

Clarendon College Site Put On Sale

FACULTY IS RELEASED BY BOARD AS FUTURE PLANS INDEFINITE

CLARENDON, May 30.—Methodist property, including the plant of Clarendon college, valued at $550,000, went on sale last week.

From the proceeds of the sale a refund of $21,000 is being made to the citizens of Clarendon who subscribed that amount two years ago with the understanding that this city would remain the permanent home of the institution.

With the failure so far of Amarillo to provide for the removal of the school the entire faculty was released last Thursday.

The indefinite status of the plans for the new buildings as proposed in Amarillo made release of the faculty members necessary.

Prof. S. H. Condon, for fifteen years dean of the institution has accepted a position with the West Texas State Teachers College and Dr. Morgan plans to return to the Oklahoma conference.

Clarendon college was established in 1898 and with the closing of its doors the Panhandle's oldest institution of learning passes out of existence.

Dr. W. M. Pearce, chairman of the church committee on plans for locating the college in Amarillo, was in Clarendon last night and could not be reached for a statement in connection with latest developments in the college situation.

Class of Year '27 Receive Diplomas

Thursday evening at the High School building forty-one young ladies and gentlemen received their diplomas from Portales High School.

Solos were rendered by Miss Wanda Brown and Fred Hinger, with Mrs. Krattil at the piano.

He said in part, "Commencement is a solemn occasion even though a time of deep joy." He took the opportunity of discussing with the people of the state some of the important educational facts and problems.

Even the material advancement of a state is dependent on how well trained its people are and so it is a mistake to wait until a state is rich to develop its educational institutions.

Never before were there more unsolved problems than the world presents today. The young generation is faced with a big challenge.

2,000 Rabbits Are Exterminated In Tuesday's Drive

OVER 100 PARTICIPATE IN BIG HUNT—PICNIC DINNER IS FEATURE OF DAY

Over 100 participated in the big rabbit drive at the farm of H. O. Minick on Tuesday of this week, with the results that Roosevelt county claims around 2,500 rabbits less than she supported last week.

It is estimated that the hunters got at least 25 each, which is a fair average.

Ammunition was plentiful, and the hunters in fine spirits, making the day one of pleasure and profit, as the damage caused by the jack rabbits mounts into the thousands of dollars in Roosevelt county each year.

The dry weather has been driving the rabbits out of the sand hills into the farming districts, where they are doing serious injury to growing vegetation.

On of the principal features of the day was the picnic dinner which had been prepared for the hunters. This consisted of so many good things to eat, that it is doubtful if those attending from Portales will be able to work for several days.

JERSEY COW IS BURNED TO DEATH

On last Friday morning about 11 o'clock the sheds and barn on the J. P. Voyles place just back of the Methodist parsonage, was discovered to be on fire.

The alarm was given, but before aid could be secured, the flames spread through the buildings, cutting off entrance to the lot by the gate, burning to death 1 Jersey milk cow and a number of chickens.

Mrs. Voyles had been burning some trash in the back yard, and thought that it had burned out. The high wind carried a spark into the cow lot, which contained some litter, which furnished fuel for the flames.

In the barn was a number of bales of alfalfa hay, which had been unloaded there the day before, together with considerable cow and chicken feed.

A Ford touring car which was in the shed was also burned.

The fire department soon had the chemical playing on the burning buildings, and as soon as the hose line was stretched the fire was under control. The entire front side of the sheds and barn was burned out, but the rear wall and the roof were saved.

Editor and Mrs. McCowen and children of Elida were in Portales Friday.

Grade Principal Tullios Tolliver then delivered diplomas to a number of pupils graduating from grammar school into Junior high.

The following were graduates of the Senior High School: Luther Jones, Wilma Sweet, Glenna Sweet Tolliver Opal Little, Muriel Hawkins and Addie Hammons.

Taps Sounded For Uncle Polk Williams Sunday Morning

MARCH 12, 1874

MARCH 12, 1924

Uncle Polk Williams born in Washington county Arkansas, on May 5th, 1847, died at his home in Inez New Mexico, last Sunday morning at 7:00 o'clock a. m.

Funeral services were held at Inez on Monday, May 30th, at 2 o'clock p. m., Rev. A. J. Rutledge, of the Primitive Baptist church, conducting the services.

In September, 1906, Uncle Polk and Aunt Betty, with their nephew by marriage, Shannon Clark, arrived in Portales, where he filed on his homestead in the community now known as Inez.

On arriving in New Mexico Uncle Polk had little of this world's goods, and with a total capital of $900.00 began the work of subdividing the raw prairie, and at the time of his death was comfortably situated, having accumulated enough for his every need.

He was a successful farmer, and with Shannon Clark, who had made his home with Uncle Polk and Aunt Betty for forty-five years, he had built up one of the most productive farms in the county.

Foresighted and progressive, he had become a power socially and politically, in the county of his adopted state.

He was married on March 12th, 1874, and on March 12th, 1924, celebrated his golden wedding.

On the 5th of December, 1925, Aunt Betty departed this life, and for weeks it was thought that from grief of this loss, that he would follow her.

In the fall of 1926, Uncle Polk was taken sick and for three weeks was confined to his bed in Portales, but on the day before the general election in November he had them remove him to his home at Inez, where on election day he went out to the polls and cast his last democratic vote.

Uncle Polk was the founder of Inez, and when he secured the postoffice at that place named it after little Miss Inez Mullens, who is now Mrs. Frank Seigner, living in Los Angeles, California.

Since the founding of the Inez post office, Uncle Polk has been the post master, with Shannon Clark as assistant post master.

According to his request, his casket was trimmed in white to conform to the casket of Aunt Betty, who had preceded him by one year five months and twenty-four days.

