Shrimp Industry Produced $72 Million in this Area

The shrimp industry poured about $72 million last year into the economy of Rockport, Fulton and Aransas Pass, according to Ralph Rayburn, Texas A&M marine agent.

Rayburn, who has an office in Rockport, reported to the Aransas County Commissioners Court on activities of his office since opening here nine months ago.

He said the Rockport-Fulton-Aransas Pass area is considered the fifth largest seafood port, based on the value of landings. Brownsville-Port Isabel is the third largest.

Rayburn said the National Marine Fisheries reported landings in the area hit $23 million last year in actual economic impact. However, supplies, equipment and other purchases pushed the total impact to $69 million. Another $3 million came from seafood processing facilities.

There are 450 vessels in the area that have Gulf of Mexico licenses. This doesn't include vessels from other states.

The agent gave commissioners a general outline on what his office has accomplished in the past nine months, including the appointment of a nine-man advisory committee from Aransas Pass and Rockport.

Emphasis so far has been on commercial fishing but more work will be aimed at sports fishing, he said.

Rayburn, whose office is in the Aransas County Courthouse, said there have been several seminars to aid commercial fishermen on topics ranging from engine maintenance to income-tax preparation.

In other business, the commissioners approved expenditure of up to $40,000 as the county's share of improving a portion of Fulton Beach Road. The city is also expected to put up $40,000.

The state highway department has reported it has $110,000 earmarked for the rebuilding project. The county's and city's money will go for purchase of right-of-way and other costs.

The state will build the new road but won't maintain it. County Judge John Wendell said it will become a city street.

It will be a couple of years before the project is finished. More construction is expected when funds become available, according to the highway department.

Work will be from the junction of Highway 35 and Fulton Beach Road toward Key Allegro. Traffic on the road is increasing as more building takes place on Key Allegro, the Fulton Beach area, and along Highway 35.

Speaker Says Stocks To Go Higher

The stock market is expected to work higher in the next few months due to a slowing down of the rate of inflation, lower grain prices, better corporate cash position and increased corporate profits and dividends according to Jim Peterson, account executive with Bache Halsey Stuart, Inc., Corpus Christi stock brokers, who spoke at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club June 2 at Sandollar Restaurant.

Most of Peterson's discussion was devoted to an explanation of dealing in call options, including the advantages and possible pitfalls involved. He explained that with the introduction of options trading on a national, regulated securities exchange - the Chicago Board Options Exchange - options generally can be bought and sold with the same ease and in the same way as securities themselves on other major stock exchanges.

The seller or writer of a call option has an opportunity to increase income derived from his securities investments in the amount of the option premium received from the buyer.

Buying call options offers an opportunity to make a potentially large profit from a relatively small investment. Also, some investors or buyers of call options are attracted to them as a way to establish today the price they will pay for stock six or nine months from now, for the opportunity options provide diversity and the protection they offer against a possible decline in the market value of securities they own, Peterson explained.

He went on to explain that options of one kind or another are common in the business world, such as an option to buy a house or business establishment. Conditions of call options include description of the security, the price at which it may be bought and the time period during which the buyer may exercise his option. If the option buyer chooses not to exercise his option during the specified time, his option expires.

For the right granted in the option, the buyer pays the option writer or seller a specified sum of money, called the premium, which is kept by the seller whether the option is exercised or not, Peterson said.

The buyer of a call option knows in advance that the most he can lose on the transaction is the price he has paid for the option. Of course, he hopes the market price of the stock on which he has an option will rise, and he can buy it at a below-market price by exercising his option. An individual may choose to be either a buyer or seller of call options, depending on his analysis of market prospects and his financial program at the time. Also, he may elect to buy call options, and at a later time sell them.

SOCIAL SECURITY REPRESENTATIVE TO VISIT ROCKPORT

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be at the Courthouse in Rockport on Tuesday, June 15, 1976, at 9:00 a.m.

The representative will answer questions and also will help claimants file applications for the regular Social Security benefit payments as well as for Supplemental Security Income benefits.

BICENTENNIAL OAK TO BE GIVEN AWAY

C.L. Browning appeared before the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors June 1 at Key Allegro Restaurant and presented an interesting idea for fund raising.

Browning, whose company is known as Trees Unlimited, said he would donate an oak tree to the Chamber and chances could be sold for $1.00 each.

The tree would be planted within a 50-mile radius of Rockport wherever the winner desired. It would also be guaranteed to grow. The directors accepted the donation with gratitude and Mick Ladner asked Mrs. Nancy Cooke to take charge of the project.

Mrs. Cooke stated that tickets would be on sale soon and the tree will be on display at the October SeaFair. The drawing for the oak will be on the last day of the SeaFair celebration. She also stated that perhaps a plaque would be appropriately placed on the tree for future generations to observe.

Other business attended to was preparations and plans for the concession stand during the art festival, resolution concerning the salt water swimming pool and additional facilities for pleasure boats, and letters written to Senators Lloyd Bentsen and John Tower urging passage of bill for funds to dredge Rockport and Fulton Harbors.

A slide presentation was shown to the directors and others present by Elroy Forbes and Al Casas of Forecast, an advertising firm from Houston.

Attending the meeting were Bill Christian, Dave Connery, Mrs. Cooke, Curtis Goodman, Ladner, Steve Mahnke, John McDavid, Jr., George Peirce III, Eddie Ratliff, Jerry Shaw and Mike Shellenbergar. Also present were W.E. Muecke, Mrs. Mary Albert, Pete Sanders, Raymond Owens, Walter Falk, Bob Pruitt, Browning, Bob Pruitt, Forbes, Casas and Loyce Landrum.

WELCOME MINISTER

The members of First United Methodist Church will welcome their new minister, Rev. W. Boyd Harris and family with a reception June 13 from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. in Fellowship Hall.

Yard of the Month

The Yard of the Month Award for June was presented to Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Franz, 804 Pine, Oak Terrace, by the Rockport Home and Garden Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Franz have lived here since 1970. All the work in this fine yard is done by Mr. and Mrs. Franz.

The yard is beautiful with color. In the front yard there are Norfolk pines, long needle pines, water oak, magnolia and Japanese Yew trees. There are flowering beds of red and pink roses, orange and yellow marigolds, petunias and verbena. Planted along the side of the house are natal plum, spreading juniper, Indian Hawthorne, variegated pittsporum and sago palms.

Of special interest is Mr. Franz's Royal Paulownia. This is a disease free tree from the Orient. It is small now but could grow to a height of sixty feet in a relatively short time.

In the back yard there are pear, peach, plum and fig trees. There are also pink cushion roses, red robin roses, bird of paradise, lillies, bottle brush and different kinds of ferns.

Mr. and Mrs. Franz enjoy fishing and still have time to keep their yard looking lovely.

Yard of the Month is sponsored by the Rockport Home and Garden Club. Anyone is eligible for this award. Nominations may be submitted to Mrs. Donald Meek, 729-6178 or Mrs. Thomas Rogers, 729-6515.

Belser Repeats as Champion At Live Oak Country Club

Finals in the Championship Flight at Live Oak Country Club were practically a re-run of last year's finals as David Belser again defeated Jimmy Dupnik in the 36-hole match played Sunday at the club.

