BUTCHER SOUGHT IN DUAL MURDER
WEST TEXAS SEES FIRST BIG GRID BATTLE

TECH BERTH IN CONFERENCE IS BELIEVED SURE

AGGIES RECOGNIZED AS ONE OF STRONGEST IN ASSOCIATION

West Texas, through its Tech College Matadors, today enters into Southwestern Conference competition in its own domain. For the first time in history a real inter-sectional football contest has been offered its contestants, and attesting to the desire of its people for such exhibitions, literally thousands of eager fans, with their enthusiasm fanned to white heat, awaited the opening whistle when the Scarlet and Black of Tech clashed with the Texas Aggies, viewed as the strongest combination in the conference.

The event is more than a football game, when opposing teams like the field in an exhibition of scientific skill and mental ability. It means more to West Texas and the Tech college than mere appearance on the field of two football teams, for it is the opening gun of plans of college officials and interested citizens for entrance of the college into the Southwestern conference, the premier athletic association of the Southwest.

Strong Combination
And in firing this opening gun athletic officials at the college in advertently selected what is undoubtedly one of the strongest combinations in the conference, if not the strongest. The Aggies for years have been a potential power in conference competition, not least out in front, but this year sees them as a real threat, with many of the state's best domestics pointing to them as by far the best all-around team in the association.

West Texas is proud to proclaim the event that by her citizenship since the first announcement of the completion of plans for the game many months ago, and as evidence of this, one has but to view the almost countless hundreds and even thousands as they make their way toward the city in a towering mass of humanity. Recall also that hotel reservations are being made for the event.

Rail Heads Meet On Plans For Merger

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Representatives of trunk line railroads are in New York today for an important conference relating to the consolidation problems in their territories. Lemore Loree, who has sponsored a fifth trunk line proposal, will be present for the first time at a gathering of this kind since the meetings began in 1924. The formal conference will be attended by Patrick E. Crowley, president of the New York Central, W. W. Atterbury, head of the Pennsylvania railroad, John A. Ferrel, president of the Erie railroad, representing the Van Sweringen interests, Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, and Mr. Loree.

Students Lauded By Local Firemen

The best traffic handling that we have ever had on a run" were the words of members of the Lubbock fire department this morning in speaking of the manner in which the Tech students handled the inter-sections for the trucks run in the campus where the big bonanza was last night. Every boy kept the cars back, they said, and prevented any possible accidents or crashes.

Women's Interest In Government Is Steadily Growing

(By Associated Press)
GALVESTON, Texas, Oct. 28.—Increased interest by women in the details of government administration, and the political activities by which governing officials acquire their offices, is evident among delegates who are here to attend the second bi-annual convention of the Texas League of Women Voters, sessions of which will extend through Saturday.

Equal Representation
Prominent among the topics to be discussed is the question of equal representation with men on committees of political parties. Other subjects include married women's property rights, prison reform, government efficiency and child welfare.

Mrs. McCullum To Talk
Mrs. Jane Y. McCullum, Texas secretary of state, representing Justice Meadows from Fort Worth, will preside at the banquet tonight. The outstanding social feature of the convention.

FALL WINS IN LEGAL TANGLE

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The government was stopped today by Justice Sutherland from forcing M. T. Everhart, son-in-law of Albert H. E. B., to disclose the source of the $230,000 in Liberty bonds financing the Teapot Dome oil conspiracy trial.

COURT RULES SOURCE OF DISPUTED BONDS OUT OF RECORD

Everhart had declined to answer a question regarding the source of the bonds on the ground that such testimony would tend to incriminate him and that the constitution gave him the right to refuse.

Connecting Link

The son-in-law of the former secretary of the interior was the man from whom the government had hoped to produce the connecting link between the bonds and Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome and co-defendant with Paul H. Hunter in the government charges most of the bonds were used after the wealthy oil promoter had come into possession of the naval oil reserve in Wyoming.

Deathlike Pall Holds Rescue Ships Coming Into Ports With Hundreds Of Survivors From Sinking Of Steamer

(By Associated Press)
 RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 28.—Terror-stricken cries of their ill-fated fellow passengers still ringing in their ears, hundreds of survivors of the sinking of the Italian steamship Mafalda Tuesday night were safe here and at other ports today.

There was a eerie scene as the steamer Formosa and the Alhena came into port here, the former with a deathlike pall over her decks. The Alhena's decks were empty except for the stolid Dutch crew on duty there.

Survivors were landed at the French steamer Albatros, which sped to the scene of the disaster under forced draught. Life boats ready to be immediately lowered.

More than 200 are now believed to have perished. The commander of the Mafalda, Captain Simon Gull, at his post shouting: "Viva Italia," his radio officer, locked in the operating room, also perished.

Emergency crews of volunteer men manned their life boats and saved their lives moving through the Formosa, the Alhena, the British Empire, Star and the Moselle, maneuvered around the sinking ship. ### ARSON LAW IN STATE IS HELD EASY TO BREAK

ONLY FEW INDICTED IN SUSPICIOUS BLAZES THOUGH GUILTY

(By Associated Press)
 FORT WORTH, Oct. 28.—Because it requires direct evidence of guilt, the state arson law is one of the easiest to break and the hardest under which to secure a conviction, in the opinion of Fire Chief Ferguson of Fort Worth.

Only a small number of persons in Texas are indicted in connection with fires of suspicious origin and a smaller number are convicted and punished, said Ferguson, citing Ft. Worth whereof 59 suspicious residence fires last year only eight resulted in indictments and none was convicted.

Many Fires Purposely
 "In each of the 59 fires here, we found evidence tending to show that the residence had been purposely fired, but criminal prosecution was impossible on account of evidence rules of the state law," said Ferguson. "Fewer persons are sent to prison for arson than for any other crime."

Over-insuring of residences and their contents is the chief cause for arson, Ferguson said, pointing out that fully 99 per cent of burned residences had been mortgaged. A number of fires—not more than half a dozen annually, however—result from operation of stills in residences.

