Rent houses, both furnished and unfurnished, are scarce as chicken's teeth nowadays in Sonora. If you have property not listed in the Want Ads, it would be a wise investment to call in your ad today.

And there's the early bird that gets everything done ahead of time: Mrs. Harold Friess was the first to come by and order her Christmas cards this year. Last year I think we were the last ones to order.

WANTED: Old pictures letters, tales, maps, etc. to go in the 75th edition of the Devil's River News. We'd like to get these engraved as early as possible so that everything will be ready when we begin to assemble the paper. Your contributions of early Sonora County history can make this edition the most interesting ever published by the "Devil".

After returning from the West Texas Press Association Convention in Midland Saturday, I found a note on my desk written by Mary Davis, our office helper. Besides telling who had called and what they wanted, the note said: "There was a man in UNDERSHORTS at the post office yesterday!"

It was hot in Midland, too!

Texas History

A vivid reminder of the years that the flag of Spain flew over Texas is the Spanish Governor's Palace on Military Plaza in downtown San Antonio. Now a museum, the palace served as the official residence of governors of the Province of Texas from its erection in 1749 to the time of Mexico's victory over Spain in 1821.

During the period between 1691 and 1822, there were 37 Spanish governors of Texas. Prior to that, Spain controlled Texas from 1519 to 1685. The flag of France replaced that of Spain between 1685 and 1690, only to be replaced once again by the Spanish banner until Mexico took over the reins of Texas in 1821.

The free Republic of Texas envisioned in the hearts of Texans for years and brought forth by the heroism of its sons—existed from 1836 until 1845. In 1845, Texas found its birthright in union with the United States. Under the Stars and Stripes it has remained—except for the four-year period from 1861 to 1865 when Texas was a part of the Southern Confederacy and flew its flag.

—Texas Outlook

If population growth were a good yardstick for the growth of non-defense spending by the federal government, such spending should be a lot smaller today.

Since 1947, federal non-defense spending has soared 171.1 per cent, more than five times the population increase of 30.9 per cent.

John Fields says: "The older a man gets the farther he had to walk to school when he was a boy."

The teen-age son slumped dejectedly in a chair, his face anguished. Mother asked Father what was causing the gloom.

"He wants to go to the drive-in down on the corner," replied Father, "and the car won't start."

A Sonora youngster, presented with a huge German Shepherd for his birthday, looked at the big dog in wonder, then turned to his father and asked, "Is he for me or am I for him?"

Tax Raise Voted By Commissioners

A 15-cent raise of City property taxes was voted by the City Commissioners at their meeting last Monday.

Noting several obligations undertaken by the City, including participation in building a new swimming pool, purchase of a new fire truck, and several paving projects, Commissioners voted to raise the tax rate from $1.20 to $1.35 per $100 valuation. Mrs. P. J. Taylor, city secretary, says that property is assessed at 45% of market value.

At $1.35, Sonora's tax rate remains below the maximum amount of $1.50 for towns of this size.

Estimated disbursements in the budget adopted for the year 1965 are $276,154. This amount includes all four City funds—general, electricity, water, and sewer.

Sonora Stockyards To Receive Animals For Ranch Roundup

Contributions of livestock to the West Texas Boys Ranch Roundup may be delivered to the Sonora Stockyards.

The annual Roundup is a main source of income for the Ranch. The donations of livestock and cash help provide for some 80 boys throughout the year.

R. A. Halbert is serving in this area as a Roundup Wagon Boss, assisting in the collection and assembly of livestock donations. He says that he anticipates that the ranchers of the area will demonstrate their appreciation of the work of the Boys Ranch during the Roundup.

Bob Johnson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, says that arrangements have been made with Charlie Schwartz of the Sonora Stockyards to allow ranchers to leave livestock contributions at the Stockyards.

The animals will be sold, and proceeds will be sent to the Boys Ranch.

Cash contributions may be mailed to Halbert or left at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Captain Charles L. Cusenbary, and jet bombers on constant assignment of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cusenbary, has been decorated with the first oak leaf cluster to the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Minot AFB, North Dakota.

Captain Cusenbary was awarded the medal for his meritorious service as a crew commander for the 11th Air Refueling Squadron at Dover AFB, Delaware.

The captain is now a missile launch officer with a Strategic Air Command (SAC) unit at Minot. His squadron supports the SAC mission of keeping the nation's intercontinental missiles

Five from Sonora Student Council Attend Workshop

Five representatives of Sonora High School were among 340 students and sponsors from 65 Texas high schools and junior high schools attending the annual Student Council Workshop sponsored by the Texas Association of Student Councils at Trinity University in San Antonio.

Sonora representatives included Irene Davis, Bill Elliott, John David Fields, and Bill Glasscock, student council officers, and Doyle Morgan, high school principal.

School Disbanded By Board Action

Operation of the Colored Elementary School in Sonora was discontinued by vote of the Board of Education in their regular meeting Monday.

"The Board, by a unanimous vote of those present, voted to abolish the Colored Elementary School and require the colored children to attend the school in the zone in which they reside," stated Rex Lowe, superintendent of schools.

