Rainfall Is General Over Westex Area

Heavy Hail Reported With Showers North Of Here

Rains, averaging about half a inch, fell over most of Howard county and surrounding area Friday morning to benefit farm and ranch lands.

Hail in Borden Co.
The U. S. experiment farm gauge showed .25 inches with .30 of that falling during the night in a hard shower. Some hail accompanied the brisk downpour here at 4 a. m.

In the Knott area rains amounted to half an inch. Heavy hail accompanied the showers in Borden county where three-fourths of an inch fell. This condition was general to the northern edge of Howard county.

In Dawson county the rain ranged from three-quarters to 1.2 inches. Farms there were greatly benefited by the precipitation.

Glasscock county, with the exception of a portion in the west half, was missed by the heavier showers. The gauge in Garden City showed only .10 of an inch to noon Friday.

Small grain crops in the area were again aided by the moisture, although there was plenty of snowing in the ground to carry them over for more than a month, yet farm lands, just now cleared of last year's bumper crops, were in good condition to receive the rain.

Ranges benefited as much as any of the lands since they have been hardest hit by successive drouths since 1932. It was assumed that winter weeds would have sufficient moisture for an early growth, and grasses and cured weeds would have enough sap or moisture to make them vastly better grazing. Too, the second year of prolific rescue grass (more popularly known in this area as wild oats) was helped by the rain.

Says Upturn May Be Rapid

Recovery May Be Too Swift, Biggers Tells Group

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—John D. Bigger, unemployment census chief, told senate investigators today the "real problem" faced by this country today was in the possibility that recovery from the present business slump might be too rapid.

The Toledo, Ohio, industrialist said he looked for a rather sharp resumption of business activity soon.

Testifying before the senate unemployment committee, Bigger asserted that excessive inventories, which he said contributed to the business decline, were being consumed rapidly.

"The real problem now is to be sure the rebound from this depression, if it is supplemented by artificial means, isn't too rapid," he declared, agreeing with Chairman Byrnes (D-S.C.) that "business might go to the other extreme."

Biggers, president of the Liberty-Owens, Ford Glass company, said many factors contributed to the business decline.

World conditions, he said, played a part as well as the sharp curtailment of government spending in 1937.

Among other factors, he listed the change in federal reserve requirements, stock-market margin increases, the stabilization of gold, President Roosevelt's announcement last spring that some prices were too high, and strikes.

The fear of a shortage of materials brought up by strikes and increasing prices built up inventories to a high point, he testified. Fear of a return of the conditions that followed the 1929 crash prompted business to "make a rather quick application of brakes," Biggers said, in an effort to clear up an unsound situation.

Terracing Demand Bigger Than Agent Can Accommodate

Demand for terracing on Howard county farms is exceeding the speed with which County Agent O. F. Griffin and two crew members can stake out terrace and contour lines.

More requests came in for terracing this week than the agent and his men were able to meet. With 76 farms asking terrace and contour lines, Griffin and aides have been able to cover but 32 farms. The past week lines were completed on nine farms and started on a tenth.

Actual terracing may start early in February under an arrangement with the county whereby road machinery will throw up the ditches at a cost of $2 an hour or about 4¢ a mile.

Many Crimes Revealed By Anders As Bodies Of Kidnap Victims Found

MOST OF ROSS RANSOM SUM RECOVERED

ST. PAUL, Jan. 21 (AP)—An amazing story of kidnappings, slayings and bank robberies attributed to Peter Anders, surly, warlike former lumberjack, was related today after recovery of the bodies of Charles S. Ross, abducted Chicago manufacturer, and James Atwood Gray, from a cave deep in the northern Wisconsin woods.

Whisking Anders back to St. Paul after a tortuous two-day foray into the frozen fastness of Minnesota and Wisconsin, J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, said virtually all of the $50,000 ransom paid in vain for Ross' release had been recovered.

The 30-year-old one-time logger in the Pacific Northwest detailed each of numerous crimes in a confession covering thousands of words, said Hoover, adding that Anders had slain his accomplice, Gray, during an argument.

Kidnaping, Robberies
The FBI chief said Anders had confessed kidnaping John Borcia and his wife, Olivia, of Chicago, and robbing one Minnesota and three Wisconsin banks. The Borcias were released without payment of ransom.

When arrested Friday at Santa Anita racetrack near Los Angeles, Anders possessed about $14,000 of the ransom money, Hoover said. An additional $30,000 was found hidden in Minnesota. Anders said $3,000 to $6,000 of the balance was stolen from his car in New York City.

The bodies of Ross and Gray, the latter nude, were found just before dark yesterday in a small, brush concealed cave in a desolate section about 12 miles northwest of Spooner, Wis. Hoover said the killer slew Gray first and then shot the 72-year-old kidnap victim.

Anders chained the bodies in the vault-like burial place and then covered them with brush and debris, said the federal chief.

Detailing the search for ransom loot and the bodies, Hoover said the trail led beyond St. Cloud, Minn., about 70 miles north of here. In a wooded region near Emily, Minn., Hoover said the prisoner led federal agents to a dugout where Ross was confined immediately after his kidnaping Sept. 25 and then to a brush heap where $30,000 of the ransom money was found in a portable typewriter case.

Then the federal men drove to Superior, Wis., arriving there at 1 a. m. yesterday and departing at 1 p. m. See RANSOM, Page 8, Col. 3

HOUSING PROBLEM TOPIC OF PARLEY

Lumber dealers and the chamber of commerce housing committee were in joint conference Friday afternoon seeking some means of encouraging construction of new homes to alleviate an acute housing shortage here.

Several minor conferences to this end this week preceded the general discussions of Friday. Merle J. Stewart, secretary-treasurer of the local savings and loan association, was to make a report of a conference with FHA officials in Fort Worth last week.

Longer Hours For Senate

Night Sessions To Be Called To Halt Lynch Filibuster

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Democratic Leader Barkley served notice in the senate today he would call for night sessions beginning Monday in an effort to break the filibuster against the anti-lynching bill.

Barkley did not urge the senate either to pass or reject the anti-lynching measure, merely declaring he wanted it out of the way.

Despite his statements, the filibuster went on.

Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.) started a speech against the measure with the assertion he was willing to speak "30 days or 60 days or longer" to "defeat this unthinkable, un-American and undemocratic piece of legislation."

Agreement on the administration's housing bill by a senate-house committee meanwhile, broke the three-week deadlock that has held up congressional approval of measures passed at the recent special session.

The conference committee eliminated a senate amendment to require payment of prevailing wages for construction of homes financed under the program.

Senator Lodge (R-Mass.), author of the amendment, said he would try to reinstate it when the senate votes on approving the compromise bill.

Administration supporters have expressed hope the measure will go far toward reviving the lagging construction industry.

Conferees on the farm bill, reported they had settled most of the troublesome issues. They hope to get the legislation on the statute books by February 1.

STATE TRIES A NEW PLAN ON CURBING OIL

AUSTIN, Jan. 21 (AP)—The nation's largest oil-producing state set sail today on an uncharted conversation course—that of shutting down its 79,000 wells each Sunday.

The Texas railroad commission yesterday ordered statewide Sunday closing from now until March 1 in a drastic move to halt the rise in stocks of gasoline. Commissioners voiced confidence most other major oil states likewise would make sharp cuts in their production.

Since the current Texas allowable is around 1,415,000 barrels per day, Sunday shutdowns will effect a cut of more than 200,000 barrels in average daily production, and put Texas output about 10 per cent below that recommended by the United States bureau of mines.

Some Exceptions
There will be exceptions to Sunday closing. Some wells must flow on Sundays so their residue gas may continue supplying warmth to residents of the oil fields. These will be closed some other day of the week. Other wells cannot be shut in without being killed or damaged. These will reduce their daily flow one-seventh. Railroad commission representatives will cooperate with operators in formulating a feasible program.

