A New Straw Hat Is Cool As A Jet

It may not be regulation, but these Webb AFB jet pilots are being briefed today in Straw Hat Day in Big Spring, so they swapped their helmets for a straw. They are, from left, Capt. R. A. Small, Second Lieutenant M. J. Butchko, D. C. Beckelman, D. K. Vaughn.

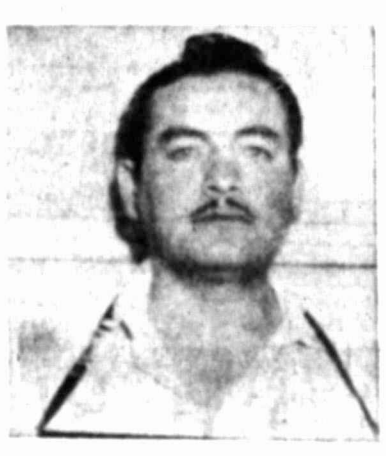

Woman Found Dead, May Have Been Beaten

A warrant has been issued by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice for the arrest of Jose Nunez (Tata) Lopez, 37, charging murder in connection with the death last night of Gloria Gomez, about 32. She was found at her apartment, 505 NW 4th, after a telephone call to Big Spring police from S. A. Gomez said she appeared to be dead.

A physician said later that death was due to a brain hemorrhage which could have resulted from a beating March 25. She was treated for bruises and released from a local hospital at that time. Her condition was not believed serious.

A River ambulance took the woman to Howard County Hospital Foundation Dr. Fabian Gomez, who performed an autopsy, said that it was evident the woman died as the result of a massive brain hemorrhage. The doctor said that in cases where a victim had been severely beaten about the head a week to 10 days usually elapsed before death.

Witnesses reported that the woman had been seen about the noon Thursday. Police said he was reported out-of-town shortly after the woman was beaten March 25.

Gloria Gomez had no known relatives in the area. Her mother lives in San Antonio, and funeral arrangements are pending at River Funeral Home.

The testimony was given Wednesday by Bernard Stesney, a dispatcher who watched operations of the Marine Sulphur Queen and more than a dozen other ships of the Marine Transport Lines, Inc.

The Marine Sulphur Queen, carrying molten sulphur, disappeared mysteriously with its crew of 39 this year en route from Beaumont to Norfolk.

Rear Adm. James Craik asked Stesney who kept track of the tanker's movements at sea.

"I did, sir," he said.

Craig asked what happened when a vessel failed to report its estimated time of arrival 48 hours from destination.

"I don't think I would get particularly concerned," Stesney said. He explained that ships failed to report for various reasons, including weather that delayed them or interfered with radio communications.

A search and rescue Coast Guard report told of the vast search, and Craik put in the record a report from Miami indicating that at least two crew members may have gotten into life jackets, then either drowned or succumbed to predatory fish before they could be rescued.

Lack Of Radio System Told In Ship Probe

NEW YORK (AP) — A Coast Guard inquiry board has been told that the company that operated the tanker Marine Sulphur Queen had no specific system of keeping track of radio reports expected from its ships 48 and 24 hours before their scheduled arrival at ports of call.

The testimony was given Wednesday by Bernard Stesney, a dispatcher who watched operations of the Marine Sulphur Queen and more than a dozen other ships of the Marine Transport Lines, Inc.

Districts Agree To Integration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Welfare Department said Wednesday six Texas school districts have agreed to provide nonsegregated schooling this fall for children of personnel living on military bases.

The department said last year that federal aid would be denied if children are required to attend segregated schools.

The districts named included Abilene, Mineral Wells, Colorado at Austin, Burkburnett, Potter County School District 3 at Amarillo and Connally school district at Waco.

Welcome Moisture Moves Into County

Welcome rain, which fell as it should and stacked up nearly an inch of badly needed moisture in some parts of Howard County, moved into the area early Thursday morning.

The rain gathered momentum in Big Spring as the hours passed and at 11 a.m. the U.S. Experiment Station gauge showed .59 of an inch. Of this total 47 of an inch fell from 8 to 11 a.m.

Gutters, long dry, were running briskly by 10 a.m. Thirsty lawns and pasture lands were soaking up the wetness in grateful fashion. Farmers and ranchers were grinning broadly and walking with crossed fingers, hopeful the showers would continue.

"Just what we need," said Herb Helbig, county farm agent. "We could use several inches like this but even half an inch will be of tremendous benefit."

"The rain we have had so far today, assuming it was general, will do wonders with the ranch pastures and help the farmers a great deal. Most farmers have their fields in shape and this moisture will supplement the already surprisingly abundant under-moisture in the soil."

The rains seemed to be moving across the county from the eastward and was heavier to the south. Knott, at 11 a.m., had just a shower to report. Vealmoor, further east had more than a quarter of an inch. An estimated half an inch had fallen at Fairview and as early as 8 a.m., Chalk reported .30 of an inch.

Elbow, south of town, had .60 of an inch at noon and the McKinnon Grocery reported it was still raining. Mrs. J. D. Gilmore, Forsan, said her gauge showed .22 of an inch at 8 a.m.

In Glasscock County, an inch of rain had fallen at 10 a.m. on the Ballenger ranch, east of Garden City, and .80 of an inch was reported at St. Lawrence, at Garden City and on the Bigby Ranch, 7 miles west. Apparently all of Glasscock County was sharing about equally in the rainfall.

An estimated half an inch had fallen at Lomax and the rain was still peppering down at 11 a.m.

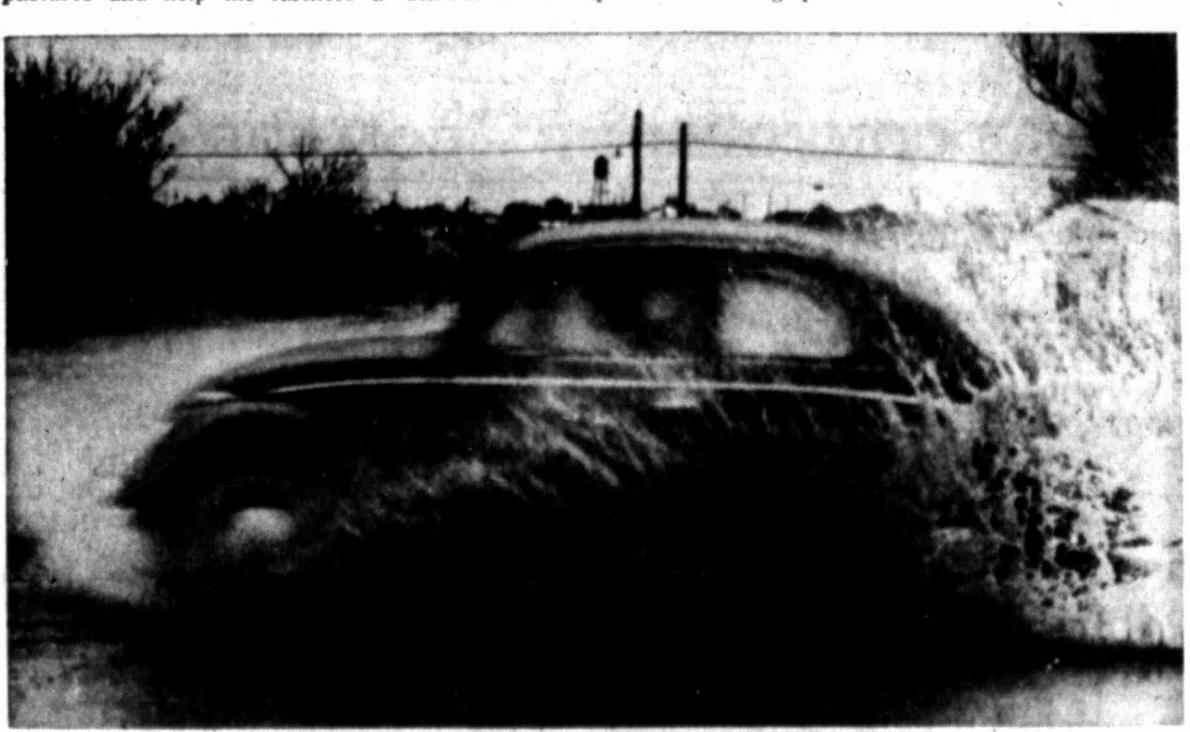

Moss Creek Lake had 70 of an inch at 11:15 a.m. and the lake keeper reported "It's still falling just perfect."

Vincent had .47 of an inch at that hour and it was still raining.

Coahoma had somewhere between .70 and .80 of an inch at 11 a.m. and more rain was falling.

Colorado City had .31 of an inch at 8 a.m. from showers which began around 5:30 a.m.

At Lake J. B. Thomas, 70 of an inch had been measured at the dam. At the Big Spring-Odessa intake, three miles west of the dam, the gauge showed .30 of an inch. The Big Spring Station north of town had .60 of an inch and the Martin County station, 50. It was still raining at each of these points at 11:30 a.m.

Martin Hurt In Collision

AUSTIN (AP) — Secretary of State Crawford Martin of Hillsboro was seriously injured today when a truck skidded on wet pavement and hit the front of Martin's car.

Officials at Seton Hospital said his condition was serious but the true extent of injuries was still being determined.

Martin's office said they had received word from doctors that Martin had a bad chest bruise, a blow above one eye, a cut under the eye and a cut on the leg.

The accident happened in north-west Austin at 28th and Lamar Sts.

Ole Miss Student Leader Blasts Meredith Story

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — A University of Mississippi student leader broke a university administration order today with a published statement attacking charges by James H. Meredith in a recent national magazine article.

Brad Lawrence, 23, a junior and newly elected student body vice president, called Meredith a symbol of education "by bayonet and tear gas."

Lawrence, formerly of Bronx, N.Y., said charges by Meredith in a Look magazine article that he was the victim of an organized campaign of ostracism was "one of the more ridiculous statements of the year."

U. S. Withdraws Injunction Plea

In Mississippi Voting Battle

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP) — The government today withdrew its request for a temporary restraining order in a Negro voter registration controversy. In return Greenwood officials agreed to stay the sentences of eight Negroes arrested in a demonstration last week.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Claude Clayton, who heard from both sides briefly in federal court in Greenwood, scheduled a full hearing later on the government's request for a permanent injunction. The hearing is expected during the court's regular term in October.

The government is asking an order banning interference from Greenwood and Leflore County officials with Negroes registering to vote here.

The eight Negroes will be freed until Judge Clayton's final decision.

Nineteen Negroes marching to the Leflore County Courthouse to register Wednesday refused to obey police orders to disperse. Police grabbed them, pushed them into a bus and jailed them.

STANDING ALONE

Dick Gregory, Negro comic, who was left standing alone after the marchers were driven to jail, canceled his contracts and said he would remain in this Mississippi Delta cotton-raising area.

"I will stay here until the federal government does something about police brutality," said Gregory, "and allows these people to go to the courthouse to vote."

The federal government suit, filed last Saturday, also seeks release of eight Negroes jailed last week.

Police Chief Curtis Lary told Wednesday's marchers at least half a dozen times to disperse. He said they would not be stopped if they scattered.

DEFIANT GIRL

"We will not disperse," defiantly replied Ida Hallen, 18, a Greenwood girl at the forefront of the marchers.

Then uniformed officers, aided by auxiliary policemen with riot sticks, began rounding up the group.

Five of those arrested were under 21—the legal voting age in Mississippi. Four gave out-of-state addresses, including James Sanders, 28, of Chicago, a writer for Gregory.

The teen-agers said they were accompanying the older persons.

Police said a number of those who gave Greenwood addresses were not listed in the city directory.

After the 19 were locked up, Rosalie Johnson, 58, of Pugh City, was arrested at the police station. Officers said she was creating a disturbance by cursing police officers when they brought in the marchers.

"UNCLE TOM"

A Dallas, Tex., Negro minister, the Rev. W. R. Fairley told a vote rally Wednesday night that the demonstrations were shaking up white persons and large crowds weren't wise.

"We've got to live together," said Fairley. "Remember not all the fault is in the white man." "Uncle Tom, that's all you are," the audience of some 350 shouted at Fairley.

Gregory, at times deadly serious and then humorous at other points, told the rally police were trying to blame the trouble of white persons "but white citizens haven't bothered Negroes. The problem is the police."

Then he quipped: "You can't blame the whites for fighting back. He's had the place to himself for 200 years."

Cutting The Comedy

A Greenwood, Miss., policeman helps comedian Dick Gregory across the street after police told him he was moving too slow leaving the county court house with a group of Negroes who sought to register to vote.

House Approves Re-Districting Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — The House passed by voice vote today the congressional redistricting bill which it debated for more than four hours Wednesday.

The action came after representatives voted 199-37 against an amendment which would have left all district lines as they are but would have given Dallas the congressman now elected at-large. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Both houses adjourned until Monday.

The Senate passed by voice vote Gov. John Connally's request to merge the state Parks Board and the Game Commission.

Passage came after Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress ended his filibuster against the bill.

Rogers said the measure is an example of Vice President Lyndon Johnson trying to extend his influence in Texas.

Nine senators asked to be recorded as voting against the bill, which now goes to Connally.

The new agency would be called the Parks and Wildlife Commission, and be headed by a three-man commission, with executive directors to oversee respective functions.

A number of House bills won Senate approval.

The House spent the morning considering local and uncontested bills.

Passed by the Senate and sent to the governor were bills to:

- Tax pool tables and let cities regulate pool halls.
- Require cities under 185,000 population to match firemen's pension funds up to 3 per cent.
- Exempt state banks from the corporation franchise tax.
- State banks now have to pay the state tax. Federal banks are exempt from state taxation. The bill was amended and returned to the House.

Sen. Jack Strong of Longview told senators they were "making a mistake in reducing all of these taxes when we haven't even seen the appropriations bill and don't know what new taxes we're going to have to levy on other industries."

House bills amended and returned to the House provided:

- Changing laws dealing with the state securities act; allowing probate courts to grant expense money to legal guardians; and a bill allowing West Texas State College to accept grants for its Kilgore Research Foundation.
- Also sent to Connally was a resolution asking Congress to call a constitutional convention to put before the voters nationally a request that federal courts will not interfere in state apportionment problems.

The House voted Wednesday to print the measure to reshape the state's congressional districts.

Rogers had the floor Wednesday when the Parks-Game merger bill came up.

Senators Differ On Effects Of TFX Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., said today the testimony of military officers is "eating big holes" in Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara's justification of the award of the TFX warplane contract to the General Dynamics Corp.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, who serves with Mundt on the Senate Investigations subcommittee, voiced an opposite view in a separate interview. He said he could see holes in testimony the military has given.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., seeks to learn why the huge contract went to the Fort Worth firm after military evaluations had tabbed the rival design and bid of the Boeing Co. of Seattle as promising a better, cheaper plane.

Southern School News Tells Story Of Integration Movement

By BILLY BOWLES
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Measured by the customary journalistic yardsticks, Southern School News is nothing to get excited about.

Its circulation is a modest 4,200, less than many a country weekly. It is written in dispassionate prose uncluttered by modifiers—unexciting by any standards. It is now in its ninth year telling the same story: the desegregation of schools in the Southland.

The school desegregation story is no ordinary one and nobody tells it as thoroughly as Southern School News.

The monthly newspaper is the brainchild of a group of Southern newspaper editors of widely divergent politics who met at a convention just prior to the 1954 U.S. Supreme Court ruling that school segregation is unconstitutional. Realizing the need for an impartial news source, the editors formed the board of directors of Southern Education Reporting Service and applied for a Ford Foundation grant.

On Sept. 3, 1954, the first issue of Southern School News was mailed to 10,000 lawmakers, educators, judges, governors and librarians.

It has not missed an issue since, despite widespread skepticism among critics at the outset. Its circulation dwindled sharply when a $2 subscription fee was established. But its subscribers wield a widespread influence—from congressmen to sociologists to private citizens—in 50 states and 44 foreign countries.

On the board of the reporting service are segregationists and integrationists.

Thomas R. Waring, editor of the Charleston (S.C.) News and Courier, has staunchly opposed integration but has just as avidly supported Southern School News and its middle-of-the-road principles. Also on the board are Negro college presidents Stephen J. Wright of Fisk and Luther H. Foster of Tuskegee Institute, both outspoken integrationists. Others on the 13-man board fall somewhere between the two extremes.

Praise for the service comes from educators, journalists and politicians alike. A subscriber once scribbled an unwitting tribute on a renewal slip: "Please state which end you are working for. You are not definite (sic)."

Renewal slips once came in the same mail from Georgia Sen. Herman Talmadge, a segregationist, and novelist Lillian Smith, author of "Strange Fruit" and a decided integrationist.

A University of Texas journalism professor conducted a poll to test Southern School News' claim of impartiality and nominated it for a Pulitzer Prize.

Southern School News is but one activity of Southern Education Reporting Service which also maintains a library of more than a million entries. The staff answers information requests, ranging from the grammar school pupil who wanted "all the information about segregation" to the editor who telephoned for a description of the University of Mississippi campus.

Newspapers rely on the service for reliable statistics and the latest court decisions on school desegregation. The U.S. Commission on Civil Rights cites Southern School News in its annual report to the President.

Authors, too, have discovered informational treasures in the old two-story Victorian brick house that is the home of the service. Its library, which is microfilmed and sold to 43 libraries, has complete texts of important public speeches, legislative acts, court decisions and reports. Clippings from 50 newspapers and numerous magazines go into the files. The service has published two books on school desegregation in the South and annually publishes a statistical summary that gives a breakdown of school enrollment figures and a summary of court action and the like.

The man who runs Southern Education Reporting Service is Reed Sarrett, 45, a pipe-puffing Phi Beta Kappa from North Carolina. He came here from the Winston-Salem Journal and Twin City Sentinel, where he was assistant to the publisher. He once wrote editorials for the Baltimore Sun.

