EMPLOYMENT OF A HEALTH NURSE FOR COUNTY ENDORSED

COUNTY PUBLIC HEALTH BODY PROMOTING MOVE; NOLAN COUNTY HEAD IS SPEAKER HERE

Endorsement of the employment of a health nurse to work in Mitchell county in conjunction with the state department of health was voted at a meeting of the Mitchell County Health committee Wednesday afternoon. Chas. C. Thompson, chairman, presided at the meeting.

The vote was taken after the gathering, in which practically every community of the county was represented, had heard talks by Dr. G. A. Gray of Sweetwater, director of the Nolan county health unit, and others. Dr. Gray was introduced by Dr. Wm. S. Rhode of Colorado City.

Dr. Gray explained the benefits of a county health nurse and her duties, describing the latter as largely advisory in character. Such nurses guide health programs in schools, assist in health examinations, go into homes of the county where nursing advice is needed. Dr. Gray pointed out the decreased death rates which prevail in counties maintaining such a nursing service.

Other speakers heard were Mrs. W. L. Hester of Loring, Mrs. Bennett Scott of Colorado City, and Jimmie Walker of Floydada, state sanitarian in charge of a 60-county district with headquarters at Floydada. Walker was introduced by W. R. Charters, Colorado City sanitarian, with whom he has been working this week.

Plans were made to promote public sentiment in all communities to favor the hiring of a nurse. The health group is to have representation at the next meeting of the Mitchell county commissioners court on May 8.

LET'S SETTLE THE PAVING QUESTION!

AN EDITORIAL
"To pave or not to pave"—that's a question with which Coloradans have been tussling since the city-wide WPA paving project was approved nearly a year ago.

It's a question which will be settled at the polls Saturday when Colorado City's qualified, property-owning voters ballot on $50,000 worth of bonds to carry on the project.

There are those for the paving and, of course, those against it. Each camp has its reasons, its honest convictions. But only one side can win in Saturday's voting.

Whatever the outcome, it will be satisfactory only if there is a large representative vote in the election. Colorado City belongs to the people who live in it. If most of the people want paving, then there should be paving, and if most of them don't, then there shouldn't be.

A small vote Saturday will hurt both sides, for neither can ever regard such a decision as the true wish of the people.

If the bonds are voted, they will not run more than 15 years, bearing interest of not more than 4% per annum, which will mean a cost of around $4 per year to the average tax payer.

That's less than 35 cents per month—little more than the cost of one good magazine.

It will be little to pay for the privilege of living in a town of paved, tree-lined streets, little to pay for convenience and pleasure, driving or walking, every day in the year. It will be low-priced insurance against mounting street maintenance costs. It will be a cheap rate for advertising to entice prospective citizens.

The paving program, if it carries, will mean work for a lot of men who need work. Its success will give the town that very necessary something called a "progressive spirit."

But it was not the original purpose of this article to promote the paving program. This newspaper has never tried to harangue its readers as to what they should or should not do, and the custom will not be started at this point.

The only duty this article would point out is the plain duty of every qualified voter to voice his conviction on matters of such public importance.

COLORADO'S NAME IS OFFICIALLY CHANGED TO 'COLORADO CITY' AT COUNCIL MEETING

This history-rich West Texas town, located on a double bend of the Colorado river, officially changed its name from Colorado to Colorado City when the city council passed an order for the name change at its regular meeting Monday night.

The council acted on authority granted by Colorado City voters in the election of April 4, when the name change was voted 356 to 136. The change was promoted by the Colorado chamber of commerce in effort to reduce the confusion of the town with the state of Colorado in places removed from West Texas.

Meanwhile, Coloradans are just beginning to learn that accomplishing the name change in practice and reality will probably be a long-drawn-out process. The big items, now that the change has been made official by the city council, include getting the change made by the post-office department and accepted by bond holders.

Colorado City will have to be substituted on stationery and letter-heads and other printed items used in business and everyday living, but most citizens say that they won't make the change until they've used up what they have on hand.

Much more trying on the patience will be the task of learning to say Colorado City and to write it. It is agreed that years will have to pass before the change is fully accomplished.

A few die-hards who didn't want the name changed anyway will continue to be in and from Colorado, Texas. This does history repeat itself, because there are old letters to show that over 50 years ago when Colorado City first discarded the "city" it has now decided to attach again, some of the early-day cattlemen went right on having their stationery printed "Colorado City" although the postoffice marks on these same letters read "Colorado, Texas."

Spring Supplies Motif For Zetagathian Tea Honoring Members Of 1921 Study Club

Spring supplied the motif for a tea given last Thursday afternoon by members of the Zetagathian club at the home of Mrs. Sefton Pickens to honor their mother club, the 1921 Study.

An exhibit of 12 pictures done by Mrs. Hunt Guitart, who works mostly with chalk in pastels but who also does oil paintings, was a feature of the afternoon. Mrs. Guitart is a member of the Zetagathian club.

Sweet peas were arranged throughout the home. All the hostesses were in evening dresses of pastel shades.

The dining room was candlelit. On the lace-covered table from which refreshments were served buffet style were two pink candles burning in chromium holders at the end of an oblong mirror. Pink and white sweet peas were arranged in a bowl on the mirror. Both the flowers and the candles were reflected effectively. Mrs. Pickens presided at the silver tea service.

Silver trays of canapés, ribbon sandwiches, rolled sandwiches, anchovy with olives, flower-decorated cookies and blanched pecans were placed on the table.

Mrs. Carey Prude, Jr., assisted in serving, and Mrs. Fred Rives Hutchinson pinned corsage favors on each guest. Sara Guitart played several piano numbers.

Mrs. Jack Cox, club president, introduced each member of the Zetagathian club to their "mother" club, the 1921 members. There were about 35 present in all.

Reminiscences Are Indulged In At Tea Honoring Mrs. Coleman On Her Birthday

Reminiscences were the order of the hour when 25 friends of Mrs. P. C. Coleman, pioneer Coloradoan, gathered at the home of Mrs. Y. D. McMurry Saturday afternoon to honor Mrs. Coleman on her 84th birthday.

White candles and a profusion of white spirea and other spring flowers were used throughout the home. Mildred Coleman, daughter of the honoree, and Mrs. V. Van Gieson of Big Spring, poured tea from a dolly-covered table centered with a bowl of sweet peas and snapdragons flanked by tall white tapers. Mrs. Roscoe Dobbs, Mrs. Byron Byrne, and Bernice Terrell assisted in the dining room.

A potted red rose was presented to Mrs. Coleman by Mrs. Roy Buchanan in behalf of the Standard club, which Mrs. Coleman helped organize over 46 years ago. She is the club's only surviving charter member. She was its first president, and has been serving this club year in that capacity again, having been president at intervals since its organization.

Benny Dawes, godchild of the honoree, presented Mrs. Coleman with an Easter lily and a birthday cake.

Mrs. Coleman was born Lucy Ham in Tyler on April 8, 1855. After attending private schools in Tyler, she went to a finishing school in Staunton, Virginia, and spent her summers with her mother at Virginia watering places—Rockbridge Alum, Warm Springs, White Sulphur. When she returned to Texas she and her mother lived for a time in Galveston before returning to Tyler to build the home which has now been converted into the parsonage for the First Baptist church at Tyler.

As a girl Mrs. Coleman was referred to in society columns of the day as a "Texas belle." She was a familiar figure in the social life of Galveston, Austin, Houston, Tyler, and other points. She met the late Dr. P. C. Coleman, pioneer Colorado physician, while visiting a cousin in Colorado City in the summer of 1884, when the town was teeming with the lusty, crowded life to be expected of a three-year-old, cattle-booming, railroad-born town. They were married in Tyler on April 21, 1885. Dr. Coleman died in 1932.

Writing Home From Austin

By R. Temple Dickson

The House of Representatives began this week by continuing consideration of other things than the pension matter, although at this writing they were expected to get back to that subject by mid-week or the last of the week.

Meantime, numerous other matters have been attended to, and several rather important bills have been passed. The house is in session until after dark these days, so many are the bills demanding attention.

The new land vacancy bill has been passed, apparently to the satisfaction of all concerned. In amended form, it was found acceptable by the Texas State Teachers Association, a body which had earlier led the opposition.

Of course everyone is getting in a hurry now that the session is getting well along toward its end. Folks here are asking when the session will end, and that question is a little hard to answer. There are three things which may happen.

First, the house can adjourn sine die on May 10, the day the regular session ends. Second, the governor can call a 30-day special session to begin at that time. Third, the members may remain in session past that time without a call of the governor, receiving only half pay.

Only the governor knows whether a 30-day extra session will be called. However, it is very unlikely that the house will adjourn promptly May 10. Members will stay overtime—perhaps three weeks or a month—to take care of pressing business.

As in some other sections of Texas, feeling is high against "loan-sharks"—lenders of small amounts of money at ridiculously high rates. There are several bills to stringently regulate loan companies pending before the legislature now.

Those fighting the loan sharks and pushing for the passage of a small loans act have put out the information that Texas loan sharks annually collect more than $40,000,000 in illegal interest.

Such arithmetic does not mean a thing in the world, but just for fun someone figured out that forty million dollars would pay the old age pensions ($30,000,000), plus the state auto license tax ($7,153,000), executive and administrative expense of the state ($2,340,000), and leave a half million left over. Maybe a few high taxes don't mean much anyway, with this much going for such a minor item as illegal interest.

The senate and the house constitutional amendments committee has approved a constitutional amendment resolution that would allow direct appeal from the district court to the state supreme court in cases involving the constitutionality of a state law. This would speed up legal procedure and make for a more rapid testing of new laws.

Pending also before the house committee on constitutional amendments is a proposed amendment that would eliminate the 11 civil appeals courts of Texas. This would further speed up the meting out of justice in civil cases, but the amendment has little chance of submission, now being cubbyholed by the committee.

The house has passed to third reading a proposed amendment which would give all state and county official, four year terms. It is claimed that this measure, if effected, would reduce election costs, attract better men to run for office, increase efficiency in government. The governor would be ineligible to succeed himself, in this case.

Following the advice of the speaker, the house of representatives has temporarily turned its attention to other matters than pensions and taxes.

The speaker pointed out to the house Monday that a few days devoted to other types of legislation would be well spent, not only in order to clear the calendar of such legislation, but also to give opposing factions time to get together on the pension-tax matter.

The fact that H.J.R. 16, the sales tax amendment, has failed, does not mean that revenue will not be raised to pay pensions. There are several other means of gaining this end, and even a sales tax might still be levied through law rather than amendment.

