23 were not unfavorable to the former. The selling price of three non-staple cooperatives ($132.10 per bale) was somewhat lower than the average of 35 cotton merchants reporting in that year ($134.15), but the gross profit taken by the merchants amounted to slightly over $12.00 whereas the gross margin of the cooperatives amounted to only $7.12. Out of these gross margins the cooperatives paid a slightly higher expense per bale than did the merchants, the figures being $5.57 for the cooperatives and $5.26 for the merchants. They also paid 34 cents per bale higher interest charge. The merchants, however, lost $5.47 a bale on futures, and their net income amounted to 32 cents a bale. As a result the growers' equity shown by the cooperatives amounted to $124-98 as compared with a price of $122-09 paid by the merchants for their cotton, a difference of about $3 per bale in favor of the cooperatives. Moreover, the cost of the cotton to the merchants reporting does not represent the price paid the grower, since much of this cotton was undoubtedly purchased from local dealers. In consequence the merchants' buying price is higher than that obtained by the producer."

Only Government Report

While the above may not be representative of every years' operations of merchants and cooperatives, yet it is the only government investigation report made upon this particular question.

As its name implies, the Agricultural Marketing Act declares the policy of the United States government toward agriculture to be the "promotion of merchandising of agricultural commodities." To quote from portions of the act:

"It is hereby declared to be the policy of Congress to promote the effective merchandising of agricultural commodities in interstate and foreign commerce so that the industry of agriculture will be placed on a basis of economic equality with other industries, and to that end to protect, control, and stabilize the currents of interstate and foreign commerce in the marketing of agricultural commodities and their food products—

Aims Are Enumerated

"(1) By minimizing speculation.

"(2) By preventing inefficient and wasteful methods of distribution.

"(3) By encouraging the organization of producers into effective associations or corporations under their own control for greater unity of effort in marketing and by promoting the establishment and financing of a farm marketing system of producer-owned and producer-controlled cooperative associations and other agencies.

"(4) By aiding in preventing and controlling surpluses in any agricultural commodity through orderly production and distribution, so as to maintain advantageous domestic markets and prevent such surpluses from causing undue and excessive fluctuations or depressions in prices for the commodity."

Farm Board Has Big Job

In the creation of the Federal Farm Board the aim of our government is to place agriculture on a basis of economic equality with other industries.

With $500,000,000 as a revolving fund at its disposal, and with more power given it than any nation in the time ever gave any board, Federal Farm Board is also further authorized and directed:

"1. To promote education in the principles and practices of cooperative marketing of agricultural commodities and food products thereof.

"2. To encourage the organization, improvement in methods, and development of effective cooperative associations.

"3. To keep advised from any reliable sources and make reports to crop prices, expenditures, probable supply, and demand at home and abroad.

"4. To investigate conditions of overproduction of agricultural commodities and advise as to the prevention of such overproduction.

To Make Investigations

"(5) To make investigations and reports upon the following: Land utilization for agricultural purposes; reduction of the acreage of unprofitable marginal lands in cultivation; methods of expanding markets at home and abroad for agricultural commodities and food products thereof; methods of developing by-products of any new uses for agricultural commodities; and transportation conditions and their effect upon the marketing of agricultural commodities."

From the few excerpts of this act quoted above it is clearly to be seen that all possible aims of the government is toward aiding farmers of the nation through organizations "of their own."

Clamor for equality of opportunity from individual farmers and from farm organizations, of the past 50 years, is now answered with a challenge from Uncle Sam:

"Come on, Mr. Farmer! Organize!"

Malt Firm Gives Award To Fliers

CHICAGO, July 5. (Special.)—Still wrapped in blankets and shortly after John and Kenneth Hunter landed from their record-smashing endurance flight, a check for $14,340 was hand them by representative of the Blue Ribbon Malt company.

The check was proffered them at their hotel before there had been time to procure clothes for the fliers, but sitting on the edge of a bed the Hunter boys received the big check with broad smiles of appreciation and thanked the malt company by telegram.

The award was paid at the rate of a dollar a minute from 6 p. m. July 1, until they landed and was given the brothers not only for breaking the endurance record but also for continuing to fly until they had set a mark which may stand for months and years to come.

1930 RED LINE
Combination Plants
Delco-Light's newest achievement

These new Combination Delco-Lights are the last word in individual electric plants. They combine the best features of both the automatic and battery charging Delco-Light.

For small loads, you draw the necessary current direct from the battery. When a heavier load comes on the engine starts . . . instantly and automatically. An automatic throttle speeds or slows the engine to correspond with load demands. An automatic choke makes starting quick and certain . . . even in cold weather.

Let us give you all the facts about these and other 1930 "Red Line" Delco-Lights. We are the authorized Delco-Light Dealers in this locality. Come in today.

Levelland and Hockley County Hear of Co-Op

Lubbock Men Speak Before 100 at Levelland; in Seeking a Branch Office, Communities to Hold Meetings

Levelland business men and Hockley county farmers seem very determined that opportunity of securing a local branch office of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association for Levelland shall not be missed, if efforts on their part count, judging from interest and attendance recorded Friday night at a meeting held in the county seat.

More than 100 men and women were present at this gathering, speakers for the occasion including R. J. Murray, president of the Lubbock chamber of commerce; F. R. Friend, vice-president of the First National Bank of Lubbock; N. H. Payne, field representative of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, and Al Hill, farm editor of the Avalanche-Journal.

At conclusion of the meeting it had been agreed that every community of Hockley county would hold a gathering within the next week or two, at which would be obtained expressions from farmers as to whether or not they wanted the branch office at Levelland. Enthusiasm was evident from representatives of these various communities who attend Friday night's affair.

Judge W. D. Cope, secretary of the Levelland chamber of commerce; C. J. Rhea, president of that organization, and County Agent W. T. Magee, are in charge of these community meetings. Effort will be made to secure C. O. Moser, of Dallas, secretary and vice-president of the American Cotton Cooperative association, for a talk before Hockley county farmers and business men on the proposition of a branch office at Levelland, within the next couple of weeks.

NATIONAL FARM OUTLOOK

BY ARTHUR H. JENKINS

The passage of the new tariff bill after nearly two years of agitation and debate did not immediately stop the disputes over its provisions, but they may be expected to die down soon now.

The political campaigns this autumn will very likely develop a new crop of tariff speeches. But the average citizen is weary of the subject and I question whether there will be any great response to the appeals of the politicians.

Farm opinion on the subject is divided, as usual, but the reaction of the rank and file farmer is probably not very different from that of the man in the cities.

Farmers feel that they have little influence with congress when important legislation like this is being written, and the failure of the expert debenture plan to stick in the new bill has offended the active supporters of the pleasure. I see no signs, however, of anything like a general protest of farm interests on this account.

All hands agree that a genuine effort was made to give agriculture protection on a large number of imported products that compete with our own fields and orchards. Whether effective or not, the duties on such things as vegetables, eggs, hides and milk, and the increase on sugar, are regarded as steps in the right direction.

Extremists are dissatisfied. Their aim was a scale of tariff duties high enough to operate as an embargo, and to include such large items as raw silk and bananas—things not produced in our country, but which compete with our cotton, wool and rayon, our apples, peaches and oranges.

Congress fell far short of this extreme application of protective ideas of course. As compared with them the tariff increases are for the most part moderate.

Heroes of Blast that Killed 30

The crew of a United States coast guard cutter who rescued 12 men from drowning when lightning set off a supply of dynamite aboard a Canadian drill scow working in the St. Lawrence river near Brockville, Ont., blowing the boat to bits and killing 30 men, is pictured here. The coastguardsmen are: Captain Lok and Seamen E. Schulmayer, J. Guzie, J. F. Hession, H. L. Gloiby, E. W. Glerwin and J. Czerwinski.

Jack Zuta Too Much Afraid Of Gang's Bullets To Come Out Of Hiding Place

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—Jack Zuta was too much afraid of bullets to come out of hiding today. The boss for "Bugs" Moran chose to defy police and forfeit a $400 bond for a court hearing rather than expose himself as a target to the gang gunmen who failed in a first attempt to kill him in a loop ambush last Tuesday night after he had been released as a suspect in the murder of Jake Lingle, crime reporter.

Zuta was especially wanted by the police since the attack on him four days ago, authorities viewing this assault as an attempt by rival gangsters to avenge the killing of Lingle, whose slaying led to a war on crime and a disclosure of an apparent alliance between him and Al Capone a gang.

The police offered to escort Zuta to and from court, if he would indicate his hiding place, but he ignored their offer. He had as a deterrent the fact that seven other members of the Moran gang were lined up against a garage wall on St. Valentine's Day, 1929, and mowed down with machine gun handled by a gangster in a policeman's uniform.

Oil News Notes

ported flowing five to twenty barrels an hour at 4,100 feet in the Texas Consolidated Oil company's test on the Walker ranch eight miles northeast of Breckenridge. The same company has another hole started southeast of this one, in wildcat territory.

The fourth well in the Holly area the Standard Oil company's Farmer A-2, section 5-13-13, DeSoto parish, Louisiana, has been completed for 1,000 barrels daily at 2,860 feet. It is between two earlier producers.

The Humble company Todd No. 3, estimated at potentially 5,000 barrels a day, flowed 500 barrels yesterday through a three-eighths inch choke, and was reported the best producer to date in the Boggy Creek area near Palestine, Texas. It is the farthest southwest well in the field and extended the area of production several hundred feet that direction.

A semi-wildcat between Sunshine Hill and Electra, the George Proctor No. 1 W. B. Honaker section 1, C. M. & R. survey, has come in at 120 barrels at 885 feet. The Edwards Schlaffke No. 2 Honaker, 300 feet west of the new producer, has been spudded in.

Dairy, Poultry Plans Growing

County-Wide Gathering Is to Be Held of Community Committeemen at Lubbock, July 19, Eaton Announces

A meeting of farmers, selected from various communities of Lubbock county to represent dairy and poultry farmers, is being planned for Saturday, July 19, according to County Agent D. F. Eaton.

"We hope to have the committees well enough organized by that time," says Mr. Eaton, "to call these committeemen in to Lubbock and form the county-wide organization planned for working out ways and means of bettering marketing conditions for all dairy and poultry products."

It is also Mr. Eaton's plan to have every community represented at Plainview on Friday, July 25, when William F. Schilling, member of the Federal Farm Board representing dairying and poultry raising, will speak.

Hardy, County line, Grovesville and Becton communities have selected committeemen to represent them in the county-wide group, and a meeting will be held at Hurlwood Monday night which will result in selection of that community's representatives.

Explorers, on Vacation, Go Exploring!

Those Alps, too, needed a little exploring. And here you see Sir Hubert Wilkins, center, and Lincoln Ellsworth, right—supposedly on vacation from the business of exploration—as, with Lady Wilkins, they climbed a remote slope of Mount Pilatus. Wilkins and Ellsworth met in Switzerland to discuss their projected trip in a submarine across the North Pole, from Alaska to Spitzbergen, next year.

WILL STUDY CASE

Fate of Thomas Mooney with California Governor

LOS ANGELES, July 5. (AP) — Governor C. C. Young said today he will study thoroughly the case of Thomas J. Mooney, who has petitioned for a pardon from life sentence for the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing.

The governor said he will confer with members of the state pardon board. He indicated it would be several days before his decision will be announced.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Hunter and family will leave today for a vacation, to be spent in Creede, Colo.

Farm Board Will Play Role Of "Paul Revere" Not Agricultural Evangelist

KANSAS CITY, July 5. (AP)—Proclaiming the role of "Paul Revere" more fitting than that of "evangelist to agriculture," Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, today said the Federal Board and the Department of Agriculture is "not going to tell the farmer how to run his business."

Secretary Hyde was here a short time preparatory to beginning a tour of the southwestern wheat states next week in company with Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal Farm Board and other agricultural agency representatives. He departed for his home in Trenton, Mo., to visit before leaving tomorrow night for Hastings, Nebraska, where the first of a series of wheat meetings will be held Monday.

Mr. Hyde said the Department of Agriculture-Farm Board mission would be more aptly described as a party of "Paul Reveres" than as "evangelists of agriculture," he said he was not certain that any definite recommendations on acreage reduction would be made to the farmers this trip, adding, "we are not going to tell the farmer how to run his business."

"By an accident of fate," he said, "we are posted as sentries on the lookout towers to see what is coming. We would be derelict in this duty if we didn't warn the farmer.

"We simply are going to leave with the farmer the facts of the situation and let him use his own judgment." Mr. Hyde said the outlook for the wheat farmer was not particularly bright if wheat acreage continued to increase in the face of decreasing consumption.

Youths Plan To Cross In Glider

NEW YORK, July 5. (AP) — Two Long Island youths with a somewhat unusual idea about Atlantic crossings sailed today hoping to put their plan into effect.

With Hugh Kelzney and Robert Lewis aboard the liner Saturnia were two gliders equipped with pontoons. They announced that as soon as the ship passed Ambrose Light they would climb into one of the gliders, launch it, and be towed to the Mediterranean by the liner. The extra glider was taken just in case of an accident.

They said that while the glider was in the air or on the water they would be able to communicate with the ship by telephone and that if the weather got too rough they would simply abandon their flight for the time being and go aboard the ship.

They said they would be able to get food from the ship by means of a rope.

CORPUS CHRISTI, July 4 (AP)—The Lawrence No. 1 gasser, which blew in Thursday and demolished its derrick and machinery, caught fire, after being out of control all day. The well touched itself off as a result of friction. The well, a wildcat, struck gas at a depth of about 1,700 feet. It is situated eight miles west of Corpus Christi. The blaze could be seen many miles away.

Lubbock Speakers Carry Small Banner In Campaign

City Becomes Headquarters For Activities

Garrard, Goodman, Dupree, Woods, Wester, Leveps And Others Make Talks; Big Rally Is Planned

LUBBOCK supporters of Clint Small for governor are carrying the massage o fthe Wellington candidate into every portion of the South Plains and West Texas and this city has become established as one of the major centers in gubernatorial political activities, the schedule of speaking dates, as announced yesterday, reveals.

Tom T. Garrard, local attorney, spoke Friday afternoon before a theater audience at Littlefield. He was introduced by James H. Goodman, also of Lubbock.

Rountree Speaks Also

After delivering a speech in his home town, Lamesa, before a Fourth of July gathering, Carl Rountree, representative of this district, spoke Saturday afternoon before a large crowd at O'Donnell. He spoke at Slaton Thursday.