Assisting him are Tom Flake, a veteran Nashville newsman, and Jim Leeson, formerly of the Associated Press.

REPORTER STAFF
The reporter staff of Southern School News consists of veteran newsmen from each of the 17 Southern and border states and the District of Columbia—6,229 school districts—which make up the newspaper's beat. Their political views, like the directors', cover a wide range.

One is a Negro, Louis Overbea of Sarrett's old Winston-Salem paper. A charter member of the reporter staff, William D. Workman Jr., surrendered his post last fall to run for the U.S. Senate as South Carolina's Republican candidate.

The editors who conceived the reporting service thought the reporter job would require perhaps a year—two at the most. But the Ford Foundation recently assured the organization of two more years of life by budgeting $430,000 to finance the operation through June 1965.

"This story is just beginning," says Sarrett. "The easy job of getting compliance—in the border states and the more moderate Southern states—has been accomplished. True. But the hard part of this job has just started."

Red Was Unhappy Over Retirement

GALVESTON, Tex. — Like a lot of other oldsters, Red was unhappy about retirement. He wanted to keep on working.

After nine years of faithful service at the post office, Red was retired by Frank A. Yeager, acting postmaster.

Red, approximately 12 years old and winner of a Lassie Award that hangs in the postmaster's office, has refused to retire.

Holland S. Jones, a parcel post and special delivery carrier for 19 years, adopted Red when Yeager announced the old canine's retirement. So far, Red has refused to call Jones' house his home.

"Old Red doesn't want to quit, he just wants to keep riding in my mail truck," said Jones.

For several years, Red has gone with Jones on his daily route in a mail truck. At the end of a day's work, Jones returns to his home and Red retreats to his favorite corner at the post office and waits for the next day's run.

Walter Davis, a postal employee for more than 18 years, told of how Red would ride with one employee and then for some unknown reason switch to another truck and a different driver.

Both Davis and Jones told of how the dog rode for a long time with Harry McCullough, and about McCullough and his family bringing food daily to Red and of their interest in keeping him in good condition.

"Red was on foot-duty with a mail carrier for a whole year, but he's a smart dog, and when he learned that some of the postmen used trucks for mail deliveries, Red promoted himself to a job on one of the mail trucks," Davis explained.

In addition to his Lassie citation of 1958 "for meritorious service . . . and for giving a new meaning to the tradition that man's best friend is a dog," Red is credited with forming the original "Protective Association for Postmen" and has remained at its head for nine years.

As founder of PAP and a postman's best friend, Red has protected the postmen from other dogs on the route. The workers remembered several times when Red saved postmen from vicious dogs.

He originally had a home but refused to live in it so his original owners "gave up trying to make him stay home and let him live at the post office." None of the postmen could remember the original owner's name.

Through the years, postal employees provided funds for Red's food, vaccinations, tags, etc. Recently he needed an operation and his friends at the post office pitched in and came up with close to $50.

Also, at the post office, there's a can marked "Donations for food, Thanks Red," and it always seems to have enough coins in it to pay for Red's keep.

Jones wishes he'd stay home and take it easy. With this thought, he tied Red up with a rope at his home, but 30 minutes later the dog was seen walking slowly toward "his" mail truck — with a broken rope around his neck.

Judge Urges Standardization Of Punishments

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The way juries fix punishments for law violators is "like shooting craps," a judge on Kentucky's highest court says.

"The idea of sentencing is to deter crime and it's not been working too well in this country," Judge John Palmer of the State Court of Appeals told the Kentucky Bar Association Wednesday.

He said there was inequity of punishment by juries trying similar cases and also inequity from one area to another in the state. He suggested standardization of punishment.

Russians Tripping Over Selves On West's Music

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW (AP)—Moving from Stalin-type communism to the present variety, the party leaders are tripping over themselves in trying to keep step with dance music.

The people and many musicians want jazz—the American kind, hot and searing, or moody and blue.

The conscience-keepers of the Communist party say Western jazz is decadent and degrading.

Yet the hands play on.

From Moscow to Tiflis and from Osmk to Tomsk, you can hear dance bands nightly honking away on such American evergreens as:

"When The Saints Go Marching In."

"Take The A Train."

"September in the Rain."

"Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."

"Moonglow."

And Louis Armstrong's hot version of Kurt Weill's "Mack The Knife."

"It's very hard on musicians," said the leader of a sprightly five-piece outfit playing six nights a week in one of Moscow's brightest night spots. "You see, we don't quite know what to do. The dancers want it. They (the party leaders) don't. We play it, but we keep looking over our shoulders."

He said that it is inconceivable in 1963 that a Soviet musician could go to jail for playing jazz, but he said a man might lose a good job for persisting in playing it—and nothing else.

Proclaiming himself a modernist, he said:

"What a lot of us would really like to play is cool jazz (pronounced kholodny dzhaz in Russian) but I'm afraid that's frowned upon much as abstract art is frowned upon."

He knew his subject, for he reeled off a list of modernists, including Dave Brubeck and Miles Davis.

The leader of a band that occasionally plays at a Moscow youth cafe also insisted he wanted to play cool jazz.

"You Americans don't have it all your way any more," he insisted. "The Czechs—ah, now, they are really playing revolutionary jazz stuff. It's very cool."

I talked to a lot of Soviet musicians about Benny Goodman's tour of the U.S.S.R. last year.

"The public loved him," said one. "As for the musicians, we admired his tone and his execution, but he was too old-fashioned, far too old-fashioned for us."

What sort of music are Soviet dancers going to dance to—Glinka, Shostakovich, Prokofiev or Chalkovsky?

Musicians are developing a sort of compromise by stepping up the tempo of Soviet popular songs.

Some of them make good listening and good dancing.

Highly popular are "Falling Snow" and "Winter in Leningrad." Best of all is one by the veteran popular composer, Soloviev-Sedov called "Podmoskovnie Verchera."

British jazzman Kenny Ball took that tune, rearranged it and recorded it as "Midnight in Moscow." It became a hit in Western Europe and the United States.

Every city in the Soviet Union has dance bands.

One of the most unusual performances in the big, gloomy dining room of the Intourist Hotel in Tiflis, capital of the Southern Republic of Georgia. People there love muted fiddles. Experts on this instrument manage to achieve a sound midway between the tone of the American, Stuff Smith, and the three-string gourd music of Hadji Mikhim of Isfahan. When they play "Baby, Won't You Please Come Home?" They gas you right out of the joint.

The strangest Soviet band is an all-girl outfit disturbing the evenings at Moscow's Grand Hotel.

Sasha Efremov, an electric guitar player, observed:

"They make better dates than they do music."

U. S. Skimming Off German Brain Power

By LOYAL GOULD
AP Special Report

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—American talent scouts are skimming off the cream of West Germany's scientific manpower and many Germans don't like it.

Newspaper editorials and government officials fear this will eventually put a crimp in Germany's traditional role as a European science leader.

They have not come up with a way to keep their top scientists at home.

"Talent has always been attracted by high pay and top working conditions," explains an American official in Germany. "You can hardly expect German scientists or any others for that matter not to sell their services to the top bidders."

A similar "brain drain" problem has developed in Britain.

Conservative estimates place the number of German scientists leaving annually for the United States at about 111. This is roughly 5 per cent of the yearly crop of German university graduates in physics, chemistry, mathematics, biology, geology and astronomy.

ONLY THE FINEST

German scientific circles say that more than half the scientists heading to America have doctorates and include the best graduates of German universities.

"Only the finest are interested in basic research," a German university professor said "and they know they can get the best research facilities in the United States."

American recruitment of German scientists began almost immediately after World War II, when U.S. officials swarmed over defeated Germany searching out the makers of the Nazi rockets. They succeeded in persuading many to go to the United States, including Werner von Braun.

Indirect recruitment resulted from scholarship programs designed to take German students and researchers to the United States for a limited time. Many of the scholarship recipients became American citizens and never returned.

EXCHANGE

Concerned over the harmful effects the drain could have on the postwar development of German industry and science, Bonn government officials suggested that the United States require exchange students and professors to return to their native countries for at least two years before applying for U.S. immigration visas.

A U.S. law to this effect became operative in 1956. In the preceding year, 163 German scientists had gone to the United States as immigrants. In 1958, their number dropped to 128. German officials attribute the drop to the "cooling off" period.

Although the number of German scientists leaving for the United States has remained fairly constant since then, German officials fear it will rise as America's need for scientists increases.

They point to a recent report by the National Science Foundation that in the next decade, the United States will need twice as many scientists and technicians as American universities can produce.

German newspapers say Ameri-

Peace Corps Chief Holds A Tight Rein

By W. R. RAGSDALE JR.
WASHINGTON (AP)—Peace Corps volunteers say it's no longer a novelty to look up and see Sargent Shriver approaching, even in such out of the way places as North Borneo, Ethiopia and Nepal.

The Peace Corps director keeps a tight rein on his far flung volunteers. He has been in 39 of the 50 countries where volunteers work, some of them several times.

One weary aide compared a Shriver trip with "the last week of a major political campaign—without an election at the end of it."

Shriver has logged 500,000 miles in two years as Peace Corps director, his staff says, and traveled by such varied means as jet airliners, ox carts, jeeps, rickshaws, bamboo rafts, ships, dug-out canoes and helicopters.

At 47, the President's brother-in-law is a not-so-young member of the youthful New Frontier. But he sets a pace younger Peace Corps staffers have trouble matching.

TRAIL OF CABLES

His aides say Shriver whizzes around the world, working a 20-hour day and leaving a trail of cables to Washington with orders on how to improve the Peace Corps' operations.

He checks for himself whether volunteers are doing the job. If he finds something wrong, his aides say he expects to have it corrected immediately.

Shriver has described himself as a firm believer in trying to spot the corps' mistakes before outsiders do.

Everywhere he goes, his aides say, Shriver talks to people, volunteers, natives in remote areas, heads of state, newspapermen. He says this gives him a feeling for each country and the Peace Corps mission there.

His cables reflect what he finds out. One may call for a change in Peace Corps training methods. Another might order sewing machines for a Peace Corps project, or canes for a school for blind children.

PREGNANT HEIFERS

During a brief stop in the Dominican Republic, a volunteer said he needed three pregnant heifers. Shriver cabled the request on Monday. By Thursday, Washington headquarters had located three pregnant heifers and promised delivery within a month.

The heifers were needed for a Dominican agricultural project, and had to be pregnant because there was no way to breed them with purebred stock in the Dominican Republic.

Shriver does very little sleeping on airplanes. His time is used to exchange ideas with his staff, jot down memoranda, draft letters or cables or catch up on his reading.

Stops between flights often are the busiest part of the trip.

Recently, Shriver landed at a U.S. airport at 2:13 p.m. scheduled to leave an hour later. He was met by the mayor, newspaper executives and reporters.

Then he chatted with a group of South American youngsters returning home after a visit to the United States.

Next came television and radio interviews, then lunch with the mayor and reporters.

Several telephone calls and a mixup in reservations kept his staff in a dither. Finally, the last of the aides got things in order and sat down to lunch.

"It's time," said Shriver. "Let's go." And they made the ramp just in time to catch the 3:15 flight.

Ashley-Lima Plea To Be Heard

HOUSTON (AP)—Three judges of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals will hold a hearing during the week of May 6 in New Orleans on the petition for Leslie Ashley and Carolyn Ann Lima.

Circuit Judge John Brown of Houston granted an indefinite stay of execution for the Houston couple last Friday, four hours before they were to be executed.

The two were convicted for the gun-torch slaying of a real estate man, Fred Tones, in 1961.

Report's Gentle Tone Spur To Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The gentle tone of the Securities and Exchange Commission report Wednesday spurred the stock market to 1963 highs.

However, most Wall Streeters were cautious in their initial appraisal, saying they preferred a more careful study of the five-volume, 1,600-page report, which called for a half-dozen pieces of legislation to protect the public.

G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said it will begin immediately a careful study of the recommendations. But he hinted that the exchange opposes any new regulatory legislation by Congress.

Said Funston: "The exchange is convinced, based on its experience that vigorous self-regulation in combination with enforcement of existing securities laws is the key to maintaining a healthy, responsive, and efficient market place and to serving the public well."

Edwin D. Etherington, president of the American Stock Exchange, said his organization "will need time to study the report and express its views in an orderly way."

Thomas P. Phelan, president of the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange in San Francisco, commented on proposals to extend SEC controls to companies whose stocks sell on the over-the-counter market.

"I see no reason why there should be more than one standard in the industry," he said—meaning he believes the same laws should apply to over-the-counter trading and to the exchanges.

Michael W. McCarthy, board chairman of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, said:

"I want to read the whole package before commenting on the report."

Ralph Harris, manager for Goodbody & Co., Atlanta, Ga., said: "It seems all to the good, but I haven't had a chance to study it fully."

James E. Day, president of the Midwest Stock Exchange in Chicago, said:

"Although a preliminary review indicates a number of areas where proposed regulations, rules and formulas could very well be questioned, we would agree that all suggestions deserve full consideration."

Many other brokers and traders said they would have to study the lengthy document before commenting.

Though it pointed out what it called "grave abuses," the SEC report to Congress generally gave the securities business a good bill of health.

Stock prices rallied to the highest level in nearly a year. Turnover was 4.66 million shares, the largest since Feb. 18, while volume was 4.47 million.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.8 to a 1963 high of 261.1, with industrials up 3.2, rails up .6 and utilities up .6.

Based on the rise in the AP average, an estimated $2.5 billion was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

McNamara Begins Study Of Lie Detector Usage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has started a study that could lead to stiff new rules restricting use of lie detectors in future Pentagon investigations, it was learned today.

"The secretary of defense is looking into policies relating to use of lie detectors," an informed source told The Associated Press.

Officials said the only relevant Defense Department document to show up so far in a search of the files was a 1952 "memo of record" signed by then Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett.

In that memo, Lovett ruled that the lie detector might be used only in certain special cases.

Pending the outcome of McNamara's study, sources said it was unlikely any Pentagon investigating agency would try to use a lie detector any time soon.

The fuss churned up because the Air Force investigators—seeking the source of a leak on a memo dealing with the Senate probe of the TFX fighter plane contract—had asked about 120 officers and civilians of the Defense Department, the Air Force and Navy to sign a paper consenting to a lie detector test.

Three high Pentagon officials signed the paper, but Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense, refused to do so "as a matter of principle." Three other persons also refused to sign.

No lie detector tests actually were given in the 12-day hunt for the person who leaked to a Washington Star reporter an unclassified copy of an Air Force memo. This memo complained that some Air Force witnesses had been browbeaten by interrogators for the Senate investigations subcommittee.

McNamara, who ordered the Air Force investigation, reportedly directed that it be halted after he learned of the lie detector involvement.

Here's How Redistricting Bill Reads

AUSTIN (AP) — The House gave tentative approval Wednesday to congressional redistricting amid predictions the federal government will do it if the state doesn't.

Several senators, asking not to be quoted by name, predicted doom for the House bill when it reaches the upper chamber, or at least drastic revision.

Basically, the bill gives Dallas County a second congressional seat, eliminates the district which the late Speaker Sam Rayburn served many years, moving it to South Texas, and puts freshman Rep. Ray Roberts of McKinney in the same Northeast Texas district with veteran Rep. Wright Patman.

Patman's son, State Sen. William Patman of Galveston, is on the Senate committee which will consider the bill if the House passes it. Roberts, in his first term as a congressman, has many friends in the Senate, where he served for many years.

If passed by the legislature, the bill would eliminate the job of congressman-at-large now held by Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas.

Harris County would retain its two congressional seats, Dist. 8 and 22. Bexar County, Dist. 20, and Tarrant County, Dist. 12, retain their single seats. Dallas County's districts would be 5 and 23.

As engrossed, the bill puts these counties in the various districts (present congressmen listed in parentheses):

Dist. 1 (Patman, Roberts)—Collin, Grayson, Hunt, Pecos, Lamar, Delta, Hopkins, Franklin, Tarrant, Rockwall, Morris, Cass, Marion, Harrison, Kaufman, Van Zandt, Rains, Wood, Smith, Camp, Upshur, Gregg, Rust, Fannin, Wilbarger, Garza, Hale, Rockwell, Howard, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Terry, Yount.

Dist. 2 (Roberts)—Brazoria, Calhoun, Chambers, Fort Bend, Galveston, Jackson, Matagorda, Wharton and Victoria.

Dist. 3 (Brazoria)—Brazoria, Calhoun, Chambers, Fort Bend, Galveston, Jackson, Matagorda, Wharton and Victoria.

Dist. 4 (Brazoria)—Brazoria, Calhoun, Chambers, Fort Bend, Galveston, Jackson, Matagorda, Wharton and Victoria.

Kennedy Says 9,000 Russians Have Left Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says 9,000 Soviet troops and technical experts have left Cuba since November—about 4,000 of them within the past six weeks.

Expressing hope of further withdrawals, Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday that a rough calculation indicates about 12,000 to 13,000 Soviet citizens remain in Cuba.

Kennedy also reiterated a previously expressed fear that hit and run raids against Cuban ports and Soviet shipping by anti-Castro exiles might prompt a dangerous cycle of mounting blows and counterblows, thus adding heat to the cold war.

Repeating a promise that the United States would do everything possible to prevent such raids from American soil, Kennedy suggested would-be raiders could do more for their Communist-dominated homeland by joining 400 to 500 survivors of the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion who have enlisted in the U.S. Army.

At the start of the session, Kennedy was asked about the abruptly abandoned Pentagon program to ask key officials to take lie detector tests, if necessary, to determine who "leaked" a memorandum critical of the Senate's investigation of the TFX fighter plane contract.

"I think it was a mistake to suggest a polygraph," Kennedy replied. "I don't think we need concern ourselves in the future about it."