Having no children of their own, Uncle Polk and Aunt Betty were father and mother to the entire community, and had so endeared themselves in the hearts of their neighbors, that their loss was keenly felt by scores.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, Uncle Polk was too young to enlist, but served in the Confederate army during the last two years of the war.

He was a staunch Confederate, and up to the time of his death walked with a military bearing. He was a useful citizen and an advocate of law and order.

He has passed from this vale of tears to be united with his loved wife and while his friends regret his death, they can also rejoice that he has been released from the bonds of physical pain.

America's First Bale of Cotton Brings $1,350

SOLD AT AUCTION ON FLOOR OF HOUSTON COTTON EXCHANGE

HOUSTON, May 31.—America's first bale of cotton of the 1927 growth netted its owners $1,350 when sold at auction on the floor of the Houston cotton exchange and board of trade Tuesday.

The ownership of the bale passed to J. M. Edel, Houston cotton man. The bale, which arrived Monday, was officially accepted Tuesday morning as the first bale of the season. Official acceptance was withheld Monday because no affidavits sustaining the claim that the cotton was of 1927 growth were forthcoming.

The bale weighed 540 pounds and was produced by M. Chapas Montalvo, a Mexican farmer of the San Manuel community, in Hidalgo county.

Another bale, which was en route to Houston Monday from Starr county, was diverted to Galveston owing to the earlier arrival of the Montalvo bale.

Last year's first bale reached Houston on June 19.

Memorial Day In Portales

The Memorial Services held on the court house lawn on last Sunday afternoon, were well attended.

The services were under the auspices of the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. T. E. Martin gave a brief outline of the purposes of memorial day, stating that it was not a day of celebration but a day set aside to pay tribute to those who gave their lives in the service of their country.

Rev. Joe F. Grizzle delivered the memorial address, and touched upon many phases of the soldier's life. His faithfulness to duty and to his country, giving his all that we might live and enjoy the freedom which we do today.

Ralph B. Will of the American Legion followed with a few brief remarks, defining the position of the Legion members in peace as well as in war. He stated that they were not here to ask anything for the living, but did ask that a tribute be paid to the dead.

Mrs. Fred Luper sang "My Buddie," in a rich clear voice, the rendition which was well received by the audience.

Rev. Joe F. Grizzle delivered the memorial address, and touched upon many phases of the soldier's life. His faithfulness to duty and to his country, giving his all that we might live and enjoy the freedom which we do today.

He pictured the part the American soldiers played in the World War, stating that their objective was Berlin. He paid a beautiful tribute to those who died on Flanders field, and who now lie in the cemeteries of France.

After taps by Gus Stevenson, the audience arose and joined in the singing of the Star Spangled Banner. Miss Juanita Hancock accompanied on the piano.

On Monday evening at five o'clock hundreds of graves in the Portales cemetery were decorated with flowers.

Sheriff Poindexter Captures Big Still

50 GALLON PLANT OPERATING BETWEEN EMZY, N. M. AND BLEDISOE, TEXAS

Tuesday morning Sheriff Poindexter drove up to the court house with a big copper still on the front end of his car.

This still was captured by Sheriff Poindexter and Prohibition Enforcement Officer Ray Sutton, of Albuquerque, assisted by Deputies C. C. Pendley and Bill Shaffer.

The plant was concealed in a dugout 14x16 feet, located in the sand hills between Emzy, N. M., and Blediso, Texas, and bore evidence of having recently been used in cooking off a batch of corn licker.

Located as it was in one of the hottest and driest sections of the county, arrangements had been made for water by the erection of a 12 foot cypress tank and windmill some distance from the location of the still, from which a pipe line consisting of 1050 feet of one-inch galvanized pipe was run.

In connection with the still Claud Earhman was arrested charged with the operation of the same.

Commissioners Held Session

The County Commissioners met Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, for the purpose of hearing the report of the board of classification which has been busy for the past sixty days classifying the lands of Roosevelt county.

The board is composed of Ezra Watts Harve Creek and J. H. Breshears representing the state tax commission; Linn Acker, Tom Summers and Charley Maxwell, representing the county commissioners.

They have a thorough classification of the entire county, section by section, and their report will doubtless be the basis of making a fair classification of the lands in different sections of the county.

COMMITMENT PAPERS FOR ED HALL RECEIVED BY SHERIFF BOB POINDEXTER

Tuesday Sheriff Poindexter received his commitment papers from the clerk of the Supreme Court, committing Ed Hall to the state penitentiary.

Hall was convicted in the District Court of this county in January on a charge of statutory rape, and has been confined in the penitentiary pending an appeal.

The score at the ninth inning was 12 and 12 but on the tenth inning Portales scored 3 times, making the score 15 and 12 in Portales' favor.

NEWS MAKES IMPROVEMENTS

The News has been busy for the past ten days rearranging the entire mechanical equipment of the shop, and installing a brand new Model 14 Linotype machine, which puts this shop right up-to-the-minute in mechanical equipment.

The next issue will come out in the new dress, and the readers will receive the benefit.

This new machine is second to none in the state and as it now stands carries 21 faces of type from 6 pt. to 42 pt.

The installation of this machine caused the paper to come out late last week, but with the new arrangement of the office, it will be able to make the mails promptly in the future.

The next issue of the News will be almost entirely Linotype set and will give an idea of the wide range of the new equipment.

The public are cordially invited to call and inspect this new machine.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE BOYS MAKING FERTILIZER TESTS

Two boys of the Vocational Agriculture Class are making fertilizer tests.

George Leverett is testing fertilizer on his tomato project and Lawrence Little on his sweet potato project.

George Leverett will have four different comparisons. Application at the rate of 150 lbs., 300 lbs., and 450 lbs. per acre, compared to no fertilizer. The fertilizer contains 10 per cent nitrogen, 10 per cent phosphate and 1 per cent potash. It was donated by Swift & Co. for fertilizer tests.