Mr. Garrard, accompanied by J. C. Levens, Lubbock, spoke again last night at Shallowater.

H. D. Woods, former mayor of Lubbock, and J. K. Wester, chairman of the Lubbock County Democratic executive committee, are scheduled to speak Monday afternoon at Amherst.

George Dupree, local attorney, will speak next Saturday at Muleshoe.

An all-West Texas rally, with every county organization in session, is planned for the immediate future, the local Small-For-Governor headquarters announced Saturday.

Edgar Witt Talks On His Candidacy

PARIS, July 5.(AP) —Senator Edgar Witt of Waco, candidate for Lieut. Governor, in an address here today said the voters should consider the qualifications a candidate for that office possesses with the thought he might be called on to be governor.

"The always existing possibility that the lieutenant governor might be called to fill the governor's chair makes it of prime importance that the candidate for lieutenant governor best qualified to be governor be chosen," he said.

Through his long service in the senate Senator Witt said he was well acquainted with the problems confronting Texas and involving education, taxation and prison and judicial reform.

Oysters cannot live in the Baltic Sea, the reason being that it is not salty enough. They can live only in water which contains at least 27 parts of salt to every 1000 of water.

High, There

Ambitious Betty Fox, 20, evidently believes in winning a high place for herself in the world of flagpole sitters. Here's the girl champion of that lofty profession as she started a 125-hour perch atop a Louisville, Ky., hotel, seeking to break a record of 100 hours she made in St. Louis.

Roberts Installed As U. S. Justice

Newly risen to membership in the nation's highest tribunal, Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia is shown here, with Mrs. Roberts, when he was inducted into office as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court at ceremonies in Washington. He succeeded the late Justice E. T. Sanford of Tennessee. Justice Roberts, now 55, made a national reputation as special government counsel in the famous naval oil reserve cases.

THREE ARE SENTENCED

Wife Calls Him A "Poor Sap" But He Gets Sentence

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—Despite the pleas of his wife who tearfully told the court, "he was just a poor sap," Solomon Rubman, secretary and treasurer of the Federated Mail Order corporation and the Superfine Watch company, was sentenced today with his two partners to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

Rubman, Paul Rubkin, and Joseph Y. Perlman of Mount Vernon, N. Y., pleaded guilty to a charge of having smuggled $950,000 worth of watch cases and movements into the United States.

Rabkin and Perlman were sentenced to two years each and Rubman to 18 months.

Senator Love Sarcastic in Cleburne Talk

By HARRELL E. LEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

CLEBURNE, July 5. (AP)—Senator Thomas B. Love, candidate for governor, hurled sarcastic shafts thick and fast at Lynch Davidson tonight in reply to Davidson's statement urging voters to place Jim Young and Clint Small in the run-off.

The militant dry gubernatorial aspirant delivered an open air address to a Saturday night crowd on the Johnson county court house plaza. B. Jay Jackson, Cleburne attorney, introduced Love and J. M. Moore, another Cleburne lawyer, presided.

Message To Friends

Addressing the Johnson county voters, Love said he considered he was bringing a message to friends, since this county gave Herbert Hoover a 1,200 majority out of approximately 5,000 votes cast in the last presidential race. Love stressed that he was the only one of 11 candidates for governor who voted for President Hoover in 1928.

Referring to Davidson's statement the Hoover-Democratic leader said that "happily, it has been demonstrated that little harm can come to any candidate in Texas from anything that Lynch Davidson might say." He said Davidson as a candidate for governor stumped the state against Dan Moody but that Moody received a majority in the first primary.

Love said that in Harris county, Davidson's home, he received only 3,236 votes, against 8,640 for Mrs. Ferguson and 22,508 for Dan Moody.

Davidson Speaks

In a speech at Waco yesterday, Davidson spoke of "Ferguson, Love and Mayfield, political triplets and tricksters, professional office seekers and holders, worn-out politicians."

"That I am not a worn-out politician is demonstrated by the fact that on the day Davidson made that Speech," Love said, "I traveled more than 300 miles by automobile and made three speeches to very large and enthusiastic crowds."

He said he got larger crowds at Corsicana and near Mexia yesterday and last night than any of the other candidates had drawn.

"I have participated in politics for just 40 years and within my knowledge, this is the first charge of political trickery that has ever been laid at my door," Love continued.

Denies Charges

Touching on the "triplets" charge, Love said he worked against Lynch Davidson, Earle Mayfield and Jim Ferguson in the 1924 general election and urged the people not to choose Mrs. Ferguson for governor. He said further that in the 1926 primary, when he supported Dan Moody, Lynch Davidson divided the anti-Ferguson vote by attacking Moody and Mayfield was "silent as the tomb." He also stated that Davidson, Ferguson and Mayfield were aligned against him in the 1928 presidential election.

"Lynch Davidson charges that I am a professional office seeker," the candidate recalled. "The record shows that I have been a candidate for office only twice during the last 20 years, while he has run four times, and of the two candidates which he urges you to support, one has been a candidate six times and the other seven."

Senator Love urged his hearers not to vote "for any man who is committing a felony by spending more than $8,000 in the first primary."

"Let's not allow any candidate to buy the highest office of the sovereign state of Texas," he entrated. He said it would seem probable if not obvious that many candidates had spent more than $8,000 already."

Debates Mark Convention of State Lawyers

Texas Bar Association Meet Breaks Into Hurricane of Arguments Over Proposed Change in Constitution

SAN ANTONIO, July 5. (AP)—The Texas Bar association after two days of sedate discussion of intricate legal questions broke into a hurricane of debate here this afternoon over a proposal to change the constitution and by-laws of the association.

Charges of "Houston ring tactics" were made resulting in angry retorts from the Houston members and forthcoming apologies from the opposing side. Finally the older heads prevailed, and the matter was postponed after a stormy session that carried the meeting two and a half hours beyond the time allotted. The convention expected to adjourn at 4 o'clock to attend the San Antonio-Waco ball game, but it was 6:30 when the end came and the game was over.

Pollard Called

The storm centered about changes to the constitution and by-laws written by Former Attorney General Claude Pollard, and the author was called to the stage to defend his work. The changes provided that instead of the present board of directors elected from the state at large there be a board of governors, one elected from each supreme court district in the state which, with the officers, should provide an executive committee.

Following the custom all officers were elected by President C. S. Bradley retiring and others promoted in order of their rank. R. L. Ball of San Antonio became president, George E. Smalley of Austin vice president, Harry P. Lawther of Dallas, chairman of the board of directors. The following directors were re-elected: W. L. Cook of Houston and H. C. Pipkin of Amarillo and C. C. Freeman of Sherman and Henry T. Burney of San Antonio added to the directorate. George C. Gaines, Jr., of Austin was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Resolution Passed

The association also passed a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of 31 composed of one member from each senatorial district to form the legislative committee and for the employment of a paid representative who must give his entire time to keeping in touch with the state legislature in interest of the association.

The convention closed Saturday night with the annual banquet at the St. Anthony hotel.

Pat Neff Will Speak In City

Former Governor To Make Talk Here Wednesday Night At 8 O'Clock; Address Will Be Non-Political

Pat Neff, State railroad commissioner, will speak in Lubbock Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, following a session of the railroad commission in this city on that day.

Joe W. Bowman, personal friend of Mr. Neff for many years, announced yesterday that the former governor would speak in front of the Hotel Lubbock on Avenue K, between Main and Broadway.

"Mr. Neff has not announced a subject," said Mr. Bowman. "He did say, however, that his address would be non-political."

It was during Neff's administration as governor that Texas Technological college was established.

We Thank The Plainsman:

If you have not already read the Original, DO SO—

That (Girl) on Broadway says the easiest way to acquire a commanding personality is to be born feminine.

A rose by any other name is just as sweet and a sucker by any other name would still respect 20 percent interest.

THE Plainsman doesn't know how the average person feels about it, but he is of the opinion that part of Lubbock—is at least that part of it which depends upon public eating houses for their daily chow—owe the Hilton and Lubbock hosts a debt of gratitude for making life just a little sweeter. We refer to the fact that they offer orchestra music with meals twice daily.

Of course the soothing tones of an orchestra don't make ham and eggs taste like ambrosia. They still taste like ham and eggs. But there is something powerfully pleasing, at least to The Plainsman, about playing around his victuals while Sadie Thompson and his Hotel Lubbock Rhythm boys are playing and singing "Down In Old Joe's Bar Room," or while Phil Phillips at Hotel Hilton presents "The Stein Song" with eight megaphone going over time!

We could live all of us, very nicely and never hear any music. We could keep soul and body together and pay practically all our bills in something near regular time. It's not essential to have swanky eating places—but it sure does help if you've got no where else to go, or the wife is worn out after a bridge party and wants to get the chore down town.

* * *

One of the fascinating things about any city is the fact that it offers 'froth and foam,' if you please, which is not available in the smaller centers. The city, where competition is rife, offers features which will never be needed or found in the smaller places. One of these features which make Lubbock a mecca for the people of the South Plains is the fact that there is orchestra music with the meals at the two leading hotels. The Plainsman feels like the hotel managements should know that at least one pilgrim along life's pathway appreciates their efforts to put a punch in the three-a-day and this column never has approved of handing people roses after they're dead.

A LOT of folks may turn up their noses at The Plainsman's sudden conversion to the aesthetic, but we just ask them to remember that the women folks could, if they wanted to, live happily and healthfully in cotton stockings and the men could forsake shaves without anything more serious than a divorce occurring. Music with meals, as we see it, is like silk stockings on a lady. It's not essential but it sure does help!

CONSIDER

The great popularity of our Policies and our rapidly growing membership since May 1st of over 900 members.
Of Course There's a Reason
You Pay No Assessment Whatever for the First Three Months of Organization

No Assessments On Claims UNTIL AUGUST 1st

OUR STRAIGHT ENDOWMENT POLICY

Which anyone may take in their own name, pays you approximately $250 after 3 months; $500 after 6 months; $750 after 9 months and $1,000 after 1 year, according to terms of the contract. There is no "red tape" connected to this policy. Just dates of your policy evidences claim. You may conveniently establish a fixed income by carrying one of these contracts.

OUR BIRTH OR PARENTAGE POLICY CONTRACT

Gives you financial aid at a most opportune time. Birth (or parenthood) may occur at any time after day you receive your policy. After you have carried policy 3 months from date you receive it, it pays you approximately $250, after 6 months $500, after 9 months $750 and after 1 year $1,000. Due proof of birth whether mature or premature (mis-carriage) shall constitute claim of parenthood. PROVIDE FOR THIS CONVENIENT CASH ENDOWMENT TODAY.

OUR UNSURPASSED AND LIBERAL MARRIAGE POLICY

This policy is one of the greatest aids to newlyweds ever provided, giving you financial lift into the joys of married life, taking care of the added immediate obligations for you. Under our policy contract you may marry at any time after day you receive your policy and then after you have carried it three months from day taken out, it will pay you approximately $250, after 6 months, $500; after 9 months, $750, and after 1 year $1,000. If you carry one of our marriage policies and something should occur to prevent your marriage your policy is payable anyway after term of one year from date you receive it, paying you $1,000.

OUR PLAN

The above benefits are from full classes on 1,000. You receive according to number in your class at time you present.

YOU OWE IT TO YOURSELF

If you are planning a vacation or a business enterprise. If you are launching out into married life or if the expense of Parenthood must be met, to provide yourself a National Policy to meet the occasion.

REMEMBER

Before purchasing a Policy Contract, ask about our plan of regulating the assessments for you.
All business and information is strictly confidential. Salesmen and salesladies wanted. Wonderful opportunities for district managers—see us.

MODERNIZE YOUR HOME
Now
ON MONTHLY PAYMENTS

READ THESE 3 FACTS:

You can enjoy home improvements on just a few dollars a month, like building a home, or buying a car.

1. COSTS LESS AT THIS TIME.
Right now carpenters are not rushed. They can start your work at once, do a better job, and finish sooner.

2. INCREASES VALUE OF HOUSE.
Modernizing adds to the value of any house, makes it more comfortable to live in, easier to sell. Modernizing is one of the safest investments a home owner can make.

3. EASY TO PAY THIS WAY.
There is no necessity of cutting into your savings fund to pay for modernizing. The small, monthly payments take care of the total bill easily—conveniently.

Libel Suits

was located, and that J. Evetts Haley was employed to write a history of the ranch.

Haley, then secretary of the Panhandle Historical society at Canyon, wrote the book and it was published a year ago. The book has had a wide circulation over Texas especially and also over the United States, the petition sets forth.

The petition quotes at length from the book containing an alleged attempt on the part of New Mexico authorities many years ago to curb cattle rustling activities. The quoted parts are from a chapter, "A Long Fight For Law," and the mentioned sections are on pages 118, 119, and 120.

Shooting Cited

In the chapters are recited alleged events of the shooting of two of the Spikes brothers and the wounding of a third, the plaintiff in the suit filed.

The petition recited that "said portion of said book herein above set out is slanderous, libelous and untrue and casts a reflection upon this plaintiff; that this plaintiff was one of the Spikes brothers named in said article and is the one of said Spikes brothers named as having been shot in the back; that said entire article above set out was written maliciously and wilfully and for the purpose of slandering this plaintiff and was written in utter disregard of the feelings and privileges of this plaintiff, without any foundation in fact."

Gang Claimed

Mr. Spikes claims that the book was written "without any investigation as to the truthfulness of said statements, that by the term "Spikes gang" used in said article, was meant this plaintiff and his brothers; that by the term 'rustler organization' was meant this plaintiff and his brothers and was meant an organization formed and existing for the purpose of thieving and stealing cattle; that said article charged this plaintiff with his brothers, was a member of an organization, organized and existing for the purpose of stealing cattle; that they were murderers and cow thieves and that this plaintiff was a murderer and a cow thief."

The plaintiff asks $100,000 actual damages and the same amount as exemplary damages.

Besides the plaintiff in the suit filed in Lubbock county, four more plaintiffs will file suits in a few days, G. E. Lockhart, attorney said.

Fred Spikes is the son of the late John Spikes and Mrs. Julia Ann Spikes, his widow, who resides now at the age of 88 with her granddaughter, Mrs. Temple Ellis, in Lubbock. Mrs. Spikes is one of the plaintiffs and her suit is to be filed in this county in a few days.

