Germany to Lose Benefits of U. S. Reciprocal Tariffs

REDUCTIONS FOR THAT COUNTRY TO CEASE OCTOBER 15

Discriminations on Imports Is the Cause

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—It was learned today that Germany, on October 15th, will lose all United States tariff reductions in reciprocal trade pacts because of asserted persistent and flagrant discriminations against American imports there.

The termination of the tariff benefits, attributed to the State Department, was interpreted as instituting a new American foreign trade policy.

It was learned that Secretary Hull had notified German Ambassador Luther that all German imports into the United States after October 15th must pay the highest prevailing duty rates. Portugal, Denmark and Italy have been "on warning" for the same reason since July.

CCC COMMANDER FOR DISTRICT IS ROTARY SPEAKER

Major Reams, district commander of CCC ramps, with headqoarters at Lubbock, addressed the Rotary club here today, outlining the administration of the camps as handled by the United States army.

He explained that the enrollees are in charge of the army for administration only, and for the working hours of the day are in charge of the technical service to which they are attached.

Twelve camps are now in his district, with likelihood that three others will be organized. The youths now are at work on either park service projects or soil conservation.

He paid tribute to the service done the youths themselves through the orderly contacts of the camps and to the relief given the families to whom $23 per enrollee is sent each month. He also spoke of the vast improvements in park projects and in soil conservation work as a result of the organizations.

Mayor M. C. Ulmer and President J. Howard Hodge of the Lions club were guests of the Rotary club.

MITCHELL NAMED PUBLIC WEIGHER

Appointment of Fred Mitchell as public weigher of precinct number one, Midland county, was made September 10 by James V. Allred, it was learned today when County Judge E. H. Barron received the official document of commission.

R. B. Stanford, secretary of state, attested to the signature of Governor Allred.

SNYDER OFFICERS FIND GREEN, WIFE

SNYDER, Sept. 12.—Scurry county officers are expected to return Thursday from Spearman, bringing with them Mr. and Mrs. J. W. (Wade) Green to face charges of kidnaping in Snyder. They are also to return Juanita Green, five-year-old daughter of Green by a former marriage to her grandparents, Sheriff and Mrs. S. H. Newman.

The officers, a deputy and a constable, left Snyder at 11 a. m. Wednesday for Spearman, where Mr. and Mrs. Green were arrested shortly before midnight Tuesday. Sheriff Newman filed the complaint against the Greens after the little girl had disappeared from the home of Green's parents, wheer she had been taken to dinner Tuesday by her father.

According to Newman, Juanita's mother, Mrs. Effie Green, was awarded custody of the child when the couple was divorced two years ago. Mrs. Green, who is working in Albuquerque, N. M., left the child with her parents.

Green, accompanied by his present wife, arrived at Snyder Tuesday from Montana and took Juanita to his parent's home after securing special permission from Newman, but failed to return her, said Newman. Green, after his divorce, married a Butte, Montana, woman.

Newman said he had been informed that Green intended to take the girl to Europe.

Deputy Sheriff Bruton and Constable Albert Smith went to Spearman to return the Greens and the little girl here. Sheriff Newman did not go.

Tommies Off to Troubled Mediterranean

They were to join garrisons at Malta and Aden.

War Could Not Aid the U. S.

No war between foreign nations in their present poor financial state would be likely to be a boon to American trade. John T. Flynn clearly showed that to be true yesterday in the first of two articles written for The Reporter-Telegram. In his second article today, this famous writer on economic topics turns a revealing light directly upon the threatened Italo-Ethiopian conflict, and answers the frequent query of business men and others who wonder if this immediately probable war would be of any trade benefit to the United States.

By JOHN T. FLYNN

(Copyright, 1935, NEA Service, Inc.)

From a war between Italy and Ethiopia this country can expect nothing in the way of trade gains, even if all barriers against war traffic were thrown down.

Such a war, though it may be long drawn out, will be a small affair. It cannot possibly generate enough business to interest those who think of war as a commercial episode. The Great War gave us a boom. But it cost the combatants 180 billion dollars. But this one, if we got all of the business which Italy and Ethiopia have to give, would hardly put an extra ship to work.

