Loot From Burglary

Speedy Police Action Nabs 3 Burglars

Quick action by Police Chief Leon Yeager and the Colorado City Police Department Monday solved a burglary 25 minutes after its report.

Lewis Vowell, 421 E. 2nd St., reported Monday at 2:50 p. m. that his apartment, over Drummond Appliance, had been broken into and a large quantity of clothing and bedding stolen.

Yeager and his aides had 2 boys, aged 9 and 10, in custody 25 minutes later at 3:15 p. m. and had a confession to the crime. The 2 also involved a third lad, age 14. Entrance to the apartment was gained by breaking through the door with an iron rod about 3 1/2 feet in length. The instrument was recovered.

The rod was used to knock a hole in the door and then the burglars reached in and unlocked the door.

The 3, stated Yeager, took the clothing from barrels and dresser drawers in the room and placed them into 3 boxes. The boxes were then carried to their home nearby.

The 3 appeared before Mitchell County Judge Elmer Martin Wednesday in a hearing. They were accompanied by their mother.

Martin had set down no decision on the 3 by Thursday morning, but stated that no action could be taken against the 9-year-old. The 10-year-old will probably be released to his mother.

FRIDAY NIGHT

Public Hearing on Game System Set

Mitchell County Commissioners have called a public hearing, for Friday night to get the general public's feelings toward placing the county under the regulatory powers of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

The hearing has been set at 7:30 p. m. in the County Court room in Mitchell County Court House.

District Captain John Wood will be present to answer any questions as a representative of the Game and Fish Commission.

Game Warden Mike Hutchinson will also be present to answer any questions. He is game warden for both Nolan and Mitchell Counties—Nolan County is currently under the regulatory powers of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Mitchell County Agent Jack Burkhalter will also attend to represent this county.

The Commissioners reported that the hearing had been called to get the public's feelings on the matter before they took action on a request asking them to issue a resolution favoring the change.

The Mitchell County Sportsmen's Club, 194 members strong, has issued a resolution favoring the measure and approximately 6 petitions have been circulated in the county asking for the change.

The proposed change would permit the Texas Game and Fish Commission to each year call a public hearing of all land owners, sportsmen and interested persons in the county before setting game limits and seasons. This would be done to allow the local residents to state their personal recommendations concerning the bag limits and seasons.

Such action would also deem it necessary for all hunters to gain permission from land owners before hunting on any private property.

The chief argument favoring the change is that hunting seasons and bag limits should bear a proper relation to local conditions and the amounts.

Chamber Asks For Another Stock Barn

Colorado City Chamber of Commerce has asked the Mitchell County Commissioners to construct another building to be used along with and in conjunction with the county's agricultural barn.

The resolution requesting the new structure was presented to the commissioners last week. The Commissioners reported that no action had been taken on the request, but that it was under consideration. Definite action is expected in the near future.

The resolution, signed by chamber president Dr. Seth B. Cowan stated:

"As the Board of Directors of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce have noted with interest the outstanding service to the county the Commissioners Court has done in building an agricultural barn, and

"As this board has noted the wide use this building has received from organizations throughout the county, and

"Because this board feels that much broader use could be made of the building and a greater service therefore rendered to the county through the building of another stock barn,

"This board has authorized encouraging the Commissioners Court to construct another building at the earliest possible date."

The chamber board stated that it felt the requested additional building was needed to complete the barn and to encourage its wider use of the facilities.

ON DAILY PERMITS

Council Considers Lake Fee Increase

City Council Monday night considered raising the daily permit costs at city operated lakes from 25c to 50c.

Action on the proposal was delayed until a special called meeting of the council set for Friday, Mar. 24.

The daily permit hike was suggested by City Manager Earl Keaton who also requested that there be no change in the cost of the annual permit—currently $5.

This move was suggested by Keaton because "This will help us break even. We'll have to have an increase in taxes if we keep sponging off of the general fund and water incomes for money for lakes."

Councilman Ira Uitz suggested the council postpone any action the proposal until after the city and Texas Electric Company reached an agreement on a contract for Colorado Lake.

He also stated that he had talked to various individuals in the city and most felt that the fee was high enough. "We must keep it (the lake) as inviting as possible to the people," he concluded.

A. W. Hubbard stated that 50 per cent of the public would object to the increase.

H. I. Berman stated that the people who use the lake should be the one to pay for its upkeep and Keaton stated that most of the Colorado City people bought annual permits anyway.

Sam L. (Buzz) Majors Jr. stated that there were many who used the lake who did not obtain permits.

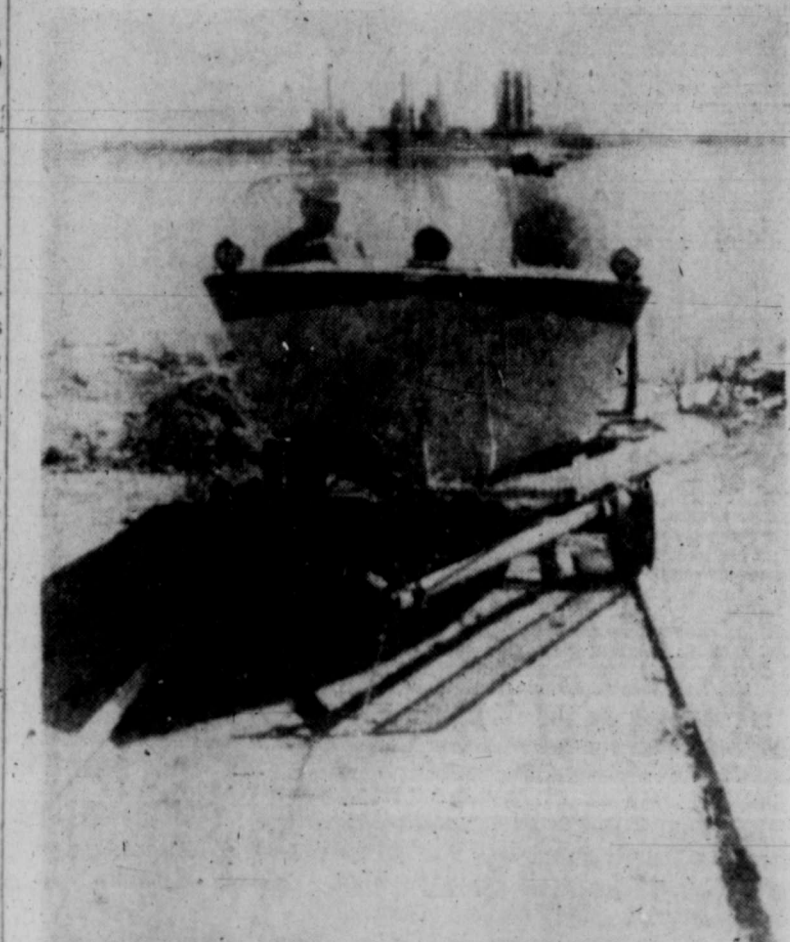

"We will patrol the lake and bring violators into court," Keaton stressed. He said also that the minimum fine for violation was $10 and the maximum was $100.

A motion by Lawrence Hudlick and a second by Berman to pass the proposal was withdrawn.

