Lazbuddie Plans Summer Reunion

The 1961 Lazbuddie school reunion is set for July 11-12.

The reunion committee is asking for any pictures, newspaper clipplings and trophies which can be displayed during the reunion.

Each item should be labeled with the owner's name and they will be returned. If you have things to display, contact Debbie (Engelking) Weir or Mrs. Lloyd (Janice) Bradshaw at 965-2619 before June 3.

Tickets for Sunday's dinner, which will be catered by Southern Seas, should be purchased before July 1 from any of the Young Homemakers. The tickets are $5 for adults and $4 for children and will not be sold at the door.

Chamber Seeks Names of Local Folk Artists

One of the many duties of a Chamber of Commerce is to answer the many questions people from all over the country, and even in other parts of the world, have about its home town, including questions which don't seem to have an answer beyond "I don't know". The Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture is certainly no exception. In fact, the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce gets many inquiries because of our unique name that others don't receive.

Currently the Chamber is attempting to help the Texas Commission on the Arts by compiling a list of folk artists, to be included in the first Texas Directory of Folk Artists. Some of the examples given by the Texas Commission on the Arts of what constitutes

*MULESHOE TOP GRADUATES.....*Clifford Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Watson is Salutatorian and Keva Roming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Roming, is Valedictorian of the 1981 graduating class. Graduations activities will begin at 7:30 p.m. May 22 in the Jr. High Gym.

Roming, Watson MHS Speakers

Ninety-seven Muleshoe students will put a celebrated end to 12 years of public schooling this Friday when they switch their tassles from right to left.

This switch signals a transition time which will have as many meanings as students participating.

Marriage, college, service commitments and full time employment are just a few of the transitions ahead for the graduates.

Keva Roming and Clifford Watson will voice what this transition time means to them as they present the valedictory and salutatory addresses at the Muleshoe High School Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises. These exercises are set for May 22 at 8:00 p.m. in the Jr. High Gymnasium.

Miss Roming, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Roming, plans to attend West Texas State and study secretarial science.

Co-editor of the Muletrain yearbook and Senior Class Favorite, she recently received recognition as Outstanding Typing and Accounting Student and Best All Around Girl.

Miss Roming's other achievements include president of the National Honor Society, Senior Class secretary-treasurer and Kiwanis Club Sweetheart.

As valedictorian, she will be attending a state supported school tuition free. Miss Roming also received scholarships from the Muleshoe Kiwanis ($500) and a Presidential Scholars Award from WT ($100).

Her cumulative grade point was 96.5351.

Recently named Best Boy Citizen, Clifford Watson plans to attend Texas Tech and study engineering.

Watson held several offices while in school including vice president of the Senior Class, president of Student Council and Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Captain of the football team, he was also the chaplain of the National Honor Society and president of District XVII FTA.

The salutatorian, Watson has received scholarships from Five Area Telephone ($400) and the Texas Tech Ex-Student Association ($250). His cumulative grade point average was 94.1764.

The 1981 class has chosen the rose as the class flower and colors of the rainbow as the class colors.

David Cox, minister of the Muleshoe Church of Christ, will present the class sermon and School Board members, Jim Shafer, Ernest Ramm, and Ben Roming will present the diplomas.

The Mighty 'M' Band, under the direction of Charles Faulkner, will provide music for the activities including "Overture in B-Flat" by Giovainni.

Susie Pierce and Curtis Wheeler have been chosen as escorts.

Muleshoe 18-Wheeler World Champion Rig

Wayne Copley of Muleshoe won the World Championship 18 Wheeler Pull at Clovis on Saturday, May 16. The pulls were held at Clovis on the Curry County Fairgrounds. Copley also won the Southwest Championship on Friday. These contests were held in conjunction with the Tractor and 4-Wheel Drive Pulls. Wayne had to pull a sled weighing at over 50,000 pounds with his truck which is a 1980 Freightliner. The truck has a 8V92A engine with 435 Detroit and 13 speed road ranger transmission.

Randal Copley also brought home trophies and cash prize money in the Long Wheel Base Class, winning 4th place with his 1980 International with NTC 400 Cummins engine and a 13 speed road ranger transmission.

Both trucks are used to haul sand and gravel here in Muleshoe. When the Copley's are not using them in competition.

All trucks that were in the pulls had to be highway legal and pull a tractor pull sled with a fifth wheel hook-up. Trucks were safety inspected by a qualified mechanic to check lug bolts, u-joints wheels, and RPM not to exceed warranty specifications.

This last contest ends competition until this fall. When contests begin once more, Randal and Wayne will be headed in the direction of the nearest one.

*SOMETHING FISHY GOING ON....*The Muleshoe Rotary Club's seafood sale was very successful on May 18. Pre-orders were picked up and drop-in customers bought a total overall amount in excess of 3000 pounds.

Thornton's Will Show New Chevy

Thornton Chevrolet will present the "Cavalier" on Thursday, May 21 for the official showing. Thornton is one of the few West Texas dealers who will have on display Chevrolet's answer to the small imported cars.

The Cavalier has been test driven personally by Harold Thornton in Muleshoe and the big item about this car he says is that "you don't have a small car feel. It handles well on paved and rough roads."

There are 43 standard features on the 1981 Cavalier, some of which come as extras with other vehicles plus several luxury features so that the new auto may be tailored to each individual's needs.

The 1982 model comes in four body styles with two levels of decor.

Thornton invites the public to "drop in Thursday for the formal showing of the Cavalier."

Around Muleshoe

Muleshoe Rotary met on May 19 with guests present. They were Tod Ellis, Tom Littlejohn, Dave Poynor, Brad Poynor, Willard Pittman and Bob Atcheson.

Bill Liles was installed as a new member.

The program was given by two of Kerry Moore's speech students, Freddie Vela and Scott Ellard. They gave some humorous renditions.

Police See Busy Day

Police action increased sharply from 8 to 8:30 p.m. May 19.

At approximately 8 p.m. a two vehicle accident occurring at 6th and American Blvd. involved a pickup carrying Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ladd, Sr. and another vehicle driven by Mike McDaniel. Mrs. Ladd was taken to West Plains Medical Center by ambulance for emergency treatment and then transferred to a Lubbock hospital for observation of head injuries. Her condition at that time was listed as stable. Mr. Ladd received minor injuries and was released.

Stovall, Bell Selected Gin Assn. Directors

President James Brown called the twenty eighth annual meeting of the Muleshoe Cooperative Gin to order May 18 in the Muleshoe High School.

During the meeting, Randy Field of Edwin E. Merriman and Co. gave an explanation of the audit report. There were 19,336 bales ginned with a net margin from operations of $457,030 or $23.64 per bale. There was a dividend distributed in the amount of $305,408.

Visitors were James Harkin of Grover Seed; Paul Bennett of PCA; Ronnie Frye of Producers Exchange; Ted Barnhill and Harmon Elliott of First National Bank; and Bill Wooley of Wooley International. Others were Brian Pohlmeir of PCA; Ricky King, National Cotton Council; Gerald Reid, KMUL; Bob Finney Muleshoe State Bank; Jimmy Nail, PCA; Rex McKinney, Farmers Compress; Jack Sebastian, PCOM.

James Brown covered current conditions and operations in the president's report.

In the manager's report Charles Moraw reported tnat the first bale of cotton was ginned on September 8 and was almost completed by January 1. Moraw reported that new equipment is currently being installed in the south gin. He also reported on the purchase of a new module truck. Gin operations went very smoothly with few breakdowns.

David Stovall and Steve Bell were elected directors of the association. Others nominated were Tommy Little and Bill Hunt.

*CHILDREN'S EVANGELISTS.....*Louis and Mary Smith will be featured in the "Kids Crusade" to be held in the Muleshoe Assembly of God beginning May 27.

Puppets Featured In Kids Crusade

Children's Evangelists Louis and Mary Smith will begin a kids crusade Wednesday night May 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the First Assembly of God in Muleshoe. Featured will be Randy the Dummy, puppets, filmstrips, cartoons, prizes, Orlando the Ostrich and Donald, a furry creature who lives in a box.

Louis is an ordained Assembly of God minister who along with his wife, Mary, travels all across the US holding kid crusades in churches and district wide kids camps.

The crusade will continue Thursday and Friday nights at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m.

On Saturday, May 30, from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. Louis will teach a childrens ministries seminar. The first session will be "Building an Effective Children's Ministry" and the second session will be "Tools of the Trade" featuring methods, materials and ideas. An invitation is extended to all churches to send their interested personnel including Sunday School teachers of the younger age groups. There will be no charge.

Epsilon Delta Holds Mother Daughter Banquet

Epsilon Delta Chapter of ESA held their annual Mother-Daughter banquet Sunday, May 17, at the Muleshoe Country Club.

Magann Rennels gave the opening ritual and expressed her appreciation to the other chapter members for their help during the past year. Lovenia Garlington gave the invocation.

Officers and guests were recognized by Magann Rennels. After the noon meal, Elaine Burgess introduced the guest speaker Wynon Mayes of Plainview.

Pat Young introduced the officers for 1981-82. They are Sharon Montgomery, president; Sylvia Vourazeris, vice president; Elaine Burgess, treasurer; Lisa McElroy, secretary; and Magann Rennels, educational director.

Highlight of the banquet was the presentation of awards. Georgia Pena was presented the West Texas State University Award to Women for Distinguished Service.

She is a director of federal programs working as a student supervisor of the Title I program at the Junior High.

Mary Nell Chapman received the Diana Award "Woman of the Year." Diana Harrison was named outstanding member of the chapter.

