Situation In Hand

Sir Winston Churchill has his hands full as he rides with President Eisenhower from the Washington National Airport to the White House in the presidential bubbletop limousine. The cane Churchill is holding along with his hat and glasses, is a gold-tipped one. The shadow on Eisenhower's face is from one of the bubbletop braces.

Daniel Holds 2 Lyndon For President Bills

AUSTIN (AP) — Two bills to boost Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson as a possible presidential candidate were in Gov. Price Daniel's hands today. He is expected to sign both.

One pushing back the dates of the Democratic primaries 11 weeks easily survived a four and a half hour filibuster in the Senate last night. The House measure, attacked as singling out one candidate for help, was not amended in the Senate. It was finally passed on a voice vote, with five senators recording "no." It passed the House 97-44.

Friends of Johnson said they favored the primary bill because it would allow the senator, if he wishes, to seek and perhaps nail down his bid for renomination before the July presidential convention. They said it would give him prestige and also be a boon if he wished to make a national campaign.

The other so-called Johnson bill, passed last week, would permit his or any other candidate's name to appear on the general election ballot for statewide office, and for president or vice president. The law now restricts a candidate to one listing.

Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio told the Senate in his delaying action that he would do "anything he could" for Sen. Johnson, but that the primary date change was not good legislation.

"He is an eminent and illustrious Texan," Gonzalez said. "But this bill is not what it is claimed. Sinister elements and forces have greedily taken advantage of Johnson's name in trying to keep poor candidates from running for office."

Gonzalez warned that passage would mark "the death knell of the Democratic party in Texas." He said it was aided and abetted by enemies of the party and would lead "inevitably to rigged conventions."

Gonzalez and House opponents argued that the section of the bill abolishing one set of Democratic conventions, beginning in 1960, endangered grass roots participation in conventions. During presidential years now, Texas holds one convention in May to name presidential convention delegates, another in September for state matters.

Under the bill passed yesterday, the same delegates would serve in both conventions. This stirred up much of the opposition.

Johnson, in Harrisburg, Pa., last night, had no comment on the Legislature's action.

Confused Girl Nabbed In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—A nervous, stringy-haired girl admitted kidnaping an 18-month-old boy from his home near Albuquerque, N.M., Monday, then abandoning him this morning in a downtown Dallas drug store.

The girl, Betty Smithey, 16, a reform school inmate employed by the school's former psychologist as a baby sitter, was arrested by two Dallas patrolmen minutes after she fled the drug store.

The baby, Mitchell Johnson, who could be mistaken for a girl because of his long blond hair, appeared healthy and unharmed.

Biting her fingernails nervously, the young abductor said, "I don't know why I did it. I just took it."

The girl said she took the boy from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson, Monday afternoon. They live in Placitas, a mountain village 20 miles northeast of Albuquerque.

Mrs. Johnson, former psychologist at Girls Welfare Home, had employed Betty after she came to the home as a runaway from the home of her sister, Vickie Wilson, of Chandler, Ariz.

The relieved mother expressed compassion for the confused girl after being told of her arrest.

"It's tragic . . . she's basically honest," she said.

The girl said she had planned an escape from the Johnson home and that she thought if she took the child, it wouldn't cry and give an alarm.

Besides, she said, she liked him. She said when she walked out, they started hitchhiking.

A truck driver on U.S. 66 gave her $14 after taking her and the baby to Woodward, Okla., Monday night, Betty related.

With this, she fed Mitchell milk and soup.

Meanwhile, FBI Agents had launched a three-state search.

Betty took a bus to Dallas yesterday afternoon, she remembered, and arrived here about midnight and stayed with the baby in a hotel room.

She has been here before and has an aunt living here.

Last summer, the girl climbed on top of a motor company building and threw rocks at passersby. When police arrived, she threatened to jump off, but was dissuaded. It was at this time, police records show, she was listed as a runaway from the Oklahoma State Mental Institution at Norman.

This morning, the girl took the child to a drug store and pleaded with Mrs. Angie Ryan:

"Will you please take my baby?"

Mrs. Ryan said the girl appeared dirty and distraught. She refused to take the child.

Then Betty tried to get other customers to keep the baby, said Mrs. Ryan. Finally, an unidentified man permitted her to put the child in a booth beside him. Another customer ordered bacon and eggs and the child readily ate them.

Betty used the telephone, said Mrs. Ryan, then fled.

She had called her aunt, Mrs. C. H. Goolsby, wife of a Dallas traffic policeman. Mrs. Goolsby notified police.

Minutes later, patrolmen C. R. Groves and C. L. Palmer spotted Betty in Ray's Cafeteria as she ate breakfast.

"What's your name?" They asked.

"Betty," she replied.

"Go ahead and finish your breakfast," they told her, but somehow, they said, she lost her appetite.

Betty, wearing horn - rimmed glasses, soiled blue jeans, and a tatto saying "Deno" on her right hand, went to the police station.

She confessed readily.

Why had she abandoned the baby? "It was just too hard on him."

At the police station, Betty reached out tenderly to touch Mitchell.

Then, for photographers, she sat him on her lap.

Mitchell cried when they took him away from her.

Dallas Man Submits Low Bid On Mapping

The three City Commissioners present for Tuesday's special session found the bids on aerial mapping to their liking. The apparent low bid was only $14,180 for the maps which are needed in connection with the master plan.

Seven firms submitted bids on the aerial mapping project, to cover some 27,000 acres in and around Big Spring. Since only three commissioners were present, the commission decided to wait until a later date to award the contract. George Zachariah, Paul Kasch, and Tom South were at the meeting Tuesday.

Mayor Lee O. Rogers and John Taylor, the mayor pro-tem, were both out of town.

H. W. Buce of Dallas was the apparent low bidder on the overall mapping with a bid of $14,180. The city had an alternate of deduction of fringe areas of the project with Buce agreeing to deduct $150 per segment or sheet from the total price.

Each sheet doesn't quite cover a section of land.

Second low bid was from Abrams Aerial Survey Corp of Lansing, Mich., wich a bid of $14,397. That firm's deduction per sheet was $250. International Aerial Mapping Co. of San Antonio offered a bid of $14,580 with a $130-per sheet deduction for less work.

Other bidders: Jack Ammann of San Antonio, $16,600 base bid; Aero Service Corp. of Tulsa, $16,970; V. L. Beavers of San Antonio, $18,300, and Fairchild Aerial Surveys of Los Angeles, $18,821.

All bids were within what the city expected for the work, and the commissioners expressed pleasure at the low bids. Kasch brought up the idea of maybe adding a few more segments to the plan if the accepted bidder would give the same price for additions as for deductions.

The commission meets again next Tuesday, and the contract will probably be awarded at that time.

In other matters Tuesday, the commissioners agreed to meet Thursday to interview a man for the city attorney's position. Also, they asked the city manager, A. K. Steinheimer, to contact two men who have applied for the engineer's job and asked them to come for interviews.

The attorney's job is already open; Wayne Basden resigned April 1. The present city engineer, Clifton Bellamy, has submitted his resignation but has agreed to stay until a successor can be named.

Clean-Up Drive Planning Meeting Slated Thursday

Big Spring's annual spring clean-up campaign will be scheduled at a planning meeting Thursday morning.

Cliff Fisher, chairman, has called a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Civic Development Committee for 10:30 a.m. in the Chamber offices.

In addition to setting dates for the drive, the group will explore means of encouraging as widespread participation as possible, Fisher said. Emphasis won't be restricted to clean-up. Residents will be urged to make repairs, paint and make other improvements to heighten appearance as well as livability of their homes and businesses.

The campaign is sponsored annually by the Chamber in cooperation with the City of Big Spring.

Godfrey Continues Slow Improvement

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey continued his gradual improvement today from his lung cancer operation and is in good condition, his doctors reported.

The operation was performed last Thursday at the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center.

Labor Panel Eyes News Racket Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor-Management Committee tries to find out today whether New York newspapers and their distributing firms have brought labor peace from gangsters or labor union officials.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said witnesses in this windup of a two-day inquiry would include a dozen or more officials of a newspaper deliverers union and executives of the New York Times, Mirror, Journal-American, the American Weekly and the Neo Gravure Co., a publisher of newspaper supplements.

The committee originally had announced it would look into a strike which paralyzed the New York newspapers for weeks last fall, but Kennedy said he does not expect the strike to figure in the testimony.

Kennedy said the committee's quest is "whether any payments have been made to union officials, directly or indirectly, or to any gangsters in order to achieve labor peace."

The committee ran into a series of Fifth Amendment pleas Tuesday, as it quizzed officials of newspaper distributing firms and of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union of New York and Vicinity.

One after another, executives of nine newspaper wholesale distributing firms invoked the Fifth Amendment on whether they had made payoffs to officials of the Deliverers Union.

So did four of eight union officials, when asked if they had received or demanded payoffs.

But the union's president-elect, Joseph Baer, thundered "No" when asked if he was a taker of payoffs. He defended the union as clean.

The committee centered questions largely on items totaling more than $400,000 it said its investigators found in the financial records of various distributing firms.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) and Kennedy asked whether the items represented payoffs to unionists or racketeers. They got no answers.

Harold Weinstock, secretary of the Metropolitan News Co. and an executive also of the Kings County News Co., refused to tell who got $126,718 in checks drawn to "cash" issued by the two firms since 1956. Nor would he tell why the money was paid. He said answers might incriminate him.

Knott Paving Work To Start

Prime oil has been placed on the first three miles of the Knott county road, Walter Parks, county engineer, said Wednesday.

W. D. Caldwell, contractor, who has the task of paving the road, is moving rapidly with the work. There are seven miles in all on the Knott road to be paved.

Parks said that the rains of Monday night were ideal for the road construction program. He pointed out they put the surfacing in perfect condition for topping.

He said that as soon as Caldwell has completed the Knott road, he will shift operations to Second street in Big Spring where half a mile of paving is to be done.

At the same time, if it proves practical, a crew will go to work on the half mile of road from the end of existing paving on Moss Creek Road. It is believed it will be advisable to pave the Moss Creek road in midweek if possible in order to avoid heavy weekend traffic.

Voting On Cotton Classing Continues

Each day's mail to the Howard County farm agent's office brings a few additional reply cards in the resurvey of cotton planters' sentiment on which cotton classing office they want to serve them.

The question to be settled is whether cotton grown here is to be classed at Stanton, where a new office is being opened, or at Abilene, where local cotton has been handled for many years.

Jimmy Taylor, county agent, said that the survey will be declared closed in a few more days. Tabulation last made of votes indicated the majority of those who have expressed themselves was favorable to utilizing the Stanton facilities.

Rev. Nichols Heads Ministers' Agency

The Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor of the First Christian Church, was elected Wednesday morning as president of the Big Spring Pastors Assn.

He succeeds Dr. P. D. O'Brien, First Baptist minister.

Other officers named at the breakfast meeting held at the First Presbyterian Church were the Rev. Ward Jackson, First Church of God pastor, vice president; Weldon Stephenson, First Methodist associate pastor, secretary; and Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian pastor, treasurer.

Named to the Bible commission to oversee the program of the high school Bible class were Dr. O'Brien, the Rev. S. E. Eldridge, First Assembly of God, and Dr. Jordan Grooms, First Methodist. A special study commission to suggest means for financing the Bible instruction is composed of the Rev. Nichols, Chaplain Wilbur Hall, and the Rev. Royce Womack, Wesley Methodist Church.

The Rev. Womack is chairman of the committee on arranging radio programs.

The association paid its respects to Chaplain V. E. Mikesell, who is leaving for a new assignment with the Air Force in Alaska.

Secrecy Veils Parker Probe

POPLARVILLE, Miss. (AP) —A mantle of secrecy hung over the Mack Charles Parker case today as officers continued to look for clues that might lead to the lynch mob that shot the 23-year-old Negro truck driver to death.

A six - man coroner's jury ruled Tuesday that two bullet wounds killed Parker. He was awaiting trial on a charge of raping a pregnant white woman when a band of eight or 10 masked men kidnaped him from an unguarded jail here April 25.

No bullets were in the body when an FBI agent and a highway patrolman pulled it from the Pearl River near Bogalusa, La., Monday. But FBI Agent Joseph Myers told the jury there were two holes in the body, one in the side and the other near the breastbone.

Two hours after the inquest about 100 Negroes attended funeral services for Parker in a cemetery about one mile from his home outside Lumberton.

Incorporation Election Set

ACKERLY (SC)—Residents of this community are pointing toward a crucial referendum one week from Saturday.

On May 16 they will decide whether to incorporate the town as the first step toward providing certain municipal services.

Foremost is the possibility of developing a water system. Currently water is provided from deep private wells (150 feet) which are not found in all areas of the town. Proponents of incorporation have pointed that real estate frequently changes hands upon the contingency of beiny able to obtain water underlying the land.

Another potential project is municipal provision for street lights. At the present times this service is provided through business firm contributions. Other municipal functions such as fire plugs, etc., as a step toward lower insurance rates, are contemplated.

Among those not favoring incorporation it is pointed out that the proposed services will mean new taxes.

Qalified voters who have resided within the proposed corporate boundaries for six months will be eligible to ballot in the incorporation election.

Invasion-Grounded Woman Flier Plans Takeoff Today

PANAMA (AP)—A Texas woman flier, grounded for 10 days in Panama after landing during the invasion crisis, planned to take off today for Colombia and Venezuela.

Mrs. Marian Burke of San Antonio, flying with her 15-year-old son Johnny, described her delay as "uncomfortable but understandable."

Mrs. Burke stopped at David, in Panama's Chiriqui province, April 26 on her way to Maracay, Venezuela, to deliver the single-engine plane she was flying.

A small force of Cubans had just landed on Panama's Caribbean coast, trying to launch a revolution against President Ernesto de la Guardia. Officials had a major case of invasion jitters and grounded Mrs. Burke's plane. She said they also advised her that the plane might be commandeered by the government.

Mrs. Burke said she was not placed under arrest but told she would have to turn over the keys to the plane if she wanted to leave the city. Rather than do that she stayed in the Hotel Nacional for a week until the invaders surrendered and the crisis calmed down.

She was able to contact Panama's director of civil aeronautics, Juan Mas, last weekend. After hearing her story he made arrangements to clear her plane.

She flew to Panama City on Sunday. Weather permitting, she hopes to make Venezuela in one day with only a short refueling stop at Barranquilla, Colombia. The plane is being delivered to Ed Cloud, a part-time resident of San Antonio who now lives with his family in Venezuela.

120 Children Jam Room, And No Prank

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—One hundred twenty children were crammed into a mockup of a classroom here Tuesday, and not as a college prank.

Principal Joseph K. Womack of the Strawberry Point Elementary School was trying to convince Mill Valley voters that more classrooms are needed. The district will vote May 19 on a $600,000 bond issue to provide 20 more rooms.

MAN, 20, AND GIRL, 13

Stolen Jewelry Found In Rooms Of Ft. Worth Pair

A 20-year-old man and his 13-year-old girl companion, picked up here last week, have been returned to Fort Worth.

Fort Worth officers, in company with Howard County deputy sheriffs, said that a quantity of jewelry had been found in the rooms the couple had occupied on Nolan Street prior to their arrest. A search of the premises was made Tuesday.

The Tarrant County officers said that the jewelry was stolen in Fort Worth.

Charges are pending against the youth in Fort Worth.

Officers found the jewelry hidden under a pile of dirty clothing in one of the rooms in the house on Nolan.

Officers here arrested the pair after reports reached the authorities that a man and a young girl were at the address.

The girl was identified as a runaway from her Fort Worth home.

Fred Astaire Is Favorite To Win 'Emmy' TV Award

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — Television's big annual show—the Emmy awards—beams tonight. Most eyes here are expected to be on Fred Astaire and an unnamed guy with a stopwatch.

The ageless Astaire is the favorite of the Vine Street bettors to become Emmy's man of the year. His single program, which took months of rehearsal time to get that relaxed look, has nominations in three major categories.

Most of the so-called experts figure that Astaire will be called to the podium three times—for best single program, best special musical or variety program and best single performance by an actor.

The fellow with the stopwatch comes into his own tonight. The Television Academy doesn't want any repeat of what happened to the annual Oscar show on April 6 when 100 stars were left on stage with nothing to do—and 21 minutes of TV time to fill.