Temptations Frequent
 "When the owner of house is pressed for money and knows his furniture and home has been insured for more than their real value the temptation to fire the place and collect on the policy is too great and a fire alarm is turned in," said the chief. "Usually such fires are turned in about 3 o'clock in the morning when the blaze has gained great headway. If insurance companies would write policies for only 75 per cent of the real value of a house and its contents, Texas' fire loss would be materially reduced. There was one instance of a fire here where a $1,500 policy has been written on furniture and the cost only $320."

MATCHES DANGEROUS
 All matches are dangerous sources of fire. Smoking or striking matches in barns or stables never should be allowed. Pouring gasoline or kerosene on a smoldering fire endangers life, limb, and property. Open-flame lights should not be used in a garage or building containing a gasoline engine or gasoline in storage. Every open fire should be watched until it is out. All oily rags should be kept in a metal cover, and the floor beneath stoves should have a metal covering.

FARM EQUIPMENT
 More than $4,000,000,000 is invested in farm mechanical equipment in this country. Power and labor costs of farm crop production on an average make up about 60 per cent of the total costs. Even minor improvements on farm machinery will result in large savings.

Self Determination Of Sex Is Permitted

TIRANA, Albania, Oct. 28 (AP)—Self-determination of sex is legal in Albania.

A woman may become a man at will, wear a man's clothes and lead a man's life. Furthermore she may change back if she decides she wants to marry.

However, her husband is then required by local etiquette to kill any man to whom his wife was engaged before she changed her sex.

MARKET DISCOUNTS
 To prevent market discounts where shelled corn contains damaged kernels, corn producers and country corn dealers are urged to pick out the damaged ears either at the time corn is husked in the field, when it is put into cribs, or when it is shelled. To obtain best results the damaged ears should be removed at each of these three operations.

CLUBS TO MEET IN CONFERENCE TILT SATURDAY

LOCAL TEAM GOES ON OR IS STOPPED IN DISTRICT RACE

The Wichita Falls Coyotes will take a short workout this afternoon before the Texas Tech-Texas A. and M. football game at three o'clock in the Texas Tech athletic field. After the workout, Bud McCallum, coach of the Coyotes, will take his club to witness the greatest football classic of West Texas for the 1927 season to be shown on the South Plains or in the Panhandle.

Team Already Here

The Coyotes arrived in Lubbock twenty-eight strong, hoping and anticipating a victory over the Westerners in their second conference game. The visiting club, came via bus to Lubbock and the trip is considered rather hard on the club as Coach McCallum arrived a day early both for rest and to give his team the opportunity to witness the Dana X. Bible machine in action.

Although the football fans have their minds concentrated on the one thing of the season—Texas Tech and Texas A. and M.—the Westerners on the contrary have their minds set with grim determination to whip and battle the dangerous conference enemies, the Coyotes, tomorrow on the same field as the scene of the Aggie-Matador clash. Knowing well and fully realizing what it means to win over the Wichita Falls Coyotes the Westerners have a more determined desire to take them under. To win the game tomorrow means much to the local school for the remainder of the conference season to be the game means that they are definitely out of the running.

Boys Work Hard

Coaches Henry Fruka and Del Moran have been bearing down on the local combination since they won the Tigers last week. Not one idle minute has been lost about the Westerner camp this week—but drive, drive, and fight, fight is about all that has been heard over the Merrill Park for the boys for the past few days. "It makes no difference about how tough a club may be," says Fruka, "the team that battles the toughest and hustles all the time that will come out finally," is the expression of the two Westerner handlers.

The probable line-ups for the game tomorrow will be:

FROG COACHES SEEK OFFENSE AS MAIN NEED

DEFENSE AS SHOWN IN AGGIE GAME IS HELD AS SUFFICIENT

(Special To The Journal)

FORT WORTH, Oct. 28.—Offensive, that's the big word at the Horned Frog training field these days. When the Frogs held A. & M. for four downs on the one-yard line last Saturday they convinced the world that when it comes to defense they just about have all that can be asked. But offense, or scoring punch, seems to be something that is not so apparent.

Seeking Good Offense

So Matty Bell is endeavoring this week to work out an effective offensive combination. Ties with Baylor for the last two years show very clearly that a little more scoring punch is needed by the Christians. In 1925 the Frogs missed a tie for the conference title because of a 7-7 deadlock with Baylor. Saturday Baylor again holds in T. C. U.'s progress toward a final standing among the leaders of the conference.

Meanwhile elaborate preparations are being made by the student bodies of both schools for a gala occasion. Cheer leaders of the pep squads exchanged visits this week.

Sportsmanship In The Stands

By FIELDING H. YOST
(Director of Athletics, University of Michigan)

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—One of the editors of the middle west has pointed out in a pungent editorial that the youth of America receives a square deal in the games he plays but that this good-sportsmanship or honesty sometimes seems to be lacking in contests of politics, business and professions.

In other words, the realm of sports is a cleaner one than that of the youth of America who has completed his college years (and puts his training against that of other men to earn a place in the world).

On the track of youth he is guaranteed a fair start, an unobstructed course and an impartial decision at the finish. In football he is given the direction of a clearly defined rule and officials trained to see that all entering the game play under the direction of the rules.

The mutual respect and understanding engendered by knowledge that there is an equal chance for all has been one of the firm foundations upon which intercollegiate competition has built. The mutual respect and confidence of one student body for another has been a large, if not the largest, factor in the expansion of relations between national rivals.

American youth has progressed far in this direction and to some extent at least in carrying the lessons of the gridiron and track with it when it takes its place in the bleachers. There is room for improvement and the newspaper reading of the spectators of college competitions in the United States have the improvement largely in their hands.

When two universities agree to meet each other in an athletic contest they agree to two tests. One is definite—to determine which has the stronger team. The other is real yet intangible—to determine which has instilled into its team students and supporters the better quality of sportsmanship in other words—which one of the schools will show that it has adopted the square deal of its supporters in all the details of its support.

In my opinion, football players are infinitely more sportsmanlike than the spectators. Before intercollegiate athletics can mean all they should mean, spectators, student critics and college authorities must adjust themselves to the same point as the competing athletes. Sometimes a player may think that a certain rule or a certain decision is not as it should be. Nevertheless he abides by that rule or that decision. That is true self government to get along with other individuals, and of each individual—student or spectator—must agree to the rules of the game as accepted by the majority.

