ELITE OF AIR GET GREETING OF PRESIDENT

DELEGATES FROM FORTY NATIONS GATHER TO TALK PROBLEMS

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The elite of the air assembled here today at the International Civil Aeronautics conference and heard President Coolidge single out past and present heroes who have done "much to make America air-minded."

Recalling the progress of man's efforts to conquer the air the president generously praised the Wright brothers, who 25 years ago accomplished the first flight.

"Others whose names will long be remembered, had done much to solve the problem," the president said, "but it remained for the able, persistent and modest Wright brothers from Dayton to demonstrate completely the possibility of a machine raising itself by its own power and carry man in sustained flight."

Mr. Coolidge called attention to the "wonderful and spectacular flight to Paris," of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, and to his country-wide tour which did "much to make America air-minded."

Orville Wright, the first man to fly, guest of honor at the conference, to which forty nations have sent representatives. Colonel Lindbergh was seated with the 12 members of the American delegation, appointed by President Coolidge to represent the United States in the three day discussion of world aeronautical problems.

WOMAN MAKES LONE DRY RAID

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 12.—From a sick bed today Mrs. Maud Wilson viewed with satisfaction the far-reaching results of her angry descent with a hatchet upon the neighborhood saloon where she asserted liquor had been dispensed to her husband and 18-year-old daughter, Ida.

The latter day Carrie Nation was suffering from nervous illness from the excitement and publicity following her "dry" raid, but she believed she had surpassed her goal.

200 Officers Held At Bay By Crazy Negro

'FOURTH DEGREE' GETS RESULTS

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (AP).—The third degree is no new thing in police circles. Now comes Sergeant Parker of the Cottage Grove Avenue police station with what might be referred to as "fourth degree."

Donald Brown, negro, was being questioned concerning the slaying at Pontiac, Mich., of a negro and her daughter. Brown had persisted that he was innocent, and the officers were about to let him go, when Sergeant Parker interrupted.

"Say, boy, you look pretty sick to me," the officer said. "Let me feel your pulse."

The sergeant counted 140 beats to the minute. Brown showed signs of terror.

"You're pretty sick," the sergeant declared, shaking his head sympathetically. "Don't you want to make a dying statement before it's too late?"

It was then, police said, that Brown confessed.

OPERATE ON KING GEORGE

OPTIMISTIC NOTE IS OBSERVED IN VIEW OF PHYSICIANS

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Dec. 12.—King George underwent an operation today for the removal of a purulent fluid around the base of his right leg.

Some of the purulent fluid was removed and further drainage will be necessary.

Announcement of the operation was made in a bulletin timed 3:20 p. m., and signed by five of the six physicians who have been attending his majesty.

The Prince of Wales, who reached London late last night after his 6,000 mile race from Africa, visited Buckingham Palace shortly after noon today and spent an hour and a half there. After the puncture operation, about 1:30 p. m., he returned to his home at York house.

During the afternoon Queen Mary attended the unveiling of the Mercantile Marine war memorial at Tower Hill. She was accompanied by Princess Mary.

A remarkable rally which the king made last night just before he saw the Prince of Wales who made

ARREST MEXICAN FOR MURDER HERE

Chief of Police John Lemond and Office Wade Hardy of the city police force are expected to return today with Willie Moore, negro charged with swindling, and a Mexican wanted in connection with the death of Juan Archileta, who was shot to death in "Little Juarez" on December 2.

The negro was arrested at Midland and the Mexican at Stamford. The local officers left here yesterday morning, going first to Midland and then across to Stamford.

Kidnaping Threat Made At Palestine

PALESTINE, Dec. 12 (AP).—A guard has been placed about the home of T. A. Pickett here to ward off a possible attempt to kidnap his nine-year-old daughter, Margaret Pickett.

Four telephone messages received Monday by Pickett warned him to leave $500 at a spot near here or "lose his daughter forever."

Officers have been unable to get a trace of those putting in the calls.

BODY IS RIDDLED WITH BULLETS WHEN AT LAST CAPTURED

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—A 16-year-old negro youth today shot and wounded nine policemen, among them Deputy Commissioner Martin E. Mullen, before more than 200 policemen and firemen, using shotguns, pistols, tear bombs and machine guns, succeeded in breaking into a building and killing him.

The crazed youth, Ernest Whitehurst, staged one of the most protracted barricades in the history of the police department with policemen firing on the building in which he made his stand, from adjacent buildings, telephone poles and even from ladders. When finally cowed, Whitehurst had fifteen bullet wounds in his body. He lived two hours.

Three sisters, one a year old baby, and two brothers of the negro, were in the house with him through out the siege. By huddling in an inside room they were able to escape most of the effects of the tear bombs thrown through the shattered windows. When the siege was over and they came out of hiding, all were nearly white from the plaster chipped from the ceiling of the room by police bullets.

Whitehurst threw a brick through a store window and the police pursued him to his home.

MAEDGEN NAMED STEWARDS HEAD

C. E. Maedgen last night was named chairman of the board of stewards of the Lubbock Methodist church at the regular session of the organization. Mr. Maedgen succeeded George R. Bean in this capacity.

Other officers of the board elected last night were: Allan Hill, vice chairman; George W. Brewer, secretary; and Sam T. Davis, treasurer.

The Rev. H. L. Munger, new pastor of the church, was asked for ideas for a program for the coming year, and replied with a short talk. He said today that the local board was a fine organization, and one with which he would enjoy working.

Tentative plans for the next year's and routine business consumed the remainder of the time of the meeting. The board voted to place several additional planes in the newly constructed Educational building of the church.

Plan More Wells For Newest Field

BASTROP, Dec. 12 (AP).—At least eight new oil wells will be started within four miles of Cedar creek before Christmas. Six wells are already either in or being drilled at present in this area, one of Texas' newest oil fields.

Granfill and Reynolds No. 3, Yost, offsetting the number 1 discovery well to the west, struck the top of the Serpentine formation Tuesday at 1,398 feet, 90 feet higher than either the numbers 1 or 2.

Indications were that the well would be brought in Wednesday, a better producer than either of the other two. When pay was struck oil covered the rigging and overflowed the slush pit. The well was pinched in, pending setting of casing.

Daylight Bandits Rob O'Donnell Man

(Special To The Journal)
SNYDER, Dec. 12.—Held up at the point of a gun, Frank A. Archer, 30, of O'Donnell, was robbed of $400 in cash by masked bandits, near here at noon yesterday.

Mr. Archer was on his way to Albany to pay off a bank debt when the bandits, apparently knowing that he had the money, both drew guns at a culvert, relieving him of his purse. No other valuables were taken. The bandits were riding in an Oldsmobile car, according to Archer. Officers in every direction have been notified to watch out for the men.

WEST GRILLED BY COMMITTEE OF SENATORS

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Roy O. West, appointed as secretary of the interior by President Coolidge, while Congress was in recess last summer, came today under the inquisitorial eye of the Senate Public Lands committee at a hearing thrown open to the public.

The committee must pass upon the qualifications of the Chicago man for holding a cabinet post. Immediately after he took the stand, the political affairs of his home city and his participation in them was made the subject of inquiry. The committee also wanted to question the secretary about any knowledge he may have of the renewal of the Sinclair Salt Creek oil contract by the interior department before he took office.