Lowe said, "In other action, the Board modified the present elementary school zone lines by continuing straight down Glasscock Avenue (which becomes Tom Green at the draw) to Oak Street, turning west thence to the city limits."

Eight pupils in four grades attended the Colored Elementary School last year. Mrs. Zelma Hudson was the teacher.

Sportsmen's Licenses Go on Sale August 26

New hunting, fishing, and trapping licenses required after August 31 should be in the hands of dealers by August 26, reports Nolan Johnson, game warden.

All persons 17 years old and under and all those 65 and over are exempt from the regular hunting and fishing licenses, but they need to get a regular exempt license if they hunt deer or turkey.

Hunting licenses cost $3.15, and fishing licenses cost $2.15. Johnson cautioned sportsmen that all old licenses expire August 31. Licenses for the new year may be obtained at sporting goods stores in the area.

Shooting preserve licenses will be sold at the Chamber of Commerce office, and Johnson requests that persons needing them obtain them as soon as possible after August 26.

About 175 persons attended the banquet and heard Lt. Gov. Preston Smith congratulate the agents on their record of service.

Langford has served as county agent in Sutton County for the past 16 years. He has worked hard with the Sutton County 4-H Club and its many activities, including the 4-H Livestock Show and Sale, the Wool and Mohair Show, and the National 4-H Wool Judging Contest.

He is president of the Downtown Lions Club, and he is an active member of First Methodist Church, where he serves as a steward.

CHAMPIONSHIP WINNERS in the Sonora Invitational Partnership Golf Tournament Sunday are Lynn Spurgeon of Uvalde and Howard Everts of LaCoste. The pair scored 136 or 4 under par.

RUNNERS-UP IN THE CHAMPIONSHIP flight are S. T. Moore and Roland Howard of San Angelo. Both had high praise for the condition of the course and the organization of the tournament.

INTENT OF THE DRIVER

Law enforcement officials, editors and any of the public concerned with the appalling toll of traffic accidents feel a common futility about how to cope with the problem.

There are many causes, and various remedies have been advanced by experts.

But a Dallas citizen, in a letter to a newspaper in that city, speaks more truth in blunt language than all of the learned dissertations on the subject we have seen.

Speaking of drivers' tests, the Dallas man wrote:

"Wrecks are not caused by people who do not know how to drive. Most of them are caused by the idiot who doesn't care. Grounding the habitual lawbreaker is more important than drivers' tests."

Drivers' tests are essential, and serve a good purpose, but they alone do not guarantee traffic safety.

The intent of the driver behind the wheel, toward the law enforcement and toward the rights of others, unquestionably is the greatest factor bearing on traffic safety.

Texas' toll of accidents and deaths is increasing and unless the trend is reversed, and it seems unlikely, this will wind up a grisly year indeed.

This problem deserves the most careful attention of the 59th Texas Legislature which will convene next January. Every cause and every measure relating to improving traffic safety should be considered.

If the laws need to be stricter on revocation of licenses of incorrigible drivers, it should be done.

Let us hope that the legislature does not become so burdened and preoccupied with the problems of congressional redistricting, legislative redistricting, teachers' salaries and higher education that the crisis on our streets and highways is slighted.

It's the Law in Texas

Twelve Rules Offered to Witnesses

By far the most vital people in our system of justice are witnesses. Everyone else in a trial exists to hear what they have to say.

Our courts need witnesses. A jury to find the facts. The judge to apply the law. The lawyer to tell his client's story.

Chances are you worry about stepping up, taking an oath, and telling your story in court.

On some rare occasions you could be called upon to testify about something affecting your own standing in the community.

As a witness you too may have the right, for example, not to testify against yourself in somebody else's lawsuit or crime trial.

If you are ever in such a bind, consult a lawyer of your own choice on what to do. The lawyer who called you to testify has a sworn duty to protect his client, not you. But your lawyer is sworn to keep what you tell him secret and to advise you in your interests within the law.

Wise lawyers tell their witnesses to obey twelve rules:

1. Go to the place (say, the scene of an accident). Check your memory before you go to court. People forget and get caught up on details. But if you check what you saw and heard you are on solid ground.
2. Visit a court. Hear how other witnesses testify. It will help you see your role on the witness stand.

3. Wear clean conservative clothes.

4. Don't memorize your story word for word. That is the surest way to sound bad. But think of what you saw and heard.

5. Listen to the questions you are asked with care and answer thoughtfully.

6. Give a simple, direct answer in your own words. Don't be rushed.

7. If you err—and people often do—correct yourself at once. If you can't remember some detail, say so. Don't bluff.

8. Tell the truth. Don't figure which side you may help. Don't identify yourself with either side.

9. Stop when the judge breaks in, and don't try to sneak an answer in before he stops you. What you might say could end in a "mistrial."

10. Keep cool and don't sass back.

11. If they ask you: Certainly, you have talked to other people—the lawyer, for example; and yes, you may be reimbursed for certain of your expenses incurred in attending the trial.

