KCCB to finish cleanup Saturday

Hoping the third try will be charmed but not begrudging the reason for the postponements, the Keep Colorado City Beautiful Committee will resume its city wide cleanup on Saturday.

Halted by heavy rainfall the past two weekends, the KCCB organization will again sponsor free public access to the municipal landfill north of town from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

The cleanup was put off altogether two weeks ago after a deluge flooded C-City and the north and northwestern areas of the county on March 22-23.

Then crews and trucks ran all day last Friday and completed perhaps half of the project before Friday night and Saturday rains again made the landfill too wet to dump in.

Reports ranged from an inch each night in the north and northwestern areas to a half inch and less nightly in the south and southeastern parts of the county.

Alvin Goodman, manager of TXU Electric Co.'s Morgan Creek Plant on the southeast shore of Lake C-City, said Monday that the lake did not rise appreciably and still stood about 20 inches below the top of its Morning Glory Spillway on the south side of the lake.

Champion Creek Reservoir, fed by North and South Champion Creeks south of Loraine, rose about three inches.

KCCB leader Bob Reily said a lot of trash was taken to the landfill last Friday by two dumptrucks, one supplied by the city and the other by the county, while several flatbed trailers were used to take numerous old water heaters, dishwashers and washing machines to Buford's Salvage.

However, the city's new wood chipper has still not been used and excess brush and tree limbs not disposed of because that phase of the cleanup had been planned for Saturday.

It will be in operation this Saturday.

FORMER CNB ASSISTANT VICE PRESIDENT Ray Anne Carlock was drawing winners in the bank's daily giveaway of 100 gold dollar coins Monday on the first day of its weeklong 100th anniversary celebration. The Monday and Tuesday winners were Mike Smith and Lucy Atkinson, both of Colorado City. The event will be capped by a Friday night free barbecue at the Railhead Trade Days Center.

Big Spring boy's body found following a 12-day search

A half mile long, four mile wide flooded area in southwestern Howard County was a daunting search area for game wardens who reported the recovery of the body of 6 year old drowning victim Dalton Lee Harbour of Big Spring Tuesday morning.

Mitchell County Game Warden Randy Bullard said the boy was found by a civilian a quarter mile west of where he was washed out of his mother's car.

Bullard said he and the other Department of Parks and Wildlife officers had planned to continue the search in two shifts a day for the entire month of April if necessary.

"We're still on it, and we're going to stay on it as long as we're able to float a boat," he said before Dalton Lee's body was found in a tangle of brush at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday.

"There is quite a bit of water in there, but it's slowly dropping down. It creates a little bit of something new to look at every day.

"We didn't want the public to think nobody was out there. That's what we do anyway -- water fatality recovery."

Young Harbour and his 18 month old sister Peyton were swept away in flood waters on the morning of Thursday, March 23, as their mother, 29 year old Cindy Harbour of Big Spring, sought to flag down a passing motorist after their car started to be pushed by swift waters.

Peyton's body was found a half mile downstream.

Ms. Harbour, the sister of Colorado City resident Tony Clifton, was taking Dalton Lee to his kindergarten class at Elbow Elementary School when the tragedy occurred.

Tony Clifton's wife Dianne is vice president and cashier at

Court rescinds the county's burn ban

Citing recent heavy rainfall, Fire Marshal Billy Ray Williamson Tuesday told county commissioners that the county wide "burn ban" on controlled burns of grass and other foliage is no longer needed.

The ban, which had been in effect since Jan. 25, was then rescinded, but with the proviso that people should still notify the sheriff's office at 728-5261 or their local fire department about any controlled burns they plan.

"We still encourage everybody to be careful," said County Judge Ray Mayo.

All members were present for the 9 a.m. called meeting, which lasted about 10 minutes.

Sheriff Patrick Toombs was granted permission to hire a replacement for a part time jailer.

Sheriff Toombs said a full

Rep. Junell boosts jobs program

State Rep. Rob Junell's "Summer Jobs for Youth" program provided jobs for 55 Mitchell County junior high and high school students last year, and he is calling on a wide range of prospective employers to increase that number this year.

"I believe businesses, organizations and agencies can expand the program to create at least 60 jobs for our youth this year," the San Angelo Democrat said.

"I am counting on you to become a part of this effort to build our community's future."

The local program is part of Rep. Junell's annual plan to guide students from ages 14 to 21 into summer jobs throughout the five counties he represents in the 72nd Representative District in Austin.

"There are many things we as leaders in our area can do to make our communities stronger for the future," he said.

"Some of the most important are to help instill in our young people the values of responsibility, a strong work ethic and pride in a job well done.

"I believe we have a great opportunity to make a long lasting impact this summer by participating in the Summer Jobs for Youth 2000 Program."

Rep. Junell said he will hire

Western Nolan County "nervous" over water

An absent director of the Lone Wolf Groundwater Conservation District Board of Directors tendered his resignation letter at a Monday afternoon board meeting, and the three who attended indicated skepticism at the desire of some western Nolan County residents to be included in the district.

Board President David Stubblefield reported on the alarm that some residents of western Nolan County, near Loraine, are feeling over the City of Sweetwater's exertion of its right of eminent domain to condemn their property and drill for water on it.

He said a "court fight" is developing in Sweetwater over the issue.

However, Stubblefield and Director Bobby Lemons said they would be reluctant to allow the district to extend beyond the borders of Mitchell County.

Lemons mentioned the attempted creation of a water conservation district some years ago in which Nolan County first opted out of the proposed district and Scurry County then overrode Mitchell County's vote to form it.

An election is expected to be held here next year after the 2001 session of the Texas Legislature to authorize the formation of the Lone Wolf District, which is in an interim stage.

The future use of water in the aquifer, which underlies the eastern and northeastern areas of Mitchell County, is one of the primary concerns of the Lone Wolf board.

It's making a lot of those people nervous," Stubblefield said.

A March 31 resignation letter from Director Robert Chambers of Westbrook was read and accepted, and Stubblefield noted that the Mitchell County Commissioners Court will have to name a replacement, although the Lone Wolf board may forward one or more suggestions.

Chambers did not say why he resigned.

The only other director who attended was Jim Baum of C-City. Catarino Martinez of Loraine was absent.

Other business in the 5:30 p.m. meeting in the directors' board room at City National Bank included refunding $100 water well drilling deposits for the drilling of two wells from Robert Cox of Northeast Mitchell County and the approval of two temporary well permits from Fuller Farms 10 miles south of Colorado City.

A refund to Tony Turner, who farms two miles south of town, was postponed pending Turner's submission of a drilling log, or record.

local news

Wet Mitchell County dries out

Don't expect a quick return of the rainy weather of the past two weeks.

National Weather Service meteorologist Brian Curran of Midland said Tuesday afternoon that the cold weather of early this week will also disappear.

"They should be some nice days for drying out over there," he said. "An upper level ridge of high pressure is moving into that area that should last until the weekend."

High pressure usually precludes the formation of rainclouds.

Curran said last weekend's rain was spawned by an upper level storm system that combined with moisture from the Gulf of Mexico.

A mild cold front dropped the daytime temperature to 63 here Sunday, and then a stronger front pushed readings down to 34 Monday morning and 57 Monday.

The weatherman said the warmer weather would be accompanied by a powerful southwesterly wind of 15 to 25 mph and gusting Wednesday.

"It started off pretty cool yesterday, but you wouldn't know it tomorrow," he said, predicting that the Wednesday high here will reach 89 degrees and the high Thursday will be in the upper 80's.

A new cold front will move back into Mitchell County Friday, though, and cool things off to the mid 70's or near 80 and the 40's at night.

the First National Bank here.

The children's grandfather, Carl Clifton, is a former longtime C-City resident who moved to Oklahoma in the mid 1990's.

Bullard said the game wardens had been hampered by not knowing where to look.

"There are a lot of mesquite trees and brush," he said. "There were just a lot of places where he could have been.

"We didn't give up. We were doing absolutely the best we could to recover the body."

Bullard had been joined by Capt. Sparks Burdett of Lubbock and Game Wardens Bobby Ferguson of Lamesa, Wayne Armstrong of Big Spring, Mel Reed of Snyder, Bobby Goff of Andrews, Benji Smith of Post, Jay Oyler of Levelland and Sam Hutchins of Littlefield.

Dalton Lee was found by David Benton of Midland, who was driving an all terrain vehicle.

Ms. Harbour had told the children to stay in the car when she got out to seek help, but she was then swept away, according to Department of Public Safety Trooper John Barton.

Ms. Harbour was rescued a half mile downsteam.

A helicopter was dispatched by the DPS office in Midland in an attempt to recover the children, and the search was joined by the agencies including the Texas Department of Criminal Justice's Wallace and Ware Units in C-City.

The body of tiny Peyton Harbour was not recovered until 7:45 p.m. that night.

Searchers in a canoe found her a half mile northwest of her mother's car, and she was declared dead at Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

A memorial service was held for the children at 4 p.m. last Tuesday at Big Spring's First Baptist Church.

Theft suspect escapes

City policemen are searching for an escaped shoplifting suspect and investigating the burglary of a restaurant.

Chief of Police Pat Taylor said an officer was called to Alco on Hickory Street at 2:43 p.m. last Thursday and was escorting the man outside when the suspect yelled "Haul Booty!" and ran south away from the store.

The officer was unable to catch the fleet 18 year old suspect and issued an arrest warrant for him.

Chief Taylor said the man is also wanted on warrants from other area counties on various charges.

He was arrested for stealing a $10 pair of sandals.

Officers are also investigating the late Sunday or early Monday burglary of El Torito Restaurant at 1320 Westpoint Ave.

Taylor said someone entered the building through a back door that might have had a defective lock and stole a General Electric microwave oven, a stainless steel pot and five pounds of hamburger meat.

There were no suspects.

time jailer, Lloyd Goswick, has resigned and he plans to elevate part timer Tera Williams to replace Goswick.

The new employee will therefore replace Ms. Williams.

In another personnel matter, Judge Mayo told peace justice court clerk Celinda Stewart that the court acted within its authority on March 13 when it reduced her pay from $7.19 to $6.34 per hour.

Ms. Stewart, who at that time had started work at a Sweetwater dentist's office while continuing to work part time here, explained after the meeting that she later decided not to take the other job.

She has continued to work 20 hours a week for Justice of the Peace Glenda Haltom.

She had also been working nine hours a week for Justice of the Peace Kay Richmond, but the court, anticipating a vacancy in both offices three weeks ago, authorized Judge Richmond to employ a part time clerk to work 10 hours a week in her office with the two expected part timers both to earn $6.34 an hour.

Judge Richmond then hired Jill Hemphill of Colorado City to fill Ms. Stewart's expected vacancy, leaving Ms. Stewart with nine hours a week less work and a lower pay rate.

"I didn't think you could cut my pay just like that," Ms. Stewart said Tuesday. "I never quit."

"We have other part time employees, and they're all getting the same thing," Judge Mayo said.

Ms. Stewart had graduated to the higher rate over a period of time.

Court permission is required for department heads to hire replacements because because a hiring freeze is in effect.

District Director Windi Fuller said an official of the Arcadis, Geraghty & Miller hydrology firm of Midland visited her 136 E. Third St. office last week to install a new computer program to collate information from the 2,000 well enrollment forms the district has received.

She said part time county 911 emergency calling system manager Rosanne Jameson has been hired to put the information into the WIMS -- Water Information Management System -- program and had already processed 80 forms.

Ms. Jameson said only 20 of those are for irrigation wells with the rest being for domestic or livestock uses or under the capacity of 25,000 gallons a day.

The directors agreed to meet next at 5:30 p.m. Monday, June 5, at the district office.

Each job will provide at least 20 hours' work a week for minimums of six weeks and $600 in income per student.

Most of the jobs will begin around June 1.

Employers' commitment forms are available at the Chamber of Commerce at 157 W. Second St. or by calling 728-3403.

"Please give serious consideration to enhancing the education and training of our own young people here in Mitchell County," Junell said.

His district aide, Dorothy Shurtleff, is also taking calls at 728-8955 at the G Kell Building on North Hwy. 208.

tember in Atlantic City, N. J., where she was fourth runner up.

She will visit the middle school and high school Thursday and then perform between 2:45 and 3:15 p.m. at Hutchinson Elementary School.

CMS Principal Mark Merrell said the Dare to Care Rally has been held annually since 1991, featuring Miss Texas titleists Michelle Martinez of Dallas in '97 and Tatum Hubbard of Odessa last year.

"This gives students a chance to perform, with an emphasis on drug abuse prevention," he said.

"It's in conjunction with other programs in the school district and recognizes people in the community who have helped the schools out in the past."

The middle school's Mars Millenium Project will be displayed in the cafeteria from 6 to 7 p.m. prior to the show.

High School Principal Mark Smith will play guitar and sing, and singers Megan Merrell and Erica Grant will perform.

A hip hop dance group, the MRG's, the Goldenairs singers from the Wallace Center and the CMS Stage Band, directed by Linda Clay, are also on the bill.

