Lone Star Farmer Degree Received By Gary Cooper

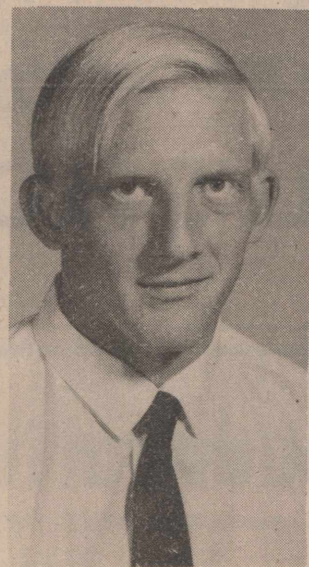

Gary Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cooper, received the coveted Lone Star Farmer Award at the 43rd Annual State Future Farmers of America Convention held recently in Houston.

A senior at Olton High School, the new Lone Star Farmer was accompanied to the convention by Larry Manuel, vocational agriculture advisor. John Paul Jones is also an advisor.

Active in FFA his three years in high school, Cooper hopes to earn the organization's top honor, the American Farmer Degree.

As a freshman, Cooper began his vocational agriculture program with a market pig. He added show pigs his sophomore year and showed Poland China, Chester White and Berkshire swine in shows in San Antonio, Houston, Littlefield and locally. In April 1970, he began special emphasis on Poland China breeding.

GARY COOPER

Despite his special interest in Poland Chinas, his junior year, he showed several other breeds at shows in Houston, Littlefield and in the local FFA, FFA and 4-H Show.

In addition to his swine projects, this year he will have a crop project.

THIS WEEK'S PROVOCATIVE THOUGHT...

By Bob Mendes

"REASON"

Did you know that between demands and outburst, between wanting and having there is always an intermediate station — that of "reason"...

That reason is the silent voice of the conscience...

That when conflict of ideas, peculiarity in approach and time of action become the main cause of contention in town that reason is needed...

And! That the wise townfolk knows that to reason is human but to demand without reason is unjust?

Remember:

"Unreasonable reasoning is man's worst fault... Reasonable reasoning — the embryo of progress. For the wise man knows that its not the sharpness of the sword that counts, but... the "reason" behind the arm that wields it".

Lightening, Some Rain & Hail Strike Area North Of Town

Weather Tuesday in the form of sporadic winds, threatening clouds and blowing dust left the area dotted with showers, both heavy and light and patches of destructive hail.

Beginning some eight miles to the northwest of the city lightning streaked out of lowering clouds to strike the TV antenna at the home of Byrl Wilks, burning out the television set.

Mrs. Wilks, who was watching the clouds at the time, said that the set was not in operation and that two and one-half inches of rain fell "as though it were being thrown from buckets." She said there was some light hail in that vicinity.

Olton Fire Department answered the Wilks call for assistance but no fire resulted. Some spots were burned in the carpet from sparks from the television set, but other appliances seemed unharmed.

The storm apparently lifted as it traveled southeast dropping lesser amounts of rain and hail, and descended again in the vicinity of the A. E. Hudgens, and George Redinger farms northeast of the city where they and some of their neighbors received devastating hail.

The storm clouds still travelling south and east left rainfall in varying amounts, one inch and less.

The hard shower falling within the city limits measured only .10 inch, and only traces were reported southwest and west of town.

Water Inc. Slates Tour Of California Projects

Reservations for the Water Inc., sponsored tour of California Water projects must be made by Aug. 1. That's the word from the organization's executive director, Bill Clayton, who explained that the deadline was necessitated by the need to "firm-up" airline and hotel reservations.

Slated to begin Aug. 22, the tour group goes first to Sacramento for a briefing by California officials. From Sacramento, the entourage goes to Oroville Dam on the Feather River, then follows the California aqueduct south to the arid area southeast of Los Angeles.

Plans call for two nights in Sacramento, and one each in Fresno and Bakersfield. Following the final day of touring Aug. 26, the tour group boards a jet airliner at Los Angeles for a night flight home.

All air travel will be aboard regularly scheduled jet flights. The trek through California will be on air conditioned buses. Cost of the trip which includes all transportation, all lodging and most of the meals is $300 per person. Reservations may be made by contacting the Water Inc., offices at P. O. Box 367, Lubbock, Texas, Telephone 806-763-5271.

Effects All Students

State Immunization Requirements

Texas now has a new law that requires immunization for all students enrolled in schools and institutions of higher learning, as shown below.