12. Remember, without witnesses our law would fail to do justice. If you are called, be a good witness.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

ACCENT ON HEALTH Today's Children May Reach 100

Those golden years have the possibility of taking on more of a healthier hue now than ever before.

About 20 years ago the average American could expect to die when he reached retirement age of 65. But today, 17,500,000 Americans are over 65, and the generation being born today may well be the one that can expect to live to be 100 years old.

But just living longer isn't enough. Extra years mean little unless they are healthy, active years. You can enjoy all the added years modern medicine has given you—you can keep young in spirit, body and mind—by practicing a little moderation and following some simple rules.

First, see your family physician regularly for a physical checkup. Today he can diagnose and treat successfully almost any disease or ailment, if he finds it early enough. He can also prevent many illnesses that may otherwise come your way.

As the years pass, you usually need less food, and there is some shift in nutritional requirements. You will need more protein, vitamins and fluids, but fewer fats and calories. No one can feel young and peppy when he's carrying extra weight.

Adequate rest is essential as both mind and body need peace and quiet to recoup from the rigors of the day.

The mark of an "old" person is creaking joints, aching back and myriad other complaints. Keep all your body parts in good working order by using them.

Fill your days with productivity. The quickest way to "old age" is through boredom. So keep up your interest in your work and your surroundings. Participate in community affairs rather than fussing and fretting about yourself at home. If you want to be among the happiest people—the doers—share your time and talents with such things as raising funds for charity, getting out the vote and participating in other civic programs.

Another shortcut to "old age" is worry, and worry, besides putting you in an unpleasant frame of mind, can sometimes lead to illness.

Many worries about tomorrow can be avoided if you plan, and act, today.

Race Relations Progress in Texas Commended by Visiting Officials

AUSTIN, Tex.—Texas' progress in the field of race relations was commended by visiting federal officials here to discuss aspects of the new Civil Rights Law.

Gov. John Connally met briefly with Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges; former Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins, director of the new Community Relations Service and former Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee.

Session was one of a series to be conducted with governors in all states at the request of President Johnson to discuss the Community Relations Service operation. Agency will provide conciliation service at the state and local level to resolve discrimination disputes.

Governor Connally predicted Texas will continue to move forward without outside help.

Meanwhile, Texas School Boards Association warned that action on the part of segregated schools between now and Labor Day may determine their continuing eligibility for federal funds.

According to Department of Health, Education and Welfare officials on the Civil Rights Law, all the answers won't be known until new regulations are drawn late this month.

But the law has been interpreted as banning federal aid to segregated facilities.

Texas schools now get about $30,000,000 a year in federal money for such programs as the national defense education act, vocational education, school lunch and milk program and aid to districts where federal installations bring in a large number of pupils.

HEW personnel indicate "tentative procedures for enforcement of Title VI (of the Civil Rights Law) will require assurance from local school boards of compliance or intention to comply before federal funds will be awarded."

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED—Governor Connally selected Pat Taggart of Waco, president of Newspaper, Inc., as a member of Texas State Historical Survey Committee to succeed Sam Privitt of Childress for an unexpired term extending until January 1.

New members of the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners are Miss Hedwig Pustejovsky of Houston, Mrs. Jimmie L. Morrison of Hico and Mrs. Naomi Younger of Levelland. Their terms extend until September 7, 1969.

Dr. J. A. Barrington of Wichita Falls and Dr. Claude Willey of El Paso were named to six-year terms on the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners. They succeed Dr. John McCoy of Paris and Dr. Edward Dwell of Alice.

Allen Searight, community coordinator for Texas Industrial Commission, has accepted a job as executive director of Texas Historical Foundation. Larry Milner, San Angelo, will take over Searight's duties with the Industrial Commission on August 15.

LOBBYISTS—Texas legislative leaders, who have been the target of many lobbyists, have turned lobbyists themselves.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Speaker Byron Tunnell and Sen. George Moffett, chairman of the Legislative Council's redistricting committee, have been lobbying in Washington for passage of federal laws to clarify the congressional and legislative redistricting situation.

Moffett wants Congress to say that a state may have as much as 15 per cent variation from the average population in its Congressional districts. He and Smith also spoke in favor of the proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution which would allow the states to set up one house of their Legislatures on a basis other than population.

ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINIONS—Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has ruled that:

A county attorney has the duty of filing suits for foreclosure of the State's lien for delinquent inheritance taxes;

District courts in that county have jurisdiction of these suits even in those instances in which property formerly belonging to a decedent is not within the county, so long as it is within the jurisdiction of this state.

PANHANDLE SALT WATER HEARING CONTINUED—Oil industry representatives urged the Texas Water Pollution Control Board not to outlaw the use of open, unlined earthen pits for the disposal of oil field salt water in Dallam, Lipscomb, Hemphill, Potter and Oldham counties.

Board held the third in a series of hearings to explore the problem in a 48-county area which overlays the Ogallala water formation.

Oil engineers testified disposal of oil field brine into unlined pits in the five Panhandle counties named is "very minor." By January 1, testified one, 87 per cent of the salts will be injected underground, with only 257 barrels a day going into unlined surface pits.