Today when one goes to see a college football game it is taken for granted he will see a high quality of sportsmanship on the playing field. No one expects anything else from the players. We expect them to "come clean." It is the tribute we expect from youth to the fact it is engaged in sports. It should be brought home to every one that there is not a difference between the players on the field and the spectators, for most of the latter are partisans. The group on the field are the representatives of the group in the stand. It should not be one-sided representation—both should be judged by the same standards.

When the day comes in which spectators are capable of the same high standards of conduct as are now almost universally applicable to players, then—and not until then—football will have come to mean all it should in the widely varying communities of the United States.

Plainview Meets Quanah Chiefs In Battle Saturday

(Special To The Journal)

PLAINVIEW, Oct. 28.—The Plainview Bulldogs will play their second conference football game in class A of this district with Quanah high at Plainview Saturday afternoon, 2:30, October 29.

The Bulldogs will enter the same with practically the same lineup that went against the Vernon team a week ago when Vernon won by a score of 20 to 6. Cousineau, who was one of the stars of the Vernon game, will be out of the game with a broken collar bone, but Waddell who was unable to play against Vernon will be back in the line-up.

Coach Tom Hayes who is substituting for Guy Allen, the regular mentor of the Bulldogs who is suffering from a case of typhoid fever, says that the local team has undergone a remarkable development since the Vernon game with daily workouts and he is confident that the team is in better shape than at any time during the season thus far.

Quanah was defeated at Amarillo Saturday by a score of 23 to 0, but Amarillo has a powerful team, and the Bulldogs are not expecting an easy game when they meet the Indians on Saturday.

RECORD CROWD FOR LONGHORN SMU TILT SEEN

20,000 FANS EXPECTED TO WITNESS CLASH NEXT SATURDAY

(Special To The Journal)

DALLAS, Oct. 27.—The Texas-S. M. U. game scheduled for Owbby Stadium next Saturday gives promise of being the largest crowd in the history of Dallas football. Preparations are being made by the S. M. U. officials to handle over twenty thousand fans.

In the last three years an intense rivalry has sprung up between the Longhorns and Mustangs. Both elevens will risk every man on the squad and every play in an effort to turn victory their way.

Last year S. M. U. won at Austin in the closing minutes of play. The Longhorns still feel the sting of that defeat in their hides and the only salve that will ease that sting is a win over the Mustangs.

Seat Sale Heavy

The seat sale for the Texas-S. M. U. game has been heavy in Dallas but according to Dr. R. N. Blackwell, business manager of athletics at S. M. U., "out of town fans who came into Dallas at the last minute will be taken care of as we will have ample seats. Probably three thousand extra seats will be erected at the north end of Owbby Stadium."

The Saturday following the Texas game will find the Mustangs on Kyle field, the guests of Dana Bible's Fighting Aggies. The Texas game and the A. and M. game will make or break the Mustangs in their conference chase. Both schools have an edge over S. M. U. in their schedules. Before the Texas game, the Mustangs play Missouri while Texas takes on the weaker Rice eleven. Before the A. and M. game the Mustangs play Texas while A. and M. gets somewhat of a rest with Texas Tech.

Morrison Cuts Squad

The next two weeks are going to be hard on Coach Morrison and his men but they are preparing as if their life depended on it. Morrison has cut his squad to twenty-seven men so that he can give more individual attention to every man and not be hampered with an excess of material, some of which he would never use.

Horse And Candy Are Named After Loyola Gridster

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 28.—Tale Bucky Moore, Loyola quarterback, really is enjoying fame these days.

One of the outstanding backs in the south last year on an undefeated eleven, Moore was styled the "Dixie Flyer" and hoisted for All-American honors by his followers.

New Orleans made him its idol. He had a race horse named after him and now has had a candy named after him.

Such, say the boys, is fame!

CARLETON TO PLAY ARMY

NORTHFIELD, Minn. (AP)—Gradually increasing its football prestige through consistent success, Carleton College of Northfield has attained a spot on the 1928 schedule that will place it in the national spotlight.

The Minnesota college team will play the Army November 17 at West Point. The contest is placed in a class slightly above the strict practice game category.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Turf history will record the year 1927 as a banner one for fillies.

In every division they outshone the colts and there was many a fine colt galloping around the premises this year.

Plack Maria, owned by W. R. Coe, is probably as good as any handicap horse in the country. Nimba, owned by Marshall Field, has proved she is the best three-year-old. And two juvenile fillies, Anita Peabody and Nixie, have topped all the two-year-old honors since Dixie, the unbeaten, died.

Anita Peabody has some extra brilliant races to her credit and has won several stakes, including the

The younger Riley goes in boxing in preference to football while his brother is the quarterback of the Hoopkins machine this year.

Eakimo men leave their wives months out of the year, hunt seals, says a news story. In this country some of the men have to leave their wives to get them.

You're bound to hear a lot about this county little miss in 1928. J. keep your eyes open for her. She's a black little head. Like as not, will be always down front.

RAIN TRADING IDS GROWERS EXPERT CLAIMS

FIGURES SPECULATION HELD BIG FACTOR IN RURAL DISTRICTS

Speculation in grain futures, sometimes considered as responsible for dangerous fluctuations, is declared to be a declining factor in rural districts. J. W. T. Duval, chief of the United States grain futures administration, holds that it frequently has direct possibilities of service to producers, millers and exporters. "Wants Highest Price," he explains, "fully desires to get the highest possible price for his grain; usually, however, he must determine when he is willing to dispose of his stocks. Often it is possible to take advantage of a bulge in the futures market by selling a few days before the delivery date and then buying back at a lower price. But if prices decline, he is assured of the additional profit as determined by his sale for delivery."

ANTIQUE GINS GIVING WAY TO MODERN PLANT

WASTEFUL MACHINERY DISAPPEARS AT RATE OF 100 PER SEASON

Responding to an increased volume in the purchase and sale of grain contracts, the Chicago board of trade was organized, and in the next year, 1849, was organized the St. Louis merchants' exchange. Although there was subsequent inauguration of the practice in Minneapolis, Kansas City, Duluth, Milwaukee, New York, Seattle, Winnipeg, Liverpool and Buenos Aires, Chicago has maintained supremacy as the most prominent grain futures market in the world.