All immunizations should be completed by the time school is entered. However, if this is not possible, all students will be allowed to enter their respective school systems during the Summer and Fall 1971 terms, with the provision that their immunizations against at least one of the aforementioned diseases will have been started by January 1, 1972 and all completed as soon as medically feasible.

Since many types of personal immunization records are in current use, any document listing each immunization received by year will be acceptable during the 1971-1972 school year for either initiating or updating school immunization records.

Signature or rubber-stamp validation of personal records by physicians or public health clinics is recommended but not required until the Summer 1972 Semester, after which validation of new records is required.

A new, standard Certificate of Immunization form is being developed; however, compatible documents will always be acceptable.

Parents who have questions should contact their family physician or local health department.

A combined Measles-Rubella vaccine is now available which requires only one injection. The age criteria for this vaccine is the same as indicated in the above table for Measles (Rubeola) and Rubella.

WATER ACCIDENTS -- Last year in Texas 31 persons died in water-oriented accidents that took place on farms and ranches. The Texas Safety Association says these deaths can be prevented if you teach your children how to swim, safeguard stock ponds to protect children, and provide flotation devices near all water on rural property.

WHISTLER'S PAINTING
French Government paid $625 for Whistler's portrait of his mother.

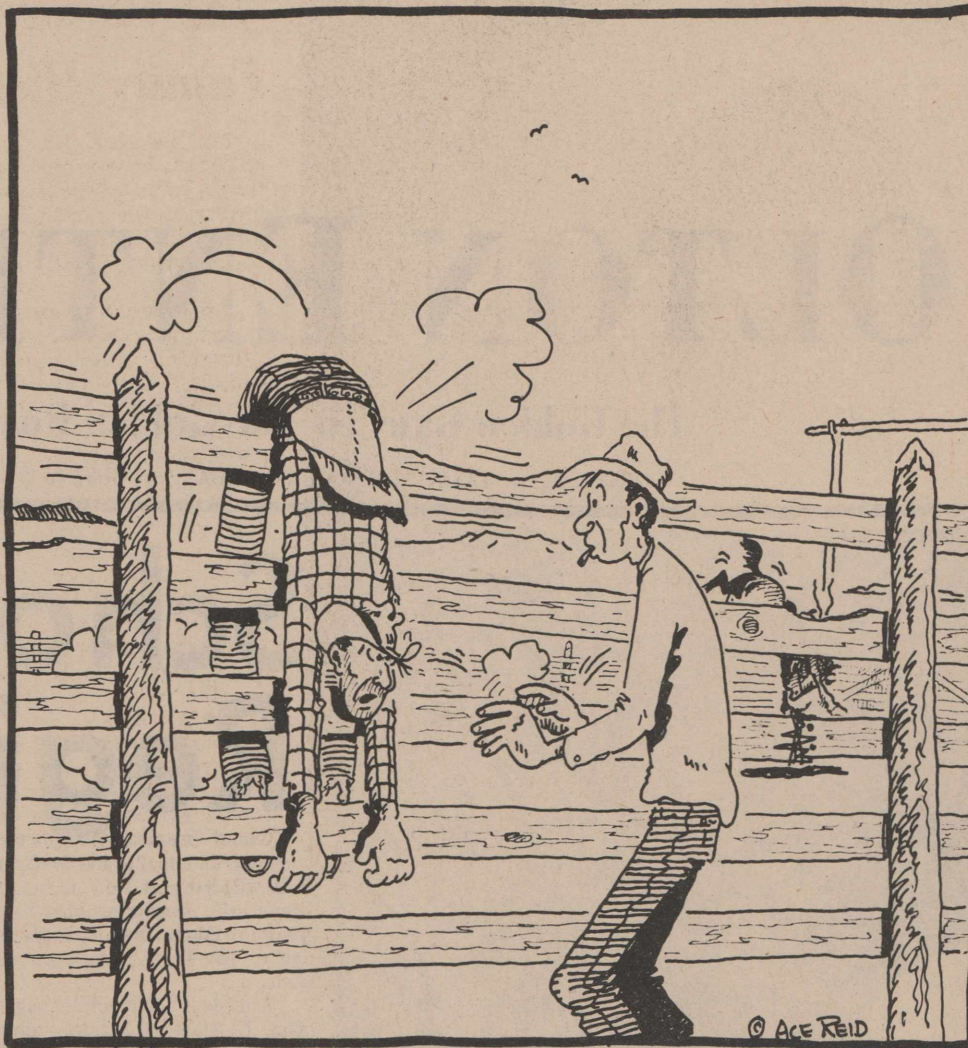

CAMPAIGN ON FOR TOP COTTON YIELDS--"Better cotton yields for profits and markets" in 1971 is the theme for a Belt-wide campaign to aid the cotton industry. The objective, says Fred Elliott, Extension cotton specialist, is to increase cotton yields to the maximum profitable level, using practices recommended for each producing area to increase producer income. The increased production is needed to stabilize and expand the market. Carryover of cotton in the U. S. by Aug. 1 is expected to be the lowest in 20 years. Worldwide, the same situation exists.

SUN'S ENERGY
Less than one two-billionth of the sun's energy is intercepted by the earth.

PROTECTIVE CABS--In 1970, accidents involving farm and ranch machinery took the lives of at least 40 persons. The Texas Safety Association says these deaths can be prevented if agri-businessmen will keep children away from and off of machinery, avoid tractor upsets, and equip tractors with protective frames or cabs, and use safety belts.

Advice to Girls

I would say to every young girl, rich or poor, gifted or dull: "Learn to make a home, and learn this in the days in which learning is easy. Cultivate a habit of vigilance and forethought. With a reasonable amount of intelligence, a woman should be able to carry on the management of a household, and should yet have time for art and literature in some sort."

— Julia Ward Howe (1899)

Junior high schools were not established in the U.S. until the early part of the 20th century.

"Youth is 'wholly experimental.'"
— Robert Louis Stevenson

