tate Senator Joseph E. Burkett requested Governor Neff to remit the university land purchase to the legislature with the view reducing the appropriation from million three hundred and fifty usand dollars to eight hundred and y thousand dollars. Regardless of senator, this university land purse act should be made a case of pended animation until nineteen dred and twenty-three or four. there are patriotic Texans who of the opinion that the Kerrville itarium appropriation should be ed in a condition comatose. Sen- Burkett has another proposition. would abolish the board of water ineers, the board of mining and livestock sanitary commission and e them as bureaus in the depart- t of agriculture. This would be right if the commissioner of agalture happened to be a scientist did not happen to be a tallow per, opposed to drainage or irrigan or tick dipping or the develop- t of the mineral resources of this tchless commonwealth. There are rds and bureaus that should be olished. Texas has a dozen state rnals and yet the university has reaching department. Texas has the lege of Industrial Arts which ould direct all the home extension rk and service. Texas likewise has c educator, one W. B. Bizzell, who rists that an agricultural and mechnical college established for the s of the state, should teach crosting, canning and cooking. "Fighting Joe" should get next to the real litical grafts and abolish them.

sterling P. Strong of Dallas is a ndidate for the United States nate, running as a democrat. He s a platform. He is opposed to btective tariffs; he favors amendnts to the Federal Reserve Act; is for wide world disarmament; is for the drastic enforcement of ohibition laws; he is for organized bor and believes that the Golden le should be used in the deliberation d practices of capital and labor and ys that the Harding administration s been such a colossal failure, that e people are certain to demand change. Mr. Strong is a former citn of Wise county, a former superndent of the anti-saloon league, d one of the most enthusiastic folwers of Mr. Woodrow Wilson and e policies throughout the country. the good old days, he was known "Block-All Legislation" Strong. d he contributed to the gaiety of itions vociferously and volumnously in the days when Thomas M. ampbell, derisively known as the ge of Palestine, was governor of e state.

Hon. J. W. Sullivan of Denton is e of the leading lawyers, builders d democrats of Central North Tex- . He was a delegate to the San rancisco convention and is widely own throughout the state. This an excerpt from a congratulatory tter from Mr. Sullivan. "While I gret the severance of your connecon with the Fort Worth Record, I ish to congratulate you on your quisition of the Wichita Falls paer and the people of Wichita Falls d Texas on getting a paper conolled editorially and otherwise by u. I have no doubt that you will ve the people a splendid newspaper d do great service for our state. With every good wish for your conued prosperity, I am your friend, W. Sullivan." To the hundreds friends in and out of Wichita Falls ho have sent their congratulations, e management of the Record News turns sincere thanks and promises do their best not to be a disapintment to the old patrons and the w ones to be made in this terriry.

Nathan Adams, one of the promin t bankers of Texas in a recent adess criticised the plan adopted for e cattle loan and said that while e idea was allright, the plan itself as fundamentally wrong. In dissing the Federal Reserve bank, he eclared the bank could amply handle e cotton crop and voiced his oppoion to the Federal Reserve lending oney to other banks to relend to erchants, remarking that the purose of the Federal Reserve is to rotect the products of the country. He gave it as his opinion that its ate of discount ought to be ten per ent instead of 4.5 except to the anks that are moving the crops. hose who are familiar with methods mployed know the whys and the herefores of the cattle loan and the an who manipulated it.

Representative Newton B. Williams f McLendon county does not take indly to the allegations of the govrnor that the appropriations committees have been extravagant in their stimates and in voting away the oney of the people. Williams as five terms to his credit. He is an able lawyer and when he isn't ursuing the law, he is pursuing the low—this latter by proxy. A resolution seeking to limit salaries of department heads and employes aroused the re of Williams and it was tabled on is motion. Salaries were increased en to twenty-five per cent by the hirty-sixth legislature. Champions of alary reduction insisted that business epressions, the general condition of inance and the lowered prices received or agricultural products demanded he restoration of the former wage cale. Representative F. B. Horton of Dallas county scored heavily when he aid, "the people and the country hould get away from talking of inancial ruin." He gave his fellow awmakers sensible advice. Men of the old south, men who came out of a loody war bankrupt in fortunes had redit, didn't talk of financial ruin. They worked their way out and this is he only way to get out when an individual or a nation gets in.