Lawrence Little is putting a lower grade fertilizer and testing it on at a heavier rate per acre.

Both boys have been delayed in planting because of the pumping space of the motorists driving in for supplies.

This station will be known as the A. P. R. Filling Station, and is one of a chain of stations being operated by the Amarillo Producers and Refiners Corporation of Amarillo.

The opening day is set for Saturday, June 18th, on which date a souvenir will be given with each purchase of gas, oil, tires and accessories on the opening day.

The station will be under the local management of Tom McCaulley.

PORTALES AGRICULTURE CLUB

Velmon Autry gave a special talk to the Portales Agriculture Club at their regular meeting Tuesday evening.

He talked upon the work of the "Ag Club" at the New Mexico Agriculture College, giving many helpful suggestions which might be carried over in the local club. Velmon last year served a term as president of the High School Agriculture Club. He studied vocational agriculture in High School here and his interest is manifest in his continuation in the agricultural course at State College.

In the business meeting plans were laid for work on the club's crop project. One-third acre of miscellaneous truck is planted and the planting of the 5 acres of peanuts was scheduled for Wednesday.

Meetings through the summer will be held regularly at 7:45 every second Tuesday evening and in the Ag. room of the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sutton left this, Thursday, morning for their home at Clayton, N. Mex., after a few days visit to their daughter, Mrs. R. W. Means, and family.

Mrs. W. E. Crow, who has been suffering from inflammatory rheumatism, has gone to Mineral Wells, Texas, for treatment. W. E. left Wednesday to join her.

WILL THE EAST AND WEST MEET?

Farmers of Louisiana resent blowing up of levy to save New Orleans, while farmers of Owens Valley, California, blow up Los Angeles aqueduct to secure water for their ranches.

Multipled thousands of acres of rich Mississippi delta lands are laid waste by the flood while multipled thousands of acres of rich western lands are crying for water.

Engineers, after years of work on conservation have acknowledged that they are wrong and that their plans have proven a failure. It remains to be seen that conservation and diversion of the head waters of the Arkansas, Red, and other rivers, to other channels where they will water a vast region of fertile lands, will relieve the Mississippi Valley situation.

The Plains of Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma Texas and New Mexico will drink up most of the surplus water and yield a return never dreamed of in the Mississippi valley. That this can be done has long been the dream of the writer. The center of agricultural development has moved steadily westward in the past thirty years until it has crowded the cattle off of the free ranges of the past.

The natural grasses of the Mississippi Valley states will run many times the number of cattle that can be run on the same acreage in the western states.

It is true that there are more cattle pests—the fever ticks and other insects that bother cattle on the lower altitudes. It is also true that these pests can be controlled by dipping and other scientific methods.

Johnson grass, the pest of the southern farmers, supplies the best of pasture for hogs sheep and cattle.

The western lands supply good agricultural lands for the farmer with red blood in his veins, with living conditions superior to those of the farmers of the southern states.

When speaking of "Bull Circles," do not get the matter confused with bull rings. This is not a move to promote bull fights, but a move to fight the low grade bulls of the county. In the organization of a community block, this will furnish service for from fifty to sixty cows, five blocks constituting a full circle.

Through such an organization by the farmers of the county, the dairy and beef herds may be brought up to a higher standard at a minimum cost to the farmers.

The dairy business has been the salvation of the farmers of Roosevelt county in the past and will bring them a steady profit in the future. But to get the best out of the business, the scrubs must be obliterated, and better herds produced each year.

In Roosevelt county there are some of the best blood to be found in the dairy herds. There are also boarders, who do not pay for the feed they consume, let alone the work in caring for them.

The cream can should be made the official "flower" of Roosevelt county and to do this the dairy herds should be built up until they are superior to any in the state.

This move is now being worked out by County Agent Will with the cooperation of the Dairymen's Association, and the Chamber of Commerce. It means much to the prosperity of the county.

BETTER HOMES FOR PORTALES

There is a move on foot for the Portales Chamber of Commerce to sponsor a "Better Home Contest" in Portales. The News has for years advocated the beautifying of the town by putting out nice lawns and flower gardens.

Below are printed the two different classes under which homes may be entered in the "Better Homes Contest" now being conducted in Hereford, Texas:

Table for 'Homes Owned' with categories: General Attractiveness, Cleanliness of Back Yard and Alley, Cleanliness of Front Yard and Curb, Trees and Shrubbery, Painting and Improvements, Lawns, Flowers.

Table for 'Homes Rented' with categories: Cleanliness of Front Yard and Curb, Cleanliness of Back Yard and Alley, Lawns, Flowers, General Attractiveness, Care of Trees and Shrubbery, Painting and Improvements.

BETTER FIRE PROTECTION NEEDED IN HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT OF PORTALES

The east side of the high school district of Portales is in need of larger water mains for the better serving of this rapidly growing section of Portales.

At present this section is served from a two inch main. From this main the water system of the Portales High School is connected.

On the corner of the campus is a fire plug—but in case of fire this main will not supply sufficient pressure to make the fire hose of any use whatever in fighting fire.

The high school building is equipped with fire hose throughout, but without water pressure this system would prove a costly joke should the need ever arise to use it with the present connections.

And an investigation by the major insurance companies would cause a raise of insurance rates.

The Livestock Situation

Los Angeles, June 1, 1927.—Recent figures indicate that splendid progress is being made through various federal, state and county agencies in the work which is being done toward eradication of tuberculosis among cattle.

At the close of the fiscal year ending June 30 1926, nearly half of the breeding cattle of the United States had been tested for tuberculosis and nearly one million reactors had been removed from the herds throughout the country.

