MAN WANTED HERE TAKEN BY SHERIFF GREGORY AT ABILENE CAMP THURSDAY

Alleged Bandit Featured In Gun Battle With Police Here Last Week

George Barber, 22, charged by police as the bandit who Tuesday night of last week forced two Sweetwater men at the point of a gun to drive them to a point near Colorado, robbed his victims of their cash and motor car and later figured in a spectacular gun battle with Night Chief Homer Key when that officer sought to place him under arrest, was captured by Sheriff Dick Gregory of Mitchell county at Abilene Thursday afternoon.

Officials traced the man to Abilene after working on the case for several hours. A local man believed to have been responsible for taking Barber out of Colorado following the shooting, was traced to Abilene and hide-out of Barber in an Abilene tourist camp was soon located.

Sheriff Gregory elected to take the man alone. He went to the tourist camp and knocking on the door, aroused Barber who was asleep inside at the time. "Who is there?" demanded a voice from inside the cabin. When informed that it was Gregory, Barber opened the door and submitted to arrest without any resistance. "He acted as if he was glad to see me," Gregory said later.

The sheriff returned Barber to Colorado Thursday night and placed him in jail. Friday the prisoner was delivered to Nolan county authorities who came here for him.

The man is said to have escaped at Big Lake several months ago. He had been brought there from the State penitentiary to testify in district court. Prison terms aggregating 18 years are said to be facing him on convictions already obtained.

District Attorney George H. Mahon, here Sunday from Sweetwater where district court is in session, stated that the grand jury had taken no action in charges booked against the man there, growing out of the alleged hijacking of the two taxi drivers.

He faces charges here, also, in connection with robbery of the two men, said to have been staged near Colorado, and his subsequent pistol duel with the officer seeking to place him under arrest.

TWO HOGS DRESS OVER HALF A TON; RANCHER CLAIMING HIGH RECORD

Landers Brothers are claiming the record for producing heavy weight champion hogs. R. C. Landers reported Tuesday morning that two porkers butchered at the ranch Monday dressed 1,125 pounds. One of the animals dressed 540 pounds and the other 585 pounds.

"I am claiming the record for growing them big," Mr. Landers stated. "I would be pleased to have some one attempt to beat me out on that score."

The county farm agent said Tuesday morning that he did not have statistics on the number of hogs owned on farms and ranches of the county but that there had been a considerable number of the animals fattened during the past few months. Most of the porkers have already been butchered, the agent said.

Sweetwater Breaks With Abilene Over Proposed New Road

Two West Texas cities may soon get to the point wherein they would don boxing gloves and stage an interesting bout. And it is all due to row over proposed building of another highway into Abilene by the State.

A few days ago members of the Butterfield route, extending southwest from Abilene through Robert Lee and Sterling City, would be authorized. Judge Ely, chairman of the commission, whose home city is Abilene, is represented as being opposed to that procedure.

Sweetwater, vigorously protesting the project, and charging the Abilene Chamber of Commerce as being unfair in pushing claims for the road, has threatened a general boycott of Abilene in retaliation. San Angelo, too, is protesting, but the Concho City has not yet adopted the drastic measures incorporated in resolution passed by the Sweetwater Board of City Development.

Ex-Rig Builder Arrested At Big Spring; Arraigned In Abilene Court

An ex-rig builder of Big Spring was placed under arrest at Big Spring Thursday of last week by members of the Howard county sheriff's department and operatives for the federal government, after passing of several counterfeit $10 currency notes had been traced to him.

Colorado was one of the several West Texas communities victimized by swindlers who during the past two weeks palmed off the worthless paper on merchants, hotels and other business men. Five of the bills were left here on the afternoon of Friday, January 15.

The man was taken to Abilene Friday where the following day he was arraigned in federal court. Federal operatives who were active in the case were in Colorado last week to take up the spurious money passed here. No attempt was made to have the man identified by local citizens who a week before had been victimized.

A number of the counterfeit bills were passed in Sweetwater, Colorado, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Brady and other West Texas cities.

Saturday night, beginning at 7:30 Loraine and Colorado boys and girls are to clash in final games for the county pennant in the independent class. Director General Wilkins stated Monday afternoon that playing for the last afternoon and evening promised to give fans some of the best basketball witnessed in Colorado during the season.