It's more likely that there won't be time enough tonight as the 90-minute show is faced with how to get rid of winners in 42 categories among 197 nominees. Some technical awards will be handed out before showtime.

The golden statuettes will be awarded by the biggest names in television — Bob Hope, Dinah Shore, Jack Benny, Ed Sullivan, Shirley Temple and others. But there will be no master of ceremonies.

No official reason was given for this ommission, but it's remembered that last year Danny Thomas took too long to tell one of his famous jokes, and Milton Berle turned his turn into an audition—one that stole the show and got him back on television after a two-year layoff.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon will present the award for the best news and public service program. He will be cut in from Washington. Most of the show will originate at the Moulin Rouge here, with cut-ins to New York for the winners there.

Gracie Allen has the chance to become the first winner while retired from show business. She is nominated for best actress in a comedy series—for her work before she quit.

Another interesting race has three Western stars shooting it out with three private eyes for the best dramatic series actor. They are James (Gunsmoke) Arness, Richard (Have Gun, Will Travel) Boone and James (Maverick) Garner versus Raymond (Perry Mason) Burr, Craig (Peter Gunn) Stevens and Efrem (77 Sunset Strip) Zimbalist, Jr.

Airtime is 10 p.m. EDT.

Where Lynch Victim Was Found

The clog of debris in the Pearl River where the body of M. C. Parker was discovered is pointed out by Al Wheat, 39-year-old fisherman, who aided in the recovery with his small boat. Parker was taken from jail in Poplarville, Miss., by a group of masked men April 25 and his body was found in the river about two miles south of a bridge connecting the highway between Bogalusa, La., and Poplarville after intensive search.

Mrs. Barron, a judge in Massachusetts superior court, is a daughter of a couple who fled Czarist Russia. She once worked in a shoe factory after school. Khrushy Says There'll Be No Berlin Trouble

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) —Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev says there won't be any trouble in Berlin, whatever length and course forthcoming international talks may take.

He made the remarks to a group of visiting West German Socialist editors in Moscow. The interview was carried in several German and Austrian newspapers today.

Krushchev reiterated, however, that if no agreement on a German peace treaty were reached, the Soviet Union would go ahead and sign a separate one with East Germany.

Then, said Khrushchev, the Allied occupation of West Berlin would come to an end, and control over Western access routes to Berlin must be exercised by East Germans.

It was Khrushchev's warning that the Soviets would cede control rights over Allied communications with Berlin that brought on the German crisis and led to the calling of an East-West foreign ministers conference in Geneva to start next Monday.

Khrushchev said the problem of a European security system should not be linked with a peace treaty for Germany. This was an apparent rejection of a package plan for settling European problems that the West has ready to present at Geneva.

He said that a German peace treaty was the top issue for the present.

He said the Soviet Union was agreeable to the withdrawal of all foreign troops from East and West Germany. And, if the NATO members withdrew their forces behind the boundaries of their own countries, then, said Khrushchev, the Soviet Union would withdraws its forces from Hungary and Poland.

Demo Sees Victory As 'Old Faces' Out

BALTIMORE (AP)— Democrat J. Harold Grady offered a modest explanation today for his rocketing from political obscurity to mayor of Baltimore in a few short months.

"You can't attribute this to any political organization," he said after Tuesday night's thumping victory over Republican Theodore R. McKeldin, former mayor and governor of Maryland.

"It just showed the people are turning away the old faces," Grady suggested.

McKeldin is the second old face turned away by Baltimoreans in favor of Grady this year. The 42-year-old lawyer and former FBI agent, elected to a four-year term as state's attorney only last November, defeated three-time Mayor D'Alesandro in the March 3 Democratic primary.

Until then Grady's only political experience had been as an unopposed 1958 candidate for the prosecutor's job to which he had been appointed a short time earlier. His predecessor had been named to a judgeship in mid-term, and the professional politicians decided to give the young, ruggedly handsome Grady a free ride.

He decided to run for mayor after D'Alesandro failed to win election to the U.S. Senate in November and then announced he would seek a fourth term in City Hall.

Returns from 567 of 572 polling places gave Grady 144,025 votes, McKeldin 71,981. Democrats also won seats for comptroller, City Council president and all 20 places on the Council, which they had held before.

The turnout was a shade over 50 per cent of the registered voters, among whom Democrats outnumbered Republicans nearly 4-1.

McKeldin, whose reputation as an orator had led to his selection as the principal nominating speaker for Eisenhower in the 1952 Republican National Convention, had successfully overcome this registration disadvantage three times. He was elected mayor in 1943 and governor in 1950 and 1954, the only member of his party to spend two terms in the governor's mansion.

Now 58 and blocked from a third-term bid by the state Constitution, he had sought to prolong a once-brilliant career by becoming the first man to have served as mayor, governor and mayor again.

But this time there were no major Democratic organizations openly in his corner from the start, as there had been in his successful races. It was more like the lonely years in which he lost for mayor, 1939, and for governor, 1942 and 1946.

ILGU, Garment Industry In Pact

NEW YORK (AP)— The International Ladies Garment Workers Union has reached an agreement with the women's and children's coat and suit industry covering 50,000 workers.

The new agreement, announced Tuesday, provides no new pay increases, but does provide new benefits. Effective June 1 there will be an employer-financed severance pay fund, holiday and overtime pay for piece workers, and continuance of an escalator clause providing wage increases pegged to the cost-of-living index.

Union President David Dubinsky said the union did not seek higher wages because the workers received an increase a year ago, under terms of the old contract.

Cabot In Line For Brazil Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — John M. Cabot, a career foreign service officer, reportedly is in line to be ambassador to Brazil, the job Clare Boothe Luce quit three days after the Senate confirmed her.

Mrs. Luce won Senate confirmation last week in spite of a bitter fight against her nomination by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore). But she could not resist a parting shot that her troubles began when Morse was kicked in the head by a horse.

That brought a new uproar in the Senate and on Friday she resigned, saying Morse would continue to harass her in the ambassadorship.

There has been considerable feeling in the Senate that the job should go to a career State Department officer. Tuesday night an authoritative source reported that President Eisenhower will submit Cabot's name in the next few days.

Cabot, 57, now is ambassador to Colombia, and has had long Latin American experience as well as high posts in other parts of the world.

His foreign service career began in 1926.

Patrols Keep Watch On Riot-Torn City

CONSTANTINE, Algeria (AP)— Strong military and police patrols kept an eye today on this tense east Algerian city where new terrorist attacks have brought swelling resentment against President Charles de Gaulle.

After two days of demonstrations against the president's attempts to negotiate a peace with the nationalist rebels, a delegation of French Algerian youths called Tuesday night on Gen. Eugene Jamot, military commander of the region, to demand harsher punishment for convicted terrorists.

Farmers Optimistic Over Crop Outlook

Monday night's rains, hailed as just what the doctor ordered, brought the total precipitation for 1959 to 3.38 inches, according to the records at the U. S. Experiment Station.

This is still shy of the average rainfall Big Spring has enjoyed for the past 58 years. However, farmers are highly optimistic. They think the two rains which have already marked May are good signs that the month will be productive of additional moisture.

In the meantime, the farmers of the county are busy getting ready to start planting. The rains had hardly ceased falling before many cotton growers were out overhauling farm machinery and putting things in shape to start seeding.

The soil temperature has been above 70 degrees for the past 15 days, the experiment station reported. This morning, the warmth of the soil at 6 inches had dropped to 64 degrees, due to evaporation on the heels of the rain and because of the sharp decline in air temperature. However, the station reported that the drop was unimportant — basically the soil is in ideal condition for planting at this time.

Howard County farmers seldom attempt any planting earlier than the present date. As a result, it is the concensus the rains fell at exactly the right time — just far enough ahead of the standard date that most growers observe for starting new crops to make conditions ideal.

NFIB Chairmen Named Here

Co-chairmen for the local representatives affiliated with National Federation of Independent Businesses were announced here Wednesday by Jack Myers, district director.

They are Clyde Angel and L. I. Stewart. They will be responsible for the distribution and tabulation of the monthly referendums of the NFIB.

The NFIB is said to be the largest organization of businesses in the country. Each month five major items weighing upon matters before congress are submitted to the membership. Results are then furnished to all members of congress.

Starting soon, copies of the results will be furnished to the state senators.

When the monthly ballots are distributed, they are accompanied by a pro and con discussion on the issues submitted. Tabulation is on a basis that will permit distribution of results by congressional districts.

Now in its 15th year, NFIB is the only organization of its type that submits legislative issues for action directly to its entire membership.

U.S. Officials Talk Over Khrushy Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials in Washington are talking seriously about the possibility of a visit to the United States this year by Nikita Khrushchev, the New York Times said today.

A Washington dispatch to the Times said no one in the capital is enthusiastic about inviting the Soviet premier to open the Soviet exposition which will start at the Coliseum in New York City June 30.

However, the story added, "there is considerable official talk about what would happen if he indicated a desire to do so."

The story also said in part that the inclination at the moment is too say that Khrushchev would be invited if he wished to do so.

Paddy Makes Change To Stage Poetry

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—That simple stuff is out now for Paddy Chayefsky, the guy who hit it big on TV, screen and stage with sweatshirt drama.

Poetry for Broadway is the new deal.

"From here on, I'm letting myself go," says the chunky, bearded writer. "I don't know yet just how wild I can get at one time."

He isn't worried about what people will think of the Chayefsky change — approximately comparable to Elvis Presley switching to grand opera.

"In a way I feel I've lost touch with the public," he says. "I've always written for myself, but at one time I felt my tastes and what I wanted seemed to have a coarse identity with what the public wanted."

The author of such widely noted scripts as "Marty," "Bachelor Party" and "The Catered Affair" says further: "What I wrote five years ago bores me now."

Chayefsky is completing collaboration on the screen version of "Middle of the Night," previously seen on TV and Broadway. The film, which stars Kim Novak and Fredric March, is scheduled for release in July.

Paddy regards "Middle of the Night" as a sort of graduation certificate, signalling the end of a self-imposed 10-year training program.

To mark his new phase, Chayefsky has completed one play and is mulling another. The finished work, due for Broadway next fall, is "The Dybbuk From Woodhaven."

It concerns, says Paddy, "two psychos who fall in love—and by the end of the first act everybody is rooting for them to get married.'

Chayefsky, who is 36, talks in a ceaseless torrent of self-analysis.

"The trouble with most American poets and writers is they're more interested in wisdom than beauty," he expounds in describing his switch from ultra-realistic writing to poetry.

"My own tastes are more epicurean. Edgar Allan Poe is my idea of a great poet. It's a matter of sensibility — you know what I mean."

Van Doren Nearly Joined A Circus

By CHARLES MERCER
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles Van Doren had a close call recently. He nearly ran away with the Cristiani Brothers Circus.

Being wise, however—as surely every television viewer knows — he reflected on his loves and responsibilities: wife, child, family, a new house and at least three separate careers running simultaneously. So he came home from Sarasota, Fla., instead of running away with the circus.

With him and an NBC-TV camera crew he brought a taped program of the risks and rewards of circus life, "Roll Out the Sky," which he will present on "NBC Kaleidoscope" Sunday.

"What sets circus people apart from others," he said, "is the pride they have in themselves and their profession. There are lots of worthwhile professions, but I know of none in which people have the complete pride that circus performers do.

"It even shows in the way they walk. They walk beautifully, with perfect balance and complete confidence that 'this is the life.' They feel that people who don't run away and join the circus are somehow sick."

Van Doren's role as host on "NBC Kaleidoscope" is only a part of what surely is one of the most intensively occupied lives anywhere. He also appears regularly on Dave Garroway's "Today" program over NBC-TV.

In fact, he is just due back from a week with Garroway and a "Today" crew in Paris where they taped the morning program each day and sent it home by jet.

Ironically, a lack of peaceful atmosphere caused a stoppage of the Today show from Paris when NBC union technicians in New York refused to handle the tape sent by air from France. They charged that some nonunion technicians had been used in Paris. NBC called it an "unauthorized walkout."

After he won a pot of money on the quiz show "Twenty-one" and received an NBC contract to participate in the area of news and public affairs, Van Doren insisted on earning his money.

People in the NBC news and public affairs department found, with pleasure, that Van Doren was an asset. He, in turn, has found great pleasure in his work there.

Meanwhile, Van Doren has maintained a full schedule of teaching literature at Columbia and recently completed his doctorate dissertation on the 18th century poet William Cowper. He expects to receive his Ph. D. degree this month or next.

He recently published an excellent anthology, "Letters to Mother," and plans to write a novel this summer.

Does he ever sleep?

"Six hours a night," he said. "It's all you need when you're truly interested in what you're doing."

Boy Kills Girl With Knife After An Alleged 'Robbery'

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— A boy killed a pretty girl by stabbing her 48 times and seriously slashed her girl companion Tuesday, police said, in a wooded area where they were picking berries.

The dead girl was Kathy Fehler, 12. Her companion was Judy Guillot, 11.

The boy, identified as Edward A. Herty, 13, told police in a signed statement he was helping the girls pick berries when they tried to rob him. Police quoted him as saying he took the knife from one of the girls and stabbed them with it.

All three were white.

The wounded child, when Herty, wearing a blood-splattered T-shirt, was brought before her at the hospital, said, "That's him. All I want to know is why he did it."

Herty, about 5-9 and 170 pounds, appeared exceptionally calm.

Judy refused to answer the pleas of her mother, Juanita Guillot Struber, to tell her what happened.

"Mother, I don't want to discuss it, I just don't want to discuss it with anyone—not even you. It's too horrible."

Herty was turned over to juvenile authorities to be held for delinquency by "reason of murder and attempted murder."

A friend of the boy's family described him as an honor student and a Boy Scout.

Slayer Executed After Delays Of Nearly 10 Years

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (AP) — Cleveland Thompson died Monday night in Pennsylvania's electric chair for slaying a Pittsburgh bartender nearly a decade ago.

Thompson, 36, was strapped into the chair at Rockview State Penitentiary at 10:02 p.m. and pronounced dead at 10:05 by Dr. J. G. Weixel.

Two guards half dragged the limp Thompson into the chamber. Once in the electric chair, Thompson slumped over and closed his eyes.

The straps were bucked around his sagging body and executioner Jerome Kermer sent 2,000 volts of electricity surging through the convicted slayer.

An unsuccessful appeal to Gov. David L. Lawrence for executive clemency last week ended a series of court appeals and 10 respites that delayed Thompson's execution for 9½ years.

The State Pardon Board last month denied a request for commutation of sentence to life imprisonment.

In two trials, Thompson was convicted of slaying Pittsburgh bartender Wallace Russell on Sept. 13, 1949. At each trial he was given the death sentence.

Texas Tech Forms Emergency Corps

LUBBOCK (AP) — Texas Tech has formed an emergency corps to cope with future student disturbances, including panty raids, on its campus.

President E. N. Jones said yesterday the new group is made up of 77 faculty and staff members. It will also serve, he said, in event of natural or wartime disturbances.

Two weeks ago, several hundred men students at Tech staged a four-hour demonstration on and near the campus climaxed by a panty raid on a women's dormitory.

Dr. Jones said that in the event of disturbances, the members will confer with women students and, if necessary, will record names, times and places of incidents considered serious enough for disciplinary action.

Band Leader Dies Of Burn Injuries

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bandleader Hal McIntyre, 44, died Tuesday of burns suffered in a Hollywood apartment fire.

He was found Sunday huddled under a blanket on the kitchen floor of his vocalist's apartment. Firemen said he apparently fell asleep while smoking.

He started leading a band at 16 and played saxophone and clarinet with the Glenn Miller Orchestra.

A native of Kentucky, he is survived by his estranged wife and their two children, living in Cromwell, Conn.

Mother, Boy Friend Admit Sons' Deaths

SAN DIEGO, Calif., (AP)—A mother and her unemployed boy friend calmly told officers Tuesday how they planned and carried out the murder of her two young sons.

The couple, who had been in San Diego only two weeks, were quoted by sheriff's deputies as saying they killed the boys last Saturday "because they were bad" and left their bodies in the mountains east of here.

Kenneth Archie Merriam, 36, an unemployed painter, told officers and reporters he strangled the boys at the suggestion of their mother, Wanda Brogdon, 33.

"She talked me into it," Merriam said. "It's a shame." He had been asked to explain why he strangled David Wayne Brogdon, 3, and Virgil Brogdon Jr., 5.