The auditorium seats about 700 people. The show is expected to be over by 8:30.

Miss Yarbrough is well qualified to participate because she is on the board of directors of Texas Drug Prevention Resources.

Band called "Iatan" ready to make name

IATAN, a new rock 'n' roll band organized here, includes, from left, Toby Young, Coley Ramage and Josh Bell. The group will give its inaugural performance on April 15 at a nightclub in Sweetwater.

Veteran Colorado City blues rocker Coley Ramage has organized a new band and will play a memorial concert on Saturday, April 15, for the late Lubbock and Austin blues singer Junior Medlow.

The show starts at 9 p.m. at the Night Moves Club at 1507 Lamar St. in Sweetwater.

Ramage and his bandmates, drummer Josh Bell of C-City and bassist Toby Young of Roscoe, have named the band Iatan after Iatan Flats between Westbrook and Coahoma.

"I went to Junior's funeral on April 15 three years ago," Ramage said.

"We're doing one of the songs he did, Otis Redding's 'That's How Strong My Love Is.' I hung out with him a whole lot in the last year and a half of his life."

Medlow, whose real name was Larry Williams, was lead singer for The Cobras of Austin in the late 1970's and early '80's and later returned to Lubbock, his hometown.

He died of lung cancer.

"Iatan is just something we all kind of thought was a cool name," said Ramage. "I remember my granddad forever telling me stories about Iatan Flats.

"That's what legends are made of," he said, noting that Iatan Flats in the early 20th Century was a small settlement and a water stop for steam locomotives.

Ramage, 29, played in a group called Blackleg in Abilene, San Angelo, Snyder, Big Spring and Sweetwater and opened for Medlow at some venues.

Having rehearsed with Bell for a year and Young for two months, he has a good feeling about Iatan and plans to record original songs this summer at Fire Station Studio in San.Marcos.

"In this business, some of the musicians are not quite what they ought to be," he said. "Everybody in this band has got their head screwed on straight."

Ramage is a 1989 graduate of Colorado High School, where the 20 year old Bell graduated in '98.

Young played fullback and linebacker on the Roscoe Plowboys football team and also graduated in '98.

Producing their San Marcos sessions will be a '92 CHS grad, Chris Lynch, who is a student at Southwest Texas State University.

"Stevie Ray Vaughan recorded there, and the Texas Tornadoes were there three months ago," Ramage said.

"Josh and I played New Year's Eve at Night Moves with another bass player who recommended Toby. We're trying to get the music back to where the '70's left off with bands like Creme, Jimi Hendrix, Led Zeppelin, Johnny Winter, ZZ Top and a nice heap of AC DC."

Asked if rock 'n' roll bands have trouble making as much money as country bands, Ramage said, "No, there're always people that want to rock 'n' roll. There are people who are grandparents now who like ZZ Top as much as Buck Owens."

Ramage sings and alternates playing two Gibson guitars -- a Flying V and a Les Paul -- through a Marshall half stack of amplifiers. He can also play bass and drums.

Bell plays a Ludwig drumkit and has developed his style in part by studying Lars Ulrich of Metallica, Keith Moon of The Who and John Bonham of Led Zeppelin.

His father Danny bought him a kit when he was in middle school, and he played it for about a year before shifting his enthusiasm to riding a dirt bike motorcycle.

He started playing again as a high school senior, and his next ambition is a universal and never ending one for drummers of all genres -- to get more and better cymbals.

Young learned to play bass from Roscoe High School art teacher Doyle Sanders, who was once in a rock band. Unlike many bassists who would rather play lead guitar, he is very satisfied with his instrument.

He was previously with a band called Sack.

"I believe I was born to play bass," says the jocular Young. "I always thought of bass as just real powerful, kind of like a lineman in football -- the unseen hero.

"It's a powerful force making it happen. You don't really pay attention to it, but it's there."

Young plays a five string Hamer bass through a Mesa Boogie amplifier.

He also plays "basic drums and mediocre guitar."

Ramage said Bell and Young have made good progress learning to play "tight," or in a synchronized fashion, with three or four rehearsals a week.

The bandsmen said a three piece group is challenging but is more gratifying because each part is crucial and they have to put a maximum of effort into it.

They have no plans to add a fourth man like a keyboardist or rhythm guitarist.

"A lot of people try to make rock 'n' roll too complicated," Ramage said. "It's not brain surgery.

"We've been building from the ground up. Our goal is that when we hit the stage, they take us seriously. No snickering -- just jaws dropping."

Oilfield equipment theft checked

Mitchell County sheriff's officers are investigating two recent tool theft cases, one possibly involving some suspects who have been arrested in Andrews.

Sheriff Patrick Toombs said some oilfield equipment was stolen from a Sharidge Co. pulling unit in the southwestern part of the county and $1,950 in equipment was taken from a Lone Wolf Resources building on the north side of West Hwy. 80.

He said the oilfield theft, on which he had not been given a value, was discovered March 20.

He said the incident was probably related to a similar incident earlier that night in Howard County and that less was taken from the Sharidge site because the thieves' vehicle was already heavily loaded "and they didn't have enough room to get everything they wanted."

Sharidge is based at Ira.

The Lone Wolf Resources theft was discovered March 29, and a Craftsman miter saw, a DeWalt circular saw, a Honda air compressor and two sheet metal cutting machines are missing.

Sheriff Toombs said investigators are also checking into the possibility that the oilfield equipment thefts here and in Andrews and Howard Counties are related to recent similar incidents in Ector County.

He said they are symptomatic of improved oil prices and the reactivation of some drilling.

"It was our first oilfield theft in nearly a year," he said.

TITLE INSURANCE, What is it and Why?

Simply put, an owner policy of title insurance is a guaranty that the seller held clear title to the property and that she/he has conveyed this clear title to the buyer. The seller normally purchasess this insurance policy for the buyer, paying a one-time premium established by the Texas Department of Insurance.

This insurance policy is issued by an underwriter, i.e., Stewart Title Guaranty Company, committing it to stand with the buyer to defend the buyer's title to the property against any claims or liens against the property not identified and excepted to prior to finalizing the transaction. This defense includes unpaid taxes for prior years, outstanding deeds of trust, IRS or property tax liens, judgements against the seller that afix to the property, unnamed owners resulting from a divorce or probate proceedings, etc.

An owner policy of title insurance has essentially replaced an abstract of title in the industry because the new owner receives more for the same or less money. An abstract of title is a copy of all re- corded documents that pertain to the property, arranged in chronological order, current tax certificates showing any taxes due and a certificate by the abstractor that all documents have been included. For the buyer to be assured that he has clear title, this package must be reviewed by competent legal counsel. Separate fees are charged for the abstract and the legal review. The buyer must stand alone to defend against any subsequent claim against the property. On the other hand, while the owner policy of title insurance does not require the physical compilation of the abstract, it does require the same research, legal review and all other services. The buyer also has the protection of the underwriter standing with him/her to defend against any claim as long as he/she owns the property--a major reduction in potential legal expenses that may be incurred over many years of protracted litigation.

Title insurance may be issued to cover ownership (fee simple), leasehold or easement interests. Special policies are issued to guarantee lender interests, purchased by the buyer, to cover lender interests as long as the lien on the property is outstanding.

Mitchell County Abstract Co. and Stewart Title Guaranty Company are ready to prove your title, help clear any problems that exist in that title and stand with you to defend your interests.

Mrs. Law honored at Center

On April 1, 2000, a surprise reception was held at the Wallace Center, honoring the 80th birthday of Mrs. Floy Law of Colorado City.

Mrs. Law is active in volunteer work, giving of her time and talents for the Senior Citizens' program held at the Wallace Center. Mrs. Law also serves as a volunteer Omnbudsman long-term care facility (nursing homes) inspector, and as a Programs Coordinator, assisting for such programs.

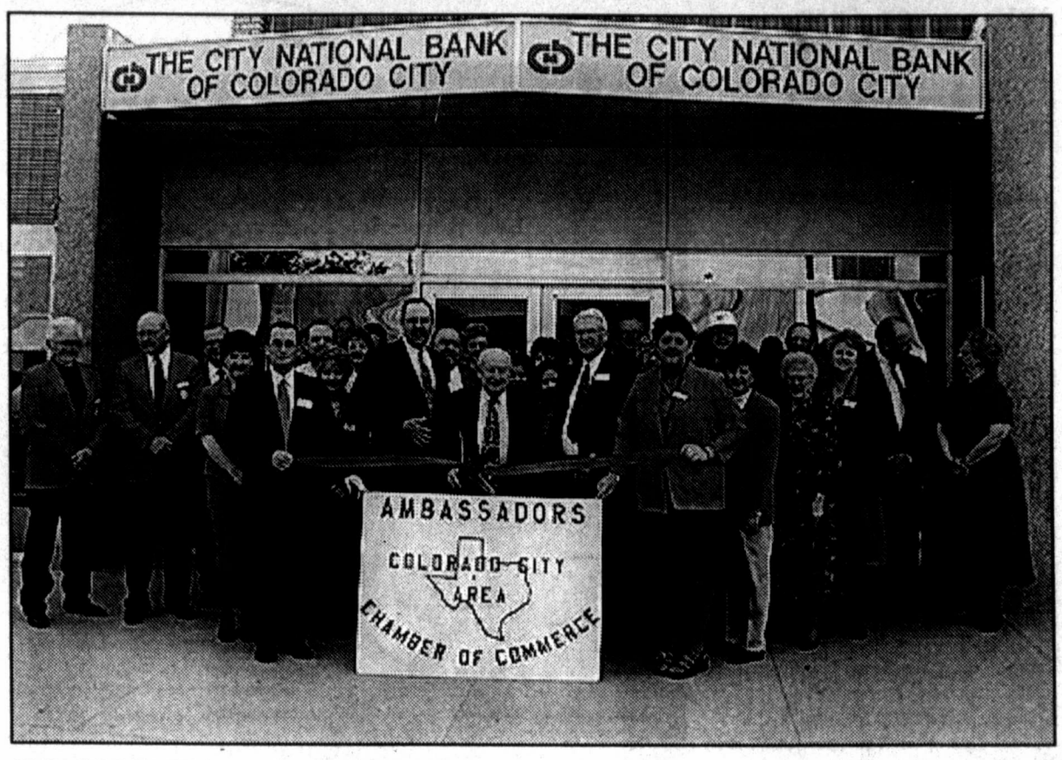
Floy moved from Sweetwater to Mitchell County in 1981 and attends First Baptist Church of Colorado City.

Family members who attended the celebration included Mr. and Mrs. James Beck of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson and Mrs. Laverne McKeehan of Whitney; Dr. and Mrs. Jimmy D. Law of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy L. Law, Danny, Stephanie and Lacy of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. J. Mark Law and Alexandra of Denton and Larry Bell, Jamie Howell, Patience, Misty, James and Zane of Colorado City.

Of Mrs. Law's nine great-grandchildren, only one was unable to attend, Michael Howell, formerly of Colorado City, currently attending college in Phoenix, Arizona.

The reception was hosted by Mrs. Law's daughter-in-law, Billie Law and two granddaughters-in-law, Tracy Law and Tracie Law.

When you see Mrs. Law around town this week , ask her about trying to leave town on the day of the surprise reception.



CNB PRESIDENT AND CHAIRMAN Royce D. Clay and Raymond Fuller, center, were joined by the Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors and cut the ribbon for City National Bank's 100th anniversary celebration Monday morning.

Pre-game prayer is justified

By Bob Campbell

The United States Supreme Court heard arguments concerning high school pre game prayers last week and is apparently headed for a split decision on the controversial issue.

We don't envy the justices because they are bound to be criticized no matter which way they jump.

Then again, they usually have it pretty easy, and it's in situations like this where they really earn their pay.

We hope -- and pray -- that they can see the forest among all the trees and allow this bare vestige of Christianity to remain in the public schools.

It's little enough and is actually far short of the moral influence that is needed.

Watch MTV for as long as you can stand it or listen to the songs that teenagers are bombarded with.

After the moral decline that started in the '60's and accelerated to warp speed in the '70's, even someone as isolated from day to day reality as a Supreme Court justice should be aware that the environment in present day junior highs and high schools is not conducive to later success.

It brings the Bard to mind -- "Cry havoc and let loose the hounds of hell!"

Pity the teachers and open your pursestrings for them because a public school teacher is really more like an attendant at an insane asylum, especially in the big cities.

It's no wonder that some of the weak ones end up sexually victimizing their students.

In the face of all this, we still hear the old arguments: what about the non Christian students, what about the constitutional prohibition against state sponsored religion?

I respect anyone's religion because I like people and value their lives, although I regret it if they don't know the truth about Jesus Christ.

But the soul of American jurisprudence is the lattitude -- and indeed the expectation -- for judges to adapt their rulings to conform to "community standards."

This helps keep the peace and maintains a healthy relationship between the law and the people who live under it.

I say this principle is extendable to the entire nation and the national community standard of religion is Christianity.

