House Set On Killing Crop Plan

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) — The House refused to budge today in its stand for abolition of the government crop insurance program, and put squarely up to the Senate the proposition of backing down from its insistence on the program or tieing up a deficiency appropriation bill.

By a standing vote of 123 to 52, the House rejected a Senate amendment to the $366,000,000 catch-all second defiency bill to allow $7,818,748 for continued operation of crop insurance.

On several previous occasions, the House had overwhelmingly voted to abolish the program on the ground it cost more than it was worth.

Senate Bows To House

The Senate bowed to the House position when it passed the regular Agriculture department bill with a House proviso allowing only $3,500,000 to liquidate the insurance program.

However, Senate backers of the plan reopened the fight by writing into the deficiency bill $4.318,748 to supplement the $3,500,000 fund approved by the House, and removing the House provision for liquidation.

The House action sent the bill back to the Senate.

It is designed to supersede a provision in the $848,25,883 farm bill sent to the White House Monday, allowing the FCIC $3,500,000 for self-liquidation. The Senate yielded at that time, Senator Russell (D-Ga) said, to avert possible attempts by the House to rewrite the entire farm measure.

Members In Agreement

House and Senate conferees agreed yesterday on other provisions in the deficiency bill—reducing Senate allowances from $150,000,000 to $100,000,000 for the National Housing agency for war housing and from $75,000,000 to $50,000,000 for the Federal Works agency to finance community war projects.

Only two other appropriations remained for disposal. A Senate demand that it be privileged to pass on all appointees to the War Manpower commission (WMC) and 18 other war-created agencies drawing $4,500 or more a year was the point of dispute in each case.

Measures affected are the $2,-923,000 war agencies bill, which contains appropriations for OPA, OWI, WPB and 15 other emergency organizations, and the $1,-100,000 labor-federal security appropriations bill, covering WPA employes.

Nazis Tighten Ban On Greece

LONDON, July 7, (U.P)—Invasion-jittery German military authorities have proclaimed all Greece in a state of revolution and ordered the death penalty for even minor infractions of Nazi regulations, the Hellenic news service in Cairo reported today.

Simultaneously, King Peter of Jugoslavia revealed in an interview that he has asked United States authorities in London to send military missions to his occupied land to aid Gen. Draja Mikhailovitch, patriot leader, in laying the ground work for cooperation of his guerrilla army with Allied invasion forces when they land in the Balkans.

Decree Is Issued

The decree proclaiming all Greece in a state of revolution was issued July 1 by the German military governor of northern Greece following pitched battles between Greek guerrillas and occupation forces, strikes and sabotage, a Cairo dispatch reported.

Mandatory death was ordered for instigators of disorders, saboteurs and any who attmept to interfere with Nazi regulations.

Amarillo Shriners Hit Of Convention With Texas Steaks

CHICAGO, July 7 (U.P)—Five Amarillo Shriners promoted Pan Americanism today with steaks which they brought from the Texas range to the range of the Palmer house.

Members of Khiva temple, they explained to Shrine guests from Canada, Mexico, Hawaii and the Canal Zone that the steaks were bought with red stamps the temple had saved for just this event.

John L. McCarty, chief Rabban, said Amarillo Shriners believe Pan Americanism should begin with individual initiative and they invited across-the-border Shriners to attend a ceremonial to be held in Amarillo, Nov. 1-2.

Harold Lloyd, film star who attended the breakfast, commented:

"These steaks are so big it looks as though you just knocked off the horns and served them whole."

Cruiser Helena Is Casualty Of Kula Gulf Fight

Fate Of Warship's Crew Not Given In Navy Message

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 7. — An American naval task force bombarded the Japanese base on Kiska island last night, the Navy announced today, in an attack apparently coordinated with the United States offensive against Japanese defenses in the south Pacific.

A Navy communique reporting the action in the north Pacific also disclosed that the American cruiser lost in battle with Japanese forces in Kula gulf on the morning of July 6 was the 9,700-ton light cruiser Helena.

The Helena was under command of Captain Charles Purcell Cecil of Louisville, Ky. Neither the fate of the skipper nor the safety of individual crew members was reported..

To Notify Relatives

"The next of kin of the casualties aboard the Helena will be notified as soon as possible," the Navy said.

The cruiser, which had been damaged at Pearl Harbor and was restored to service during the first 12 months of war in the Pacific, was the only announced American loss in the battle, in which six Japanese ships were "probably sunk," and several others, presumably four or more, were damaged.

A communique from General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters last night had numbered the damaged ships as four but today's Navy communique said only that there were "several."

315 Jap Ships Lost

Using the MacArthur figure, Japanese naval ship casualties of all types, including sunk or damaged, now total 315 and the enemy has suffered an additional loss of 38 non-combatant ships. The comparable American figure for compatant ships, including the Hel-

U.S. Ships Win 10-1 Victory

BY ROGER GREENE

American warships, shooting it out with the enemy at close quarters, have won a smashing victory in round No. 1 of the battle for naval supremacy in the Solomon islands.

The score: 10 to 1.

"The Japs have taken another damned good licking," Navy Secretary Frank Knox told cheering shipyard workers at Bremerton, Wash.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced that U. S. Naval forces caught the enemy in the narrow confines of Kula gulf, above New Georgia island, and probably sank six Japanese warships and damaged four others—at a cost of one American cruiser—in a flaming night battle July 5-6.

Details Still Lacking

"Details are not yet available and a final assessment cannot be made," a communique said.

Kula gulf, lies between New Georgia and Kolombangara islands, in the heart of the 700-mile-long Solomons archipelago where American forces have already captured Rendova island and are closing around the prize Japanese air base at Munda.

Maj. Gen. Ward Stops Briefly At LAAF

Stopping briefly at Lubbock Army Air field this morning was Maj. Gen. Orlando Ward, who commanded the First Armored division of the U. S. Army Expeditionary Forces in the battle of North Africa. Accompanied by two aides, General Ward, a native of Denver, Col., was traveling by plane.

General Ward recently was brought back from North Africa to take command of the Tank Destroyer Center at Camp Hood, near Killeen, in Central Texas.

Subsidies And CCC In Balance At Conference

Senate Rebels Again Against Rollback Plan

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, July 7 — The fate of the administration's subsidy-rollback program and of the Commodity Credit corporation depends today on a Senate-House conference committee which has been heavily "loaded" with members favoring a compromise.

The conference meets today in an attempt to soften another Senate demand that the program for cutting the retail prices of food through subsidies be killed.

The administration is counting heavily on the persuasive powers of Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, who was appointed a conferee, in getting a bill which will be acceptable to the President. To support him Vice President Henry A. Wallace appointed as other Senate conferees, Sens Robert F. Wagner, (D., N. Y.,) Francis Maloney, (D., Conn.) and Robert A. Taft, (R., O.,) all in favor of compromising Congressional opposition to White House insistence upon the program, and Sen. John A. Danaher, (R., Conn.) who offered the latest Senate-approved anti-subsidy proposal.

Hectic Session Tuesday

Today's conference follows a hectic on-again-off-again day in the Senate during which that body first approved a limited subsidy plan, then disapproved of it, voted to reconsider that vote, and finally voted to outlaw subsidies.

The final vote was 36 to 28 on an amendment to a CCC extension bill that would forbid any government agency or corporation to pay subsidies to roll back food prices. The House, which last week narrowly sustained a presidential veto of a similar ban, refused to follow the Senate and sent the Senate bill to conference.

Same Bill In Effect

The Senate, in effect, voted to send back to the White House the same bill President Roosevelt vetoed last week and would almost certainly veto again.

Danaher went into the conference conceding that his language would be modified but hopeful that it would clearly reflect continued Congressional opposition to the administration's subsidy program.

The Senate adopted Danaher's amendment after voting once yesterday, 32 to 31, to place a $525,-000,000 limit on food subsidies to the end of this year and then reversing itself by a vote of 33 to 31.

Taft had proposed the limitation amendment on the grounds that unless Congress took such action it might return from a summer recess to find the administration committed to a subsidy program that would run into billions of dollars.

Maharajah Weds His Third Wife Today

RENO, Nev., July 7 (U.P) — The Maharajah Yeshwant of Indore, 33-year-old Indian potentate and one of the world's richest men, married his third wife, Mrs. Eumphemia W. Crane of Los Angeles, here last night shortly after he divorced his second, the former Margaret Lawlor.

Mrs. Crane, like the Maharajah, also obtained a divorce yesterday dissolving her marriage with Frank A. Crane, of Los Angeles.

Chinese War Leader Advises Allied Attack Now On Japan

CHUNGKING, July 7 (AP) — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek issued a call today to the United Nations to strike at once in force against Japan because now, he declared, is the opportune moment "to reap great results" in reducing the time and cost of final victory.

In a message to the people of the Allied nations on the anniversary of the day six years ago that China was attacked, the war leader asserted Japan now "is at her weakest as her ready resources are approaching a point of exhaustion."

"Should we let her have further respite to complete impregnable defenses and to wage a long drawn-out war with us," he added, "the time and price the Allies will have to pay to defeat her will be many times longer and heavier than what are required today."

General Chiang, who told his own people in another message that the time limit for utter defeat of the Japanese invasion armies "cannot exceed two years," urged full support of the Roosevelt-Churchill agreement to "wage the war on the Japanese and European

Suggestions For A Better Post-War City Are Received

Public Library Is Greatly Needed, Readers Declare

Time Extended, Judges Chosen For Contest

Deadline on The Journal's Post-War Planning contest, originally set at noon on Friday of this week, has been extended to noon on next Wednesday, July 13.

Therefore, contestants who desire more time to think out their suggestions and write their explanations, have four more days in which to do so. The extension of the deadline came as a result of requests by a number of readers who said they'd like to have more time to prepare their entries.

Judges Are Named

A committee of judges has been selected to go over all suggestions and to make final decisions on prize winners. They are:

James L. Quicksall, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, chairman; Rev. Dr. Jack M. Lewis, president of the Lubbock Ministers association; Mayor Carl E. Slaton; Mrs. H. F. Godeke, president of the City Federation of Women's clubs; and Mrs. L. L. Miller, president of the City Parent-Teacher Federation. Members of the group will award prizes as follows:

First prize: A $25 War bond.
Second prize: $5 in War stamps.
Third prize: $3 in War stamps.
Fourth prize: $2 in War stamps.

Those entering the contest are assured that it is the "idea" that counts, not the degree of literary excellence in the written communication offering the idea. All entries must be in writing and must be in the hands of Journal editors by 12 noon next Wednesday, or bear a postmark prior to that time and date. Contestants may leave their entries at Avalanche-Journal offices, 1211-13 Texas avenue, or mail them in care of contest editors of the paper.

Suggestions may take any tack contestants may choose. They may be based upon civic, cultural or other fields, so long as they are aimed at making Lubbock a better place in which to live after victory. Contestants may send in as many different suggestions as they choose and all will be judged.

SUSPECT—This is Howard W. Pickell, 26, native of Syracuse, N. Y., where he has a long police record. A man arrested at Pine Bluffs, Wyo., in connection with the slaying of a ranch couple gave his name as Pickell, police said.

City Auditorium, Other Ideas Are Put Forth Here

What sort of improvements are most needed to make Lubbock a better city after the war is won?

The Evening Journal wants to know—wants to know from the citizens of Lubbock, themselves, and is offering prizes for the best four suggestions received. Surely every reader interested in a better city has ideas of his own—and he is urged to voice those ideals in writing between now and noon next Wednesday. Complete information on the contest will be found in a column to the left on this page.

Offers Four Ideas

Mrs. C. M. Kaigler, of 1402 Avenue T, for instance, offers four suggestions. The things we need to assure adequate, decent living quarters for all, including "the so-called underpriviledged; the negroes and the Mexicans among us." She thinks a public library of sufficient scope and housed in an attractive building is needed. She suggests "public living rooms" for girls who do not have homes or access to homes, whether they can entertain their young men friends. And she would exemplify the brotherhood - of - man theory through the institution of a YMCA, a YWCA and other recreational centers "located in sufficient numbers to serve all."

Rae Stillwell, of P. O. Box 460, suggests a library building and a "real, honest-to-goodness library," including works covering the various trades and professions. This contestant thinks such a library should employ a reader's advisor, should have complete reference works of all kinds and suggests a microfilm reading machine so that contents of rare books, here-to-fore available to inhabitants of only the older and more densely settled areas of the world, would be available here. Also suggested in connection with the library is a small theater in which educational, cultural and foreign-language movies might be shown interested persons.

Miss Margaret Sessums, 1504 Avenue S, submits two suggestions, one of which is a public

Pastor Has Added Worries About Gas

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 7. (U.P)—Rev. George Griffith, already beset with the problems of a $10,-000 breach of promise suit filed against him, today favored the added difficulties of a prospective bout with his gasoline rationing board.

Office of Price administration officials said they would instruct Griffith to appear before the Kansas City, Kans., rationing board next Saturday to show cause why his "C" coupons should not be revoked.

OPA interest in the case grew out of a statement by the plaintiff in the $10,000 suit, Miss Lucy Adams, 21 - year-old member of the Northeast Gospel tabernacle of which Griffith is pastor. She told of long rides with Griffith in his Cadillac sedan.

OPA officials indicated they did not consider such rides were part of Griffith's ministerial duties—on the basis of which his C book was issued.

Former Tech Football Player Killed Today

NOCONA, Tex., July 7 (AP) — Y. C. Paschall, 27, former Texas Tech football star and coach of the Nocona High school football team, was crushed to death today when the traveling block and elevators fell after a drilling line broke on a wildcat oil well where he was working four miles west of Nocona.

His Nocona team last year won the highest honors open to class B schools when it defeated Garland 26 to 6 for the regional championship.

Paschal is survived by his widow.

Senate Approves Bill To Raise Corn Price

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP) — Legislation to raise the ceiling price of corn from $1.07 a bushel, Chicago basis, to $1.40 was approved by the Senate today and sent to the House.

Passage came on a voice vote with only a scattering of "noes."

Farm state senators pushed the bill through despite an admitted attempt by Senator Danaher (R-Conn) to load it down hopelessly with amendements.

Disease Nears Epidemic Stage

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP)—Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, today said poliomyelitis was assuming epidemic proportions in some sections of the state, and listed measures which should be taken to control the disease.

The health department said 80 new cases in 27 counties were reported this week compared with 39 reported last week.

For the first six months this year polio cases totaled 17 compared with a seven-year median of 35.

Precautions Given

The health department issued the following statement as to measures which should be taken by communities and parents to aid in control of the disease:

"Strict sanitary measures must be observed in all communities. Stringent efforts should be made to eliminate the house-fly and to destroy its breeding places. All mosquitoes and mosquito breeding places must be eliminated at once.

"Every effort should be made to institute approved garbage collection systems immediately. Safe water supplies must be assured. Where adequate municipal sewage disposal systems are not in operation, it is vitally important to promote and maintain sanitary septic tanks and out-door privies.

"All swimming pools should, under rigid supervision, maintain those standards approved by the Texas state department of health. This necessarily includes maintenance of proper chlorine level, where such standards are not maintained, those pools should be closed immediately.

"All raw foods and vegetables should be washed thoroughly before using and protected from flies, filth and insects. All eating

Two Veterans Bills Approved By Senate

WASHINGTON, July 7 (U.P) — The Senate has approved by voice vote and sent to the White House two bills to amend the veterans compensation act.

One would increase pensions to widows of war veterans from $45 to $50 a month and increase non-service connected disability payments from $6 to $8 a month.

The other would provide that only "felonious misconduct" shall be grounds for denying disability benefits to a veteran.