In other action the council:

1. Declined a motion by D. M. Myers to extend a contract for water facilities between him and the city.

2. Allowed the City Manager to present the Mitchell County Chamber of Commerce's request for another stock barn.

Launching New Season

Lake Patrolman Mardell Sheppard and Game Warden Mike Hutchinson launch the Lake Patrol's out-board as they prepare Lake Colorado City for another summer-season of fishing, water skiing and boating. Texas Electric Service Company's power plant can be seen in the background.

FISH LAWS LISTED

Lake Prepares for Summer Crowds

Lake Colorado City is being prepared for the annual influx of boaters, fishermen and water skiers.

Lake Patrolman Mardell Sheppard and Game Warden Mike Hutchinson were on the lake Monday making plans for the approaching season and getting the lake equipment into shape.

The 2 stated that although the level of the lake is low this year, that the annual crowds seeking recreation are expected to flock to the lake as warm weather continues.

The city has, in the past 2 weeks, been engaged in planting new trees and shrubbery at the lake's picnic area. Water lines have been laid to furnish moisture to the new plants. The planting is another stage in the city's attempt to beautify the area.

Sheppard reported that fishing and boating has picked up in the past few weeks at the lake. He stated he expected the fishing to continue to increase, but expected the boating to be confined to a few boats until later when warm weather became the everyday rule.

Sheppard also stated that all persons using the lake must have lake permits—either daily or annual—after the Apr. 1 deadline.

Hutchinson listed the local and state laws governing fishing at the lake.

Under the general law, he said, a fishing license (costing $2.15) is required for anyone fishing with a winding or reeling device anywhere in the public waters.

The exceptions to the license rule are that no license is required for persons under 17 or over 65 years of age or those using trotlines, throwlines or pole lines that have no reel or winding device. That applies only to fishing in the county of your residence, Hutchinson said, and any fishing out of county of residence makes a license necessary.

A person is allowed a non-metallic 20-inch minnow.

The bag limit includes 15 black bass not less than 7 inches in length of which not more than 10 may be 11 inches.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE'S

Industrial Committee Launches '61 Program

Colorado City Chamber of Commerce's Industrial Development Committee kicked off its 1961 program of work Tuesday night.

The committee, under the direction of chairman Roy Bates, mapped plans to develop an industrial survey of Colorado City.

The results of the survey will be compiled into a sales brochure for the city. The brochure will present current and complete information concerning Colorado City that would be of interest to any prospective business or industry for the city.

"This is the basic foundation of any industrial program," Bates said, "to know what you have to sell when you try to sell it."

Each member of the committee was assigned a special area in which to work. Bates stated to compile the information.

The basic area that will be developed and reported on is the city's location and transportation facilities.

That committee will be active during the

Council Asks for Additional Figures

City Council Monday night delayed action on Texas Electric Service Company's request for a hike in Colorado City's electric rates.

The council called a special meeting Friday, Mar. 24, to further consider the request. It requested that TESCO have more information concerning the proposed rate increase to present to the council at that time to show just cause for the requested increase.

The council called the special meeting after a 1 hour and 50 minute discussion with A. L. McSpadden, local manager for TESCO.

No action was taken on the request, according to the council, because more figures were needed to explain to the general public the reason for a raise if it were given. Also because no figures were presented to show what the proposed increase would cost Colorado City as a whole and what percentage of increase could be expected by business houses. The council was also interested in the income and expenses of TESCO in Colorado City.

McSpadden told the council in opening that "We have had a little increase in costs that we can't stand."

He pointed out that fuel costs were the big factor in the increased costs to TESCO, but that materials, labor and other costs had also risen since the last rate increase in Colorado City in 1951.

The company, with the increase, hopes to make a return of 5.57 per cent on its investment in 1961, the company representative said. That is under the 6.7 per cent return which the company under law is allowed and entitled to earn, he stated.

McSpadden went on to state that the base residential rate would start at $1.20 under the proposed increase instead of the current $1.10 base rate. All residences would, however, be freed from all demand rates under the new plan, he said.

"Not more than 32c per month would be added to any residential bill by the requested hike," McSpadden also said.

The major controversy of the discussion began at that point when H. I. Berman asked if it were true that the increase would cost some business houses as much as $100 a year?

"It would not cost any business house over $20 to $25 per year," McSpadden said. "And

TO PROMOTE TOURIST TRADE

Highway 80 Association Operation Opens Locally

Colorado City joins hands this week with sister Highway 80 cities from Fort Worth to El Paso, as a concerted drive gets underway to enroll local business firms in the Highway 80 Association.

The campaign in Colorado City begins this week, and officials of the Highway 80 Association will be on hand to help in the drive.

The association has been endorsed by and pledged the support of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce's Highway Committee, headed by James Boyd.

The Highway 80 Association, a non-profit corporation, with a projected membership of business firms in all major cities and towns along Highway 80, is now in its first phase of a three-stage program. The first is to enroll local business firms in the association.

The association's purpose is to attract more tourists to the Highway 80 area and to fort for all the cities participating.

Officials of the association pointed out the values of tourist business to any city. Curtis Curry, associate director of the association, said, "Tourist business is everybody's business. According to the U. S. Department of Commerce, two dozen tourists a day passing through Colorado City would be the equivalent of an industry with an annual payroll of $100,000."

Furthermore, the tourist dollar spreads throughout the entire business community just as the industry dollar goes through the community.

Tourism is industry. For this reason we urge every business firm in Colorado City to enroll this drive with its members, and to display the association membership emblem in the business window.

Chambers of Commerce all over the country, including the Highway 80 Association, are competing to attract the tourist dollar.

The association's purpose is to attract more tourists to the Highway 80 area and to Membership dues are $25, $50, and $50. Many firms are supporting the program with multiple memberships.

AT HIGH SCHOOL

Loraine Juniors to Present Play, "The Magic Touch"

Junior Class of Loraine High School will present a play entitled, "The Magic Touch" Mar. 24 at 8:00 p. m. in the high school cafeteria. Directors are Mrs. Charles Maughon and Coach Glenn Kimzey.

Prices are 50 cents for students and 75 cents for adults, directors said.

The play is an over-popular teenage comedy filled with action. It's about young people and their problems. Bobette Braddock is a "dyed-in-the-wool" tomboy, whose mother wants her to be a young lady. Mother has even arranged to have the fashion show, a local social highlight, conducted at her home. When mother arrives with the fashion committee to find Bobette's gang, "Dirty Dozen," in her living room and absent-minded Daddy hanging laundry all over the place, Frieda Fisher moves in on the gang, changing them from a rough-and-ready football team to a clean, lovesick bunch, all begging for Frieda to teach them to dance.

Bobette Braddock all is lost and life for her is over. She drops out of sight temporarily, leaving her parents, the "Dirty Dozen" and even the police running around in circles. How she returns to solve her problems, rescue the "Dirty Dozen" and win top honors at the Fashion Show makes a suspenseful third act. Characters in the play are as follows:

Robert Braddock, the father, a rather pudgy little man in his forties, played by Thomas Vest; June Braddock, Robert's wife, very pretty, well groomed, socially inclined, played by Katrina Wells; Bobette Braddock, rowdy and carefree, but pretty in spite of what she wears, played by Sandra Cushing.

