The other day I mentioned that Roy Carter had received a telephone call from a New York Times reporter concerning some petitions circulated here last year by members of the Snyder High School Huddle of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. The petitions urged cleaner shows on television and in motion pictures, and the youngsters here got a lot of signatures on their petitions in a relatively short time.

The New York newsman who called Carter, the FCA sponsor at SHS, turned out to be John McCandish Phillips who is making an effort to interest more evangelical Christians into the newspaper business, especially in the metropolitan areas, as well as other fields of service where their influence may be felt. He sent Carter a pamphlet about his personal project, which includes some articles he had published in the New York Times.

Phillips laments that Christians voice concern about the course of humanity, yet they apparently assume an attitude that they should not complicate their lives by taking roles of leadership in such fields as politics, mass communications and others which exert substantial influence on society. Yet, Phillips declares, these very fields often present more opportunities for evangelism than even the pulpits of the Christian churches.

For several months now, Snyder School trustees have been pondering a building program to put the local system abreast of the times and provide facilities for curriculum expansion. The proposals studied so far include plans that could range anywhere from half a million to $1½-million. Did you know that the school district could issue three-year bonds for approximately $1½-million and pay them off without changing the present tax rate of the district

The reason this is possible is that the final payment is coming up on the 10-year bonds which financed the last big construction project, including Lamar Junior High, Northeast Elementary, etc.

That is the reason that some of the major tax payers are suggesting that the school district try to get its facilities in shape for the next 15 to 30 years with short term bonds at this time. Can you imagine three - year bonds? It is almost unheard of, but it will mean good fortune for the district if a building program is developed, because the short term bonds should command a much better interest rate than longer term issues.

BATTLE NEAR SAIGON

Four Tanks Lost

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — American armored units killed 100 North Vietnamese in two battles but lost at least four tanks and seven other armored vehicles, military spokesmen said today.

A day-long battle Friday 50 miles northwest of Saigon cost the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment four tanks—two new 16-ton Sheridans and two 50-ton M48 tanks—plus seven killed and 28 wounded, field reports said.

Later Friday night, three armored personnel carriers were destroyed by fire and four other tracked vehicles were badly damagd when North Vietnamese sappers attacked a "wagon train" circle of tanks and personnel carriers three miles southeast of the demilitarized zone.

Despite the loss of the tanks in the first battle, armored cavalry officers called it a victory. They said 82 enemy bodies were found after the battle.

"It was a good lesson for Charlie. He learned he can't mess around with the Sheridans and get away with it," said Col. Jimmie Leach of Hampton, N.C., commander of the 11th Regiment.

The fighting erupted when units of the regiment ran into a North Vietnamese ambush in Tay Ninh province. The Sheridan tanks, artillery and helicopter gunships pounded the enemy for most of the day.

Maj. John Bronson of Rochelle, Ga., a squadron commander, said the first rocket grenade was fired prematurely by the North Vietnamese attackers "and that enabled us to get them before they could carry out the rest of the ambush."

The 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment and a squadron of the 25th Division are the only two units in Vietnam equipped with Sheridan tanks, which have been undergoing combat evaluation since they arrived in mid-February. So far 10 have been destroyed and several have been damaged in action.

Associated Press correspondent Robert Ohman reported from Cam Lo that 13 Americans were killed and 24 were wounded in the other surprise attack against a defensive circle set up by 9th Regiment Marines and supporting armor of the 1st Brigade, 5th Mechanized Infantry Division.

Rocket-grenades knocked out three armored personnel carriers in the first minutes of the battle, clearing a path for enemy sappers who raced through and hurled satchel charges at three tanks and 17 other APCs.

Helicopter gunships laid a ring of fire around the embattled troopers until a second troop of tanks and APCs arrived. Then the North Vietnamese withdrew.

A later sweep of the battlefield turned up 13 North Vietnamese dead.

U.S. military spokesmen reported today that North Vietnamese troops have built a series of big concrete gun emplacements into mountainsides along the South Vietnam-Laos border to fire on American and South Vietnamese special forces camps and bases.

The guns are mounted on railroad tracks and protected by giant steel doors, the spokesmen said.

They added that three such batteries were reported damaged or disabled by recent American air strikes. But the spokesmen said the gun emplacements are defended by antiaircraft fire, making aerial observation and attacks extremely hazardous.

The big guns are located on the Vietnam side of the border, the officers said, but U.S. troops have not been sent into the area because of the risk of "crossing the border by accident."

Elsewhere, the U.S. Command reported shelling of military bases and population centers tapered off to about 10 or 15 overnight. Casualties and damage again were listed as light.

Command officers announced they will report only "significant" shellings from now on, but spokesmen declined to say whether this meant U.S. officials felt the Viet Cong's eight-week-old spring offensive has ended.

Ships Are Deployed To Protect Missions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Potent U.S. naval forces, including the battleship New Jersey and possibly a pair of aircraft carriers, were reported steaming to new positions today to provide protection for American intelligence missions off North Korea.

The Pentagon announced redeployment of extensive forces Friday shortly after President Nixon ordered resumption of reconnaissance flights with the promise they will cease to be "fair game" for North Korean jets.

Flights off the North Korean coast were halted Tuesday after an EC121 reconnaissance plane with 31 men aboard apparently was shot down. Only two bodies have been found in the Sea of Japan where the craft fell.

Redeployment of the naval forces was viewed as a protective step rather than a threat of retaliation against North Korea.

The New Jersey, which had been scheduled to arrive in Long Beach, Calif., today after duty off Vietnam, was ordered to turn around and return to the Western Pacific.

While no announcement was made of the strategy to be used in providing protection for the reconnaissance planes, indications were fighters would be stationed where they could come to the swift rescue of any threatened U.S. aircraft. Fighters would be kept in the air during intelligence missions, but not flying wing-to-wing with the reconnaissance aircraft.

Except for the New Jersey, the Pentagon did not say what ships were involved and the announcement stopped short of specifying the new positions actually were in the Sea of Japan. A Defense Department spokesman said only the redeployment involved "a number of different types of vessels."

One carrier believed on the way to the Sea of Japan is the USS Kittyhawk which carries 90 warplanes. The Kittyhawk left Hong Kong with two destroyers earlier this week without any announcement of its destination.

In ordering resumption of the intelligence flights, Nixon pronounced them vital to the security of U.S. troops stationed in South Korea.

Nixon revealed for the first time that the United States is capable of "reading" radar pictures of another country from miles away.

He said both showed that the EC121 was 90 miles offshore—well outside North Korean territory—when shot down.

Military experts said the crew of the EC121 would not have been alarmed immediately by the presence of MIGs, since the North Korean fighters routinely fly over them over international water. The sources said the extensive electronic gear on the plane also would have been concentrating on monitoring North Korean radio tracking rather than watching for approaching aircraft.

Vicious Twister Hits Florida City

MAITLAND, Fla. (AP) — A tornado spawned by a growling line of thunderstorms lashed the business district and two residential areas of Maitland today and a man drowned when wind swamped a sailboat in Orlando.

The body of 23-year-old David M. Dolon was recovered after a boat capsized on Lake Ivanhoe in the center of Orlando about 2:30 a.m.

Two hours later a tornado snaking out of the storm front battered homes and damaged commercial buildings, knocked down power lines and blocked streets with fallen trees as it skipped through Maitland, a city of 7,500 just north of Orlando.

The twister moved through the city so fast it was unseen by sleeping residents.

"It hit and was gone in less than two minutes," a policeman said.

Police Chief Jay Golden said the funnel touched ground first in the central business district, smashing out a dozen store fronts. The old Seaboard Coastline Railroad station was raised off the ground, dropped and split in two.

Then, in order, the tornado lashed at three subdivisions—Domrich Estates, Domrich Hills and Highland Park—tearing off roofs and collapsing walls.

About 10 homes valued at $25,000 and upward suffered major structural damage, Golden said, and as many more were hit in the exclusive residential areas. A couple of homes were knocked off their foundations. Screened enclosures were ripped away from many swimming pools.

"It sounded like a train was coming," said one woman in Domrich Estates. "My house started shaking and then the windows started flying out."

Ed McLeod said his new 1969 automobile parked in front of his house was picked up by the tornado and flipped upside down into his yard, with the roof and sides caved in.

Old trees up to 100 feet tall toppled like tenpins, blocking most streets. As some went down, their roots caused paving to buckle in spots.

Power blinked off in several areas as power lines fell but was restored to most homes shortly after daylight.

Torrents of rain poured into unroofed homes but the deluge stopped soon after passage of the funnel cloud.

Golden estimated damage at $200,000.

Artillery, Tanks Duel Along Suez

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israelis and Arabs dueled with artillery, tank and light arms fire at three points along the Suez Canal today. As usual each side accused the other of firing first.

An Israeli army spokesman said the Egyptians started firing at 7 a.m., and the Israelis retaliated with tanks and light arms. Sporadic firing continued for more than two hours at El Qantara, Ismailia and Port Taufiq.

A communique from Cairo said: "Our forces returned the shooting with artillery and tank fire and managed to silence the enemy's positions, inflicting heavy losses."

The Egyptians said the shooting stopped at 9:45 a.m. at the request of U.N. observers.

The Cairo communique said the firing spread to the Bitter Lakes area of the canal at one point, and some shells fell a short distance from 14 ships stranded there since the June 1967 war.

The captains of two West German ships asked their representatives in Cairo to "do something about it," Cairo newspapers reported.

Damage From Floods Said $31 Million

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Officials estimated flood waters have caused $31 million damage so far in three Midwestern states, and one official said he felt people in an area downstream were treating the coming flood crests too lightly.

Civil defense and state officials made these preliminary flood damage estimates:

— $5 million in Minnesota, where 700 families were still homeless.

— $19 million in South Dakota, where 5,000 families were evacuated and 1,000 remain homeless.

—At least $7 million in North Dakota.