Merriam put his own hands to his head and neck in demonstrating how he choked the boys.

Dist. Atty. Don Keller said Merriam and Mrs. Brogdon would be arraigned on two counts of murder.

They are accused of taking the boys—along with a 19-month-old sister, Cynthia, who was not harmed—into the Laguna Mountains about 50 miles east of here where Merriam confessed he took first the older boy and then the younger boy from the car and strangled them.

Sheriff's Lt. Tom Isbell said the mother told the boys "that they wouldn't need their shoes because they wouldn't be coming back."

The couple, after a round of bars early Tuesday, returned to the murder scene, put the bodies in their car, and drove to the home of Merriam's sister, Margaret Schmitter, in suburban Spring Valley.

When Mrs. Schmitter learned what had happened she telephoned the sheriff's office, saying: "There are two dead kids in the car and they're going to get me."

Mrs. Schmitter said later she served Merriam and Mrs. Brogdon coffee to keep them from leaving before deputies arrived.

Merriam, Mrs. Brogdon and the three children came here from Rockford, Ill., where Merriam said they met when both lived in the same apartment.

In Rockford, Virgil Brogdon, 42, father of the boys, said he and his wife had been separated a year. He filed suit for divorce, charging his wife with desertion, April 16.

GIRL SURVIVES 10-STORY FALL

NEW YORK (AP)—A 12-year-old girl plunged 10 stories from a Harlem apartment Monday night and suffered only face scratches.

Forinia Williams told police she had been scolding her daughter Herschelle, who was in another room.

When the girl became suddenly silent, Mrs. Williams walked into the room, found an open window and looking down, saw Herschelle on the ground below.

The girl, a Negro, landed in a landscaped area. An ambulance doctor could find no injuries beyond the face scratches.

General Dynamics To Check Building Of Space Rockets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today hired General Dynamics Corp. to supervise construction of powerful Vega space rockets to be used in explorations of the moon and the planets.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced the award of a 33½-million-dollar contract to General Dynamics' Convair Division for the design, constructing, tests and launching. Convair is to build eight of the Vegas by the end of 1961.

NASA said Vega should be able to push aloft a two-ton space laboratory that could carry several men in a 300-mile orbit around the earth for several weeks.

The Atlas talking satellite this country sent up last December had a total weight of about 8,000 pounds including the rocket carrier, but only 150 pounds of instruments.

"Vega represents the first of our more advanced boosters," NASA Administrator T. Keith Glennan said in a statement. "Its principal job will be lunar and planetary investigation."

General Eelectric Co. received a $4,120,000 contract to make liquid-fueled, 34,000-pound thrust engines for Vega's second stage.

Nations Open Talks On Space

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and 12 other U.N. members today launch a search for a cooperative road to the peaceful use of outer space.

The Soviet Union, two Red satellites and two neutral members of the 18-nation Space Committee set up at the General Assembly last year served notice they would boycott the organization meeting.

The U.S.S.R., Czechoslovakia and Poland all said their delegates would stay home because Western nations and their allies outnumbered communist and neutral members. India and the United Arab Republic said they wouldn't take part because the Soviet boycott meant the committee had no chance of success.

The United States took the lead in pressing for today's meeting, which was to elect officers and set up two subcommittees to work out scientific and legal aspects of international space research. Military aspects of space programs are ruled out of the committee's jurisdiction.

The committee was to hear an inaugural speech by U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge and to call on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold for a survey on what the U.N. and its specialized agencies might be doing in the space field.

Thursday nations on the committee will present working papers on which the subcommittees can draft special reports before June 15. These will be turned over to the parent committee so it can write a combined report for the General Assembly meeting next fall.

On U.S. initiative, the Assembly set up the committee last Dec. 12 to investigate (1) what the U.N. family is doing about outer space, (2) how the U.N. can foster international cooperation in peaceful uses of outer space, (3) "future organizational arrangements" deemed necessary and (4) legal problems likely to arise.

Other members of the committee beside the United States and the five boycotting nations are Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Britain, Canada, France, Iran, Italy, Japan, Mexico and Sweden.

Eiffel Tower Has Stood For 70 Years

PARIS (AP)—Seventy years ago today a Spanish nobleman rode a rickety elevator to the top of the Eiffel Tower to become its first public visitor.

Since then almost 35 million persons have visited the 984-foot steel skeleton, France's most popular tourist attraction.

The name of the Spanish pioneer is lost to history, but more distinguished guests include Queen Victoria, Presidents Wilson and Eisenhower and Sir Winston Churchill.

An awed Thomas A. Edison wrote in the official guest book: "To Mr. Eiffel, engineer and brave builder of so gigantic and original a specimen of modern engineering."

To handle the huge flow of tourists—as many as 17,000 a summer Sunday—the original elevator was replaced in 1900 by a series of lifts, with two double-deckers serving the lower two of the tower's three observation decks.

A few hardy persons still climb the 1,900 steps to the top. Amateur mountaineers from time to time have tried to make it up the outside, girder by girder. The government banned such stunts after an Austrian tourist who couldn't pay the admission price climbed 700 feet.

Thirty-three persons have died in leaps from the tower. Not all were suicides. An Austrian inventor jumped from the first observation platform wearing a pair of homemade wings. A Frenchman's idea for a new type parachute didn't work.

For some unexplained reason most suicides occur in January. The majority jump from the first and second stages. Six persons—four of them women—leaped from the top of the 984-foot tower.

The tower was built to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the French Revolution of 1789. Its designer was bridge builder Gustave Eiffel.

Construction started in 1887. It took 300 workmen two years and 2½ million rivets to put together the 18,036 iron girders. The tower weighs 7,000 tons and cost 1½ million dollars.

At the time it was erected it was the world's tallest structure. It is the fourth tallest now—topped by the Empire State and Chrysler buildings in New York City and the Tokyo television tower.

Eiffel lived to see his beloved tower become a worldwide symbol of Paris. But for years after its building many Parisians considered it an ugly blot on the skyline.

The builder died in 1923, aged 91.

Tourists still can see on the top stage of the tower the little triangular room he built for his private retreat—the world's first penthouse.

Belief Grows That Lyndon Is Making Himself 'Available'

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The belief is growing among Democrats that Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas is quietly making himself available for the 1960 party presidential nomination.

Party members who have rallied around former President Truman on his current visit to Washington have been talking in terms of four principal candidates—Sens. Johnson, John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), Stuart Symington (D-Mo) and Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the presidential nominee.

Truman, whose influence on the outcome of the nomination scramble may not be great, has kept the situation cloudy so far as he is concerned.

He has suggested that as the likely favorite son of Missouri, Symington will be his initial candidate. But the former President has indicated he would be prepared to ride another horse if he felt he was picking a winner.

Truman's position is not clear to Symington. The Missouri senator has told friends he learned long ago not to try to gauge another man's thinking. For that reason, he is sitting tight, awaiting developments.

By every criterion, Kennedy is running hard. Stevenson apparently is not running at all but remains the sentimental favorite of many Democrats. Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) is interested but seems to be having some difficulty getting under way—at least among the Democratic leaders in Washington.

For a man who says he isn't a candidate, Johnson is making a lot of moves that politicians find familiar. He is looked upon as a middle-of-the-road Democrat who might have an appeal for all party factions—especially if he succeeds in getting the Senate to pass a moderate civil rights bill.

Washington — Insert Democrats Bit TA1 after 7th graf: rights bill.

Both houses of the Texas Legislature Tuesday passed a bill to change that state's primary elections to May and June instead of July and August. If signed by Gov. Price Daniel, it would permit Johnson to seek Senate renomination before the Democratic national convention in July next year.

The Legislature completed action April 28 on a bill which would let Johnson's name appear twice on the state's ballot—for Senate and for president or vice president.

Johnson turned out for a luncheon hor.oring Truman Tuesday and praised the former President warmly.

After a quick check on the Senate to see that everything was in order, Johnson took off for Harrisburg, Pa., to speak at a Democratic victory dinner.

Possibly to offset the contenion that he isn't partisan enough often enough, Johnson aimed some haymakers at the Republicans.

He said the time had come to end divided government, with one party in control of Congress and the other occupying the White House.

Johnson also expounded his favorite theme—that the Democrats must be the party of "responsibility."

He spelled out this middle-of-the-road creed: "Democrats must be candid and courageous. As we must have the courage to be liberal when public well-being requires it, so we must have the candor and integrity to be conservative when responsibility demands it."

Daniel Surprised At Water Suspicions

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel says he is surprised some lawmakers believe his assistant J. T. Ellis Jr. threatened the Rio Grande Valley's interest to obtain a new salt water conversion plant.

"We have not taken sides as between the many Texas cities which have asked for these plants and will not do so either because someone voted with us or against us on one side of our recommendations," Daniel said yesterday.

"These are separate matters and each should stand on its own merits."

New Wrinkle In Sidewalk Supering

NEW YORK (AP) — The Western Electric Co. has put a new wrinkle in sidewalk superintending.

Passersby at the construction site of the company's 31-story building can pick up one of 15 telephones and a tape-recorded voice fills them in on the latest phase of the operation.

Confused Odor Arises Over U.S. Flower

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rose is a rose is a carnation is a corn tassel, or why does this grass smell so sweet, and how did those marigolds get in here?

Something like this aroma of confusion arose from the Senate Office Building today in the wake—and there were enough floral displays for a dozen wakes—of a mock hearing on a question which stirs many a gardener: What should be the U. S. national flower?

Three senators and a House member took part in the debate. You never saw such furious lobbying. Carnations were pinned on you when you entered, whether you liked it or not. Popcorn—a symbol of the corn tassel, see?—flowed like taxpayers' money.

Carnations are the most practical for corsages, contended Rep. William H. Ayres (R-Ohio), and besides the rose is often tied in with trouble. 'Tis frequent in a flower store, he said, that "a man comes in and says 'give me a dozen roses quick. Mama's mad again.'"

Then rose Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill), a diehard supporter of the corn tassel as the American flower.

"Distinctively American in origin," said the senator, senatorially.

As for the marigold, another contender in the floral derby: "It's a good - looking bath sponge," Douglas conceded.

Sen. Thruston Morton (R-Ky), who is committed to just plain grass, preferably Kentucky grass, ploughed under the corn tassel: "a purely male plant. What are we going to do—lose the women's vote?"

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa), who wouldn't hear a word against roses stomped in turn on Morton's reveries of bluegrass.

"I don't think he should be so cud-happy," Scott complained.

And he fired back at corn-pusher Douglas, who showered Capitol Hill with a virtual snowstorm of popcorn all day.

"I suggest that the amount of corn on Capitol Hill is already sufficient," Scott said.

This all came about because a garden club in suburban Falls Church, Va., heard about the national flower debate and got into the act. It borrowed the Senate caucus room and invited the legislators to hold forth on the merits of their choices.

Sometime the Congress will get around to declaring a national flower.

Maybe.

Winnie Visits Old Friends; Ailing Marshall, Sick Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was a visit that tugged at the heartstrings — timeworn Sir Winston Churchill paying a call on two gravely ill old friends.

Accompanied by President Eisenhower, his host, Britain's former prime minister went to Walter Reed Army Hospital Tuesday afternoon to see cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles and Gen. George C. Marshall, who has suffered two strokes.

Marshall, now retired, was U.S. Army chief of staff in World War II and worked closely with Churchill. Dulles, whose illness forced his resignation as secretary of state last month, also had participated in many a conference with the grand old man from England.

Churchill now is 84 and — as Eisenhower put it at his news conference Tuesday—is showing the wear and tear of advancing age. So it was something of a physical effort for him to go to the hospital from the White House.

He and the President first spent about two minutes with Marshall, who recognized them but could say ltitle. Mrs. Marshall told the visitors, however, that her husband was delighted they had come.

Newsmen were not permitted to accompany Churchill and Eisenhower. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty gave reporters an account of the sessions.

It was Hagerty who supplied the picture of deep emotion—a picture of the President escorting one somewhat enfeebled old friend on the visit with two others who are critically sick.

Dulles occupies the suite which Eisenhower himself had when he was ill with ileitis in 1956.

Dulles, wearing a blue and white robe over pajamas, was brought into the room in a wheelchair. It was the first public disclosure that he no longer is doing much walking when out of bed. A State Department spokesman said Dulles still can walk, but finds the wheel chair more convenient.

"It was so good, Sir Winston, of you to come and visit me," Dulles said in shaking hands with Churchill.

"I wouldn't come to Washington without seeing you," Churchill assured him.

The Britisher's eyes lighted up when Eisenhower pointed out above the sitting room fireplace an oil portrait of Churchill done by the President.

Churchill, also an amateur artist of note, examined the painting closely and told Eisenhower: "It's good—very good."

On the way to the hospital Eisenhower took Churchill to see an Agriculture Department display of azaleas in bloom. Churchill raises azaleas at his home in England.

Tuesday night the President was host at a stag dinner honoring his guest. There were 15 others present at the affair in the White House state dining room.

They included Vice President Richard M. Nixon; Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell; Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, the President's brother; the British ambassador, Sir Harold Caccia; and a group of retired U.S. military officers who had prominent World War II roles.

Lyndon Rumor Quickly Denied

BAY CITY (AP)—The Bay City Tribune said yesterday it had been told that Senator Lyndon B. Johnson's name "will be available" for 1959 presidential primaries in West Virginia and California.

It was quickly denied.

Tribune Publisher Glenn Sedam quoted Senator A. Willis Robertson (D-Va) as announcing "that Senator Johnson's name will be available for the presidential preferential primaries in West Virginia and California."

Asked for comment, Johnson replied, "Of course, it is not with my permission—I never heard of it—I know nothing about it."

And Robertson, contacted at his home last night, denied he said Johnson's name will be available for the primaries. He said he told a group of Texans, including Sedam, visiting in Washington:

"We in Virginia are very glad a law has been passed in Texas that would enable the name of Senator Johnson to be on the state ticket as a candidate for the U.S. Senate as well as for the Presidency.

"We can well understand why the people of Texas would want to retain him as their senator if the nation did not select him as its President.

"We from Virginia and other Southern states are pleased that he would be available to us as a candidate for our presidency when we meet in convention next July in California," the Virginia senator said.

CHEVY'S THE HOTTEST ONE AGAIN!

HOTTEST LOOKING, HOTTEST SAVING,

A V8-powered Impala Convertible . . . unmistakably '59!

HOTTEST SELLING OF THE LEADING LOW-PRICED 3

What we mean—this new Chevy's gone and whipped up a one-car heat wave. Its fresh, flashing style (nothing warmed over here!) caught on right away, of course. And on no other American car will you find a V8 that actually puts out better than one horsepower for every cubic inch of displacement.

As for getting the most out of a gallon, a pair of Chevy 6's came in one-two in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run—ahead of every other full-size car. And the winning average over the Los Angeles to Kansas City route was a hot 22.38 m.p.g.

But, impressive as these records are, they can only hint at why Chevrolet's '59's hottest selling car. To really find out, just drop down to your dealer's and drive one.

Green Thumb Gardeners End Year With Program And Salad Luncheon

The club year for the Green Thumb Garden Club was climaxed with a salad luncheon Tuesday in the home of Mrs. James Duncan.

Improvement of gardens was the topic for the program, presented before the luncheon, by two members, Mrs. Ernest Dodson and Mrs. E. B. McCormick.

In a good garden, it's the little touches that count, Mrs. Dodson told the group, and she spoke of landscaping the garden with the exterior of the house in mind; either contrast or blend the colors of the flowers with the house, she remarked, keeping in sight the idea of having blossoms in the house. For that reason, plant the shades that will be harmonious with the interior of your home, also.

Have your plantings express your personal tastes, Mrs. Dodson reminded members, and keep the plants in scale with the house. It's good to include in your plan a vine of some kind, an arrangement for a small pool or fountain and some kind of shade, such as a porch, a trellis or arbor.

Mrs. McCormick made suggestions for individual touches in the garden, with paths of stepping stones; mass plantings which are especially good for a spectacular effect and succulents; statuary, strategically placed, a pool, and an impressive entrance will add to the beauty and pleasure of your garden, she stated.

Lighting effects can add drama at night by the use of indirect lights, candles in hurricane lamps and even a string of sockets using the white and yellow globes.