Miss Blodget, a home economics teacher, kindly and understanding, played by Joretta Hall; Mrs. Washington, an educated colored woman who cooks, played by Mary Allmendinger; Socko, a husky-voiced seventeen-year-old with a he-man strut that covers an inferiority complex, played by Gerald Owen; Hank, a round-faced lad of sixteen with a perpetual grin and a loud mouth, played by David Little.

Chuck, a little younger than Hank, but in his own mind tougher than either Hank or Socko, played by Stanley Moore; Ophelia, a house-maid by trade but an actress by wishful thinking, played by Barbara Kidd; Willie, an awkward teen-age boy with a gift for being in the wrong place at the wrong time, played by Mike Dobbs.

Mrs. Stockdale, the community's social big shot, somewhat condescending, played by Beth Shepherd; Mrs. Clarence, also of the social register and very serious about it, played by Carol Ann Dickinson; Mrs. Poo, social but not too certain about it or life, played by Annette Browning.

Also Frieda Fisher, seventeen, very pretty and obviously a rival to Bobby, played by Gloria Mae Claxton; and Squint, a gum-chewing electrician, played by Don Small.

MR. AND MRS. SNOW, 1901 and 1961.

An anniversary party complimented Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Snow at their home Sunday on their 60th wedding anniversary.

Although 84 years old, Mr.

Snow is star route mail carrier. He began his duties as carrier 22 years ago.

Mrs. Grady Patton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Snow was hostess for the anniversary party.

Gifts were opened and dinner was served to Mr. and Mrs. James Snow and children of Levelland; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Patton and children of Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Moore and children of Brownfield and Mr. and Mrs. Grady Patton of Brownfield.

Conducting a quiz on Texas was Mrs. Taylor. Mrs. Chester Berry presented a report on Landmarks of Texas.

She told about San Jacinto Monument and Mission San Jose, which was founded in San Antonio in 1720 and considered the most beautiful old mission in America. A brief description was also given of the Alamo.

Hostess served refreshments of angel food cake with peaches and jello and coffee or tea.

DURING FRIDAY MEET

Mrs. Albright Elected Study Club President

Mrs. Donald Albright was elected president of the Hesperian Daughters Study Club at regular meeting with Mrs. L. H. Rudd Friday afternoon.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Warren Costin, first vice president; Mrs. Steele McKinney, second vice president; Mrs. Joe Lane, recording secretary; Mrs. John Worrell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Worrell, federation counselor; and Mrs. A. L. Geer, parliamentarian.

Eleven members and one visitor, Mrs. Rush Barnett, wife of the new First Christian minister, were present for the meeting.

Roll call was answered with "historic homes of Texas."

"Inside the Governor's Mansion" was topic of talk presented by Mrs. Henry Doss.

A large part of Mrs. Doss's information was gathered from a report by Mrs. Price Daniel.

Mrs. Daniel says in the opening part of her report:

"My subject of the 'Governor's Mansion of Texas' had led me through many hours of research. A wealth of material appears in early legislative documents, in dusty newspaper files and in the history of the lives of our Texas governors and their wives. Descriptions of the original structure, its builder, Abner Hugh Cook, and its furnishings do not tell its entire story. The lives and characters of those who lived within its walls are entwined in its foundations and have left their footprints upon its history."

"The Texas Constitution requires that the Governor reside in Austin and provides that he 'shall have the use of occupation of the Governor's mansion, fixture and furniture. Thus the mansion in its span of 105 years has bowed to the demands of a succession of 33 families, who came to live for a brief time within its walls as certainly as it has adjusted to their need and whims so they have had to accept its offering of shelter, no matter how difficult the process of converting the massive house into a comfortable home."

Although stately and beautiful, throughout the century of its existence, new mistresses of the mansion have been confronted with such problems and leaky roofs, capricious heating and plumbing, damaged ceilings and stained walls, threadbare carpets, distracting changes in decorative fashion and constant adjustment to new customs and changes."

"On the other hand, the mansion has had to withstand many demands of new mistresses, who have been described as 'serious minded, brilliant, retiring, economical, extravagant, charming, home-makers, gardeners, ailing and robust. Happily, the serenity and dignity of the mansion has remained unspooled through all the changes of living that 105 years have wrought. It has grown lovelier with age and proudly stands, seeming to represent only the fine qualities of those who have had a hand in fashioning it."

"During the terms of the first three Texas governors, the state furnished rented quarters. It was not until Feb. 11, 1854, during the administration of Gov. Elisha Pease that the legislature passed an act for a permanent building. It appropriated $14,500 for the erection of a suitable residence and out buildings and $2,500 for furnishings for the residence, all which was to be paid for out of the sale of Austin city lots.

AT HIGH SCHOOL

Loraine Juniors to Present Play, "The Magic Touch"

Junior Class of Loraine High School will present a play entitled, "The Magic Touch" Mar. 24 at 8:00 p. m. in the high school cafeteria. Directors are Mrs. Charles Maughon and Coach Glenn Kimzey.

Prices are 50 cents for students and 75 cents for adults, directors said.

The play is an ever-popular teenage comedy filled with action. It's about young people and their problems. Bobbette Braddock is a "dyed-in-the-wool" tomboy, whose mother wants her to be a young lady. Mother has even arranged to have the fashion show, a local social highlight, conducted at her home. When mother arrives with the fashion committee to find Bobbette's gang, "Dirty Dozen," in her living room and absent-minded Daddy hanging laundry all over the place, Frieda Fisher moves in on the gang, changing them from a rough-and-ready football team to a clean, lovesick bunch, all begging for Frieda to teach them to dance.

Bobbette decides all is lost and life for her is over. She drops out of sight temporarily, leaving her parents, the "Dirty Dozen" and even the police running around in circles. How she returns to solve her problems, rescue the "Dirty Dozen" and win top honors at the Fashion Show makes a suspenseful third act.

Characters in the play are as follows:

Robert Braddock, the father, a rather pudgy little man in his forties, played by Thomas Vest; June Braddock, Robert's wife, very pretty, well groomed, socially inclined, played by Katrina Wells; Bobbette Braddock, rowdy and carefree, but pretty in spite of what she wears, played by Sandra Cushing.

Miss Blodget, a home economics teacher, kindly and understanding, played by Joretta Hall; Mrs. Washington, an educated colored woman who cooks, played by Mary Allmendinger; Socko, a husky, voiced seventeen-year-old with a he-man strut that covers an inferiority complex, played by Gerald Owen; Hank, a round-faced lad of sixteen with a perpetual grin and a loud mouth, played by David Little.

Chuck, a little younger than Hank, but in his own mind tougher than either Hank or Socko, played by Stanley Moore; Ophelia, a housemaid by trade but an actress by wishful thinking, played by Barbara Kidd; Willie, an awkward teen-age boy with a gift for being in the wrong place at the wrong time, played by Mike Dobbs.

Mrs. Stockdale, the community's social big shot, somewhat condescending, played by Beth Shepherd; Mrs. Clarence, also of the social register and very serious about it, played by Carol Ann Dickinson; Mrs. Poo, social but not too certain about it or life, played by Annette Browning.

Also Frieda Fisher, seventeen, very pretty and obviously a rival to Bobby, played by Gloria Mae Claxton; and Squint, a gum-chewing electrician, played by Don Small.

MR. AND MRS. SNOW, 1901 and 1961.

An anniversary party commemorated Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Snow at their home Sunday on their 60th wedding anniversary.