Rita Lane and Debbie Kittrell drew for door prizes. Receiving the prizes were Margaret Doabright of Dallas and Mildred Lambert.

Chile's first president, Bernardo O'Higgins, won his revolution with the help of a menagerie. At the Battle of Rancagua in 1814, O'Higgins, wounded and badly outnumbered, had his men round up every animal in the village and stampede them toward the Spanish lines, which broke.

Throw away the cigarettes

HOUSTON, TX. — Cigarette smoking remains the number one cause of lung cancer, the leading cancer among men and a steadily increasing cancer in women.

The risk of lung cancer increases with the number of cigarettes smoked each day, the depth of inhalation and the length of time a person has smoked.

Dr. Guy R. Newell, director of cancer prevention programs at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, says, "The risk of developing lung cancer is reduced a little by smoking less, and by using lower tar and nicotine brands. But quitting is the only effective safeguard."

For self-help material and more information on how to quit smoking, call the Texas Cancer Information Service toll-free at 1-800-392-2040.

How To Get A Tan Without Getting Sunburned

As summer approaches, many people are taking advantage of the warm weather to begin their tans. Jane Rosin, director of Eastern New Mexico University's Health Services, has some advice on getting a tan without getting a sunburn.

To prevent burning when sunbathing, Mrs. Rosin recommends that the sunbather start off slowly. "Sunlight is the most intense when the sun is directly overhead from about 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. If you go outside during these hours, it's best to stay out only 15 minutes the first time. The exposure can be increased five minutes every day."

Mrs. Rosin also points out that sunbathing before or after these hours, when there are fewer burning rays, may be a good way to start sunbathing.

"One problem sunbathers have is that there is no warning of a burn while sunbathing. Symptoms don't appear until a few hours later. People also need to keep in mind that water and sand can reflect sunlight and intensify its burning properties. A cloudy day can also be dangerous because it gives a false illusion that you can't get sunburned.

"Many people who are not from the Southwest burn themselves badly, thinking that the amount of sun here is the same as at lower elevations. Actually, we receive more of the sun's rays because we're above much of the cloud cover that shields the lower elevations. Pollution also shields many geographical areas."

For a person who is going to spend a long period of time in the sun, Mrs. Rosin recommends using a commercial sunscreen. "There are several effective sunscreens on the market. It's important to apply them before you go out and reapply as perspiration washes the sunscreen off."

For someone who has a sunburn, she advises that they avoid being in the sun until the burn is better. "A sunburn is a burn in every sense of the word. More sun will only increase the burn."

Other hazards of exposure to the sun need to be kept in mind. Certain drugs cause reactions to the sun. "People taking photosensitizing drugs such as sulfa drugs or tetracycline should be particularly careful with their first exposures to the sun because the drugs can cause a splotchy discoloration. Also, some people become allergic to the sun and an itchy, splotchy rash develops. This can occur at any age level."

Too much sun over a perios of time can predispose persons to skin cancer and can sometimes cause skin cancer. It also causes premature aging.

Mrs. Rosin pointed out, however, that sun is not always bad. "Sun is good for many skin ailments, and it's often used as a therapeutic tool. We also get Vitamin D from the sun."

Other methods of getting a tan include tanning booths and sun lamps. Mrs. Rosin advises caution however, with both methods. "Tanning booths may be the popular thing to do, but the lamps used in tanning booths produce more high-frequency light than the sun and are about twice as likely to cause skin cancer. Sun lamps can also be dangerous if not used properly. Every year we have people come in with severe burns from falling asleep under a sun lamp. By setting an alarm or having a friend check on you can help preven burns. The eyes also need to be protected."

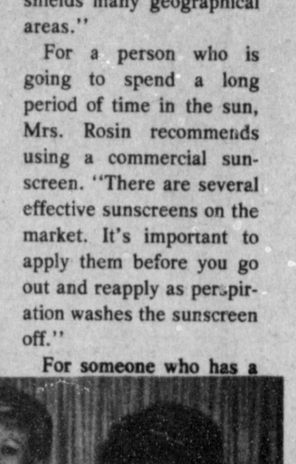

Having a tan is fashionable, but care needs to be taken when spending time in the sun. Simple precautions can prevent a sunburn and will keep skin healthier not only now, but in the future as well.

A sheet of fabric softener in the wastebasket helps give a room a nice soft smell in a hurry.

Miss Nowlin, Chesnut United In Doublering Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. JAMES CHESNUT [nee Linda Nowlin]

Miss Linda Dianne Nowlin of Muleshoe became the bride of James Timothy Chesnut of San Francisco at 7:30 p.m. April 17 in the Primitive Baptist Church in Muleshoe. Elder C.T. Nowlin, grandfather of the bride of Tiller, Arkansas, and Elder Bernard Gowens read the double ring vows.

Parents of the couple are Joel Nowlin of Muleshoe, Bonnie Nowlin of Odessa, Joe Chesnut of Jackson, Mississippi and Ruth Nowlin of Muleshoe.

A candelabra decorated with yellow candles and greenery decorated the altar. A centerpiece of daisies and candles decorated the piano. The pews were marked with yellow satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bridal gown made of white bridal satin featuring a chapel train. The bodice was accented by a lace yoke with a high neckline of lace and lace sleeves ending in points over her hands.

Her bouquet was made of yellow daisies accented with yellow lace, with yellow and white ribbon streamers.

Following tradition the bride carried a handkerchief crochet by the groom's great great grandmother, woven into her bouquet for something old; something borrowed was the groom's mother's diamond earrings; something new, sterling silver ankle bracelet, a gift from the groom; and something blue was a garter.

Fran Berryhill of Muleshoe served as maid of honor and Tammy Wall of Muleshoe was a bridesmaid. They were attired in identical yellow floor length gowns featuring a scalloped hemline. Miss Berryhill carried a bouquet made of white daisies accented with yellow lace and ribbon. Miss Wall carried a bouquet of yellow daisies accented with white lace and ribbon.

Joe Chesnut, the groom's father, was best man. Eddie Chesnut of Starkville, Mississippi, the groom's brother, was a groomsman. Jody Stevenson was the ring bearer.

Candlelighters were Donnie Nowlin, brother of the groom and Michelle Stevenson, both of Muleshoe.

Ushers were Martin Nowlin, brother of the bride, and Lance Groceman, groom's brother in law, all of Muleshoe.

Soloist was Marie Cundt, groom's sister of West Point. She sang "We've Only Just Begun," "For Baby," and "The Wedding Song."

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Mrs. Tammy Smith and Kelli Cross served at the bride's table.

Serving at the groom's table were Linette Newman and Donna Parish. Mrs. Lance Groceman, sister of the groom, registered the guests.

For a wedding trip to Red River, N.M., the bride chose a yellow cotton skirt and jacket accented with a printed blouse.

The bride is a 1980 graduate of Muleshoe High School. Chesnut graduated from Ackerman High School in 1979 and West Point High School.

Out of town guests were registered from Wilmar, Arkansas; DeLeon, Texas; Tillar, Arkansas, Jackson, Mississippi; West Point, Mississippi; and Starkville, Mississippi.

Annual Reading Conference To Be Held In June

"Motivate to Read and Read to Motivate" is the theme of the Sixth Annual Reading Conference to be held on the campus of Eastern New Mexico University, June 4-6.

The conference will focus on the areas of content, materials, and techniques in teaching reading. There will be seven keynote speakers and 17 workshop session leaders lecturing and instructing during the conference.

Keynote speakers for the conference are Lorna Balian author and illustrator of several children's books; Dr. Walter B. Barbe editor of "Highlights for Children"; Dr. Donald E. Carline, professor and director of the graduate program in reading, English and language arts at the University of Colorado; Dr. Alvin Granowsky, adjunct professor at North Texas State University; Dr. Marilyn Murphy, visiting assistant professor in the department of education at the University of New Mexico and a middle school reading consultant for Albuquerque Public Schools; Dr. Phyllis Musgrove, associate professor of secondary education and director of the School of Education at Eastern; and Dr. James M. Sawyer, director of membership and council relations for the International Reading Association.

The conference may be taken for graduate or undergraduate credit.

Moslah Shrine Temple Band of Fort Worth recently elected new officers and directors for 1981. Michael D. Epting of Mansfield, Texas was installed as second vice president and is serving his second term on the board of directors.

Epting plays the trumpet in the band. He is employed as credit manager for R.E. Sweeney, Inc. Builders Supply in Fort Worth and has been elected as second vice president of the Fort Worth Division of the National Association of Credit Managers.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Epting of Muleshoe and he attended Muleshoe schools.

Hobby Club

The Muleshoe Hobby Club went to Clovis for their annual Mother's Day luncheon, Thursday, May 7. Fifteen members and two children attended.

After lunch at Furr's Cafeteria, the ladies went shopping.

Club members attending were Sammie Ethridge, Veta Self, Fiddle Shafer, Verna Dement, Ethel Julian, Bernice Amerson, Mae Loyd, Mabel Caldwell, Marie Collum, Jessie Sherwood, Dora Phipps, and Ola Epperly, and visitors; Dora's daughter, June, Kim Jennings and son and Jessie Clark and son of Portales.

Time Insurance has just introduced a bold new major medical plan offering:

$1,000,000 in lifetime benefits per insured party.

Payment of all covered charges both in and out of the hospital. Without schedules.

A deductible you pay just once a year rather than with each medical occurrence.

And the plan is area-rated so you don't pay for higher risk areas of the country.