"INVISIBLE EMPIRE" DEFENSE DRAWS FORTH HEATED DEBATE ON FLOOR OF LOWER HOUSE

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 25.—Argument and debate took most of the time in the house of representatives today while the senate convened, attended to the business on the calendar, then adjourned for the day remaining in session about an hour.

The house argument started off with a rush when Representative Baker of Milan arose on a point of personal privilege and defended the Invisible Empire of the Ku Klux Klan in Texas, about which much has been said in the house within the last few days.

Mr. Baker did not say outright that he was a member of the Klan but said that "he was born under the banner of the Invisible Empire" when the question came up whether he had a right to defend the Klan. Representative Crumpton of Bowie appealed to the speaker of the house that Mr. Baker had no right to defend the Klan.

"He has a right to do so if he is a member," replied Mr. Thomas.

"I said I was born under the banner of the Invisible Empire," shouted Mr. Baker.

Allowed to Proceed

He was allowed to proceed. Mr. Crumpton again appealed to the speaker when Mr. Baker said that criminals were sometimes allowed to go free because of technicalities in the courts, saying that he would not hear the courts of the country attacked on the floor of the house. Speaker Thomas rapped loudly on his desk and sustained the point of order, warning Mr. Baker to confine his remarks to his point.

Mr. Baker said that William J. Simmons of Atlanta, who claims to be the head of the Ku Klux Klan, was the head of a "small fraternal organization," and had nothing to do with the Invisible Empire. "We don't want him or his representatives in Texas," he said.

Representative Putman of Cass, leader of the anti-klan movement, strove in vain to ask Mr. Baker a question but he declined to yield for the query.

Mr. Baker was applauded when he finished but the applause was scattered about the house and was not of the volume made when the entire membership applauds.

Read Putman Resolution

The Putman resolution was read. This resolution objects to the operation of the Klan in Texas and objects to Mr. Simmons sending his representatives into Texas:

Mr. Putman followed the reading with a short speech in which he fired an answer at Mr. Baker. He plead for the majesty of the bill of rights insisting that every man was due a fair trial by jury. No action was taken as the time for considering resolutions expired while he was speaking.

Repeal of the suspended sentence law came up today. After considerable debate a substitute by John Davis of Dallas was adopted by a vote of 75 to 56. This substitute is the bill passed at the regular session composed of the original law and adding automobile theft, criminal assault and bootlegging to the list of offenses exempt from the provisions of the law. The house recessed until tomorrow and final action on the bill comes up then. The adoption of the substitute is taken by proponents of the bill to spell defeat for the outright repeal.

Withdraw Neff Endorsement

The resolution indorsing Governor Neff introduced by Rogers of Harris and others last week was withdrawn when a letter from the governor to Mr. Rogers was read asking that it be withdrawn. The governor said this was no time for personalities. His letter was applauded.

A house concurrent resolution indorsing President Harding's move for world disarmament and his move to call a world conference on this subject was adopted by the house. The educational appropriation bill came up for consideration in both branches today but action was deferred until tomorrow.

Representative Satterwhite, chairman of the appropriations committee, in presenting the bill in the house said the state had sufficient revenue for next year to meet the appropriations of the regular session and those to be made at this session.

Want Kerrville Appropriation

A petition signed by 74 members of the house was presented to Governor Neff today requesting that he submit the Kerrville hospital appropriation of $1,500,000 of the regular session. Henderson of Marion who presented the petition pointed out that approximately one million dollars could be sliced from this amount to apply to the rural aid fund and if more is needed it could be appropriated by the thirty eighth legislature.