Long-hitting Belser was 3 under par for the first-9 holes. He drove the 345-yard No. 10 hole, but missed his eagle putt. At the end of the first 18 holes he was 4 up on Dupnik, who rallied during the second 18 holes, but not quite enough to catch Belser who finished the match with a score of 2 over par for the day.

Other matches included:

Championship consolation: John Mann defeated John Hagensick.

First flight: Bill Dahman defeated Hugh Robbins. First flight consolation: Scott McCaskey over Jim Williams.

Second flight: George Belser defeated Karl Smith. Second flight consolation: Jim Powell beat Ted Greenfield.

Third flight: Randy Ramey won over Murry Mobley. Third flight consolation went to Dick Richards over Bill Wilson.

Fourth flight: Win Smith defeated Bob Frost. Fourth flight consolation: Walt Cooper defeated Sonny Parks.

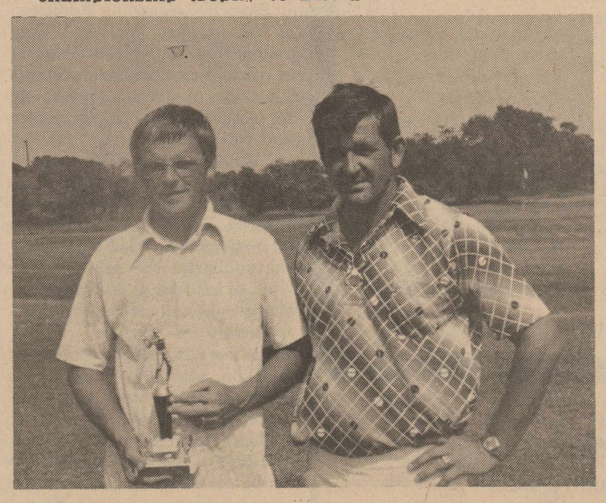

Fifth flight: Troy Shirley won over Jay Attaway III. Fifth flight consolation: Garvin Mitchell defeated Lowell Ramey.

"Red" Walker (L) tournament chairman, presents championship trophy to David Belser.

John Mann (L) holds trophy for club medalist. Jimmy Dupnik, runner-up to the club champion is at right.

April Shrimp Landings Up 28% Over 1975

Shrimp landings in Texas amounted to 1.3 million pounds, valued at $4.3 million. This was 28 percent above landings in April 1975 and a record April value.

Landings of headless shrimp in the Aransas Pass-Fulton Area for April 1976 were 315,900 pounds; for January-April 1976, 1,526,400 pounds.

Total landings for Texas were 1,280,000 pounds in April, 1976; 6,114,600 pounds for January to April, 1976.

Trawlers made poor catches of brown and white shrimp on all major fishing grounds throughout April. Trip catches of less than 100 pounds per night were reported from all major ports.

Blue crab landings of 407 thousand pounds were 50 per cent above the April, 1975 volume. The heavy increase reflected a heavy population of large crabs; very good demand for crab meat primarily by restaurant trade. Fishermen received up to 20 cents per pound for live crabs.

Oyster landings totaled 266 thousand pounds of excellent quality meats. This was 34 percent above landings in April, 1975 and terminated the 1975-76 winter season on Texas public reefs.

Two new vessels entered the Texas shrimp fishery in April. One vessel was lost at sea.

Fuel supplies were adequate at 30-36 cents per gallon.

City Council Continues Probe Of Charges Against Policemen

With the district courtroom in the courthouse packed by more than 100 spectators, the City Council Monday night continued its investigation of charges made against Chief of Police James Craigmile and Lt. Joe Hinojosa.

And after starting at 7 p.m. the Council members four hours later had taken action which means more investigation.

At the outset Mayor Walter S. Falk, Jr., explained that the session would start as an open session to be followed by a closed executive session to be attended by Falk, Aldermen Charlie Garrett, N.F. Jackson, Dan Ward and Dr. Jerry Shaw, City Attorney Dave Connery, Chief Craigmile, Lt. Hinojosa, Patrolman Ronnie Pina and the policemen's attorney, William G. Walston.

Falk explained that during the closed session the officers and their attorney would have their first opportunity to read the written allegations made in regard to the policemen. After this, the officers were to be given their choice of having the communications read during an open meeting or confined to deliberations in a closed session.

The closed executive session lasted two hours and when it ended the officers had decided to have the allegations read and discussed in an open meeting.

With the beginning of the open meeting, Falk began reading the communications, one by one.

The first, from James Hutchinson, praised Craigmile as an efficient chief of police and a man of high morals. The Council voted that no further action was indicated.

The second communication was from Iris Ann Jenkins. It stated, in substance, that during the spring of 1975 the writer saw a drug pusher display drugs and state that he had a ready market in Rockport. The writer said that at the time she was a member of the Drug Abuse Council. She further said that the man she saw admitted being a "pusher."

"I gave Chief Craigmile the information, including the man's name, the circumstances and the license number on his car," the writer stated, adding that as far as she could determine no action was taken as a result of her efforts.

Mayor Falk asked Craigmile to comment on this charge. The chief said, "I contacted the Victoria Police Department and they said they knew about this man and asked me to keep an eye on him and keep them informed."

The Council voted to turn this letter over to the local police administrator (who is Falk) for further investigation.

The next communication was from Sue Stephens, former secretary in the police department office. She said that she often "covered" for Chief Craigmile "since he generally arrived for work at 10 a.m. and left about 3 p.m." Continuing, she stated:

"I was required to say the chief was busy when he was not. He said never to call him at home or I'd be reprimanded. The chief and Hinojosa did little work and Craigmile favored Hinojosa over other officers.

"The chief received phone calls from some woman many times and he once said 'she was a good old girl'."

Mrs. Stephens also charged that Lt. Hinojosa "sometimes cursed me."

Referring to the True Police Magazine article on the murder of Lee Golibart, Mrs. Stephens said Chief Craigmile gave writer Deane Bostick complete access to the police file on the Golibart case.

Mrs. Stephens said she feared for her own safety and for the safety of her children but that she considered it her duty to let the public know what she knows about the Rockport Police Department.

Mayor Falk said he talked to Mrs. Stephens after she resigned and that she said nothing about the allegations made in her letter.

The Council voted to check further into the charges made by Mrs. Stephens.

The next two letters were

Jackson Issues Statement On Police Investigation

Alderman N.F. Jackson read the following statement at the beginning of the special City Council meeting Monday night pertaining to investigation of charges against Chief of Police James Craigmile and Lt. Joe Hinojosa:

"Thank you for the opportunity to say these few words. As the matters before us tonight have come to public attention, too many people have acted and reacted in haste; too many sympathizers with both sides have not made the effort to consider or inquire or understand what the other side is trying to say.

"Let me say in general terms what I feel I am trying to do, remembering that I cannot be specific regarding city employees, which is as it should be.