Believed an important contributing cause to the Sunday closing order was the peculiar situation in the East Texas field. Many engineers feel daily production there should be held below 450,000 barrels to protect bottomhole pressures. The field has nearly 25,000 wells, however, and some lawyers contend the daily allowable of none can be reduced below 20 barrels because of Texas' marginal well law.

The commission imposed Sunday shutdowns in East Texas alone the last two weeks in November and the first two in December. The field's operators protested, maintaining the six-day producing week either should be lifted or extended over the entire state.

Jap Govt. For Chinese Areas

New Regime For Conquered Territory Being Planned

By the Associated Press
Japan maneuvered today for more complete control of conquered Chinese territory, France centralized control of her armed forces in an unusual peacetime move and Spain again was a proving ground for modern warplanes.

A Japanese "Lawrence of Manchuria"—Lieut. Gen. Kenji Doihara, whose undercover work is credited with paving the way for Japan's conquest of Manchuria and invasion of China proper—was said by Chinese sources at Shanghai to be forming a new regime to govern the Shanghai and Nanking areas.

In conquered Nanking Japanese authorities were taking over the activities of the international relief committee which a spokesman said was considered "a semi-official Chinese government organ." The committee is made up of American missionaries and German businessmen. The committee has been caring for 250,000 refugees in Nanking.

"The Chinese government, struggling against the Japanese invasion on at least three fronts, disclosed in Hankow that 40 of its high officers, half of them division commanders, had been punished by courts-martial in the last six months—eight with death.

Diplomatic quarters in Paris said France would ask Tokyo for a report on an attempted landing of Japanese marines on the strategic Chinese island of Hainan, commanding the sea approach to northern French Indo-China. A foreign office spokesman said he believed the Japanese were only trying to get water. Heavy Chinese fire blocked them.

No Definite Figures Are Established

President Says Parleys With Business Men Progressing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Leading automobile manufacturers announced after a White House conference today they were in "heartly agreement" with President Roosevelt's principles regarding installment selling of automobiles.

Hopes for Increase
However, Alvan Macauley, president of the Automobile Manufacturers association, said installment buying properly used had and would continue to help millions of families raise their standard of living and also that it had helped and would continue to help increase employment.

Macauley, spokesman for the group that included manufacturers and automobile finance company heads, said all concurred in his statement. He said the group told the president they were "hopeful a seasonal increase in sales in the spring will bring an improvement in business."

Prior to the meeting with the automobile magnates, Mr. Roosevelt had told his press conference he believed his meetings with business men were progressing satisfactorily and clearing the atmosphere of "misunderstanding."

The president disclosed to reporters that he was seeking to evolve a plan whereby private groups could get together and exchange information among themselves. The aim, he said, was to do this without enactment of new legislation.

Motor Men To Meet
Macauley said the automobile men would meet among themselves to try to work out some conclusions about regularizing employment and discouraging high pressure selling.

"High pressuring customers of permitting their desires to take them into debt beyond their means," said Macauley, the president of the Packard Motor company, "is bad business all around."

Macauley said no definite credit figures were mentioned at today's conference.

"We had a broad discussion of the factors affecting business and government," said Macauley, dictating from a pencilled memorandum prepared by the conferees beforehand, "and we believe it was very helpful."

Beside Macauley were conferring at the White House today were Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor company; William S. Knudsen, president of the General Motors corporation; and K. T. Keller, president, and B. E. Hutchinson, vice-president of the Chrysler corporation.

Also present were several finance company heads.

IN 'HIGH, WIDE AND HANDSOME'

Randolph Scott is after action, in this scene from "High, Wide and Handsome," a unique film production which deals with the building of the American frontier in musical comedy fashion, and which is offered at the Ritz Friday and Saturday. Star of the film is Irene Dunne.

Carole Lombard, Fred McMurray In Farce Comedy, 'True Confession,' At The Ritz Sunday And Monday

'Way over on the screwball side of film comedies is a new one starring Carole Lombard and Fred McMurray, "True Confession," which comes to the Ritz theatre Saturday midnight and Sunday Monday. These two players have appeared together in several popular numbers, but in the latest opus they go in more for laughs than for love.

Miss Lombard, by the way, has made a name as being just about the best of current Hollywood comedienne. "True Confessions" has been handed plenty of orchids by reviewers and public alike.

John Barrymore has the chief supporting role, one that has won him laurels, too. Others in the play are Una Merkel, Edgar Kennedy, Lyne Overman, Porter Hall, Fritz Field, John T. Murray, Richard Carle and Tommy Dugan.

In the film, Miss Lombard and MacMurray play the parts of a struggling young lawyer and his wife, constantly at swords' ends because of the conflict between Miss Lombard's inborn habit of lying and MacMurray's love for truth.

Implicated by circumstantial evidence, Miss Lombard finds herself accused of a murder, of which she is entirely innocent. MacMurray does not believe her story, and forces her to "confess" that she killed in self-defense. On this plea, he gets Miss Lombard an acquittal.

Barrymore steps into the scene, in the role of an eccentric delirious whose brother-in-law actually committed the murder, and who tries to blackmail Miss Lombard by threatening to tell MacMurray that she lied to him in her "confession" unless she buys him off.

The film winds up with the most hilarious combination of comedy elements to reach the screen in a long, long while, with Miss Lombard finally realizing that under no conditions is she ever to lie to her husband again.

Wes Ferrell Sets Pace In Tourney

SARASOTA, Fla., Jan. 21 (UP)—Baseball's leading golfers entered the last half of a 36-hole qualifying test for their annual championship tournament today with Wesley Ferrell in front with a one over par 72.

He was a stroke up on Lloyd Brown, Cleveland hurler, and two ahead of Jack Russell, former Washington, Boston and Detroit chucker.

Paul Wamer, Pittsburgh outfielder, pre-tournament favorite, trailed with a 75.

Failure to get a good score today would mean a loss of $1,000 for Dizzy Dean, who said he had wagered that amount against $20,000 he would win the tournament. He had a 78 yesterday.

Tarzan Film At The Queen

Glenn Morris, Eleanor Holm Have Leading Roles In Play

That famous figure of the jungles returns to the screen.

He's Tarzan, of course, in another stirring film tale of battling tribes, fighting animals, and similar African adventure, "Tarzan's Revenge," booked for Sunday and Monday showing at the Queen, with a midnight preview Saturday night.

Principals in the cast is one Olympic champion, and another who might have been an Olympic champion but for certain events on the ship headed for Europe. The former is Glenn Morris, a healthy specimen newcomer to films. The latter is attractive Eleanor Holm, water's "glamour" girl.

In the 1936 Olympic games, Morris won the 10-unit decathlon event. He demonstrates his physical prowess as the king of the jungle, in swinging among the treetops, fighting his animal enemies, exhorting with his animal friends. Miss Holm is given opportunity, too, to demonstrate her abilities as a swimmer.

Others in the cast are George Barbier, C. Henry Gordon and Hedda Hopper.

As the story opens a safari of white travelers, bent on securing rare animal specimens, plunges into the depths of the jungle, and it is here that Miss Holm first becomes acquainted with Tarzan.

Their friendship ripens as Tarzan stealthily follows in the treetops to protect the safari from attacks by his wild companions of the jungle. The story reaches a climax of thrilling activity when the girl is kidnapped by warriors of the native chieftain.

Fish Story With Proof

VULCAN, Alta. (UP)—Three fishermen here can prove their fish story by a photograph. They had hooked a 19 1/2 pound pike at Lake McGregor. When they were hauling it into the boat, a 29 1/2 pound fish swallowed their first catch—and was successfully landed.

IN WESTERN DRAMA AT THE LYRIC

Dick Foran, handsome hero of the westerns, has a new leading lady for his new film, "Prairie Thunder." She is Ellen Clancy, shown with him here in a scene from the picture which shows Friday and Saturday at the Lyric.

Proclamation On FD's Birthday Is Issued By Allred

AUSTIN, Jan. 21 (UP)—Texans were urged today by Governor James V. Allred to support President Roosevelt's birthday celebration Jan. 20 for benefit of the foundation for infantile paralysis.