Call us for full details.

Girl Scouts Open Its Summer Program

For many households the distribution of grade cards and the closing of school doors upon another year signify preparation time for summer camp. Girl Scouts in the Lubbock area, summer camp often means a one or two week stay at Caprock Girl Scout Council's Camp Rio Blanco. Rio Blanco, a 118 acre area of canyon land with White River flowing through it, is located 5 miles east of Crosbyton on Highway 82.

The impressive Bridwell Lodge with its spacious dining hall, the new unit buildings, crafthouse, tent, cabin and wagon units, along with other areas, will be open for inspection. Many members of the 1981 camp staff headed by Camp Director Sharon Washburn will be present to answer questions about the camp.

The Girl Scouts opens its summer program June 7 with Troop Camp sessions for 4th, 5th, and 6th grade girls. One week and two week sessions for girls 4th through 12th grades will begin June 14. Brownie Overnights are being offered for 1st and 2nd graders during June and July for Girls who earned "Cookie Camperships" during the annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale held earlier in the year. Non-Scouts are also invited to attend camp sessions.

For further information on the Girl Scout camp program, call the Caprock Council Office, 745-2855.

Effective Self-Medication

Ask The Pharmacist

Some medicines, originally sold only by prescription—hydrocortisone, for example—have now been transferred to nonprescription status. Various other well established prescription medicines are being considered by the Food and Drug Administration for such a change in status.

Colleges of pharmacy train students to give patients advice on over-the-counter products, observed Christopher Rhodes, Chairman of the University of Rhode Island's pharmacy department. Dr. Rhodes spoke at a symposium sponsored by The Proprietary Association—the trade association representing the manufacturers of nonprescription medicines.

Enjoy that bacon in moderation

HOUSTON, TX. — Have you ever wondered what gives ham or bacon that tasty, cured flavor? Nitrates or nitrites, forms of salt, have been used for years to preserve food and add extra flavor.

But studies have shown that when nitrates and nitrites combine with certain other compounds in food, they can form nitrosamines, substances which have caused cancer in laboratory animals.

Should you give up smoked foods completely?

"Not if you enjoy them," says Dr. Guy R. Newell, director of cancer prevention programs at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute. "About 95 percent of nitrates come from naturally ingested foods, and nitrates, per se, have not been shown to cause cancer."

Practice common sense with the sun

HOUSTON, TX. — Skin cancer, a type of cancer found most frequently in the Sunbelt, also is the cancer that is easiest to cure.

How can you protect yourself against skin cancer?

"Wear adequate clothing if you are exposed to excessive amounts of sunlight. A good sun screen lotion is a must if you sunbathe," says Dr. Guy R. Newell, director of cancer prevention programs at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute. "If you work with chemical irritants, make sure you follow prescribed safety precautions."

Dr. Newell also says, "See a physician about removing any questionable skin areas, such as moles, if they are subjected to repeated irritation or injuries. Changes in a mole, wart or sore should be reported immediately to your doctor."

Surveys indicate that about 85 percent of human beings are right-handed.

Roundup In Texas '4 - H Style'

It's "roundup" time in Texas -- 4-H style.

To some 1,500 boys and girls across Texas, State 4-H Roundup is a highlight of their 4-H careers, points our Dr. John T. Pelham, state 4-H and youth leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. It's a time to "show off" their skills and expertise that they have acquired through long hours of study and practice, including winning top honors in county and district competition. Winners from Bailey County are the Livestock team and Horse Judging team.

Members of the Livestock team are Kelly, Alan, and Greg Harrison and Jimmy Gleason. Members of the Horse team are Kim Farmer, Tamara Gilliland, Shane Cluanch, Marlin Bynum and Casey Farmer.

4-H Roundup brings together the top talents in the state to compete in 38 different contests and events, ranging from demonstrations in agronomy, horticulture and poultry to judging soil, dairy cattle, horses and livestock.

The 35th annual Texas 4-H Roundup is June 2-3 on the campus of Texas A&M University. Activities begin with the State 4-H Food Show and State 4-H Project Show the first day.

Special awards and scholarships will be presented at an opening assembly the first evening at 7 p.m. in Rudder Auditorium. Scholarships totaling $331,000 will be presented to 67 4-H youth. These scholarships are provided by friends of 4-H from businesses, industries and organizations.

The heart of Roundup, the 38 contests and events, will begin bright and early the next morning. Top teams and individuals in these events will be recognized at a special assembly that evening at 8 p.m.

Two outstanding 4-H adult volunteer leaders from each of the 14 Extension districts will be recognized at a special luncheon June 3.

accident, Jerry Mick, employee of Ellis Ambulance was involved in an accident with Mrs. Jean McDaniel at the intersection of 8th and Avenue D. Both were taken to West Plains. Mrs. McDaniel was treated and released; however Mick was kept overnight for observation.

Also within the timespan of thirty minutes Joe Flores, driver of a motorcycle collided with a concrete block fence about the 600 block on Main Street. He was transported to West Plains Medical Center for treatment by Sargent Wayne Holmes of the Muleshoe City Police.

According to Chief Jerry Hicks, "No citations were issued in any of the three accidents."

About 8:17 a.m. Tuesday, a two car collision at the crossroads of American Boulevard and 2nd Street involved Ruby Garner and Nelda Mullins. There was minor damage to both vehicles involved and no injuries.

WORK! WORK! WORK!---Much preparation went into the creation of the Junior-Senior Prom scenes. Parents worked many hours to be ready for this event.

MHS Regional Track Results

The 400 m. relay team of Hector Orozco, Chris Kirven, Monty Hysinger and Quincy Kirvea, clocked in at 44:1 which was the best time of the year for the foursome. "If the state qualifies had been chosen by times and not heat places," said Coach Tom Duncan, "they would have gone to state."

Monty Hysinger also tallied his best time in the high hurdles of 15:35 and Marvin Lewis had one of his best throws in the discus which flew 134.9 feet.

Scott Ellard was fifth at regionals in the two mile run finishing behind four seniors. Ellard, a sophmore crossed the finish line at 10:51.1 and broke his previous school record. Aldo Almanza was sixth

The Grain Embargo

One can understand Democrats who criticized lifting of the grain embargo against the Soviet Union. President Carter imposed it after two years of idealism and naivete for good reason.

Carter acted to demonstrate U.S. feeling after the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan. And although Washington got NATO and other countries to join in this show of disapproval, Argentina, Canada and other countries refused to join and make the boycott effective.

Thus the embargo wasn't working. In fact, it was hurting U.S. farmers and the halt to their former huge sales of grain to Russia hurt the U.S. economically, affecting the trade balance, the dollar, etc. Moscow was getting grain elsewhere--and recently announced it would buy no more U.S. grain unless there was a guarantee against political sales cutoffs in the future.

Mr. Reagan made the best of a bad situation. He fulfilled a campaign promise to lift the embargo, ending a boycott that was hurting the U.S. more than Russia, and simultaneously letting it be known that if Russia invades Polland, not only grain but all trade with Russia will be ended.

One can understand the lifting of the embargo without criticizing its initiation in the wake of the Afghanistan invasion. The hard truth is that, because of long overspending, plus a lack of federal fiscal and economic discipline, the dollar, the trade balance and the economy need all the help they can get.