At the instance of Senator Walsh, democrat of Montana, the oil prospector, the clerk of the committee ready testimony of Mr. West before the senate campaign funds committee.

The testimony read, related how Mr. West had received $10,000 for Samuel Insull, power utility operator, for the 1926 Illinois republican campaign. Because West's organization was supporting Senator McKinley and Insull was for Frank L. Smith in the senatorial race that year Insull requested the money be used for "local purposes." This was agreed to.

Mr. West told the committee in the former hearing that he, his wife and his mother had invested for years in the power utilities in which Mr. Insull was connected. He said he had consulted with Insull about these investments, becoming interested in the companies when he did some law work for the old Chicago Edison company starting in 1897. He testified that he solicited the

ADAMS CASE NEARS JURY

ARGUMENT STARTED IN TRIAL, RESULT OF UNCOLLECTED BET

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, Dec. 12.—The shooting of Orville L. Matthews, Dallas banker, by V. Ray Adams, Bartlett farmer, on a busy Dallas street last September, was vividly portrayed today by Andrew Priest, assistant district attorney, who began arguments, after Judge C. A. Pippen had delivered his charge to the jury today.

While the assistant district attorney described the slaying, Mrs. Matthews, widow of the banker, wept, and was comforted by her young son, who put an arm around his mother. Her small daughter, however, played with her. Tam O'Shafter, and was unmoved.

Adams listened calmly to Priest's argument, his 7-year-old daughter, Geneva, on his lap, his mother by his side, and his wife sitting only a few feet away.

In the charge, Judge Pippen said the jury either could sentence Adams to from 2 years imprisonment to electrocution, or could acquit him. "I instructed the jurors that in the event they decided on a verdict assessing five or less years of imprisonment, they could suspend the sentence, they could suspend the sentence, they could suspend the sentence."

Adams had not committed a previous felony and thought circumstances warranted a suspended sentence.

PLOT TO BOMB HOOVER TRAIN FOUND BY ARGENTINE INVESTIGATING FORCE

(By Associated Press)
BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 12.—A plot to bomb Herbert Hoover's special train has been frustrated. With two men under arrest police today continued their search for any anti-American agitators who might be involved.

Fifteen hundred guards will be employed on special duty to insure the safety of the United States president-elect when he arrives tomorrow and during his visit.

President Frigoyen in a statement said police in searching a house in Estombar street found four hand grenades, two cylindrical bombs, one square bomb, dynamite, revolvers, automatic pistols, quantities of ammunition and one hundred and one hundred and fifty ten-peso notes.

Map of Railway Found
Police announced that a room in the raided house contained a detailed map of the railway system. Police believe the plotters intended to outskirt the city just before the arrival of the Hoover special train.

Police in raiding the house arrested a youth who said he was Carlos Gutierrez, 18. They described him as a student of chemistry and they believed that he manufactured the bombs.

Later a second man was arrested near the house. He gave the name

COURT RULES IN TECHNICAL BANKING CASE

SPUR MAYOR TESTIFIES IN UTILITIES CASE IN COURT HERE

The criminal docket of the newly formed Lubbock division of the United States Federal court, Northwest Texas district, swung into its first day's work this morning with the opening case dealing with a technical violation of the national banking laws.

J. L. Brabham, former official of an Idaho bank, admitted the technical violation and the court, with Judge James C. Wilson presiding, made quick work of the routine matter. Although a jury sat in the case its empanelling was a formality and Wilson waived punishment and after the evidence was heard Judge passed sentence for a two year period.

Mr. Brabham is represented by Senator W. H. Bledsoe and E. A. Simpson, of Amarillo. This was the first case on the criminal docket to be taken up by the court during this session. Several other criminal cases are scheduled to be taken up.

The jury reported for duty this morning. Mr. Wood, assistant United States District Attorney, represents the government in the criminal cases.

Mayor Ned Hogan, of Spur, this morning took the stand in the interest of the defense in the indictment of the West Texas Utilities company against the city of Spur, on trial in the initial session of the Lubbock division of the United States Federal District court before Judge Wilson.

The plaintiff rested its case this morning after one witness, an official of the Utilities company, had testified. Testimony is to be resumed this afternoon following the hearing of a criminal case; and with only a few other defense witnesses yet to take the stand, it is expected

These suspects will be confined until after the departure of Mr. Hoover. The authorities not only are determined to prevent any plots against Mr. Hoover but also are determined to stop any public demonstration against the United States. GREAT ENGINEERING FEAT OF CROSSING ANDES
IN CHILE INSPECTED BY PRESIDENT-ELECT

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANDES, Chile, Dec. 12.—President-Elect Hoover today was crossing the Andes Mountains on a special train en route from Santiago to Buenos Aires. He traveled over the highest trans-continental railroad route in either of the Americas carrying his mission of friendship and understanding.

From Los Andes to its terminal at Mendoza the total length of the Andean railway is approximately 154 miles. Its highest point is 10,512 feet above sea level and it provided Mr. Hoover with the opportunity of studying one of the greatest engineering feats in the world. The train was carried over the mountain by a rack system. On the Chilean side the line has been electrified, the energy being obtained from large water power plants near Santiago. Coming to the summit of the mountain the road ran through a tunnel nearly two miles long and the train in passing through this tunnel crossed the border between Argentina and Chile.

In addressing newspapermen who are accompanying Mr. Hoover the Chilean president said

ed declines during the same period. Prices of sheep and goats on the range have increased slightly. Demand for breeding ewes still continues, indicating a strong tendency toward expansion in the sheep industry. The wool market has shown recent increased activity with more favorable prices.

Texas Ranges Decline.

Condition of the Texas ranges December 1 was 84 per cent, two points less than a month ago and one point lower than the five year average. In many cases ranges had become extremely dry and stock water was running low. Since December 1 the general rain has improved ranges and they are now very near normal. Stock water is now plentiful in most areas and ranges are providing adequate feed generally. Some cattlemen however, are feeding cattle on the range to prepare them for an early market. About the normal supply of hay is available, although there will be a scarcity in a few areas if much winter feeding is necessary. Corn and other grain feeds are relatively scarce and comparatively high in price but a large supply of cake and other cotton seed products will be available from this year's cotton crop, the second largest in history. The condition of cattle is 86 percent compared with 88 percent last month which is the five year average.

Cattle Losing Flesh. Cattle have lost flesh generally but are in excellent condition in some sections. Cattle have been sold close in all sections and the fall movement of cattle and calves to northern feed lots and markets has been relatively heavy. The shipping of contracted cattle has practically ceased and trading has slowed down. There is a strong local demand for breeding stock but many cattle are changing hands as desirable stocker cattle are scarce.

General belief among cattlemen is that not so many cattle will be placed on feed for market as usual this winter because of high feed prices and a declining cattle market. Conditions of sheep is 92 per cent and goats 94 per cent. Receipts of fall wool reported by eleven Texas warehouses were about 17 per cent greater than in 1927. Receipts of fall mohair in these same warehouses were about nine per cent greater than the corresponding receipts last year.

The saloon, in which she left a broad trail of broken glassware, had gone out of business, and the building was for rent.

Furthermore she now believes she will get action from federal and city prohibition forces from whom she said she was unable to get any response before she took matters into her own hands.

Mrs. Wilson, her husband and daughter have been ordered to appear before the county grand jury next week to testify regarding the saloon's activities, and her charge that she saw policemen enter and loiter about the place.