In a proclamation he said: "The foundation for infantile paralysis provides for the first time a national organization to lead, direct and unify the fight on a disease which is annually crippling, killing and maiming thousands of our beloved children."

"I dedicate and set aside Saturday, Jan. 20, to be observed by all patriotic Texans as the president's birthday anniversary, such observance to be evidenced by support of the president's birthday celebration throughout the state in aid of the foundation and its fight on infantile paralysis."

ATTACK REFUSED

PARIS, Jan. 21 (UP)—The repulse of an insurgent attempt to attack Barcelona from the air for the third successive day was reported today in Spanish government dispatches from that city.

H. F. Taylor returned this morning from a business trip to Phoenix, Arizona.

Musicomedy Booked At The Ritz

Irene Dunne Starred In 'High, Wide And Handsome'

Those who enjoyed Irene Dunne's work in last weekend's popular comedy, "The Awful Truth,"—and who didn't?—probably will want to go back to the Ritz this Friday and Saturday to see that comely young woman in "High, Wide and Handsome." Not a comedy like the picture of last weekend, the new picture gives Miss Dunne a different sort of role.

"High, Wide and Handsome" is a stirring tale of American life in the 19th century, set to music.

Playing opposite Miss Dunne is Randolph Scott, and the cast includes Dorothy Lamour, Elizabeth Patterson, Raymond Walburn, Charles Bickford, Alan Hale, Akim Tamiroff, William Frawley, Ben Blue and Lucian Littlefield.

The love story is that of Scott and Miss Dunne, who are a determined Pennsylvania farmer and a gay and beautiful carnival singer. They meet, fall in love at once, and are married just before all is discovered on Scott's farm.

In his excitement over the exploitation of his find, Scott neglects his bride, whose disappointment at the outcome of her marriage, added to her lack of sympathy with the quiet life of the farm, causes her to run away, back to the glamor and turbulent life of the carnival.

As Scott becomes more involved in the running of his new business, and has a run-in with rich interests which threaten his enterprise and even his life, his wife learns of his danger. At once she realizes that her love for the man who had ignored her is more powerful than the allure of carnival existence; and in a thrilling climax she rushes back to his arms.

This romance with its hectic tortures of struggle of the farmers who want to make their discovery available to the world against the outside interests which threaten the project, is supported by the haunting melodies of the Kern score, which is closely woven into all the film.

There is tremendous excitement in the historical tale of the farmers driven to battle in their attempt to lay a pipe line from their farms to the refineries in the East. Several of the most thrilling fight scenes ever filmed take place between these men, armed with picks and crowbars, against teamsters brandishing blacksnake whips, and the battle royal in which a circus troupe joins forces with the farmers is a standout among fight sequences.

'OLD PETE' JOINS IMMORTALS

Grover Cleveland Alexander's chest ought to be out in this picture, but it seems to have slipped downward. Justification for the price is that "Old Pete" has joined other baseball immortals in the game's hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y. He's now 51 and lives in Springfield, Ill.

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit, Life, Truth, Love, combine as one—and are the Scriptural names for God. THE SPORTS PARADE

By HANK HART

Reviewing the fatigues action and the boys who will supply that action as contestants in the Herald-Cosden Golden Gloves boxing tournament tonight at the municipal auditorium:

The setting for the athletic activities this evening could not be better and the men that have been picked to put on the show could hardly be improved on. The boxing field in this section promises to be fertile if the promotion experiences any degree of success tonight. Thanks to RAY SIMMONS, who has devoted most of his time over the past two weeks in arranging for equipment, boxers and an attendance, the thing has been put on right.

The ring at the auditorium has been placed at a point where all the action can clearly be seen from any seat in the house. Best place to be, it seems, other than at the ringside will be in the balcony where the fighters can be looked down upon. The mat on the ring's floor is thicker than a wrestling mat. Two hurling sacks between the canvas covering is all the protection afforded over the hard surface. Working the average match will be far more helpful than the average fan would imagine. Two referees, four seconds, a timekeeper and two judges will be required. In case the two judges agree on the result of the fight, the referee need not cast his vote but he is given the power to decide the winner in case the judges disagree.

The department wishes to bring attention once again to the generous services TRAINER EARL SCOTT, KID WHITTINGTON and ROY STILE have given during the last three or four weeks of the local training periods. SCOTT has led the classes every night and has given the boys excellent instructions. WHITTINGTON and STILE have willingly donned the gloves with any and all hopefuls and allowed their proteges to bang away at will without wincing.

The local crop as a whole has been enthusiastic about the venture. There have been a few withdrawals, as expected, but as a whole the boys have kept at it with determination and a will to win.

Highlights and sidelights of the boys in training sessions here: O. E. "RED" CUNNINGHAM, realizing that he won't have much competition, has worked out but twice and is in good condition. Weighing 180 pounds, Red keeps that way by working on the road. MARVIN DAUGHTERY, 173 pounds, hails from Knott. Displays willingness that makes up for lack of ring work. A farmer boy who may be brought into Big Spring to play football. J. C. WALLACE, 160, will probably be looking at the championship of the middleweight division when this lad walks in tonight. Fast and rugged, he explodes those hands in a businesslike fashion that really spells trouble. He's already thinking about the national meeting at Chicago. He's scored over 50 knockouts in amateur circles already.

F. R. YANEZ, a Mexican middleweight, who may puzzle the middleweight contestants with his puzzling style. He's a boxer and, if he wins, he'll probably win by decision. OWEN BRUMMETT, a Big Spring high school footballer, who has one of the prettiest builds in the local meeting. He's a welter and he punches with reckless abandon. O. T. TEAGUE, here's another lad which the training camp hasn't seen much of. He donned the gloves with RED WOMACK last week and was patted badly but he came back for more and may make trouble. He's a feather.

Johnny Owens, 126 pounds, a fighter schooled in the fundamentals of the game. He's a football graduate. A battler who knows his left hands, he'll not get licked by one tonight. Shows a beautiful punch that may carry him through. RED WOMACK, 115-pounder, is the most aggressive fighter in action here. A punching fool, he wades in to win or lose. He uses both fists effectively and never seems to tire. He may be tickled for Fort Worth. ELLIS READ, a lightweight, has been sick but he's on his feet and ready to go. Displays marvelous balance and good timing. Looks like the champion.

J. C. LYNN, a feather who may have to slip into the lightweight ranks. He's having difficulty in scaling down. Has shown vast improvement over the past two weeks. CLARENCE SHEPHERD, 143-pounder. Here's a boy who may surprise. Unorthodox, he's dangerous and has looked good lately. He traveled on courage at first and now has something to go with it. JAMES HALLSLEY, lightweight, drew a nice left hand that is worth watching. He trains easily and stays in condition. DAN GREENWOOD, lightweight, is short and stocky and may be hard to hit. He's in good shape and may be difficult to handle.

POPEYE CHUZ, a lightweight, is colorful and looks the part of a two-fisted battler. Whether he can fight is another question. His clowning tactics may ruin him. J. W. CREW, a lightweight, is quiet and silent. He never says a word. Just goes along and allows his fists to do the talking, which may be good enough. YANEZ

CONTESTANTS ALL SET FOR GG PRELIMS TONIGHT

Tangye, Carr File Late Notices

Cold Weather Will Add To Comfort Of Fans Attending

Colder weather, accompanied by rain, which visited Big Spring and vicinity early Friday night may hurt the dust sale of the Herald-Cosden Golden Gloves boxing tournament, ticketed for the municipal auditorium at 7:30 o'clock tonight, but the threatening weather should actually help the conditions of the indoor arena.

Promoter Ray Simmons, although he realized that he cannot expect as large a "gate" as he ordinarily would have had, gave assurance that the patrons would be far more comfortable than they would have been had the warm weather continued.

Neither did the rain dampen the enthusiasm of the young boxers who have entered the local meeting. From Midland, Lamesa, Ackerly, Knott, Kermit, Wickett and McCamey they are expected to pour into town this afternoon for the official "weighing-in."