ANCIENTS KNEW OF ANESTHETICS, SAY LINES FROM POET

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The first use of an anesthetic known to man probably was described in the writings of Homer.

A study of the history of medical science, completed in the library of the Chicago branch of the University of Illinois medical school, reveals the message: "Presently she (Helen) cast a drug into the wine whereof they drank, a drug to hush all pain and anger and bring forgetfulness of every sorrow. Whoso should drink a draught thereof, when it is mingled in the bowl, on that day he would let no tear fall on his cheeks, nor though his mother, and his father died, nor though men slew his brother or dear son with the sword before his face and his own eyes beheld it."

THE SECRET OF MY FLAKY, TENDER pie crust

I CONFESS I have always been rather proud of my pie crust. But recently I have found a way to make my pastry "shorter," flakier and more tender than ever before. The secret is in the shortening I use. Since I changed to Crisco I wouldn't think of using any other cooking fat.

- Plain Pastry: 2 cups flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 cup Crisco, Ice water.
- Chocolate Cream Pie: 2 tablespoons Crisco, 6 tablespoons flour, 1/2 cup milk, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 egg whites.
- Pineapple Pie: 1/2 cup flour, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup pineapple juice, 1 cup hot water, 1 tablespoon Crisco, 3 egg whites.

Double Advantage: Moreover, such a plan offers the advantage of being able to operate in two ways, either to purchase the contract to assure and deliver when the delivery date arrives, or to buy in the future at a subsequent date, in event a decline that offers a good profit restoring the grain covered the future contract to its original position.

The study traces the evolution of the use of anesthetics from the days when a patient was tied to a table. It was not until 1842 that a general anesthetic was used with any degree of success. In 1841 Dr. C. W. Long of Georgia conceived the idea that sulphur ether might be used for surgical operations. A year later he carried out his idea successfully. It was shortly after that W. T.

The secret is in the shortening I use. Since I changed to Crisco I wouldn't think of using any other cooking fat. I am sure if you will try Crisco in the following recipe for plain pastry, you too will never return to your former old-fashioned shortening with its uncertain results.

Plain Pastry: 2 cups flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 cup Crisco, Ice water. Mix and sift flour and salt. Cut in the Crisco with a knife. Add only water enough to hold the ingredients together. Do not knead. Chill thoroughly. Divide dough in two parts and roll out thin on a slightly floured board. Line a pie pan with one-half the pastry. Pinch pastry with the fingers to make a fancy edge and prick bottom and sides with a fork. Bake in a very hot oven (400 degrees F.) 10 to 15 minutes. For a 2 crust pie, line pie pan with pastry, put in a filling, cover with top crust, trim and press edges together. Prick top to allow steam to escape. Bake in a quick oven (425 degrees F.) 10 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate oven (325 degrees F.) and bake 20 minutes. If a less rich pastry is desired, use only 1/2 cup Crisco.

TWO DIFFERENT AND DELICIOUS PIES

Chocolate Cream Pie: 2 tablespoons Crisco, 6 tablespoons flour, 1/2 cup milk, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 egg whites. Baked pie shell. Melt Crisco. Add flour, milk, chocolate (cut in pieces), sugar and salt, and bring slowly to the boiling point, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Remove from the fire and add beaten egg yolks and vanilla. Pour into a baked pie shell (see Plain Pastry). Cover with a meringue made by beating the confectioners' sugar into the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) 15 minutes or until a delicate brown. Whipped cream may be used instead of the meringue.

Pineapple Pie: 1/2 cup flour, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup pineapple juice, 1 cup hot water, 1 tablespoon Crisco, 3 egg whites. Baked pie shell. Mix flour, sugar and salt together. Add the pineapple juice and water and bring slowly to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Cook 15 minutes over hot water. Remove from fire, add Crisco and well drained pineapple. Pour this mixture on the beaten egg yolks and mix well. Pour the filling into a baked pie shell (see Plain Pastry). Cover with a meringue made by beating the confectioners' sugar into the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) 15 minutes or until a delicate brown.

CRISCO
To test your cooking fat—taste it. Crisco's sweet flavor will astonish you.

More delicate than any recipe in the world

NOT any single kind of coffee grown—but an exquisite mingling of flavors from old Dixie. It is the first one ever to please the most critical men and women throughout the entire United States. For them a special art has been developed—an art of blending more delicate, more difficult than any other in the world of foods.

That extra shade of richness which was created in the South years ago, has today won for Maxwell House such fame as never before came to a coffee. Its mellow smoothness will bring your family new contentment at breakfast.

Good to the last drop

NEW YORK TRADING

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—The cotton market opened easy at a level of 13 to 23 points under further liquidation, local and southern being promoted by relatively easy export cables, and reports of improved good weather over the market eased off to 20.53 and 20.73; but demand absorbed offerings at these figures, and market steadied up on buying was said to include considerable trade abroad. December rallied to 20.53, active months generally showing recoveries of 10 or 12 points from the lowest by the end of the first hour.

The market was fairly steady six or ten points of yesterday's closing quotations on some trade buying and covering. Demand was not active, however, prices were off toward middle when there seemed to be a little local and southern selling contracts, which had sold at 20.75 on the early part of the day to 20.50 when the general market showing net declines of 10 to 25 to 30 points at midday.

NEW ORLEANS TRADING
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Cotton market opened easy due to much lower Liverpool than due. First trades showed a decline of 20 to 25 points and was eased off a few points more to 20.83 for December, 20.88 for January and 21.00 for March, or 22 to 25 points below yesterday's close.

offerings appeared to have been absorbed at these levels, and the weather may show some conditions of unsettled conditions, the belt prices rallied near the of the first half hour, 10 to 12 points from the lows and showed a tendency to rule steadier. The market continued reaction most of the morning under hedge and liquidation by recent buyers. December declined to 20.83, January 20.74 and March 20.81, 27 to 34 points under the previous day. Continued good weather and private reports that the crop had improved considerably in Oklahoma and Northwest Texas were the main depressing influences. Near noon, the market was somewhat steadier but prices hovered about the lows.