"I have been a Councilman for a number of terms. I've worked hard for the city and am proud of what the councils I've served on may have been able to do for the city. In our council elections we entrust the management of the city's affairs to councilmen-we trust them with the jobs of providing us water, sewage, garbage pick-up, street maintenance, police protection and recreational facilities. We demand and have the right to demand that they do a good job, that they allocate our tax dollars wisely and supervise the city's services to ensure that they are run efficiently and effectively to your greatest benefit. If we have poorly planned water supplies or have had built for us shoddy buildings at a ball park, we expect the council to look into the problem and see if there really is a problem, and if there is, to do something about it. The police department, too, should be kept on its toes. For instance, the council should be able to require that officers be adequately trained and to check and see that they are, or that vehicles are maintained properly.

"Beginning some time ago, I've heard a number of complaints about our Police Department. I think that the trust given to a councilman by the people who cast their ballots for him requires that he listen to any and all complaints made against the city's business. I think that he should weigh what he hears and decide for himself whether or not he should pass on those complaints or which ones of them to pass on to the council for the council

Owens Wins In Runoff

Raymond Owens, incumbent, was the winner June 5 in the Democratic runoff election for Aransas County Commissioner from Precinct 3. He defeated F.L. "Pete" Appleton 541 to 396.

The runoff election was necessary because in the May 1 primary Owens failed by one vote to receive a majority of the total votes cast.

In that election Owens received 469 votes, Appleton 394, and H.D. Heasley 75.

In countywide voting during the Democratic primary runoff June 5, residents of Aransas County voted as follows:

For Railroad Commissioner: Jon Newton 992 and Jerry Sadler 260;

For Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals (unexpired term;: W.T. Phillips 519 and Carl Dally 479;

State Senator: A.R. "Babe" Schwartz 678 and Dean Neugent 583. In the district Schwartz received about 4,000 more votes than his opponent.

Could This Happen to You?

The Aransas County Council of Aging. working with Rockport's Community Concern Center, operates a Dial-A-Care Service free that would have prevented the following:

"Leara Reas, living alone in a trailer in Milpitas, California, fell as she stepped out of her shower, suffering a stroke. Her entire left side was affected. Her kitchen was 15' away. After regaining consciousness, it took 1½ days to reach her refrigerator. She finally opened it and reached for a pan of water on the lower shelf and she spilled it.

"The only food she could reach was some over-ripe strawberries, an orange and an open can of peaches.

"No one came--no one called. She felt abandoned--she could not reach her phone. On the 7th day, she heard a knock. The police had to break in--she was alive." (from a UPI news release)

If a call by the Rockport Concern Center Dial-A-Care attendant is not answered, an immediate on-the-scene investigation is made.

Do you know any one who needs this service? Call 729-7722.

The City Council Monday night endorsed the proposed paving of part of Fulton Beach Road, with $110,000 of the funds to be provided by a grant from the Texas State Highway Commission. The Council voted to ask the Commission to establish total cost of the project.

Mayor Walter S. Falk, Jr., said the paving project would extend seven-tenth of a mile on Fulton Beach Road, from the intersection of Highway 35 North and Fulton Beach Road and extending northward.

The mayor said the City of Rockport and Aransas County Commissioners Court have agreed to allocate $40,000 each toward such a project to help obtain the necessary right-of-way property.

Falk said that if the project materializes, the paving will be four lanes wide.

to hear and decide as a body whether or not it should look into the matter.

"I've heard some complaints about the Police Department. I've heard some complaints that I think are false or unimportant. I've heard others that I'm not sure about, and because I'm not sure, I think I must share them with other members of the Council and let the whole Council decide whether or not action needs to be taken.

"I've heard some complaints that I think are true and I would betray the trust given to me if I didn't bring them to the attention of the Council.

"I do not have any criminal complaints to bring to the attention of the Council. The complaints I feel I am duty-bound to bring to the attention of the Council have to do with how our Police Department is being managed and hopefully, after these complaints are aired, the Council will be able to say, "We've looked at the department and it's running O.K.", or "We've looked at the department and its work could be improved this... or that... way."

"If the Council feels it must, it has the right to hire or fire personnel. I can't fire or hire an employee by myself, only a majority of the council members may do that. It's been said that I'm out to fire Chief Craigmile because I wanted to see Mike Webb hired in his place. Almost all of you know that Webb has taken a job in an area town. I knew over a month ago of his application for that other job and he knew, even before that, because I told him, that I could not and would not support him for a place in Rockport's Police Department. No matter what I might think of Mike personally, I told him then and it is my belief now that he was too controversial locally to effectively be a city policeman. A long time ago, I told Gary Don Langston the same thing.

"Back to the complaints, our laws require that anything said or written about a city employee which might be interpreted as bad, must be said or presented in the presence of the employee before it may be said publicly. This is a good law and is one which I endorse. Unfortunately, because of the law's insistence on secrecy, a lot of people have begun reacting to complaints which haven't even been heard. None of you knows whether the complaints are serious or trivial. Wouldn't it be sadly funny if all of this was about a secret complaint--which turned out to be complaining of a police car running over a cat.

"I must say that I have been very angered - angered because some people have tried to tell me I couldn't speak, to tell me I couldn't do my job as a councilman - not to say to me, "We disagree with what you say", but to say instead, "You may not speak at all."

"These complaints must be heard by the Council so that the Council may accept and perhaps recommend changes in procedure or personnel, or reject them and put to rest doubts raised about the Department."

City Council—

from Laurie Vargas, a former police department secretary, and Sara Pena, present police secretary, both of whom described Craigmile as a superior officer, a hard-working man and a person who "never got out of line."

These communications were followed by a letter from Gary Don Langston, a former police sergeant here. He said he watched several good men leave the department in a few months.

He charged that Hinojosa "always was late to relieve other officers and when I went to Chief Craigmile to complain, he said if I didn't like it to get another job."

"I and others," Langston continued, "went to the chief and complained and he took no action other than to accuse us of being trouble makers."

Langston further said:

"I spent much effort on drug investigation and if some success appeared likely the chief would say that if any pictures were to be taken, he'd be glad to pose."

Langston charged that Craigmile was interested in public relations, not police work.

"Chief Craigmile bragged about firing several officers and blackballing them from getting other jobs."

The Council voted to turn the Langston letter over to Falk for further investigation.

The seventh letter was from Alderman Jackson who stated, "I formerly admired Craigmile and his work but now I think he is not doing the job he was hired to do.

"I tried to find out why so many officers resigned (seven), I made an investigation and Mayor Falk thwarted me in some of my efforts.

"I found that the chief criticized policemen for unauthorized use of police cars while Craigmile used a police car for his own use without authority."

At this point (10:30 p.m.) Alderman Charlie Garrett walked out of the meeting after Mayor Falk made a number of comments favorable to Chief Craigmile.

The eighth and final letter was from Edward Williams, a former patrolman, who stated:

"I started out with enthusiasm about my job but I received no training help from Chief Craigmile. Hinojosa was always asking me to relieve him ahead of schedule and when I refused to do so, Hinojosa bawled me out and Craigmile backed him up.

"All the officers went to Craigmile and asked that Hinojosa be required to report on schedule and we got no action. Also, Craigmile asked for my resignation and then blackballed me so that I could not get another job," Williams claimed.