Along with some 20 or 25 local entrants, who went through their first round of the Fort Worth district starts Jan. 21, with entries from Tarrant, Wise, Johnson, Hood, Jack, Cooke, Bosque, Hill, Denton, Palo Pinto, Montague, Somervell, McLennan, Grayson, Collins and Fannin counties eligible.

Districts represented were Tyler, Lubbock, Amarillo, Brownwood, Pampa, Wichita Falls, Dallas, Houston, Galveston, Big Spring, Austin, Temple, Fort Worth.

First round of the Fort Worth district starts Jan. 21, with entries from Tarrant, Wise, Johnson, Hood, Jack, Cooke, Bosque, Hill, Denton, Palo Pinto, Montague, Somervell, McLennan, Grayson, Collins and Fannin counties eligible.

last drill with Trainer Earl Scott last night in the Crawford training quarters, some 40 or more boys are expected to take part in Big Spring's first boxing tournament.

All the local entrants have been pronounced in good condition. Willie Harrell, welter, withdrew Thursday night due to illness that has kept him out of training but all the others are ready to go.

Late entries received Thursday afternoon were from Benny Tangye, a 167-pounder, from Kermit, and "Red" Carr, a flyweight listing Midland as his home. Both will be on hand for the prelims.

Word was received from Fort Bliss, El Paso, that that camp would send representatives here for the second night next Wednesday.

Contestants will be privileged to weigh in any time during the day since some of the boys may have difficulty in qualifying for their divisions.

Officials Appointed
Fight seconds appointed by Promoter Ray Simmons Thursday were Fritz Wehner, Frank Owen, Kid Whittington and Earl Scott. Wehner and Owens will work together as will Whittington and Scott.

Bob Shires will referee all the matches while Pepper Martin and Beecher Walker have been appointed as the fight judges.

Fans who are on hand tonight will be privileged to see at least 15 bouts, it is believed. All bouts will be limited to three rounds and all rounds will be over the two minute route with a minute's rest between each round.

Due to the fact that contestants who live in other communities will arrive later than usual on account of rain, patings will not be made until after the weighing in, Simmons announced.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Clarence H. Rowland of the Chicago Cubs wouldn't say what it was, but he emphasized today that the Cubs' best bid for Van Lingle Mungo of Brooklyn "never has been publicly announced."

The Dodgers announced recently that the Cubs had offered $75,000 plus Roy Collins, Lonnie Frey, Clyde Shoun and Joe Marty for the Brooklyn pitching ace.

YANEZ, 111-pounder, shows speed and aggressiveness that should put him over in this limited field. His father was a fighter and taught him the fundamentals he needs.

H. T. CANNING, is fighting in the bantam ranks. He works long hours and hasn't been able to train with the boys but says he'll be ready. TONY GARCIA, 118 pounds, may be the No. 1 man here. A flash with either hand, he's a threat each time he lifts a finger. Hard to put down and harder to keep there. WILFRED GRAY, 118 pounds, is another small man that may square through. He fought around here several years ago and is depending on his ring knowledge to carry him over. It may, at that.

40 Teams Are Expected In NIA Tourney

Meeting-Outgrowth Of Sectional Attraction In '37

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 21 (AP)—The committees have been named, qualifying requirements determined and other administrative details arranged, so the first annual National Intercollegiate Basketball championship tournament to be held in Kansas City March 7-12 promises to be a huge success. In fact, all they need now is the teams.

The entry list is a minor worry, however. Emil S. Liston, Baker university athletic director who is chairman of the tournament committee, indicated today he expected approximately 40 teams to qualify, but as entry blanks will not be distributed until about Feb. 1, the present estimate is purely a guess.

The tournament is the outgrowth of a sectional meet here last year. The advisability of a national tournament for colleges, along the lines of the national AAU tournament, was discussed by the school officials, with the result that Liston was appointed chairman of an organization committee and authorized to select a board of management.

Only teams with outstanding season's records, winners of strong conference races, or sectional or state tournament winners may qualify. The tournament will be a one-game elimination affair, and Dr. James Nasmith of Lawrence, Kas., inventor of basketball, is offering a trophy for the winner.

Future Caddy May Have To Be Of Age

New York Seeking To Include Golf Aides In Labor Laws

By BILL BONI
NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—The golf of the future may have to be played by a caddy who is more than sixteen years old.

Led by the New York state department of labor, various states are seeking to include caddying among the types of employment barred to minors sixteen or under. Leaders of the opposition are Morton L. Bogue and Charles W. Littlefield of New York, past and present general counsel to the United States Golf association.

A revision of the New York state labor statutes, substituting the phrase "performance of service" for "occupation for gain" in the list of unlawful employment for minors not holding employment certificates, affected caddying.

It is believed that child welfare legislation should be directed primarily at harmful employment. Bogue said today. "Naturally, there should be restrictions against having youngsters work in plants or places where they are subjected to a harmful environment."

"But after all, a boy who totes my golf bag this afternoon—don't forget that the 14-club rule has made it lighter tomorrow morning—probably will be carrying his own and playing golf at the same time. Furthermore, caddying is no more arduous and just as healthful as working on a farm—and farm work is exempted under the present law."

The federal government and 47 of the 48 states—New York excepted—do not require clubs to include caddies when filling unemployment census and social security figures, and thus do not regard them as employees.

Smith Favored In Pasadena Open Tourney

Sammy Snead Will Be Hard To Take Out, Runnerup Back

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 21 (AP)—The $3,000 Pasadena open began today as around 250 leading professionals and ambitious amateurs started on the first round.

The tournament, with the purse guaranteed by wealthy Pasadena sportsmen and the profits dedicated to charity, was held over Brookside Park, a course lengthened to 6,500 yards and par a difficult 71.

Horton Smith, who won the last tournament with a 72-hole score of 278, five under par, was installed in one of the favorites' spots. Harry Cooper and Harold McDermott, also contenders, were the runners-up to lanky Horton two years ago, with 283.

Jimmy Thomson finished far out of the money in the previous Pasadena, but times have changed. Jimmy is no longer merely a long hitter.

Sammy Snead was a distinct threat today.

Other ranking contenders were Lawson Little, Olin Dutra, Henry Picard, Johnny Revolta, second to Thomson, and Willie Goggin.

The tournament ends Monday.

THEY'LL SEE ACTION TONIGHT

Here are some of the boys who will make Big Spring history tonight in the municipal auditorium as contestants in the Herald-Cosden Golden Gloves boxing tournament. In the top left photo are shown some of the middleweights and a heavyweight along with Trainer Earl Scott. Left to right, back row, are J. C. Wallace, middleweight; Scott, Clarence "Red" Cunningham, heavy; F. B. Yanez, middle; front row, left to right, are Owen Brummett, welter; Ernest Robinson; and J. Lane, bantam. In upper right, The Herald cameraman caught Wallace and Cunningham in fighting pose. The "third man" is Beecher Walker, veteran Washington scrapper, who will aid in judging the bouts tonight. Lower left photo finds Walker rattling out instructions to Ellis Read, center, and Johnny Owens, right, who gave each other a brief workout after the cameraman finished. Lower right photo is

YANKS' 1938 ROSTER LISTS 28 MEN

Pat Malone Is Missing, Three Others Gone

Saltzgraver, Lazzeri And Makusky Not With Club

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—Toppling of a neat job of spring house cleaning and refurbishing, the Yankees opened to the public today their 1938 roster—as compact a collection of dynamites as you'll find anywhere in the big leagues.

Listing only 28 players, it's the smallest Yankee lineup in years. In cleaning house, the world champions cut off Hubber Malone, the 1936 relief pitcher hero; Jackrabbit Jack Saltzgraver, infield utility man, and sophomore pitcher Frank Makusky.

Also missing is old Poosh "Em Opp Tony Lazzeri, now with the Chicago Cubs. Taking their places, the Yankees have brought up seven members of the "wonder team" of Newark Bears, the Yankee International League farm.