Memorial Day, 1981

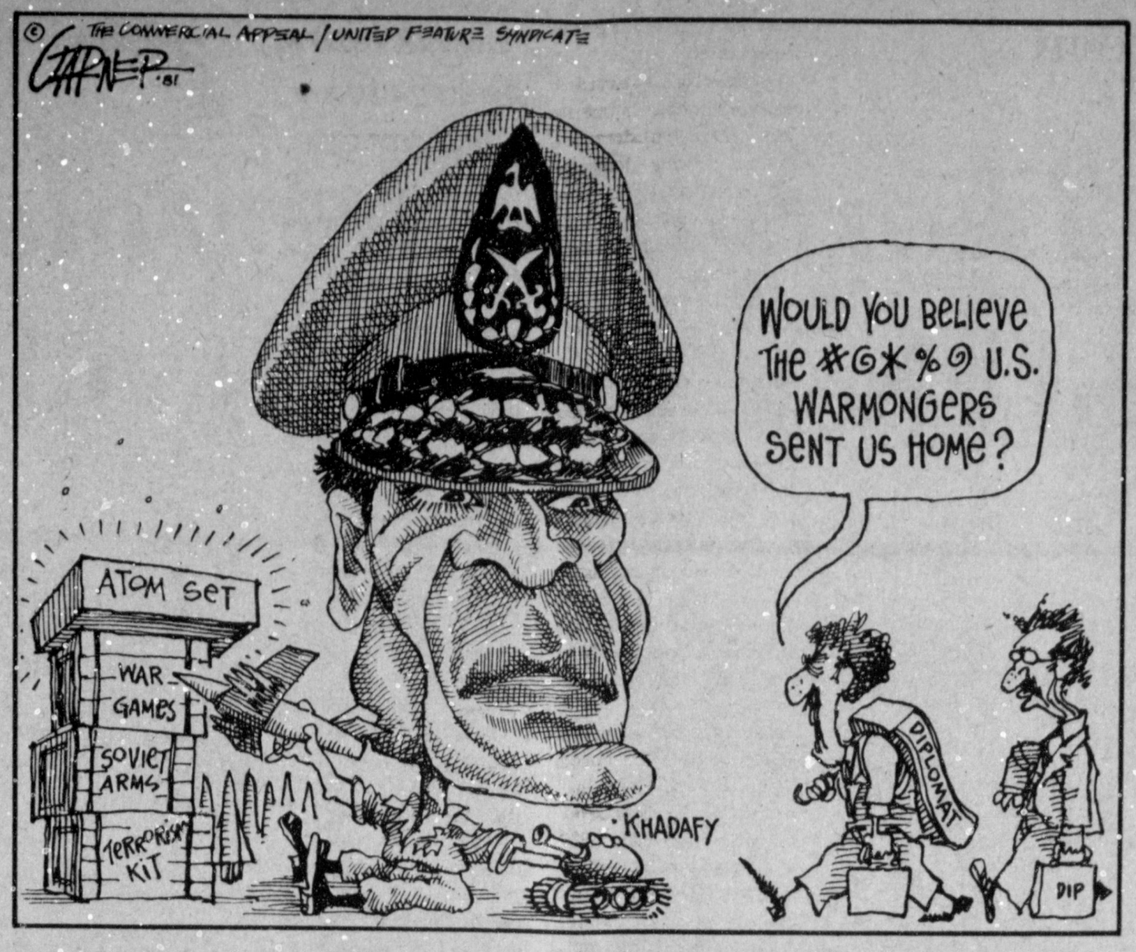

Memorial Day began--as a national observance--during the Civil War, first in Mississippi (Columbus and Vicksburg), Virginia (Winchester) and other states. By 1865 it was observed nationally. That year the Adjutant General of the U.S. Army suggested graves be decorated throughout the country.

Christianity, idealistic and moral principles and philosophies notwithstanding--unless a free nation contains men willing to fight and die, if necessary, for country and freedom, liberty cannot long survive.

These are appropriate thoughts for the 25th, Memorial Day, 1981. And to all who responded to duty when their country called, and who gave their lives, the nation is indebted.

It is too much to expect each individual soldier, sailor or airman to pass individually on the rightness or wrongness of the foreign policy of his government and act accordingly.

This can produce chaos. Rather, a nation must necessarily depend on brave men and women who believe that duty is still a sublime word in the English language.

WASHINGTON NOTES

COST TO RISE

Japan's willingness to reduce its auto shipments to the United States will cost the American small car buyer an extra $200 to $400--not just for an import, but for a domestic make as well, government and industry experts predicted recently.

REAGAN PRAISES HAIG

President Reagan welcomed Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. home from Europe, calling it "a triumphal return" from a meeting with America's North Atlantic allies in Rome.

REAGAN'S VICTORY

The House passed a $689-billion budget plan drafted to President Reagan's prescription for economic recovery through massive cuts in spanding and taxes. Democrats joined a unanimous Republican minority to seal the decision.

U.S., JAPAN, SOVIETS

President Reagan, declaring that "Japan and America will go forward together," in White House talks with Japanese Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki that were designed to pave the way for increased strategic and military cooperation.

U.S. ARMS TALK PLANS

ROME -- The North Atlantic Alliance closed one of the most divisive chapters in its history with a ringing endorsement of the Reagan administration's decision to start arms reduction talks with the Soviets by year's end. The Soviets were sharply critical of the NATO decision.

MORMONS, MX SYSTEM

SALT LAKE CITY -- Mormon Church President Spencer Kimball has deplored "arsenals of nuclear weaponry" and asked the Reagan administration to scrap plans to build the MX missile system in the desert basins of Utah and Nevada.

BOSTON & SCHOOLS

BOSTON -- The state Supreme Court has ordered Boston to keep its near-penniless school system open through the end of the year, ending two months of uncertainty for 64,000 students. The nation's oldest school system was scraping the bottom of its $210 million budget.

HOLE GROWS

WINTER PARK, FLA. -- A giant sinkhole gulped down a house, six expensive imported cars and part of a car lot in this central Florida town and was nibbling at other buildings and a municipal swimming pool.

LEADERS QUIT

WARSAW, POLAND -- Leaders of the Communist-supported United Peasants Party who tried but failed to stop formation of an independent farmers' union resigned in a move which underlined the strength of Poland's free trade unions.

HAS NEW HEART

MINNEAPOLIS -- A 9-year-old girl, one of the world's youngest heart transplant patients, who had been given only about a month to live, received the heart of an 11-year-old girl accident victim in a six-hour operation by a team of four surgeons.

We Americans are entirely too careless; we pay for it with human lives.

BREAKS HIP

KANSAS CITY, MO. -- Bess Truman, 96, frail and unable to walk, fell from her bed and fractured her right hip. The former first lady was hospitalized for surgery.

AMMUNITION EXPLOSION

RADFORD, VA. -- Four workers were burned and the roof was blown off a building recently in an explosion during a test of a new powder-making process at the Army Ammunition Plant.

DESIGNS MEMORIAL

WASHINGTON -- Maya Ying Lin, a 21-year-old architecture student at Yale University, won a competition to design a Washington memorial to the 57,692 Americans who died in Vietnam, and whose names will be engraved on its polished black granite walls. She will get $20,000 for her design.

URGED TO LEAVE

The State Department had urged American firms to bring their employees home from Libya following the expulsion of Libya's diplomats from the United States. American diplomats were removed from Libya in December 1979, following burning of the U.S. embassy in Tripoli.

REASON FOR EXPULSION

The Department of State ordered all Libyan diplomats to leave the United States, and charged the regime of Col. Moammar Khadafy with a wide range of "provocations and misconduct, including support for international terrorism."

Edward Zorinsky, Senator (D-Neb), on insanity plea changes:

"This bill is an attempt to find a better way of dealing with a much-abused and unsuccessful procedure."

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

With the resurgence of the American spirit we have experienced during the crises and uncertainties of the past year and a half, this is a good time to make Memorial Day mean more than the beginning of summer and the Indianapolis 500.

Memorial Day was meant to be -- and should be again -- a time to remember those who were called upon to give their lives for their country. Our nation was born from a fight for freedom, and over and over again young men have given their lives for our nation.

We honor all those who have served in war over the past two centuries, but this year we should pay special tribute for those who served in the Vietnam conflict.

The entire Vietnam experience was a troubling one for our citizenry, and in the national ambivalence that surrounded it we for too long neglected to honor those who served, and those who died.

For after all of the rhetoric, after all the debate, after all the hindsight realizations about what we could or should have done in Vietnam, we have thousands and thousands of young people who did their country's bidding. We owe honor to their patriotism. We owe honor to their sacrifices.

I am gratified to see the growing appreciation of these fine people. The most tangible expression is in the form of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, to be built in Washington, D.C. and to stand alongside other monuments to great Americans.

Congress has set aside the land for this memorial. I might add that in an almost unprecedented show of unity, all 100 senators co-sponsored the legislation to authorize the memorial.

But no government money will go into the building of the memorial. All of the estimated $2.5 million cost is coming from private contributions, making this truly a people's memorial to their brave fellow citizens. The names of the more than 57,000 servicemen who died in Vietnam, as well as those still listed as missing in action, will appear on the memorial. However, the memorial will serve as a tribute to all 2.7 million who served there, also.

In addition to being a memorial to those who have already served, this memorial will be a statement to the young who will be called upon to serve in our Armed Services now and in the future. It will tell them that this nation appreciates those who give time from their lives, and even risk their lives, to keep our country strong.

The design already has been selected, and plans are to dedicate the memorial on Veterans' Day 1982. Fundraising efforts have begun all over the country, and public response appears to be good.

I would encourage my fellow Texans to participate in this effort to recognize the valor and patriotism of those who served their country in a trying and difficult time.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—One of the most controversial bills to come before the Legislature this session is House Bill 360 which provides for restricted electronic surveillance in felony narcotic cases.

The pros and cons of wiretapping have been heard in public testimony received by the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee during the last few months. Recently, as the result of much study and consideration, the full House of Representatives passed the wiretap bill.

This bill provides that authority to conduct wiretaps can only be given by nine district judges of Texas, one in each of nine administrative judicial districts. The Texas Department of Public Safety is the designated agency which can own wiretapping equipment and install and monitor wiretaps.

The bill pays careful attention to safeguards on restricting the use of wiretaps. It limits surveillance to 30 days unless additional 30-day extensions are obtained from the judge. Illegal wiretapping is made a felony offense, and information obtained from illegal wiretaps is not admissible in court. Individuals whose conversations are recorded must be notified within 90 days after the wiretap is completed. Moreover, targets of wiretaps which are not approved by the judge must also be notified.

I am confident that if the Senate concurs with the opinions of the House on this important piece of legislation, our new weapon will be used carefully and efficiently for the sole purpose of ridding our state of illegal drug traffic profiteers.

Oilseed Crops Production, Prices Mixed

Looking at this year's production and marketing of oilseed crops such as soybeans, sunflowers and peanuts, it's a muddled picture.

"The 1981 marketing season for oilseed crops will depend heavily on weather conditions, and prices will likely be erratic," points out Johnny Feagan, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Prices will likely move up or down due to rumors rather than fact."

World production of oilseed crops is projected to be down slightly this year. At the same time world demand is expected to be up about 4 percent over last year. This demand could increase even more depending on conditions in Western Europe and the Soviet Union.

Although world demand is up some, US exports of oilseed products have suffered during the past year, says the economist. The value of all oilseed products exported during 1980-81 is expected to be down about 10 percent.

As far as US production is concerned, Feagan sees the 1981 soybean crop at some 70 million acres, down about 4 percent from last year. Poor domestic demand and about a 27 percent reduction in exports have pushed prices down to near the $7 per bushel level.