First of all, there are some things Italy will not be in the market for at all. She will not, for instance, be in the market for food. Mussolini has pressed hard his fascist policy of national self-sufficiency. He has been urging the expansion of grain and food crops. In 1925-26 Italy imported 18,507 quintals of wheat. In 1933-34 she imported only 2356 quintals. In fact, with her rye crop and other foods, she could, in a war, get along without importing any. There will be nothing in this war for the American farmer.

Has Store of Iron

Italy does need cotton, metals, coal. Cotton ranks first among her imports. In war she would need more cotton since it is an important factor in manufacturing high explosives. She would possibly want to buy more cotton. But if she did she would have to buy less of something else, since her purchasing power in the world market is limited. But of course we have no right to assume that she would buy this extra cotton from us. If she did it would not be a very great deal.

She would need metals. But she has been accumulating iron for some time in expectation of war. Her purchases of scrap metal from us—and presumably from others—has been increased during the last six months. Mussolini is said to have claimed that he has sufficient iron and steel in hand to meet the needs of his African adventure.

As for coal—the dictator has sought to increase Italy's coal production and supplement it with substitute fuel—hydro-electric power and petroleum. But he still must have coal. We could undoubtedly sell him some, and he would buy from other countries. He has, in fact, already laid up immense stores.

But all these commodities would not be immense. Italy buys from us about 60 to 64 million dollars of goods a year. In the last six months this buying has not been speeded up, though it has changed character a little. What would happen in the event of war is that Italy would buy but very little more from us, but would make its purchases of those goods most needed for the war and buy less of those goods which make up the bulk of her peace-time purchases.

But if she were to double her purchases it would not amount to a great deal. Last year she bought from us $64,000,000 of products. This means that each Italian is good for $1.45 of buying from us in a year, compared with $5.40 from every Belgian, $6 from every Hollander and more from each Englishman.

Italy Not Good Risk

Italy cannot buy more from us or any country because she cannot sell more. The balance of trade has been persistently against her. In 1928 she sold 16 billion lire of goods abroad. In 1934 it was only a little over 5 billion. She has had to cut her own purchases, therefore. And even then the balance remains heavily against her. She has had to pay the differences in gold. Thus her central bank gold reserves have dropped from 7,100 million lire to 5,800 million lire last year. She dare not drain off more of her gold. Her currency, as it is, is already in constant danger. She has sustained a heavy loss in her invisible imports—chiefly tourists' expenditures and remittances from immigrants. She cannot buy from us in larger quantities because she has not the goods to pay for her purchases.

It is inconceivable that we will sell her on credit. She simply is not a good risk. This is not said in any spirit of antagonism. I am simply trying to make a plain business report on her financial standing.

Her budget has been continuously out of balance since 1930. For four years she has had deficits ranging from three to six billion lire. This year it will be two billion, according to her finance minister. It will probably be more, and this does not include the costs of the Ethiopian enterprise.

Mussolini cannot balance his budget save by cutting expenses or increasing taxes. He dare not cut expenditures. He keeps afloat by his large payments to labor, unemployed, subsidies to industry, etc. If he were to cut them his economic system would collapse. Instead of cutting he proposes to increase them by making war.

Debt a 150 Billion

He is expanding expenditures. He cannot tax sufficiently. Can he borrow? The external debt is small for the simple reason that Mussolini has repudiated it. But the internal debt is enormous. In 1930 it was 88 billion lire. Now it is 150 billion lire. It has increased at an average of nearly 3 1/2 billions of lire a year. It will doubtless increase at least as much this year. The interest on it is a staggering sum for the poor Italian.

As a matter of fact, the debt is larger than this—perhaps 50 per cent larger. The government has guaranteed the bonds of the Public Utility Institute and of the Credit Consortium, which along with certain other deferred payments makes the debt at least 152 billion lire.

Will any American buy Italian bonds? Even if they could be

BIG SPRING RODEO WILL OPEN TODAY

BIG SPRING, Sept 12.—Ten gallon hats began to steadily increase in number Wednesday as time for opening of the second annual Cowboy Reunion Thursday 2 p. m. neared.

A few of the leading West Texas amateur rodeo performers arrived Wednesday, their favorite roping horses bobbing behind their cars in special trailers. They were eager to take a chance at winning part of the fat $1,800 cash prizes purse offered by the rodeo management over the three-day period.