SADDLERS ASK IMPORT TARIFF

Record News Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Senator Sheppard today received telegrams and letters from the Straus-Bodenheimer Saddlery company of Houston, Tom Padgitt of Waco and from other harness and saddlery manufacturers in various sections of the state urging his support for a tariff of 35 percent on manufactured leather products.

The telegrams declared that Canada imposes a 35 percent tariff on harness and saddles, while the Fordney bill, recently passed by the house has these articles on the free list. Sheppard's support is asked for on the grounds that it would put the American manufacturers on equal footing with Canadian manufacturers.

By Associated Press.

ILLINOIS AGROG WITH EXCITEMENT, AWAITS ACTION OF GOVERNOR SMALL

By Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 25.—Unless counsel for Governor Small makes some new move tomorrow, Judge E. S. Smith, it was believed tonight, will order Sheriff Henry Mester to serve capiases on the governor hailing him into court to face charges of embezzlement of state funds while he was a treasurer of Illinois.

Judge Smith indicated tonight that he has decided on his action tomorrow unless something unforeseen develops. State's Attorney Mortimer was prepared to present arguments for the governor's arrest tomorrow if the court declined to listen to them.

Governor Small today remained unmoved in his determination to resist arrest. He assumed that attitude upon advice of counsel last week and returned to Springfield from his Chicago conference with W. H. Thompson and Fred Lundin more determined than ever to stand on his claim of immunity.

On the streets, in lobbies, every place where groups gathered to discuss the most sensational political upheaval of the state's history, the one question on all lips tonight was, "What will happen tomorrow."

The indictments of Lieutenant Governor Sterling and Vernon Curtis, Grant Park bankers, were apparently forgotten while the capital wondered to what extent Governor Small will resist arrest if Judge Smith orders the capiases served.

CATTLEMEN NOT TO OPEN TICK FIGHT

Refuse Request for Resolution Calling for Suspension of Eradication Law in South Texas.

Executive Committee of State Association Discuss Proposed Bankers' Pool of Fifty Millions.

By Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, July 25.—The attempt of south Texas livestock interests to have the executive committee of the Texas and southwestern cattle raisers' association ask Governor Neff to submit to the special session of the legislature a request that the tick eradication law be suspended in zone three for one year failed at the meeting of the committee here today.

Following a somewhat lengthy discussion, in which members of the livestock sanitary commission took part, the motion was tabled by a near unanimous vote. The action was proposed by M. W. Brennan and R. K. Sims, both of Laredo in behalf of the south Texans.

J. E. Boog-Scott, chairman of the sanitary commission, pleaded with the members of the committee not to reopen the tick eradication fight.

"It would be bad policy to reopen the matter at this time, by seeking legslaton action," Boog-Scott said.

"Although the proclamation says the South Texas work is to start January 1, it will not be started until April 1," he added. "We're not going to be hard on these people."

J. B. Murrah of San Antonio, a member of the board, also spoke against the proposal.

A large number of representative stockmen from all sections of the state are here for the executive committee meeting, which is being held at the Metropolitan Hotel. J. D. Jackson of Alpine, vice president, presided at the morning session, in the absence of W. W. Turney of El Paso, president of the association.

The fifty million dollar bankers' pool for loans to the cattle industry was discussed during the afternoon with Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, as one of the principal speakers. Sentiment among those present at the meeting Monday appeared to be that the pool and its methods would prove inadequate to cope with the situation.

END HEARING ON BERGDOLL DRAFT CASE

Committee Concludes Testimony Seeking to Fix Blame for Dodger's Escape.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The Bergdoll investigation ended finally today.

There was no statement from the committee, which had been directed to fix the responsibility for the escape of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the draft dodger, while hunting last year for buried gold, as to disposition of the case of Major Bruce R. Campbell, an army officer accused by Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll of accepting five thousand dollars to help get her son out of the clutches of the law.