And the Civil Defense coordinator for northwestern Illinois says residents in his area, where the Mississippi is due to crest April 28, are taking the situation lightly.

"There's been so much publicity given protective works," said Donald E. Lemme," that people believe all they have to do is sweat this thing out.

Lemme said Friday that apathy in the Quad Cities area could cause trouble—the kind seen in 1965 when the Quad Cities alone suffered $8.5 million in damages.

Job Centers To Close Immediately

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has ordered seven Job Corps centers to begin closing immediately and six others to start shutting down by May 1, a move likely to fan further resentment in Congress.

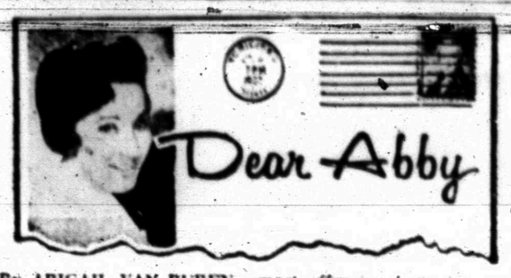

The swift action in the closing process came Friday, a week after Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz announced that 59 of the corps' 113 centers will be closed by July 1.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., said the Office of Economic Opportunity notified the centers by telegram Friday. He already had announced that he would introduce a resolution next week providing "that no Job Corps installation be shut down until Congress completes its normal legislative and budgetary deliberations on this program."

Bertrand M. Harding, acting OEO director, said all OEO contracts for Job Corps centers have 90-day termination clauses and the notices set the process in action. "There's not going to be any general locking of doors overnight," he said.

Installations listed for immediate closing are three in Puerto Rico—Guyama, Juana Diaz and Viecuis—plus Camp Kilmer, N.J.; Oak Glen, Calif.; Marquette, Mich.; and Huntington, W. Va.

Scheduled to start shutdowns May 1 are the facilities at Clinton, Iowa; St. Louis; Poland Spring, Maine; Koko Head, Hawaii; Omaha, Neb.; and Moses Lake, Wash.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and in a pack of trouble. I was arrested for burglary and other charges. This was not my first time, so I am locked up here in Cambridge, Minn., awaiting trial. I would like to express some of the things I have learned in the 121 days I have been here.

One is that you should listen to your parents as they will never steer you wrong. I never got along too good with my dad. Every time he tried to talk to me we got into a heated argument, but now I realize if I had listened to him, I wouldn't be here.

I would also like to tell kids, don't quit school to go out and make money. I did, and look where I ended up.

Also, there are no short cuts. A guy needs all the education he can get. And another thing. Don't blame your mistakes on other people. My friends showed me how to break the law, but I am the one who now must take full responsibility for my own actions. I will probably get sent up to St. Cloud, but thanks, Abby, for letting me say this. Also, I want to thank Sheriff Erickson. He is a swell guy. He let me use his typewriter to write to you.

Sincerely,

"THE CAMBRIDGE BUM"

DEAR SIR: You're young yet, so don't go calling yourself a "bum." You can pay your debt and still amount to something if you really want to. I talked to Sheriff Erickson, and he told me you had already been sent to St. Cloud. He said he certainly hoped you would straighten yourself out because you had a lot of good in you, in addition to being exceptionally smart. I believe him. I wish you luck.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: You always tell girls they should confide in their mothers. Well, I used to, but no more.

First I made my mother promise if I told her something in confidence she wouldn't tell anybody. She promised and I told her. (It was something about a boy I liked.) Well, it got back to this boy because my mother told my aunt, and this aunt just happens to have the biggest mouth in Baltimore, that's all, and she told this boy's mother!

So, please, Abby, tell mothers who can't keep secrets not to feel left out if their children don't tell them anything.

TERRY

DEAR TERRY: You are right, of course. So to all you mothers out there: If you want to keep the lines of communication open between you and your children, never — but NEVER betray a confidence.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Your column has always been welcome in our home. Indeed we called you "the learned judge — a Second Solomon." Then all that endearment came to a sudden end when you gave your approval to a mother bathing her baby in the kitchen sink — the same sink in which the household dishes were washed!

Abby, you showed a shocking disregard for the accepted principles of sanitation and disease prevention. The mere thought of eating from dishes washed in the same sink in which a child was bathed leaves a most offensive taste in one's mouth.

We could easily close this chapter by forever boycotting your column. However, we prefer to give you a chance to retract your unsavory judgment.

HELEN A., NORTHPORT, N.Y.

DEAR HELEN: Like I said. If the sink is clean BEFORE AND AFTER the baby's bath, what's the difference?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended a formal wedding. Immediately following the ceremony, the photographer (a professional, hired for the occasion) said, "All right, I want a picture of the wedding party."

The pianist and soloist started to join the group. The photographer said, "Sorry, but you two are not in the wedding party."

The pianist appeared somewhat miffed, but sat down. The soloist ignored the photographer and got into the picture anyway. My question: Are the musicians part of the wedding party?

NOSY

DEAR NOSY: Not in MY book (Or Amy's, either.).

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ACTOR —AT LIBERTY": Pride goeth before a fall. A small role is better than a long loaf.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Revolutionary Concept In Work Of Art

By CHARLES-GENE MCDANIEL
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The viewer becomes part of the design of an electronic sculpture shaped back and front like a huge television screen.

The work, "Contact Cybernetic Sculpture," by Les Levine, was shown Friday for the first time. It has an 8-foot-high convex plastic bubble on each side. Behind them are nine television monitors and four television cameras which transmit onto the screens images of the viewer standing in front of the sculpture.

Each television monitor is covered with a sheet of different colored acrylic plastic, and the camera lenses are focused at varying distances so that the viewer appears in different sizes and perspectives.

Superimposed over the image of the viewer are alternating views of activities of Gulf & Western Industries, which commissioned the sculpture for its new building under construction on Columbus Circle in New York.

"The viewer provides the input which comes back to him as output," Levine said.

Levine, 32, was born in Dublin, studied in London and lived for a while in Toronto before becoming a resident of New York.

He told an interviewer at the preview of his work at the Museum of Contemporary Art, "It is unreasonable in this date and age when there is so much intercommunication with everybody that art should be housed in a little room by itself."

It is the kind of art which attracts the involvement of the spectator which has been a major focus in exhibitions at the Museum of Contemporary Art.

Levine said, "Art galleries by nature have been so traditional that it is almost impossible to do anything avant garde in them."

For this reason, he says, he thinks industrial commissioning of art is important.

"Gulf & Western and others who don't have pretensions of knowing what art is are more adventurous than those who think they know what art is," he said.

The sculpture will be placed in the lobby of Gulf & Western's new building so that persons passing by will interact with the sculpture and with each other by way of the television screens.

After its Chicago showing, through May 25, Levine's "Contact" will be shown at the National Collection of Fine Arts in Washington, D.C., then at Lincoln Center in New York.

Youth Hurt By Gunshot

Eloy Benitez, 18, 505 Fifteenth Street, was wounded in the chest in an accidental shooting at the Gulf Station at the southeast corner of Thirty-seventh Street and Avenue S at 4:25 p.m. Friday.

City Police, who investigated the shooting, said that Benitez was struck by a slug from a 22 caliber pistol when Eugenio Davila, 19, manager at the station, pulled the weapon from a drawer, and it accidentally discharged.

"He noticed the gun was partially cocked when he opened a drawer in the office," authorities said "and he removed the weapon to uncock the hammer. Benitez, who was working on his car at the station, walked into the garage to patch a tire near the grease rack when the gun discharged. The slug went through an open door and hit him."

Davila took Benitez to Cogdell Memorial Hospital in his car. Authorities said the slug glanced off a rib and remained in the body. An operation was performed Saturday morning to remove the bullet. Eloy's condition was believed to be satisfactory. He is the son of Martin Benitez, an employe of the Snyder Daily News.

To Reign As New Queen Of Neches

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Page Pemberton was named Queen of the Neches River Festival Friday night and will reign with King J. Winston Proctor.

Miss Pemberton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pemberton of Beaumont. She was selected from a field of 56 young women who vied for the title.

Collision Is Fatal

DALLAS (AP)—Corvson Buster, 44, was killed Friday night when his gravel truck collided with an automobile in the southeastern section of the county. Buster was a resident of Kleberg, near where the accident occurred. Two other persons were injured.

Price Hike In Effect

HOUSTON (AP) — Crude oil price increases of 5 to 10 cents a barrel by Humble Oil & Refining Co. became effective today in areas of Texas, Louisiana, Illinois and Wyoming.

The firm announced Friday the new prices were to meet competition and protect suppliers in the individual fields.

Humble posted similar increases last month when a number of major purchasers were raising prices as much as 20 cents a barrel.

The new prices include a 10-cent increase for 383,000 barrels a day in south Louisiana, 17,000 barrels of mixed steam crude purchased daily in 11 South Texas fields, 89,000 barrels daily in East and East Central Texas and for 14,000 barrels of 40 degree gravity crude bought daily in Wyoming's Elk Basin field.

A 5-cent increase affects 13,000 from the Loudon pool in Illinois, where the new price will be $3.40 a barrel.

New 10-cent price hikes affect several other types of crudes purchased in South Texas.

Tornado Time Comes

AUSTIN (AP) — Spring has sprung and that means the peak tornado season has arrived, the Department of Public Safety reminded Texans Saturday.

Texas had only 140 tornadoes last year, compared with 232 the year before, the DPS said. Hurricane Beulah gave birth to more than half of the 1967 total.

—Cellars are the best places to be when a tornado strikes.

—If caught in the open, move at right angles to the path of the tornado.

—Lie flat in the nearest depression if you cannot escape.

—If indoors, stay away from windows.

—Go to the corner of a basement nearest the tornado.

—If there is no basement, take cover under heavy furniture against inside walls.

—Doors and windows on the side of the house fartherst from the tornado should be opened.

Fire Is Put Out

The event will be held at the Municipal Garden and Arts Center, located at Forty-third and University Avenue, Lubbock.