Shortly before the "police personnel" meeting ended, the Rev. C.J. Molmen, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, who was one of the spectators, got up and asked permission to say a few words.

The mayor said, "Certainly, Reverend Molmen," and the pastor then said:

"I believe that everyone here wants justice and fairness to prevail in this investigation and one comment I have is that you, Mayor Falk, have not conducted this meeting in an impartial manner and you have gone out of your way to favor Chief Craigmile by your comments during the entire meeting."

The mayor said it was his duty to defend any city employee against any charges that have not been proven.

And thus another chapter in the "police personnel" investigation came to a close--with more to follow at a later date.

NEW OFFICERS NAMED FOR AUSTWELL COMMUNITY IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION — Louise Frasier, President of the Austwell Community Improvement Association, is congratulated by Frank Johnson, immediate past president. F. L. Reese, CPL manager in Seadrift looks on. Assisting President Frasier for the 1976-77 term will be David Jasso, Vice Chairman; Virginia Torres, Secretary; Julia Bernal, Treasurer; Lee Ann Johnson, Reporter; and Euner Johnson, Program Chairwoman.

Austwell, a dynamic community of 284 located in northeast Refugio County, was named one of Texas' top two rural communities when a panel of judges awarded Austwell second place in the state finals of the Texas Community Improvement Program contest judging just completed. Over 200 communities across the state competed for the top awards.

The 1975-76 contest year marked Austwell's first trip to the state level competition, having previously won three district titles and two regional second place awards.

The key to Austwell's high placing was citizen involvement, as all ages and ethnic groups worked together on many community activities.

Top accomplishments for the 1975-76 contest year included: A major cleanup, fixup campaign which removed 65 truckloads of debris; over $3,000 raised for a special Bicentennial Six Flag Over Texas Plaza to be built at the new city hall and library; a Yard of the Month program in full swing; a local Council for the Aged functioning well; development and distribution of an Austwell Tourist Brochure; and welcome signs.

With Austwell's remote location from large cities, community leaders have stressed developing local community services and facilities.

Top priority is placed on local health care. Over 40 residents completed a certified first aid training program along with two mental health clinics being held. Emergency litters have been placed in various homes with two oxygen systems and a resuscitator available at the Community Center. A community blood drive netted 50 pints of blood.

According to Frank Johnson, outgoing Community Improvement Association Chairman, "We are all better friends since we've been working together on all these community projects. The cooperation among our residents is outstanding."

The TCIP contest is sponsored by nine investor-owned electric utility companies, including Central Power and Light Company, headquartered at Corpus Christi. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service administers the program.

CPL President Aaron Autry noted, upon presenting a silver tray to community residents for their accomplishments, that "Other communities would do well to follow Austwell's example of community organization, citizen involvement and general community improvement.

Fishing Clinic Well Attended

A crowd of over 200 packed the Port Aransas Community Center June 3 for the Coastal Bend Sport Fishing Clinic. The clinic sponsored by the Texas A&M Extension Service, Aransas-San Patricio County Sea Grant Advisory Committee and the Port Aransas Boatman's Association was termed an overwhelming success by John Jackson, chairman of the Sea Grant Advisory Committee.

The program arranged by Dr. Russell Miget, Extension Marine Fisheries Specialist, and Ralph Rayburn, Aransas-San Patricio Extension Marine Agent, consisted of presentations with both scientific and practical applications.

Besides the presentations by Ralph on fish identifications and Russ on marine habitats, Bill Fable and Monty Lopez of the Department of Commerce's National Marine Fisheries Service, Port Aransas Marine Lab., told of their work in spawning and tagging sport fish as well as collecting data for a billfishing survey.

Elgin Dietz, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, reviewed the Department's research efforts on behalf of the sport fishing industry with particular emphasis on the stocking of marine sport fish in inland areas.

Dr. Bill Brogden, U.T. Marine Science Institute, provided an outlook for the future of the coastal bend area and discussed an upcoming book to be published on marine habitats. Finally, the scientific portion of the program was concluded by a presentation by Dr. Fred Conte on his work in the mariculture of Penaeid Shrimp.

After a short coffee break, members of the Port Aransas Boatman's Association discussed various methods of fishing from the Bays to the Blue Water. Rick Corn acted as panal chairman and provided an exciting display of various tackle and gear used in fishing various areas.

Jim Bauknight discussed various aspects of bay fishing while Johnny Matthews demonstrated rigging for various types of offshore fishing.

The program was concluded by a movie entitled "Undersea Oasis" which discussed various types of life which inhabit an artificial reef.

NURSING HOME NEWS MAY 31-JUNE 6

The Aransas Pass Nursing and Convalescent Center is never loaded down with activities the first week of the month. We have a lot of visitors and relatives all the time but we have a varied number of the scheduled activities.

Monday was Memorial Day and all was fairly quiet, but Tuesday we got started with our exercise class and then that afternoon the Ingleside Rebekahs were here for their game day which was enjoyed very much.

Wednesday morning Bonnie and Jean were out for the paint class.

Thursday morning was the Aransas Pass Pentecostal Church of God Hour. All of us were very glad to have Bro. Pruitt's family out for this program. Some of my residents' favorite people were on hand for this program. Among the group was Darwin Maguglin who plays the piano and also brought the meditation along with the daughter and granddaughters of Bro. Pruitt, who sang for us. Thank you so much for coming.

Thursday evening was Bible study time with the ladies of the Catholic Church of Aransas Pass.

Friday afternoon was quite a surprise for our own Francisca Vasquez who happened to be the "birthday girl" for that day. She was given a surprise party by her daughter and other friends. It was such a surprise that I didn't even get in on the party, but Vasquez was happy and it really was nice.

Saturday morning Father James Hamilton was out for Holy Communion and was assisted by Roy Archey, while Pat Baker is on a little trip.

Saturday night we had some good old "Blue Grass" fiddling music. Those playing in the group were Johnny Townsend on fiddle, Bob Stewart on guitar and fiddle, Gary Allen on the electric steel guitar and Bob Davis on the bass fiddle. We all had a very nice vening. Refreshments of punch was served by the Center.

Sunday morning church services were held and then Sunday afternoon the Portland Baptist Church was over for their monthly program. All put together we had a pretty nice week.

I would like to thank Clorine Tabor for the books she has sent to our residents and also to Neva Sorenson for the magazines she sends from time to time.

Thanks to Ian Ryles who has "Flowers by Ian" for the beautiful flowers she sent to us with a card which read "Have a wonderful day."

One of our nurses, Ruby Strackbein, was very nice and brought some home-grown cucumbers and tomatoes which we enjoyed very much.

I would like to let the C.B. Club members know just how proud we are of our six new wheelchairs which they donated to us. We have nearly all of them in use at this time.

Also, thanks to the Ward family for the pretty flowers and to Mr. Howard for the memorial for Mr. Ward that went into our activities fund.

We had a very nice gift given to us last week by one of our own residents. Mr. Pat Baker bought a very nice bird bath that now adorns our front yard. This was given as a living memorial for his wife, Bessie, who left us several months ago. Pat, we do so very much appreciate this gift and will always remember you both.