Meanwhile the storm of charges and counter charges that broke between the federal and local authorities and the prosecutors of office regarding responsibility for "wide open" liquor selling here continued in full fury.

W. Harold Lane, chief of the federal prohibition agents here, said he believed there were 1,000 places selling liquor within the city, more than double the number of licensed saloons here before prohibition became effective. He said, however, that with his force of six men he was unable to act effectively and that he could not get cooperation of the police.

Lincoln R. Toyne, chief of police, charged Lane was "not telling the truth."

"As a matter of fact Lane won't co-operate with us," he said.

Chief Toyne came out with the flat-footed assertion that he was leading a dog's life trying to satisfy his public, largely because of an inadequate police force and legal loopholes.

a stirring dash from equatorial Africa to his father's bedside, seemed to have been maintained. This gave an indication of the strength with which the king was fighting his battle.

While some quarters assumed that the prince would not have rushed to Buckingham palace if the end of the king had not been near, it was insisted at the palace that such a meeting would not have been allowed had physicians attending the king regarded the excitement as likely to have an effect immediately dangerous.

The king was sleeping when his son and heir arrived, but he awoke before the prince left the palace and as his condition showed some improvement it was decided that the visit might be permitted without risk.

The heir to the throne was met on his landing to English soil at Folkestone by Prime Minister Baldwin and the Duke of York met them at Victoria station when they arrived on the boat train. The prince looked well after his hunting trip, but his face showed strain from his anxiety and the marks from his forced journey by land and sea.

When the prince clasped hands with his brother at the station he listened with the most acute concern to the message which the duke brought of the state of their father. Strong relief showed on the face of the duke. He alone of the four sons had been present to aid and comfort his mother and the royal household during this great trial.

The Prince dashed from the station and entered the palace by the garden entrance which is a private way used exclusively by members of the royal family.

HIGHER COURT REMANDS CASE

HOUSTON LAWYER WAS BILLED AS 'HOMICIDE'
ON WIFE'S DEATH

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 12.—Holding that the homicide is not a legally defined offense with penalty, the court of criminal appeals today reversed and remanded the 18 year conviction of Thomas F. Whiteside, Jr., young Houston lawyer, whose wife jumped from a window and was fatally injured, allegedly from fear of him.

The Harris county jury found Whiteside guilty of "homicide," and made his punishment for that supposed offense.

The appeals court also reversed and remanded the five year conviction of Victor Wilson, alias James H. Parker, in connection with the $33,000 robbery of the University bank near the state capital in August, 1927, because of improper admission of "hearsay" testimony as to alleged identification of Wilson by Miss Maude Potts, a bank attaché, through a photograph of him among 200 others.

Whiteside and his wife, Rosa, lived in an upstairs apartment. Testimony showed her and three companions, who had been drinking, came home one night, and that after they left, Mrs. Whiteside was so "terrorized and frightened" by her husband that she jumped to the street, receiving a broken spine. She died three weeks later.

The appellate court said "homicide" is a generic term describing all manner of killings, but is not a specific offense in itself. Since the Whiteside prosecution was for alleged murder, the verdict is not legal, it was held.

PILOTS' MAJOR LEAGUE ROSTER IS COMPLETE FOR NEXT SEASON

PROTEST PROMISES TROUBLE TO CLEBURNE YELLOWJACKETS

FOUR CHANGES IN MANAGERIAL RANK ORDERED

EFFORTS TOWARD OUST OF ROBINSON ARE SQUELCHED

BY ALLAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Although baseball has hardly gotten settled in winter quarters, there isn't any room left for speculation over the list of 1929 Major League managers. The roster for next year is complete.

Reappointment of Lena Blackburne to lead the Chicago White Sox and side-tracking of apparent efforts to oust the veteran Wilbert Robinson in Brooklyn have cleared up the only remaining doubtful districts.

The rival Brooklyn factions seem hopelessly deadlocked, so much so that they cannot even get together to talk over their differences. Meanwhile Robinson, as president and manager, holds executive control and a contract that has another year to run at $25,000.

Four managerial changes have been made, two in each league. Bucky Harris remains a pilot, but shifts his operations to Detroit while his old team-mate, Walter Johnson, takes the helm at Washington.

The National League champion Cardinals, who do not have much regard for the old axiom about changing horses in mid-stream, have substituted Billy Southworth for Bill McKechnie.

Emil F. Fuchs, of Boston, reversing the procedure of Robinson, has added the responsibilities of manager to those of president. The opinion prevails, however, that he will be quite willing to turn over most of the responsibility to Johnny Evers, who will associate himself again in Boston with such familiar figures as Rabbit Maranville and Hank Gowdy. This will be a reunion of the grand army of 1914.

MALONEY AND SHARKEY MAY BATTLE AGAIN

The fistie whirl has had many a strange turn lately; stranger of all, perhaps, in Boston, where Jack Sharkey and Jim Maloney develop again as heavyweight contenders after having hit the chutes over a year ago.

Through the early stages of 1927, Sharkey and Maloney moved along impressively as two of the youngest, fastest and hardest-hitting of the crop. Their match in May at the Yankee Stadium was a "natural" but turned out to be a quick knockout victory for Sharkey. Two months later the sailor made a sorry showing against Dempsey.

Maloney was knocked out in one round by George Godfrey and Tom Henney but staged a big comeback recently to beat Johnny Risko, who had as good a record as any heavyweight in action this year.

Sharkey has been erratic ever since losing to Dempsey. His victory over Arthur Dekuh has no special significance but it may be necessary for Sharkey and Maloney to fight it out again, at least for the championship of Boston.

CORSICANA WILL BATTLE BULLDOGS

RANGER, Dec. 12.—Two of the strongest teams in Texas will clash in a colorful conflict Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the Ranger Field when the Corsicana Tigers, who beat Waco, will battle the Ranger Bulldogs, who defeated Cisco, 13 to 0, and tied Abilene, 19-19. Jack McNutt, star runner, pitcher, who hurled passes for three touchdowns against Waco, will find himself facing a passer, Hammett, whom many West Texans consider the best in the state.

The game will mark the close of the high school careers of nine Bulldogs. Attendance of 6,000 is in prospect.

Mills To Captain 1929 Aggie Eleven

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 11.—Tom W. Mills, stellar Texas Aggie halfback, was chosen to lead the 1929 Texas Aggies gridsters at a meeting of lettermen Tuesday afternoon. The Aggies captain-elect earned his second letter as a member of an Aggie grid team this year and also made a letter on the Aggie track team last year as a high and broad jumper. He was also a member of the Aggie pitching staff during the baseball season last year.

Electra Loses All But Three Veterans

ELECTRA, Dec. 12.—Electra Tigers will lose twelve of their fifteen letter men by graduation or limitation. The letter men of the 1928 squad are Capt. Robert Smith, George Whitensides, Othel Lofton, Dewey Kowalski, Everett Knowles, Roy Brown, Hall Clominger, Beecher Dees, Williams Crass, Hubert White, Henry Culppepper, Larry King, John Brown, Cleve McDaniel and Kermit Koerth.