Thefts Are Probed Here

City Police have been busy the past couple of days investigating complaints of vandalism and theft.

Someone stole $23 from the billfold of Ricky Cowan, a member of the Snyder track team, while he was practicing between 2:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Friday, according to City Police, who said the billfold had been placed in a locker at the field house.

Thieves stole two stereo tapes from the pickup of David Casey, a Midland resident, when his vehicle was parked on the northeast side of the Scurry County Courthouse between 12:30 a.m. and 2:20 a.m. Saturday. The loss was valued at $14.40

Vandals pulled the sink from the wall in a rest room west of the Pavilion in Towle Park between 11 p.m. Friday and 2:20 a.m. Saturday. The damage was placed at between $10 and $15.

Three children playing "cops and robbers" in the 300 block of Twentieth Street Friday morning caused an estimated $40 damage to a front door of a house in the block when they beat on the door with a metal pipe, officers said. The children were trying to "get at the robber inside," police added.

Pound Cake With Fresh Tangerines

1 frozen (12 ounce) pound cake
1-3 cup sugar
½ cup freshly squeezed tangerine juice
1 tablespoon freshly squeezed lemon juice
2 tablespoons freshly grated tangerine peel
1 envelope dessert topping mix, whipped or 1 cup heavy cream whipped and slightly sweetened
1 to 2 tangerines, separated into sections, seeded

Thaw cake completely; pierce top and bottom well with a fork. Place in shallow baking pan;; bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes. Meanwhile, in small sauce pan combine sugar, tangerine and lemon juice; boil hard for 3 minutes until slightly thick, stirring occasionally. Slowly spoon half of hot sauce over bottom of warm cake; turn cake sauce over top of cake. Let stand 5 minutes, then slice into serving pieces and place on platter or individual plates. Just before serving, stir tangerine peel into whipped topping mix or whipped cream. Spoon generous dollops over each piece of cake; garnish with fresh tangerine sections.

Grant Appraisal Doesn't Downgrade

GRANT TAKES COMMAND. By Bruce Catton.

In this third volume of biography of U. S. Grant, a work ably begun by the late Lloyd Lewis and ably carried forward by Bruce Catton, the unpretentious commander of federal armies in the Civil War emerges in full stature. Here, in the months from Vicksburg to Appomattox, was Grant at his best pursuing relentlessly the victory which had eluded so many other generals.

He was not impressive in appearance or behavior. He had neither the dash of George B. McClellan nor the dignity of Robert E. Lee, neither the ambitions of Joe Hooker nor the flamboyance of Jeb Stuart. In a crowd he seemed to sink from sight; correspondent Richard Henry Dana Jr. described him as a "scrubby looking man with a slightly seedy look, as if he was out of office on half pay."

But he also had honesty, tenacity, a singleness of purpose, a talent for simple, direct thinking and action. George G. Meade who, as commander of the Army of the Potomac, was associated with Grant through the critical months of 1863-64, acknowledged that he was not "a mighty genius" but still pronounced him, "in my judgment, the best man the war has yet produced."

The portrait that comes through Catton's facile writing is three - dimensional, a picture with an aura of authenticity. Grant's way was not easy. He had to overcome petty jealousies and bickerings among his subordinate generals; he had to yield the exigencies of the moment to the hard realities of politics at times he had to survive rumors of his own indulgence in alcohol.

His one great asset, aside from his own sterling qualities, was the confidence and respect of Abraham Lincoln. One of the most fascinating aspects of "Grant Takes Command' is the development of the relationship between President and general. It was a "unique relationship," Catton writes, particularly because Lincoln "trusted Grant as he had trusted none of his predecessors, trusted him so completely that he did not even ask him how he intended to use the immense power that had been given him" with the promotion to general-in-chief.

There was a time not too many years ago when some historians seemed to take delight in downgrading Grant. The sad story of his White House years is yet to be told by Caton but it seems a modest hope, in the light of the first three volumes, that we are seeing the definitive appraisal of the man and his works.

PEASANTS IN THE MODERN WORLD. Edited by Philip K. Bock, University of New Mexico Press, Albuquerque. $6 cloth, $2.45 paperback.

Capitalism and communism have one thing n common: They are committed to doing away with peasantry.

The solution of nominally capitalistic nations is to institute land reform, break up the estates and give the land to the serfs, peasants or whatever they are called.

Communists seek a solution by creating farm communes.

Neither system works if you are talki / about improvement in the living conditions of the ex-peasants.

This is pointed out in a new book published by the University of New Mexico Press and edited by Philip K. Bock.

Money isn't everything as any curbstone philosopher knows. And what removal from a peasant status to that of landowner without a dictatorial and irresponsible landlord is enough to make land reform worth the price. But it is not the subject of this book.

The volume is composed of seven essays by experts and takes in the major peasant and ex-peasant groups around the world, including the Orient.

Latin America demonstrates one of the principles—perhaps the most important—about land reform.

This is that assigned land to the peasants is not enough. The government must pour in vast sums for dvelopment of the so called reformed area or the people revert back to primitive, tribal conditions.

This happened in Bolivia. The Mexican revolution faltered and almost died because this principle was not understood or the government was unable at the time to take proper neasures. Now portions of Mexico are moving out of their peasant atmosphere in those places where development is under way.

Venezuela is a shining example of what can be done with proper development.

Improper "reform" has a serious impact on city life. When the farmers withdraw into themselves and raise only what they need, the city suffers. But hold out the glittering refrigerator, highways for transporting crops and a color television and the farmer is going to see that his city cousin eats well.—The AP.

SIOUX ARROWS AND BULLETS. By Paul Sanford, Naylor, San Antonio. $5.95.

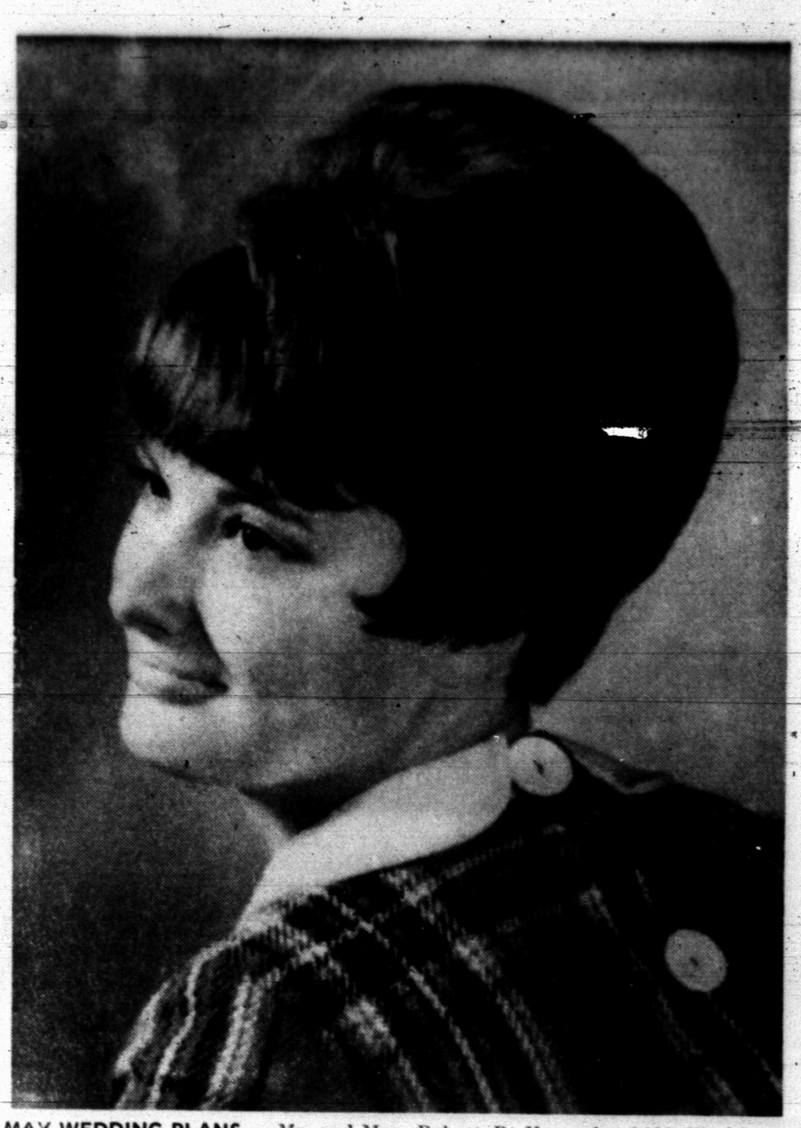

"Sioux Arrows and Bullets" tells of efforts to put down a Sioux uprising in the midst of the Civil War. The Indian attacks sent 50,000 settlers fleeing their homes.

The author, Paul Sanford, turns the facts of the campaign into a recreated story told in the first person. The dramatic presentation covers the two years of the campaign.

Much of the material on which the book is based came from letters written by the author's greatgrandfather, Franklin Pierce.

The book contains some references and notes and a bibliography.

Sanford is an engineer in missile work and resides in Anaheim, Calif. Another of his books, "Where the Old West Never Died," the story of a ranch, was published last year. —The AP.

She Approves New Job

By PETER O'LOUGHLIN
Associated Press Writer

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The tall, elegant wife of Gen. Andrew Jackson Goodpaster says his assignment as NATO and U. S. commander in Europe is "a dream come true."

She added that he had had his eye on the job since serving in Europe as a lieutenant colonel in 1951.

"We used to look up and see the commander and think: wouldn't that be a good day? Now it's true. I am just delighted. This is a real, real treat. It's like a dream come true," she told an interviewer.

For the last six months Mrs. Goodpaster has been one of a group known as "Saigon Wives" — women living in Bangkok whose husbands are serving in Vietnam.

Except for a rare visit from her tall, silver - haired, handsome husband, the deputy American commander in Vietnam until he takes up his new assignment this summer, she has lived alone. One of her daughters is married to an astrophysicist named Roger J. Sullivan. The other is being married in May to Robert Wilson, an engineer now attending officer candidate school.