At least ninety members of the house have signed an agreement not to adjourn until some pension solution has been worked out. As long as these ninety members vote against adjournment, there can be no adjournment, so it is evident that the legislature will not leave this job undone.

After the regular 120 day session has ended, members will receive only half pay of $5, which is not much money in the town of Austin, where living costs are unusually high.

Members will not be anxious to stay in Austin at half pay, so final solution of the matter may be expected shortly after the regular session ends in May.

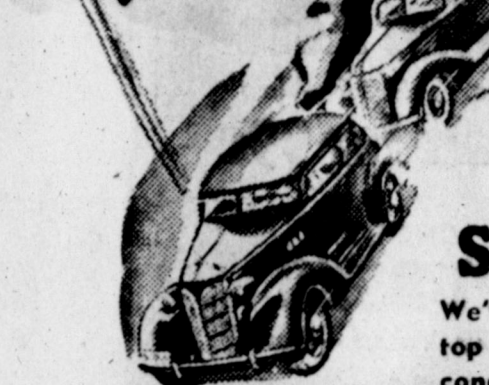

The horse-racing bill was killed by a 61 to 65 vote Monday, but attempt may be made to get it through the house as a "rider" tacked on to the appropriations bill.

In Austin Vice-President John N. Garner is being boomed for the presidency. Governor O'Daniel last week joined the boosters of the vice-president by giving his official approval to a legislative resolution extolling the Uvalde statesman. The resolution had gone through both houses of the legislature with enthusiasm.

The highway question is up again. The Governor, who has had two appointees besmirched by the senate, has now suggested J. M. West of

WORLD'S FAIR EXHIBIT FOR TEXAS IS PUSHED

AUSTIN.—Declaring that "Texas must tell the world before she can sell the world," Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel this week urged all Texans to cooperate in the drive to place an outstanding exhibit at the New York World's Fair as the first step toward the industrialization of Texas.

"We must advertise to the world the vast resources, the opportunities for industrial development, and the conditions for betterment of life which abound in Texas," the Governor said. "The greatest opportunity for so advertising Texas will be available to us by adequate participation in the New York World's Fair."

Pointing out that the 45th Legislature created the Texas World's Fair Commission to arrange exhibits at the fair, Governor O'Daniel said that "recently, at my request, representative business and industrial leaders met with Lieutenant-Governor Coke Stevenson and me to discuss the project. At this meeting considerable sums were pledged and I have since received numerous assurances that others will respond with substantial contributions. We are endeavoring to raise $250,000 to present and maintain an exhibit at the World's Fair which will insure representation commensurate with the greatness of our state."

Texas' participation in the World's Fair is vital to the state's industrial program, Governor O'Daniel pointed out. "Many other states, few of them so fortunate as Texas in climate, resources and people, will be well represented at the fair," he said. "Texas must not fail to participate. We must have an exhibit at the World's Fair of which every Texan will be proud."

Governor O'Daniel revealed that a feature length motion picture in technicolor covering every phase of Texas life has been made under the sponsorship of Karl Hohlitzelle of Dallas, vice-chairman of the commission.

"This picture, covering Texas' historic highlights, resources and potentialities, agricultural and industrial development, scenic attractions and cultural advantages, was produced under the direction of James A. Fitzpatrick of Hollywood," the famous Voice of the Globe travelogue producer. It is the plan of the commission to show this colorful production, without charge, in Texas' own theatre in the Court of States at the World's Fair," the Governor said.

IMPROVEMENT OF TEXAS GRASS LAND HEADS RANGE WORK

COLLEGE STATION.—National reseeding of grasses by deferred grazing led all other range and pasture improvement work in Texas during 1938 as the practice was applied to 4,779,371 acres. In deferred grazing, livestock are withheld from grazing a portion of the range for a period of six months or so. The practice not only allows the grass to seed, but gives the plants a rest period in which root reserves are accumulated.

Altogether more than eight million acres of grass land were improved during the past year while over a million and a quarter of grass and clover seed were sown, according to figures compiled by R. R. Lancaster, pasture specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, from the annual reports of county agricultural agents.

Much of the improvement consisted of clearing land of objectionable growths that shade grasses and take away moisture and plant food, and 1,370,104 acres were cleared of prickly pear, mesquite, lechuguilla, cedar, and other varieties of brush.

M. R. Bentley, extension agricultural engineer, said 385,000 acres of Texas range and pasture land was contoured or terraced during 1938. Much of the deferred grazing, contour, and eradication work was done under the AAA's range conservation program.

While West Texas furnished much of the volume in the improvement process, most of 822,279 pounds of grass and 431,253 pounds of clover seed were sown in the more humid regions of the state. The same is true of the 266,868 acres moved to improve grass lands.

Rhodes grass, Southwest Texas' best bet in intensive pasture improvement, is now established on 45,000 acres, Lancaster said. King Ranch alone planted 16,000 acres in 1938.

HERE FROM AUSTIN
Mrs. B. L. Templeton and daughter, Billie True, were here from Austin for the Easter holidays. Mrs. C. C. Thompson returned to Austin with them.

TEXAS AGRICULTURE TO BENEFIT BY DEMONSTRATIONS

COLLEGE STATION.—There is a five year plan for Texas agriculture, but it is one worked out by farm and ranch families themselves, with the help of their county agricultural and home demonstration agents, and adopted and followed voluntarily.

Under the "whole farm demonstration" plan, now in its second year of operation in the state, families make plans for farm and home improvements, changes in farming operations, and set income and debt retirement goals. Every phase of farm and home life and every enterprise "from the front gate to the back fields" is included.

Preliminary reports from 239 demonstrations in 97 counties indicate that considerable progress was made in 1938, according to Louise Bryant, home management specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

In accordance with their improvement schedules, 70 families made detailed plans for landscaping their farmsteads, while 84 set out trees and shrubs, 108 families leveled their yards, 65 sodded their lawns, and 19 painted their houses.

Inside the homes, 17 families added electricity, 75 remodeled their kitchens, 37 added water systems, 39 built ventilated pantries and other storage places for food, and 29 either remodeled, built, or made definite plans to build homes.

Health and income were served with home food production as 75 families improved or began new orchards, 58 built up their poultry flocks, 14 built frame gardens, and carried out similar improvements in accordance with prearranged plans.

MUSICIANS AT FAIR

NEW YORK.—Musicians in Europe and distant cities in the United States will play the world's largest carillon at Florida's exhibit at the New York World's Fair 1939, by telegraph. Special consoles are being made which will operate like tele-type machines.

CASH INCOME OF FARMERS DOWN

AUSTIN.—Cash income received by farmers of Texas during December totaled only $22,932,000, exclusive of Federal subsidies, as compared with $27,941,000 in December, 1937. Dr. F. A. Buechel, business statistician at The University of Texas, said recently.

Income last December was only 86.3 per cent of the average for that month during the five years from 1928 to 1932, inclusive, the economist said. On the other hand, the December, 1937, income was 105.2 per cent of the five year average.

Receipts from farm products increased somewhat in relation to November income, however. The November index was 73.3.

For the entire year 1938, the farm cash income in Texas, computed by the University Bureau of Business Research, of which Dr. Buechel is assistant director, was $403,675,000. This compares with $536,528,000 in 1937. Government payments to Texas farmers amounted to $68,814,000 in 1938, or almost double the $36,010,000 paid in 1937.

MECCA OF FASHIONS

NEW YORK.—For the first time in the history of international exhibitions, the New York World's Fair 1939 will devote an entire building to apparel and accessories. The Hall of Fashion will contain all that is dear to woman in her costume and the things that go with it. Hats, jewels, furs and handbags will occupy an important part of the exhibition.

OLD MASTERS AT FAIR

NEW YORK.—Among the great classical painters whose work will be shown at the New York World's Fair 1939 are Raphael, Titian, Rembrandt, Vermeer, Watteau, Gainsborough and Reynolds. The $300,000 art exhibition will be housed in a completely fireproof "Masterpieces of Art" museum.

Featuring her ninth birthday, little Nancy Jean Lindsay, on Sunday morning entertained her little friends with a sunrise egg and rabbit hunt followed by a breakfast at the Oasis cafe. Her birthday will be the 13th of April, as that will fall on a school day, she took advantage of Easter morning for her party. 100 Easter rabbits and chicks and 12 dozen eggs were hidden among the underbrush and in the tall dry grass. A number of the baby chicks were found perched upon the limbs of the trees. Kenneth Knox found the prize egg, which was tinted gold with the date of her birth. He was awarded a cellophane wrapped basket filled with bunnies, chicks and eggs. The breakfast tables were decorated with 9 miniature birthday cakes each one centered with a tiny lighted candle, surrounding the cakes was the lettering, "Happy Birthday." The honoree made a wish as she blew out each candle. Plate favors were small baskets filled with little Easter eggs. The plates were arranged with a deviled egg nestled among lettuce in the center surrounding this was chicken sandwiches, buttered toast and jelly. Drinks of various kinds were served with the plates.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

The Sophomores are undecided about school and cannot decide whether they had rather go to school or stay at home. Just the same, school is nearing the close whether we want it or not. I believe there had better be some studying these last few weeks.

Some of the Sophomore girls were chosen to serve at the Junior and Senior banquet Saturday evening. These girls were Elzan Castleman, Joyce Reese, Virginia Anderson, Merlene Donaldson, Nell Grace Hart, Geneva Lowry, Verlynn Milliken, Frances Taylor, Valerie Milliken, and Melba Ruth Adams.

Please Mr. Hood remember that the students have other subjects besides music to study.

V. A. NEWS
Mr. Cox will hardly teach us now. Could it be that he has a new Pontiac.

We are studying about bugs and insects. Mack says he had rather study about the love bug. Beware Iris!

Rufus what is the matter with you? He just sits around and pouts. Maybe his girl has turned him down.

Well we hope Mr. Cox won't tear his car up anyway soon because we all are just dying to ride in it!

SENIOR NEWS

Our class president, Geraldine Eikenberg gave us a party last Saturday night. We all had a very nice time. She carried it out in Easter fashion, and I think that all present left with a little basket with a bunny and eggs.

Westbrook voted by popular vote for the most popular girl and the most popular boy last Friday. The two winners were Iris Ann Costin and Sidney Jones. Their pictures came out in the Abilene Reporter, with these was Winton Lee Coleman who ran a good race too.

Our annuals will soon be finished. We have sent a letter to the company to rush the pictures back.