Soybean oil is at a record high level in the US due to sluggish foreign demand. This is slowing domestic crushing. US soybean inventories should total about 275 million bushels at the end of the current marketing year -- a sharp increase over earlier estimates.

Reports that Soviet vegetable oil production has taken a sharp drop could be a boon for US producers depending on what happens to the current embargo, adds Feagan. However a record soybean crop is in the making in South America, and Brazil and Argentina export heavily to the Soviet Union and Mexico.

The two other major US oilseed crops offer mixed pictures. Peanut Production should be up sharply this year due to the 1980 poor crop. Acreage will be up about 2 percent and prices should be strong. On the other hand, sunflower acreage should be down about 30 percent but prices should be up about 2 cents a pound.

Asbestos can cause lung disease

HOUSTON, TX. — Asbestos has been used widely in many industries for the past 40 years as insulation and fireproofing, and in textiles and construction. Research has shown that breathing asbestos fibers can cause serious lung diseases, including cancer.

Dr. Guy R. Newell, director of cancer prevention programs at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, says, "It may take 30 years or more for asbestos-related diseases to develop. If you ever may have been exposed to loose asbestos fibers during work without using a protective mask, check with your doctor, even if you are feeling well.

"If you smoke, you also are increasing your risk of asbestos-related disease, so quit now. And be sure to get prompt medical treatment for any respiratory illness," he adds.

Focus Fairs, Events On Customers

To be effective in planning community festivals, fairs and similar events, focus on the customer, emphasized Dr. John Crompton at a recent conference for community planners at Texas A&M University.

"Find out what people want," said Crompton, an association professor with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas A&M's Department of Recreation and Parks. "It's not what you want that's important but what your customer wants.

"You need to sell the venefits of your product, not the product itself," he noted. "Your promotional material must convey what the benefits of your product (event) are." He pointed out that most people take part in events such as fairs and festivals because of excitement, increased self - satisfaction and self-worth, and association with peer groups.

In marketing an event or activity, Crompton listed five sets of tools to work with: clients (different groups of people), products (what you have to offer), time and place, price and promotion. "If you aren't as successful with your event as you would like to be, then you can change any one or a combination of these five items," he noted.

Crompton suggested segmenting the produce or event to satisfy different client groups, such as youth, senior citizens and those of various nationalities. Various activities and events can also be planned based on socio-demographic, behavorial and geographic differences.

"As far as promoting an event is concerned, the best promotional tool is for people to see the actual site," said Crompton. "Put your fair where most people will see it, where the most traffic is. This is the best, cheapest promotional tool you've got."

Crompton also noted the importance of adding a new dimension to your product (fair) each year and to build your promotion around it. "Bring in something new each year and abandon old things that have turned into losers," he emphasized.

The conference was sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M Department of Recreation and Parks, Bryan-College Station Chamber of Commerce Discover Texas Association and Texas Association of Fairs and Expositions.

Stay calm if snakebitten, specialist advises

COLLEGE STATION — It's snakebite season again as both man and snake begin their annual rites of spring — time for a reminder on what to do after meeting the business-end of a perturbed reptile.

"If you're bitten by any type of snake, try not to panic," says Charles Ramsey, a wildlife specialist with the Texas A&M University Wildlife and Fisheries Sciences Department. "If you encounter a snake, simply walk away. Most snakes are not aggressive, and in any case an average person can outrun any aggressive snake."

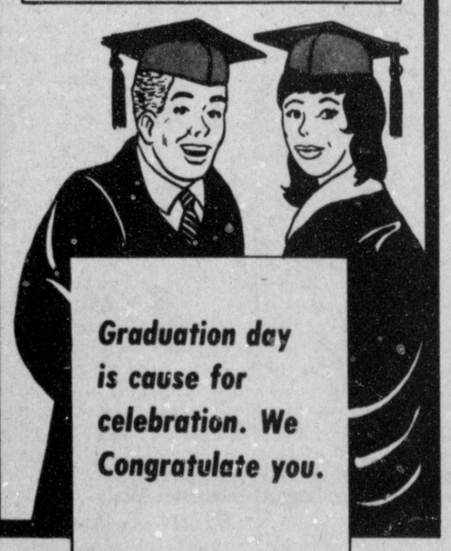

The fatality rate from snakebite is extremely low — less than one percent die of the average 2,400 bites reported annually — but it pays to know what to do if struck, Ramsey said.

"If the worst happens and a bite from a poisonous snake occurs, remain calm and avoid unnecessary movement," he said. "The rate of venom distribution throughout the body is slower if the person can remain still and quiet."

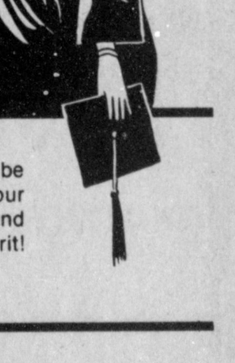

The only way to protect yourself against the fast talker is through calm thinking and slow action.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek has an unorthodox answer to an election problem this week.

Dear editor:

The US Census Bureau issued some figures the other day showing that 93 million people said they voted in the Presidential election last year, when actual voting figures showed only 86.5 million really voted.

In other words, 6.5 million people were putting the Census Bureau on. I don't know why, unless they figured it wasn't any of the Census Bureau's business. How or whether you vote is like your bank balance, it's private. I know a man who, walking down a street in his home town, glanced up at the bank's time and temperature sign and noticed it read "10.39." He rushed inside and demanded to know why the band was advertising his bank balance.

But what I'm getting at is the splendid possibilities offered by the fram of mind of those 6.5 million citizens who misinformed the Census people. It's the answer to the smart-aleck TV networks.

You'll recall they announced the winner in the Presidential election before all polls closed, by asking people as they came out of the voting booths how they voted. This outraged some people and they want a law prohibiting the networks from doing it again.

That's the trouble with this country. The only answer some people can think of to a problem is to pass a law.

The networks can be stopped from prematurely announcing election results if more people will join the 6.5 million who misinformed the Census Bureau. When you come out of the polling place and some TV reporter asks how your voted, tell wrong. The network will rush the results out and wind up hilariously fooled. One or two tailspins like that and the networks will go back to waiting like the rest of us. This procedure is not recommended when you're making out your income tax.

Yours faithfully,

J.A.

Defense system still functions for obese people

COLLEGE STATION — Although severely overweight people run substantially higher risks of heart attack, stroke, kidney disease, diabetes, cirrhosis of the liver and some forms of cancer, they apparently have as strong a system of natural defenses against infection as persons with normal weight, concludes a new medical study.

Scientists analyzed protein levels in the tears and blood serum of almost two dozen volunteers weighing between 200 and 300 pounds. The study also examined blood cell functions.

Dr. David McMurray, a Texas A&M University immunologist, said that in the patients tested, obesity alone — uncomplicated by high blood pressure or diabetes — did not impair the body's immune response.

AFRICAN SAFARI

Good Times - Old Friends

Sing for Your Supper Mr. E.

Sounds of jungle drums and strange noises in the night greeted the guests of the Junior-Senior banquet on May 16th.

Chief Bwana and Princess Swazi (Michael Isaac and Janell Burks) welcomed visitors to share their jungle feast of BBQ'd Wildebeests (sliced BBQ), Safari slaw, (cole slaw), Libyan Legumes (beans), African Root Salad (potato salad), Monkey Bread (rolls) and Congo Cream (butter), all from Sutphen's of Amarillo.

Porters seated guests and served the meal. They were from the Sophomore Class and included Darin Bratcher, Scott Campbell, Jeff Combs, Zeke Contreras, Scott Ellard, Raul Garcia, Todd Holt, Leroy Hurtado, Chubby Ramos, Freddy Vela, Todd Thornton, Rene Reyes, Sandra Agundis, Kelly Bayless, Annette Crabtree, Rhonda Dunham, Martha Flores, Charli Hawkins, Tori Hunt, Laura Leal, Berna Lopez, Sandra Martinez, Christal Taylor, and Sandra Speck.

Entertainment was provides by Bill Gammill of Lubbock. Gammill played several instruments and involved the audience with a sing-a-long atmosphere.

Another highlight included the Jungle Players of the Junior and Sophomore classes. The players mimed the song "Guitarzan" along with Jane and Cheeta; then grabbed various partners from the audience and proceeded to do an impromptu version of the jungle dance.

Master of ceremonies was Curtis Wheeler, welcome by Robin Burgess and the response from Carroll Precure on behalf of the Senior Class. Special thanks were given to the parents and faculty who worked so hard to get everything done by Ronnie Angeley. Senior tribute to the graduates was given by Jan Whitt. The benediction was given by Carla Shafer.

Class of 1981 officers are Carroll Precure, president; Clifford Watson, vice president; Keva Roming, secretary - treasurer; Diana Saldana, parliamentarian; Student Council representative and reporter, Carla Shafer. Sponsors are Stephen Johnson, Kerry Moore, and Keith Taylor.

The safari traveled to another part of the jungle for the "Native Dance", which was sponsored by the Junior and Senior Class parents. Star studded African skies shown down on palm trees where monkeys, lions and tigers peered between branches and from behind bushes. While jungle music filled the air, prom guests relaxed and enjoyed the unique atmosphere.

Grain Dust Explosion Research Needed

"We need help in trying to identify the causes and conditions that trigger dust explosions in Texas grain elevators," according to Bill Riffe, Stratford Grain Company, Stratford, Texas and president of Texas Grain and Feed Association. "We really do not think we need more inspectors until they can identify all of the causes and conditions," he continued.