First official portion of the program will be a parade through downtown Big Spring starting 1 p. m. from the south side of the courthouse, Jess Slaughter, president announced.

Calf roping will be the first event on docket. This feature will be followed by trick horse exhibition, bulldogging, follows. Then steer riding is held, after which comes wild cow milking. Last on the regular program is a steer to cart contest, a rollicking event.

Friday morning eliminations in the cutting horse contest will be held. Saturday afternoon as a concluding of the semi-final performance, the cutting horse contest will be held with eight horses entered.

Same order of events will prevail in both the afternoon and evening performances. The afternoon program starts daily at 2 o'clock and the evening show at 8:30 o'clock.

Bud Spillsbury and hi "educated" horse, "Nuisance," were in town Wednesday rehearsing for their exhibition stunt. John Lindsey, veteran rodeo clown, and his fun-making companion, "Hoover," a stubborn mule were on their way here Wednesday.

Ideal weather was predicted for the opening day Thursday and officials predicted good crowds despite a postponement from last week because of incessant rain.

Friday afternoon school children under 12 years of age will be admitted free to the show, the management announced.

Ample parking space to care for tremendous crowds has been staked out and will be patrolled by Boy Scouts.

Plenty of grandstand and bleacher seats are available at popular prices.

Long Funeral Services Will Be Held In Baton Rouge This Afternoon

INVESTIGATION OF CONSPIRACY TALK WILL BE STARTED

State Offices Closed As Funeral Hour Approaches

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 12, (AP).—Leaders of thousands of Huey Long followers planned to bury him this afternoon and then to determine whether he was assassinated as the result of a ronspiracy.

Reverend Gerald Smith, head of the share-the-wealth clubs, was chosen to deliver the funeral address.

Louisiana state offices were closed as the funeral hour neared but the political front is obviously upset.

Strategy supporters and opponents of Long had not divulged plans but a strong fight is forecast. One source indicated that Governor Talmadge of Georgia might be asked by share-the-wealth groups to run for President next year.

It was announced that the thrice postponed inquest into the death of Dr. Carl Weiss, Jr., slayer of Long, would be resumed Monday. Names of witnesses to be called have not been revealed.

DIES IN THE HOME OF OIL MILLIONAIRE HENRY ROGERS JR.

Tragedy Comes Soon After Drinking, Party

DOWNTOWN, Pa., Sept. 12, (AP).—Evelyn Hoey, 25, a blonde torch singer of Broadway, Paris and London was found shot to death today at the farm home of Henry Rogers, Junior, 29, son of the late Standard Oil multi-millionaire.

Rogers was brought here and technically charged as being suspected of murder. Police said that there had been drinking and that the tragedy followed a party.

The death of the girl was first reported as suicide. Rogers said that he was in an argument with the girl but that she went upstairs alone. "We heard a shot and when we ran upstairs we found her lying on the floor," he told polict.

The bullet entered the left side of the head, passing through, and embedded itself in the wall.

Frank Catano, Rogers chauffeur, who reported the death, said that Rogers told him that he (Rogers) was on the first floor at the time of the shooting.

William J. Kelly, New Jersey married man, was held as a material witness.

Miss Hoey had been a guest on the farm for a week.

MERCHANT BEATEN; SHOT TO DEATH BY YOUTHFUL BANDIT

LOUISE, Texas, Sept. 12, (AP).—Anton Bednar, 57-year-old Wharton county merchant, was shot and beaten to death with a wire-stretching tool Wednesday at his little country store, near here.

James W. Adams, 18, who lived in the pine timebrs about two miles from Bednar's store, was jailed in Wharton on a murder charge after assertedly admitting that he shot and beat Bednar in an attempt to obtain hidden money which rumors said Bednar had cached in his store.

"For 30 days I'd been planning it," officers quoted Adams as saying when they arrested him, his clothing drenched with blood, in a woodland near his house.

"You know where I got the idea—from Scarface. I saw him in the movies."

Little Millie Bednar, 10-year-old daughter of Bednar, who lived with her father, ran screaming to the front of the store today when she heard her father's outcries.

