5'9" And 800 Pounds...

Local Artist Making Statue Of Roughneck

By JOHN LONG

Snyder artist Terry Gilbreth is working on his first life-sized bronze statue. When it is completed it will grace the lobby of the Abilene National Bank in Abilene.

Cast piecemeal in 14 parts at Gilbreth Studio and Art Foundry, 3206 23rd St., the statue will be 5 feet-9 inches tall when assembled and weigh nearly 800 pounds.

It is a statue of a roughneck and is entitled, appropriately, "Roughneck." For his homework, Gilbreth studied pictures and went to a rig where roughnecks were working.

He hopes to have the statue completed this weekend. Then, afterward, he can start work on another life-sized bronze, plus some smaller bronzes, for the Hyatt Hotel in Ft. Worth. Gilbreth said he has entered into an agreement with the Hyatt Hotel (what was formerly Texas Hotel) to provide between five and nine bronzes for it by the first of January.

For the roughneck piece, however, "the hardest part for me was scaling it up," said Gilbreth, who is accustomed to making bronzes on a one-eighth scale.

Normally, Gilbreth's bronzes find their way into private collections, but the roughneck piece will be publicly displayed, and that pleases him.

"The main reason I like that is so many people can enjoy it," he said. "This way, lots of people can enjoy it whether they can afford it or not."

Despite this being his first life-sized work, Gilbreth said his affinity is always greatest for the piece he is currently engaged on.

"I'm mostly excited just about the piece I'm currently working on," he said.

After Eleven Days...

Detroit Strike Ends

DETROIT (AP)—Striking municipal workers today ratified a three-year contract with the city of Detroit, ending an 11-day walkout just two days before the start of the Republican National Convention. The pact contains an innovative provision modeled on auto industry contracts.

Meeting in Cobo Arena, 1,200 of the 9,000 striking members of Council 25 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees stood to signify acceptance of the city's offer of an average wage increase of $3,229 over the three-year pact. City officials had feared the strike—which has resulted in piles of uncollected garbage throughout the city—would disrupt the week-long GOP convention that is expected to bring 20,000 delegates and visitors as well as another 8,000 media representatives to Detroit.

Union officials said city bus drivers and sanitation workers were ready to return to their jobs today, but city officials were not immediately available for comment on their plans. Lloyd Simpson, chief negotiator for the union, said the rank-and-file ratification of the contract was "very gratifying. It showed the members had confidence in their leadership."

Keeping Cool A Challenge...

Heat Wave Shows No Signs Of Moving On

By The Associated Press—The spreading high pressure area that has turned the Southwest and much of the Midwest into an oven shows no sign of moving on, leaving residents to their own devices for keeping cool.

An unofficial tally by The Associated Press, compiled from local reports, indicates at least 338 people in 14 states have died from causes attributable to the heat wave, which is now in its 21st day in some parts of the Southwest.

The toll includes 87 deaths in Texas, 83 in Arkansas, 40 in Missouri, 33 in Oklahoma, 27 in Tennessee, 15 in Mississippi, 13 in Kansas, 16 in Illinois and 11 in Georgia, five in Louisiana, four in Alabama, two each in Kentucky and Indiana and one in Nebraska.

While health experts continued their warnings about the dangers of the heat wave—especially to elderly—others tried to find ways to cope.

In Alabama, officials at the Fort Payne Bank resorted to an "old remedy" for cooling drive-in tellers. "At our drive-ins, we put a block of ice in a bucket and put a fan behind it and blew the cool air on the girls," said Ron Hollis, the bank's chief executive officer.

"The girls have been really sweating it," he said, adding that 100-pound blocks of ice didn't last long in 102 degree weather.

The heat wave is also causing record-breaking electricity demands. For utilities and may bring back-breaking bills to consumers. Record consumption figures were posted Friday by utility companies in Texas, Alabama, Arkansas and Illinois.

"Each day we go on, the air conditioners stay on longer," said Neil Nelson, an official for the Northern States Power Co. in Sioux Falls, S.D. "Everybody wants to keep cool."

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Friday, 98 degrees; low, 71 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Saturday, 76 degrees. precipitation, none; total precipitation for 1980 to date, 9.81 inches.

West Texas: Sunny hot days and fair and warm nights. Highs mid 90s to near 100. Lows upper 60s and 70s except near 60 mountains.

In Emotional Reunion...

Hostage Joins Parents

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—A "euphoric" Richard Queen had an emotional hospital reunion with his parents early today and U.S. officials promised a more definitive report on the illness which led to the former hostage's sudden release by the Iranian government.

Preliminary tests by American and Swiss doctors indicated the 28-year-old Queen was suffering from a neurological problem involving some lack of coordination and a stiffness in his left arm, U.S. officials said.

"The doctors are optimistic, they are quite optimistic, and that's the most important thing," his father, Harold Queen, said after he and his wife Jeanne spent 50 minutes at their son's bedside in the Zurich University Clinic shortly after their midnight arrival from New York.

"We are overwhelmed, Richard is not as we have known him when we last saw him a year ago. He needs treatment, but we are confident," he said.

Added Mrs. Queen: "We are deeply grateful to the Swiss and to everybody who has been helpful also to the Iranians for having restored him to freedom."

Queen's father and U.S. Ambassador to Switzerland Richard Vine said they had no knowledge of a Swiss television report of rumors that the freed hostage would undergo an operation today for treatment of a brain aneurysm, a balloon-like sac formed by the enlargement of a weakened artery.

Earlier, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said Queen, a vice consul four months into his first tour of duty when the U.S. Embassy in Tehran was seized last Nov. 4, was not in pain and in fact appeared "euphoric" after his flight to freedom.

Queen himself said his major symptom was dizziness; that he believed he was freed because the militants "figured it was safer to release me than to take the chance on complications developing" and that he expected to return to the United States early next week, according to a telephone interview with ABC-TV News in New York.

Queen was quoted, as saying he did not know whether the other hostages had been dispersed to towns outside Tehran following the aborted U.S. rescue mission in April, as claimed by the miliitants, but that there had been "a lot of movement" in the embassy. He did not know whether anyone was taken away because "we were blindfolded whenever we went from one room to another, even if we went from one room to a bathroom."

The Queens, who lived in Scarsdale, N.Y. but moved to Lincolnville, Maine to avoid the press following the embassy seizure, left New York shortly after their son arrived in Zurich and was carried off a commercial plane on a stretcher following the flight from Tehran.

Rodeo Parade Set Wednesday

Susan Toups, the 1980 Queen of the American Association of Sheriff Poses and Riding Clubs, will ride in the parade that precedes the 45th annual Scurry County Rodeo Wednesday.

For the parade, besides the Scurry County Sheriff's Posse, riding clubs and sheriff's posses will come from Dawson County, Howard County, Andrews County, and Lubbock County, report organizers for the event.

In addition to the riding clubs, Junior Oates, president of American Association of Sheriff Poses and Riding Clubs, will also be on hand, along with Weldon Garrett of Region I, and that region's riding club princess, Julie Johnson. Representing Region III is Jim Alexander and Renee Powers, and from Region VI are Buford Hull and Tammie Hicks.

The rodeo parade begins at 5 p.m. Wednesday, and helps launch the rodeo that begins at 8 p.m.

The rodeo continues through Saturday at the Scurry County Coliseum. Tickets are $3 per person for general admission and $4 for box seats.

Featured events in the rodeo are bareback bronc riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, team roping, barrel racing, and bull riding. Side events are wild cow milking and a junior goat sacking.

More than 300 entrants are expected to participate for prize money totaling about $25,000.

Weekend update

Canadian Deputy Shot

CANADIAN, Texas (AP)—A Hemphill County sheriff's deputy was killed early this morning by at least one shotgun blast while answering a silent burglar alarm at a downtown pharmacy, authorities said.

Deputy M.L. "Corky" Guthrie, 52, was hit by a shotgun blast fired through the windshield of his patrol car as he arrived at Ladd's Pharmacy just before 4 a.m., Hemphill County sheriff's investigator Pat Moore said today.

Call For End To Embargo

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Declaring that President Carter has broken his pledge to farmers, the National Farmers Organization is calling for an end to the embargo of grain to the Soviet Union as soon as the Summer Olympic Games end.

Plane Hits Condominium

OKOBOJI, Iowa (AP)—An eight-unit resort-area condominium was engulfed in flames after a twin-engine plane crashed into the building, but neighbors reacting quickly saved the lives of the occupants, witnesses said.

Five people were injured in the accident late Friday. "It all happened so fast," said David Fensline, who lives in a nearby condominium. "The unit that was hit was burning fairly well, then the whole structure just started."

To Disclose Tax Figures

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ronald Reagan will break a long-standing personal rule after the upcoming Republican National Convention and reveal information about his income tax returns, his press secretary says.

"Information regarding his 1979 taxes will be provided subsequent to the convention," press secretary Ed Gray said Friday, "because he will be the Republican presidential nominee and, as a candidate, he feels it is appropriate that he do so."

350 Arrested In Iran For Plotting

By The Associated Press—More than 350 people, including a number of high-ranking army officials, have been arrested in connection with a plot disclosed earlier this week to overthrow Iran's revolutionary government, a Tehran newspaper reported today.

The newspaper Azadegan, which is affiliated with the nation's powerful clergy, also said "more arrests are to be made."

A member of the nation's powerful Revolutionary Council said today, "The plotters wanted to release the American hostages, then to take some high officials as hostages and bomb important places such as the residence of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini."

Khomeini, Iran's revolutionary leader, was quoted by Pars as telling a group of pro-government Kurdish guerrillas: "You saw for yourselves that there was supposed to have been a so-called coup d'etat in the past two or three days.

WTC Resumes Registration

Pre-registration for fall classes at Western Texas College will continue through this week.

Students are to go to the counseling office in the Student Center to work out schedules. They will be billed for tuition and fees in August.

Hours in the counseling office are 9 a.m. to noon and 1-4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Adults who are considering returning to school after being out for several years are especially encouraged to visit the counseling office during the pre-registration period. Fall classes will begin on Aug. 27.

Retail Sales Showing Signs Of Improvement

By KRISTIN GOFF
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Retail sales, which have tumbled steeply since the start of the year, may be showing the first signs of improvement.

While consumers are clearly still cautious about big purchases and borrowing, some economists think the worst may be over.

The government's decision to disband the credit controls it imposed in March has helped alleviate some concerns: consumers had when those emergency steps were taken, analysts say.

Interest rates, in some cases, are lower than they were a couple of months ago. And purchasing plans may be picking up in a cyclical fashion after months of decline.

The Commerce Department reported this past week that retail sales in June rose 1.4 percent from sales the previous month. That was the first improvement in sales since January.

Separately, the government reported that consumers had repaid $3.43 billion more in debts than they borrowed in May, reducing consumer debt at a record annual rate of 13 percent. That followed a steep 8 percent annual rate decline in consumer debt in April which may have left many consumers in a position to borrow and buy once again.

Retail sales, as measured in the Commerce Department report, came to $75.35 billion in June. Automobile sales, which rose nearly 4 percent from the previous month, helped bolster those figures after auto sales had fallen to below their lowest levels in the 1974-75 recession.

Retail sales are a key indicator of economic health and represent a third of the nation's Gross National Product, or value of its total economic output.

Michael Evans, who heads a Washington-based economic forecasting company bearing his name, suggests that the $20 billion falloff in retail sales in the April-June quarter led the economy to a steep 8 percent drop in GNP.

But "the worst of the recession is over," he declares. While the recovery in sales may be gradual, he predicts a rebound by the end of the year.

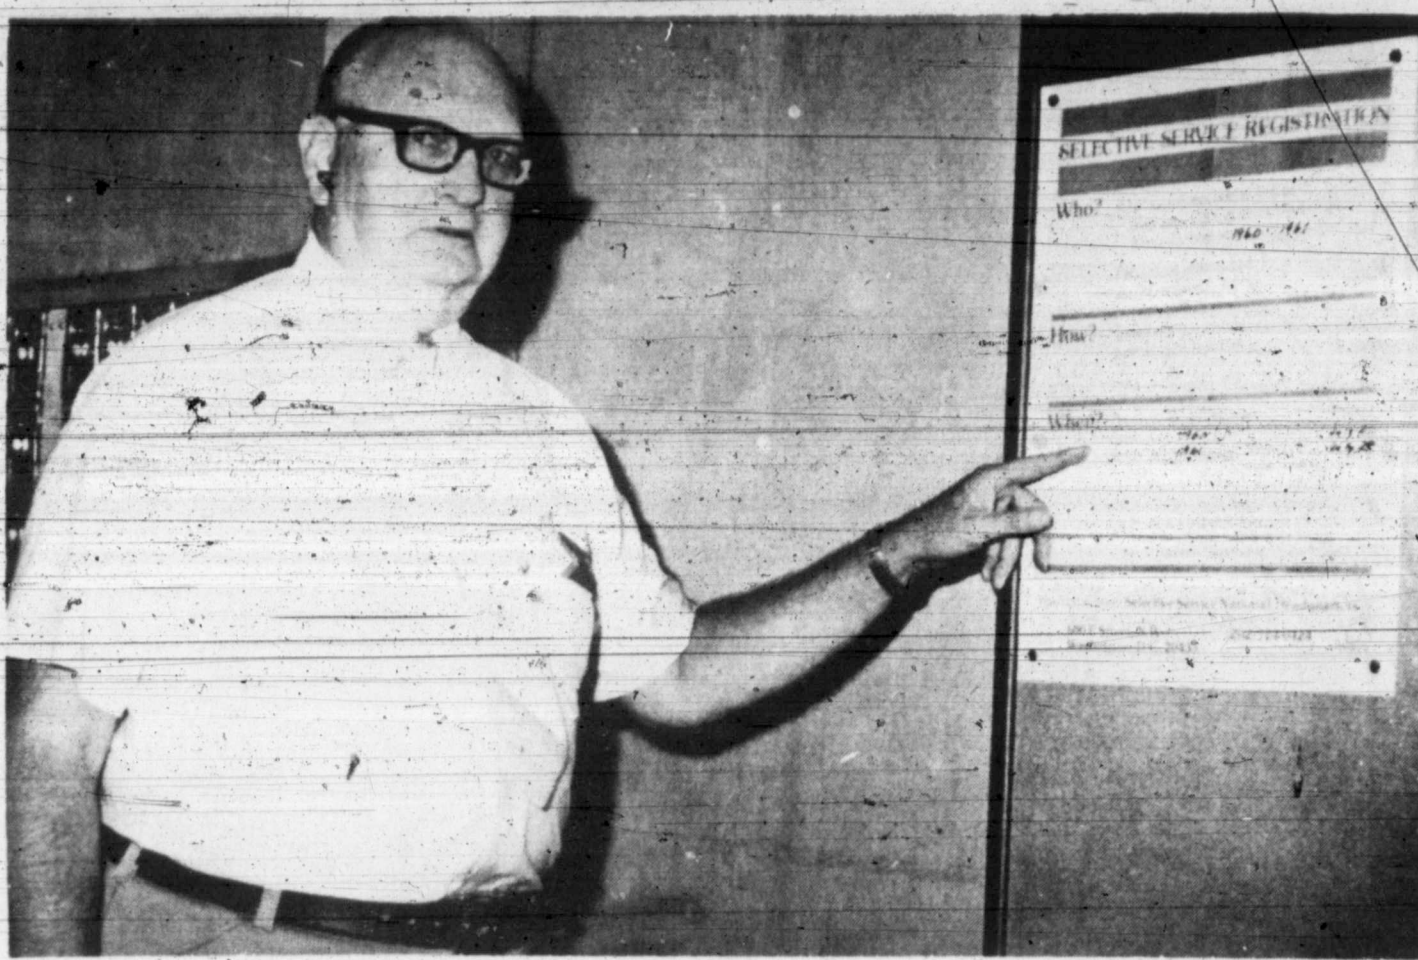

But Courtenay Slater, Commerce Department economist, warned against making too much of the latest retail sales figures.

"I think that in general it's an encouraging report but it is much too early to say if it is the beginning of a trend or just a blip," she told reporters.

The Conference Board, a business-funded research group, also found some hope of improvement in general business conditions because of expected increases in consumer sentiment.

Its survey of 5,000 households last month resulted in the first increase in its consumer confidence index in eight months.

The index climbed to 49 points in June, up nearly 6 points from May. The index measures assessments of the current and future economic conditions and is based on a base of 100 established in the 1969-70 period.

Senior Citizens Holding Fund Raisers This Week

Senior Citizens will be busy with fund-raising activities for the Senior Center during the coming week.

They will be operating concession stands in the coliseum each night in conjunction with the programs scheduled there, and will also be selling and taking tickets while the rodeo is in progress.

There will still be numerous activities in the Center. Wednesday will be games day from 10-11:30 a.m. The Sing-Along will be held about 11:30 a.m. Friday.

Activities in the Center each week include quilting, air exercise class, games and hobby groups. Outside the Center, there is swimming in the indoor pool at Western Texas College starting at 3:30 p.m. on Tuesdays, bowling at Snyder Lanes at 9:15 a.m. on Wednesdays, and miniature golf at Westerner Golfland at 9:30 a.m. on Fridays. Square dances are held in the National Guard Armory on the first and third Monday evenings, with round dancing on the second and fourth Mondays. The Senior Center is open from 8:30-9 p.m. on Thursdays for games.

Plans are being completed for a trip to Colorado from July 28-Aug. 3, with 29 persons to be in the travel group.

The Senior Center is located at 2603 Avenue M and is open from 8:30-4:30 each weekday.