Navy Cross Awarded To Texan For Action

Shortage Of Diapers Said Causing Crisis

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) — A shortage of diapers and safety pins was pictured for the House today by Rep. Frances P. Bolton, mother of three adult sons.

"What do the New Dealers expect us to do with our babies without diapers and pins with which to fasten same?" asked Mrs. Bolton (R-Ohio). "We can do without a lot of things but how can a baby do without diapers?"

Mrs. Bolton said the Army anticipates a bumper crop of at least 300,000 babies with service-connected fathers or mothers, "and this creates a major problem in strange fields still not solved by OPA."

Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich) remarked that Mrs. Bolton had advocated that a large number of women join the WACS, WAVES, SPARS and Marines. He insisted "there aren't going to be as many" women at home to have babies.

Prominent Ranchman Is Critically Ill

AMARILLO, July 7 (AP) — John M. Gist, Midland cattle and oil man, is critically ill in an Amarillo hospital, although his condition was reported somewhat improved today.

Gist is 78 and has been ill several days. He has retired from his cattle business, in which he was recognized as a leading breeder of purebred Herefords.

Main Line Said Cut At Points In Kursk Area

Breakthrough Claimed Effected During German Counterattacks; Conflict Said Raging In Area Between Orel, Belgorod

(By The Associated Press)

The Berlin radio quoted a German military spokesman as announcing today that the Germans had broken through the main Soviet fighting line at several points in the Kursk area, center of the Russian bulge below Moscow.

No details were given as to the distance of the claimed penetrations, but it was stated that the break-through came during a German counterattack.

The claim was made in a Trans-ocean, propaganda agency, dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press.

Earlier Berlin accounts of the eastern front fighting said the conflict was raging between Belgorod and Orel with the initiative "firmly held by the Germans." Kursk is midway between those two points.

Fighting Increasing

"The salient of the Soviet front northwest of Belgorod-Kursk-south of Orel now is the scene of fighting continually increasing in violence," a DNB military correspondent was quoted as writing.

Tanks were playing an important role, it was said, while in the air the strongest air formations were being engaged in fights in the Kursk area.

NAZIS HURL FRESH TROOPS AGAINST REDS

(By The United Press)

MOSCOW, July 7—Fresh masses of German tanks, infantry and planes flung themselves vainly at Russian lines on the southern front today as the Red army regained some lost ground and cut up Nazi armor that spent itself seizing two villages in the Belgorod area.

Panzer units that made initial slight advances in the Orel and Kursk areas were torn apart methodically by Soviet artillery and infantrymen who let them pass unmolested and then smashed the Nazi attempts to follow up their gains.

The Nazi armored legions that gained slightly near Belgorod were stopped cold and the army organ Red Star said a fierce Russian counter-offensive had set them back.

Sicilian Siege In 36th Hour

Five Air Fields Nearly Demolished

BY DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 7 (AP) — Flying Fortresses from north Africa and Liberators from the middle east command poured hundreds of tons of high explosive and fragmentation bombs on Gerbini airdrome in southern Sicily yesterday as the air siege of that vital enemy base roared through its 36th hour.

The all-out effort to knock Gerbini and its four satellite fields from the map appeared nearing completion, photographs revealing terrific damage to administration buildings, hangars, parked aircraft and landing strips from the relentless poundings of the last two days and a night.

Destroy 41 Fighters

At Gerbini Flying Fortress gunners of the northwest African command destroyed 41 enemy fighters on Monday, and at least one more Axis plane was shot down during yesterday's double daylight blow.

A middle east communique said that approximately 50 Liberators participated in yesterday's smash, dropping more than 285,000 pounds of high explosive and fragmentation bombs on the Gerbini fields, covering runways and dispersal areas and leaving large fires burning. One enemy fighter was reported destroyed and two damaged while every Liberator returned safely.

Flying Fortresses from this base struck shortly after dawn. Five planes of the northwest African force were reported missing from the day's operations, against two enemy aircraft destroyed.

Axis Lose 110 Planes

The fourth day of the concentrated attack on Sicily's airfields from here saw the score stand at 110 Axis craft destroyed against an Allied loss of 19.

Veteran observers cautioned against jumping to the conclusion that the Allies have won complete air supremacy over Sicily, but the sudden falling off in enemy fighter interception indicated that the Germans had lost most of their Sicilian-based land planes and were in need of reinforce-

Young Bank Robbers Hunted In Oklahoma

HULBERT, Okla., July 7 (U.P)—Two youthful gunmen robbed the State bank of Hulbert shortly before noon today and escaped with approximately $3,150.

The two gunmen immediately became the objectives of a widespread search in the one time "bad country" of Oklahoma, home of the Cookson hills, where such bandits as Charles Arthur (Pretty Boy) Floyd hid out in his prime.

The bank was robbed at 11:30 a. m.

Bank attendants said the men were armed with "six shooters." The pair made their escape in a dark green Plymouth sedan which had no license tag.

One of the two was said to be only about 19 years old. His companion was described as about 27 years old and cross-eyed.

Roosevelt May End Argument

WASHINGTON, July 7 (U.P) — Speedy presidential intervention in the Wallace-Jones dispute was foreseen today on the basis of reports that War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes and others were urging action.

This development was accompanied by reports from the grass roots of popular indignation over the public accusations exchanged by Vice President Henry A. Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones.

Recommendations for President Roosevelt to intervene are understood to emphasize the urgent desirability of demonstrating that he is handling affairs within his own administrative family as firmly as he disposes of foreign phases of the war effort.

Dispute Widens

The dispute has widened from the matter of procurement of strategic materials to raise questions regarding administration spending policies through the Board of Economic warfare and Wallace's alleged pre-occupation with post-war ideologies. With those factors involved, any congressional investigation would bear, ultimately, on controversies which go near the bottom of the cleavage between a considerable bloc of conservatives and a substantial group of New Dealers.

Whether Mr. Rosevelt will undertake to arbitrate the dispute apparently has not been decided

Japs On Rendova Fled So Fast Breakfast Rice Left Boiling

BY J. NORMAN LODGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH U. S. OCCUPATION FORCES ON RENDOVA ISLAND, July 1 (Delayed)—Japanese soldiers fled so suddenly before the invading Americans on this central Solomons island that their breakfast rice was found still boiling.

Some ran to sniper posts on stumps and in tree tops when the United States doughboys swarmed ashore yesterday in the new offensive.

The job of ferreting out the snipers continued today, and as I sat atop a coral outeropping, balancing my typewriter on my knees because of lack of a more suitable place, there was an occasional zing of a Japanese .25 calibre bullet going through the cocoanut trees.

No one paid much attention. Generals sat without steel helmets, hardly breaking their conversations.

Restrictions Put On Taxis

Lubbock taxicabs must confine their operations to the city limits and "immediately contiguous suburbs" under new regulations of the Office of Defense transportation, according to information reported here Tuesday by Richard E. Wood, district ODT manager.

"Every holder of an ODT certificate of war necessity has signed a statement that he understands the operation of a taxicab by him is subject to all applicable state and local laws, as well as federal regulations," Wood said.

The ODT manager said the order will have the effect of prohibiting taxicab service here that has been conducted between the city and the two Army air bases, and also the largest "dine-and-dance spot" located some distance from the corporate limits.

The ODT referred to Sec. 9111-A, civil statutes of 1925, regulating motor vehicles for hire and placing jurisdiction under the state railroad commission; also to the penal code, Sec. 1690, which provides a penalty of $25 to $200 fines and making each day's violation a separate offense. Further penalty is contained in a provision allowing the state to sue and collect as much as $100 a day from offenders, it was pointed out.

Gasoline Restrictions

"The ODT will not authorize the issuance of mileage and gasoline for taxicabs for the purpose of engaging in an operation which is not permitted by state or local laws, even though there might not be any violation of federal regulations," Wood said.

Wood said that insofar as the two Lubbock Army air fields are concerned, that his office frequently had contacted the commanding officers of both fields and in each instance it is learned the officers have not sought to establish there is a need for the taxicab service to and from the city. Wood said the established bus service is considered ample by the authorities at both air bases, insofar as his contacts, established as a cooperative effort, he said, have revealed.

Yesterday's order takes the place of one issued some time ago, limiting taxicabs to trips outside the city not exceeding 10 miles in distance, and under that order both Army air fields here were served by the four Lubbock taxicab companies.

COMMANDOS RAID THE BIG TOP—No, this familiar early-summer scene is not in Ashtabula or Wilkes-Barre; it's in South London, where the circus carries on, war or no war. Flashes Of Life

(By Associated Press)

SIGNS-OF-TIMES

LYONS, Kas. — Volunteer Fireman El Anderson jumped up in the middle of the night to dress for an alarm.

His wife challenged him shortly thereafter:

"Take those off," she demanded. "You're not going to wear my slacks to any fire."

AT EASE, LIEUTENANT

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Lt. Arthur W. Carter can now stop worrying about whether the expected little stranger in his household will have to be bathed in just any old thing. Veteran of the north African campaign, Lt. Carter recently worriedly advertised in a Los Angeles newspaper that he would trade German battle trophies for a baby bathinette.

Today, D. M. Kennedy, president of the Baby Bathinette corporation of Rochester, said he would send the lieutenant a baby bathinette gratis, for Rochester, and he can keep his war trophies to show to the baby.

Furthermore, Mr. Kennedy advised that the company is turning out baby bathinettes in good numbers daily, despite the critical shortage of raw materials and scarcity of labor.

TOUGH HOMBRE

CAMP STEWART, Ga.—His commanding officer thought Pvt. Andrew J. Caparisos was too frail for anything but limited service in the Army, but changed his mind when he learned that:

In the past four years Caparisos, a former member of the Greek merchant marine, has been on three torpedoed ships, twice tossed adrift in the Atlantic, once for 16 days in an open boat in which three men died, again when he used the body of a dead man as a raft for three days; he was interned in North Africa for 15 days, underwent air raids in England and was wounded in the hand by shrapnel at Dakar.

A native of Pensacola, Fla., he weighed 165 when the war started, lost 65 pounds, and is back up to 135.

NO ONE COMPLAINED

COLLINSVILLE, Okla. — Mayor Earl Spink invited Tulsa county officials to a fish fry. They ate chicken.

More than 2,000 pounds of fish had been seined from a nearby lake, the mayor reported—but a game warden put 'em all back.

—OH, SO UNHAPPY

PORTLAND, Ore. — Louis Edward Olivera is home again—a somewhat morose old veteran of 15.

He'd been in the Navy a year, served in Guadalcanal, was promoted to seaman, first class, and eliminated at least one Jap with a bayonet. Then the Navy discovered his age.

Louis doesn't see why it should happen to him: "The Navy is full of kids 14 and 15."

Helicopter, Plane Service Is Sought

DENVER, July 7 (U.P.) — Officials of Rio Grande Motorways, Inc., a subsidiary of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad, today filed application with the Civil Aeronautics board and the Colorado Public Utilities commission for permission to establish airplane and helicopter service in its territory.

The joint application proposed a through airplane transport service from Denver to Los Angeles, via Grand Junction, Colo., and Las Vegas, Nev., and subsidiary airplane and helicopter routes throughout Colorado and New Mexico.

T. L. James, president and general manager of the bus line, said the applications are part of a broad plan to coordinate bus, train, airplane and helicopter service in the Rocky Mountain area after the war.

The applications proposed airlines from Denver to Estes Park, famous Colorado tourist resort, from Durango, Colo., to Gallup, and Albuquerque, N. M., and from Alamosa, Colo., to Santa Fe, N. M. via Taos, N. M.

James said helicopter service would be used on the direct through routes and helicopter service also would be established between towns in the area on local schedules.

The CHIROPRACTOR-and You

No. 2 of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of Chiropractic.

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC? The Chiropractor teaches that the brain and nervous system are the root of health. From the brain, nerve energy is distributed through the nervous system to control all parts of the body. When this nerve energy is shut off even slightly between brain and body (by bone diplacement in the spine), one or more body functions are interfered with and ill health results. By x-ray, analysis and spinal adjustment the Chiropractor is able to relieve nerve interference and restore normalcy to the affected part. No drugs. No surgery. Nature is the healer.

CASE HISORY No. 34. This patient had suffered almost continually since 1918 with stomach pains and gases, and had turned from one method to another seeking relief, without results. Eventually the condition became so chronic that he was, at times, unable to sleep or eat. On the recommendation of a friend, a Chiropractor was consulted. X-ray analysis revealed displacement of a segment of the spine which had shut off nerve supply to the digestive organs. A series of adjustments restored the bone to normal position and within a short time the gastric condition cleared up.

CASE HISTORY No. 125. A victim of asthma for ten years. Many remedies had been tried without results. An operation on the sinus was undertaken to try to correct the condition, but she still suffered. After some time friends suggested Chiropractic Analysis indicated displacement of an upper vertebra. Adjustments to correct the displacement were successful and improvement was immediate. This patient now enjoys excellent health and there has been no recurrence of the asthmatic condition.

CASE HISTORY No. 98. A typical case of Sciatica. Patient unable to move without suffering great pain. Condition gradually became worse until finally Chiropractic aid was sought. Within one week following adjustments of the spine, he could move around quite freely and in less than two weeks the patient was able to resume an active life.

Walker Says Story Of His Using Fixed Dice Is Ridiculous

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) — Postmaster General Walker described as "ridiculous" today a story that he once inadvertently used "loaded" dice in a friendly game at his home.

The story was related by H. H. Roswell, publisher of the National Police Gazette, in testimony on his application for restoration of the magazine's second class mail privilege. Walker revoked the privilege last September on the ground that the magazine published "lewd and lascivious" matter.

Asked by his attorney, Clifford Forster, whether he ever had tried to find out what in his magazine was objectionable to the postoffice department, Roswell said he had "practically begged" for such information but that "all we ever got was a sarcastic remark."

Objects To Dice Advertising

He said he had approached Walker several times and that on one occasion Walker had said he objected to the advertisements for dice because on one occasion he had purchased some to use in entertaining friends at his home. As it turned out, Roswell quoted the postmaster general, who also is chairman of the Democratic national committee, Walker won all of the money, only to be advised by a friend who examined the cubes that one was "loaded."

(To load dice means to weigh them unevenly so that a particular number turns up most of the time).

Asked for comment on this, an assistant to Walker said:

"The postmaster general observed that this story was so ridiculous that he wouldn't dignify it with an answer. He did say, however, that he never owned a pair of dice except those in his backgammon and parchesi sets."

Roswell was the only witness at the hearing. The board took the application under advisement.

TO BUY THEATERS

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—Stock holders of the 20th Century-Fox Film Corp. today authorized the company to exercise its option to purchase 58 per cent of the holdings in the National Theaters Corp. from the Chase National bank for $13,000,000. The film company already owns the remaining shares in the theater chain which operates approximately 590 movie houses.

China's Fight With Japs 31 Years Old

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, July 7 — Today, the anniversary of a little skirmish at Marco Polo bridge near Peking, marks the beginning of the seventh year of the Sino-Japanese war.

So say the announcements. But as an understatement it sets something of a record. The war between Japan and China has really been in progress 31 years. Japan has employed guns, planes, tanks, famine, pestilence, bribery and treachery. But, thanks to a truly great people, she has met with failure in every department. History records nothing like it.

The real war against China began, not on July 7, 1937, but back in 1912, towards the end of the first phase of Sun-Yat-Sen's revolution. It was then that the Japs began to send over swarms of Black Dragon members, secret society trouble-makers and borers-from-within.