The roster shows 13 pitchers, four catchers, six infielders and five outfielders. The Yankees will have to cut only five players adrift to get down to the 25-player limit in May.

The pitching staff has the largest infusion of new blood, with five flinging hopefuls. Holdovers, of course, are the two 20-game 1937 stars, Lefty Gomez and Charley The Red Ruffing, along with Monte Pearson, Ivy Paul Andrews, Bump (Rabbit's Foot) Hadley, Johnny Murphy, and sophomore Joe Vance and Kemp Wicker.

Beggs Given Chance
Newcomers are Newark's two classicist elbowers, Joe Beggs, who won 21 and lost four last year, and young Alton Donald, who showed a record of 19 and two; Spud Chandler, who went great guns as a Yankee rookie early last season; Steve Sundra, a 15-game Newark winner, and Lee Stine, the ex-Cincinnati Reds and Chicago White Sox performer.

Along with Belting Bill Dickey, Joe Glenn and Arndt Jorgens, mudders' row has added young Buddy Rosar to the catching staff. A Class-AA rookie last season, Rosar batted .332 and may stick over Jorgens.

The outfield department is unchanged, with no newcomers and no faces missing. Joe Dimaggio and George Selkirk are sure of regular berths. The third spot will fall to the best from among Myrl Hoag, Jake Powell and Tommy Henrich.

In the inner defenses, Iron Man Gehrig at first, Red Rolfe at third and Frankie Crosetti at short are holdover first-stringers. Joe Gordon, up from Newark, has the job of filling Lazzeri's second base shoes. Don Heffner is back again and will stay as utility man, unless Dahlgren can take the job away from him.

(P.S. The roster shows also that Joseph V. McCarthy is still manager.)

Says Crisler To Coach At Michigan

Tad Weiman Slated To Go With Fritz From Princeton

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—Hunk Anderson, who went out into the cold with Harry Kipke, will get $200 more per year for line coaching at U. of Cincinnati than he did at Michigan. Van Mungo is professor at Joe Stripp's baseball school down in Orlando. As Jim Braddock moves out of Pompton Lakes today Joe Louis moves in. Dominick Lydon, the Irish heavyweight Ted Broadbent brought over, claims he is a second cousin to Gene Tunney. Well, he does resemble Gene—in the face.

The entire Jack Dempsey clan has transferred to Miami for the winter. Max Baer wired a New York paper his guess on the outcome of Farr and Braddock and signed the telegram "Poppa Max Baer." If ya Pop! Princeton has just about resigned itself to losing Fritz Crisler to Michigan along with Tad Weiman who turns out lines and howl. Farr is 5 to 1 over Braddock tonight.

Charleston, W. Va., is getting good and tired of seeing the Morris Harvey football team kicked around the gridiron and is making important support to the athletic program. Gibby Welch, former Pitt halfback, will get a law or two out of that one. Gibby signed up as coach and in his first season didn't win a game. He demanded the wherewithal with which to get himself some material. When told the college brass hats were satisfied with the way things were going, Gibby retorted: "Well, I'm not" and quit on the spot. P.S. 1938 needs are guards and tackles.

For help Manders will have in the backfield with him such players as Keith Moleworth, the former Galveston shortstop, who ran 98 yards to a touchdown in the exhibition game at Houston; Beattie Feathers, the famed All-American from Tennessee; and Sam Francis, who won many honors at Nebraska three years ago.

On Chicago's line are Capt. George Musso, the 256-pound guard who runs like a gazelle; Russell Thompson, a giant tackle from Nebraska; a fine pair of ends in Bill Karr and Dick Plasmann, and business forwards, the best in the pro business.

Baugh, of course, is the standout for Washington, but such men as Ernie Pinckert, Millner, Riley Smith, Cliff Batties, Turk Edwards and others, are equally as capable. Smith is the Redskins' answer to Manders in the extra point kicking department. A former star of Alabama, Smith kicked all four goals in the Chicago game and kicked both against the Pacific Coast All-Stars to give his team a one-point victory.

Out For Revenge
Both coaches, George Halas of the Bears and Ray Flaherty of the Redskins, are extremely anxious to win this game as neither wants to lose prestige. The Redskins are scheduled to play the college all-stars in Chicago next September and they are very desirous of scoring a victory. So are the Bears, for revenge if nothing else.

Both teams will pack plenty of weight in the game. The Bears average 224 pounds to the man on the line and 182 in the backfield. The Redskins average 214 in the line and 198 in the backfield.

Indications are that a crowd of 15,000 or more fans will be on hand for the game. Since it is the first time two pro teams have faced each other here, and since Baugh is in Washington's line-up, the game has attracted attention all over the state. Many fans are coming here from Fort Worth, Sweetwater and other points west. Tickets remain on sale at Marvin's Drugstore in the Baker Hotel and Room 1102 Adolphus.

Local Teams Drop Games To Coahoma

Independents Lose 32-28 Decision, Calves Fall

COAHOMA, Jan. 21—Big Spring basketball teams took a double licking here Thursday night. The Big Spring Independents, captained by Smitty Smith, fell, 32-28, at the hands of the Coahoma All-Stars after playing even-Stephen most of the way, while Ben Daniel's Calves dropped a close one to the Coahoma Bulldogs, 6-4.

The Independents, with J. W. Forrester leading the way, were tied with their opponents at half time, 16-16, but a sudden spurt after the rest period gave the Coahomans the decision.

In the Bulldogs-Calves battle the Big Spring quintet, after trailing, 4-0, at half time but field goals by Martin and Talbot deadlocked the score.

The Coahomans tallied in the last minute of play to win the game.

The Danielmen open their county league schedule next Monday in Moore.

Bears Should Be Stronger, White Is Due

Baylor Has Knocked Over SMU And Texas Without His Aid

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
DALLAS, Jan. 21 (AP)—Straight reports are that Rice Institute, expecting big things of its gridiron come the fall, will provide a stadium of some 35,000 capacity before the Gels open at home against Oklahoma. Definite plans should be announced within a week.

Cold fans at San Antonio, led by P. O'Connell, Ted Menefee and Lefty Stackhouse, are planning a state amateur pro tournament for the spring. Its past the "idea" stage now and should elicit. What will Baylor do when Wilson White, its best goal chucker, shakes his ailment and gets back into the starting five? The Golden Bears knocked over S. M. U. and Texas, two ranking teams, without him.

Roy (Beas) Bell, the St. Louis Brown slugger, is getting in shape for spring training trudging around the Willow Springs golf course at San Antonio. Carl Brasell, the Southwest conference's forgotten man, was the boy professional football scouts swamped after that Chicago Bear-All-Star game at Houston. The burly Baylor linebacker, one of the conference's first in 1937 backs in this writer's books, was the defensive bulwark of the collegian team.

Ferns Battle
Two of the nation's best girls' basketball teams, the Anicos of Galveston and the Tulsa Stenos, will collide three nights in succession—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—down at Galveston next week. And Raymound Shackleford, that six foot, nine inch center at West Texas Teachers, has roped exactly 216 points in 15 games to date.

To Corpus Christi High goes the palm for grabbing Harry Stittler, great little Smithville High coach. The ex-Aggie, never large enough to star in college football but recognized as one of the best line players ever to report for practice, rolled up a record of 55 games won, four lost two tied in his six years of coaching at Belleville and Smithville. His a.u.c.c.e.s.s.o.r. at Smithville, Clyde Goff, formerly of Hull-Daleseta, had a neat record himself. 37 games won, two lost and one tied out of 40 starts.

Acce Cagers
Where they come from, nobody knows, but West Texas State has a freshman basketball it is grooming for next season—one Dewey Johnson—who stretches six feet, three inches and who has scored 55 points in four games. Has the Simmons Cowboys have rolled up 24 successive wins on their home court. Haven't been defeated on their own hardwood since 1934.