Major league baseball's trade winds approached a hurricane velocity yesterday and great were the results thereof. George Uhle, one of the mainstays of the Cleveland hurling corps, was sent to Detroit in exchange for Shortstop Jackie Tavener, former Ft. Worth, Texas, league star, and Pitcher Kenneth Holloway. Shortstop Glenn Wright, one of the greatest infielders in the big show, went to Brooklyn in exchange for Hurler Jess Petty, giant left-hander, who went up from Waco in the Texas loop.

POST TO PLAY MINERAL WELLS

ANTELOPES SEEK MORE HONORS IN CHASE FOR AWARDS

(Special To The Journal)
POST, Dec. 12.—Post high school Antelopes, champions of districts one and two, will meet the Mineral Wells class B eleven, winner of the title in districts three and four, at Mineral Wells next Friday according to announcement made public here today. By raising the offer made by Post officials to get the game here, Mineral Wells gets the game on her own field.

BRECKENRIDGE TO BATTLE BEARCATS

BRECKENRIDGE, Dec. 12.—Coach P. E. Shotwell said here Tuesday that he considered the post season game scheduled for the Buckaroos here Saturday afternoon with the Sherman Bearcats to be the beginning of the schedule for the 1929 oil belt champions—Breckenridge.

Definite plans for the game have been made and Saturday was picked as the logical date, as the semi-final contest between Cleburne and Abilene will be played at Abilene Friday. This will be the final 1928 game for the locals, who have marched through a fair season.

The game is expected to show the relative strength of the two districts, as both the Bearcats and the Buckaroos were considered one of the best teams in their respective districts.

PLAYER SALE MARKET STILL BOOMS ALONG

FOUR STARS FIGURE IN MAJOR LEAGUE TRADE REPORT YESTERDAY

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—The American League player market is still bullish, but the Bears preserved with great expectancy for the big break in prices as junior circuit officials and club owners went into a huddle again today.

Several deals for trades and outright sales of playing talent were expected to be consummated.

Only two deals were made after a score of conferences among managers yesterday. One swapped George Uhle, Cleveland pitcher to Detroit in exchange for Shortstop Jackie Tavener and Pitcher Ken Holloway; the other was outright sale of First Baseman Johnny Neun by Detroit to the Toledo club of the American Association.

Among the rumored deals were those that would shift Buddy Myer from the Boston Red Sox to Washington for five players and Catcher Moe Berg and Outfielder Bill Barrett of the White Sox to Boston or the Yankees in exchange for talent.

WRIGHT AND PETTY EXCHANGE CLUBS

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—Trade winds have blown Jess Petty into a Pirate uniform in the same gale that deposited Glenn Wright, late of Pittsburgh, in Brooklyn.

Wright, one of the greatest shortstops in the major two years ago, all do his batting and fielding for Uncle Wilbert Robinson at Ebbets field next summer while Petty is catching his left-handed slants for the Pittsburgh Pirates. This trade, completed yesterday, sent Harry Riddons, utility infielder, to the Pirates along with Petty.

CITY CAGE LOOP TILTS TONIGHT

UNDEFEATED TEAMS TO CLASH IN MEN'S DIVISION

Teachers versus Business College and Myrick Building girls versus Montgomery-Ward girls is the card for the City Basketball League at the high school gymnasium tonight. Floor tonight are undefeated while both men's teams that take the both girls' teams have lost in previous contests.

The Teachers as well as the Business College quintet have played but one game this season, but past performances of the two outfits indicate a rather easy victory for the Brown, Payne, Morgan, Lester, Per Pedagogues. With such players as rymann, Bennett and Horne in action, the veteran Teachers' team is likely to furnish plenty of opposition for the remainder of the teams in the league this season.

AGED PASTOR PASSES AWAY

"GOLIGHTLY MORRILL," DIES IN MINNEAPOLIS; WAS NOTED AUTHOR

(By Associated Press)
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 12.—The Rev. Gullian L. (Golightly) Morrill, 71, author and former local pastor known as the "Marrying Parson" died yesterday at San Diego, California, from an attack of influenza.

The Rev. Mr. Morrill spent much time traveling and he wrote a number of books. One of these called "The Devil in Mexico" in which he frankly described hangings and other things he had seen in that country, led to his indictment here by a federal grand jury in 1917 on a charge of sending obscene matter through the mails.

Enroute to Ecuador at the time, he was arrested at New Orleans and brought back to Minneapolis. After several postponements the case finally was dropped by the government. In 1923 he was indicted by the county grand jury here on a charge in connection with an advertisement in a local weekly newspaper. That case also finally was dismissed.

When Mr. Morrill first came to Minneapolis in 1900 he held several Baptist pastorates. In 1903, he started a church of his own, calling it "The Peoples Church." He held services in a downtown theater and appealed to the "rounders" and "down and outers."

Asked at the time of his arrival here, what the initials G. L. stood for, he laughed and replied "Go by him and he was perhaps better known by that than by his real name."

Probe Sinking Of Port Arthur Craft

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 12 (AP).—Testimony in the investigation being conducted by the government into the cause and responsibility, if any, for the explosion Saturday aboard the tanker Gulfland in which three men were killed and four injured, today developed that A. H. Wukasch, one of the victims, had shouted two warnings to cut off the gasoline lines just before the explosion.

Harry Lyons, Rockman, was placed on the witness stand by U. S.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

Stanley

Shipping Inspectors C. N. Bean, Captain A. A. Miranda and H. M. Cobb, and told of hearing Wukasch cry out twice:

"Shut off line number 2, quick, Harry."

Wukasch was standing in the doorway of the pump room where the blast occurred and was the only one who knew of any impending danger, the testimony developed.

NAKE REPORT ON ROAD MEET

OUTLINE OF PROGRAM IS COMPILED BY MOODY
ADVISORY COUNCIL

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Dec. 12.—Five members of Governor Moody's advisory highway council were preparing today reports on deliberations of the body which closed yesterday and an outline of the legislative program proposed for the state highway system. The council did not reach a unanimous agreement on the chief mooted question before it, the question of finance, but adopted a plan, 17 to 14, which would prepare the way for a bond issue. The plan proposes a constitutional amendment authorizing the state to pledge its credit for highway work in bonds, not to exceed $225,000,000 at any one time. Provisions were included which would permit the state to repay at least $75,000,000 for work which counties have done on the state highway system. Dissenters from this plan will report separately to the governor.

CONFESSION HOAX

Deserter's Tale
Proven Lie In
Investigation

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Dec. 12 (P).—James Kelly, the army deserter who "confessed" to San Antonio, Texas, officials that he had helped Miss Elfrida Knaak burn herself fatally in the furnace of the Lake Bluff, Ill., police station six weeks ago, was taken today to the state hospital for the insane at Elgin. He was brought back from Texas by Lake county officials for questioning in connection with the Knaak case and the slugging of another woman. His "confession" was found to be a hoax when records proved he was an inmate of the Elgin hospital at the time Miss Knaak was burned.

ECHO OF ELECTION IS HEARD IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (P).—The house was diverted for a brief time from its legislative tasks today by a reference to the outcome of the recent elections by Representative Blanton of Texas, who was defeated for the senatorial nomination in that state.

Blanton declared his belief in the party form of government, but said that it had laid upon him a moral obligation to support a candidate in the recent elections whose nomination he had not favored.

The Texas then turned to a discussion of prohibition conditions, declaring that there were many saloons in the District of Columbia. "Is that why you supported Al Smith," Representative Schafer, republican, Wisconsin inquired. "Did you expect him to clean them up?"