The question of a possible power struggle within the Kremlin also came up. Kennedy expressed the view that Soviet Premier Khrushchev "has his good months and bad months like we all do." But he said recurrent hints of disagreements in the Soviet hierarchy have not affected U.S. policy decisions.

The President also talked about his own ups and downs with Congress. He predicted passage of major legislation, including a tax cut, in the coming months. But he said other administration proposals will be defeated and this, in turn, will prompt discussion of "presidential leadership." A broad grin indicated he is reconciled to this eventuality.

GENERAL FIGURES

Discussing the continued presence of Soviet troops in Cuba, Kennedy said all figures are bound to be generalized "because it is impossible to take a detailed head count."

He said the government will watch the situation closely to see "whether there are going to be further withdrawals which, of course, we wish for."

Kennedy conceded, on the subject of quickie raids against Cuba, that the long Florida coastline does afford opportunities for the launching of refugee attacks from U.S. soil.

"We have attempted to discourage it for a number of reasons," he said.

For one thing, he commented, "It does not seem to us that this represents any real blow against Castro." On the contrary, he said it could offer "additional incentives for the Soviet Union to maintain their personnel in Cuba" and even to "send additional units to protect their merchant ships."

The whole matter could become an issue of war and peace, he said, if one attack led to a counterblow which eventually might

Broom Sales Sweep Along

Sales of brooms and household cleaning equipment during the annual Evening Lion's Club sale picked up steam Wednesday night, the second evening of the week-long drive, bringing gross receipts to an estimated $600.

"Residents gave our salesmen a good reception," Ernest Barbee said. "Three of the selling teams did not report in last night, but we believe receipts are $600, or maybe a little better."

The club members now have achieved about 20 per cent of their $3,000 goal. Last year's one-day drive netted about $1,300 in sales.

Prospects of continued rain this evening have not dampened the spirit of workers, Barbee said. They will be out in full force, about 25 strong, in the Kentwood, Highland South and Worth Peeler additions area unless the rain continues.

"If it is still raining tonight, we will have to combine this area with that for Friday. It means we won't be able to work the homes as closely as we would like, but everyone in the city will have a chance to buy a broom," Barbee said.

In addition to door-to-door selling, stands will be worked Saturday on parking lots in the various Big Spring shopping areas.

Court Of Honor Planned Tuesday

A district Court of Honor is being planned for Scouts Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College Auditorium.

Erven Fisher, in charge of the affair, said that there would be awards in most of the Scout ranks, possibly even one Eagle, the highest.

Unit leaders have been urged to get in their advancement to the council office in time to make sure the awards are back here prior to the honor court.

The bidding:
North 1♣ East 1NT South 2NT West 3NT
Pass Pass 3NT Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

Confronted with an apparently hopeless cause, South devised a very neat end play to bring home his contract.

The three no trump contract was distinctly on the aggressive side and, the both players stretched their values, North is perhaps most to blame. His raise to two no trump with 14 rather barren points and completely even distribution was definitely against the odds.

For reasons best known to himself, West ignored his partner's overcall and opened the jack of diamonds instead of a spade. The ace was played from dummy which felled East's lone queen. Declarer saw that he was confronted with a long shot, since he must find the hearts divided three-three, as well as the queen of clubs on side.

His first move was to play the queen of hearts from dummy which East covered with the ace. The normal procedure by the latter would be to come back with a heart, permitting declarer to find his own way. However, East had been doing some card placing. The bidding had marked South with the king of spades and, on the basis of what had occurred so far in the play, it appeared to East that his opponent also held the king of hearts. It was not likely then that he also had the ace of clubs, for, with 13 high card points, his proper initial response would have been two no trump.

East accordingly shifted to a small club, in order to build up tricks for his side in that suit. West played the ace and continued the suit. South, however, withstood the temptation to finesse North's ten of clubs and went up with the king. It appeared unlikely to him that East would attack this suit unless he had an honor, in which case an end play was in the offing provided that South retained his jack of clubs.

Declarer led to his king of diamonds and then ran the hearts. When the suit broke evenly, dummy's lone heart was cashed, and then a small spade was led. East was obliged to put up the jack in order to force out South's king of spades. The latter then proceeded to get out with his jack of clubs. East was in with the queen and, after cashing another club, he had to lead away from his queen-eight of spades permitting the dummy to take the last two tricks.

Webb Plans Vendor's Day

Webb AFB will host its third annual Vendor's Day April 17, the base procurement office announced. The day is set aside for contractors and suppliers who do business with the base. Invitations have been extended to these individuals within a 200-mile radius of Webb.

Suppliers and contractors who have not previously done business with the Air Force and would like to attend should write or call the Base Procurement Office, Webb AFB, extension 605.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. April 17 in the base academics building. The Vendors Day program will start at 9 a.m.

Following the various talks and ideas concerning the relationships between Webb AFB and local or area vendors, the group will close the day with a "dutch treat" lunch at the Webb Officers Open Mess.

Base procurement officials stated that more than $3 million is spent annually on local purchases in contracts and business with West Texas vendors.

Last year, nearly 100 vendors from Big Spring, Odessa, Midland, San Angelo, Snyder, Lubbock and regional areas attended the local affair.

Sea Raider Leaves Court

Jerry Buchanan, 24, right, American adventurer with anti-Castro sea raiders picked up by the British frigate Landender, calls to companions as they leave magistrate's court in Nassau. Sixteen of the commandos were sent to jail for

Officers Watching For New Drug Here — 'Black Jacks'

A dangerous, synthetic, habit-forming drug, called "black jack," has been discovered in large quantities in the Amarillo area. Local and area law enforcement officers around 25 Air Force bases have been alerted to watch for the black capsules believed to be sold around military installations.

Assistant Chief of Police Leo Hull said a memorandum had been received by the Big Spring department through Webb AFB authorities. The memorandum, from the Amarillo AFB Command Post, was made available to all law enforcement officers of the area Tuesday.

No analysis of the new drug has been received but officers believed it must have a potent effect on the user. It is simply being identified as a solid black capsule.

Potter County officials have advised air base officials that large quantities of the drug have appeared in the last few days.

"Several 'pushers' have been apprehended," the memorandum said, "and in each case the subject has been a man with previous police records but has not necessarily been known as a 'pusher.' Black Jacks are being made available at low cost—15 cents per capsule—at present. One of the suspected purposes of this drug is to attract young airmen from the base in order to weaken military effectiveness."

"Present information indicates that the black capsules may be manufactured in Czechoslovakia and delivered to Cuba. The drug is believed to be inserted in the capsules in Cuba then smuggled into the United States through Texas ports and across the Mexican border."

"We have not heard of any of the capsules in this area," Hull said. "Neither do we know the exact effect the drug has on the user. All we know is that the capsules are black and have been given the name 'Black Jack.'"

Two Boxes Provided For School Election

Voters in Saturday's two school trustee races in the Big Spring area will have a choice of two boxes at which to cast their votes.

The Senior High School library, usual voting site, will again be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. In addition, a box will be placed at the Kate Morrison Elementary school for the convenience of residents of the North Side.

At these two boxes, ballots will be to residents of the Big Spring Independent School District for voting in the race for two trustee posts and for Howard County School Board members for Commissioner's Precincts 1 and 2. Here voters may cast their ballots in one of two boxes for which they are eligible.

Entered in the BSISD school trustee race are Harold Talbot, Talbot, incumbent, Bennett Brooke, Wayne Baden and Leslie Ray Thomas. Clyde McMahon Sr., whose term expires this year along with that of Talbot, has not chosen to run again.

Fred Roman, incumbent from Precinct 1, is running against write-in candidate H. H. (Hub) Rutherford. David Gomez had filed as a candidate for the post, but he later announced his withdrawal from the race.

J. D. Gilmore, Precinct 2 incumbent, is seeking re-election. He is opposed by James Cape.

At the various other boxes in the county, Forsan voters will be casting their votes for the County School trustee of Precinct 2 and for three school trustees of the Forsan Independent School District. Candidates in that race are C. R. Walraven, incumbent, Bobby S. Wash, Frank Philley, Jack F. Ellis Sr., Elmer G. Patton, C. L. Goch and Ray S. McKinnon.

In Coahoma, six candidates are seeking two trustee posts for the Coahoma school board. Incumbent Clay Reid is seeking re-election. Others in the race are James (Buddy) Barr, T. H. Greenfield, Hezlie Reed, Rex Shive and Ray Echols. The last three names were inadvertently left off the listing in Wednesday's Herald. Voting will be in the city hall in Coahoma with polls opening at 8 a.m.

Other county residents who will be voting for the Coahoma school trustees are at Vincent and

Grice Sets $10,000 Bond For Ives

Walter Grice, justice of the peace, announced this morning that he had set bond for George Ives, 38, charged with the Sunday afternoon slaying of Loma Doyle O'Neal, in the sum of $10,000. Ives had been denied bond by Grice when he was brought before the justice of peace Monday morning.

Grice said that Ives had not posted bond at noon but that a friend in Midland had indicated he would endeavor to secure bond for the alleged slayer.

More Slant Well Suits Are Filed

AUSTIN (AP)—Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said today that 14 more civil penalty suits have been filed here in connection with the slant-hole oil well scandal.

The suits, filed in district court, raises the total to 71 that have been filed by the attorney general's office.

Myers Is Named Coach Of North

AUSTIN (AP)—Gerald Myers of Lubbock Monterey will coach the North all-star basketball team at the Texas Coaching School in Houston Aug. 9.

Myers was substituted for Archie Porter, who resigned from Dallas Jefferson to become assistant coach at Texas A&M.

TOM D. SIMPSON

Simpson Is Back At Firestone Store

Tom D. Simpson, who assumed his duties as manager of the Firestone Store here, has come back home, in a manner of speaking. He worked with the store here in commercial sales in 1960-61 following transfer from Houston where he had worked for five years with the company.

A native of Lubbock, Simpson went to Houston after his separation from service in the United States Navy at the end of the war. He was married in 1940 to Ruth Calvert of Dallas, and they have a daughter, Daria, 20, a sophomore at Abilene Christian College, and two sons, Dan, 15, and Randy, 13, who will join him here when the school semester ends. The family attends the Church of Christ.

Golf Course Work To Begin

Downtown Lions are getting started on their project of a miniature golf course for patients of the Big Spring State Hospital.

Avery Falkner, who will supervise the Lions in building the course, asked members to report Saturday at 9 a.m. to help stake out the project. Douglas Ward, general chairman, has been making other arrangements for the job.

James Tidwell, president, again urged maximum attendance by Lions and their wives at the district convention May 4-5 in Midland to back the candidacy of Lou Carothers for governor, Dist. Gov. David Ellis, Midland, was a guest of the club Wednesday. Chuck Snyder, sponsored by Don Young, was inducted into the club. Bill Pharr was named program chairman for April.

The slate of nominees for officers includes Dr. W. A. Hunt, president; Wesley Deats, Douglas Ward and Frosty Robison, vice presidents in the order named; Fred Stitzell, secretary-treasurer; Milton Barnett, Liontamer; R. H. Snyder, Harry Blomfield, and Clyde McMahon Jr., tailtwisters; L. T. King and Maj. Bob Short, two-year directors.

A. R. Doss Rites Set

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Albert Richard Doss, 70, a resident here 65 years, died Wednesday at 1 a.m. Mr. Doss was born Nov. 2, 1892 in Callahan County and married Madge Richard in 1916 at Colorado City. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

Funeral was to be held Thursday at 4 p.m. from the Southside Baptist Church with the Rev. George A. Shoff, pastor, officiating. Burial was to be in the Colorado City Cemetery under the direction of the Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

He is survived by his widow, one son, Albert R. Doss Jr., Colorado City; three daughters, Mrs. George Proctor and Mrs. H. S. Connell, both of Colorado City, and Mrs. Basil Staggs, Sweetwater; three brothers, Mac, Jack and Earl Doss, all of Colorado City; four sisters, Mrs. Earl Hays and Mrs. Ben Self, both of Colorado City; Mrs. Dee Ayers, Rotan, and Mrs. 16 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

AF Awards To Be Made At Odessa

Webb AFB personnel are participating in the Permian Science Fair to be held today through Saturday at the Odessa Junior College gymnasium. Air Force awards are to be made in the fields of aerospace sciences, electronics, nuclear sciences, aerospace medicine and aerospace power.

Col. Charles W. Head, 3560th Air Base Group commander, will present the awards at a luncheon Saturday. Webb judges are Capt. Niles Carter, Capt. Willie J. Kopecny and 1st Lt. James T. McInerney. They will determine the five Air Force winners in each category.

The three judges are members of the Webb Undergraduate Pilot Training academic staff.

Judge Gives Final Warning To Briggs

C. C. Briggs, who has been at liberty on probation on a three year prison sentence for writing worthless checks, was sternly warned Thursday by Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, that he is now at the end of his string—just one more breach of the law in any manner, the judge said, and the defendant will have to serve the prison sentence hanging over his head.

Briggs was before the court on a motion to set aside his probation. It was testified he had written a worthless check since being released on probation.

More Participation Urged For Victory Over Polio

The Howard and Glasscock counties drive against polio has not reached the desired percentage of residents, but results of the effort have been described as "reasonably successful" by Dr. J. M. Woodall, medical director.

He urged persons who have not yet received the final dose of the vaccine to turn out for the make-up clinic Sunday. No further make-ups are scheduled and persons not receiving it at this time should acquire the protective vaccine from their private physicians.

The drives conducted over the nation have sought for about 85 per cent participation. Research has shown that when this high percentage is reached, the immunity is passed on to persons who have not been given the vaccine, providing virtually absolute protection against an epidemic of polio.

Argentine Rebellion Loses Ground As Truce Is Sought

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A column of loyalist army tanks and 3,000 troops rolled into the Argentine coastal resort of Mar del Plata today and took over the rebel navy base there without firing a shot. The seizure left the rebels with one last stronghold as they sought a truce to end their uprising.

The rebel fleet commander, Rear Adm. Eladio Vasquez, turned up at Government House this morning for his second meeting on a truce with loyalist military leaders.

The navy rose up in rebellion Tuesday in an attempt to overthrow President Jose Maria Guido.

The rebels were still in command — but apparently losing ground — at Argentina's largest navy base, at Puerto Belgrano, 350 miles south of here.

Associated Press correspondent Robert Berrellez reported from Puerto Belgrano that navy and marine garrisons there were digging in and setting up fortifications against a possible move by loyalist forces on the base. Loyalist troops were reported in Bahia Blanca, about 25 miles from the base. They occupied the city of 200,000 Wednesday.

ROAD BLOCKS
Berrellez said navy units put up anti-aircraft positions at the base and that civilians were being ordered away. Marines established roadblocks, he reported.

Berrellez said, however, the rebels appeared glum.

Vasquez ordered the rebel fleet that had been threatening an attack on Buenos Aires to steer for Puerto Belgrano. Berrellez quoted a navy rebel spokesman as saying that the aircraft carrier Independencia with 22 jet fighters on board was in the vicinity of the base.

The Argentine news agency Telapress reported that the rebel Commandante Espora air base at Bahia Blanca was being abandoned by the rebels. The agency quoted a base spokesman as saying: "It's all over."

The base at Mar del Plata was the navy's second most important rebellion stronghold. It is 220 miles southeast of this capital.

An eyewitness told The Associated Press by telephone that Plata was uneventful and "not a shot was fired." Navy units had evacuated the base.

MOST OF NATION
A loyalist communique earlier reported that most of Argentina was under government control.

The communique conceded that the rebels had gained the support of three small army units but the government radio announced one of these, a battalion of engineers in the Andean resort of Bariloche, had surrendered.

The communique said 24 navy planes were destroyed and nine others taken in the capture Wednesday of the naval air station at Punta Indio.

Among the planes destroyed were a number of Panther jets bought from the United States to bolster the naval air force, the communique said.

The communique also claimed full control of Cordoba, where army paratroopers had staged a spirited rally to the rebel cause. The loyalists said they were put down by other army forces.

Chiefs of the army and air force, backing the buffeted regime of President Guido, held a postmidnight conference after Defense Minister Juan Manuel Astigeta relayed cease-fire conditions laid down by Vasquez.

HOPE SEEN
Loyalist army commander Juan Carlos Onganía told newsmen after the preliminary session: "I believe there is hope for a solution."

Informants said Vasquez had outlined in a 45-minute talk with Astigeta conditions under which the navy would withdraw from the revolt, now in its third day.

The death toll was placed unofficially at 26, including an armed civilian killed by an army patrol in the northern province of Jujuy. The army has warned repeatedly that any civilians caught with weapons, looting or staging demonstrations would be shot.

Shots rang out in Buenos Aires when loyalist leaders emerged from Government House after discussing the rebel truce terms, but no casualties were reported. A witness said the shots came from two speeding cars.

SURRENDERING
Guido's government announced Wednesday that the rebels were surrendering after being pushed back in heavy fighting in the South.

"The rebels promptly said Vasquez 'is not coming to surrender. He will only negotiate a truce.'"

The rebels said in a broadcast earlier that they would set up a new national regime in the port city of Bahia Blanca, adjoining Puerto Belgrano. But Capt. Kurt Dietrich, press chief at the base, told Berrellez no such government had been set up in the area.

The navy launched the revolt to oust Guido and cancel elections scheduled June 3 for a new president and congress. The navy fears that followers of ex-Dictator Juan D. Peron—about a third of Argentina's voters—will gain control of the government.

Child Hurt In Wreck

Terry Lynn Sibley, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sibley, 4112 Dixon, was taken to Cowper Clinic and Hospital in a River ambulance about 6 p.m. Wednesday for treatment of a broken jaw received in a two-car accident in the 2000 block of Gregg. Mrs. Sibley, driver of one car, was treated for bruises received in the same accident, and released. Driver of the second car was William Montgomery, 805 Aylford.