Texas Christian has dropped its last 13 Southwest conference games. In fact, the Horned Frogs have won only five of their last 36 league games.

Battle Looming Twix Cub Aces

CHICAGO, Jan. 21 (AP)—There's a battle brewing in Chicago Cub ranks—and it isn't of the common contract variety.

With Owner P. K. Wrigley anticipating no holdout trouble over 1938 salaries, a somewhat unique position for most major league clubs at this time of the year. Cub fans are "anxious" what they believe will be a red hot fight between the veteran Jim "Rip" Collins and youthful Phil Cavarretta for the regular first base job.

Collins signed his 1938 contract yesterday and in a letter to a Chicago friend flings a challenge at Cavarretta, the Italian youngster named recently by Manager Charlie Grimm as the Cub's regular first sacker in 1938.

READING AND WRITING

"THE TYRANNY OF WORDS,"
by Stuart Chase (Macmillan; $2.50).

Probably the pedants will lash Stuart Chase around the ankles with their sharp little quills of tongues. Mr. Chase has just discovered the "science" of semantics, and is writing a popular account of same using himself for the whipping boy he needs.

Semantics is (if we are capable of reducing it to a sentence) the study of methods of communication with a view to bettering the contact of mind with mind. Chase is by no means a pioneer; years ago Alfred Korzybski's wife came into our office and spent an hour trying to tell in her very bad English about the book on this subject her husband had written. The book was difficult enough if summarized in good English; as it was, good Mrs. Korzybski got exactly nowhere.

But Chase is the pioneer in reducing Korzybski's unnecessarily complicated text to understandable English. His points are made simply; we talk with each other, but most of what we say and write is meaningless. This is because we are using meaningless symbols for most of our general terms. We must learn to substitute for these high-sounding but vague terms actual concrete meanings taken from demonstrable experience. Only when we have found these concrete terms (they are called "referents" by Mr. Chase and others) can we communicate efficiently with each other.

For example, we are accustomed to chatter about "fascism." Mr. Chase spent some time learning what meaning the term had for more than 100 persons—no two of the lot agreed. Therefore "fascism" means more than a hundred different things at least, probably more. Therefore when he has men shout "Down with fascism," or "Up with fascism," they actually mean nothing at all, or at best 100-odd somethings. No two of the cheering group are cheering the same thing!

This is a rough illustration which does no justice to Mr. Chase's "The Tyranny of Words." But if you read the book you at least will come out with understanding of what good journalists are trying to do without high-sounding rules. Mr. Chase and his ilk are really sailing

'Romance Of Radium' A Distinguished Feature At Ritzy

A distinguished short feature adds interest and value to the Ritzy theatre's program for today and Saturday. Produced by M-G-M, it is called "Romance of Radium" and deals ably, though briefly, with a fascinating subject. The film treats of the thrilling discovery and development of the rare chemical treasure regarded as one of the greatest booms to mankind.

The subject will be of particular interest to those who have recently read the story of the Curies which ran recently in the Saturday Evening Post. The film goes back to the original chance discovery of radium, the isolation and development of the substance by the Curies, and later activities to produce and perfect commercial quantities of the priceless chemical.

The film is narrated by Patsy Smith, known for his comical short subjects. This time even the ebullient Smith is awed to a proper state of reverence by the nature of his material.

The concluding sequence in which the priceless and dangerous substance of radium is photographed under hazardous circumstances offers dramatic suspense. Here's a film topic thoroughly educational and at the same time thoroughly fascinating.—B. W.

New Storms Show Need Of Extensive Soil Conservation

AMARILLO, Jan. 21 (AP)—The first dust storms of the year, causing considerable soil movement, proved the necessity for soil and moisture conservation practices on a wide scale, H. H. Fennell, director of the soil conservation service in the southern Great Plains, said today.

"The drifting soil, which, in the form of dust storms, is plaguing a large portion of the plains, area again, is coming from fields lacking in vegetative cover," Fennell said.

Conditions in the wind erosion area, comprised of parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico, were much improved over last year, a survey made on the 36 soil conservation service demonstration projects indicated, he said.

During the blowing season last year, more than 300,000 acres in these demonstration areas were subject to wind erosion damage. This year, only 100,000 acres were reported subject to erosion of this type.

Retail Trade Shows Continued Gains

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—Stimulated by new demand for winter merchandise, retail trade this week rose 1 to 4 per cent above last week and 2 to 3 per cent above a year ago at leading distribution centers throughout the nation, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

"Snow and cold weather pushed winter merchandise to the top of shoppers' lists," said the credit agency.

"Sales of apparel for southern resorts and ski outfits for northern playgrounds increased. House furnishings, furniture, and floor-coverings received more attention. In silverware and jewelry, emphasis was on the higher-priced offerings."

Wholesale trade was 3 to 10 per cent above last year, the agency said.

DON'T BULLY CONSTIPATION

If you suffer from common constipation, due to lack of bulk in the diet, harsh cathartics don't get at the cause of your trouble. You can avoid this kind of constipation by using Kellogg's All-Bran. This healthy cereal not only contains the intestinal tonic vitamin B, but also provides the bulk you need. It absorbs moisture...softens like a sponge into a water-soaked mass that encourages and aids natural elimination. Use Kellogg's All-Bran in muffins, or as a breakfast cereal. COURT APPOINTMENT
IS SATISFACTORY
With the passing of several days
without a cry of dissent, it appears that critics of the Roosevelt administration find no fault in the president's appointment of Stanley L.
Reed to the supreme court. There may be a senate hearing, but the fact that Mr. Reed received quick endorsement of a subcommittee
Thursday indicates that such a hearing would be only a gesture.
Confirmation of the appointment
seems assured.
The Kentuckian who since 1929
has been an important figure in politics, there is no scarcity of such
of President Hoover and since the beginning of the Roosevelt administration as solicitor general for the Department of Justice, is regarded as an able lawyer whose experience has provided him with the judicial temperament so desirable on the supreme bench. His position has made him automatically a defender
of all legislation called in question
before the Supreme Court, and he is marked as a liberal largely for that reason. It is an open question whether, as a member of the Court,
he would have approved legislation
which he defended so bravely as counsel for the government. In any event, it is conceded by most observers that his liberalism is of the type which has characterized the work of Messrs. Hughes, Brandeis, Cardozo and Stone, and will not degenerate into a partisan attitude toward the legislative activities of the present administration.
There is no doubt that President Roosevelt was especially careful in making this appointment, to select a man who would be readily acceptable from every standpoint. Fortunately, there is no scarcity of such men, despite the fact that as a usual rule only a few appear to be eligible for inclusion in any list of prospective appointees. The Supreme Court, after all, is not infallible. Each member of the Court must follow his own convictions in the discharge of his duties, and the often recurring lack of unanimity
in the Court's decisions is ample evidence of the fact that the justices do not always see the law or the facts from the same angle. Mr.
Reed, if confirmed as a member of the Court, undoubtedly will aid in preserving the fine traditions of

OF LIFE
By the Associated Press
OVERTIME
INDIANAPOLIS—Judge Frank
E. Baker was willing to give a suspended sentence to Louis Von-Kunkle, a mute itinerant artist, who had been in jail more than two months for carrying a gun without a permit, but that didn't suit Von-Kunkle.
He wanted to stay in jail, his interpreter told the court, until he could finish a portrait of Sheriff
Otto Ray, his jailer.
His wish was granted.
UNEXPECTED HELP
ST. LOUIS—C. F. Delante, street
car motorman, was unable to identify a suspect as the man who had robbed him.
So, related Deputy Sheriff Pelham Scott, the suspect, Herman Osterlich, spoke up.
"I was wearing the same clothes
now. Remember?"
Delante remembered. Osterlich
went to jail under $10,000 bond.