Mrs. McCormick suggested that in pruning, the extra branches be placed in water and held in an outside planter for a massed grouping.

During a business meeting, the group discussed the danger of certain blind corners in local yards, where the shrubs form a traffic hazard.

Mrs. Ed Swift presented a report on the project of the club.

The incoming president, Mrs. Elmo Wasson, announced the appointment of two committees. They include Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. A. Swartz and Mrs. Hayes Stripling as the program committee; Mrs. Fred Lurting, Mrs. Swift and Mrs. L. W. Harris as the project committee.

Luncheon was served buffet style to 14 members with Mrs. B. L. LeFever as a guest.

Snyder Names New Directors For CRMWD

Three new members of the Colorado River Municipal Water District have been named by the Snyder City Commission, completing the round of appointments from member cities this year.

W. A. McGlaun was appointed to fill the one-year unexpired term of Malven K. Stevenson, who resigned after election to the Snyder school board.

Replacing W. J. Ely and Lyle Deffebach, who have been on the board since 1951, will be Bill Wilson and Gene Dulaney. Dr. John Blum is the hold-over member from Snyder.

Previously the Big Spring council had re-appointed its two members whose terms expire, H. W. Wright and Curtis Driver. The hold-overs from Big Spring are R. L. Cook and R. W. Currie.

Odessa's city commission also had re-appointed its two members whose terms expired, J. L. Rhoades and P. C. Harbour. The hold-over members are Charles Perry, who is the CRMWD president, and W. E. Bruce. The four Odessa members and Cook are the remaining original members of the CRMWD board which was organized first in the autumn of 1949.

DEAR ABBY

ALL BURNED UP

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My wife has a disease. Telephonitis. She can talk on the phone for two and three hours at a time. She puts things on the stove to cook and then gets on the phone. The food and the pot get burned up and she throws out the food together with the pot. She has already thrown out $35.00 worth of pots and pans that were guaranteed by the manufacturer to last a lifetime. She keeps buying new ones. What do you do with a wife like that?

FED UP

DEAR FED: If your wife is cooking on all her burners, she should be punished and disciplined like a child. She needs a stopwatch and a timekeeper . . . or just a plain keeper. There is no excuse for such behavior if a doctor says she is competent to be alone in the house.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 and have never been allowed to go on a date with a boy. My mother says, "Parties with boys are all right at somebody's house if both parents are home" (and she drives me there and picks me up) but that is all! She is trying to make me an old maid and she's got a good start. That isn't all, Abby, she is trying to make me fat so no boys will look at me. I'm the only child and she bakes a chocolate cake, pecan rolls and strudle every week and tells me to eat it or she'll have to throw it out. Please help me, Abby, before I do something desperate

OLD MAID

DEAR OLD (?) MAID: Invite the boy to your home and let your mother see him. If he's "nice" (and he probably is) she'll be more apt to let you go out with him. As for "making" you eat all those fattening things . . . use your noddle and pass up the strudle.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My problem is that everyone tells me I am a fool for being so plain when I could be (excuse me, Abby) "sexy." I don't like tight clothes, so I wear full skirts and my sweaters are two sizes bigger than the salesgirl says is my correct size. I am 22 and have a good job and go out on dates now and then, but the men don't exactly fall over themselves to date me. Do you think I should take a few tucks in my clothes? Not enough to cheapen me but enough to show that I have plenty of everything and where it is located? PLAIN JANE

DEAR JANE: Compromise. A little tuck can change your luck.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are thinking of buying, a GYM set for our children. My question is this: If I ask the mothers of the other children who will be using our swings to sign a paper releasing us from any liability should their child get hurt on our property, would it be legal? Our yard is not fenced in and it would be difficult to keep the other children out or to watch them constantly. MRS. B.

DEAR MRS. B.: I have an agreement with the State Bar Association. They agreed not to write an advice column and I agreed not to practice Law. Your question is a very intelligent one. Ask a lawyer.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO L. L.: I agree. Let a sleeping dog lie. . . but wake up your husband and ask him to tell you the truth.

* * *

"How can I get him to notice me?" Get ABBY'S booklet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants to Know." Send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY in care of the Big Spring Herald.

* * *

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Milwaukee's 2-Edged Sword Is Paying Off In National

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee's two-edged sword—a pitching staff of quality and and quantity — has pushed the Braves into first place once more in their revolving-door battle with the San Francisco Giants for the National League lead.

Carl Willey, one of the Braves' big five with Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette, Bob Rush and Joey Jay, was locked in a 2-2 tie after eight innings of dueling Tuesday night with Don Drysdale of Los Angeles. Then Manager Fred Haney went to the bullpen and pulled out Don McMahon and Rush, who gave up just one hit between them in eight innings until Henry Aaron doubled home the winning run for a 3-2, 16-inning decision over the Dodgers.

This produced the fourth switch in four days atop the standings between the Braves and Giants. San Francisco was dealt a 5-2 defeat at Cincinnati by Don Newcombe, whose first victory sliped the Giants into a second place snarl with the Reds and Dodgers. All three are a half-game behind Milwaukee.

Chicago's Cubs reclaimed fifth, beating Pittsburgh 6-3. Philadelphia tied the Pirates for sixth, just 2½ games shy of first, with a five-run ninth inning that beat St. Louis 8-7.

The Dodgers were shut out over the last 11 innings at Milwaukee. McMahon didn't allow a hit or a walk while striking out five in his five frames. Rush, gaining his first decision, gave up but one hit, didn't walk a man and struck out four in his three innings.

Aaron, who had two of the Braves' 15 hits, rapped his break-up double with two out in the 16th off loser Clem Labine (0-3), third Dodger pitcher. Aaron had singled home the tying run in the seventh off Drysdale, who gave 10 hits in his 11 frames, striking out nine.

Newcombe (1-3) gave up five hits and rode in on Frank Robinson's three-run homer in the fifth off Sam Jones (2-4).

The Cubs shelled winless Bob Friend for his fifth defeat at Pittsburgh while Glen Hobbie (3-2) fanned seven and held the Bucs to six hits. Rookie George Altman's third homer, a solo shot in the sixth, was the clincher.

The Phillies collected half of their dozen hits in the big ninth, they scored the tying run against losing reliever Larry Jackson (0-4) on a bases-loaded walk, then put it away on Ed Bouchee's single. It was the eighth one-run defeat for the last place Cards, who have lost six games in the final inning.

JIMMY DYKES HAS HIS TIGERS ON REBOUND

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is it Jimmy Dykes' hot-hand that has Detroit on the rebound in the American League, or is this just another of the Tigers' turnabouts for a new manager?

The rotund, cigar - smoking Dykes was plucked off the Pittsburgh coaching staff in the National League by Detroit and replaced Bill Norman as manager Sunday. The last place Tigers had won but two of 17 games and were 10½ games away from first.

Dykes moved fast. He pulled Charlie Maxwell off the bench and put him into the outfield. He made a starting pitcher of Don Mossi. Result: The Tigers won as many in one day under Dykes as they had in almost a month under Norman, sweeping a doubleheader from New York.

Dykes' next move was to bench third baseman Eddie Yost in favor of Ted Lepcio, acquired just last Saturday from Boston. Result: Lepcio hit his first home run of the year, a grand-slam against his late mates that hoisted the Tigers to their third straight success under Dykes with an 8-3 victory over the Red Sox Tuesday night.

Despite the victory, the Tigers are last, still 9½ games behind first place Cleveland. The Indians kept rolling with a 9-1 breeze over Baltimore. Washington gained a virtual tie for second with Baltimore and Chicago by beating the White Sox 8-3. Kansas City slipped to fifth as the seventh-place Yankees ended their losing string at five with a 3-2, 10-inning victory over the Athletics.

Big Spring Hardware's Broncs bested Eagle Transport, 18-14, in an American Minor Little League game played here Tuesday evening.

Mike Shaffer pitched the win, although he was tagged for 14 hits.

Four pitchers saw action for the Eagles. The loss was hung on Dennis Loving.

George Williams of the Broncs collected four hits and had a sacrifice.

Don Newcombe Runs Well Ahead Of 1958 Timetable

CINCINNATI (AP) — Big Don Newcombe of the Cincinnati Reds is running 44 days ahead of his 1958 schedule with victory No. 1 safely tucked away in the record books. Last year he didn't break into the win column until June 18.

The former Dodger pitcher mastered San Francisco Tuesday night, 5-2, with a five-hitter. He remained fast all the way and showed superb control of his curve ball and change up. He walked only one and hit one batter, trying to keep the ball inside to Orlando Cepeda.

"This was a big game for us," said Manager Mayo Smith. "The guy had pretty good stuff all the way. This means so much to us because everybody knows we have been hurting for pitching."

Clyde King, the Reds' pitching coach, was generous with praise for the jumbo sized right-hander. "Maybe he isn't as fast as he used to be with the Dodgers," said King. "But he still has a blazer.

Newk melted from 241 to 232 pounds in the 90-degree weather. He had nothing but nice things to say about Wayne Anderson, the club's trainer.

"Doc found the spot in my shoulder that used to tighten up," he said. "He worked on it all last year after I came over here in June."

Before the game, the trainer applied "hot stuff" to the arm. He repeated the application in the dugout every three innings. Newk just kept firing away. A double play pulled him out of a spot in the fifth and he fanned Felipe Alou with one run in and a man on second in the sixth.

Johnny Powers raced along the top of the terrace in right to catch Willie Mays' long drive for the final out in the eighth. After Cepeda opened the ninth with a single, Newk finished with a flourish, striking out Andre Rodgers for the game-ending out.

Newk said manager Smith told him he hadn't pitched him for 10 days "because I want to look at the kids.

"The big fellow had been knocked out by Milwaukee in his last start. He lost a 2-1 toughie to Robin Roberts in his first game.

Painters Slam WAFB Brigade

Nabor's Paint Store collected an 11-5 independent softball win last night at City Park over Field Maintenance, Webb AFB.

Cotton Mize allowed no hit, no man on until the sixth when he struck a batsman. Billy Bluhm came in for the seventh and gave up five walks and three singles.

Webb scored all five in the seventh.

Tito Arencibia had the only extra-base hit of the night off Floyd Davenport, Webb pitcher, a double in the fifth.

It was Nabor's first game of the softball season. The team plays again Friday in doubleheader with Cosden. Game time is 7:30 p.m. and will be at the City Park.

Nabor's is seeking games with any local or out-of-town teams soon. Information can be received from Cotton Mize, AM 4-2236 or D. A. Miller, AM 4-4590.

Odessa Bronchos Clinch Pennant

ODESSA (SC) — Odessa's Bronchos clinched first place in District 2-AAAA baseball standings by downing the San Angelo Bobcats, 8-4, here Tuesday afternoon.

It was the first time since 1954 the Red Hosses have earned a district baseball title.

James Ingram, junior righthander, pitched the win. He struck out 12 and yielded only nine hits.

The Bronchos were held scoreless in the first inning but broke loose with a seven run outburst in the second.

Snyder Is Upset

LAMESA (SC) — Lamesa upset the Snyder Tigers, 5-3, in a District 3-AAA baseball game here Tuesday afternoon. Kenneth Barr was the winning hurler. Six errors contributed to the Tiger defeat.

Deason Hurls Sabres To Win

Jay Deason pitched a one-hitter here last night as the Sabres blasted the Rockets, 11-5, in the second game of the International Little League circuit.

A large-numbered, if chilled, crowd watched the game. The Comets had beaten the T-Birds in Saturday night's opener. Thursday the Comets take on the Sabres, and Friday the Rockets tangle with the T-Birds.

Deason struck out 12 for the Sabres while David Martino fanned five and Dub McMeans three for the losers.

Charles Turner managed the Rockets' only hit. Charles Richardson and Nick Ordon each had two blows for the winners while Deason and Donnie Wiggins each collected one.

Cards Batter Dodger Nine

The Cardinals erupted for seven runs in the seventh inning here last night to run off with a 13-11 baseball win over the Dodgers in the National League.

Winning pitcher Jimmy Winn was tagged for 10 hits and loser Tommy Whatley gave up 11.

The Dodgers jumped into a 4-0 lead before the Cardinals scored on an error in the second. With Whatley and Gary Anderson rapping doubles in the fourth, the Dodgers had a 6-3 margin. Five hits and an error had given the Cards two runs in that frame.

Four consecutive errors yielded four runs for the Cards to start the wild sixth, and Ricky Earle, Jerome Stafford, Phillip Parks, and Rockey Hestes each singled and scored. It was the winners first lead of the game.

Larry Alexander hit a home run and scored Allen Clanton in the fifth for the Dodgers.

The Hawks defeated the Red Sox, 6-4, in a minor league game. Baird hit a home run for the Hawks and Don Crockett got a safety for the Sox.

Bud Turman Wins In 10th Round KO

TYLER (AP)—Buddy Turman of Tyler gained revenge over Bob Albright of Los Angeles last night. Turman, 186, knocked out Albright in 2:40 of the 10th round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

Albright, 216, kayoed Turman in Los Angeles March 21.

Turman was down in the seventh round for no 'count, but cut Albright's face and was leading on points when he finished him with a right hand to the head.

Victor Reid Hurls Stars Past Cub Troupe, 7-3

The Stars used a three-hit performance by pitcher Victor Reid to spill the Cubs, 7-3, last night in the American Little League baseball play.

Reid fanned 10 men. Loser was Frank Sabbato who struck out eight on duty.

The Cubs only scoring punch was spectacular. Tommy McCann tripled in the second with the Stars leading, 2-0. Dennis Collins walked and Bruce Bellamy cleared the bases with a homer, first of the season in the American league.

But the Stars promptly took the lead back with two runs in the third, holding the Cubs scoreless thereafter and adding three counts in the fifth.

The Colts and Jets get together tonight.

Midland Triumphant Over Big Springers

MIDLAND (SC)—The Big Spring Steers arrived too late with too little and dropped a 10-8 District 2-AAAA baseball decision to the Midland Bulldogs here Tuesday afternoon.

The Longhorns were down, 10-1, when they started a seventh inning surge that drove starter Joe Hembree from the hill and netted seven runs.

Bill Easterwood, ace of the Midland staff, came in to put out the fire and save the win for Hembree.

Two home runs by Bill Brown, accounting for five of the home club's tallies, provided the difference between the two clubs. Brown, huge first sacker of the Indians, hit his first four-master in the opening inning off Kenny Johnson with Roy Blair and Lawrence Stanley on base and his second in the fourth off Jay LeFevre with Stanley again on board.

The Indians crowded eight of their runs across the plate in the initial inning.

Johnson started on the mound for Big Spring but lasted less than two innings. Jay LeFevre finished up and did creditable work. He fanned the first five batters to face him.

Big Spring's ten-hit offense was led by Bob Andrews and Zay LeFevre, each of whom had two safeties. Pinch hitter Jerry Phillips drove in two tallies for Big Spring in the big seventh.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Lack of patronage at games in San Angelo and Plainview is causing some concern in the Sophomore baseball league, although it is still too early for genuine worry.

Bill Collyns, editor of the Midland Reporter-Telegram—here for a press meeting last weekend—says the Soph circuit would be a better organization if Big Spring were in it.

The rivalry between Big Spring, Midland and Odessa did much to help make the old Longhorn league the fine circuit it was, according to Collyns.

If the Border Conference votes to admit ACC, along with Trinity, into its membership, as it is apt to do, it will probably be because of the Wildcats' strong track program.

However, ACC may decline the invitation for the same reason. Oliver Jackson, the ACC track mentor, may want to keep his Wildcats free of any conference affiliation and Oliver swings a lot of weight in the Abilene school.

The Border Conference needs new blood, if it is to survive. One of its strongest members, Arizona Tempe, would bolt the circuit at the first opportunity, if given a chance to join the newly organized conference on the coast which has California, USC, UCLA, and Washington as other members.

* * * *

When the baseball teams of Big Spring High School and Lubbock Monterey met early in the season, they were being touted as pennant contenders in their respective conferences.

Neither club lived up to expectations, however. The Steers failed to win any of their first four district starts and Monterey lost seven of its first 12 conference assignments and was lodged deep in the second division of District 3-AAA at this writing.

I think it would make for a stronger district and better baseball if all 2-AAAA teams were required to play other members four times rather than twice during the campaign.