Backed By Unlimited Funds

Backed by unlimited funds, these Black Dragon members sought out local Chinese war lords—some with grievances, some with ambitions and others who were just plain greedy—and egged them on to make war against their neighbors. The Japs provided money and weapons to both sides alike. Their job was to keep China in turmoil, prevent unity, delay modernization, divide and rule.

In the 20 years between 1912 and 1932, China was seldom without some kind of internal strife as a direct result of this meddling. It kept her poor, weak, half-starved.

Such was the first phase of Japan's 31-year war against China. The second phase was to ruin China economically and financially. She forced Japanese goods past Chinese customs, using troops to guard freight trains and ships while unloading. As Chinese customs duties formed a large part of the national revenue, this helped to impoverish the government.

Used Secret Diplomacy

A third phase of Japanese aggression saw the use of secret diplomacy backed by threats of war. At the outset of the first World war, Japan tried to cram her notorious "21 demands" down China's throat. She presented these demands to President Yuan Shi K'ai almost literally at the point of a pistol. Dire things would happen to him and to China, she said, unless he signed right then and there. America and China's other friends must not find out. The demands would have made a complete puppet of China but Yuan played for time, the secret leaked and Japan beat a hasty retreat.

But Japan was not licked. She returned to the attack by another flank. Despite the fact that China was then an ally, Japan seized Shantung and, at the end of the war, would have remained in eastern Siberia as well but for Allied opposition especially on the part of President Wilson.

Throughout the '20s, Japan continued to back various Chinese war lords. She tried to work her wiles on Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, then a young leader in Canton, but failed to make headway. Then she attempted to head off his march on Peking in 1928. She threw troops into Sinan-Fu, an important railway junction, Yellow river crossing and key to Peking. But young Chiang by-passed the Japs and beat them again.

It was now that Japan began to concentrate on Manchuria. Japs murdered the old Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchu war lord, because he became fed up with their demands and refused to do as told. Then they tried to debouch his son and heir, the "young marshal." When this failed, they blew up the track of the south Manchuria railway, blamed it on "Chinese bandits" and, on that pretext, began the occupation of all territory north of the great wall.

This was the famous September, 1931, "incident." As neither the League of Nations nor the great powers acted decisively, Japan kept on advancing. The war continued spasmodically through '32, '33, '34, '35 and '36. Japan cleaned up north of the wall then crossed and started to do the same to the south.

And so came the clash of July 7, 1937—the skirmish at the bridge of Marco Polo. It was the beginning of yet another phase of the war. Its chief importance lies in the fact that it provided history with a milestone to mark the beginning of the phase of the Sino-Japanese struggle which eventually was to merge with the second World war.

Former Tech Student Visits In Lubbock

First Lt. L. D. Whiteley, former student of Texas Technological college, is visiting in Lubbock after having won two medals in war service.

The young pilot, who has taken part in more than 50 missions and has amassed more than 400 combat hours, has received the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal. In addition, his squadron was cited by the War Department for its work last fall in combat in the Southwest Pacific.

In Two Major Battles

Among battles in which he participated were the Battle of Santa Cruz last October and the naval battle off Guadalcanal Nov. 13-15. One of his narrow escapes occurred Oct. 25 when the windshield was shot from the B-17 he was piloting. Another occurred in November when a motor was "shot out."

Reluctant to speak of his own experiences, the youthful flier changed the subject to a member of his squadron, 1st Lt. R. C. Johnston of Floydada, who received the Silver Star for sighting the enemy fleet in the Battle of Santa Cruz. Johnston was graduated from Texas Tech in 1940.

Just before returning home, Whiteley saw 1st Lt. Bud Thompson and 1st Lt. Milton Hill, both Marine pilots and both former students of Texas Tech, and Cpl. Warren Tabor, gunner in the Marine corps and former Tech student.

Whiteley enlisted in the Army air corps in May of 1941 and left in October of that year to enter training. He received his commission as a second lieutenant May 21 at Victorville, Calif. He left the states Aug. 9 of last year and returned only recently after eight and one-half months overseas.

He is to leave today for Dakland, Calif., to visit his mother, Mrs. Lucille Whiteley and will report later this month to Biggs field at El Paso to help train a new group of fliers.

Whiteley attended Texas Tech from 1937 to 1941.

Elevators Halted By Strike Of Operators

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—A 55-minute strike of 225 elevator operators caught an estimated 28,000 office workers and visitors in Rockefeller Center buildings late Tuesday, forcing many to walk downstairs, some from atop the 70-story RCA building.

Officials of Rockefeller Center and of the AFL building maintenance craftsmen's union said the walkout resulted from an internal dispute in the union.

Two hundred visitors left stranded in the RCA building's observation tower, 860 feet up, insisted on walking down, so Bob Sestera, a radio city guide, led them down 75 flights of stairs. The trip took 30 minutes.

"I knew we couldn't bank on any new models for a long while after this mess, so I played safe with our car . . . kept her engine OIL-PLATED like always, with Conoco Nth motor oil, especially to not let the engine get ruined by acid. Your old Mileage Merchant pal told me why there was no worse wartime danger than engine acid."

"Dad, I learned that too, in the service, you bet—"

"Quiet Sergeant, till I show off what I know. That acid comes from ordinary combustion, but when the car was run often and got plenty warm the acid petered out—not causing rank corrosion the way it does with the engine mostly resting. But knowing as I did that chromium-plating won't corrode easy, I could see it would check corrosion to give the engine's insides OIL-PLATING. I found out a synthetic in Conoco Nth oil acts sort of like 'magnetism'—to keep OIL-PLATING fastened to inside engine surfaces—not all draining down to the crankcase even standing still. The car ran sweet bringing you back home, didn't it? Too bad some folks have got to wait months for new models, when they should've used Conoco Nth to OIL-PLATE and save their car. Let's go."

We The Women

BY RUTH MILLETT

We have grown used to the idea of a suddenly successful man or woman getting a divorce after living for years with one mate.

Now it seems the same thing is happening over and over among women in war work. It is happening so often that it already has become the greatest concern of social welfare workers in the war-boom town of Buffalo.

That is something for us to get concerned about. It is one thing for the highly successful or famous to lose their heads and get divorces. They are a small minority.

But there are thousands of wives in war work, and there will be more and more as time goes on. If numbers of them are letting their jobs go to their heads to such an extent that they think they no longer need their husbands, the divorce rate is going to move upward fast.

They are a foolish lot, those women.

The thrill of their jobs and the excitement of earning money will wear off in a little while.

Even if it doesn't, they may not have jobs when the war ends and the men come home.

What will they have then, if they have quit their marriages cold because they figured that since they were earning money they didn't have to put up with a man's faults?

Will Regret It

The truth is, they won't have much of anything. Some may marry again — but second marriages are harder to work out than first ones.

And those that don't re-marry will just be women on their own, growing older every year, and every year finding keener job competition from younger women.

Women have things their own way these days when it comes to being independent.

But if they let it go to their heads — they are bound to be sorry. Lasting happiness and security for women lie in marriage —and they can't afford to forget it, no matter how large their pay checks are.

Marine Women's Reserve Needs Many In Ranks To Free Fighting Men

The slogan "Free a Marine to Fight," used in the drive for Women Reserves in the U. S. Marine corps, means that more well-trained Marines are being relieved of duties which can be performed by women.

Approximately 27 per cent of the Marine corps are Texans—boys from the Lone Star State. These boys are making a name for the corps, for the state, and for themselves. However, many of them are not getting their chance at the Japs because many jobs at home must be performed, and in many instances this work can be done by women.

The Women's Reserve of the Marine corps is not up to full strength and many more are needed. There are more than 30 different types of work which women can do and release a man to fight. If you are a U. S. citizen, age 20 to 36 years, with a minimum of 2 years of high school or business school, in sound physical condition, 5 feet in height and weigh at least 95 pounds, with no children under 18 years of age, perhaps you can be the woman behind the man behind the gun.

If you meet these qualifications you too may become a member of the United States Marine corps—Uncle Sam's oldest fighting force —and share in their traditions, honor, and victories.

LEATRICE JOY GILBERT: "Everything's wonderful . . ."

Romance Is 1st, Films, 2nd For Film Romeo's Daughter

BY ADELAIDE KERR
Associated Press Features Writer

The 18-year-old daughter of the late John Gilbert and Leatrice Joy took a mouthful of hotcakes and began discussing the two subjects nearest her heart:

1. Her new husband.
2. Her new movie contract.

There is no question about which comes first with Leatrice Joy Gilbert.

Romance wins in a walk.

The daughter of the Great Lover of silent films defines that word in the best Hollywood manner. Three months ago she interrupted a college course for an elopement marriage to Francis Michael Carney. And, true to Gilbert tradition, her romance has been interrupted. Uncle Sam called her husband to the Army. Leatrice told me about it all as we sat over the hotcakes in New York.

It Was Wonderful!

"Hank and I were in school in Stanford University," she said, "and we had a terrible quarrel. So I quit school and started home to Los Angeles. I was having breakfast in a restaurant in Santa Barbara and I looked up and there was Hank. He didn't know I was there; he just came in for breakfast too. He was on his way to Los Angeles to get me. It was wonderful! So we went to a friend's house in Los Angeles and changed our clothes. Then we took the train to Yuma and were married by a justice of the peace. Now I wish I had had bridesmaids.

"We lived with his mother for awhile. And then Hank wanted to get a job. So I took him to MGM, where I know some people and he got a job as reader. The executive we saw asked me what I was doing. When I said I was looking for picture work, they took me to see Louis Mayer—and finally I got a contract and everything was jake.

"Then Hank and I got our own apartment. It was so cute! It had a fireplace, and I made curtains for the kitchen. We only had it three days. Then Friday evening we came home from the movies—and there was a special delivery from the government. Finally Hank opened it—and that's what it was — he was called. He left Sunday morning; we were all at the station for hours. Oh it was awful! Then for two weeks I didn't get any letters, for Hank doesn't write much. I nearly went mad. Women have to get used to things."

At this point tears threatened to fall on the hotcakes.

And the new contract, Miss Gilbert?

The tears dried before they were shed.

Still Wonderful

"It's wonderful, isn't it! I want to be a successful screen actress and one that will last. So I have come to New York to get some experience either on Broadway or in stock, before I go into films. Mother thinks that's a good idea. She came with me. She coaches me a lot."

Judging from the big brown eyes, the aureole of brown curls and the slender figure, Leatrice will be no handicap to the films. She is not a dazzling beauty, but she has sparkle—and the friendliness of a girl who wants to be liked. She also has a throaty voice which she hopes to use in musicals. She is five feet seven, weighs 125 pounds, and loves unorganized sports such as skiing, rides, swimming and fishing.

Couple Of "Card Tricks" A Day Sure To Deal You Winning Figure Says Star

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Bathing suit time is almost here. How's your figure? Will it stand a figure-hugging swim suit—or have you become a bit bulgy during the winter?

Better resume those morning setting-up exercises, and cut down on sweet desserts and eating between meals, if you hanker after a svelte figure like that of starlet Adele Mara, who is soon to be seen in "Destroyer."

"How do I keep in trim? With card tricks," Adele said. And it turns out that she was quite serious. Taking a deck of cards, Adele places them in two rows about two feet apart. Then, squatting down on her heels, with her chest high, back straight and knees well apart, she squaddle walks the length of the row, picking them up one by one.

Another of her tricks is to split the deck in two, lie on the floor with legs together and arms stretched out in back of her head, with the cards within reach. Picking one card off each pile with either hand, she slowly raises herself up, with arms, head and back coming off the floor simultaneously—making certain, however, to keep her legs flat on the floor—and bending over as far as she can, places the card in her right hand in front of her left foot and the other by her right foot.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO HOME CANNERS

The Glass Top Seal Fruit Jar Cap for Home Canning was developed as a Wartime product to conserve metal. It consists of a Metal Band, Glass Lid and Rubber Ring.

Because of the difference in the nature of these three materials this Cap must be used differently from any other fruit jar cap. If used properly it will give excellent results. If not used properly, results will be bad, including failure to seal and breakage of jars. Following are simple instructions for use of the Glass Top Seal Cap and must be followed carefully.

1. Do NOT use in Oven Canning.
2. If processing, (cooking in jar), leave 1 inch space in top of jar. If using open kettle, leave ½ inch space in top of jar.
3. Fit rubber around projection on bottom side of lid.
4. Place lid so rubber lies between lid and top edge of jar.
5. Turn bands tight, then loosen slightly (about ¼ turn). Bands must fit loosely during processing (cooking). This is Important and must be done to insure best results. If using Open Kettle, screw bands tight as soon as jar is filled.
6. After processing, screw bands tight to complete seal. Remove bands 12 hours after canning.

DO NOT TURN FILLED JARS UPSIDE DOWN

Lubbockites Asked To Contribute Jewelry

An opportunity to put your old costume jewelry to work for the war is being offered through local Red Cross workers, they reported this morning.

Mrs. C. P. Carlock, production chairman for the local chapter, said that a container will be placed in the Red Cross production room, Sixteenth street and Avenue J, to receive the costume jewelry that is given.

Tons of such jewelry have been shipped to men in the armed forces overseas, particularly in the Pacific. There the fighting men use it for trading purposes with the natives.

A letter to Mrs. Carlock related that the soldiers can get just about any job they want done in exchange for a piece of costume jewelry. The natives aren't interested in money, but for a piece of brightly-colored jewelry they will dig fox holes, bring in the wounded, carry ammunition and do almost any other job. This does more than save Americans from laborious work. Often it saves them from danger.

Containers for the collection of such jewelry may be placed in other places. Temporarily, however, the only collection center will be in the Red Cross center. Contributions should be left there

War Prisoners May Aid Harvest Here

SOMETHING like 500 former followers of Benito Mussolini, who are now involuntary "guests" of Uncle Sam at the Hereford Internment camp for war prisoners, may this fall help gather Lubbock county cotton and grain sorghum crops and thereby help alleviate a now anticipated shortage of farm labor.

True, there is nothing certain, as yet, about the use here of Italian prisoners of war, now behind wire on the flat wheatlands of Deaf Smith county following the U. S.-British cyclone which struck the forces of the dumpy Duce in North Africa. There are some broad "if's"—several of them—yet to be surmounted. But the possibility is so strong that it might almost be called a probability.

Very definitely, no war prisoner help will be available for cotton chopping in the immediate future, despite the fact that hundreds "could be put to work tomorrow." Certain details must be worked out and construction of a small cantonment must be completed—all of which likely would take a minimum of 45 to 60 days. But the wheels are turning to the end that September may see in this county hundreds of swarthy farm workers, the backs of their blue denim coats marked with a big white "P. W.", at work in our peaceful fields.

Committee Goes To Camp

A six-man committee Tuesday went from Lubbock to the internment camp, located approximately 5 miles southwest of Hereford, and conferred with Army authorities in charge of the camp. Members of the group were County Agent C. C. Jobson, upon whose shoulders rests the responsibility of securing sufficient farm labor to harvest Lubbock county crops this season; County Judge G. V. Pardue; W. O. Perkins and Seth S. Allcorn, members of the country's Farm Labor committee; A. B. Davis, manager of the chamber of commerce and of the Panhandle-South Plains fair association, and Chas. A. Guy, Avalanche-Journal editor.