Congress approved a bill outlawing the Communist party in 1954.

For 19-20 Year-Olds...

Draft Sign-Ups Here July 21 To August 1

Male citizens and resident aliens born in 1960 or 1961 are required to register with the Selective Service during the two-week period from July 21 to Aug. 1.

That registration, however, does not extend to persons already on active duty in the armed forces.

Otherwise, those who fail to register face a possible felony conviction.

Across the country, the registrations will be conducted at U.S. Post Offices. The local post office is located at 2312 Ave. R.

"It's just a registration," said local postmaster Jack Tilson. "There's no classification to it."

"All we're going to do," Tilson explained, "is hand

the cards out and see that they're filled out and ask for some identification."

The cards Tilson is referring to are the registration cards in which the registrants are asked for their name, age, and address. On one side of the card are the questions, and on the other side are directions on how to complete the questions.

It is a move for registration only, to improve the overall readiness of Selective Service to respond in an emergency. There will be no examination of classification—those steps are not necessary unless an actual draft were re-instituted. Should that be required, each potential draftee would have full opportunity to seek an exemption or deferment. The post office was selected as the site for the registration because, said

Tilson, "we're the most convenient and the only thing located in practically every community."

Thieves Take Entire House

SUGAR LAND (AP)—Joe Seckler has spent a good part of his law enforcement career catching people who steal from homes, but now he's looking for thieves who took an entire house, stock and living room.

Seckler, a detective with the Harris County Sheriff's Department, said the "rather unusual" case began with Byron W. Frierson, a land development company vice president, reported the theft of a five-room house. Frierson told authorities he was a little puzzled last week after the prospective buyer couldn't find a company-owned house that was up for sale.

It didn't take him long to find out why. The five-room house had been lifted from its foundations and carted away. "I went out and it was truly gone," Frierson said Friday. "In my 10 years of law enforcement, I've never worked on a house theft."

Seckler said: "I've worked on cases involving mobile homes and recreation vehicles, but never a stationary home."

The only information that authorities have been able to put together about the theft is that it occurred before July 4 and the thieves were helped by an unsuspecting road crew working nearby.

Frierson said the culprits apparently talked to the crew about the house, then asked the workers to level off some ground so the $5,000 house could be moved.

"I find that a little brazen," Frierson said Friday after his company had posted a $200 reward for the return of the missing home.

"If anybody notices he's got a new neighbor with a new white house with green trim and asbestos roof, he can get himself $200 by calling the sheriff's department," Frierson said.

Search teams found the bodies Thursday. One was trapped in a logjam below the volcano, said Cowlitz County Sheriff Les Nelson, and crews needed a chain saw to recover the body. The other body was found nearby.

Their identities were not immediately available.

BURGLAR NABBER—Richard Vansickle saved the day for local police Thursday when he nabbed a burglary suspect. His wife Kay made the call that alerted officers. Together, they were responsible for the apprehension of a 20-year subject. (SDN Staff Photo)

Passersby Could Not Turn Backs On Crime

By JOHN LONG
As Richard and Kay Vansickle were driving down the street by Minute Market early Thursday morning they knew something was amiss when they saw a man stealthily crawl through the door of the convenience store. Although the time was nearly 1 a.m. and although they were only passersby, they decided to do something about it.

As Richard got out and covered the burglar's exit, Kay went to a telephone and called police. The burglar, however, had other ideas and tried to run away. He did, for about half a block, but was chased down and held at bay by Richard until police arrived.

Choice For NRC Chief Announced

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Harvard professor who is a nuclear engineer and a critic of the proliferation of nuclear weapons is President Carter's choice to become chairman of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

The appointment of Albert Carnesale, 44, was announced Wednesday at the White House. Carnesale, who must be confirmed by the Senate, will replace Richard Kennedy on the five-member commission. John A. Hearne, who had been acting chairman, will remain on the panel.

The NRC has been divided in recent months on how fast the commercial nuclear industry should be expanded. There has been a license freeze on reactors since the Three Mile Island accident.

Arrested On Drug Charge

An 18-year-old man was arrested late Friday night by police and booked on a charge of possession of a controlled substance.

The suspect was taken into custody about 11:15 p.m. in the 500 block of 35th St. Officers said a quantity of pills was found in his possession and that the pills will be sent to a laboratory for analysis. The arrest was made by Robert Harbin. Only a few minutes earlier, Harbin had also worked a traffic accident in an alley leading into the 500 block of 35th St. That mishap occurred about 11:10 p.m. and involved a 1979 Ford driven by Jerry Cline that struck a gas meter. Only minor damages were reported.

The extended dry and hot weather we have been having has caused many plant problems. These in average years might be minor, but this year have developed into major catastrophes.

FRUIT TREES — trees already weakened by the presence of borers are having difficulty living due to high transpiration through the leaves and limited ability to take up water and nutrients from the soil. Borer sprays applied to the lower four or five feet of the trunk may help at this time. These stone fruit trees should also be treated with paradichlorobenzene crystals (moth balls) between October 15 and November 15.

BAGWORMS AND WEBWORMS — bagworms are common on evergreen trees and shrubs and these should be closely watched for damage. These bags may reach 1½ inches in length when mature. Best control can be obtained by spraying when the worms are small using sevin, malathion, or diazinon. Webworms are sometimes confused with bagworms. The webworm spins a heavy cobweb over an entire branch and the hairy worms feed inside the web. Control is difficult since the web must be broken and insecticides applied inside the web.

MEALY BUGS — These insects are showing up more and more on shrubs and trees. The small insect's body is covered with a white, waxy excretion and their presence may appear as small tufts of cotton at the base of leaves, twig scars and other depressed areas. Plants infested with mealy bugs are stunted and unthrifty. Sprays containing malathion or diazinon will control.

BERMUDA MITES — many yards are being damaged from bermuda mites. These mites are so small they cannot be seen without some magnification. Mites suck the sap from the plants. Plants first appear suffering from extreme drought, then spots turn light bluish color, then brown. Spots may range from the size of a coffee can to several feet in diameter. Grass can be thinned out severely from mite damage. The use of a diazinon spray will usually control bermuda mites.

HERBICIDE DAMAGE — trees and shrubs are easily damaged from herbicides. Spray drift and/or residue of herbicide can cause considerable damage when incorrectly applied too close to desirable plants. Be very careful when applying herbicides. Follow directions on the label.

Small Engine Class At WTC

The repair of small engines will be studied in a Continuing Education course scheduled at Western Texas College from July 21-30.

The course will be of special interest to farmers and ranchers as well as to others who work with small engines. Jimmy Hess will be instructor and fee will be $26 per person.

Persons wishing further information about the course or to reserve space in the class are to call the Continuing Education office at 573-8511, extension 240.

Soviets Consider U.S. A Trigger-Happy Nation

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet officials find President Carter's foreign policy inconsistent and consider America to be "trigger-happy" and tempted to attack the Soviets, administration officials have been told.

The Soviet view was presented to Carter in a study by the International Communications Agency, an independent government entity that advises the administration on foreign perceptions of the United States.

In a 19-page report prepared by Gregory Guroff, chief of the agency's East European branch, Soviet officials were quoted as saying they see Carter's foreign policy "as inconsistent and, as they like to say, 'zig-zaggy.' They claim to find the U.S. unpredictable and unreliable."

In this regard, the report said, the Soviets have increasingly focused their concern personally on Carter and his chief advisers, viewing the actions of the U.S. leaders as increasingly hostile toward the Soviet Union.

"To the extent that Soviets see policy as a function of personality, they are cautiously optimistic that the relationship can only improve after the election, in part on the grounds that Americans cannot long ignore the importance of a workable relationship with the Soviet Union."

"At the same time, there is a strong feeling that the Soviet Union cannot do business with the current president," it added. The report noted, however, that "the cumulative effect of American actions of this spring is beginning to raise doubts that President Carter has been the sole reason for declining relations."

According to the report, Soviets at all levels see Soviet-American relations as their most important international relationship.

"They appear to desire the establishment of a Soviet-American codominion to stabilize a frightening world and avoid what is most feared: a third-party problem escalating into a superpower confrontation," the report said.

The report was prepared from detailed interviews with American diplomats, businessmen, reporters and professors considered to have especially good contacts among "middle to upper middle" Soviet officials. The Americans were promised anonymity and the Soviet officials are not named.

The Americans interviewed said they found most Soviets convinced that Russia would not be the first to launch a nuclear attack.

"While clearly they will continue to probe American strength and resolve, direct confrontation appears to be an unthinkable thought," the report said.

It added that the Russians fear that the United States, "untempered by the horrors of war on its own territory, might be attempted to attack or that war might arise out of a third-country conflict."

The report said the Soviets view the United States as "trigger happy and erratic, willing to commit its military strength much more readily than the Soviet Union." Such "militarism" is even more dangerous in Soviet eyes "if the U.S. perceives itself to be losing pre-eminence around the world."

Retail Sales Showing Signs Of Improvement

By KRISTIN GOFF

NEW YORK (AP)—Retail sales, which have tumbled steeply since the start of the year, may be showing the first signs of improvement.

While consumers are clearly still cautious about big purchases and borrowing, some economists think the worst may be over.

The government's decision to disband the credit controls it imposed in March has helped alleviate some concerns consumers had when those emergency steps were taken, analysts say.

Interest rates, in some cases, are lower than they were a couple of months ago. And purchasing plans may be picking up in a cyclical fashion after months of decline.

The Commerce Department reported this past week that retail sales in June rose 1.4 percent from sales the previous month. That was the first improvement in sales since January.

Separately, the government reported that consumers had repaid $3.43 billion more in debts than they borrowed in May, reducing consumer debt at a record annual rate of 13 percent. That followed a steep 8 percent annual rate decline in consumer debt in April which may have left many consumers in a position to borrow and buy once again.

Retail sales, as measured in the Commerce Department report, came to $75.35 billion in June. Automobile sales, which rose nearly 4 percent from the previous month, helped bolster those figures after auto sales had fallen to below their lowest levels in the 1974-75 recession.

Retail sales are a key indicator of economic health, and represent a third of the nation's Gross National Product, or value of its total economic output.

Michael Evans, who heads a Washington-based economic forecasting company bearing his name, suggests that the $20 billion falloff in retail sales in the April-June quarter led the economy to a steep 8 percent drop in GNP.

But "the worst of the recession is over," he declares. While the recovery in sales may be gradual, he predicts a rebound by the end of the year.

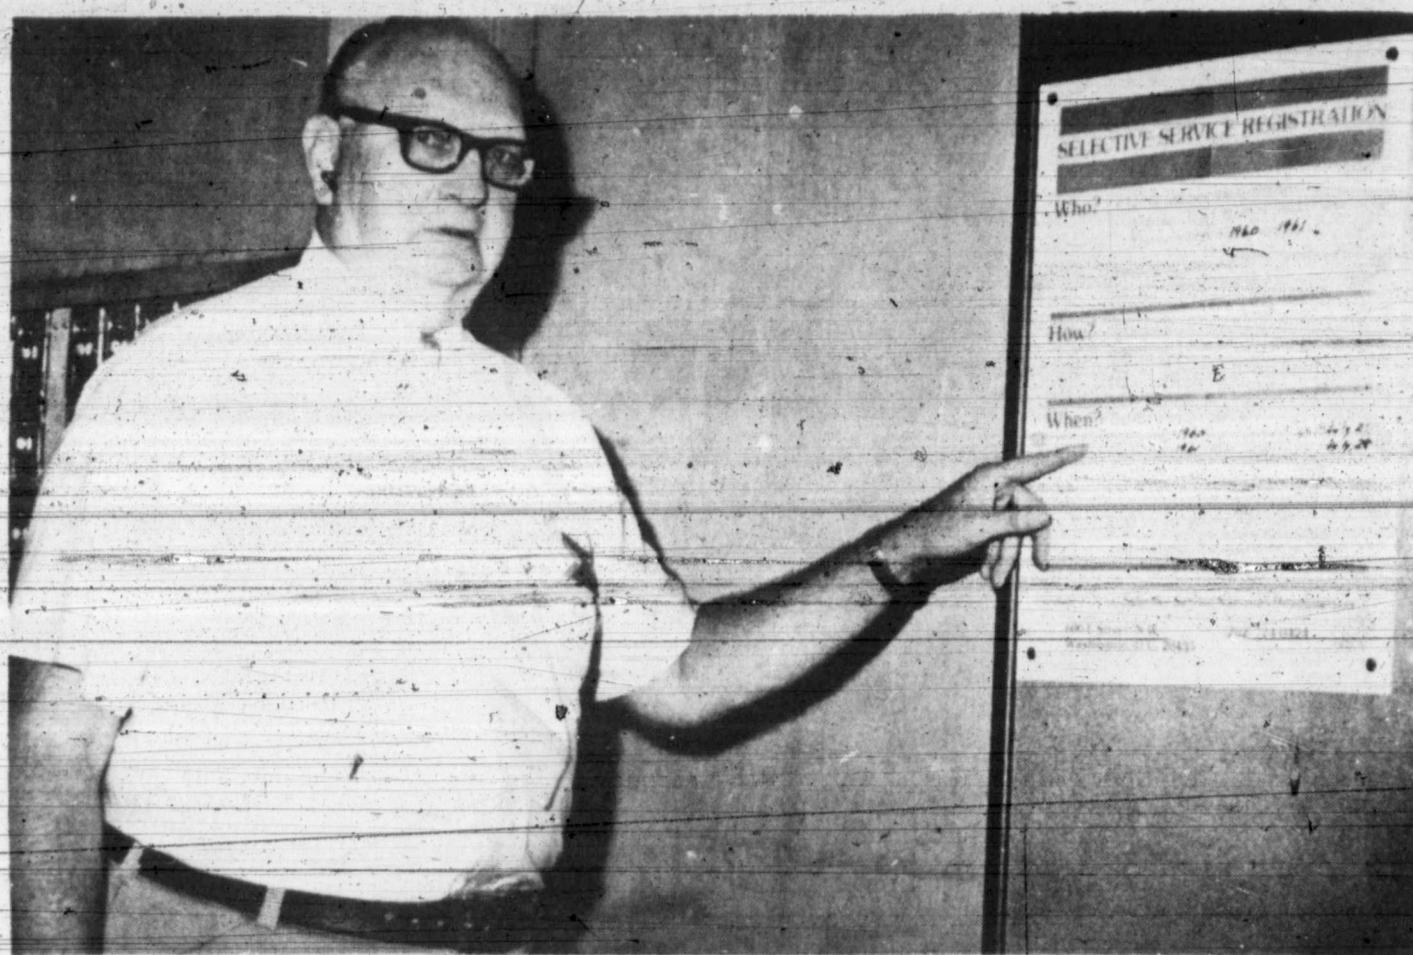

But Courtenay Slater, Commerce Department economist, warned against making too much of the latest retail sales figures.

"I think that in general it's an encouraging report... but it is much too early to say if it is the beginning of a trend or just a blip," she told reporters.

The Conference Board, a business-funded research group, also found some hope of improvement in general business conditions because of expected increases in consumer sentiment.

Its survey of 5,000 households last month resulted in the first increase in its consumer confidence index in eight months.

The index climbed to 48 points in June, up nearly 6 points from May. The index measures assessments of the current and future economic conditions and is based on a base of 100 established in the 1969-70 period.

SELECTIVE SERVICE REGISTRATION—Local post master Jack Tilson stands before a Selective Service poster on display at the post office. A registration for men born in 1960 or 1961 will be conducted July 21 to Aug. 1 at post offices across the country. There is as yet, however, no draft. (SDN Staff Photo)

For 19-20 Year-Olds...

Draft Sign-Ups Here July 21 To August 1

Male citizens and resident aliens born in 1960 or 1961 are required to register with the Selective Service during the two-week period from July 21 to Aug. 1.

That registration, however, does not extend to persons already on active duty in the armed forces. Otherwise, those who fail to register face a possible felony conviction.

Across the country, the registrations will be conducted at U.S. Post Offices. The local post office is located at 2312 Ave. R.

"It's just a registration," said local post master Jack Tilson. "There's no classification to it."

"All we're going to do," Tilson explained, "is hand

the cards out and see that they're filled out and ask for some identification."

The cards Tilson is referring to are the registration cards in which the registrants are asked for their name, age, and address. On one side of the card are the questions, and on the other side are directions on how to complete the questions.

It is a move for registration only, to improve the overall readiness of Selective Service to respond in an emergency. There will be no examination of classification—those steps are not necessary unless an actual draft were re-instituted. Should that be required, each potential draftee would have full opportunity to seek an exemption or deferment. The post office was selected as the site for the registration because, said

Tilson, "we're the most convenient and the only thing located in practically every community."

Thieves Take Entire House

SUGAR LAND (AP)—Joe Seckler has spent a good part of his law enforcement career catching people who steal from homes, but now he's looking for thieves who took an entire house—lock, stock and living room.

Seckler, a detective with the Harris County Sheriff's Department, said the "rather unusual" case began with Byron W. Frierson, a land development company vice president, reported the theft of a five-room house.

Frierson told authorities he was a little puzzled last week after the prospective buyer couldn't find a company-owned house that was up for sale.

It didn't take him long to find out why. The five-room house had been lifted from its foundations and carted away. "I went out and it was truly gone," Frierson said Friday.

"In my 10 years of law enforcement, I've never worked on a house theft," Seckler said. "I've worked on cases involving mobile homes and recreation vehicles, but never a stationary home."