The effect of the work being done along this line from an economic standpoint can well be appreciated in viewing the figures of 1916 and 1926. In 1926 2.6 per cent of all cattle received at the large packing centers were retained on account of showing traces of tuberculosis, while in 1926 only 1.3 per cent were so retained.

From this it can be seen that retention on account of tuberculosis have been reduced 50 per cent in the past ten years.

Of course, from a standpoint of public welfare and sanitation the work that is being carried on along these lines is highly desirable from the standpoint of raising the standards surrounding the production and distribution of meat foods as well as of dairy products.

From an economic standpoint it is difficult to estimate what tuberculosis has cost the industry in years gone by but it is safe to say that the figures would be staggering not only from losses entailed in cattle but through the move to fight the low grade bulls of the county. In the organization of a community block, this will furnish service for from fifty to sixty cows, five blocks constituting a full circle.

Through such an organization by the farmers of the county, the dairy and beef herds may be brought up to a higher standard at a minimum cost to the farmers.

VETERANS MUST FILE CLAIMS BY JUNE 7th

The attention of every disabled war veteran is directed to an announcement made this morning by Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the Veterans Bureau emphasizing the fact that June 7th, 1927, is the last date on which evidence showing service connection of disease or injury may be filed with the Veterans Bureau if the veteran wishes to claim compensation for disease or injury under the provisions of the Section 206 of the World War Veterans Act.

This Act was passed June 7th, 1924, and while the veterans have had three years in which to take this important action, many of them have not yet done so and it is not anticipated that there will ever be any further extension of this period.

Under Section 206 of the World War Veterans Act, as amended, unless the disease or injury with which the veteran is suffering can be connected with the service under the presumption provisions of Section 200 of the Act, or there is an official record of the injury or disease during service or at the time of separation from active service, it is incumbent upon the veteran to submit evidence showing service connection of the disease or injury with which he is suffering on, or before, June 7, 1927.

The Veterans' Bureau through all of its field stations, the Red Cross and the various veterans' organizations have made every effort to see that every veteran has been advised of his privileges and rights under the legislation governing the operations of the Bureau and the Veterans Bureau has no discretion in a question of this sort if the veteran fails to comply with the requirements of the law in filing his claim.

Firestone GUM-DIPPED TIRES
Firestone Round Tread Balloon
MANY Firestone Dealers are prepared to take in your old tires, offering you a liberal allowance on a new set of Gum-Dipped Balloons.
Firestone Dealers are given the advantages of attending Tire Educational Meetings held throughout the country, where tire design and construction are discussed. The sections of used tires reproduced here are a part of this program. Study these two sections and you, too, will understand what Firestone means by tires built for service and tires made to sell.
The Firestone Gum-Dipped Balloon with its scientifically designed tread permits free flexing, easier riding, extra comfort and safety.
The balloon tire with heavy, flat tread design is obviously stiffer and rides harder. The excess rubber, placed for appearance at the edges of the tread, is not only wasted but produces hinging action causing ply separation and "shoulder breaks."
Firestone designed and manufactures Oldfield Tires and Tubes, distributing them direct to Firestone Dealers only through 148 Factory Warehouses. This efficient and economical distribution assures tire buyers everywhere, clean, fresh stocks of Firestone and Oldfield Tires in all types and sizes, and has helped to make possible today's remarkably low prices—the lowest in tire history. ## A History of Roosevelt County

THE CARVING AND ORGANIZATION OF ROOSEVELT COUNTY

By Mary Alice Walton and Arlene Jones

Mr. W. E. Lindsey and Mr. T. D. Hunt and Governor Otero were very instrumental in the building of Roosevelt county. Our county was organized largely as a result of a big banquet held at a place, then called the Vendome Hotel, which is now the John Ballow Coal and Ice House. It was organized Feb. 28th 1903, Messrs. Lindsey and Hunt being the most prominent spokesmen at this banquet.

From the very first, the proposition to create Roosevelt county with Portales as the county seat received respectful consideration from the members of the Territorial Assembly and from Governor Otero. It may have been that the seeming continuous losing fight for statehood had prepared the way for a reader acceptance of the proposition. The magnanimous spirit of our friends in Roswell can not be too much praised or appreciated. They were not only willing that we should have territory from Chaves county for a part of our county, but put themselves to the trouble of making their feelings in the matter known to those in authority a Santa Fe. Thus was served the first and usually the most difficult problem.

Roosevelt county named for Theodore Roosevelt, who was then president of the United States, was created from parts of Gadsuque and Chaves counties on Feb. 28, 1903. A part of Roosevelt county was taken in 1900 to form the southern part of Curry county. The boundaries were again changed in 1917, a part of this county on the northwest being taken from De Baca county and a section of Chaves county being added to Roosevelt on the south. No further changes have been made.

The first railroad to pass through Roosevelt was the Pecos Valley in 1898, and the population of the county began a sudden increase at once through immigration. The only improved highways are those that parallel the railroad the Clovis-Portales highway being graded from Cameo in this county, to about three or four miles southwest of Portales and a few miles on each side of Elda, while the highways west of Clovis running through the Panhandle of Roosevelt county, is graded near Tolar. The rank of this county among the other counties in 1921 was as follows: In population, 25th; in area, 26th; in number of people to the square mile, 16th; in valuation of livestock, 11th; in number of school children, 22nd; and in number of teachers, 11th.

The population nearly doubled between 1910 and 1920, the figures being 6,548 at former date, and 12,064 at the latter date. Portales, the county seat, increased from 1,292 people in 1910 to 1,953 in 1920. Elda, the only other incorporated settlement, had a population of 651 in 1920. The precincts having more than 200 people in 1920 were: Emzy, 286; Milnesand, 267; Inez 217; Floyd, 210.