The wedding is to take place at Fort Myer, Va., and Mrs. Goodpaster expects to be there, though she says: "She is just 20 and I think too young to get married, but that's the way it is today." After the wedding she will head for Europe.

Mrs. Goodpaster has spent her time here playing a little golf; she belongs to a bowling league, swims in her backyard pool and does Red Corss work.

"I picked Bangkok over Manila because it was closer to Saigon and because it's such a fascinating city," she commented. She visited Saigon last Thanksgiving and found it "very interesting."

"One of the best things about the new assignment is that we can be together again."

Both the general and Mrs. Goodpaster, after five years in Europe, speak French, but she says she will have to brush up her grammar.

She was born Dorothy Anderson in the Philippines, the daughter of an artillery major general. The general was born in Granite City, Ill. They maintain a home in Alexandria, Va., but will be observing their 30th wedding anniversary in Europe.

Skillet Lamb Chops

1 tablespoon butter
4 shoulder lamb chops, about 1-inch thick with fat trimmed away
½ cup currant jelly
¼ cup lemon juice
2 medium oranges, peeled and sliced

In a large skillet in the hot butter, brown lamb chops. Stir in jelly and lemon juice. Cover and cook over low heat until meat is tender — about 45 minutes. Skim off any fat. Add orange slices and cook about 5 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

If moisture is collecting inside your refrigerator, it may be because you are opening the refrigerator door too often.

Fresh Tangerine Grapefruit Marmalade

1 large grapefruit, unpeeled
Water
Sugar
½ cup freshly squeezed lemon juice

Wash fruit; trim a thin slice from each end. Slice fruit into thinnest possible cartwheels; cut into quarters, removing any seeds. Measure fruit and combine with 4 times as much water in large saucepan or kettle. Cover and bring to a full boil; remove cover and boil hard until mixture is reduced one-half, about 1 hour. Measure cooked fruit mixture; divide in half and place each half in a separate saucepan. To each pan add 1 cup sugar for each cup of fruit in pan and ¼ cup lemon juice; stir to blend. Boil vigorously, stirring occasionally, until jell test is reached (thick, reluctant drops from a spoon). Stir and skim off foam; immediately pour into hot sterilized jars. Seal immediately.

You can spice your pie dough by adding cinnamon, ginger and cloves. Nice with an apple filling.

20th Century Club Plans May Tea

The Twentieth Century Club met Tuesday at the Union community center with Mrs. I. T. Huckabee as hostess.

Mrs. Charles Noble reviewed, "I've Got To Talk To Somebody, God" by Marjorie Holmes. The humerous story reveals the refreshingly honest thoughts of a woman who, like all of us, is sometimes frustrated in her marriage, worried about her children, and is searching for some meaning to her life beyond her role as wife and mother.

Mrs. Noble also read excerpts from "The Joy Of Living" by Roland Sebolt. The book examines the frantic search for happiness. It expresses the view that those who search for it as an end in itself will never find it. The joy of living is a by-product of something else, a blessing which comes with meaning and purpose in life. She closed the program with a humerous reading "Weird Devil That Pencil".

Mrs. J. Nelson Dunn presided during the business session. Plans were discussed for the Grandmothers Tea to be held at Martha Ann Woman's Club on May 6.

A lovely dessert plate was served by the hostess to members and one guest, Mrs. W.N. Berggren.

Employment Freeze Proving Costly

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Gov. John McKeithen froze state employment to prevent a budget deficit.

Two months later, state Rep. Lantz Womack of Winnsboro said, the E. A. Conway Charity Hospital in Monroe was spending $1,000 a month for paper plates because it could not hire anyone to wash dishes. Womack said a dishwasher's salary would be considerably less than $1,000 a month.

You can store baked rolls in your freezer up to 12 months.

Hospital Auxiliary Holds 11th Annual Awards Banquet

The Women's Auxiliary of Cogdell Memorial Hospital held their 11th annual awards banquet Thursday evening at Snyder Country Club.

Mrs. A. C. Floyd Sr., outgoing president and mistress of ceremonies introduced board members and hospital officials.

Highlights of the activities during the past year included new furniture for the enlarged Snack Bar, transferring $500 from this account to the general fund and with the general treasury adding another $570.44, making a total of $1,070.44 cash, paid for the furniture.

During the months of November and December the ladies bought and sold four dozen cook books and seven cases of fruit cakes at a profit.

The Snack Bar records show several transfers of funds to the general fund, the total amount being $1,300.00, which amount was applied on the TV note. Since the organization of the Auxiliary, the televisions had been leased from a local firm, but due to circumstances, were forced to go out on their own. After making the final payment on the previous contract on July 1, 1968, the Auxiliary bought 62 new TVs and one stand at a price of $7,321.50 on July 30th. A local bank loaned the money, payable in monthly installments of $300.00. To date the indebtedness is down to $1,792.65.

Another service added by the Auxiliary is the renting of telephones of which there are 18. The renting of these telephones to the patients is a much needed service, and the income more than pays for the rental.

From the remembrance fund is a balance of $554.76, with this money only life saving equipment for the hospital is purchased. Anyone wishing to make a donation to this fund, in memory of a loved one, a dear friend, or in appreciation for courtesy shown them, they are asked to call or write Mrs. Sam Joyce, chairman, 2801 Thirty - fifth Street, 573-2987.

The Auxiliary bought crayons, Crayolas, games and activity books and saw to it that two small children in the hospital at Christmas Day were made happy with gifts, fruits and candy.

In September the District Convention of Texas Association of Hospital Auxiliaries, District II, Area III was hosted by the local ladies. Every member cooperated and the program and luncheon were reported as excellent, with many visitors adding their compliments, since the local Auxiliary had never hosted a District Convention before.

In December the ladies hosted their annual Christmas Tea for the hospital personnel in the hospital dining room, at a time when it was possible for everyone to attend, with an attendance of over 100.

The Auxiliary sponsors a very active group of Candy Stripers. These high school girls, presently 23 in number, volunteer their services each weekday afternoon after school, and on Sunday afternoon, to assist the Pink Ladies, and they are completely responsible for all the Saturday shifts, both on the floor and in the Snack Bar.

At Christmas time the Auxiliary bought and placed trees in the lobby, snack bar, medical I and medical II floors. These trees were beautifully decorated by Camille Carroll and her daughter, Tobin, assisted by several of the Candy Stripers. Mrs. Carroll is the sponsor of this active group of girls.

Auxiliary members receiving service pins, presented by Mr. Cy Miller, hospital administrator, for 100 hours service was Laverne Harber, Mrs. Sam Joyce, Retha Pickering, Marge Pullig, Dorthy Reeves, Mildred Simmons and Libby Wall. Five hundred hour pins went to Evelyn Boone, Mildred Hurst, Katherine Redwine and Opal Floyd. Five year service pins for work in the snack bar went to Gladys Lane and Dora McDonald.

Candy Stripers receiving 100 hours to 186 hours of service were Amy Dozier, Linda Tippens, Annette Woods, Ada Newsome, Shelah Herrley, Debbie McGlaun, Debi Bunch, Peggy Patterson, Gloria Bigham, Janie Proctor and Lana McMillan.

The Ladies Auxiliary is on a strictly volunteer service basis, but the satisfaction of knowing one can help a person in need is most rewarding. We feel that the Auxiliary and Candy Stripers are a great asset to our "All American City" and should be congratulated.

MANY HOURS of helping make the Wo men's Auxiliary is credited to these three ladies. Pines for 1,000 hours went to Maurine Ward, 2,000 hours Mildred Tracy, and 4,000 hours to Inez Brown.

THESE CANDY STRIPERS received pins for the most hours of service in their organization. From left, Louise Kerby, 297 hours, Paula Redwine, 309 hours, and Mollie Love, 360 hours.

Bran Muffins

1 cup whole bran cereal
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon freshly grated tangerine peel
2 tablespoons freshly squeezed tangerine juice
1 egg
¼ cup salad oil
1¼ cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1 tangerine, peeled, sectioned, seeded

In mixing bowl, combine bran cereal and milk; let stand until most of moisture is absorbed. Add tangerine peel and juice, egg and oil; beat well. Resift flour with dry ingredients; add to bran mixture and stir just enough to blend. Spoon into greased muffin pans, filling about full. Top each muffin with a tangerine section. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 25 to 30 minutes. Makes about 12 muffins.

Thread scallops on skewers alternating with squares of bacon and small mushroom caps. Brush with butter and broil.

Cranberry Tangerine Relish

8 medium to large tangerines
1 can (8 ounces) whole cranberry sauce
⅛ teaspoon mint extract

Cut about one-fourth off the stem end of each tangerine. Using a large spoon and working over a bowl, insert the tip of the spoon between the "meat" of the tangerine and the outer peel. Revolve the tangerine, working the spoon farther in each time and pulling the meat away from the peel. As the meat becomes partially loosened, it is easy to insert the spoon all the way and gently scoop out the entire center in one piece, leaving a perfect tangerine "shell." Set "shells" aside. Working over same bowl, to reserve all juice, separate tangerine centers into sections, removing any seeds. Blend sections with juice and remaining ingredients; chill. Spoon into "shells" and serve as an accompaniment with turkey, other poultry, pork or ham.

Baked Rice

¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup diagonally sliced celery
1 cup raw long grain rice
1 cup chicken stock (1 bouillon cube in 1 cup boiling water)
2 tablespoons freshly grated tangerine peel
1 cup freshly squeezed tangerine juice
½ teaspoon salt
4 to 6 tangerine cartwheels, unpeeled, seeded
2 tablespoons chopped green onion tops

Melt butter in casserole that can be used on top of range. Add celery; simmer 2 minutes. Stir in rice. Add chicken stock, tangerine peel and juice, and salt. Bring to a boil; remove from heat. Arrange tangerine cartwheels over the top. (they will float in liquid); sprinkle on green onion. Cover and bake at 375 degrees F. for 40 minutes.