In second scheduled card of the annual tournament, played here last Saturday afternoon and evening rural and independent teams demonstrated some real technique. Fans were speculative at times in attempting to point out the ultimate winner.

Lone Star girls lost to Spade girls by a score of 39-12. In the Looney-Conaway girls bout the former won 50-14. Hyman boys won by default when Fairview, drawn to play bracket with them, failed to appear. Valley View boys drubbed Lone Star boys to the score of 22-17. YOUNG PEOPLE FROWN ON PROPOSAL TO 'DELEGATE' ATTENDANTS AT MEETING

Resolution Offering Change In Meeting Dates Also Fails to Carry

Delegates attending convention of Young People's department, Methodist church, here Saturday and Sunday, evidenced they did not favor adoption of any material changes in policy governing these district meetings, when report of the resolution committee, offered during closing session of the convention Sunday afternoon was voted down overwhelmingly.

The resolution proposed that hereafter only elected delegates as certified by the churches in the district would be recognized at the meetings and that these meetings be held on Friday and Saturday, instead of Saturday and Sunday, as at the present. Defeat of the dual proposal assumed proportions of a landslide when finally voted upon.

The convention, opening at First Methodist church Saturday evening, was attended by 140 visiting delegates from Big Spring, Sweetwater, Stanton, Westbrook, Loraine, Post, Snyder, Union Chapel, Roby, Rotan, Buford and Fluvanna. Local young people attending the sessions boosted attendance to approximately 200. The bitter cold kept scores of young people from over the district from attending.

Snyder won over Post and Big Spring as the next convention city. The meeting will be held at First Methodist church, Snyder, on either the last Sunday in April or the first Sunday in May. Members of the executive board will announce definite date later.

Visiting delegates were entertained in homes of the city Saturday night. Nelda Garrett, district organization secretary, called the meeting to order Saturday. She presented George H. Mahon, who addressed the gathering. Later the visitors were entertained in a special social program given in the church basement.

Sunday morning the convention was again convened and the young people were kept busy throughout the day until after 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when adjournment was in order. They were served lunch in the church basement at noon.

At 11 o'clock Dr. O. P. Clark of Sweetwater, district presiding elder, delivered the principal convention address. Auditorium of the church was crowded for this service. Speakers addressing the afternoon session referred to this service as among the most inspirational they had ever attended in the church. "Looked like old-fashioned Methodist camp meeting," was the description given by one of the delegates.

Superintendent John E. Watson of the Colorado schools, taught the Sunday school lesson to the great class assembled from visiting delegates and young people from the host church. So large was the class that the main auditorium of the church was required to seat them.

Watson was traveling in the special courtesy car, placed in operation a few months ago by President Mackey of the highway association. He told of cooperation extended him by motor clubs, Chambers of Commerce and other organizations along the route.

"When the tourist comes into Colorado, make it a definite policy to impress him that he is welcome," Watson pled. "It matters not with whom he may come in contact—the waitress in the cafe, bell boy in the hotel, the man in the drug store—let him know that you are his friend and anxious to do something toward making his stay here pleasant. Never forget to smile when he patronizes your place and thank him for having patronized you."

"Such an attitude is contagious. The tourist thus received will carry the news to others. That night he will tell other travelers about the consideration given him here."

Allen Connell, chairman of the highway committee, announced following adjournment of the conference that Colorado had pledged to contribute $5.00 per month for four months toward expense of maintaining the organization car on the route. 'PERSESSOR' EMPLOYS LEATHER STROP WHEN CORRECTING BAD BOY

The "Peressor" and not the grade teacher at Colorado's negro schools, is the one who wields the corporal punishment implement when students attending the school gets out of line, reported a youthful black at The Record office Monday afternoon.
"Does your teacher ever have to make things hot for you with a belt or something?" the negro boy was asked.
"No, suh. My teacher she never whips us, but the 'peressor' he shore can pour it on, believe me. And he uses a strop, too."
The lad spoke with considerable concern. It was evident that he probably had been called to an accounting for some infraction of school discipline.
Allen Connell, member of the school board commissioned with supervision of the negro school, states that good progress is being made there.

THOSE TAXES, AGAIN

Again, The Record would urge that tax accounts should be paid now. The time in which to qualify as an elector in the important elections scheduled for this year will end with the passing of this month.

Another factor enters into this tax paying duty that ought to appeal. The public schools, city, county and State need funds that would accrue as the annual payments are liquidated.