Once again I would like to thank Dixie Creme Donut Shop for the goodies you bring from time to time.

OUTDOORS 'n things

by L. D. NUCKLES

We talk a lot about "wildlife management", but have you ever stopped to think what this really means?

Well -- Waldo Leopold, who is often called the father of modern wildlife management, said, "Game management is the art of making land produce sustained annual crops of wild game for recreational use." This, in a nutshell, is the job of Texas Parks and Wildlife biologists. Of course it also pertains to water.

The biologist is the liaison man between nature and the public. His role is to see that as much hunting and fishing as possible is made available to the public, but, at the same time, he must be sure that there is enough brood stock left for future generations.

Nature has built in many factors to keep down the numbers of any single species so that they don't overstock the world. One of these factors is predation. Man, the biggest predator of all, resents almost all other predators, because in many instances they compete with him. This resentment is multiplied when these predators begin to take, or he thinks they are taking, his livestock.

Good examples of this are the animals such as wolves, coyotes and mountain lions who would normally feed on deer. Sheep, goats and even cattle are sometimes much easier to kill than deer so it is only natural that these carnivores obtain their food in the easiest possible way.

In certain parts of Texas man has all but eliminated these animals who would normally hold the deer herd in check. To add to this he has passed restrictive laws that make it almost impossible for hunters to take enough deer to keep the herd in balance with the range.

This becomes even more important when you consider the fact that man has lowered the carrying capacity of the range by his introduction of sheep and goats. These animals compete directly with deer for food.

So, what do we do? Liberalization of the game laws is not the answer because the actual control of the land remains in the hands of the landowner and he restricts the number of hunters. Allowing predators to move into these overpopulated areas would help some, but these same predators will kill sheep and goats. No rancher will stand still for that.

We must decide whether we want quality or quantity. You cannot produce trophy quality deer on land that carries a deer to every three or four acres. This is on land that, considering livestock numbers, should have no more than one deer to every 12 or 15 acres.

Down in South Texas where we do still produce a few trophy deer they have one deer to every 150 or 200 acres.

It is up to us to decide -- do thousands of people get to hunt inferior deer or do we wind up in a situation where very few people will be able to hunt, but they will have a chance to kill a really fine trophy?

Game management is a combination of land management, livestock management, people management and finally the management of the species in question. The biologists must juggle all these factors, as best he can, and come up with the best compromise that he can.

Judy Newton Is Honored

Judy Newton, wife of successful Railroad Commission candidate Jon Newton; was honored June 2 at the Key Allegro Community Center.

Co-hostesses of the afternoon coffee were Linda Daly and Lenora Beck.

Accompanying Judy to Rockport were personal friends from Beeville, Darlene Conoly, Tubby McCarty and Heather Welder.

Mrs. Newton spoke briefly on the duties of the three-member Commission, emphasizing the importance of their roles in regulating the oil and gas industries.

Guests in attendance were Shawn Daly and Margaret Daly, both from Houston; Van Morgan, Dorothy Rhotenberry, Linda Smith, Margaret Schultz, Nancy White, Karen Hugenberg, Audrey Owens, Billie Elliot, Virginia Shivers and Ruby Hart, all of Rockport.

Engagement Announced

ENGAGED — Rev. and Mrs. E. Singleterry are proud to announce the engagement and approaching wedding of their daughter Marilyn to Frank Johnson, son of Mrs. Manuela Johnson of Aransas Pass, on June 19 at the First Assembly of God Church in Rockport.

Seekers Cluster Has Session

The "Seekers" Cluster met Thursday morning with 11 members present for their monthly Bible study.

The devotional was centered on the simple word, "ask" written by Charles Allen. An inspirational discussion followed on the Holy Spirit, a very fitting study for this Pentecost season.

The cluster enjoyed meeting shut-in and would like for the cluster to visit with you, call Mrs. Trudie Allemang, chairman, 729-2003.

Several members are looking forward to the field trip to Wesley Community Center in Robstown on June 22, sponsored by the United Methodist Women.

A.A.R.P. Card Party

The weekly card party was held June 3 at the Recreational Building on Airport Road with 32 in attendance, according to Pat Works, recreational director. Hostesses were Elsie Hover, Pearl Gaubart and Loreane Collins.

Kay Snapp won the canasta prize with Elsie Hover getting second. In ladies' bride, LaRue Nolan was victor and Gertrude Mills, runner-up. In men's bridge Karl Smith took first and Jack Horton was second. Bingo prize was won by Earlene Ballou.

There will be another party on next Thursday--same time and place. Visitors are cordially welcome. Come out and enjoy the fellowship and the good refreshments too.

HONOR ROLL

Wharton County Junior College in Wharton lists 277 students who were on the "B" or better Honor Roll for the spring semester.

Those who have completed at least twelve semester hours with gradepoint averages of 3.0 to 3.5 include Eugene Clyde Carter, Rockport.

ATTEND A.A.R.P. CONVENTION — Zollie and Bessie Glass, retired couple of Holiday Beach, left June 6 for Miami to attend the national convention of A.A.R.P.

Zollie was nominated by Mrs. Loessberg, asst. state director of Region VII. He was elected as a delegate.

Bessie, his wife, was appointed by the executive board of Rockport Chapter No. 1536 to represent Rockport.

Zollie and Bessie were instigators and organizers of the local chapter in Rockport in 1973 and are two of the hardest workers in the organization. The Community Concern Center owes a lot to their untiring efforts.

Zollie and Bessie are also celebrating their 44th wedding anniversary while on this trip.

HISTORY OF AUSTWELL

Back in 1902, Preston R. Austin and James C. McDowell formed a partnership on 20,000 acres of land in eastern Refugio County. The land was purchased from descendants of the original Spanish land grant holders. On March 15, 1912, some 76 acres, with streets and alleys marked off, were dedicated as a townsite. The name for the town was formed by combining parts of the last name for the town was formed by combining parts of the last name of each of the two benefactors.

Lots of activity occurred in Austwell in the early 1900's. The first school was built in 1911. Lots were offered for sale in 1921 after the townsite had been dedicated. An all-denomination church was constructed in 1913 by Mr. Austin for the local citizens. W.H. Gisler became the first mayor after Austwell was incorporated on September 10, 1914. The local school district was organized in 1913. For some time, Austwell was the location of the only affiliated school in Refugio County, after attaining that distinction in 1928.

Today Austwell is an active community of 284 citizens. The incorporated town is governed by a mayor and two councilmen. Public water and sewer systems, with a full-time water superintendent, are a symbol of local cooperation.

Austwell is perhaps one of the most unique and diversified communities to be found in South Texas. Located primarily to the west of Austwell is a large area of extremely rich black land and soil. Primary crops are milo and cotton, with a seasonal flax crop also being grown. Bordered on the east and north by San Antonio and Hynes Bays, Austwell serves as the "jumping off place" for excellent fishing, oystering and shrimping. The Seadrift Union Carbide plant also provides employment for some of the area citizens.

Another unique feature of the area is the Aransas Wildlife Refuge, located a few miles to the south. In 1975, some 130,000 visitors passed through Austwell on their way to view the world-renowned whooping cranes or one of the many other species of wildlife abounding on the refuge.