Sam Spikes and Ernest Spikes, now of California and brothers of Fred, will also file suits in this county in a few days.

John Velton Spikes, Robert H. Spikes and Freda Spikes Hunt and her husband, L. E. Hunt, also are plaintiffs in another suit in this county. They are children of Fred Spikes and their suit will also be filed in a few days.

Jeff Spikes, living in Crosby county, is to file action in that county, probably Monday, against the same defendants, it was announced.

The book was published in the summer of 1929 and attracted wide attention. The alleged scene of the trouble, described in the petition, was in New Mexico, near Tucumcari around what is known as Mesa Redonda, south of that town. The events happened approximately thirty years ago.

Charges Denied

Mr. Spikes in his petition stated that he and his brothers were engaged in ranching in New Mexico and were running cattle on government lands in that state. The cattle were their own property, the petition claims.

The Capitol Reservation Lands was known at that time as the Capitol Freehold Land and Investment company, Limited, the petition says. Mr. Spikes further claims that the company "desired to run them out of New Mexico and desired to put them out of the cattle business in New Mexico, unlawfully ambushed them and killed two of the plaintiffs brothers and shot this plaintiff in the back."

The Capitol Reservation lands were so named because the land was transferred to the late John V. Farwell, of Chicago, who was to build the then new state capitol building in Austin. The area was mostly in and Panhandle of Texas and the value was then estimated at a dollar an acre.

Built Capitol

Farwell and associates built the capitol building. They began to ranch in the Panhandle, along in the 80's and held large holdings of cattle. Later the lands were cut up into smaller sections and sold to farmers and other ranchers. The area now held by the company is relatively small compared to forty or fifty years ago.

J. Evetts Haley was secretary of the Panhandle Historical society with headquarters at Canyon and as such wrote the book at the request of the company. He spent some months in gathering material for the book and it has had a wide circulation over West Texas. Haley has since left his post and is now living in Austin.

OPPOSES BOND ISSUE

Clint Small Speaks at Brady In Interest of Race

BRADY, July 5. (AP)—Reiterating his opposition to the state highway bond issue and advocating an industrialized prison system on the present location, Senator Clint C. Small of Wellington, candidate for governor, spoke at the Brady July jubilee today.

He said the penitentiary system could be put on a paying basis by manufacturing clothing and growing food for state institutions.

He said Texas now was building 1,000 miles of good roads annually from the current revenue and declared the highway problem could be solved in 12 years without the necessity of a bond issue.

Negro Search

uge. John Robertson was killed as he fled the house, and Esau Robertson was hanged to a tree by the mob.

First reports of the trouble were exaggerated, the death list being given as high as eight.

Sheriff In Charge

Sheriff W. D. Scales, who took charge of the search last night and attempted to control the unruly mob of 200 to 300 men, today checked the casualties and found four dead and two wounded.

Reports that two negroes had been burned to death also were proved unfounded by a search of the ruins of John Robertson's home.

The trouble started late yesterday when Clarence Boyd met Esau Robertson and demanded payment for a storage battery he had sold him.

The negro said he did not have the money, and Boyd seized the battery. Later the negro called Boyd outside the store in which they were standing and found the negro's brother, Oliver and his father, there. The three were said to have jumped on Boyd and beaten him.

Two Disappear

Grover Boyd, uncle of Clarence, and Carl Scales, went to Clarence's assistance and one of the negroes fired four bullets into Grover Boyd's back, killing him. Scales and other seized Esau, but the other two negroes disappeared.

Esau was held by the crowd which formed and last night was taken to the woods and hanged. In the meantime, Sheriff Scales and his deputies arrived and searched for the two other negroes was started. When the posse called at the home of John Robertson, brother of Tom, he met with gun fire and in turn was slain. Later, it was discovered that Marrs had been shot and Ayres wounded. Enraged, the mob fired the house.

While the flames roared in John Robertson's home, possemen formed and began a search of the section for the other two negroes, but late this afternoon they had not been captured.

A squad of state law enforcement officers from Montgomery and another squad from Birmingham dispatched by Governor Bibb Graves was en route here.

went to the well after some water and when I returned I heard him and my husband arguing, quarreling, calling each other liars and other names. I slipped around the corner of the house to listen but when the shooting started I ran away."

Tells Of Argument

"My husband went to ask him what he meant by his threats and to make him leave. When he refused, giving as his reason that he had been hired for two months and intended to stay that long, my husband said he would take him to town and turn him over to officers. After that they quarreled and the shooting followed.

"After it had all happened my husband came to me, put his arms around my neck and started crying, saying, 'I had to kill him or he would have killed me.'"

White's body was badly powder-burned, indicating that the shooting had occurred at close quarters. His body was taken in charge by Rix-Sanders and funeral arrangements are being held up pending location of relatives.

PISTOL DUEL FATAL

Oil Field Worker Charged in Death of Humble Man

HOUSTON, July 5. (AP) — H. S. Barnhill, 55, of Humble, is dead, and Dave Sammons, oil field worker, is charged with murder as a result of a pistol duel at Barnhill's camp, a mile west of Humble, today. A dispute over a game of cards was blamed.

Another man, W. W. Saxon, suffered a flesh wound in the abdomen when he attempted to take the part of peacemaker.

Sammons surrendered to Justice of the Peace F. K. Wise after driving Saxon to town. He claimed Barnhill fired first. Two guns, brought in by Sammons were surrendered to the justice.

Speeding autos, modern styles, airplanes and the telephoto amazed J. F. His sight began to return gradually a few days ago.

their 1931 meeting place, while the supervisors did not select a place but left it to the executive committee.

Lubbock was honored by the supervisors in the promotion of John R. Green, superintendent of mails, from second to first vice president and chairman of the executive committee.

Officers Named

Officers of the supervisors are: M. D. Carlisle, Houston, re-elected president; John R. Green, Lubbock, first vice president; George Wallace, Waco, second vice president; C. L. Watson, Dallas, re-elected secretary.

President Carlisle at once named C. E. Foster, Fort Worth and George L. Kolb, Sherman, as other members of the executive committee.

Delegates to the national convention at Dallas in August were: John R. Green, Lubbock, position one; R. M. Lubenbach, San Antonio, position two and M. D. Carlisle, Houston, position three; W. M. Hale, Houston, alternate.

To Divide State

President Carlisle, who has just completed his second term as president, outlined plans for dividing the state into five districts, each with a chairman, to work for new members.

George Wallace, of Waco, was named general chairman of the membership committees. The districts and chairmen are: northeast, George L. Kolb, Sherman, chairman; southeast, W. M. Hale, Houston, chairman; southwest, R. M. Luckenback, San Antonio and Panhandle-Plains, John R. Green, Lubbock.

Tentative date for the next convention is May 30, 1931. This is to be settled by the executive committee.

The supervisors decided to favor a plan of group insurance, with government supervision and to leave the proper presentation of the plan to the national organization.

Michener Speaks

A. J. Michener, former member of the national organization, spoke at length at the morning session. Mr. Michener highly complimented his friend John W. Phillip, Dallas, former postmaster, who is now fourth assistant postmaster general, and in charge of the big building program of the government.

"The postal service is of, by and for the people," Mr. Michener told the supervisors.

"W. Bruce Luna, your own Texan and vice president, may be made the next president of the national organization of supervisors," he added.

J. W. Adamson, chief postoffice inspector at Austin, in a short talk said "no other state in the union has more classified postoffices than Texas with the exception of Pennsylvania." He added that Texas in a few years would pass the keystone state. There are over 2,000 postoffices and 400 or so supervisors.

John Vaughan Heard

John L. Vaughan, Lubbock postmaster, told the supervisors, "don't forget how heavily your postmasters depend upon you for service."

C. E. Foster, of Fort Worth, delegate to the Baltimore convention last September, made a lengthy and interesting report on the convention.

The supervisors held an informal meeting late Friday and discussed their program of work. This enabled the convention to close earlier than expected.

The rural carriers re-elected Paul Attaway, of Winnsboro, as president.

Other officers named were: C. R. Martin, Mercedes, acting first vice president the past several months as first vice president; W. W. Brown, Decatur, acting second vice president to that office; W. L. Fletcher, Jr., Hamlin, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

T. M. Head, of Grandview, was elected trustee in place of George L. Howrey, Holdover trustees are: A. B. Calhoun, Port Lavaca and W. F. Skipper.

Business Completed

The rural carriers completed their business shortly after noon, after a four and a half hour session. It had been decided to start at 8 o'clock and the gathering was on hand a few minutes after that hour in the First Baptist church auditorium.

Committee reports, including the constitution and by-laws and auditing, the secretary-treasurer and the ladies auxiliary were made. Also the 100 per cent pennants were presented.

Delegates named to the national convention, to be held in Detroit, Mich., the week of August 25, were: President Paul Attaway, Secretary W. L. Fletcher, Jr., W. E. Suddarth, Tahoka, and W. W. Finley, Decatur.

Membership Gains

President Attaway announced the membership as 1,761. "This is the largest we have ever had and we hope to have a membership of over 1,800 to report at the national convention.

Some six or seven car loads of delegates left early Saturday morning for Carlsbad to visit the famous Carlsbad Caverns. The party left the Hotel Lubbock before daylight.

Delegates were warm in their praise of the entertainment features provided by Lubbock and on every hand there were many expressions of delight at the splendid welcome given the conventions.

Heads Clerks

Paul A. Connaway, Abilene, elected vice president of the clerks association, announced that his organization was preparing to form a state organization at the national convention in Dallas.

"Every man is going to bring his wife with him and as the national auxiliary is meeting, they will help the Texas ladies form a state group," Mr. Connaway said.

W. C. Barnett, of Lubbock, was named alternate to the clerks convention at Dallas.

Parents Join Search

Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne and another daughter, Pauline, together with Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Benefile, friends, left late Saturday for Ruidoso to join the search. Upon reaching Roswell last night at 12 o'clock they learned of the rescue. In a telephone conversation with the Avalanche-Journal, they stated they would remain in that city over night and continue to Ruidoso this morning.

Included in the Lubbock party at Ruidoso are Mildred Hines, Margaret Turner, Lois Cooper, Evelyn Sowell, Lizzie Bell Clements, Geneva Harper, Anna Fern Bickley, Lola Thompson, Lucile Houston, Clarence Whiteside, Maurice Glenn, King Sides, Charles Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter W. she gained safety another blast knocked her to the ground and hurled the baby from her arms. Both children were killed. Mrs. Renna was taken to a hospital at Spring Lake, but was not expected to live.

Frank Cimino, Jr., 9, was missing early tonight.

The factory specialized in mammoth fire works displays, and the two frame buildings apparently were laden with high explosives, the cellar of the home being used as a storeroom. Little was left of either, pieces of the dwelling being blown hundreds of feet away.

Cimino has operated the factory 18 years and this was the first serious explosion.

The factory was located on a sandy road, about two blocks west of the main highway running through Neptune. Fire trucks from neighboring towns had difficulty negotiating the sand.

Neptune, a little town of about 700 population, is in Monmouth county, not far from Asbury Park, and a few miles inland from the Atlantic coast.

especially with reference to highways. I am opposed to present highway system. State owns the highways and should maintain them. I am in favor of the State paying to each of the counties, out of the gasoline tax, for all of the hard surfaced roads heretofore constructed, to be paid for at the present value of such roads, and if this is done I favor the State building all of the State roads out of the gasoline tax and without requiring any county to vote a bond issue in order to get a hard surfaced road. I favor the people who use the roads paying for them. Let the gasoline users pay for them and keep the bonds off the homes and farms."

"I am in favor of and will support a measure having for its object the selling of the State penitentiary farms, with proper reservation of the minerals in such lands. I will favor the establishment at some convenient location in Texas, of a plant with sufficient capacity to manufacture all of the cement that is used will, be used by the State in building of highways, such a plant to be operated with convict labor. I favor working convict labor in building highways in this state. I favor dividing the State into five highway districts and that one highway commissioner be elected from each district, and that they be paid a salary sufficient to redfire all their time.

Would Increase Judges

"I favor submitting to voters a constitutional amendment increasing the Supreme Court Judges from three to nine. We are now paying for nine judges to run court yet in fact have only three.

"I favor increasing salaries of state officers from Governor down.

"I favor appropriating a sum of money to pay farmers of Dawson county on damages sustained by them on account of the quarantine placed on them caused from some "bug hunter" claiming that he found two dead pink boll worms in the county, and will do all in my power to have the quarantine fully raised in that county.

"I am in favor and will introduce a resolution in the next legislature of this State dividing the State into five states, and will do all I can to make Lubbock the capital of one of the States."

New Bands of Armed Raiders Menace Turkey

Turkish Government Orders Additional Troops in Vicinity of Mount Ararat to Stem Tide of Invaders

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 5 (AP)—The Turkish government has ordered additional troops into the vicinity of historic Mount Ararat to stem the forays of new bands of armed raiders in Kurdish Turkistan.

The situation is understood to be somewhat alarming, with the fierce tribes lurking in mountain fastnesses and giving much trouble to the Kemalist troops.

Reserves Called

At first the government relied upon 30,000 regular soldiers to oppose the 15,000 Djelali Kurds entrenched on Ararat, but incursions of new armed groups brought marching orders for 30,000 reserves in eastern Anatolia.

The government also has bombed some of the mountain hideouts from airplanes, since the progress of foot troops through the difficult terrain is slow.

Echoes Arrest

For a long time the Kurds, who are fierce and fanatical Moslems, have been hard to handle. The Turkish press believes they have been prompted to their latest rebellion by the arrest of Sheik Selaheddine, now on trial at Angora. He is the 20-year-old son of Sheik Said, who led the Kurdish revolt in 1925.

The arrest of Selaheddine and nine aides May 23, on a charge of attempting to create an independent Kurdish state, was the first government acknowledgment of trouble from the Kurds, although it had been going on for some time. The government is still reticent about giving out news.

McCLEARY OPENS STORE

PLAINVIEW, July 5. (Special.)—G. W. McCleary, former city manager of Lubbock, has opened up his branch of the General Electric sales group here. The place is in the Granada Theater building.

Mr. and Mrs. McCleary have moved into their new home at 1109 Portland street.

BALLOTS PRINTED

LAMESA, July 5. (Special.)—Dawson county's official democratic ballot has been printed. Ninety-nine candidates are listed, sixty-four of them seeking county and district offices.