Gra-Y Bean Feed Scheduled Friday

The annual Gra-Y Bean Feed and Award Night activities are slated to begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday at the YMCA. All Gra-Y participants and members of their families are eligible to attend.

A magic show is also scheduled by a guest speaker and performer. Cost of the fee is 60 cents a plate, payable at the door.

Awards to be presented include one to Lakeview for winning the Basketball League, a sportsmanship award to College Heights and individual awards to players.

Unusual Concert Set At Silver

An unusual performance by a high school band is slated for 7:30 p.m. today at the Silver Junior High School.

George Corse, band director, has included in his band six guitars, a banjo and four melodicas. A piano, which Corse plays himself, is another unusual feature for a band performance.

The concert will include marches and a wide variety of music types from light classics to country-western. The public is invited to attend.

District Scout Meeting Planned

The District Scout committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at the Cosden Country Club with R. L. Tollett, chairman, presiding. All committeemen are urged to be present.

At the same time, a Scoutmaster's round table will be held, with the Rev. Jim Fickett presiding in the absence of Garrett Patton. His program will include presentation of ideas which may be used by Scoutmasters in program planning meetings, including use of skills.

New Phone Plan Is Cleared Up

A typographical error has left Harry Sawyer, Southwestern Bell Telephone manager, in a quandary.

He certainly doesn't want to tell people not to call under a new interstate rate reduction plan for station-to-station calls. On the other hand he doesn't want them to expect the lower rates on calls prior to 9 p.m.

The trouble is that one reference to the time for the reduced rates on interstate calls of 220 miles or more said "after 5 p.m." It should have been after 9 p.m.

J. L. Bowen Rites Are Held Today

Funeral services for the Joseph Lloyd Bowen funeral rites held at 4 p.m. today in Nalley-Pickle Chapel were W. B. Brown, Jack Johnson, Jack Richburg, T. W. Alderson, Mack Gamble, Charles Fannin and Josh Johnson.

Mr. Bowen, 62, died Tuesday after a long illness. He was a housepainter and had lived here since 1924. Interment was in the city cemetery.

Houston Colts Launch Play With Champions

HOUSTON — Houston begins its second major league season Tuesday when the Colt 45s, an almost completely rebuilt team, face the pennant-winning San Francisco Giants at Colt Stadium, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

In what may be the toughest task any major league club ever faced in getting away from the wire, the Colt 45s will play the two teams that tied for the pennant, the Giants and the Los Angeles Dodgers, in the first 13 games.

"We are not worrying about having to face the Giants and Dodgers so many games at the start of the season," Manager Harry Craft says. "We have to play them some time and it might as well be at the start as any other time. Our plan has been to get our club in top physical condition and bring our pitchers up to starting line razor sharp. I feel that we have done our work well in spring training and will be ready."

The Colt 45s play the Giants three games, with two night games at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday after the day opener.

THEN THE DODGERS

Then the Los Angeles Dodgers move into Colt Stadium for a 3-game series, Friday and Saturday nights and a Sunday game at 2:30 p.m.

After a day off for travel April 5 then the Colt 45s fly to the West Coast where they open the season at Candlestick Park with three games against the Giants Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday (April 16, 17 and 18). Then they move to Chavez Ravine where they play the Dodgers four games in three days, with a single night game Friday, April 19, followed by a Saturday afternoon game, April 20, and a double header Sunday, April 21.

Many experts are predicting that the Colt 45s will be out of the pennant race in the first two weeks of the season, but these are the same fellows who predicted that the Colt 45s would finish last in their first year in the majors in 1962 and have one of the worst baseball teams in history.

Finsterwald Forgotten Man In Masters Play

By MERCER BAILEY
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—The 27th Masters Golf tournament starts today and veteran Dow Finsterwald finds himself in the role of the forgotten man.

Most of the pre-tournament speculation has centered on golf-dom's ruling triumvirate — Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus. Finsterwald and the other 80 competitors have been lumped together as "the field."

There is a tendency to forget that last year's Masters involved a 3-way playoff. And one of the three men all square at 220 after 72 holes was Dow Finsterwald, an Ohioan who registered but of Tequesta, Fla.

Finsterwald played poorly in the 18-hole tie-breaker, taking a 77 to Palmer's winning 68 and Player's 71. But the fact remains that for 72 holes he matched Palmer and Player stroke for stroke — and finished 11 shots ahead of Nicklaus.

Finsterwald isn't concerned about his "forgotten man" role, nor is he predicting he'll whip the "big three" and the rest of the best the game has to offer. But he insists there is always a chance.

"This is a tournament where you either do or you don't," he said.

He said the Augusta National golf course, with its demanding par of 36-36-72, is playing about the same as last year.

Physically, Finsterwald is a bit under par. He's taking pills for an upset stomach, "probably flu, or a virus"—that hit him Tuesday.

Nicklaus, too, is ailing—bursitis in his left hip hurts him when he walks, but he says it doesn't affect his swing.

Palmer's trouble is with his driving — and shot placement off the tee is a big factor in this tournament.

Both Nicklaus and Palmer, who had been having trouble scoring well earlier this week, closed out practice with subpar cards for nine holes. Nicklaus, who beat Palmer in a playoff for the National Open title last year, had a 4-under-par 32, Palmer a 35.

Palmer is seeking his fourth Masters title, something no other golfer has achieved.

The 85-man field will be trimmed after the first 36 holes. The top 44 players, plus ties, or anyone within 10 shots of the mid-point leader, will qualify for the final 30 rounds.

The Masters is listed as a $20,000 tournament. But it is a listing of convenience. The total prize money is determined in part by attendance, which ranges up to about 40,000 some days.

Last year the total payoff was $109,100 with the winner, Palmer, picking up $20,000. The kitty this year is expected to equal or surpass last year's total.

I'national Li'l League Registers Boys Apr. 6

The International Little League will hold its registration for players from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. Saturday at the Youth Center, Webb AFB.

Any boy who will attain the age of nine years before August 1 and who will not have reached the age of 13 years before August 1 of 1963 is eligible to play Little League baseball. A parent or guardian should accompany each boy to the Youth Center and be prepared to show proof of age for each boy registering. Boys who live off base and reside in the International Little League area are eligible for play.

It is important that all boys who desire to play Little League register on the above date since practice play and talent scouting will begin at 4 p.m., April 8. All try-out practice will be conducted in the large areas north of the NCO Club Little League officials, managers and coaches will be present to supervise playing activity. Boys will use their own playing gloves until team practice starts.

All boys will be given a chance to try out and make the Major League, which consists of six teams for a total of 90 boys. Five minor league teams will accommodate 100 boys and will be the farm clubs or source of player talent for the major teams.

SM Sgt. D. E. Bayless, the league president, said there will be a position for all fathers, officers, and airmen personnel who want to manage, coach or assist in Little League play. He said that personnel who had not signed up should do so at the Youth Center Saturday and get assigned to a position before the playing season gets under way. Sgt. Bayless also stated that all playing equipment had been purchased and is now available to managers at Personnel Services Supply, Bldg. 606.

Tumbleweed Meet Set At Cee City

COLORADO CITY—First phase of a month's celebration of Colorado City's "Tumbleweed Festival" started with the closing of entries in the third annual Tumbleweed Handicap Bowling tournament April 1.

The tournament starts Saturday, April 20th. Singles and doubles events will have May 12 at 9:30 p.m. as its closing date. Entry blanks have been mailed to all bowling lanes in Texas. Last year's tournament gave $2,085 in prizes and this year promoters are aiming at $3,000 in prize money. The bowling tournament is the first part of the fourth annual Tumbleweed Festival, which will be celebrated May 10-11.

Practice Runs? They Count, Too

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—Harry E. Kingery, Roanoke County game warden, says he has heard all the excuses now.

He spotted a 21-year-old Roanoke man fishing in Roanoke River near where trout have been stocked.

Kingery asked to see the man's fishing license. "Haven't got one," he replied.

"Why?" asked the warden.

"Just practicing," the man replied.

The warden handed him a summons to appear in Roanoke County Court. All persons from 16 through 69 must have licenses to fish.

Sports Writer In Conference With Solons

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—An Alabama legislative committee and the state attorney general have met with Sports Editor Benny Marshall of the Birmingham News in their probe of football rigging charges.

However, a statement issued by Rep. Alton Turner of Crenshaw County, chairman of the special legislative investigating committee, gave no indication of the nature of Marshall's testimony.

The committee and Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers are investigating charges that former Georgia athletic director Wallace Butts gave Georgia secrets to Alabama Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant.

The Saturday Evening Post charged in an article that the information was passed before the 1962 Georgia-Alabama game which favored Alabama won, 35-0. Turner also said he had received a collect telegram from Furman Bisher, sports editor of the Atlanta Journal, and that he did not intend to pay the $10.40 due on it.

The chairman said he would leave it up to the legislature to decide whether the committee should pay for the telegram.

Bisher, in Augusta, Ga., for the Masters' Golf Tournament, said Turner had wired him and asked him to come to Alabama and testify.

The sports editor said Turner told him his expense to Montgomery would be paid, and "I naturally sent the answer collect."

The Atlanta writer said he explained in the telegram that he could not go to Montgomery because of the Masters Tournament, but would be willing to talk to the committee anytime in Georgia.

Bisher authored an earlier Post article which was critical of Bryant's tactics. The Alabama coach has filed a $500,000 libel suit in connection with that article.

Bryant also has asked for a retraction of the article containing the charges of a fix.

Butts has filed a $10 million libel suit in connection with the same article.

Hawks Seek Playoff Win

By The Associated Press
The St. Louis Hawks, down 2-0 in their best-of-7 Western Division final playoff, would like nothing better than to believe in the home court myth.

That's the theory that says the National Basketball Association team playing on its home court has a big, big advantage. But it just doesn't work that way.

The Hawks, after losing two straight to the Lakers at Los Angeles, open a two-game set at St. Louis tonight and are hoping that the home court theory holds.

In their last 13 home playoff games, however, the Hawks are just over the 500 mark, 7-6 and in the Eastern Division final, where Boston and Cincinnati are tied 2-2 in a best of seven, the home team hasn't won yet.

The Celtics kept that mark intact Wednesday night, whipping the Royals 128-110 in Cincinnati and squaring the match at 2-2. The series resumes in Boston Saturday.

The Celtics ran in 10 straight in the closing moments of the first period, established a 34-25 lead and were never headed again. Their margin was 70-55 at the half.

Bill Russell scored 26 points for Boston and grabbed 25 rebounds, while Bob Cousy and Sam Jones each had 20 points. Oscar Robertson led the losers with 25 points.

Scotch Foursome Slated Sunday

Koufax Has Trouble Again With Finger

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
An apparent communications breakdown between Sandy Koufax' delicate finger and his arm continued Wednesday as the fireballing Los Angeles left-hander came up with his third consecutive lackluster performance in a 3-2 exhibition loss to Boston at Scottsdale. The 27-year-old southpaw strikeout artist has pronounced the numb finger that sidelined him from July to September last season completely healed, but the arm that made the Dodger dandy the talk of the baseball world doesn't appear to have received the message.

Although the finger has caused no trouble, Koufax has not been sharp in his last three outings, giving up 11 runs in 18 innings. The Red Sox touched him for all their runs on six hits, including a double and triple by Roman Mejias.

Koufax also walked three batters while striking out only three, far below his usual one-inning clip.

Jim Maloney and Jim Brosnan each allowed only one hit in Cincinnati's 5-0 shut out of the New York Mets at Tampa and Denny LeMaster and Tony Cloninger combined for a five-hitter as Milwaukee edged Baltimore 3-2 at West Palm Beach.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Julian Pressley, coach of the Odessa High School baseball team, says that late inning comeback his Bronchos staged against Big Spring last weekend was the greatest rally ever achieved by one of his teams.

"Lubbock had us, 11-0, after two innings one time and we came back and beat them," Pressley said, after the game, "but we were down only 11-8 going into the seventh in that one."

Odessa was behind six runs going into the final inning against Big Spring but tied the score in that round and won it in the eighth.

Other games, San Francisco defeated Cleveland 4-3 at Fresno, Detroit nipped Minnesota 5-4 at Cleveland, Kansas City belted the Chicago White Sox 10-5 at Saratoga, Pittsburgh took the New York Yankees 6-4 at Fort Myers, St. Louis whipped Washington 6-4 at St. Petersburg and Houston downed the Los Angeles Angels 5-2 at Porterville, Calif.

Vada Pinson stroked two hits for Cincinnati, one a run-producing double. Larry Burright and Ed Kranepool got the Mets' hits.

LeMaster held the Orioles to three hits in seven innings before Cloninger finished up. The Braves clinched it with two runs off Milt Pappas in the fifth inning.

The Giants won it, the ninth when Indians' outfielder Walter Bond dropped a line drive by Willie Mays and enabled Harvey Kuenn to score. Bubba Phillips stroked three hits and Jake Wood drove in the decisive run with a fifth inning single as the Tigers held off the Twins.

The A's pounced on White Sox pitchers Juan Pizarro, Herb Score and Mike Joyce for 15 hits.

Roberto Clemente slammed two triples, Julio Gotay collected three singles and Bob Skinner two singles and a double in the Pirates' triumph over the Yankees.

Triplets by Julian Javier, Gene Oliver and Ken Boyer powered the Cardinals while solid relief pitching by Harry Fanok and Bobby Shantz stifled the Senators.

Pete Runnels, last year's American League batting champion, and rookie Leslie Staub each homered in the sixth inning as the Colts beat the Angels.

Speedy Moffett, baseball coach at Snyder High School, knew what he was talking about when he said this would be a rebuilding year for the Tigers. Snyder lost 15 of its first 16 starts this year.

Moffett is working principally with sophomores this spring.

Dodgers Are Favorites

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Where will lightning strike this year in the National League? Milwaukee in 1958, Los Angeles in 1959, Pittsburgh in 1960, Cincinnati in 1961, San Francisco in 1962 and now what?

Five different pennant winners and two playoffs in the last five years make a fellow wary of sticking his neck out—especially one who picked the St. Louis Cardinals to win last year. They finished sixth.

You can make a strong case for Los Angeles, Cincinnati and San Francisco. St. Louis must be considered Pittsburgh and Milwaukee are outsiders. The Phillies are the real long shots. The Cubs, Colts and Mets just hope to be better.

When you came to Florida it was your opinion that the Dodgers should win. A look at Cincinnati and a talk with Fred Hutchinson tipped the scale toward the Reds. Then reports from Arizona visitors about the bright young men who couldn't crack the Giants' lineup revived memories of San Francisco's gallant fight against the Yankees in the World Series.

For better or worse, this is the way it looks from here (and we're already ducking pop bottles from out San Francisco way):

1. Los Angeles
2. Cincinnati
3. San Francisco
4. St. Louis
5. Pittsburgh
6. Milwaukee
7. Philadelphia
8. Chicago
9. Houston
10. New York

District 6-A Meet Nearing

Jimmy Spann, Coahoma High School coach, will serve as director of the District 6-A track and field meet, which takes place on the Memorial Stadium cinders here starting at 10 a.m. Saturday.

The American Business Club will furnish the personnel to help run off the meet. Joe Leach will be the starter.

Merkel is the favorite to win team honors. Other schools which will enter teams include Rotan, the defending titlist, Jim Ned, Roscoe and Wylie, in addition to Coahoma.

First and second place finishers in each event qualify for Regional competition, which will be held in Lubbock two weeks from Saturday.

Finals in the high school high jump, pole vault and discus throw start at 10 a.m., and in the shot put and broad jump at 11 a.m.

Preliminaries in the running events get under way at 10:30 a.m. while the finals in all running events start at 2 p.m. The meet is timed to end shortly after 3:30 p.m.

Freshman teams from each school will also participate, but in a separate division.

Coahoma will go with a team dominated by freshmen.

Among Bulldogs expected to make a splash in the cinder show are Mike Mosley, who has run the 440 in 55 seconds flat this year;

Mike Hinsley, who has done the half mile in 2:11.0; Don Shelburne, who has thrown the discus 133 feet in practice; and a mile relay team consisting of Mosley, Tommy Grant, Johnny Gibson and Marshall Williams, who has made the four laps in 3:45.0.

The meet was held by Wylie last year.

Dean and Reese Team Up Again

"Dizzy" Dean and "Pee Wee" Reese return to their CBS-TV microphone Saturday, April 13, to launch the 11th consecutive season of baseball's Saturday and Sunday "Game-of-the-Week" series.

The opening game will originate from the park of the World Champion New York Yankees, who will meet the Baltimore Orioles. At least 15 of the 20 major league teams will be featured on "Game-of-the-Week" this season.

Baltimore and the Yanks also will be featured in this year's initial Sunday broadcast.

Dean, ready for his 24th campaign as an announcer, will be teaming up with Reese for the fourth straight season. "Diz" has been a "Game-of-the-Week" mainstay since 1953, when the program made its television debut.

The April schedule:

SATURDAYS
13-Baltimore at New York (A)
14-Baltimore at Philadelphia
15-Cleveland at New York
16-Baltimore at New York (A)
17-St. Louis at Philadelphia
18-Cleveland at New York

SUNDAYS

Track Federation Parley Is Scheduled For May 18

ABILENE — A West Texas Track and Field Federation parley will be held May 18 at Abilene Christian College.

Oliver Jackson, ACC track coach and a federation official, announced that this meet will replace the Texas Senior College Championships which was originally scheduled for this date at Abilene.

The West Texas Federation will be conducted under United States Track and Field Federation rules with junior and senior divisions of competition.

High school athletes are eligible to enter either the junior or senior division but athletes above high school classification will be eligible only for the senior division. Regular high school events will be conducted in the junior division and the regular collegiate events will be scheduled for the senior division.