Now in their tenth year of TCIP participation, Austwell claims three district titles and two regional second place awards. After narrowly losing to last year's eventual state champion at the regional judging, the #1 goal of the Austwell Community Improvement Association is to capture first place in the 1976-77 State TCIP judging.

Never pay too much attention to the person who knows what he says is right.

The McClungs Are Honored

About 150 Methodists and friends of the Tom McClungs from all parts of the city gathered in Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church to honor and say goodby to the McClungs who will be leaving Rockport on June 10th to make their home in Port Lavaca serving the First United Methodist Church there.

The informal party from 2:00 to 4:00 P.M. to which the public was invited was a happy occassion, although Rockport is sad to see the McClungs leave.

The serving table was laid with an antique handmade Normandy lace cloth. The centerpiece of yellow glads and yellow and white chrysanthemums in a crystal epergne were beautifully arranged and donated by Mrs. R.L. Eckman and Mrs. W.K. Thomas.

Coffee and golden frosted punch, along with a beautifully decorated white cake with yellow floral trim, with the inscription, "Good Luck and God Bless You" was served. Mints, cookies and nuts added to the serving table.

In the receiving line from 2:00 to 3:00 P.M. were Tom, Sisie and Brett McClung, Susie's sister, Mrs. Johnnie K. Kiboderaux, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Randow and Mrs. John Leslie, Jr. From 3:00 to 4:00 P.M. Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Gray and Mrs. James Garrison stood with the McClungs.

From 2:00 to 3:00 Mrs. Drexel Riley presided at the punch bowl; from 3:00 to 4:00 Mrs. D.T. Adams presided.

Presiding at the coffee service from 2:00 to 3:00 was Mrs. Roy Hunsinger. From 3:00 to 4:00 was Mrs. Wesley Muecke.

Serving cake from 2:00 to 3:00 was Mrs. James P. Gillis; from 3:00 to 4:00 was Mrs. I.R. Eastridge.

At the registrar from 2:00 to 3:00 was Mrs. Mary Cook and Mrs. Chester Barre. From 3:00 to 4:00 Mrs. Harvey Bristow and Mrs. John L. Leslie, Jr. presided.

At the gift table from 2:00 to 3:00 was Mrs. Otto Brueggeman and from 3:00 to 4:00, Mrs. Minta Lancaster.

Others in the house party were Mrs. H.A. McDonald, chairperson, Mrs. John Knocke, Mrs. LeRoy Young, Mrs. I.E. Allemang, Mrs. Edward J. DeVoe, Mrs. Jack Heffel and Mrs. Roy Burke.

About 3:00 P.M. two beautiful vocal numbers were given by Ginger and Penny Rossman and Penny Gould.

The McClungs were presented a cash gift from the Church along with many gifts from friends throughout the city.

RECEIVES DEGREE

Trinity University of San Antonio conferred baccalaureate and masters degrees upon 640 students at its 107th commencement ceremonies in May 1976.

Principal speaker at the ceremony was CIA Director George Bush. Degrees were presented by Trinity President Duncan Wimpress.

Sally Gail Snider of Rockport received a B.A. degree in journalism.

INCOME TAX REFUNDS STILL AVAILABLE

College Station--Federal income tax refunds may still be avialable to some consumers, even though the April 15 deadline for filing a tax return has passed, Lynn Bourland, a family resource management specialist, says.

"Those not required to file a federal income tax return may still be entitled to a refund and earned-income credit refunds range in amounts up to $400. The Internal Revenue Service expected three million returns for this type of refund and have received only 300,000," she said.

Miss Bourland is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Consumers who meet these requirements should file now, she said.

--Individual or couple, must have at least one dependent child who is a student or under age 19 and living at home.

--Earned income or adjusted gross income for 1975 must have been less than $8,000.

--Gross income does not include Social Security benefits or the portion of pension benefits that is a refund of the original retirement investment.

It's a Girl !!

Mr. and Mrs. James Fox are the proud parents of a 6 pound 10 ounce baby girl born May 26 and named Jennifer Kathryn. Maternal grandparents are Mrs. Billy Cote and Alfred Court of Rockport. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fox, Rockport.

BAYSIDE OLD SETTLERS REUNION

E.F. Pitzer of Refugio gave the Pilot the following announcement regarding the forthcoming Bayside-Richardson and Old Settlers Reunion:

"We are having a combined Bayside-Richardson School and Old Settlers Reunion on Saturday, June 19, 1976, on the bay front under the tourist shed. We will meet in the County Community Building at Bayside. This will be a bring-your-own-food, or covered dish affair, and will begin at 10 o'clock and last through the day. In case you want to spend the night, there will probably be some of your old friends who will invite you to stay with them.

"We are asking you to contribute one dollar per family to cover miscellaneous expenses, such as stamps, etc. We will give a plaque for the oldest school member present; one for the school member coming the greatest distance; and one for the oldest Bayside resident present.

"We want everyone that possibly can to come, regardless of food or expense contribution. We want to see you.

Howard and De Camp Wed

Appleton Baptist Church in Wheat Ridge, Colorado was the setting for the June 5 wedding of Miss Patricia Charlene DeCamp of Lakewood, Colorado and Gary Richard Howard of Arvada, Colorado.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David A. DeCamp of Lakewood, Colorado. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Howard of Arvada, Colorado, formerly of Rockport.

The Reverends Luther Mann and Thomas Coffan officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a gown of white lace bouffant, with a queen ann neckline, long full blouse sleeves fitted into a long cuff, and a fitted bodice. The floor length skirt was in layers of lace tiered, falling into a chapel length train.

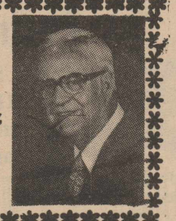

Honor attendants were Miss Darlend DeCamp of Lakewood, Colorado and Mr. Phillip Howard, Sr. of Houston, Texas. Other attendants included Miss Janice Cavitt of Grand Junction, Colorado; Mrs. Scott Reaves of Cincinnati, Ohio; Miss Linda Peterson of Lakewood, Colorado; Mr. Pal McCright of Albuquerque, New Mexico; Randy Shipley of Arvada, Colorado; and James Quinn of Wheat Ridge, Colorado. The Kinsey Report

A trip to the Hill Country is always an enjoyable experience for Mrs. K and me, as it was last weekend. The beauty of the area, the hills, the magnificient scenic views and the big trees are inspiring sights.

This time we went to both Kerrville and Fredericksburg. The latter city always has impressed me as one of the most interesting places, from a historical standpoint, I have ever visited.

One example is the picturesque, old, stone Sunday houses which are maintained in immaculate condition.

In our case, a trip to this area always is especially enjoyable because it affords us a chance to visit our daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Herbort, and their sons, Mike and Jay. This time we brought seven-year-old Mike home with us for a week's visit.

On the way home, I was cruising along on Route 10 between Kerrville and San Antonio when all of a sudden I saw in the rear view mirror the flashing lights of a State Highway patrol car, signaling me to pull off the road.