Riffe pointed out that state and federal money could be put to better use in grain dust explosion research and in educational programs to help the elevator owners and operators after the causes and conditions are definitely identified. "It's sheer folly to think that an elevator owner-operator would knowingly allow conditions to exist in an elevator installation that could be the cause of a fire or explosion. There are many reasons why they would not allow them to exist," concluded Riffe.

In a statement by Ray Nolen, Executive Vice President of the Texas Grain and Feed Association, it was pointed out that elevator owners cannot afford to allow their elevators to explode or burn. "First of all," he said, "it usually puts them out of business for an extended period of time, which means a loss of profit, but more important than the loss of business and capital investment, is the possible loss of human lives or crippling injuries among employees. The employer invests large sums of money in training employees before they reach their maximum productivity, plus workmen's compensation insurance premiums and insurance premiums on the elevator installation. No one in his right mind would risk the lives of employees and these major investments by knowingly allowing the causes and conditions that trigger dust explosions to exist in their grain elevators or feed mills. For that reason, and no other reason, we need help in research and education. Top management of grain and feed firms will eliminate the causes and conditions just as soon as they are identified," Nolen concluded.

Grain and feed firms in the United States have already pledged $1.5 million for grain elevator and feed mill explosion and fire research. Several firms with elevators and feed mills in Texas have made major contributions to this research fund and are pledged to increase their contributions when needed. The Texas Grain and Feed Association has also contributed ten thousand dollars to the fund. Research efforts are being coordinated by the National Grain and Feed Association.

If you need to communicate an important message quickly and effectively, consider a Telegram.

Telegrams can be used in any situation where speed and impact are critical: submitting a real-estate bid, accepting a job or contract, voting by proxy, stopping credit on a lost or stolen charge card. They've also been used to buy and sell stocks, change travel plans, resolve travel emergencies, or even to submit an auction bid.

Telegrams are ideal for personal news as well: wedding and birth announcements or congratulations on news of a friend's good fortune.

Telegrams are one of the fastest types of message services. They can be sent 24-hours a day, seven days a week, anywhere in the continental United States (including Alaska), Canada and Mexico.

Telephone delivery is attempted within one hour, messenger within five. Western Union will keep trying if the first delivery attempt is not completed or notify the sender if all subsequent attempts fail. So you can be sure your message is received.

Thin is better for more reasons

HOUSTON, TX. — Use that butter carefully. Scientists are studying a new way excessive fat in the diet may affect people's health — the link between fat and the development of cancer.

"The average American takes in 40 percent of his daily calories in the form of total fat in the diet," says Dr. Guy R. Newell, director of cancer prevention programs at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute.

Scientists think that excessive amounts of fat may contribute indirectly to the cause of cancer by somehow influencing metabolic processes of normal cells to make them more susceptible to cancer caused by other agents.

"Cutting back on fat in the diet may be helpful in minimizing the chances of developing breast or colon cancer," Dr. Newell suggests.

For years Steel belted radials have been the established standard of the industry . . . now

Aramid — the space-age tire cord material has been developed by Dupont laboratories to replace steel as a belt material in radial tires.

Aramid is the ideal material for tires because it combines the toughness and durability of steel at one fifth of the weight with the comfort and smooth ride of a fabric belted radial.

MILEAGE
Stronger-than-steel Aramid gives equal performance with less weight. Lighter weight reduces internal friction and heat build-up.

SMOOTH RIDE
The flexible lightweight Aramid belts plus super tough Polyester cord radial body plies deliver a smooth, comfortable ride.

SKID RESISTANCE
Sovereign's computerized tread pattern effectively drains out water and improves traction in wet or dry weather. Radial construction keeps the tread flat on the road with a surefooted grip. Flexible sidewalls absorb lateral forces; on curves and corners the tread remains in contact with the road.

ALL WEATHER TRACTION
Special tread rubber compounding stays flexible in cold weather to deliver improved traction on any kind of road condition. New computer-designed tread improves traction by channeling water away on wet roads.

IMPACT PROTECTION
Aramid is the strongest tire cord ever developed. Pound for pound it's five times stronger than steel. Two Aramid belts over strong polyester cord radial body plies provide flexible strength for great durability.

ALL WEATHER COMPUTER DESIGNED TREAD
A quiet running, computer-designed tread channels water away to provide excellent gripping action for any type of road condition — wet or dry. Most tread compounding remains flexible in cold weather for extra traction on ice or snow.

ARAMID BELTS
Provides a more comfortable ride than steel. Aramid belts increase your protection from cuts, punctures and other road hazards.

POLYESTER RADIAL PLIES
Polyester cord radial plies run from bead to bead. These strong body plies absorb bumps and road shock. Radial construction keeps the tread flat on the road for great control, even on curves.

SPECIAL SIDEWALL REINFORCEMENTS
A special high modulus super rubber is positioned above the rim head. This stabilizes the sidewall for more positive steering action and recovery on sharp turns.

RADIAL CONSTRUCTION
Radial construction minimizes friction and road distortion for long tread life. You benefit with better gas economy, improved traction and handling and superior control on curves.

NEUTRAL CONTOUR TIRE SHAPE
New three-bar square contour, has been designed to relieve internal stress points at belt edges. Engineered for qualified strength and performance.

Embargo Lift Good For Texas Farmers

Lifting of the US grain embargo against Russia is good news to Texas farmers, maintains an economist in marketing and policy with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Ron Knutson pointed out that with the wheat harvest less than two months away, this move should provide added market strength at harvest.

"In the short to intermediate term, it should mean grain price increases in the range of 5 to 7 percent. The longer term impacts, while more important, are more uncertain," Knutson, who earlier had served as a member of President Reagan's transition team, said.

"Under the long-term trade agreement, if the Soviet Union wants to buy over 8 million metric tons of wheat and feedgrains, it must consult with US officials," he added.

This process of consultation or negotiation will now begin, and involves:

1. Additional quantities of wheat and feedgrains that we will allow the Soviets to purchase through September 30.

2. Development of a new long-term trade agreement specifying minimum purchase by the Soviets over a period of up to five years.

3. The quantities the Soviet Union is advised it can purchase after September 30, over and above the minimums specified in the long-term trade agreement.

The Reagan administration has already indicated a desire to negotiate a new long-term trade agreement. Ideally, this should be completed by September 30, 1981, when the old agreement expires, Knutson said.

"Another uncertainty is just how much grain the Soviets might want to buy from the US after the embargo experience. Feedgrains and soybeans should be no problem in this regard. World supplies are tight, and we supply about 80 percent of this market," he said.

Wheat is more uncertain. Argentina, Australia and Canada already have trade agreements with the Soviets. The French also want to sell. The wheat market will likely be the most difficult to recover--but the most important to Texas since wheat is our largest grain source of income," Knutson added.

Can vitamins prevent cancer?

HOUSTON, TX. — Vitamins are proving more than mere breakfast supplements. Scientists are studying compounds found in several common vitamins to learn more about the growth and development of cancer cells.

Dr. Guy R. Newell, director of cancer prevention programs at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, explains that retinoids, components of vitamin A, are attracting considerable scientific interest for their ability to control cell growth in certain body organs.

"Retinoid deficiency may improve the ability of a carcinogen (cancer-causing agent) to act on the cell's DNA," he says. "DNA serves as the blueprint for normal cell replication. Scientists hope eventually to find ways to supplement the diet to prevent, slow down or even reverse the development of cancer at this basic cellular level."

Cotton Is On Top Again

Cotton is on top of the world again.

Once king of all fibers, the fluffy white stuff went into space with astronauts John Young and Robert Crippen. Their in-flight uniforms were made of Fire Stop flame-retardant 100 percent cotton.

The national Aeronautics and Space administration (NASA) chose Fire Stop cotton for the uniforms over an array of synthetic fibers because "of its excellent flame retardant properties and its comfort."

Thanks to the efforts of Cotton Incorporated, the marketing and promotion arm of cotton producers, astronauts will be wearing 100 percent cotton during future space shuttle flights.

And not only are astronauts wearing all-cotton training and flight uniforms, but many of the nation's leading fire departments protect their firemen with flame-resistant 100 percent turnout coats and station wear.

bers were electrical resistivity, absence of odor and the fact that cotton doesn't give off toxic fumes when heated.

And, of course, comfort and cost were big factors.

"We were looking for low cost and cotton is less expensive than synthetics," said Dr. Fred Dawn, special assistant at NASA's Lyndon B. Johnson Space Center in Houston.

In extensive testing by NASA, cotton excelled particularly in comfort and electrical resistivity.

Electrical resistivity is vital, especially with ground crews, because of the danger of sparks igniting rocket propellant, says Glenn Morton, manager of Cotton Incorporated's textile services laboratory.

The process used by Cotton Incorporated researchers to chemically treat the cotton fabric is known as the ammonia cure or phosphonium salt system. The flame resistant properties are locked in so the fiber would have to be destroyed to remove the flame resistant characteristics.

The fabric NASA selected uses a second chemical finish in addition to the fire retardant finish used in the firefighters' uniforms and other protective apparel because of the oxygen enriched atmosphere of the shuttle.

The future of flame resistant cotton seems promising. Cotton's comfort, its cost, and flame resistant properties, make it the natural choice for those interested in protective clothing.

What does all this mean to the cotton producer? About a 100,000 bale per year market potential representing roughly $35 million.