Coaches or individuals should write Oliver Jackson for entry blanks at Station ACC, Box 738.

Texas Relays Lure Hawks

AUSTIN (AP)—About 1,500 athletes will be here Friday and Saturday for the Texas Relays. It's the biggest field in the 36-year history of the gigantic track show.

Members of 128 teams will compete in four main divisions—high school, freshman-junior college, college and university—and three special classes — unattached, junior high and, for the first time, girls.

Preliminaries will begin at 9:45 a.m. Friday.

In advance, two dinners tonight will honor Clyde Littlefield, veteran Texas track coach, who helped found the relays, and visiting coaches and newsmen.

This year's meet is dedicated to Littlefield, who directed it for 32 years.

Record times are predicted by some of track's outstanding performers. They include miler Doyle Burleson, ex-Oregon star, and Bill Dotson, formerly at Kansas.

Strong teams in the university division include ACC, Colorado, Texas A&M, University of Houston, Southern Illinois, Kansas State and Oklahoma State.

Emporia and Texas Southern top the college division. A large junior college-freshman division rates ACC, A&M, Howard County Junior College and Texas high.

In the high school class, Stephen F. Austin of Austin, Dallas Hillcrest, South Houston, Galena Park and Baytown are highly regarded.

Women bowlers at Webb AFB boasting averages of 120 or more are eligible to participate in a summer league this year.

The organizational meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening at Webb. Three more bowlers are needed to fill out the rosters.

Abilene. Deadline for entries will be May 14.

"A meet of this type has been needed in this area for a long time," says Coach Jackson. "It will help greatly in carrying out the main objective of the United States Track and Field Federation—to provide opportunity for the greatest number of athletes to compete in track and field."

Any high school, junior college, or athlete out of college is eligible to enter this meet. It will be a preliminary meet, but not a qualifying meet, to the Texas Track and Field Federation Championships scheduled for Austin, June 1.

The West Texas district's eastern boundary runs roughly along a line including Ranger and Brownwood. Any athletes who compete for schools or colleges west of this line are eligible for this meet.

Colleges who are eligible to enter their freshman and varsity men in this meet include Abilene Christian, McMurry, Hardin-Simmons, Texas Tech, Howard Payne, Texas Western and Sul Ross. Junior Colleges in the area include Howard County Junior College, Lubbock Christian, Cisco Junior College, Ranger Junior College, Amarillo Junior College, Odessa College, and South Plains Junior College. All high schools in the area are eligible to enter participants.

Pat Peebles' five-hit pitching and Ronnie McLean's triple carried Texas Christian into first place in the Southwest Conference baseball race Wednesday.

The Horned Frogs handed Texas A&M its first conference defeat, 4-2, and went out front by half a game.

TCU sought to make it 14 games as it met the Aggies at Fort Worth again today.

Baylor and Texas, each back in the race as the result of A&M's downfall, open a crucial series Friday at Waco.

Wayland Roaring Toward Finals

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Nashville, Tenn., the defending champion, and Wayland College of Plainview, Tex., last year's runners-up, appear to be headed for another title clash in the annual women's AAU National Basketball Tournament.

In Wednesday night's second round, Nashville trounced Denver 66-20 and Wayland routed Salt Lake City 60-35.

Fourth-seeded Topeka, Kan., weathered a late rally by Sioux City, Iowa, and won 41-40.

Iowa Wesleyan, the third-seeded team, rode over Chicago 86-36. In other games, Silverton, Tex., defeated Des Moines 57-48; Houston beat Washington, D.C., 56-44; St. Joseph ousted Milwaukee 68-48; and Omaha eliminated Atlanta 55-37.

Today's quarter-finals, times Eastern Standard:

7 p.m. — Silverton vs. Topeka.
8:15 p.m. — Wayland College vs. St. Joseph.
9:45 p.m. — Nashville vs. Houston.
11 p.m. — Iowa Wesleyan vs. Omaha.

Legislature Takes Big Steps On Controversial Matters

AUSTIN (AP) — The House took its first big step Wednesday toward tackling the politically touchy question of congressional redistricting.

Passed to engrossment and waiting a final vote was Rep. Rayford Price's measure to re-shape Texas' congressional districts.

The Senate ran into filibuster. Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress took the floor to delay Gov. John Connally's proposal to combine the Game and Fish Commission with the State Parks Board.

He called the merger bill "political blackmail." As the Senate quit for the night, Rogers still had the floor and the right to keep talking.

Connally asked the merger of the agencies into a three-man commission as an economy move.

The House debated redistricting for more than four hours. It considered 21 amendments, of which 11 were adopted, and two complete substitutes which both voted down by wide margins.

The redistricting bill allows Dallas County a second congressman, keeps Harris County at two, and merges the district of the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn now served by Rep. Ray Roberts of McKinney with the district of veteran Rep. Wright Patman of Texas.

South Texas picks up the district lost by Northeast Texas. The new seat for Dallas is that of the new congressman given Texas after the 1960 census.

U. S. Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas now serves at large. He was elected in a statewide ballot after the 1961 legislature failed to re-district.

The Senate voted to give Texas sulphur producers a tax break. It sent Connally a bill lowering the production tax from $1.40 to $1.03 per ton. It is estimated this will drop state revenue by $1 million a year.

The House voted to send Connally a measure allowing speed limits up to 70 miles per hour, but recalled the bill when members heard that the Department of Public Safety said it outlaws the use of radar devices in catching speeders.

State Rep. Forest Harding of

Dies Of Injuries

DALLAS (AP)—Pamela Sutterfield, 5, died today of injuries suffered March 11 when a car struck her.

San Angelo, sponsor of the speed bill, asked for a conference committee to work out differences with the Senate.

Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, amended the original House bill in the Senate. The amendment forbids peace officers to hide, lie in wait or use concealed or partly concealed devices—radar.

The night speed limit would be 65 m.p.h. for autos. Trucks could travel 60 m.p.h. during the day and 55 at night.

Supporters of a permanent voter registration system in the House beat off an attempt to send such a measure back to committee. The Senate has passed an annual registration bill levying a 25-cent fee.

Rep. Bill Walker of Cleveland, who asked further committee study of the voter bill, said he favors a fee up to 75 cents, annual registration and ability to read and write English as a prerequisite to voting.

Blustery Cold Weather Hits

By The Associated Press

Blustery wintry weather spread from the northern Plains into northern Midwest areas and damaging wind storms lashed the Great Lakes region today.

The spring storm that hit the northern Plains dumped a foot of snow in eastern Wyoming. It tapered off as it moved north and west of the storm center from eastern North Dakota and Minnesota into northern Wisconsin. Light snow and flurries, however, were whipped by strong winds.

Five inches of snow fell in Fargo, N.D., Wednesday with amounts in some areas measuring eight inches. Lesser falls were reported in South Dakota, Minnesota and Nebraska.

Wind gusts up to 69 miles per hour hammered the Chicago area and many sections in northeast Illinois. The stiff winds toppled trees and signs, snapped power lines and shattered windows. At least five persons were injured in Chicago.

There were some wet spots today in the North Atlantic Coast states, the Lower Great Lakes region and the eastern Ohio Valley. Heavy showers were reported in some areas along with drizzle, freezing rain and fog. But precipitation was generally light in most other sections of the nation. Skies were cloudy over most of the Upper Great Lakes region, the northern half of the Mississippi Valley, the northern Plateau and the Pacific Coast. Fair to partly cloudy weather prevailed in other areas.

Rain Caves In Houston Store Roof

By The Associated Press

Torrential rain caved in the roof of a big Houston store Wednesday evening and patchy showers roamed North, Central and East Texas through the night.

The moisture was set off by a weak cold front, which stalled by early Thursday along a line from Lufkin to Laredo.

Rainfall was generally light except for the downpour in North Houston, where there was no official measurement.

The quickly accumulated water broke through the roof of Britts Department Store in Houston's new Northline Shopping City. Water up to 3 inches deep covered much of the floor space. Two store employees — Max F. Blackburn, 23, and Fred Rozell, 20 — suffered minor injuries.

The store had closed for the night and employees were preparing to leave.

"If it had happened on a Monday or Thursday night, when we stay open late, it would have been really bad," said Jimmy Kayser, 21, another worker in the Houston store.

During the night and early morning light showers fell around Fort Worth, McKinney, Paris, Kaufman, Mount Pleasant, Sulphur Springs, Temple, Tyler, Hamilton, Palestine, Lufkin, College Station, San Antonio and Junction.

There was fog early in the day at Beaumont, Houston and Galveston.

Shower activity was expected to increase and spread northward behind the cold front Thursday night and Friday.

Top temperatures Wednesday afternoon varied from 62 degrees at Dalhart to 92 at Laredo.

Readings before dawn Thursday ranged down to 43 at Dalhart.

City Prohibits Hate Symbols

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The City Council has passed a resolution prohibiting the display of the Nazi swastika or the Soviet hammer and sickle.

The ordinance, passed Wednesday, was submitted following a disturbance at a Miami Beach hotel last month. Police took into custody two men identified as members of the American Nazi party.

Lubbock Man Dies In Plane

GUTHRIE, Tex. (AP)—M. C. Bird, 40, of Lubbock was found dead near his wrecked airplane in a pasture 19 miles northwest of here Wednesday.

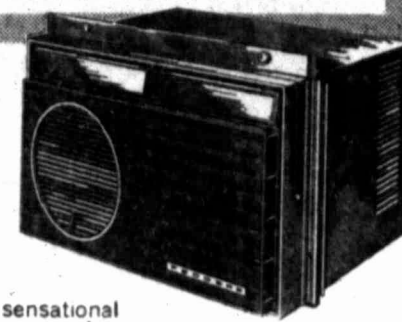

He had been missing since

Monday.

King County Sheriff Dub Hollar reported the body was 150 feet from the wreckage of the small four-passenger plane.

Byrd owned a sand and gravel company at Lubbock. He was en route to Dallas when the plane crashed.

Teague Survey No Comfort For JFK

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy may find food for thought, if not comfort, in the results of a questionnaire Rep. Olin Teague (D-Tex.) circulated in his congressional district.

Teague, chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, conferred recently with the President about veterans' problems.

During their talk Teague showed Kennedy a copy of the questionnaire. The President asked if he could see the results when the replies were tabulated.

Teague has virtually completed the tabulation—and finds that the responses are about 3 to 1 against various proposals backed by the administration. On one question, which asks: "In general, do you agree with the programs of the Kennedy administration?" the response was: yes—689; no—2,239; no answer—150.

Most questions set forth the principal provision of the issues involved and principal arguments for and against. Briefly, these are the questions and the responses:

1. Immediate tax cuts are necessary for both individuals and corporations to promote national economic growth: Yes—916; no—2,046; no answer—116.
2. The foreign aid program should be continued: Yes—931; no—2,019; no answer—128.
3. Congress should enact compulsory federal program of medical care for the aged under social security: Yes—705; no—2,300; no answer—73.

4. Do you favor federal aid to education for construction of schools, paying teachers' salaries and expanded scientific training?: Yes—527; no—2,489; no answer—62.

5. Should non-service-connected pensions be increased for 65-year-old war veterans?: Yes—453; no—2,529; no answer—96.

6. Should production controls and price supports be applied to major crops?: Yes—497; no—2,439; no answer—142.

7. Should laws be enacted providing formula for reduction of national debt?: Yes—2,133; no—774; no answer—171.

8. The space program must continue to have high priority and support?: Yes—1,937; no—935; no answer—206.

9. Do you agree with Kennedy programs?: Yes—689; no—2,239; no answer—150.

10. Should the Peace Corps be expanded and should a domestic Peace Corps be added?: Yes—1,017; no—1,777; no answer—284.

AROUND THE CAPITAL:

Members of Congress were recently offered free servings of rice in the Senate and House restaurants. Sen. John Tower (R-Tex.) used the occasion to tell the Senate about Texas rice.

"Most Americans tend to think of Texas as a beautiful land with vast herds of cattle, numerous oil wells, great cities, pretty girls, a wonderful climate, and unlimited opportunity for the young at heart. And all this is true.

"However, Texas has much more than this. The state produces, as a rule, more rice than is produced in any of the other states.

I say as a rule, for occasionally we allow one of the other states to come in first. We do this to keep them from getting an inferiority complex."

He then commended the rice industry for conducting a self-help program to increase consumption, and added:

"I urge my colleagues to partake of rice when they have the opportunity—Texas rice if at all possible."

Rep. Ed Foreman (R-Tex.) says his mail indicates agreement with ranchers along the Pecos River should act on their own to get rid of water-consuming salt cedars.

Foreman, in opposing bills introduced by Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Rep. Joe Pool, Texas Democrats, to authorize the Agriculture Department to undertake a program to eradicate the weed, said:

"You may consider my reasoning on this in error—or at least politically questionable. If every one of our 435 representatives, Democrats and Republicans alike, had guts enough to say 'no!' to these federal handouts and back away from the pork barrel, we could do something effective about our tremendous budget and deficit spending . . . It has been encouraging and reassuring, indeed, to find that my mail has been running better than 40 to 1 in favor of my stand in opposition to this 'do-it-for-us' project."

Hendrix Will Attend Meet

Jack Hendrix, chairman of the music department for Howard County Junior College, will participate Friday and Saturday in the annual meeting of the Texas Association of Music Schools.

This year's meeting, he said, will involve several important matters. One is a report by the ethics committee concerning a uniform plan to be adopted by the member schools in awarding scholarships. Particular attention will be given to transfer students in the policy statement.

Another major matter to be considered is the recommendation of the TAMS Commission on Curriculum. The entire curriculum has been and is still undergoing study and revision by committees from the Texas Education Agency. This is affecting all majors and all degree programs in their field of music. The association is due to forward its recommendations to the Texas Education Agency.

Viland Still Paces Field

CHICAGO (AP) — A Rambler American piloted by Les Viland of Livonia, Mich., paced the field today as 36 cars headed for the motor city in the seventh and last lap of the Los Angeles to Detroit Mobil Economy Run.

Viland maintained a 29.26 miles-per-gallon average Wednesday as the cars arrived in a suburb of Chicago from Omaha. Position and m.p.g. were unchanged in other categories.

The 499.2 mile run from Omaha to Chicago Wednesday consumed 12 hours and 9 minutes for a minimum average of 41.06 miles per hour.

Judge Offers Some Tips For Jurors

Do make yourself available for jury duty, but don't do a lot of things not required or permitted of jurors, Downtown Lions were advised Wednesday.

Judge Ralph Caton, who presides over the 118th Judicial District, passed on some tips to prospective jurors to save time and money.

The court (judge) and jurors form a law-fact team and neither is permitted to encroach on the others duties, he pointed out. The court interprets the law, the jury determines fact from the evidence.

The temptation arises frequently in the jury room to do a little legislating, that is tailoring the law to fit a case, he said. Sometimes the jury unwittingly assumes the role of the court, and even speculates about what the board of pardons and parole might do. All of this is improper and irregular, said Judge Caton.

Some of the don'ts he listed were:

Don't decide a winner in a civil suit and then answer issues accordingly.

Don't speculate on matters not shown in evidence.

Don't be timid if you have a bias and prejudice in a case; speak up.

Don't try to settle matters by lot (flipping a coin, etc.) or by averaging out the opinions of jurors.

Don't discuss the case with anyone, even with other jurors until the case has been given to the jury.

A lot of mistrials can be avoided if jurors will listen closely to the instructions of the court, and try to answer only the issues propounded by the court, he said.

Change Of Venue Hearing Delayed

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Judge A. Royce Stout of Waxahachie postponed indefinitely Thursday a hearing on Humble Oil & Refining Co.'s petition for a change of venue in its civil suit against Tyler oilman H. L. Long.

The postponement was granted because Long is represented by Rep. Joe Cannon of Groesbeck, who is in Austin attending the legislature.

Judge Stout said a new hearing date probably would be set within 30 days after the legislature adjourns.

Long is accused by Humble of taking oil from its leases in the New London field by slant hole drilling. In February a jury ruled in favor of Long, but Judge Stout set aside the verdict, terming it "a rank miscarriage of justice."

Humble claims prejudice prevails in Rusk County.

Pershing Ends Test Program

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Pershing artillery missile closed out a 37-month test flight program here Wednesday night with a successful 200-mile mission.

The Army announced success of the flight and reported the launch involved use of ground support equipment which troops would need to fire the Pershing in the field. The weapon is to be assigned to North Atlantic Treaty Organization troops in Western Europe within a few months.

The shot was the last research and development flight scheduled for Pershing from Cape Canaveral. A few Army service firings are scheduled in the next two months before the rocket bids farewell to this test center.

Follow-on Army practice launches will be conducted at White Sands, N.M.

The Pershing is capable of delivering a nuclear payload to targets up to 400 miles away. Since the first Pershing was launched Feb. 25, 1960, 44 of 52 flights were successful.

Body Found

SEADRIFT, Tex. (AP) — The body of William Craig, 36, was found on St. Joseph Island in San Antonio Bay near here Wednesday. The Portland, Tex., man had been missing since Jan. 27 when he fell from his shrimp boat.

P-TA Schedules Talent Show

The Elbow Parent-Teachers Association is planning a talent show for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

Anyone is invited to try for the $5, $3 and $2 prizes, and there will be a 50-cent entry fee for participants. The admission fee will be 50 and 25 cents with proceeds going toward air conditioning the building.

In addition to the talent contestants, there will be a string band composed of Jimmy Blanton, Jess Miles, Billie Miles, Jack Price and H. C. Tidwell. Show pupils also will present an act with their musical jugs.