I welcome all the Muslims, Hindus, Buddhists, Jews, Druids, Dianetics adherents, Scientologists, animists, voodooists, polytheists and other people of non Christian religions who may be here in Mitchell County.

But guess what, American Supreme Court? 98 percent of us are Baptists, Methodists, Disciples of Christ, members of the Church of Christ, Catholics, Presbyterians, Nazarenes, Pentecostals, Assembly of God members, Non Denominationalists, Mormons, Lutherans, Seventh Day Adventists, Christian Scientists and otherwise followers of the true Son of God, Jesus Christ, albeit there are doctrinal differences that often separate us.

This is the community standard from sea to shining sea, and it's been that way since 1776 and before.

When the law leaves common sense and puts the letter of the law above the spirit of the law, it loses the respect and support of the people it is supposed to serve.

The Gone With the Wind Museum

By Tumbleweed Smith

When Bobbie Hardy went to a meeting in Atlanta, Georgia in 1980, a featured speaker at a breakfast was the world's foremost collector of Gone With The Wind memorabilia.

"I was so impressed with what he said I decided right then I would start collecting things about the movie," says Bobbie. "I had always liked the movie and owned a 1964 Book Club edition of the novel. "That was the beginning of my collection. Now I have several copies of the novel in different languages."

She bought some items in Atlanta during that meeting. One was a book about Margaret Mitchell, who wrote Gone With The Wind. Another book she acquired was about the making of the motion picture. "I started reading everything I could get my hands on about the book, the author and the movie."

Soon she was making speeches about GWTW all over Houston, where she lived at the time. She and her husband Randy moved to Jefferson a couple of years ago and started building a home reminiscent of Tara, the ante-bellum home in the movie. They plan to finish it soon and turn it into an establishment called Scarlett O'Hardy's Bed and Breakfast.

An old high school agriculture building next door has been converted into the Gone With the Wind Museum. "I have one of the world's largest collections of GWTW memorabilia," says Bobbie. "To my knowledge, this is the only permanent museum devoted to the movie."

She has a letter written by Margaret Mitchell and a copy of the novel signed by the author. She has a collection of GWTW dolls, Christmas tree ornaments, pictures and autographs of the stars, posters and numerous advertising items pertaining to the movie. One cabinet contains articles related to the premiere of the movie on December 15, 1939.

Gone With The Wind is perhaps the most famous movie ever made. "When they take a readers' poll, it always ranks in the top three," says Bobbie. "Statistics say that next to the Bible, it's the most widely read book in the world."

Jefferson is a good place for the museum. It is an ante-bellum town, reeking of southern charm and hospitality. The Hardys chose Jefferson because it is close to Atlanta, Texas, Randy's home town. The musem is open Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays and other times by appointment. It has a gift shop which features GWTW memorabilia, including duplicates of some of her treasured items. Since the museum opened a little over a year ago, 2,000 people from 32 states and 9 foreign countries have visited it.

"Lots of ladies come in and ask if Rhett is here. They're really interested in finding Rhett Butler. I don't blame them at all. I look for him everyday. I do have three mannequins dressed in reproduction ladies' costumes. I guess I'm going to have to get one for Rhett."

GWTW had the first cuss words in a movie. Clark Gable said, "Frankly, my dear, I don't give a damn." The producer of the movie David O. Selznick, had to pay $5,000 to the motion picture board of review in order to use the word "damn" in the movie.

Bobbie's personalized license plate is GWTW.

THE YOUTH AT First Baptist Church took a Spring Break Retreat to New Mexico recently. The group enjoyed skiing, fellowship and Bible study together during the week. Those going on the trip were: (back row, l-r) Sam Crockett, Mario Yanas, Christopher Spear, Marissa Rangel, Wesley Callaway, Krystal Blankenship, Caleb Shafer, Sara McCombs, Emily Pierce, Ross Riggs, Natalie Hill, Sabine Knaute, Mason Pierce, Johnnie Riggs, Joy Ubonski, Conny Schindler, Andy Crockett, Ashley Andrews, Cole Shafer, Lance Dockrey, Andrew Spear, Linda McCombs, Dale McCombs, Nathan Shrode; (middle row, l-r) Patrick Spear, Jonathan Haralson, Dustin Wylie, Gayle Cooper, Amy Eades, Chesna Riley, Kari Lentz, Carol Highley, Kamie Stublefield, Zack Wylie, Tanya Shafer, Trey Scott, Cindy Andrews; (front, row) Rodney Cooper, Kalyn Cooper, Corey Footer, Gil Shafer, Bryce Footer, Brett Footer, R.T. Shafer, Derek Footer, Quint Shafer. Not pictured Carol Footer.

Youth enjoy spring break ski trip

Youth and sponsors from First Baptist Church of Colorado City enjoyed a Spring Break Retreat to New Mexico. The group departed from Colorado City Monday morning, March 13, and returned late Friday night, March 17.

They stayed in a cabin at the Glorieta Conference Center and skied out of Santa Fe. Some of the group went as non-skiers and toured sites of historic Santa Fe as well as took advantage of activities Glorieta has to offer.

The days were fun and full with skiing and touring. Everybody came down off the mountain with a huge appetite. Cindy Andrews was the kitchen coordinator (in addition to tour guide) and did a great job cooking to satisfy those appetites.

The evenings were consumed with singing, Bible study, prayer and discussions in the cabin with a fire burning in the fireplace. Praise and worship each evening was led by Lance Dockrey, a former FBC youth and current college student at Tech.

Bible studies focused on the first chapter of John and were taught by Rodney and Gayle Cooper, Brett and Carol Footer, Terry and Tanya Shafer, and Dale and Linda McCombs.

The youth each received a notebook containing work sheets and discussions coinciding with the studies. The retreat was an excellent setting for the "kick off" of the Youth Bible Study series, entitled The Notebook, that the kids will continue to work through on Wednesday nights over the next several months.

The youth and sponsors were divided into groups and labeled with a color. Throughout the week, each group was assigned different responsibilities such as meal preparation, kitchen clean up, unloading, cabin clean up, and loading. The groups were also used for discussion times after the Bible studies.

Robert and Janie Henderson, grandparents of Zach and Colorado City residents, met up with the group in the mountains. The Hendersons were helpful to the group and enjoyed some ski runs and lodge visits with the kids and sponsors.

Many great memories were made during the week together. The Lord graciously blessed us with a tremendous time! The injuires incurred were minimal, problems that came up were manageable, the snow was great, the youth were wonderful, the sponsors were incredibly helpful and the fellowship was sweet.

The group will be getting together at the Footer's home this Sunday evening, April 2, after church services to look at and swap trip pictures. Everyone that took pictures is encouraged to bring them.

Agency announces deadline for environmental quality program

The Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) has set the ranking deadline for the 2000 Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP).

The ranking deadline for the 2000 program is May 5, 2000. Applications from individual landowners interested in the EQIP must be received by May 5, 2000 to be ranked and eligible for the 2000 program year.

Private landowners should be aware that EQIP provides technical, educationla and financial assistance to eligible farmers and ranchers to address, soil, water and related natural resource concerns on their lands in an environmentally beneficial and cost-effective manner.

EQIP is a voluntary program and is designed to assist farmers and ranchers with placing natural resource conservation practices on their property. Cost share is provided to program participants to achieve the goals of a conservation plan designed with the assistance of local NRCS staff.

Cost share practices include placement of appropriate structural or vegetative practices, such as brush control, vegetative buffers and wildlife management, to name a few.

Eligible practices will depend on the location of the farm or ranch on which the practice is to be installed and the major resource concern to be addressed in that particular area.

Information on eligible cost share practices and major resource concerns of an area can be secured from your local NRCS field office. Contracts for eligible producers are made for a priod of five to ten years. It should be noted that program funds target natural resource concerns of farmers, as well as, livestock producers.

Portions of Mitchell County are located within two EQIP priority areas. The Colorado Headwaters Priority Area covers the northern 2/3 of Mitchell County. Over $726,000 in cost-share funds are designated for this priority area.

The southeast portion of Mitchell County is located in the Oak Creek Priority Area. Over $334,000 has been designated for the Oak Creek Priority Area. The southwest portion of Mitchell County is located in the statewide priority area.

To learn more about EQIP or to submit an EQIP contract application, contact your local NRCS field office located at 2302 N. Hwy. 208 in the G-Kell Building.

Family honors Blassingame

Lodena Alpine Feaster Blassingame celebrated her 80th birthday surrounded by friends and family. Her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren hosted a party in Colorado City on March 11, 2000. Eighty-seven people attended the celebration including Lodena's sister, Vernon Koen from Alabama.

The room was decorated with quilts from several members of her family. One quilt was made by Lodena's mother, Maud Barton Feaster, in the 1950's.

Pictures and photo albums were available for viewing from all parts of Lodena's life. There were memories of her childhood; friends and husband, J.W. (Dub) Blassingame; the early years of their life together with their four children; and more recent pictures of her sons and daughter, daughters-in-law, grandchildren and great-grandchildren and many friends.

Friends and relatives that attended the party, and some that could not attend, submitted notes and pictures that reflected special memories of Lodena's life. They were combined to make a beautiful memory book presented to Lodena by her family.

Flowers, potted plants and candles gave a warm glow to the occasion. There were decorated cakes with a windmill, cotton boll, bluebird and apple. Other foods were homemade pound cake, brownies, sugar cookies, cheese ball and sausage balls. Fruit punch and coffee were also served. Serving pieces included several family crystal platters.

Before the party, Lodena's granddaughter, Shelley Blassingame, presented a sign language interpretation of the song "I'm Everything I Am Because You Loved Me." This was done as a special request of Lodena's daughter, Susan.

Bethany Blassingame, Lodena's great-granddaughter sang "Amazing Grace" to her Mema during the party.

Lodena's family includes children, Gene and Nell Blassingame from Post, Bill and LaVerne Blassingame of Abilene, Larry and Jeanna Blassingame of Colorado City, and Susan Blassingame of Carrollton.

Grandchildren and great-grandchildren are Heath Blassingame of Colorado City, Jim, Catherine and Ben Allen of Pecos, Shelley Blassingame of Spring, Jason, Ramona and Gabby Blassingame of Colorado City and Belinda, Bethany and Jonathan Blassingame of Colorado City.

Four Valley Fair Lodge employees attend class

Recently four nurses from Valley Fair Lodge attended special classes at Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene to acquire a certificate on updated and new skills for IV Therapy.

The classes were scheduled for two days with Phil Howell, R.N., staff member of Hendrick Medical, who conducted the training and who was responsible for all IV classes.

Training included Venipuncture Technique, Complications, Equipment/IV Systems and Central Line Dressing Changes.

Elia Gonzales, R.N., Director of Nurses, along with Pam Walker, Kelli Bradbury and Petra McCoy, Licensed Vocational Nurses, and charge nurses at Valley Vair Lodge attended both days, completed the classes with high grades and received their Certificates of Successful Completion.

Arrangements are being made for all Licensed Vocational Nurses at Valley Fair Lodge to attend the classes and receive their certificates within the next 60 days.

Letter to the Editor:

I would like to thank Mayor Catarino Martinez for beginning to improve the unpaved streets in Loraine. Applying the recycled paving material to three blocks of Reeves St. certainly alleviated the dust problem in that area. And I've seen how much dust is stirred up by cars speeding down that street.

If you live on an unpaved street in Loraine, please take time to call Mayor Martinez and thank him for his efforts and tell him that you, too, would like for your street to be improved.

Sincerely,
Oscar Singleton

ALYSSA AND KIRK LEVERTON shared top honor for Cookie Dough Sales at Kelley Elementary last week with 125 tubs sold. Top ten sellers and how many they sold from Kelley's annual event included Bethany Blassingame, 50; Bryce Footer, 50; Kody Wood, 47; Neal Denson, 41; Tanner Lain, 40; Brittany Vasquez, 40; Heather Henderson, 35; Shelbie Darr, 34; and Jade Cannon, 31. The annual fundraiser netted over $10,000 for the school.

Bulldogs beaten by Aspermont

The Loraine Bulldogs started district play last Friday, but unfortunately it began with a close loss.

Aspermont jumped ahead with a 3-run first inning. With the Bulldogs down 0-3, Lee Ybarra hit a homerun for the 'Dogs, which made it 1-3. That was the only score for the Bulldogs until the sixth inning.

Aaron Jones started off the 6th with a single. Later, he would advance on a third baseman error which allowed Ybarra to get on base. Roman Martinez then singled and that brought in Jones and Ybarra, leading to the final score of Loraine 3, Aspermont 6.

Loraine managed to get 5 hits, 4 singles and 1 homerun, however the Dogs allowed 6 errors. Ybarra finished out the game with 4 strike outs.

Loraine's next game is against Ira Friday, April 14 at 5 p.m. in Loraine at Ray Preston Field.

Misses Wright and Blankenship shine in Stanton's field events

The 7th and 8th grade Lady Wolves competed in a rain-shortened track meet in Stanton last weekend. The track meet was stopped at 6 p.m. but several events were completed.