Coach Roy Baird of Big Spring, convinced now that he kept the Steers on too weak a diet on non-conference foes, will probably seek to book a much stronger exhibition slate next year.

McNulty stepped in with a "save" when George May dropped his World Championship meet after a tiff with the PGA.

McNulty has a contract to stage a similar meet this year and says he expects to take another financial bath.

"If I lose $25,000 or less this time," he says, "I will want to keep the tournament. It's worth that, in publicity."

Joey Giardello To Clash With Holly Mims In Ten

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Title hopes of Holly Mims and Joey Giardello clash tonight in a 10-round middleweight mixture at Capitol Arena.

The even-money match of opposite styles—Mims the change of pace boxer and Giardello the socker—will be on view on the regular Wednesday night TV fight channel—ABC, 9 p.m. EST.

With Sugar Ray Robinson partly dethroned and middleweight opportunities expanding, none could be more concerned over the outcome than Mims and Giardello.

The National Boxing Assn. has ruled Robinson undeserving of its version of the title for failing to defend in more than a year. Two ex-champs, Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer, will meet for the NBA crown this summer.

Robinson is still recognized, but coldly, by the New York State Athletic Commission. That group has ordered Sugar Ray to sign for a defense by May 15.

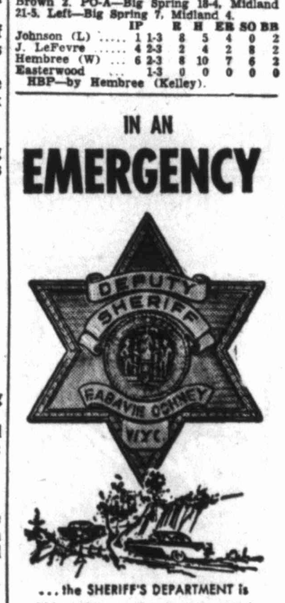

Under the NBA program, the Basilio-Fullmer victor must promptly risk his title against a recognized challenger. Spider Webb of Chicago would appear to have the edge, but Giardello contends a triumph over Mims will get him a match with Basilio here this summer—provided Carmen beats Fullmer.

Mims, a 30-year old Washington veteran, has won 45 of his 68 fights, including a decision last year over Webb. He has kayoed 11, never been kayoed himself but lost 17 decisions. He also has six draws.

Texans Await Word On Water

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texans who sought federal funds for waterway projects were en route home today to await the results of two days of testimony before congressional committees.

More than 100 civic and business leaders, from the Rio Grande to the Red River, wound up their mission yesterday with an appearance before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

Several members of Congress from Texas attempted to aid the Texans in their efforts.

They repeated pleas yesterday previously made to a House Appropriations subcommittee. They urged that Budget Bureau recommendations for water projects in Texas be approved as submitted or increased.

They also asked for money for some projects that were not included in the national budget.

Chairman Allen Ellender (D-La) told the Texans that while the Senate was inclined to be liberal, they faced an uphill fight in getting the House Appropriations Committee to provide funds in excess of Budget Bureau recommendations.

CRITIQUE

Of The Local Entertainment Scene

By Bob Smith

Some time ago, this column described the organization of a "Lousy Listeners" club.

Members sit around the hostess' record player, going through some of the old classics (Dorsey, Goodman, et al) from the Thirties, and carefully chosen selections (e.g. Polly Bergen) from present pops.

Members may also bring their own records. If they wish, they may bring selected readings of literature or poetry, either modern or classical. They sometimes make their readings with musical backgrounds.

Refreshments consist of light wines, coffee, tea—or ice water, if one prefers. No hard liquor or hard drinking.

Everything is quiet and sociable and rather refined.

And in spite of this poetry-with-music bit, no beatniks are allowed.

In fact, the spreading movement has become a reaction against the beat way of life. And the movement is spreading—at last count, some half-dozen small, intimate groups scattered over town similar to the Lousy Listeners. The movement has taken the name of Upbeat—both an anti-beat name and a pun on the nature of the popular music of the Thirties and Forties.

The Upbeats take a view of life opposite that of the beatniks. They believe that life is to be enjoyed, whereas the beatniks have given up life, love and the pursuit of happiness. It is no accident that the most popular poetry among the Upbeats is The Rubaiyat.

* * *

Generally, Upbeat groups make their own rules. But here is a composite:

1. No formal organization involving election of officers, payment of dues, etc.

2. All organizational matters, such as they are, to be taken care of by host or hostess.

3. No specific meeting dates or rotating hosting schedules; members volunteer a den or living room at any mutually convenient time.

4. No rules of behavior except those dictated by common decency; this rules out loud, boisterous party-making and heavy drinking.

5. Host provides record player and most of the music but guests must bring own records and literature.

6. No set rule on number of members of each group or the types of character considered acceptable, but the general idea is for small, intimate groups made up of people who think for themselves.

7. Above all, no beatniks.

Dewey Magee has replaced Athol Atkins in the lead role of "The Seven-Year Itch."

The play is the first of three to be staged during the summer season by the Civic Theatre. Dates are June 4, 5 and 6 at HCJC Auditorium.

John Austin, director, cited the demanding nature of the role, and the fact of Atkins' lack of experience in theatre work, as against Magee's long tenure in theatre.

Atkins, upon stepping out of the role, expressed his best wishes to Magee and volunteered for a place on the production staff.

Rehearsals are continuing at the Prairie Playhouse.

Big Spring is losing one of its better painters.

Sgt. John Brittenham is being transferred. While here, he copped the major prizes in several art shows, and was a major factor in helping to spread a bit of culture locally.

Brittenham's knowledge of art is expert and wide-ranging. His effect on fellow artists here, as well as upon many laymen, has been as beneficial in many ways as the presence of a leading teacher in the field.

We hate to see him leave, but when Uncle beckons there's not much to be done about it, so—well, bye now.

Another event of interest in Big Spring's celebration of National Music Week will be a concert by the choir of Runnels Junior High. The program will be at 8 p.m. at the school.

Mrs. Forrest Gambill, director, has done wonders with her children, as is already well known. How she has fared with this year's crop will be known by Friday evening, and if she lives up to our expectations, the concert will be well worth attending.

2 Women Die Of Rifle Fire In Beaumont

BEAUMONT (AP)—Two women were killed by rifle fire at an apartment house here yesterday and police quickly arrested the man who says he fired the fatal shots.

The man, father of a local policeman, was quoted by police as saying he killed the two women because one had him arrested and both laughed at him when he was jailed.

Killed were Mrs. Alpha Bell Hill, 49, a nurse's aide here, and Mrs. Elsie Hufstutler, 48, of Vidor, a Beaumont suburb.

Thomas Jefferson Jones, 57, was ordered held without bond on murder charges after a daughter called police and told them "Daddy . . . says he has killed two women."

Jones was arrested at the home of the daughter, Mrs. J. O. Rexses, about an hour after the shooting in an apartment house here where Mrs. Hill lived.

Two city detectives who arrested Jones said he was sitting in his daughter's kitchen and offered no resistance when they arrived.

"Are they dead?" he asked Detective Max Kadish. When Kadish answered affirmatively, he quoted Jones as saying, "Well, I'm glad I killed the two s-o-b's...I intended to."

Police said Mrs. Hill was shot three times and Mrs. Hufstutler twice with a .22 caliber rifle.

City detective George Cole later quoted Jones as saying, "I shot the two women because Billy (apparently referring to Mrs. Hill) had called and got me put in jail in Jasper . . . And they had both laughed at me about it."

Jasper is about 90 miles north of here. Jones and the two women visited there over the weekend, police said.

Judge Approves Actress' Contract

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Are you satisfied with this salary?" the judge asked.

"Well, I think it's pretty good," replied actress-singer Connie Stevens. "I'm only 20."

The judge then approved a seven-year Warner Bros. contract which starts the pretty blonde at $300 a week and will pay her $1,250 weekly in seven years if all options are exercised.

Emmy Has Become Controversy Center

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—This is Emmy night, when a lot of TV stars will appear briefly before the cameras to present or receive the golden statues which indicate that he or she or this show was the best of its kind during the year.

For 90 minutes — 10-11:30 p.m. EST—millions of people will be mildly or violently interested in who gets what, how Bob Hope looks, what Dinah Shore and the other women are wearing. The professional critics will review the proceedings as earnestly as if it were a Playhouse 90, and there will undoubtedly be some carping in print. Emmy has become a controversial piece of metal.

The awards are given to those elected as best of category by the 4,000 members of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. There are 42 categories now — none at all for daytime TV or sports—and there were some 200 nominations.

That the much criticized Academy can winnow nominations down to 200 is an achievement; network television alone has an annual volume to fill 10,000 hours, and more than 19,000 programs were eligible for nomination. Hollywood has an output of some 200 major films a year and 28 Oscars.

Nominations are made by producers of TV shows — including their own. "The theory is that producers are in the best position to know the best shows when they see them," said Robert Lewine, president of the Academy's New York chapter.

Inevitably there have been some goofs. For instance, no one nominated Ed Sullivan's Moiseyev dancers program, and Sullivan considers this unfortunate. Several such oversights — some of them presumably by producers who neglected to fill out the nominating cards—have led critics to say that the awards are not as meaningful as they should be.

The awards show also has been criticized for having commercial sponsorship. This year it is a watch company and a soap company.

"It's a popular show," said one NBC executive. "It's a very salable commodity."

Only Patchy Fog Mars Sky

By The Associated Press

Only patchy fog in Central Texas and partly cloudy skies over South Texas marred Texas skies Wednesday after days of rain, wind and turbulent weather.

Forecasts, however, called for scattered showers and a few thunderstorms in East Texas and widely scattered thundershowers near the coast in South Central Texas.

Otherwise, for Wednesday, partly cloudy skies were expected.

An extended five-day forecast, issued Wednesday morning, called for locally heavy precipitation in scattered thundershowers near the end of the week.

Temperatures slightly below normal in East and Central Texas and 2 to 5 degrees below normal for West Texas were expected during the five days through May 11.

A tornado funnel spun harmlessly across part of the Texas Panhandle Tuesday and thunderstorm threats in North Central Texas eased Tuesday night. An alert against wind and hail expired without reported damage.

Heavy rain was blamed for a collision that killed Jimmy Dunn of Waco and injured four other persons. The accident occurred 6 miles north of Whitesboro during a rainstorm.

Rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Tuesday included: Big Spring 1.00, Midland .96, Childress .89, San Angelo .76, Abilene .44, Wichita Falls .42, Sherman .20, Mineral Wells .13, San Antonio .08, Lubbock .08, Dallas and Waco .06, and Austin .02.

TFA Paintings On Display At Junior College

Twenty paintings from the Texas Fine Arts Assn. touring exhibit are now on display at Howard County Junior College.

Included in the group is one by Mrs. Martha (Dalmar) Conway, Big Spring. Her regional winner, "Troubled Waters," was selected for inclusion in the tour.

William Lester, member of the University of Texas art faculty, and Cecil Casebier, San Antonio, comprised the jury for the touring exhibit.

Oils and water colors dominate the collection, but there are examples of casein and mixed media.

Among other West Texans with paintings in the collection are Leo Bernice Fix, Lubbock, Dorothy Hay, El Paso, Lois H. Shaw, Sweetwater, and David Brownlow, Fort Worth.

The exhibit will be at HCJC for the next two or three weeks.

Red China Asserts Tibet Sovereignty

TOKYO (AP)—Red China served notice today she holds full sovereignty over Tibet and will tolerate no interference by "any foreign country or by the United Nations."

Peiping radio accused India of trying to prevent China from exercising full sovereignty in the revolt-torn religious state.

Although not abusive in tone, it was a firm reply to Indian Prime Minister Nehru's recent statement in Parliament that he thinks the Tibetan revolt can only be settled by giving the area autonomy.

BAPTIST HONOR

Munday Woman Is 'Mother Of Year'

DALLAS — Mrs. Blanche Tompkins Nelson, a 59-year-old Munday housewife who has reared five children and sent them all to college, has been named 1959 Texas Baptist Mother of the Year.

One of her sons is a Baptist minister and the other is a physician. Her three daughters were school teachers before they married.

Mrs. Nelson was chosen because of her influence on her own children and other youngsters she taught in school, Baptist leaders said in Dallas.

Her father died when she was a senior in college, so she started teaching school when she was 17 years old to help support six brothers and sisters.

She graduated from Munday High School and studied at Southwest Texas State Teachers College, San Marcos; Hardin - Simmons University (then Simmons College); and the College of Industrial Arts, Denton.

She was married in 1923 and after living in Jayton and Wichita Falls the family moved to a farm at Munday in 1931.

"We had 12 cows and had to get them milked, the cream separated and the kids off to school by 7:30 each morning, she said. "All our children helped, and they helped work their way through college."

After her husband suffered a crippling attack of arthritis 12 years ago, Mrs. Nelson took on the farming chores. She has taught a Sunday school class for more than 30 years and has been active in the WMU of her church. Some of those in her adult Sunday school class were in her first public school classes 30 years ago. Mrs. Nelson is recipient of the award posted by the Baptist Standard, the denomination's publication in Texas. Last year's winner was Mrs. J. B. Henley, Lamesa.

Foreign Aid Called 'Biggest Racket'

HOUSTON (AP) — Eugene W. Castle, New York industrialist and author, said here last night that foreign aid "has become the greatest political racket since prohibition."

Castle, who spoke before the Minute Women of the U.S.A., Inc., said President Eisenhower, instead of warning the National Assn. of Manufacturers against inflation, should instruct three national legislators to cut his unbalanced 1960 budget by at least 12 billion dollars.

Castle said two of the three legislators he meant are Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson.

SFWC Honors Presidio Mother Of Eight Children

LUBBOCK (AP) — Mrs. Manuel Franco of Presidio, who educated her children and then allowed them to educate her was named today as Mother of the Year by the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

The selection was announced at the annual convention as a highlight of the morning sessions, otherwise devoted to work classes.

Mrs. Franco is the mother of eight. Five have college degrees and the other three expect to receive them.

She quit school in the seventh grade and later married. Then, with intensified courses, she obtained a teachers certificate and used money from her teaching job to educate her children.

Then the children, out of school and with jobs, helped their mother finish her education. She graduated from Sul Ross College in 1955.

C-City Men Form Agency To Preserve Frontier Lore

COLORADO CITY—A group of Colorado Citians has organized the Colorado City Museum Assn. R. H. Ratliff, local attorney, is chairman.

The object of the association, according to Ratliff, will be to preserve objects and information relating to Mitchell County's rich frontier history.

"Our first project," said Ratliff, "will be an attempt to quarry some of the blocks of stone containing buffalo tracks at Seven Wells."

Mitchell County's Seven Wells, seven miles southeast of Colorado City, will soon be covered by the waters of Lake Champion.

The "buffalo tracks" are imprints in the sandstone, thought to be the hoofprints of bison going to water when the sandstone was soft mud or sand along the shore of some inland lake or stream. The spot was one of those honored with a marble marker during the Texas Centennial. The monument has been moved several hundred yards from its original site and now sits among the ruins of an old corral.

Vice chairmen of the committee include Will Berry, Charley Thompson, Clarence Grable, Porter Richardson, Ernie Larmer, Sam Majors Jr., Garlan Green, and Lewis Williams.

Jaycees Plan Beauty Pageant

Jaycees will sponsor the beauty pageant here this summer.

Heretofore, the Business and Professional Women's Club has been the sponsoring agency, but this year the project has been turned to the Jaycees to permit competition of the local winner in the state pageant. Rules of the Miss Texas contest require entrants to have been winners of locally sponsored Jaycee pageants.

The date — July 4 — will remain the same, but format and other details are being changed.

Production of background scenery for use in the beauty show is to begin soon. The site will be in the Municipal Auditorium.

Two divisions will be held, the junior carrying an honorary title. The winner in the senior division, restricted to those 18 years and older, will have her expenses paid to the state pageant and there compete for the Miss Texas Honor.

Committee chairmen named for the project include Daryle Hoehertz, general chairman; Wayne Basden, entries; Jack Turner, tickets; George Creagh, awards; Bill Gray, publicity; John Taylor, parade; John Jones, budget. The Jaycettes will serve as hostesses for the affair.

W. Reich Ranger Troops Eat Crow

SCHONGAU, Germany (AP) — Ranger troops of West Germany's new army are eating crow — as a matter of diet.