The only information that authorities have been able to put together about the theft is that it occurred before July 4 and the thieves were helped by an unsuspecting road crew working nearby.

Frierson said the culprits apparently talked to the crew about the house, then asked the workers to level off some ground so the $5,000 house could be moved.

"I find that a little brazen," Frierson said Friday after his company had posted a $200 reward for the return of the missing home.

"If anybody notices he's got a new neighbor with a new white house with green trim and asbestos roof, he can get himself $200 by calling the sheriff's department," Frierson said.

Two Volcano Victims Found

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—Coordinators of the search for victims of the May 18 eruption of Mount St. Helens say careful planning is beginning to pay off—the bodies of two more people have been found.

Search teams found the bodies Thursday. One was trapped in a logjam below the volcano, said Cowlitz County Sheriff Les Nelson, and crews needed a chain saw to recover the body. The other body was found nearby.

Their identities were not immediately available.

PRECARIOUS TIMES

By Rev. Ben Warton, Director - Creative Ministries First Baptist Church

These are precarious times in which we live. Our neighbors to the east in Sweetwater have begun rationing water. We are all to aware of the effects of the oil embargo, strikes by utility and sanitation workers; there seems to be shortages on everything we need. There are shortages on credit, shortages on jobs. Is there nothing where there are bountiful supplies?

The answer, fortunately, is yes. We have a bountiful supply of ourselves to be given. There is great treasure in the quiet moments that a man spends with a friend. It is within those times of sharing, that we give of ourselves and in so doing, we reaffirm our reason for being.

Additionally, the time that a man spends with his wife, time in active listening, freely given, not only because he is interested. But because there is a lost art called "conversation" the use of which will lead to bountiful supplies of self, freely given.

Jesus told us that the kingdom of God is within us. Even though he said it clearly, we spend far too much time looking all around us for the valuable and the worthwhile.

The kingdom of God and his riches lies within you, and within those in your life. Give freely of yourself, where there is no shortage, and in so doing you shall find an abundance so great in its measure, you will quite forget about the other.

Pope Returns From Brazil

By DENNIS REDMONT

Associated Press Writer

ROME, Italy (AP)—Pope John Paul II returned to Rome Saturday after a grueling 12-day, 7,500-mile journey that took him to the teeming slums, sprawling cities and heat-scorched jungles of Brazil, the world's largest Roman Catholic country.

Italian Premier Francesco Cossiga and a number of Vatican officials greeted the pontiff at Rome's Leonardo da Vinci Airport. From the airport, the pontiff returned to the Vatican.

John Paul, who spent the last day of his tour Friday in the remote Amazon jungle town of Manaus, hinted before his departure that he may soon return to Brazil.

"I had said that his was the time to say goodbye. But no. I tell you: 'See you soon,' or thinking twice, I tell you: 'See you very soon.'"

Ending the longest foreign journey of his two-year-old papacy, the pontiff spoke to a jubilant crowd at the Manaus airport before boarding a Brazilian DC-10 for the non-stop flight to Rome.

Gesturing to quiet the cheering airport throng, the pope thanked the tens of millions of "Catholic faithful, as well as non-Catholic" Brazilians who turned out in vast numbers at his every stop.

Earlier Friday, the pontiff boarded a Brazilian navy patrol boat for brief trip on the Amazon River, the waterway that links the peoples of the dense jungle district in northern Brazil.

In a Mass celebrated during a tropical downpour and temperatures over 100 degrees, the 60-year-old pope had special words of praise for the missionaries who brought the Roman Catholic faith into the jungle.

The pontiff also took time to listen to the grievances of Brazil's native Indians, many of them Catholic converts, who fear extinction in their battle with an encroaching modern world.

Throughout the trip, the pontiff aligned his church firmly on the side of the impoverished in this still underdeveloped country, scarred by a vast gap between the rich and the poor.

He urged priests and bishops to speak out on the nation's social ills, but warned them against mixing in the politics of the rightwing military-backed government.

Your Birthday

Your Birthday

July 13, 1980

Friends who will be thinking of your welfare do much to better your material outlook this coming year. They'll fill in the gaps you can't see to on your own.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Where your financial interests are concerned today it's best you run the show, instead of depending on others. You're not likely to make unprofitable mistakes. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) An indirect approach is likely to prove more successful today than doing things in too obvious a fashion. Be sincere, but be subtle.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll enjoy social gatherings today, provided you don't have to be in the spotlight. Find your quiet corner and let others come to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be positive, but also be realistic. If you are vying for large stakes today, you'll come out ahead, but you may not get all you hoped for.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're content to leave things as they are today unless confronted by a challenge. Should this occur, you're likely to amaze yourself and others with your ingenuity and resourcefulness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Play your hunches today in commercial or business matters. Your common sense and logic will help you separate good insights from bad ones.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're likely to fare better in ventures with friends today than you are in things you attempt on your own. Unity offers both strength and success.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your first thoughts are likely to be your best ones today, especially if they affect your work or career. If you feel you have a good idea, do something about it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Hours can be pleasantly and productively spent today on projects you deem to be labors of love. Seek expression for your imagination and creative talents.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Arrange your social activities today so that you can spend time with persons to whom you're really close. Family members would be ideal, if it's possible.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This is a good day to discuss issues important to you and your mate. Solutions that have evaded you can now be found.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're a lot smarter in material matters today than you were yesterday, so if there's a deal you'd like to renegotiate, get back to it.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

July 14, 1980

This coming year will offer you a new beginning in an area that was difficult to tackle in the past. If you are patient and take each step in proper sequence, you'll come out on top.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Assert yourself and don't put up with disruptions or irresponsible activities, upsetting your busy schedule. Politely tell those who interfere that you don't have time for them today. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Isolating yourself may be necessary today if you're to work out the details on an important or serious matter. Do so, rather than getting upset by innocent kibitzers.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A fine opportunity may be presented to you today, but you'll have to be careful not to get so carried away with the idea that you become impractical.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A little extra push is all you need today to put yourself out in front of the pack. Wasting your time on nonessentials could prove costly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your present outlook regarding something you've been mulling over is on target. Follow through. Don't let another sidetrack you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is not the day to avoid responsibilities or difficult issues. Face things head-on with anyone else involved and all will work out well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Dealing with those about whom you know little could be a mistake today. Rely on experienced persons who have come through for you in the past.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Last-minute changes of plans will not work out to your advantage today. Progress will be made only if you steer a straight and steady course.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In your impatience to get your work done you could let other matters get out of hand. Pace things so you can maintain a watchful eye on everything.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Goofing-off may be particularly appealing today. Much to your surprise, however, you'll gain little pleasure from it. Keep your nose to the grindstone.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If your plans require the participation of another, don't assume this person is idly awaiting your call. Check things out and make the necessary arrangements.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Avoid trying to find a shortcut for an important task today. Rewards come from that which is done in a responsible, careful manner.

Dear Abby

Shut Your Eyes And Turn the Page

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: We were both kids when we married. We didn't have a pot to cook in or a window to throw it out of, but we were in love.

He was ambitious, smart as they come, and worked like a horse. I did all the things a good wife should do, including raising three nice kids practically single-handedly while my husband was all over the map on business most of the time.

To make a long story short, we sort of drifted apart. Twenty years later he was a multimillionaire, and we were living in different worlds. That's when he asked for a divorce. He said there wasn't anybody else — he just wasn't "happy."

Well, I wasn't going to hang onto a man who didn't want me, so I didn't fight it. My lawyer got a much better settlement than I asked for or expected, so I am well provided for financially.

I've been alone for four years. He is now married to a younger, stylish woman who is very pretty and active socially. I frequently see her picture (usually with him) in the society section of the newspaper. Abby, every time I see a picture of that woman with my ex-husband, I get so upset I have to go to bed for a week!

I would cancel my subscription to the paper, but I love your column. What should I do?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: Don't cancel your subscription. Just quit reading the society section.

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a neighbor who brings her dog next door to do his business on MY lawn — and on a leash yet?

That dog's urine has burned white spots all over my lawn. Her lawn is lush, green and perfect.

I would give her a piece of my mind, but I don't have the nerve.

FUMING

DEAR FUMING: I think your neighbor has a lot of nerve and you don't have enough.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 21-year-old unmarried woman. Whenever I travel on a bus or plane, I enjoy conversing with the person sitting next to me. It's easy to strike up a conversation. I just introduce myself, then I'm asked where I'm going, and what for, etc.

Well, Abby, I've got this terrible habit of making up the most fantastic stories. I never lie to people I know, but just let me start talking to a stranger on a bus, and I start to spin the most outrageous yarns. I even amaze myself.

I suppose it's just a matter of time before I meet one of these fellow travelers again and get tripped up in my lies. I keep promising myself I'll quit making up stories, but the first chance I get, I do it again. What's wrong with me?

STORYTELLER

DEAR TELLER: Probably nothing more than a lively imagination and a strong desire to exercise it. Why not try your hand at creative writing? It will fulfill your urge to fantasize without telling lies.

DEAR ABBY: I have just received an invitation to the wedding of two friends. Both are professionals and financially well-off.

The invitation indicated that the reception is to be a "potluck feast." I find this very offensive, and think that on such an occasion the least they can do is provide refreshments for their friends.

How should I respond?

King Indicted In Church Shootings

DAINGERFIELD (AP)—Grand jurors have returned 165 indictments against the man accused of killing five worshippers and wounding 10 with a withering fusillade of fire inside a crowded Daingerfield church.

Morris County District Attorney Charles Cobb said the grand jury took less than three hours Friday to return five indictments for murder and 10 for attempted murder against Alvin King III.

A trial date has not been set, Cobb said. "And I have not been contacted by anyone (an attorney) who might represent King."

Grand jurors allege King, 45, was the heavily armed gunman who burst into the First Baptist Church of Daingerfield during morning worship services on June 22, shouted "This is War" and opened fire on the congregation.

Police said the gunman later turned a pistol on himself after killing two church ushers who managed to force him outside the sanctuary.

6 Out of 10 Schools Increased Taxes

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP)—Despite the Legislature's attempts to force property tax cuts, six out of 10 school districts increased their tax levies in 1979-80, the Texas Research League reports.

The league's annual "Bench Marks" report was the first comprehensive look at the effects of the Tax Relief Amendment and the 1979 laws implementing it.

The business-financed research organization said 423 districts reduced their tax levies but 647 had increases.

"Even among the other 647 districts increasing tax levies, the tax for owners of certain types of property was reduced," the league said.

Overall, districts taxed their citizens more than $2 billion in 1979-80, "but the 7.6 percent increase over the previous year was the smallest annual increase in 15 years," the league said.

Districts that got by with reduced property tax income appeared to be less populated ones.

While the tax-cutting districts represented 40 percent of the total, they had only 30.5 percent of the students and 24.3 percent of the property valuations in Texas.

The Tax Relief Amendment exempted $5,000 of the taxable value of each homestead from school taxes and authorized the Legislature to give more to the elderly and the disabled. Implementing legislation granted the old and the infirm a $15,000 exemption and established a system for taxing rural land on its productivity instead of its market value.

"While owners of homes, land and vehicles were taxed less in many school districts, owners of other types of property may have seen higher tax bills," the league said.

School districts were required to use agricultural values in 1980-81 but were free to apply them in the 1979-80 taxing year.

The league said 383 school districts voluntarily used agriculture productivity valuation in 1979-80, and this reduced their income by $33.5 million.

The new homestead exemptions caused a $117.6 million loss of revenue in 1979-80, for a total loss of $151.1 million from state-required tax relief.

Districts sought state reimbursement of $124.2 million for their tax losses and received $69.4

million, the report said. The report also said: —Average teacher salary for 1978-79, the latest year for which data is available, was $13,037, or 12.4 percent above the minimum required by the state. The league said 86.9 percent of the teachers were paid above the minimum.

—Pupil-teacher ratios averaged 16.7 students per teacher in 1978-79, an improvement from the 17-to-1 recorded the previous year.

—Local taxpayers paid an average of $533 per student in 1979-80 to "enrich" school programs over the amount required and subsidized by the state under the Minimum Foundation Program.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Quest for full potential

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 17-year-old male and I'm 160 pounds and 5 feet 7. I know I'm about 20 pounds overweight. I'm an over-eater but I do eat a balanced diet. As long as I can remember, I've also lacked "get up and go," even though I get at least eight hours of sleep a night. I always seem tired.

I'd like to know if there are any physical deficiencies of diseases which can explain my lack of energy. I notice that people who seem to have boundless energy often achieve greatness or success. I read that Margaret Thatcher, the Prime Minister of Great Britain, only sleeps about five hours a night and yet she's a dynamic leader. How does one's metabolism or the way he feels influence his output and ability to reach his full intellectual potential?

DEAR READER — I'm pleased to see that you would like to reach your full potential. Motivation is a big factor in what anyone achieves. Psychological factors are often more important than metabolic factors in determining people's levels of energy. To illustrate, if you were told suddenly that you were going to be able to make a trip to London or do something that you really had been anxious to do all your life, your energy would zoom instantly.

That should tell you a lot about people. They're energetic about the things they want to do. In contrast, when a person must do things that he doesn't particularly enjoy or doesn't want to do, he becomes fatigued.

One of the best weapons against fatigue or loss of energy is to do something every day that you really enjoy. Now some people have to cultivate things to enjoy because they've never gotten themselves involved in enough things to find out what they like or don't like.

To give you a better appreciation of this problem, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 9-6, Fatigue: Feeling Tired and Weary. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper.

per, P.O. Box 1451, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As The Health Letter I'm sending you explains, about 20 percent of the people who have chronic fatigue or loss of energy do have an underlying medical problem. This could be an underactive thyroid gland, although that's rarely the cause, or an infectious illness.

When tuberculosis was common, we often wondered if a person who complained of fatigue had TB. Anything that interferes with providing oxygen, whether it's an anemia or a problem with circulation, contributes to fatigue. I would guess that most of these are unlikely in your case.

Young people are sometimes fatigued because basically they're depressed or confused about their future and the rapidly approaching time when they must support themselves and accept adult responsibilities.

Being in poor physical condition can cause fatigue. Inactivity breeds more inactivity and more fatigue. For much of our inactive society a sensible regular exercise program is a good stimulant.

Think about the ideas that are presented in The Health Letter I'm sending you and then see if you can involve yourself in things you really enjoy. Set some goals for yourself that are related to the things you enjoy and it could do a lot for your energy level.

Rangers Outlast Yanks As Texas Rings 'Bell'

ARLINGTON (AP)—Buddy Bell says he's not quite sure whether he's ever had a better streak than the one he's on.

The third baseman, since coming back onto the Texas Ranger roster from the disabled list last month, has a 14-game hitting streak in which he has batted .397 (25 of 63) with six home runs, two triples, three doubles, 11 RBIs and 17 runs.

His 3-for-5 performance Friday night in the 10-8 victory over the New York Yankees highlighted an 18-hit attack that tied the club record.

The effort raised his average to .348, tops in the American League. Not bad, considering the Rangers traded Toby Harrah, whom they considered a better hitter in 1978, to get Bell and his Golden Glove fielding.

"I don't know if I've ever had a better streak, and I don't remember ever leading the league, that's for sure. And I don't want to even think about that. I just want to try to have another good game tomorrow," said Bell, who missed three weeks with a pulled rib muscle.

He got the game-winning RBI with a bases-loaded grounder to third in the first inning of Friday night's game. Singles by Mickey Rivers, Bump Wills and Al Oliver preceded him and Rivers beat the throw to the plate for the first run.

Richie Zisk singled in two more runs, chasing

Yankee starter Tom Underwood, 7-6, and singles by Rusty Staub and Jim Sundberg off reliever Ron Davis got the Rangers to a 5-0 head start.

Rivers, extending his hitting streak to 20 games, also had three hits. Both he and Bell had triples, with Rivers scoring ahead of Wills' single in the fifth and Bell scoring on Zisk's single in the eighth.

The Ranger record for the longest hitting streak is 22 games, set in 1978 by Sundberg.

Johnny Grubb didn't play a part in the big first inning, in which Texas had seven of its 18 hits, but came back later to drive in three runs with a double and a home run.

New York got two runs off Texas starter and winner Jon Matlack, 5-5, with consecutive doubles by Reggie Jackson, Eric Soderholm and Graig Nettles in the second inning.

Cougars Head SWC Poll

WACO (AP)—The Cotton Bowl champion Houston Cougars have been picked in Texas Football Magazine's annual poll to again capture the Southwest Conference football title.

Under a system in which a first place vote was worth four points, a second place worth three, etc., the Cougars rolled up 115 points to 100 points for second place Arkansas.

Coach Bill Yeoman's Cougars, who have won the SWC title three of the last four years, received 19 first place votes out of the 39 cast by writers and broadcasters and compiled by Dave Campbell.

Runner-up Arkansas received five first place votes and was named to share the title on five other ballots.

Texas, which plays Arkansas in the first SWC game on national television Sept. 1, was third with 66½ points, followed by Texas A&M with 54½, Southern Methodist with 25½, and Baylor with 23.

Texas Tech was seventh, Texas Christian eighth and Rice was last in the poll.

Permian Top 1970's Team

WACO (AP)—Odessa Permian and Childress have been tabbed the winningest teams of the 1970s in a Texas Football Magazine special poll.

Odessa Permian actually was the top winner of the 1970s in the University Interscholastic League with a winning record of .881 percentage on a record of 109-14-1.

Childress was second as the top schoolboy winner with a record of 114-16-3, but was rated the most successful team of the 1970s by the magazine under special point bonuses awarded for playoff victories.