A former Texas state senator from Fredericksburg, now Lt. Col. Alfred Petsch who is second in command to Col. A. M. Risdon at the camp, and two aides "got down to brass tacks" with the committee within a very few minutes after armed military police permitted the group to enter the closely guarded camp grounds. Assuming that the government will make war prisoner labor available to areas as far removed from an internment camp as Lubbock is from Hereford, Colonel Petch explained the steps which must be taken here before such labor can be assured. He pointed out:

Explanation Given

1. The county commissioners court must certify to the best of its ability the number of prisoners which are needed over and above the amount of free labor available; it must guarantee that certain minimum wages will be paid; that at least 50 per cent of the number of prisoners furnished will be kept busy for half the number of days within a set period of time; it must make available to the government, without cost, suitable grounds upon which a small cantonment can be constructed at government expense; it must incorporate in an official application to the Eighth Service command, at Dallas, all this information. Then:

2. From the Eighth Service command will come an inspector who will check the information contained in the application; and if he finds everything "shipshape," will recommend that the prisoners be made available. Then:

3. The Eighth Service command will order Hereford camp authorities to make available the prisoners needed, together with a complement of officers and men of the U. S. Army who will administer to the prisoners and guard against any attempts at escape.

At this time, Colonel Petsch explained, it cannot be guaranteed that any war prisoners will be available for farm war work in this section except in areas immediately adjacent to the internment camp. Plans for "branching out," via special cantonments such as contemplated here, are still in the discussional stage. However, the former legislator expressed the opinion that such labor would be made available, not only here but in other farm sections over the country, because of an apparent harvest-time shortage of free, civilian help.

Farmers Pleased Thus Far

At present, war prisoner labor is being used in areas adjacent to most, if not all, the several dozen internment camps the nation over—including the section around the Hereford camp. Colonel Petsch said that thus far, farmers who have been using the labor in the Hereford vicinity have been well satisfied. He said wages paid now are averaging about $1.50 per prisoner, per day. The contracting farmer, in addition to furnishing transportation, pays the daily wage to the government, which, in turn, credits approximately 80 cents of each day's pay to the individual prisoner. Prisoners are not forced to do work aside from that essential to their own camp welfare. However, the government, through an educational campaign, seeks to influence them to do so and most of the prisoners seem to take to the idea. Those who work outside put in an 8-hour day, are fed and lodged by the government which also is responsible for medical and dental care, in keeping with international agreements.

Jobson, Perkins and Allcorn expressed the opinion that Lubbock county profitably could use "from 2,000 to 5,000 war prisoner cotton pickers and grain harvesters," but Colonel Petsch expressed the opinion that such a number would be out of the question. He said 500 likely would be the maximum available here, should the government install the system of cantonments now under discussion. He said applications for prisoner labor were coming from numerous counties in the Northwest Texas area.

Commission Meets Monday

Judge Pardue said the next meeting of the commissioners court would be held Monday, and at that time he will lay the matter before the other four members of the court. They are Commissioners P. B. Penney, Tom L. Holt, Ben Mansker and Newton Stokes. The judge pointed out that he has no authority to speak for the commission, but that it is his opinion that the court will "do whatever it can to aid in alleviating any farm shortage" in the county.

Allcorn, who farms in the Monroe community, and Perkins, a Southwest Ward farmer serving as district manager of the Rural Electrification administration during the war emergency, are two members of the county's four-man Farm Labor committee. Other members are Ray Furgeson, of Becton, and F. H. Cannon, of Idalou. Members of the committee are expected to have considerable influence in whatever decision is made regarding ultimate use of war prisoner labor here.

Fairgrounds Probable Site

Should the labor be made available, and should the commissioners court make the necessary guarantees to the Eighth Service command, a portion of the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds likely will be used for the cantonment. Fair Manager Davis said the matter was entirely a responsibility of the fair directorate and he said the directors would be called into session before the commissioners court meeting Monday to consider their angle.

The fairgrounds offers best nearby facilities for a prisoner cantonment, not only because former CCC barracks are available for housing Army officers and men, but because it also offers fire protection, light, water and sanitary facilities, and already has a strong fence which will meet government requirements. Also available on the grounds is space for prisoner barracks which must be built to certain specifications in order that prisoners may be safely guarded by the minimum number of American soldiers, and housed in keeping with international agreements. Located at the city's edge on East Broadway, extending eastward for about a quarter-mile and northward about a half-mile, the grounds are immediately accessible for the transaction of normal business between cantonment authorities, business people and farmers, alike. Fair association officials are Homer D. Grant, president; Marvin B. Hilburn and Chas. A. Guy, vice-presidents; Lennis Baker, treasurer; Claude B. Hurlbut, Charles L. Adams, sh., J. A. Hodges, S. C. Wilson and C. E. Maedgen, directors.

15-Man Detail Is Minimum

Under current arrangements, which may or may not be followed if the government expands its policies on availability of war prisoner labor, a detail of 15 men, accompanied by two armed guards, is the minimum permitted to be contracted for by an individual farmer. However, farmers whose lands join may work together in securing prisoner help in cases where neither individually needs as many as 15 workers.

Whether Lubbock county will need any considerable number of prisoner-workers during the coming harvest period—which, roughly, will extend from September 1 to February 1—if the government expands its policies governing such labor, is a matter of opinion to date, although if noraml grain and cotton crops are made it appears certain that some aliens may be profitably used. The district office of the U. S. Employment Service, located here, estimates at this time that the usual, migrant negro and Mexican workers will be available to the extent of approximately 90 per cent of normal. However, USES admits that its estimate is subject to change since no harvest labor is as yet needed in South Texas to furnish firm basis for calculation.

'Budget Baby' Now Is Less A Luxury

CHICAGO, July 7 (AP) — Although living costs in general are higher this year, Chicago's "budget baby" celebrated her fourth anniversary Tuesday less a luxury than she was last year.

Blue-eyed Sharon Derer cost her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Derer, just $10.26 less in her fourth year than in her third. They know precisely how much because they have kept careful records since her birth.

"Of course," said Mrs. Derer, "there are a lot of things she is eating which are the same as ours, and I haven't been able to keep account of those. Items on her budget are things purchased especially for her."

When Sharon was born on July 6, 1939, her father, now 35, was earning $1,600 a year as a refrigerator car icer. Last year he became a milling machine operator and is now foreman of his department, earning more than $2,000.

The Derer budget shows that Sharon cost them $273.68 in her fourth year, compared with $283.94 in her third, $225.05 the second, and $270.17 the first, or a total of $1,052.84.

Before the first Marauder bomber was delivered to the Army Air Forces, 485,000 man-hours of engineering were required and an additional 440,000 hours have been added to make the changes suggested by combat experience.

Gumbert's Worth To Cards Is Increasing

Three-Hitter Puts Cards 4 Games Up

BY PAUL SCHEFFELS
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 7—There are more spectacular pitchers in the major leagues than Harry Gumbert, but none is more deserving of baseball fame than the St. Louis Cardinal righthander who, after eight years of steady toil, seems about to win rightful recognition.

Gumbert, nicknamed "Gunboat" for some unknown reason, is one of the quietest workmen in the game. Perhaps he's even been too quiet, for since he came to the New York Giants in 1935 for his first crack at big league ball, he's hovered in the background—tolerant, calm and uncomplaining but always reliable.

Giants Traded Him

Few observers have recognized his true worth. As an outstanding indication, the Giants traded Gumbert and Paul Dean to St. Louis for Bill McGee. Gumbert is the sole survivor of that deal and the Cardinals have good reason today for exultation over that two-year-old trade that brought Handsome Harry to Sportsmen's park.

Gumbert turned in one of the season's best-pitched games yesterday as he led the Cardinals to a 4-0 triumph over the difficult Philadelphia Phillies, a decision that was doubly important because, combined with the Dodger defeat by the Cubs, it boosted the Red Birds into a four-game lead in the senior circuit.

Allowed Three Hits

Not a single Phillie got further than first base as Gumbert doled out three hits, fanned two and walked two for his first shutout of the year, his fourth straight and sixth victory of the campaign.

Chicago trounced the Dodgers, 9-4, in a twilight game at Ebbets field, the defeat dropping Brooklyn within four games of the idle third-place Pirates.

Every man in the Chicago lineup clubbed out a safety off three Brooklyn moundsmen. Claude Passeau gave up 13 hits for his seventh victory.

Javery Wins Own Game

Al Javery won his own game as he pitched the Braves to a 1-0 win over the Reds. Clyde Kluttz doubled and scored on Javery's jolt to center in the second for the pitcher's eighth win. He allowed six hits.

The Yankees forged three games in front in the American league by tripping the Browns, 5-4, in a night game. Doubles by Tuck Stainback and Marius Russo, a walk, Bud Metheny's single and Nick Etten's long double drove in four runs in the fifth to clinch the win, first for Russo this season.

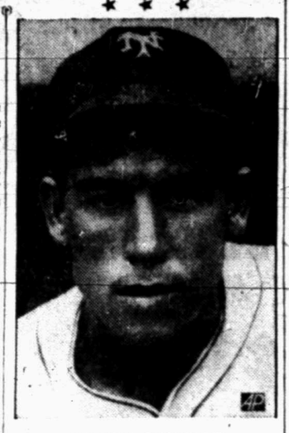

Detroit Nips Washington

Rae Scarborough issued two bases on balls to force in the deciding run as Detroit nipped Washington, 4-3, in 16 innings. Bob Johnson's two-run homer tied the score in the fourth. He doubled on Gene Moore's single to send Washington in front in the 16th, but, with the bases loaded for Detroit in their half, Gerry Priddy let a grounder go through and the score was tied. Scarborough loaded the bases by walking Pinky Higgins and ended the game by passing Ned Harris.

Al Smith, veteran Cleveland southpaw, turned in his seventh victory by pitching the Indians to a four-hit, 2-0 triumph over the A's in a night game.

Boston at Chicago was postponed.

Yesterday's star — Righthander Harry Gumbert, who allowed the Phillies only three hits as he pitched the Cardinals to a 4-0 triumph.

Curtwright Lags But Retains Plate Lead

CHICAGO, July 7 (AP) — Guy Curtwright, rookie hitting sensation with the Chicago White Sox, ran into production trouble over the week end, but hung on to his newly won American league batting lead despite a drop of 25 points in four days.

Curtwright's average skidded from the .362 he held Thursday to .337 when he managed to get but two hits in the holiday round of double headers. The slump, which started Friday when his consecutive game hitting streak was broken at 26, left him just four points ahead of Vern Stephens of St. Louis.

Stephens had a mark of 333, a loss of nine points over last week.

Qualifying For Tourney Is On

Lt. Johnson With 78 Is Leading

Qualifying rounds for the Lubbock City golf championship is under way and will continue through this week. First-round matches are scheduled to start next Monday.

Lt. Geo. E. Johnson is leading qualifiers thus far with a 78.

Since qualifying play opened Sunday, 17 have entered, it was reported Tuesday by Charles Akey, club manager-professional.

First round match play will continue through July 18.

Entry fee is $2.50 and all proceeds will go into the prize fund for war bonds and stamps. The meet is open to all golfers "in and around Lubbock," Akey said.

Yank Tryout School System Is Effective

NEWARK, July 7 (AP)—One of the main reasons for the success of Yankee teams throughout their list of minor league holdings is the tryout school system. About 100 New Jersey youngsters, seeking to get a crack in pro ball, turned up recently for a Newark tryout class.

The squad was cut down to 25 but some good prospects were found. A few will get chances with the Pony league Wellsville (N. Y.) team.

The Yanks found Phil Rizzuto at a tryout after the Dodgers thought he was "too small."

Haegg To Train For Race In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, July 7 (AP) — Gunder Haegg, wispy, long-haired Swedish fireman, will do his training in Los Angeles for his two-mile race Saturday with the Boston divinity student, Gil Dodds.

The fleet Swede holds the world record for two miles at 8m. 47.88. And Dodds has covered the distance in 8m. 53.6s.

Gunder and Dodds ran the two-mile event in Chicago last Friday Gunder winning in 9m. 2.8s.

Third Brown Turned Down For Military

ST. LOUIS, July 7 (U.P.)—Frankie Hayes, St. Louis Browns catcher, was rejected for military service today at the Jefferson barracks induction center. Hayes is the third member of Manager Luke Sewell's club to be turned down within a week — First Baseman George McQuinn and Shortstop Vernon Stephens were rejected at the center last Wednesday.

NEW YORK, July 7 — Arne Andersson, Sweden's newest mile record-breaker, is due to try for another of Gunder Haegg's records tomorrow and this time the track fans hereabouts will be ready . . . Since Arne's 4:02.6 mile last week they've heard a lot about various Swedish steppers, including Andersson, who has run 1,500 meters in 3:48.6, a half mile in 1:50.8, 3,000 meters in 8:11.4 and 5,000 in 14:18.2 . . . Then there's 22-year-old Rune Gustafson, runner-up to Andersson last week in 4:06.6 — he's the boy Haegg's handlers consider the real prospect in Sweden — 20-year-old Arne Ahlsen, Oke and Arthur Johnson and Harold Kalarne, who all have done 1,500 in about 3:49 . . . Gil Dodds, America's best miler, set his own record for 1,500 at 3:50.2 in winning this year's national title.

Attendance Rises In American Association

CHICAGO, July 7 (AP) — Pessimism regarding baseball for the duration had no seat among American association directors who in their annual mid season meeting today learned that 1943 league attendance was running 10 to 11 per cent above that of last year.

George M. Trautman, president of the league, declared that "in spite of one of the worst springs in years and the rather difficult transportation problems, we are running 10 to 11 per cent above last year's figures through July 4."

Crowds over the Fourth of July totaled almost 50,000, which he said was one of the league's largest turnouts for this holiday and certainly the best in the last 10 years.

Oklahomans Victors In N. Dakota Rodeo

MANDAN, N. D., July 7 (AP) — Louise Brooks of Pawhuska, Okla., won the saddle bronc riding contest at the 1943 Mandan rodeo, which closed a three-day stand here last night, and another Pawhuska cowboy, Pat Parker, won the calf-roping contest.

Bill McMackin, formerly of Trail City, S. D., and now of Florence, Ariz., won the steer-wrestling contest.

Gerald Roberts of Strong City, Kas., and Young, Ariz., won the Brahma bull riding contest.

HAS TWO "VETERANS"

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 7 (AP) —Coach Ray Eliot has 30-odd players out for summer football practice at Illinois — but it's not as good as it sounds. Until last night only one member of the squad, Ralph Palmer, had had previous college experience. Now Eliot has two "veterans" on hand, since Fullback Theron Bradley, former Illini freshman and later a varsity performer at the University of Wyoming, has reentered Illinois.

Fine All-Star Game Is Seen

Seventeen Named To College Team

BY DAVE HOFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, July 7—Here's a coaching staff of five experienced fellows; they have 17 fine football players who are assured of reporting for practice next month—and many more on the way.

It's the 1943 College All-Stars, who on August 25 will be pitted against the champions of the National Football league—this year the Washington Redskins—for the 10th time, in Dyche stadium in suburban Evanston.

Fine Performance Seen

So the all-star game, which might have become a war casualty for lack of talent, appears headed for as fine a performance as it's ever had.

The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., sponsors of the game, have compiled a roster of excellent collegians. Some of them have not yet ended their university careers but special conference eligibility rulings are taking care of that. Most of them are en route to the service. Some are already in but will play while on leave. The majority of them expect to play their last football "for the duration" in this game.

Tickets All Sold

Tickets for all the best seats and for all the least expensive benches have been sold. The coaching staff has been completed with the name of Frank Leahy of Notre Dame He is one of four assistants to Head Coach Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin, who also will be aided by Wallace Butts of Georgia, Babe Horrell of U. C. L. A., and Lieut. Tony Hinkle of Great Lakes.