They're Ready For Edison Test

These three young men have been selected by their communities as of such outstanding aptitude that they are considered qualified to enter the Thomas A. Edison scholarship contest of 1930. It is from the ranks of the youth of the country that the electrical wizard hopes to draw the mechanical geniuses of the future. They are, left to right, Luther P. Spalding, Jr., of Phoenix, Ariz.; Robert Herman Smith, Las Vegas, N. M., and H. A. Wilson, Jr., Jackson, Miss.

9th Street To Be Paved At Slaton

SLATON, July 5.—(Special)—Under a supplemental contract with the J. W. Zempter Construction company, of Amarillo, now engaged in paving State Highway No. 7 between Slaton and Lubbock, the State Highway Department has ordered the paving of Ninth street through Slaton from the northern to the southern city limits, connecting with the city's paving through the business district. Ninth street is the route followed by the highway through Slaton.

The pavement will be of concrete 20 feet wide. Work will start about July 15, according to the contractors. After paving the street through the city, the company will proceed to finish paving between here and Lubbock. About six miles of paving has been laid. Total distance is sixteen miles.

CANTON NEWS SOLD

CANTON, O., July 5. (AP)—Sale of the Canton Daily News, established 97 years ago, to the Brush Moore Newspapers, inc., publishers of the Canton Repository, was announced here yesterday by James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio and owner of the News.

Talk Is Cheap

Conversations May Be Slowed Down

OLYMPIA, Wash., July 5. (AP)—Talk is cheap again in Everett.

Telechronometers which have popularized rapid speech by measuring telephone conversations, yesterday were ordered removed by the state department of public works.

Everett telephone subscribers, through use of the measuring device, for eight years had been charged by the size of their conversations.

RECORD SHIPMENT MADE

LOVINGTON, N. M. July 5.—(Special)—What is believed to be a record in fast freight movement over the T. & P. system, was accomplished when the first shipment of two hundred fifty thousand pounds of wool consisting of five cars left Lovington at noon Thursday, June 26, and arrived at the docks in New Orleans, at one fifty in the morning Sunday, June 29, or two days thirteen hours and fifty minutes from the time it left Lovington.

National Education Association On Record Against Tobacco Advertising

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBIA, O., July 5.—In the face of strong opposition the National Educational association went on record Thursday approving the use in the schools of only selected periodicals which do not carry tobacco advertising.

This action was contained in the report of the committee on resolutions and was part of one resolution which also condemned the "use of fradulent advertising of certain manufacturers in their efforts to foster cigarette smoking."

The entire report of the committee with a few amendments was approved.

One of the amendments expanded the association's sentiment on prohibition to include not only vigorous and impartial enforcement of that law but to carry on in the schools a program of education in its behalf.

That portion of the tobacco resolution dealing with alleged fraudulent advertising was adopted without debate. But the section commending the use only of periodicals which do not carry tobacco advertising drew heated discussion from the floor.

Lane Accepts Post In Lorenzo School

(By Staff Correspondent)

LORENZO, July 5.—H. B. Lane, formerly of Midland has assumed duties as executive head of the Lorenzo school system. He succeeds O. W. Fagala, who resigned as superintendent to go to Amherst.

Mr. Lane has been in Lorenzo for several weeks, following the close of his school work at Midland.

While here he arranged for a location for his family and had them moved here before the first of the month.

Lorenzo has good prospects for a record breaking school year beginning next fall. Aside from the employment of an athletic coach, the staff is complete for the year. The new superintendent has been meeting several candidates for the coaching job and a new man is expected to be employed by the board in a week or so.

In 1902 a 100-mile automobile endurance test was held on Long Island. The average speed was about 15 miles an hour.

Stockingless Fad Out, Say Local People

Declare That Hose Add Grace To Appearance, And That Styles Of Season Demand Dainty Accessories

"The stockingless fad went out with last year's sun-tan," said Miss Lexia Perkins, of Carter-Houston's store. "True, on one occasion this year, I offered to sell a lady a pair of hose, and she smilingly replied, 'I don't wear them,' but this is a rare exception.

"There are several things which account for this back-to-hose tendency. In the first place, there is not one perfect knee in a hundred, and hose greatly add to the beauty of the knee, to say nothing of the fact that the texture of the skin is rarely ever as lovely as a carefully made pair of sheer hose.

"These facts are recognized to a greater extent this year, due to the nature of the styles. Frocks are more feminine, and all accessories, including hose, must likewise be chosen for their daintiness. The stockingless fad is much too boyish for this year's fashions.

"Smart To Be Dull"

"It's smart to be dull — when speaking of hose," Miss Perkins continued. "It is not necessary to wash the newest hose in order to remove the undesirable gloss. These hose are woven with grenadine thread, which adds to their lasting qualities, as well as to appearance.

"Costume llosiery of crepe net is smart for sports wear. It is seen both in patel and bright shades of all colors."

Are More Graceful

"Bare legs freckle and tan, and consequently are ugly," said H. A. Jarett, of the Cinderella shop. To wear hose is to be more graceful. Girls got enough of the bare-leg fad last year.

"Ninety-nine percent of the hose we sell are chiffon, and beige claire and ivory are to most popular shades.

"It's hard to account for anything the women do," said Sidney Hoffman, of Grollman's. "However, a woman is more attractive when she wears hose.

"Light shades were the most popular during the late spring and early summer, but we are beginning to sell a number of the darker hose now. Some of the women still prefer anklets.

Young People Are Attending Meeting From Eight Cities

Representatives from eight cities, Amarillo, Dallas, Clarendon, Lubbock, Happy, Clayton, Spearman, and Olton, are attending the Presbyterian Young People's camp at Ceta Canyon, according to word received Saturday from Miss Virginia McLean. The camp will close Sunday.

Among teachers and workers present are Rev. R. A. Partlow, camp director; Rev. R. S. McKee, Bible hour; Rev. H. S. Sprinkall, missions; Miss Elizabeth Hornsburger, "Four-Fold Life"; Mrs. T. A. Phillips, memory work; Miss Virginia McLean, project work.

Rev. Fred Clark, of Clayton, N. M., and Rev. M. L. Baker, of Spearman, are devotional speakers.

Wiggintons Home After Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wigginton have returned to Lubbock from a two weeks' honeymoon trip to points in New Mexico and Colorado, the ceremony having been read in Tahoka June 22. They are at home at 2208 Main street.

Mrs. Fred Spikes, Mrs. L. E. Hunt and Miss Alma Spikes are entertaining at bridge Tuesday morning at 1612 Broadway. Mrs. Lorenz Ellis also is to entertain.

Buffet Dinner Is Given For Group

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Ribble entertained members of the 1930-42 club with a lovely buffet dinner Thursday in their home on 18th street. Gladioli were favored in decorations.

Bridge was played following the dinner by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Spikes guests, and the following members: Messrs. and Mesdames Ribble, Cantelou, Gordon Flenniken, Joe Telford, and Albert Fryar.

Pack Sport And Dressy Gowns In Vacation Kit

By MME. LISBETH

Unless you are going on a camping trip where there would be no chance for "dress-up" parties, you should include at least one dressy gown in your vacation wardrobe.

To get the very best results from a vacation you should plan to be out of doors enjoying the sports, whether you take an active part in them or merely look on from the benches. Therefore, sports clothes should occupy more than half of the space in your trunk or bags.

Pictured are a few practical sports clothes and one lovely formal frock that would be appropriate for a garden party—worn with a hat—for the dance or for any of the other semi-formal festivities of the average summer resort.

At the left Margaret Lee, screen player, is pictured wearing an attractive golfing outfit, consisting of tuck-in sweater of orange and brown worn with a skirt of beige kasha and a top jacket or cardigan of the same. Sturdy brown and beige sports oxfords are worn with this smart costume.

A swim suit, of course, is one of the necessities of the vacation kit, but the pajama ensemble to wear on the beach over the bathing suit, is no less indispensable this season. The suit shown second from left is an attractive black and white polka dot design with wide, skirtlike trousers and short jacket banded with white. Black and white beach sandals are worn with it.

A little frock of wash silk is always a good bet for vacation wear. It is so easily washed out, needs no starch, and always looks well. The one pictured, third, is a blue and white striped shirting silk with button trimming, and is worn by Lillian Roth, of the screen.

Organdie Used for "Dress-up"

The frock for "dress-up" wear is a red embroidered organdie made in empire style, with tiny upstanding ruffle at the high waistline, which is further marked by long ribbon streamers and a cluster of cherries. Another ruffle is posed at the top of the low-set skirt fullness, and still others finish the tiny puffed sleeves.

With this frock is shown a wide brimmed hat of organdie with ribbons for trimming. This latter may not prove so practical as a vacation encumbrance, but there are many pretty small hats that would be appropriate accompaniments to the dress, and could be easily packed, if one needed such a hat.

The very latest fad for beach sandals is shown in the inset. Soles, heels and straps are decorated in supposedly Chinese markings. They are blue and white, and are colored to match the bathing ensemble with which they are worn.

Reunion Held On Fourth In Lubbock Home

Twenty-Nine Persons Gather In Home Of Mr. And Mrs. Claude Tatum; One Son Is Unable To Attend

Four generations were represented when Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tatum entertained with a family reunion Friday at their home, 1718 Avenue N.

A chicken dinner was served to 29 persons from one large table.

Those Present

Those present were Mrs. J. H. Lewis of McKinney, mother of Mrs. Tatum; and the following children of Mr. and Mrs. Tatum, with their families: Mr. and Mrs. Alex Newman and son, of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Cummings and children, of Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. George Newman and sons, of Lockney; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fellen and children, of Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tatum, of Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Newman and children, of Lubbock; Paul Newman, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Tatum, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde G. Tatum, and children, Lubbock.

One son, Andrew Newman, of Oklahoma City was unable to attend.

Plain Dresses Brightened With Colorful Accessories

A white georgette frock (left) for the races gets its touch of color and originality from a polka dotted scarf and hat brim, black dots on white linen. A black patent leather belt, black satin pumps and white bag stitched in black carry out the black-white harmony. A jabot collar and cuffs of the most exquisitely worked linen and real lace distinction to the navy blue taffeta afternoon dress, shown center, with an unusual design in white printed in it. The blue straw hat is edged and stitched in white. Right, for the most formal afternoon occasions, Jean Patou makes a fine black lace dress over chiffon and a black lace over an invisible crinoline base for a black felt hat.

Bandit Bands Overrun Areas

Thousands Being Massacred By Hordes As They Sweep Over New Territory; Refugees Report Terrors

(By Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, July 5.—China's Civil War raged fiercely today in Honan province with victory uncertain, while bandits killed hundreds at Yochow in Hunan.

Nationalist dispatches reported the government left wing hurled back northern rebels almost to their Kaifeng headquarters. Seizing important positions, nationalists dug in, preparatory to expected capture of the city.

Eastward of Kaifeng, however, rebels asserted they defeated nationalists, forcing them to retreat in great disorder from near the Chihli province border. Recovering lost ground, rebels drove government troops eastward.

Meanwhile, bandit hordes 400 miles south rolled over Yochow in Hunan, massacreing hundreds. They looted the city, recently recaptured from southern rebels by nationalists, and burned most of it.

Foreigners fled before arrival of British and American gunboats from Hankow. Three American missionaries who arrived at Hankow on a Japanese steamer were Miss Erna Platter of Wassau, Wis.; Miss Sarah E. Kirck, Reading, Pa., and the Rev. Sterling Whitener of Hickory, N. C.

Other brigands fired upon foreign steamers from both banks of the Yangtse river. Vessels were subjected to heavy rifle fire while passing through rapids above Yankow. They may be forced to suspend operation.

Candidates Swell State Ticket To Largest In History

List of Texas Candidates Is Given Release

DALLAS, Texas, July 5.—

Candidates for places on the Democratic primary ticket this year are more numerous than in any previous year of which the Texas Election Bureau has records. The State ticket contains fifty names against the previous high mark of forty-one set in 1924. Only one candidate is unopposed, Mr. Marrs for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, whereas heretofore there have been from two to four. There were only twenty-five names on the State ticket in 1920. The number of candidates for Governor sets a new high mark for that office, two more than in 1924. Candidates for district offices also are more numerous than usual.

The Republican State primary ticket contains twenty-six names against thirteen in 1926. There are yet many blank places for district candidates. The Republicans held no primary election in 1928.

Following is a complete list of candidates for State and district offices on which the bureau will gather returns. Democratic and Republican, as reported by bureau correspondents.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES

State Officers

TO STAGE CLEAN-UP

Civic Organizations Aiding In Work In Lamesa

LAMESA, July 5.—All civic organizations in Lamesa are planning to co-operate in a clean-up drive here Monday, July 14. The Civic department of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, of which J. E. Barron is head, is sponsoring the city beautification move. During a recent meeting of representatives of the different clubs in the city, Barron stressed co-operation in the clean-up. A campaign for more sidewalks in Lamesa may also be included in the city-wide movement for improvement.

STATION REMODELED

TAHOKA, July 5.—The Texas filling station here has just been remodeled by H. B. Howell, owner of the building, and opened under the management of A. B. Swan and O. A. Luallin, garage owners.

There is a total of 3,016,281 miles of highways in the United States of which 660,000 miles are surfaced.

Highway 9 Is Included In Next Lettings

Right-Of-Way Must Be Secured For Route From Hale County To Lynn County; Slaton Route Progressing

The Lubbock County Commissioners court signed a contract Saturday to allot this county's portion of funds in preparation for letting of contract by the State Highway department for grading and drainage structures on Highway 9 from Lynn county to Hale county lines and also on Highway 7 from Lubbock to Shallowater.

Contract for the structures on these units of the county-wide paving program will be let the latter part of July, provided the commissioners obtain a 100-foot right-of-way for the routes. "Work will not start on the highways until the additional right-of-way is obtained", said County Judge Rotert H. Bean. "The commissioners court will be concerned for the next few weeks with measures for increasing the right-of-way."

Paving on Highway 7, between Lubbock and Slaton, will be completed probably by October 1.

HOLDS SWIMMING CLASS

Crosby School Man Is Holding Instructions At Lake

(By Staff Correspondent)

RALLS, July 5.—A dozen or so Ralls boys, besides several from Crosbyton, are taking instruction in life saving and swimming from A. B. Sanders, superintendent of the schools and an accredited teacher in that work.