The Freshmen have knocked us out of two nights of play practice. I think the Seniors wouldn't like this very much unless it were that they had other plans and wanted to get off from play practice. The Fish are also trying to pay for a page in the annual.

The Juniors are giving us a banquet next Saturday, April 15. We are all looking forward to a good time, and are almost sure of one.

Oh yes, and about our Senior trip; Mr. Lauderdale has decided for us. We are going to Austin to go through the capitol. We are going to stop and camp and fish at the Buchanan dam near Lampasas. Here we think they have sufficient entertainment for us, such as boating and fishing. The class is going to pay all expenses, or as near as possible.

MARJORIE HARDCASTLE

JUNIOR NEWS

The Junior class went to Sweetwater Lake Saturday. We left Westbrook at 10:30 a.m. We had to stop in Sweetwater a little while to get some things for the banquet. We got out to the lake just in time to eat dinner. After we had eaten we played ball; at least some of us did and the rest of the bunch went swimming and did other things. Everyone enjoyed themselves very much. We got back home in Colorado in time to go to the show. Several guests went with us and we were glad to have them.

The acceptances for the banquet are coming in fast now. We certainly hope our banquet will be a success. We have been working on plans for the place cards and favors this week.

Well Juniors there are only three more weeks of school and then we will be Seniors maybe so, let's study hard and make all of our credits.

(The following was held over from last week)

SENIOR NEWS

The members of the staff met up here at the schoolhouse Saturday morning and worked on the annual. We cut nine stencils and mimeographed 87 copies of each. Mr. Hood was very well pleased with our progress. We hope to have the annual ready in about two weeks at least; so every one who is in line for an annual cooperate with us as much as possible and not keep up waiting for the last 75c, after all there are a few more say they want annuals, but can't get them now as it is too late.

Winton Lee, June and Iris have gone to Colorado to collect ads for the annual. We hope that the business men of Colorado will be as helpful as the ones in Westbrook. Winton Lee is a pretty good sales manager and with Iris and June standing on each side of him, I don't see how the business man could resist buying an advertisement.

Mr. Lauderdale thinks that it will take at least one hundred dollars for us to go to New Orleans on our Senior trip and Winton Lee thinks we should not be disappointed. So if the trustees, teachers, and parents don't care they may see us off to New Orleans, La. Mr. Cox has been looking at some maps and we think he kinda wants to take us to New Orleans.

The Senior class has not voted on a bus driver, but some of them to think that Jessie Bolin would make a good one.

Our play is progressing fine. We have been practicing on the first and second acts this week. Everyone be sure and save your pennies by the 21st of April and see our play.

FRESHMAN NEWS
Well Fish, we are on the last six weeks of school. We will have to study hard and pay attention in class. Most of the Public Music students are pleased with their grades in music. We wonder how we managed to pass.

The Freshman play will be postponed until Tuesday night, April 14. Albert Smith has taken Perry Anderson's place in the play.

We are very sorry that Maxine is absent from school due to the fact that she has the flu.

Say Oley V. Perry, and Abbie, how does it feel getting a whipping so often, especially when you get 15 licks at a time.

JUNIOR NEWS
The Juniors are really feeling big now. We ordered our rings last week.

Three in the class ordered set rings and the others ordered ones without sets. We have been planning on the Junior-Senior banquet. We have all the invitations out but we haven't received any acceptances yet.

We are having a hard time getting the Junior history ready to go in the annual. But maybe we will get it fixed in time to go in the annual before they are given out. The old saying is better late than never.

Florence McCollough seems to enjoy tearing dollar bills in two just to see if people will accept them. Florence some people might not take them.

James we can't understand why you like to carry rabbit ears around with you. They don't bring you good luck, just think how much bad luck you have had since you've been carrying them, and what they did for the rabbit—he got killed wearing them.

The members of the Junior class wish to extend their sympathy to Kenneth York and Ansel York due to the death and injuries of their fathers.

The Sophs are very blue for school will soon be out. (Or maybe we're happy.) How about it Mutt?

Loraine Junior high softball team came to play Westbrook girls for championship Thursday. We are very sorry to say that we were defeated by two points. The score was 18 to 16. Miss Speights it isn't fair to count down on algebra just because we failed to win the game, is it?

The Sophs have had an entertainment recently. We all went to the show and saw "Jesse James." Now Sophs don't let this show put ideas into your heads.

Miss McKenney and several Home Ec girls from the Sophomore class attended an area meeting of the Future Homemakers of Texas in San Angelo Saturday.

The members of the Sophomore class extend their sympathy to their class members Kenneth York whose father Ansel York was killed in motor accident last week; and to Ansel York whose father Fred York was seriously injured in the same accident.

SEVENTH GRADE NEWS
This news may be a little late but the seventh graders are proud of the honors that were brought back by the Maranell Terry and Franklin Miller won first place in Number Sense.

Our Choral club won second as did our baseball boys. Maranell Terry and Neva Brock won third in spelling and Mary Beth Butler won third in Declaration. We went to the park in Colorado Monday and Miss Mohr bought us ice cream and chewing gum. Lucille Cline and Irene Alvis missed all this as their mothers told them that they might play hockey.

Better luck next time girls. Franklin found a little turtle which he named "Palmolive" after a very popular girl in our room. Some of the boys fell in the creek and some of the girls waded and cut their feet. Everyone seemed to have a good time.

V. A. NEWS
The V. A. boys are getting goofier every day the girls say, but we can say the same for the girls. We have been studying about insects (this past week) the love bug is the most popular one Mack says.

We all feel relieved because the exams are over, and we hope everyone passed them.

I wish to thank Mr. Cox and the VA boys for the beautiful flowers that they sent to my father's funeral.

Kenneth York.

TRANSPORTATION UNIT
As a culminating activity for a Unit on Transportation and more recently, one on Foods, the "Friendly Room"—second and third grade room—rode the train to Colorado Monday afternoon and visited the Best Yet bakery. They were accompanied by their room mother, Mrs. Pete Ellis, by Mrs. O. D. Huff, and by their teacher, Miss Joyce.

After Mr. Hardigree had conducted the children on a tour of inspection, they ate cookies and ice cream. They were driven back to Westbrook on the new Westbrook school bus by Jessie Bolin.

Following is an account written by Patricia Cozby:

AT THE BAKERY
April 3, 1939 I went to a bakery. I saw the mixer, slicer, and the ovens. The ovens aren't shaped a thing like the ovens on our stoves.

Then the man showed me the big mixer where the dough is mixed. After they have the dough all fixed, they put it in something that looks like a trough. They cover it with a cloth to let it rise for four or five hours. Do you know what they put in the dough? They put yeast, sugar, and just about the same things you put in your breads. The yeast is to make the bread rise.

Have you ever seen anyone paint a pie? Do you know what they use to paint them? They take baking powder and eggs and mix those together. Then the men take a brush and paint the tops of the pies.

We went at 1:42 on the train. We came back on a bus. We had a very enjoyable time at the bakery.

I went to the bakery. That's the bread-making. I saw the mixer. That's the bread-fixer.

Now don't you think I had a trip? —Patricia Ann Cozby

GAS FORMS FLAME PILLARS

NEW YORK—Pillars of flame will startle visitors to the New York World's Fair 1939. They will be seen at the gas exhibition. Among the electrical wonders will be a tiny lamp that can be held in the palm of the hand, yet whose light is more intense than the sun's.

PARADISE OF BULBS

NEW YORK—If the bulbs in the grounds of the New York World's Fair 1939 were planted in solid rows in open fields, eight acres would be required to hold them. A million tulips, hyacinths and scillas will bloom this Spring.

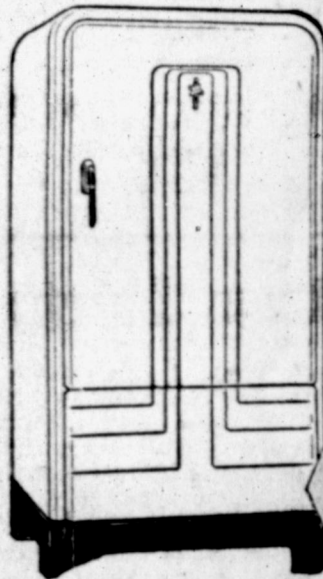

WE CALL IT OUR SILENT PARTNER

Because Servel Electrolux Helps Balance the Budget

SAYS Mrs. H. M. Haynes, Gatesville, Tex.—"My Servel Electrolux is more than 10 years old, and has always given me satisfactory service. The freedom from service trouble and expense, and silent operation have been very pleasing."

SAYS Mrs. J. I. Branch, Megargel, Tex.—"I have been able to market enough of my surplus milk, butter and cream since we bought a Servel Electrolux to more than pay for its cost. I pay meat for a week, each Saturday—it always keeps perfectly."

A "silent partner" is someone who furnishes the money, or part of it, to help run your business. Well—is your business running a home? Then Servel Electrolux, the gas or kerosene refrigerator, is a real "silent partner."

It furnishes money, all right. In savings on ice and grocery bills. Many a family here with a grocery bill of $12 to $15 a week, saves $8 or $10 a month with Servel Electrolux—often more. Over and above the small cost of gas.

And its convenience and protection to your family's health—well, that's "thrown in." The steady, even, constant cold, that keeps foods fresh, crisp, safe. The abundant ice-cube supply—and ice cream every day if you like.

And—it's really silent. Now and forever. The only one with no moving parts in its freezing system. With nothing to make a noise—and nothing to wear, to cause trouble and costly repairs. What a partner! Shall we make it your partner—NOW?

PROSPECTS FOR FARM INCOME BRIGHTER

COLLEGE STATION.—Prospects for Texas farm income in 1939 are at least fourteen million dollars brighter now than on January 1, when the AAA estimated $42,000,000 would be issued in "conservation payments" to farmers of this state who took part in the national acreage curtailment program of 1938. . . .

The AAA now estimates such payments will exceed $56,000,000, which is about $22,000,000 more than the total of such grants in connection with the 1937 program. . . . George Slaughter, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Conservation committee of the AAA, said 1938 conservation payments will be divided about as follows: . . .

For compliance with acreage allotments for cotton, $33,000,000; general crops, $11,000,000; peanuts, $100,000; wheat $3,600,000; and rice, $400,000. . . .

For additional soil-building practices—$4,000,000; range program, $3,750,000; to increase small payments, $3,000,000; total, $56,850,000. . . .

