Fish Processing Plant Now In Operation Here

A fish processing plant in West Texas?

Just such an operation is Colorado City's newest industry. It is part of the expanded operation of James (Jimmy) Kelley's Kilowatt Catfish Farm at Lake Colorado City.

The fish processing plant is located in the rear of the building that houses the Noble Walker Tractor House on Highway 80 on the city's east side.

The maintenance part of the building was remodeled and turned into a 1,350-square foot office and processing area. Contractor for the remodeling was Virgil Stone.

The modern offices and operation was shown Wednesday to officials of Texas Electric Service Co., city, county, industrial team, chamber of commerce and news media.

The plant is now processing some 90,000 pounds of catfish that were raised during the winter at Kelley's catfish farm in Lake Colorado City.

Last October, Kelley stocked some 60,000 fish in cages in the discharge channel of warm water coming from the Morgan Creek Power Plant.

Officials on hand for Wednesday's open house of the processing plant included Texas Electric President Burl Hulsey of Fort Worth and a representative of the Environmental Protection agency, Dr. Dick Hill.

The EPA has been vitally interested in the fish farm operation which Texas Electric and Kelley pioneered in an effort to demonstrate that so-called thermal pollution, warm water discharged from power plants, can be put to good use.

The project of raising the fish in winter in the warm water discharged from the power plant began four years ago and has been hailed by federal agencies as an innovative use of resources.

Officials from many other power companies as well as representatives of governments throughout the world have come to Colorado City to study the process used by Kelley.

Normally, fish do not grow during the winter in cold water. By keeping them in the warm water and controlling their diet, the fish grow at a rapid pace at a time when other catfish farms are shut-down for the winter.

Kelley told the officials on the tour Wednesday that it takes about 1.5 pounds of feed to produce one pound of fish. He raised only one crop per year as during the summer, the water is too hot for the fish to grow at the desired rate.

Kelley is now about through processing the fish he raised in his cages at the lake during the last winter.

The new processing operation enables Kelley to process the fish ready for the consumer. Previously, he could only process a few fish and had to pack the fish on dry ice and send them to other processing plants.

The new process consists of bringing about 1,000 fish a day from the lake to the plant. The fish are then put into a water tank and plant workers get the fish as they need them.

The fish are electrocuted, their heads cut off with a saw, they are then gutted, washed, skinned with a machine, washed again and then sealed in a plastic bag. Then the fish are weighed and put onto trays according to weight and put into a 10-foot by 20-foot freezer, waiting to be picked-up or delivered to retail outlets.

The fish are sold in four weights, 16-ounces, 14-ounces, 12-ounces and 10-ounces.

Kelley is now set-up to handle retail sales of fish at his plant.

He said he now has more demands for fish than he can fill. The fish market is continually increasing and Kelley says he has not even scratched the surface of the market. He hopes to continue to increase his production at the lake as well as get farmers with irrigation wells to dig tanks to raise fish during the summer.

Kelley now has a number of stock pounds in which he raises fish during the summer.