It's part of a toughening process in training for survival, given in "courses for airborne individual fighters" in this Bavarian alpine region.

A reporter for a Munich newspaper, Ernst Baeumler, visited the training camp in a forest near the Lech River. He reported the rangers live in tents made from parachutes. They are rigidly trained in noiseless commando techniques.

Cigarettes and alcohol are rationed for all trainees. The menu is chiefly crows, game and fish.

A Devotional For Today

Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things. (Philippians 4:8.)

PRAYER: O Lord, forgive us our trespasses and sins. Help us to see the good qualities in our fellow men. Help us this day to show forth Thy love to others and leave the judging in Thy hands. In Jesus' name. Amen.

That Wonderful, Timely Rain

Tuesday night's showers have considerably brightened the outlook for agriculture in this vicinity.

To be sure, a single shower—even one of greater volume and intensity than the unexpected thundershower we received—can neither revolutionize prospects nor assure production. But one of more than an inch falling just at the right time can furnish planting moisture and give farmers a fighting chance.

Thus, within the next week you'll hear a lot of tractors roaring across the fields, hurrying to get seed in the ground while there is enough season to sprout them. And even if they do break through in uniformity and vigor to what we call a "good stand," there is no assurance that a belated windstorm won't sandblast them to the ground or that another capricious thunderstorm won't wash them over with soil.

These are simply part of the hazards of farming in this country. If the planting sticks, the producers will be way ahead. If wind or rain come in great strength, well, you can plant again and only be out gasoline and seed.

There is no easy part of making a crop, but perhaps the most difficult step of all is that first step—getting the crop up and going. This is the beginning of hope.

And speaking of brighter hopes, you can add the ranges to the list, for pastures picked up enough moisture to hold weeds on a bit longer and to freshen the young grass. Moreover, most areas received enough to put out some stock water.

It would be difficult to estimate the value of the rain in dollars, not to mention the boost in our morale.

Well, How About Ours?

The matter of selecting a national flower was scheduled for another round of debate in the Senate Caucus Room starting Tuesday, with four U. S. senators and a horticulturist carrying the oratorical burden.

Suggestions have been almost as numerous as the flowers themselves. Sen. Allot of Colorado scored a round last February when he brought forth a resolution "in the spirit of Webster, Clay and Calhoun, the spirit of amicable compromise." His nominee: The carnation.

This stung Sen. Keating of New York to the quick. He came out for the rose—"the proudest, oldest and loveliest flower"—which by the oddest of coincidences, happens to be the state flower of New York, as well as Georgia and North Dakota.

Sen. Douglas of Illinois proposed the corntassel—specifically, the golden variety. (Other unfeeling partisans declared the corntassel wasn't even a flower.)

Most outstanding of the flower lobbyists are the champions of the marigold. These people point out that the rose is already the official flower of five other nations, including Great Britain.

It seems to us there is a better argument against the rose even than that: What rose? There are hundreds of varieties.

The national flower should be a native of this country, of course. We suggest the Texas delegation in Congress, in full strength, put forward a modest claim in behalf of the bluebonnet, which has been around a long time, and just happens to be the official flower of the Lone Star State.

The national flower should not only be a native, but a natural flower, not the product of cross-breeding or selective evolution. A true wildflower, if you please, not a commercial product. Find the wildflower with the widest geographical and climatic distribution, and there you are.

The Gallup Poll

Regular Summit Meetings Get Support

PRINCETON—Not only is the American public sold on the idea of having top-level talks, but their faith in such meetings is so great that they strongly favor having meetings between the leaders of the East and West on a regular basis each year.

A Gallup Poll survey of a carefully selected cross-section of people across the United States reveals that, in favoring such a proposal, Americans are consistent in their view reported on earlier occasions, that "it is a good idea to talk things over."

The question asked in this survey:

"It has been suggested that the leaders of the U. S., Great Britain and France ought to meet with the Russian leaders on a regular basis each year to discuss problems. Do you think this would be a good idea or a poor idea?"

LEADERS MEET ON REGULAR BASIS?

	Percent
Good idea	71
Poor idea	18
No opinion	11

Those who expressed an opinion were asked why they felt the way the did:

The largest group favoring regular meetings see them as a way to work out the differences between the West and the East, and to know at first hand just what the Russian point of view is.

Another reason often given was that: "Talking is better than shooting."

A significant number of responses illustrate the value people in this country attach to personal contact per se—just to meet "face-to-face" is to make some headway, they feel.

A common theme underlying many of the reasons is the negative approach: "Why not have regular meetings—what is there to lose?"

Those who think that regular meetings between the leaders of the West and Russia would be a bad idea give these reasons? that Russia can't be trusted, that they have a poor record for keeping promises, that their conference dealings would be high-handed and propaganda-oriented—that, in fact, having meetings with the Russian leaders would be a "waste of time."

The American public has consistently approved of the conference table as a means of settling differences. Even the disillusionment on the part of the West following the Geneva summit conference in 1955 has not great diminished the public's support of high-level talks.

This support of the value of meetings between the East and the West is not limited to the United States:

In 1958—a year in which talk about a meeting at the summit was constantly in the air—two measurements of international feeling (in January and May, 1958)—in key cities around the globe found the consensus of world opinion favored a summit meeting.

In January, 1958, 62 per cent favored a summit meeting, and at mid-year, this figure had jumped to 70 per cent in favor.

A recent survey conducted by the British Gallup Poll showed 71 per cent of the British public favored top-level talks between the West and Russia, while 7 per cent were opposed and 22 per cent expressed no opinion.

Prime Minister Macmillan of Great Britain has proposed that, since, as he sees it, the prospect of a united Germany in order to get concessions from Russia toward opening up relations and easing tension.

Macmillan's stand has not proved popular with the governments of her allies who feel that the British position is "too soft" with the Russians. The British view is that their allies, in refusing to agree to recognition of East Germany, are taking a stand so tough that it will be difficult to make any headway at the conference table.

Against this background of diplomatic debate, what do the people themselves in the countries of Britain and West Germany feel about recognizing and dealing with East Germany?

Gallup organizations in these two countries asked a scientific cross-section the following question:

"If the Russians hand over their sector of Berlin to the East Germans, should the West agree to recognize and deal with the East German Government or refuse to recognize them?"

As the following results show, there is a wide divergence of opinion between the British and the West German publics:

RECOGNIZE EAST GERMANY?

	Bri-tain	W. Ger.
Recognize East Germany	49	32
Refuse to recognize	13	46
Don't know	38	22

Result Of The Talks Is Zero

WASHINGTON (AP) — You're a rare one if you are not befogged and befuddled by all the American and Soviet talk—going on for years— about disarmament, suspending nuclear tests, and abolishing nuclear weapons.

The result of all the talk so far is zero. There will be more. But here in ABC form, is an interpretation of what this government wants, doesn't want, and why.

It is based on answers given by the State Department to a series of questions from the Senate Disarmament subcommittee, headed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat.

Arms control, or disarmament, can be undertaken only to the degree that it can be enforced. This means some kind of inspection system to prevent cheating by either side.

But American scientists have not been able to develop any techniques that would make it possible to enforce an agreement outlawing nuclear weapons.

So it follows that even if there were an agreement on banning nuclear tests, it would not mean that nuclear weapons already in the hands of the United States and the U.S.S.R. would be destroyed.

Therefore, the possibility of nuclear war, even though the big powers agree not to do any more testing, will hang over the world's head a long, long time.

It would be to the disadvantage of this country to have an agreement banning the use of nuclear weapons in war—even if both sides lived up to an agreement not to use them. Why?

Because—since the Soviet, Red Chinese and satellite ground forces so hugely outnumber the Western ground forces—America's possession of nuclear weapons helps it offset the manpower advantage of the Communists. How?

Because so long as this country has nuclear weapons that can be used in swift retaliation if the Communists start a war, the Communists will be discouraged from starting one.

Therefore, the State Department says, this country has always insisted that disarmament be carried out in a balanced way so the Soviets would not be left with a military advantage.

In short, the United States refuses to go along with outlawing nuclear weapons alone. It wants balanced arms limitation, foolproof inspection and controls.

Arms limitation would include conventional weapons, because this country insists on balanced disarmament.

The State Department says: "We have insisted that each step in one field of military strength must be complemented with a similar step in other fields, and that all must be verified by international inspection."

But since the department says there is no way of knowing that the Soviet Union had destroyed its stocks of nuclear weapons—if it agreed to destroy them—it is easy to see how far off is any agreement on destroying nuclear weapons.

And since this country links all the steps in disarmament together, any disarmament looks a long way off, too.

As more nations—besides the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union—develop the ability to make nuclear weapons, it will be increasingly difficult to have a safeguarded disarmament agreement covering all types of nuclear weapons.

For instance, the department says that if Red China reached the point of being able to make nuclear weapons, no disarmament agreement based on Red Chinese commitments alone could be relied on to curb Peiping production of the weapons.

If this were a weather forecast on the prospects for world disarmament, it would have to say: outlook cloudy, temperature chilly.

English Better-Humored?

NEW YORK (AP)—As if our world weren't already topsy-turvy enough, now along comes a Frenchman who says the English can see the point of a joke quicker than Americans.

"The English have a very good sense of humor," said Robert Dhery, star, author and director of the hit Broadway revue, "La Plume de ma Tante."

"They love gags. It's funny, because they seem so straitlaced and serious.

"They can see a gag coming. They laugh quicker, louder — and shorter—than here. They give a sharp laugh, then quit, and you have to have another gag ready.

"The Americans laugh slower and longer."

Dhery also has found a difference between French and American audiences.

"I like it here because the audience comes to the theater ready to laugh and enjoy itself," he said. "In France they go to see whether you can make them laugh. There is a difference."

Dhery, the slender mobile-faced son of a Chablis miller, has been in some 20 films. He is also one of the busiest revue directors in Paris.

"Few revues in Paris last as long as six months," he said. "And people there book their tickets only a few days ahead at most.

"Here a man and his wife may buy their tickets as much as four months ahead. Then on the night of the show their seats are empty. When I see this it makes me mad. I can only suppose they have died in the meanwhile."

One American theatrical custom which both Dhery and Collette, his blonde wife and costar, find an utter abomination is the matinee.

"Collette has 17 costume changes. On matinee days she has to change her clothes 34 times. If she did nothing but this, she would be tired," he said.

Asked what impressed them most about America, Collette said, the smoky city streets; and Dhery said, Sunday newspapers. "They are so heavy. We have nothing like them in England or France," he said.

The Dherys have found Manhattan a cultural wonderland.

"I cannot understand your buffet parties," said Dhery. "They are so crowded there is no place to sit down.

"I went to one buffet party where there 200 or 300 guests. I glanced into a bathroom, and there was a young lady enjoying her meal all by herself. It was the only place she could find to sit down."

Demonstration Flops

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP) — St. Charles County Prosecutor Andrew McCulloch was his own judge and jury recently—and his kitchen was the courtroom.

A business firm asked the prosecutor for permission to sell its fire alarm thermostat in the county. McCullock decided to personally test the device the company said would ring when the temperature reached 160 degrees.

McCulloch put the gadget in his electric stove, set for 160 and waited. No alarm.

While the firm representative squirmed, McCulloch raised the temperature.

Finally, at 220 degrees the alarm went off.

McCulloch ruled the firm couldn't sell the alarms in St. Charles County.

Around The Rim

Dawn Comes Up Like Rivet Gun

Old Blabbermouth hasn't been around much this season, but his heir and assign is taking his place quite capably.

Old Blabbermouth is one of our fine feathered friends, a mockingbird, no less. For the two previous seasons he has heralded the advent of spring with his noisy oratorios. Once the vernal equinox arrived, he addressed himself to the exhuberant announcement that a new day was dawning.

His favorite pedestal for this musical proclamation was atop an electrical transformer in the alley not far from our bedroom. I cannot testify at what hour Old Blabbermouth bestirred himself from his nocturnal respite, but by 5:30 a.m. he was tackling his repertoire hammer and tong—or perhaps I should say throat and tongue.

"Chee, chee, chee, chee, chee," he warned. "Chee, chee, chee, chee." He started shrilly and penetratingly, tripping down the scale with delicate diminuendo. Then he would do an inquiring chirrup as if to elicit response from all the other birds in the neighborhood.

Having aroused the unfettered fowls, he would cut loose on a few trills. These did something to his physiochemistry. His juices stirred, he would rocket almost straight into the air and flutter down, making a show of the white pattern just inside his dark wing tips.

Having alighted on the pole or the wire, he would rip loose with the ornithological equivalent of a rivet gun or an air hammer. Somehow he seemed to take dead aim on our bower.

Abounding in intuition, he would move to the softer selections and chirrup away seductively and soothingly, avoiding retaliation. He even would flit down to the pole or zip to the top of a swaying bush just far enough away that you could hear him faintly. Somehow he sensed when you had latched desperately on to that last delicious wink of sleep, for he was back at his favorite post, sounding the clarion "chee, chee, chee, chee" and following it with the old rivet treatment.

He must have widened his territory this spring, for only a few times has he presided from his podium. Just as I was experiencing a touch of nostalgia and feeling remorse that I had ever toyed with the idea of throwing rocks at our state bird, something ripped loose with a few arpeggios outside our window. Then followed a few syrupy notes and the staccato salutations of the rivet brigade.

Clearly it wasn't Old Blabbermouth, but it was a worthy successor. Finally I spotted him, a tiny little cockrell not half as large as your fist but with a volume as strong as bellows.

Most of the time he preferred to operate from the top of a juniper bush, facing into the stiff breeze as though boring through it with his pointed bill. He maintained delicate balance with his tail feathers as though they were a balancing pole. Now and then he dipped hastily to the ground and moved about as though he were gliding among the weeds and grass. Suddenly he would hop into the branches, disappear momentarily and then reappear magically with a couple of rankling notes as to remind everyone he was still around. Finally he ascended to Old Blabbermouth's perch and I could sense that we were about to have a worthy successor. I can only hope that Junior doesn't feel impelled to welcome the dawn.

The Search For Cure To Cancer

Cancer continues to make sad headlines and man to hope that science and medicine will, at any moment, find its cure. The fact that science is leaving no stone unturned in its search for a cure of this dread malady was forcefully brought home to me recently when I visited the University of Arizona at Tucson.

There is a dedicated woman, Dr. Mary Estill Caldwell, professor of pharmacology and research pharmacologist, and Dr. W. R. Brewer, dean of the College of Pharmacy, have made and are continuing to make extracts from hundreds of desert plants in hope of uncovering a cancer cure.

This work is being done in connection with the National Cancer Institute of the United States Public Health Service at Bethesda, Md. To date, extracts from more than 300 desert plants have been sent to the institute for testing.

"So far, only one per cent of the plants screened by the institute indicate that further study would be useful," Dr. Caldwell told me. "The program is merely in its initial stages. But we are taking advantage of this research in cancer to screen extracts for other medicinal purposes, principally diabetes, heart, hypertension and mental health.

"I must emphasize that we are merely at the screening stage now. As soon as any leads are developed, they'll be investigated all the way. So far, all the testing has been aimed at three different types of tumors in mice.

"Our concern," continued this gentle lady whose husband died of lung cancer less than three years ago, "is that the public does not compare too closely mice and men in the testing stages."

Both Dr. Caldwell and Dr. Brewer are distressed by the runaway and unfounded rumors that the yerba mansa, a weed that grows widely throughout the Southwest, is a certain cure for cancer.

"Yerba mansa is not even among the one per cent of the tested desert plants that indicate further study is justified," Dr. Brewer said as he handed me a letter he had just received from an Iron Curtain country.

The letter was a pitiful plea from the father of a 14-year-old girl dying of cancer. He wrote begging Dr. Brewer to send him some of the magic yerba mansa cure.

"There is no such cure," said Dr. Brewer sadly.

"If we hear of some herb or cure that the Indians have used for years and years as a medicine, we always investigate it," Dr. Caldwell said. "But so far we have had no results from Indian remedies."

"The cancer rate of the Navajo Indians is remarkably low," Dr. Brewer remarked. "The other day, one of Dr. Caldwell's Navajo friends sent this to her and with it a note saying that it is the secret of Navajo resistance to cancer."

With that, Dr. Brewer tossed across his desk to me a long, thin object that looked like a dried reed or seed pod. "It's a dried rattlesnake liver," he continued, as I hastily dropped the "reed" on his desk. I had a feeling that rattlesnakes had better take to desert cover.