DEAR ABBY

Old Story . . .
New Twist

DEAR ABBY: I need some advice about a very touchy problem. I'm married to a man who has been in the service since 1959. We have a four-year-old son. Every month I get an allotment check for me and my son. Two years ago I met a man and we started going together. I have had two children by this other man. Since the birth of my last child (in November) I found out I no longer love this other man. I'd like to get rid of him. Can I get him to support his two children? I don't want to lose the allotment check from my husband. Can this other man cause me trouble? Sign me.

DEAR "B": The laws on child support differ in various states. Your local Legal Aid Society can advise you concerning your own case. For you to accept an allotment check amid such deceit takes plenty of gall. Whether this "other man" can cause you more trouble than he has already caused you is anybody's guess. He might be just as glad to get rid of you as you are to get rid of him.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what you think of a priest who plays cards for money. I did not actually SEE him playing cards, but the person who told me was in the game, so I know it's true.

CHURCH-GOER
DEAR GOER: If card-playing is contrary to the rules of the church, shame on the priest. Otherwise, what's good for the flock is good for the leader.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a very good-looking young woman working for him. She is 28 and has just divorced her fourth husband. When she was ready to leave the last one, she called my husband (at home) and asked if he knew the name of a good moving van company. One Saturday she called my husband at home and asked him to take her little boy to the ball game because she couldn't get her car started. I trust my husband, but I know how this little tramp operates. Should I call her and tell her to quit bothering my husband?

TAKING MY CHANCES
DEAR TAKING: A woman with HER experience shouldn't have to inquire about moving van companies. She should retain one on a yearly basis. No employer is "bothered" any more than he wants to be. It's your husband who should be talked to—not his employee.

Stop worrying. Write to Abby. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif.

French Coal Walkout Ends

PARIS (AP) — France's coal mines are expected to reopen this weekend, following settlement of the month-long miners' strike that gave President Charles de Gaulle his biggest home front setback since he returned to power in 1958.

The managers of the government-owned mines and the union reached a compromise settlement Wednesday night. Quick ratification by leaders of the 170,000 miners in the coal basins was predicted.

Though the miners gave some ground in the settlement, De Gaulle's prestige had suffered. Early in the strike he ordered the men back to the pits under a requisition decree threatening them with dismissal, fines or jail. The miners defied the order. And other unions threatened a general strike, contending De Gaulle's decree abridged the right to strike. The government did nothing to enforce the order.

The miners had demanded an 11 per cent wage increase, a 40-hour week and a fourth week of vacation. The government offered a 5.7 per cent increase and a re-study of wage scales in September.

The agreement provides for a 6.5 per cent pay hike effective April 1 and periodic boosts until the total increase reaches 12.5 per cent next April 1. Union leaders said the fourth vacation week was assured and the work week reduction will be studied by a management-union conference.

The government also promised to re-examine the whole wage schedule in September.

The coal miners have been averaging about $36 for a six-day, 46-hour week.

De Gaulle's government faces wage demands from utility and rail workers.

A government-appointed study committee has recommended increases of between 3.1 and 3.6 per cent for electrical and gas workers and 4.7 to 5.2 per cent for railroad workers.

MRS. WILLARD A. MASON JR.

Food For Thought Is In Mason's Kitchen

By JO BRIGHT

A few kitchens still have geraniums on the window sill. Some shine with copper salad molds hung over the stove. Even more have black wrought iron trivets mounted on the walls.

At 105 Gunter Circle, what catches your eye in the kitchen is fastened to a cabinet and is none of those things. It is the thought-provoking picture of a child, impulsively clipped from a magazine, and underneath, the cutline reads: "the bravest are the happiest."

The light-hearted household is that of Maj. and Mrs. Willard A. Mason Jr. and the four young ladies—Jill, Linda, Kathy and Julie—who are their daughters. The picture is a small thing, placed there casually. But in a future time they may all remember it, for different reasons, and face a difficult situation with needed courage.

MOVED OFTEN

Maj. and Mrs. Mason came to Webb Air Force Base four years ago from Sherman where he had been stationed for the previous six years. A long tour of duty in one location, though commonplace now, was not always so. For the first 11 years of their marriage, Mrs. Mason suspects she saw less of her husband than the men who came to roll up the rugs.

"During that phase we didn't live in the same house for as long as a year," she said. "But an easy going era began when the transfer to Texas came, and we've stayed put ever since."

Mr. and Mrs. Mason, both reared in Brockton, Mass. were friends as high school students. Following graduation he entered Northwestern University in Boston, and she attended the Katherine Gibbs School there.

A month after the Pearl Harbor bombing, he joined what was then the Army Air Corps, and they were married in 1943 at Walnut Ridge Army Air Force Base in Arkansas.

ACTIVE GIRLS

Their first child, Jill, is now a 19-year-old beauty who is completing her second year at San Angelo College. She was a duchess for the college's homecoming observance this year.

Linda and Kathy are the talented twins. Vivaciously 16, they are juniors at Big Spring Senior High School where both were elected to Who's Who and the National Honor Society. Imaginative and graceful, they have performed original dance routines at civic functions.

Pretty Julie, nine, may be the intellectual of the brood. An avid reader, she's worldly-wise enough to abandon the books in a hurry when a good-looking man beckons. When her dad even hints that he'd like a companion—he's got one.

The refrain heard by mothers the world over, "The closet is bare, and there's nothing to wear," is quieted by the whirr of a machine as Mrs. Mason sews for all four girls—and enjoys it. Her service work is done as a Gray Lady at the Webb Hospital.

Maj. Mason is an Explorer Scout Post advisor but with refreshing honesty admits that his favorite pastime is relaxing, and believes his true talents may lie in this field.

"Food! With talk of many things, the reporter almost forgot the subject at hand until Mrs. Mason remembered the warm fudge squares. What compulsive eater could resist? They made good munching on the way back to town."

Here are dishes that are served often in the Mason home.

TRADITIONAL

Select The Perfect Ham For Eastertime Serving

After the egg hunt the family usually gathers for the traditional Easter dinner. In many homes a glazed ham has become an important part of the dinner menu.

If ham is your family's favorite, why not make it picture pretty by surrounding the glazed ham with "Easter Eggs." Other springtime favorites such as green asparagus help to complete the menu. A basket of colorful spring flowers adds a party air to the table.

For the special Easter dinner or for any family meal, the wise homemaker selects the ham that best fits her needs. The two most trusted words in meat tell the homemaker the ham has been brown sugar cured and smoked to give that most desired flavor.

There is a size and shape to fit every occasion. The short-shank, bone-in ham weighs up to 24 pounds. It is often cut into halves or pieces of 4 to 6 pounds. The short shank ham is available either cook-before-eating or fully cooked. Fairly new and growing in popularity, is the semi-boneless, fully cooked ham. The ham is skinless and only the main bone remains so that carving is easier. The boneless ham is easily sliced for serving. It is boneless and fully cooked. The whole ham may weigh from 8 to 10 or 12 pounds or it may be cut into smaller roasts for smaller families. Perfect for pan-broiling and families of two is the bone-in ham slice. It is accented with a protective glaze of the ham while it is refrigerated.

The fully cooked ham is ready to slice and serve or it may be heated to an internal temperature of 130 degrees F. on a roast meat thermometer. A cook-before-eating ham is brought to 160 degrees F. on a roast meat thermometer, inserted into the center of the thickest portion. A simple glaze of brown sugar, mustard and fruit juice can be spread over the ham for the last 20 or 30 minutes of the heating time.

STUFFED PRUNES

1 qt. cold water
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 lb. prunes
3 ozs. cream cheese
1 tsp. milk
1/4 cup chopped nuts
2 tbsps. chopped citron
1/4 tsp. ground ginger
Light corn syrup
Tinted coconut

Combine water and lemon juice in a bowl. Add prunes. Cover and let stand overnight. Remove seed from prunes. Soften cream cheese and blend in milk. Stir in nuts, citron and ginger.
Stuff each prune with some of the cream cheese mixture. Dip each stuffed prune into corn syrup and then roll in tinted coconut. Arrange prunes in clusters around ham.

HOT SPAGHETTI

1 lb. sausage
1 green pepper, chopped
1 large onion, chopped
1 lb. can tomatoes
1 can condensed tomato soup
1 cup water
4 tbsps. chili powder
Pepper and salt
1/2 lb. spaghetti

Brown sausage lightly over low heat, drain off excess fat. Add green pepper and onion and saute until tender. Add tomatoes, tomato soup and water, chili powder, salt and pepper. Simmer one hour, add a little more water if necessary. Cook spaghetti according to package directions. Drain and mix well with sauce. Serves four.

CHICKEN CASSEROLE

3 lb. chicken pieces
1/4 cup seasoned flour
1/4 cup salad oil
1 small sliced onion
1 sliced clove garlic
3 or 4 pieces of celery chopped
1 carrot
1 1/2 cups hot chicken stock (or 1 1/2 cups hot water and 2 chicken bouillon cubes)
1 cup sliced mushrooms
2 tbsps. butter
12 sliced stuffed olives

Shake chicken pieces in paper bag with seasoned flour. Brown chicken in salad oil. Place in a casserole. Cook in fat for ten minutes the onion, garlic, celery and carrot. Place vegetables in the casserole. Pour over them the hot chicken stock or bouillon. Cover and bake in a slow oven 325 degrees for about one hour. Saute mushrooms in butter for five minutes and add these with the sliced olives to the chicken about five minutes before it is done.

SCALLOPED POTATOES

4 medium potatoes
One onion, finely chopped
2 cups leftover ham, cubed
1 can cream of chicken soup
1/4 cup milk
Pepper and salt to taste
Peel potatoes and slice in thin circles. Mix all other ingredients together. Layer potatoes in casserole with sauce spooned over each layer. Bake at 350 degrees for about 1 1/2 hours or until potatoes are tender. Uncover for last 15 minutes of cooking time.

BRAMBLES

1 cup sugar
1 cup raisins
Grated rind and juice of 1 lemon
1 egg
3 tbsps. butter
Piecrust for 2 crust pie

Line 13x9 inch baking pan with half of pie crust. Cut piece off here and add there to shape to pan.
Mix sugar, raisins, juice and rind of lemon, egg and butter together in small pan. Cook over medium heat until sugar is melted and mixture is sort of jellied looking. Spread cooked mixture over crust in tin and cover with upper crust. Prick top with fork and rub over with milk. Bake at 400 degrees for about 10 minutes or until crust is brown. Cut in squares.

FUDGE SQUARES

2 squares chocolate
1 stick butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs beaten
1 tsp. vanilla
1/4 cup flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 cup chopped pecans

Melt chocolate and butter in top of double boiler. Remove from heat. Add sugar, mix well. Add beaten eggs and vanilla. Add flour and salt gradually. Pour into greased 13 x 9 inch pan. Sprinkle pecans on top. Bake at 400 degrees for 12 minutes. Cut cookies into squares when removed from oven, but allow to cool before removing from pan.

Whimsy In Bunnies At Easter

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

Along with coloring Easter eggs, your small fry would probably get a big thrill out of helping you make some very special bunnies.

These little bunnies are ingenious; a whimsical cook thought them up. Tried in our own kitchen, and served with slices of baked ham, we found them fun to offer.

A grown-up cook will have to make the potato-and-cornmeal polenta base for these rabbits. But after the mixture is chilled and turned out of its pan, small boys and girls can use rabbit-shaped cookie cutters to cut out the bunnies from this polenta. They can also cut out the cheese bunnies that top the polenta.

POLENTA BUNNIES

2 1/2 cups finely-diced mealy potatoes

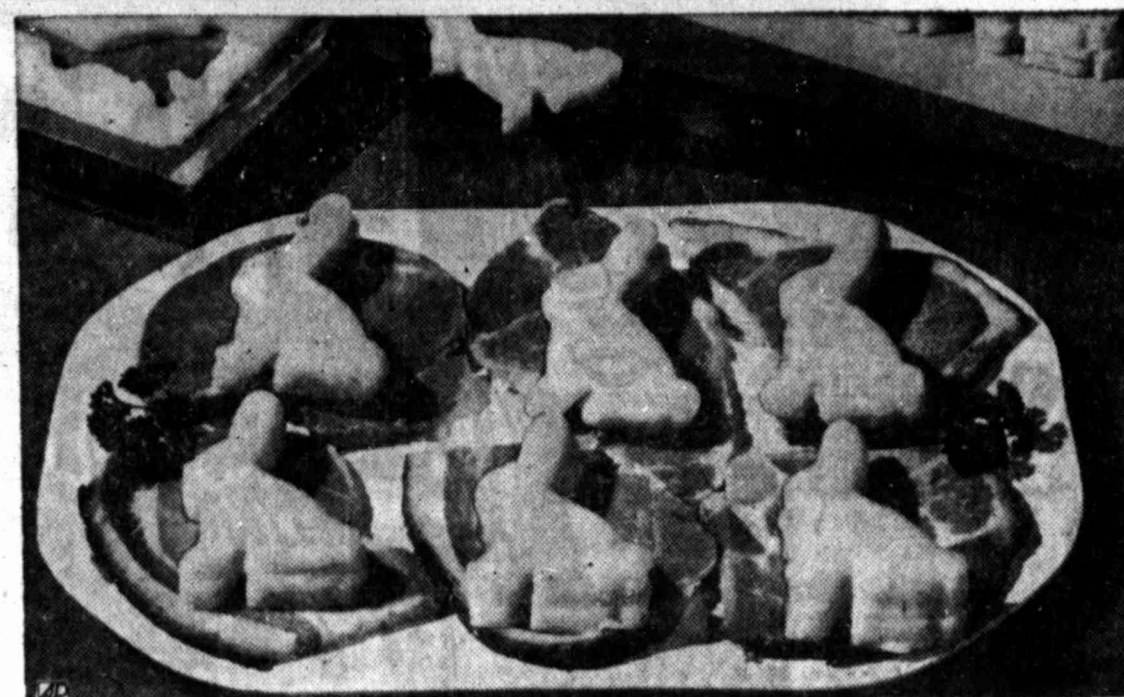

Boiling water
1/4 cup enriched white cornmeal
1 cup cold water

Salt
Grated cheddar cheese
Melted butter

Sliced cheddar cheese
Cook the potatoes in a small amount of boiling water until tender; drain. Add enough boiling water to the potato water to make two cups; return to drained potatoes. Stir together the cornmeal and cold water; slowly pour into the cooked potatoes and boiling water mixture, stirring constantly. Bring to boiling point; beat until mixture is smooth; add salt to taste. Cover and continue cooking over low heat, stirring often, for 25 minutes. Pour into a buttered 15 by 10 inch jelly roll pan. Cool slightly; cover and chill several hours or overnight.

Loosen edges; turn out of pan

4-B Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., April 4, 1963

Easter Whimsy

The bunnies are frivolous fancies for small fry, and were thought up by a whimsical cook. After the polenta is prepared the wee ones can cut them out.

Cookies And Tea For One And All

Gather friends, neighbors and the family around and serve these good cookies with a spot of tea!

REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

2 1/4 cups sifted flour
1 1/2 tsp. baking powder
1 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar

1 large egg
1 tbsps. grated orange rind
2 tbsps. orange juice
1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts

Sift together the flour and baking powder. Cream butter and sugars; beat in egg, orange rind and orange juice. Stir in sifted dry ingredients and walnuts.

Pack cookie dough into 4 empty cans (6-ounce size) from frozen fruit-juice concentrate; cover tightly; chill overnight.

Push out dough from one can; slice into 12 rounds; place, 1 inch apart, on ungreased cookie sheet; bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 12 to 14 minutes or until lightly browned around edges.

Cut and bake the remaining cans of cookie dough the same way. Makes 4 dozen substantial cookies.

MRS. GEORGE STEPHEN BAIRD

Baird-Troy Wedding Performed In Dallas

The marriage of Miss Mary Sue Troy and George Stephen Baird, was solemnized Wednesday afternoon in the Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Dallas. The Rev. Sherlock officiated in the double ring rites.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Mack A. Troy of Leawood, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Baird, 1301 Dixie Ave.

Flanking the nuptial scene were baskets of white gladioli and lemons. A program of Georgian music was presented by Fred Cook, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight silk poise de soie designed with chapel train. The scalloped neckline and front panel of the bodice was formed by Alencon lace enhanced with seed pearls and crystals. Her veil of silk organza was secured with a rose crown of candlelight satin. She carried white roses and English ivy centered with gardenias.

Mrs. W. C. Phelon, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sue Pamperin, Green Bay, Wis.; Miss Carole Sabbia, Dallas; and Miss Kathie Koppa, Dallas. The bridesmaid was Mrs. H. E. Wilbanks, Dallas.

All wore lavender silk poise de soie dresses and carried white net parasols with lavender lilacs.

J. T. Baird Jr., brother of the bridegroom, Cambridge, Mass., was best man. Ushers were R. L. Carpenter, Ron McCollum, Erwin Wilbanks, Jerry Ligon and Ronald Richie all of Dallas, and David D. Howard, Kansas City, Mo.

Kathleen Marie Troy, niece of the bride, served as flower girl.

RECEPTION
After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Statler Hilton Hotel, Dallas, where the refreshment table was centered with the wedding cake flanked by candelabra. The cake, frosted white, was three tiered and columned.

Miss Katie Welch of Weslaco was in charge of the register. Among the out of town guests were Tim, David and Kevin Troy, of Kansas City, the bride's brothers; Mr. and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, Big Spring; and the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Ray Cardwell of Toft.

WEDDING TRIP
The couple left afterward for New Orleans, La. For travel the bride chose a beige and white checked cotton suit and bone and white accessories. She wore the gardenia from her bridal bouquet.

They will return to make their home at 3121 Daniels, Apt. 3, Dallas.