The results are as follows:

Discus - Ashley Wright, 1st place and Crystal Blankenship, 2nd place.

Shot put - Crystal Blankenship, 1st place and Ashley Wright, 5th place.

Triple jump - Amanda Guerra, 2nd place and Amber Wyrosdick, 6th place.

High jump - Amanda Guerra, 4th place.

Crimestoppers offers reward

An oilfield pulling unit was parked on South Conway Road in the southwestern corner of Mitchell County on the Titan Resources lease Friday, March 17.

When the crew came back Monday, March 20, the following items were missing: 4 sets of rod elevators sizes 5 1/8", 3/4", 7/8", and 1"; tube elevators sizes 1 2/8", 2 7/8"; plus 1 backup.

All tools are BJ brand and colored red and rust.

Crimestoppers will pay up to $1000 for information leading to the indictment of the person(s) responsible for this theft. Call 728-TIPS (8477). You will not be asked your name and no one will know who called.

LORAINE SCHOOL Citizens of the Week are: (l-r) Vanessa Jones, Aaron Jones, Michael Walker and Alex Lambaren.

8th grade boys excel in Stanton

The 8th grade boys competed in the Stanton Relays on March 31. The boys were in first place as a team overall when the meet was called off because of lightning and rain.

The boys had scored 76 points after all field events and the 2400 meter run. Results are as follows:

2400 meter run - Sam Crockett, 1st place, 9:24; Evan Jones, 2nd place, 9:32; Wesley Callaway, 6th place, 10:41.

Shot put - Willie Davila, 1st place, 40' 1/2" and Jeremy Regalado, 2nd place, 37'4 3/4".

Discus - Willie Davila, 3rd place, 99'4 3/4".

Long jump - Jacobie Russell, 1st place, 99'4 3/4".

High jump - Jacobie Russell, 1st place, 5'8" and Sam Crockett, 5th place, 5'.

Triple jump - Chris Spear, 3rd place, 32'1/2"; Patrick Spear, 4th place, 31'5 3/4"; and Evan Jones, 6th place, 30'8".

The 7th and 8th grade track teams will be competing in the District Track Meet in Denver City Sat., Apr. 8. Field events are scheduled to begin at 10 a.m.

Thanks to the people of Precinct 3 for your votes and support in the Democratic primary.

Seniors get computer from LISD

On Monday, March 20, Kris Farquhar and David Ellis, Loraine ISD students, escorted by Mike Chunn, went to the Loraine Senior Citizens Center to donate a computer from the school.

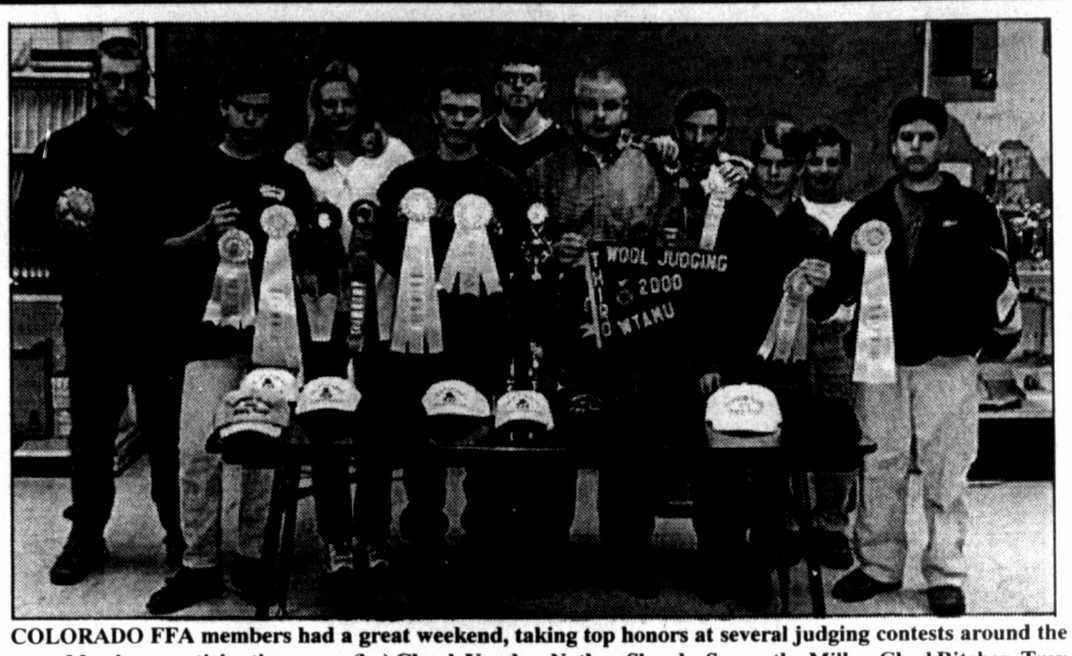
This computer was donated when Mr. Lewein received a call from the senior citizens asking if the school had a computer that was Y2K compliant. The computer they had was old and was not Y2K compliant.

Mr. Lewein was glad to give them a computer. He selected one of the computers in the school that no one was currently using and had it shipped down to the Loraine Senior Citizens Center.

Kris and David put the computer together and hooked up the printer with a little help from Mr. Chunn. Then they stayed and tried to make the computer work at top efficiency.

To pay them back, the Loraine Senior Citizens made them lunch, proving that the school and community work together.

CHS ONE ACT PLAY CAST MEMBERS were, in front acting out a scene, Ryan Noblett and Holly Gwyn, and in back from left, Chesna Riley, Ericka Parras, Rose Ann Mills, Archie Goodwin, Will McAdams, Cheryl Sparks, Jennifer Petty and Markita Selvera.



COLORADO FFA members had a great weekend, taking top honors at several judging contests around the state. Members participating were: (l-r) Chuck Vondra, Nathan Shrode, Samantha Miller, Chad Ritchey, Trey Scott, Larry White, Brody Redwine, Zach Wylie, Dustin Cox and John DeLoera.

Colorado FFA participates in judging

The Colorado FFA had a super weekend of judging events. The teams of Range and Plant ID, Wool Judging and Cotton Grading traveled to Canyon on Friday and participated in the West Texas A&M FFA Judging Contests.

The Wool Team comprised of Zach Wylie, Larry White, Dustin Cox and Brody Redwine placed third in the contest, bringing home a banner and team caps. Individual awards went to Brody, who was seventh high and Zach who was fourth high.

The Plant ID Team comprised of Chuck Vondra, Chad Ritchey, Nathan Shrode and Samantha Miller in a complete sweep of the Canyon contest, won the first place trophy going away. Chuck was the seventh high individual, Chad was fifth, Nathan received the fourth high award and in a big win, Samantha was high point individual overall.

After a good day Friday, the teams traveled to Clarendon on Saturday morning and also did extremely well as the Wool Team slipped one place in the contest there and ended up winning the fourth place spot with Brody Redwine getting in the top ten judgers by placing seventh again individually.

The Plant Team once again took top honors by winning the event at Clarendon and placing several kids in the top ten spots. These students were Chad Ritchey placing fifth, Nathan Shrode placing third, and Samantha Miller bringing home the high individual place.

The Cotton Classing Team of John DeLoera, Trey Scott and Jessica Chaney also particiapted in the contest and John won a cap for tenth high individual. The team had a stroke of bad luck on the contest's scantron grading system and was not in the top ten teams there.

The Plant ID Team and Wool Team earned state ranking and will be contenders for the State Championship at Texas Tech in two weeks.

Congratulations to all these teams.

CHS golfers take 3rd in match

The Wolves golf team shot a team total 335 Tuesday at Wolf Creek Golf Course which was good enough for third place in Tuesday's round but tied them for fourth place in the District standing.

Seminole (A) shot a 308 Tuesday and continue to lead the district after three rounds.

Individual scores for the Wolves include: Landon Hammond, 75; Stan Neff, 86; Landon Smith, 86; Chet Erwin, 88 and Anthony Muñoz, 90. Ashton Anderson shot a 97 in medalist competition only.

Landon Hammond is in 2nd place individually with a three-round total of 232. A 218 leads the district medalist competition.

Colorado City's Toni Joiner is the third place medalist with a 256. She is nine strokes out of first place.

Team standings after three rounds include: Seminole A, 941; Lamesa A, 978; Denver City, 1020; Colorado City, 1031; Lamesa B, 1031; Seminole B, 1062; Brownfield A, 1071; Slaton, 1082 and Brownfield B, 1201.

The Wolves will compete in Lamesa Saturday to wrap up district competition.

Baseball Mustangs win district game

The Denver City Mustangs scored 3 runs in the top of the 6th inning and then held on for a 6-4 district win in a weather-shortened game Friday, March 31 at Phillips Field in Colorado City.

The game was help up twice because of lightning in the area and was finally called at the end of the 7th inning.

First inning singles by Danny Torrez, Chase Pharis and Jed Anderson put the Wolves up 1-0, but the score didn't hold as the Mustangs countered in the top of the 2nd, scoring 2 runs.

The Wolves would bounce back, tying the game at 2-2 in the bottom of the 3rd when Pharis would single, steal second and score on a double by Anderson.

The Wolves added 2 more runs in the bottom of the 5th inning. Andrew Spear led off the inning with a single, and doubles by Tino Silva and Pharis would score 2, putting the Wolves up 4-2.

The top of the sixth would prove costly for the Wolves as the Mustangs would score 4 runs on 3 singles and a homer.

Danny Torrez started on the mound for the Wolves, pitching 5 2/3 innings and gave way to Tino Silva in the top of the 6th inning.

Ladies drop squeaker to Lamesa

The Lady Wolves softball team opened district play by dropping a heartbreaker to Lamesa 11-10 Friday, March 24.

Teri Pharis hit a grand slam in the bottom of the 6th inning that narrowed the score to 11-10, but the Wolves efforts would fall short.

In the bottom of the 7th, the Wolves had the tying run on third when Kristin Ornelas hit a line drive in the gap to right center that was caught, ending the Wolves' chances of rallying to win.

Freshman Teri Pharis started on the mound for the Lady Wolves, pitching 1 1/3 innings, giving up 1 hit, 5 runs and 8 walks. Pharis had been sick prior to the game. She was relieved by Rebecca Ornelas who pitched one inning and gave up 3 runs and 4 walks.

Kristin Ornelas pitched the remainder of the game, giving up 4 hits, 3 runs and 3 walks.

The Lady Wolves pitchers walked a total of 14 batters.

Leading the Wolves' offensive efforts were Alison Lopez, going 2 for 2 and Teri Pharis, going 2 for 4 including her grand slam.

Pharis mows down Lubbock Cooper

Freshman Teri Pharis turned in a gutsy pitching performance last Friday at Ruddick Park, pitching seven complete innings in the Lady Wolves' 2-1 victory over Lubbock Cooper.

Pharis, who was suffering from severe lower back pain, gave up only two hits and struck out 12 in the game. She did walke 11 batters that kept Cooper threatening in several innings.

"We played a heck of a game," Coach Jerold Epperson said. "We didn't make any errors and Teri Pharis did an excellent job pitching. " I asked her before the game if she could go and she said yes, so I started her. It was a real gutsy performance," he said.

The Lady Wolves led most of the game, scoring a run in the bottom of the second inning. Pharis led off the inning with a solid single to center and following a walk and fielder's choice, the Wolves loaded the bases. Bethany Taylor would walk scoring Pharis.

Cooper tied the game in the top of the 5th, loading the bases and scoring their only run with a single.

The Wolves pushed ahead the winning run in dramatic fashion in the bottom of the seventh inning. Pinch hitter Rose Macedo reached first on an error by the Cooper second baseman. She advanced to third and with two outs, Kim Rivera hit a hard liner that was bobbled by the Cooper third baseman, enabling Macedo to score the winning run.

Martinez racks up points in Stanton

The 7th grade boys competed in the Stanton Relays March 31. The team had scored a total of 63 points after all field events and were in first place when the meet was called off because of rain and lightning.

The following tracksters placed in the relays:

2400 meter run - Ryan Proctor, 3rd place, 9:54.

High jump - Brian Proctor, 2nd place, 4'8".

Triple jump - Erick Martinez, 2nd place, 31'9" and Eric Martinez, 3rd place, 30'10".

Long jump - Erick Martinez, 3rd place, 31'9" and Eric Martinez, 5th place, 14'7 1/2".

Discus - Anthony Matos, 1st place, 95'8" and Ryan Denson, 6th place, 85'5".

Shot put - Anthony Matos, 1st place, 38'8", Ryan Denson, 4th place, 30' and Casey Terry, 5th place, 29'3 1/4".

Lady Wolves beat Roosevelt

The Lady Wolves posted their first district win of the year with a 17-7 thrashing of Lubbock Roosevelt Tuesday, March 28 in Lubbock.

Kassie Redwine led the Wolves' offensive efforts, going 4 for 5 in the game. Alison Lopez, Rita Luera and Kristin Ornelas each picked up two hits to aid the Wolves' offensive attack.