An unexpected turn was a demand by Representative Luhring of Indiana, republican committee member, that the alien property custodian be ordered forthwith to find and recover one hundred and five thousand dollars in gold taken from the treasury a year or more ago and alleged to have been buried. Mr. Luhring insisted that evidence indicated the gold was obtained from government vaults for bribery purposes and that if still buried, as the woman asserts, it ought to be dug up and put back in government hands.

All along the gold has stood out as the real mystery of the Bergdoll case.

The committee deferred action on the gold question until its report is formally presented to the house, about ten days or two weeks hence.

In view of the clash Saturday between Representative Johnson, democrat, Kentucky, and Charles A. Braun, a brother of Grover Bergdoll, a big crowd gathered today for the hearing. There was such a jam around the regular meeting place that it had to be transferred to a larger room to give the committee elbow room and a chance to breathe. Most of the spectators were women.

Major Campbell's 70-year-old father, William R. Campbell of Lexington, Ky., corroborated the son's statement that a five hundred dollar fund placed with the late Milton Young of Lexington in 1915 grew in two years to six thousand dollars, and that the money was turned over to the officer. Major Campbell reiterated that this same money, some of which was in ten-dollar bills, was deposited with a Wall Street firm last year about the time Mrs. Bergdoll swore she had given him the five thousand dollars.

INDEPENDENT OIL MEN WILL FIGHT FOR TARIFF ON MEXICAN IMPORTS

By J. D. PARNELL

TULSA, Okla., July 25.—The fight for a tariff on crude oil will be vigorously waged before the senate of the United States and no stone will be left unturned to have petroleum put on the protective list by the independent oil producers from every state in the union who met here today and formed a national independent oil men's association.

While first activity mapped out for the new association is to convince the public and United States senate that an import duty must be levied on all oil coming into the United States, the new organization will in other ways promote the welfare and protect the interest of the independent oil fraternity.

Today's meeting declared unanimously in favor of a tariff on all oils of whatever grade or quality of not less than two cents per gallon and it was unanimously conceded by all present that the very life of the independent oil fraternity depend on the inclusion of an adequate tariff duty on Mexican crude in the tariff bill now before the finance committee of the senate.

Delegations were present from Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, Kansas and other oil producing states.

In their fight for a tariff on their products the independent oil men will join hands with the ranchmen and farmers of the mid-continent territory who also have been discriminated against in the present tariff measure in that their principal products—hides and cotton seed oil—like petroleum are on the free list in the tariff bill. These three industries are planning to co-operate with each other in having their commodities placed on the dutiable list.

Strong resolutions were passed taking issue with the president's letter recently sent to the chairman of the ways and means committee in which the placing of a tariff on oil was opposed.

The policy of the Federal Reserve Bank in handling oil loans was severely criticized also.

The meeting, by resolution, recommended that the federal trade commission be instructed to make a thorough investigation into the acquisition of oil properties and the stock of companies owning oil properties by ship line companies and companies which have a common stock ownership in pipe line companies and that such a report be made public and this monopolistic policy be prohibited by enactment of necessary legislation.

The meeting was conceded to be the most important and widely attended gathering of independent producers ever held in the United States. The new organization will be known as the National Association of Independent Oil Producers.

W. H. Gray of Tulsa was elected president and Tulsa was selected as headquarters.

J. D. Parnell of Wichita Falls, Texas; R. L. Young, Houston, Texas, and W. H. Sproul of Sedan, Kan., were elected vice presidents. H. P. Steele of Tulsa was elected secretary and E. B. Poe of Okmulgee, Okla., treasurer.

Local organizations of strictly independent oil men will be formed in every producing field in the United States and the presidents of these local organizations will constitute the executive committee of the national association.

EXPERTS DISAGREE ON AMERICAN VALUATIONS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Disagreement of experts as to the practicability of American valuation provisions, proposed in the Fordney tariff bill, marked the first consideration given the measure today by the senate finance committee. The committee heard statements by Thomas W. Page, chairman, and William Burgess, a member of the tariff commission, but their views differed widely as to what effect the suggested basis of levying import duties would have on the consumer on the one hand and on the manufacturer and merchant on the other.