WEAR AND LEARN. That's the idea behind educational clothing. An attempt is made to teach children a wide range of concepts from colors and numbers to the telling of time. Some dresses have a clock face with movable hands, others are divided into 4 squares of color. Educational garments are more likely to be bought by parents who understand their educational decorations. If not, they will buy the clothes because they are attractive and will amuse the child with the learning motif.

"Do not shorten the morning by getting up late."
— A. Schopenhauer

Dear Editor

Dear Editor:

At this time you may quit sending the Olton Enterprise to me at my Vietnam address. As I write this I have 43 days left here, but by the time you get this letter, I will have around a month left in Vietnam.

I would like to thank you for sending the Olton Enterprise to me during my tour in Vietnam. It has been one of my biggest pleasures in this country. I greatly appreciate your sending the paper to me.

Sincerely yours,
Joe Schultz

MOUNTAIN VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Chitwood, Joe Dale and Monte were in Cowles, N. M. a few days recently.

WEEKEND TOLL

Almost 40 per cent of all highway deaths occur on weekends -- 56 per cent between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m., according to statistics compiled by The Travelers Insurance Companies. "Never on weekends" might be a driver motto worth observing.

COSMETICS...

They should be more intense, regarding the eyes, the mouth and the fingertips. Now that the fall season is in full swing, the obvious focus is on the face with color doing the trick.

To ready the face and the figure for the new season, treatment products grow in scope and effectiveness. Everything is part of the totally beautiful scheme.

If you've ever cut a small child's nails and marveled why they need cutting so often, the fact is that children's fingernails actually grow faster than those of adults.

Geometry

Geometry was born in Egypt, where the inundations of the Nile, by obliterating the bounds of the fields, made the people invent exact measures to distinguish every man's land from his neighbor's.

— Bernard de Fontenelle (1686)

OUT OF REACH--The Texas Safety Association says neat, orderly farm and ranch houses are safer, more pleasant homes. During Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week, TSA reminds that household cleaning products and medicines should be placed in safe storage areas out of the reach of children.

Friday Garden Ceremony Unites Francis Smith-Paula Jones

Wedding vows were pledged in a 10 a. m. ceremony Friday in Dimmitt for Miss Paula Elaine Jones and Francis D. Smith, both of Dallas.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Euel C. Jones of Las Animas, Colo., former residents of Olton, and Mrs. L. E. Smith of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Eldred Stevens of Dallas officiated the double ring ceremony in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gregory, sister and brother-in-law of the bride.

The bridal path, marked with satin roping, satin bows of yellow and white and pots of yellow and white mums, led to a nuptial setting backed with a greenery entwined lattice centered with a large bow of yellow and white satin. Ivy, interspersed with clusters of white garza mums and wrought iron bird cages, also filled with mums. An ivy-draped bird bath filled with floating daisies completed the setting.