The class is being held at Silver Falls, four miles east of Crosbyton, in Blanco canyon and one of the favorite resorts in this section of the state.

Some of the boys hold junior work rank in swimming and life instruction while others are seniors. Each senior has one of the younger boys with him and gives him the preliminary work.

Up to last year K. N. Clapp of Lubbock, was the only accredited swimming and life saving instructor on the South Plains according to reports. Most of the Ralls boys have had their work under his instruction.

Ralls Rotary Club Claiming Record

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

RALLS, July 5.—The Ralls Rotary club has a record for 100 per cent attendance that few clubs in this section of the country can claim.

Last Friday was the 42nd consecutive week in which the club had a 100 per cent attendance of its members. Officers plan to make the record stand for 52 weeks if possible.

J. Edd McLaughlin, the outgoing president, has just returned from Chicago where he attended Rotary International as the club representative.

The incoming president, who takes up his duties early in July, is Dr. H. F. Schwab, vice president the past year. The club is about two years old.

Wide Variety Of Movie Offerings In Lubbock This Week

"Border Legion" Now Showing At Palace Theater

Zane Grey Story Will Continue To Thursday

IN the exact spot where Black Bart and other early California outlaws actually perpetrated their deeds of daring, Paramount filmed its latest outdoor talking masterpiece, "The Border Legion," Zane Grey's popular and thrilling story of the West of gold-rush days. In the smashing action romance, which is showing at the Palace Theater, starting yesterday for four days, audiences will see authentic scenes and action just as they took place back in the 1870's.

Zane Grey's stories are high spots of screen entertainment. More than twenty-four of them have been filmed by Paramount. With the introduction of dialog, the characterful tales of the wide West have become even more realistically gripping than they were in silent form. To add to this realism, Paramount left no stone unturned to make "The Border Legion" true in every detail to the adventurous period it represents.

A stage hold-up is one of the gripping episodes, and, for this action, Paramount selected the old gold trail from Columbia to Stockton, which winds through a rock-walled defile in the Sierra-Nevada mountains in California. The pass is just wide enough to allow for the passage of one vehicle and its strategic advantages were recognized and utilized time and again by the daring bandit bands of the old West.

William Powell In Crime Talkie Here This Week

"Shadow Of The Law" Thrilling Picture

If you were caught in the toils of the law, were hauled before a judge tried for a crime you didn't commit, convicted of murder, and sentenced to prison for life, you would know the real thrilling drama of William Powell's newest starring picture, "Shadow of the Law," which will show at the Palace Theater for three days, starting next Wednesday.

But the drama of this story only begins with prison. The most breath-taking action begins with Powell's escape from the penitentiary; his fight to prove his innocence; a seemingly hopeless search for the woman in whose hands lies the proof of his story; his love-affair with a daughter of wealth; and his final happiness.

William Powell has never had such a powerful and thoroughly sympathetic character to portray on the screen. The young engineer of this story is a believable character caught in a net of circumstances which might happen to any one. Even "Street of Chance," Powell's first starring picture, lacked the dramatic force of "Shadow of the Law."

A great cast supports Powell. Natalie Moorhead, the blond beauty seen opposite the star in "The Benson Murder Case," is one of the two women who bring powerful forces to play in his life. Marion Shilling, young, beautiful American stage actress, is the other. Regis Toomey is in the cast, and a group of well-known and effective character actors add vitality to the story.

"Shadow of the Law" was inspired by the novel, "The Quarry," by John A. Moroso. Max Marcin, one of Broadway's best-known playwrights, wrote the story. Louis Gasnier directed, and he believes "Shadow of the Law" is the best story he has had to work with in years.

TO BUY CHAIN BANKS

Two Firms Seek To Install Chain In Pennsylvania

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 5. (AP)—Plans for acquisition of 75 or more banks in Western Pennsylvania, in anticipation of moves to legalize branch banking, are understood to have been made by the Mellon and Hillman banking interests here.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said it had learned the Mellon banking group, the largest in Pittsburgh, seeks to acquire a controlling interest in some fifty banks in Western Pennsylvania. The Hillman interests, headed by J. H. Hillman, jr., are said to be working similarly in banks of Pittsburgh and its immediate vicinity. Though the groups are acting independently, there was said to have been no conflict between them.

"Hot Curves" Is To Be Presented At Lyric Theater

Baseball Story Is Scheduled As Big Hit

The Lyric Theater is presenting today to Lubbock the Tiffany production "Hot Curves," featuring Benny Rubin, Rex Lease, Alice Day and Pert Kelton. It is all-talking with music interpolations that almost entitle it to be called an operetta. Benny Rubin sings a song in his inimitable way and Rex Lease sings "If I Only Knew That You Would Care For Me" to Alice Day.

"Hot Curves" is a baseball story with the climax taking place on the diamond during the final game of the World Series. It starts in the Southern training camp of the Cougars and follows the uncertain development of rookies Jim Dolan and Benny Goldberg. Then it follows their adventures, which are comic, romantic and thrilling.

AT THE THEATERS

'Hold Everything' Will Start Today At Lindsey Here

Hilarious Comedy Scheduled For Four Days

THE most hilarious prize fight in the history of the screen is shown in "Hold Everything," the all-color, all-talking Vitaphone musical comedy produced by Warner Bros., and scheduled to open an engagement at the Lindsey Theater today.

One of the contestants in this comedy battle is Joe E. Brown, the famous comedian who has risen to new heights with the advent of the talking picture, and the bout takes its place as the laughing high-spot of this entertaining film.

This ludicrous encounter is one of the preliminaries to a main event which shows Georges Carpentier, noted French boxer and erstwhile opponent of Jack Dempsey, striving to wrest new laurels from the heavyweight champion of the world, in a contest which is filled with thrills and excitement.

In addition to Carpentier and Brown, the cast of "Hold Everything" include Winnie Lightner, Sally O'Neil, Dorothy Revier, Edmund Breese, Bert Roach and Marion Byron. Roy Del Ruth directed.

Ted Lewis To Be Heard Here This Week In "Talkie"

"Is Everybody Happy" Opens Next Wednesday

Ted Lewis in "Is Everybody Happy?" is coming Wednesday to the Lindsey Theater. It is Mr. Lewis' first Vitaphone production for Warner Bros. and a picture well worth seeing. It is entertaining and lively with a story that suits the personality of the famous star of vaudeville.

There are many things in "Is Everybody Happy?" that you will find highly entertaining. Ted himself plays on several instruments and sings his songs in the manner that has earned him the title of the "high-hatted tragedian of jazz." He gets rather than sings and the result is most satisfactory.

Ted's band accompanies him through the picture and the members are a talented group of music makers. Ann Pennington does several interesting dances.

The story opens with Ted and his mother and father arriving in America. Ted is to have a great career in a symphony orchestra, for music is a tradition with the Molnar family. When he becomes a jazz musician after a fruitless search for concert work, his father is shamed and heart-broken. However all ends well with Ted a musical hit, just as he is in real life.

Alice Day also assists in making this picture a hit. She is a beautiful leading lady. Others in the supporting cast include Julia Swayne Gordon and Lawrence Grant.

It is estimated that more than 16,000,000 thunderstorms hit the world annually.

Book News Notes For This Week

Sam Heads South

Sam Love, frequently referred to as the star correspondent of the United Press in New York, resigned his post last week and announced that he was bound for South America on an adventure of his own. His brand new motor cruiser "La Casa Grace" will be swung aboard the Grace Liner "Santa Inez" next week and Mr. and Mrs. Love will be bound for Southern waters. The cruiser will be re-launched at Guayaquil, Ecuador, and the Loves will proceed up the Guayas River to explore some of the wild regions of the Ecuadorian hinterlands. Sam Love will collect material along the way for his travel adventure book, still untitled, which Century will publish later this year. His wife, Virginia Stuart Love, one-time music critic for the Boston Post and other papers, will report her adventures on the cruise in a series of magazine articles.

Most Difficult

Dr. Dyhrenfuth and his fellow climbers in the Himalayas have been forced to give up climbing Mount Kanchenjunga by the ice avalanches. The mountain is 150 miles nearer the sea than Everest and so gets the full force of storms. Blizzards and avalanches brought the work to a stop a full month earlier than Everest becomes inaccessible. These conditions were feared by Sir Francis Younghusband, a veteran in this region. Of Kanchenjunga he said "whoever tries to climb it must expect not the best but the worst." Sir Francis is the author of "Wonders of the Himalaya," and there is to be an article by him in the September number of ASIA Magazine.

Uses Sonnet

Phyllis Bottome takes the title of her new novel, "Tatter'd Loving," to be published late in July by Houghton Mifflin Company, from one of Shakespeare's sonnets, the couplet running

To show me worthy of thy sweet respect."

Flaming Murders

By a slight coincidence two unique murder mysteries of the month start out with a fire set to hide the crime and both are by former Texans.

One is "Smoke Screen," by Lawrence Saunders, who in real life is a couple of news reporters, formerly of Houston, now married and living in New York. The heroine-sleuth

Poet Anthony's "Casanova Jones" Kids Prohibition

Nation's Cries And Moans Switched To Laughs

"NOT even driest drys will spurn it—they'll buy the blooming book to burn it!"

With this bold statement comes the announcement that Century has published Poet Joseph Anthony's satirical novel in verse, "Casanova Jones," which lampoons the ponderous problem of National Prohibition. The balance of the lyrical announcement follows:

Book folk will quicky cease to croon, that doeful Dollar Doldrums tune. Buck-fever, dollar blues, and moans will yield to "Casanova Jones." He's dashing, naughty, daring, canny, and illustrated by Pogany. A gent is he who has no mission save raising hell with Prohibition. The perfectest of perfect lovers that ever got between two covers, the very gagest of all gay gents, the prince of Prohibition agents, the man to sweep the season's stakes to kill the nation's belly-aches, say we, in no uncertain tones, is swagger Casanova Jones. With Cass you'll meet sweet Annie Cloy, a Helen in a modern Troy.

For love of whom he drank so hearty, he ended raiding his own party! And in the famous Katz Arts club you'll meet the mighty statesman Stubb, who drank the strongest drink of rye, that e'er was swallowed by a dry. You'll meet with whiskered Bill O'Droole, and Mrs. Jones, whose heart was cruel. You'll meet with Binks, the great defender of virgin stomachs' drinkless splendor. In fact, you'll meet a lot of people, you'll hear alarums from the steeple, you'll witness sights of wild sedition, and see the end of Prohibition!

Assorted sexes, brows and ages will joy in these swift-moving pages. This novel in a novel style would make a wooden Injun smile. Not even driest dries will spurn it—they'll buy the blooming book to burn it!

Joseph Anthony, author of Casanova Jones, received laurels for his thrust at the panic-stricken Stock Market last Fall in his book entitled "The Lost Shirt." Advance readers express the opinion that "Casanova Jones" will establish his reputation as the great American satirist. The book will be illustrated by Willy Pogany.

who solves the crime committed in a burning house, is a girl reporter.

The other story is "The Owner Lies Dead," and the author is Tyline Perry, who now lives in Denver. In it the fire is in a mine, making it perhaps the first mysteries to emerge from a general disaster of that particular sort.

Can't Hear Praise

"Fourteenth Street," a novel in verse by Percy Shostac, was published on June 19 by Simon and Schuster. The author is as yet unaware of the enthusiastic reviews that it is receiving. He is living in Mallorca, an island in the Mediterranean between the coasts of Spain and Africa.

Comedy

Parlor, Bedlam and Bath, by S. J. Perelman and Q. J. Reynolds, author of Dawn Ginsbergh's Revenge. (Liveright). "The reason for this book," say the authors, "is our decision that what this country needs is a good five-cent novel. The theme of the book is a gigantic expose of the traffic in salted nuts. It sweeps to a thrilling climax, leaving nothing to be desired in the last pages when actual eye-witness scenes of nuts being salted are described with a fidelity so close to nature that you actually want to reach toward the canvas and pluck off a bevy of the toothy morsels."

If asked to describe the book in a single phrase we would call it 'The Greta Garbo of the Book Business.'"

ATTENDING CONVENTION

TAHOKA, July 5.—(Special)—Truett B. Smith, president of the Tahoka Kiwanis club, has gone to Atlantic City, New Jersey, as the representative from the local club to attend the Kiwanis International convention in session in that city. Smith is county clerk of Lynn county.

More Charges Are Given Davis Youth

EASTLAND, July 5. (AP)—Thomas Davis, who was last week given a suspended sentence of five years for the murder of Lucian Shook, today was indicted for robbery with firearms, assault with intent to rob, and two charges of burglary.

The robbery by firearms charge was in connection with the attack and robbery of Shook. The other indictments were for assault with intent to rob Leon Shook and robbery of the Shook home.

Davis also was charged with the murder of Leon Shook and is yet to be tried on that indictment. Bodies of the Shook brothers were found in September, 1928. Clyde Thompson also was indicted for the double murder.

Davis at liberty under $10,000 bond in the Leon Shook case, was again in jail today. He was given death in the first trial for Lucian Shook murder but the Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the verdict.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The stopping place was quite a sight to look upon in broad daylight. 'Twas where all tourists stopped to eat and take a little rest. All caravans that passed this way would stop and pass some time away. The folks who ran it were in funny Persian costumes dressed.

Up to a table all the bunch soon gathered for a bit of lunch. "We'll all take milk," said Scouty, "and a sandwich, if you please. In fact I could eat more than one. Oh, isn't this a lot of fun? We're rather tired from riding. Now we all can rest in ease."

And so they ate and shortly it had every Tiny feeling fit. The Travel Man said, "How about some fruit? Sounds good to me." Great plates of grapes were then brought out and they were fine, without a doubt. Soon Clowny said, "Oh, gracious! I'm as filled as I can be."

They hung around the spot about an hour and then they started out again upon their journey. Every Tinysmite was set to take in all the sights around as they were carried 'cross the ground. The Travel Man said, "We'll soon reach a town you'll like, I'll bet."

Then to a group of trees they came. Said Clowny, "Say! Is that a game that bunch of men are playing? Look! They're climbing 'way up high." And, sure enough, the men, with ease, were climbing all around the trees. The Travel Man said, "I'll explain about it, bye and bye."

They watched the men a little while. The Travel Man, then, with a smile, said, "They are getting silkworms. Don't they do their task with ease. They use the silk in lots of ways. That's why they work here days and days. I don't suppose you Tinies knew that silkworms cling to trees"

(The Tinies visit the shores of the Caspian Sea in the next story.)