"I saw my father stagger out into the yard just a minute or two after a booming sound," the child told State Highway Patrolman Sam Hilburn and Deputy Sheriff Anton Reitz. "He went around in a kind of a circle like he was trying to keep on his feet. I began crying.

"Then papa fell down on the ground and blood was coming from his leg and down over his face. He called to me and said, 'Honey, I'm—' then he said some more but I couldn't understand." She asserted Adams forced her to re-enter the store and bring him his hat and a .410 gauge shotgun, which had been used to wound Bednar in the leg, prior to the slugging. Adams then walked calmly away without lingering to hunt for the cached treasure, the child said.

ADVANCE IN AIR AMAZING

An interesting glimpse at the amazing progress of aviation in the last quarter century came during the recent National Air Races in Cleveland, when it was recalled that exactly 25 years had elapsed since Glenn Curtiss made a "sensational" flight of 64 miles over Lake Erie to win a prize of $5000.

Curtiss flew from Cedar Point, O., to a landing field on the lake shore just east of Cleveland. Some 300,000 people lined the lake front to watch. He covered the 64 miles in 78 minutes, thereby setting a new world's record for overwater flights. The next day he turned around and flew back.

On the 25th anniversary of that flight, Ben Howard flew from Los Angeles to Cleveland in eight hours and 33 minutes, covering a distance of slightly more than 2000 miles for a prize of $4500.

By contrasting those flights, and by recalling that Curtiss' flight in 1910 made much more of a stir than Howard's flight in 1935, you can gauge the unparalleled development aviation has made in 25 years.

Instead of complaining to the police about the neighboring nudists, that New Jersey farmer might have got them to help him shock his grain.

Now that it appears Uncle Sam may cease recognizing them, maybe the Russians were a bit hasty with their recent anti-beard campaign.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

If we didn't live in Texas we wouldn't believe that there could be as sudden contrasts in weather as in the sultry heat of a few days ago and the chill that makes a light coat feel good these mornings.

One of life's minor irritations: waiting for an over-due dress pattern to arrive when one's dressmaker is preparing to leave town. Add to above: discovering a run in one's best pair of hose; finding that one hasn't a fresh powder puff; writing a letter which must be mailed at once and finding that there are no stamps in the house.

Lobbies are much in the public mind just now and Rodney Dutcher says that there is a lobby at Washington for nearly everybody. These include lobbies for the deaf, for pedestrians, trees, birth control, Indians, enemies of chain stores, for vegetarians and others.

The Washington correspondent names a woman, Miss Dorothy Detzer, as the most effective lobbyist for peace in the capital. Miss Detzer is a member of the Women's International League and even the Big Navy and American Legion lobbyists with whom she crosses blades call her "a dangerous woman".

Probably few people know that it was her lobbying which was chiefly responsible for the exciting Senate Munitions investigation.

All of which reminds us of the French saying, "Look for the woman".

Some one takes issue with us because we insist that lively conversation and laughter should be served regularly along with food at all meals. One comes to the table to eat, says this practical soul.

We admit that. But food is only half as satisfying if eaten in an atmosphere of glum silence where every person watches his plate.

We heartily endorse the theory of the Midland woman who said that "Eating is a social occasion".

Fine Arts Club Initiates Year With Luncheon

The Fine Arts club initiated the new year with its annual luncheon held in the private diningroom of the Hotel Scharbauer Wednesday at noon.

Yearbooks were distributed.

Miss Lydie G. Watson, president, was in charge of the meeting.

It was decided to petition the City Council to hire a man to care for the parks.

Ways and means of beautifying the parks were discussed.

Roll call was answered by 15 members with gifts of flower seeds.

Mr. O. H. Palm of El Paso will speak on growing flowers to cut, Sept. 26 at a time and place to be announced.

Penitas Claims to Be Texas' Oldest Town

McALLEN, Texas, —(AP).Penitas, a village 14 miles southwest of here, is the oldest town in Texas, living descendants of the first settlers assert. The town is said to have been established between 1523 and 1530, the exact date not being fixed. McAllen historians have requested $1,000 from the historical bureau of the Texas Centennial Commission for marking Penitas with a suitable monument.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

Politics are going haywire everywhere. Kentucky elected a man named Chandler as governor. He was opposed by a man named Rhea who was backed by the present Gov. Laffoon. The Lafoons own some fine race horses, but I haven't been able to find in any of Tom Nance's sale catalogues where a thoroughbred is listed under the name of Albert (Happy) Chandler. Let's hope I'm wrong.