Pay your taxes today!

AND WRIGLEY SUCCEEDED

William Wringley, Jr., Chicago capitalist and sportsman who died Tuesday morning at his winter home at Phoenix, Arizona, built up a fortune of over $150,000,000 out of the chewing gum business, and he succeeded largely due to his persistent advertising. It is estimated that he spent $100,000,000 in advertising his wares. The arrow-headed elves adorning his gum packages were known throughout the world.

"No matter what the condition of business, never stop advertising," Wringley is said to have once told his son.

This successful man has given a lesson that others might follow with profit. Advertise—carry your business to the people, rather than wait for the people to come to your business.

AS IT SHOULD BE

Announcement at Austin Monday by members of the State highway department that proposed Ranger-Weatherford cutoff was to be built constituted an interesting bit of news for most Texans. The project will mark another progressive step by the department in its program to push Texas ahead in highway facilities.

The new pavement will eliminate 14 1/2 miles of distance and several dangerous traffic hazards between the two cities named, all of which will be noted with satisfaction by the thousands of Texans and citizens of other states who travel the route.

Highway No. One is the premier highway in both Texas and in America. Today it is carrying more transcontinental tourist traffic than any other route. Its contemplated improvement through Palo Pinto and Parker counties means that this record is to be more pronounced.

COCK VS. MAN FIGHTING

The Abilene Morning News can't understand why Texas is so sternly opposed to rooster fighting and at the same time permits human pugilists to 'make hash' out of one of the other while engaged in wrestling and prizefighting. The News says: "Cock-fighting is an exciting and perfectly legal sport in most Latin-American countries. In Texas it is considered brutal, and a fine of from ten to one hundred dollars is assessed against the man caught watching one of the contests of spur against spur. All the same, cock-fighting is occasionally indulged in—and followers of the sport think nothing of driving a hundred or two hundred miles to see a major contest.

"For example, a state ranger, a river guard and a deputy sheriff raided a cock-fight in the edge of Pecos county the other day. Two hundred men from many West Texas communities were gathered around the pit, watching the progress of the main, as the officers came up. To a man, the two hundred fled up the canyon, only to come sheepishly back to their cars later on and submit to having their names written down. There were automobiles from Alpine, San Angelo, Del Rio, Sonora, Midland, Odessa, Eldorado, Pecos, Balmorhea, Barstow and Fort Stockton in the fleet of cars surrounding the scene of the combat—which gives you some idea of how far a genuine cock-fight fan will travel for a look at his favorite sport.

"The San Angelo Standard, which carried a story of the affair, asserts that some of the most prominent and substantial business and professional men of the Southwest were in that crowd.

"Texas, under whose broad and smiling skies many odd and puzzling things take place, frowns offensively on a battle between two roosters, but permits two men to make hash out of each other in the wrestling arena or the prize fight ring—under certain conditions."

ROBERT E. LEE

Last week, January 19, was Lee's birthday and as it has been made a National holiday, along with Washington's and Lincoln's, it is but fitting I should write:

"Forth from its scabbard, pure and bright, Flashed the sword of Lee— Far in front of the deadly fight—"

What Dixie youngster hasn't thrilled to "The Sword of Lee." The bloody shirt of sectionalism is in the discard, but Texans, Southerners, and for that matter, all Americans, are proud of the memory of Lee, who for four years kept the out-numbering armies of the North at bay with a display of generalship admittedly not rivalled in history. Who smashed General after general that the North sent against him, till Grant hammered a defeat through sheer force of men and guns.

"Forth from its scabbard all in vain Flashed the sword of Lee— This shrouded now in its sheath again,

It sleeps the sleep of the noble slain (Defeated yet without a stain) Proudly and peacefully."

History reveals that Robert E. Lee, the leader of the hosts of the South, 61-65, the courageous military genius who, when the decisive moment came, elected to go with his native South, when he could have easily accepted leadership of the Northern armies, backed by the wealth of the nation. He did not hesitate, when Fort Sumpter was fired upon and the war was on, Lee, with the courage of unselfishness and honor without parallel, saluted his commander-in-chief and refused to draw his sword against the Southland, turned his insignia of rank into the war department and resigned.