The Nation's Story Is Surprise Hit

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The surprise hit of Broadway's season happened the way Stuart Ostrow planned—or hoped, anyway.

"We figured we'd just slip into town quietly," says the producer of "1776," a musical about the nation's creation. "Then the fireworks would be loose, and we'd be ready."

Many of the precepts, rules and myths of normal management were violated, ignored or slighted, except one. Ostrow astutely hung onto a sizable chunk of his backers' $500,000 for post-opening promotion.

Among the commercially questionable aspects of the enterprise were: a story out of history that everyone had heard in school; no major stars in the cast; unknown composer and author; a director who had never done a Broadway show.

Seven eminent producers passed the script before Ostrow, with a modest track record of one musical flop and two mild squeeze-bys, said yes. There was difficulty booking a theater.

On the afternoon that the production premiered, total advance ticket sales were $18,000, although the show's frightened treasurer told inquirers there was $60,000 in the till. The show's weekly operating cost is $47,000.

"It was a lucky show, all the way," Ostrow now says, dismissing such past discomforts. "I knew the timing was right for what we have."

Within a week after the premiere, the box office had taken in $126,000—"a record for any theater, anywhere," says Ostrow—with broker and mail order sales boosting the total to $500,000.

The big reason for such rocketing success, Ostrow deems, is the musical's ability to "allow audiences a pride in their country that they were possibly unaware of when they came in. We've allowed them—not forced it on them."

In tracing the events leading to the Declaration of Independence, the delegates in Congress assembled are depicted as less than demigods. They bicker, swizzle, waste time, but in the process ultimately achieve.

The whole concept, along with songs and lyrics, was developed by Sherman Edwards. He started working on the project eight years ago. A schoolteacher turned songwriter, he told Ostrow of his determination to write a show when the latter, a disenchanted clarinet player, was still working for a Tin Pan Alley publisher.

"I loved it," says Ostrow. "But the book Edwards had written was no good. He'd written it because he couldn't get anyone to help him. Like most songwriters who try to write books, he'd just provided vamps for the songs."

The producer recruited Peter Stone, who had scripted two Broadway errors but shared a Hollywood Oscar for "Father Goose." Ostrow waited until book and score were ready, along with such other details as casting and technical staff, before raising the production money. In the meantime, he was on the line personally for $55,000.

CHANGE COMES IN COLLEGE

Religion Now An Academic

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The college environment, once considered the scene in which many students abandoned their religion, today is often the place where they first get interested in it.

Some key changes are cited as causing the switch, including:

—A rising sense of personal freedom and open options among modern youth, increasingly leaving up to them the resolution of their basic concerns and directions in life.

—A new outlook in academic circles, recognizing religion as a zone of synthesis linking up issues in multiplying specialized fields, as well as its central influence in society, the arts and history.

—A dramatic expansion of religious departments and courses at secular institutions of higher learning, and swelling enrolment in them.

—A slackening of the home religious atmosphere and upbringing that used to be provided by family and community, but which now is often vague or missing.

As a result, the focus of religious interest "has shifted from the community life of our society and, in many cases, from the academy," says Dr. Keith Spalding, president of Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa.

It's what Dr. Robert Michaelson, chairman of the department of religion at the University of California at Santa Barbara, has termed the "quiet revolution in American education."

Statistics tell the story. At the end of World War II, less than 10 per cent of the nation's state colleges and universities offered religion courses. Today, 75 per cent of them do so, a recent study shows.

In addition, 20 per cent of them have full-fledged departments in that field, offering degrees in it, and several others are planning such departments.

Including both state and private nonsectarian institutions, 90 per cent now offer religious courses, on subjects ranging from comparative religion to Judaism, Christian history and the Bible.

The change came at first gradually, and since 1960, rapidly, says Dr. Milton D. McLean, of the University of Southern Illinois, whose research initially documented the transformation.

Part of it has stemmed from demands of students themselves, such as at the University of Rochester in New York where a petition by undergraduates has brought continuing expansion of the religious curriculum since 1966.

Until recently, most state-supported colleges and universities avoided offering courses on religion, fearing it might violate the Constitution's prohibition of any activity establishing religion.

However, the 1963 U.S. Supreme Court decision, barring devotions in public schools, also cleared the way for objective courses about religion, declaring that "education is not complete" without it.

Since then, campus religious studies have soared, drawing considerable faculty talent away from seminaries and church-run colleges.

"Today, many of the best scholars in religion are in secular posts," says Dr. Philip H. Phenix, of Columbia University.

Five years ago, only one state university in the country, the University of Iowa, offered Ph.D. programs in religion but now such programs are proliferating—at North Carolina, Florida State, state-affiliated Temple in Philadelphia and the University of California.

Since World War II, the number of secular campuses offering Judaic studies had climbed from seven to more than 100.

At the University of Iowa, which pioneered its school of religion in 1925, one of its courses—on religion in human culture—enrolled 64 students 10 years ago, and now it bulges with nearly 1,000.

Junior Editors Quiz on DESERTS

QUESTION: How do desert animals get enough water?

* * *

ANSWER: It is amazing how plants and animals can exist on the very small amounts of water they get in a desert, for all living things need moisture. The answer is that nature has worked out many ingenious ways for desert plants and animals to get and conserve water. The camel doesn't sweat like other animals and so a drink of water lasts him a long time. Deserts are hot, and heat means thirst, so many animals burrow underground during the heat of the day and come out in the cooler evening and nighttime (see picture). Many beetles have a tight round shell which holds moisture in. Hard scales and shells do the same job for desert reptiles. The internal anatomy of many desert creatures is arranged so they can get all the moisture they need from their plant or animal food. Many can go without drinking for weeks and months. Desert plants catch every possible drop during the rare showers and conserve it inside of dry, leathery coverings. Cactus plants are a good example of this. Sharp spines protect such plants from thirsty animals.

Soldier Escapes V'Cong Captors

SAIGON (AP) — An American soldier listed as missing for more than a year has been found in Tay Ninh province, 18 days after he escaped from the Viet Cong, the U.S. Command said today.

He was identified as Spec. 5 Thomas H. Van Putten, 21, of Caledonia, Mich. Spokesmen said he was suffering from malnutrition and dehydration but otherwise was in "good condition," when found Thursday.

Van Putten was reported missing Feb. 10, 1968. The command said he was riding as a guard on a road scraper in Tay Ninh province about 70 miles northwest of Saigon when he disappeared. His vehicle was "found off the road," headquarters said.

At that time he was serving as a construction machine operator with the 79th Engineer Group and had been in South Vietnam since Feb. 20, 1967.

The command gave no details saying only that "he escaped captivity about 18 days before being found" by 17th Cavalry troopers attached to the U.S. 25th Division.

"I blew a kiss to the gunner on the LOH—light observation helicopter—that picked me up," headquarters quoted Van Putten as saying. "I'll never forget that big, beautiful blond moustache the pilot had. When I jumped in the chopper, I grabbed his shoulder and yelled 'I love you.' That was really something. And I hugged the gunner."

The command said the young soldier's first words to the Americans were: "I've escaped from the enemy. Give me something to eat."

Then he ate some canned ration chicken with noodles, fruit cocktail and drank some warm root beer.

"I've never tasted such delicious food in all my life," the GI was quoted as saying.

Before being captured, Van Putten weighed about 185 pounds. Spokesmen said he now weighs 121 pounds.

"The first time I looked in the mirror—that isn't me," he said.

Spokesmen said he would be flown to the United States today for a reunion with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Van Putten of Caledonia, Mich.

Deferred Grazing Pays Off

A four - pasture deferred rotation grazing system at Sonora grossed $6.47 per acre and netted $1.68 per acre. Continuous heavy grazing grossed $6. per acre and netted only $.66 per acre. Now is a good time to plan for a deferred rotation system.

The principal benefit from deferred rotation is that each pasture receives rest during the growing period of the year. Important grass species are permitted to produce a seed crop, establish seedlings from a previous seed crop, and rest during the period of maximum plant food storage.

Experiments conducted at Spur show that keeping pastures free of mesquite is a continuous battle. All of the mesquite were removed from a pasture in 1941. From 1941 to 1964, 401 mesquite seedling per acre were removed. Basal treatment or grubbing the small seedlings are two ways the mesquite seedlings can be kept under control.

Pastures where brush control is being carried out should be deferred at least 90 days during the growing season. This will allow the grasses to increase in vigor and density. Maintaining a good cover of grass will help to suppress young mesquite seedlings.

BRUSH CONTROL AND DEFERRED GRAZING — This pasture in Borden County was deferred 4 months following spraying. Grass made excellent recovery. The purpose of brush control is to improve the grass. Deferred grazing is the key to range management.

LIBRARY OFFERS VARIETY

National Library Week was launched in the Spring of 1958 and was the first concerted nationwide effort to focus public attention on reading as a source of personal fulfillment, the importance of literacy in our national progress, and on the libraries which can make reading accessible to everyone.

Reading can help the reader enlarge his world, gain perspective, realize his potential excellence, savor his leisure, and find new meaning in his work. Libraries make possible the achievement of the social, educational, cultural and economic goals of the individual and society; libraries are the means to help develop an informed creative citizenry that is competent and willing to make the choices and decisions that free men and woman have the privilege and the responsibility to make.

The President of the United States and the four previous Presidents have joined with scores of other officials of government to remind Americans that the FREEDOM TO READ is the privilege and responsibility of members of a democratic society.