Mr. Page contended the new plan meant higher prices on American commodities which compete with imports subjected to the import tax while his colleague held that premiuming of prices was not more likely to result under the home value basis than under the present system of assessing duties on the foreign value. Designedly the American valuation plan is to defeat undervaluation of imports and gather more revenue. But the object, Mr. Page said, was phantom-like in character because little fraudulent valuation had taken place. Mr. Burgess submitted figures which he declared showed undervaluation of imports in 1920 to have been discovered in 25 per cent of all shipments subject to ad valorem rates.

Premier Declines to Discuss Terms Offered Republican Leader in Speech to House of Commons.

LONDON, July 25.—The statement with regard to the Irish peace negotiations which it was hoped Mr. Lloyd George, the prime minister, would make in the house of commons today, was not forthcoming, the premier saying in reply to questions that he hoped to be in a position to make a statement shortly.

Mr. Lloyd George added:

"I warn the members they must not accept accounts in the public press as to the terms, because all those I have seen are inaccurate."

The premier's inability to make a statement today as to the terms was due to the fact that Eamonn De Valera and his colleagues were still considering them.

CURLEE ASKS IMPROVEMENTS BE HELD UP

Commissioner Declares Costs of Materials Too High to Justify Further Public Work.

Members of City Council Approve Suggestion That Street Paving and Repairing Be Deferred.

Because of the present financial condition, which he stated makes it impossible for many property owners to pay their proportionate share of the cost and because of the prevalent feeling that wages and cost of materials are still too high at this time, Walter Curlee, street commissioner, called upon the city council at its regular meeting, to stop all public improvements for which contract has not already been let.

Although stating that they did not believe action by motion was necessary, members of the council in a discussion expressed themselves unanimously as favoring the stand taken by Commissioner Curlee in a matter which it is known has been discussed by city officials for some time.

The remainder of the council session was largely devoted to routine busines, with the exception of actions on certains recommendations of Police Commissioner Fitts, and that officer's declaration that certain stolen property which had been in the possession of the police department, had been removed from the city hall before he assumed charge. The latter is being investigated.

Among his recommendations, one, up to the police commissioner and the city engineer, includes the ranking of automobiles on Eighth between the City National alley and Lamar on Eighth—now practically impassable during the day.

After L. E. Whitham, contractor, presented contracts from all but seven property owners concerned the council authorized the paving of Indiana street from Sixth to Front streets on the terms accepted by the council several weeks ago and which were cancelled recently at the request of property owners who desired a different form of contract. A feature of the contract was the agreement of the contractor to allow payment of the city's share of the paving to be deferred until next December when the city would receive money from current tax payments.

Curlee Gives Reasons.

In expressing his attitude toward the continuance of public improvement at this time Commissioner Curlee called attention to the fact that the council many times recently had it brought to their attention that in all improvements attempted there was always a few who were unable to pay their share of the cost. This, he said, was especially true in street paving. The financial condition is responsible for the conditions, according to the commissioner.

"During such a financial condition as we are now having I think ordinarily that it is a good time for public improvement work to be pushed to the limit so that employment can be furnished to a large number who would not have work, with a resulting good to the whole community," declared Mr. Curlee.

Other Members Concur.

"But the condition is now different.

TROUT IN WRONG BOARDING HOUSE

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., July 25.—Thousands of trout are in the wrong "boarding house," declares Professor R. A. Muttowski, of the University of Idaho, who is here trying to figure out a carefully selected diet for each species.

Certain types of trout should be planted in streams where the bugs and insects are to their liking, he believes. And because they are not so planted there is a waste of thousands of fish each year.

"Trout are particular regarding what they eat," he says. "If we can select the right place for the right fish there will be a marked decrease in the number of trout that die. My work is to determine just where various varieties of trout should be and this is based on what bugs and insects they are fond of."