THE GROUSE DISCOVERS
A WHITE HOUSE HOLDING COMPANY
"If the president is not careful,"
said The Grouse, "he will be breaking up his own family."
"What do you mean?"
"All Holding Companies ought to go," he says, shaking back his hair and beaming. Just like that! Off with their heads! Off with the tail which is only four inches long and wags the whole dog!"
"Your metaphors are getting mixed, and what has it all got to do with the President's family?"
"I am prepared to maintain over the coffee," said The Grouse, "if you are prepared to listen, that The White House is a Parent Holding Company, representing a peculiarly pyramided structure, containing the most disparate elements, intimately affiliated with the Sixty American Families; a Family Holding Company, furthermore, which according to Gardner Means is peculiarly vicious. But it seems to be prospering so I don't know why the President wants to break it up."

"Whatever are you talking about?"
"I am," said The Grouse, "talking, as always, entirely for my own amusement. But a Holding Company, my child, is a device which Wicked Big Business thought up at the end of the last century as a means of accomplishing many things, one of them being not to let the left hand know what the right hand is doing; another being to distribute the risks; another being to make much out of life.
"Now take the Roosevelt family.
Take the President. The President is, in his own words, which are not mine, 'The Head of the Nation.'
He is also a gentleman farmer with an interest in two things—agriculture and large scale forestry, both of which are directly interested in the plans and programs of the Department of Agriculture which is an Operating Company of a Presidential Holding Company. As an agriculturist, a forester and a President, his interests partly dovetail
and partly compete, which, if I understand the philosophy, is extremely vicious."
"There's Jimmie. He is a little Operating Company all by himself and a Holding Company inside a Holding Company. The four-inch tail in this case is a ten-thousand dollar a year job as liaison officer
between his Parent and the Cabinet, and I could not prove it, but guess in that, what with this and that, the four-inch tail gives the chief velocity to his insurance business in which whether he is an officer or not, he has a direct or indirect control.
"Then there are Elliott, and Anna, and Franklin who are brilliant illustrations of the risks distribution idea. I look to me suspiciously like an interlocking directorate between the New Deal and the Economic Royalists, the Imperial Hearst—in whose success
Elliott and Anna have an interest;
Imperial du Pont—in whom Franklin Junior has an interest; and the White House.
"And, incidentally, Elliott, who heads up Mr. Hearst's radio system, is undoubtedly regarded by Mr. Hearst as a kind of Holding Company for his interests in the Federal Communications Commission. Elliott is also interested, I believe, in a Trade Association, a Richberg type of Holding Company, a Border-line case, where instead of financial control there is the price-conference type of 'community of interests.'"
"As for Eleanor, she is a whole Holding Company in one person,
and still affiliated with the top
company. In one slim person she combines a Press Syndicate, from time to time a radio program, a school, one time and possibly now
some manufacturing interests, an artist-sponsoring project, and a venture in publishing.
"But to continue," said The Grouse, "the Syndicate for which
Mrs. Roosevelt writes is a Holding Company.
"So you see that there is pyramided up under the White House
roof, interests in agriculture, publishing, radio, securities, and even,
I believe, in baking powder, through Mammy. All the operations enormously facilitated by the fact that they are all under the White House roof. Furthermore each Operating Company files a separate Income Tax return, and thus escapes what it would have to pay if, instead of being a Holding Company, it was a solid trust. And, according to Mr.
Lundberg's mathematics, they must represent an enormous amount of ownership."
"Who is Mr. Lundberg?"
"Mr. Lundberg is the author of Mr. Ickes' Protocol of the Elders of Zion. He estimates your fortune by multiplying your income by twenty."
"But that's nonsensical. That implies that if you have an income of 50,000 dollars a year you have a million dollars in the bank!"
"Sure, it's nonsensical. But who am I to challenge the figures of a book praised and quoted by an official of His Majesty's Government? But if you add up the income of each member of the Roosevelt family
and multiply the total by twenty,
they'll end in the class of the

EMPIRE FOR A LADY
BY ALAN LEMAY

Chapter Four
JAMES CLYDE, GUN-RUNNER
"Christie, Forrester and her brother are here for exactly the same reason we are," my uncle
said. "They're trying to take advantage of the revolt. Evidently they've cooked up some hare-brained scheme for getting rich. That's the trouble nowadays. Everybody thinks he has to get rich. Clean up quick and retire. That's all they think about. Nobody expects to just live along and work any more. Every last rattlebrain and his brother is out after some big killing."
"Well," I pointed out, "so are
you, sir."
"That's an entirely different matter!" my uncle growled at me. "Will
you keep to the point!"
It was not a different matter.
That my uncle was a gun-runner
was more easily explained than you might think. After the days of '49
many a youngster, arriving on the Pacific coast of America too late
for California's great golden boom, followed on into the sunset with
the ships of the China trade, hunting new and stranger bonanzas in place of those that had been missed. James Clyde was one of these.
And there was opportunity in Asiatic waters for that type of man. I can think of no time or place in which the wheel of fortune turned more swiftly, or where the acceptance of constant danger promised such rich rewards. A man in possession of a ship could search for a new avenue of trade
with the same kind of bright hope
a broken-down beach-comber sifts
the rubbish of native trash piles
for a priceless pearl. Either one might meet incredible wealth overnight.
Yet that sort of thing was the least of it. The very map itself was uncertain then, remade from month to month and from week to week. In those vast, scarcely charted seas European nations
claimed vast spheres of influence,
especially the British, the Dutch,
and the Spanish—without knowing what such spheres contained.
The great flags wandered half lost among countless little-known islands. Whole groups and chains of these islands were under the dominion of native rajahs, both technically and in fact. Maps showed non-existent European strongholds
where not even a trader dared attempt a landing, and a good half of the islands were not on the map
at all.
Where European flags meant little, the nearest thing to trade necessity—or even to the base possibility of trade—was the friendship of individual rajahs. This was gained by first beating them off
when they came at you as pirates,
and then by helping the rajahs in their own private wars by selling
the munitions. Once the friendship of a rajah was gained, it naturally
was to the advantage of the trader
to make that rajah as strong as possible—by means of more arms.
An Advantageous Deal
Hence the gun-runner. Technically he was without legal standing he had no place in international law. But in seas in which the lonely traders fought their own battles, without benefit of warships,
the gun-runner was as sound a man
as a country blacksmith; as necessary as wheat. The traders were forever appealing to British, Dutch,
or Spanish squadrons, but few warships ever came, and those that came left with their task undone.
Outlaw though he might be called,
the gun-runner commanded those
hot shallow seas.
James Clyde was a good one. He knew such ropes as were known,
years before I joined him. He no longer searched out his contraband
cargoes; they were eagerly urged upon him through many channels.
A hundred rajahs respected his name; 100 traders would have valued a partnership with James Clyde above any other thing.
In this case my uncle had rigged
for himself an unusually advantageous deal. Sumatanga is an island, but it is big. Its sultan, who ruled from the capital of Sarenba,
was far away. The rajah of Ballongong, tributary to Sarenba and under a rajah appointed by the sultan, was relatively rich in jewels,
but weakly defended. I suppose 10,000 Dyak warriors could have converged upon Balingong, if all of the Dyak chiefs could have got together.
And that vast coast line for a long time had been stewing in revolt. Unable to get anything out of the Sultan of Sarenba in the way
of defense, Rajahs of Balingong
were poorer than a monkey on a raft, but they provided a thin
trickle of wealth which was well worth while when put through Balingong's single strainer. It was the type of set-up for which adventurers like my uncle perpetually
searched.
With countless disappointments
behind him, he never talked much about what he expected from Ballongong. But I knew that a single complete delivery would free him
forever of trading again.
Christie's Father
"If only I could figure out just what their plan is, maybe I could make a deal with them," he said
now. "Well, of course, I do know what their plan is. Their plan is the same as mine. Old Tony Forrester evidently knew that the Sumatanga Dyaks were thinking about burning out Balingong. And these fool kids of his are trading
on that, the same as me."
I was suspicious of this. Though
I had never seen the man myself,
I knew how he looked; and I did not believe that Anthony Forrester had cooked up such a plan. The face as shown in a steel engraving
was a fine-drawn, intellectual face;
it was ascetic and thoughtful—a dreamer's face. In a sense it represented everything that Clyde and I were not; it was not the face of a man who rushes into places with contraband.
"I still can't believe they're run-