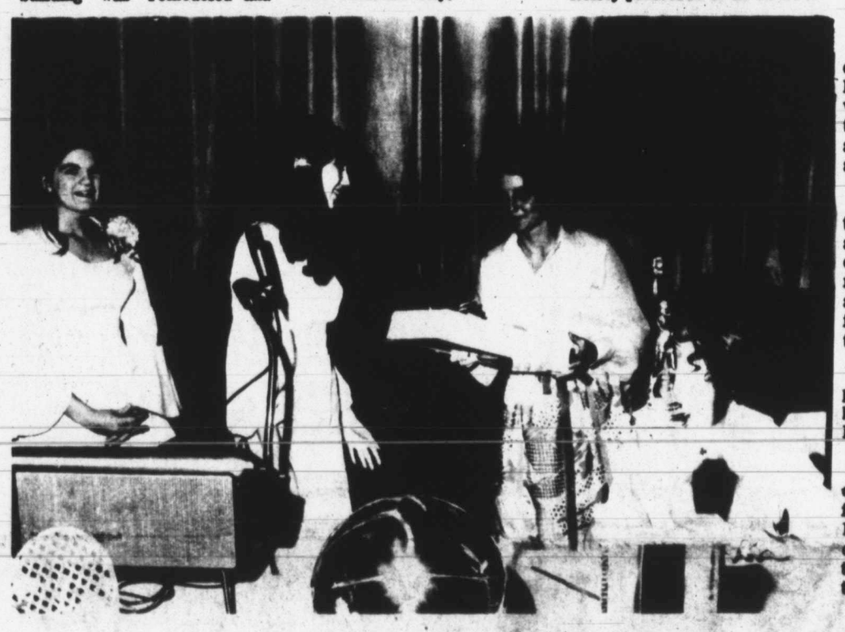

The capacity of the processing plant is 1,000 to 1,500 pounds of fish a day. He has seven full time workers at the plant and one part time worker, Terry Owens, Lucy Franco, Bruna Franco, Dominga Galvan, Amaelia Franco, Rose Maldonado, Lucy DeLapaz, Rose Hogan. Workers at the catfish farm include Allen Barrera, Lupe Galvan, Seferino DeLapaz and Trey Sheppard.

Kelley hopes by next year to have enough farmers with stock ponds that there will be enough catfish available to keep the processing plant going nine months out of the year.

Fish processed at the plant are frozen so they will be fresh when the consumer buys them at stores.

His catfish operation is the only one of its kind where fish are processed only minutes after being taken out of the water. It takes about three minutes to process each fish and Kelley hopes when the workers become fully trained and accustomed to the operation that one fish can be processed every 30 seconds.

Seafood is in short demand, Kelley stated, adding that warm water discharge channels at power plants are a much neglected source of production.

Ruth COFFEY'S CONVERSATION CORNER

IT'S MAYTIME!

As the little song popular some years ago might say, "color it green". Don't any of the weather men know that even the smartest mesquites are wearing their unique ferny frongs of green all around us?

Color Maytime red as the roses in bloom. Color it a multitude of colors in flower gardens beginning to recover from that angry April hail storm. Color it magic.

* * *

WAS casually looking around seeking and trying to remember appealing quotations about Maytime when there came the shock of the season--for now, anyhow.

Came across a phrase in a poem which opened "In May's newfangled mirth." Now wouldn't you have guessed that newfangled is a fairly newfangled word?

William Shakespeare (1554-1616) said (or wrote) it! Maybe he even made it up. But then that man had a magnificent genius for words and said or wrote just about everything there is to say or write.

So if you have the proper paint or crayon, color May newfangled.

* * *

POET of the same era wrote "It fell upon a day in the merry month of May," Richard Barnfield (1592-1644) and then Francis Quarles "Let all thy joys be as the month of May".

Digby Mackworth Dolben, nineteenth century writer, gave us "The world is young today... Forget the gods are old...Forget the years of gold...When all the months were May."

* * *

SO MUCH for the familiar and not so familiar praises for Maytime.

One remembered best came from a pert, pretty and particular voice teacher who gave a May song for me to sing at the spring recital.

She really preferred "Gaily Chant the Summer Birds", only her pupil rebelled because it was as full of high trills as any nightingale and the high A-flats sounded like a calliope stuck on that note.

* * *

THEREFORE the main event of her pupil's recital repertoire turned out to be "FOR IT'S MAYTIME." Have no foggiest idea who composed the romantic aria to Maytime but held the secret notion it must have been a maiden lady with a new beau.

Words went "For it's Maytime ...it's Maytime...And all the world looks bright...And LOVE is in the sunlight and the golden stars of night."

Color May love.

* * *

LOVE does not have to be restricted to romantic love, of course. Romance can and does thrive in rain, sleet, snow, wind hail storms, summer, winter, springtime and fall.

The beautiful word love has so many wonderful facets. First scripture learned by most small children says "God is love". The Bible also commands us to love "Thy neighbor as thyself".

There is love for favorite friends...babies, little children ...family. There is love for husband...wife...love for parents...all a lift through.

* * *

THIS is MOTHER'S DAY. Maytime always brings that hallowed and happy special day for expressing love for Mother--though most good people express it with some small word or gesture every day.

Love for Mother--and from Mother--is one of God's greatest gifts. So God bless, this Mother's Day, all the mothers in the world. God bless them all...whatever race, color, creed, or age...from the beautiful young teenagers new to responsibility to the wise and witty mother approaching or past 100.

God bless all the mothers inbetween with a particular blessing for mothers of schoolagers, teen-agers, and mothers of the little young-marrieds just learning the art of living.

May all mothers everywhere feel cherished today.

* * *

LOVE for Mother can be just a garden of memories for many of us. So color Maytime's Mother's Day memory.