A pastor at Miles, Texas, has offered to hire out as a nudist for the colony planned at the Centennial. As I remember it, Miles is down in the creek and bank country.

If you've been out to see the race horse paddock at the fair grounds, and didn't find the paddock, look over on the north side of the grandstand, but don't say anything.

Poor Dr. Weiss! Whether he drew the black bean in a death ring or not, he met his fate without leaving a picture that would print well in a newspaper.

That Big Spring rodeo, by holding off a week, got a portion of the world's best weather.

I hope plenty of Midland people will attend that Cowboy Reunion today, Friday and Saturday—afternoon or nights—because it will be a jam-up good rodeo and we want Big Spring folks to reciprocate by coming over to our Fair.

Note to staff members of this paper: Capitalize the word "Fair" when applied to Midland Fair.

I suppose it's needless to say that I clipped this next item, but it's customary among clippers, just to distinguish them from chislers:

An old country boy was about to take a trip and he bought a ticket and inquired as to the price of a sleeping berth.

"Upper or lower?" asked the agent.

"What's the difference?"

"A difference of 50 cents. Besides, the lower is higher than the upper. The higher price is for the lower. If you want it lower you'll have to go higher. We sell the upper lower than the lower. In other words, the higher the lower. Most people don't like the upper, although it is lower on account of its being higher. When you occupy an upper you have to get up to go to bed, and get down to get up. You can have the lower if you pay higher. The upper is lower than the lower because it is higher. If you are willing to go higher it will be lower."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get DOAN'S PILLS.

Four Are Injured in St. Louis Gunfight

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 12. (AP).—A volley of two dozen pistol shots reverberated through the St. Louis city hall and across an adjacent plaza Wednesday afternoon, leaving two politicians and two policemen wounded, in the first violent outbreak of a long-smoldering political feud here.

The wounded, none critically hurt, were State Representative Lawrence J. Fontana of St. Louis, City Market Master James O. Stubbs and Jonathan Painter and Arthur Sullivan, policemen.

Fontana, Stubbs, Recorder of Deeds John P. English, in whose office the shooting started, and Gregory Moore, his chief deputy, were detained by police for questioning.

Police said they had the following written statement from Stubbs.