Starting pitcher Teri Pharis pitched 4 2/3 innings, giving up 3 hits, 2 runs and striking our 11. She was relieved by Stephanie Boyd who pitched the remaining 1 1/2 innings, picking up the save.

Boyd gave up 2 runs on 3 hits and had 1 strike out. Pharis and Boyd limited Lubbock to only 6 hits.

Lady Wolves rally to beat Lamesa

The Lady Wolves softball team defeated Lamesa 8-6 Tuesday after rallying from a 6-2 deficit in the top of the seventh inning.

Trailing 6-2, the Wolves pushed across four runs to tie the game and send it into extra innings.

In the top of the nintth, the Wolves scored the go-ahead runs and held on for the win.

"The kids never gave up," Coach Jerold Epperson said Tuesday night following the game. "We didn't play very well, but they showed a lot of character by rallying from four down to win it." he said.

The four-run seventh inning got started when Rita Luera and Rose Macedo walked, then scored on a single by Alison Lopez.

Kim Rivera then hit a shot to left field, scoring Lopez. Teri Pharis would hammer a long fly ball to center field that scored Rivera. All the scoring came after the Wolves had two outs.

The two-run ninth inning was set up by a leadoff double by Rivera, followed by a triple by Pharis. Pharis would later score on a fielder's choice.

Stephanie Boyd picked up the win, hurling the last three innings and giving up only one hit while striking out five. Pharis started the game, but gave way to Boyd in the seventh frame.

"Stephanie came in and really did an outstanding job," Epperson said. "I was really pleased with her performance."

The Wolves scored in the top of the first inning when Pharis tripled, driving in Lopez. Jaki Davila singled in the second inning and Lopez later scored on a passed ball for the Wolves' second run.

The big win put the Lady Wolves atop the district standings with a 3-1 record with only two games to go. The loss by Lamesa puts their record at 2-2.

Friday, the Lady Wolves host Lubbock Roosvelt (1-3) and finish up district play Tuesday in Lubbock against Lubbock Cooper (2-2).

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
CLERK OF THE COURT:
Sharon Hammond
Mitchell County Courthouse, 3rd Floor
Colorado City, TX 79512
PETITIONER'S ATTORNEY
Richard W. Meyer
PO Box 1090
Colorado City, TX 79512
THE STATE OF TEXAS

NOTICE TO RESPONDENT: "You have been sued. You may employ an attorney. If you or your attorney do not file a written answer with the clerk who issued this citation by 10 a.m. on the Monday next following the expiration of 42 days after you were served this citation and petition, a default judgment may be taken against you."

TO: TIMOTHY ANDREW PARISH, Respondent, GREETING:
You are hereby commanded to appear by filing a written answer to Petitioner's Original petition for Divorce at or before ten o'clock a.m. of the Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days after the date of issuance of this citation, the same being Monday, the 22 day of May, 2000, before the Honorable 32nd Judicial District Court of Mitchell County, Texas, at the Courthouse of said County of Colorado City, Texas. Said Petition was filed in said court on the 23rd day of September, 1999 in this case numbered 13,771 on the docket of said court, and styled In the Matter of the Marriage of Tina Kae Parish and Timothy Andrew Parish.
A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows: Petitioner seeks a dissolution of marriage from Respondent; as is more fully shown by the Petition on file in this suit. The Court has authority in this suit to enter any judgment or decree dissolving the marriage and providing for the division of property that will be binding on you.
The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to requirements of law, and the mandates thereof, and make due return as the law directs.
Issued and given under my hand and seal of said Court at Colorado City, Texas, this the 4th day of April, 2000."
Sharon Hammond, District Clerk,
Mitchell County, Texas

loraine news

By Bessie Ann Vaughn

Greetings.

Have you received your census form? I am one of the fortunate ones who received the long form. (Uncle Sam likes me better!)

"The government" wants to know my salary and where it comes from. If it's high, will they send me a check in the mail?

"They" are interested in my rooms for bathing. Do I have one, more than one?

I was tempted to write "little house out back" but decided against it.

Why would they want to know how many bathrooms I have unless they plan to buy my house. Who knows, I may have to move.

Do I work, how many hours? How do I get to work? Do I walk to work? Hot diggedy dog, they may be thinking about sending me a new car!

I've always heard Big Brother was in my back pocket, but now he is in my house, my bathroom and my car.

Isn't it cool? I feel so special.

"Mud"

I love mud. It oozes between my toes. I track it in the house and get some on my clothes.

It sure does best just plain old dirt and dust on our window panes.

Everyone is happy to give praise.

Thank you Lord for our mighty fine rains.

Robert and Maria Brock and little Christopher have moved from Albuquerque, New Mexico to Plano, Texas.

Robert is the son of the late Paula Coffee Brock and grandson of Floyd and Esta Coffee.

Ham and Blondie Hamilton were in Anna, Texas recently to visit with their children, grandchildren and great-grandson, Charla, Danny and Charity Cain, plus Coral and Matthew Clark.

Oscar Singleton recently spent three days in Hobbs, New Mexico, taking care of business and visiting friends.

Our friend Audra Beights has just recently moved to Sweetwater. We certainly hate to see her go, but we want what is best for her.

We hope she will be happy there and come back to visit often.

Paula Muñoz and her daughter, Elva Berry went to Arlington recently to take care of business.

While there, they were just a short distance from a tornado. Paula said the rain was very heavy and lasted a long time.

We send get well wishes to Pat Hudgins in the Mitchell County Hospital. May she soon be well.

Judy Brown of Snyder was in Loraine Saturday to visit her aunt Julia Green. Judy brought Julia a bouquet of yellow roses. Then Julia brought the flowers to the Center Monday for us to enjoy. The roses were huge and so pretty.

The ladies had lunch together plus a nice long visit.

Our condolence goes out to the family and friends of Ethleen Walker. She had been residing in a nursing care facility for some time.

Her niece is our friend, Darlene Hamrick. Mrs. Stokes, Darlene's mother and Mrs. Walker were sisters.

Cody Scott from San Angelo, Susan Farr of Colorado City and Doris Henderson of Loraine attended funeral services for Ronny Crownover in Denton recently.

Preston cousins had a get-together Thursday night at The Sportsman on Lake Colorado City.

Present were Toby and Blanche Preston of Salado, Tom and Kim Mann, Sug Bynum, Jack and Nelwyn Strain of Colorado City and Bill and Ann Preston, Shirley Graham, Eloise McDaniel and Theron and Doris Henderson of Loraine.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo Harris of Pomona, California, visited with Millie Rose over the weekend. Millie reported eating good food, laughing and catching up on news.

Eva Wells is moving to Abilene and will put her house up for sale.

She will be living at a retirement center.

We send our best wishes and congratulations early to Geory Martin and his fiance Cherissa Garratt.

They will be wed Saturday in Roscoe at the Church of Christ. May they have a good and happy long life together.

Senior Center

On Monday, Sarah Gohery, Gus Armstrong and Charles Dunn entertained the audience with their toe-tapping music.

Over the weekend, Easter Rabbit and his fairy assistant came in the Center and left signs of Easter everywhere.

Rabbit's assistant was Amy Hudgins of Roscoe. She did a great job of decorating.

Amy is the granddaughter of J.A. and Yvonne Sadler. We appreciate her thoughtful deed.

On Friday, the 7th of April, Dr. Guleria, M.D., will come a speak on blood pressure, blood sugar and cholesterol.

This should be a beneficial program for all seniors.

April 10 - Candidates for the Hospital Board.

April 12 - Norwoods with Gus and Charles.

April 14 - Information on Medicare with Sheila Cunningham.

We are still taking donations for air conditioning. We would appreciate any size gift.

My Precious Guests

Recently an ex-neighbor of 35 years ago dropped by to visit unannounced. If that wasn't bad enough, she had in her arms a poodle puppy not yet housebroken.

Wilma said in baby-talk, "You precious itty bitty baby, now run and play."

With that, she put Precious on the floor and right away he relieved himself on a favorite hand-hooked rug, three times.

Wilma said, "Oh well it's not like the run was an oriental." And made no attempt to clean it.

I replied, "No, it's not an oriental but a K-Martal and it's my favorite rug."

I then asked her to leash Precious outdoors. She was mortified at my suggestion and they left in a huff.

Anybody want an area rug that's been baptized three times and doggone cheap?

But it's Precious!

An 86th birthday party is being given for Dorothy Haltom on Apr. 8th from 2-4 p.m. at the Loraine Senior Citizens' Center. Family and friends are invited. No gifts please.

Four chairmen have led CNB since 1900

While City National Bank has had a relatively small number of presidents in its 100 years, only nine, its chairmen of the board of directors have been even fewer -- four.

There was not a chairman for the first 40 years because the presidents performed that function at board meetings.

D.H. Snyder was the first chairman, first being listed on the bank's March 26, 1941, statement of condition and serving until P.K. Mackey had taken over by April 4, 1941.

Mackey provided a fairly long period of continuity until April 9, 1951.

Then there was no chairman again while President Charles Thompson informally played that role prior to his election as chairman in 1954.

Thompson was president and chairman until his death after a long illness at 1:10 a.m. on Aug. 5, 1983, at the local Root Memorial Hospital, the forerunner of Mitchell County Hospital.

Vice President Bobby Lemons, a former county agricultural extension agent who had been with the bank since 1973, became executive vice president and directed day to day operations for almost two years before Robert Alford was appointed president in mid 1985.

Raymond Fuller, president of Fuller Foods Thriftway and a bank director since July 13, 1976, was elected chairman on Dec. 15, 1983, and continues in that position today.

So the only chairmen in City National Bank history are Snyder from 1940 to '41, Mackey from '41 to '51, Thompson from '54 to '83 and Fuller from '83 forward.

Of course, a lot is known about "Mr. Charlie," who was born in 1898 in Eastland County and first impressed his father with his organizational ability by herding sheep and goats in the same pasture on a ranch his father leased in Nolan County in 1910.

He herded sheep until age 14, graduated from Loraine High School and earned his bachelor's degree at Simmons College, later Hardin-Simmons University, in Abilene.

He did not complete the University of Texas School of Law but passed the Bar exam and formed a law partnership here with future Congressman George Mahon.

Mahon was elected county attorney, appointed district attorney and, with Thompson's help, elected to represent the 19th Congressional District in 1934.

Mahon was chairman of the House Appropriations Committee in Washington for more than 40 years until his retirement in 1979 and was one of the most powerful men in the nation, although his bearing was notably statesmanlike.

Thompson, who always considered himself a farmer, said later that there "was no machine" in Mahon's first race.

In the folksy manner of the day, the only machine involved was a typewriter on a box that one secretary used to write letters in the candidate's behalf.

After college and before his legal career, Thompson cleared hay out of a barn to re-establish Rogers School and teach there 10 miles northwest of C-City.

He was elected county judge, and he organized Mitchell County Agricultural Credit Corp. in 1932 to help farmers and ranchers through the Depression.

He helped form the Farm Credit Board of Texas in Houston in '43 and served on its board until '77.

He was on the board of Texas Electric Co., later TU Electric, for 20 years and saw to it that the Lake Colorado City dam was built, the lake filled and TU's Morgan Creek Plant constructed on the lake's southeastern shore.

Thompson was on the Texas Tech University Board of Regents for 20 years, and a Tech dormitory is named after him.

In different fields of endeavor and at a different university, Fuller has also brought a wide range of accomplishments to the bank.

Fuller also started small on his way to business success, beginning as a young man helping his mother operate a grocery store on West Second Street that was moved to successively bigger locations on its way to the modern Fuller Foods Thriftway supermarket at 405 Hickory St.

The Cuthbert native and Colorado High School graduate was a founding board member of the Affiliated Foods chain of grocery stores.

He attended Texas A&M University before World War II and, with a group of young A&M cowboys who founded the Intercollegiate Rodeo Association, was an early day professional cowboy, often riding rough stock in several rodeos in a weekend in the College Station area to earn money for school.

Fuller was an Army second lieutenant in Europe during World War II, winning two battle stars and a Purple Heart.

In addition to his business activities, he became one of his university's most active alumni and is director of its 12th Man Foundation and an executive committee member of its Agriculture Development Council.

Football season is always an exciting time, and he and his wife Virginia can usually be found at Kyle Field or wherever the Aggies are playing.

They celebrated their store's 50th anniversary in January.

Clay leads bank into new century

The landmark year in the history of City National Bank presidents is 1938.

There were five presidents in the first 38 years of the bank's existence, when a lot of men smoked cigars, cut their hair short, went by their initials and looked more dour in photographs than they actually were.

Except to their descendants, the names of the early presidents are part of the musty past and just names to most people today -- W.R. Smith, J.D. Wulfjen, J.L. Doss, C.H. Laskey and T.W. Stoneroad Jr.

They led the bank through most of the Great Depression and to its first three locations before Charles C. "Charlie" Thompson came along.

The venerable Thompson, an attorney, farmer, rancher, former schoolteacher, former three term Mitchell County judge and best friend of Congressman George Mahon, was president for the next 45 years.

He became chairman of the board in 1954.