Other top schoolboy winners of the decade included Cuero, 105-16-2; Plano, 107-16-4; Gregory-Portland, 101-15-4; Brownwood, 104-17-2; San Antonio Churchill, 96-16-4; Brozoswood, 95-17-3; San Antonio Lee, 98-18-4; and Seagraves, 98-19-2.

The top five under the most successful team rating included Childress, Odessa Permian, Plano, Brownwood and Cuero.

Moore Swats 'Em 'Five For Five' As Brewers Win

By The Associated Press Milwaukee's Charlie Moore found himself going from one end of the batting order to the other and the Brewers' bats went from one extreme to the other against the Boston Red Sox.

Moore, shifted from ninth place to leadoff in the Brewers' lineup, came up with five singles in as many at-bats Friday night. And the Brewers, who had been shut out in three of the last five games and scored only six runs while batting just .179, awoke from their slumber in a 7-6 triumph.

Ben Oglivie drove in four runs with a three-run homer and an RBI single and Cecil Cooper drove in three runs and had three hits in the victory.

In other American League games, the Oakland A's beat the California Angels 6-2, the Chicago White Sox trimmed the Baltimore Orioles 5-4, the Kansas City Royals rocked the Detroit Tigers 7-3, the Texas Rangers held off the New York Yankees 10-8, the Minnesota Twins topped the Seattle Mariners 6-3 and the Toronto Blue Jays topped the Cleveland Indians 6-3.

A's 6, Angels 2 When the phone rang in the Oakland bullpen, it might have startled the inhabitants. A's starters had gone the route in 11 of the prior 4 games, but when Manager Billy Martin called on Jeff Jones with the bases loaded in the eighth against California, the rookie was ready.

He struck out four of the five batters he faced and held off the Angels to record his third save of the season -- and only the fifth for the Oakland relief staff.

White Sox 5, Orioles 4 Wayne Nordhagen drove in three runs and three Chicago pitchers combined on a seven-hitter to pace the White Sox triumph. Chicago drove Jim Palmer from the mound in defeating the Baltimore star for the first time since June 1, 1977 while Ed Farmer -- who followed Rich Dotson and Mike Proly to the mound -- recorded his 18th save.

Royals 7, Tigers 3 George Brett, in only his second game back after missing 26 contests with an ankle injury, cracked three doubles -- one short of the American League record for one game -- to pick up exactly where he left off before the injury.

Twins 6, Mariners 3 An inside-the-park homer by Rick Sofield and an outside-the-park homer by Ken Landreaux powered Minnesota past Seattle. Sofield tied the game 3-3 in the seventh when his drive sailed over the head of center fielder Joe Simpson and bounced high off the wall.

Blue Jays 6, Indians 3 Dave Stieb pitched a career-low three-hitter for a club-record fifth consecutive complete game to help Toronto beat Cleveland. A two-run, fifth-inning homer by Otto Velez delivered the winning runs.

Dodgers Decision Astros For 2nd Straight Time

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Veterans Terry Forster and Don Stanhouse almost certainly will rejoin the Los Angeles Dodgers' bullpen soon, but that probably doesn't mean young Steve Howe will be out of a steady job.

Howe, a rookie left-hander, preserved a 3-2 victory by the Dodgers over Houston on Friday night, striking out veteran Joe Morgan with the tying run at third base. The save was the eighth of the season for the youngster.

After the game, the Dodgers disclosed that veteran knuckleballer Charlie Hough had been sold to Texas, thus opening a spot on the roster for Forster, who will be activated within the next few days.

Forster has been recovering from his second shoulder operation in the past year.

Stanhouse, the $2.1 million free agent reliever, says he will probably be reactivated by next week end, in the midst of the Dodgers' longest road trip of the season, a 13-game trek which begins tonight in San Diego.

Stanhouse praised Howe, who just two weeks earlier had been victimized by a Morgan home run to cost the Dodgers a game in Houston.

The Dodgers managed an unearned run in that inning when Houston third baseman Enos Cabell threw away a two-out grounder by Dave Lopes, giving them a 1-0 lead.

Dusty Baker slugged a two-run homer in the eighth, his 19th of the season and a blow that became decisive when the Astros rallied for two runs in the ninth.

A one-out walk and singles by Art Howe and Cabell produced one run and chased reliever Bobby Castillo.

Olympic Ceremony May Be Practice Of The Past

By GEOFFREY MILLER
AP Sports Writer

MOSCOW (AP)—We may have seen the traditional opening ceremony of the Olympic Games, with athletes marching by the thousand and their national flags held proudly aloft, for the last time.

It will be a very different spectacle when the Moscow Games open in the Luzhniki Stadium a week from Sunday.

At least eight countries will keep their athletes in the Olympic Village for the day and have just a name board and the Olympic flag by way of making a token protest against the Soviet military occupation of Afghanistan.

Many members of the International Olympic Committee have wanted this for years. They have pressed for nationalism to be taken out of the opening ceremony and the medals presentation.

Flags, anthems and marching legions of athletes are part of the big show the world sees on television. But many critics maintain it destroys the original purpose of the Olympic Games, the friendly competition between athletes as individuals.

"Let us take national flags and national anthems out of the Games forever, and remove the chauvinism and get back to the Olympics Games as they used to be," said Count Jean de Beaumont of France, one of the IOC's senior members.

Beaumont has many supporters in the IOC, which meets in session here next week before the Games open.

Athletes and national teams are breaking no rules by missing the opening parade. There is nothing in the Olympic Charter that compels anyone to take part in the ceremony.

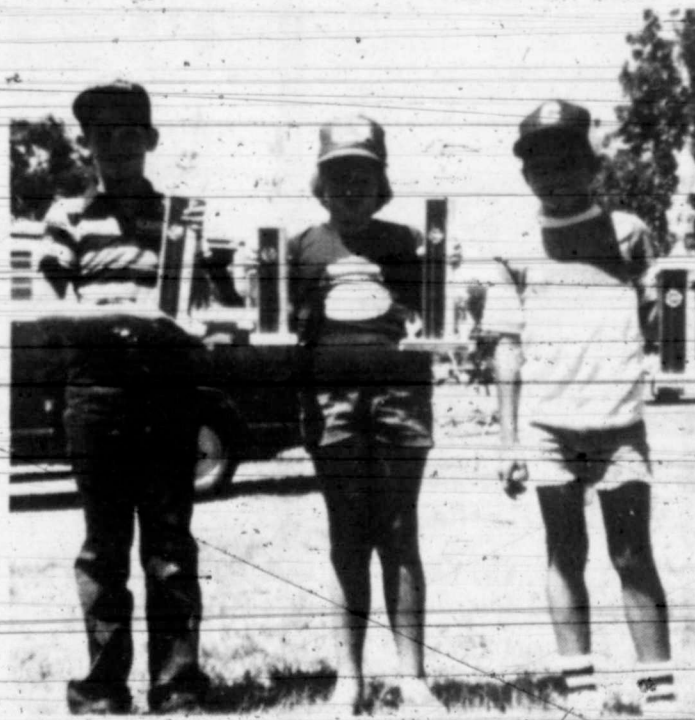

The charter used to lay down precise instructions for the parade. It said each competing national delegation must march behind its national flag.

That was changed for the Winter Games at Lake Placid last January -- not because of Afghanistan but because the IOC wanted to find a solution to its China problem. Peking refused to let its athletes compete while the Taiwanese used the old flag of Nationalist China, so the IOC ordered the Taiwanese to design a special Olympic flag and then changed its rules to fit the occasion.

When President Carter called for a boycott of the Moscow Olympics, and national Olympic committees around the world were torn between joining the boycott and supporting the Games, the IOC told them the rules no longer called for national flags.

Many countries have seized on this as a formula for competing in the Games without involving their governments in any apparent gesture of sympathy with Soviet foreign policy.

Many will be represented in the opening parade by just a flag bearer, but he will carry the flag of the five rings, the symbol of the Olympic movement. Others have designed special Olympic flags of their own.

Americans Take Nine Of 15 At Track Meet

STUTTGART, West Germany (AP)—Jimmy Carnes, coach of the U.S. Olympic track and field team, certainly liked what he saw in his first glimpse of his squad in action.

"I'm very satisfied," Carnes said Friday night after the Americans had won nine of 15 events in an international meet in mostly empty 80,000-seat Neckar Stadium in the Stuttgart suburb of Bad Cannstatt. Rain and cold weather held the crowd to an estimated 5,000-6,000 for the first day of the two-day event.

"The performances were good for this weather," continued Carnes.

"This is the first time they (the athletes) have been together."

"This would have been a tremendous warmup meet for the Olympics."

That was the original intention of the meet, which was scheduled several months ago, long before the United States decided to boycott the Summer Olympic Games in Moscow because of the Soviet Union's military intervention in Afghanistan.

Instead of going to the Games, the Americans are participating in seven international meets. The Stuttgart meet is kicking off the schedule. The team later will perform in London on Sunday; Oslo, Norway, on Tuesday; Philadelphia next Wednesday and Thursday; Rome on Aug. 5; Berlin on Aug. 8, and Zurich, Switzerland, on Aug. 13.

HEALTH TIP
from DEAN

High blood pressure (hypertension) now is detectable and correctable, yet millions of Americans have untreated hypertension, a major factor in heart and kidney disease and stroke. In a study of 5209 men and women over many years, of 105 strokes developing among them, 95 occurred in hypertensives. Analysis shows that the majority of strokes can be expected in people with blood pressure 160-95 or higher -- and for each 10 point increase in pressure, the risk of stroke increases about 30 percent.

Earl Fish Partnership Tourney Underway

Concluding rounds of the annual Earl Fish Partnership were to be held this morning and afternoon, with the Fifth Flight teeing off at 8 a.m. After Saturday's rounds, divisions were broken down into six flights.

Championship through Fifth. Favorites in the tournament included Larry Anderson and Don Copeland, former WTC golfers, David Foster and Miller Scott, 1978 winners Randy Weaver and Mark Hargrove, Clint Baack and Walt Williams, Steve Talbott and Bill DeTournillon, and Lance McMillan and Pat Doran, among others. DeTournillon is a former Oklahoma St. University standout, who played for the national championship collegiate team several years ago. He won the Men's West Texas event a week ago. Anderson, Copeland, Foster and Scott were first out of the gate Saturday as the first round began at 8 a.m. Sixty-four teams, 128 golfers, entered the two-day tournament which boasts one of the best attended meets in West Texas each year. Club pro Mike Yantis was forced to turn away more than 20 other teams who requested entry after the field was full.

Saturday's results were unavailable due to publishing deadlines. Below are today's tee times for each flight, however.

Handicap Meet Becomes Ladies President's Cup

Snyder Country Club Women's Golf Association annual handicap tournament, dubbed the "President's Cup" this year, will be held July 15-16.

Rhylene Stoker, 1980 president of the board of directors of Snyder Country Club, has presented to the Women's Golf Association a plaque designated to honor the winners of the Championship Flight in the annual handicap tournament. The plaque trophy cup will be permanently installed in the country club and winners names for the next 10 years will be engraved on it.

"This is a new tradition to honor women's golf," related past WGA president Wilma Dillard. "The Women's Golf Association is grateful to Mrs. Stoker for promoting interest in women's golf," she added.

Twenty-two women will compete in the President's Cup Tournament. After Tuesday's round, players will be seeded for second-day pairings. A lunch and awards presentation will follow the final round on July 16. First Round Pairings Championship Flight: 7:40 a.m.—Anita Talbott, Norma Thompson, Jo Sterling, Wilma Dillard; 7:50 a.m.—Bobbie Hargrove, Ethel Patterson, Juanita Hester, Rhylene Stoker.

First Flight: 8:00 a.m.—

Delores Key, Kaye Cybert, Sharon Talbott; 8:10 a.m.—Gertrude League, Carolyn Greene, Kathie Wade, Rachael Rosser.
Second Flight: 8:20—Lu Wolf, Bernice Parker, Opal Williams; 8:30—Barbara Yorgeson, Chris Jordan, Sue Reed, Irene Lemen.

Kratzert Leads; Pohl One Back

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Dan Pohl has the power and the shots to win a PGA tour event, most observers agree, and the wait for him to do so may be about over. Pohl, 25, came out of Mount Pleasant, Mich., in 1977 to try his hand in competition, and now is leading the Professional Golfers' Association tour statistics in driving distance with a 271.7-yard average.

But so far he has not won, and in his last two starts—the U.S. Open and the Western Open—he has missed the cut.

But he is in a position to take charge in the Greater Milwaukee Open.

Entering today's third round in the hunt for a $36,000 first prize, Pohl is only one stroke off the lead held by Bill Kratzert at 133, a healthy 11 strokes under par at the Tuckaway Country Club course.

Kratzert, whose last tour victory was the 1977 Greater Hartford Open, mastered the crosswinds Friday to card a 66. His best finish this year was a tie for second at Greensboro, and he has won $100,267 this season, good for 24th in the PGA dollar derby.

Pohl, whose heavy hitting pays dividends by cutting yardage off the many doglegs on this 7,010-yard, par-72 links, said, "I can drive past trouble on this course. I don't have to put my drives in the fairway all the time to make birdies. In the second round I used my sand wedge six or seven times on approach shots out of the rough."

His best finish this year was second in the Crosby Pro-Am, and he is 28th on the PGA money list with $91,938.

"The primary thing I'm trying to do on this course is to play position," said Pohl, who rolled in birdie putts of 35 and 40 feet in posting his second 67 Friday for a 10-under-par 134.

He shares second place with first-round leader Ron Streck, who had a second-round 69. Streck used three consecutive birdies on the back nine to close with a 33.

POSTING UP—Snyder Country Club pro Mike Yantis posts up standing sheets Saturday morning as the annual Earl Fish Memorial Partnership got underway here. Sixty-four teams, 128 golfers, are competing in the two-day tournament, which will conclude about 7 o'clock Sunday evening. See related article above. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

Holds Four-Stroke Lead...

Alcott Commands Open

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Amy Alcott, who holds a 4-stroke lead at the midway point in the U.S. Women's Open Golf Championships, says she'd feel more comfortable in a come-from-behind role. She made the comment Friday, shortly after carding her second consecutive 1-under par 70 on the Richland Country Club course.

Sixty players of the 150-player starting field who turned in scores of 153 or lower survived the cut and are to play through Sunday in the $140,000, 72-hole tournament.

Alcott was tied for Thursday's first-day lead with Barbara Moxness after each turned in identical 70s. But while Alcott duplicated that feat, Moxness ran into trouble with her putter Friday, collecting a double-bogey on one hole and ending her round with a 74.

Alcott, the second leading money earner on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour with $132,000 and winner of last week's LPGA event at Noblesville, Ind., said she likes the feeling that comes with being out front, but her golf game seems better when she's chasing the leader.

"I like to be a couple of shots back... that's where I think I play the best," the personable 24-year-old said. "But I love competition, that's why I'm out here."

Alcott bogeyed two holes on the front nine, but finished the round with three birdies and a 25-foot putt on No. 18 to walk away from the par-71, 6,229-yard golf course with her 140.

Moxness, however, called her's the worst putting round she's played in quite some time, certainly her worst since joining the LPGA tour.

Sandra Post became just the third player in this year's Open competition to light up the leader board with a par-breaking round. She shot a sizzling 68, the lowest 18-hole score of the tournament, to wind up with a two-day total of 147.

Two amateurs survive the cut. Judy Oliver, of Sewickley, Pa., carded a 75-76-151, while Lida Kinnett, of West Hartford, Conn., turned in a 77-76-153.

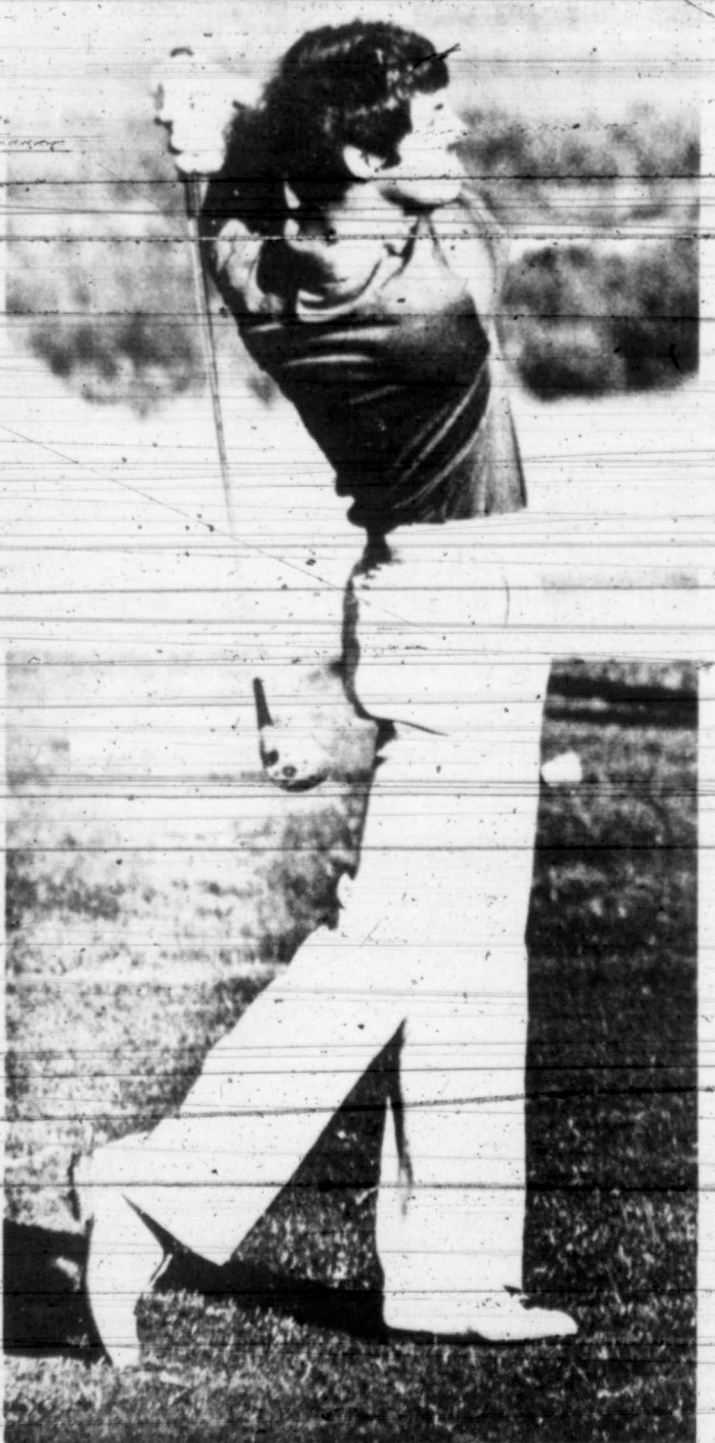

Steve Carlton, Philadelphia Philly southpaw, balked 11 times in 1979.