The first set of officials for Governor Otero March 23, 1903, were: Sheriff, W. W. Odom; treasurer and collector, C. O. Leach; Probate Judge, C. L. Carter; Clerk, W. E. Lindsey; Assessor, W. K. Breeding; School Superintendent, Cecil McAdie; Surveyor, J. A. Fairly; Commissioners, W. O. Oldham, Robert Hicks, and B. Blankenship. W. H. Garrett was one of the real estate agents, J. B. Sledge, the president and cashier of the bank; Seth A. Morrison had the first stock of merchandise in the county, and W. E. Lindsey was U. S. Land Commissioner. Lindsey was also the first mayor of Portales, and Seth A. Morrison the first postmaster.

These officials had very many difficult problems to deal with. This was a "wild and woolly" western town at that time with many saloons, cattle shipping being the chief industry, and rough characters, being predominant. It was difficult to keep peace and order, but they did just about as well as the officials of today.

Bonds were voted and the court house builded in the summer of 1903 and the first court was held that fall. The people of Roosevelt county were a proud group, sporting a new court house and just entering upon their career as the citizenship of the youngest county in the Territory. But the older order of things has passed, and is passing rapidly, and we now hear the agitation for a new court house, one that is in keeping with the progress and needs of the present population.

Sam Trout of Amarillo was visiting relatives in Portales from Monday until Friday.

Mrs. Harry Steinberger and children and Miss Thelma Pearce and Marjle Lenna expect to leave Saturday for the White mountains to be gone a month.

Mrs. Tobe Hughes and children of Quanah, Texas, and Miss Arlene Montgomery of Columbia, Kentucky, who spent the winter at Quanah, arrived in Portales Thursday and were guests until Monday in the S. N. Hucock, E. C. Murrell, J. K. Robertson and Miss Bess Dohoney homes.

KITCHEN CUPBOARD

By NELLIE MAXWELL

Seasonable Foods

A GOOD dumpling should be light as air, tasty and tender. Here is a good old-fashioned recipe:

German Dumplings.—One-half hour before the soup is to be served drop into it one large potato. When the potato is done put it into a bowl with a lump of butter the size of a walnut, mash very fine and add a slice of grated toast, an egg, a dash of salt and nutmeg. With a fork work this into a paste and drop small pieces into the soup, boil up once and serve.

Pork Cake.—Take one cupful each of chopped fat salt pork, one cupful of boiling water, dried apple, molasses. Add the molasses to the dried apple, which has been soaked over night and simmer for three hours. Add the boiling water to the pork and, when all is ready, mix, adding one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and soda, one-half teaspoonful each of cloves and nutmeg, one cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of raisins, three eggs, two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar and flour to make a soft batter. Bake slowly at least one hour.

Sour Cream Filling for Cakes.—Boil one-half cupful each of sour cream and sugar together for five minutes, add the yolks of two eggs, beaten well, one-half cupful of chopped nuts and three-fourths of a teaspoonful of vanilla. Put in a double boiler and cook until thick and smooth. Cool, beat until thick enough to spread.

Nut Tea Cake.—Take one cupful of light brown sugar, one-half cupful of butter, one-fourth cupful of milk, two eggs, two cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one cupful of nut meats. Cream butter and sugar, add milk and eggs beaten, alternately with the flour sifted with the baking powder. Stir in the nuts, using some of the flour to dredge them. Drop on baking sheet and bake in a moderately hot oven until brown.

Mrs. H. T. Ward and Daughters Return Home

On Thursday, May 25th, from three until five o'clock, at the Christian parsonage, the ladies and gave an informal reception, complimentary to Mrs. H. T. Ward, who together with her daughters, on Friday moved to their ranch home near Arch.

The afternoon was very pleasantly spent in social conversation and the company was refreshed with delicious mint punch and wafers.

Mrs. Ward will be missed by a large circle of warm friends and nowhere will her absence be more regretted than in the aid society of which she has been a faithful member and a tireless worker.

Mrs. Ward and her twin daughters, Eva and Ara, came to Portales seven years ago that the girls in vathgleh vbgkaj vbgkaj girls might have the advantages afforded by the Portales schools, and each year since that they have lived in Portales during the nine school months, spending each summer at the ranch with Mr. Ward, who had remained there, caring for the cattle and keeping the family purse replenished.

The young ladies graduated last week from P. H. S., and they, like their mother, are leaving a host of friends who regret their going and are wishing them much happiness and prosperity and hoping all their memories of Portales will be happy ones.

The Wards plan to spend a month or six weeks visiting and sight seeing in Arizona and California this summer, this being Mr. Ward's graduation gift to his daughters; late they expect to move to Mr. Ward's old home about seventy-five miles from Abilene, Texas, where the girls will enter Abilene Christian college.

H. M. C. Entertains

On Tuesday night, May 31st, at the J. P. Ford home just south of town, nearly sixty people enjoyed the hospitality of the H. M. C.

For several weeks the Home Makers had been planning to entertain their families with a spread but conditions never seemed to be propitious, but at last the above date was decided upon and with the arrival of the hour came the arrival of the guests in numbers, and the food in quantities.

The feast was exceedingly palatable from the first morsel of chicken and dressing to the last spoonful of ice cream and sherbet, and the fellowship was enjoyed from the first howdy to the last good night.

Mrs. James Christie added to the evening's pleasure by the reading of James Whitcomb Riley's poem, "Out to Old Aunt Mary's." The flour sack contest was also held at this time and it is surprising how very attractive the humble flour sack can be made to appear, and to how many practical uses it can be put.

The display included holder bag with holders, aprons, sunbonnets, dresses, lunch cloths, and buffet scarfs.