Other cotton qualities which helped NASA make its choice over previously used aramid synthetic fi-

Law Day: A Time For An Agenda For Justice

By Harry M. Philo
President
Association of Trial Lawyers of America

On Law Day, USA, May 1, many bar associations and bar leaders participating in Law Day programs will issue statements expressing near total satisfaction with our nation's current legal system and laws.

Such an approach to Law Day ill serves society, confusing a legal system with a system of justice. As trial lawyers who represent society's victims, we recognize Law Day as the time to begin our agenda to improve remedies, reduce needless injuries and deaths and bring about a system of justice.

Harry M. Philo

Our current legal system, in contrast to theoretical constitutional guarantees, does not yet produce justice and needs improvement, especially in light of the present unreasonable limitations on the rights of civil plaintiffs and criminally accused defendants, and the unreasonable restraints impeding proper representation of those victims by trial lawyers. Trial lawyers play a major role in improving our nation's legal system by seeking changes in our country's social architecture toward a comprehensive agenda for justice.

This agenda begins with world peace through law, supporting international legal agreements which limit arms and foster cooperation and progress among the nations of the world.

Justice requires the fullest access to the courts for all people, including the poor, minorities and handicaps, through elimination of unreasonable immunities and privileges and through expansion of remedies for victims and spouses. Access to the courts also includes eliminating oppressive statutes of limitations, expanding allowable attorney's fees and insuring criminal due process through independence of the bar and elimination of grand jury and sentencing abuses.

Trial lawyers concerned with this agenda insist on governmental reponsibilities for an active role in industrial and product safety, in reasonable protection and benefits for the disabled, and in an adequate judiciary representative of society.

Justice further requires fairer trials with respect for juries as fact finders and with elimination of outdated defenses. As trial lawyers on the side of people, we recognize that the law is never settled until it is settled right. It is never right unless it is just. And it is never just until it serves society to the fullest.

Thus, on Law Day, USA, 1981, the trial bar omits the usual platitudes, but pledges to undertake the urgent agenda for a legal system which is a just system serving society to the fullest.

An old belief is that if your right ear rings, someone is saying good things about you. If your left ear rings, you are not being flattered.

David A. Stockman, Budget director, on unfair budget cuts:

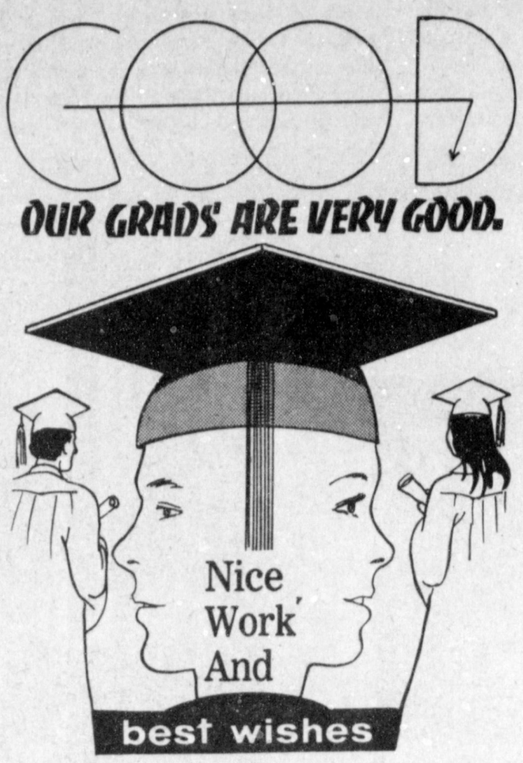

"The analysis prepared by my agency completely negates that charge of regional imbalance."

Sam Church, union president, in coal strike:

"I hoped the industry would reconsider the decision of its three bargainers to turn down the union's proposals."

It takes 32,000 flowers to make one pound of saffron.

SeedTec™ sunflowers make the most of a little water.

Here in the High Plains of Texas, a little water has to go a long way. But now, you can make the most of a little water by planting SeedTec sunflowers, the drought-tolerant crop that thrives in hot, dry weather.

Cut your irrigation costs and conserve water.
By planting SeedTec sunflowers now, you can cut irrigation costs and conserve one of your most valuable resources—water. With only one or two waterings, your SeedTec sunflowers can have the moisture they need for excellent performance. Compare that to the expense of irrigating corn or sorghum, and you'll see why SeedTec sunflowers are the logical alternative to high pumping costs and dwindling water supplies.

Cut your total production costs.
On irrigated land, sunflowers cost less to produce than corn, cotton or sorghum. And while sunflower production costs are low, the world demand for sunflower oil is high. So sunflowers offer excellent profit potential.

Cut nutritious silage from SeedTec sunflowers.
SeedTec sunflowers make great silage, any way you cut it. In fact, sunflower silage contains more protein and fat than corn or sorghum silage. Yet sunflower silage costs less to produce.

To make the most of a little water this year, call your SeedTec dealer today.

GTE Calls Testimony "Virtually Meaningless"

Testimony filed with the Texas Public Utility Commission on behalf of General Telephone by a University of Texas at Dallas professor, who teaches Marketing Research, calls survey research conducted by various cities "virtually meaningless."

About 25 cities utilized the Texas Municipal League (TML) authored survey to oppose General Telephone's rate case before the Commission. The testimony filed by Dr. Charles A. Ingene, assistant professor of marketing was entered into the record Thursday without opposition from either the Commission staff or TML, nor did either party cross examine Ingene of his conclusions.

Ingene said in his filed testimony, "In my opinion, it is extremely difficult to draw any meaningful conclusions from these surveys because of the biases inherent in them."

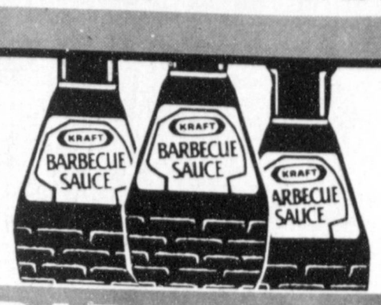

He explained his findings are based on the high degree of publicity surrounding the rate increase, the active opposition of the TML, the apparent success in opposing the last rate increase and the "fine" imposed by the Commission.

In addition, he points out a number of errors which would make results invalid. He said these problems were made more severe by the introductory comments in most cases, by the inclusion of a loaded self-interest question "Does GTE deserve a rate increase?", by questionable phrasing of the questions and some poor choices of optional answers.

"Finally, in these inflationary times it is rare that people have an opportunity to oppose a price rise vocally. It is rarer still that people can expect to have an impact on the results. Regulated industries are an exception to this rule. GTSW is a particular exception because the penalty imposed by the Commission in the last rate hearing case has given people the impression that vocal opposition can be successful in holding down rate increases."

The testimony says other sources of information are in conflict with survey results, such as the service level comparisons which show GTSW service is above or near the standards set by the Commission.

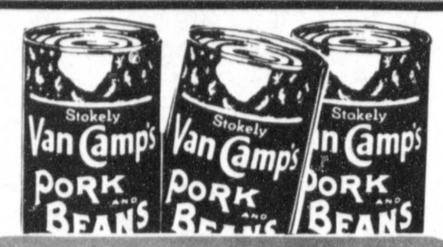

"While this does not address the question of customer perception, it does suggest that the survey results are not measuring service levels as the Commission has traditionally measured service."

West Texas State To Offer Scholarships

Dr. Roy E. Thoman, Director, announces that the Political Science Department at West Texas State University has received a grant from the Texas Bureau for Economic Understanding to conduct a special summer program which will deal with the free enterprise system.

This 6 hour, graduate level program, designed mainly for social studies teachers, will be offered during the 1981 second summer term. There are approximately 30 scholarships to be awarded. Those receiving scholarships will be able to enroll for six graduate credit hours, with the scholarship providing free tuition, fees, books, and, in some cases, free university housing.

Thoman states, "We believe that the two courses making up this program will be stimulating and beneficial. 'Political Systema and Capitalism' (POSC55912-1) and 'American Government and the Free Enterprise System' (POSC55991-1) will both be offered in the afternoon, with the latter beginning at 1:00. For the convenience of participating teachers, the courses will be offered on an accelerated basis. The entire program will last only about three and a half weeks. I sincerely believe that you will enjoy this opportunity to learn about the interaction between governmand and the free enterprise system in a relazed, friendly, and professional seminar atmosphere."

To apply for a scholarship contact Dr. Roy E. Thoman, Director, TBEU Summer Scholarship Program, c/o Political Science Department, Old Main Building, West Texas State University, Canyon, Texas 79016.

Janet Nix Places In Miss Northern Teen Pagent

Miss Janet Nix, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Nix of Sudan, was crowned second runner up in the recent Miss Northern Texas National Teen Ager Pageant at Clarendon College.

Diane Warden of Hereford received the Northern Texas crown and will compete in the Miss Texas National Teen Ager Pageant to be held in Fort Worth June 6-7.

Other winners were Lisa Gaskell of Dalhart, first runner up; Sonny Donnell of Canyon, third runner up and Kimberly Hudson, fourth runner up.

The participants were judeged on scholastic achievement - leadership; personality - poise; and appearance and each participated in the Volunteer Community Service program and received the Mini - Modeling Charm Course of the pageant.

Miss Nix was also named Miss Photogenic.

Prisoners Not Eligible For Checks

Felons will no longer be paid social security disability checks while confined in jail or prison. On October 19, 1980, President Carter signed Public Law 96-473 which provides for nonpayment of checks to prisoners confined for felonies. Effective date of this provision was October 1, 1980 and went almost unnoticed as it was not given much publicity.