Dickey Still Not Signed

OWINGS MILLS, Md. (AP)—First-round choice Curtis Dickey remains the only unsigned draftee on the Baltimore Colts after two top picks agreed to terms with the club Friday.

First-round draft choice Derrick Hatchett and fourth-round choice Raymond Butler signed a series of one-year contracts.

Hatchett, a defensive back from Texas, was the Colts' second pick in the opening round and the 24th player chosen by National Football League teams. The choice came to the Colts from Dallas in the deal that sent defensive end John Dutton to the Cowboys.

ONE TO BEAT?—Bill DeTournillon, former Oklahoma State University standout and recent winner of the Men's West Texas Tournament, was considered one of the men to beat in the annual Earl Fish Memorial Partnership which concludes today at Snyder Country Club. Playing with DeTournillon is another top area golfer, Steve Talbott. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

'Mat', Lopez Meet In Repeat Match

McAFEE, N.J. (AP)—The last time they met, Matthew Saad Muhammad was Matthew Franklin and Yaqi Lopez was recovering from yet another unsuccessful bid at the light heavyweight championship. The fight went 11 rounds before it was stopped with Lopez bleeding heavily from cuts. In his next bout, Franklin won the World Boxing Council's version of the championship (in April 1979) and then weeks later changed his name to the Muslim version, Matthew Saad Muhammad.

Sunday, Muhammad and Lopez meet again, this time with Muhammad's title on the line. Lopez, naturally, says things will be different this time. Muhammad said the outcome will be very much the same.

"I will do a lot of things different this time," said Lopez, who will earn $40,000 compared to the champion's reported $150,000.

Threat Prompts Search

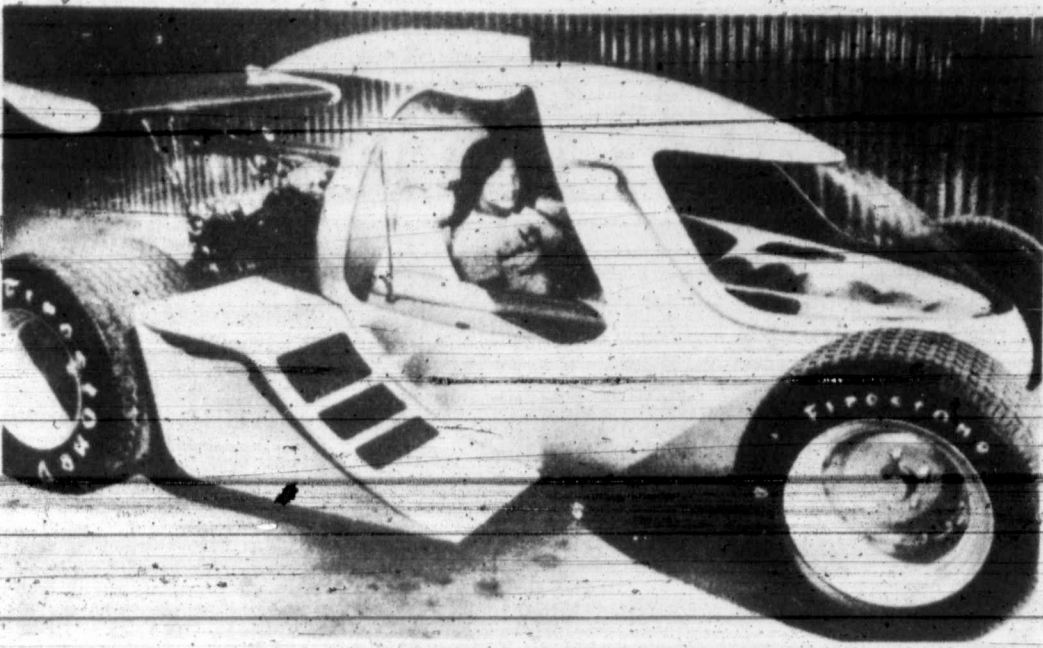

DALLAS (AP)—A extensive manhunt for a self-described assassin who claims he has been ordered to kill the president has uncovered no new clues, authorities said today.

"Earlier we had a woman call us, saying she thought she knew who the guy might be," said Sgt. John Martinez of the Dallas Police Department. "We notified the Secret Service about the tip, but apparently it turned out to be false."

The man told witnesses last month he was a Palestine Liberation Organization army officer and had assassinated more than 100 persons. He also claimed he was under orders to kill "President Carter or Sen. Edward Kennedy or whoever is elected president," said Assistant U.S. Attorney Mark Elliston.

Martinez said the self-described assassin remains at large today and was "considered to be armed and dangerous."

A Secret Service affidavit said the man took witnesses to an Irving, Texas, apartment where he showed them a cache of weapons and a poster of Carter with a bull's eye drawn on the face.

THAT'S NO YOKE! After five months of work, Nelson Gong has built a six-cylinder automobile that is shaped like an egg. He values his vehicle at $25,000.

DETROIT (AP)—This tough, resilient city is once again being tested by hard times, a somber counterpoint to the political festivities that draw the nation's attention to the Motor City this week.

The Detroit of the Republican convention—or at least, the hall of the delegates, the downtown luxury hotels of the Renaissance Center, the parks and plaza—will echo to "the biggest parties Detroit has ever seen," as one of the convention organizers put it.

But the party takes place in a somewhat con-stricted setting.

GOP hierarchs gather in a city where workers' unemployment benefits are fast running out, where crime's up 25 percent, and where welfare rolls already exceed levels reached in the last recession.

The ebbing confidence is felt in the smoky room of a state employment office, near the gates of a Chrysler stamping plant, amid a group of black high school seniors just graduating.

The city has seen tough times before, and has always come back. Previous auto slumps, youth gang violence, a racial riot.

This time, the car makers' travail worries everybody. The downturn's bottom isn't visible yet. The auto industry is shrinking, and with it the city's economy.

"We don't see jobs coming back to the levels of last year," says Powell Cozart, a state employment official. "Things will never be quite the same again."

Right now, the convention is money in the bank and very welcome. Jack Wertz, a spokesman for New Detroit, a high-powered civic coalition formed after the devastating 1967 racial violence, sees it that way.

"We're down but not out," he says.

The GOP convention was expected to bring between 20,000 and 22,000 people to the city. Ray Steffens, president of the Detroit Convention Bureau, says. About 140 hotels and motels in the metropolitan area will be booked full.

The 400 carpenters, plumbers, electricians and other workers who prepared the convention sites probably would have been out of work without it, he says.

The champion breath-holder is diver Jacques Mayol set his record Nov. 23, 1976, off the island of Elba, Italy, when he held his breath for 3 minutes, 40 seconds on a 328-foot dive.

At GOP National Convention...

Delegates Agree On Reagan; Divided On A Running Mate

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP)—Texas Republicans come to the national GOP convention solidly behind Ronald Reagan but divided about who should be selected as the former governor's running mate.

Many Texas delegates cling to a hope that former U.N. Ambassador George Bush will get the bid.

And most of the delegates seemed satisfied with, or at least resigned to, the platform that was written under the committee chairmanship of Sen. John Tower, R-Texas.

Most of Texas' 80 delegates planned to arrive Sunday afternoon, although a nucleus of top officials and staff have been here for a week working with committees and engaged in preparation for the event. Almost all are staying in the Book Cadillac Hotel, a few blocks from the convention center.

The first Texas delegation caucus is 9 a.m. Monday, two hours before the convention's opening gavel.

Reagan forces exercised absolute control over the Texas delegation in 1976 as a result of Reagan's primary sweep. This year, Reagan won 52 percent of the Texas GOP primary vote after Bush made a strong last-minute campaign effort. However, Reagan ended up with 61 delegates to Detroit and Bush got 19.

On Monday, Bush, who dropped out of the presidential race in June, will spend much of the day talking with separate groups of his pledged delegates, including the 19 from Texas.

Jim Baker, a Houston delegate and national campaign director of Bush, said Bush asked all his delegates to support Reagan in the first ballot. Recent Associated Press interviews with all 80 delegates show that 69, including eight Bush delegates, say they will vote for Reagan. The other 11 Bush delegates said they would vote the way Bush wants them to.

In the same interviews, all Bush delegates but one supported him for the vice presidency. The sole hold-out wanted Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee.

Only 10 Reagan delegates proposed Bush for vice president while 25 of them wanted Sen. Jack Kemp of New York. Another 10 said they would go along with any Reagan decision, and nine said they were uncommitted.

The convention schedule calls for brief opening ceremonies on Monday, action on the platform and other committee reports Tuesday, selection of a presidential nominee on Wednesday and a vice presidential candidate on Thursday.

Former Texas Gov. John Connally and Anne Armstrong, a Texas and former ambassador to Great Britain, speak on Tuesday and Bush will address the convention Wednesday just before presidential nominations begin.

In Display Of Party Unity...

Reagan Attending Birthday Of Former Rival, Gerald Ford

By Donald Rothberg
AP Political Writer

DETROIT (AP)—When Ronald Reagan arrives at the Republican National Convention to claim the honors due the party's presidential nominee, one of his first acts will be to attend a birthday tribute to his one-time rival, Gerald R. Ford.

Reagan's appearance at the celebration for the former president on Monday afternoon is part of the carefully orchestrated display of party unity planned for the convention.

Four years ago, when Republicans gathered in Kansas City, Reagan and Ford were bitter rivals for the GOP presidential nomination. Ford won that battle, and later said Reagan's failure to campaign for him was a major factor in his defeat at the hands of Jimmy Carter.

All that's bygone now:

Republican platform writers finished their work Friday and along

IT WAS AN EMOTIONAL moment for defeated presidential candidate Ronald Reagan when he received a standing ovation at the conclusion of the 1976 Republican Convention.

with an attack on Carter's presidency they cited "unparalleled unity within our ranks."

Despite the claim of party unity, the platform deliberations created some dissent, particularly on the question of support for the Equal Rights Amendment. The 1980 platform, following Reagan's position on ERA, drops the traditional GOP support for the amendment. But none of the delegates who oppose any parts of the platform could muster enough support to challenge the majority position on the convention floor.

The first three days of Reagan's convention were made public on Friday and disclosed that he will arrive Monday afternoon and after attending Ford's 67th birthday party, will go on to a reception for GOP delegates.

On Tuesday, Reagan will meet in the morning with former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and in the afternoon with Ford. Kissinger will address the convention Tuesday night, a fact that ruffles some of Reagan's more conservative backers because of the former secretary's foreign policies.

Reagan's first appearance at the convention will be Wednesday, when he plans to be in the hall to hear Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada deliver the speech nominating him for president. Reagan will leave the hall before the delegates vote to make it official. No other candidates will be put up for the GOP nomination.

The Washington Post reported in today's editions that Laxalt has been eliminated from consideration for Reagan's vice presidential running mate.

The newspaper said Laxalt was Reagan's first choice but was ruled out on pragmatic grounds, including the fact that the Nevada senator and the nominee-to-be are from the same region.

Questions About Heat Illnesses Answered Here

AUSTIN (AP)—Dr. Robert Bernstein, state health commissioner, says Texans should approach the current heat wave with extreme caution.

The health department released this question and answer report from Bernstein.

Q. What are the main heat-related illnesses?

A. Heat exhaustion, heat cramps, and heat stroke, which is the most dangerous of the three.

A. How do these conditions affect a person?

A. In heat exhaustion a person sweats profusely, resulting in a reduction of venous blood returned to the heart. Common symptoms may include general weakness, headache, fatigue, dizziness when standing erect, nausea and fainting. A person should move to a cool place and lie down with the head lower than the feet. The victim's body will feel cold and clammy. Heat cramps are painful muscle spasms in the extremities, back and abdomen. This is due in part to the excessive loss of salt during sweating. Symptoms may include those associated with heat exhaustion.

Heat stroke may cause death unless the victim receives prompt treatment. It occurs when the body temperature reaches a level where the regulatory function fails and sweating stops. The skin is dry, flushed and extremely hot. The body temperature rises to a critical level. The person must be removed from the sun and cooled immediately by any method possible. There isn't time to wait for an ambulance to arrive.

Spraying or dousing the person with cold water, using ice packs, packing the person in ice or feeding the person cold fluids are suggested. Wrapping a person in a wet sheet and using a fan to cool the body by evaporation is helpful. Any delay in starting treatment could cause serious problems, even death.

Q. What can a person do to prevent heat exhaustion and heat cramps?

A. Drinking plenty of fluids and taking extra salt—one-third of a teaspoon to a quart of water will help ward off heat exhaustion and heat cramps. Working or exercising in a cool place with adequate air circulation helps.

Q. What about heat stroke?

A. Basically, wear loose-fitting clothing in hot weather to allow perspiration to evaporate and cool the body. In extremely warm and humid weather, don't try to carry on all activities as usual.

Avoid sunburn, which cuts down on perspiration; and get as little direct sun as possible by wearing a big hat or staying in the shade. Take frequent rest breaks. Increasing your water intake is necessary to replace fluids lost through perspiration.

Q. Does the heat affect people differently?

A. Yes. Hot weather is especially a threat to people taking drugs, athletes, workers outside and in buildings with no air conditioning or ventilation. Also at high risk are the very young and very old, persons with chronic illness, the obese, persons with skin diseases, alcoholics, and persons in poor physical shape.

Q. Does alcohol affect a person's tolerance to heat?

A. A person using alcohol will dehydrate faster than one who doesn't. Persons consuming alcohol need more water. Also, they may not use common sense when it comes to excessive exposure to the sun and health. They may over-exert themselves, especially, in athletic conditions.

tests. Q. If you're from a cooler climate, how long will it take to become acclimated to the heat?

A. Upon arriving in a hot, humid climate, even the healthiest person needs a period of acclimatization of at least 10-14 days.

Master Paintings Being Held Over

The Old Master Paintings exhibit in the Scurry County Museum will be held over until Aug. 4, Sharon Sutton, museum director, has announced.

The exhibit is on loan from the Sarah Campbell Blaffer Foundation of Houston and is completing a three-year tour of the state. The extension for the Scurry County Museum was granted because of the good response from area residents, Ms. Sutton said. Hours in the museum are 9-12 noon on weekday mornings, 1-5 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 1-4 p.m. on Fridays and 1-5 p.m. on Sundays.

3 Jail Terms Assessed In District Court

Jail terms were assessed three persons Friday in 132nd District Court. Jesse Costillo, 216 36th Place, was handed a six-month jail term and a $500 fine to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

It was also a DWI charge that netted Alvin Porter, 2003 Ave. O, a 90-day jail term and a $500 fine.

D.W. Lynch of Big Spring was sentenced to serve two years in the Texas Department of Corrections on a criminal mischief charge. Lynch was charged with destroying the commode in his jail cell last month while incarcerated at the city police department. All the sentences were based on guilty pleas.

In The Oil Patch...

2 Staked, 5 Finished In Sharon Ridge Field

Two locations have been staked and five wells have been completed in the Sharon Ridge field of Scurry County.

Ellpen, Inc. has staked two locations, one mile south of Ira in Scurry County.

Both are contracted to 3,250 feet.

The No. 1 Lee is 2,310 feet from north and 450 feet from west lines of section 119, block 97, H&TC survey.

The No. 2 Lee, spots 2,310 feet from north and 1,110 feet from west lines of section 119, block 97, H&TC survey.

Ellpen also completed its No. 1 Curtis in the Sharon Ridge (Clear Fork) field.

It was potentialized to pump 40 barrels of 26-gravity oil, plus 10 barrels of water per day, through perforations at 2,918-3,126 feet, which were fractured with 20,000 gallons and 10,000 pounds. Gas-oil ratio measured 500-1.

Drilled to 3,204 feet, it was plugged back to 3,190 feet and 4.5-inch casing was set at 3,204 feet.

Well site is 2,310 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of section 133, block 97, H&TC survey, abstract 1890, 1 1/2 miles northwest of Ira.

Newmont Oil Co. completed the four wells in the Sharon Ridge (1700) field of Scurry County. No. 45-19 Ira finished pumping 50 barrels of oil and 49 barrels of water in 24 hours. Gravity of the oil was 29.1 degrees and completion was affected through perforations at 1,753-1,817 feet, after an acid treatment of 600 gallons and fracture treatment of 6,000 gallons and 24,000 pounds.