Since Thompson died in 1983 at age 85, there have been three presidents -- Robert Alford, Don R. Jones and now, since last September, Royce D. Clay.

That's nine in 100 years.

With Colorado City having been incorporated in the early 1880's, CNB was not the first bank here.

That was Colorado National Bank, which merged with the First National Bank in 1921, and People's National Bank.

Operating directly across the street from each other at Walnut and West Second Street, the two banks merged in '31, and for the next 50 years City National was the only bank in town until the second First National -- no relation to the first -- opened in the early '80's.

Smith was one of the bank's founders.

He served until Nov. 26, 1901, when Wulfjen, another of the original shareholders, took over.

Wulfjen was president for a little over four years, and former druggist Doss held the office from Jan. 10, 1906, to Jan. 12, 1915.

Laskey, a rancher, became president and the first avatar of what would become perhaps the bank's dominant characteristic -- stability, continuity and longevity in its leaders and support staff -- with more than 20 years' service until his death in 1935.

Stoneroad, who had been executive vice president, took over on June 30, 1936, resigned 18 months later and moved to Lubbock.

The outgoing Thompson, 6 foot 2 and 240 pounds, became president on Jan. 11, 1938, approximating the same dates in January on which Doss and Laskey had assumed the leadership post.

It turned out to be a lucky day for CNB because the hearty, optimistic Thompson, who had been Congressman Mahon's friend since they were third grade classmates and 1918 Loraine High School graduates, became a county and statewide leader in farm and ranch credit.

He was also a friend of future President Lyndon Johnson, who often visited him here when Johnson was a congressman and senator in the 1940's and '50's.

He was a great delegator and did not make loans himself.

The CNB presidency was vacant for a couple of years after Thompson passed away while directors wrestled with the seemingly momentous decision of who should succeed him.

Finally, on April 14, 1985, Alford was installed as the new president, coming here from Breckenridge.

Alford was followed on April 23, 1993, by Jones, who served seven years before leaving on July 31 last year to help open a new bank in Longview, Wash.

Clay was named to the position last September and elected to the bank's board of directors in February.

50th ANNIVERSARY LEADERS were, from left, Cashier J.C. Pritchett, Director Lay Powell, Vice President George Slaton, President C.C. Thompson and Chairman P.K. Mackey.

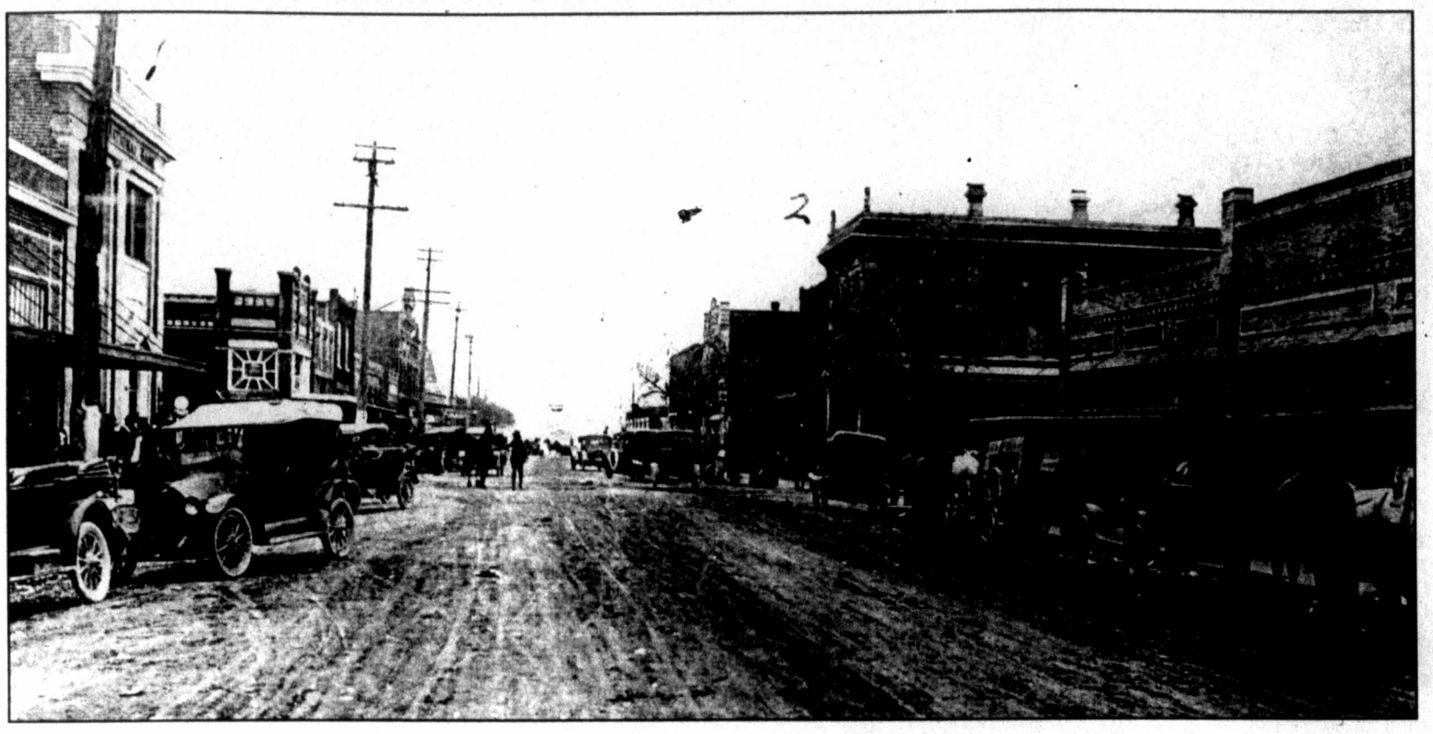
Celebrating City National Bank's 100th anniversary

CNB has colorful history dating back to 1900



THIS WAS COLORADO CITY IN 1912, looking east on Second Street. The old City National Bank, in Bodzin's Store, is shown by No. 1 and Colorado National Bank, with which it would merge 19 years later, by No. 2. The St. James Hotel is directly across the street from Colorado National, and it provided the lot for CNB's second building when it burned down a few years later.

A turn of the century charter when a lot of people still rode horses, a merger, four moves to new buildings, hard work, colorful people. . .

Writing about a 100 year old bank is like writing about a 100 year old man.

The first question is not very imaginative, but it's nonetheless unavoidable: what do you attribute your longevity to?

The man might say anything from moderate habits and exercise to avoiding wild women to living close to God to enjoying a good cigar after dinner to playing cards once a week to stay relaxed, that is if he only played penny ante.

Through its officers, employees, retirees, dusty newspaper clippings and brittle old photographs, the bank says leadership, making hay while the sun shines, moving when it's time to move, keeping up with the times, delegating responsibilities, confident exactitude, purpose, camaraderie, citizenship, a sense of history and a lot of other things, not the least of which is a healthy sense of humor.

City National Bank moved three times after its start in Bodzin's Store on the north side of the 100 block of West Second Street in April 1900, and its story is certainly one of buildings that grew ever better until its 1960 arrival at the big new one at 228 Elm St.

But more essentially, it is the story of many employees and officers who gave their best for as long as they could give it.

Its sixth and longest serving president, Charles C. Thompson, died 17 years ago and still casts a long shadow over the bank and, indeed, over Colorado City itself.

His widow is Emabeth Thompson, who is a bank director.

He was a big man with many endearing traits, and his benevolent leadership established a style of service or mode of existence that CNB still carries on today.

That's not to say the staff had it easy.

"We would come to work at 8 or 8:30 and were rarely finished by 6," says former 37 year employee Ray Anne Carlock, who was a bookkeeper, proof machine operator, teller and finally assistant vice president before her retirement in 1992.

They often worked until 9 p.m. and stayed a lot later than that on the last night of the month, when an average of 4,000 statements had to be printed and mailed.

The bank began with a $60,000 capitalization and grew in assets from $5.8 million in January 1947 to $18.7 million in May 1975 and $67.5 million last Dec. 31.

There were only two telephones in the old bank building at 105 W. Second, one in the vault for emergencies and one on the wall beside the vault where everyone in the bank took calls.

"It would ring, and whoever was closest would answer it," Mr. Carlock said. "It was usually a bookkeeper.

"Joe Smoot and George Slaton smoked cigars, and there was always a smell.

"We would be confirming our dates on the phone because we worked quite late. It was not uncommon for us to meet our dates at the back door, or our dates would call.

"We used that one telephone, and we'd be standing in line waiting. That was important."

The officers and employees would get fried chicken and Cokes, Orange Crushes and Nu Grapes from Carl's Waffle Shop three doors to the south on statement nights, and they often went to Ruddick Park to roast wieners when they finally finished.

"We had a lot of camaraderie, and I think that's why we still do," Ms. Carlock said.

A group of retired CNB women meets for dinner every other month at various restaurants and homes. In addition to Ms. Carlock, they are Billie Allen, Faye Nell Herm, Frances White, Janie Henderson, Nelda Hill, Shirley DeLaney, Nina Merket and LaVerne Chalker, most of whom served as officers.

One beloved member of the group, former Assistant Cashier Mary Lew Rhea, has passed away.

President Royce D. Clay said that when he first arrived here in 1991, the women surprised him and his wife Linda.

"They are one of our biggest assets, that group of women," he said.

"We had not been in town 24 hours, and two of them brought homemade bread to my home to welcome me to town.

"I knew I had come to work at the right place."

The bank had many leaders who made a place in its history.

When Ms. Carlock graduated from Colorado High School and went to work there in the summer of '47, the first one who made an impression on her was the redoubtable Assistant Cashier H.E. Grantland, a tall, bony man with large ears who represented something of a departure from the bank's general managerial approach.

As far as she was concerned, all the officers had the same first name: "Mr."

Grantland supervised the general ledger and bookkeeping department and expected perfection.

"He was quiet, no nonsense, very dogmatic about things having to done a certain way," Ms. Carlock said. "Everything had to be perfectly done -- exacting.

"We loved him, and we feared him," she said, laughing.

"George Slaton was a loan officer and one of the gentlemen. All three of them, Mr. Slaton, Mr. Smoot and Mr. Grantland, either chewed on or smoked cigars.

"They always wore suits and ties and were perfectly clad. They looked the part of a banker.

"J. C. Pritchett had a wonderful sense of humor, and Gus Chesney always knew any new company that came into Colorado City or had to do with the highways, railroad or oilfield.

"He got out early in the morning and knew exactly what they did. We could always go to him if we had a check or a question about an individual."

She said recently departed Trust Officer Bryan L. Limmer was memorable because like Executive Vice President Bobby Lemons, he was a former Mitchell County agricultural extension agent "who had the right expertise to be knowledgable in many facets of the community."

Limmer and Lemons, whose middle name is Loice, have the same initials.

The First Bank of West Texas in Loraine was robbed summer before last by a Loraine man who was subsequently caught and imprisoned, and that is the only bank robbery in Mitchell County history.

Ms. Carlock said the employees once heard that some criminals had wanted to rob the bank but were discouraged by the four stoplights that were

Camaraderie took bank to three new buildings

Like the proverbial Chinese journey of 1,000 miles, City National Bank's 100 year long journey began with a single step in the right direction.

That was when a group of Colorado City men chartered the bank on April 4, 1900, and opened for business in Bodzin's Store on the north side of West Second Street, just north of where the Chamber of Commerce is today.

Bodzin's Store is no longer standing, but it must have been a modest beginning -- probably just a teller's window, a ledger, safe and a few employees who believed C-City and CNB both had a good future.

The St. James Hotel on the northwest corner of West Second and Walnut was the premier Old West hotel between Dallas and El Paso.

It was where the founders of the Spade Ranch stayed when they first came to town, and it was the site of many other important business deals and social goings on in its day.

But it existed in legend only after catching fire and burning down around 1915.

The directors of CNB saw an opportunity and opened a new building there at 102 W. Second in 1916.

That building, which still stands with the bank's name carved into the facade, served until the Great Depression was grinding up the economy in full force and the leaders of CNB and its across the street competitor, Colorado National Bank, saw the advantages of a merger and joined forces on Dec. 2, 1931.

Colorado National had the better building, so City National moved there at 105 W. Second.

Colorado National had been chartered in 1882 as the 24th national bank to be opened in Texas.

It had competed with the First National Bank -- which had no connection to the current First National -- and People's National Bank since both of those were chartered in 1894.

The old First National and People's National went belly up, and after the merger City National was the only bank in town until the establishment of the new First National in the early '80's.

Modern day Director Frank Brownfield said the period just after the merger in '31 was probably the most critical in the bank's history because many people were uncertain about their banks and wanted to withdraw their money.

He said the CNB bankers went to Dallas by train to get fresh capital and returned with a large suitcase full of money.

When depositors came in demanding their money, the bankers paid them, not so incidentally showing their large cash supply in the process.

That quieted the "run" and eventually ended the crisis.