"The republican administration has done nothing to enforce the prohibition laws," Blanton countered. "Did you vote for the Lagranda amendment the other day to provide $250,000,000 for prohibition enforcement?" Schafer asked.

"Oh! that came from a wet," Blanton replied.

"Well, you need funds to enforce the law and that is what you dry say you want," Schafer said.

DALLAS PAIR FACE CHARGES

FIVE INDICTMENTS, ALL
PUNISHABLE BY DEATH, ARE MADE TO MEN

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, Dec. 12.—With five charges, each punishable by death, lodged against their prisoners, police today probed further into the criminal activities of Lee Roy Merriman and Benny Aldredge, arrested here Monday in connection with criminal assaults on three young Dallas women and a number of other crimes.

After several of their victims had identified Aldredge and Merriman, three charges of robbery with firearms and two of criminal assault were placed against each of the men. Other charges were expected today as a number of victims of other robberies have identified the men, and stolen goods from several burglaries and two postoffice raids were found in their possession.

Trial of the men will probably be deferred until Merriman recovers from a bullet-creased scalp which he received when he resisted arrest. According to a statement which police attributed to one of the prisoners, the two held up a carload of young people here Sunday morning, robbed the men and attacked the women, drove to Oklahoma, robbing a store in one town, taking things from several farms and robbing several residences in Garland and DeSoto, Texas, and looting postoffices at Atoka and Calera, Okla.

The escort of one of the girls attacked Sunday night assaulted Aldredge in his cell at the jail yesterday morning, when he was taken there to identify the prisoner, and since that time relatives of the girls have not been permitted to see the prisoners until they have promised to abstain from violence.

Adults Contract Children's Diseases

Adults can, and do, contract many children's diseases. And, usually, they suffer from them much more than children do. For instance, many adults contract worms, an ailment usually associated with children. Sometimes they suffer intensely and take expensive medical treatments, without realizing that worms are the cause of their troubles. Yet, the symptoms are the same as in children, loss of appetite and weight, grinding the teeth and restless sleep, itching of the nose and anus, and abdominal pains. And, the same medicine that surely and harmlessly expels round and pin worms from children will do the same for adults. — White's Cream Vermicide, which you can get at

Youth Gets Thirty Years For Slaying

EL PASO, Dec. 12 (P).—A jury in district court here today found Russell Stagg, 20, guilty of the murder of B. F. Lynd, an aged park watchman, and gave him 30 years in the state penitentiary.

The youth's attorney pleaded not guilty because of intoxication. Stagg's mother, who drove here from San Francisco broke into tears as sentence was pronounced, while the widow of the slain man put her arms around Stagg and begged him to "be a good boy and pray."

On the stand Stagg testified that he had been drinking in Juarez the night the watchman was killed and that he did not remember beating him to death.

TWO FORFEIT SURETY HERE

MEXICANS' BONDS OF $1,000 LOST; ABSENT AS CASE CALLED

Two Mexicans, Ignacio Rubio and Joe Cox, charged with violation of the prohibition laws, failed to appear in 72nd district court yesterday when their cases were called, and bonds of $1,000 in each case were forfeited by Judge Homer L. Pharr.

Bond of R. E. Jones was ordered forfeited when the defendant failed to appear yesterday morning. He appeared, however, yesterday afternoon. The cases of Charles Mitchell, charged with driving while intoxicated, and George White, with transporting liquor, were continued until the February term of court.

Because District Attorney Durwood Bradley was busy with the grand jury, several cases were continued and others set for the remainder of the week. O. H. Gholson and Jack Meador, charged jointly with transporting liquor, and R. E. Jones, facing liquor violation charges, are scheduled to go to trial Thursday.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP).—Congressional leaders interested in radio legislation have decided to seek the extension of the life of the radio commission for another year from next March 16, when it would expire under the present law.

Chairman White of the house merchant marine committee, will start the legislation which faces a heavy calendar of other business in both the senate and house for this short session.

SEE DRUG RING

Believe Rothstein Headed Gang Of Narcotic Agents

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP).—Stowed away in a bonded warehouse and secured with seven locks, federal agents discovered a trunk late today the contents of which is officially expected to help materially in solving the riddles of Arnold Rothstein's life and death.

The seizure was revealed by Assistant United States Attorney John Blake, who has been active in the government investigation of an international narcotics syndicate which federal officials believe was financed by Rothstein.

The trunk was said to have been secretly removed from the Park Central hotel a few hours after Rothstein was mortally wounded there and hidden where it was thought none could find it.

Blake said today that the trunk has not yet been opened, but there was good reason to believe that its contents would do much toward revealing who killed Rothstein and why. He believed papers in the trunk would solve secrets of the narcotic traffic and Rothstein's connection with it.

When Santa saw the Tinsies in their new suits he began to grin. "You look just fine," said he, "although they fit you rather tight." "Oh, we don't mind that," Scout cried. "As long as we have crawled inside these funny little outfits, they will have to be all right." "All we want now is work to do, and we will prove we're clever, too. Just tell us where to go, and what to start in making first. Please don't be backward, Santa Claus. Bring on your hammers and your saws."

We'll try to do our best, although it may look like our worst." "Well, you're as kind as you can be," said Santa. "But it seems to me that first I'd better feed you. Do you think that you could eat?" "Oh! Could we?" Chowmy loudly cried. "I feel an empty spot inside, and anything you'd give us for our lunch would be a treat."

So Santa took them to a spot where they found fine soup, piping hot. 'Twas served in little bowls, and every Tiny had his share.

At last they finished with their meal, and Copy said, "Now we all feel like getting lots of exercise." "All right," old Santa said. "Right down the street there is a shop, and that's the little place stop." As soon as they were at the place, the whole bunch walked inside.

"Now this," said Santa, "is the place where every dolly gets its face. We put the head and shoulders on the bodies last of all. But first we paint the faces bright so all the dolls will look all right. Get busy now at painting, but don't let the paint pots fall."

Thought For Today

Analyzing Families

Prof. Louis L. Thurstone of the University of Chicago after spending two years analyzing the middle-class families of the children of 1500 Chicago families, has drawn up a number of highly interesting conclusions.

He says, for instance, that the second child in a family is apt to be a bit brighter than the first child; that the age of the parent at the time a child is born does not have the slightest effect on that child's intelligence; that the level of intelligence of the children of small families is higher than that of children of large families.

The professor hastens to add that there are exceptions to all of these rules so don't be worried if any of this hits you unfavorably. You're doubtless one of the exceptions.
Meanwhile, it is to be hoped that more of this sort of work is done.
It is only by the patient and laborious compilation of reams of such statistics that definite knowledge will ever be gained.

Paroling A Veteran

Usually there is a howl when a convicted murderer serving a life term is given a pardon.

But there won't be anybody to protest the action of the Indiana State Pardon Board in cancelling the imprisonment of Henry J. Ro-mine, imprisoned since 1913 for killing two men in an argument.

Romine goes from the state prison to the Old Soldiers Home, where he will spend the rest of his days as an honored guest. Romine, who is 81 years old, is a Civil War veteran with a distinguished record. We imagine that everybody will agree that it is fitting that the old soldier be allowed to end his days in honor and peace, free from the stigma of a prison uniform.