Death Case
HENDERSON, N. C., Jan. 21
(AP)—An exotic white bird—a South American cockatrice—
was exhibit "A" today at the preliminary hearing of a 23-year-old handy man of a Tom Thumb circuit, charged with hacking to death his employer, Steve Good,
of Austin, Tex., with an axe.
The defendant, docketed as Williams Fairbanks of Baltimore, Md., confessed, Sheriff J. E.
Hasselt said, he slew the titen-
ant showman.
It was the bird, the sheriff
quoted the youth as saying, that started the argument last Sunday night which ended in the 40-
year-old circus proprietor's death
and the serious wounding of his young wife.
Fairbanks, who drove the Good's truck-trailer and looked
after the menagerie of monkeys,
snakes and birds, related in his confession, the sheriff said, that he remonstrated with Good for mistreating the cockatrice.
Then the showman struck him,
Fairbanks was quoted as saying,
and in the ensuing fight Fairbanks hit Good with the axe;
and when Mrs. Good intervened,
he hit her also. Mrs. Good, in a critical condition at a hospital
here, has not been questioned.

Pessimists are usually lazy people.
They say it's all wrong, it can't be done, and there is no use trying.
So they can sit back and relax.
The optimist, on the other hand,
can't help being vigorous. Everything is all right with him... oppor-

the world eager to accept his con-

Therefore, he is forever up and do-

LOVE UNDER FIRE

RANSOM

7 a. m. for the Spooner vicinity. The trail to the cave was broken with horses and hobsleds.

Anders was returned to the FBI headquarters here about 12:30 a. m. today, handcuffed to an agent and chained about the waist and shoulder. Hoover said he would be returned to Chicago, either today or Saturday.

Dispute Over Loot

Indications were that the wealthy Chicagoan had undergone great suffering during his imprisonment both from the cold and from scanty food. Drawing on Anders' confession, Hoover said the abductors—in an effort to hasten ransom payment and to impress Ross' family that he still was alive—mailed a photograph of Ross reading a Chicago newspaper near the woods hiding place. The agents recovered the newspaper from which a story had been cut out with a ransom note.

While the abductors operated out of this region inhabited only by a few trappers, the ransom was paid. Then, said Hoover, there was a dispute over the sharing of the loot.

"Anders and Gray clashed," said the FBI chief, "and Anders knocked Gray down and then shot him through the head. Apparently Ross attempted to intervene and also was knocked to the ground and while struggling there, was shot through the head and killed."

equipment for the buildings. Eliminated through alternates were 200 folding chairs, a massaging table, an institution bed, duplicating machine, gymnasium curtain, four health scales, and 40 cain bottom chairs.

PWA Man Here

Here for the letting was T. A. Youngblood, PWA engineer in charge of a Brownfield project. Youngblood may be assigned here by PWA, the government agency which has promised a 45 per cent grant on the work.

Remodeling of the auditorium-gymnasium wing, which must be done before PWA will pay its per cent of the grant, is to be done locally under present plans of the school board. Bids ran about $15,000 and above on the work Thursday. This would boost the total to more than the board has at its command for the project.

It became apparent Friday that the lowest possible amount the school board can hope to spend on the program is around $105,000. Of this amount, less what the remodeling costs, 45 per cent will come back in the form of a PWA grant. The school district voted $65,000 bonds for the work.

Burlew to be first assistant interior secretary.

Adams read from a prepared list of questions which he said Senator Nye, not present at the hearing, had asked him to submit to Major General Walter R. Reed, army inspector general.

One of Nye's questions was whether Reed had heard of the accounting office investigation and if so what department or departments were involved in the investigation.

Reed was called before the committee for questioning as to the manner in which Reno E. Shively, former voucher clerk in the interior department, had pocketed CCC payrolls to the extent of $84,000.

Several Big Spring people planned to attend the annual chamber of commerce banquet in Midland this evening when John R. Sumner, vice president of the Humble Oil & Refining company, speaks.

Among those planning to attend from Big Spring are Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Malone, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Greene, Mrs. Charles Eberley, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Williamson, and R. W. Whiskey.

DEMONSTRATION UNIT BEING SOUGHT FOR AGENTS' MEET

A farm home close in and stocked with bearing trees and vines and trees too young to bear is being sought for demonstration purposes.

An agent's meeting is held here Feb. 15.

For demonstration purposes, the farm should contain frame gardening apparatus and sub irrigation. If these things are not installed, a farmer interested in the work might offer his place for use in the program.

Lora Farnsworth, county home demonstration agent, has been furnished with details of arrangement and persons interested in offering a farm for the demonstrations should contact her.

BOMBING PLANES TO BE SENT TO HAWAII

HAMILTON FIELD, Calif., Jan. 21 (AP)—The United States army moved toward bolstering Hawaii against a possible air attack today by announcing it would transfer a powerful 13-plane bombardment squadron from here to the strategic islands.

Thirty officers and 180 men involved in the transfer will sail from San Francisco Feb. 1 aboard the army transport Republic.

The bombers, twin-motored (Douglas) ships of the latest design, will be sent to the islands by boat and not by flight as has been the navy's custom the past year in transferring 48 planes from the mainland to Hawaii.

Denver Show Sales Total Nearly Two Million

DENVER, Jan. 21 (AP)—The sale of show and commercial stock during the National Western Stock show, horse show and rodeo show was moving today toward a two-million-dollar total.

Thirty-four carloads of feeder cattle brought $180,000 at auction yesterday.

The sale of 124 Hereford bulls brought their owners $46,500. The top price was $1,500 paid Kimberling brothers, Champion, Neb., by E. E. Heister, Benkelman, Neb., for Real Prince 87th.

More than 500 purebred bulls have been sold in the yards at prices averaging $160.

Terry Lockyer of Fifth, Idaho, was stunned last night when Black Diamond kicked him high in the air as the top hand slipped over the horse's heels in the bronc riding event.

Of 11 bronc tamers, only Chet McCarty of Hotchkiss, Colo., was able to stick the qualifying eight seconds.

Shortly Hill of Venus, Texas, whose arm was dislocated Saturday, opening day of the show, tried a one-armed ride of a Brahma steer and re-dislocated his bandaged arm when the animal spun and tossed the thrown cowboy with a vicious thrust of his horns.

KILLED IN CRASH

NACOGDOCHES, Jan. 21 (AP)—L. W. Sowell, 26, of San Augustine, was killed in the crash of his car against a bridge abutment over the Attoyac river. The car turned over.

The car crashed when the lights of a small car Sowell was driving went out. A passenger with him escaped injury.

INJURIES FATAL

BEAUMONT, Jan. 21 (AP)—Roland Flynn, 35, of Houston, died today from injuries he suffered in a car accident Tuesday on the old Spanish trail.

SAYS LIQUOR STATUS IMPROVED IN CITIES

AUSTIN, Jan. 21 (AP)—The liquor board today removed the "sort spot" label from Dallas and Fort Worth.

C. A. Paxton, chief enforcement officer, said termination of a two-month enforcement campaign in the North Texas communities had improved law observance and conditions no longer were considered serious.

He attributed the change to a "sit-down" enforcement drive of liquor board officers and cooperation of local agencies.

TRAINS COLLIDE

ALPINE, Jan. 21 (AP)—Wreckage which blocked the track when the Southern Pacific's Sunset Limited crashed into a freight train engine was cleared away today and traffic resumed.

The trains crashed yesterday four miles west of here. No one was injured seriously.

Officials gave no explanation of the wreck, beyond saying it occurred 100 feet from a closed block signal.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 21 (AP)—An all night search ended today when the body of M. L. Pearson, Austin contractor, was found slumped in a chair on a hotel balcony. Justice of the Peace Tom Johnson said death was caused by acute indigestion.