CNB at the southwest corner of West Second and Walnut is probably the most storied setting in the bank's history, where the men were gentlemen, the women were ladies and the whole bank smelled like the men's cigars.

It was where the camaraderie that still characterizes the bank today began, where Charlie Thompson first became president and other legendary figures like J.C. Pritchett, Joe H. Smoot, George Slaton, H.E. Grantland, C.H. Lasky, T.W. Stoneroad Jr., Gus D. Chesney, LaRue Powell and others left their imprint.

Ms. Powell was the bank's first lady loan officer, and she then in operation on Hwy. 80, or Second Street.

That was before the construction of Interstate 20, and motorists heading east toward Abilene or west toward Big Spring drove through downtown.

She said CNB has also never had a case of embezzlement or an employee's dishonesty.

"The bank was a lot different from what we're seeing nowadays," she said.

"The proof machines were old and awkward, and we had long journal sheets to compare ledgers and statements three times a day.

"Filing was done by individual checks. When a check came to the bookkeeping department, it was photographed as a single item on an old machine.

"When the check went through, you hit a little button and the machine photographed that side of the check and it made a lot of confetti stuff.

"In fact, some of the people even had that thrown on them at the time they were married, but not me."

Each account had a signature card, and the bookkeepers had to know the signatures or check them to guard against a forgery.

"You got to know them just like you did the back or your hand," Mr. Carlock said. "It was just amazing how quickly you could look at a signature and have a question about it or feel confident about it.

"We have a hard time giving up our customers. There is something about continuing that that CNB has always offered.

"We're unique. You won't run into another place like us.

"I guess that's why we say 'my bank' or 'our bank.'"

Lemons said there are few Texas banks that survived the century with the same name and so few changes in ownership.

"I think it's interesting to note that when I joined the bank in '73, we had about $16 million in assets, and now it's $67 million," he said.

"It's certainly not a big bank, but we have a good bunch of directors who have had the foresight to increase our capital to just over $ 8 million.

"It's a well capitalized bank, and that allows it to weather the bad times."

Lemons explained that a bank's capital is the stockholders' equity, or the earnings that have been retained and not paid out in dividends.

"It pretty much is unique," he said. "A lot of our people have been here for a long time, and that has been an asset for us in that people can depend on seeing that same face."

Interviewed in 1947, when he was executive vice president, Smoot said, "No one man can run a bank. We all do it, the directors, the officers and the whole total of our 20 employees.

"Grantland was a telegraph operator, but he was in love. When they started to transfer him to another town, the day before he was due to leave he got a job at the bank and married his sweetheart.

"They've lived here ever since."

Grantland had started at Colorado National Bank in 1906.

Other officers, from the early days forward, were Charles Moeser, Elizabeth Kirkpatrick, Elizabeth Jones, Lena Strange, C.T. Hubbard, Harold Oliver, Peggy Bagwell, G.W. Lookadoo, Horace Caldwell, William Hardwick, Mark Raschke, Deanna Feaster, John Vines, Robert Milstead, Joe Carter Jr. and Kakai Wulfjen.

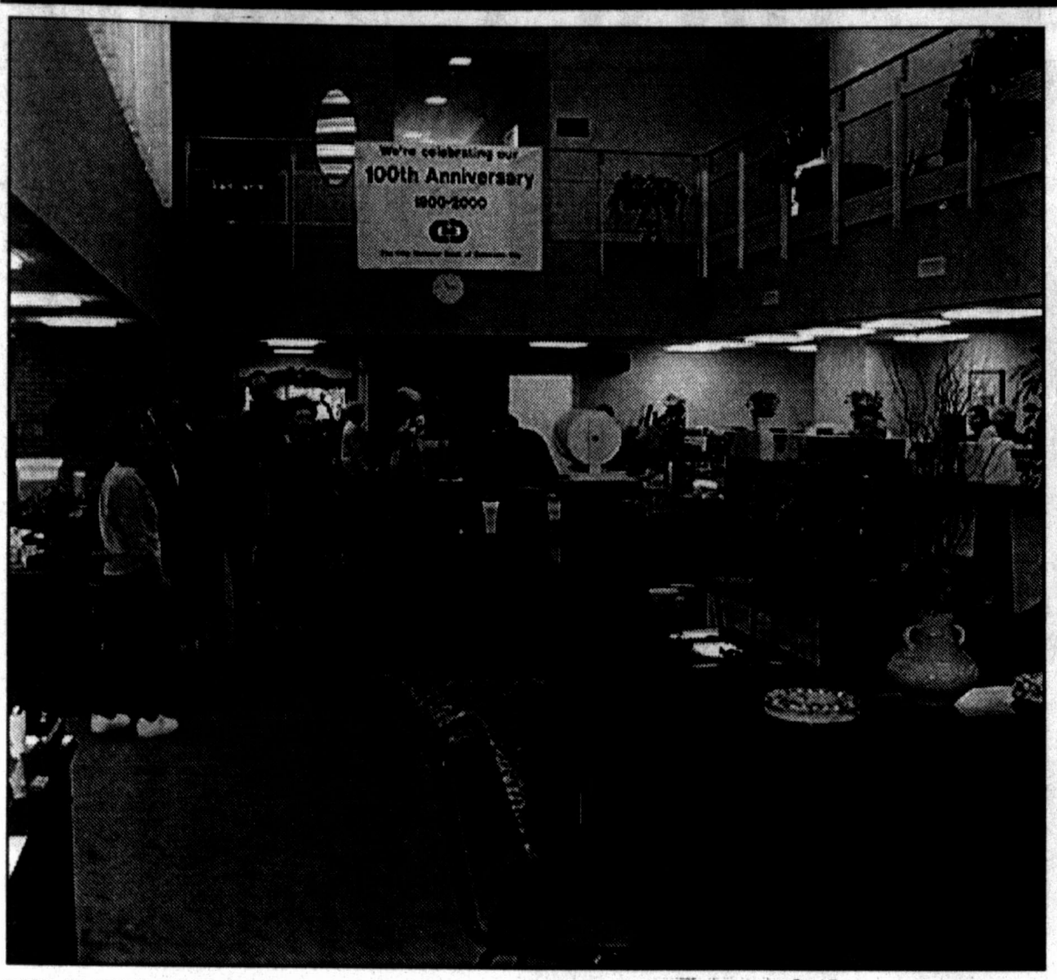
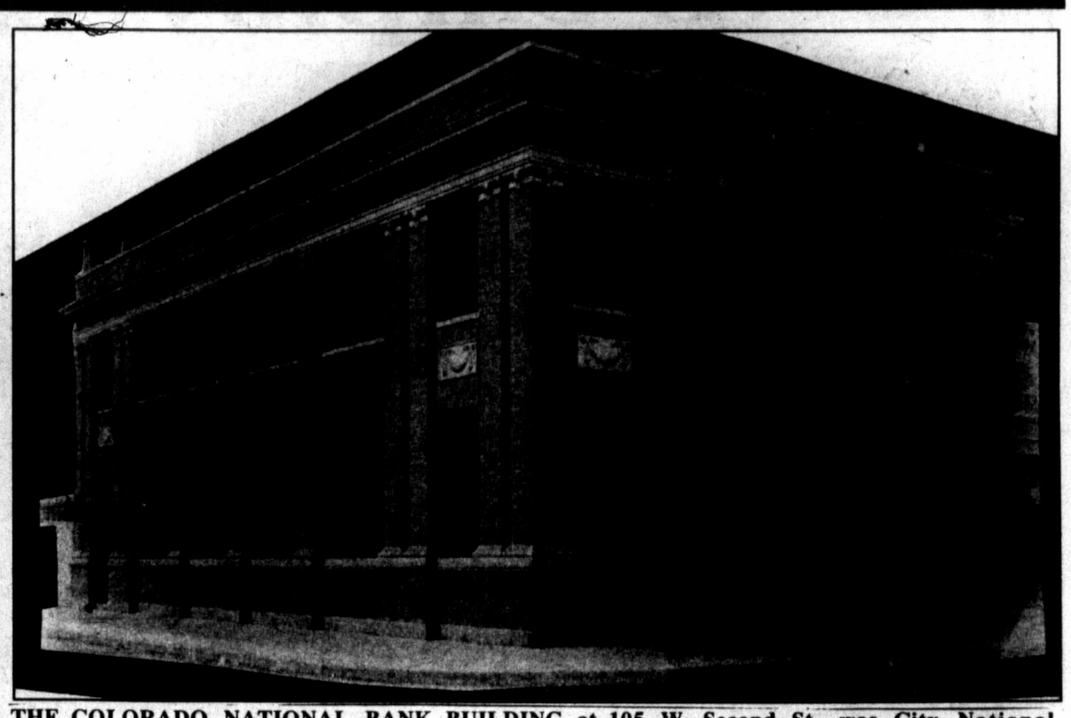
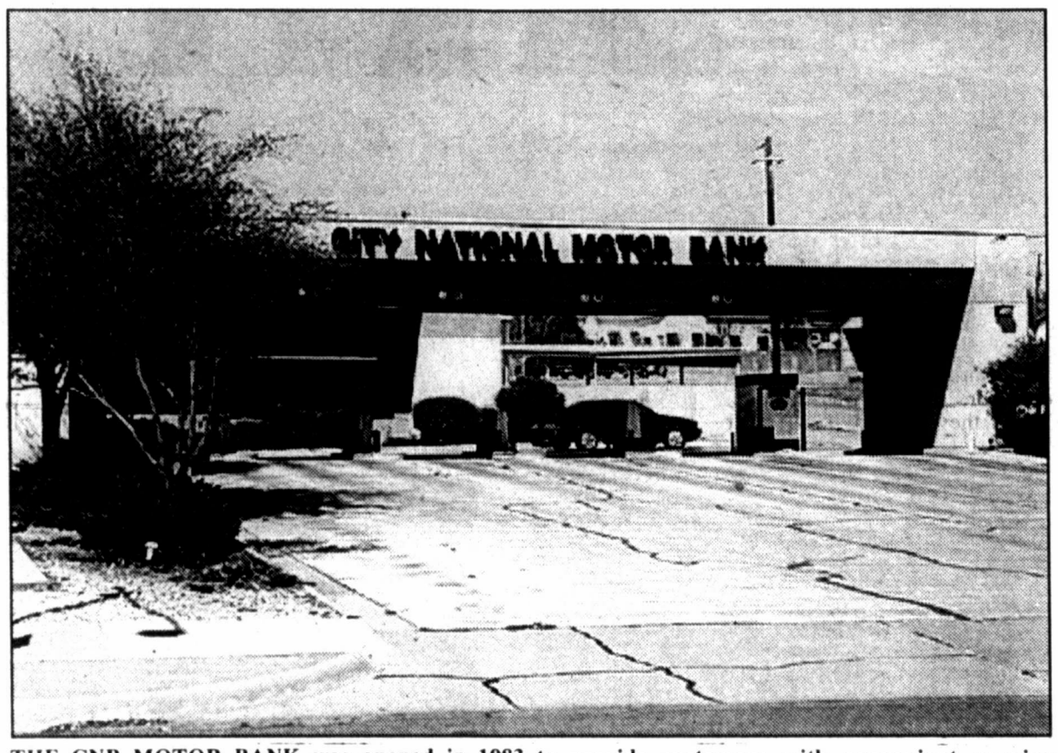
Celebrating City National Bank's 100th anniversary



THE DECORATED LOBBY of City National Bank was the center of activity for this week's 100th anniversary celebration, which features a Friday night barbecue and a daily drawing for 100 gold dollar coins. Public employees, school employees and students will be feted Wednesday, the general public Thursday and former employees and stockholders Friday.



THE COLORADO NATIONAL BANK BUILDING at 105 W. Second St. was City National Bank's third home following a merger between the two banks in 1931, when bank officers returned from Dallas with a large suitcase full of cash to quiet rumors of Depression era instability.



THE CNB MOTOR BANK was opened in 1983 to provide customers with convenient service after years of increasing popularity with its two drive up windows in the alleyway between the bank and Charles Thompson's law office.

Celebrating City National Bank's 100th anniversary

J.C. Pritchett was "a true banker," retiree says

In keeping with its tradition of long serving officers and employees, City National Bank has only had one more cashier than it has presidents over the past century -- 10.

The first two -- J.E. Hooper and S.D. Vaughan -- were no doubt important in their day and well known in the community.

It was not until the advent of the third cashier, T. W. Stoneroad Jr., though, that the office became truly prominent in the bank's history from a century old perspective.

Stoneroad had a stopover as cashier on his way to the presidency on June 30, 1936.

The cashier is the bank's overall money manager, seeing that it has enough money for the teller windows and motor bank and overseeing its investments.

He or she also deals with state and federal regulatory agencies and the bank's currency suppliers, Bank One and the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas, among other duties.

Stoneroad was only president for 18 months, moving to Lubbock and out of Mitchell County history in early 1938, when Charlie Thompson became president.

Then one of the key figures in bank history, J. Compton or J. C. Pritchett, took his turn as cashier prior to a long tenure as the bank's first executive vice president.