HUNTING-FISHING LICENSES GOING OUT—New hunting and fishing licenses are scheduled to be sent to some 2,800 dealers by mid-August, State Parks and Wildlife Commission announces.

Old licenses expire on August 31. More than 2,300,000 are expected to be paid during the coming year—at the rate of $2.15 for fishing license and $3.15 for a hunting license.

SHORT SNORTS

Cigarette taxes continue to increase—to $8,400,000 in June, a jump of $317,942 over the previous month—according to State Comptroller's office.

Thirteen citizens' task forces met here to work on various aspects of a Texas plan for community mental health programs.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler refused to consider the sale of 10 tracts of school land in Bandera County, explaining that he thought his own staff had set values too low.

Treasurer Jesse James reported an increase of $459,999 in tax revenues for stamps on ale, liquor and wine from July, 1963, to July, 1964, for a total of $10,000,000 last month.

Attorney General Carr announced the recovery of $52,425 against two defendants charged with operating slanted oil wells, making a total of $800,270 in judgments which have been returned against slant-hole drillers and operators.

Governor Connally will tour four northern Mexico states bordering Texas on August 15-18.

And don't you sometimes re-read, study, compare, figure, clip, save, and show to friends? When you're on the brink of buying, aren't you hungry for facts, features, dimensions, styles, colors, capacities, prices?

Print advertising puts people who are close to a purchase close to the kind of information they demand. Newspapers, magazines and brochures let them linger with your message for as long as they like.

Print imparts important details, allows for colorful presentations, makes lasting impressions, takes people straight to the point-of purchase. If you've something to sell, it will pay you to promote it regularly in print—where ready-to-buy people can keep their eyes on it, get their hands on it, make the most of it. An Idle Mind Column

By Della King

We knew that there had been some confusion from having two John Kings in Sonora, but we had no idea how far it went until a couple of weeks ago.

John I. King has been a bachelor rancher in this area for many years. When John T. King came to Sonora to be the new Devil, there were bound to be some mix-ups. And sure enough, we exchange a few letters, invitations, or bills each month, and some telephone calls have gone to the wrong number.

Then several months ago my name was listed in the San Angelo newspaper as Mrs. John I. King. John I. says several people joked with him about "finally getting married," and some relatives even telephoned from out of town.

But it wasn't until two weeks ago that we discovered the extent of the confusion. I was talking to my second cousin, Ann, who lives in San Angelo, and she told us that her husband, Duke King, is John I.'s nephew.

Ann said that lots of people have asked her about Duke's Uncle John and his new wife.

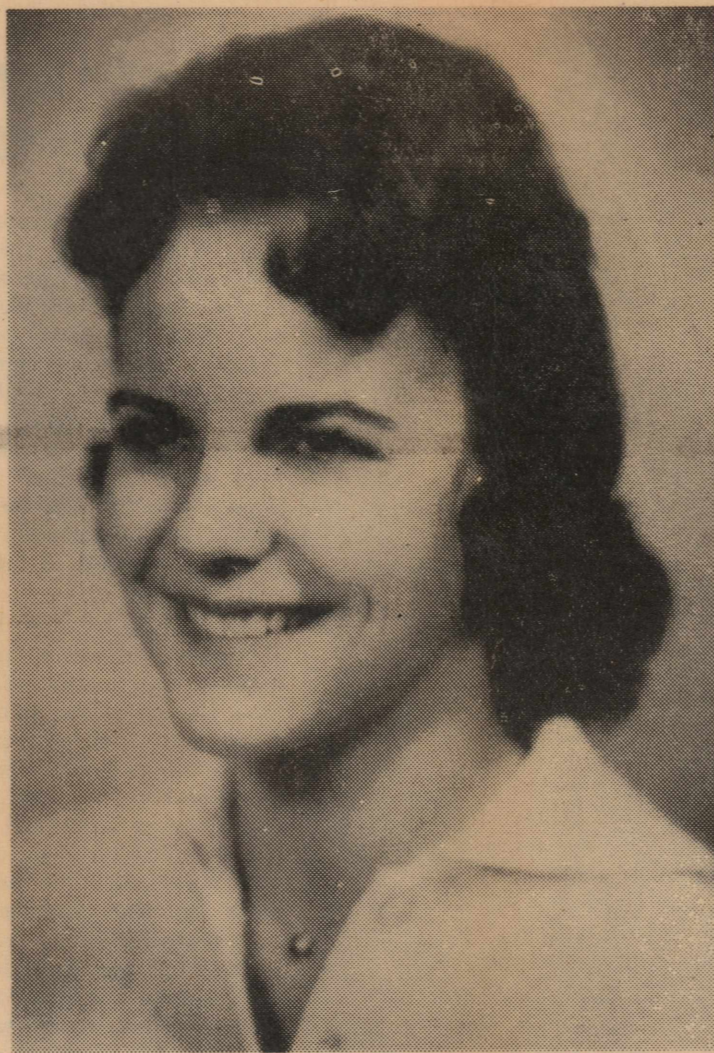

"Oh," she informs them, "those aren't Duke's relatives. They're mine."