Snow is star route mail carrier. He began his duties as carrier 22 years ago.

Mrs. Grady Patton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Snow was hostess for the anniversary party.

The three-tiered cake was white and decorated with pink rosebuds and pink net with the letters "60" in gold, centering the top tier.

Gifts were opened and dinner was served to Mr. and Mrs. James Snow and children of Levelland; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Patton and children of Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Moore and children of Brownfield and Mr. and Mrs. Grady Patton of Brownfield.

A centerpiece of flowers for the table was furnished by Mrs. J. L. Taylor.

Presiding over the meeting was Mrs. J. L. Strain. Opening prayer and pledge to the flag was led by Mrs. Tom Grant.

Fourteen answered roll call with an item of interest about Mexico or Louisiana.

Conducting a quiz on Texas was Mrs. Taylor. Mrs. Chester Berry presented a report on Landmarks of Texas.

She told about San Jacinto Monument and Mission San Jose, which was founded in San Antonio in 1720 and considered the most beautiful old mission in America. A brief description was also given of the Alamo.

Hostess served refreshments of angel food cake with peaches and jello and coffee or tea.

DURING FRIDAY MEET

Mrs. Albright Elected Study Club President

Mrs. Donald Albright was elected president of the Hesperian Daughters Study Club at regular meeting with Mrs. L. H. Rudd Friday afternoon.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Warren Costin, first vice president; Mrs. Steele McKinney, second vice president; Mrs. Joe Lane, recording secretary; Mrs. John Worrell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Worrell, federation counselor; and Mrs. A. L. Geer, parliamentarian.

Eleven members and one visitor, Mrs. Rush Barnett, wife of the new First Christian minister, were present for the meeting.

Roll-call was answered with "historic homes of Texas."

"Inside the Governor's Mansion" was topic of talk presented by Mrs. Henry Doss.

Mrs. Daniel says in the opening part of her report "My subject of the 'Governor's Mansion of Texas' has led me through many hours of research. A wealth of material appears in early legislative documents, in dusty newspaper files and in the history of the lives of our Texas governors and their wives. Descriptions of the original structure, its builder, Abner Hugh Cook, and its furnishings do not tell its entire story. The lives and characters of those who lived within its walls are entwined in its foundations and have left their footprints upon its history."

"The Texas Constitution requires that the Governor reside in Austin and provides that he 'shall have the use of occupation of the Governor's mansion, fixture and furniture. Thus the mansion in its span of 105 years has bowed to the demands of a succession of 33 families, who came to live for a brief time within its walls as certainly as it has adjusted to their need, and whims so they have had to accept its offering of shelter, no matter how difficult the process of converting the massive house into a comfortable home."

Although stately and beautiful, throughout the century of its existence, new mistresses of the mansion have been confronted with such problems and leaky roofs, capricious heating and plumbing, damaged ceilings and stained walls, threadbare carpets, distracting changes in decorative fashion and constant adjustment to new customs and changes."

"On the other hand, the mansion has had to withstand many demands of new mistresses, who have been described as serious minded, brilliant, retiring, economical, extravagant, charming, homemakers, gardeners, ailing and robust. Happily, the serenity and dignity of the mansion has remained unspoiled through all the changes of living that 105 years have wrought. It has grown lovelier with age and proudly stands, seeming to represent only the fine qualities of those who have had a hand in fashioning it."

"During the terms of the first three Texas governors, the state furnished rented quarters. It was not until Feb. 11, 1854, during the administration of Gov. Elisha Pease, that the legislature passed an act for a permanent building. It appropriated $14,500 for the erection of a suitable residence and out buildings and $2,500 for furnishings for the residence, all which was to be paid for out of the sale of Austin city lots.

Toyah Guest
Visiting in the Loraine home of Mrs. Walter Hock Sunday was Mrs. Park Bryant of Toyah.

By The Way...

By PAULINE CORNUTT

Dressing dolls to benefit charity... that's the way MRS. ELNORA BROWN... former Colorado City resident with relatives and friends here... spends hundreds of hours each year.

We first got wind of Mrs. Brown's project when an article by Ann Draper in The Dallas Morning News caught our eye. It seems as if Mrs. Brown first started this project about 12 years ago when she and her husband, Fred, lived in Mineral Wells. She started by dressing a dozen or so collector's dolls to be given out by the Good Fellow organization to youngsters overlooked by Santa Claus.

Now she makes one doll per season and donates it to the group, complete with a handsome wardrobe. Thousands of dollars have been contributed to Good Fellow through the doll gifts.

The first doll Mrs. Brown made in Dallas resulted in more than $700 being contributed to the center for further research in Leukemia.

A native of Colorado City, we understand that Mrs. Brown was more interested in horses and riding and hunting with her father, the late Dr. B. F. DuLaney, when she was a young girl.

She is the sister of MRS. T. P. BARRY.

We just can't get over what a green thumb R. A. MAY, real estate dealer has.

Have you ever noticed that row of plants May has in the window of his office... or did have... until he sent them home?

We have some plants in the Record window, too... but hardly as green and thriving as that of Mr. May's.

Quite to our astonishment the other day... in walked our neighbor from across the street... took one look at the plants... offered his advice about some special kind of plant food... and walked back to his office.

Wednesday afternoon we observed a large number of plants being loaded into a station wagon... headed for home.

Asking around we learned that the plants were headed for home... to be set out for the summer. Seems as if the green thumb tired of taking care of the plants... and sent them home to his wife to be transplanted in the yard.

Sunday was "family-get-together" day in Talpa for the Norman family.

MR. AND MRS. J. D. NORMAN traveled to Talpa over the weekend to be guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Popnoe and son, Jeff.

There they were joined by Mrs. Rodney Lee and Rebecca of Waco and Irene Norman from McMurtry College in Abilene.

Other Colorado guests in the Popnoe home were MR. AND MRS. J. RALPH LEE.

You can spot them everytime... proud grandparents that is. Just so happens we ran into one the other day MRS. ROY DAVIS COLES... who up until Monday was "mama" to her two grandchildren from Lubbock.

This welcomed duty came about for Mrs. Coles when her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Price went to Santa Barbara, Calif., to a convention of university directors.

Price represented Texas Technological College at the convention.

Westbrook Club Hosts Regular Meet

Ocotillo Cactus building was dominoes and 42, also at the piano. The scene Tuesday for the Mrs. L. L. Walraven and Mrs. B. Humphreys, Mrs. M. A. Webb acted as chairman of the hostess committee. She was assisted by Mrs. P. L. Byrd.

Byrd, Mrs. John L. Colson and Mrs. Walraven.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Callan, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Webb and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. McKenney.

Rev. John W. Hawkins, Z. T. Lasseter, I. W. Ramsey and Ernest Venus.

New Water Facilities

A city workman digs a water line near Lake Colorado City. The new water lines are being laid to furnish water for plants and grass at the public picnic area at the lake. Many new trees and shrubs have been planted to beautify the area as the boating, fishing and picnic season approaches.

Club Learns Re-Designing Of Closets

Mrs. W. H. Prescott remodeled a closet for the meeting of Looney Home Demonstration Club in her home Wednesday afternoon.

She told members that 14 feet of shelf space had been added to the closet by sufficient arrangements and storage.