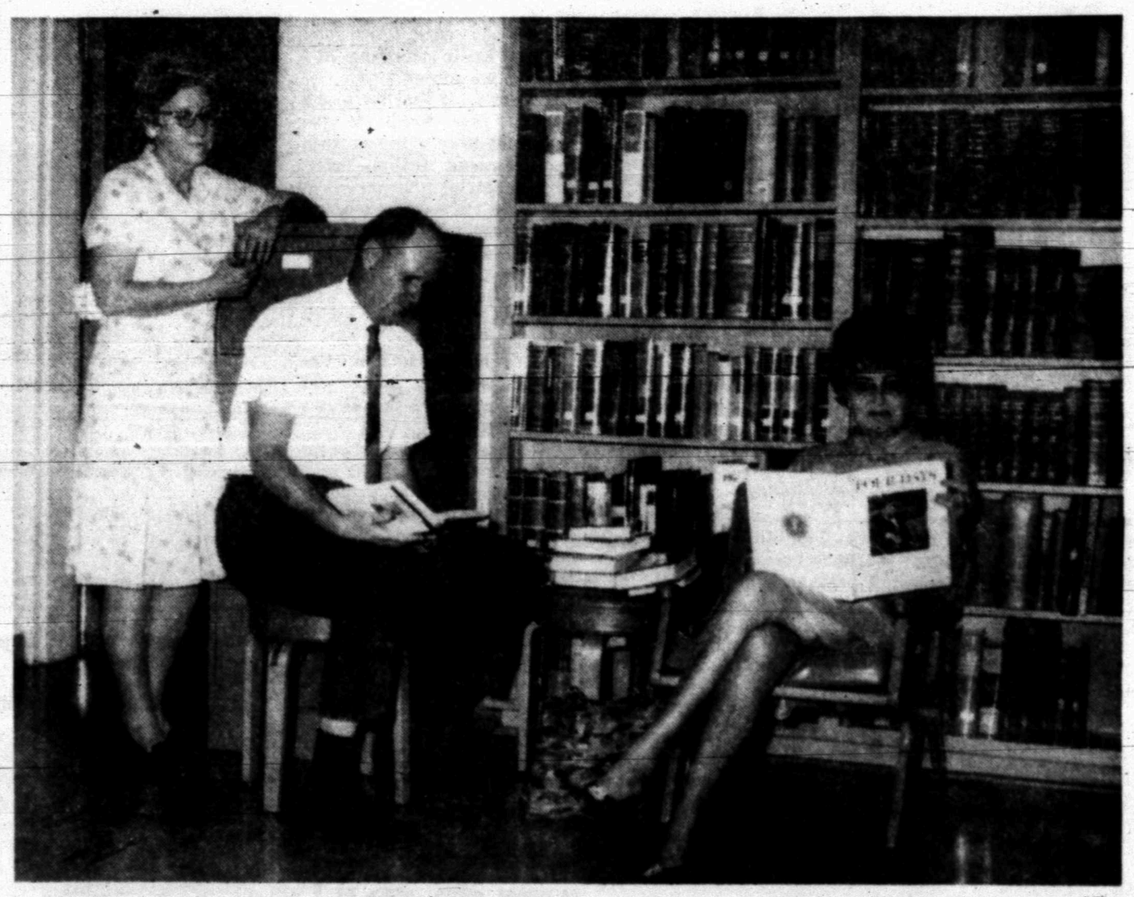

National Library Week is being observed this year from April 20 through April 24. Area residents are encouraged to to visit the excellent facilities of the Scurry County Public Library during this period especially.

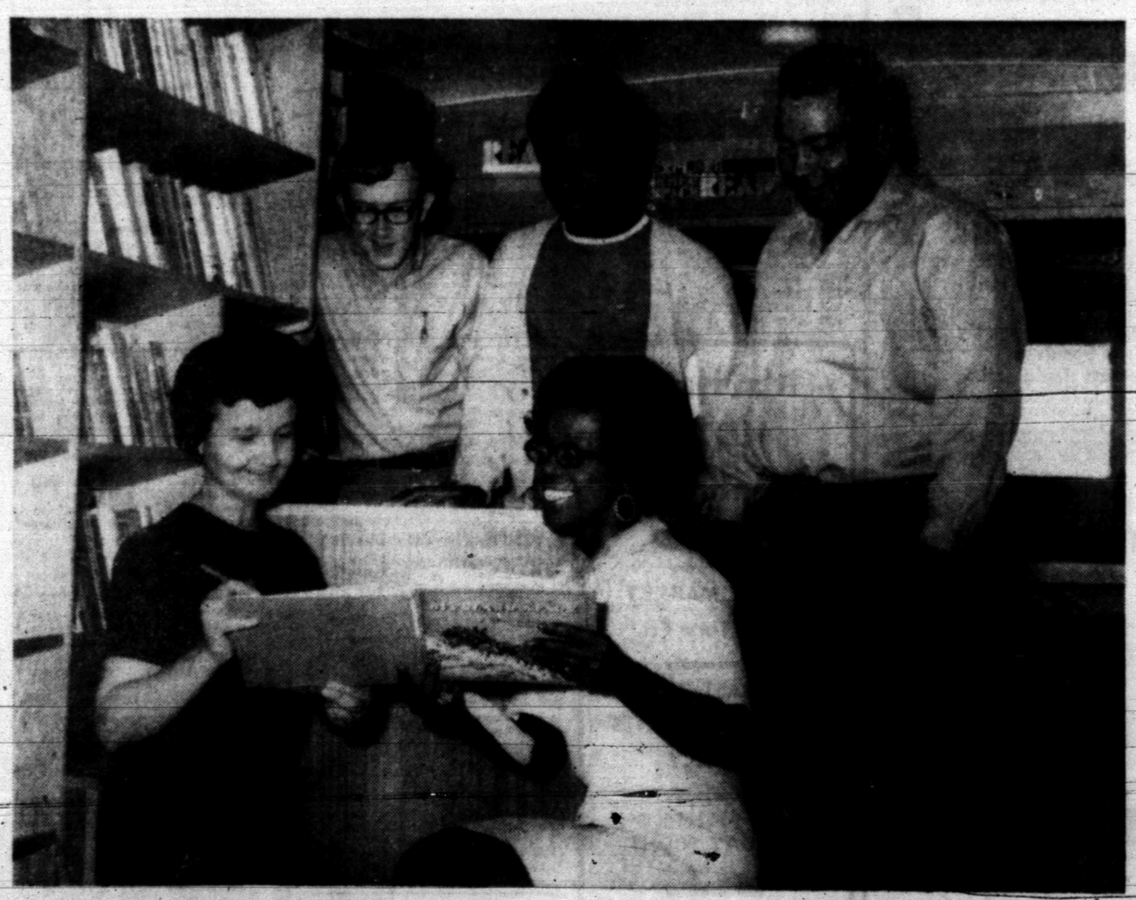

FOR ALL AGES — Frances Pitner (second from left) and Donna Lester (far right), staff members at the Scurry County Library, show visitors, Doug Webb and Floy Willingham, the many books available for children. Books for all age groups are available at the library. It opened in 1958 with about 5,000 books for youths. Now, the library has over 19,000 books for the young.

RELIGIOUS WORKS — The library policy in book selection is that the collection shall reflect tolerance and respect for the reader's ability to select his reading material. Included in the 1,740 volume religious section are the Pictorial History of Protestantism, the Book of Mormon, Twentieth Century Encyclpedia of Catholicism, and the Jewish Encyclopedia. From left, are Rev .Charles Bowyer, vicar of St. John's Episcopal Church; Rev. Miller Robinson, pastor of Colonial Hill Baptist Church; Faye Dene Campbell of the library staff; and, Rev. Bobby McMillan, pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church.

POLITICAL BOOKS — Mrs. Mary Nell Bullard (left), chief librarian at the Scurry County Library, says books are available that present all points of view concerning the problems and issues of our times. Here, Doug Flynn and Mrs. L. A. McClanahan glance through some of the 5,000 books in the social sciences that are available to local patrons.

OPEN TO ALL — The Library Bill of Rights states that, "The rights of an individual to the use of a library should not be denied or abridged because of his race, religion, national origin or political views." This bookmobile serves rural patrons, and there is a branch library at the Child Development Center in addition to the main library at 1916 Twenty-third Street. Browsing in the Bookmobile are, from left to right, Front Row, Mrs. Lloyd Angel and Mrs. Vera Mae High; and, Top Row, Larry Wesson, Otis Archie and Paul Contreras.

FICTIONAL VARIETY — Loel Forrest of the Scurry County Libry staff (second from right) helps patrons, from left to right, Mrs. J. H. Barnhill, Mrs. M. K. Stevenson and Mrs. K. G. Blalock locate mystery books, best sellers and modern novels. Each year, the library buys the top ten best sellers in both fiction and nonfiction. The average number of adult books checked out per day 10 years ago was 100.7. Last year, adult readers averaged 121.5 books per day.

INDUSTRIAL CHAMPS — Neves Chevron team captured first place in the Industrial League at Snyder Lanes. From left, are Vic Baze, Bill Jordan, Roy Neves and Roy Meador. The team average is 160. Baze and Jordan also are members of the Rains Well Service team that won first place in the Wishball League.

Celtics Are East Champs

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics, written off as tired old men just a short time ago, are back in familiar surroundings—the title round of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Acting like the old pros they are, the Celtics won the Eastern Division playoff for the 12th time in 13 years by hanging on for a 106-105 victory over the New York Knicks Friday night in steamy Boston Garden.

The Celtics, who have won the NBA championship 10 times since Player-Coach Bill Russell entered the league and became a defensive genius 13 years ago, managed only one victory in seven starts against New York during the regular season.

Boston finished fourth in the East and the cry went up: "The Celtics are dead." But the Celtics were playing possum in their own way, aiming for the playoffs.

After finishing off Philadelphia in the Eastern semifinals, the Celtics whipped the mighty Knicks 4-2 in the best-of-seven finals. Now Boston will mark time while Los Angeles battles Atlanta in the Western Division.

Los Angeles can wrap up the series in the fifth game Sunday.

"I'm glad that's over," Russell said wearily after playing his usual 48 minutes in the finale against New York. "The Knicks were tough, a real good team. We had to go all out."