Stocks And Money

WALL STREET TRADING
NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Led by several of the speculative favorites prices moved upward at the opening of the stock market today.

U. S. Steel opened a point higher, and similar initial gains were recorded by General Electric, Radio, and Chert; Peabody, United Drug was up 2 1/4 at the outset.

Although hesitancy developed in some quarters, prices generally continued to rise in the subsequent trading. U. S. Steel met offerings which cancelled its initial gain, doubtless in reflection of further evidence of the unsettled conditions in the industry revealed in the report of Bethlehem. Houston Oil, after starting forward, fell back for an early loss of more than 2 points and General Railway Signal retreated from its initial advance of 1/4. The insurance issues again surged forward, Continental gaining 5/8 to 22 1/2, Royal 1 1/2 to 130 and Fidelity Phoenix 3/4 to 17 1/2.

WOOL TRADING

BOSTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow: Demand for wool has been moderate this week, with some improvement in the inquiry for fine wools, which are considered relatively low priced. Values are not notably changed for the week.

Milkkin Claimed Insane By Doctors

LOCKHART, Texas, Oct. 28 (AP)—A. V. Milkkin, on trial for his insanity here, today was described as insane by Doctors J. B. York of Houston and John Hanson of Gonzales. They were defense witnesses and said Milkkin had knowledge of right or wrong, but was unable to act right when wrong presented itself.

Gene Tunney Should Take Beautiful Wife And Have Children, According To Famous French Newspaper Writer

PARIS, Oct. 28.—Gene Tunney boxes very well, but he talks too much, says Clement Vauteil, natural columnist of Le Journal here. "We would like to see more of him, and hear less."

He objects to "this moralist of blows" talking about the "highest type of man" in connection with boxing. "Tunney appears to exaggerate a little when he affirms that the art of smashing faces is, of all possible forms of human activity, the most dignified, the most noble and the most honorable."

Vauteil is immensely amused by Tunney's attitude toward women when the champion says they do not interest him and that he proposes to consecrate his time and money to the higher things of life. "This doesn't seem very polite," Vauteil critic. "I have always heard that America produces the most gallant men."

Without doubt chastity is indispensable to a boxer who wishes to take care of a good pair of legs and to possess a thrust without a retractor, but man is going far in repelling women with the intrinsic significance of Gene Tunney.

"This boy only fulfills half his task in beating his rivals; he ought to take a beautiful type of woman and have children.

Do not boxing like all other sports, a means to annihilate the species by producing the elite. If it is not, what is it then?"

But this Tunney, so disdainful of the daughters of Eve, will surely finish by meeting one who will triumph over his defense and who will then score a knockout."

COOKING SCHOOL HOPES OF TECH

(Continued from Page 1) explaining that one may have such consistent success in making this bread that it has been called the "Struggling Bride's Plaudit."

She gave also a recipe for onion gratin. The lesson today was shorter than it has been on the other five days of the school, allowing more time for the concluding ceremonies.

New recipes, innovations in cooking, many of them discoveries that this expert has found through her laboratory experiments, were brought by Mrs. Chitwood to her school this year and interest has been such that women have packed into the Lyric theater each afternoon this week to learn more of what she terms is one of the most important of professions, that of cooking and home making.

Economy stressed. Economy has been stressed by this home economist in her teachings and she has told how to prepare foods for many occasions, both for the formal dinners or breakfasts, and for the usual meals of each day.

A variety of dishes have been variations for the game have been made as long as ten months in advance.

Enthusiasm is high. It is a fact that enthusiasm support and equipment are the ruling factors in admittance of a team into the conference, today should without doubt demonstrate to those in charge that Tech is entitled to such a berth, for never since the celebration here of the location of the college has enthusiasm been at such high pitch.

The quality of Tech's equipment is undisputed, and advancement in this connection is remarkable considering the length of time in which it was assembled. Three years ago, the present site of the great institution was little more than rolling prairie land, unimproved, and athletic competition of the nature resented today was almost the undreamed of. Today, the college presents a plan in keeping with plans of its leaders, and at athletic department, equal, if not superior to the average found in the Southwestern conference.

The weather man kind exceptionally kind to West Texas, and Lubbock in particular, this fall bringing an abundant harvest, and the same may be said of the people of the State of Texas, who, through their ruling heads, have poured hundreds of thousands of dollars into the college plant to make it in less than three years one of the outstanding educational institutions in the South.

Today West Texans are celebrating this success, and pointing a jaded finger toward the Southwestern conference, which many believe will admit the Tech at the coming winter meeting of officials.

Women in attendance were this morning asking questions relative to Mrs. Chitwood's return here for another school, indicating their interest in her teachings relative to cooking, and others were declaring this the most successful of her four schools in Lubbock.

From here Mrs. Chitwood will go to Buffalo, N. Y., where she is to conduct a school for the Buffalo Times. Before coming to Lubbock she was in Tulsa, Okla., and just previous to that she was in Shreveport, La. Throughout the year, with the exception of a few weeks which she spends in school rooms and laboratories, this scientist and food expert is teaching classes throughout the nation.

Each woman who attended the school registered, thus being given an opportunity to receive daily attendance prizes and the gas range, the latter having been awarded this morning. Today's class was advanced until this morning to allow the women to attend the football game this afternoon.

Many Combinations. Pastries, puddings and cakes, salads, meats, vegetables and breads have been included in the classes this week and the teacher has told of many unusual combinations and tasty ways of preparing meals. Her demonstrations of seasoning and decorating foods have been eagerly watched by those in attendance, who came equipped with pencils and note books.

Four Seamen Left On Ship's Rigging In Wreck Rescued

(By Associated Press) PENZANCE, Eng., Oct. 28.—Heroic efforts by life savers after a 24-hour all night vigil to rescue eleven seamen left clinging to the rigging of the Italian steamer Isabo, which went aground on the Sicily Islands yesterday, were only partially successful, four of the men being saved at dawn.

standing by all night in a raging sea waiting for daylight and for an opportunity to approach the vessel. One man was found dead of exposure when the rescue boat was able to reach the stranded ship, which still clung to the jagged rocks upon which she had foundered. There was no trace of the six other men and it is feared that trusting themselves vainly to pieces of wreckage during the night, they were swallowed by the sea. The remainder of the crew of 28 landed in a life boat last night. The women have taken over the aviation business, it seems. No

Dallas Baby Drowns In Small Tub Today

DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Jackie Morris Hanna, 18 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hanna, was drowned in a tub of water in the front yard of his home here today. About ten minutes after he had been in the house with her, Mrs. Hanna found the child in the tub, fact down. Efforts at resuscitation failed.