Mrs. Cricket Taylor, who talked to members on the program, stressed that more shelves of different depth were needed to accomodate sizes of packages one needed to store. She said that by always keeping the things you use daily in reach, without having to disturb or hunt for them, was the most convenient and efficient method of keeping a neat closet.

Meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. D.
Gibson. Prayer was spoken by Mrs. Rufus Marshall and roll call was answered with jokes.

Refreshments of loaf cake, coffee and cold drinks were served to four visitors, Mrs.
Edna Crow, Mrs. Leon Prescott, Mrs. Ira Hardin and Mrs. Maggie Hall, and to the following members:

Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Marshall,
Mrs. Henry McGuire, Mrs. W.
E. Harris and Mrs. T. L. Holman.

Also to Mrs. Parker Jarman, Mrs. J. H. Carlock and Mrs. Charles Williams.
Next meeting will be Mar.
22 in the Lone Wolf Electric Co-operative building. Hostess will be Mrs. Gibson.

es or over, 25 white bass, 25
catfish singly or aggregate and 25 crappie.

The local laws prohibit the sale of any fish from Lake Colorado City, including minnows, Hutchinson stated.

The local laws also provide that there may be no more than 1 trotline per person and no more than 2 per party. No trotline may contain more than 25 hooks.

A metal identification tag is required to be attached to each trotline bearing the owner's name and address, he concluded.

Bands to Present Recital

High band departments will and Ensemble recital Mar. 22 at 2:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

The public is invited to attend and there will be no admission charge. Tickets will be school band, under the direction of Mr. J. H. Carlock, will ensemble pieces.

RATES—

that would be the maximum.
Although I haven't figured many of them, I did figure the two highest in town — a grocery store and a dry goods store.

Berman then asked how much that would amount to
for the entire city.

"We earn $40,000 per month here," McSpadden answered.
"The increase would be 5.57 per cent of that. We have no way to figure just for Colorado City."

Most council members then pressed the point that the proposed increase was not of 5.57 per cent. But that figure according to the working of the request, was the percentage rate of return the company expected to make on its investment in 1961, here.

McSpadden stressed that the 5.57 per cent was the rate of increase under numerous repetitions of the question by various council members.

The point of the actual rate of increase for the city under the proposal was never explained to the satisfaction of the council.

"We lack what it might cost commercial customers," City Manager Earl Keaton commented.

McSpadden stated that all large customers were on contract with TESCO and that their costs would also depend upon their highest point of demand at any one time during the month.

McSpadden explained that the demand is most electric power under use at any one time by any user. If that point can be kept down, the rate scale is reduced.

Repeated questions from the council led McSpadden to state:

"The increase would raise Max Berman's (department store) $23 a month according to last year's bills."

Sam L. (Buzz) Majors stated that the council needed a complete explanation of the proposal. McSpadden's only answer was that "earnings are down in Colorado City this year."

"What is your company's income and expenses in Colorado City," Berman questioned.

"I can't give the figures
you want," McSpadden replied.

"We can get them in court," Keaton then stated.

RECORD NOW 1-4

Wolf Baseballers Win 1, Lose 2 in Latest Action

Colorado City's Wolves dropped 2 of 3 games in baseball action over the past week to run their season's record to 1 win against 4 losses.

Coach Ken Kearns' charges lost 2 heart-breaking 1-run decisions during the span and racked up a shutout for their lone victory of the year.

Thursday the Wolves lost 3-2 to Big Spring's Steers in a thriller played in Big Spring. Then Saturday they came roaring back in Andrews to whitewash the Andrews crew.

Charles Houston became the first Wolf hurler to register a 1961 victory with his impressive 3-hit whitewashing of the Andrews nine.

Houston gave up only three singles as he went the route for C-City. Only one of the opposition's base runners got as far as third base and that was after a walk put him on first and a single and an error allowed him to advance 2 more bases.

While Houston was tossing his magic at the Andrews batters, the Wolves rapped out 7 hits and made them good for 3 big runs.

Back-to-back singles by Jimmy Palmer and James Dam-borsky and an error pushed across the first Wolf run in the second inning. They came back with 2 more in the third to lead the local batters in the win.

The Wolves only got 1 more hit after that—a sixth-inning single by Hart. Hart and Palmer each had two safeties to lead the local batters in the win.

Steve Hillhouse spun a stylish 3-hitter at the Steers, but lost 3-2 as walks plagued him most of the game.

Hillhouse walked in 1 run in the second inning with 4 passes issued to 5 batters. Big Spring got another score in the sixth when 2 walks and a fielder's choice let a man cross the plate. The only other Big Spring run came in the bottom of the eighth frame and was the winning run. Two errors and a double set up that winning marker.

Hillhouse registered 1 strike out against the Steers and they all came as the first 14 outs made in the game by the hosts.

Compton hit for a double and Bobby Stewart, Paul Hooper and Houston all got singles as the Wolves mustered only 4 hits. The first run came in the second frame and the second and last run for the Wolves crossed the plate in the seventh and was unearned.

"Hardluck" Hillhouse went against the Abilene crew Tuesday and again lost by 1 run, 5-4.

He sent 12 Abilene batters down swinging and gave up only 4 hits. Abilene got 2 of their hits in the third stanza and coupled them with a walk and an error for 3 big runs.

The closing date for entries in the big meet is midnight Apr. 9. All entries and fees are to be mailed to tournament secretary Art Dibble at 921 Marshall St., Colorado City.

The entry fee is $4 per man per event and $2 per man for all events.

There will be 4 events open for entries—5-man team event, 2-man doubles event, singles event and all events. Prize money for the affair is estimated to reach $3,000.

Prize money will be awarded to 1 in 10 entries in all 4 events. All prize money will be returned 100 per cent with first place set at 40 per cent, second place at 20 per cent and the remainder of places in all 4 events at 40 per cent.

Each event will be 3 games bowled across 6 lanes. Handicap will be 75 per cent of difference between average and 200 with a maximum of 50 pins per game. The highest league average as of Dec. 31, 1960, for at least 12 games, will be used. If there is no such average, the highest league average in at least 21 games of the 1959-60 season will be used or any bowler may bowl scratch. No summer league averages will be allowed.

Trophies will be awarded for the first 3 places in all 4 events. Special trophies will also be awarded to the high individual scratch game and the high individual scratch series regardless of event in which bowled. The tournament is open only to members of the American Bowling Congress and is not open to members of the Professional Bowlers Association.

Farm Problem Placed In Focus

President John F. Kennedy and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman regard "the farm problem" as one of the toughest and most urgent domestic problems of the new Administration in Washington.

In private talks with farm leaders and members of Congress they rate low net farm income and mounting surpluses as a more complex and pressing problem than the business slump and rising industrial unemployment.

Along with many economists, President Kennedy and Secretary Freeman believe the business decline has to a large degree been the result of the decline in purchasing power of the twenty-million people who live on farms.

Also, they think the post-war record number of unemployed has been swollen by the two million workers who have left farming to seek city jobs in the past few years.

At a meeting, behind closed doors, with farm and congressional leaders recently, President Kennedy said: "I and my party have pledged ourselves to raise the income of farmers. That promise we intend to keep."

He reminded the group that he was well aware of the fact that per capita farm income is less than half the national non-farm average, and that farmers can buy less with what they have to spend than at any time since 1939. "This," he said, "isn't just a farm problem. It is a national problem. It has become not a temporary but a chronic problem. It must be solved if we are to have a stable economy and national prosperity."