They will attend Southern Methodist University where he will do graduate work in Law School. Baird is a senior engineering student and a member of Delta Chi fraternity and Sigma Tau, honorary engineering fraternity. He will graduate May 27 with a BSEE degree. The bride, a junior at SMU, is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

'The Twilight Zone' Subject For Program

"The Twilight Zone of the Future" was the program topic when Bruce Frazier was guest speaker for the 1946 Hyperion Club Wednesday afternoon.

Frazier envisioned a fabulous future for which science would provide the key. He told of incredible advances in all fields, saying that many things which will be commonplace in the future have already been developed and are ready to be put into use whenever feasible.

Mrs. C. W. Shouse, vice president, conducted the business session during which the resignation of Mrs. Don Newsom was accepted.

A new slate of officers was elected, those named being Mrs. Shouse, president; Mrs. Rene Brown, vice president; Mrs. Grant Boardman, recording secretary; Mrs. Les Beauvais, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Wayne Basden, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Johnson, reporter; and Mrs. Ralph Hughes, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Gil Gingold, hostess, and Mrs. Brown, cohostess, served refreshments from a tea table laid with a white cutwork cloth. The centerpiece was an arrangement of iris and tulips. Silver appointments were used.

The installation luncheon will be held May 1 in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club.

Harley Grants Visit In Forsan

FORSAN (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Harley Grant and sons, Jimmy Gary and Rickie, of McCarney have been visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Jones.

Mrs. Vera Harris has had as guests Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Woods and daughters, Misses Sally, Lisa and Becky Harris, and Miss Ann Foster of Odessa.

Mrs. J. M. Craig has returned from a few days visit in Andrews with her daughter and family, the Bobby Bakers.

The Rev. and Mrs. Watson Harris, Texico, N. M., and the Rev. and Mrs. A. F. Carr, Big Spring, were recent visitors of the P. P. Howards.

Mrs. George Abbe was also a recent visitor with her parents, the P. P. Howards.

Review At Lamesa By Mrs. Angel

"Please Don't Eat The Daisies" was reviewed Tuesday by Mrs. Clyde Angel for the Future Homemakers of America at Lamesa High School. This is the fourth year that Mrs. Angel has presented a book review for the group.

Patriotism Is Program Theme

Patriotism, citizenship and democracy set the theme for the Marcy School Parent-Teachers Association program Tuesday evening. Concluding a contest among the students, posters, skits and themes were judged, and the winners named.

Judges were W. W. Brown, Mrs. Bedford Underwood and Mrs. Larson Lloyd.

First place in essay writing went to Greta Hager, fifth grade; runner-up, Kathy Head, fifth grade and third, Barbara Todd, sixth grade.

For dramatizations, a sixth grade class was first, with fourth grade classes taking second and third places.

The six winning posters, which were displayed, were prepared by Lynn Bonz, third grade; Linda Bryan, third; Doug Collins, third grade; Kim Gehrig, second grade; Donna Phillips, second grade; and Sharon Phillips, first grade.

Guest speaker for the evening was Joe Pickle, managing editor of the Big Spring Herald, who talked on "Patriotism," pointing out the freedoms possessed by U.S. citizens. His closing thought, that all men are created equal, cited the inalienable rights of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.

The program, under the direction of Mrs. E. F. Sieja, also included a performance by the winning dramatization class and essays read by the three winners.

Col. Charles Head, president, announced the next meeting for May 7, when there will be the election and induction of new officers.

P-TA SESSION

Five Units Represented For Council Meeting

The Parent Teach Association Council met Tuesday morning in the Goliad School cafeteria, with representatives from five of the nine units attending.

For the devotion, Mrs. R. E. Ray, president, read the national P-TA prayer.

Reports were given by Mrs.

Floyd Williams and Miss Bo Bowen concerning the spring conference of the 16th District in Lamesa March 30. Miss Bowen received a state life membership by the local council at the luncheon there.

Council officers will be installed at a luncheon to be held in Coker's Restaurant at 12 o'clock noon May 7. Named to luncheon committees were Mrs. J. W. Lancaster and Mrs. Loran Warren, reservations; Mrs. Darrell Hulme and Mrs. Ray Pipes, registration; and Mrs. Buford Hull and Mrs. E. C. Miller, decorations.

Following the luncheon, a school of instruction will be held for all officers and chairmen in the units of the city. Mrs. Hull will instruct presidents and vice presidents, with Mrs. R. E. Ray and Mrs. D. B. McCann assisting. Secretaries will be instructed by Mrs. Roy Watkins and treasurers by Mrs. T. A. Harris Jr.

The final session of the council group will be held the evening of April 8. Further announcement will be made regarding the discussion leader and program.

NCO Wives' Club Meets For Coffee

The Non-Commissioned Officer's Club welcoming coffee was held from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Tuesday morning in the NCO Club at Webb Air Force Base. Hostesses were Mrs. Johnny Clements and Mrs. Ralph Desaur.

The special prize was won by Mrs. Clements, and the door prize went to Mrs. Frank Peralta.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Harry Barker, vice president, would be leaving soon for Otis Air Force Base, and that Mrs. James W. Raughley would depart for Amarillo Air Force Base.

The refreshment table, covered with a white lace cloth, featured a centerpiece of yellow mums and blue iris. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

E. Airharts Have Guests At Knott

KNOTT (SC)—Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Airhart were her brother, Fred Grist of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Airhart of New Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl James and family visited relatives in Coleman County during the week.

The Rev. G. W. Davenport has returned to his home in Big Spring after conducting a 10-day revival at the First Baptist Church.

W. M. Nichols is receiving medical treatment in a Big Spring hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Morrison and family of Hobbs, N. M., were recent guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Vernon King and family and Mrs. Walter Burton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Plunkett of Menard were recent guests of her brother, J. W. Motley, who is ill at his home. Also, the Plunketts visited with Mr. and Mrs. Arch Hodnett and Mr. and Mrs. Porter Motley.

Mr. and Mrs. John McGregor were in El Paso during the week when they met his brother, Winston McGregor, who accompanied them back to Big Spring.

Mrs. Arch Hodnett reports that her sister, Mrs. Grace Barlow is recovering from major surgery at Hendricks Memorial Hospital in Abilene. Mrs. Barlow is a former resident of the community.

Program On Dating For Tri-Hi-Y

How girls should dress and act on dates was discussed at a program given for Tri-Hi-Y members Tuesday evening at the YMCA.

Taking part on the panel were Cooper Procter and Mike Schaffer, students at Runnels Junior High School; and Bobby Thompson and Bobby Plowman, Goliad seventh graders.

During a question and answer period, the boys said they would like for girls to dress neatly and wear less make-up.

Mrs. Eastham Leaves

Mrs. J. H. Eastham left this morning for Kerens, where her mother, Mrs. Sadie Holleman, will undergo surgery Saturday.

Panelists On Club Program

Table settings were discussed, evaluated, criticized and recommended during a panel program given for the Big Spring Garden Club Wednesday morning.

The regular meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Stripling where coffee was served from a silver appointed table spread with a white Viennese lace cloth. Spirea and orchid tinted mums were arranged in a silver bowl as a centerpiece. Mrs. Allen R. Hamilton presided at the coffee service.

Mrs. John Knox, Mrs. E. S. Riley and Mrs. John Hogan served as panelists, each devoting her time to a particular phase in the art of table setting.

Mrs. Knox, explaining that tables should be arranged with dark and light tones, stressed the use of something dark, something light, something dull and something bright. She talked of the use of candles, appropriate for dinners in white and ivory tones; arrangements, linens and accessories planned to the pattern of china; and flowers arranged low enough not to obstruct across-the-table viewing.

Mrs. Riley enumerated the common faults in table arrangements, stating that most often the design is "too busy."

A card table was set up by Mrs. Hogan to demonstrate "Breakfast at the Hogans," a casual and informal duplication of many at-home breakfasts.

Twenty-one members, joining in a general discussion, were invited afterwards to attend a flower exchange Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Mrs. Hogan's home. Gardening attire will be worn.

"Cut and come again."

DAILY GUIDE—Plan with the thought in mind that changes are probably going to shade things a little this way or that. Keeping flexible will help you to swing in rhythm to those around you. You can act on your hunch or intuition if it comes clear and loud, otherwise be quick to see the way things are going. If you don't want to go that way, do make an issue of it, but if possible pass on to something else that can be agreed upon. A poor deal should not be accepted if there is the possibility of changing it.

Mercury is also in Aries now so the Arians are in luck that they can speak, write their ideas and have a good chance to be heard and have them accepted. They can expect better cooperation now, and will continue to find matters working out their way. Pisceans still have some personal popularity, but the time for them to expand is over, and they now should work to earn more, to increase finances.

A great variety of details on the agenda tomorrow. Avoid hasty, mistaken zeal, and faulty information.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, ARIES! Things should be moving briskly now and you have a chance to pick up on social obligations and invitations. In June you can expect some rather startling developments in your working environment, or in the people around you where you work. Your health could be effected with nervousness during June. In October be careful of finances, especially joint funds or security. Older friends or ties with organizations can stand by you now. You have one of your best years in a long time coming up, provided you have worked towards some goal and are due to reap benefits. You should begin to feel the expansive atmosphere now.

Ike Assailed For Stand On Budget, Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has assailed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's budgetary and space records in what could be the beginning of another feud between a chief executive and his predecessor.

Kennedy has taken pains in the past to avoid a direct clash with the former Republican president. He obviously hoped there wouldn't develop the kind of ill-feeling that soured relations between Eisenhower and former President Harry S. Truman.

But all of these good intentions may have gone by the boards when Kennedy fired a double-barreled blast at Eisenhower in response to new conference questions Wednesday.

The President obviously was irritated by Eisenhower's recent statement that Congress ought to cut up to $13 billion out of the total appropriations Kennedy requested. Eisenhower said it was incredible that defense funds couldn't be pared. He added that the space program was "downright spongy."

CAME LOADED Kennedy came loaded for bear, rattling off a string of figures. He started in on Eisenhower's budget director, Maurice Stans, but as he warmed up he made the former president his target.

He said the Eisenhower administration had run up the largest peacetime deficit in history, $12.5 billion. "It had the largest outflow of gold dollars in our history (in) 1959, about $3.9 billion," he said. "We had two recessions, 1958 and 1960, and we had the highest peacetime unemployment, 1959, since World War II."

"That is not a record that we plan to duplicate if we can help it."

As for space, Kennedy said the United States is second today because of a late start but "we have the potential not to be." He said he intends to continue to make a "major effort to be first in space."

He said it was not a new position for Eisenhower to be opposed to an all-out effort in space. He said the former president disagreed 18 months ago when Congress decided to finance this effort.

"It is a position I think he took from the time of Sputnik on," Kennedy said. "But it is a matter on which we disagree."

TICKED OFF MOVES Pursuing the matter further, the President ticked off all of the moves he said had been made since he came to office to bolster the nation's military strength. He said that any spending reduction in the order of $9 or $10 billion—a figure used by some Republicans—couldn't be made "without cutting the heart out of the military budget."

Neither side is bound to accept the settlement proposals, but such public findings in the past have usually become the basis for eventual solution. The betting odds in the rail industry against a strike are 100 to 1.

A spokesman for the five labor unions involved, representing some 200,000 on-train rail workers, said the unions "hope the emergency board will supply the necessary impetus toward collective bargaining" of the issues involved. There has been very little real bargaining so far in the four-year dispute.

FORMER JURIST

Kennedy's three-man board, which will open hearings here a week from today is headed by Samuel I. Rosenman, former New York Supreme Court justice.

He is a longtime counsel and chief speech writer for former President Franklin D. Roosevelt and later counsel to former President Harry S. Truman.

The other two board members are law Prof. Nathan Feinsinger of the University of Wisconsin and Chancellor Clark Kerr of the University of California.

The trio, especially Kerr and Feinsinger, have had wide experience in helping settle a variety of labor disputes for many years.

Rosenman served on a government board that handed down recommendations leading to the adoption of company-paid pensions in the steel industry, a trend that spread to other industries.

A strike had been threatened early next Monday morning. That was the date the railroads had set for putting into effect the manpower cuts they have been trying to achieve for many years to eliminate what they say is "featherbedding" costing them some $600-million a year needless cost.

The unions have hotly disputed the carrier claims, maintaining the rail work force is the most efficient of any industry in the nation. The over-all total of rail workers has been cut nearly in half in a 15-year period, now being less than 700,000. The unions say the carriers want to pare this further to 350,000.

NEGOTIATION

The Rosenman board is likely to spend more time trying to egg both sides toward a negotiated agreement than in exploring the issues involved.

This is because a 15-man commission, appointed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, spent more than a year in an exhaustive study. This group, headed by Simon H. Rifkind, former U.S. District Judge of New York, held in general the carriers should be allowed to get rid of obsolete jobs. It recommended layoff of some 13,000 such firemen with less than 10-year seniority and eventual discharge of some 27,000 others.

The Rifkind commission further recommended liberal layoff and retraining benefits for displaced workers, even including college education, and said future manpower reduction arguments should be settled by binding arbitration.

The Rosenman board is likely to spend more time trying to egg both sides toward a negotiated agreement than in exploring the issues involved.

This is because a 15-man commission, appointed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, spent more than a year in an exhaustive study. This group, headed by Simon H. Rifkind, former U.S. District Judge of New York, held in general the carriers should be allowed to get rid of obsolete jobs. It recommended layoff of some 13,000 such firemen with less than 10-year seniority and eventual discharge of some 27,000 others.

A Devotional For The Day

We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord. (II Corinthians 3:18.)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, help us to look unto Jesus, who is the author and finisher of our faith. This day grant us growth in likeness to Him that our hearts may be like His and our spirits in harmony with Thy will. We pray in His name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

This Calls For Discretion

The House has passed and sent to the governor a bill permitting a 70-mile-per-hour speed limit in Texas. Technically, the bill could be recalled for a vote in the House because of a motion picture consideration, but chances are it will remain on the governor's desk for action.

Assuming that the governor signs it, this does not mean that the new law automatically hikes the speed limit to 70 m.p.h. The measure is permissive, and the State Highway Department will have authority to fix the new limit where it seems safe and prudent.

The new figure is probably more realistic in keeping with modern cars and modern engineering, for on an interstate or divided highway, that speed is more plausible than one half that level in severely winding and hilly roads.

The Highway Department, therefore, has the responsibility of realizing while the legislature could change speed limits, it cannot alter the laws of motion.

With a higher limit, it will in time be a temptation for drivers to fudge up to 75 m.p.h. or higher. For instance, it may be reasoned that if one has been driving 70 m.p.h. in 60 m.p.h. zones now, the same ratio would rationalize an 80-m.p.h. rate under the 70-mile limit. The ratio is the same, but the potential for death and destruction would be increased all out of proportion.

Although the legislature put some clamps down on use of radar speed traps, this does not mitigate the need for renewed efforts to make sure the new limit is observed.

Fine Educational Service

Pupils in Big Spring High School who are engaged in cooperative vocational training are holding their annual banquet today to celebrate another good year for the program.

For more than a quarter of a century now, this sort of joint venture between students and businesses has been going on here with unusual success. There are perhaps two basic reasons for this record: 1) The program is part of the school curriculum and is operated both by the coordinators and the administrators with this in mind, and 2) it has provided a vocational background to many young people who have looked directly to the vocation as a career.

As a consequence, multiplied scores of young people have graduated not as aimless candidates for the labor market, but have continued for the most part in jobs they had already learned or earned. Many others, by reason of pay earned during their on-the-job training, have continued to complete their education in senior colleges.

The program obviously could not go without the backing of school authorities and of the business community alike. This is a fine educational service in which they can take pride.

Confusion And Frustration

WASHINGTON—Confusion, if not frustration, today characterizes the policy of the administration toward Cuba.

Nearly two weeks have passed since President Kennedy told a news conference that the Soviet government had withdrawn only 3,000 troops out of the 17,000 stationed on Cuban soil. He then added:

"We are waiting to see whether more will be withdrawn, as we would hope that they would be. The month of March is not finished yet, and we should have a clearer idea as to what the total numbers should be in the coming days."

THE MONTH of March has passed, but the "clearer idea" has still not materialized. The only action that has been taken by the administration is a sharp warning—not directed to the Russian government—but to the poor Cubans who have bravely attempted to raid ports and start guerrilla action such as Castro himself employed when he fought his way into power.

It seems to be regarded as legitimate for the United States to encourage and assist in guerrilla-type warfare in South Vietnam against Communists there, but somehow the effort of the Cuban patriots to rescue their own country by similar tactics is frowned upon officially in formal announcements from the Department of State and the Department of Justice. Neutrality laws are cited as standing in the way.

CONTRADICTION after contradiction, moreover, has emerged to the statements issued by the United States government. To take refuge in the neutrality laws seems to be in conflict with the following declaration on March 12 by Secretary of State Dean Rusk:

"Then we have felt, along with many others of our allies, that the kind of Cuban regime that we have today not only is not fit to participate as a regime in the activities of the inter-American system, but that with its declaration of subversive and other types of war upon the hemisphere, it is not entitled to normal economic or other relations with the free world."

THE NEUTRALITY laws were plainly designed to apply to expeditions started on United States territory against countries with which the United States maintains friendly and normal relations. But a state of war now exists, for all practical purposes, between Cuba and the United States. Also, a blockade was undertaken last autumn and foreign ships were intercepted by the United States Navy. In recent weeks Soviet-built MIGs, flying from Cuba, have attacked unarmed American ships.

Kennedy Got A Bit Stiff With Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy isn't going to get into any squabbles with Congress, if he can help it. But at his news conference Wednesday he did get a little stiff with former President Eisenhower.

There was nothing new about this. If it looked unusual, it's only because the occasional hassles between the two men have been spaced well enough apart to be almost overlooked.

AT A TIME when the President, who is also a politician, is hoping Congress will give him the tax cut he wants and be kind to foreign aid, he defended the legislators against a charge of dragging their feet.