Additional grants called "price adjustment payments" are slated for growers of cotton, wheat and rice, as soon as possible after plantings for the current season have been checked. . . . Preliminary estimates indicate that rates of "price adjustment" or "parity" payments for 1939 will be 1.6 to 1.8 cents a pound for cotton; 10 to 12 cents a bushel for wheat; and 12 to 13 cents a hundredweight for rice—payment in each case to be made on the normal yield of the acreage allotment as established under the 1939 agricultural conservation program. . . .

PANHANDLE-PLAINS SHOW IS IMPROVED

PLAINVIEW.—When visitors arrive for the twelfth annual Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show, to be held in Plainview April 18-22, they will find that this year as never before the entertainment features of the show will be stressed. This is especially true for the night program, each of the five nights of the show. On Tuesday, April 18, opening night of the show, the annual Pageant and Queen's Ball will be given, when princesses from neighboring towns will be presented, and the queen of 1939 show crowned.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, one-act plays, two each evening, will be given by home demonstration club groups, with E. B. Miller, Plainview, serving as local director. Time for these plays has already been asked for by Floyd, Farmer, Lamb, Cochran, Kent and Lubbock counties.

As an added attraction for this year, there will be a fireworks display one night of the show; a square dance calling contest is tentatively planned for another evening; and contract has already been signed with one of the best carnivals in the show business, and a number of new features in connection with this carnival are expected to add to the entertainment of visitors, say show officials.

SAN ANTONIO FIESTA PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED

SAN ANTONIO.—Announcement of events scheduled for the annual Fiesta de San Jacinto celebration for this year, comprising colorful pageants, parades and symbolic ceremonies during the week of April 17 through 22 was made today by the Fiesta de San Jacinto Association, sponsors of the elaborate celebration in honor of the Battle of San Jacinto by means of which Texas won her independence.

The week when the carnival spirit will reign supreme and the cares of the workaday world will be abandoned in favor of the fiesta spirit will be ushered in on Monday, April 17 simultaneously with the arrival of King Antonio XXI. The King will be met by the Texas Cavaliers and escorted to the Alamo where he will lay a wreath in honor of the defenders of the Alamo. This ceremony will be followed at 6:45 p.m. by the annual Pilgrimage to the Alamo—a dignified and solemn procession in which school children, patriotic, fraternal, civic and social organizations will participate. The same evening the Grand Patriotic Ball and Reception will be held in the Municipal auditorium.

Tuesday, the second day of the Fiesta, will open with a public review of the Second Division on the Parade Grounds at Fort Sam Houston. This review will be open to the public. At 8 o'clock in the evening the Battle of Flowers Fete, consisting of a terpsichorean treat by San Antonio school children, will be staged in the Municipal auditorium.

Wednesday, April 19, will witness the annual flower show under the auspices of the San Antonio Woman's club. This will be followed by a musical tea and fashion promenade. At 6 o'clock p.m. the widely-heralded "Texas Town," featuring a typical frontier Texas village in which visitors will enter into the life of the 1840's, will open at Fort Sam Houston. This event will be followed by the Alamo Spectacle, an authentic and realistic re-enactment of the Battle of the Alamo.

Thursday evening at 7 o'clock the Marching Band Festival will take place in which high school bands from all parts of Texas will vie for honors. This will be followed at 8 o'clock p.m. by the Coronation of the Queen of Fiesta de San Jacinto in the Municipal auditorium.

The high point of the week will come on Friday, April 21, with the Battle of Flowers parade which commemorates the Battle of San Jacinto and is known throughout the world for its elaborate splendor.

Saturday, April 22, the final day of Fiesta Week will be featured by "La Noche de Fiesta," an innovation of recent years but more elaborate this year than ever before. This event will be staged Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the Municipal auditorium.

Throughout the week the carnival spirit of the entire city will be enhanced by bands of roving, gaily-costumed musicians serenading downtown hotels and business houses. Carnival shows will also be in operation in downtown San Antonio throughout the week.

San Antonio is expecting the largest throngs this year ever to attend the festivities of its world-famous Fiesta Week.

AAA ESTIMATES OVER $56,000,000 WILL BE ISSUED

COLLEGE STATION.—Prospects for Texas farm income in 1939 are at least fourteen million dollars brighter now than on January 1, when the AAA estimated $42,000,000 would be issued in "conservation payments" to farmers of this state who took part in the national acreage curtailment program of 1938.

The AAA now estimates such payments will exceed $56,000,000 which is about $22,000,000 more than the total of such grants in connection with the 1937 program.

George Slaughter, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee of the AAA, said 1938 conservation payments will be divided about as follows:

For Compliance with acreage allotments for cotton, $33,000,000; general crops, $11,000,000; peanuts, $10,000,000; wheat, $3,000,000; and rice, $400,000.

For additional soil-building practices—$4,000,000; range program, $3,750,000; to increase small payments, $3,000,000; total, $56,850,000.

Additional grants called "price adjustment payments" are slated for growers of cotton, wheat, and rice, as soon as possible after plantings for the current season have been checked.

Preliminary estimates indicate that rates of "price adjustment" or "parity" payments for 1939 will be 1.6 to 1.8 cents a bushel for wheat; 10 to 12 cents a bushel for cotton; and 12 to 13 cents a hundredweight for rice—payment in each case to be made on the normal yield of the acreage allotment as established under the 1939 Agricultural Conservation Program.

'COTTONLESS' COTTON SEEN AS BOON TO SOUTH; VARIETY HAS SEED RICHER IN OIL CONTENT

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Cotton producers of Arkansas, Mississippi, and Texas are searching the dictionary for adjectives to describe a revolutionary new variety of "cottonless" cotton developed at a Texas agricultural experiment station.

For years, cotton-oil manufacturers of the south have dreamed of a type of cotton which would produce an over-large succulent seed, rich in oil content, which could be grown without detracting from the grade of lint.

It is a fact that long-staple cotton always has relatively small seed in the boll, because most of the space in the pod is taken up by lint fibers. And in the ginning of most varieties of cotton, the small seeds often are crushed in the gin-saws, with the result that much of their oil content is lost.

Developed at Texas Station. Then, last fall from South Texas came news that cotton experts of Texas A. & M.'s station had developed a variety of cotton having large bolls—with little or no lint fibers wrapped about the large, oil-rich seeds.

Described by leading cotton-oil men of this section as potentially one of the greatest developments of modern agricultural science, the new cotton will be placed on the market next year.

It is expected to develop an entirely new farm industry in the deep south—the growing of cotton for oil alone.

Cotton experts of Little Rock who went to Texas to examine samples of the new plant came back singing its praises, and with visions of a revived cotton-oil industry bringing money and jobs to the economically prostrate south.

Delegates from all the cotton-producing states who attend the National Chemurgic Congress in Jackson, Miss., March 29 to April 1, will have an opportunity to view samples of the new oil-producer at close range. Possible future of the plant will be explained by D. T. Killough, director of the experiment station at which it was developed.

Rosy Picture Painted. A leading cotton-oil man of Little Rock recently told cotton producers of the possible result of the careful development of the new "cottonless" cotton.

He pictured the debt-ridden plantation owner as a man standing upon the threshold of a new era. "Prices for cotton-oil are fairly constant," he asserted. "Due to the ever-growing demand for vegetable oils, there is need for cotton seed."

"The plantation-owner could cut his lint-cotton acreage to suit the demands of the government, and still plant a money-producing cotton on the rest of his land," he said.

He pointed out that the new cotton would be more cheaply harvested because it could be simply threshed to separate the seeds from the bolls. Ginning costs would thus be eliminated, and the cotton seed would bring a top price—from $30 a ton up, at the present scale.

IN MEMORIAM

Dr. T. J. Ratliff

WHEREAS: It has pleased our Heavenly Father to call from our midst our beloved Dr. T. J. Ratliff and knowing that Our Heavenly Father doeth all things well we humbly submit to His will:

Whereas: In the passing of Dr. Ratliff, his wife has lost a kind and devoted husband, his friends a loyal and faithful companion and his community, a courageous and industrious citizen, a sympathetic and tireless doctor:

Whereas: We realize he has gone from earth, yet he is not dead, he only sleepeth. His kindly deeds and sterling Christian character will always remain in our memory.

Whereas: He gave of his time and medical knowledge and talent in carrying out the Health Program throughout the entire county sponsored by the Self Culture Study club.

Therefore: Be it resolved that we extend our heartfelt sympathy to his loved ones with the assurance that he sincerely mourn with them the great loss they have sustained, yet we should be mindful that the parting is only temporary and be comforted with the assurance that Heaven is richer that he is there and enjoying the rich experience which is the heritage of all Christian characters:

Therefore Be it Further Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Self Culture Study Club, a copy furnished the bereaved family and a copy sent to the Colorado Record for publication.

His presence lingers still about the room. His footsteps echo yet upon the floor. His cheery smile still brightens all the gloom— Though he has passed from us and closed the door.

Respectfully submitted, MRS. DELL BARBER, MRS. J. V. GLOVER.

FAILURE TO INCLUDE BEEF IN DIET CITED IN A. & M. PAPER

COLLEGE STATION.—The beef cattle population of Texas is about 8,410,000 head. If these were all shipped to market at one time, a train consisting of 280,333 freight cars, and 4,313 miles long, would be required, states a circular entitled "Starring Beef."

"Yet many Texas citizens do not have one generous serving of meat on their plates one half of the days of the year. That's a dietetic tragedy!" the authors of the publication point out.

The circular, C-140, is one of a series issued by the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service in its foods campaign, and contains suggestions for providing beef on the farm, a discussion of selection of cuts, and a number of recipes. The circular is available for free distribution in the offices of county agricultural and home demonstration agents.

Included in the case for beef as a food is a discussion of its food value. Beef is high in protein, needed for strength, and lean beef is one of the richest sources of nicotinic acid, the pellagra-preventing factor. There were more than 600 deaths from pellagra in Texas in 1938.

Veal and beef liver are fair sources of vitamins A and B, and rich sources of iron, as they contain the copper necessary for the best utilization of the iron in the body. One of the minerals in the body is phosphorus, and beef is high in this mineral.

The Texas food standard, prepared by extension foods specialists, recommends one serving of meat daily.

MORE TRENCH SILOS PREDICTED IN STATE

COLLEGE STATION.—Texas farmers and ranchmen will dig and fill around 10,000 new trench silos during 1939, E. R. Eudaly, dairyman of the A. and M. College Extension Service, and Texas No. 1 trench silo apostle, has predicted.

"We filled 7,536 new trenches in 1938, and we'll do that much or better again this year. The AAA sweet sorghum ruling will be a big factor," Eudaly said. Under the 1939 AAA program, sweet sorghum can be planted on neutral acres for use as silage. This has not been the case in programs of the past.