Mrs. Mesdames C. A. McNabb and Howard Brown acted as judges, using the following score card:

- Workmanship 40 points
Practicality 40 points
Attractiveness 10 points
Cost 10 points

The president, Mrs. E. C. Murrell, carried off the honors by winning first, Mrs. W. H. Catt, followed with second, and Mrs. Kenneth Livingston, with third place.

Next regular meeting of the club will be held Wednesday, June 8th, with Mrs. R. B. Will, at which time Mrs. Hebe Stewart will demonstrate the making of Angel food cake.

S. S. Class Enjoys Picnic

Carl Case took the boys of his Sunday school class of the Baptist church for an outing last Thursday. They motored to Red Lake, where they enjoyed themselves as boys can swimming, fishing and other sports, and not the least of the day's enjoyments was the nice picnic lunch, including ice cream and cake which Mrs. Case had prepared.

Farm Women's Camp

Last year, as many will remember, the Farm Women's Camp was held at ElPorvenir and several from this county attended, and reported such a fine time they made those remaining at home green with envy.

This year there will be four camps, the one to which Roosevelt county is entitled being held at Cedar Creek, near the Ruidoso in Lincoln county. This is much nearer home and it is hoped several from this county will be able to attend.

H. M. C. workers, think this over, and let your presidents or secretaries, or the county agent, R. B. Will, know if you can go.

The date is June 27th to 29th, inclusive, and final date of enrollment is June 10th.

Miss Marion Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Jones, who has been attending Texas Woman's College, is expected to be in Friday night.

The Priddy family are driving a new Buick.

M. W. Whitney says he had some thieves visited him Monday night. He thinks the queer part of it was they stole the tire, tube, cover and all of his Chevrolet car and it within three feet of the door.

Quaint Sham Battle

Old Norse Festival

Annually, toward the close of winter, there is celebrated at Lerwick, the capital of the Shetland isles, an ancient Norse festival known as "Up-Helly-Aal." Proceedings are opened by a sham battle between supposed invaders and defenders of the place. The combatants array themselves in costumes as nearly as possible resembling those worn by the vikings—or sea rovers of old. They carry short swords and shields. The whole pageant is intended to portray a viking party such as the ancestors of these "warriors" were only too familiar with.

It is esteemed an honor to take part in this mimic battle, and those who are engaged in it are called Guizers, the leader on either side being termed the Guizer Jahl.

After the rout of the invaders there is a torchlight procession, and the singing of quaint old songs in honor of the "victory." The proceedings end with the kindling of huge bonfires constructed to represent a Norse war galley.

The subsequent revels are prolonged far into the night and are celebrated with all manner of observances, including the solemn drinking of the Shetlanders' national toast, "Health to man and death to the gray fish." The "gray fish" is the whale, from whose carcass much that is of benefit to man may of course be obtained.

Rosana's Eye for Business

By GRACE LEA

"MOTHER, suppose you and I go into business," announced Rosana Hickson. "My dear!" retorted her parent with a dictionary of meaning in the two words.

"Oh, I know father left us very well provided for, and we don't have to do anything but live on in a genteel, ladylike fashion without working! But, mother, I'm fed up on this drab existence. Will you listen to my plan?"

"It almost seems as if this home were left to us for the purpose I have in mind. I want to take in automobile tourists, lodge them and give them breakfast—or other meals, if they like. We are right on the college highway and there will be no end of nice people who may want lodging between here and the northern points. I'd like to create a real home atmosphere so that they would come back again and you and I could make something and have a little pleasure in new contacts. What do you say?"

"It seems very strange, daughter. It seemed strange the first time you cast your ballot, didn't it, dear?" asked the persistent girl. "It did," admitted the mother. "If she had only realized it, she was doomed to fall into the new business scheme, because Rosana had worked it out in detail long before she had suggested it to her mother. She had secured estimates on another bathroom and the decorating of four old-fashioned chambers, the renovating of the overstuffed furniture and new curtains.

"All these improvements will make our home more attractive and enhance its value if we ever want to sell it," Rosana told her mother. "And I have some perfectly lovely decorations worked out. There will be a blue room, dainty and pretty as a picture and comfortable. And the yellow bedrooms is to be done with ivory walls, yellow dotted swiss and painted furniture with rag rugs. Won't that be jarring?"

When the season was well on its way, the mother and daughter decided that their venture was to be a decided success and that they were both enjoying their days as they had never done before. Many a group of guests lingered far into the evening to sit by the fire and talk and the breakfast table was frequently a very merry meeting place, and friendly hands were extended as newly made acquaintances parted.

The day that a tidy little coupe drew up under the old porte cochere and a slender, intellectual looking man stepped out, was a momentous one in Rosana's life. The stranger who sought lodging and traveled alone was a professor in a college far up in the mountains, and he wanted to leave early the following morning so as to make the remaining trip before noon.

"I know I shall not want to leave this room at dawn," he told Rosana when she conducted him to the east room done in gray and violet. "These are my favorite colors."

Fate had so ordered that no other automobilists sought the Hickson home that night, and as Rosana's mother sat by the fire only long enough to be polite, the two newly found companions spent an evening never to be forgotten. Of books and life and their mutual tastes they talked until it would have seemed that the professor was cutting his sleep very short if he needed to make so early a start the next day.

Fresh as a daisy and with an added sparkle of beauty in her eyes, Rosana said good-by to him just after the sun had risen and they had breakfasted together on the porch.

"You'll keep my room for me at Christmas time?" he asked. "And if it snows?" Rosana queried.

"Whether or not it snows I'd like to stop here both on my way home from college and on my way back after the New Year," Professor Bowles said, definitely.

Rosana was sure, as she watched his car disappear down the avenue of old elms that he would return.

"How did you like our guest, dear?" her mother asked, pointedly, as Rosana had her second cup of coffee.