It is located 667 feet from south and 2,612 feet from west lines of section 116, block 97, H&TC survey, two miles southeast of Ira.

The No. 45-19 Ira (1700) Unit, was completed pumping 44 barrels of 29.1 gravity oil and 46 barrels of water per day. Gas-oil ratio was too small to measure.

Drilled to 1,874 feet and plugged back to 1,868 feet, with 4.5-inch casing, set at 1,870 feet, it was completed through perforations at 1,764-1,816 feet, after the section had been treated with 600 gallons of acid and 5,000 gallons and 23,000 pounds of fracture material.

Well site is 1,966 feet from south and 2,610 feet from west lines of section 116, block 97, H&TC survey, two miles southeast of Ira.

Newmont's No. 63-17 Ira (1700) Unit finished pumping 20 barrels of oil per day plus 30 barrels of water. Gravity of the oil was 29.1 degrees and gas-oil ratio was too small to measure. The potential test was taken through perforations at 1,713-1,770 feet, which had been acidized with 600 gallons and fractured with 6,000 gallons and 24,000 pounds.

Four and one-half-inch casing was set at 1,815 feet, on a total depth of 1,820 feet.

Production site is 1,963 feet from south and 1,378 feet from east lines of section 101, block 97, H&TC survey, two miles southeast of Ira.

The No. 64-17 Ira (1700) Unit finished pumping 23 barrels of oil and 41 barrels of water on a 24-hour test. Gravity of the oil was 29.1 and gas-oil ratio was too small to measure.

The well finished through perforations at 1,7209-1,768 feet, after being treated with 600 gallons of acid and 6,000 gallons and 24,000 gallons of fracture material.

Production site is 2,714 feet from north and 1,974 feet from west lines of section 101, block 97, H&TC survey, two miles southeast of Ira.

Gunn Oil Co. of Wichita Falls staked No. 2-Q S.B. Burnett Estate 1-fourteenth miles northwest of the Tom "B" (Conglomerate) field of King County, 12 miles northwest of Guthrie.

The project is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 1, I&GN survey, abstract 233.

The hole is contracted to 6,300 feet.

Tomlinson Oil Co., operating from Midland, spotted locations for two projects in the recently opened TLOC (San Andres) pool of Terry County, 13 miles southeast of Brownfield.

No. 3 I.D. French is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 20, block C-38, psl survey.

Tomlinson No. 4 I.D.

French was staked 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 20, block C-38, psl survey.

Adkins Corp. announced location for a 5,000-foot project on location south of one of the wells in the Wickham (Palo Pinto gas) pool of Fisher County, 10 miles east of Longworth.

The project is 7,030 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of George Creath survey No. 221.

R.L. Adkins Corp. of Sweetwater No. 1-A Wickham has been completed as a Palo Pinto oil discovery in the Wickham (Palo Pinto gas) field of Fisher County, four miles west of Noodle.

The strike completed for a daily pumping potential 35 barrels of 45-gravity oil and 64 barrels of water, through perforations from 4,794 to 4,804 feet.

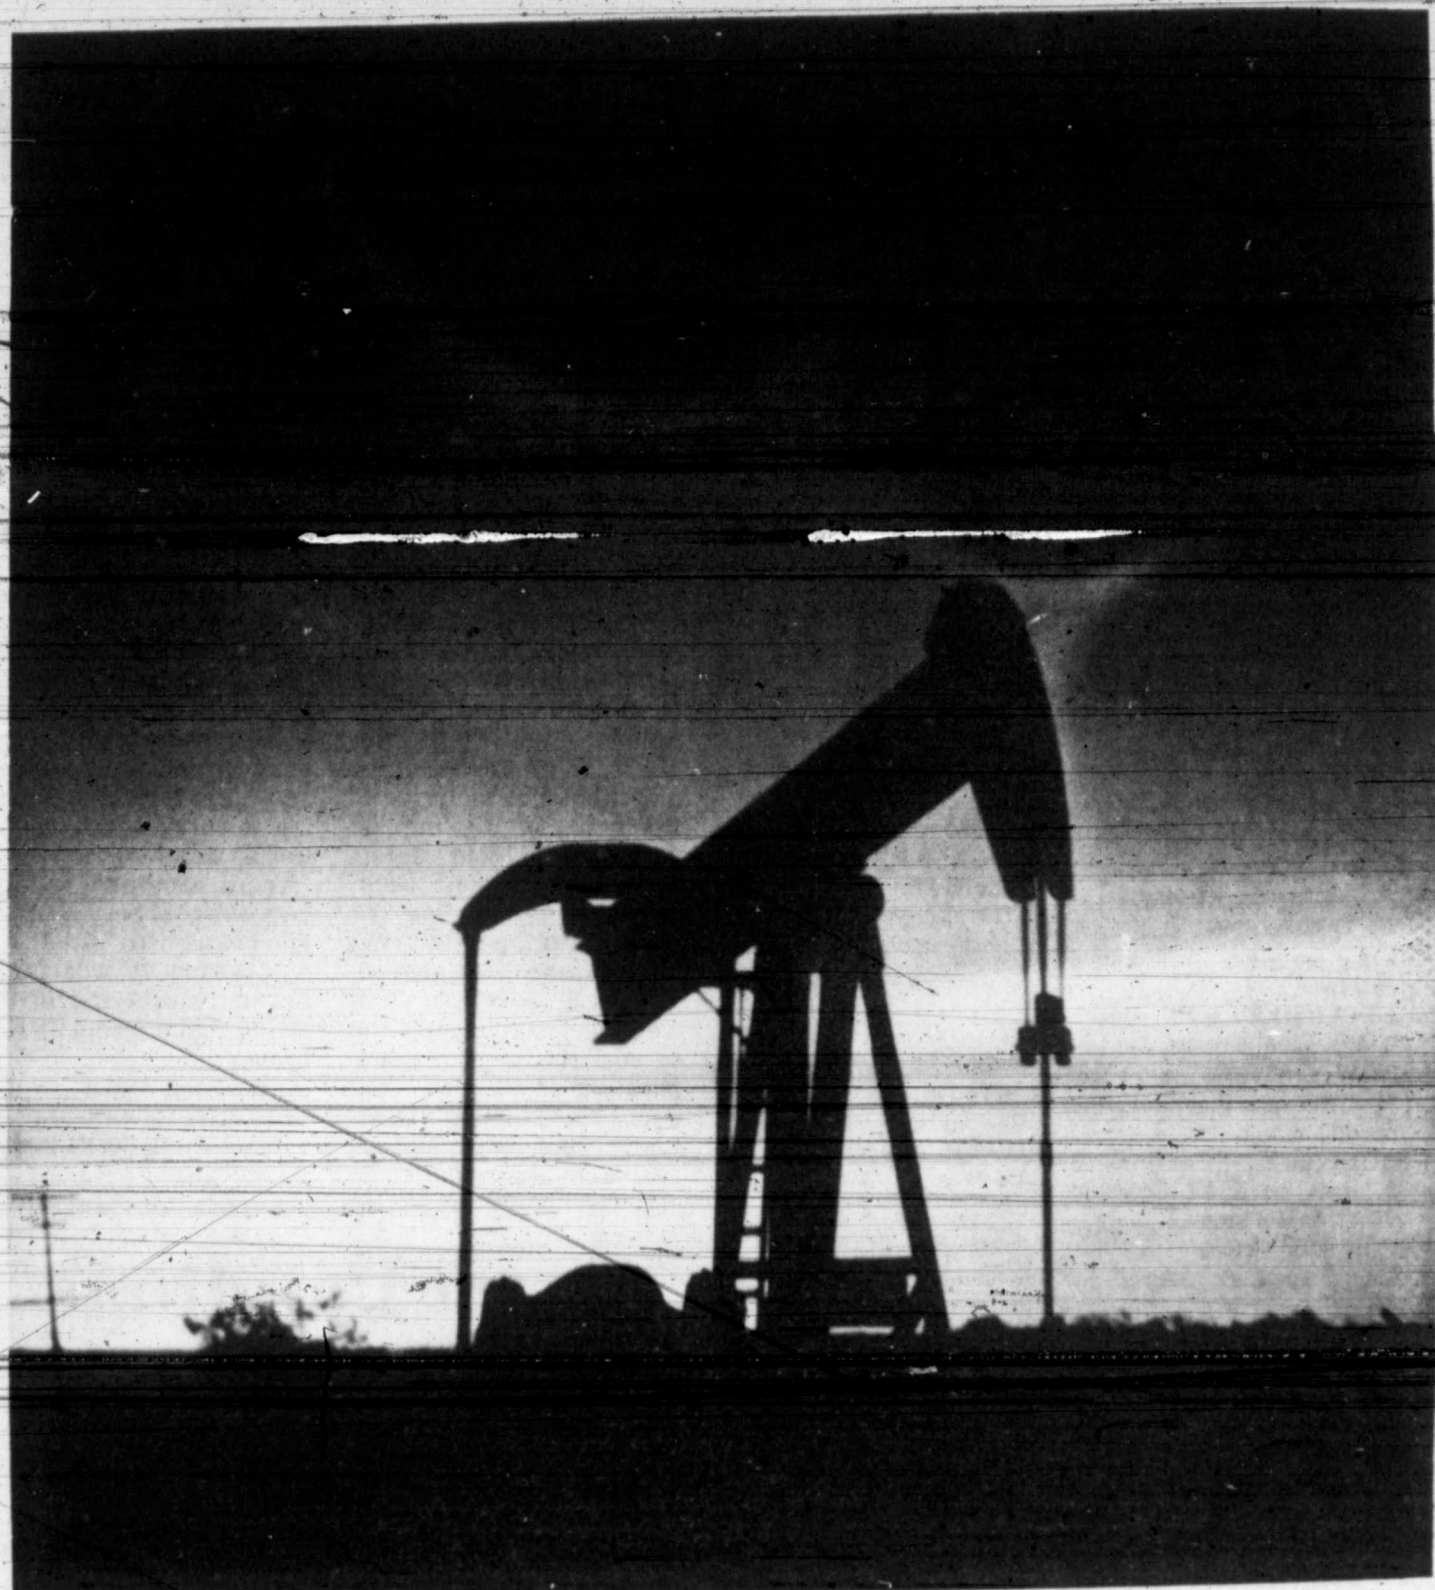

The pay was washed with 750 gallons of mud acid.

The total depth is 5,006 feet and 4.5-inch casing is cemented at 5,003 feet.

The operator called the following tops on ground elevation of 1,830 feet; Noodle Creek, 2,595 feet; Flippen, 3,240 feet; Canyon sand, 4,050 feet; Canyon reef, 4,785 feet; and Strawn reef, 4,855 feet.

Well site is 4,360 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of George Creath survey No. 221. It is one location north of Palo Pinto gas production.

The orangutan, whose name is Malay for "person of the forest," is a more solitary animal than its monkey or ape cousins. Much of its life is spent in trees, looking for fruits that are the mainstay of its diet. Males usually travel alone. Females are accompanied by a youngster.

STILL FINDING OIL—The petroleum industry of Scurry County had its beginning in October, 1923 when a well was completed in the San Andres formation of the Sharon Ridge shallow field. Well over 2,000 wells have since been "brought in" in the Sharon Ridge (named for a rural school in the area) and more are being drilled. In 1948, deep wells began to tap the Canyon Reef and set off the oil boom here. With around 5,000 oil wells, the county is still one of the leading oil producers in the nation. (SDN Staff Photo By John Dunnam)

Royalty Owners Urged To Austin For Hearing

DALLAS—In one of the strongest statements yet delivered by the segment of the oil industry representing small interest holders, the president of the Texas Independent

Millionaire Sentenced To 5 Years

MARSHALL (AP)—John Ruppel, a Tennessee millionaire convicted on drug charges, has been assessed a five-year prison term and $30,000 fine despite his attorney's pleas for mercy.

"There is no valid reason to incarcerate John Ruppel," said Bob Ritchie, Ruppel's lawyer. "He's been through three trials, he's been through emotional trauma, and he's been embarrassed and humiliated."

"I am not guilty," Ruppel quietly told U.S. District Judge Robert Parker moments before the sentence was handed down Friday. Jurors convicted Ruppel on June 2 of one count of conspiracy and three counts of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute. He was acquitted of racketeering charges.

Ritchie filed a notice of appeal after sentencing. A co-defendant, Charles "Muscles" Foster, was acquitted of all charges stemming from the alleged scheme to smuggle 86 tons of Colombian marijuana into Texas.

Ruppel was released on a $50,000 bond pending the outcome of his appeal.

Producers and Royalty Owners Association, L. Frank Pitts, urged Texas royalty owners to attend a July 17 senate finance committee field hearing to be held in Austin Special Events Center.

Pitts stated, "The so-called windfall profit tax is robbing royalty owners all across Texas. The federal tax guzzlers have decided that royalty owners, especially retirees, pensioners, and elderly who live on fixed income, are to be punished along with the multi-national oil companies."

Locally, plans for using a bus to take Scurry County residents to the hearings are being studied by Mrs. C.L. Williamson.

Mrs. Williamson said, however, that before a bus could be rented at least 39 persons would have to make reservations, and the cost per person would be $25.

Should a bus be rented for the occasion, the bus would leave Snyder the 16th in order to get to Austin by the 17th, the day of the hearings. The bus would return to Snyder on the 17th.

Persons wanting to check into the possibility of making the trip by bus may contact Mrs. Williamson at 573-6461.

"Get to Austin," implored Pitts, "to show your support of Sen. Bentsen's effort to take this unjustified tax off those who can least afford it. Every royalty owner needs to show that he or she is not going to stand for this governmental confiscation.

"Individuals from all walks of life will be participating at this hearing. Farmers, ranchers, school teachers, small businessmen and other just plain, hardworking folks will probably be delivering the same basic message: Alter this tax that is drastically affecting the income of Texans and is forcing this entire nation to depend on foreign oil," Pitts said.

The Senate hearing, chaired by Sen. Bentsen, will be taking testimony on his and other proposals to exempt royalty owners from the Windfall Profit Tax.

Rigs Drill Record Number Of Wells

For the first five months of this year the oil and gas industry drilled an average of 4,933 wells a month nationwide and that set a record for rotary rigs. The old January through May record was 4,847 rigs in 1956. It should be pointed out, however, that we are just now getting back to the number that we drilled 24 years ago. According to the International Association of Drilling Contractors, 25 to 30 new rigs are being put into service each month.

Americans used 7.7 percent less gasoline through June 20th of this year compared to the same period last year. The Department of Energy has set a five percent nationwide gasoline reduction target for the last six months of this year. In New Mexico, the target of the state is a reduction of 2.8 percent or 402 million gallons of gasoline for the remainder of 1980. In Texas, the goal is 4 billion 200 million gallons or 5.6 percent for the second half of this year.

In other news this week, the House of Representatives voted to send President Carter's Energy Mobilization Board plan back to a House-Senate Conference Committee. The vote, 232 to 131, was so lopsided that most observers say the plan is dead for this year and may never come up for a vote again. In November, the bill received 107 Republican votes. After several changes in the Conference Committee, only nine Republicans voted for it this time. The Energy Mobilization Board would have been able to overrule federal, state and local laws in order to speed up various energy projects.

The rig count last week was 333, while one year ago it was 224.

The average American eats about 70 pounds of tomatoes a year.

WHY GAS IS PLENTIFUL, EFFICIENT AND RIGHT FOR THE TIMES.

It's time to kiss rumors goodbye and settle down with reassuring facts, one of which is that gas is plentiful for the residential and commercial customers of Lone Star Gas Company.

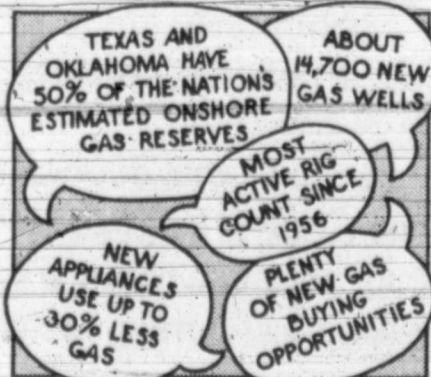

Rumors are usually more exciting than fact, but the fact is that approximately 2,500 drilling rigs were at work in the United States in December 1979. This was the highest active rig count since 1956.

Despite persistent rumors that America is running out of natural gas, industry statistics reveal an increase in the ratio of successes to failures in gas-well completions in 1979.

As a result, the United States has about 14,700 new gas wells it didn't have a year ago. And exploration is expected to increase—not decrease—as higher gas prices offset the increasing cost of drilling.

Another reassuring fact is this: 50% of this nation's estimated remaining onshore gas reserves are in nine major basins in Texas and Oklahoma. Lone Star's pipelines connect with eight of these basins, so we'll have plenty of opportunities to buy new gas.

The new gas appliances can help you hold down your utility bills.

Gas is the naturally efficient energy that works in its original form, free of energy conversion costs. Direct use of it in your appliances actually conserves energy and saves you money.

Now, with the new energy-efficient appliances that use up to 30% less gas to do the same jobs your old appliances do so reliably, economical natural gas becomes even more economical.

The new gas appliances can help you hold down your utility bills without cutting back on the comforts and conveniences energy can provide. It's why natural gas and the new gas appliances are so right for the times!

Curtis, Davis Married In Double Ring Rites

In a candle lit ceremony June 14 at 7 p.m., Miss Janet Deann Curtis became the bride of Darrell Wayne Davis.