Caterpillar Club

An air mail pilot, bound east over the Alleghenies with 800 pounds of mail, runs into a "line squall" at a 4000-foot altitude. One wing is ripped off his plane. He calmly descends to safety in a parachute, lands a farmer out of bed to help him find the wrecked plane, takes the mail to town in a truck, and returns to his plane by train to resume work next day in a new plane.

When his wife hears of the accident, she simply says "Now he belongs to the Caterpillar Club"— that informal organization of pilots who have made parachute jumps to save their lives.

Let anyone who thinks that this modern, mechanized age has spelled the doom of adventure and the thrilling life, read that little story, culled from the daily papers. No era ever produced a more colorful figure than the modern air mail pilot. The pony express rider or the Mississippi river pilot of 75 years ago could not compare with him.

The Whirlpool

Still the stock market goes gyrating upward. Old records fall almost daily but the swing is all checked. Wall street, in all its history, never say anything like the orgy of buying that it has witnessed in the last week or so.

It would take the seventh son of a seventh son to tell just what the upshot will be. Some financial experts are gloomy and predict a fearful "morning after" for the not distant future. Others seem to be just as confident that the upward move-

THE PLAINSMAN

That Girl on Broadway claims fellows who "say it with flowers" can never be accused of saying too much.

"Man Must Stand Trial for Slay-ing Wife," reads a headline in a contemporary publication. My, my!
How terribly old-fashioned.

Poultry, judging from recent news reports, is coming to the fore in all sections of Texas. If The Plainsman's memory serves him right there have been more poultry shows held in the Lone Star state this year than upon any previous—this fact is certainly indicative of a growing interest in the feathered family.

Speaking for our own section of the state, this writer believes most people will agree with him in the statement that with the increase in population poultry will become more and more an integral part of our prosperity. Increase in the urban population particularly will prove a boon to poultry raisers in that eggs and fowl alike will be more in demand.

Indications are now that from a poultry standpoint conditions are improving over the South Plains. More people are taking an interest in intelligent poultry raising which means that more and better poultry will be raised from year to year. If this interest can be extended to the swine production then another forward step will have been taken.

Agriculturists and stockmen will tell you that Lubbock county and the surrounding territory are admirably fitted to the raising of poultry and hogs. They will likewise tell you that the people of the rural sections have been overlooking a "bet" when they have failed to put the necessary stress upon these two important phases of farm products.
The fact that poultry raising is crowding into the spotlight is a welcome one. We should hope that those interested in the raising of swine will follow in the lead of the fanciers of fowl.

That Man on Avenue Q says few bakers ever catch cold because they are used to "draftee".

The grinders slowly troop from off the field.
Their places taken by the caging crews;
But most of us remain unsatisfied
Until we read once more the baseball news.

There's something in the crack of bat on ball
That makes us take another lease on life
And gives us something upon which to brood.
So far removed from all our daily strife.

Only one more day in which to buy a ticket to the Western football banquet, which will be held Friday night. More than thirty "double tickets," assuring the attendance of each man on the squad and an equal number of sponsors, have been sold and 25 additional "single" tickets have been placed on sale at the City Drug store.

You fellows who are strong for athletics and for the home town lads get over to the drug store, plank down the measly sum of 85 cents and go to that banquet. Let's give the lads a hand.

Speaking of high school football in general and the Westerners in particular, The Plainsman has it upon good authority that Head Coach Henry Franks has turned down a job coaching in a Class A college. From what this writer can learn, Henry prefers to remain in Lubbock and is already laying his plans to wallop the Sandies and grab the district gonulation next year.

This information, by the way, is being aired without the knowledge of Coach Franks, who will probably give The Plainsman the dickens for telling the customers the low-down on the situation.

Lubbock owes some plaudits to Henry and his able assistant, Del Morgan, for the fine record they made this year. This writer is tickled to death with the results of the grid campaign and sees even a more successful one in the offing. With both coaches already planning spring training

ment simply reflects the unusual health and vigor of our industrial life. The man in the street may be pardon for a failure to know it is all about.

However, one thing is certain:
Wall street, upward movement or no upward movement, is a place for experts only. Don't let dreams of sudden wealth lead you to drop your savings into the whirlpool. For every man that makes a fortune in the current bull market there are a score who lose heavily. Wall street is an excellent place for the amateur to avoid.

Increased Production By Workers Is One Of Bulwarks

YOUTH KNOWS GAIN, TOO

(Borger Daily Herald)
In Boston a 15-year-old boy, an honor student in high school, went out on a lark with another lad of the same age. The two boys "borrowed" an auto that was parked along a street and drove aimlessly around the city and suburbs almost all night. Dawn was breaking when they finally abandoned it and started for their homes.

The high school youngster saw a light in his parents' home, realized that he had sat up to wait for him, and was afraid to go in. He wandered about the streets until it was time to go to school. At the school house door his father was waiting for him. The father sternly escorted him home.

A severe lecture was forthcoming.
The father, a policeman, tried to frighten the boy by telling him he had committed an offense that might send him to the reform school.
When the lecture ended, the boy was sent up to his own room to meditate on his shortcomings.

Shortly afterward the parents heard a shot. The boy had taken his father's revolver from a dresser and had shot himself through the head, killing himself instantly.

And that's all there is to that little story.

It isn't altogether uncommon to read of children in their early teens committing suicide. Usually the reasons seem woefully inadequate.

A parental scolding, a fancied slight by school mates, a failure in studies or sports—and out goes the light. It is unspeakably tragic, pathetically puzzling.

Those people who are always talking about the happiness of youth and the great joy of being young fail to realize that youth has capacity for unlimited misery. Youth is so potentially unfamiliar with the world. The slightest mishap can loom up like an earth destroying catastrophe. The depths of despair open easily beneath the feet of a boy who is only 15.

Consider this lad's case. Like all healthy youngsters, he felt the urge to do something reckless and adventurous. The best thing he could think of was to appropriate an auto and drive idly about deserted streets —as pointless and silly a stunt as could be imagined.

Then, when it was over, came remorse and shame. He felt like a criminal. Who knows what pictures of disgrace and ruin came to his mind as he sat in his bed room must have been intense. Look at the thing they made him do.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of three articles on Prosperity, as reflected in the annual report of the Department of Commerce.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Every worker in the United States is producing far more nowadays than his predecessor of a quarter of a century ago did; and this is one of the chief reasons for American prosperity.

This is brought out in the annual report of the Department of Commerce, which is a sort of guide-book to American prosperity as a whole.

The report sets forth some interesting figures. For instance:
since the beginning of the present century, the population of the country has increased about 55 per cent. But during that same period, the output of minerals has increased 280 per cent, factory output has increased 180 per cent and the volume of rail transportation has increased 200 per cent. Agricultural products have just about kept pace with population increase, going up 55 per cent.

"In the case of every one of these four major branches of industry," says the report, "the increase in output since 1900 has been far greater than that in the number of workers. In agriculture, manufactures and railways the product of goods or services per worker engaged in such pursuits is actually smaller, in proportion to the total population, than it was 30 years ago. What does this mean?

"Just as there has been throughout American history a relative shift from the oldest of all industries—agriculture—into mining, manufactures and rail transportation, says the report, "so since 1900 during recent years, both from agriculture and from these other three branches into the mercantile, professional and personal service pursuits. The numbers employed in these have increased much more rapidly than the total population."