So far, Dr. Caldwell said, the many cacti of the desert had one by one proved to hold no magic cure. But the common Jimson weed and trumpet vine go on providing antispasmodic drugs. And there is hope that licorice root may provide steroids for use in compounding synthetic hormones.

In the meantime, Dr. Caldwell works dedicatedly with each new desert plant brought into her laboratory, hoping against hope that one may finally help solve the mystery and pain of cancer.

Mr. Herter Performs Admirably

PARIS — Secretary of State Christian Herter handled himself with the press here in a manner that would have done credit to any veteran in public life. Every one of the newsmen present wondered beforehand how Mr. Herter would conduct himself under the penetrating ordeal of questions that are usually flung at a secretary of state.

The new secretary seemed ahead of the game all along. He didn't hesitate once for an answer. He said "no" pleasantly and with an engaging smile. He explained persuasively his reasons for not answering a question and stuck to his position. This correspondent couldn't help think how much better off Ike would be at some of his press conferences if he adopted the same technique. For, while the newsmen have a "right to know," there is no good reason why the interests of the American government should be subordinated to the curiosity of the press, without regard to the damage that might be done. Certainly nothing should be kept secret which the people are entitled to know—and that includes almost everything imaginable—but there is nothing in the rule book that says the information must always be available in time for the next edition of the American press.

It's the timing, therefore, on which discretion should and can be used. Mr. Herter wisely refrained from discussing the details of the so-called "package plan" to be presented next week in Geneva, but this doesn't mean it will not be revealed at that time. Obviously there are good reasons for not publicizing the allied position in advance of the actual negotiations. To do so not only means that the opposing politicians in every country would have a chance to belittle or ridicule the proposals, but it also gives our adversaries a chance to read about them and pile up obstacles which would imperil the negotiations at Geneva. Domestic politics may make its demands for the fullest publicity, but international negotiations ought to be respected as a higher consideration for which allowance should be made by both the press and the politicians.

Secretary Herter's performance before the correspondents here was, indeed, encouraging. Modestly, courteously, yet intelligently and firmly, the new head of the department of state expressed the American position and discreetly refrained from saying anything that could in the slightest degree prejudice the position of the other foreign ministers who had sat with him in the conferences here.

The correspondents tried in every way to find out if there were differences between the American point of view and that of the Allies and whether the positions to be taken at Geneva were firm or were merely the basis for "fall back" proposals later on. Mr. Herter handled all such questions with the utmost skill, and yet the newsmen felt they had not been dealt any false cards. The total impression which Mr. Herter gave me was one of absolute sincerity and seriousness. He handled with proper diplomatic reserve even the questions related to Soviet intentions.

This first glimpse of Mr. Herter in action at an international conference was important not so much for the authoritative outline that he was able to give of what the Western foreign ministers meeting here was about but because it revealed a new secretary of state capable of carrying on the traditions of his predecessors. For the more the American position in international affairs is studied, the more it becomes apparent that the United States stands dedicated to its ideals and will not forsake any of its Allies in the pursuit of the goals of the free world. Secretary Herter made a ten-strike here in his first contacts with the press, and America can be proud of the man who has taken over the reins from the heroic hands of John Foster Dulles.

Name Is Upheld

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Atty. F. Ryan Duffy Jr. won his battle to have his name placed on a ballot as candidate for civil judge despite a citizen's contention that a candidate's first name, not his second, be spelled out.

The legal opinion supporting Duffey came from Milwaukee County Corporation Counsel C. Stanley Perry.

ROB HAGGARD HOME ON DAVID HOPPER FARM
Place situated 16 miles west in Martin County

Hopper Farm Once Was Part Of Slaughter Ranch Holdings

When the State of Texas took this area out of the open range category and assessed a charge for use of the virgin grassland, last week's Mystery Farm was part of the C. C. Slaughter spread.

Col. Slaughter paid the state three cents an acre in August, 1895. He acquired title to it on April 19, 1901.

Long since broken into farm and smaller ranch areas, the territory encompassed the north half of section 10-35-1n, T&P, the Mystery Farm.

Today it belongs to Mr. and Mrs. David Hopper, who acquired it in a trade 20 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Rob Haggard and son live on the place, and the Haggard children are well known in this area for their record achieved in 4-H Club feeding programs with livestock and particularly with capons. Kenny (Butch) has shown several grandchampions in area and state shows.

Records show that the half section was purchased from Col. Slaughter by Henry Loving at $1.50 per acre. It changed hands several times and finally came into possession of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Meek, who are the parents of Mrs. Hopper, the former Jewell Meek. She and Hopper, who was reared near Coahoma and who later was an outstanding basketball star for Big Spring High School, were married in Tahoka in 1933.

They made a trade to acquire Mr. Meek's equity in the farm in 1939, and although there have been only about four really good crop years since then on the place, they managed to hold on and pay it out.

Hopper is employed by Cosden and out of his salary he and Mrs. Hopper saved enough to pay the taxes and meet the payments on the place in those lean years when the farm yielded little or nothing. In fact, about what it has made has gone back into improvements, and now Hopper is giving the four-room house a thorough renovation. Hopper made his home at the farm, which is 16 miles west and slightly north of Big Spring, travelling back and forth to his work. Mrs. Meek has made her home with the Hoppers for 26 years.

During the years they have had the place, they have repaired numerous buildings, erected a bunk house for tenants and a 48-foot long house with four compartments for itinerant harvest hands.

The farm has a windmill which furnishes water for domestic purposes, and the house is connected with the Martin County Fresh Water District line.

Out of the half section, 132 acres now are planted to cotton and the remainder (except for a five acre area in a little lake basin) is devoted to grain sorghums.

Aldine School Official Claims Attempt On Life

HOUSTON (AP)—A meeting of the Aldine school board was delayed 2 hours and 20 minutes last night because the president of the board said another member threatened to kill him.

President Richard G. Cass drove first to Houston and then to Humble to file charges against board member Robert L. Whitmarsh, but finally settled for a heavy blanket of police officers at the Aldine High School auditorium.

At the time the meeting was called to order at 9:50 p.m. there were some 600 persons present. Another 100 to 150 had gone home.

Cass quoted Whitmarsh as saying that if the crowd started anything he would kill Cass before he left the meeting. Cass announced over the school address system to the 600 persons that Whitmarsh had threatened to kill him.

Whitmarsh and two other minority members left the meeting after waiting until 8:35 p.m. Whitmarsh told the Houston Post at 11:15 p.m. that he denied making any threat to Cass.

Two of the three board minority members—Harry F. Ammone and Carl H. Tautenhahn — appealed during the day yesterday to the district attorney's office and the sheriff's office for personal protection at the meeting. Assistant Chief Deputy Loyd Frazier said the department agreed to send men to the scene but not to have them inside the meeting.

The Harris County School Board yesterday voted a $25,000 outright grant to Aldine. Supt. W. W. Thorne said, however, that was only 12.5 per cent of the amount needed to operate for the rest of the year. Teachers said they will not return to work until financing through the year is assured.

Cass told the 600 persons that he had no idea when classes would start again, but that everything possible was being done.

Steelworkers Push Wages Argument

NEW YORK (AP) — The Steelworkers Union today pressed on seven more major steel producers its argument that "everybody else is getting new wage boosts, so why not us?"

That's the argument the union threw at United States Steel Corp. and three other top industry firms with which the union opened formal contract talks here Tuesday.

Seven more sets of talks start with different companies today and one Thursday so that an even dozen separate, though correlated bargaining sessions will be under way before the week is out.

These are only preliminaries. Four-man teams for the industry and union soon will settle down to the hard bargaining.

Out of a maze of conflicting industry and union economic statements—the union claiming it is entitled to a big new wage boost and other concessions, and the steelmakers claiming these would only upset an otherwise presently balanced economy—one major contention stood out.

The union said many other industries are granting sizable wage boosts to workers. So why, it asked in effect, all the fuss about this also happening in steel?

"In a number of industries where hourly earnings approximate earnings in steel," union economist Otis Brubacher told U.S. Steel, "wage increases have already been negotiated for 1959.

"This is true, for example, in petroleum refining, bituminous coal, sections of the glass industry, and in building construction.

"In the case of the bituminous coal miners' 1959 wage increases, the steel industry itself negotiated a 25-cents an hour wage increase effective in 1959 for its coal-mining employes, whose hourly earnings were on a par with steelworkers' earnings prior to the 1959 wage coal increase."

Finally, Brubacher said, in language given emphasis later by Union President David J. McDonald, the Steelworkers don't intend to be left behind in a wage boost parade that is going on unhampered in the rest of the economy.

President Eisenhower is calling for a stop in that parade in steel. He hinted at a Washington news conference the government may intervene in some fashion if the steel talks veer toward another wage-price spiral.

Rail Strike Shuts Paris Transportation

PARIS (AP)—A 24-hour strike by railway engineers today virtually shut down rail traffic between Paris and its suburbs.

Traffic jams developed along the main roads leading into the city as commuters struggled to get to work by bus, auto, motor scooter and thumb.

The Communist-lead union of locomotive engineers is demanding a 40-hour week instead of the present 44, bigger bonuses and a better pension plan.

Firemen Not So Hot In Setting Off Fires

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Huntington firemen are not so hot when it comes to starting fires.

They set fire to a vacant house as part of a training program for rookie firemen. Then they pulled an alarm box lever.

The rookies rushed to the scene. Only trouble was—when they got there, the fire was out.

The veteran firemen took a half hour to get the blaze going good again. It took the rookies nine minutes to put out the flames.

"I told him and he told the world"

"I was one of those people who had irregularity trouble for a long time," writes Mrs. Oscar Potter of Morrow, Ohio.

"Finally, I gave Kellogg's All-Bran a try, just to see if it would work. Believe me, it did. And when my husband started having trouble, I told him about All-Bran, too. Now he thinks it's wonderful and he's telling all his friends about it."

The Potters have found, as you can too, that Kellogg's All-Bran is the good-tasting, natural way to overcome irregularity caused by lack of bulk. If that's your trouble, why don't you try Kellogg's All-Bran.

Red Fallout Much Faster

WASHINGTON (AP)— Radioactive fallout from huge Soviet nuclear weapons tests is concentrated in the Northern Hemisphere and reaches the earth much faster than expected, top government scientists now believe.

Their testimony on the Soviet-produced fallout was presented to a Senate-House Atomic Energy subcommittee Tuesday.

The scientists said fallout from United States and British tests also was descending faster than they had originally estimated, though not at the rate of the Soviet-produced debris.

Atomic Energy Commission Chairman John A. McCone sounded a reassuring note. In a speech to the National Press Club, McCone said a scientific advisory committee soon "will give further reassurance to the people of the world about the very small hazard resulting from fallout."

The three nuclear powers—the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States—are in the Northern Hemisphere where the fallout rate is highest. At Geneva they now are trying to reach agreement to suspend all atomic tests.

Dr. Willard F. Libby, the scientist member of the AEC, told the subcommittee in 1957 he believed the radioactive debris falls to earth in 5 to 10 years.

Tuesday he said he had modified his thinking considerably. He estimated that Soviet fallout, mostly from tests in the Far North, descends in one year. That from U.S. and British blasts, principally in the Pacific near the equator, takes four to five years, he said.

Dr. Lester Machta, U.S. Weather Bureau meteorologist, testified that strontium 90—one of the most deadly fallout substances — is much heavier in the north temperate zone.

He said that over-all fallout in the Northern Hemisphere probably is 2½ times the world average.

This spring, after the big Soviet blasts of last October, "promises to produce the highest fallout rate of any spring this far," the meteorologist said.

Navajo Council Bars General

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — A retired Army general has been formally barred from the Navajo reservation by the Navajo Tribal Council Advisory Committee.

Brig. Gen. Herbert Holdridge (Ret.) and Craig Carpenter, a non-Navajo who was with Holdridge when he was arrested last Saturday, were barred by the Council under the terms of an 1868 treaty. The treaty, which is between the United States and the Navajos, allows the tribe to remove "undesirables" from the reservation.

Holdridge attempted a citizens arrest of Navajo Tribal Council Chairman Paul Jones on April 21. He was arrested by Navajo police Saturday on a warrant charging simple assault on Jones.

'Dead' Austin Civic Leader Going Home

AUSTIN (AP)— A local civic leader believed dead for more than a year was en route Wednesday from California to Austin with his wife.

Andred P. (Andy) Montgomery, 51, originally from a prominent Madison, Wis., family, disappeared Feb. 19, 1958. The insurance executive was last seen on his boat dock on Lake Austin. An intensive search failed to provide any clue as to what happened at that time.

"He (Montgomery) now frankly explains that the time of his disappearance he had simply gone to pieces and just could not think straight," Montgomery and his wife said in a joint statement to the Austin American.

"At that moment the only hope seemed to lie in a complete break from his environment."

The couple left Sunday from Menlo Park, Calif., where they stayed the past two weeks with their daughter, Mrs. Karl Amelang.

The statement said Montgomery spent the past 14 months "in several Southern cities, variously employed, without telling anyone—including his family—where he was. Contrary to rumors circulated in Austin, at no time during that period was he ever west of the Mississippi."

The Montgomerys said they will leave Austin but their future plans were undecided.

His disappearance brought Navy divers to comb the lake bottom. The search produced a shoe and hat identified as belonging to Montgomery.

On March 20, his wife obtained control of the community property from their long marriage. The 98th District Court order said the husband could regain control "If he is alive" and returns.

Mrs. Montgomery's petition to the court said her husband "disappeared under circumstances which indicated he may have met death by drowning, but to date his body has not been found. His whereabouts have been and have remained...unknown to petitioner (Mrs. Montgomery)."

Last Aug. 22, A veteran reporter for the Austin paper, William J. Weeg and his wife said they come face to face with Montgomery in Denver, Colo.

Mrs. Weeg said, "There is no doubt in our minds that it was Andy."

No others reported seeing Montgomery until Tuesday.

Cubans Set Aside Death For Woman

HAVANA (AP)—A military appeal court today set aside the death penalty and gave a 30-year prison sentence to a woman schoolteacher convicted of informing against three of Fidel Castro's revolutionaries.

Olga Herrera Marcos received the death sentence April 28 from a lower tribunal for having sold information to ex-president Fulgencio Batista's police. The police killed the three rebels.

The prosecution charged the woman received 200 pesos and a teaching job for her information.

In Bayamo a firing squad executed a lieutenant of Batista's army for homicides. This brought the unofficial total of those executed by Castro's forces for war crimes to 551.

Castro's cabinet Tuesday night approved a further 90-day suspension of habeas corpus.

SLICK SLOPE SLAYS 'EM

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A slippery, slimy slope slew 'em in Elysian Park Monday.

First victim was Tracy Smith, 12. He skidded into a steep ravine. There was no climbing out. Witnesses called an ambulance.

Ambulance attendant Sidney Krueger leaned over the edge. Oops, he slipped. Down he went, on top of Tracy. Two down.

Ambulance driver Ray Barry peered over the brink. His feet went out from under him and there they were, the three of them. The heavy grass was too slick to climb.

A fireman's rope got 'em out —unhurt.

Judge Rules In Favor Of Canines

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A judge ruled here that dog owners cannot be required by law to keep their dogs from barking.

"As a matter of fact, you can't keep a dog from barking unless you kill it," he added.

County Judge William A. Miller tossed out a $50 fine against L.F. Schelever Jr., owner of the Idlewood Kennels.

The judge, without calling witnesses, ruled also that Schelever did not force the dogs to bark.

The kennel owner was fined March 17 in Corporation Court for keeping barking dogs that made unnecessary noises. He appealed to County Court. The complaint was filed by neighbors.

U.S. Steel President Believes In Work

NEW YORK (AP) — The new president of the U.S. Steel Corp. is a big, graying engineer who believes there's only one way to get ahead—hard work.

His associates agree that 58-year-old Walter F. Munford is a hard worker, but they say he also has a friendly manner, a sense of reserve that comes from his New England upbringing, a skill in delegating authority and a knack for inspiring confidence in subordinates.

Munford put his formula of hard work in practice early. He worked nights and vacations in a wire mill to pay his way through college—first at the Worcester Polytechnical Institute, then at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

After college he took a fling at a sailor's life, shipping out as an ordinary seaman. He was stranded in Barcelona and came back as third cook, peeling potatoes all the way. He went back to the steel business and has been with it ever since.