If the dairyman's prediction comes true, Texas may see upwards to 30,000 trench silos filled this year as compared with 1938's 17,019. There were only 12 trench silos in the state in 1932.

On the basis of value per ton of silage, Eudaly lists corn, grain sorghums, sweet sorghums, and sudan and Johnson grass, in that order, as the best silage crops. He points out, however, that the farmer is interested in the per acre return, and that on this basis sweet sorghum, because of its tonnage, is frequently the crop to plant.

With the AAA sweet sorghum ruling, which does not apply to corn and grain sorghums, as an extra inducement, Eudaly expects thousands of farmers and ranchmen to turn to sudan and other sweet sorghums for their silage crop in 1939.

DISTRICT 19 OF WPA MAY RELEASE 831

SAN ANGELO.—Possibility that 831 persons will be released from Works Progress administration projects in District 19 by April 8 was disclosed recently by John C. Burnside, administrative officer for this district.

Burnside made his estimate following information from H. P. Drought, state administrator that Texas faced a quota reduction over the nation standing at 400,000, unless additional funds are appropriated by congress.

The quota reduction for the state of Texas will be made from an employment total of 104,000 and Burnside estimated quota reductions for this district would correspond in ratio with the general reduction over the state. That would mean a quota reduction of 831, or approximately 13 per cent of the present quota of 6,400. Employment of the 6,400 workers is spread over 29 counties comprising this field office territory with headquarters in San Angelo.

Burnside stated there were 1,615 persons awaiting assignment in this district due to current quota restrictions and unavailability of projects on which these persons could be assigned.

Any quota reduction put into effect will be made generally on a basis of project cost and efficiency, according to Burnside.

FINIS WRITTEN TO LIFE STORY OF DR. W. A. PALMER, 92

LAST RITES FOR PIONEER DUNN PHYSICIAN HELD MONDAY AFTERNOON

Final chapter in the life story of Dr. W. A. Palmer, Sr., 92, pioneer West Texas physician and one of the few remaining Confederate veterans of this section, was written Monday afternoon when his funeral rites were held at Dunn Church of Christ.

The funeral service was conducted by Ben Newhouse, Church of Christ ministerial student now teaching at Dunn; Rev. J. B. McReynolds, Methodist pastor from Borger; and Rev. C. D. Damron, Methodist pastor at Dunn. Pallbearers were Lloyd Cotton, Frank Wilson, N. A. Billingsley, Oscar Worthington, and W. C. Hooks, all of Dunn; J. J. Billingsley of Colorado.

Dr. Palmer, who had been making his home with his children in various parts of the state since 1929, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. T. M. Ganaway, the former Matie Lee Palmer, in Corpus Christi Sunday morning shortly before noon. The body arrived in Colorado on the afternoon train Monday and was taken to Dunn in a Pyland ambulance.

For more than half a century Dr. Palmer was a practicing physician, first in Ellis and Dallas counties, and then in Mitchell and Scurry counties. Born in Missouri on July 11, 1846, he came to Texas as a small boy and was reared in Dallas county, joining the Confederate army from there when only 16. After the war was over, he studied for medical degrees from Louisville university and Bellevue Hospital in New York City. He practiced first in Ellis county. He moved from there to Dunn in 1906. He retired in 1929.

His wife, the former Henry Marie Brewer of Italy, Ellis county, died in 1908, only two years after she and Dr. Palmer moved to Dunn. She and one of the Palmer sons who died in infancy are buried in the family plot at Dunn, where Dr. Palmer's body was laid. Another of the nine Palmer children, G. C. Palmer, died in Corpus Christi in 1927. Seven children survive: W. A. Palmer, Jr., of Renconia, New Mexico; Mrs. H. M. Murphy of Hermleigh; Chas. B. Palmer of Brownwood; H. B. Palmer of Laredo; S. A. Palmer of Nacogdoches, formerly of Colorado; Mrs. T. M. Ganaway of Corpus Christi; Mrs. Marie Virginia Green of Wichita Falls.

Dr. Palmer had been a Mason for over 50 years and was a charter member of the Dunn lodge. Masons from Dunn and Snyder had charge of graveside rites.

Pyland Funeral home made local arrangements.

WATER FACILITIES PLANS ARE OKED FOR SIXTEEN FARMS

COMPLETED PLANS FOR THREE MORE FARMS ARE SUBMITTED TO AREA HEADQUARTERS

Water facilities plans have been approved for sixteen farms in Mitchell and Nolan counties. Completed plans for three more farms have been submitted to the area offices for final approval, and plans are being worked up for ten more farms which will be submitted for approval in the near future.

The approved agreements involve farms of the following: O. B. Barrett, J. J. Donnell, H. W. Beights, G. W. Sinclair, E. C. Boyle, J. H. Richey, W. M. Richey, R. L. Bankhead, Cecil Castro, J. F. Jones, F. C. Jones, A. Shepherd, Robert Barkley, Malone Thomas, C. A. Lloyd and J. P. Dyess.

Completed agreements on A. L. White, E. S. Kingston and J. M. Porter have been submitted for final approval.

Construction has been completed or started on most of the approved farms with the following items included: Two wells to be drilled, nine windmills, eleven windmill towers, seventeen storage tanks, two stock watering troughs, 4000 feet of pipe and 7000 feet of garden sub-irrigation tile.

Well drilling is under way on the Robert Barkley farm and as soon as this well is completed the driller will move to the Arthur Shepherd farm to drill the well there. Loans for these developments total $3850, averaging about $200 per farm. Repayment periods range from 5 to 20 years, the loan, which is financed through the Farm Security Administration, drawing 3 per cent interest.

Coupled with the water facilities developments will be contour cultivation, terracing, strip cropping, crop rotation, pasture development and other conservation measures designed to retain soil and water for productive use. The Farm and Home phase of the program, sponsored by the Farm Security Administration, will emphasize the importance of subsistence farming to supply home needs of the farm family.

Thirty miles of new terraces and 250 acres of contour furrows for pasture land have been planned on the cooperating farms.

Applications for work in the Champion Creek and Lone Wolf Draw project area may be made to the Soil Conservation project office at Colorado, the county agent or the Farm Security Administration in both Mitchell and Nolan counties.

WHY LAUNDRY WASHED CLOTHES
Are More GERM FREE
THAN "HOME WASHED" CLOTHES

It is an old fashioned myth that laundry sanitation is effected by the use of "strong antiseptics". Laundry washed clothes are made thoroughly hygienic by the "pasteurizing" process . . . accomplished by the scientific retention of heat in all washing waters.

This method is so positive that test after test has proved laundry washed clothes to be 3000 times more germ free than clothes that are carefully washed in homes.

In fact, the final rinse waters of the laundry are purer and more germ free than the water you drink!

NEW WAY TO ADD EXTRA FOOD VALUE TO MEAT DISHES

Here's a Scotch Trick Every Homemaker Will Welcome!

Our cooking expert has just made a new discovery... a way to make meat go farther... make it taste better... and add extra food value. All at the same time and at a cost of about one penny.

So get out your scissors because there's a recipe coming that you'll want to save. It's for Quaker Meat

Patties, a main course dish that will make the whole family sit up and all appetites take notice.

But first let us tell you that oatmeal is just about the finest meat "extender" there is. When you remember the butcher bills and how little oatmeal costs, you'll be delighted to know about this new use for such a delicious and healthful food.

Oatmeal supplies proteins for firm flesh and those valuable body-building minerals, phosphorus and iron. And even more important—it also is nature's richest economical source of Thiamin (Vitamin B1) which everybody needs continually for best health. Quaker meat patties are an excellent way to give your family the precious health benefits contained in Quaker Oats. And here's the recipe:

QUAKER'S MEAT PATTIES (Serves 6)

6 slices bacon
1 lb. beef (ground)
1 lb. pork (ground)
1 egg (beaten)
1 tablespoon onion (chopped)
1 cup tomatoes (canned or fresh)
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup Quaker or Mother's Oats (Julek or Regular)
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
Line 6 muffin tins with strips of bacon. Combine remaining ingredients and mix well. Put into the muffin tins. Bake in a moderate oven (350 d.) for approximately 1 hour.

CAGNEY AS 'THE OKLAHOMA KID' FILM CAVALCADE OF THE WEST

HOLLYWOOD'S TOP TRIGGER MAN IN ONE OF YEAR'S LARGEST SCREEN PRODUCTIONS WITH CAST OF OVER 3,000 PEOPLE; DEPICTS AMERICA'S WESTWARD MARCH

An action packed drama of America's great westward surge, "The Oklahoma Kid," with James Cagney as the title character is to show at the Palace theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday, April 15, 16 and 17. A stirring cavalcade of the opening of the great southwest, it is one of the year's largest productions, and numbers over 3,000 people in its huge outdoor scenes, besides the featured cast which includes Humphrey Bogart, Rosemary Lane, and many other noted players.

Though he wears the sombrero, buckskin jacket and high-heeled riding boots of the frontier gun-fighter of the nineteenth century, though he carries a brace of old Colt six-shooters on his hips instead of a modern automatic in a shoulder holster though he discloses that he is a real hell-for-leather horseman, Cagney is fundamentally the same sort of fellow as thrilled audiences in such memorable productions as "Angels With Dirty Faces," "G-Men" and "Public Enemy."

In two of the productions mentioned, it will be recalled Cagney was outside the pale of the law, and in the other he was a vigorous agent of law enforcement. The comparison is interesting because in "The Oklahoma Kid" he is depicted as alternating on both sides of the fence.

At the outset of the story he is a bandit but not just a conscienceless robber and killer. He is an adventurous youth who has become a sort of Robin Hood of the Southwest. Eventually he is, in effect, enlisted on the side of law and order, although he has really taken the law into his own hands. However, he performs a necessary service of public vengeance so bravely and so completely that he is forgiven all his past misdeeds.

Rosemary Lane, lovely and vivacious brunette, plays the romantic lead opposite Cagney—and it is no milk-and-sugar heroine that this flashing-eyed member of the acting Lane family plays—but a real girl of the old West. Humphrey Bogart, ace bad man, furthers his screen reputation, playing the leader of a band of "Sooners" who are really a gang of treacherous gunmen. In the story he is a deadly foe of the "Oklahoma Kid." Among the many stirring scenes in "The Oklahoma Kid" is the land rush with which the picture opens. Land-hungry pioneers are lined up for miles waiting for the Federal Troops to give the signal that the new territory in Oklahoma is opened for settlement. They camp for the night, and to while away the hours they have a big square dance, a huge colorful scene that will cause the years to roll back for many folks.