WHO'S 'SECTIONAL'?

THE application "A Sectional Candidate," as unfairly placed upon Senator Clint Small by some papers of East Texas, is a wonder to behold and prompts us to ask—and we think logically—isn't West Texas just as much a part of the Lone Star state as East Texas, North, South or Central Texas?

If it isn't we'd better be finding out about it.

If Clint Small, because he happens to live in Collingsworth county, in the northern part of West Texas, is a sectional candidate, then why isn't Jim Young, who resides in Kaufman county, 40 miles east of Dallas, a sectional candidate too?

If Clint Small is a sectional candidate, why isn't Ross Sterling also a sectional candidate, representing South Texas and Heavenly Houston?

And Barry Miller, of Dallas—self advertised capital of East Texas, would to be a sectional candidate too, as would Earle Mayfield and Mrs. Ferguson, for nobody has been able to put their finger on their home localities ever since they became embroiled in politics a generation or so too long ago.

Nobody has ever been able to call West Texas a 'favoriae child' of the rank and file of 'line politicians.' We struggle along out here with the "drippin's", while other parts of the state get "the gravy." We're a fine part of Texas when we pay our taxes, and when our auto license money builds roads in other localities, but when the rewards are being passed out we're always on the back row.

That's one of the reasons why The Avalanche-Journal is so favorably impressed with Clint Small's candidacy—because we think he is broad enough and big enough to see Texas as Texas—and not as geographical remnants. His now famous campaign slogan, "Let's Adjourn Politics and Develop Texas," shows it and if that be 'sectionalism' let's make the most of it!

AMERICAN MARRIAGE, MEXICAN DIVORCE

Hundreds of Americans have traveled to the Mexican city of Cuernavaca, in the State of Morelos, and there established a brief legal residence. Lenient laws in Morelos have permitted such persons to sue for and retain divorce in one-two order after a few days' stay. The Mexican supreme court now hands down a ruling which will be a serious jot to these divorcees. It says that the divorce laws of Morelos, promulgated for the State by an acting governor, are invalid.

It does not clear up the status of those who have procured divorces under these laws in the past. They may be married or unmarried, depending on a further ruling. Tragedy to Americans may be the result of this decision by a foreign court on foreign laws. That such a thing could happen points up a clear reason why local variations in laws dealing with marriages contracted elsewhere are dangerous.

Once local variations did not matter. People lived and died where they were born. A trip to Mexico was the event of a lifetime. Now it is a jaunt of a few hours or days—and the menace of differing laws concerned with a permanent relationship becomes many times as great as it was. World-wide or even nation-wide regulation of intimate human relationships is impractical. But it is a distinctly dangerous situation when the laws which one section of our country adopts for its people can be made as nothing by a district as foreign to us as Morelos in Mexico.

NEWS

What is "news?" The act of a man biting a dog? Yes, but in a larger sense what is it? No doubt there are many newspaper readers who wonder just what it is that is commonly known rather vaguely as "news." An eastern editor answers them in this manner:

"News is synthetic food, delivered for the purpose of satisfying a great human hunger.

"News is a revelation of things which a few people know about, made for the benefit of millions who would not otherwise know about those things.

"News is an unrhetorical essay on life. It is poetry without form and art without artiste intention.

"News is a record of the good and the bad, but hardly ever of the indifferent.

"News is an implement wielded by a profession which is no respecter of persons, but tries to be a respecter of human conventions, according to the standards of a given time."

He might have concluded his definition with the confession that so vast an institution is "news" that it is beyond the power of human mind to define it.

Perhaps the great body of newspaper readers will choose to define it as that which some want with their breakfast rolls and others want on the ride to and from work, which is a welcome friend at the evening fireside and which holds a universal appeal for the literate.

The only sad feature to the Lindbergh baby's horoscope, according to the astrologer, is that he will be unfortunate in his dealings in real estate. More important to newspaper men, however, is how he'll react toward the fourth estate.

Arriving at Los Angeles from her pilgrimage abroad, Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, threw big oranges at her welcomers. Now if it had been the other way round, that would have been news.

"Student let out of jail to take examination." Headline. Then to return to take a cross-examination.

Once upon a time there was a newspaper reporter who covered an endurance flight and never once wrote in his story "droned" or "zoomed."

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The first time I met Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, "What's your home state?" he inquired immediately—quite a common introductory queston here in Washington, where half the population is from hither and yon and residence is reckoned by states and congressional districts rather than by cities.

Having sojourned in so many states since arriving at voting age that I find it a trifle difficult to decide with which one I ought to identify myself this-query always stumps me momentarily when it is asked suddenly.

In answer to Senator Watson's interrogation my initial inspiration was to state (and truthfully) that I was born at St. Joseph (Mich.) and I did so.

Instantly the senator's face lighted up beautifully. "Why, that's mightly close to Indiana!" he cried, in the tone of overjoyed surprise one might employ upon an unexpected encounter with an old boyhood chum in the middle of the Gobi desert or the Antarctic continent.

And he shook hands with me again—warmly.

Considering that was taken away from St. Joe in infancy and never have revisited it, except once as a Sunday afternoon excursionist from Chicago, I felt somewhat as if I were being welcomed into the near-Indiana brotherhood under false pretenses.

However, the senator waved aside all explanations. Being born within 30 miles or so of the Hoosier frontier was sufficient—I was a member of the fraternity all right.

Now of course I know perfectly well that if I had said I was born in Patagonia or Spitzbergen or the Kamchatkan peninsula, in one way or another Senator Watson would have hooked that particular part of the world up in some sort of an intimate relationship with Indiana.

I don't know how, but he would have done it.

Or else he would have hit on certain mutual acquaintances that we had or interests that we had in common, or otherwise he would have managed to establish a strong bond of sympathy between us.

No Experience Individual is unaware that this simply is an essential part of the game of politics. For all that, no amount of experience is sufficient to make the average individual proof against liking it, and being more or less flattered by it—especially as administered by a master hand, such as Senator Watson's.

One begins to acquire a sense of being Watson's partner very soon after a conversation begins—a partnership to which he must be loyal.

Thus it is that Watson is a dickens of an effective G. O. P. leader.

There has been a good deal of disposition to laugh at his leadership of the so-called senate majority during the last 14 1-2 months of the Seventy-first congress. Nevertheless, it is noteworthy that he delivered the goods at the well-known psychological moment—which was when the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill came up to be finally voted on.

Watson's Majority Leadership was funny undeniably.

Any legislative leader who thinks he has a safe majority, only to find out on the very first test vote that he is hopelessly in a minority, is in a fix which is certain to amuse the spectators.

It gets progressively more so, continued for nearly a year and a half, with the unfortunate leader's following scattering worse all the time.

It got so bad in Watson's case that the latter's original supposed majority simmered down to a mere little "old guard" nucleus—not as strong as the Democratic "minority," not as strong as the bolting "young guard," only doubtfully as strong as the progressive bloc.

Moreover, it was considered a tossup if the Hoosier senator, who was theretically the administration leader, had even the administration behind him.

Most Leaders would have flattened out and stopped trying to lead.

That Watson didn't is a tribute to his nerve. That he managed to keep his temper through it all, in spite of all the house the opposition was playing with him and the entertainment the whole country was getting out of his troubles, is a tribute to qualities even higher, maybe.

It must have been a tremendous triumph for him when he put across his ultimate majority. He had to scare up a few Democratic votes to do it—but knowing where a handful of the other folk's votes are to be had in an emergency is one of the truest tests of political leadership.

Watson is an "organization man"—a "machine politician"—strictly practical. Just the same, he is highly competent at it. And the whole senate bears witness to his "delightful personality."

Diet and Health

REDUCE WEIGHT SLOWLY FOR HURRY IS HARMFUL UNLESS DOCTOR GUIDES

"Dear Doctor: I am about 25 pounds overweight and am always being nagged by my folks to lose some weight. I am very busy and don't have the time for exercise, and it takes a long time to reduce anyway. Are—tablets harmful for reducing? Please tell me some way to reduce in a hurry. I hate to come home in the evening because I know my family will bawl me out. "ALICE."

You can be thankful your people realize the importance of normal weight and are "bawling" you out to get you started, Alice. But they'll stop it when they see you are in earnest about your reducing diet.

No, those tablets you mention should not be used. They are very dangerous because they contain thyroid, and even when thyroid is taken under a physician's preseription, it is not without its element of danger, and the physician has to watch the patient's heart, pulse, blood pressure, etc., frequently, for goiters and deranged heart function have resulted from its promiscuous use. It has even caused death in the form of reducing tablets.

If you will lose from one to two pounds a week you will soon be rid of your excess. There is no need of being hungry while reducing or being conspicuous in your dieting. And stop wanting to reduce in a hurry; that is harmful. Two pounds a week is enough unless you are under a physician's personal guidance.

Our Petersizing pamphlet gives instructions on how to lose or gain weight. See column rules for obtaining this. Ask also for our articles on the Atonic Abdominal Wall, which outlines some splendid exercises for the trunk.

Not long ago, a girl asked me about the health hazards of marrying a man 36 years older than herself, and my answer was that there were no health hazards, but usually a "good, healthy, strapping girl" preferred to go to work rather than marry older men to take care of them; and that when she was still fairly young, she might have to spend her time at the fireside, possibly in nursing.

In answer to this, I had the following letter:

"Tut, tut, Lulu, old top. This looks phoney in print. 'Old man—sitting by the fireside.' Wake up, gal! They don't do that at all. My own father is 68 and he can walk many a young feller off his feet.

"A good strapping, healthy girl is just what a nice experienced daddy needs to be the light of his life, and he'll probably make a first class husband if he stays jolly. The gal will have to learn to drive a Roll instead of a Ford, plan the itinerary for sight-seeing trips and keep her head regardless of wealth, and humor his hard-earned whims. If that isn't a career, I'll eat my words.

A Man Is Often Judged by the Enemies He Keeps

DANCING JUDITH

AFA FICTION FILM

BY CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN
COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Judith Grant, beautiful Greenwich Village artist's model, shares her attic apartment with Clarissa Morley, known as Chummy, a beautiful girl who lost her memory seven years ago when Alan Steyne, her lover abruptly disappeared. Steyne comes back to the scene and Judith arranges a meeting with Chummy, but Chummy fails utterly to recognize her former lover. Steyne, meanwhile, tells Judith that he no longer loves Chummy; instead he calls frequently on Judith, and finally kisses her and declares that he loves her. Judith spurns him, however, and refuses to let him help her provide medical care for Chummy, whose mental condition is growing worse. Judith goes to pose for Vincent Stornaway, wealthy portrait painter, at whose house she meets Bruce Gideon, a singularly ugly financier, who becomes smitten with her but whose advances she rebuffs. She returns home to find Chummy radiant with happiness. Chummy tells her that she has dreamed that Alan has returned.

NOWGO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER VII

It was a miracle Judy could hardly believe her eyes or her ears. Chummy had mentioned Alan Steyne's name. She had spoken it for the first time since Judy had known her.

Moreover, there was a difference in her face. Something had come into it that Judy had never seen—a brightness, a shining beauty, which made it look in its frail pallor as if it were illumined by a flame from within.

Judy could only marvel as she hung over the bed. Chummy's memory had come back! This illness had been a blessing in disguise.

Judy was beside herself with excitement. Only the instinct of her loyal little heart made her say and do the right thing. She might have made irremediable mistakes in those first moments; but she just listened to Chummy's voice, with that new note in it—the tender note of the woman talking about the man she loves.

"You never knew Alan, did you, Judy? It was funny I should have dreamed about him just now. Something queer must have happened to me. I seem to have forgotten a lot of things. He went away long ago—I think it was long ago. We were awfully poor, you know. He was wonderfully clever, but he never got on, and he couldn't wait, you see. It's awfully hard waiting—when you're a man."

"Oh, Chummy, and this—this was your own particular boy?" asked Judy in a trembling voice.

"I was awfully fond of him, Judy, and—I think he was awfully fond of me," said the low voice. "but I never heard from him. I think I must have forgotten him for quite a time, but just now I had this dream and it was so clear and real. Alan looked quite different, and so much better and stronger, but it was Alan, and he had come back.

"I expect that means he will, Chummy," said Judy decidedly. "I always thought there was a lot in dreams; but now you go to sleep, or you'll be getting tired. If your young man's coming back, you must be quite well and strong."

Chummy turned on her pillow and looked at her friend.

"Judy, tell me, is there anything the matter with me?" she asked in a voice of utter bewilderment. "I really do feel queer. Do I look any—any different?"

Judy laughed merrily.

"Well, you look prettier than I ever saw you, darling! I call it worth while being ill. Perhaps you had lost your memory a bit—such funny things happen!—and it's coming back to you all of a sudden, but don't worry, whatever you do. Go to sleep now and dream about your Alan again, and I'll make you some tea."

Chummy seemed to be satisfied. She was still very weak, and she fell into a comfortable doze.

Judy went to make the tea over the gas ring in her box in the attic. While the kettle came to a boil she stood, lost in profound thought.

Chummy's memory had come back! A picture rose before Judy's mind of the night when Alan Steyne had really returned—when Chummy had smiled her baby smile at him, and looked at him without recognition, and, with complacent vacancy, had called him a handsome boy and a nice boy.

When Chummy was strong again, she would be like everybody else. The next time she saw Alan Steyne she would know him. Judy was overjoyed. No personal consideration would ever disturb her loyalty to her friend.

Alan Steyne was Chummy's property. Now that she would know him, and still loved him, he must prove his faith and marry her at once. Through her brain, filled with the mists of forgetfulness, his image had already struggled, though she denied she had seen him only in a dream.

Judy's next thought was to consult Doctor O'Shane. The nurse had come back, and Chummy was settled for the night. Judy saw the doctor in his office. She told him her great news, and he expressed approval of her conduct. Nothing must be hurried, he said. Something had happened during Chummy's illness to break down the blank wall of forgetfulness.

Judy went on the the Cafe Turc. Dan, the long, lean waiter with the face of a Roman emperor and the sunny tenor voice, was the first person to whom she imparted her splendid news.

"Dan, Miss Morley is ever so much better. And what do you think? — she's got her memory back again! When you see her again she'll be her old self, just like you and me!"