Mrs. Roger Davis of Dimmitt, pianist, accompanied Mrs. Jim Killingsworth, also of Dimmitt. Mrs. Killingsworth sang "I Walk Beside You" for the processional, "Twelfth of Never", "More" and "The Wedding Prayer". "O Perfect Love" was the recessional song by Mrs. Killingsworth.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of Spanish lace over taffeta fashioned with an Empire bodice featuring a Juliet neckline and full Bishop sleeves, accented with seed pearls. Satin covered buttons adorned the bodice front and her bell shaped skirt fell to a short train.

Her ballerina length veil of silk illusion was attached to a profile headpiece of Spanish lace petals centered with a crown of seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white garza mums and yellow rose buds accented with lemon leaves and babies breath.

For the traditional "something old", the wedding band of her maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. C. M. Owen, was tied in the bridal bouquet. She "borrowed" a blue garter from her sister.

Mrs. Gregory was her sister's matron of honor. Keith and Becki Gregory, nephew and niece of the bride, were ring bearer and flower girl. Mrs. Gregory and her daughter wore formal length gowns of lime green.

Fashioned of organza over taffeta, the matron of honor's gown was styled with an Empire bodice with round neckline and elbow length sleeves. Deep ruffles of matching dotted swiss adorned the sleeves and hemline with bands of cotton lace and lime green satin ribbon accenting the sleeves and waistline. She wore a white picture hat trimmed with daisies and lime green ribbons and carried a basket of yellow and white garza mums with lemon leaves.

The flower girl's dress of dotted swiss was fashioned identical to the matron of honor's. She wore a bow headpiece of white organza with lace daisies.

Bill Martin of Dallas was best man. Guests were seated by Scott Jones, brother of the bride, and Dan Gregory, brother-in-law of the bride.

MRS. FRANCIS D. SMITH

Members of the houseparty were Molly Burton of Houston, Jenny Jones and Laura Harbin, both of Dallas, and Mrs. D. M. Granbery, aunt of the bride.

Guests were registered by Vicki Timmons of Albany. A basket of yellow and white garza mums decorated the register table.

For a wedding trip to San Francisco, Calif., the bride wore a suit of tangerine and brown dacron knit with brown suede accessories and a corsage of yellow garza mums and rose buds.

Olton High School and Abilene Christian College. She teaches in Ferris Independent School District.

School Brings Assorted 'Musts' For Beginners

The beginning of school is just around the corner. When the month of August rolls around, thousands of Texas mothers suddenly realize that only a few more weeks remain until school begins.

Nowadays going back to school is a major enterprise for those families with school age children. It usually means new shoes and school clothes, the acquisition of pencils and notebooks, or simply getting back into the old routine and habits.

There are certain other requirements that parents need to think about, and they need to think about them early enough to avoid the delays of last-minute requests. Children entering the first grade must be able to show proof of age. That usually means a certified copy of the child's birth certificate must be obtained from the city registrar, county clerk, or the Texas Health Department in Austin.

As usual, many Texas families will wait until the last moment to think about securing a certified copy of their first-grader's birth certificate. That means a heavy last-minute demand on officials who keep those records, and a probable delay in receiving the document from registration officials.

Across the state of Texas some two and a half million children will be heading to the public schools this fall. Nearly a quarter million will be first graders, and their birth certificates will have to be searched out of the files of the Texas Health Department's Bureau of Vital Statistics or other agencies at the city or county level which may have copies on hand.

Parents are urged by state health officials to take time now and write for a certified copy of the child's birth certificate, or contact either the city registrar where the child was born, or the county clerk in the county of birth.

If you prefer to write to health officials in Austin, address the request to the Texas State Department of Health, Bureau of Vital Statistics, 410 East Fifth Street, Austin, Texas 78701. The fee is $1.50.

And don't forget. When you're thinking about getting your child ready for the beginning of school, a new state law now requires compulsory immunization for all school children. The immunization program must be begun before the end of this year, so it's a good idea to see your physician or public health clinic early to begin your child's immunization program.

MRS. HOYAL TAYLOR

Cook Of The Week

Recipes are shared this week by an "almost newcomer" - pretty, vivacious Mrs. Hoyal Taylor.

Jenny Lou and Hoyal and their three children moved to Olton last October from Hart where they had lived three years. Hoyal is employed by Hill Farms. Jenny Lou works at Thompson Implement.