Other members of the cast besides Cagney and Bogart and Miss Lane, include Donald Crisp, Harvey Stephens, Hugh Southern, Charles Middleton, Edward Pawley, Ward Bond, Lew Harvey, John Miljan and Trevor Bardette.

The production was directed by Lloyd Bacon from a screen play based by Warren Duff, Robert Buckner and Edward E. Paramore on an original story by Paramore and Wally Klein.

"LET FREEDOM RING" HAS STELLAR CAST OF 'NAMES'

PULSE-SLEDGING DRAMA OF TURN OF ERA COMING TO PALACE HAS NELSON EDDY SUPPORTED BY VIRGINIA BRUCE, VICTOR MCLAGLEN, AND LIONEL BARRYMORE

Not since such memorable pictures of the past as "Grand Hotel" and "Dinner at Eight" has such a galaxy of stellar film performers been gathered together for one motion picture as that presented in the cast of the new Nelson Eddy starring vehicle, "Let Freedom Ring," thriller-splattered drama of the romance and adventure in the western boom days of '69, which comes to the Palace theatre Friday and Saturday, April 14 and 15.

With Eddy, fresh from his recent triumph in "Sweethearts," now cast as Steve Logan, a Robin Hood of the prairie who sings and fights his way through scenes of roaring excitement in the Ben Hecht drama, the lavishly-cast production also features Virginia Bruce, last seen opposite Fredric March in "There Goes My Heart"; the redoubtable Victor McLaglen of "The Informer," "Gunga Din" and "Pacific Liner" fame; Lionel Barrymore in his first role since "Young Dr. Kildare"; Edward Arnold, who comes to the picture direct from his triumph in "Idiot's Delight"; and those two inimitable comedy stars, Guy Kibbee and Charles Butterworth. Also in important characterizations are H. B. Warner and Raymond Walburn.

The romance of the tale is handled by Miss Bruce as Maggie Adams, typifying the courageous womanhood of the old West. McLaglen has a made-to-order part as Chris Mulligan, railroad section boss with a spike-splitting fist and a skull no bullet can dent. Barrymore's characterization as Eddy's father and the last of the two gun settlers is summed up in his own words: "I'd rather be burned out than quit and sell out." Arnold appears as Jim Knox, silk hat land grabber, out to kink the law and kyp the settler. The role of David Bronson, the judge full of laws none of which are so bad that money can't cure them, is played by Kibbee, and Butterworth enacts the comedy role of "The Mackeral," piano-playing bar-fly who'll take one on the chin for two drinks. H. B. Warner appears as Rutledge, spinner of the wheel of fortune. Walburn plays Underwood, editor of the only known newspaper ever to have been stolen back and baggage.

"Let Freedom Ring" was directed by Jack Conway who filmed such conspicuous screen successes as "Too Hot to Handle" and "A Yank at Oxford." Eight songs are heard in the production, Eddy singing "Dusty Road," "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," "Pat, Sez He," "Where Else But Here," "Home, Sweet Home," "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and "Love's Serenade," and a male chorus joining in on "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

STUDIO'S TOP VILLAINS UNITED FOR FIRST TIME

Paramount's determination to make its "King of Chinatown" a crime picture with a capital "C" is proved by the presence in the cast of the studio's three chief "menace" players, Akim Tamiroff, J. Carroll Naish and Anthony Quinn. This picture, which shows locally Sunday and Monday at the Ritz theatre, marks the first time the three have been together.

Tamiroff, whose new role is that of a racket chief whose underlings fight to depose him, enjoys top rating as a film character player. Russian-born and trained in the world-famous Moscow Art Theatre, he made his first hit as the general in "The General Died at Dawn." Usually cast in unsympathetic roles, except on rare occasions such as "The Buccaneer," Tamiroff has scored recently in "Spawn of the North" and "Ride a Crooked Mile."

Naish's screen villainy, on the other hand, has been unrelieved by any "straight" roles. A veteran of motion pictures (his featured roles number more than one hundred), Naish's latest films have been "King of Alcatraz" and "Illegal Traffic." His new partner, Quinn, has appeared with him before on many occasions, and owes his start to Cecil B. DeMille, who has since become his father-in-law.

Two Chinese stars and one Occidental with a penchant for Oriental roles appear in "King of Chinatown" on "the right side of the law." They are Anna May Wong, Philip Ahn and Sidney Toler. Toler's convincing portrayals of Orientals induced Twentieth Century-Fox to select him to succeed the late Warner Oland as "Charlie Chan," the Oriental sleuth.

EDITORIAL

FAREWELL TO THIS COLUMN FOREVER

As I am approaching the four score years in age have decided to go out of print. For more than five years I have filled this space good and bad.

Some say its the first thing I read, others say its rotten. Some say I write too much about the Bible, others say the whole thing is foolish and puny. Some say my almanac ancient jokes are worse.

About five years ago they told it down at the office I had retired but the truth of the matter is I was pushed out to make room for a younger man.

I'm seventy-nine of age today and so I have to go. This job is for a younger man—I've grown a trifle slow. They want a youth who hasn't learned the things I've come to know.

But this is wisdom I presume that business cannot use. At seventy-nine love for constant strife a man is apt to lose. And so to keep a faster pace a younger man they choose.

Old age when men usually look back upon a life of many mistakes and a few achievements and look ahead with either a veiled or a frank dread of death, is generally considered an unhappy condition. An environment of younger, still hopeful and less disillusioned folks doesn't help matters, perhaps makes them worse. But the last few years can be like a rosy sunset, given the right environment and health.

And so I fell heir to this column. Advancing years, broken health and fading eyes constitute sufficient reason for my withdrawal from this column also.

"For who, to dumb forgetfulness a prey this pleasing, anxious being E'er resigned—
Left the warm precinct of the living day nor east one longing,
Lingering look behind?"

In saying good-bye to The Colorado City Record I cannot refrain from casting a longing, lingering look behind. The Record and I have been good soldiers in the battle of life. Acknowledging no master but God, we have been reverently humble before Him but before no earthly power. We have never bowed knee to Baal. We have taken our punishment without whimpering and now stride off the battlefield with head erect and sword untarnished.

The Record is no longer my sword and buckler. I must say that long farewell, no matter how it hurts. I cannot take the Record to Heaven with me, but I pray God that those who control its destinies may remember always that it is something sacred. I pray that it may never be prostituted to any unworthy purpose or serve in any but a righteous cause.

The Record has served Colorado City people well. It has rejoiced when your babies were born. Watched them grow into manhood and womanhood. Has praised the loveliness of the bride and the manliness of the groom. And lastly, it has wept at the bier of your loved and lost, and scattered rhetorical roses above the new-made grave of your dead. Yes, it has been faithful to you.

Of course I do not have to do this thing which grieves me so. I could go on and on to the bitter end. But why should I? I must some day give it up, and why not now while I seem to have several years of life left?

I shall not leave Colorado City. My heart is here. My friends are here and the precious dust of my dead rest in Colorado cemetery. And there by her side I shall finally come to rest when life's fitful fever has come to an end. The reading public will never hear my editorial voice again.

SPRING IS HERE

There is a lullaby in the wind that hovers near the bassinet of prairie like a gentle midwife awaiting the first yellow buttercup to open its eyes. Winters nefarious slave is rusting in the warm earth and a besom of rain clouds has swept the deep sage carpet for the unsullied feet of spring, dawn will hang a curtain of brighter gold between the fading stars.

Spring cometh apace. The twittering birds in the tree tops, the coy vireos—

Peep shyly from their green beds, the butterflies—
Flutter in the breeze like dainty fairies, the bees—
Are drunk with the nectar of roses and heliotropes, the daffodils—
Lift their delicate heads alongside the bullnettle, the odor of mag-nolia—

Blooms fairly make the dragonfly swoon, the low, throaty coo of the—Dove blends like a benediction with the mating-call of the—Bullfrog. Over it all preside the brooding spirit—
Of supernal Spring, the one time of all the year to relax and enjoy yourself.

(Ain't nature grand.)

BUNK

I'm told the stuff
I write is bunk
It has the name
Of being punk
If you don't like it
Tell others, see?
But if you do
Please tell me.
Of course I may
Not be a poet,
But if I'm not
I'd hate to meet.

COMMENT AND CRITICISM

We visited this week in a Colorado home, the lady of the house sat reading the Colorado Record. She looked up and said:

"This column of yours is the corniest thing I ever read."

"Yes," I replied, "Walter Winchell is getting sort of rotten, isn't he?"

"Walter Winchell, who said anything about Walter Winchell? I was reading that column of yours, and I think it is rotten."

"Now look," I said, "I like it and think it is sometimes funny."

"Yes," she said it is funny that any paper would publish such dribble."

"But every man on the Record force is a personal friend of mine. They are all kind to me."

"What about the paying subscribers, don't they deserve any kindness?" asked the little woman.

"Is that so. Are you casting any reflections on my intelligence," I snapped.

"Don't put your neck out, your intelligence wouldn't reflect anything," she snapped back.

"Listen, my dear I was born on a high intellectual plane."

"But the plane went on a tail spin," she replied.

"Woman," said I, "Your thrusts below the belt do not dampen my enthusiasm one whit. I am anxious to get ahead."

"Well the head you have certainly won't do. I believe you have something there, or will have when you get a head," she said.

With that I hurriedly arose and said, "That's all I want to owe (I mean know). I am going out and ask every person I meet if they have ever read my column and if they don't think it funny or good."

With that I grabbed my, what I still call a hat and ran for the outside.

On my way to town I met an elderly gentleman whom I approached and said, "I beg your pardon, sir. You look like an intelligent gentleman."

"I am an intelligent gentleman so what?" he said.

"Do you or do you not ever read my column in the Colorado Record?"

"Oh, you mean that long dry weather report some nitwit writes for the county paper?" he asked.

"Why, don't you think it is funny?" I asked.

"Yes, confidentially I do," he replied, "Just between you and me and the Czar of Cornucopia, I think that it's funny a paper would keep on publishing such dribble."

"Excuse me, sir," I replied, as I drew myself up to my full seventy inches of stuff that geniuses are made of. "It might interest you to know that I am the nitwit that writes that column."

"Frankly, it doesn't interest me a bit, but before you stop annoying me, will you tell me why you have to drag your poor little wife into the weather report every week, she hasn't anything to do with the weather," said he.

"Listen, sir," I said, "If you knew my wife, you'd know that she would not be dragged in or out of any kind of weather. Anyway, leave my wife out—"

"Oh, so you say she hasn't sense enough to come in out of the weather?" he parried.