Rose Takes Stand To Defend Wallace

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 28 (AP)—Lieutenant Elmer P. Rose, who was acquitted of charges of involuntary manslaughter last week in connection with the death of a cavalryman hit by Rose's plane, took the stand today to defend his squadron leader, Master Sergeant Bernard Wal-

Plashes Of Life

Wives Of Women

MADRID.—What are weighty affairs of state when a dictator has a pressing invitation from a handsome aviator in knickers? Primo de Rivera notified Ambassador Hammond that business prevented him from attending a tea to Ruth Elder, whereupon Ruth telephoned and the general came.

Knows No Bounds

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Anna Stettner, blonde bride of 19, and five feet four, loves her husband, a truck driver, five feet 1 1/2. Notwithstanding bruises visible when she appeared in court, "I did it myself," she testified in habeas corpus proceedings brought by her parents who complained she had been beaten. "I love my husband." Whereupon Justice Scudder sent the pair on their way arm in arm with admonition to keep away from the parents. "The girl," he said, "has selected her mate and she seems to be well satisfied."

Sticks To Prayer

NEW YORK.—The prayers of a little Texas song bird have been answered. Miss Elaine Arnold, 16 of Houston who by virtue of the award of a scholarship to her from among 550 contestants is here to study under Mrs. Marcella Sembrich, believes firmly in prayers, says her teacher, Mrs. John Wesley Graham.

Women As Voters

PAISLEY, England.—Comes a tip from the Duchess of Atholl to women who want to vote when 21: Lower your skirts an inch or two. The duchess thinks that such a procedure might cause the death of the insulting term, "flapper suffrage." English women can't vote now till 30.

Weighty Session

XENIA, Ohio.—Having had a convention of one day instead of two, six women and ten men are on the way home from the meeting of the anti-cigarette alliance of America. Scheduled speakers from 12 states failed to appear.

Airplane Kite

BUCHAREST—King Michael has a little American airplane to fly with his kites. It was presented by Dr. Fred M. Albee of New York.

Golf And Nerves

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—Medical experts of the Burke foundation are studying the effect of golf upon those suffering from nervous disorders. One subject's blood pressure rose 30 points when he was attempting to get the ball out of a sand trap.

Horseless Trek

MECCA, Arabia.—Mohammedans no longer approach Meccas weary and footsore. Indians, Turks and Egyptians now make the pilgrimage in their own motor cars and look far less picturesque than the shiks of Hollywood. Arabia now has more than 300 motor cars and the spotted Arabian horses are no longer frightened by them.

SHIP CAPTAIN VICTIM OF OWN HAND IS CLAIM

REPORTS CONFLICT AS SURVIVORS TELL OF OCEAN TRAGEDY

(By Associated Press) RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 28.—Survivors of the Princess Mafalda disaster who arrived here today on the French steamship Formosa declare that the commander of the Mafalda, Captain Simon Gull, committed suicide.

Another group of passengers asserted, however, that Captain Gull had been engulfed in the sea, crying "viva Italia," as the waters swept over the bridge from which he had directed rescue operations. At any rate the captain went down with his ship.

Horror Seen in Faces

The horror of Tuesday night was reflected in the faces of many of those who were landed today. One woman who lost her seven-month-old son was almost insane with grief, while another woman, who lost a five year old boy went mad. Two Spanish women lost their husbands and with others who had lost relatives, moaned in grief and desolation.

The rescue ships today began transferring their survivors to Flores island, where they were given attention by doctors who found many of them in a weakened condition because of the lack of proper food and water. Food was served to them.

Disaster Recounted

As the survivors gained strength they told of the horrors of the disaster. Four French women, who were traveling first class, saved themselves by swimming in the sea until picked up while other passengers were in the water for hours until the rescue ships could come to their assistance. One Spaniard was in the water three hours.

Jose Cano, a first class passenger from Buenos Aires, who was rescued by his wife, told a correspondent of the Associated Press that he believed 400 persons perished. Through the medley of stories, some of them almost incoherent, poured out by the exhausted survivors, came stories of brilliant heroism, of wild panic and of suffering and terror in the darkness of Tuesday night.

Reports Conflicting

The cause of the disaster was obscured in conflicting stories told by those snatched from the jaws of death. Some declared that the ship was torn by an explosion while others said that the ship simply had foundered in from four to five hours when water swept into her—such a break in a screw shaft held.

Some, still haunted by the terror of the night, told of seeing sharks tearing at the bodies of victims, but other survivors scoffed at this, declaring they had seen no sharks. Many of the survivors declared that the life boats of the Princess Mafalda were in bad condition and that some of the shipped water while others were swamped by the crowds in them as they were lowered. The Italian embassy denied that the life saving apparatus was faulty.

All the survivors were lavish in their praise of the crews of the rescue ships.

Some, who face court martial on charges of reckless flying in connection with the accident. Rose testified that he thought the formation was about 15 or 20 feet above the ground at the time of the accident, but that the air was bumpy and his own plane dipped when the cavalryman was struck.

Private Robert E. Griffin of the seventh cavalry was the victim of Rose's plane, which decapitated the rider as he galloped across a mesa during army maneuvers at Fort Bliss in July.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Suspicion falls on Miss St. Clair when gloves and a handkerchief found at the scene of the murder are traced to her. Vance sends to Markham that she is innocent and by means of measurements demonstrates that the murderer must have been feet tall or thereabouts. After repeated denials that Benson had a woman caller the afternoon preceding the murder, she also says she had seen a box of jewelry on the table which has disappeared.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

Pffye made a mildly deprecating comment with his carefully manicured fingers. He was, he explained, with an air of ineffable self-displacement, only too glad to disassociate himself to give aid to the public. A distressing necessity, to be sure, but his former conveyed unmistakably he knew and recognized the obligations attaching to the dictum noblesse oblige, and was prepared to meet them. He looked at Markham with a congratulatory air, and his eye was queried: "What can I do for you though his lips did not move?" "I understand from Major Anthony Benson," Markham said, "that you were very close to his other, and therefore might be able to tell us something of his personal affairs, or private social relationships, that would indicate a line of investigation."