I did so and a young officer walked up and politely asked to see my driver's license. I handed it to him and commented, "I'm afraid I got a little careless about my speed, officer."

He said something like, "You surely must know that the speed limit is 55 miles per hour, and you were going 72."

I said that I had no excuse, that I had simply been careless. He said, "Well, be sure to observe the speed limit from now on."

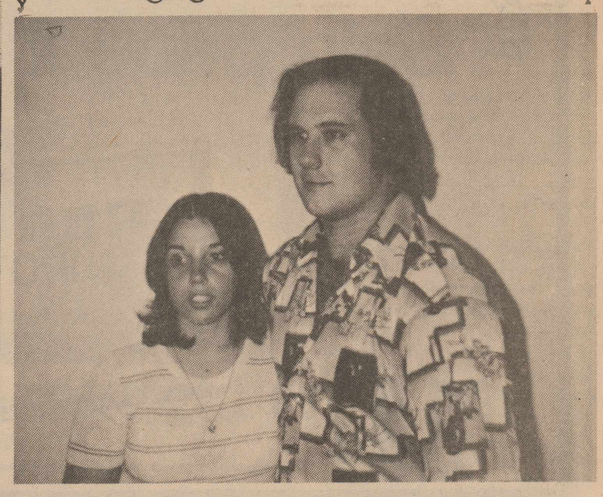

I started breathing again, offered a little prayer of gratitude, and continued on my way--at 55 miles per hour.

NEW GENERATING UNIT BEGINS OPERATION

A new generating unit at Central Power and Light Company's Barney M. Davis Power Station began producing electricity for the first time May 28.

Plant Superintendent Charles R. Kuss said the 325 thousand-kilowatt unit went "on the line" at 9:14 p.m.

Completion of the new plant addition doubles the size of the generating station in south Corpus Christi and makes it the largest in CPL's South Texas electric system. The first unit at the plant began operating in 1974.

Kuss said the new generating unit will be tested under varying load conditions for the next few days, and then brought to full operation.

The new plant equipment can operate on either natural gas or fuel oil, and provides further assurance of dependable electric service to CPL customers in the event of gas curtailments.

All of CPL's plants have some oil burning capability, but this is the second and largest unit designed for full-time oil operation. The first was the 105,000-kilowatt unit added at Laredo in 1975.

On-site oil storage capacity of 340,000 barrels at the Davis plant will provide a reserve fuel supply to operate the big unit for a month under full load conditions without replenishment. A six-inch pipeline runs from the harbor area of Corpus Christi to the plant to insure dependable delivery of fuel, however.

Commercial operation of the 325,000-kilowatt unit brings CPL's system capability to 3,044,000 kilowatts, more than twice what it was in 1968.

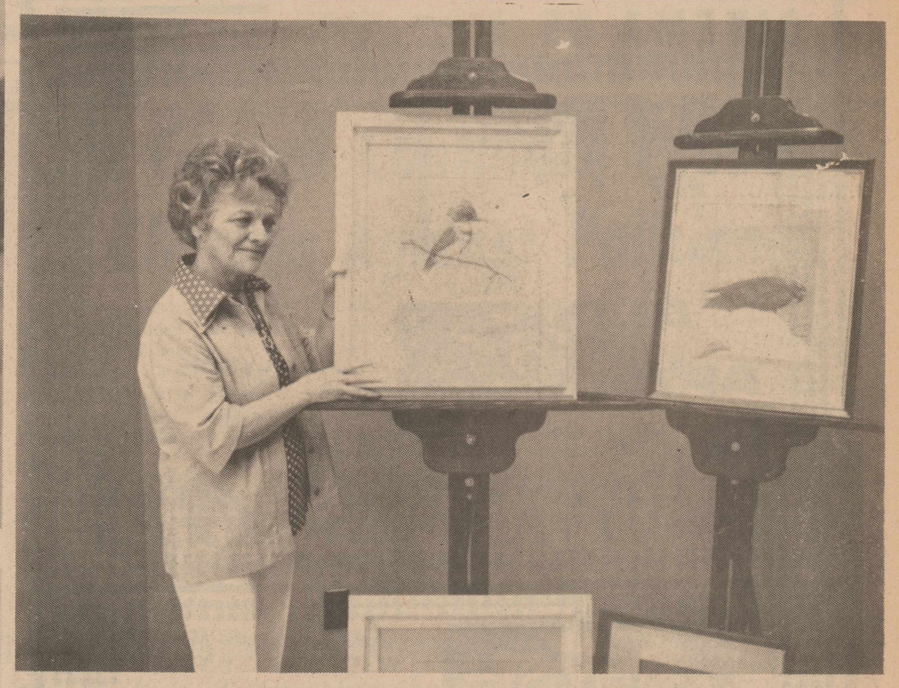

Power from the new 325,000-kilowatt steam-driven generator will be tied into eight other power plants in the CPL system covering 44 South Texas counties. CPL's system reliability is insured by over four thousand miles of high-voltage transmission lines.

The addition to the Davis plant is the third 325,000-kilowatt unit in the CPL system and will be part of the utility company's base load capacity. A once-through cooling system takes salt water from Laguna Madre to condense steam back to water for recirculating through the generating system. The warmed salt water then flows into an 1,100-acre cooling lake where it cools before being discharged into Oso Creek near Mud Bridge.

An added feature associated with the plant is an ongoing study of commercial production of shrimp in the plant's discharge water. CPL has joined Ralston-Purina Company and Texas A&M University in the research project, which has made major breakthroughs in shrimp production.

Other power projects being developed by CPL include the coal-fired Coleto Creek Power Station, which will bring 550,000 kilowatts of power into service in 1980; and the nuclear-powered South Texas Project, which will bring the first of its two 1,250,000-kilowatt units on line in 1980.

CPL is also supporting research into geothermal and fusion power projects at the University of Texas.

ART DISPLAY — Paintings of Texas birds by Kit Dinger, widely known local artist and teacher are on display this month in the lobby of First National Bank. The display was arranged for by Gladys Gibson, chairman of the bank's continuing committee on art.

The paintings are in pastel and include a Texas roadrunner, barn owl, whooping cranes, kingfisher, golden eagle and scissortail. Kit. Dinger works in virtually all media, including oils, acrylic and occasionally water color, as well as pastel.

She is a charter member of the Rockport Art Association and at one time taught in the association's gallery on Austin Street. At present she has a studio and gallery in the Art Colony on Fulton Beach Road where she teaches classes two to three mornings a week.

Kit Dinger was born and educated in Oakland, Cal., where she attended the California School of Arts and Crafts and the Academy of Fashion Art. In addition, she has studied with a number of artists. Starting to paint at the age of 12 she has made it a hobby and a profession ever since. She did free lance fashion illustrating in Calfornia before her marriage.

During World War II while her late husband was a Navy flier she lived in a number of places in the United States and Hawaii before moving to Rockport in 1961 after having visited this community a number of times.

EDUCATION BENEFITS AVAILABLE TO DEPENDENTS OF VETS

Education benefits are available to many dependents of veterans whose death or total and permanent disability was the result of their service, Paul F. Barnett, Acting Director, Huston Regional Office said recently.