Bastien Dumont was late in looking in that night. Judy had almost given him up, and she was frowning with the irritation of having to bottle up her feelings—which, after all, Bastien would understand better than anyone else, because he was Chummy's oldest friend among the crowd.

When she told him, she threw it at him like a bomb.

"Chummy's got her memory back, Bastien. She dreamed Alan Steyne had come back; and she looks—well, I can't tell you how she looks. I never saw anyone like her! So now, you see it's going to be all right. They'll meet and Chummy will know him, and they'll be married and live happily ever after!"

* * *

Bastein's eyes kindled as they rested on her eager face. He had been nursing miserable, jealous thoughts about Steyne lately. He had seen Judy with him; he knew that they had been out together the night that Chummy was taken ill. There could be nothing in it, after all. Judy could never talk like this if she had a spark of feeling for Steyne herself.

He expressed his delight and drank to Chummy's health. Then he said:

"I saw Steyne this afternoon. He is going to Paris."

"To Paris!"

"Yes—some business or other. This old collector he was secretary to left some pitures to the Louvre and the Luxembourg, and there's some dispute that Steyne has to settle."

"It's a good thing," Judy said. "I do want Chummy to be quite well when she sees him again. Of course, he's been inquiring for her, and it would be difficult to have to explain it all. Oh, Bastien, isn't it wonderful?"

But the young man's face was gloomy.

"You can take enough interest in

In New York With Swan

New York, July 5.—The wheel of fortune spins giddily in this man's town.

As for instance—One of those drizzly afternoons when the humidity turns this town into an enormous Turkish bath. Uncomfortable people make their ways uncomfortably along the clogged highways. At Fifth avenue and 34th street, man is turning small bars of steel into a huge monolith on the site of the old Waldorf Hotel. Cranes hang dizzily and crazily from somewhere up in the sky and steel workers perch like birds against the clouds.

On the sidewalk, a temporary plank roof has been built as a protective measure.

Trying to push through you notice a healthy looking pair of twins sound asleep in their street cradle.

Looking down into the baby carriage you see a crude, crumpled placard upon which is scrawled with a bit of black crayon this message —

The crowds look with amazement upon this intrusion of a grim drama of the city upon their work-a-day life. Some drop coins. Some merely stare at the woman.

Fifth avenue—And board a bus. A smartly dressed, white-haired woman gets on and finds a seat. A block later a sun-browned young woman gets aboard. She gushes over to the lady with the white hair.

"Don't you remember—I met you at Palm Beach this winter. You know, I'm the niece of Colonel So-and-So. Wasn't it delightful? Isn't it too bad to come back so early.

"Where are you going this summer? Oh, going to California! Isn't that perfectly fine?

"Yes, I've been terribly busy shopping ever since I came back. Just bought the duckiest pair of silver slippers."

In spite of the rain, I leave the bus. It's getting too much for me.

And walk over 48th street to 6th avenue.

This is a corner of employment agencies. Up and down the dingy thoroughfare, shadowed by elevated tracks, little groups stand in the street reading the many cards which tell of jobs at dish-washing, at truck driving, at all the mean work there is to be done in this world.

On the curb under a well-worn umbrella, a woman stands. She looks dumbly ahead at the square cards. Obviously she cannot read them. But a little girl—her daughter—has had the benefits of a school education.

And now she acts as interpreter.

She runs back and forth reading first one sign and then another. She runs back to report.

"Mother—here's a good one. It says they want a house-keeper for three dollars a day."

The woman waits. The child runs back. She returns with a new report.

Tom Mix Wins Out In Ruling On Daughter's Allowance

LOS ANGELES, July 5. (AP)—Although he sought to prevent it, the runaway marriage of Mrs. Ruth Mix Gilmore has taken on a cash value of $225 a month to her father, Tom Mix, film cowboy.

A court ruled yesterday that Mix, through his daughter's marriage had been relieved of the necessity of paying her that sum monthly.

The allowance was agreed upon when Mix and the girl's mother, Mrs. Olive Stokes Mix, were divorced in 1917.

other people's love affairs," Bastien said. "Oh, Judy, you'll drive me mad!"

"Don't be absurd," she answered, with the straight, kind look that she always had for him. "Let me tell you a discovery I've made, old boy. Clara Jenks is crazy about you!"

He gave an impatient exclamation which caused the girl to continue with a touch of mischief:

"It's perfectly true, Bastien. I tell you that girl's a duck and a brick, and one of the very best; and, mark my words, one day she'll be a star. Anyone who could make me laugh as she did while Chummy lay dying is simply bound to be famous! And yet all the time her heart was bursting with misery, just like mine, Bastien, if Clara loves you as much as I think she does, you're a lucky chap—indeed you are!"

"Judy, stop it!" was all he answered. "You're mocking me."

It was February—a soft day of mist and sudden warmth with just a shimmer of green upon the trees in the parks, as if carelessly brushed on, but by an unerring hand.

Judy stood with Alan Steyne in Chummy's room, which was furnished up as far as their slender resources allowed, and bright with spring flowers, contributed almost blossom by blossom by the "boys" of the Cafe Ture as tokens of their joy at Chummy's recovery.

"Chummy's out," Judy said. "She is quite well again, and her memory has come back. I tried to write to tell you in Paris, but it was too difficult. She dreamed about you first, but it must have been in her mind that she had seen you. She—she loves you awfully. O'Shane told me I wasn't to hurry her memory; but I've been telling her that I believe in dreams, and I know she thinks you're coming back."

Steyne looked perplexed and troubled.

"Judy," he said, "it is no good. It's only asking for trouble. It's much better to let her know at once that I never cared for her like that. Judy, you know it's no good!"

Suddenly he stopped. There were footsteps outside. Judy had said that Chummy was out and would not come back until late. She was meeting a relative with whom she had communicated since her recovery. Judy had made the appointment with Alan on purpose to tell him.

The door opened. He gave one terrified look at the figure that entered. It was Chummy—the Chummy of the old days, hardly aged a minute—a wonderful vision, like some delicate statuette wrought in silver and ivory and gold.

She saw him and stood quite still for a moment. Then, with a cry, and straight and swift as an arrow speeding from a bow, she ran into his arms.

WARDEN'S HOME GUARDED

Precautionary Measures Are Taken In Fleagle Case

CANON CITY, Colo., July 5. (AP)—His family removed, a guard has been thrown around the home of Warden F. E. Crawford, as part of the precautionary program in connection with the execution of Ralph Fleagle. Fleagle is a member of the gang convicted of the $200,000 robbery of a Lamar, Colo., bank two years ago which led to the slaying of four men by the bandits.

Authorities have expressed belief that Jake Fleagle, fugitive brother of the condemned bandit will make a bold, last minute effort to rescue his brother.

The exact time of the execution has not been set but indications were that it would take place tomorrow or Monday.

Tech Opens Second Term Of Summer School, July 14

Increase In Enrollment Is Seen For Term

Dohoney Gives Instructions On Registration For Term; Cotton Classing Course To Be Opened

TEXAS Technological college opens its second term of the present summer session on Monday, July 14, and officials have begun plans to take care of an increase in enrollment, it was learned at the college yesterday.

Several hundred more students are expected to enroll for the second term, officials say. A number of students, however, are dropping out following the close of the first term on Friday but the enrollment is expected to be larger for the term.

Instructions Given

Instructions on registration for the term, which will be held on Monday, were given out yesterday by E. L. Dohoney, registrar. Registration is to be held from 8 until 12 a. m. and from 1:30 until 5:30.

The instructions follow:

Men taking the work in Cotton Classing should report directly to Mr. C. D. Brandt, room 103, Textile Engineering building.

Students enrolled for both terms are not required to register again. If necessary to change a course, this may be done through the departments and dean's offices by using add and drop cards.

To avoid delay, Liberal Arts and all students not enrolled this year will please report in alphabetical order according to the first letter of their family name as follows: 8 to 9, A-B; 9 to 10, C-D; 10 to 11, E-F-G-H; 11 to 12, I-J-K-L; 1:30 to 2:30, M-N-O; 2:30 to 3:30, P-Q-R; 3:30 to 4:30, S-T-U; 4.30 to 5:30, V-W-X-Y-Z.

Agriculture, engineering, and home economics students now enrolled in school may report to their respective buildings disregarding the alphabetical order.

These examinations may be taken at the Lubbock sanitarium before registration day.

During registration in room P, basement, chemistry building. Students who have had physical examinations by the college physician since September 1, 1929, are not required to take examination for this registration.

Where to start: Main entrance, administration building. (1) Men enter east rotunda. (2) Women enter west rotunda.

Register your Lubbock address and church affiliations. Students living at home in Lubbock need not have Lubbock address approved.

New students must have entrance cards approved for registration by representative of registrar's office in main lobby or rotunda. It is not necessary to go to the registrar's office. Former students must have student record books approved for registration by representative of registrar's office in rotunda. New students in agriculture, engineering, and home economics will then go to their respective buildings to complete registration. Only Liberal Arts students will complete registration in the administration building. Plans for registration will be given out in each school.

All students after receiving approved schedules will pay their fees at the business office, room 104 or 105, administration building. All students have cards checked in registrar's office.

Cone Man Lives In Cone Always

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

RALLS, July 5.—To have been married in the same room in which he was born and to have always lived in the Cone community, north of Ralls, is the unique record of W. L. Bolinger, son of Rev. C. J. Bolinger, a Primitive Baptist minister of that community.

Young Bolinger, who is just past 21 years of age, has recently bought a farm across the road from his parents' home where he has set up housekeeping with his bride.

"I have never been very far away from home but I did manage to get to Oklahoma and get the girl I married," young Bolinger explained.

The Bolingers are among the well known families in this section. They have lived here for many years.

SUIT CAUSES DEATH

Woman Suicides After Suit To Silence Radio Is Up

INDIANAPOLIS, July 5. (AP)—Mrs. Josephine Dazey, 39, who a few days ago was made a defendant with her husband in a damage suit filed by neighbors on allegations that the Dazey radio was played so loud and so continuously as to be a public nuisance was found dead in her home today with a bullet wound in her head. She apparently had committed suicide.

Her husband, Grant Dazey said she had been humiliated by the suit and since its filling had been despondent.

The suit asked $5,000 damages because of alleged annoyance by the radio. A judge took the case under advisement after urging the owners to be reasonable in their use of the radio.

Netherlands Answer Briand's Plan Of A Federation Of European States

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, July 5.—The government of the Netherlands today informed the French foreign office of its belief that the ground had not been sufficiently prepared for a federation of European states, as recently suggested in a world-wide memorandum of Foreign Minister Briand.

Holland submitted a formal reply to the former premier's proposal, which was made public today.

The Dutch officials expressed a lively appreciation of France's initiative but suggested that further exchanges must take place before the project could proceed.

The memorandum submitted today expressed fear that such as federation might prove an embarrassment to the League of Nations and that continued grouping might, in practice, aggravate differences between the continents.

Huston's Days Numbered As GOP Chieftain

Much Dissatisfaction Is Shown Over Chairman's Activities; Meeting Monday Is Given Postponement

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Belief is firmly held in Washington that Claudius Huston's days as chairman of the republican national committee are numbered and that their number is not particularly great.

With party leaders scheduled to meet here next week, opponents of the chairman have become more and more insistent that he be removed. President Hoover talked with Huston by telephone late yesterday and later Huston postponed next week's conference from Mohday to Thursday. For several days previous Huston's whereabouts had been unknown.

Dispatches Telegram

To those who had been invited to attend the meeting he dispatched the following telegram:

"Because of holiday engagements some of those invited to the meeting called for Monday find it inconvient to attend. The meeting has therefore been postponed to Thursday, July 10, at the same hour. I hope you may find it possible to be present at that time."

A brief statement from the national committee, which accompanied the telegram, said those invited had been called "to confer with the chairman on matters pertaining to the conduct of the forthcoming senatorial and congressional campaigns."

Dissatisfaction Shown

Dissatisfaction at Huston's leadership among congressional leaders of the party followed testimony before the senate lobby committee that Huston had deposited money collected for the Tennessee River Improvement association in his private brokerage account, for use in stock market transactions.

Ralls Territory In Fair Condition

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

RALLS, July 5.—Considerable of the territory in the vicinity of Ralls has had enough moisture the past several weeks to carry the crops through the present hot spell according to Carl Lewis of the Security State bank.

"Several farmers have told me that they have had enough rain now to last for a while," Mr Lewis said. "They say they have had some pretty good showers.

One Dry Streak

"There is one dry streak that begins right at the edge of town and extends out northeast for four or five miles. Aside from that area we have pretty good crop prospects.

"South and east of Ralls and north, farm conditions are all pretty good. Also the country northeast from the dry area, is in good shape."

Feed crops are reported as showing up in good shape. The cotton also is good, with all that has come up having a good stand. Some farmers say the feed crops are better for this time of the year than they usually are.

Wheat has run from five to 15 bushels to the acre, with several farmers reporting yields of 20 bushels or more. Harvest is now about over with.

The wheat movement is about over with around Ralls. Those farmers that did not ship out are reported holding for higher prices later on.

Lynn Club Women Plan Encampment

TAHOKA, July 5.—(Special)—Home demonstration club women of two counties, Lynn and Garza, will hold an encampment at Two Draw lake near Post Monday nad Tuesday, July 9 and 10, according to Miss Thelma Greenwade, Lynn county demonstration agent.

Among those who will speak during the encampment are: Miss Myrtle Murray, district agent, from A. and M. college; Mrs. E. W. Fenton, Tahoka, president of the State Home Demonstration association; Mrs. I. A. Stevens, Tahoka, a former county agent; Rev. M. C. Bishop, Post; and Mrs. Warren, Post.

Plans are being made by women of the two counties to make this the most successful encampment ever held. Each woman attending will be out only $1.50 expenses, Miss Greenwade says, and many will thereby be enabled to take the outing and instruction course.

YOUTHFUL BANDIT HELD

"Clothes Pin" Hold Up Man Arrested For Theft

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., July 5. (AP) A youth who says he masqueraded a clothes pin in his pocket as a gun to hold up and rob an automobile salesman of his car and valuables was held to the Garland county grand jury today on charges of highway robbery and grand larceny.

Frank Green, 21, Doniphan, Mo., self styled "clothes-pin" holdup man, was given a preliminary hearing in city court today after his return from Newkirk, Okla., where he was arrested while in possession of the salesman's motor car. His wife, Verna, formerly Verna Kriby, 21, of Franklin, Ark., was arrested with him and held as an accessory.