The all-star squad now includes these players who have accepted invitations to participate in the game:

Linemen: Don Currican, Boston College; Pat Lyons, Wisconsin; Al Wistert, Michigan; Del Dickerhoof, Iowa; Gerrard Ramsey, William and Mary; Leslie Kalchik and Wilfred Kramer, Marquette; Paul Mitchell, Minnesota, and Eldon Werkheiser, Dubuque.

Backs: Cammille Piccone, Notre Dame; Bob Steuber, Missouri; Roy McKay, Texas; Joe Winkler and Walter Cook, Purdue; Charles Trippi, Georgia; Steve Lach, Duke, and Otto Graham, Northwestern.

Steuber Is Signed By Chicago Bears

CHICAGO, July 7 (AP) — The Chicago Bears hope they get a few touchdowns out of Missouri's Bob Steuber before the Navy gets him. Although Steuber is awaiting a call from the Navy, in which he was enlisted, the Bears signed up the fleet halfback for the 1943 National Football league season. He'll report to the Bears after the College All-Stars game in which he hopes to face the Washington Redskins, professional champions, August 25.

Third New Team, State Guard, Admitted To Softball League

A third new team — State Guard — has been admitted to the Lubbock B & P softball league, it was announced today by W. G. Loesel, league secretary. The team comprises members of the local unit of the Texas Defense Guard.

Loesel said that the loop would welcome another team to raise the number of competitors to an even twelve.

Whiteside Laundry and 309th are the other new clubs.

The no-spike rule in effect the first half has been retained, Loesel disclosed. He said six managers present in a meeting Monday unanimously agreed that it should remain in force. Shoes having any sort of spikes are banned.

State Guard will play its first game against the Federals Thursday night. A third diamond at the B & P park west of the intersection of College Avenue and Thirty-second street will be put in shape to accommodate the additional teams, said Loesel.

Games tonight: Tech Pre-Radar vs. Jaycees; Tech Faculty vs. Baptists.

South Plains Army Air field sub-depot softball team eked out a 1-0 victory Tuesday night over the Baptists.

Both sides were limited to three hits. O. L. Beach and Ray Higgins comprised the battery for the victors. For the Baptists, L. H. Barley pitched the first three and two-thirds innings, gave up 2 hits, then was relieved by Leeman Branch who finished the game. J. D. Haygood was the Baptist catcher.

SPAAF made one error, the Baptists two.

Plains Farmers To Use Cotton Picking Machines This Fall

A smaller, sturdier, and much more simplified cotton stripper which the manufacturer claims will pay for itself on any South Plains cotton farm where 50 bales of cotton are harvested now is on the market. A number of these machines will be placed in this area next fall.

The manufacturer, C. E. Morris Co., of Dallas, has representatives here this week interviewing cotton growers. There are reports this firm will establish a plant in Lubbock for assembling the machines, for stocking vital parts, and for offering a service to those who place the machines in operation for the coming harvest.

Harvester Greatly Needed

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment station here, said experiments he has conducted over a period of years convince him there not only is an economic need this year more than ever before for introduction of a cotton harvester, but he believes a practical machine will be available. He said he was favorably impressed with the Morris machine for it is simplified, made easily interchangeable for different tractor models, and the vital wearing parts are reduced to a minimum and are manufactured of steel. One of the machines is almost certain to be delivered to the state farm. Con Parrish, largest Crosby county cotton planter, has spoken for 13 and probably will have a half-a dozen. W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe, largest Lubbock county cotton grower, will use two, perhaps more if available.

C. C. Jobson, county extension agent here, said Lubbock county has the largest cotton acreage of any Texas county, although it is not the largest producer in number of bales ginned by counties. South Plains cotton growers depend on machinery for producing cotton to a larger extent than do growers in any other cotton producing section in the United States. As a consequence, the growers here have less local supply of labor and are accustomed to "importing" more harvest labor than any other cotton area.

Not Available Last Year

Last year, at this time, the alternative of utilizing mechanical harvesters proved hopeless because manufacturers without priorities could not manufacture the machines and make deliveries in time to assist in the harvest. Later there developed an ample supply of cotton pickers who migrated here and the situation in the immediate Lubbock area was saved. Growers are not at all sure of what many happen next fall, and a much larger number of farmers are seriously considering the availability of cotton harvesting machines.

All other crops are harvested by machinery, and observers believe cotton is next.

The tendency now is to confine all day laborers and farm help to the communities in which they reside, and abandon the plan of shifting workers in large groups. This might leave the South Plains section in dire need of harvest hands.

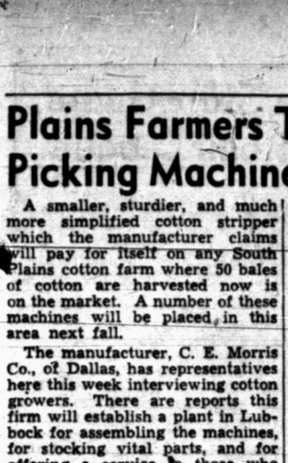

Increased demands for cottonseed for livestock feed and oils makes the salvaging of all the cotton crop a war-time necessity. Inroads also are being made on the carry-over stocks of lint cotton, and before long it is expected there will be a shortage, instead of a surplus, of lint. This already is said to be true of the better grades and longer staples.

Experiments Began Here

Original experiments for the Morris stripper, involving nearly all of the practical ideas now built into the machine, began in the South Plains area.

The simplified machine which has impressed experiment station men and the ginners and larger planters since it has been introduced here will gather up to 10 and 12 bales of cotton a day. When the frost strips the plant of its leaves, the two-row harvester gathers the cotton bolls, carries them along a screw conveyor and deposits them in an attached trailer. It is believed the use of the machines will relieve many of the farmers here if there should be a scarcity of migratory labor.

Demands Sounded By Small British Party

LONDON, July 7 (AP)—The Commonwealth party which, with three representatives in the House of Commons, is the smallest in Britain, issued a manifesto today demanding the transfer of all land, utilities, mines, industries, banks and insurance companies to common ownership.

Other demands included self government for the colonies, and immediate independence for India.

DESERTIONS REPORTED

LONDON, July 7 (AP)—Norwegian sources in London reported today that Gen. Nikolaus von Falkenhorst, German commander in Norway, had posted notices in military camps taking cognizance of the "shameful and disgraceful" increase in desertions among the Nazi occupation forces. The deserting soldiers were reported to have fled to Sweden.

Today On The Home Front . . .
"De Ducks", Increased Living Costs Worry Friend Joe Again

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE
Associated Press Staff Writers

WASHINGTON, July 7 — Our friend Joe is worried—again.

He put it this way:

"The income tax will take 20 per cent of my pay, Secretary Morgenthau wants 25 per cent for war bonds, now they want to take 6 per cent for social security, prices seem to be going up. Where am I gonna wind up?"

Well, we pointed out that the pay roll deduction for income tax isn't going to be 20 per cent of all Joe's earnings—it's 20 per cent of the amount above his exemptions (Joe is married, has two children, earns $55 a week).

Some Can't Meet Goal

We told Joe, too, that Secretary Morgenthau acknowledges there are some people who simply can't put 25 per cent into war bonds.

And that Congres hasn't shown any inclination to raise the social security to 5 or 6 per cent as some governmental leaders have urged. However, the persent deduction of 1 per cent will go up to 2 per cent next year unless Congress postpones the increase again.

We sat down with Joe and listed his weekly deductions as they'll be under the new income tax collection plan:

Income tax—$3.88. .

10 per cent for war bonds—$5.50.

Company pension plan—$1.65.

Life insurance (group plan)—$1.

Social security—55 cents.

Hospitalization (group plan)—50 cents.

Total deduction $13.

That'll leave Joe with $42 a week.

"But if I put 25 per cent into war bonds, that would be $13.75," Joe sighed.

Other Deductions Seen

"Then I'd have $21.25 taken out of my pay. That'd leave me only $33.75. And how much'll that buy?

"And if they boost the social security to 6 per cent, that'd be another $2.75 off the check—leaving me $31.

"And besides, they're talking about a sales tax and higher income taxes."

So we got out the latest available figures on cost of living. We looked up the Bureau of Labor Statistics' "maintenance level." This is figured for an unskilled overall-wearing laborer with two children. It is stated that this budget doesn't "approach the content of what may be considered a satisfactory American standard of living."

Covers Only Basic Items

It covers food — "an adequate diet at minimum costs," clothes, housing, fuel and light, a daily newspaper, ice for refrigeration, one movie a week.

It's figured for 33 cities.

We found that the last revision of the maintenance level was for Dec. 15, 1942. The highest was for Washington, D.C.—$1757.40 a year, or $33.80 a week. Lowest of the 33 was Mobile—$1453.85 a year, or about $28 a week. The average ran to about $30 a week.

And we read that the bureau says costs have gone up about 5 per cent since then.

So about all we could tell Joe was what government big-wigs have been saying for a long time:

For most people, the war is going to mean a lower standard of living.

Corn Plants Given Temporary Relief

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP) — The corn refining industry got temporary relief today with a fresh two weeks supply of corn requisitioned from country elevators by the government, but industry spokesmen said a permanent solution must be found if the refineries are to be kept operating steadily until the new crop is available.

Morris Sayre, executive vice president, said the Corn Products Refining company's big plant at Pekin, Ill., was re-opened today after a two weeks' shutdown, after the War Food administration had requisitioned enough corn for a five days' grind and that it appeared probable the refinery could continue operation for another two weeks.

"Through the temporary expediency of requisitioning corn, we have enough to start grinding again," Sayre said. "But the seriousness of the basic problem of supply is by no means settled.

"To meet demands we should continue operations without interruption right through the summer and fall until the new crop is available in the middle of October. As yet, however, there is no more than a two weeks' supply in sight."

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says it used to be "all dressed up and no place to go"; now it's "no way to go!"

Did you ever stop to think that the early bird may not enjoy the worm as much as the late bird enjoys the sleep?

ACCORDING to all reports, living is going to be much sweeter — and simpler — after Victory, due largely to the application of various new gadgets and sciences now being used for war to our future, peaceful pursuits.

This strange new field of radar is expected to contribute largely to comfort and convenience. Chemurgy, too, will bring us closer to the Utopian, if advance notices pan out. Dehydration of foods, new types of mechanical and electrical appliances all promise to serve man miraculously well, as do recent wartime finds in medicine and other avenues of human endeavor.

The Plainsman, like everyone else, will welcome all these newfangled aids to living; expects to enjoy them no end. But he's particularly interested in one which has to do with the field of communications—the telephone, to be exact.

According to report, there has been perfected a gadget which, properly attached to a telephone, will automatically jot down messages when there's no one around to answer the jangling bell. Thus, when the phone patron of the future returns home, all he'll have to do is check the gadget to find out who, if anyone, called during his absence and what, if any, message they left.

The cockeyed thing is not only miraculous. From where we sit, it's intriguing — not because we care so much about who calls when we're absent from the phone as about who calls when we're there!

TO BE perfectly truthful, The Plainsman suffers from telephone-phobia.

Of course, we admit the telephone is a marvelous gadget; that its contribution to modern civilization is great; that in our business we'd be terribly handicapped without it. Old Alec Bell had a good idea and he perfected a wonderful instrument. Yet nevertheless, it is an instrument of torture, too, when misused—and millions of Americans misuse it every day.

Telephoning is so easy, so convenient, so utterly effortless, that a lot of folks get telephone-itis.

Whenever they haven't anything else to do, they call someone on the telephone, never stopping to think — or give a hoot—about the rights of privacy of the target of their interest.

Therefore, fully three-fourths of the phone calls are unnecessary, distracting and thoroughly unpleasant. Yet most humans are so confounded curious that they'll answer the phone even if they don't want to talk with anybody!

WE'VE always had a gripe against the phone monopoly for one of its countless rules and regulations—that which does not give a patron the right to say whether or not his phone may ring at any given time.

For some reason or another, the Bell boys insist that people can ring your telephone at any hour of the day or night, for good reason or for none at all, and it's none of your affair.

The Bell boys won't sell, or rent —even at their own rate—a gadget which permits a patron to silence the phone's bell at whatever hours the patron may choose. If you rig up a gadget of your own, and the Bell boys find it out, they'll make you take it off, or give up your phone. They don't care how many times you're bothered by the phone's ringing. When they rent you a phone they insist upon the phone's right to bore or enrage you, as well as render you essential service.

If and when the recording gadget goes on the market after Victory, The Plainsman is going to get hold of one, pronto.

He's going to get his money's worth out of it, too, because it's going to be working more hours when he's home than when he's not home.

If the government's willing to spend billions to promote Social Security, we're willing to spend a few odd quarters for Security of Mind, safe from the interruptions and the intrusions of the thoughtless and the unnecessary chatters during what we call our "off hours."

Such a telephone-control contraption will bring more relaxation and joy to this country than anything we can think of, including free beer fountains on downtown corners in the summertime!

ADD this one to your collection of good stories coming out of German-occupied lands;

In Copenhagen, a Danish policeman and a member of the German Gestapo were assigned to walk the same beat. After days of trudging along together, they finally began conversing.

"I wish the war would soon get over," remarked the krauthead. "Then I could do something beside just guard things."

"What would you do, if the war were over?" asked the Dane.

"Why," said the German, "I'd take a leisurely bicycle trip through Greater Germany."

"Yeah," returned the Dane. "I know But what would you do in the afternoon?"

One good thing growing out of the war is that Americans are learning to speak English and English are learning to speak and understand American.

That Man on Avenue Q says the best way to get rich quick is put on the market some thing a fool shouldn't have and can't afford.

A USO show here the other night featured a dead-pan comedian who really could play the fiddle and the banjo.

He was so proficient with both instruments that we wouldn't be a bit surprised to find him successfully running for governor, or the U. S. Senate, here in Texas next summer!

ALBERT C. BLEVENS, one of the advertising men on the paper, has a photographic collection of early day movie luminaries —some 500 in all—which might well be shown sometime at the museum at Texas Tech. The pictures are uniform in size, 8½x11 inches, and their subjects would recall many a memory on the part of the citizenry past 35 years of age.

Among those early film stars included in the Blevens collection are Will Rogers, in his original "Ziegfeld Follies" setting; Marie Dressler, Douglas Fairbanks, sr., Mary Pickford (taken at the time of her greatest popularity); Charles Ray, Wallace Reid, Mary Miles Minter and many other old favorites too numerous to mention. Mr. Blevens also has early pictures of Harold Lloyd and Charles Chaplin.

The pictures were gathered by Mr. Blevens while he was on a Dallas newspaper. He started the collection in 1925, although many of the photographs were taken prior to that time.

The Admirals And Their "Elephants"

Chapter 28

We learned soon after our arrival in Brisbane that the United States was fighting the Pacific war with only one hand, and that the day of the final destruction of Japan's power was still far off.

I spent a month in Australia, inspecting our defenses and waiting for the Jap's next move. American troops and planes were being piled up in the country, but the number was small — perhaps too small for MacArthur to be able to defend Australia, let alone start an offensive against the Japs.

Finally, toward the end of the month, the Japs made their move. They started down into the Coral Sea with a huge armada. It looked like they were headed for New Caledonia, so I flew over to New Zealand, then up to Fiji and to New Caledonia. From stories of American navy fliers I met in the planes en route, I got the details of the Coral Sea Battle—the first in history between aircraft carriers and Japan's first decisive defeat.

As a result of the battle, the pressure was off New Caledonia. It looked as if the initiative was passing to the United States. But there were no more land fronts in the Pacific, and if any fighting was to be done, it was up to our Navy to do it.