The President readily conceded that he does not know the solution of the problem. But, he insisted, we have enough able men and good brains in this country to develop a sound and workable farm program.

Secretary Freeman, at his first conference with some 200 farm organization leaders in Washington, listed three major goals and the guiding principles "I intend to follow in our efforts to achieve those goals."

"First, we must insure the production of enough food and fiber to supply high standards for all Americans, now and in the years ahead. We must distribute our abundance so that all our people are well fed.

"Second, we must assure the efficient American family farm the opportunity to achieve parity of income without exploiting either consumers or taxpayers. Government must provide to farmers, as it has provided to other groups in our economy, the tools by which they can achieve equality of economic opportunity.

"Third, we must expand our programs to utilize our agricultural abundance as an instrument to encourage economic growth in underdeveloped areas of the world, as one of our greatest weapons for peace and freedom."

Terrific Toll In Traffic Accidents

The National Safety Council reports traffic accidents in 1960 took the lives of 38,200 persons and caused 1,400,000 injuries disabling beyond the day of the accident.

It was the highest traffic death toll since 1957, when 38,702 persons met death. The 1959 traffic toll was 37,910 deaths and about the same number of disabling injuries as in 1960.

While the toll was rising 1 per cent from 1959, Americans in 1960 were setting a record-low rate of 5.3 deaths for every 100 million miles of motor vehicle travel. The mileage death rate in 1959 was 5.4.

A 2 per cent increase in travel in 1960 more than offset the 1 per cent rise in deaths, the Chicago-based safety organization pointed out. It said highway travel was a record 715 billion miles in 1960, as compared with 700 billion miles in 1959.

House Attacks State Deficit As Top Emergency Matter

By VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association After hours of fiercely critical debate, the House voted by a surprising 149-101 to attack the state's fiscal problems by working first to retire the deficit as an emergency matter.

This is the approach advocated by Gov. Price Daniel and Speaker of the House James Tamm. Several who spoke against the deficit-reducing resolution voted for it.

Agreeing to retire the deficit, however, is not the same as agreeing on how to do it. Some new measures, big and broad, have been introduced.

Rep. George Hinson of Mineola has submitted an omnibus tax measure which he says will bring in $293,000,000 over a two-year period. It is backed by Governor Daniel.

Hinson's bill includes levies on natural gas pipelines, power-driven objects and parts, utilities, stock transfers, jewelry and watches, construction materials, soft drinks, beer, wine, liquor, restaurant meals.

According to the governor's office, the bill would provide revenue for an $800 a year teacher pay raise, and other spending but is not aimed at wiping out the deficit.

Reps. John Allen of Longview and Forrest A. Harding of San Angelo are proposing an even bigger one. It is a 2 per cent general sales tax to raise an estimated $317,000,000.

Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas has introduced, as promised, his "Texas broad-based excise tax."

It is not called a sales tax, but in the language of the bill, imposes "upon each separate sale at retail of tangible personal property within this state an excise tax of 2 per cent." It has a long list of exemptions, including some already-taxed items.

Several years ago the Legislature passed a law authorizing co-ops to continue to serve the same customers when a co-op area is annexed by a city. This year the co-ops sought permission to add new customers to existing lines in annexed areas.

Opponents charged that this would put a government-subsidized operation in competition with private enterprise. Spokesmen for private utilities declared they have to pay 27.4 per cent of their income in taxes compared to 1.6 per cent for co-ops.

Co-op leaders say that, after taking electricity to areas the private companies wouldn't serve, they are now in a life-or-death struggle.

LAW SOUGHT—House Banking Committee is engaged in one of the sessions' toughest and most difficult tasks—hammering out new regulations for the small loan industry.

A constitutional amendment voted by the people last November removed the blanket prohibition against interest of more than 10 per cent and gave the Legislature authority to set interest rates and regulate the loan industry.

Five bills are under study. In general, they provide for a maximum charge of 3 per cent per month on loans under $100; less for larger loans. Whether credit insurance should be included in maximum charges allowed is one of the questions at issue.

MOUTHFUL—Texas A&M College exes, famed for their fierce defense of the school's traditions, have a problem.

Sen. W. T. Moore and Rep. B. H. Dewey, both of Bryan, are sponsoring bills to change A&M's name. There's more prestige in being called a "university" than a "college," they say.

Proposed measure would change name to Texas State University and Agricultural and Mechanical College, with a view eventually to making it just Texas State University.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER Editor's note: The Shinnery Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek discusses confusion this week, without clearing it up.

Dear editor: Every morning the first thing I want to do is get hold of a newspaper and find out what's going on, who won the cold war the day before, have they solved the farm problem, and things like that.

Well, something happened to my source of supply, and I went for a solid week without seeing a paper or listening to a radio or looking at television.

Then I got hold of a newspaper and read it thoroughly and I have a conclusion to make: I can't tell any more about who's winning the cold war now than I could a week ago, and I know from personal experience they haven't solved the farm problem.

It was awfully bad, but I was able to get a newspaper and read it thoroughly and I have a conclusion to make: I can't tell any more about who's winning the cold war now than I could a week ago, and I know from personal experience they haven't solved the farm problem.

The fact is this. This just goes to show us how much effect the top-notch job done by our County Sheriff's office and the City Police Department can have. Their action made quite an impression in Sweetwater.

Studies Dwindling Income on Cotton

By JOHN C. WHITE

Agriculture Commissioner Hill County, in the heart of the Blackland Belt and the historic cotton growing center of Texas, is taking the lead in studies aimed at increasing the county's dwindling farm income from cotton.

Not long ago more than 500 Hill County farmers gathered at Hillsboro, their county seat, to attend a study session sponsored by the Hill County Seven-Step Cotton Committee. The seven steps are aimed at increasing the county's income from cotton by at least $1,000,000 in 1961.

Experts emphasized at the meeting that the biggest problems facing Hill County farmers, as well as those throughout the other counties of the old Blackland Belt, involve the failure on an individual basis to apply practices which will curtail water, soil fertility, insect and disease losses.

C. B. Spencer, educational director of the Texas Cottonseed Crushers Association who is himself a Hill County farmer, told his neighbors that "the average Blackland farmer doesn't make $5,000 a year he could make if he would only apply the practices to his land and crops that research have proven to be effective."

Spencer pointed out that 30 years ago the Blackland Belt was the world's leading cotton producing region, but that in 1960 it had the lowest yield per acre in any section of Texas.

Reports showed that the present yield of cotton—lint per acre in Hill County is 168 pounds. It was estimated that at least $1,000,000 in added income would result if farmers could increase their lint yield by 32 pounds to the acre on the 128,000 acres allotted to Hill County.

These recommendations were given by a group of experts to help bring root rot, the Blackland's most virulent soil-borne cotton killer, under control:

1. Plow the soil deep at least six inches or more, soon after cotton harvest.

2. Rotate cotton with disease resistant crops, such as grain sorghum, planting cotton only once in every three years on the same soil.

3. Plow under heavy tanages of green organic matter on acreage planned for cotton.

4. Fertilize the crops as recommended for the soil and plants by qualified advisors.

5. Control insects and diseases by using proper methods.

6. Control weeds by using proper methods.

7. Control diseases by using proper methods.

8. Control diseases by using proper methods.

RIBLE COMMENT

What It Means to Worship in Spirit

"God is a Spirit; and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth" (John 4:24).