Depandents of service personnel missing in action, captured, interned or forcibly detained in line of duty by a foreign power for more than 90 days may also qualify for the VA education benefits.

In general, those eligible are children between 18 and 26 years of age and the spouses of veterans whose death or total and permanent total disability resulted from military service after the beginning of the Spanish-American War on April 28, 1898.

Unless extended under certain conditions, a child's VA education eligibility ends on his 26th birthday, plus any time period after his 18th birthday required to process the application.

The eligibility of a spouse ends on November 30, 1978, or 10 years from the date the veteran was found to have a total and permanent service-conected disability, or 10 years from the date of his death, whichever is later.

Spouses of service personnel declared missing in action, captured or detained in line of duty, are eligible for education benefits until December 24, 1980, or for 10 years from the date the listing was made, whichever is later, Barnett said.

For a spouse intending to take apprenticeship, on-the-job or correspondence training, eligibility is based on the 10-year period or October 24, 1982, whichever is later.

A child's marriage is not a barrier to the education benefits, Barnett said, but the remarriage of a spouse ends his or her eligibility unless that marriage is terminated by death or divorce.

The VA benefits provide up to 36 months of schooling, or the equivalent of 36 months if the student is enrolled on a part-time basis.

Unless the child of a veteran has been accepted by an approved institution for courses leading to a standard college degree, he or she will automatically receive VA conseling to assist in the selection of an educational goal and the development of a program to achieve it.

An education plan must be submitted by or for the eligible child showing the goal, program to be followed, the school or schools selected and a program cost estimate, Barnett added.

Training may be taken at any approved college, vocational, business or professional school, or at any approved institution providing apprenticeship or other on-the-job training.

In addition to the types of training listed above, spouses may enroll in secondary and correspondence schools or in schools offering farm cooperative programs.

Any program of education outside the United States may be pursued only at an approved institution of higher learning. Monthly allowance rates paid under this program are $270 for full time students, $203 for three-quarter time students, and $135 for half-time students. Tuition costs only--limited to $270 will be paid to less than half-time students.

Enrollees in full time cooperative courses which alternate classroom study with on-the-job experience, will receive $217 a month.

Eligible students may borrow up to $600 per academic year to pursue a college course or one leading to a professional or vocational objective which requires at least six months to complete.

Loans are available only to students unable to obtain student loans of the amount required under provisions of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

Full information on the VA dependents' education program can be obtained at the nearest VA office.

Accent ON HEALTH

Texas Department of Health Resources
Fratis L. Duff M.D., Director

Kittens are supposed to be fluffy, playful creatures who love to test their claws and teeth on anyone who plays with them.

But when the playful kitten displays real antagonism and becomes ill, there's the possibility of rabies, reports the Bureau of Veterinary Public Health of the Texas Department of Health Resources.

That's what happened during 1975 to a kitten which earlier had survived an attack by a skunk on a farm. It was brought to Austin and given away as a pet. The kitten died soon after being put under surveillance by a veterinarian. The Department of Health Resources Laboratory in Austin confirmed that the kitten was a victim of rabies.

As a result, 14 persons who handled and suffered the normal biting and scratching of the kitten underwent a series of rabies shots.

This story had a happy ending for all those involved.

In fact, there were no rabies cases among humans in Texas during all of 1975 although the Department of Health Resources supplied 615 series of antirabies treatments to residents here. The last documented case of human death attributed to natural exposure to the rabies virus in Texas was in 1962. During 1972 one human death was attributed to exposure to the rabies virus in a laboratory. Rabies, despite the low number of human cases, still is one of the most terrifying diseases which can affect man. It is still found in wild animals and is a constant threat to unvaccinated domestic animals and pets, especially in rural settings.

Rabies was confirmed in 329 animals in Texas last year, a decrease from the 396 cases confirmed by laboratory tests in 1974, reports the Department of Health Resources. Of the total number, one dog and three bats were found positive in laboratories at Fort Sam Houston and Brooks Air Force Base.

The number of dog rabies cases dropped drastically in 1975, from 89 the previous year to just 25. But in the cat population, rabies shot up from only nine cases in 1974 to 20 in 1975--proof that rabies vaccinations are in order for cats, too. Total dog and cat cases dropped to 45 last year from 98 the previous year.

In addition to the dogs and cats, 21 cases of rabies were confirmed in livestock during 1975. Cattle accounted for 14 cases, horses for six cases and sheep for one case. Forty-two cases were reported the previous year.

As expected year after year, wild animals accounted for the most confirmed cases--263 during 1975 representing an increase of seven cases over 1974.

Biggest offender was the skunk with 177 cases. Bats accounted for 70 cases, foxes for 13 cases, bobcats for two cases, and the raccoon for one case.

Rabies cases are widespread throughout Texas. Of the 329 cases reported last year, 93 of Texas' 254 counties had at least one.

El Paso County was the state's leader with 46 cases of rabies, including 21 cases in bats, 10 in skunks, 13 in dogs and two in cats. Among the leaders were Bexar County, 18; Gonzales, Dallas, Milam and Mason Counties, 11; and Howard County 10.

In identifying rabies cases in Texas, the Department of Health Resources Laboratories examined a total of 7,368 specimens as suspected rabies cases. These represented more than 51 animal species during 1975. Dog and cat specimens were the most common received at the laboratory--and represented small percentages of positive cases per test. Tests were run on 1,987 dogs in finding 24 positives, while the 2,271 cats tested showed 20 positives. Almost a third of the skunks tested were positive for rabies.

A lot of work is performed in pinpointing positive rabies cases, but you can't take chances with rabies.

The chances of a human surviving a case of rabies is virtually nil. A six-year-old Ohio boy was the first recorded case of a human surviving the dreaded "mad dog" disease, according to the National Center for Disease Control. Another surivor has been reported since then, in Argentina. Rabies virus attacks the nervous system, the heart, the lungs, the brain and, "You can die from any one of a half-dozen different problems," said a spokesman for CDC.

The Ohio youngster received intensive supported care which saved his life. He is reported as a normal, healthy boy now---some five years later.

Rabies declined in Texas last year, but there's always the possiblilty of outbreaks as long as the disease is prevalent in wildlife, says the Veterinary Public Health Bureau of the Department of Health Resources. It advises all pet owners to have their pets vaccinated against the disease and to always avoid contact with any wild animal which acts friendly or peculiar and seems to have no fear of man. These animals could be rabid.

U.S. Wine

Robert Ivie, chairman of the board of the California Wine Institute, and that organization, are opposing a U.S. Food and Drug Administration proposal to improve wine labeling.

The FDA wants U.S. bottlers to list both the ingredients in the bottle and also the origin of the grapes. This is a customary and required practice in such countries as France and Germany.

Opposition arguments by U.S. bottlers that this would increase costs, isn't necessary, etc., are quite weak and shortsighted.

The U.S. industry (ninety per cent in California) seeks to increase production and export. Obviously, better labeling, which means labels which tell the buyer more about the product, is a step in the right direction.

Until U.S. labels offer such information American wines will be suspect to some, both here and abroad, who have learned to look for specific data on the content and origin on labels.