Russell scored 12 points, grabbed 21 rebounds, blocked a half dozen shots and set up teammates for baskets although he had to play cautiously after picking up his fifth foul at the three-minute mark of the fourth period.

Mike Riordan, an unheralded reserve, helped bring the Knicks back from a nine-point deficit midway through the finale and finished with 15 points.

Sam Jones, humiliated by being held to just 12 points by New York in two previous games, was the key man in nailing down the victory. The 36-year-old veteran, retiring after this season, scored 29 points, the last a crucial free throw with three seconds left.

"Anytime you end a series with a win you feel great," Jones said.

Lee Shares Rancho Lead

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino and masters titleholder George Archer, tied for the second round lead in golf's $150,000 tournament of champions, pick the same man to win it — Lee Trevino.

"You have to pick Trevino," the gangling, 6-foot-6 Archer said. "He's the best driver on the tour. He says he only leaves the fairway to go to the phone. That's about right.

"And that's what you have to do to win on this course, stay in the fairway. The rough is really rough."

"If my driver stays like it was today," Trevino said Friday after shooting a second-round 68, four under par, "I'd say I like my chances very much.

"You've got to keep it in the fairway to win and I can hit it as straight as anyone else."

Trevino, seven shots back going into the second round, and Archer, who has a pair of 71s, are tied at 142 going into today's third round on the 7,114 yard, par-72 La Costa Country Club course.

Just one shot back at 43 are Gene Littler, who had a second round 68, South African Gary Player, 49-year-old Julius Boros, the PGA champion, and dynamic Arnold Palmer.

Player, Boros and Palmer all had second round 74s.

Dave Stockton is alone at 144 after a second round 75.

First round leader Dick Lotz, a 26-year-old Californian, dropped back with a 78 for 145, while bulky Jack Nicklaus shot himself out of contention with a whopping 80, one of the poorest rounds in years for the golden bear. He has a 36-hole score of 153, 11 shots off the pace and next to the bottom in the select, 28-man field.

Trevino, who missed only one fairway, opened with a bogey when he was in a trap, then rallied with four birdies, rapping in putts of 8 and 15 feet, chipping to within four inches at No. 2, and reaching the par five 12th in two and two-putting.

Archer had five birdies and four bogeys, all of the latter coming when he got into the deep rough. His birdie putts were from 20, 20, 20 and 18 feet, and he reached one par five in two.

'Horn Foes Lose Tilts

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While Texas fiddled, its contender burned Friday in Southwest Conference baseball action.

The Longhorns, with an 11-0 record, sat back and watched its three closest opponents lose another game.

Texas Tech and Rice split—the Red Raiders winning the opener 6-4 and Rice taking the nightcap 3-0.

Tech dropped to a 6-3 record while Rice is 5-4.

The Texas Aggies exchanged shutouts with the lowly Baylor Bears, losing 4-0 and winning 1-0 in the second game.

A&M is now 5-4 while Baylor is 2-11.

"The greeatest financial risk confronting many prosperous individuals or families is a liability suit for $100,000 or even $1,000,000 for causng injury or death to others. Does the Deffebach Agency have "excess liability" insurance to cover exposed risks and excessive legal awards?"

Bengal Golfers Are Regional Champions

ODESSA — That six-stroke penalty in the first round of the regional golf tournament wasn't much of a handicap after all, since Snyder's Tigers turned in a blistering 314 total in the second round Friday to capture the team championship and qualify for the state tournament in Austin a couple of weeks hence.

The Bengals swept all of the honors as Jay Kidd fired a second round 75 to go with his first round 77 to capture individual medalist honors with a 152. Ronnie Huckabee of Monahans was second medalist with an 80-75-155, but only the top team and individual qualify for state berths. Snyder's Mitch Rambin was third best individual with a 79-77-156 while teammate Phil Ator tied for fourth in individual honors with Tony Smith of Andrews with a 79-78-157. Glenn Rambin shaved five strokes off his opening round 89 to finish with a 173 total.

The Tigers took top honors here with only a 4-man team since Ronald Ward was disqualified. He had competed as a substitute for Benny Ward, who is out with an ankle injury, but Ronald's opening round 83 was disallowed due to an incorrect score card.

Andrews, the team that led by one stroke after the first round, dropped 16 strokes to the hot Bengals in the second round with a 330. Snyder's opening team card of 324 gave the SHS unit a 638 total for the tournament while Andrews had a 653 total.

Team scores:

Snyder	324-314—638
Andrews	323-330—653
Monahans	335-322—657
Sweetwater	341-333—674
Muleshoe	347-339—686
Perryton	360-330—690

LL And FL Tryouts Set

Little League and Farm League tryouts will be held Monday through Thursday this week. The starting time for all of the tryouts will be 4:30 p.m. daily.

The schedule calls for 12-year-olds to tryout Monday, 11-year-olds Tuesday, 10-year-olds Wednesday, and 9-year-olds Thursday.

American League tryouts will be held at Seventeenth Street and Avenue M while National League tryouts will be held at the practice field at the Lone Star Gas pump station on West Thirty-seventh Street. Co-ordinator is Dr. Robert Hargrove. Team rosters will be announced later.

Boys who didn't get a chance to signup last week may do so at the tryouts if they bring their birth certificates with them.

Under the new baseball setup the Montreal Expos won't visit San Diego for its first of two three-game series until June 10. Both are National League expansion teams.

INSPIRATION AND PERSPIRATION

What Makes Movie Music?

EDITOR'S NOTE—In the days of silent movies, musical accompaniment often was provided by a piano player or organist seated beneath the screen. Motion picture background music has come a long way since, providing millions of dollars in sales of records and sheet music. In addition to the melodic mood on screen, Here's a look at the men in Hollywood who provide the songs and the scores.

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ah, that magnificent view of the city, you remark to Michel Legrand in his mountaintop home. It must inspire him when he's composing movie background music and songs

"I don't believe in inspiration," says the handsome 37-year-old Frenchman.

"Every film is difficult. Every time I think I can't do it. I suffer like hell. I don't eat, I don't sleep. Finally, little by little, it comes, the right tempo, the harmonies."

What's the special magic secret that sets professionals apart from all the world's hopeful amateurs who strive to write songs? From pro after pro interviewed, the answers were the same: patient, unrelenting, agonizing, hard work.

"Plain, sheer sweat," said Jimmy Van Heusen, a four-time Oscar winner. "Staring at blank paper, walking the floor, lying down, taking the manuscript to bed."

John Green—four Oscars, eight other nominations—spent "one year and seven months, working seven days a week around the clock, adapting the musical score of "Oliver!" His work day is from 5 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. "That's the way to get it done."

Henry Mancini "stewed over" his 1961 Oscar winner, "Moon River," for weeks before finally writing the notes in less than an hour. Six hundred artists have recorded it. Andy Williams' album has sold three million copies.

Said Jimmy McHugh, whose melodies include "I Can't Give You Anything But Love" and "On the Sunny Side of the Street": "It's 10 per cent inspiration and 90 per cent perspiration. I got the shingles 15 years ago, trying to write a hit."

The first music was primitive man's voice, clapping hands and stamping feet. The first movie music was an upright piano tinkling tenderly or galloping furiously beneath the silent screen, sometimes augmented by rope yanks that sounded cymbals, gongs and drums. The plusher houses later installed orchestras.

The talkies brought a demand for "scorers," composer-orchestrators of background music to enhance scenic mood. Sometimes it works by contrast. A phonograph playing a soft love song can be a more powerful accompaniment to murder than thunderous, offscreen minor chords. Instead of a full orchestra, there may be a single instrument—like the zither in "The Third Man."

Sound effects, too, increasingly replace music. Crickets and other night noises can most effectively suggest menace.

Film composers are an assorted lot, hermits and mixers, daily toilers and deadline hustlers.

Surprisingly, only 35 to 50 composers and lyricists regularly earn a living creating Hollywood movie and television music. For some the living is most handsome. Men like composer-canductor, Mancini, lyricist Johnny Mercer, composed Van Heusen and Lyricist Sammy Cahn are millionaires-plus.

And that's not mentioning the Rodgers and Hammersteins, the Cole Porters, the George Gershwins or Tin Pan Alley's Johnny Marks. His "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" has returned more than $3 million in sheet music and 47 million records, five million of them Gene Autry's. Even bigger sales for Irving Berlin's all-time champion "White Christmas" include 61 million Bing Crosby records.

But for every songsmith who makes it big, an industry executive says, a thousand don't.

"Everybody in the world is a songwriter," he adds. "We get letters every day asking, 'How do I present my song to a record company? Who's an agent?' Some fall into the hands of small, unscrupulous companies who'll orchestrate a song, make a demonstration record, charge $300 and forget it."

A trend in film music is modern sounds by young performers: Donovan, Bob Dylan, Dionne Warwick, Nancy Sinatra. And to contemporary backgrounds by young composers: Simon and Garfunkel voicing Dustin Hoffman's moody feelings in "The Graduate."

Poet-singer-composer Rod McKuen has scored three movies, will score "The Salzburg Connection" and "Myra Breckinridge" for Fox and meanwhile is preparing his first TV special.

The newcomers, indeed, are putting many oldtimers out of business. So is a trend of several years for scorers to write movie songs as well as mood music.

A hit song can add millions to a movie's revenue. A 1957 Debbie Reynolds film, "Tammy and the Bachelor," was failing at the box office. Then Debbie's recording of the Livingston-Evans title tune, "Tammy," swept the nation's disc-jockey programs. It outsold albums of Eddie Fisher, then her husband and the hottest singer on records. Producer Ross Hunter attributes half of the picture's ultimate $8 million gross to the song.

Several movie companies now tap this rich revenue through recording subsidiaries. Album jackets sell films from record-store windows. Disc jockeys mention a film when they play its music.

Let's meet now some creators of the melodic harvest.

—A music recording stage. Henry ("Hank") Mancini is conducting the background music for his 130th movie. A tall man with balding foredome and lean, sensitive face.