Vows for the double ring ceremony were exchanged in First Assembly of God Church with Rev. James R. Jackson, pastor, officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Curtis Jr., of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley W. Davis of Hobbs, N.M., formerly of Snyder.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of dacron polyester organza with sheer bishop sleeves and a beribboned empire silhouette trimmed with sequined scalloped chantilly. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations accented with apricot sweetheart roses, baby's breath, white lace and apricot ribbon streamers atop a white Bible.

The groom wore a three piece tan suit. His boutonniere was two apricot sweetheart roses with baby's breath, matching the bride's bouquet.

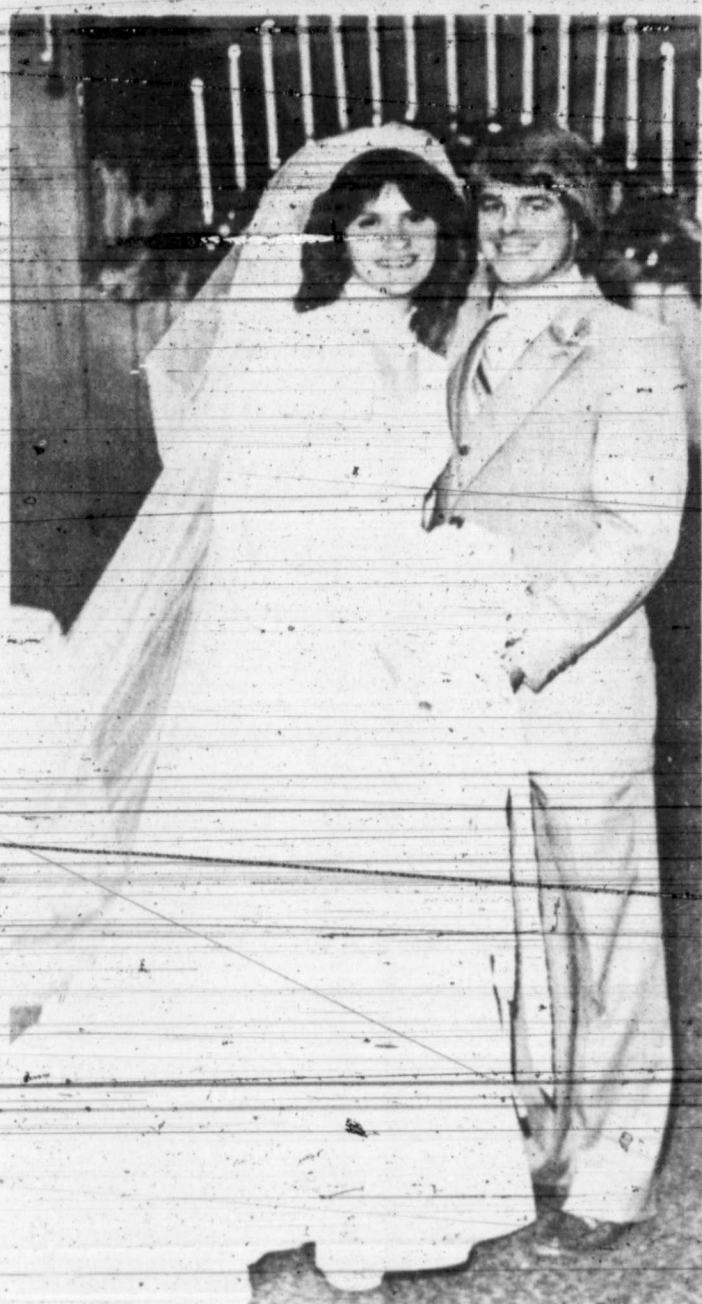

Tammy Justice sang "Colour My World," "Holy, Holy," "You Light Up My Life" and "We've Only Just Begun," accompanied by Karen Walton at the piano.

The altar was decorated with a 15-branch candelabrum with greenery. On each side of the kneeling bench was a nine taper candelabra with large bouquets of white and apricot carnations and baby's breath with apricot ribbons. The parents' and grandparents' pews were marked with large apricot bows.

The bride presented a long-stemmed apricot rose to her mother when entering the church, and a long-stemmed apricot rose to the groom's mother when leaving the church.

Eugenia Bates, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor and Tracy Banks was bridesmaid. Each wore a floor length dress of apricot double-knit. The bodice was fashioned with a blouson over lay, rounded neckline and split cape sleeves that tied on the shoulders. Each carried a nosegay of apricot carnations and baby's breath tied with long streamers of apricot and white ribbon.

Mark Davis, brother of the groom, served as best man. Mike Smiddy, cousin of the groom, served as groomsmen. They wore three-piece dark brown suits and apricot boutonnières. Ushers were Kenneth Foreman, cousin of the groom, and

Frederic Davis, uncle of the groom.

Laura Kay Davis, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and Daniel Bates, nephew of the bride was ring bearer. Candlelighters were Christy Jackson and David Bates, nephew of the bride. Charlotte Jackson registered guests and Clint Bates, nephew of the bride, passed out rice bags.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church following the ceremony.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth over an apricot undershirt, and was decorated with a large bouquet accented with apricot flowers.

The tiered cake, trimmed with tiny apricot bells and flowers, featured an apricot color flowing fountain. It was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Betty Curtis, sister-in-law of the bride, and Geri Walton served at the bride's table.

The groom's table was covered with a brown cloth trimmed with brown lace. It held a silver coffee service and a German chocolate cake served by Benita Smiddy, cousin of the groom.

For traveling, the bride wore a dress of double-knit print. Her corsage was from her bridal bouquet.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents Friday night in the church fellowship hall.

The bride is a 1979 graduate of Snyder High School. The groom is also a 1979 graduate of Snyder High School and attended Western Texas College. He is employed by Superior Production Logging.

Out of town guests registered from Perrin, Jacksboro, Abilene, San Angelo, Lubbock, Gainesville, Decatur, Loop, Gentry Ark., and California.

Add color and flavor to salads by including one or more of these ingredients with the basic green salad: chives, pineapple tidbits, avocado, olives, Parmesan or blue cheese or mushrooms, croutons, curry powder, sesame seeds, celery seeds.

These additions will enhance any "beat-the-heat" salad, says Dr. Rose Tindall Postel, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Texas 4-H Congress To Feature "Agriculture"

LUBBOCK—"4-H and Agriculture, the Growing Scene," will be the theme of the eighth annual Texas 4-H Congress to be held here July 15-17.

Some 550 4-H members and chaperons will be taking part in the three-day event which serves as a major learning experience for older members of the youth program conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Congress headquarters will be the Wiggins Complex at Texas Tech University, according to Preston Sides, Extension 4-H and youth specialist.

Featured at a 7:30 p.m. opening assembly at the University Theatre the first day will be Texas Tech Dean of Agriculture Sam Cull and Grady Nutt of the television show, "Hee Haw." Topics of the agricultural industry in the Texas High Plains will highlight the second day. Four different tours will be featured, including beef, cotton, grain and swine.

Capping the second day will be a visit to Palo Duro Canyon where the 4-H'ers will see the musical drama, "Texas."

A lunch and fashion show by the Robert Spence School of Modeling in Lubbock will begin the final day of the congress. That afternoon 4-H'ers will explore career options in various areas of agriculture, including production, processing, marketing and related fields.

A banquet featuring an address by Extension Director Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel and installation of the 1980-81 Texas 4-H Council members will conclude the congress program.

According to Sides, all delegates attending the congress will be sharing the information they have learned with their fellow 4-H'ers and community groups.

The 1981 Texas 4-H Congress will be held in San Antonio.

AUGUST WEDDING PLANNED—Mr. and Mrs. LaRoy Shafer of Vincent announce the engagement of their daughter, Tami, to Ray Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Glasscock of Snyder. The couple plans to exchange vows Friday, Aug. 1 at the Vincent Baptist Church. (Craft Studio Photo)

Upholstery Fabrics
In choosing upholstery fabrics, ask yourself how much wear and tear the fabric will receive. Then select one that can "take the action" at your house. Read hangtags for fiber content.

Fabrics
For low-to-medium cost fabrics, nylon, vinyl or olefin make reasonable choices, but cigarette burns will melt these fabrics.

If vinyl is the choice, be sure it's expanded vinyl with a knit fabric backing for long wear under hard condition.

In studying different fabrics, consider those with tightly twisted fiber and firm weaves. These wear well.

Also, look for a fabric made of same-size yarns rather than fabrics with heavy yarns running one way and lightweight yarns another way. Check to see how much light comes through the fabric. Looser weaves show more light, a sure sign they won't wear well.

Also, raised yarns will snag and pull, and they generally do not wear well.

Backing
A rubberized backing can help fabric keep its shape, but beware of too much backing—it may be holding together a fabric woven too loosely for long wear.

Finishes
Ask about finishes that will protect fabrics from stains. Olefin is naturally stain resistant. Others may need some type of added protection.

Blend foundation by applying moisturizer along lines where makeup stops, suggests Becky Saunders, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Culp, Williamson Vows Pledged In Hermleigh Baptist Church

Kelly Mechelle Culp became the bride of James Dewayne Williamson in a formal double-ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church in Hermleigh June 6 at 7:30 p.m. with Rev. Charles Gray, pastor of the First Baptist Church officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Olan H. Culp Jr. and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Williamson, all of Hermleigh.

The altar was enhanced with a 15-branch rainbow candelabrum flanked by a 15-branch candelabrum beneath a gold arch entwined with greenery and rose colored bows.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Bobby Culp, aunt of the bride, at the piano. Mrs. Tonya Minton, sister of the bride, sang "The Wedding Song," and Julie Roemisch sang "More" as the couple lighted memory candle, also "Looking Through The Eyes of Love," and "Theme From The Promise" during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white formal knit gown with a key neckline edged in heavy lace and a chapel length train. A lace headpiece of applied lace trim with finger tip illusion veil matched the lace on the bridal gown. She carried a bouquet of rose and white with multi-colored silk flowers and white baby's breath with lace and pink flowers cascading from a white Bible.

The bride carried out the traditional something old, an accordion pleated nylon handkerchief, first carried by her aunt in her wedding as well as other family members; something borrowed were opal earrings of her sister and something new was her dress. She also wore the traditional blue garters made by Mrs. Connie Culp, her paternal grandmother with pennies of her.

Mrs. Tonya Minton, of Alvin, sister of the bride, and Tracey Williamson, of Hermleigh sister-in-law of the groom of the were matrons of honor.

the couple's birthdates in them.

As the bride approached the altar, she gave her mother a long stemmed red rose with a kiss; following the vows she extended a red rose to her mother-in-law and kissed her.

Bridesmaid's were Jackie Williamson, sister of the groom, and LaRonna Decker, cousin of the bride. The matron's of honor and bridesmaids were attired in gowns with blouson top and accordion pleated skirts. Each carrying bouquets coordinating with the bride's bouquet and wearing matching illusion headpieces, falling from a cascade of silk flowers. Flower girl Shauna Minton and Lisa Minton, brides' nieces were dressed in full length gowns, coordinating with the bridesmaid's dresses.

Cory Minton of Alvin, nephew of the bride was ring bearer. He was attired in a beige three piece suit and carried the satin pillow designed by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. L.D. Womble.

Candlelighters were Rodney Foster and Daren Hughes. Best man was Marvin Sipes and groomsmen were Joe Don Williamson and John Williamson, brothers of the groom, and Alan Culp cousin of the bride, all of Hermleigh. They wore chocolate brown tuxedos.

Usher's were Stevie Mason and David Minton, brothers-in-law of the bride.

The bride's mother was wearing a rose colored floor length gown with lace and sequin trim and the groom's mother wore an aqua floor length accordion pleated gown with orchid corsages.

The reception was held at the Hermleigh Community Center. Denise Hulme registered guests, from a table featuring a picture of the bride and groom and an antique glass basket, owned by the bride's great grandmother, holding rose colored rice bags.

A white lace cloth covered the bride's table, with a centerpiece of the bride's chosen colors in a white wrought iron basket effect. The three tiered wedding cake featured a miniature stairway of bridesmaid's and groomsmen on each side with a tiny bride and groom in a lace circle on top. Denise Hulme, cousin of the bride of San Angelo, and Lori Fuqua of Hermleigh served at the bride's table. The beige covered groom's table held a pound cake, fresh strawberries and a silver coffee service. Serving were Sherry Trinda and Julie Gray, cousins of the groom.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the community center.

The bride and groom are graduates of Hermleigh High School and Western Texas College. The bride is employed by Merchant's Fast Motor Lines and the groom is employed at Lease Equipment Service.

The couple are at home at Rt. 1 in Hermleigh.

Out of town guests were from Roanoke, Odessa, Roscoe, Big Spring, Colorado City, Del Rio, Hope N.M. and Artesia N. Mex.

Brownies, Dads Camp Together

One hundred five persons helped celebrate a Brownie-Dad July 4-5 holiday at Camp Boothe Oaks, south of Sweetwater. This was the second of three Brownie-Dad Special Overnights provided at the resident campsite this summer. Brownies who sold seven cases of GS cookies during this year's cookie sale were eligible.

The dads acted as buddies to the Brownies and did everything the girls did -- swimming, canoeing, hiking, playing games, shooting arrows, stargazing, designing head scarfs, learning songs and practicing dining hall procedures.

Among special consultants assisting the resident camp staff were Brenda Crawford, Abilene; Ed Deaton, Roby; Teresa and Gary Scarber, Snyder; Stefanie Ausmus and Jill Willbanks, Big Spring; Deanne Pare, Midland; Jackie Hancock, Big Spring Field Executive; and Peggy Sturrock, executive director of the West Texas Council.

Attending from Snyder were Michelle Anderson, Kathryn Kozelsky, Lois Urby and their dads.

A third Brownie-Dad Day will be held July 19-20.

The West Texas Girl Scout Council is a participating agency of the United Way.

CPR Students Need Review

COLLEGE STATION Follow-up cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) training is essential to keep in practice, advises Mary Ann Shirer, a health education specialist.

It may take more than a four-hour crash course to save a life, she points out.

Dr. Shirer is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

More than seven million Americans have received training in CPR which, promptly applied, can save the life of a heart attack victim.

But, CPR students quickly forget what they learned in the basic four-hour course without some follow-up review, the specialist explains.

If CPR certification is more than a year old, take a refresher course to practice the technique again. This is necessary to maintain an adequate performance level.

Also, the CPR students should spend as much time as possible practicing on mannikins, Dr. Shirer adds.

Solemn Nuptial Vows Repeated By Miss Callaway, Erlandson

Lisa Gail Callaway and Ricky Erlandson were united in marriage in a candlelight double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. on June 20 in the First Baptist Church, Gainesville, by Dr. Harry Roark. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Callaway of Gainesville and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Callaway of Mesquite, all former residents of Snyder. Mrs. Clarence Wade of Snyder is the bride's maternal grandmother. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Erlandson of Whitesboro.

Vows were exchanged before cathedral candlelight in a pyramid design, flanked by matching spiral candleabra. These were trimmed with emerald fern, lavender daisy mums and gladioli. Ribbon bows and plumosa fern marked the pews.

The bride was presented at the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. The bride was attired in a formal gown of silk chiffon with a Queen Anne neckline with French medallion lace insertion, full bishop sleeves with lace trimmed cuffs. The full bouffant skirt fell to a chapel length train. Her cathedral veil of English silk illusion encircled with lace was caught to a caplet of French lace and seed pearls. She wore a pin at the waist that had belonged to her maternal great-great grandmother, which was also worn by her mother in her wedding. At her neck was an antique locket belonging to her paternal grandmother. A blue garter, handmade for the bride by her maternal grandmother, was worn. The penny the bride wore in her shoe had been given to her as an infant by her paternal great-grandmother, the late Mrs. John Horne.

She carried a silk cascade of white roses, baby white orchids, lily-of-the-valley, white French rose buds, baby English-ivy, and purple tipped forget-me-nots atop a white Bible, with white lace and satin streamers.

Chris Callaway, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Wade Lancaster and Kim Hatter, cousins of the bride, from Clovis N.M., were bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses of mauve tulle, three tiered, formal length, sundresses trimmed with white lace and satin ribbon. They carried silk colonial nosegays.

Craig Erlandson of Gainesville, was his brother's best man. Groomsman were Tim Tracy and Dale Logue of Whitesboro. Teel Kirk of Marietta, Okla., was flower girl. Garvin Kirk, also of Marietta, was ring bearer. Candlelighters were Tony and Brandi Erlandson of Gainesville, nephew and niece of the groom. Ushers were Clint Rhodes, Craig Rhodes, Eddie Robeson, all of Gainesville, and Cliff Spindle of Valley View. Guests were registered by Mrs. Craig Erlandson, Gainesville, sister-in-law of the groom.

As the soloist, Traci Jones, sang "O Perfect Love," accompanied by Mrs. Wade Orsborn on the piano, the bride and groom lighted a unity candle. The soloist also sang "The Wedding Song" and "Whither Thou Goest."

A reception followed the wedding ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. The three tiered cake was topped with the Bisque bride and groom that was atop the wedding cake of Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Callaway, the bride's grandparents, Aug. 6, 1938. Julie Hunger and Sharon Woods presided at the cake. Shauna Richey and Gaye Birkhead presided at the punch bowl. Sherrie Hankins, Lake Kiowa, and Penny Crowsey, Gainesville, presided at the groom's table. Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Elmo Frost, Gainesville; Mrs. Fred King, Gainesville; Mrs. Mike Ray, Allen; Mrs. Gary Kirk, Marietta; and Mrs. Dalton Walton, Snyder.