No checks will be paid for the period of time the prisoner is confined even if the person was eligible for the checks at the time he went into prison, and remains eligible after his release from prison.

In addition to nonpayment while in prison, there are three other provisions affecting those whose checks are withheld because of these provisions.

No longer will physical or mental conditions occurring while in prison be used to establish a disability.

The same provision applies if a disabling condition occurs while committing a felony.

Finally, no student benefits can be paid to prisoners even thoug they may be attending school full time while in prison.

ERIC HUNKE

Eric Hunke Appointed To West Point

Eric Hunke, the son of Tom Hunke former Muleshoe resident and a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Vinson of Muleshoe, has been appointed to West Point Academy.

He lived in Muleshoe seven years. His father was an electrican and a Muleshoe resident for 15-18 years.

Hunke was a commander of his Jr. ROTC Unit in his senior year and make the National Honor Society. He also entered and won the University of Houston Orienting meet.

In June 1978, he joined the Air Borne Rangers, taking his basic training at Ft. Leonard Woods, Mo. He attended jump school at Ft. Benning, and took his position in the Rangers at Ft. Lewis, Washington, where he had survival training. He also had jungle survival training in Panama.

Last year he won the Dist. Service Medal (the only one below Sarg.) the fifth highest award in the Army.

Nine years ago in June he entered U.S.M.A.P., the military prep school for West Point.

In December he received his Sarg. rating and soon then after Senator Floyd Bentson nominated him for West Point. Just after Easter, he received his appointment to West Point.

He will graduate from prep school in June.

PACKING FOR A TRIP

Here are a few tips that should make your traveling easier and help you look your best.

- Pack firmly, as loose packing allows clothing to move about and wrinkle easily.

If you have to pack a suit, fold the jacket flat and layer the trousers in with the jacket.

- Pack the heaviest articles on the bottom of the bag (in carrying position) and distribute the weight evenly, making it easier to carry.
- Pack shoes in plastic bags to keep your clothing clean. Stuff socks into shoes to save space and help keep shoes in shape.
- If you haven't a hanging garment bag, fold jackets flat with buttons open and layer trousers in with the jacket to prevent crease lines.
- Carry personal grooming aids in a separate kit and if you're traveling by air, put it in a "carry-on" bag. In case your luggage is misplaced, at least you'll have the essentials.

Veterans Administration Pays Over $11 Billion

A recently published Veterans Administration research bulletin discloses that the agency pays over $11 billion annually, nearly one-half of the VA yearly budget, to five million veterans and survivors under the agency's various compensation and pension programs.

Some of the facts highlighting this statistical report include:

* Over forty percent of the recipients live in six states: California, Florida, New York, Texas, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

* 2.3 million veterans receive compensation totaling over one billion dollars for service-connected disabilities.

* Of those veterans receiving compensation, 24 percent were disabled during the Vietnam Era, while 53 percent were disabled in World War II.

* Female veterans comprise one percent of the total receiving compensation from all wars.

* Eighty-four percent of the veteran population receiving compensation is under the age of 65 years of age.

* Over 920,000 veterans receive a non-service-connected disability pension. In this group, 49 percent are 65 years of age or older.

* VA pays monthly survivor benefits to approximately 1.8 million surviving spouses, children and dependent parents.

* Survivor benefits account for $2.7 billion in annual expenditures for compensation and pension.

The question of saccharin

HOUSTON, TX. — Should saccharin be banned because it might cause cancer? The controversy surrounding the artificial sweetener continues.

Dr. Guy R. Newell, director of cancer prevention programs at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, says, "Laboratory tests have shown that saccharin does not uniformly cause cancer in all animal species studied."

He says that one wise approach to the human consumption of saccharin would be to remove the product from widespread use as a food additive. However, he says, it could be retained as an over-the-counter product for those people who want to use it.

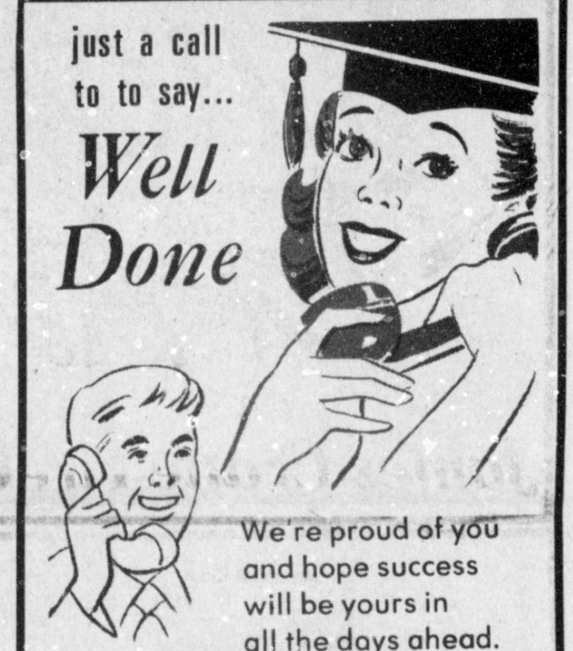

"As a good measure, children should not take saccharin or any potential cancer-causing agent during early developmental years, and pregnant women should avoid its use as they should any non-essential drug," Dr. Newell adds.

I hope to find my country in the right; however, I will stand by her, right or wrong.

Chemical Contaminants New Health Threat

After many years of enjoying some of the world's safest drinking water--free from the cholera, typhoid and other water-borne diseases that plagued their ancestors--Americans are now facing a new and different threat to their water supply according to National Wildlife magazine.

The threat is chemical contamination ---- mostly from industrial wastes that seep into our waterways--and is menace to our drinking water may become the "environmental horror story of the 1980's," the National Wildlife Federation's bimonthly publication reports. At certain concentrations they can cause nausea, dizziness, tremors and blindness.

There is also evidence that some of the chemicals found in drinking water present a potential risk of cancer. Dr. Kenneth P. Cantor, an epidemiologist at the National Cancer Institute, told National Wildlife that several recent studies "heighten our suspicions about a drinking water link to cancer, especially to colon, bladder and rectal cancers."

Where do these unwanted chemical contaminants in our drinking water originate? Eckhardt C. Beck, a former Environmental Protection Agency official, explained to National Wildlife: "Industrial discharges, agricultural and urban runoff and accidental chemicals." Recent surveys have found more than 700 organic chemicals in drinking water supplies, including 49 known or suspected cancer-causing compounds. The Mississippi and Ohio Rivers are among the most polluted waterways.

Chloroform--a suspected cancer producer--has been found in the drinking supplies of almost all surface water systems surveyed. It has also been found in 70 percent of chlorinated ground water systems.

National Wildlife also reports that there is mounting evidence that "contamination of ground water, once a pristine source of drinking water for 100 million Americans, and for 95 percent of the people in rural areas, is even worse in some areas that surface water."

Can concerned consumers take action? National Wildlife suggests that they insist that their water utilities test the water for chemical contaminants and then do whatever is necessary to get those contaminants out of the treated water. In addition, consumers can test their drinking water themselves, by writing their local state health departments for a sterile sample bottle and instructions. If anything questionable turns up, they should contact officials immediately. As one EPA official from the Office of Drinking Water emphasized, "If you wait for the body count, you have waited too long."

Surveys indicate that about 85 percent of human beings are right-handed.

KENW-TV To Air Red Cross Celebration

On Thursday, May 21, the American Red Cross celebrates its 100th year of voluntary service with a two hour celebration spectacular, "Ready for a New Century." Originating at Constitution Hall in Washington, D.C., the gala "birthday party" will be broadcast over KENW at 12 noon.

A highlight of the event will be the appearance of Vice President George Bush, who will present the Red Cross highest award to two lifesavers, Gary Henson and David Ostermeyer. These men applied Red Cross-learned first aid techniques to wounded individuals at the scene of the recent attempt on President Reagan's life.

Master of ceremonies for the celebration program will be Jamie Farr, otherwise known as Corporal Klinger of TV's hit series "M*A*S*H*." Featured entertainment includes performances by the international song and dance group, "Up with People," whose upbeat production numbers underscore the themes of celebration and people working together to help each other.

A ceremonial cake cutting and dramatic audio visual history of the Red Cross round out the program's events, which will be played out for some 4000 delegates to the organization's national convention.

Nursing Home News
By Joy Stancell

Saturday evening Ora Roberts, Alma Henley, and Russ Duncan went for a walk.

We welcome Mr. Mudgett back to the nursing home. He had surgery in Lubbock.

Mrs. Henley was visited by Zephie Nigh, Frankie Williams, Mrs. Taylor, Retta Shipp, Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Wilhite, Mrs. Cochran, Mrs. Ruby Brantley, Mrs. Routon and daughter, and Mr. Gerald Shanks.

Sunday afternoon members of the Calvary Baptist Church came to sing to the residents.

Friday the nursing home gave the residents a special May Day Dinner. The dining room had fresh cut flowers on the tables and big bouquets about the room. Bar-B-Que cheese burgers and french fries and cheese cake were the menu.

Saturday, Mr. Northcutt served refreshments to the residents in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Northcutt's 58th wedding anniversary.

Saturday night, Bertie Hendrix, Alma Henley, Russ Duncan, and Ora Roberts played dominoes. Eileen and Alishia Martha, Mrs. Frankie Williams, Mrs. Deedie Sliger, Mrs. Effie Jennings, Mrs. John Jones and daughters, her grandson from Seattle, Washington called her. James sent her several pretty shells from Clearwater, Florida.

Rex Steinbock visited Willie Steinbock Thursday.