Pffye gazed sadly at the floor. "Ah, yes, Alvin and I were very close. We were, in fact, the most intimate of friends. You can not imagine how broken up I was at the hearing of the dear fellow's tragic death."

He gave the impression that here was a modern instance of Aeneas and Achates. "And I was deeply grieved at not being able to come once to New York to put myself at the service of those that needed me."

"I'm sure it would have been a comfort to his other friends," remarked Vance, with cool politeness. "But in the circumstances you will be forgiven."

Pffye blinked regretfully. "Ah, but I shall never forgive myself—though I cannot hold myself altogether blameless. Only the day before the tragedy I had started on a trip to the Catskills. I had even asked dear Alvin to go along, but he was too busy."

Pffye shook his head as if lamenting the incomprehensible irony of life. "How much better—ah, how infinitely much better—if only—"

"You were gone a very short time," commented Markham, interrupting what promised to be a homily on perverse providence. "True," Pffye indulgently admitted. "But I met with a most unfortunate accident." He polished his eye-glass a moment. "My car broke down, and I was necessitated to return."

"What road did you take?" asked Heath. Pffye delicately adjusted his eye-glass, and regarded the sergeant with an intimation of boredom. "My advice, Mr.—ah—Sneed—"

"Heath," the other corrected him curtly. "Ah, yes, Heath. My advice, Mr. Heath, is that if you are contemplating a motor trip to the Catskills, you apply to the Automobile Club of America for a road map. My choice of itinerary might very possibly not suit you. He turned back to the district attorney with an air that implied a preference for talking to an equal. "Well, no, Mr. Pffye," Markham asked, "did Mr. Benson have any enemies?"

The other appeared to think the matter over. "No-o. Not one, I should say, who could actually have killed him as a result of animosity?" "You imply nevertheless that he had enemies. Could you not tell me a little more?"

In an attitude of meditative indecision.

"Your request, Mr. Markham," he spoke with painted reluctance—"brings up a matter which I hesitate to discuss. But perhaps it is best that I confide in you—as one gentleman to another. Alvin, in common with many other admirable fellows, had a—what shall I say?—a weakness—let me put it that way—in the fair sex."

He looked at Markham, seeking approbation for his extreme tact in stating an indelicate truth. "You understand," he continued, in answer to the other's sympathetic nod. "Alvin was not a man who possessed the personal characteristics that women hold attractive."

"I somehow got the impression that Pffye considered himself as differing radically from Benson in this respect."

"Alvin was aware of his physical deficiency, and the result was—I trust you will understand my hesitancy in mentioning this distressing fact—but the result was that Alvin used certain—ah—methods in his dealings with women, which you and I could never bring ourselves to adopt. Indeed, though it pains me to say it—he of ten took unfair advantage of women. He used underhand methods, as it were."

He paused, apparently shocked by this heinous imperfection of his friend, and by the necessity of his own seemingly disloyal revelation. "Was it one of these women whom Benson had dealt with unfairly, that you had in mind?" asked Markham.

"No—not the woman herself," Pffye replied; "but a man who was interested in her. In fact, this man appreciated my reluctance in telling you this, but my excuse is that the threat was made quite openly. There were several others besides myself who heard it."

"That, of course, relieves you from any technical breach of confidence," Markham observed. "Pffye acknowledged the other's understanding with a slight bow. "It happened at a little party of which I was the unfortunate host," he confessed modestly.

"Who was the man?" Markham's tone was polite but firm. "You will comprehend my reluctance," Pffye began. Then, with an air of righteous frankness, he leaned forward. "It might prove unfair to Alvin to withhold the gentleman's name—He was Captain Phillip Leacock."

He allowed himself the emotional outlet of a sigh. "I trust you won't ask me for the lady's name."

"It won't be necessary. Markham assured him. "But I'd appreciate your telling us a little more of the episode."

"Pffye complied with an expression of patient resignation. "Alvin was considerably taken with the lady in question, and showed her many attentions which were, I am forced to admit unwelcome. Captain Leacock resented these attentions; and at the little affair to which I had invited him and Alvin, some unpleasant and, I must say, unrefined words passed between them."

"I fear the wine had been flowing too freely, for Alvin was always punctilious—he was a man, indeed skilled in the niceties of social intercourse; and the captain in an outburst of temper, told Alvin that, unless he left the lady strictly alone in the future, he would pay with his life. The captain even went so far as to draw a revolver half-way out of his pocket."

"Was it a revolver, or an automatic pistol?" asked Heath. "Pffye gave the district attorney a faint smile of annoyance, without deigning even to glance at the sergeant. "I mispoke myself, forgive me. It was not a revolver. It was, I believe, an automatic army pistol—though, you understand, I didn't see it in its entirety."

"You say there were others who witnessed the altercation?" "Several of my guests were standing about," Pffye explained; "but, on my word, I couldn't name them. The fact is, I attach a little importance to the threat—indeed, it had entirely slipped my memory until I read the account of poor Alvin's death. Then I thought at once of the unfortunate incident, and said to myself: Why not tell the district attorney?"

Thoughts that breathe and words that burn, murmured Vance, who had been sitting through the interview in aggressive boredom. "Pffye once more adjusted his eye-glass and gave Vance a withering look. "I beg your pardon, sir?"

Vance smiled disarmingly. "Merely a quotation from Gray. Poetry appeals to me in certain moods, don't you know—Do you by any chance, know Colonel Ostrander?"

The annual death toll from automobile accidents is 25,000 but even that won't convince Lubbock parents that they should keep their children out of the streets.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—I found the small boy's paradise on a side street in Montmartre, well off the beaten Paris tracks.

For this is the Circus Medrano or the Cirque, as they call it here. And this is the circus I had been looking for all my life.

In the intermission little boys and girls rush back stage to gaze shyly at the clowns.