What does it mean to worship God in spirit and in truth? To worship in spirit means the inward sincerity of worship, the worship of heart and life, as against the perfunctory performance of religious rites or formal routine.

How much of the worship of today is thus truly in spirit, and how much is merely formal?

One cannot say, and the outward expression may be accompanied by the inward reality. The head or the praying symbol may be the outward symbol of a truly devout soul. It is the prayer, not the symbol, that is the reality.

But to worship in truth brings in a larger dimension. It lifts religion out of the area of form, dogma, external authority and superstition into the larger realm of life and truth.

The eternal challenge to everything in life and religion is this: Is it true?

The cynic still asks with Pilate, "What is truth?" (John 18:38), but to him who worships in spirit and in truth it is the deepest and greatest of all questions; and it is of the realm of truth that Jesus is King (verse 37).

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By VERN SANFORD

You can add greatly to your outdoor enjoyment by making sure your boat and motor match and by keeping both in tip-top shape.

When you're buying a rig, take into consideration the purpose for which it will be used most frequently—pleasure cruising, water skiing, fishing, etc. Obviously a rig designed for pulling water skiers isn't an outfit for serious fishing.

Then, too, when you purchase a rig make sure you get the correct horsepower motor.

Don't mount a 50-horsepower job on a 14-foot boat that is used solely on a 25-acre lake. And of course if fishing is your main concern, a 19-horse motor will do the job adequately. Then both the initial expense and the operating cost are less.

When it comes to mounting the motor leg should be perpendicular to the surface of the water. When running through the water, the cavitation plate should knife cleanly.

If the motor is mounted so that the cavitation plate slants downward, here's what happens. When you pour on the power, your boat will dig at the stern. The bow will rise high. And instead of skimming over the water on plane, your boat will be pushing a wall of water. You won't be able to get good speed or a stable ride.

If the motor is mounted so the cavitation plate slants upward, the bow of the boat will have a tendency to dig into the water. Again you have great loss of speed. Also, the ride will be unstable and dangerous.

So, the cavitation plate is much like the stabilizer on an airplane. For a smooth, even ride the angle of attack must be zero.

Assuming you have the motor mounted at the proper angle, the next thing to consider is the propeller.

Most large motors these days are sold without props. The dealer installs the correct pitch and diameter prop for your boat and load. This isn't a gimmick to run up the price. It's just good common sense.

For example, a racing wheel is wholly unsuited for a fishing rig. And by the same token you wouldn't want a work prop mounted on a motor used for racing.

If you own a big motor and use it for different purposes, it would be wise to purchase two props—or perhaps one of the new adjustable-pitch props. You can use the prop or pitch best suited for the boat load and purpose. In the long run you'll realize a savings in the amount of fuel used.

Specifications of a prop are given in terms of diameter and pitch.

Diameter is determined simply by measuring the diameter of a circle formed by the tips of the blades.

Pitch is the distance the prop moves the boat during one complete revolution.

But remember to take slippage into consideration when referring to pitch. Let us say that the prop has a pitch of 10 inches. For every revolution of the prop, does the boat move forward 10 inches? No. Remember that the prop is pushing weight, and the weight will determine the amount of slippage. With a general utility wheel, you can usually figure on the slippage amounting to 20 to 30 per cent. Slippage will increase with added weight and weight distribution within the hull. And slippage, of course, varies with speed.

Your outboard prop will collect a lot of nicks and dents in the course of operation. Nicks and dents on the leading edges of the blades result when the wheel strikes rocks, logs and other debris in the water.

These dents and nicks may appear to be minor, but they can have a pronounced effect on both boat and motor performance. You'll get excessive vibration and noise.

And there have been cases where a badly damaged prop has vibrated fittings loose from both boat and motor. Even very small nicks and dents can cause excessive motor wear.

Have your prop checked periodically and realigned. It will go a long way toward lengthening the life of your motor. And, of course, you'll get better performance and more enjoyment from out-boarding.

If you boat a lot in rocky shoal waters, it's wise to carry along a spare prop. You can cause serious motor and boat damage by trying to run home with a prop that has a big chunk knocked out of a blade or one blade knocked way out of pitch.

How about weight distribution within the hull? With a planning hull, the weight should be so distributed that when under full power the boat will be planing on the back one-third of the bottom.

Too much weight forward will cause the bow to dig; too much weight in the rear will cause the stern to squat and dig.

If the bow digs, then every little wave or current will cause the boat to deviate off course. If the stern squats, you'll have difficulty in steering over the bow. If there is a strong cross wind, you'll have trouble keeping on course because of the wind swinging the bow.

An improperly loaded boat is very difficult to steer.

I might also point out that speed only magnifies steering troubles on an improperly loaded hull.

A steering wheel is a wise investment for the outboarder. It provides more positive control over the boat and more stable turning. Furthermore it allows you to face forward so you can devote full attention to the road ahead.

Outboarding is fun when you purchase a rig to suit your purpose. It's just like buying a car—you wouldn't buy a passenger car to haul produce on a farm, and you wouldn't buy a flatbed truck for pleasure driving.

IN LORAIN SCHOOL

Open House Honoring Public Schools Week

LORAIN — Public Schools Week was climaxed here Friday night with an open house at the public schools.

Approximately 250 persons attended and toured the rooms where teachers showed the work of pupils.

Superintendent J. B. Custerling opened the program by welcoming the parents and visitors.

Included on the program were numbers by the second grade rhythm band of Mrs. Vance Dickenson, choral numbers by Mrs. Floyd Coffey's first grade musical selections by the fourth grade music class directed by Buck Hughes, Junior Class Play skits under the direction of Mrs. Charles Maughon and a style show by the homemaker students of Mrs. Maughon.

The Loraine High School seniors observed Career Day Monday by attending Howard County Junior College. Vance Dickenson and Preston C. Lightfoot accompanied the 14 students on the trip.

The Parent-Teachers Association sponsored a 42 party in the Loraine High School cafeteria last week.

High score prize was won by Lynn Hamilton. Coffee, punch and cookies were served to the 12 tables of players.

The PTA reported a profit of $45 from the party.

The Loraine Baptist Church observed the World Week of Prayer last week with daily meetings at the church.

A short skit, "That They Might Live," was presented Wednesday night as a part of the program.

Participating in the skit were Mmes. Pauline Smiley, Dexter Taylor, W. M. Teeters, Dan Butler and Mike Mears. Others were Judy Tartt, Joretta Hall, Peggy Phillips, Carol Little and Sherry Graham.

The Baumann Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Roscoe Hudgins with Mrs. Crick et. Taylor, Mitchell County home demonstration agent, presenting the program on closet arrangement.

A demonstration on growing herbs was also presented by Mrs. Olen Lee and Mrs. Lester Webb.

Present were Mmes. Taylor, Webb, Lee, Floyd Griffin, Cullen Payne, Marvin Sursa, Leroy Cornutt, Don Richey, Jasper Doyle and the hostess.

Daily Class I Utilization is Down in Feb.

Class I utilization of Central West Texas, including Mitchell County, regulated handlers during February 1961 was 11,832,927 pounds, for a daily average of 422,605 pounds.