"I didn't say that, you leave her out," I said.

"So you want me to leave her out in the rain, do you? Well, let me tell you that I'm not mixing up in any family fracas," said the now thoroughly aroused stranger.

"I said, leave her out of this, she hasn't anything to do—"

"So she's one of these young women that has nothing to do but smear red barn paint on her finger nails?" said the man.

"My wife has nothing to do with my column, sir, is what I was trying to tell you," I replied.

"Then she should have," said he.

"But getting back to my column," I said patiently, "Do you know that I personally conducted a column on a newspaper in a city of over a hundred thousand population? Well do I remember the many letters I received, some out of the state, the time I wrote about the man sixty three years old who hung with his fingers for fifteen minutes from the window ledge on the twentieth floor of a hotel elad only in a Turkish towel—"

"An old guy that would do that should be hung," said he.

"But he was taking a bath and the hotel was on fire," I explained.

"Well, he didn't have an business bathing when the hotel was on fire," said the man with a wild look in his eyes.

"Excuse me, sir, I must run," I said.

"Why are you a fireman?" he said as I fled.

A little farther on down the street I met a lady, and tipping my hat, I said, "I beg your pardon, Madam, but did you ever read my column in the Record."

"Can't say that I did," replied she, "But that isn't anything unusual. We don't even take the Record."

Candidate Cooper said that April fool's day had been moved up to April 4th and used the election returns to prove it.

District Attorney Truett Barber was asked by a friend if his court was a kangaroo variety to which he replied there were no kangaroos in this country.

Diek Hickman stopped a motor driver and said, "Say, young man, do you know anything about traffic laws?"

Driver: "Why, yes. What is it you want to know?"

The colored washerwoman at our house quit her job and said:

"I've got a new job an' I can't do yo' washin' no mo'."

"What is it, Mandy?"

"My new job is I can't work. I've on de relief."

A young lady stenographer in Colorado soon to be married asked,

"Young man if I marry you will you let me keep my job?"

"Certainly," said the young man. "I am depending on it."

Down at Max Berman's store a lady customer came in and said,

"I am returning these silk stockings I bought yesterday. They are too fast for me."

The clerk said, "Too fast. What do you mean?"

She said, "When I walk they run."

There was a lecture here on April fool's night and a young man seemed to be bothered because on his ticket it said, "Admit One."

LEADERSHIP IN VALUE BRINGS LEADERSHIP IN SALES

Chevrolet is first in sales because it's first in styling—first in acceleration—first in hill-climbing—and first in value in its price range!

Again the people of the nation are awarding Chevrolet first place in motor car sales!

And the reason they are buying more Chevrolets than any other make of car is that this new Chevrolet gives them more of all the things they want in a motor car, at lower cost.

Visit your nearest Chevrolet dealer today! See, drive and buy the nation's fastest selling motor car and the nation's biggest dollar-value!

CHEVROLET DEALERS OFFERING SERVICE

DETROIT—More than 75 per cent of Chevrolet dealers are now cooperating actively in the program established by the factory to back up with expert service every Chevrolet car and truck sold. The announcement was made here this week by Ed Hedner, national service and mechanical manager.

Chevrolet, Hedner said, has developed a continuous year-around activity designed to keep service managers and their mechanics up to the minute on all phases of their work. The basis of the system is the Service Managers' Clubs, of which there are 235 in the United States. These meet monthly, drawing their attendance from the dealerships in their respective areas. The material studied at the Service Managers' Club meetings is furnished by the Service and Mechanical Department in Detroit, one division of which devotes full time to supervision of this work. Motion pictures, slide films, engineering and servicing data, covering both equipment and method, make up the study course, which is supplemented by informal discussion of the way in which individual managers have dealt with specific service problems.

Returning home, the service managers hold similar meetings in their own dealerships every two weeks, using the material shown at the managers' meeting, plus conducting a 15 minutes' oral examination, covering the same ground. One or more specific service problems are discussed at each of these meetings, in light of the latest information on the subject. Reports of all these meetings are filed in the central office, an arrangement which makes it possible for the Service and Mechanical department to distribute any specially useful items contained in such reports quickly throughout the entire field, through the channels provided by the countrywide training set-up.

"Although Chevrolet's service training is a continuous year-around activity, the period just before the annual new car introduction is in a sense the starting point for the years program," said Hedner. "At that time, the service managers clubs and service meetings in the dealerships enable Chevrolet to school its entire field organization, quickly and efficiently, in the design, construction, and servicing methods that apply to the forthcoming model. Subsequent meetings throughout the year amplify this information in the light of practical experience, and add constantly to the service managers, and mechanics' fund of information about previous models as well."

"The whole set-up, of course, is in line with Chevrolet's conviction that its own success and the success of its dealers will be in direct ratio to the satisfaction which owners derive from their Chevrolet cars and trucks."

CHEVROLET MARCH SALES TURN UP

Chevrolet dealers' retail sales in the last 10 days of March turned sharply upward, reaching the highest total for any similar period since the new model introduction, and making March by long odds the highest sales month in that period. The March total was 88,836 units, as compared with 50,750 in February and with 62,880 in March of last year.

The percentage of increase over March 1938 was 41.2, and over February 1939, it was 75. There was an increase of 70.1 per cent over the sales for the preceding 10-day period, the records indicate.

At the same time, used car sales showed a substantial gain, both over the previous 10 days and over the same period last year. They reached a total of 141,696 for the month of March, giving Chevrolet dealers a grand aggregate, new and used, of more than 230,000 units.

Responsibilities
 We grow up without ever taking the blame for anything! Do you remember when you had just passed through; you carelessly bumped into a chair; you turned around and kicked the chair; you then hurt your toe and went crying to mother to tell her about the "Old Mean Chair!"

Many of us never get beyond that stage. Not that we turn around and kick the chair, but not one of us ever did any thing wrong. "Miss" gave me 65 in She is determined to fail me yet. After all, who is determining the grade you make—you, in the work that you do; or the teacher who averages the grades made?

After all, each individual shapes his own destiny—his ability to "face the music" will determine everything in his life.

WHO'S WHO
 John J. Smith
 I asked John J. Smith what he did with all his spare time and he exploded. "Spare time! Why dearie, I haven't any spare time. I arise at 3:30 every morning and milk the cows and feed the horses and stop the pigs and cook breakfast."

"Oh, you live on a farm."
 "Ha! Ha! Pooled you! No, I run a circus."

"And then what do you do?"
 "Well, at present I am attending high school, but soon poor, dear CHS will no longer be brightened by my cheerful countenance. This is my last year, you know. Oh, yes! of course you heard about my acting in 'Good Night, Caroline.' I'm a natural, they say."

"Yes, you played the part of the burglar, didn't you?"
 Now I ask you, what do you think of John J. Smith? That's right, you're right!

GOT TO
 I've been told to write a poem.
 That's hard for me to do.
 For I had much rather go to bed;
 That's what the lazy boy always said.

Oh, but I've got to have that poem.
 Just as the farmer,
 Who has to have some coin
 To get some crops a growing.
 John Henderson.

CHS SENIORS TO PRESENT ANNUAL PLAY

"Her Emergency Family," a farce-comedy in three acts by Mary Wilcox, will be presented by the CHS Seniors at the high school auditorium late in April. The admission will be ten cents.

A matter of $50,000 is involved, dependent upon Kate's getting a husband pro tempore and a baby immediately. Haste is necessary because Aunt Hannah, the rich relative resident of a distant state, suddenly pops in to pay the newly-weds an hour's visit, but lends them to a month's duration. Complications are inevitable. Kate's need for a new chiffon gown, a permanent, and many other "serious" necessities cause her to propose to Larry—her stubborn fiancé—who refuses her. In her anxiety she borrows Ted—engaged to Bunny, Kate's best girl friend. But Bunny doesn't mind. With a borrowed baby the play goes on with many heart interest threads of comedy and farcial situations.

The cast consists of:
 Kate Storm, inventor of the emergency family—Aileen Bodine.
 Aunt Hannah Steele, Kate's aunt from Oklahoma—Billie Blackwell.
 Bunny Brown, Kate's best friend and chief helper—Ruth Hardison.
 Miss Jane Meek, Kate's cousin and unwilling accomplice—Margie Hamilton.
 Annie, Jane's housemaid—Theda Howell.
 Bella, Jane's colored cook—Mary Jo Pickens.
 Larry Carr, Kate's disgruntled admirer—J. T. Williamson.
 Ted Bliss, Kate's pro tempore husband—Thomas Chadwick.
 Chuck Jones, the baby's father—Truman Watson.
 Henry Black, Bella's young man—Maurice Watson.

APRIL 28 IS BANQUET DATE
 The most outstanding of all social events of each year is approaching us again. On the night of April the 28th the annual Junior-Senior banquet will be in full swing. The Juniors are, as usual, trying to keep their pleasant struggles and plans under cover, but the Seniors, Juniors, faculty, and student body in general, are anticipating the best banquet ever.

PLATFORM MANNERS
 1. When entering the platform, should the chairman precede the speaker?
 2. If a speaker drops a paper, or something in his speech, while talking, should the chairman pick up the article?
 3. Is it courteous of the chairman to hold whispered conference or to look at papers while the speaker is talking?

 1. The chairman may or may not precede the speaker, however, a gentleman always allows the lady—whether chairman or speaker—to precede him and always waits for her to be seated before he takes his seat.
 2. The chairman should not feel that he is interrupting the speech by picking up the article dropped by the speaker.
 3. The chairman should always give his undivided attention to the speaker.

THE ARTIST
 Did you ever wonder why.
 God put the blue in the sky.
 The gorgeous purple in the canyon cliff.
 Or the sparkling white in piles of drift.

Did he have a color in mind.
 When he erected the stately pine.
 How did he paint the setting sun.
 To make a gorgeous curtain when the day is done.

He must be an artist superior to men.
 In order that he might so skillfully blend.
 These lovely shades and brilliant colors.
 That can be reproduced by no others.