STATE ABOUT THROUGH IN SMITH TRIAL

With no witnesses as yet making positive identification of the accused as the masked man who is alleged to have held up and robbed Virgil Grissom at his home 1103 Filmore Street on the night of June 8, state attorneys at time of adjournment of the 30th district court late Monday had practically completed the chain of circumstantial evidence with which they expect to prove that Wiley Smith, on trial, committed the alleged high jacking.

It is expected that the state will rest early this morning with the case probably going to the jury sometime this afternoon.

The trial of Smith started Monday afternoon after a misunderstanding as to the accused attorneys had been straightened out in the morning. He was unable to employ counsel and Judge H. F. Weldon appointed a local attorney to represent him.

The state apparently will close its case, resting on the partial identification of the accused by Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Grissom as the man who held up and robbed the former, together with a chain of circumstances connected with the actions of the accused following the highjacking up to the time of his arrest late on the same night.

Taking the stand as the state's first witness Virgil Grissom told how he and his wife had driven to their home about 10:30 p. m., Mrs. Grissom getting out of the machine and going into the front door of the house while Mr. Grissom drove on to the garage.

He told how with a silver mounted revolver at his side he allowed a masked man to search him and take a little over $16 in currency. He described his wife's coming out on the back porch and beginning to scream and of being told to keep quiet by the highjacker.

The witness said he had known the accused for about a year and said that he recognized on the night of the robbery a motion peculiar to the defendant. Mrs. Grissom taking the stand substantiated the testimony of her husband with the additional statement that she recognized the voice of Smith whom she had also known for a year.

J. J. McQuigg, resident of Buchanan Street, testified as to seeing the red automobile parked in the alley near the scene of highjacking a few seconds before he heard the shots fired by Grissom at the escaping highjacker and of the disappearance of the machine immediately afterwards.

The state then introduced testimony telling of discovering the accused and Gerald Isler in a red car owned by the latter a short time later in the evening. J. J. O'Daniels, night clerk at the Argoane Hotel, told of Smith and Isler coming to the hotel where they had rooms about 11 o'clock the same night.

He said that Isler told him "If anything happens I have been in my room all night."

He said that Isler turned the pearl handled, silver mounted revolver over to him when they came in. The state emphasized with this and other witnesses certain connecting points as to the identity of the revolver and the clothes worn by the accused.

O'Daniels and others told of finding the two marked coins in the coat left in the room of the accused after he and Isler left following their visit to the hotel. It was brought out that Grissom told police officers before the arrest of Smith and before the discovery of the coat regarding the two coins which he said he had carried for some time and which were taken from him on the night of the robbery.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Dakan testified that the accused tried to get the two coins when he was turned over to county authorities following the police investigation.

The following witnesses testified Monday afternoon: Virgil Grissom, Mrs. Virgil Grissom, M. D. Eyerly, J. J. O'Daniels, Linn Hawkins, M. Dawes, M. C. Johnson, H. C. Dakan, former Chief of City Detectives Boyd and Night Chief of Police McDonald.

J. F. Pressie, P. S. Richardson, G. M. Dorris, W. C. Adams, F. A. Sweet, E. Tunnell, T. A. Garnett, J. N. Hall, J. H. Bentley, G. W. Ferguson, F. L. Blakney and F. R. McCracken were selected for the jury out of a special venire of 100 men and the regular panel for the week.

The well, the announcement says, is producing from the Woodbine sand, which is as much as 190 feet thick in places, at a depth of 3,100 feet.

The sand has been drilled 20 feet, the announcement states, and has made a number of strong heads. The location is given as near the Henry well, reported producing 2,000 barrels.

The organizers of the company said that the property has been declared all that could be desired from a geological standpoint and expressed confidence that they will be successful. Drilling is expected to start at once they announce.

The appropriateness of the memorial, irrespective of the worthiness of the cause, is not quite apparent, though Foster once lived on the Bowery and sold many of his songs to Bowery theater managers for $10 or $15 apiece.—Springfield Republican.