April Lillard and Shandee Richey passed out rice bags. Kristen Walton passed out scrolls.

Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Erlandson hosted the rehearsal dinner at K-Bob's Steak House. Places were marked for 35 guests; members of the wedding party and out of town guests and families.

Mrs. John L. Callaway honored her daughter with a luncheon June 20 at K-Bob's Steak House. Twelve guests were served. The honoree was presented a sterling and crystal bell to mark the occasion by Mrs. Wade Lancaster.

The bride graduated from Gainesville High School and will continue her education at North Texas State University. The groom graduated from Callisburg High School, attended Abilene Christian University, Abilene, and will continue his education at North Texas State University. He is employed with Erlandson Construction Co.

After a trip to Dallas and San Antonio the couple will reside at Sanger.

Government estimates show U.S. cotton growers will seed 14.8 million acres this year, up 6 percent from 1979.

Pecan Growers Should Check For Blight

COLLEGE STATION—Pecan growers have got to be ready for all seasons, and the seemingly endless succession of disease and insect problems. Now the problem is stem end blight.

This fungus disease causes major pecan losses each year, points out John N. Cooper, pecan pest management agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The disease first appears as a small black spot on the pecan shuck. This spot enlarges quickly and becomes sunken and shiny as compared to another disease, scab, which appears as a crusty spot or lesion. Once the spot caused by stem end blight enlarges, the young pecan embryo has been infected and the pecan is dead.

Stem and blight starts showing up in early July as the pecan embryo begins to develop, explains Cooper. Infected pecans will start dropping in early August.

To prevent this loss, Cooper advises growers to start applying the fungicide benlate (Benlate) as soon as young pecans start filling with liquid. Applications should be repeated in two weeks.

Growers in areas of high relative humidity, mainly Southeast Texas, need to continue to apply fungicides at two-to-three-week intervals to keep scab disease under control, adds Cooper.

U.S. milk production totaled 123.6 billion pounds in 1979. That was a 2 percent increase over 1978 and the highest national total since 1965.

Jump shift response bids

By Oswald Jacoby
and Alan Sontag

The jump shift response should tell partner that you have slam interest, but that you may want to stop at game if his opening is in a minimum. If you intend to get to a slam, you don't need a jump shift. All you have to do is to make sure that you use forcing bids all the way.

Suppose your partner opens one spade and you hold: S-K-Q 5-4 H-A 2-D-7-3 C-A-K 6-5-2. This is a perfect three-club response. If partner rebids three spades (intermediate strength) or three notrump (balanced minimum) you simply go to four spades. You have invited a slam, but you haven't gone past game. If he rebids three diamonds or hearts you bid three spades and await his next bid.

response. With distributional hands we recommend that you have at least 14 (possibly shaded to 13) and that with balanced hands you need at least 18 or 19.

Thus, there is no good reason to respond three clubs to a one-spade opening with: S-3-2 H-A-K 7-D-K-Q 5-C-A-J 8-7-6. Just respond two clubs and see what develops. On the other hand, change that jack of clubs to the king and you should respond three clubs and plan to bid three notrump next. Partner should then play you for 18 or more high-card points.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Your partner opens one heart. You hold: S-A-K-Q-J 10 8-7-6 H-A-D-5-4-C-8-2. Jump to two spades and plan to bid four spades at your next turn. High-card points have a lot to do with the jump suit

Couple Exchanges Vows In Evening Garden Ceremony

Belinda Dell Hibbitt became the bride of Lowell Bridges in a garden ceremony at 7:30 p.m. June 7 at 2258 Sunset, home of the bride's parents.

Rev. A.B. Dillard, retired Baptist minister and grandfather of the bridegroom, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Valentine and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C.R. Bridges of Idaho.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight sheer organza and Chantilly lace. The high neckline was edged with Chantilly lace and seed pearls. Her Victorian sleeves were made with button lace cuffs. The flaring skirt, accented with lace panels, flowed into a chapel length train. Her lace veil with seed pearls fell to chapel length. The bride carried a cascade of apricot colored silk roses and baby's breath, also a white lace covered Bible belonging to the groom's grandmother.

Mike Trammel, groomsmen, sang musical selections before the wedding. Vic Valentine, brother of the bride, played the traditional wedding march and sang "The Wedding Song."

Flower girl, Pamela Fikes, niece of the groom, scattered rose petals ahead of the bride as she was escorted by her father.

of the groom.

Vows were repeated in front of a waterfall surrounded by flowing potted plants.

A reception followed in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was covered with an ivory crocheted tablecloth made by her grandmother. The three tiered ivory cake was decorated with apricot roses. Serving was Renee Fikes of Carthage, and Christi Bridges served punch and registered guests. The groom's cake was chocolate with apricot roses. Serving were Billie Owens and Jenny Hinton.

Following a wedding trip to Puerto Vallarta, off the Pacific Coast of Old Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Bridges will be at home in Lubbock where the bride is employed by R&R Electronics and the groom is employed as a structural draftsman at B&F Drafting.

The bride chose for going away attire a black satin jump suit.

Agriculture Dept. Names Best Buys

WASHINGTON (AP)—Shoppers will want to include pork, poultry, eggs, peaches, plums, nectarines and limes on their grocery list this month, according to the Agriculture Department.

This month will be a good time for consumers and large-scale food users to take advantage of abundant supplies of these items, the department reported.

Pork output this month will run 6 percent to 8 percent more than last year. Chicken will be slightly less than last July's record output but still plentiful. And turkey will soar 24 percent to 26 percent above last July's supply. Egg supplies will be about the same as last July.

The department also says milk and other dairy products will be plentiful, although down from the seasonal peak in May and June.

Pair Marries In Double Ring Rites

Denise Lucile Sandefur became the bride of Clark Earl Compton in a candlelight ceremony at 7 p.m. Saturday, June 27 at the Hermleigh Methodist Church. Rev. Loren Gardner of Roby officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Sandefur Jr. of Hermleigh and the groom is the son of Mrs. Ray Brown of Cincinnati, Ohio, and T.J. Compton of Edmond, Okla.

The altar was centered with arch candelabrum entwined with lily-of-the-valley and accented with white satin bows. Candelabra holding seven white tapers, accented with white satin bows, flanked the arch. Centering the arch was a unity candle which was lighted by the bride and groom. Floral arrangements of yellow mums, white and yellow daisies were on each side of the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace styled with a Bateau neckline, basque fitted waist and tapered sleeves. The full tiered ruffled skirt fell to a long cathedral train. The white illusion veil was fitted to a camelot caplet covered in lace and trimmed in seed pearls.

She carried a cascade of yellow roses, yellow and white daisies accented with gypsophylla and yellow lace ribbon atop a white Bible.

In keeping with tradition for something old she wore her maternal grandmother's cameo ring, something new was her dress and necklace a gift from the groom, something borrowed was a lace handkerchief from her cousin, Mrs. Mary Lou Crawford, and something blue was her garter.

She carried a penny in each of her shoes minted in the years of their births.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Sherry Bowman from Speedwell, Tenn. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Debby Sandefur of Roscoe, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Wanda O'Leary of Arlington. Their floor length dresses were of yellow crepe with chiffon cape collars and sashes. They wore daisy head pieces and carried colonial bouquets of wild roses, yellow and white daisies touched with gypsophylla. Yellow satin streamers with love knots flowed from the bouquet.

The groom was dressed in a white tuxedo with white ruffled shirt, white bow tie and white patent shoes. His boutonniere was yellow roses with baby's breath.

Dave Mills of Arlington, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Burton Sandefur of Roscoe, brother of the bride, and Larry Eubanks of Bedford. They wore black tuxedos with yellow ruffled shirts and black bow ties. Their boutonnieres were yellow carnations. Ushers were Steve Mason and Allan Culp of Hermleigh.

Ringbearers were Christopher and Jennifer Bolding of Round Rock, twin cousins of the bride. Flower girl was Sheri Sandefur of Roscoe, niece of the bride. Candlelighters were Beverly Sandefur of Roscoe, niece of the bride and Steve Bolding of Seminole cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Mary Lou Crawford of Hermleigh sang "The Wedding Song," "Wedding Prayer" and "Just the Way You Are," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Diane Baird.

The bride's parents hosted a reception in their home. The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth. Mrs. Debby Mills, sister-in-law of the groom, served punch and Charlotte Barrett served the three tiered white cake decorated with yellow sweet peas and greenery featuring a fountain and topped with a bride and groom. The table was centered with a silver candelabrum with yellow tapers and a large yellow candle with the bouquets of the bride and bridesmaids. The groom's table was covered with a yellow linen table cloth centered with silver candelabrum with yellow tapers. Nancy Leatherwood of Hermleigh served German chocolate cake, and Dawn Gardner of Roby served coffee from a silver coffee service.

MR. AND MRS. CLARK EARL COMPTON

After a 10 day wedding trip to the Olympia Resort in Wisconsin, the couple will reside in Arlington.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Edmond High School, attended Central State University, in Edmond, Okla. and Texas Christian Junior College in Fort Worth. He is employed by Texas Permanent Cookware of Texas.

The bride is a graduate of Hermleigh High School and Abilene Commercial College of Abilene, and is employed by the First City National Bank of Arlington.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Pizza Inn.

Out of town guests registered from Arlington, Bedford, Fort Worth, Roscoe, Abilene, Roby, Snyder, Austin, Round Rock, Seminole, Stamford, Big Spring, Perry, Okla., and Speedwell, Tenn.

berkeley barb expires

Another remnant of the turbulent Sixties has been laid to rest.

It is - or was - the Berkeley Barb, that pillar of the counterculture press whose demise was considered sufficiently newsworthy to rate an obituary in that pillar of the establishment press, the Washington Post.

The Barb, for those memories that may require refreshing, was perhaps the best-known, certainly among the more outspoken and quite possibly for a time the most prosperous of the underground publications that sprang up across the country during that hyper-active decade, usually on or very near university campuses.

In the Barb's case, that was the University of California, which guaranteed preeminence in its field since the Berkeley campus was where most of it was at or started during those explosive years - Mario Savio and free speech, pot and LSD, hippies and yuppies and the new left, "make love, not war" and much, much more.

Ah, the good old days - or bad, depending upon points of view.

At the end of the Sixties, the Barb's readership approached 100,000. But the Seventies were a different story, a downer all the way as yesterday's revolutionaries became today's businessmen or dropped out of the scene altogether.

In a late-Seventies reorganization, the Barb split into two publications - the originally, less radical but still true to its socially conscious tradition, and the Spectator, devoted to sex features and ads.

The Barb nevertheless continued its decline into insolvency and the history of the times. It was not quite the last of its kind. A few survive, notably Boston's Real Paper. But for practical purposes the counterculture press has gone out with the counterculture tide.

mg passes on

And while we are indulging in nostalgia, say farewell to a symbol of something far, far different than the counterculture.

The MG, for more than half a century the epitome of the sports car and a culture all to itself, has come to the end of the assembly line.

British Leyland, which has been turning out some 30,000 of the sporty little speedsters in recent years, almost all for sale in the United States at a $2,000 loss on each, is calling it quits.

There are, of course, sports cars and sports cars - Porsches, Alfa Romeos, Jags and even Toyotas now. Most more elegant - and expensive - than the MG. But none with quite the same dashing class.

The MG, the classic green roadster with the wire wheels and boot-mounted spare, was something else again. It was the dream on wheels of whole generations, an adult toy for thousands of grown boys and girls.

Its passing marks the end of an era and it will be missed.

Especially by all those now-aging boys and girls who dreamed but were never fortunate enough to have owned one.

Vroom, vroom.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "There's a new medical theory that exercise kills germs. But it's tough getting the germs to exercise."

Jan Mayfield, owner of Mode O'Day, handed us following that may help our attitude during this trying hot weather. It says simply that attitudes are the father of our decisions and actions.

Here it is:

A winner says, "Let's find out." A loser says, "Nobody knows."

When a winner makes a mistake, he says, "I was wrong," when a loser makes a mistake, he says, "It wasn't my fault."

A winner isn't nearly as afraid of losing as a loser is secretly afraid of winning.

A winner works harder than a loser and has more time. A loser is always too busy to do what is necessary.

A winner goes through the problem. A loser goes around it, and never gets past it.

A winner makes commitments. A loser makes promises.

A winner says, "I'm good, but not as good as I ought to be." A loser says, "I'm not as bad as a lot of other people."

A winner listens, while a loser just waits until it's his turn to talk.

A winner respects those who are superior to him and tries to learn something from them. A loser resents those who are superior to him and tries to find chinks in their armor.

A winner explains, and a loser explains away.

A winner feels responsible for more than his job. A loser says, "I only work here."

A winner says, "There ought to be a better way to do it." A loser says, "That's the way it has always been done."

A winner paces himself. A loser has only two speeds - hysterical and lethargic.

The idea of attitude and psychology reminded us about the story of a sales-

Birthday parties are usually times of merriment and gladness, but one exception appears in the Old Testament. The Pharaoh used that occasion in a different way. He hanged the chief baker, whose dream Joseph had interpreted in prison.

"And it came to pass the third day, which was Pharaoh's birthday, that he made a feast unto all his servants: and he lifted up the head of the butler and of the chief baker among his servants. But he hanged the chief baker." - Gen. 40:20, 22

last of the lectures

The first of our nation's "community lecture" programs had died. It suffered first.

When Community Lectures of Oak Park, Ill. (suburban Chicago) began 80 years ago it brought to the high school auditorium once a week each winter season the most renowned scholars, statesmen bonafide celebrities.

Recent years the roster of platform speakers has dwindled away to low-budget luminaries of dubious luminescence.

And now, this year, the tradition ends. The Oak Park Community Lectures will be no more.

Why, do you suppose? I'm reciting the experience of our nation's oldest such lyceum series because its diminished importance and ultimate demise is fairly typical. These lectures which began in 1900 - before television - before radio - before there were even movies of significance - were a window on the world for the enlightenment of the townsfolk.

Once a week each winter they sat at the feet of such notables as Will Durant, Eve Curie, Lillian Gish and Sinclair Lewis.

The audiences feasted on the wisdom of and the wit of Catherine Drinker Bowen, Eleanor Roosevelt, Ralph Bunche, Randolph Churchill, Margaret Mead, Edward Teller, Amelia Earhart and Alistair Cooke.

In the beginning the lectures were part of extension courses of the University of Chicago; later the program was administered by committees of volunteers.

Let me say something blunt about "committees of volunteers."

I have seen community cultural and charitable efforts attract gratis brainpower which none could afford; men and women willing to give of their time and energy apparently selflessly. Realistically, society people have been rewarded by public recognition; by their "pictures in the papers."

This cold-blooded honesty is necessary if we are to understand what has happened to deprive us of their significant services. Newspapers don't even print a "society page" anymore. Such is said to be out-of-step with the new social homogenization of our population.

And where this may sound like no great loss - without that incentive, such functions as a community lecture series inevitably fell instead into the hands of individuals of "social conscience," willing to give their time to promote some "cause" or other.

Recent years, "the Oak Park Community Lectures" included a nuclear arms protestor, a film on Russia, an "authority on China," an authority on the Bermuda Triangle.

Granted, a reduced budget has limited the choice of speakers. Fourteen hundred regular attendees have diminished to 300 last year. At $12.50 for a season ticket there was less money for more speakers at the same time that the good ones were charging more.

And then there was the competition of Monday Night Football on TV.

So, perhaps the demise of the community lecture is inevitable.

But let the record read that "society," as we knew it, died first.

Economist

Says Gasahol

A Mere Fad

AUSTIN (AP)-A Harvard economist says oil imports would be rising, not declining, but for the recession. He also called gasahol a fad subsidized by the government.

Thomas Stauffer, a research associate at Harvard's center for Middle Eastern studies, spoke at an energy seminar for public school teachers.

He said that contrary to government reports, oil imports are not declining. Imports would be on the rise "if the economy were not so bad," Stauffer said.

Gasahol, he said, involves "one of the most expensive subsidy programs I've ever heard of to foster domestic energy production," with subsidies exceeding actual production costs.

"The bottom line is that using alcohol to stretch gas is like using filet mignon to stretch hamburger," Stauffer said.

He dismissed nuclear fusion and harnessing the power of waves as future energy sources but said realistic possibilities include burning garbage and organic materials as fuel and the use of photovoltaic cells to produce electricity from the sun's rays.

letter to editor

Dear Sir:

Recently I was privileged along with six other teachers from the Snyder Independent School system to attend the 23rd annual OIC Petroleum Institute at the University of Houston.

This institute is held each year for educators to give them an overall picture of the petroleum industry. The educators are recommended by the local school system. All expenses are paid by the oil industrial concerns of the community from which the teacher is chosen.

It is these generous businessmen that I would like to express my deep appreciation: Chevron, Pool Company, Ira Pump and Supply, Ellis Production, Dresser Industries, H.D. Hines Construction, Neal Machine Shop, Superior Production Logging, Bill Atwood Construction, Calley and Flower, Leamco Bearing, Pearson-Sibert Oil Co., Mesa Pipe Line, Submerge Pump Equipment, CRC Wireline, Tri-State Construction, J.D. Goswick, Fluid Transports, Musselwhite Trucking, H&L Services, The Western Co., Southern Electric, Top Acidizers, Clark Lumber, Grinnett Brothers, Consolidated Tool and Supply, I&R Meter Service.

The petroleum industry is a very important part of our local school system and community as well as our nation. Hats off to this industry and a great big thank you.

Sincerely,

Betty Richardson