Green is alleged to have held up and robbed Ora Ashby, car salesman, June 16 as the latter was demonstrating a new automobile to him.

Kansas City Gas Company Likely To Be Held Liable In Still Operation

(By Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, July 5.—William L. Vandeventer, United tates district attorney, today said he would seek an indictment against the Kansas City Gas company as "a manufacturer of liquor," in connection with discovery recently by federal agents of an 800-gallon still in the basement of a garage at 1414 Independence Avenue.

Mr. Vandeventer asserted the gas company's meter was in full view of the still and declared the meter reader could not have avoided seeing the liquor manufacturing apparatus when he checked the meter. The district attorney said he considered the gas company colpable in that no report had been made by its representatives concerning the still.

Three Fuels Necessary

Mr. Vandeventer asserted that water, electricity and gas are necessary in operation of stills. He further asserted that the gas bill for the place where the still was located amounted to $138 for May.

"That should give anybody an idea that something was wrong at that place," he said. "The Kansas City Gas company's conduct has been such as to aid and abet the men found in possession of the still," the district attorney said. He said the company if indicted and found guilty could be fined to $10,000. Three negroes, Sam Harris, Robert Lewis and Luther Robinson, were arrested in the basement.

FACE EXTORTION CHARGE

NEW YORK, July 5. (AP)—A county grand jury today filed an indictment charging the Rev. Herbert W. Hunter of Hudson, N. Y.; B. Leo Schwartz, and Edward W. Drucker, lawyers, with attempted extortion. William E. Willard, New York investment broker, accused them of trying to obtain $75,000 from him.

Texas Bar Association Not To Act In Dry Poll

SAN ANTONIO, July 5. (AP)—No action will be taken at the meeting of the Texas Bar association on the prohibition poll being taken by the national body, according to R. L. Ball, newly elected president of the Texas association.

"Members of the Texas Bar association will be neither encouraged nor discouraged from voting in the poll," Ball said. "I feel personally it would have little effect on settling the question as the number of members is small compared to the great body of voters."

LUBBOCK IS "IN THE KNOW"

When It Comes To Conventions

As a city of progress, as a city of rapid growth, as a city where "co-operation" and civic pride is a part of the public mind, Lubbock is "In the know."

The "Hub of the Great South Plains" is rapidly becoming a convention city, because the citizenry is giving expression to that necessary beam of Welcome with a capital letter. When a stranger feels doubly sure that he is welcome, and when the city itself radiates a life-like activity, the stranger will come to see what is going on. He is interested before he starts, and places the obligation of his not being disappointed upon the shoulders of every citizen with whom he comes in contact.

We commend the Spirit of Friendliness as being radiated by all business and professional men of Lubbock. Every man who says "Hello, stranger, what can I do for you?" is helping to build Lubbock.

Texan Gives First Report On Securities

Startling Facts Are Disclosed By Findings Of Committee; Rayburn Says Something Is Likely To Happen

BY CECIL B. DICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 5. (AP)—The initial investigation into railroad ownership by the house interstate commerce committee was described today by Representative Rayburn democrat, Texas, as having "disclosed startling facts as to the far reaching control of some of the nation's major railroad systems by uncontrolled holding and investment trust companies."

Rayburn, ranking minority member of the committee, made public a special report submitted to him by Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, chief investigator on investment trust companies. Chairman Parker of the committee this week made public an interim report on the holding company phase of the inquiry.

Holding Securities

The report to Rayburn showed that of 110 investment trust companies having a capital and surplus in excess of $5,000,000 each, fifty held railroad voting securities, while it has not been determined whether 28 others held such securities.

Although the report did not divulge names of the investment companies, it said one held voting securities in fifty railroad lines, while 23 were said to hold securities of the Alleghany corporation, the holding company dominated by the Van Sweringen interests of Cleveland.

In addition, the report said, eight investment trust companies held voting securities in the Chesapeake holding company, six in the Pennroad holding company, dominated by the Pennsylvania railroad, and three in the Lehigh Coal and Navigation holding company.

Stock Ownings Shown

It said investment trust companies held on January 1, 1930, 36 per cent of the New York Central securities; 34 per cent of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe; 33 per cent of the Union Pacific; 29 per cent of the Pennsylvania; 20 per cent of the Baltimore and Ohio; 18 per cent in the Chesapeake and Ohio; Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; Southern, and Southern Pacific, and 15 per cent in the Canadian Pacific, the Missouri Pacific and the New York New Haven and Hartford.

"If the disclosures in the remainder of the inquiry are comparable to the developments in the preliminary stage," Rayburn said, "I fear that some of these tremendously strong financial organizations have a greater influene in the field of transportation than any one organization should have."

The investigation was instituted to determine what legislation is necessary to bring holding and investment companies under government jurisdiction in order that the policy of merging the nation's 1,500 lines into 21 great competitive systems may be carried out.

The Texan added that as far as the southwest was concerned, the plan of the Interstate Commerce Commission to divide the railroads into 21 great systems was satisfactory. Particularly to Texas into which seven of the nine major systems west of the Mississippi penetrate.

The commission plan, he said, assured Texas of competition in service if the seven railroads were under separate ownership.

Peterson Selected As Field Manager Of Dairy Concern

LAMESA, July 5.—Joe Peterson, Dawson county dairyman, was selected as field manager of the West Texas Milk Products company's $200,000 powdered milk factory, the directors announced this week. Peterson is president of the Dawson County Poultry association and an active worker in dairying problems in this country. He occupied a prominent position in the Dawson County Dairy Short course which was held here last April and which drew an attendance of 3,000 South Plains farmers.

BABY ELUDES SEARCHERS

Girl And Boy Found But One Still Missing From Home

KAPUSKASING, Ont., July 5 (AP)—Victor Gareau, 6, who ran away from home Monday with his baby brother and sister today still eluded searchers who have been beating the bush country around his farm home for four days.

The little girl and the other little boy were found Wednesday after they had hidden from searchers for two days, the distracted voice of their father calling, bringing them out of hiding.

Traces of Victor have been found from time to time but no one has seen him. He apparently is following the procedure all three adopted successfully of dropping to the ground under a bush or in tall grass whenever searchers approach.

New Road Through Solid Mountain Of Rock Dedicated To "The Use, Benefit And Enjoyment of the People of U. S."

ZION LODGE, Zion National Park, Utah, July 5.—The new road through a solid mountain of rock, to shorten the distance between Zion, Bryce Canyon, and Grand Canyon National park, Friday was dedicated to "the use, benefit and enjoyment of the people of the United States."

The highway, including two mountain tunnels, one a mile and a quarter in length, was turned over by B. J. Finch, district engineer of the United States Bureau of Public Roads, to Horace M. Albright, superintendent of the National Park Service, and then set apart for the benefit of the entire nation by Governor George H. Dern, of Utah, who made the dedicatory address.

1,500 Are Present

Some 1,500 visitors, including members of the national governor's conference party touring Southern Utah parks, heard addresses and patriotic music, given by the community male chorus of St. George, Utah.

The visiting governors and other federal and state officials left Zion Lodge and were taken over a three and a half mile switchback to the mouth of the tunnel at an elevation of 5,000 feet. After the ceremonies here they proceeded to Kanaba, Utah, for lunch and then to the Grand Canyon lodge where an Independence program was given with Governor John C. Phillips of Arizona presiding and Governors Norman S. Case of Rhode Island and John Hammill of Iowa, delivering addresses.

CURB FAKE ACTIVITIES

Slaton C. Of C. Aiding To Prevent Frauds In City

SLATON, July 5, (Special) —On account of the frequency with which Slaton business firms have been called upon in recent weeks to patronize "fake" solicitors of various kinds, redoubled efforts on the part of a special committee of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce are being made to curb such fake activities.

The committee, which has functioned for the past five years in protecting the interests of local business men against fraudulent money-raising schemes, has broadcast a fresh appeal to business men here that they always should require Chamber of Commerce endorsement of all out-of-town solicitors not representing reputable wholesale or jobbing houses.

The committee also wants the transient solicitors to take due notice of the fact that Slaton will be found a hard field for promoting questionable money-getting schemes.

Most of the bugle calls used in the United States Army have been adopted from foreign countries.

APPROVE RESOLUTION

Citizenship Rather Than The Population Is Asked

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N. C., July 5. (AP)—The board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, today voted approval of the Stalker resolution in congress providing for an amendment of the constitution to make citizenship, rather than population, the basis of congressional representation.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., president of the board which is meeting here, expressed belief that such an amendment would be helpful to prohibition "by eliminating an element unfriendly to prohibition."

The board also recommended that the boards of temperance and social service of the various Methodist conferences, divisional units of the church, arrange for "an impressive meeting on the question of observance, enforcement and maintenance of prohibition laws."

CONDUCTING REVIVAL

Rev. Bickley Will Preach In Breedlove's Absence

TAHOKA, July 5.—(Special)—Rev. R. T. Breedlove, pastor of the Methodist church here, is conducting a revival at Saint Jo, Montague county. In his absence, Presiding Elder C. A. Bickley of Lubbock will preach next Sunday. Rev. Ed A. Tharp, Post, filled the pulpit last Sunday.

Dawson Schools Preparing For Coming Session

(Special To The Avalanche Journal)

LAMESA, July 5. — Lamesa and Dawson county schools are marking time during summer vacations. The high school here is undergoing interior repairs and is being repainted, according to V. Z. Rogers, Lamesa school superintendent. Over 1140 pupils are expected to be enrolled for the 1930-31 term, Rogers states, since that is the present roll. Seventy percent of the teachers in Lamesa schools are away attending summer schools in colleges in Texas and Colorado.

Five new teachers have been added to the county school list. Miss Thelma Cockeral will teach at Grandview; Miss Nora Dean at Mullins; Mrs. H. L. Kinder at Hagin; Miss Leta Atkins at McCarty and a Miss McMurtry at Eason. The addition of five increases Dawson county's number of teachers from 99 to 104, W. T. Webb, Dawson county school superintendent, stated this week.

Twenty Lamesa scholars are attending summer school here, Rogers states. During the first part of vacation it was thought that no summer classes would be held due to the small number of applications for grades.

CHANGE OWNERSHIP

PAT NEFF COMING

Governor Pat M. Neff, Chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, and a candidate for re-election, will make a non-political public address at Lubbock, Wednesday night, July 9th, at 8 o'clock, at a place to be announced later.

Governor Neff has always been a strong believer in and a supporter of West Texas, and as Governor he signed the bill creating Texas Technological College, carrying an appropriation of one million dollars. He is the most polished orator in Texas today, and his address will be a treat to the Plains people. Everybody is invited to hear him.

Wife Sues Young Harriman

Married a little more than two years ago, Mrs. Anna Foley Harriman has now filed suit for divorce against John Harriman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harriman and a nephew of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, charging misconduct. They are shown above. Two months prior to her marriage to young Harriman, his wife obtained a Reno divorce from Louis de L'Aigle, a broker.

Annulment Of Royal Divorce Expected Soon

Legal Proceedings In Case Are Likely To Be Taken Within Next Week; Other Woman Shows Up

(By Associated Press)

BUCHAREST, July 5.—Within ten days the divorce decree separating King Carol II and Queen Helen will be annulled by the Rumanian courts, it was learned today.

Legal proceedings leading up to the anulment will be opened during the coming week. The chief plea for BERLIN, July 5. (AP)—A Bucharest dispatch printed in a Berlin newspaper today said that Mme. Magda Lupescu, the companion of King Carol II when he was in exile, had arrived at the Rumanian royal summer residence at Sinaia.

it will be the written protest of King Carol's lawyer at the time the decree was pronounced. In this protest Carol declared he did not recognize the divorce.

When the decree has been annulled, King Carol will take up his summer residence at the Royal Palace in Sinaia with Queen Helen and their son, Michael.

The King recently has passed many hours every day in Young Michael's apartment holding long conversations with Queen Helen. Queen Helen last night attended a farewell dinner to former Queen Elizabeth of Greece in the Cotrocent palace, at which King Carol and his brother, Prince Nicholas also were present.

Rumors that Mrs. Magda Lupescu, redhaired companion of King Carol in exile, had returned to Rumania received renewed denials in semi official quarters today. It was said that a firmly binding agreement would prevent Mms. Lupescu's return to Rumania for many years.

Agreement Said To Have Been Reached In Case

BUCHAREST, July 5. (AP)—Well-informed circles said today an agreement had been reached for cancellation of the divorce of King Carol II and Queen Helen, with the courts soon to issue a decree of annulment.

As an indication of the approaching reconciliation, King Carol tomorrow will accompany the Queen and their son, the former boy-king, Michael, to the railway station as they leave for Sinaia.

The king will join hi sfamily there in a few days, it is understood.

The dispatch added that rooms had been reserved at the residence for Mme. Lupescu by King Carol who was expected here tomorrow.

It also said that her arrival had caused a great sensation in Bucharest court and political circles, with much speculation as to what action if any would be taken by Queen Helen, Carol's divorced wife with whom he has been reported near a reconciliation, and Queen Mother Marie.

LOVINGTON POPULAR

Many Texas Couples Married In New Mexico Town

LOVINGTON, N. M., July 5.—(Special)—With five couples reaching this place from Texas the last day of June. Fifty six couples were married here last month. Ninety per cent of them being from Texas County Clerk W. M. Bauchamp greases the matrimonial skids. Launching the feverish youths on the bounding sea of matrimony by providing them with a license and tying the knot with promptness and efficiency.

Recent stringent laws passed in Texas cause of present rush to Lovington, latest Gretna Green.

FEED PAYING PROFITS

Lynn County Farmer Finds Crop To Be In Want

TAHOKA, July 5.—(Special)—While some farmers are being forced to buy feed in this county to complete their farming year, I. M. Draper is reaping big profits from feed he raised one and two years ago. Mr. Draper always plants more feed than he needs and saves it back for an emergency. Last fall the feed crop in this county was very short, and many farmers have therefore been forced to buy. The market price is very high now, and Mr. Draper's example proves that many times it pays to raise and keep plenty of feed.

Returns Home

Stolen Turkey Back After 8 Months

TAHOKA, July 5.—(Special)—After having spent eight months away from home, a turkey gobbler belonging to Mrs. L. S. Kuykendall of this city returned to the home roost one day recently. The turkey, along with several others, was stolen one night last November.