The "white collar" class, in other words, is on the increase.

The explanation becomes clearer as the report continues. It points out that, in the first place, the new automobile industry has given jobs to at least 3,000,000 people—salesmen, truck and bus drivers, taxicab drivers and the like. And there is another important factor.
Many thousands more young people are in high schools, colleges and universities than was formerly the case. Even in the short period from 1920 to 1926 the number of students in such institutions rose from 2,000,000 to 5,000,000.

Returning to the matter of increased output per worker, the report points out that since the war the experience of the world for the first time can be so easily aroused.
Of all the correctives in the world, the one that parents should avoid most is fear. It can have terrible consequences.

DAILY ALMANAC

WEST TEXAS:
Tonight a n d
Thursday, unsettled, possibly rain and somewhat colder tonight in north
and east portions.
EAST TEXAS:
Tonight cloudy,
local rains;
Thursday un-
settled, probably rain, Thursday morning in southeast portion.

OKLAHOMA: Tonight and Thursday, unsettled, probably rain tonight; somewhat colder tonight in west and central portions.

LOUISIANA and ARKANSAS: Tonight and Thursday, cloudy and unsettled, probably local rains.

On the transit system in New York City, according to a statistic, 2,335,500,000 people ride in a year. The people who ride the subway know that the statistician must have meant in a day.

The man who pushed a peanut 11 miles with his nose ought to make a good reporter. He has a great nose for news.

Sir Oliver Lodge says housekeeping should be treated as a serious profession. Sir Oliver must have been building fires in the early morning.

There has been an actual decrease in the number of men employed in these four basic industries. Consequently, the increase in production amounts to a gain in production per man which is far greater than the average show. On top of this there is the fact that the average working week has been shortened by at least 15 per cent since the beginning of the century.

Then the report takes up the most disputed question of all—why is the United States prosperous?
Here it indulges in some plain speaking.

"The present high prosperity of the United States is in no sense due to the World War," it declares. "At its foundation lie the rich resources of the country, not least by an excessive population and the energy, intelligence, industry and thrift of the people.

"The underlying causes of advancing efficiency of American industry translate themselves in a number of more specific and direct factors. Among these the most noteworthy are the advance in education, scientific research and invention; the rapidly increasing use of capital reflected in the greater employment of mechanical power and of automatic and semiautomatic machinery; the larger scale of production permitting greater application of mass methods and lowering of unit costs;
the conscious and concerted effort to eliminate waste and improve methods of production and distribution; the high scale of wages resulting in general labor buying power, and the comparative stability of prices and of credit."

TOMORROW: A Standardization and Efficiency.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Only a few of the quaint old herbalist drug stores survive in New York.

Just the other day wreckers, making way for the new subway, laid one low in lower Sixth avenue. Here but a few months ago one could have found two venerable chemists toying the day away at diminutive scales, weighing quarter ounces of spices and soothing roots. All efforts to get them to introduce the modern-day patent devices had failed.

They were among Manhattan's most picturesque figures, going about in well-worn skull caps and getting their trade from the oldsters of another generation.

One still remains down in the Bowery belt, just around the corner from Chinatown. Here in a little glass window jar can be seen the only leeches on public exhibition in New York, so far as I know. All about have sprung up the soda water and lunch counter drug stores, which now over-run the city and draw a tremendous trade. But only death or the wrecker brings change to the old chemist's shops.

Just before the stock market went crazy a few weeks ago, an elderly man put on his hat and cane, shook any number of traders by the hand and departed by train for his little estate in Connecticut.

Therewith ended the patient career of Richard L. Samford. Those newly-rich speculators of the past flurry may not have known of his presence in the Exchange, yet for more than a quarter of a century Bramford had been the official starter and finisher of the day's trading. It is the ringing of a gong that begins the trading and ends it. Samford has been the man who came to symbolize the waking hours of the Stock Exchange.

During the rush hours he took care of the reporters who dashed around after figures and information concerning the rise and fall of prices and the extent of the selling. For it was as a reporter that he first came into the Exchange.

He was then the one man engaged in sending prices and sales over the ticker. It required a hundred to attend to that task.

And although he was in a position to "listen in" on tens or thousands of tips and to hear of impending deals, he never indulged in speculation. Wherefore he owns his own home today.

Gotham glimpses: Thomas Mel-ghan, seeming much older and more dignified than ever, entering the Mayfair Club. . . . Lady Heath, the titled flyer, starting for the flying field. . . . Beverly Nichols, the very boyish young Britisher who edits the latest of "smart" magazines,
"The American Sketch." . . . And it's one which, judging from the first issue, will soon be heard of across the land. . . . Nichols calls it "an esthetic revolt against vulgarity." . . . But it's really much better than that and far less serious than the slogan sounds. . . . And he takes himself far less seriously than advance accounts indicated.

Another magazine of the theater on the newstands. . . . Called "Theater" 1929" . . . issued by those young revolvers against the Broadway theater who call themselves The New Playwrights.

Eminent authors cutting capers at the annual benefit of the Authors' League of America. . . . There I saw Wallace Irwin in blackface.
Also Jesse Lasky, the movie magnate; Arthur Train, Ellis Parker

Dorsey, who told the world why he behaves as it does, didn't behave so well himself in a very merry sketch of the League, which included most of America's leading writing folk.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

IF YOU ATTEND A "TEA" GO WITHOUT YOUR SUFFER

Teas and Temptations
A short time ago I attended a tea at Rhea's. Such an array of sandwiches, made in all forms and shapes! Finger rolls with water cress, different layers of bread
put together with all sorts of fillings—minced
chicken, cream
cheese, nuts etc.
—then pressed
and sliced across
so that they were in layers layers, rolled
with filling, then cut across so the sandwiches were circular, and juicy
cakes, nuts,
sandy gator, and tea and coffee.

I have a few pounds yet to lose from my summer accumulation, so I am limiting my calories. I indulged in a few of the sandwiches and a cup of tea, and found, to my delight, that I could resist the cakes, nuts and candy.

As the party was thinning out, one of the guests, considerably overweight, sat at the end of the table where the collation was served. It was interesting to watch him, sitting alone and looking at the edibles with a pensive expression on his face, plainly indicating, "Oh, how I'd love to light in and eat 'em all!" Finally his hand reached out and took one sandwich, which he munched contentedly. A little pause. Another sandwich. And then another. And finally a big piece of cake, followed by some nuts and candy. What a fall! I was glad I hadn't succumbed, and felt very superior as I came away.

No matter what I eat, somebody seems to comment on it. As I was enjoying one of the sandwiches, one of the girls, "Why, Doctor Lou!
Do you eat rich sandwiches made with white bread?"
"Certainly," I responded, "but to be frank with you, I will go without my evening meal." "Oh," she observed, "I don't consider a tea a success unless you can make a supper out of it."

If you go to a tea where they serve such amounts of delicious edibles, you can, by eating comparatively little, run up your calories considerably. Now, here's my moral:
Remember this, and don't eat anything afterwards. Make it do for

A week later I attended a tea at Nannie's. Another array of wonderful eats. Feeling strengthened by my experience the week before, at Rhea's, I planned to take just a few sandwiches. While talking with some friends, irrepressible Ethel came up, munching a rich cakelet.
"Mmm!" she said, "this is certainly the nicest thing I ever ate in cake. You must have one," she said, hailing the maid, who had the tray.
Yes, I fell. Having gotten started, I decided it was easier to diet tomorrow. I put down 2,000 C for that tea, and I assure you that I did not appear gluttonous. But the cakes were so rich and the nuts and candy so convenient!