Hal Boyle, long a popular syndicated columnist, often repeats "The richest people in the world are those whose hearts are full of sweet memories."

The truth in that makes many of us millionaires! To remember Mother singing, smiling, laughing, or just loving can comfort like a prayer.

* * *

FAMILIAR FACES here and there places can be a comfort and a joy almost any day in Maytime or almost any old time.

Saw, for instance Katherine Buchanan on the shopping scene ...George Womack, Shirley DeLaney, and Gus Chesney at the bank...Nell and Bennett Scott, two favorite people...Sandy Dickard, recent bride, and met Gigi and Joe Richardson...Spied Brice Webb, 'Ree's husband... Caught friendly waves from Ruth Grantland and one F.P. (favorite pastor) Glenn Roenfeldt.

Lizzie Lewis, wife of Alvie, dropped by happy over observation of "hers and his" thirty-eighth wedding anniversary. Their children surprised the couple with a feast at the lake cottage celebrating the occasion.

* * *

SEEN LATELYS include, too Alta Casbeer...George and Mozelle Callender...Mayme May ...Wilma Biggers, county library custodian...Ray Anne Carlock...Pint Richards happy over recovery of new granddaughter, Terri Lynne, baby of his and Bea's daughter Jill and her husband Bill Groff. The baby underwent surgery in Ft. Worth when she was less than a week old but came through fine and now weighs five and a half pounds according to last accounts.

* * *

CHATTED with Mable Kelley ...Beauteous Lorraine Rogers ...Frances Prescott Morris who is now Mrs. John C. Morris. He's a Sun Oil man.

Encountered Addie V. Payne ...Isla Watson...Harold Maniss ...and had the particular pleasure of greeting, after a Retired Teachers luncheon, Mary Womack, Clydine Stickney, Mabel (Dilce) Smith, Elizabeth Gary, Jewel Richter, Winnie Quinney, Mattie Hines, Katie Jackson and Jewell Tiller.

Swapped hello's with Lena Bullard, Bea Smith, Charlene Dorman, Pat Cooley and daughter Donna, Betty Sayger, Loveda Graham, James Light, graduating senior, son of Pauline and Leon Light.

Have a good day, everybody!

Sound Advice

A new concept in helping the hard-of-hearing

By HOMER SCOTT

Up until the past few years, a lot of hearing aid dealers sold only one brand of hearing aids. Not that it mattered. The differences between brands were small, the technology was relatively unsophisticated, and the aid you bought was probably as good as any.

Mr. Homer Scott

Today, this has changed. We are specially trained and qualified hearing aid specialists-not just dealers. We carry a wide variety of hearing aids. From different manufacturers And more importantly, we don't rest until we fit you with an aid that answers your problem.

If you hear sounds but can't always understand the words-a classic symptom of nerve deafness, you owe it to yourself and those most dear to you to come in for a free hearing test to see if we can help you. I will hold my regular monthly center at:

Villa Inn Motel, Colorado City, Tuesday, May 15, 10 A.M. – 11 A.M.

Perhaps I can help you HEAR YOUNG AGAIN. No obligation whatever.

GOD'S FIVE MINUTES

MOMENTS FOR MEDITATION

In Japan there is a temple where worshipers are taught that by running around the building 100 times and then dropping a stick into a box, one may find peace and happiness with God. When the wearisome exertion is over, one must believe that the silly, unspeakable, meaningless act has satisfied one's creator.

Or is it so silly? Don't we sometimes believe that running around to an endless number of meetings at the church building we will so satisfy our God that He will no longer ask for our hearts and lives? I think that's what David meant when he so seriously said: "Let the words of my mouth, and the meditations of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength and my Redeemer."

Loraine Pre-Schoolers Meet Tuesday

Tuesday, the Loraine Public Schools will have a pre-school day. Children who will be five years old on or before September 1, 1973 are invited to come and spend the day and have lunch with our kindergarten children and their teachers.

The parents are requested to come and bring their pre-schooler's birth certificate and shot records as they will be required to complete registration forms.

The Kindergarten day begins at 8:15 a.m. and dismisses at 2:30 p.m. If the parents cannot bring their pre-schoolers they are invited to let the pre-schooler ride the bus to and from school.

Another happening scheduled for the eventful day is immunizations for all those who wish to participate in getting their child started or completing immunizations; the Nolan County Health Unit will be there giving these shots and will be a great asset to completion of immunization records.

Lunch for children will be 30¢ and for adults 50¢.