But Kennedy is also acutely concerned about the fate of his $38.8-billion budget which the Republicans in Congress want to hack. And suddenly Eisenhower himself took a swipe at it, thus helping his party.

He volunteered the suggestion the budget could be cut by about $13 billion.

He gave his views, he said, without a trace of partisanship. But, since he admitted he couldn't give details on where the cuts should come, Democrats could hardly escape the feeling his views were more political than fiscal.

HE RIDICULED—and this wasn't new, either—the money Kennedy wants to spend on space. He suggested the Kennedy administration think less about reaching the moon and more about what he called "fiscal soundness."

Kennedy took a dig at Eisenhower Wednesday—as he did before on exactly the same subject—by stating that "we are second in space today because we started late."

He indirectly suggested this country was under-defended when he took over from Eisenhower. He explained how he had to build it up fast.

Since the two men have poked at each other like this before, their relations—unless Eisenhower comes back now with some tart remarks about the Kennedy administration, more tart than before—should return to normal.

NORMAL FOR them seems to be this:

In a moment of international crisis Kennedy will seek out Eisenhower for a chat. If this doesn't accomplish anything else, at least it gives the appearance of political solidarity against a foreign foe.

In between times they will blister each other's administration and then lapse into prolonged periods of quietude.

Last summer, for instance, Eisenhower said the Kennedy regime was "floundering—thrashing aimlessly about" and more of the same, like seeing the President in the clutches of the "big spenders."

This went on and off over three months, during which Eisenhower bawled away, just as he did now, at Kennedy's spending on space. And Kennedy answered just about the way he did Wednesday.

Then when the 1962 elections came around Eisenhower derided "callow youth," meaning the Kennedy administration, and said he was tired of the "boastful and brassy words" of those "so-called brilliant men."

KENNEDY complained about the bundle of unfinished business left him by the Eisenhower administration. And Eisenhower said he was "sick and tired" of people telling Americans his eight-year administration didn't do much.

To Your Good Health

Some Poisons Valuable Drugs In Small Amounts

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: How can curare be used in surgery without poisoning the patient? —MRS. C. G. B.

Curare is, in sufficient quantity, a poison, in that it paralyzes muscular activity. It does not damage the tissues, however. It kills by paralyzing, among other things the breathing muscles, and death in that case, is from lack of oxygen. (Some Indian tribes have used curare as an arrow poison.)

In small amounts, curare is a very valuable drug. It helps to control severe convulsions and muscular spasms, for example. It also is used, again in small amounts, to bring about greater muscular relaxation before surgery.

Curare is only one of many drugs which are poisons in large quantities, but useful in small amounts. Take atropine or belladonna, which in overdose can kill but in proper dose has saved thousands of lives. Or sodium fluoride, which is a poison in large doses but at one part per million is put in drinking water to prevent tooth cavities. There are countless other examples.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is meant by scars on the heart? —MRS. R. M. L.

It could mean scars on heart valves, such as from rheumatic fever. Or it could mean scarring of the heart muscle itself, which would be the healed area following a heart attack. Both of these will be clear to you if you'll read my booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart." (To receive a copy, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.)

Dear Dr. Molner: My four-year-old son doesn't talk. The only thing he has ever said is "ma-ma-ma." He seems to understand everything we say, but is very stubborn and hard to make mind unless it is something he wants to do. He gets what he wants by pointing and grunting, and shakes his head for "no." What can be done to help him learn to talk? —MRS. W.

By this age he should be talking a blue streak, of course. Or jabbering pretty well, at least. There's quite a bit of variation in youngsters so I don't believe in getting worried too soon. But I'd have the little fellow examined. There could be some defect in his speech organs that need correcting. If not, a child guidance center might be very helpful.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son, 40, suffers from kidney stones. What causes them? Would a special diet help? —MRS. E. R.

Kidney stones form basically because the urine becomes too highly saturated with certain chemicals—urates, oxalates and phosphates are among them. Then they begin precipitating out as solids, and become "stones." (There are other technicalities involved, but that's essentially it.)

Drinking lots of water to keep the urine dilute is important in preventing more stones. A change in diet also can help, but must be chosen on the basis of study of the chemical content of the stones. This may be done also to increase or reduce the acidity of the urine, but here again you need expert guidance to know which way to change.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Facts About Shingles," write Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Sorta Liked That Man

With vacation time just around the corner, our plans are jelling for another assault on the wilderness in Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico. But not without a certain apprehensiveness on the part of my good wife, Joyce.

Despite careful laid plans, we invariably are forced to cope with unexpected problems. One year a family of skunks all but ended our ambitions for "the great outdoors." Another year, we almost wound up in a bottomless canyon off one of those peaks in Colorado. The 113 degree heat proved unbearable another year, and so on.

BUT FOR ALL THE problems, each of them has led us into an acquaintanceship with some mighty nice folks. An it's these people that we remember more than any other single thing. "Ships that pass in the night," etc.

We could never forget, for instance, the heavy drinker who fixed a broken spring on our trailer one year. In the first place, he had all the work he could do that day, without wrestling with the axle of a trailer for a know-nothing tourist. And worse, he hadn't had a drink yet when I knocked on his door about 7 a.m.

NEXT, HIS SON was missing as was his partner in business. But his wife whipped up some breakfast, and he crawled under the trailer with a show of gusto. In about 30 minutes, the gas company came to cut off the gas, the water company man came too, then came the electric company man and the telephone company man. Then the bank called to announce that his partner had withdrawn all of their joint finances. It seems this partner had also withdrawn the deposits for all the utilities, hence they had been shut off.

OBVIOUSLY, HE WAS shook with this turn of events, as was his wife. I suggest, most other men would have let the tourist worry with his own axle and spring, while trying to hold their world together before it collapsed completely.

After a draw or two on the bottle, he continued the work and finally got it fixed. The son returned during all this, but not the partner, who he confided, carried a gun and was quite mean. The price was low and we were soon on our merry way, after wishing him good luck as he knocked the cap off another bottle.

FUNNY THING, but after lying under that vehicle most of the day helping fix the spring, I got to know and like that fellow quite well as he told me his problems of being in business, etc. By most standards, I doubt he would be considered prime material for the judge's chair or, with some drying out, the pulpit. But he was a craftsman at his trade, took pride in his work and was fair in price, even though he could have charged a simple tourist phenomenal rates, as is more often the case.

Couple with this the fact that he had serious problems of his own and needed every extra buck he could lay hands on

TO MOST OF US, the temptation would have been great to begin the comeback trail with a fish that was in the net, so to speak. Apparently, this did not enter his mind as he set a price that was fair and reasonable with no hesitation, after the work had been done.

Sometimes, our problems have turned into the highlight of our vacation. It was that way.

Poetical Tricks In Politics

The Rockefeller-for-President headquarters in Los Angeles, sponsored by Goodwin J. Knight, former governor of California, closed almost before the front door was open.

However, before the place was padlocked, at the request of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, an interior shot of the command post revealed a recent and most significant development in politics. That is the introduction of a political poet laureate at the precinct level.

SINCE THE FIRST ward was organized in Neolithic times, there has been a fixed assumption that poetry and politics, i. e., the poet and the politician, are antithetical. But, come to think of it, there has been a subtle meshing of the two in the past decade. Poetry has been getting more political and politics more poetic, or, at least, dreamy.

The glorious climax of this development was pictured in a placard or banner that decorated the short-lived Rockefeller-for-President headquarters in L.A. It bore a terse couplet that read:

Who else But Nelse?

HERE, IN TWO LINES and four words, is graphically expressed his ardent followers' conviction that there is no choice for the presidency in 1964 but Gov. Rockefeller. It is a succinct and powerful question, challenge, slogan and poem.

Whether the New York Governor is called "Nelse" by his intimates, deponent knoweth not. That is really of no importance, anyway. Certainly, "Who Else But Nelse?" Will do a lot more for him in the long run than "Be Cocky with Rocky" or "I Belter for Rockefeller."

Given the material at hand, the governor's poet laureate has done extremely well by him.

POETRY — well, all right, rhymes— began to creep into the political picture about 10 years ago with the slogan, "I Like Ike." The Democrats, in that season of this discontent, were faced with an almost-insurmountable poetic problem. With grit and a rhyming dictionary, they solved it as best they could with "I'm Madly for Adlai" . . . which proves that even the most difficult name leads to poetic treatment.

In more recent politico-poetry history, who can forget "Let's Stick with Dick," "All the Way with LBJ" and "Come Back with Jack?"

It is now obvious that Gov. Rockefeller has the poetic drop on the Presidential field for 1964. It is something for the opposition within his own party to consider. Probably the poet laureates of Sen. Barry Goldwater, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania and Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon are already on the alert.

THERE IS A DEFINITE challenge in all these names, and I've been trying to meet it. Take the name of Romney, for instance. The only half-way rhyme I have uncovered is "Rominy" and that obviously won't do. And unless he wants to appeal the hedonist vote, "Gorge with George," is out, too. "Keep Calm with Rom" lacks excitement. His own poet may come up with something better, but for action and promise the best I can do is "Elect Rom; He's a bomb!"

As for the Arizona Senator, perhaps "We Oughter Elect Goldwater" is the ticket. Or, "Be Wary with Barry" offers possibilities. Or even "Dare with Bar!" Admittedly, the name Scranton is a tough challenge to the poet. It rhymes, all right, with Canton and Danton. But the name of a Chinese city and a French revolutionary don't offer much political mileage in the U.S.A. It may have to boil down to "We Thrill to Bill" or, "Where There's a Will, Here's a Bill."

GOV. HATFIELD is another difficult test. Probably the solution is "I Bark for Mark" rather than "I Bat for Hat." Or how about "Let's Park with Mark?"

There's a busy time ahead for the political poets. They can't rest while Gov. Rockefeller is ahead with that "Who Else But Nelse?"

And just to prove my interest is non-partisan, perhaps the current occupant of the White House will be interested in, 1964, in "Keep on the Tack with Jack" or, "My Pony Is Macaroni."

GOP Own Worst Enemy

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Oh, my! The Republicans are at it again. Another presidential election year is upon us and the GOP is tagging its candidates with the Can't Win label. Rockefeller, Goldwater and Knowland are all mentioned as Kennedy opponents for 1964, and upon each there is a placard placed there by his own party: He can't win!

SOME PEOPLE think it started with Robert A. Taft, whom everybody recognized as a major statesman and Mr. Republican of his day—but too intellectual to make a good candidate. He couldn't win! Actually, the self-defeating practice goes back further than that. The pre-Lincoln Republicans, called Whigs, had Henry Clay as their fiery leader. Unlike Taft, Clay wasn't exactly denied the party nomination. Indeed, he had it four times. But one of his best friends, John Crittenden, epitomized the party opinion when he wrote: "I prefer Clay to all men for the presidency, but my conviction, my involuntary conviction, is that he cannot be elected."

WELL, TODAY'S Republicans began the year by rating their own nominations as worthless. The President blundered many times, but he always bounced back, whether it was from driving the Stock Market into a dive or allowing Khrushchev to fortify Cuba with offensive missiles. So despondent were talkative Republicans after failing to score big gains in the 88th Congress, that they almost stopped mentioning 1964 as a national election year. Nobody would beat JFK, so what did Rocky want with the nomination anyhow? Wait till 1968—maybe then somebody could beat Bobby.

THREE SEPARATE documents have reached my desk recently, each with the same thesis: Rocky can't win. His nomination would slow up the rapid republicani-zation of the Southern States, where the GOP is running strong. As a rabid civil rightist, he would repulse Southern voters and turn them back to their Dixiecrats. Statistically, the eleven Southern States control 112 Electoral College votes. This is about 21 per cent of the necessary majority—270 out of 538. Any Republican candidate would have to score in the South to beat Kennedy—and Rocky can't score. So much for him.

SADLY, IT SEEMS to me, Barry Goldwater tends to fashion his own futility charter. There are enough non-conservative Republicans, heaven knows, who regard a man from a small western state, and a man from a small Right Wing segment of the party, as lacking broad national vote appeal. They conveniently forget that Goldwater draws huge audiences from coast to coast, especially at the universities. His domestic policy book, "Conscience of a Conservative," has sold more than a million copies. His foreign policy book, "Why Not Victory?" was a long-run best-seller. He is a magnetic personality, and his staying quality as a national figure has been tested over a decade in public life.

But Goldwater, innately modest and compulsively honest, does not dispute his Republican detractors. He agrees with them! He hasn't conceded that he just might win. If he hasn't actually initiated the Can't Win estimate of himself, he has seemed to accept it.

You almost wonder who beats the Republicans anyhow. The Democrats? Or do Republicans beat themselves? (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

bombarding our environment each year with 900 million pounds of chemicals to kill insects, weeds, rodents and other organisms considered to be pests. The question—the controversy—is what all these recently developed poisons are doing to the nation's wild life, to the balance of nature and to man himself.

"CBS Reports" undertook to find out in an investigation that occupied eight months. The result was shown Wednesday night in "The Silent Spring of Rachel Carson," the sweet-faced, gentle-voiced biologist who wrote a documented book that started the controversy.

CBS cameras and producer-reporter Jay McMullen visited the prime sources of information: Miss Carson, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, Surgeon General Luther Terry, Commissioner George Larrick of the Food and Drug Administration, the director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife research center and many others, including a spokesman for the chemical industry which manufactures the pesticides.

Result was a thoughtful, unemotional, clear and thoroughly frightening program. It was frightening because, as McMullen summed it up, it seems that nobody really knows how serious the pesticide danger is because there is "an appalling scarcity of facts concerning the effects" of them.

The chemical companies' representative, Dr. Robert White-Stevens, insisted that when used according to directions, pesticides are NOT harmful, but he was the only one who seemed certain about it. The Fish and Wildlife Service man said that 80 per cent of all wildlife it examined contained pesticide residues. And Miss Carson feels so strongly that she believes they should be called "biocides" because of their danger to all life.

Survey Finds Radio Ratings Off Balance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven million people in the Rocky Mountain states have less influence than one dog in San Diego in determining what will be heard on radio.

At least that's the picture that emerged Wednesday as a House Commerce subcommittee continued its investigation of broadcast rating services.

It seems the dog's mistress is one of the listeners used by the A. C. Nielsen Co., biggest of the rating services, as part of its sample "universe" by which it determines what the nation is watching or listening to. And she leaves her radio on all day while she is out so her dog can enjoy it.

But the 7 million people in the mountain time zone have no place in Nielsen's universe because they live too far apart and it would cost too much to sample their radio and television tastes.

Rep. Donald G. Brozman, R-Colo., expressing dismay that nobody in his state exists as far as Nielsen is concerned, tried to get them to leave out the 7 million people in New York City instead of the mountain area folk.

Warren Cordell, Nielsen's chief statistical officer, said he would have to make a survey to see what the difference would be between a broadcast universe without New York and one without the mountain time zone before he could comment.

Pressed by Brozman for a reply, he said it probably wouldn't make much difference. But he made no promises.

The hearings continue today with Nielsen officials back for a ninth day on the stand.

Space Program Official Quits

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Charles W. Frick, project manager of the space program designed to place astronauts on the moon within the decade, resigned Wednesday.

Dr. Robert R. Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, said he accepted the resignation with regrets.

Frick said personal reasons and a desire to return to the aerospace industry compelled him to leave the Houston center.

Gilruth appointed Robert O. Piland as acting manager of the Apollo moon project.

THE MAN WHO RODE THE TIGER: The Life and Times of Samuel Seabury. By Herbert Mitgang. Lippincott, $6.95.

By The Associated Press
Seabury's decades of fighting the corruption that oozed through New York's government as a result of its domination by the infamous Tammany Hall made him one of the nation's best known men during the 1920s and 1930s—the very personification of honesty and idealism.

Yet, ironically, Seabury's own indiscretions in the political arena during his youth were perhaps the major factor in keeping him from achieving greatness, or at least from winning high public office.

New York Times newsman Mitgang, with financial help from the Crowell Foundation and the cooperation of the Seabury family, has produced a thoroughly documented, yet never pedantic, book describing the man who ex-

Legislature In Brief

AUSTIN (AP) — The Legislature Wednesday:

House: Gave tentative approval to a congressional redistricting bill; passed a bill to raise speed limits on highways to 70 miles per hour, then reconsidered and sent the measure to a conference committee; passed a bill to let the state buy space in federal water storage facilities.

Senate: Listened to a filibuster by Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress on a proposed merger of the State Parks Board and Game and Fish Commission; passed to the House a bill to lower from $1.40 to $1.03 per ton the tax on sulphur produced in Texas; passed 21-9 and sent to the governor a bill allowing Texas A&M to complete purchase of 150 acres of Hidalgo County land.

Common Market Hope Diminished

TOKYO (AP) — Lord Home, British foreign secretary, said today there "clearly is no possibility" of Britain or the other six nations of the European Free Trade Association joining the Common Market as long as President Charles de Gaulle's government is in power.

Home is winding up a nine-day official visit to Japan.

Food Company Buys Facilities

ABILENE (AP)—United Foods, Inc., of Houston has bought grain elevators and warehouse facilities at 21 points in North Central and Northwest Texas.

The price was not disclosed.

United Foods, under the purchase agreement reached Wednesday, will take over and operate the bankrupt facilities, some of which have been closed and others which are operating, which formerly were controlled by three corporations.

The facilities are at Haskell, Anson, Hamlin, Rule, O'Brien, Old Glory, Rochester, Sylvester, Hermleigh, Wastella, Rotan, Hawley, Dickens, Spur, Snyder, Bangs, Brownwood, Sagerston, Sweetwater, Morton and Lehman.

The transaction was completed with officials in bankruptcy receivership headed by Henry Hart of Abilene, referee in bankruptcy. The elevator capacity of the properties is about 3.5 million bushels.