This act of Robert E. Lee, the outstanding instance of self-sacrifice in history, is but an indication of his courage, his manhood and his patriotism. Following that fateful day, Lee, in command of the Confederate forces, drew the attention of the military leaders of the world and his generalship, his tactics and his genius has been for two generations the height toward which military leaders have striven. Accepting all blame, asking no sympathy, Lee led the armies of the tattered gray uniforms back and forth across the country in a mastery way. Half clothed, underfed, poorly equipped, with arms of poor quality, he led his men through the very jaws of death to conquer. This kindly man, who at the head of the army of the United States, had captured Vera Cruz, valuted the passes to reach Mexico City and scaled the walls at Chapultepec, again reached the grader of his ability when he reviewed the remnants of Pickett's men at Gettysburg, accepting responsibility for the slaughter that these immortal had tasted. When at Appomattox he saw the fading life-light of the Confederacy melting into the darkness of oblivion, he marched with even tread, stood with bowed head and invited the wrath of the Nation he heaped upon him and that his people be forgiven. Then followed reconstruction and his restoration to citizenship and the evening of his life, which was more beautiful. Money had no treacherous appeal to Lee, he steadfastly refused to permit his name to be used as a net to draw people into the purchase of merchandise, although he could have become the richest man in the nation during his time had he done so.

Let the South rededicate itself to the principles of Lee, let bickering be gone, let honesty and integrity be the watchword in public and private life and the seeming momentous questions of the hour will melt as mist before the sunrise.

POLYTICS

Our good friend Geo. Robinson at Waco, says:

"On the theory that history repeats itself, this is to be a Democratic year, the twenty-year period having arrived.

"In 1832 Andrew Jackson defeated that great man, Henry Clay, the Whig candidate. In 1852, just twenty years from the time of Jackson's triumph over Clay, Franklin Pierce, the Democratic nominee, defeated General Scott, the Whig nominee.

"In 1872 Grant was elected. Right here I am getting into deep water, but it is a fact that Ulysses Grant was a Democrat when the War Between the States came on, and it is a further fact that his opponent, Horace Greeley, was what we in the South called a radical. In so far as I know, save in name only, General Grant remained a Democrat to the day of his death. The record before me says that 'as Greeley had always been a Whig many Democrats refused to vote for him.' In fact, he was put forward by the liberal Republicans, as they called themselves, and the Democrats, out of pure desperation, gave their indorsement. Grant was the better Democrat of the two.

"In 1892 the Democrats had a glorious triumph. As the champion of individual liberty and home rule, Grover Cleveland was given a majority of splendid proportions and our southern people were once again, as Roger Q. Mills was wont to say, 'in the house of their fathers.' This was followed by twenty years on the bleak hillside for us Democrats, due to our devotion to free silver.

In 1912, just twenty years after Cleveland's defeat of Harrison, and thanks to Theodore Roosevelt, we hungry Democrats were again seated at the pie counter. But our great leader, Woodrow Wilson, got himself so mixed up with international affairs that we couldn't tell if we were going in or coming out, and so the enemy got us, even a little later capturing grand old Texas. Was there ever a jolt like that?

Another twenty-year period has rolled around and already the Eastern sky is streaked with light from the orb of Democracy."

The Associated Press sends out from Austin:

"Capitol politicians have begun to prick up their ears to all this John Garner-for-president talk.

"They have decided that Texas has a fine opportunity for considerable recognition at the national convention, to say nothing of a possibility of having the Texas speaker of the national house of representatives jockey himself into a most powerful position there. It is entirely possible, if his favor continues to grow, he can name the nominee.

"The statement of Jed Adams, Texas member of the national democratic executive committee, on his return from Washington, that Garner stood a good chance of being 'swept into the White House' by a nation-wide 'mass movement' has done more than anything else to arouse Texans from their inferiority complex as concerns national affairs.

"Interest now centers in a statewide Garner-for-president rally called for Washington's birthday anniversary in San Antonio.

"Texas advocates of the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor of New York, for the presidency, are showing increasing perturbation at the Garner movement. Some of them, however, believe it good strategy for Texas to get behind Garner to the exclusion of all other aspirants.

"One of them expressed the opinion that Texas would have a better chance to send a liberal delegation to the national convention were it to pick Garner admirers strictly, thus being in a position, should Garner's nomination be precluded, to give support to a man of Roosevelt's dimensions, whereas, he prophesied, should the fight be based on selection of one of the other national leaders there was danger of the element that bolted the party's 1932 candidate winning the delegates.