"I—why I liked him very much, mother," she replied, blushing as she had never blushed over the score or more of young men who had stopped at their home. "And—he is coming back at Christmas—and the New Year."

Her mother nodded. "We are making new contacts, aren't we, daughter?" she asked, playfully. (Copyright.)

CHEVROLET CO. ANNOUNCE NEW SALES MANAGER

R. H. Grant, vice president of the Chevrolet Motor Company, in charge of sales, today, announces the appointment of H. J. Klingler as general sales manager. Mr. Klingler was formerly assistant general sales manager.

In his new position, Mr. Klingler assumes much greater responsibility in the direction of Chevrolet sales. The new arrangement will permit Mr. Grant to devote more time to personal contacts with the Chevrolet retail organizations throughout the country and to more thoroughly comprehend field conditions and dealer problems.

Mr. Klingler has been associated with Mr. Grant in sales work for many years. He joined the Chevrolet organization in June 1924 as manager of the St. Louis zone. One year later he was called to Detroit as an assistant sales manager, the capacity in which he has served for the last two years.

NUT TREES YIELD CROP AND TIMBER

Nut culture one of the most recent additions to commercial horticulture not only makes an important financial contribution, but embraces a territory possessing soil and climatic conditions in general beyond the range of successful fruit and vegetable culture, says Professor Rigney of the New Mexico A. & M. College.

Consumption of nuts on this continent long antedated that of a majority of such fruits as are now of leading importance in the United States. They were among the staple foods of the Indians whereas, with minor exceptions, all orchard fruits have been introduced from foreign countries.

Concerning the territory occupied by the three chief varieties of nut trees, the pecan, the walnut and the almond, the pecan is confined mainly to an area forming an enormous gap north of the citrus area and either below the altitude or south of latitudes to which deciduous fruits are best suited. The Persian walnut intermingles considerably with the citrus orchards in southern California and with those of other fruits farther north, particularly in the Pacific Northwest, where its range overlaps that of both deciduous and small fruits. The almond adapts itself to soils rather too dry for most fruits, altho it requires a proper amount of moisture.

Wherever pecans or walnuts are adapted to the same conditions as are orchard fruits, it is often practicable to use fruit trees as fillers in the nut grove. The fruit trees being shorter lived and maturing earlier will be bearing and bringing in returns while the nut trees are attaining maturity which usually requires from eight to ten years.

Pecans thrive best at altitudes lower than those required by most deciduous fruits. Persian walnuts and almonds enjoy a considerable range of altitudes fully equal to deciduous fruits in this respect. Both pecans and walnuts require richer soils, more moisture, greater space for development and, as a rule, more time to reach bearing age than do deciduous fruits. Nut trees may be used for shade or ornamentation and may be planted to produce more nuts and timber.

Approximately $50,000,000 of nuts were consumed in this country during 1919 the last year for which census data are available. About $20,000,000 of this amount were shelled and unshelled nuts imported into this country. The species of major importance, so far as monetary value of domestic crops is concerned, were as follows: Persian walnuts, first; pecan second; almond, third.

New Mexico has many acres so situated that walnut growing offers great possibilities and the development of the industry would hinder very little, if any, the present employment of the land. There are a few places where the English walnut could not fruit well, but where the black walnut could be grown to advantage as a timber crop, and walnut timber is getting more valuable every year and harder to obtain.

IS MORE PAVING NEEDED?

The question is being asked daily if more paving is needed in Portales, and if it is needed, would it not be wise to put it in while things are dull?

With the laying of one block of paving, the need of other blocks is emphasized. While Portales is one of the best paved towns in the which could be improved with paving. It is up to the residents of these streets to get together and decide among themselves if they want pavement.

There can be no doubt but that pavement helps any section of a town, and with one or more of the leading streets paved joining up with the pavement that we now have, Portales would not be only among the best paved but would be the best paved.

Two years from now we will be working for the building of the normal school. This will need to be on a street connected with pavement.

Then again, more pavement will give employment at the time when it is needed. It can do no harm to think it over at this time.

Some Roosevelt County Facts

Portales and Roosevelt County enjoy incomparable climate. Like all of New Mexico is famed for its wonderful sunshine—a natural resource of health and happiness. This section is especially adapted through our splendid climate to the production of all kinds of live stock and poultry. Animal diseases being at a minimum. Portales is favored with mild open winters and the heat of its summers is tempered by its elevation, making all seasons of the year comfortable and delightful.

The number of days between killing frosts, 185. Portales is especially favored with two types of agriculture, irrigated and Non-Irrigated. The Portales Valley constitutes the great shallow water belt, extending for a distance of twenty five miles with a width of five miles. Within this area unlimited quantities of shallow water is available for irrigation purposes. The average lift of water for irrigation is twenty five feet. Many wells have been operated continuously for a period of sixteen years with no indication of diminishing water supply. The irrigated type of farming embraces the production of sweet potatoes, tomatoes, peanuts and miscellaneous truck crops.

Sweet Potatoes have made Portales Famous. The 1926 acreage was 1560, with a production of 300,000 bushels, an average of two hundred bushels per acre. Many farmers reported yields as high as five to six hundred bushels per acre. Portales Valley soil, water and climate combine to make the finest flavored sweet potatoes in the country. Due to their exceptionally fine texture and flavor these sweet potatoes sell continually at a premium over others on the California markets where a large portion of the crop is marketed.

Tomatoes are produced both for canning purposes and the fresh tomato market. For the 1927 season the Portales Canning Company has signed an acreage of 250. This company contemplates an output of 50 carloads for the season. The acreage signed for shipping to fresh tomato markets is 255. It is estimated that the shipments from this acreage will be 100 carloads and will move to adjacent southern markets.