Randi Gaye, nine, is her mother's little helper - learning to do household tasks. Five year old Kevin helps, too, by cleaning his room and making his own bed. Stephanie, the youngest, is just three and a half.

Jenny Lou grew up at Childress, her husband at nearby Carey. They were married after finishing high school.

Working in her yard is Jenny Lou's favorite hobby. She also enjoys all kinds of sports. She especially likes tennis but finds that a working housewife and mother has little time for tennis courts. Reading is another of her favorite pastimes.

Jenny Lou and the children attend Hopewell Baptist Church. Beaming with a radiance, Jenny Lou explains she has found much satisfaction in being a part of the warmth and closeness of the small but fervent congregation.

Home Demonstration Agent Gives Program On Herbs

Leaders from the home demonstration clubs in Lamb County studied and participated in a training meeting on the use and growing of herbs in the home of the home demonstration agent recently.

Dishes can be made much more tasty or unusual by adding only a little spice or herbs, the agent told the group. And these herbs can be grown in your own yard or garden or flower pots. Most herbs can be grown easily such as dill, rosemary, sage, thyme, summer savory and others.

One of the goals for club women was to make meals more interesting and one way might be to use herbs for seasoning. Growing and preparing it for a special friend could be a nice gift. Here are some other suggestions:

To bring out the flavor of dried herbs, soak them in lemon juice or wine before adding them to a dish. To store in the freezer, select young sprigs, dip quickly in boiling water, pat dry on paper towel. Put small amounts in cellophane bags or envelopes, seal, label and store in freezer. Watercress and parsley stay well in a sealed jar in refrigerator for days.

To dry herbs use only young tender leaves that appear before the plant flowers. Then there will be the second growth, as tender as the first. Pick leaves in the morning after dew has disappeared. Pick from stems and spread in shallow pan. Dry in 150 degree oven until they crumble between the finger (1 to 2 hours). Pack in air tight containers.

Those attending the training meeting were Mmes. Fred Lichte, Walter Struve, Orlan Bibby, J. G. Perkins, A. L. Aldridge and Keith Boone.

In Memoriam

Lord, this is a sad and mournful day.
To see my Daddy taken away.
Help us Jesus to understand why.
You have made him an angel in the sky.
We will miss him day by day.
But Lord please show us the precious way
Let us continue to show our love
For the precious one you have above
Help us Lord and keep us from sin
So as we can see our precious Daddy again.

Amen Jesus

Senate Bill Will Provide Financial Aid To Students

Senate Bill 56, called the "tuition equalization grant", will aid students attending private and independent colleges and universities in Texas.

The appropriations bill passed both houses included $4 million for the grants during the next two-year period. The bill will apply to freshmen only in 1971-72, freshmen and sophomores in 1972-73 and all classes by 1974-75.

Five eligibility requirements are recommended: (1) Texas residents; (2) full-time student, enrolled in at least 12 credit hours per semester; (3) a student with freshman standing (less than 30 semester hours) at the beginning of the 1971-72 school year; (4) attending a school accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; and (5) no student on any kind of athletic scholarship is eligible. In addition the student must establish financial need. The Coordinating Board is expected to use regulations similar to the Hinson-Hazlewood College Loan Fund Act in determining need.

Freshmen students at Lubbock Christian College that have financial need will be eligible for the $600.00 grant. Many other financial assistance programs for freshmen and all other students are available.

Additional information can be obtained from the LCC admissions office.

Texas Tech Immunization Requirements Are Told

Texas Tech University officials announced Friday (July 23) that new legislation requiring specific immunizations for students will mean a change in policy at the University.

It has been the policy at Texas Tech to require immunization against polio, tetanus and smallpox. The new legislation adds diphtheria to the list for students enrolling in institutions of higher learning.

Students enrolling for the fall semester will be allowed to enter with the provision that immunizations are begun before Jan. 1, 1972, and all are completed as soon after that date as medically feasible.

Effective with the spring 1972 semester, and continuing thereafter, new enrollees (those not previously enrolled in the summer or fall 1971 semesters) who have not completed the required immunizations at time of enrollment, must complete them as soon as is medically feasible.

Students in institutions of higher education must have had a minimum of three injections of diphtheria and tetanus with the last dose within 10 years and one smallpox vaccination within the past 10 years. At least three doses of oral polio vaccine are required for students who have not reached their nineteenth birthday.