Those are bound to be the people that are really confused.

NEW NURSING HEAD

Mrs. Jack Montgomery is new nursing supervisor at Hudspeth Memorial Hospital. Also a surgical nurse, Mrs. Montgomery had worked here when the hospital was opened. She lives in Eldorado.

Mrs. Edith Phillips of Houston has been a guest of Mrs. Harva Cooper.

The couple plans to be married August 23 at the First Baptist Church in Cypress.

Miss Wright is a graduate of Sonora High School and is a junior at Sam Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville.

Tyler is a graduate of Cypress-Fairbanks High School and is a graduating senior at Sam Houston State Teachers College.

Miss Sykes Feted With Gift Coffee

Miss Janis Sykes, bride-elect of George Raymond Evans Boucher, was honored with a gift coffee at the Woman's Club Building Saturday, August 8.

Decorations were in Miss Sykes chosen colors, blue and white. The serving table featured a white cutwork cloth over blue and was centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and blue carnations. A silver coffee service was used.

Receiving guests were the honoree, Mrs. Estes Adams, and Mrs. Wesley Sykes. Mrs. Reed Jennings registered guests. Mrs. Vernon West of Del Rio and Mrs. Rudy Powell of San Angelo poured.

Hostesses were Meses. Lester Archer, Dorothy Baker, Harry Kiser, George S. Schwiening, John Reiley, Curt Schwiening, Buster Shroyer, Elmer Wilson, Lois Young, Floyd Meacham of Junction, West, Adams, and Powell.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Jack Sykes and Mrs. Bennett Boone, both of Junction.

PATIO SUPPER HOSTED BY MRS. HARVA COOPER

Mrs. Harva Cooper and Miss Betty Jack Cooper complimented Mrs. Joe Reynolds and family of Roswell, New Mexico, and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Koy of Eldorado with a patio supper last week.

Other members of their family were also present at the party.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Taylor this week have been Mrs. Taylor's father, W. B. Hubbert, and Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Jessup, all of Los Angeles.

Pair Complimented With Supper Party

Lights from aurora hurricane lamps provided the setting for a pre-nuptial supper and party honoring Miss Janis Sykes and George Boucher of Elko, Nevada. Mrs. Harva Cooper and Miss Betty Jack Cooper were hostesses for the party at the Cooper home Saturday evening.

Tables covered with pastel cloths were lighted with small lanterns, and place cards featured a bride and bridegroom.

The serving table was centered with a white honeycomb bird cage enclosing two white love birds. Tiny pairs of love birds perched on the rims of salad bowls, atop the tea server, and on various other places.

Bride's bingo was played on the patio, and prizes of kitchen utensils were awarded to the future bride.

About 20 guests were present at the party.

Miss Sykes and Boucher are to be married August 16 in St. John's Episcopal Church. They plan to make their home in Elko.

Miss Stokes Feted With Shower Friday

Miss Nanette Stokes, bride-elect of James Howard Stephens, was complimented with a surprise lingerie shower last Friday by Mrs. Harva Cooper and Miss Betty Jack Cooper.

Yellow and white, Miss Stokes' chosen colors, were used in decorating the Cooper home. An arrangement of yellow and white daisies was on the buffet, and favors were miniature soft drink bottles tied with yellow and white ribbons.

Pineapple, cheese, and ham rounds, soft drinks, dips, and cookies were served to about 30 guests.

Out-of-town class members at the party included Mrs. Jennings Flathers of McLean, Virginia, Mrs. Palmer West of Eldorado, and Mrs. J. B. Shanks of Houston. Mrs. A. H. Hanszen, class teacher, was also present.

Members of the Sonora High School class of 1931 met for a reunion at the home of Mrs. Harva Cooper Wednesday, August 5.

PNEUMONIA in the GOOD OLD DAYS

The "good old days" weren't so good when you had pneumonia. Doctors were helpless to arrest the infection, and many patients died. A case of lobar pneumonia required at least five weeks in the hospital, a long convalescence, and a bill for $300 to $1000.

Today, pneumonia can usually be cured by antibiotics or sulfa. Altogether you'll invest perhaps $15 to $30 in drugs. You'll have probably a couple weeks of illness, usually spent at home—and a quick return to work.

The value of today's drugs—in lives saved, time saved, and dollars saved is truly remarkable. For drugs Americans spend only one cent of every disposable dollar. This is no larger share than in 1939. No wonder we say: "Today's prescription is the biggest bargain in history."

Opening lead: eight of clubs.
 The king of clubs was played on the opening lead and East covered with the ace and South ruffed in his own hand. South cleared trumps, ending in the dummy; played the jack of clubs, which East covered and South ruffed in the closed hand. South returned to the board with a spade, sluffed his losing heart on the ten of clubs, then let East take his ace and king of diamonds.
 Comment: East and West could have made five hearts and should have bid up to five; however, with South's distribution, he would have bid five spades.

Special praises go to L. P. Bloodworth and W. B. McMillan for the wonderful barbequing they did for the tournament. And, to ALL the ladies, men and youngsters who worked so diligently those two days, we say "Thank you... we appreciate you!"