Rather severe looking in his photos, Pritchett was indeed a serious banker, but there was a side to his personality that you have to talk to one of the "old hands" to understand.

"Mr. Pritchett was a very kind, nice person -- always a gentleman, as were all of our officers," said former bookkeeper, teller, assistant vice president and public relations representative Ray Anne Carlock, who worked there from just after her graduation from Colorado High School in 1947 to 1992.

"He was a true banker, very caring, very anxious to make loans to the people that requested them," Ms. Carlock said.

"He was a good man. He worked real hard to make things come out the way people's needs dictated."

Pritchett, like Thompon a member of the First United Methodist Church, still came to the bank every day long after after his retirement after a 50 year career.

Doing research, you get information anywhere you can as long as it's accurate.

Longtime Executive Vice President Bobby Lemons has original copies of the bank's statements of condition going back to Oct. 17, 1934, when Pritchett was already the cashier, that proved an enlightening source.

Pritchett continued in that position until June 1951, when he became executive vice president.

A former C-City mayor and city councilman, he died on April 9, 1979, at age 93.

He had joined the bank in 1918.

Pritchett was succeeded as cashier by Kenn Eastin and then by Wayne Shawn, Trevlyn Kelley, George Womack, Shirley DeLaney and Richy Womack, George Womack's nephew and cashier for the past 6 1/2 years.

Ms. DeLaney rose to the co-executive vice presidency with Lemons before her retirement last Dec. 31 after 48 1/2 years.

Shawn, who later served as senior vice president before his retirement after 39 years in 1990, lives at Lake C-City with his wife Betty.

Asked why so many staff members compiled such long tenures, Shawn said, "It is just a real nice place to work. We were like a big family.

"Mr. Thompson played a big part in the whole thing. He was like a father to a lot of us.

"He was really interested in the community and thought the bank had to be part of it, so we participated in all the community activities. We had someone as a member of every civic organization."

THE OLD HANDS at City National Bank joined new President Royce D. Clay, center, in his office. They are, from left, Teller Inez Stewart, who was been there since 1971, Head Teller Sue Womack, an employee since 1957, Executive Vice President Bobby Lemons, who has been there since 1973, and Board Chairman Raymond Fuller, who has been on the board of directors since 1976.

worked hard to justify the appointment.

Her modern day counterpart is Vice President Susan Wallis.

"Her customers were very special to her," said Ray Anne Carlock, who worked at the bank for 39 years, including her first 13 at the old building.

"I don't think anybody worked any harder than she did to please her customers.

"That was when women were just beginning to be given jobs that had been held by men, and she worked above and beyond to make things happen for them."

But the old building, nice as it was for its day, gradually became obsolete -- and, more pertinently -- too small.

Teller and former bookkeeper and proof department employee Sue Womack, who has been at CNB since 1957, recalled the exhileration of moving a block east to the new building at 228 Elm St. on May 1, 1960.

This was one of the capstones of Mr. Charlie's career, along with the creation of Lake C-City and TU Electric's Morgan Creek Plant and other accomplishments.

A spacious, modern two story building constructed by local contractor Virgil Stone, who still looks after its maintenance, the new bank had everything the old ones never did -- large individual and well furnished offices for the president and vice presidents, a very capacious lobby, upstairs meeting rooms, space for the first trust department and a drive up window on the south side.

Ms. Womack was the first drive up teller, and the service was so popular that a second window had to be added.

"I helped move over here," she said. "We were in a lot smaller building and crowded, so we really felt like we were moving into a nice, big place.

"There was plenty of room for everything we wanted -- supplies, machines. . . We have never run out of space."

Other than Thompson, who had his law office with partner Tom Rees Sr. next door across the alley that the bank's vehicular customers drove down, the officers who ran the bank then were Executive Vice President Pritchett, Vice President Chesney and Cashier Wayne Shawn.

CMS students participate in Mars Millennium Project

This year Colorado Middle School students participated in the Mars Millennium Project, a thematic unit handed down from the U.S. Department of Education and NASA.

The project engaged teams of students to imagine the future by learning from the past and present. The goal of CMS students was to design a community for 100 people on the planet Mars in the year 2030. Students worked on theses project in most of their classes.

The Grace Museum, Region 14 Education Service Center, and other sponsors presented an exhibit at the Grace called Space 2000: Visions of the Future. Students' projects were displayed on the third floor. The exhibit also included the artwork of Robert McCall, NASA artifacts, moon rocks, Hubble Telescope photographs, and a space suit.

Dare Rally to be held April 6

On Thursday, April 6, 2000, Colorado ISD will be hosting the Dare to Care Rally. The program will begin at 6 p.m. in the Colorado Middle School Auditorium. Students are encouraged to invite grandparents, family members and friends.

This program will focus on prevention of drug and alcohol abuse in our community.

There will be performances by students from each campus in our school district, the Wallace Center Choir, and Leader of the Pack awards will be given to individuals who have made a difference in Colorado ISD.

This year's special guest is Miss Texas, Yanci Yarbrough. The entire community is invited to share this event.

Students S.H.A.R.E. with Wallace Senior Citizens

This year's 7th and 8th grade G/T students have been quite busy. They are currently working on a project called S.H.A.R.E. which stands for "Students Helping and Respecting Elders."

The program is designed for the students to go to the Wallace Center and interact with the elders. These students not only talk with and build friendships with them, they also put on programs.

These programs range from skits to playing songs on musical instruments. In all, both the students and the elders enjoy these visits very much.

These visits give the students and elders an opportunity to interact with each other. These visits will also help everyone involved to share wonderful memories.

Drug Free

We know drug free is the way to be,
And here are some reasons why:
You'll be happy and healthy
But if you do drugs, you'll die.
Drugs kill your brain cells,
Give you bad breath and dizzy spells,
Make your teeth rot away,
Give you health problems with no delay.
Drugs will make you unsuccessful,
You will also be very forgetful.
They take away your rights and dignity,
Steal your future, hope and sanity.
Now you know the things drugs do,
Stay drug free your whole life through.

F.C.C.L.A. Makes a Difference

This year F.C.C.L.A. (Family, Career and Community Leaders of America) has made a difference around CHS and the community.

Formerly Future Homemakers of America, these students have trimmed trees, cleaned up lots, painted park benches and cut weeds on the streets. Students will also donate cookies for "Christmas in April" for the workers.

2nd grader Kirk Downing & F.C.C.L.A. member Roseann Mills

Greeting new students was another project for the organization. Students new to the CHS campus were given packets full of items donated by local businesses.

Amy DeLoera and Megan Merrell placed second at the regional meeting with the project and are advancing to state competition April 27-29th.

Other activities F.C.C.L.A. students are involved with include: volunteering at the local day care center, reading with 2nd graders, working with kindergarten classes, job shadowing in local businesses, and sponsoring Red Ribbon Week at their campus.

CHS Band Honors

The CHS Band has had many honors this year. The CHS Color Guard advanced to the finals and finished in fourth place out of 22 groups at the ASU Band Camp in July.

The CHS Band received a Division 1 "Superior" rating at both the Big Country Marching Contest and at UIL Marching Contest. In all, 22 students qualified for All-District Band Honors, 11 qualified for All-Region Band Honors, and two students qualified for All-Area Honors.

There were 44 students who competed in UIL Region Solo and Ensemble Contest, and 27 students qualified for State Solo and Ensemble Contest.

Coming up, the CHS Band will compete in UIL Concert and Sight Reading Contest on April 19th. On Apr. 29th, the band will compete in the Bluebonnet Classic Music Festival in San Antonio.

The band is directed by Jeremy Ross, Jincy Ross and Joe Harper.

CMS Band has Banner Year

The CMS Band's 1999-2000 year has been one of the best in the last six years. The CMS Band started off the year as being selected Outstanding Middle School Band in the West Texas Fair and Rodeo Parade.

The band then followed this honor with performances at CMS pep rallies, a Slaton High School football game and marching in the Colorado City Christmas Parade.

The 7th and 8th grade band had 21 students selected to the All-District Band in Abilene and received 61 medals at the District Solo and Ensemble Contest.

In March, the Concert Band attended the Cisco Invitational Concert and Sight-Reading Contest where the band received an Excellent rating in Concert and a Superior rating in Sight-Reading.

The 1999-2000 year has produced one of the best Stage Bands the middle school has had in recent years. The Stage Band is directed by Mrs. Linda Clay and has 25 members. They have performed at the Christmas Concert, local nursing homes and the 100 year celebration at City National Bank.

The band will be finishing up the year with performances at the District UIL Contest in Sweetwater and competing in a Concert Contest in New Braunfels, Texas.

The Colorado Middle School Band is directed by Joe Harper, Linda Clay, Jeremy Ross and Jincy Ross.

National Junior Honor Society

Seventeen members of the National Junior Honor Society recently enjoyed a trip to Dallas, Texas. The excursion was both educational and entertaining.

Their first stop was the Sixth Floor Museum in downtown Dallas, the site of John F. Kennedy's assassination. Next on the agenda was Fair Park. While there, they toured the many exhibits at the Science Place and enjoyed the IMAX movie "Fantasia 2000." Then it was on to the Galleria for ice skating and shopping. Finally, they ended their day with a rockin' meal at the Hard Rock Cafe.

Those attending this fun-filled Dallas trip were: Adrian Arispe, Kim Barr, Hannah Bassham, Lori Davila, Richy Goodman, Amanda Guerra, Sandra Leija, Nicole Neff, Cole Ratliff, Jennifer Rios, Christopher Spear, Patrick Spear, Fallon Walker, Ashley Wright, Dustin Wylie, Victoria Zermeno, and Lauren Zigler.

Adult sponsors were Sylvia Davila, Sally Neff, Ann Bazany, Mary Gaona, and Vince Gaona. National Junior Honor Society sponsor at Colorado Middle School is Cari Limmer.

The Colorado Middle School chapter of the National Junior Honor Society will have an induction ceremony for new members on Tues., Apr. 18, 2000 at 7 p.m. Prospective members are going through the application process at this time. Good luck to all of these students.

Students Aim for Success

The Texas Department of Health awarded Mitchell County with a Title V matching grant for the purpose of conducting abstinence education programs throughout the county for the next two school years. The total value of the grant is $104,000.

"The grant money will be used to maintain a county-wide abstinence education program," said Program Director Gayle Cooper. "The main focus of the program will be to educate our students on the psychological and health gains to be realized by abstaining from sexual activity until marriage."

The program is also designed to promote self control, self respect and self discipline in all areas of the students lives.

Aim for Success is the name of the nationally acclaimed educational organization which promotes sexual abstinence among young people. This year over 100,000 students and their parents will hear these powerful programs.

They have received local, state and national recognition including Focus on the Family's Citizen Magazine and letters of commendation from Former First Lady Nancy Reagan and Texas Governor George W. Bush.

According to Aim for Successs statistics, 78% of teenagers have never had sex (90% junior high and 59% senior high). The Aim for Success program will be taught in all Mitchell County schools grades 6-12 along with the abstinence curriculum currently being taught in all schools.

All Star Students

For the second year in a row, CMS seventh graders have participated in the ALL STARS program, a drug-free program which is funded by the Texas Council on Drug and Alcohol Abuse. The program is conducted by prevention specialists of the Snyder Area Council on Drug and Alcohol Abuse.

Components of this program include increasing students' personal commitment to avoid the use of drugs and to increase the degree to which students are socially bonded to positive friendship groups and social institutions.

The goal of the ALL STARS program is to keep the youth from experimenting with and abusing alcohol, tobacco, other drugs and risky behaviors. Ideals students are encouraged to adopt include acceptance, achievement, adventure, beauty, creativity, education, faith, fame, fitness, freedom, integrity, leadership, peace, respect, stength and wealth.

The current 7th graders involved with the ALL STARS program successfully graduated from the program on Thursday, March 30. Students who made commitments regarding nine behavior choices received their ALL STARS rings, which serve as a reminder to students of the commitments they made.

CHS Student Council Serves as President

This year Colorado High School Student Council served as president of District 8 in the Texas Association of Student Councils. This district covers almost all of West Texas, from Sweetwater to Van Horn and Del Rio to Post.

On March 21st, Colorado City hosted the district convention with 680 students attending and representing 29 schools.

Colorado City Student Council was recognized as an outstanding student council in the state, and sponsor, Kathy Wilson, was named Outstanding Advisor. In addition, Will McAdams, student council president at CHS, won a $500 scholarship and was also named "Outstanding Boy in the District".

7th graders to represent CMS at state competition

Seventh grade FHA students will be representing Colorado City at the FHA State Competition to be held in Ft. Worth April 27-29th. Local members Amy Eades, Theresa Molina and Heather Sturdivant placed second in regional competition in Lewisville on March 3-4 with the presentation of their project "Flags for CMS".

These girls led a drive to put a flag in every classroom, and, along with other FHA members, currently alternate leading the "Pledge of Allegiance" every Monday morning over the school's public address system. In order to advance to state competition, they had to compete with seven other teams, many of whom were freshmen in high school. We wish them the best of luck!