"It is interesting to note the reaction of staunch Alfred E. Smith men to the movement in some quarters to give the 'Happy Warrior' a second chance at the White House.

"Although he has refused to talk for publication, it is pretty generally known that E. J. Boyle of San Antonio, outstanding Smith leader in 1928, and other admirers of the former New York governor, are hoping he will not stand for re-nomination. Boyle is convinced Smith cannot be elected.

"Advocates of Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago banker and former Texan, for the nomination are not downhearted over the Garner movement. They are busily engaged with their 'favorite son boom,' although they have indicated that should Garner decide to enter the lists of candidates seriously they would desert from placing any Texas obstacles in the way.

"Texas friends of Newton D. Baker of Cleveland and former United States Senator James Reed of Missouri still are active for their favorites, working on the theory that Garner cannot get the nomination.

"The forming of presidential lines in Texas will be greatly influenced by the San Antonio Garner meeting. If there is a big showing there all other candidates may be forgotten in Texas."

DEATH OF LITTLE NANCY ANN DUBOIS

Little Nancy Ann Dubois, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dubois, died Tuesday night at 11 o'clock at the Wallace home, where she had been born the Sunday previous. Funeral services were held at 3:30, by Rev. L. A. Webb, and the tiny casket with the precious little body placed to rest beneath a mound of beautiful flowers.

Little Nancy Ann had been named for her Grandmother Dubois. She had been welcomed by a group of relatives, ready to love and care for her with all the devotion of a group wanting a baby girl in the family, but she was only lent to them long enough to let them realize how much they could love her, when she was taken back home to Heaven—a tiny toddler in God's bosquet of flowers.

FRITZ R. SMITH CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION JUDGE OF 32ND JUDICIAL DISTRICT

Snyder Jurist Has Platform of Honesty, Fairness In Court Duties

The Honorable Fritz R. Smith of Snyder, judge of 32nd Judicial District of Texas, Saturday announced his candidacy for the second elective term in office. In statement issued by the candidate he outlined his brief platform as demanding fairness, honesty and justice in all duties coming to him as presiding judge of the court.

Judge Smith has been prominently identified with politics of his home city, county, district and state for a number of years. Prior to his appointment to the office of district judge a few years ago, he had served with distinction the office of county attorney of Scurry county, mayor of his home city, representative of this district in the legislature and chairman of the State Board of Pardons.

His record as a trial judge has been outstanding. He has ever demanded that every cause receive fair consideration before his court. His consistent policy in requiring that every court matter be handled with the least possible public expense has become generally recognized throughout the district.

The judge is a staunch democrat and in announcing his candidacy Saturday outlined that he was seeking suffrage of voters in the democratic primary elections to be held July 23.

In statement issued to the voters of Mitchell county, Judge Smith said:

"I hereby make this, my announcement for re-election to the office of District Judge of the 32nd Judicial District of Texas, subject to action of the Democratic primaries.

"About all I care to say is that I have faithfully and honestly discharged the duties of this office the best I could, and am now asking for the honor of the second elective term.

"All the promises I care to make is that if elected I will do my very best to do at all times what I think is right, fair, just and honest.

STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH NEWS LETTER

Milk in Its Different Forms

Since the dawn of creation milk has been an accepted and acceptable food for human of every age and clime and even in this good year of 1932 is has not been improved upon. Not improved upon in taste—but decidedly improved in quality.

When health authorities discovered the number of ills which arose from milk improperly handled they worked upon methods by which this product should be so treated that it would be practically free from disease germs. The process treatment is called Pasteurization.

Pasteurization is commonly defined as the process of heating every particle of milk or milk products to a temperature of not less than 142 degrees F. and holding at such temperature for not less than 30 minutes in pasteurization apparatus approved by a health officer. The sole purpose of pasteurization is to destroy any pathogenic organisms that may be in milk. Under no circumstances is pasteurization to be considered a process for cleaning cheap, filthy, inferior raw milk. It has been absolutely demonstrated that all bacteria causing diseases in humans, found in milk, are killed by proper pasteurization. The word "Pasteurized" displayed on milk bottles conveys to the public that the milk contained therein is safe milk.

The following are diseases known to be caused by germ laden milk—tuberculosis, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, dysentery, and other intestinal troubles, especially in infants.