We are proud of our local winners: J. W. Neville and his brother, Durwood Neville of Abilene, winners of the first flight; Dennie Hays and John (George) McClelland, winners of the third flight. Go by the Sonora Men's Store and John can give you a real story about "that shot on seven!"

Lynn Spurgeon of Uvalde, one of the winners in the Championship flight, paid our course a real nice compliment. He said our greens were the finest he had played on this year... including the Texas Open! That's a pat on the back for you, Felipe. Keep up the good work.

And last but not least, the men's tournament committee did a bang up job on handling this tournament. Oliver Wuest, Wallas Renfro, and Jerry Hopkins worked hard, and when the awarding of prizes came around, they fittingly turned it over to Lea Roy Aldwell, club president, who did a wonderful job of presentation.

There will be a mixed (Scotch) foursome this coming Sunday August 16. Register by 8:30 at the club house.

WALKING OFF WITH LUGGAGE prizes in the third flight of the Sonora Invitational Partnership Golf Tournament are John McClelland and Dennie Hays. McClelland holed out from 70 yards on number seven for a birdie.

West Texas Boys Ranch President Terms Work Placement Program As Successful

Claude Collins of San Angelo, Board President of the West Texas Boys Ranch, has reported that the Ranch's work placement away from the Ranch program has been one of the most successful aspects of the Ranch's varied training program. In the last five years, over 100 boys have been placed on "special summer jobs." Of this number 42 have become permanently employed as a result of their special job training.

Recognizing the need for special work experience which would help the boys to test what they have learned at the Ranch, the Ranch staff initiated a program referred to as "Placement Away from the Ranch" in 1959. The P. A.R. program is designed to give the older boy an opportunity to work away from the Ranch on some job. The job placements vary depending on the individual boy's need, background, and ability. The older boy who for some reason will not be able to finish high school is placed in a vocational type setting where he will receive specialized training. Some of the boys have been placed in mechanics school, baking, butchering, etc. One boy received training in radio engineering and announcing and has held several responsible radio jobs in Texas. For the boy who will finish high school, the Ranch has a college program available. While in school, all of the eligible boys are given an opportunity to learn some type of work experience away from the Ranch.

The Ranch tries to line up jobs which are in keeping with the boy's own aptitude and ability. One boy who is interested in advertising as a career has a summer job working for a direct mailing concern. Location of the jobs are varied with some of the placements as far away as New Mexico. While in the job placement the Ranch gives supervision of the boy and maintains close contact with the employer.

The annual livestock and farm products roundup provides a good portion of the annual budget needed to take care of the 80 boys under the Ranch's care. This project is simply an attempt to help finance the Ranch through donations of stock, farm products which the donor will not miss as individuals, but which in total will amount to an important sum.

Funds received from the donation of a cow can sponsor a boy for over a month. August 24 through 29 has been designated as Roundup week; however donations are appreciated at any time during the year. R. A. Halbert is the 1964 Wagon Boss for this area and will assist in handling Roundup donations.

CROP Shipments For Emergency Aid Sent To Pakistan

An emergency shipment of 300,000 pounds of wheat and 150,000 pounds of rice from CROP is on its way to east Pakistan where an extensive rehabilitation program is underway to help 33,000 Garo tribesmen.

These people, who are located along the Assam border in the Mymensingh district, have lost most of their property because of riots between Moslem and non-Moslems in the country.

Working with the East Pakistan Christian Council, Church World Service is helping the relief committee of the council by shipping U. S. government-donated foods and CROP foods to the area. Some 64,000 pounds of CROP foods, including rice, wheat and beans, have already been sent to the Mymensingh district.

Even though the East Pakistan committee has provided the tribesmen with plows, oxen and rice seedlings so that they may prepare their land for the next crop, the harvest is not due until the middle of the summer and even that will not sustain all the Garo people. There will be quite widespread need among the tribesmen until the December harvest. To a large extent the CROP food will be paid as wages to men working to re-establish their villages.

Rice and wheat from CROP will also be shipped by Church World Service to the Chittagong Hill Tracts of East Pakistan where 300,000 persons have become victims of famine. The major factors contributing to the destitute condition of these people are the loss of productive land due to flooding of the area for a power development project and the destruction of the past two crops by unusually heavy rainfall.

Louis XIII of France Never Allowed State Affairs To Interrupt His Hobby

Perhaps the most famous royal name in the history of gun collecting was Louis XIII of France, who reigned from 1610 to 1643.

He got off to an early start with his hobby, having already collected seven pieces by the age of 10, according to research done by the National Rifle Association of Washington D. C.

Three years later—in 1614—his collection had grown to 50, and he was constantly using up his "pocket money" to buy more.

Louis didn't use his collection just to decorate the walls of his gunroom. He spent several hours a day shooting like mad in his private indoor range in the Louvre palace. After he became king, he never allowed affairs of state to interfere with his recreation. His ministers often had to take documents to his shooting gallery for him to sign.