Recommended implementation procedures and an outline of current regulations were recently provided to the State's colleges and universities by the Texas State Department of Health and the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

John Tower Gives Opinions On Busing Of Children

It seems to me that, ideally, children attending public schools should attend those schools which are nearest to their own homes. In this way, the child progresses naturally from his home environment to his neighborhood surroundings and on into the spectrum of his entire city situation as he progresses through his elementary and secondary education.

It seems logical that school plans should be devised, within the limits of practicability, to enable children to obtain an education at schools which are nearest to their homes. A high quality education should be available for every child regardless of the wealth of his parents and regardless of his heritage.

Many in our nation have been concerned over the quality of education available in our public schools. In some cases, it has been found that children from poorer or minority group homes have not had the opportunity for a quality education. Efforts have been made to insure a high quality education for all.

I also want a high quality education for all our nation's children and young people. But I feel that some have lost sight of the goal of quality education for all, and are working instead merely to assure that children of different backgrounds and heritages attend school in the same classroom.

I see no need for expenditure of taxpayer funds not for improved education but simply for buses in which to transport large numbers of children across towns in opposite directions.

The Supreme Court in numerous decisions has required pairing, zoning, clustering, and massive busing in search of the illusive goals of "racial balance" and the "disestablishment" of the dual school system. Such requirements are resulting in a decline in the overall quality of education.

It occurs to me also that the efforts of the Court and others are diametrically opposed to efforts to insure that all the nation's children obtain a quality education without regard to race. Some years ago, some school systems assigned pupils to schools based upon their race. That was segregation and that was a contravention of American principles. Now it is the courts who are directing that children attend school based upon their race, and this too is a contravention of American principles. Ideally, the schools of our nation should be colorblind in the matter of assignment of students to schools.

The American goal is that the opportunity for achievement be made available to all regardless of race, allowing each individual to attain stature and to contribute to the whole society in accordance not with his race but in accordance with his abilities.

Education is a vital ingredient of individual ability and a high quality education should be provided for all.

But massive busing will not improve the quality of education. Education can be improved by employing more and better teachers, by providing the best possible textbooks, by encouraging study, and by providing an overall environment which contributes to the healthy development of the child's social and psychological attitudes.

Massive busing requires funds which otherwise might be available for teachers, buildings and books. And it deprives the child of a full opportunity to participate in the extracurricular activities which nourish the development of social and psychological attitudes.

In the Senate, I have sponsored both a Constitutional Amendment and a Resolution which, if passed, would redirect the Supreme Court decisions on the issue of forced massive cross-town busing of school children.

The Constitutional Amendment Senate Joint Resolution 112, would specifically state that children should not be assigned to public schools on the basis of race. The amendment would be wholly within our American principles and it would go a long way toward re-establishing the policy that public schools are primarily the concern of the local school boards and parents of the community. My resolution would tell the Supreme Court that it should more carefully consider the disruptive effects that its rulings have on the educational process in the nation, and that busing of children should not be required as a method of balancing ethnic groups in public schools.

The Constitutional Amendment, as well as my Senate resolution, has been referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee. Neither has received attention thus far. I am hopeful that the Committee and, in turn, the Senate and the Congress, will act on this important matter. Unfortunately, I cannot hold out that hope as an expectation.

General Telephone & CWA Continue Negotiations

Negotiations between General Telephone Company of the Southwest and the Communications Workers of America were continuing at the end of the eighth week of negotiations here.

The contract which expired June 27 has remained in effect under an "evergreen" clause while the company and union seek to reach accord on a new contract.

The company has indicated it is willing to modify its proposal in both wages and benefits. The company offered a proposal July 13 but the union rejected the offer the following day. The company said the modifications of the proposal would include additional wages, additional benefit improvements and upgrading several towns where living expenses have risen above normal inflationary figures.

The union has refused to change its demands and has stated it must have vacation improvement above the offer of three weeks after eight years service, another holiday in addition to the eighth holiday proposed by the company, double time after 49 hours, time and a half on a holiday, improvements in sick benefits and 10 per cent night differential.

Another union demand is for an agency shop where all employees except management level employees have to pay dues to the union. The demand would only be effective in Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico as right-to-work laws in Texas and Arkansas prohibit required membership in unions.

The negotiations were recessed until Tuesday while CWA representative T. O. Moses attends a meeting in Washington, D. C. along with representatives from California and Ohio.