Here's my moral now: Don't take a taste of the foods you know you oughtn't to have. The second taste is a million times harder to resist than the first.

Noisy Sleepers
"What treatment do you recommend for talking or shouting during sleep? It is annoying to the other members of the household, to say nothing of possible serious disclosures. I am well (otherwise)."

This would come under the headline of disturbed sleep, J., and there are many things that can cause that. Going to bed too hungry, or too full, uncomfortable positions, too warm or too cold, etc. There is probably some psychological factor, too. I suppose the psycho-analyst would say you shout and talk during your sleep because you are re-pressing something during the day.
It has been noticed that lying flat on the back seems to predispose to disturbances during sleep. If you do lie flat on your back, and this seems to be a factor, then lie in a spool around your waist at the back so that when you lie on it you will be so uncomfortable you will change your position.

The World And All

FROM A GREAT MAN

My Dear Mr. Driscoll:
Many thanks for your "One Being Wrong." . . . Up to the year 1914 there was no room for question in history or in the public mind as to which was the first airplane capable of sustained free flight, or as to whose research furnished the foundation of modern aviation. But in that year, at the suggestion of Glen H. Curtiss, Walcott placed the remaining parts of the original Langley machine in Curtiss' hands for test.

The "fundamental changes enumerated in my letter to Dr. Abbot had been made in its design before any test was made. Yet not one of these changes ever was reported by the Smithsonian Institution. On the contrary, they were reported by Smithsonian. This Mr. Wright refuses to do until Smithsonian modification, successful flights were efforts to make the world believe that Langley, a former head of Smithsonian, invented the airplane.)

Sincerely yours,
Orville Wright.
("On Being Wrong" was the title of the recent "World and All" item in this column. The paper of Dr.
Abbot, mentioned by Mr. Wright, was an effort by the head of the Smithsonian Institution to get Mr.
Wright to bring his original plans back from an English museum and place it in Smithsonian. This Mr.
Wright refuses to do until Smithsonian modification, successful flights were
efforts to make the world believe
that Langley, a former head of Smithsonian, invented the airplane.)

Walcott from year to year put out statements to the effect that the Langley machine "recreated" and provided with hydroplane floats" had been tested; that these tests demonstrated that the Langley machine was the first in the history of the world capable of sustained free flight; that its tests had demonstrated the soundness of Langley's scientific research, and that the publication of Langley's work had laid the foundation for modern aviation. All of the impressions thus given were absolutely false.

Dr. Abbot's recently published statement does not attempt to correct any of them.

Unintentional Suicide

Many people are slowly poisoning themselves just as surely as if they drank iodine every morning for breakfast. They are daily absorbing the toxins, or poisons, created by accumulated waste matter in their constipated digestive systems. Sooner or later disease will conquer their weakened bodies.

If you have dizziness, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, insomnia, no appetite, bilious attacks or pains in the back and limbs, you are probably suffering from self poisoning caused by constipation. The surest and pleasantest relief for this condition is Herbine, the vegetable cathartic which acts in the natural way. Get a bottle today from Lubbock Drug Co.

Bolivia's representatives withdrew from the conference early yesterday, being one of a number of events that were considered as ominous for peace. Previously Bolivia in a note to the state department had said she did not consider that negotiations toward reconciliation should begin until moral reparation had been made for what she considered an insult. The spark in the present quarrel between the two countries was a clash on the frontier between Paraguayan and Bolivian troops last week, but the powder mine already laid was a long standing dispute over a tract of land called Chaco Boreal. It contains 100,000 square miles. Above ground is a jungle filled with virgin timber. Underneath is oil.

Then too, Bolivia's desire for access to the sea enters into the dispute, since a river, the Paraguay, navigable for ocean vessels runs along the boundary of Chaco Boreal. Paraguay contends that she owns Chaco Boreal and that she is alone privileged to use that stretch of the Paraguay River for commerce. Bolivia contends otherwise.

SLIGHT MOISTURE VISITS CITY, AREA

Following on the heels of several days of typical "Indian Summer" weather a slight moisture blanketed Lubbock and the South Plains last night and early this morning.

The precipitation in Lubbock totaled .08 inches, and although the moisture was reported general in every direction of this city it was light in each place. This total includes both last night's and this morning's downpour, according to the official gauge of the State Experimental Station near the city.

Heavy clouds which appeared threatening last night and early today had cleared by the middle of the morning, with sunshine replacing the rainfall.

Highways were damaged very little as a result of the moisture, according to officials of the Union Bus station here.

ROBBERS RAID BANK CAR AND SEIZE MONEY

$100,000 TAKEN WHEN BANDITS DASH DOWN ON YONKERS CAR

(By Associated Press)

YONKERS, N. Y., Dec. 12.—In a daylight holdup in the heart of this city's business section seven or eight robbers opened fire this morning on the collection car of the First National bank and escaped with a $100,000 payroll after wounding one of the bank guards.

The collection wagon, a partly armored automobile, was transporting the payroll from the postoffice to the bank for later delivery to the Alexander Smith and Sons Carpet company. Two bank guards and a city policeman were riding in the car.

At the intersection of two streets, men in another car opened fire on the bank car, shooting directly through the windshield. Adolph Kauster, one of the guards, was shot through the arm. The other guards and policemen were subdued by the robbers who escaped with the payroll toward New York city.

ELDER'S HUSBAND GRANTED DIVORCE

PANAMA, Dec. 12 (AP).—An interlocutory decree of divorce has been granted Lyle Womack from Ruth Elder, who was rescued by a tanker when she attempted to fly across the Atlantic.

The divorce action was instituted in the Canal Zone district court by Womack on September 6th before sailing for the Antarctic with the expedition headed by Commander Richard E. Byrd. In a deposition placed before the court Womack's father said that unhappiness caused by Miss Elder was the main cause of his son's joining the South Polar expedition.

A deposition filed by Womack said that during the last 14 months of the couple's married life his wife had been very cruel to him and paid little attention to him.

Failed To Prove Brew 'Spirituos'

AUSTIN, Dec. 12 (AP).—Because the state failed to show that "home brew" was a "spirituous liquor" the case of Sam Bracken, convicted in Tarrant county on a charge of possessing liquor and given one year in prison, was reversed and remanded by the court of criminal appeals today.

The indictment charged that the defendant was in possession of what is "commonly known as 'home brew,'" but the appellate court found that there was no effort to show that "home brew" was a spirituous liquor.

TECHPROGRAM FOR SATURDAY

ANNUAL XMAS FETE TO BE PRESENTED ON THIS WEEK-END

Described by Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Tech college, as one of the three greatest events of the college year, the annual Christmas program of the institution will be presented to the public at the college gymnasium Saturday night.

The program, more extensive than anything of this kind ever planned before, includes four principal parts: mass singing of Christmas carols under the direction of Prof. W. R. Waggoner; address on the "Spirit of Christmas" by Dr. Horn; a tableau in pantomime "The Doctor of Lonesome Folk"; and a procession of 130 girls wearing white robes carrying lighted tapers.