In the last 20 years over 600 milk-borne epidemics have been reported in this country and it is possible that a great many others have occurred that were due but were not accredited to impure milk.

The care of milk should be unremittng—all dairies and places where milk is sold should be examined as to handlers and methods of dispensing. "Milk should be subject to inspection from pasture to pail—from pail to palate."

It is known that raw milk though carefully handled has been blamed for disease outbreaks—but no such record is held against properly pasteurized milk.

Pasteurized milk is quite as digestible as raw milk and is also as nourishing.

Health officers must see that every pasteurization plant uses only water that is of sanitary standard, since, without an abundant supply of water, proper cleaning cannot be done.

NEW SHIPMENT STAR TIRES HERE TO MEET DEMAND

Another large shipment of Star tires, received by the Hicks Rubber Company will help meet the increasing demand for Star.

In no case, however, have motorists been inconvenienced by a long wait for their tires, because if Bob Lovejoy happens to be out of the size wanted, the tires are shipped into Colorado within a few hours.

The popularity of the present Star is attributed to performance of its predecessors, the long-running Star tires of 1930 and 1931... not to mention many of the 1929 Stars that are still giving a good account of themselves on people's cars.

Motorists can obtain Star tires with either the white or black sidewall.

George Washington, The Cheerful and Sad

George Washington, "Father of our Country," has always been modeled for us by history as the cold-as-marble figure, but now in this two hundredth anniversary, he has been unfolded as one of the warmest-hearted men who ever lived.

Washington was subject to moods of emotion, both of laughter and sadness, but one who knows the reasons for his tears can never think of him as cold or hard, or a mere statue of grandiose or super-human marble.

He was always very gallant, a lover of dances, parties and banquets. He always attached himself to the most beautiful ladies at the ball.

He enjoyed having "fishermen" for company and that proves that he contained love for laughter.

Even in his most serious difficulties, Washington could find a humorous outlook. But it cannot be said that he was lacking in seriousness.

When Washington's second term was ended in the presidency, and he refused to serve a third term, he found himself lacking to voice a farewell address. His eyes became suffused with tears and he could indicate his thanks and farewell blessings to the people by gestures.

When George Washington's time came to die, which was a time of prolonged anguish, no tears dimmed his eyes, but he pled with those at his bedside to take no more trouble about him.

At the losing of Washington many nations besides ours mourned. He had fought both French and British, yet these nations paid tribute to this warm-hearted American.

Beauty

Through the mesh of our Spring peach blossoms. Liquid gold from the hot sun's melting pot. Drips and tints the gray-mauve shadows. Where the new Spring earth is cold; April sunshine, peach buds, dim shadows— Will I ever—could I ever—see Such breathless, untold beauty once again.

Mid-Term Resolutions

Now that the students have arrived to the port of a New Term, riding the waves of Despair in the boat of Mid-Term-Examinations, many have made "Mid-Term Resolutions."

"O, if I can pass this term, I vow I'll be exempted on this subject next term" and "If I ever wait until the last night of the term again to get up a notebook, I'll fail the course" and other such statements are frequently heard in the halls of Colorado high school.

Thus, it can be said of all students of this school, as they begin a new and better term.

RESOLVED: To make the term of 1932 the best to have ever been held in C. H. S.

San Angelo Wins Slight Victory Over Colorado

On the night of January 22, Harry Taylor brought over the San Angelo Bobcats to engage in battle with Hardy Pearce's Wolves. The Bobcats won the conflict by a small margin of two points.

At the beginning of the fray, it appeared as if San Angelo would have little trouble in beating their opponents. They were leading the Wolves by a score of 6-0, when Stagner, getting warmed up, made a series of outstanding plays. The quarter ended 6-6.

In the second quarter the Wolves received the tip-off almost every time due to the brilliant work of Viles. However, Heuser, Gregg, and Calloway of San Angelo caused the score to be 18-19 in favor of the Bobcats when the second quarter ended.

In the third quarter Stagner continued throwing the ball through the loop, giving the Wolves the lead by three points.

During the fourth quarter the Wolves held the lead due to the good work of Viles and Stagner, and only in the last few moments of play did the Bobcats cause the final score to stand 29-27 in their favor.

The boys' Junior team beat Colorado Jackrabbits 16-14 last Thursday afternoon at Colorado.