This volume of daily Class I utilization was the lowest for the month of February since 1958. Daily Class I utilization during February 1961 was 1.74% less than the daily Class I utilization during January 1961 and was 3.75% less than February 1960 and 2.77% below the daily average for February 1959.

Total receipts from producers in February 1961 were 13,764,848 pounds, for a daily average of 491,602 pounds. This amount of daily producer receipts was 2.04% greater than for January 1961, 1.87% over February 1960, and 1.32% greater than February 1959.

There were 469 producers on the market during February who delivered an average of 1,058 pounds of milk per day. This compares with an average daily delivery per producer of 1,019 pounds in January 1961 and 963 pounds during February 1960.

The minimum uniform price that Central West Texas producers will receive for 4.0% milk delivered to plants of regulated handlers during February will be $5.83 per hundredweight, according to Byford W. Bain, Market Administrator. This price is subject to a location adjustment. For each point (0.1%) that the average butterfat content of producer milk varies from 4.0%, a butterfat differential of 7.3c applies.

Producer receipts were 116.3% of Class I utilization during February 1961. This compares with a relationship of 112.0% in February 1960.

Guests of Parents
Rev. and Mrs. Cletus Beights and family of Midland were guests in the home of Mrs. Beights' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Riden of Loraine, last week.

TO THE EDITOR

We, members of Local No. 826, employed at Col-Tex Refinery here in Colorado City, Texas pledge our support to Maury Maverick and ask the citizens of Mitchell County to do the same.

The laboring men and women of Texas have been forced to enter politics, a field entirely new and undesirable to them. This has been necessary because of continuous legislature acts detrimental to the laboring class of citizens of Texas. Private interests have continually bought into our government because citizens of Texas have not exercised their voting rights. The duty of our citizens is to find out just what their Representatives and Senators are doing when they go to work and not what they say they're doing.

We choose Maverick because of his voting record, not for his looks or how he pronounces his speeches. We had a democratic meeting in Austin where every union member in Texas was represented, and Maverick was chosen. Not because he promised us anything, but because he represents all the little people of Texas and not just a selective group. Maverick represents no private interest group, and there is only 1 other candidate in the race that can truthfully make a similar statement. Maverick slaps Labor off his backs as often as he does any other group and we deeply respect him for it. When nearly a fifth of our checks go to federal taxes even before we see them, then it's high time we get some honest men in the Senate to spend this money wisely.

Blakley, Wilson, Wright and Republican John Tower have by past action or voiced their opposition to all or important parts of President Kennedy's programs. Does it make sense to elect a President and then send people to the Senate who pledges opposition to him? Maury Maverick Jr. pledges himself to support all of President Kennedy's programs which includes his farm program, aid to the aged through Social Security, aid to education, aid to depressed areas. Mitchell County gave Kennedy and Johnson a great vote of faith in the general election. Let us not break that faith now. Elect Maury Maverick as Junior Senator from Texas on Apr. 4.

R. J. Wood
Secretary, No. 826, L.U.O.E.

Favorable Outlook for Agriculture

Domestic demands for agricultural products in Texas are expected to be good in 1961, says John McHaney, extension agricultural economist. Even if there should be a small change in consumer incomes, it will not affect the domestic market for farm products to any great extent.

If the recent economic declines are long-run and become more severe than is now expected, they could have a depressing effect on the domestic market for agricultural products, but this is not likely in 1961.

McHaney also says that the volume of agricultural exports during the present fiscal year, July 1, 1960 to June 30, 1961, will likely equal or exceed the record high established last year. Progress continues to be made in lowering trade barriers against farm products imported from the United States, and government programs continue to play a major role in the agricultural economy of the U. S.

Overall prices received by farmers in the U. S. and Texas in 1961 probably will not change much from those received in 1960, but prices received for individual commodities will change. The extent of these changes will depend on economic factors affecting such commodities. Through the year, farm and ranch debts in the U. S. and Texas have continued to increase, but this year is only about 13 percent of the value of farm assets. Equities of farmers and other owners of farm assets are high in relation to farm debts, and this is favorable, the specialist continues.

INDIANAPOLIS VETERAN

Famous Race Driver to Address Students Here

"Speed belongs on the race track, not the highway," according to Bill Cheesbourg, Indianapolis Speedway veteran and nationally-known race driver.

Currently on a lecture tour for the Champion Spark Plug Co., he will be in Colorado City Thursday, Mar. 23, to address students at Colorado City High School. His local appearance will be sponsored by Craddock-Witten.

He will address the local students at 1:20 p. m. Thursday.

BILL CHEESBOURG

Speed is Cheesbourg's business, having ranked among the nation's leading race drivers for many years, and he has some strong opinions on how and when it should be used. Two cardinal rules are, he says, "It's not for amateurs nor for the highway." "Is he a daredevil driver?" According to him the answer is "no." "Racing is dangerous, but as in other areas, steps can be taken to minimize that danger. Strangely enough, the precautions race drivers employ are the same that should be practiced by the average driver. The only difference is in racing they must be refined to a point of perfection.

"Staying alive in this business implies one thing, being safety conscious. With us it's a way of life. There's a saying around the Indianapolis Speedway that, 'There are old race drivers and bold drivers, but there are no old bold drivers.' In the face of a 35,000 annual death toll on the nation's highways, it appears the same saying holds true."

What can be done to reduce this tragic figure? Cheesbourg says, "Strict adherence to three basic rules which we stress in the Champion Highway Safety Program, drive with courtesy, be alert and have your car in sound mechanical condition at all times." Cheesbourg began racing 14 years ago in Tucson. An outstanding competitor, he has captured Arizona State championships in each racing division.

midjet, sprint car and roadster. In 1958 he posted the best finish of his three appearances in the famed Indianapolis "500" mile race. That year the popular Arizona started from last position and came in 10th with an average speed of nearly 130 miles per hour.

Cheesbourg is the latest addition to the team of seven race drivers who have presented the Champion Highway Safety Program in secondary schools throughout the nation and Canada. Altogether, about 2,000,000 students have seen the program and it has appeared at our Armed Forces bases both in the United States and abroad. The program itself was introduced six years ago as a non-commercial public service of the Champion Spark Plug Company. Since then, it has won for its sponsor the Public Interest Award of the National Safety Council and the praise of educators and law enforcement officials. It has also received editorial praise from more than 50 metropolitan newspapers.

Other Champion Highway Safety lecturers are Johnnie Parsons, winner of the 1950 Indianapolis "500"; Freddie Agabashian and Duane Carter, 12-time competitors at Indianapolis; Don Freeland, seven-time competitor in the Indianapolis "500"; Jack Turner, at the "500" four times and Bob Veith, five-time competitor in the "500".

All are members of the Champion 100 Mile-An-Hour Club, reserved for those drivers who have completed the 500 miles at Indianapolis at speeds of more than 100 mph without relief.

Now, call out-of-town relatives more often by taking advantage of the bargain rates of station-to-station (a call from your phone to a distant number instead of a particular person). Why not call right now? You'll both enjoy it.

HERE'S HOW TO CALL: Give the operator the area code for the city you want to call . . . next, the number you are calling . . . and when the operator asks, give the number you are calling from.

If you don't know the area code, the operator will be glad to give it to you. But it does not hurt to find out.