He has three Oscars plus six past nominations.

A scene from "Me, Natalie" flashes on the screen silently, with no sound track. A vertical white bar crosses from left to right—Mancini's signal to begin. He waves his baton gracefully, a cigar in his left hand. Patty Duke and James Farantino are expressions. Cellos converse with violins. Mancini halts the recording.

"Play it an octave higher," he tells the piano. "It has to be very ethereal." The Mancini touch. The musicians play it over, then listen to the playback. Mancini, puffing his cigar, seems satisfied.

—Sammy Cahn, 55, prolific lyricist born Samuel Cohen on New York's lower East Side. He writes many of the words Sinatra sings: "Five Minutes More," "Day by Day," "Call Me Irresponsible," "All the Way," "Hey, Jealous Lover."

Wiry, balding, Cahn shows you the study, lined with Oscars, gold records, plaques and other awards, where he writes his lyrics on an electric typewriter.

"Songwriting is an adventure,' he claims. "I don't write a song as much as a song writes me. I follow its lead. I feel like the listener."

Moon Walk Rehearsal Is Smooth

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Two American astronauts Friday walked through 2½ hours of chores they'll perform on the moon's surface in July. Officials said the dress rehearsal went "very smoothly."

Neil Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin wore their bulky pressure suits similar to those designed for the moon.

Site of the practice session was an indoor gravel pile, meant to simulate the barren surface of the moon.

Both astronauts walked with a stiff-legged gait and used awkward and jerky hand movements. Officials said the 120-pound pressure suit and life support back pack caused the abnormal movements.

Armstrong demonstrated setting up of a dish antenna. He will command the lunar landing flight and will be the first man to walk on the moon. After he pulled a lanyard, releasing a spring-loaded dish of wire mesh, Arnstrong ducked awkwardly to avoid the spring action.

Aldrin demonstrated a crane to be used to lower two experiments the landing mission will carry. The crane, carried in a side compartment of the lunar module, has one lanyard for lowering and raising the experiments and another to guide their descent.

Aldrin carried one experiment—a seismographic measuring device—away from the lunar module. He pulled pins from latches, then released a cable. The box sprang apart and unfolded into a series of panels.

The other experiment—a laser beam reflector—was uncovered by Armstrong, who aimed it toward a point on the ceiling simulating the moon's view of the earth.

Plants At Plaza Wild Marijuana

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Assistant City Manager Dale Carter found weeds growing in front of the new civic plaza, and promptly called police.

The weeds were growing everywhere, and when officers arrived they found Carter and a custodian on their hands and knees pulling them up.

The weeds were wild marijuana.

The plants' identity was discovered by a teen-ager who works part-time for the city as part of a juvenile court sentence —for possession of marijuana.

Boiler Room Clean Enough To Eat In

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — At a meeting of the National Coal Institute, an executive of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. said boiler rooms at Reynolds, which burn coal, are clean enough to eat in.

Someone suggested a test, and a banquet—complete with lighted candles, flowers, and even a crystal chandelier—was held recently in the boiler room of a Reynolds plant.

Forty members of the North Carolina Coal Institute and a few Reynolds executives dined on shrimp chow mein, tamales, baked ham served from silver trays by waiters in white coats.

The diners agreed there was more noise and heat than in their homes—but that the surroundings certainly were clean.

PRESENT PROGRAM — The 6th grade West Elementary students of Mrs. Jamie Boren (second from right) presented a program on the use of the newspaper in the classroom and the effect of communicative arts on the world of today and tomorrow. The program was held in the 9th grade classroom of Mrs. Wilma Stone (left) at Travis Junior High Thursday morning. Students, from left to right, are Jerry Day (6th grade), George Johnson (9th grade), Joe Adams (9th grade) and Ruth Ann Fagin (6th grade).

Gaps Closed By Communications

People of the world are closer today and can understand each other better in the world of tomorrow because of progress in the communicative arts.

That was the idea behind a program presented by the 6th grade Communicative Arts pupils of Mrs. Jamie Boren of West Elementary. They presented the program Thursday in the 9th grade classroom of Mrs. Wilma Stone at Travis Junior High.

A huge roll of paper contained pictures and drawings that were used by the 6th graders as visual aids to the story they told. One student unrolled the paper as others described the uses and impact of the newspaper, radio and television on daily life.

The two teachers — Mrs. Boren and Mrs. Stone — will be speakers on the program at the annual "Living Textbook Conference" that will be held June 8-10 at the University of Texas at Arlington. Both are experienced communicative arts teachers who use the communications media as aids in their classrooms.

Mrs. Stone will speak at 10:15 a.m. Tuesday, June 10, on "Speaking and Communicating." Mrs. Boren will speak at 11:15 a.m. on "Unlimited Possibilities" Both have attended the Confereince several times. It is sponsored by the Fort Worth Star Telegram. Its purpose is to introduce to participants the many possibilities of enriching the classroom instructional program through the use of the daily newspaper. Mrs. Stone also will participate in a sectional discussion on the nse of the newspaper in Junior High School about 3 p.m. Tuesday, June 10.

The program begins Sunday with registration at 4 p.m. at the student union building on the Arlington campus. Dr. Allen J. Herndon, director of teacher education at UofT. Arlington, will direct the conference and introduce the keynote speaker — Dr. Harry H. Ransom, chancellor of the University of Texas.

A tour of the facilities of the Ft. Worth Star Telegram also is on the agenda.

Central Florida's rich mineral beds, discovered accidentally by boar hunters in 1881, yield 28 million tons of phosphate rock annually — 70 per cent of United States and 30 per cent of world need.

Rural Water Projects Increasing

Nearly 852 rural Scurry County residents are now benefiting from community water and - or sewer systems financed by the Farmers Home Administration, according to Charles H. Henderson County Supervisor.

"Lack of clean, fresh water and proper sewage disposal facilities is an age - old problem not yet solved in many Texas rural communities however, our rural water and sewer financing program is helping to close the gap between rural and urban utility services," says Henderson.

Texas now has in operation 466 rural water systems and 11 rural sewer projects financed by the Farmers Home Administration. These systems serve over 257,000 rural and small town residents. There are 93 water and - or sewer projects under construction which, when completed, will serve an additional 53,000 rural people.

Banks, insurance companies, and other private lenders loaned about 90 per cent of the funds used in this program last fiscal year. The Farmers Home Administration insures repayment to private lenders and makes direct loans when private sources of credit are not available to applicants.

Henderson pointed out that rural water and sewer projects are organized through local initiative of prospective users in the community. Loans are repaid from the earnings of the systems during periods of up to 40 years.

For 11 months, 1948-49, Allied airmen working around the clock brought more than 2,300,000 tons of food and supplies to blockaded West Berlin. Some 275,000 trips were made.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

Miss Lain awards a Mercury portable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to Mrs. William Kenison, Phoenix, Ariz., for her suggestion:

Can you de-fuzz the apprenticeship picture? Here are some basic questions I think many young people would like to know:

Q — How many opportunities are there in apprenticeship?

A — Apprenticeship is a formal system of training for skilled crafts or trades. Some 228,000 apprentices are registered with the U.S. Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training in about 350 occupations, ranging from accessories mechanic to zinc etcher. Forecasters estimate there will be four million new and repacement openings for well-trained skilled workers by 1975 (from a 1965 base).

Q — How long must an applicant wait for an opening?

A — Could be as long as a year, but is usually between two and six months.

Q — Do you have to know somebody?

A — Some degree of nepotism and discrimination still exists in the selection of apprentices in some crafts, but there are plenty of others with an open-door policy. The trade's selections committee evaluates each applicant's age, health, educational achievement, physical dexterity, learning potential and various other factors.

Q — How much education is needed?

A — Depends on the trade, usually the minimum of a high school diploma or equivalent. Among trades which may not require a high school education are cement finisher, plasterer, carpenter, roofer and millwright.

Q — How old do you have to be?

A — The span is generally 18 to 26, although some trades trades start at 16 (auto mechanics) and close at 40 (roofers). Most allow two extra years for military service, and are reluctant to accept men classified as 1-A.

Q — How long does it take?

A — An average four years of 8000 hours, though some require as little as two years or 4000 hours. Others may take five years or 10,000 hours. Besides getting paid for working, apprentices get paid for attending classes taught by journeymen instructors in the trade subject. The classes are usually 144 hours a year throughout the apprenticeship.

Q — How much is the pay?

A — Varies from 25-80 per cent (average about 50 per cent) of the journeyman's wages in the beginning, with increases of about 5 per cent every six-months of satisfactory progress.

Q — Where can more information be obtained?

A — If you would like a one-page resource sheet with suggestions of how to find out more about apprenticeships, send me, in care of this newspaper, a stamped, self-addressed, long white envelope and 10 cents for handling costs.

Q — Is apprenticeship a good deal?

A — Apprenticeship affords a well rounded training usually covering all phases of the craft, giving you a marketable skill you'll have all your life. However, some trades are subject to seasonal work and layoffs, and in others automation is making inroads. There are pro's and con's. Much like a chubby friend of mine who insists she is underheight not overweight, whether apprenticeship is for you depends on your point of view.

USDA Buys Less Milk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department bought nearly 2.5 million pounds less milk last year in its program to help boost prices paid to dairy farmers.

A revised report on dairy purchases for the marketing year ended March 31 showed the Commodity Credit Corp. bought 4.6 million pounds of milk equivalent, compared with 7 billion in 1967-68.

Officials said purchase costs last year totaled about $300 million compared with $395 million for 1967-68.

The department said the reduced buying was due mainly to 1.4 per cent less domestic milk production and reduced imports of dairy products—from 2.1 billion pounds in 1967-68 to 1.7 billion last marketing year.

Road Deaths Totaled

AUSTIN (AP)— Texas traffic accidents have killed 837 persons this year, down 2 per cent from the 850 traffic fatalities at this time last year, state police reported Saturday. Fatal accidents total 682, compared with 705.