The Dunn girls' team was beaten by Colorado girls 32-20. The Senior team again showed its ability to play ball at McCamey. Winning from Odessa by forfeit, and from Rankin. They were beaten by McCamey, who in turn were beaten by the Eaglecove team, who took first place, leaving Dunn in third place. A good deal of praise should be given to the team's coach, Guy Stark. He has been out much time and money in training the team, but despite all the rains and other unfavorable weather, making the courts not fit to play on, has trained the boys into an efficient machine, both in the defense and offense. They have a good chance to win the county meet and want a chance at Sweetwater.

that I feel deep down in my toes that the Angelo-Colorado game would have been different if it had not been for my dumbness. At the beginning of the half there were three personal fouls on No. 4 of San Angelo, and I (acting as time-keeper) allowed Taylor and San Angelo's time-keeper to talk me out of a personal. But fear not, when Colorado goes to San Angelo next Tuesday, I shall do my own judging for I have learned a valuable lesson.

Sheppard Offers

For Second Term

As Commissioner

Joe R. Sheppard, county commissioner of Precinct No. 1, Tuesday announced his candidacy for reelection. The commissioner is now serving his first term in office.

"Strict attention to duty and rigid economy in expenditure of all public monies shall continue to be my policy if reelected," was the declaration of the candidate.

Mr. Sheppard has demonstrated that he adheres to the above policy. During the past year, when conditions were acute, he has given much study to the problem of cutting down expenses of operating the government. It is needless to state that he has personally been responsible for a considerable saving in that respect.

Mr. Sheppard stated that he would invite an investigation of his record as an official by any interested person. He is offering his candidacy subject to action of the Democratic primary election, July 23.

41 MILES without Water... Conoco Germ Processed Oil Saves Motor When Walter H. Freed reached Pueblo, Colorado, after a 41-mile drive from Colorado Springs, his car was so hot it had to be put into gear before it would stop! He had plenty of Conoco Germ Processed Oil in the car. No steam was coming from the radiator, so he did not suspect the cooling system. But a garage man found not a drop of water in the radiator! The 41 miles had been driven without water in the radiator—only the oil to keep the motor from burning up. We neither encourage "dry radiator" experiments nor guarantee success under all conditions. But untold letters from motorists, now in our files, testify to this and hundreds of other unusual tests of Conoco Germ Processed Oil—runs of ten to over fifty miles with the crankcase empty. SEVERAL TEAMS TO BE ENTERED FOR PLAY AT CHARITY GAMES MEET

Both bidding and the scientific art of playing the game for all it is worth are expected to be injected in Colorado's initial charity social, announced for Thursday at the American Legion building. Several strong teams, from ranks of the town's 42 and bridge players have already been entered.

The only "invitation" needed will be delivery of a package of groceries upon arrival at the building. The merchandise must represent an investment of not less than twenty-five cents. The supplies thus obtained are to be used in charity.

In order that there be no conflict in the 42 and bridge playing marathons, the former will be given during the afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. Here 42 players are to be pitted against champions and semi-champions for tournament honors.

Then, beginning at 7:30, the more socially prominent pastime of playing bridge is to be taken up. The public is invited.

Whipkey Printing Company can furnish anything needed in way of office supplies.

HENRY C. DOSS CANDIDATE FOR NOMINATION AS TAX COLLECTOR THIS COUNTY

Pioneer Colorado Citizen In Campaign Solely On His Individual Merits

Henry C. Doss, pioneer Colorado merchant, Tuesday afternoon announced that he had entered his candidacy for nomination to the office of county tax collector. He is seeking election subject to action of the Democratic primaries in July.

Doss is well known to a majority of the voters. He has been a resident citizen of Colorado over forty years. During twenty-five years of the time he was engaged in the mercantile business here. He served as county treasurer for two terms, leaving record as a public official that was cited by auditors as commendable.

The candidate received his education in the Colorado public schools and at A. & M. College. His experience as manager of the business concern operated by him and as county treasurer have ably equipped him for duties going with the office. "I am asking election to this office after mature consideration, realizing the responsibilities involved," Doss stated. "I shall deeply appreciate any favors accorded my candidacy by the people of Mitchell county. It is my hope to see every voter in person during the campaign. In the event I should fail to do so, it will not be because I was interested in discussing my candidacy with you and personally soliciting your support."