CAMPUS CAMERA

And now that six weeks exams are over again and the midnight oil is all used up (?), we begin the joys of the last six weeks. Many CHS-ites were seen decked out in Easter finery over last week-end. A grudge is where you put your auto. This past week the third year Spanish class has started a new project—that of not speaking a word of English in class until the end of school. Monday in assembly Sweetwater High presented its clever one-act play, "A Young Man's Fancy," to our student body for exhibition. Mr. Mason spent the past week-end in Ft. Worth. Rumors have it that plans for the coming Jr.-Sr. banquet were the motive for this trip. And speaking of the banquet, April 28 is not very far away, so make your dates at once. Homecoming for this all-important occasion. CHS exams, home for spring holidays have been seen dotting the doorways and corridors of the old alma mater high. P. S. Sara Guitierrez now has a Tech hero. Congrats to those students in our school who helped CHS win, by a meager one point, the county track meet. To run an 880 or a mile relay in such weather took real school spirit, and our boys had it! Harry and Dookie seem to be disfiguring a Freshman romance. It's almost time to bid another Senior class adios. Make this last term count. Lettisha Crabtree has lately forsaken her studies to take on the increasingly popular title of "Mrs." April 14 and 15 will find many studies in Sweetwater for the District Meet. Best of luck! Advice to the jilted: Don't go home and cry. The ever-present poem (?) of the week:

 You have two chances:
 One of getting the germ
 And one of not.
 And if you get the germ
 You have two chances:
 One of getting the disease
 And one of not.
 And if you get the disease
 You have two chances:
 One of dying
 And one of not.
 And if you die
 Well—you still have two chances!

You Don't Build Fence Like This Any More

Thanks to KEYSTONE

Fifty years ago the Keystone Steel and Wire Company started making woven wire fence—to save farmers the wasted time and labor of building clumsy rail fences. Well—you don't see rail fences any more—but you do see a lot of Keystone RED BRAND fence. It's known everywhere for its extra long life. Into it have gone 50 years of fence making experience and improvement.

Who knows most about Building cars?

Ford has built more than one-third of all the automobiles ever built in the world

THERE are more Ford cars in use today than any other make. And there are more Ford V-8s than any other 8-cylinder car.

The 1939 Ford V-8 represents the broadest experience in building cars any manufacturer ever had. You will find values in it far beyond what any other maker can put into a car at the low Ford price.

Ford performance, traditional for a generation, has reached new heights in the 1939 V-8.

And now Ford style leadership is equally outstanding. "The smartest cars on the road" is the way owners describe their new Fords. Smartest in action. Smartest in appearance. Leaders, as they deserve to be.

PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

A unanimous chorus of praise was voiced by those who saw the special screening of "Alexander Graham Bell" for which the Palace theater was host Wednesday morning. . . . Bell, inventor of the telephone, is played by Don Ameche, and his sweetheart and wife is done by Loretta Young. . . . Both are now fully reinstated on our "favorites" list, from which they had recently slipped. . . . Typical of the response of those who saw the screening as we went out the door: "I came in just to see the beginning, and here I've stayed for the whole thing!"

Vignettes from Easter: It's always surprising what a throng of people manage to get their eyes open and their clothes on in time to go to the 5:15 pre-dawn services at First Christian church every Easter morning. . . . The Lacey-Lupton wedding and the church hours were the nearest things to a real Easter parade that Colorado has ever had. . . . Such colors, such veils, such dresses—and such hats! . . . Those live baby chickens, dyed purple, orange, green, and what have you, that Earl Cyper carried about town Saturday afternoon had all the children and a lot of grown-ups squealing with mingled surprise and delight. . . . Late Saturday afternoon things in the Austin Bush home were in a sad state for Easter Eve after the cat had eaten the colored chickens treasured by son Frankie and daughter Jane. . . . Stores all over town did true Easter-rushing business Saturday afternoon, especially as to Easter bonnets, gloves, and other accessories. . . . The prize egg hunt story of the season came out of Westbrook, where a certain little girl who found only one egg on the school hunt became so unhappy over her lack of luck that she sat down and ate the one she'd found, only to have it discovered later that she'd found—and eaten—the prize egg. . . . She had to go back and produce the discarded shell as proof so she could get the prize.

A time-yellowed memento of other days when Colorado was Colorado City has been found by Ivy Webb among old papers which belonged to his father, A. H. Webb, early-day cattle raiser and dealer of Colorado.

It is the back of a letter addressed to Webb while he was in Colorado Springs, Colorado, on business, and it was mailed July 19, 1887. . . . It's significant that under Webb's printed return address in the upper left-hand corner of the letter the town was given as "Colorado City, Texas," but the official postmark, still discernible after all these years, is simply "Colorado, Texas." . . . Incidentally, with Webb's return was pictured his trade-mark—a Longhorn bearing a large "H" on its side. . . .

Everything continues to indicate that our George Mahon is "arriving" in Washington. . . . There he was on the front page of Sunday's Fort Worth Star-Telegram, pictured with Senator Tom Connally and the saddled bull which reached Washington last week on its trek from Texas to the New York World's fair. . . . On the bull there was a girl—a laughing blonde named Ellen Edgemon, waving a sombrero at the world in general and using our George's shoulder for a support as she did so. . . . Now we've noticed in the past, and so have you probably, that only the better-known senators and representatives get their pictures taken in such informal poses with pretty girls. . . . It may be, when you come to think of it, that only the better-known ones, the ones who have somewhat proved themselves, can afford to be so pictured. . . . As if to balance the informality of his with-the-bull pose, Mr. Mahon appeared in Monday's Star-Telegram in a more serious one with Lyman J. Briggs, director of the Bureau of Standards, learning about an automatic weatherman which is to be displayed at Texas Tech in mid-April. . . . Anyway, it all stacks up to the fact that George Mahon is putting this part of West Texas on the map in Washington, and nobody minds that.

Just before Monday afternoon's train arrived with the body of Dr. W. A. Palmer 95-year-old pioneer physician of the Dunn section, there was a small and brief but somehow noteworthy gathering on the Walnut street sidewalk near the depot. . . . In that gathering were such prominent old-timers of the Dunn section as Ray Dunn, Bill Taylor, George Richardson, and W. H. Richardson, all of Dunn, also George Wilson, formerly of Dunn and now of San Angelo. . . . Between them there were many memories of days when Dr. Palmer was in their midst, answering midnight calls for everything from simple indigestion to diphtheria and rattlesnake bites, traveling amongst them via horse-and-buggy or the unpredictable flutters of early motoring days. . . . Among other things, they recalled the circumstances leading up to Dr. Palmer's locating in Dunn in 1906, how the late Jim Billingsley (father of Dick Billingsley of Colorado City) prevailed on him to move from Ellis county and fulfill the little community's need for a doctor. . . . How Billingsley carved two acres of land out of his holdings for his home site, and how Ray Dunn and others built the home.

We refuse to vouch for either the age or the veracity of this story, but it's such a swell yarn that we're going to take a chance on some of our readers being a little farther behind than we are and pass it on for their benefit. . . . Of course, you have to know Chapman and how he's always trying to sell his hat to fully appreciate it. . . . The story goes that Olen Mayes of Loraine came into the gas office. . . . He got the typical Chapman greeting about "Wanna buy a hat, cheap, for two bucks?"

Mayes said, solemnly, that he'd like to see the hat. . . . Chapman passed it over. . . . It fit. . . . Mayes laid down two dollars, kept the hat on, walked out, never cracking a smile. . . . We leave you to picture for yourself the expression on Chapman's face. . . . A story like this doesn't have to be true or fresh to be good—you just got to know Chapman, and that's a plenty. . . .

There isn't any catch to these silver-plated Betty Lou spoons we have to give away at The Record office. . . . Some persons who have been in seem to think there is until we assure them that with a coupon clipped from the Quaker Oats ad in The Record and a trade-mark picture from a large package of the oats (or two small trade-marks) they get a spoon, free gratis for nothing with no strings attached. . . .

Came a letter last week from Presley Bryant, state editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, asking this question: "What is the prevailing pronunciation, Colo-ray-do City or Colo-rah-do City?" . . . We listened around for a day or so. . . . We tried, mostly in vain, to slip up on ourselves and see how we pronounced it when we're not self-conscious. . . . Finally we wrote Mr. Bryant that Colo-ray-do City seems to be the prevailing pronunciation in these here parts. . . . We've noticed that most folks who say Colo-ray-do when referring to this place pronounce it Colo-rah-do when referring to the state. . . . And a lot of us are in Colo-ray-do City when we're home, but from Colo-rah-do City when we're somewhere else. . . . The odds seem to be in favor of Colo-rah-do if one wants to sound just a little don't-cha-know, or something. . . .

Denial of Lettisha Crabtree, high school senior, that she got married during the week-end as per rumor spiked a certain little paragraph we were all set to write for this space. . . . When the rumor went around Monday that Lettisha had married, G. D. Foster, high school principal, was heard to remark that this has been the out-marriest senior class he's ever dealt with in his some 20 years connection with Colorado high. . . . Even without Lettisha, there have been three weddings, all among senior girls. . . . Dorothy Morrison started the march last fall when she married Herb Curry and moved to Iraan. . . . The other two married girls, however, are among candidates for graduation, these being Mrs. Floyd Wallace, the former Marie Phillips, and Mrs. John Lee Henson, the former Freddie Blackwell. . . . Incidentally, Mrs. Wallace is just barely getting by—with a 98 average!

After long and serious thought, we finally remembered who was the third girl—the one in addition to Annetta Lacey and Sid Gracy—that we predicted April matrimony for some time ago. . . . This time next week everybody will know. . . . Truth to tell, about everybody already seems to know. . . .

How times do change! . . . Time was when we West Texans had our sandstorms of a daytime, and they lulled as night came on. . . . Lately they've been coming in the night and hailing in the daytime. . . . There's one advantage in that we can't see the things at night—all we have to do is hear, with a little gritty feeling thrown in. . . .

FEDERAL FARM LOAN AND FSA OFFICIALS GATHER

Several local Federal Farm Loan and FSA officials were in Abilene last Thursday for a joint meeting of representatives of the two groups.

Attending from here were C. W. Weston, regional supervisor for the Farm Security administration; M. A. Stinson, county FSA supervisor; Chas. C. Thompson, secretary-treasurer of the Colorado National Farm Loan association; Harold Bennett, assistant secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Charles Smith, secretary to Thompson.

The meeting was the 11th in a series of 12 being held in Texas. It was attended by FSA rural supervisors from 16 counties of the area, and by Federal Farm Loan association representatives from 48 counties.

V. R. Smitham, Dallas, state director of the FSA, presided for the meeting. Smitham said that its purpose is "to work out a cooperative program between the two agencies designed to forestall federal land bank foreclosures."

Smitham explained that several borrowers from the Federal Land bank are failing to make a success of their farm ownership venture because of improper, inefficient methods of operation. These obstacles are overcome in the program of the FSA, which gives supervision and assistance in farm management.