Thirty-six years ago he joined U.S. Steel's wire division. He began as a helper in the open hearth department at the South Works in his native Worcester, Mass.

Tuesday he was elected president of the firm, the nation's biggest steel producer. He succeeds Clifford F. Hood, who retired after reaching 65. Munford will have his headquarters in Pittsburgh.

U.S. Steel's board chairman, Roger Blough, 55, remains the corporation's chief executive officer. Munford is chief administrative officer.

Big Steel's new president is 6 feet 2 and 210 pounds. In high school he won letters in football, track and hockey.

But he didn't have much time for athletics at college. He was too busy.

During vacations he worked as long as 13 hours a day, six days a week at the Worcester plant to pay college expenses—and help support his widowed mother. His father, an oculist, died when he was 10.

Of his mother he once said "She was a Pennsylvania quaker, and from her I learned that there is no substitute for hard work — no short cuts."

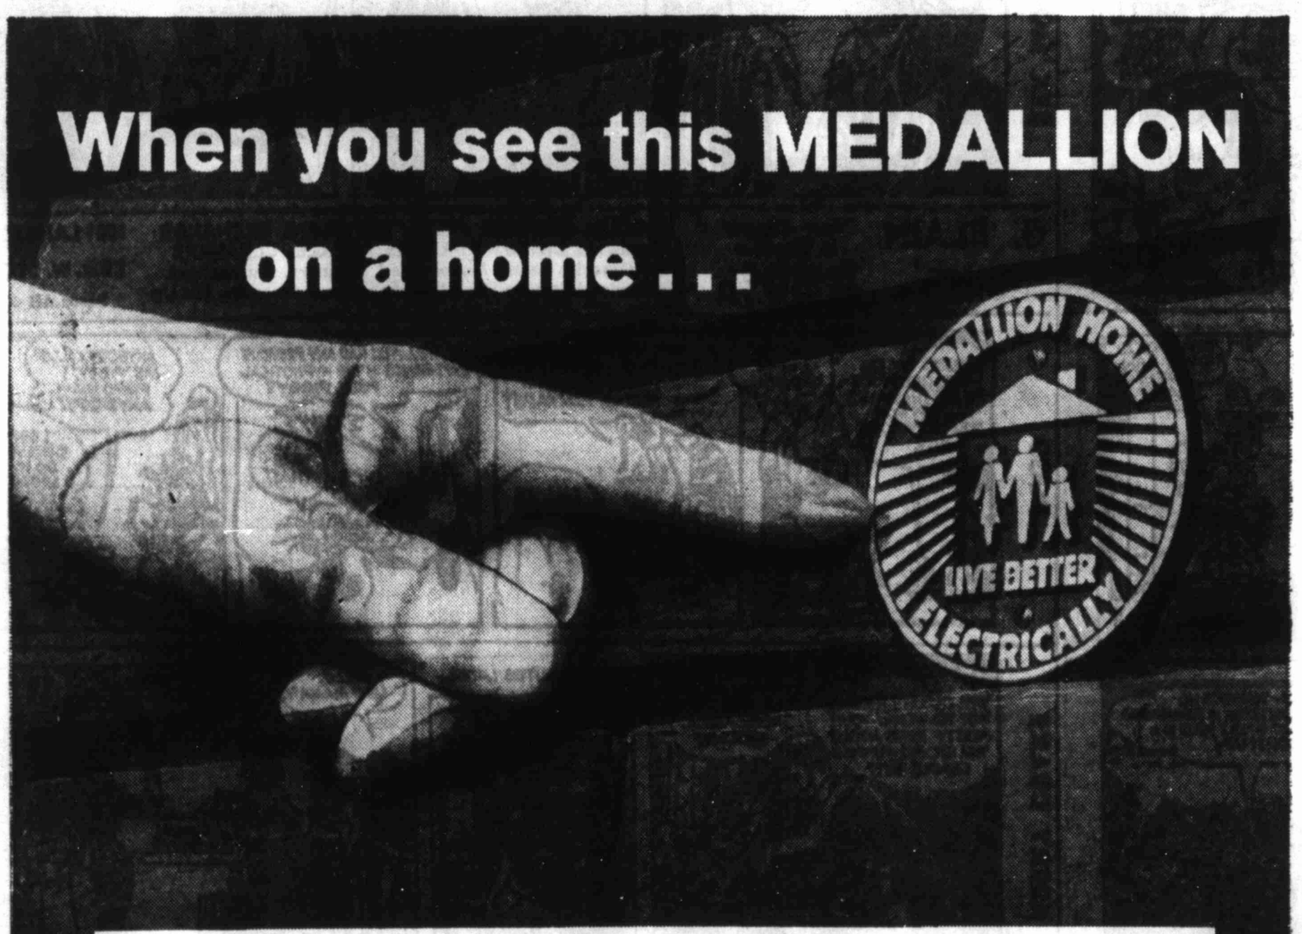

The formula worked well. Four years after starting as a helper Munford was made superintendent of the open hearth department at the U.S. Steel wire division's Newburgh plant in Cleveland.

After that he was assistant superintendent of the National Tube division's steel works at Lorain, Ohio; assistant superintendent and later, superintendent of the wire division's Cuyahoga works in Cleveland, and, in 1939, assistant manager of operations for the Pittsburgh district.

He was named operations manager of the Worcester district in 1942, became assistant vice president for operations in 1945, vice president of the wire division in 1950 and president of that division in 1953.

Three years later he was named assistant executive vice president of U.S. Steel, and became executive vice president for engineering and research last year. Tuesday he was elected a director and chairman of the executive committee, two bodies on which his predecessor also serves.

Police traced the chimp through finger and footprints to a pet shop in Glendale and Michael's father claimed the pet.

The state winners this year will go to the national contest where a $4,500 college scholarship is at stake.

Medics Tell Hope To Take It Slow

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bob Hope has been warned again by his physicians to slow down.

The comedian was hospitalized recently by a blood clot in one eye, but it has not been active recently. Hope has complained of becoming tired easily, however.

Acting on his doctors' advice, Hope canceled a trip to San Francisco Tuesday and another to New York City May 13 in connection with his movie, "Alias Jesse James."

Airman Receives Knife Wound

A Negro airman received a slight stab wound in the back sometime during the night, but he doesn't remember anything about the circumstances.

A.2.C. Walter Neil received a slight wound below the shoulder blade about 2 a.m. today. He was taken to the Webb AFB Hospital by David Gomez, 402 N. Aylford, for treatment but was released in time to report for duty today.

Gomez said the man came to his residence and asked to be taken to a hospital, saying he had been stabbed. Webb investigators talked to Neil later, but he could not remember being stabbed or where the incident could have occurred.

'Soil Stewardship Week' Is Being Observed Here

Bulletins in several churches Sunday will remind members that this is Soil Stewardship Week.

Jack Buchanan, chairman of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District, said that 2,000 copies of the bulletin stock had been furnished churches in Big Spring and Coahoma. Some ministers plan to make mention of the special week and of Soil Stewardship Sunday.

Buchanan is to be the speaker at the Big Spring Kiwanis Club Thursday, pointing up the observance of the week. He suggested that garden and other clubs include a special prayer for soil stewardship as part of the invocation for their meetings.

The idea of a soil stewardship week started in 1946 with designation of a special Sunday by an agricultural magazine. From that the observance has spread until the Assn. of Soil Conservation District Supervisors took it on as a national project. This year 174 soil conservation districts in Texas and some 2,800 in the nation are joining in the observance.

IN COUNTY COURT

16 Misdemeanor Trials Scheduled

Sixteen misdemeanor cases have been set for jury trial in Howard County Court starting May 18.

A panel of jurors to serve in the trial of the cases has been drawn and will be notified to report at 10 a.m. Monday, May 18.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, said that attorneys representing some of the 16 defendants scheduled for trial have indicated their clients will plead guilty. It is possible, he feels, that the docket could be materially shortened before the first jury case is called for trial.

Ten of the cases docketed for trial are DWI complaints. Four involve unlawful transportation of intoxicating liquors. One defendant is accused of destruction of property. Another is charged with carrying concealed weapons.

These are cases filed in the court in which the defendants entered not guilty pleas and have been released on bonds. The trials are a step in the continuous program pushed by Burns and County Judge Ed Carpenter this year to diminish the large number of criminal cases which have been hanging fire on the county court docket.

The week of May 18 was selected after a conference with Dist. Judge Charlie Sullivan revealed that the district court had no jury activities slated for the period. It is not practical to schedule a county jury docket when the higher court is in session. Attorneys cannot be present at both courts. As a result, Judge Carpenter has been utilizing the weeks when district court has no jury cases to hack away at the criminal docket in county court.

Cases set for trial May 18: DWI —Milford N. Nunn, Lloyd D. Graves, Loydean Paul Hodde, Scott Cline Patterson, Melvin Smithhart, Elvin T. Jackson; Ottis West, I. W. Rogers Jr., David Fred Choate and Raymon Lee Blackmon; transporting — James Taylor Jr., Gussie Lee Barnes, Luther Tucker and Fred Junior Shockley; carrying arms—Damas Galindo Barrera; property destruction—Peter Sotelo.

Activities Are Mapped For District Scouts

Activities for May, as well as some for the summer, were mapped at the meeting of the Lone Star District operation committees and commissioners Tuesday evening.

Jack Alexander, district chairman, outlined general plans at a dinner affair in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College.

The organization and extension committee met with chairman Sam Anderson; the leadership training group with Ben Johnson; and the advancement with the Rev. C. W. Parmenter.

Clift Epps' camping and activities committee placed emphasis on more signups by Scout and Explorer units for the Davis Mountain Boy Scout Ranch or the Camp Murphy aquatic camps. Two explorer posts—No. 9 and No. 146—annuonced plans for summer activities at the meeting last evening.

Carl Campbell, who had just returned from St. Louis where he had the honor of presenting the Eagle Badge to a grandson, presided over the commissioner's staff. Campbell's three sons were the first brothers in the nation to qualify for the Eagle badge at the same time.

Youth Facing Murder Charge

Today is the 17th birthday of Juan Sanchez.

The date is important to authorities in Howard County — it makes it possible for the state to proceed with prosecution of a murder with malice charge against the young Latin-American.

Sanchez is on his way back to Big Spring today from Gatesville. He has been detained at the reformatory since last November. He was 16 at the time he was admitted to the Gatesville institution.

Sanchez will have to face charges here of murder in connection with the knife death on Oct. 31 of Larry Ario Vierra, 17.

Vierra was slain in a gang fight which occurred on the parking lot south of the Ritz Theatre.

Gil Jones, district attorney, said he plans to push ahead with plans to prosecute Sanchez for the murder. It was indicated the case will be laid before the next session of the grand jury.

Tommy Cole, deputy sheriff, left Wednesday to get Sanchez.

Three Fires Occur, No Damages Result

No damage resulted from three fires which broke out here Tuesday and this morning.

Firemen from the Eleventh and Birdwell sub-station went to the 1702 Yale residence of C. H. Wasson this morning where fire developed from an overheated washing machine motor. Firemen were able to extinguish the blaze before it caused any damage.

Tuesday, firemen went to 400 W. 3rd where trash was being burned. Also, at 405 NE 11th, firemen had a call. A chicken being cooked was burned, but although the house was filled with smoke, no damage came.

Other officers who will serve next year are Don Knightstep, vice president; Tommy Rutledge, treasurer; Roger Hubbard, chaplain; Alf Cobb, parliamentarian; and Johnny Case, representative to the Hi-Y Council.

Only other activities on the year's calendar are the party with Sophomore Tri-Hi-Y members next Monday evening and the installation of officers May 18.

Water Consumption is Reduced By Half

Cooler temperatures, coupled with the heavy rain Monday night, have caused a sharp drop in water consumption the first few days of May.

Tuesday's consumption was 3,139,000 gallons, raising the total usage for the month to 18,933,000 gallons. This left the city with a daily average for May of 3,786,000 gallons.

Before the cooler weather, the city hit a stretch of days when the consumption climbed above the six million mark regularly.

U.S. Investors Find Europe Mart Mixed

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analysts

BONN, (AP) — Americans shopping for a plant site in the European Common Market will find the six nations differ widely in many respects—taxes, labor costs, material costs, restrictions in importation of raw materials, and in the consumer market they offer.

The six also have many squabbles among themselves yet to be solved.

"Americans should take into account all the factors," says West German Finance Minister Franz Etzel. "Low wages alone do not justify a factory site."

He refers to the often heard charge that Germany is a high wage country compared, say, with Italy. Other members of the Common Market are France, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

"There are wage differentials in Germany, too," Etzel notes. "Bavaria has a lower scale than does the Ruhr."

Germany has higher direct taxes than some of the others, but lower indirect taxes—the partially hidden taxes that add to the cost of living in the long run but not necessarily to the initial production of goods.

This has been giving German steel producers a headache.

"French steel is a problem," Etzel admits, "since it can be sold here cheaper than German steel can be produced. The reasons are many. French steel mills may be more modern. Devaluation of the franc gave them an advantage.

"But tax differences are the chief stumbling block. German direct taxes are high and French low. The French try to balance their federal budget by high indirect taxes, while ours are low.

"Because of the low direct tax on steel production in France compared with the high one here, the European Coal and Steel Community has put a 6 per cent tax on French steel exported here, or some 30 to 40 marks per ton. We think the tax should be 10 per cent.

"But this is another of the Common Market's growing pains that will be eased in time."

Still another problem is the differing currencies of the six. Common money is the ultimate goal.

"But this is a final objective," Etzel says, "and shouldn't come first. Germany didn't have it either when the Reich was formed in 1870. It came in time.

"In the Common Market the first step has been making the currencies freely convertible among the six nations. German marks are also freely convertible with the currency of all nations."

Segregationists Fire Teachers At Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Little Rock School Board's three unyielding segregationists Tuesday disregarded a walkout by three moderate members and voted to fire 44 teachers in the city's integration-troubled school system.

Twenty-six of those whose contracts would not be renewed are employed at the closed Central High School where a handful of Negroes attended under protection of federal troops in 1957-58.

The moderates—Ted Lamb, Russell Matson and Everett Tucker Jr.,—left a board meeting called to consider teacher contracts after announcing they would vote to re-hire all or none of the system's 800 teachers. They said they would consider any action by the remaining members as illegal for lack of a quorum.

Lamb later said Tuesday's decisions would be challenged in court. Lamb said the trio had adopted the "all or none" attitude because they feared a purge by the segregationists. He said they wanted to strip the system of teachers so none would be available to operate the city's four closed high schools if federal courts ordered them re-opened on an integrated basis.

Among those to be fired are the top officials at Central—Principal J. W. Matthews and Vice Principals J. O. Powell and Mrs. Elizabeth Huckaby. Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who shut the high schools against integration Sept. 12, has criticized these three for "showing favoritism to Negro students" while Central was integrated.

Also on the list were L. M. Christophe, principal of the Horace Mann School for Negroes, and principals of several elementary and junior high schools. None of these has been openly active in the integration dispute.

14th Hubcap Arrest Made

The 14th arrest during the last two weeks for theft of hubcaps was made this morning by police officers.

The youth admitted to police officer Sherrill Farmer shortly before noon that he had stolen some hubcaps. Farmer Tuesday arrested another boy on similar charges.

A few hub caps are still being stolen here, despite the concerted drive of police to apprehend the thieves. Larry Neece, 1020 Ridgeroad, told the police that a hubcap had been taken from his 1955 Chevrolet.

A bicycle was also reported stolen Tuesday. A Sgt. Dittrich, 1705 Donley, reported loss of a bicycle from the College Heights School

Underwriters Told Of Responsibility; Thigpen Is Elected

Importance of insurance to businessmen was stressed Tuesday at the luncheon meeting of the Big Spring Life Underwriters Assn.

Erman Herod, Abilene, told the local life underwriters that they had a professional obligation to keep in touch with the community's businessmen in regard to general programs and specific needs on insurance protection.

Elected as president of the group was T. A. Thigpen, who succeeds Louis Stallings. Other officers are Joseph Hayden, vice president, and Glenn Hancock, secretary-treasurer. Jerry Mancill and R. R. Black were named as co-chairmen of the public relations committee.