A tip from the Anson Western Enterprise: "The fine season resulting from the rains that have come and are coming this fall makes this a fine time to set out trees and shrubbery. Last fall was also a good time for the same work. With proper soil and proper chances for irrigation in the dry summer months a better time could not be found for starting trees, one of the greatest handiworks of God."

"FRANKENSTEIN" AT THE PALACE SUNDAY-MON.

Such a success as "Dracula" proved could result in but one thing—a story that would go it one better. The Universal story department went into a huddle and "Frankenstein," the remarkable story of a man who created a soulless, monster bit by bit from graveyards, dissecting-rooms and gibbets, was the result. "Frankenstein" was written by Mary Wollstonecroft Shelley, the wife of the poet. It was her best known work, and was written under the inspiration of her immortal husband. As a story it had much more of romance, and much more suspense than "Dracula" had, and these are elements which are highly desirable in any moving picture. For the direction of this 100 per cent shocker, Carl Lemmon summoned James Whale, whose record for realism in "Journey's End" and "Waterloo Bridge" had raised him to the nth degree as director.

Whale chose his cast with care and discernment. Boris Karloff, whose most recent work "Five Star Final" was good is chosen as the monster. See this picture at the Palace Sunday and Monday. It is an unusual picture and will be worth your time.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
The past week-end was the occasion for expansion of our spiritual lives. The presence of those young people, here to attend district convention, did much to make this one of the epochal days in our church. Dr. Clark, our presiding elder, brought a great message at 11:00 o'clock. Jim Ferguson filled the pulpit at the evening hour.

Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the pastor is to take up study of our work in the foreign missionary field. Every Colorado Methodist should be interested in knowing just where his missionary contributions have gone.

"Bitter cold" was the excuse for about 100 last Sunday for staying away from our Sunday school. 486 braved the cold and "plowed their way" out to study something of the word of our Saviour. How happy you will make us, and how hard we will try to make it worth your while if you will come next Sunday morning.

The theme for the morning sermon will be "Decision," and for the evening hour it will be "Pulling Them Out of the Fire." The pastor extends to you a cordial invitation to hear these sermons. If it is a pretty day we want 600 in Sunday school. You will enjoy the services at the First Baptist. It is a friendly church.

ALEX. E. HANSON.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
The past week-end was the occasion for expansion of our spiritual lives. The presence of those young people, here to attend district convention, did much to make this one of the epochal days in our church. Dr. Clark, our presiding elder, brought a great message at 11:00 o'clock. Jim Ferguson filled the pulpit at the evening hour.

Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the pastor is to take up study of our work in the foreign missionary field. Every Colorado Methodist should be interested in knowing just where his missionary contributions have gone.

Sunday school opening at 9:45. The young people's departments meeting at 6:30. Sunday evening at 7 o'clock we are to visit the Presbyterians. They will worship with us at 11 o'clock and we will return the visit.

FIRST BAPTIST NOTES
"Bitter cold" was the excuse for about 100 last Sunday for staying away from our Sunday school. 486 braved the cold and "plowed their way" out to study something of the word of our Saviour. How happy you will make us, and how hard we will try to make it worth your while if you will come next Sunday morning.

The theme for the morning sermon will be "Decision," and for the evening hour it will be "Pulling Them Out of the Fire." The pastor extends to you a cordial invitation to hear these sermons. If it is a pretty day we want 600 in Sunday school. You will enjoy the services at the First Baptist. It is a friendly church.
OREN C. REID, Pastor

CHURCH OF CHRIST
Two sermon subjects that will interest: "The Law, a Tutor" (Gal. 3:24-25) for 11 a. m. "Church Membership—What Does It Mean?" for the evening.

Bible classes 10 a. m., 6:30 p. m. Sunday, and Ladies Bible class Monday 3:20 p. m. Study "Life of Christ" Wednesday 7:30 p. m.
We welcome your presence.
J. D. HARVEY, Minister.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
We will worship with the Methodist people at the 11 o'clock hour. The evening at 7:00 p. m. will be in our church, the Methodist people worshipping with us at that hour. We are looking forward to a very pleasant fellowship in this arrangement.

Church school at 9:45. Christian Endeavor at 5 and 6 p. m.
Visitors given a warm welcome. Come and worship with us.
W. M. ELLIOTT, Pastor.