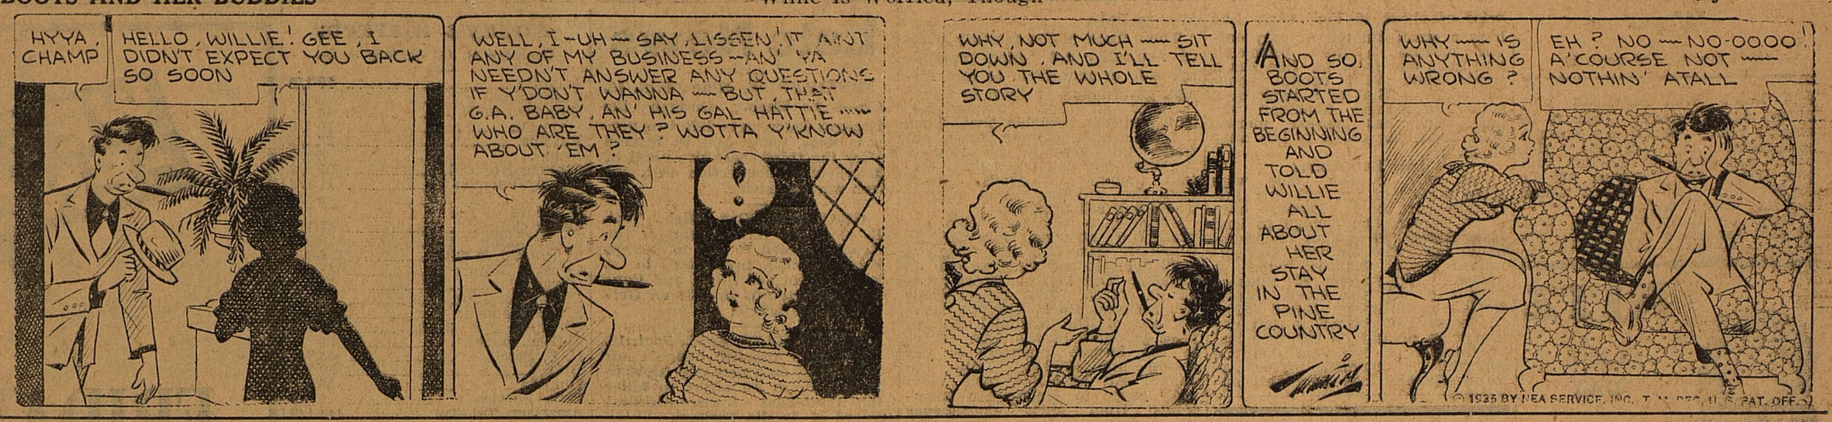

"Tuesday during a municipal bond election English and three of his henchmen went to Fontana's precinct, held a gun against him and threatened to kill him. Wednesday I went with Fontana and two of his friends to the Recorder's office to ask English what it was all about.

"When I asked the question Moore began shooting. I pulled my pistol and started shooting, too."

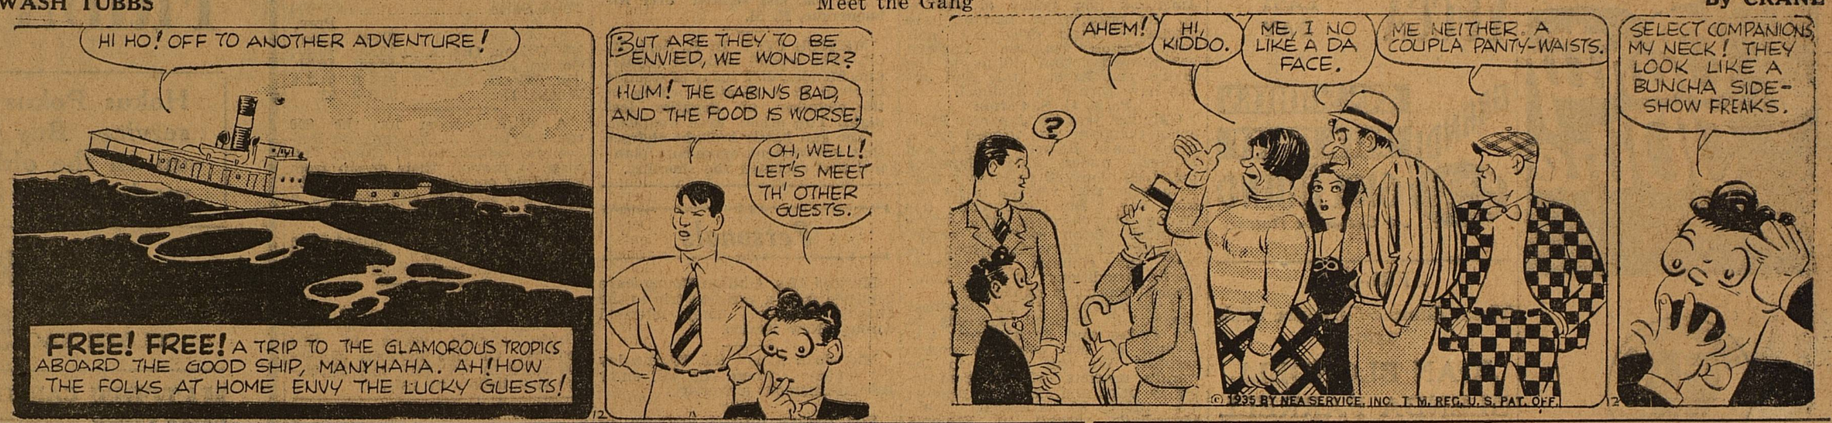

A rift in the city administration developed early in the spring over Mayor Dickman's unsuccessful attempt to hold a majority on the city aldermanic board. Wholesale dismissal of city employees followed but a truce had been agreed upon for Tuesday's election, which authorized a $7,500,000 bond issue for the construction of a memorial to Thomas Jefferson on the Mississippi river front here.