I flew on up to Pearl Harbor to get accredited to the fleet. It seemed as if the plane would never reach Honolulu. For four hours I sat in the boombardier's place in the nose of the PB2Y2, watching for the Hawaiian Islands until my eyes ached. When we finally sighted Oahu I didn't recognize it until we swung over Maili beach, bounced over the Marine airfield at Ewa and settled down on the water of Pearl Harbor. It had taken me seven months to make the trip from Shanghai to Honolulu.

I telephoned my wife and apologized for being a little late getting back and would she excuse it please? She would.

I found that she was working at an airfield; and that was only one of the many changes brought to the Islands by the Japanese attack six months before. All the civilians not in Army or Navy uniform were at work, building airfields, repairing ships, constructing docks; or serving in hospitals, acting as air raid wardens, or helping the Red Cross. Everybody carried a gas mask. The blackout was strictly and seriously enforced, and you had to have a pass to go outdoors after curfew hour.

Civilians were allowed only ten gallons of gasoline a month and one quart of liquor a week. Bars and restaurants closed several hours before sundown. There were shortages of milk, eggs, meat, and vegetables as all the Island products went to the armed forces.

Pearl Harbor still showed signs of the bombing. The ancient target ship Utah was lying on the bottom of the western shore of Ford Island. The Oklahoma, on its side with part of its hull looming out of the water, lay ahead of the Arizona, which had gone straight down after a bomb exploded its magazine. The West Virginia was being gradually raised.

Another battleship was in dry-dock after being salvaged, and still others had already been patched up and taken to the Pacific Coast for repairs.

Most of the scars of battle had been removed from the Kaneohe naval air station, across the island from Pearl Harbor. At Kaneohe Japanese bombers deliberately ignored two empty hangars and laid their bombers squarely on a third, destroying at one blow most of our Navy patrol planes and killing many men. That showed that the Japanese had excellent espionage.

But as great as the debacle at Pearl Harbor had been, as staggering the loss of life, I soon became convinced that the Japanese had lost their great chance to win the war in those three flaming, terrible hours on December 7. The mistake that they had made was almost inconceivable.

Far more than our own admirals they had realized the significance of air power. Their primary targets on December 7 were undoubtedly our aircraft carriers. Through sheer good fortune our aircraft carriers were not in Pearl Harbor at the time of the attack. If, instead of hitting the battleships, the Japs had aimed their bombs and torpedoes at the docks, shops, oil tanks and shore installations in Pearl Harbor, the entire course of the war would have been changed. They could easily have knocked out Pearl Harbor as a base, forcing our Navy back to the Pacific Coast.

The men that we lost at Pearl Harbor were martyrs to unpreparedness. The battleships that we lost there were ready for the scrap pile before they were ever hit by a Japanese bomb. They were too slow for modern war. The battleship had had its day. No battleship that escaped damage at Pearl Harbor, no battleship that was damaged there and later repaired, played any part in the Battles of the Coral Sea and Midway. No battleship fired a shot in the early days of the Solomons action. Later, we reported that battleships had participated in a fight off the Solomons—at night.

Since battelships did not play any part in the fighting in the Pacific in the first eleven months of war, the question arises of why our Navy took so long to get into action against the Japanese. Our Navy was just as strong on the afternoon of December 7 when the battleships were still exploding and sinking in Pearl Harbor as it was five months later in our first fight in the Coral Sea. Why, then, couldn't our Navy save Wake Island, only two thousand miles from Pearl Harbor? A few weeks before the war the United States had been told that its Navy was the greatest fighting force in the world, supreme in the Pacific. That made it difficult to understand why a tremendous American task force was ordered to turn back when within one hundred and fifty miles of Wake Island. The fighting rank and file aboard those ships, and many of the officers, cursed and wept when they received those orders.

Later, as some of them told me, they were hopping mad when they learned that our ships had been called back because of the reported presence of Jap ships near Wake and were even more angry when they learned the Jap "force" consisted of only four destroyers going in to shell our hard-pressed Marines, fighting desperately for their lives, waiting minute by minute for help, and wirelessing back to Pearl Harbor, "Get off your fat backsides and send us more ammunition and more Japs."

The answer, apparently, is that the Pearl Harbor attack was a psychological blow to many of our admirals. They had put their faith in those "elephants," the battleships. Striped of their battleships, they were as lost as a man suddenly deprived of his trousers in the middle of Fifth Avenue. Their instinct was to cover up, to assume the defensive rather than to seek out the enemy for a finish fight. Nearly everyone who saw the Pearl Harbor attack told me that if the Japs had followed up and landed troops they could have taken Honolulu easily. Our aerial defenses had been smashed and there was a great deal of confusion and disorganization.

I was interested in the reactions of persons who had seen the Pearl Harbor attack. Almost none of them could believe their eyes. Even officers who stood on the decks of near-by ships at Pearl Harbor and watched the Japanese dive bombers and torpedo planes blow up the Arizona, thought that there must be some mistake.

Even while they were shooting at the planes they couldn't believe it. One officer who was on duty in the engine room of an undamaged ship came up on deck an hour after the attack and remarked, "Hey, these maneuvers are getting pretty rough!" Arthur G. Hodgins, a doctor who lives at Pearl City, adjacent to the harbor, drove into Honolulu past the flaming wreckage. He told a meeting of fellow doctors that hell had broken loose. They laughed at him and went on with their business—until a call suddenly came in for all doctors to rush to Tripler General Hospital. The civilians said to one another, incredulously, "The Japs can't do this to us." But the Japs could—and did—and got away with the loss of only a few planes.

The day that I landed at Pearl Harbor was nearly six months after the attack. When I got out of the plane at Ford Island, Lieutenant Tom Quinn greeted me. He was an old friend.

"The Japs have attacked the Aleutian Islands," he said. "A flash just came in."

He went on, "And something big seems to be about to happen in this area." Tom wasn't exaggerating. What happened was the Battle of Midway.

This Curious World

BY WILLIAM FERGUSON

Today's Journal Editorial

THERE'LL BE RELIEF SOME DAY

Chief Justice Alexander of the Texas Supreme court, in addressing the state bar association convention in Houston a few days ago, placed the finger squarely upon one of the worst and most offensive evils of bureaucratic agencies.

He criticized what he described as the growing tendency of the national government to shift judiciary powers to such agencies. This has been the attempt to make such appointed agencies virtually all-powerful in the fields to which they have been assigned. In many such agencies, they have attempted to make their own rules, to accuse alleged violators and then to act as prosecutor, judge and jury of those accused of violations.

Some almost incredible instances of abuses of these attempted powers have occurred. In at least one instance, a government agency blandly announced that here could be no appeals—not even to the courts—from its decisions. In many instances, individuals and firms have been forced to submit to decisions of questionable legality because they lacked the time, money or inclination to appeal. They have submitted to rulings that they considered utterly unfair—and they haven't liked it. But they haven't been able to do anything about it.

However, they can take hope that such a condition will not remain uncorrected indefinitely when men like Judge Alexander decry them publicly.

It encourages the hope that relief cannot be far away.

The Farmer's Ever Normal Problem

American Industry Showing Great Talent For Flexibility

Bottleneck Breakers Doing Conversion Job

BY PETER EDSON

Journal Washington Correspondent

WITHOUT much fanfare the bottleneck breakers have, in recent months, been doing a large-sized job of reconversion of American industry engaged in war production. It isn't the reconversion of industry from the production of war materials to production of civilian consumer goods which some dealers and manufacturers have been agitating. That's still not in the cards for a while. This other reconversion involves the shifting of contracts from one plant to another to increase production, the stepping up of sub-contracting, the utilization of every idle tool and every idle plant and along with it, a definite halt in the construction of new factories and manufacturing facilities unless it can be proved that such new manufacturing is absolutely necessary. All these moves emphasize the fact that war production is now limited to supplying the most critical war materials, but they do not indicate that any let-down in war production is impending.

EDSON

Spark plug for this shifting about of war production has been a staff of 25 engineers in the Facilities bureau of WPB. They do most of the research and spade work, though the actual shifting of contracts is made by Army, Navy, Maritime commission and other procurement agencies. Scope of the work can be indicated by a few of the intricate industrial plays these bottleneck boys in the back-log-breaking departments of WPB have been up to, through rescheduling of contracts.

IDLE TOOLS FOUND

WHEN the Navy had a new job for heavy boring mills, the search for the idle tools disclosed 11 of the type needed in Rochester, 14 in Cleveland, six in Warren, O., and four in New Hampshire. Instead of letting a contract to manufacture 35 new mills, the job was split up so that the 35 idle tools could be put to work.

A vacuum cleaner company which had a contract for making 8500 plane turret motors, was turning them out at the rate of 1500 a month. Examination of the plant facilities disclosed, however, that this company could make 10,000 a month. So contracts were taken away from other firms making the same motor, and these other plants were put to work on other work for which they were better suited.

Sometimes it is discovered that there are things needed worse than big guns. Mesta Machine Works at Pittsburgh, for instance, had a contract for 16-inch naval guns deferred so that it could get onto making six aluminum extrusion presses for a mill that was to turn out four million pounds of aluminum shapes this year.

Going from the big stuff to the little, the Lionel corporation, which used to make toy trains, had an ordnance parts contract taken away from it so that its workers could get onto more delicate fire control and navigation instruments requiring labor of a higher skill.

PLANT SWAPPING

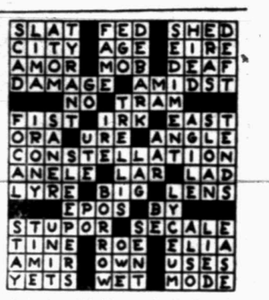

ENTIRE plants have on some occasions been swapped by companies to speed up war production. When the Navy wanted a manufacturing plant near an airport from which Vultee torpedo bombers could be built and tested, it was found that a Mack Manufacturing company works filled the bill of requirements. The Mack company was already making armored vehicles, but a deal was started whereby Mack would lease space in five other plants so it could lease its own plant to the aircraftmaker.

All kinds of unused buildings have been put to factory uses. A. O. Smith corporation of Milwaukee, with a contract for 10,000 propellers, found space in five buildings on a state fair grounds, and moved in.

Emergency reconversions of this type are demonstrating to an amazing degree the extreme flexibility of American industry and its ability to do "impossible" jobs. Backlogs are eliminated by these shifts, bottlenecks broken, labor tightness relieved by moving plants into less critical labor areas. In the big ordnance cutback of last fall, $5 billion worth of contracts were canceled and in a 90-day period, $2 billion worth of new contracts let to 200 contractors for more critical valves, gears, bearings—without a ripple.

There are twelve basic types of warplanes, each designed to do a specific job: primary trainers, basic trainers, advanced trainers, pursuits, observation, ground attack, medium and heavy bombers, transports, torpedo planes, dive bombers and patrol bombers.

—The News Of The Day Through The Camera's Eye—

SNOOD HAT—Stark white with American Beauty roses is the dashing color combination of the snood hat worn by Nan Wynn, film actress. The straw braid hat is worn back on the head. A striking black and white print dress completes her outfit.

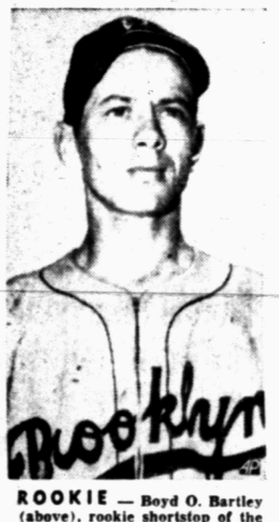

ALLIED HARBOR NOW—Framed by palm trees in this view, American and British ships ride at anchor in the harbor at Bizerte, Tunisia, where Axis vessels once held sway.

SLUGGER — Dom and Joe are gone, but Vince DiMaggio (above) is upholding the family tradition in the major leagues this year. The Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder is a leading slugger.

ALEUTIAN NAVAL CHIEF — Rear Admiral T. C. Kincaid, USN, looks out over Kuluk Bay from the shore of Adak Island in the Aleutians, during an early morning walk to headquarters. He is in charge of Naval operations in the Aleutians.

ROOKIE — Boyd O. Bartley (above), rookie shortstop of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is attempting the difficult task of jumping directly from the college diamonds to the major leagues.

FAMILY REUNION—First to greet Screen Star James Cagney on his arrival in New York from Hollywood was his sister, Jeanne, a film star in her own right. Cagney came east for conferences of Show People in the War Effort.

NEW POWER FOR CHINA — A Chinese Expeditionary Force unit, headed by a color guard, parades at an American training center for the Chinese fighters somewhere in India.

DUCHESS GETS LOWDOWN—The fashionable and charming Duchess of Kent (right) gets some first hand information on life in Great Britain's military services from a woman officer during an inspection of Civil Defense personnel.

KEY TO NORWAY'S 'WAIST' — Vital to German defenses in Norway is Trondheim (above), seaport city on the "waist" of Norway. Fall of Trondheim might cut off northern Norway.

BOND SALESMEN—Crooner Bing Crosby and Alec Templeton, famed blind pianist, get together for a recording to be played on the "Treasury Song Parade," radio program designed to encourage purchase of U. S. War Bonds.

RE-ELECTED — Charles E. Sorensen (above), has been re-elected vice president of the Ford Motor Company. He has designed many Ford factories throughout the world.

HOLD 'EM CORPORAL — Any doubt as to "Cruiser's" worth as a watchdog disappears as Corporal W. H. Nunnery strains to hold the 130-pound Great Dane in check at an aircraft warning center in Miami, Fla., where "Cruiser" is stationed.

FRANCO'S DAUGHTER—Carmencita Franco, 17-year-old daughter of Spain's generalissimo, rides her own horse in the traditional Sunday parade during a fiesta at Sevilla. She wears the typical costume of women riders at the fete.

ENSEMBLE—Anita Colby, model and screen actress, wears a smart ensemble of periwinkle blue shantung suit with gauntlet gloves, postilion hat and blouse of purple and white taffeta.

'HI 'YA SOLDIER!'—Actress Ann Sheridan, who thinks the nation's girls should salute Army privates and greet them with a "Hi 'ya soldier!" as a gesture of respect, demonstrates her idea by saluting Private Roy E. Stoner.

Probe Asked Of Newsprint Cut

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) — Rep. Maas (R-Minn) disclosed today he intends to try to back up with restrictive legislation his assertions that the War Production board (WPB) threatened "the freedom of the press" by its handling of newsprint quotas.

Maas told the House that WPB, which has ordered a new reduction in newsprint for the present quarter ranging up to five per cent for the larger newspapers, was:

Has No Set Rules

1—Using control of production "for censorship."

2—Favoring some publishers over others.

3—Operating with no rules, or standards, and "in star chamber proceedings," issuing "secret orders from which there is no appeal."

Maas said he was preparing a bill that would require the WPB to make all its decisions public, in the case of each newspaper or magazine publication requesting additional white paper, how much time was required handling the case, why the delay, if any, and the entire proceedings would be submitted to Congress each month.

Report Is Requested

The report also would include details of appeals from the WPB's printing division, and why they were granted or denied.

"This procedure will assure to the people that under the guise of rationing a lessened supply of paper will not be abused now or in the future nor used to subversively gain control of the press of this country," said Maas. "With a free press, we will always be a free people."

Japs On Rendova

The two officers and their native guards accounted for at least 25 Japanese marines in the sector of the island they invaded.

Then there was Lt. Ellis Satterwhite who, investigating a crude hut, heard noise in the doorway. He turned and saw a Japanese staring in. The young officer, the quicker on the draw, fired and the enemy soldier fell.

Both Were Surprised

Lt. Satterwaite said he didn't know who was more surprised—he or the Japanese. "I thought I would find some souvenirs inside," he said, "but I'm satisfied as it is."