In 1926 Portales Valley acreage devoted to peanuts was 800, with an average production of sixty bushels per acre. This section is peculiarly adapted to Peanut production. The Peanuts are disposed of both to commercial shellers and local retail markets. Alfalfa does well in the Portales Valley, four to five crops being harvested annually from acreage devoted to this product.

Miscellaneous irrigated crops include string beans, beets, strawberries, grapes and other garden crops. These crops are raised in a small way for marketing in nearby towns but are a very satisfactory source of revenue to the growers. That great portion of Roosevelt County lying outside the shallow water belt is typical of the plains in its agricultural conditions. The principal crops are cotton, grain, broomcorn, beans and forage. Roosevelt county produced in 1926 five thousand bales of cotton, four thousand of which were ginned in Portales. The average production is 170 pounds of lint cotton per acre. Under favorable farming conditions yields of half to three fourths bale per acre are common. Under irrigation cotton will easily make a bale per acre.

Roosevelt County is premier broomcorn producing county of New Mexico and ranks favorably with the large broom corn producing counties of Oklahoma. Portales is one of the important shipping points in the United State for this product. The average annual shipment being 200 carloads.

Grain crops are the basis of non-irrigated agriculture of the county. Corn and sorghum grains being the principal crops, while some acreage is devoted to wheat. For 1926 the acreage devoted to grain crops was 50,000. While a large portion of this production is fed to livestock there is still an annual shipment of four hundred carloads.

LIVESTOCK AND DAIRYING—Roosevelt County in 1925 shipped 46,458 head of beef cattle. It is estimated that there are 45,000 head of beef cattle in the county. While the day of the large cattle ranch is passed, beef cattle still occupy an important place in the county's agricultural program. Cattle feeding is a very profitable industry, due to the fact that all the feeds necessary to their conditioning are produced in the county.

Shipments of hogs grown and fattened in the county are continually being made to California and other important markets. This is in line with the diversification program being followed in Roosevelt County. The per capita production of dairy products in Roosevelt county is greater than that of any other county in New Mexico. The shipments of butterfat for 1926 was 400,000 lbs. Butter made on the farms of the county amounted to 150,000 pounds. This is one of the most important revenue producers in the county.

Our splendid climate is especially favorable to poultry raising. Roosevelt county ranks third in egg production in New Mexico. The annual shipments of poultry and poultry products reaches approximately $200,000.00. Portales is rapidly becoming one of the best market centers on the plains section of New Mexico and Texas. A number of farmers cooperative bodies make this their headquarters. We have two grain elevators. Three broom corn warehouse companies, and four produce houses. The presence of several livestock buyers assure a ready market for livestock at all times. Portales is one of the best cotton markets in the plains area.

New Mexico is ranked as one of the leading states in educational matters by the Federal Government. Roosevelt county boasts a large number of consolidated school districts having modern school buildings and equipment, with truck transportation for children. Portales has an enrollment of more than one thousand pupils, its $100,000.00 high school building is one of the finest in the state. It is designated as the location of the Eastern New Mexico Normal School, and with the completion of this institution we will have educational facilities second to none in the state.

Portales is a city of many religious denominations. Almost every religious faith may find opportunity for its expression in the churches established here. It is also the location of the New Mexico Baptist Orphanage. Irrigated farm lands within one to two miles of the Town or Portales is practically all developed. Lands within this area when sold bring from $100.00 to $250.00 per acre, depending on improvements. Unimproved farm lands in the irrigated districts bring from $35.00 to $100.00 per acre, depending on location. Irrigated farms usually run from twenty to fifty acres. Farmers with large outfits may handle up to one hundred acres.

Non-irrigated lands usually sell for from twenty to forty dollars per acre for improved lands. Unimproved lands selling from $15.00 to 25.00 per acre. Attractive terms may be had in purchasing farm lands. Prices on building material compare favorably with that in other sections of the county. Irrigation plants may be installed at costs running from $750.00 to $2,500.00, depending on size of plant required. Plants of sufficient size to take care of fifty to sixty acres may be installed at a cost of $1,000.00 to $1,500.00.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET FLOYD HIGH SCHOOL

Another event has gone down in the history of Floyd High School. On the evening of May 20, 1927, the Junior class, sponsored by Miss Maurine Priddy, entertained the Senior Class and high school faculty with the first Junior-Senior banquet ever held in the history of that rapidly growing school. The banquet room was artistically decorated in gold and blue, the colors of the class of '27, while gold and blue shades over the lights cast a mellow gleam over all.

The table decorations were of the same colors. The mint baskets were blue, while the candles were gold in holders of crystal entwined with blue roses.

Beautiful bouquets of blue delphinium graced the center and each end of the banquet table. The favors for the Seniors were tiny dolls dressed in caps and gowns and holding miniature diplomas.

Summer Clary, Junior president, acted as toastmaster for the occasion. Welcome to the Seniors—Summer Clary. Senior Response—Luther Jones. Vocal Solo—Mabel Morrison. Reading—Mrs. Lang. Extemporaneous Speech—M. M. Stinnett.

Faculty Appreciation of Seniors—Supt. A. E. Lang. The banquet was prepared by the Juniors, assisted by Miss Priddy, much credit being due this class for the splendid banquet prepared.

The following menu was served by a number of under graduate girls who graciously volunteered for this service.

- Menu
- Fruit Cocktail
  - Chicken With Dressing
  - Potato Rosettes Creamed Peas
  - Pear and Cheese Salad
  - Hot Rolls Pickles Olives
  - Fruit Ice Angel Cake
  - Coffee Mints

The Senior class expressed themselves as being highly complimented in being the first Senior class in F. H. S. to receive this honor.

The Woman's Club will meet next Wednesday, June 8, at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Jones.