Eleventh street, New York City, extends from the North river to the East river without crossing Broadway. The Fourth avenue buildings associated with Grace Church stand in the way of its crossing the "main stem."

sold here? Will American producers extend credit? Italy is in arrears right now on her current settlements in London. Her bonds are down in London and New York. She owes us $2,042,000,000, plus some interest which she has waived aside.

What of Ethiopia? Last year we sold her goods which equal the price of about 40 Ford cars. She buys a small amount of grey cotton sheeting, a little petroleum and little else from us. She has a single bank with capital about the same as that of a bank in a single prosperous American village. She has neither money, gold, goods nor credit to buy anything.

Law Bars Loans

But even if the trade were there we could not get any important part of it. Because even if we were foolish enough to lend Italy money, we cannot under existing law. The Johnson Act, approved April 13, 1934, makes it unlawful for anyone in America to buy or sell the bonds of any foreign government issued after the passage of the act if that nation is in default on the principal or interest of any sum due the American government. The Attorney-General has held this applies to Italy.

Then there is the recently passed neutrality act which prohibits the sale of munitions to any foreign government engaged in war.

Under all these circumstances it is entirely probable that, when the declaration of war comes, our trade will actually be injured. Because Italy can buy only a certain amount of goods abroad. And she will buy from nations which will sell munitions.

There is a phase to this approaching struggle, however, in which we have a stake, though it is difficult to see what we can do about it. Our biggest export product is cotton. That export trade has suffered these last two years because of the artificial rise in price produced by the AAA. Three of the largest importers of our cotton are England, Italy and Japan. All have for some years been eager to emancipate themselves from their dependency on American cotton. But with America's new policy of driving up the price, these nations have intensified their drive for their own cotton supplies. England has pressed cotton culture in the Sudan and Egypt. Italy and Japan have turned to Ethiopia.

Perils U. S. Cotton

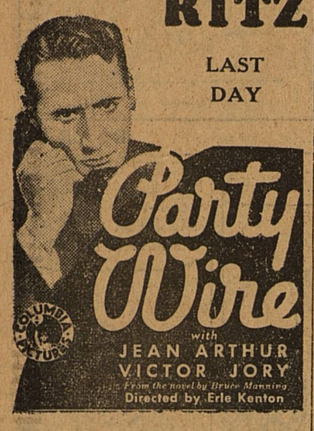

Only last year the Japanese Ethiopian Company was formed and a treaty made between Japan and Ethiopia under which Japenese would be admitted to grow cotton. How large that venture is no one can say. But Mussolini has among his objectives the establishment of an extensive cotton industry in Ethiopia where, he feels, the climatic and atmospheric conditions of our semi-tropical south are duplicated.

If he succeeds, if the Japanese succeed, if England succeeds in the Sudan and Egypt, what will become of our southern cotton surplus? We can see it in the world's markets only by competing in price and never by pegging the price at artificial levels. Mussolini's success in Ethiopia does, therefore, pose a problem for us which wise statesmanship will begin to think about now.

In ancient China, political prisoners sometimes were put to death by being wrapped in a fresh rhinoceros skin. The skin contracted as it dried and crushed the victim.

Liquor Ads Won't Be Prohibited in Texas

AUSTIN, Sept. 12, (AP).—Attorney General McCraw said Wednesday he would not prepare an opinion on the legality of newspaper advertising of liquors until the close of the special session of the legislature.

"I think it would be silly to prevent Texas newspapers from carrying advertisements of liquors in view of the fact that every news stand is loaded with magazines from the east full of liquor ads," he said.

Did you know that according to actual survey that 60% of the way any mechanical work is done and the finish it has when work is completed depends upon the tools that are used and the working condition they are in? The other 40% is in the workman that uses the tool. No man can make a job finish up as it should without good tools and equipment. Our different departments are equipped with the best of tools and then there are experienced men to use them; therefore, our work is bound to please; our men do not cuss their tools—they work with them!

Actual survey also shows that the man with poor tools to work with does 20% less work in the same time that the man with good tools will do; hence, you pay more. Why? Is it because you have never figured this out for yourself, or is it prestige? Well, at any rate you are entitled to what you pay for. But this can grow to be a big item—think it over—then save the difference.