Lt. Col. David M. Ross of Berea, Ky., was leading his regiment in an assault when one bullet nipped his upper arm and another ruined his canteen. He refused to retire and calmly put on his first aid bandage himself. Then he continued forward.

While units of all services participated in the various stages of the Rendova occupation, the actual storming and fighting was the Army's show.

Troops participating were excellently trained for jungle fighting. Their morale was high and they have reason to hate the enemy.

They are in complete command of Rendova island, looking forward to their chance to drive on to New Georgia and eventually into Tokyo.

Wallace-Jones Feud

since the decision must be his own and no word yet has come from him. But his advisers are pressing for action on the theory that the controversy between two such highly placed officials has of itself damaged the war effort more than could have all the fumbling of strategic materials procurement with which they accuse each other.

House Against Inquiry

Mr. Roosevelt's intervention, also, might have the added advantage of helping stave off a congressional investigation, assuming that the President agrees with his congressional leaders that such an inquiry should be avoided.

The House rules committee yesterday voted 6-to-5 against an inquiry. The vote was said to have been on a strictly party division.

Reports of grass roots repercussions are likely to be especially effective in guiding the Wallace-Jones dispute to some kind of public adjustment.

Cruiser Helena

ena, is 103 vessels overdue and presumed lost, destroyed to prevent capture or sunk. Figures on American ships damaged are not available in their entirety.

The report of the attack on Kiska was very brief. It said only that the enemy was bombarded there and that his shore batteries "did not return the fire."

First Recent Surface Attack

Kiska has been under aerial bombardment whenever weather permitted recently but has not been attacked by surface ships in a long while.

Navy men on a quick check of previous war bulletins found no record of a surface attack later than last August 7.

At that time warships shelled Kiska shore installations and ships in the harbor, simultaneously with the start of the invasion of the southeastern Solomon island, including Guadalcanal.

Today's communique made clear that American planes were pounding out a steady rain of destruction over Japan's south Pacific bases as part of the general offensive which began a week ago today.

CHINESE PRAISED

MOSCOW, July 7 (AP)—Praising Chinese resistance on this sixth anniversary of the Chinese-Japanese war, the Soviet army newspaper Red Star said today that the will of the Chinese people was unbroken and their faith in victory unshaken.

Produce Market

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, July 7 (AP) — Produce: eggs, current receipts 36½; all other prices on produce and poultry unchanged.

Stock Market

MILD RETREAT NOTED

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP) — The stock market retreated mildly today in a session marked more by the absence of buyers than by any increase offerings.

Steels and rails were among the more backward shares but losses were small going into the final hour. Chemicals and some pivotal motors also participated in the gradual decline. Most resistant spots were in the utility section.

Volume shrank with the tape halting intermittently and transactions for the full five hours amounted to about 650,000 shares, well under Tuesday's turnover.

Lower most of the day were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Chrysler, Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Dupont, Dow Chemical, Union Carbide, International Harvester, Woolworth and Westinghouse.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 7 (AP) — Grain prices turned downward throughout most of the session today, but losses were mainly of a fractional nature and some support came into the wheat pit on mill buying. Hedging pressure increased. Transactions in all pits were on a much smaller scale than yesterday.

Deferred contracts of rye showed a decidedly nervous undertone, dropping more than a cent at times on heavy profit-taking. The July contract, however, was an exception, moving up to a new seasonal peak. Offerings of this delivery were small. Oats trading was mixed with profit-taking noticeable.

News that the Senate had passed legislation to lift the corn ceiling from $1.07 to $1.40 a bushel, Chicago basis, came just at the close, and too late to influence prices. Wheat finished ⅛-½ lower, July $1.48⅝, September $1.48⅝-¾, oats were off ⅜-½ and rye was 2⅜ lower to 1 cent higher, July $1.13¼.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, July 7 (AP) — Wheat No. 1 hard 1.49¼-52¾.

Barley No. 2 nom 1.18-19; No. 3 nom 1.17-18.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo nom 2.57-60; No. 3 milo nom 2.52-55; No. 2 white kafir nom 2.57-60.

Corn — All prices at ceilings.

Oats No. 3 white 81½-82; No. 1 feed 81-81½.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP) — Cotton futures trading was restricted today by uncertainty over the fate of the subsidy issue at Washington, coupled with a tendency of traders to await the government acreage report to be issued Thursday.

Prices were barely steady, reflecting light liquidation and hedge selling from Texas, which found only scale down covering and price fixing support.

Late values were unchanged to 10 cents a bale lower, July 20.61, Oct. 20.08 and Dec. 19.91.

Futures closed 15 cents a bale higher to 15 cents lower.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—

STOCKS: Lower; buying interest lacking.

BONDS: Irregular; rails tend lower.

COTTON: Quiet; covering absorbs hedge selling.

CHICAGO:

WHEAT: Declined 1/8-1/2 on hedging, profit-taking.

RYE: July strong; other contracts lower.

HOGS: Steady; top $14.15; moderate receipts.

CATTLE: Steady; fed steer top $16.90.

June Cigaret Taxes Highest On Record

AUSTIN, July 7 (U.P) — State cigaret tax collections during June reached $1,107,238, the highest amount for any month in history, State Treasurer Jesse James said today. The collection was an increase of $176,855 over the same month a year ago.

Liquor tax collections in June were $325,310, or a decline of $86,990 for June, 1942. Beer taxes, however, reached $276,016, showing a gain of $26,863 over the month a year ago. Wine taxes for June were $24,931, down $16,466 from last year.

TO SEEK NOMINATION

COVINGTON, Ind., July 7 (AP) —The Covington Republican, a weekly newspaper, says Wheeler McMillen, editor-in-chief of the Farm Journal, "will seek the nomination for president of the United States at the Republican convention next year."

CHIANG DECORATED

CHUNGKING, July 7 (AP) — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was decorated today as chief commander, Legion of Merit, by Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, U. S. commanding general for China, India and Burma, representing President Roosevelt.

VIOLINIST WEDS

ROCKPORT, Me., July 7 (AP)—Violinist Efrem Zimbalist and Mrs. Mary Louise Curtis Bok, daughter of the late publisher Cyrus H. K. Curtis, were married yesterday at Lyndonwood, the bride's summer home here. Zimbalist is 54, his wife, 66.

Stevenson To Ask For Tires

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 7.—Gov. Coke Stevenson said today he would urge Max McCullough, regional administrator for the Office of Price administration, at a conference here tomorrow to do something in response to appeals from Texas farmers for tires to move their crops.

The conference was requested by McCullough, the governor told his press conference.

Stevenson read a letter from Brazoria county which he described as typical, saying the crops there would be left in the fields unless tires were obtained for trucks and trailers to move them.

Tires Believed Available

"I expect there are enough tires in Brazoria county filling stations to take care of the demand," Stevenson commented.

The governor also said he would discuss with McCullough the livestock situation in Texas.

"I want to devise some means of getting cattle to market," Stevenson explained. "The ranges now are overstocked."

Stevenson said in response to questions that he thought the point rationing system as applied to meat ought to be abolished.

"I agree with the President that we ought to keep living costs down," he said, "but I have never thought we should have rationing of meat—or sugar, coffee, gasoline or tires."

Crop Conditions For State Reported Good

AUSTIN, July 7 (U.P) — Crop conditions in Texas were "generally good" at the end of the week, said a combined report of the U. S. Weather bureau, Bureau of Agricultural economics and Texas Agricultural Extension service today.

Wheat made fairly satisfactory progress. The feed crop outlook as a whole was good. Cotton continued to make satisfactory progress with the crop in south Texas rapidly maturing.

A special survey indicated some boll weevil infestation in the eastern half of the state, but except in a few scattered counties outside south central and east Texas it was light. Leaf worm infestation was reported in a few scattered counties.

Corn still was in need of rain to make best yield in many counties but for the state as a whole the corn outlook was good.

U. S. Naval Victory

in four days they had bested the Japanese, thus demonstrating a sharp edge over the enemy who once boasted that he had destroyed the entire Allied fleet in the southwest Pacific.

Jap Sea Force Routed

A force of three Japanese cruisers and four destroyers was put to flight in a preliminary skirmish off Rendova island last Saturday.

While details were still lacking, apparently the fleeing Japanese were reinforced and came back for more, with the Americans promptly obliging. The communique made it clear that the Americans opened the fight, declaring:

"Our naval surface units intercepted an enemy force of cruisers and destroyers in the Kula gulf."

Imperial Tokyo headquarters asserted that Japanese naval forces had sunk "one enemy cruiser" and set another fire Sunday night in Kula gulf, and declared that torpedo boats the next morning sank three more Allied war vessels.

Rendova Troops Reinforced

A communique said that U. S. troops on Rendova had now been reinforced and that furious Japanese air thrusts to check the Allied offensive by new raids on Australia, New Guinea and the Solomons had been broken up.

Allied fliers were officially credited with shooting down five Japanese bombers and two Zeros out of a 48-plane attack on Darwin, Australia. Seven Spitfires, manned by Australian and British pilots were lost.

The fact Kula gulf is only 15 miles long and about eight miles across at its widest point made it obvious that the naval battle was between limited and comparatively light sea armament. (In Washington, unofficial comment was that "the decisive naval action of the present offensive in the south Pacific apparently is still to be fought," with neither side as yet throwing in its battleships and aircraft carriers).

fronts with equal power."

"In the execution of this strategy," he promised, "our Allies can count upon the determination of the Chinese army to contribute whatever is within their power and to make whatever sacrifices necessary . . ."

Chiang ruled out any "negotiated peace," insisted it should be one "seeking the emancipation of entire mankind," and declared:

"The United Nations should set up at the earliest possible moment joint machinery for the winning of the peace as well as the efficient prosecution of the war."

Steers Arriving In Fort Worth Markets

FORT WORTH, July 7 (U.P) — Initial shipments of grass-fed Texas steers arrived at the Fort Worth stockyards yesterday, presaging a flow of beef that may well ease much of the section's beef shortage.

Slocum brothers of Cresson brought in five loads, getting $14.80 per hundred pounds for animals averaging over 1,252 pounds.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Sessums of 341 Uvalde street on birth of a daughter weighing 8 pounds 8 ounces at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in West Texas hospital. The father works at Lydick Roofing Co.

Sgt. and Mrs. G. T. Berryhill of route 1, Lubbock, on birth of a daughter weighing 6 pounds 8½ ounces at 7:52 o'clock Tuesday morning in West Texas hospital. Sgt. Berryhill is stationed at Pueblo, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Morris of Levelland on birth of a son weighing 6 pounds 4½ ounces at 10:20 o'clock Tuesday morning in Lubbock General hospital. The father is an agent for Continental Oil Co.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hatcher of Morton on birth of a son weighing 9 pounds 1-4 ounce at 3:20 o'clock this morning in Lubbock General hospital.

Master Sgt. and Mrs. Harold E. McDonald of 2702 Twenty-second street on birth of a daughter weighing 8 pounds 9 ounces at 9:20 o'clock this morning in St. Mary's hospital. Sgt. McDonald is stationed at Lubbock Army Air field.

Airman Off The Beam Blamed For Bombing

BOISE CITY, Okla., July 7 (AP) —'Twas just a Yankee airman off the beam, residents of this Oklahoma Panhandle community learned with belated comfort—after five small bombs had come crashing down early yesterday in a noisy climax to a July 4 celebration.

The misdirected air raid was halted only when the master switch at the city light plant was pulled, blacking out the town.

Officers at the Dalhart, Tex., Army Air base who arrived to investigate said the plane was from that base.

One of a group which left Dalhart to bomb a practice range near Conlen, Tex., 30 miles south of Boise City, it apparently got off course and the pilot mistook Boise City for the practice range, they explained.

No one was injured and property damage was slight.

One of the practice bombs, loaded with sand and a small powder charge, knocked a hole in the Baptist church. Another damaged a garage.

library building, the other a civic auditorium. Miss Sessums says she has only lived in Lubbock a short time, but even so she "takes pride in every advancement that is made." Should an auditorium be erected, she believes concerts and operas should receive support and consideration in an effort to add to the city's cultural offerings to local residents and neighbors, as well.

Mrs. J. A. Mullins, of 502 Avenue R, stresses a suitable library building. Pointing out that the library in operation now has been shifted about from pillar to post over the past decade; is short of room as well as offerings, she says as soon as the war is won "let us get busy and provide Lubbock with a suitable library building." She commends the work being done by the librarian, Mrs. J. A. Humphries, but declares that more room and more books are badly needed.

As further entries in the contest are received, The Journal will print explanations, such as the above, in part.

Mrs. C. B. King, Of O'Donnell, Dies

Mrs. C. B. King, 30, of O'Donnell died about 3:30 o'clock this morning in Tahoka clinic about three hours after having given birth to a daughter.

She had lived in that vicinity 18 years.

Funeral services have not been arranged definitely. Rix Funeral home is in charge.

Survivors include her husband, who is in the Army at Bowman field, Ky.; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gary of O'Donnell; three brothers, Ras Gary of Monahans, Robert Gary, jr., of O'Donnell, and Pat Gary of Little Falls, Minn., who is in the Army, and two sisters, Miss Jessie Gary of O'Donnell and Miss Florence Gary, who is in the WAC at Camp Kinmer, N. J.

Lions To Underwrite Day Rooms Project

The Lubbock Lions club, through its board of directors in meeting today, has agreed to underwrite the expense, estimated at $500, of finishing and equipping two day rooms for service men at South Plains Army Air field.

The project was initiated by C. D. Doggett, who last week appeared before the club representing the Llano Estacado auxiliary of the American Red Cross and asked for donations of individual items of furnishings.

The board's action today will be brought before the club meeting next Tuesday for ratification, and at that time, board members said today, individual support will be asked. A long list of needed items, such as chairs, window shades, paint, and wall coverings, rugs and lamps, will be presented.

Yanks In Britain Praised By Press

LONDON, July 7 (AP) — The Daily Express said in an editorial today that the British people "praise the splendid bearing and good manners of the American armed forces in our midst" because "they take into full account our proprietorial rights."

"Officers and troops alike have won our deep respect and affection," the editorial added.

War Hysteria Blamed For Teacher Shortage

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP)—Low salaries are not the only reason teachers are leaving the profession, says Miriam Dozier, secretary of the University of Texas teachers' appointment committee.

"Many of them are just falling in with the war hysteria and searching for something new," Miss Crozier said today.

The committee, she said, had received 1,000 requests for teachers since Jan. 1, but only a few hundred had been filled.

Texans May Expect More Hot Weather

(By The United Press)

Texans looked forward gloomily today for another "scorching" day as a follow-up to yesterday's year's high of 104, recorded at Quanah, Wichita Falls and Laredo.

Mercury readings above 100 were reported from most every section of the state yesterday with Fort Worth sweltering in 103 degrees, Dallas and Waco in 102, San Antonio 101 and Del Rio-100. It was 99 at Austin, 98 at Houston, 97 at Lubbock, 96 at Port Arthur and 94 at Brownsville.

New Tax Plan Being Studied

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) — Congressional and treasury experts collaborated today in drafting a new tax formula whereby persons whose incomes have increased because of the war will pay a larger share of the war's costs.

Such a plan, if written into law, would apply to individual income the principle of excess profits taxes as now applied against corporate income.

The House Ways and Means committee yesterday ordered the experts to study and report on the feasibility of such a tax, and at the same time announced it would begin consideration Sept. 8 "on a non-partisan basis" of a new general tax measure with new and higher levies.

Treasury experts and the committee's tax staff were asked to suggest "alternative means of raising additional revenue," including information on a sales tax, the so-called spending tax, compulsory savings and increased individual and corporate income taxes.