The prancing welcome they receive brings out every grain of envy. What wouldn't I have given as a kid to find four such grotesque capering in a circle about me?

The Cirque Medrano is the oldest and most historic of the Paris circuses. Its home is a rough-domed building and its seats are built around the arena...

Not warrant the salaries of more elaborate and ornate circuses. Here the famous Fratelloni clowns were found and made famous.

Outside the blind blared and the clown hurriedly finished his beer and rushed out. Through the curtains came laughter and applause of the crowd.

And around the old place has grown a tradition. Here some of Europe's most celebrated acts de-

GAS MEN WILL LEARN ORIGIN OF FIRST FUEL

SUBSTANCE MADE FROM RESIN WAS FIRST IN STATE, IS CLAIM

(By Associated Press) HOUSTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Gas made from resin and sold at $7 a thousand cubic feet constituted the first public utility in Texas, gas men will learn when they gather here for the Southwest Natural Gas Convention, Oct. 21 and Nov. 1 and 2.

The strides which the industry has made since the early day will be noted in the convention proceedings, which will show hundreds of miles of gas pipe line laid in the Southwest during the last few years, and an extension of the industry to almost every nook and corner of this section.

First Gas Plant

The first gas plant, according to present records, was established at San Antonio about 1860, and it is believed to have been the state's first public utility. The first application to install the plant was made in 1865, long before the train came in.

The gas works consisted of a set of retorts, heated by a furnace, which distilled resin to make a gas for illuminating purposes only. The resin was brought down by ships from the port of Indiana. This place does not exist today, having been wiped out by a storm many years ago.

The resin was brought overland in ox wagons to San Antonio to provide what was considered at that time the best illuminant to be had. Later on the plant was changed into a coal-gas plant and coal from Pennsylvania was brought down by ship to Indiana, and then overland by ox teams to San Antonio.

Railroads bring reduction in the price of illuminating gas was $7 a thousand cubic feet. When the railroads came the price reduced to $5 a thousand cubic feet. Since that time under efficiency of modern machinery and private management, the price has decreased steadily.

Topics involving the great gas development now going on in Texas and the Southwest will be discussed at the meeting. Gas experts from Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Kansas will attend.

INDIAN TRIBES MEET OBLIVION IN SOUTHWEST

NAMES OF OKLAHOMA TOWNS PERPETUATE MEMORY, HOWEVER

(By Associated Press) ENID, Okla., Oct. 28 (AP)—War, disease and intermarriage have swept away many once-powerful Indian tribes and are reducing others to mere wraiths of their former might.

George Rainey, authority on Indian history, finds time rapidly adding to the roster of lost tribes many of which are remembered chiefly because their names have passed to cities and towns in the region where once they roamed.

The Tonkawas, once disclaimed by other Indians who accused them of cannibalism, have been reduced to about 25 members. They dwell near a town of that name in Oklahoma. The Kichai, for whom a small town near Wichita, Kan., was named, are gone. So are Natchez, for whom the Mississippi city named the latest Indians of southern Mississippi; the Mohegans; the Pamunkeys; the Pequots; the Pedees; the Kitchigamees; the Mobilans, for whom Mobile was named; the Wacos, whose name Waco, Texas, bears, and many other stalwart tribes of red men.

Gunboat Scorpion Taken From Service

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28 (AP)—The United States gunboat Scorpion, famous ship of the navy, after 27 years of service, was decommissioned today as part of the observance of navy day at the Philadelphia navy yard.

Rear Admiral Thomas P. Macruder, commander of the yard, was in charge of the ceremony.

In an address to the crew he said that it was "like the retiring of an admiral at the age of 64."

The Scorpion, on which has served many of the navy's noted figures at one time or another, was a converted yacht, bought by the government and commissioned in 1858.

ENGLISH POTATO CROP

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Cold rainy weather has cut England's potato crop very short. Excessive moisture has produced much disease in potatoes, and it is estimated that the average yield the country over will be 5.5 tons per acre, or a quarter of a ton below the ten-year average. Although the total acreage is in excess of 500,000, the ministry of agriculture describes the shortage as serious.

Requisitions Given For Three Accused

One Dies, Three Hurt As Auto Overtakes

AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—Requisitions for return of three men wanted in that state was granted Thursday by Governor Dan Moody.

All have been arrested in Reeves county. Two of them, W. L. White and Lony Morris, are charged with robbing the Canadian Valley bank at Asher, September 2.

The other, Red Borders, is charged at Shawnee with assault to kill M. L. Bleece.

Kansas Seeks Man Arrested In Texas

TOPEKA, Oct. 28 (AP)—Governor Paulen, attending the convention of the American Bankers association in Houston, Texas, has a chance to bring home a prisoner whose extradition was sought today in the governors name.

Judge A. S. Foules, acting for Governor Paulen, today forwarded to Governor Moody of Texas a requisition for the extradition of Elmer Elliott who is now in custody at Houston. Elliott is charged with child desertion at Wichita.

PLANT FOOD WASTE

Insist on Blatz

Rain water sweeping over the fields of the United States carries away $20,000,000 worth of plant food material every year, or 20 times as much as is permanently removed by the farmers' crops. This annual loss is estimated at approximately 125,000,000,000 pounds as compared to only 5,000,000,000 pounds permanently removed by crops. In addition millions of tons of rich top soil are carried out to sea annually, leaving in many instances a soil very infertile and difficult to till.

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—"It's a boy" has become a familiar announcement in the Baptist hospital here. For two months the hospital was a women's hospital.

Women flyers should have advantage, anyhow. They are run out of gas as soon as men.

NOTHING FISHY ABOUT THIS YARN—IT'S THE TRUTH

With a friend of ours we went up to the cafe for supper. He ordered a T-bone steak with a baked potato. The waitress asked him, "How did you find your steak?" He answers: "I rolled the potato over and found the steak under the potato." Now if you don't believe that one ask Wolf down at Swift and Co's for he is the guy that pulled it.

We both decided that we will eat fish hereafter as they are easy to find down here at the Lubbock Fish Market. Fresh Fish and plenty of them arriving daily. The greatest value of fish as food is their protein content, which contain nitrogenous substances, without which the body cannot replace its wear and tear and either develop or function normally.