After firing, Louis always disassembled and cleaned his guns himself. This greatly annoyed the bootlicking courtiers who were thus deprived of what was regarded a great honor and privilege.

The royal sportsman's personal cabinet d' armes contained hundreds of fine guns. His collection survived intact until the French Revolution. Louis XIV had the collection catalogued in 1673 and inventory numbers were stamped on the stocks. By these marks it is still possible to identify each gun exactly.

It is not clear what befell the magnificent collection after the Revolution. Many of the superbly ornamented firearms were separated from the plain military guns, and the latter were moved to the Paris Arsenal where they remained until Paris was occupied after the Battle of Waterloo. Then the guns became war souvenirs.

Modern collectors shudder with horror to think these priceless examples of the gunmaker's art in the hands of revolutionaries who grabbed them to shoot down those hated aristocrats not important enough to mount the steps of Madame Guillotine. Lugged through the blood-drenched streets of Paris and used as clubs by the rioting citizens, many of the finest guns were so badly damaged that they ended on the junk heap.

The Louis XIII firearms captured by the Prussians and the British after Waterloo suffered a happier fate. Most of them found their way into public and private collections on both sides of the Atlantic. Some are still preserved in France at the great government Museum of the Army in Paris.

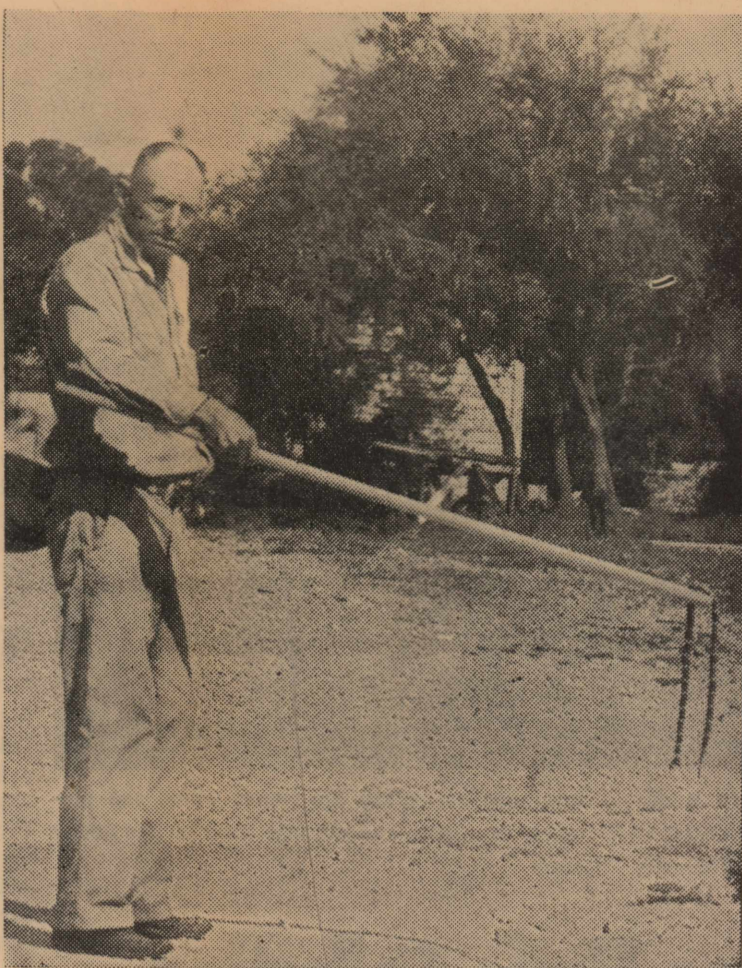

Unlike most modern monarchs who purchase pieces directly from various commercial outlets, royalty in the 16th and 17th centuries maintained one or more gunsmiths among the artists and craftsmen attached to their courts.

If it hadn't been for their royal customers, many of Europe's most famous gunmakers—such as Nicholas Boutet and Jean Baptiste LaRoche—would have confined their workmanship strictly to ordinary firearms. Largely because of the hefty prices kings and queens were able and willing to pay, noted gunsmiths vied with each other in the production of exquisite guns, which remain today among the highest expressions of the creative arts.

Such masterpieces bore elaborate hunting scenes, for example, in gold, silver and ivory inlay, set in the finest of steel and wood. Some of the ornate engraving on these guns would be difficult, perhaps impossible to reproduce today.

However wealthy, the modern sportsman may be excused if he does not order his guns encrusted like the rich pieces of bygone days. The chief designer of a London firm of gunmakers recently estimated that the gold, the artistry, and the time required to decorate a rifle in a manner comparable to that of Louis' guns, would cost today's customer more than $5,000. And that's just for one shootin' iron!

A Man's View Point

By Dale E. Beckley

Dear Dale:
Is it true that Vietnamese guerilla fighters weighing only 90 pounds can shoot an arrow through an 8-inch tree at 50 yards?
Ted A.

Dear Ted:
It is possible. These men use crossbows made of bamboo. Mechanical devices can be used to draw the bow so the strength of the archer is not so important. In addition, some native trees, like the banana, are fairly soft.