Under the excess-profits scheme a person who earned say, $2,400 before the war and now receives $4,800, would pay more taxes than another person whose income before the war was $4,800 and still is.

Roosevelt, Giraud Will Confer Today

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) — General Henri Giraud, commander of French forces in north Africa and co-chairman of the French committee for national liberation, will arrive at the White House late today for a conference with President Roosevelt.

The White House announced that Giraud and all the members of his staff accompanying him would see Mr. Roosevelt at 3:30 p. m. C. W. T. Afterward, Giraud and his principal aide and the President and Admiral William D. Leahy, personal chief of staff to Mr. Roosevelt, will have tea at the White House.

The White House twice has emphasized the military nature of the Giraud trip to Washington and has said its purpose is to discuss the conduct of the war with the Axis and consultation with the combined Anglo-American chiefs of staff here.

Rotarians Told Of City Operations

A cross section of what municipal operations are in wartime was given Lubbock's Rotary club, Hilton hotel today, by Arch King, city engineer, one of the speakers on the program.

Two years ago, King said, the city engineering department had 17 men; today there are four. Before the war, the city had been completing about 30 blocks of paving a year; now there is no paving being done. Storm sewer work under way when war began was since completed at a cost of $162,000, and in the last two years a $211,000 sewerage disposal plant has been completed and placed in service, with abandonment of the outgrown and outmoded old plant. Runways at the municipal airport were completed with government financial aid, and the water department has been able to complete one new well and pipelines for boosting the available water supply now to 160,000,000 gallons a day, average consumption. The capacity now is about 13,000,000 gallons, King said. Chlorinators and ammoniators also have been added, with 18 wells in regular service.

Former Junior Rotarian Billy Medley furnished piano music. He and King were presented by Dr. C. J. Wagner, program chairman.

S. L. Forrest, of Lamesa, introduced Lt. and Mrs. Robert H. Smith also of Lamesa, guests of the club. Lt. Smith said he had just returned to the States from England, where he has been in air combat for several months, having been officially credited with downing 11 Axis planes. Smith said the morale of the boys overseas is extraordinarily good, and everyone over there is talking about how the folks at home are backing them up and doing their part.

Eighteen per cent of all defense contracts awarded from June, 1940, to September, 1941, went to the three Pacific Coast states.

News Briefs

Firemen answered two alarms Tuesday. A barn owned by John L. Stinson near Broadway at Avenue R burned, and a refrigerator caused fire in a door at 1311 Twenty-third street.

Police said they had a report of chickens having been stolen "twice" Tuesday night from Twenty-fourth street and Avenue W, from J. A. Stanley. A window peeper was reported from 2100-block Seventh street. An irate father reported this morning his daughter had been struck in the eye by a doughnut hurled from a passing truck, causing swelling to set in. Buddy Webb of 2007 Tenth street reported a bike stolen.

Seven Fellowcraft degree candidates will present themselves at 7 o'clock tonight before Yellowhouse lodge 841, AF&AM, it was announced by Burl Ham, worshipful master, and Hugh J. McClellan, lodge secretary.

Meeting of wives of cadets stationed at Lubbock Army Air field has been set for Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Lubbock Soldier's center, 1211 Thirteenth street, to organize a club, according to Miss Leona Gelin, center supervisor.

Geraldine McGrew, 28-year-old woman of Hobbs, N. M., is in Lubbock jail in lieu of $2,000 bond, charged with violating the federal interstate quarantine law, in that she traveled from New Mexico to Texas while infected with a contagious and venereal disease. Her arrest was on complaint filed before Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. commissioner, by D. M. Brightman, FBI agent. City-County Health Officer Clyde Hudgens is a witness in the case, now listed for federal court in November.

E. L. Klett, Lubbock attorney, filed suit this morning in 99th district court asking $60,000 in attorney fees from Mallet Land & Cattle Co., a corporation, and J. Lee Johnson, jr., of Tarrant county, a director. The case grew out of Klett's representing Johnson in connection with a receivership action resulting from inability of the corporation's directors to agree on a program of leasing Mallet properties in South Plains counties for oil development, petitioner said. Leasing was effected through agency of 72nd district court, whereupon the receivership was vacated. Klett set out he was employed 18 months. J. E. Vickers, special judge of 72nd district court, aposition to which he was appointed after Mallet receivership was vacated, is president of the Mallet corporation.

One day in jail, fine of $10 and court costs were assessed this morning when Herle Smith, 17, pleaded guilty of theft of a bike from Donald Davis. He was accredited with having served the day, since he was arrested Tuesday by police.

Mrs. Lena Ragland Dies In Home Today

Mrs. Lena A. Ragland, 68, died at 11 o'clock this morning at her 1612 Avenue D residence.

Nazis Say Red Line Is Broken

attempt to breach the line between Orel and Belgorod mounted to 1,271 tanks, 314 planes and 13,000 men. Russian military observers said the Germans used the same tactics that cost them bloody losses—and defeat—last year.

Front dispatches indicated Russian resistance demonstrated an enormous increase in Soviet ground firepower and expansion of the Red army air force, which was said to be holding the skies against everything the Luftwaffe could offer.

German tanks led the assaults in the familiar Nazi tactics, the dispatches said, indicating the Russian high command was withholding its armor until a counter-push can be started.

Airmen Support Attacks

Red Star said German air attacks came simultaneously with charges by heavy Tiger tanks and, unlike previous German air methods, without previous bombardment of Soviet communications.

Front dispatches said the Germans were battling along the 165-mile front between Orel and Belgorod with a ferocity and intensity unmatched since the start of the war and Red army communiques indicated that large-scale fighting soon may spread to the Smolensk and Kalinin fronts. Only at the Belgorod end of the embattled southern front were the Germans able to dent the Soviet lines, only to be turned back by a counter-attack.

Nazis Claim Gains

(A German communique broadcast by the Berlin radio, said Axis troops have penetrated deep into Soviet positions near Belgorod and south of Orel and have destroyed more than 300 Soviet tanks. A total of 637 Russian planes was shot down Monday and Tuesday while German losses were only 41 aircraft, the communique said.

(A roundabout report from Moscow published in the London Daily Mail said that the Germans had 4,000 tanks available for the southern front offensive, but apparently already had lost more than 25 per cent of them.)

(London sources estimated Russian strength between Orel and Belgorod at 20 armored brigades, equipped with Russian Klim Voroshilov heavy and T-34 medium tanks, American Shermans and British Churchills.)

School Fund Profits By Bond Transfers

AUSTIN, July 7 (U.P) — The state's available school fund will realize $330,000 profit as the result of bond transfers made today by the state board of education, Gaynor Kendall, board bond attorney, said.

The board sold $1,800,000 two and three-quarter per cent U. S. Treasury bonds for $2,031,750. With the proceeds, the board bought $2,017,000 two and one-half per cent victory bonds for $2,031,497.

In another block, the board sold $1,000,000 U. S. Treasury two and three-quarters per cent bonds for $1,124,062 and then bought $1,116,000 two and one-half per cent victory bonds for $1,124,015.

"Though the new bonds have a lower rate of interest than the bonds sold, the school fund will have received more money at the end of the maturity period," Kendall said.

Bonds held by the school fund are tax free, Kendall explaind.

Sicilian Siege

ments.

Besides continual bomber missions, yesterday's operations produced many effective fighter-bomber sweeps in which military targets of all kinds on Sicily were surprised and strafed. The bombings continued almost until dusk, with RAF Baltimores mauling Milo airfield and Mitchells returning for another drubbing of Biscari.

Tremendous Headache

The ceaseless, concentrated punishment of the enemy's front-line defenses hardly could be anything else than a tremendous headache to Nazi Field Marshal Baron von Richthofen, who was reported to have been transferred to Italy from Russia to stave off the Allied challenge for air mastery over Italy's southern territories.

Judged by past results achieved and verified during the north African campaign, an attack such as is being hurled against Sicily destroys more enemy planes on the ground than in the air. It saps the enemy's morale and hamstrings counter-measures by making a battlefield of each enemy air base.

Since the fall of Pantelleria on June 11 the northwest African Air Force alone has destroyed 275 enemy aircraft in the air and has lost 83. Add to this the enemy planes wrecked on the ground — estimated by observers at several hundred — and the ratio of plane destruction goes up to 6-1 or 7-1 in favor of the Allies.

Lt. William Roberts Is Reported Killed

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Roberts of Texico have been notified by the War department that their son, Second Lt. William R. Roberts, reported as missing in action last week, was killed in action, June 22, in the European area. Word of his death was received from the German government through the International Red Cross.

Lt. Roberts withdrew from Texas Tech immediately after Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941, and enlisted in the Air Corps. He trained at Coleman and Goodfellow field and was graduated from Lubbock Army Air field, Feb. 16, in class 43-B.

He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts.

General Appeals For Allied Attack

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's declaration of faith in Allied victory over Japan—the outside limit for which he daringly sets at two years—is pleasing to read on this sixth anniversary of the start of the Chino-Jap conflict, especially coming as it does from one of the greatest leaders of our time.

However, this statement would be dangerously incomplete without the general's accompanying caution to his people that the "present marks the beginning of the greatest trials." The Allies have before them "the hardest stretch of the road to victory."

Warns Of Over-Confidence

As matter of fact, while such encouragement is legitimate for the heavily burdened Chinese people, it's doubtful whether it is particularly beneficial for some of China's Allies. It's likely to inspire over-confidence, as witness the complacence which has developed in some parts of the United States since the Allied victory in Tunisia.

We have an echo of self-satisfaction, I believe, in WPB Chairman Donald Nelson's statement of declines in the output of ground ordnance, miscellaneous munitions and merchant vessels, which he characterizes as a "very serious matter."

This column has maintained that the American public could stand good news without becoming complacent. Passage of time, however, causes one to wonder whether this judgment is correct.

Has Magnificent Spirit

As regards China we are telling nothing less than the cold truth when we point out that her main asset at this moment is the magnificent spirit of her people who for six years have endured suffering which would have broken many nations. This will to win, plus vast reaches of territory to swap with the invaders for time, has enabled them to hold out.

We must recognize that China's ability to assume major offensive operations, or even withstand enemy attacks, depends on the assistance which America and the other Allies can give her. General Chiang has comparatively few resources at his disposal, either to make war or to sustain anything like normal living conditions in the unoccupied regions.

There's no reason to doubt Chiang's view that his great country will hold out and participate with other Allies in victory.

The thing the United Nations have to worry about is whether they can make their help effective soon enough to save China from collapse.

Appeals For Attack

Generalissimo Chiang today issued an appeal to the United Nations to strike in force at Japan immediately because he feels this is the opportune moment "to reap great results" in reducing the time of final victory. He declares Nippon now "is at her weakest as her ready resources are approaching a point of exhaustion."

General Ho Ying-Chin, Chinese war minister, also estimates that Japan has suffered 3,000,000 casualties and says she is facing an acute manpower shortage. He further asserts that Nippon is far weaker in sea strength, has not more than 3,000 first line warplanes and has been surpassed by the Allies in the air, and has difficult materiel and food problems.

All this is encouraging to the Allies, but the fact remains that we have before us a titanic job of blasting the Japs out of their hold on China and other occupied countries. Time is of vast importance.

Gilstrap Is Awarded Remodeling Contract

Guy H. Gilstrap was awarded the contract to remodel recreation centers for white and negro soldiers here at a special meeting of the city commission Tuesday afternoon. The award was recommended by Carl L. Svensen, architect for the project.

The award, however, is subject to the approval of the Federal Works agency, which has alloted $39,000 for the remodeling, furnishing and operation of the centers. The city agreed to handle the details of expediting the centers into actual operation.

Gilstrap's bid was $17,388.22. Only one other proposal was received, from Sampson Brothers, also of Lubbock, who bid $21,965. The bids were opened at special meeting of the commission last Friday, and were referred to the architect for study and recommendation.

The white center is at 1211 Thirteenth street and the negro center at 2101 East Avenue C. Both have been operated with temporary facilities for several months.

SINKINGS ARE CLAIMED

LONDON, July 7 (AP)—The Berlin radio reported today that German submarines had sunk nine Allied ships totaling 53,000 tons "in recent days" but failed to say where the alleged sinkings took place.

Four New Wells Are Reported In Area

Three new wells in the Slaughter field and one in the Wasson area were reported here Tuesday.

East of Lubbock, Stanolind Oil and Gas Company's No. 1 Guy Hester, one-mile northeast extension well in the Stennett pool, is swabbing out rotary mud to test, according to reports from Stanolind. It is bottomed at 4,768 feet, plugged back from 4,838 feet in dolomite.

Ten miles southeast of Plainview in Hale county, Amerada Petroleum Corporation's No. 1 W. W. Kurfees scheduled 11,000-foot ordovician wildcat, is drilling past 5,165 feet in dolomite.

Woodley Petroleum Company's No. 1 J. H. Howard, northeastern Hockley county wildcat 5 miles south of Anton, is drilling below 4,192 feet in lime. It topped brown lime at 3,380 feet and solid lime at 3,660 feet, which is said to be slightly above normal regionally.

Southwestern Hockley

On the southwestern Hockley side of the Slaughter field, Honolulu Oil Corporation's No. 28-16-48 Mallett Land and Cattle Company "B" flowed 278.72 barrels of oil per day upon completion at 5,031 feet, plugged back from 5,081 feet. It was acidized with 7,000 gallons in pay zone topped at 5,021 feet.

Also in Hockley, Jerry C. Hawkin's No. 39-A Mallet flowed 836-28 barrels daily after treating with 11,500 gallons in pay from 4,925-98 feet, total depth.

Devonian Oil Company's No. 22-B-22 Duggan, on the southeastern Cochran county side of the Slaughter field, flowed 894.60 barrels a day after treating with 12,000 gallons in pay at 5,038-58 feet.

In the Wasson field of southern Yoakum county, Mabee Oil and Gas Company's No. 2-A39 Oil Development Company of Texas flowed 899.36 barrels a day after treating with 12,000 gallons at 5,-040 feet.

N. Mexico Men Enter Race For El Paso Job

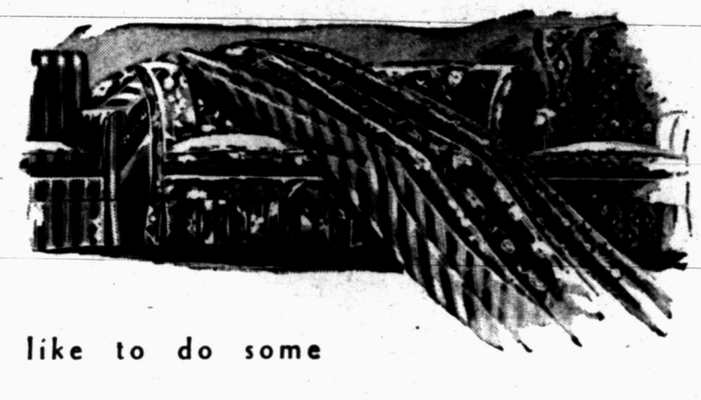

SANTA FE, N. M., July 7 (U.P.)—Two New Mexico candidates—Dan Williams of Las Cruces and former Sheriff Howell Gage of Carlsbad—had New Mexico Democrats backing them today for the vacant post of the collector of the port of El Paso.

Rivalry for the appointment was expected by informed persons here to bring about a political clash between New Mexico and Texas.

Adrian Pool, who recently resigned the post was a Texan, but before his appointment the place had always been filled by a New Mexican.

In some states, pushing another car with your front bumper to the other's back bumper violates the motor code.