Dear Dale:
How many votes for the presidency did Henry Wallace get in 1948?
Robert Jones

Dear Robert:
Running on the Progressive ticket, Wallace got 1,156,103 votes. The total vote that year was more than 48 million.

Dear Dale:
Don't you think that a fifteen-year old girl should be allowed to choose her own wardrobe? My mother insists on coming with me every time I need even the smallest articles. How can I make her understand that I can do my own shopping?
Growing Up

Dear Growing Up:
A fifteen-year old must learn to develop her own tastes while spending her shopping money wisely. I do feel that at your age you should be allowed to choose your wardrobe, but your parents should have final approval. Ask your mother to give you a trial shopping spree all by yourself so that you can prove to her that you are capable of taking this responsibility. (Most stores allow approvals on their merchandise.) She'll probably be delighted to see how well you do.

Dear Dale:
Which heavyweight champion had the longest reach?
Boxer

Dear Boxer:
The leader in this department is Primo Carnera of Italy, whose reach was 85½ inches. Sonny

Liston is second with 84 inches.

Dear Dale:
My brother and I have been trying to convince our mother that it's okay to go swimming right after eating. She always makes us wait a whole hour and by that time all our friends have gone, and we have to go alone. Please tell her that it's not necessary to wait.
David and Danny

Dear Dale:
I have also heard the rumors to the effect that it's not necessary to wait to swim after eating. However, in checking with a pediatrician, I find that most medical authorities still feel that it is definitely advisable to wait an hour. Remember boys, "Mother knows best."

Dear Dale:
What is white chocolate?
Tom

Dear Tom:
White chocolate is a term used by candy manufacturers to describe a coating used in place of chocolate during the summer months. It is made with cocoa butter. This coating cannot legally be labeled as chocolate since there are minimum standards prescribed for the amount of chocolate liquor that must be present.

MRS. AUTHER SIMMONS points to a design of three stars made with Indian arrowheads. For the past three years Mrs. Simmons has been collecting the stones which she polishes, arranges, and displays here in her hobby room.

Mrs. Simmons Finds Collecting Rocks Makes Interesting Hobby

By Pat Billingsley
Quite a few people in this area collect Indian artifacts, but I wonder if anyone else has as much fun at it or has a larger collection than Mrs. Auther Simmons.

About three years ago Mrs. Simmons told herself that she needed a hobby, since she no longer had the time-consuming duties of a ranch wife to perform. It seemed natural to turn her attention to the many Indian arrowheads and other stones which lay on their ranch, and she began to pick up, as she says, "rather indiscriminately", bags full of stones whenever she went to the ranch.

Although Mrs. Simmons is not very exacting about what she picks up, once she gets them home each stone receives individual attention. After she washes each one, she polishes it with floor wax and decides where she would like to put it. Most of the arrowheads—the birdpoints and spearpoints, as she terms them—are arranged in some sort of design, glued to a cloth background, and framed. Some of the designs are very simple, but a few are rather intricate: there is one quite detailed outline of an Indian in his war bonnet, and a perfect star design.

The larger stones are placed either on a display table or on one of the shelves which line the walls of the converted washroom which serves as Mrs. Simmons' hobby room. Though she makes no claims to being well versed in the language and literature of collecting artifacts, Mrs.

Simmons does have a name for almost every item. Some of the larger ones she designates as different kinds of implements used by the Indians: pestle, awl, drill, scraper, knife, and hammerstone. Of particular interest are a large, smooth stone which she says is a moccasin last, and a slender, piece of foot-long limestone which she found in two sections and glued back together. Mrs. Simmons says she saw a picture of a similar stone in a book and it was called a ceremonial stick.

Hobbies can be expensive, but Mrs. Simmons has tried to keep hers simple. Most of her work is done on a card table, and the stones are fastened to their cloth backgrounds with plain old Elmer's glue. Some of the designs are glued onto cardboard, and many of the cloth backgrounds are from scraps of material she had on hand. The most expensive part of her hobby was having the old washroom transformed into a pleasant display room with a polished floor, softly painted walls and curtains.

Since she was collecting things, it seemed natural for Mrs. Simmons to add some other items to her collection. There are various kinds of rocks representative of this part of the country, jasper from Colorado, stones from Fort Davis, and a collection of rocks from the Big Bend country, one of which is in the shape of an Easter egg. A friend brought some perfect sand dollars from Florida, and Mrs. Simmons has collected a

Two Music Pupils Of Mrs. R. Q. Harris Attend TWU Course

Two pupils of Mrs. R. Q. Harris were among nine girls from throughout the state recently who attended the annual Piano Class of the Summer Music Camp at Texas Woman's University.

Connie Speck and Judy Sallee of Eldorado spent a week on the campus of TWU practicing piano and attending master classes.

The piano class was under the direction of Dr. J. Wilgus Eberly, director of the department of music at TWU, and is open each summer to talented young pianists from the eighth grades through high school. In addition to the approval of the department, the girls are also recommended by their own music teachers as to their interest and proficiency in music.

The week's work terminated with a recital in the home of the director Friday night.