CANADA FURNISHES BACKGROUND FOR NEW SEPARATION SCANDAL

"THE JEALOUS WOMAN"

A woman who is suffering from the jealous type of mental disorder seems to have little sense of shame. She seeks the company of sympathetic women consolers, each one of whom * * * * confides the secret in the course * * *neighborly calls. A second characteristic of jealous morbidity in a woman is the demand for excitement and exaggerated attention from her husband. * * * * I knew one very beautiful and talented woman, a most charming conversationalist, who drove her husband to distraction, ruined his business, and finally obliged him to desert her completely. From a book by Dr. Robert T. Morris, now being sued for divorce.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 25.—Just as the absorbing Stillman divorce case here was delayed until October, a divorce suit involving notables and with Canadian background made its bow yesterday in the public spotlight.

The new case is Mrs. Almes Morris's suit against Dr. Robert T. Morris, a noted surgeon of New York city. Instead of an Indian guide as co-respondent, a young woman is named co-respondent. Whatever the Morris case lacks in youngster's paternity is offset by Dr. Morris's amazing writings of recent years in books he has published on marriage.

Tells of Trip in Canadian Wilds.

Pending opportunity to weigh evidence in the undefended action, Justice Morschauser yesterday withheld decision, saying he would render judgment in about a week. The charges of the wife involves "a short, dark haired girl," in incidents in the wilds of Canada and the more placid setting of a farm near Stamford, Conn.

Two witnesses, apparently all scheduled, testified. They were William Yates, farmer and guide, who lives in the Algmoa district of Ontario, and Peter Belomiyzi, a gardener employed at Mr. Morris's country place—Brookmeadows, Stamford, Conn. The Canadian guide told of a trip by the physician and the co-respondent in July, 1920, up into the timbered country north of Basswood Lake, Loferly, Ontario. The gardener described a visit of the pair to the country place while Mrs. Morris was away.

Dr. Morris told newspaper men that he was innocent and that his young woman companion on the trip into the Canadian woods also was innocent, adding:

"But what can I do in the face of this evidence against me?"

When he was asked about his wife, the physicoan said that when he wrote the chapter on "marital morbidity" in one of his books—"A Surgeon's Philosophy"—he had his wife in mind.

"A woman with jealous type of mental disorder does not differ essentially from a man in the general range of her symptoms, excepting in two particulars: A man is apt to have an undercurrent of sense of shame remaining, when his phychosis has passed beyond control of his reasoning faculties, and he confides in no one.

"Loses Her Sense of Shame."

"A woman, on the other hand, who is suffering from the jealous type of mental disorder seems to have little sense of shame. She seeks the company of sympathetic women consolers, each one of whom in turn confides the secret in the ordinary course of the customary run of neighborly calls. A second characteristic of jealous morbidity in a woman is the demand for excitement and exaggerated attention from her husband. This symptom sometimes amounts to a well defined mania. She attempts to exercise control over his every movement and turn it to some account for herself.

"A victim of the jealous type of morbidity may retain control of high faculties of the mind well enough to pass for a quite normal and agreeably interesting individual. I knew one very beautiful and talented woman, a most charming conversationalist, who drove her husband to distraction, ruined his business and finally obliged him to desert her completely.

Can't Get Men's Viewpoint.

"Women are not so gregarious as men and for that very reason do not understand in their inner natures that need for companionship with varied social elements. The desire of a man to leave his wife for the purpose of going to enjoy himself with other people for an evening, or for a day, or for a week, is something wholly out of her field of experience and she feels hurt because she herself would not leave him for any such reason.

"Then, again, men need a great deal more physical exercise than women require. It may be almost a matter of life or death with them to run off and play golf or to go shooting or fishing trips.

"None of those things seems to be really necessary from the point of view of the young wife.

GREEKS PUSH TURKS FURTHER BACK IN ASIA

By Associated Press.

ATHENS, Greece, July 25.—The Greeks in Asia Minor have been following up energetically the victory they gained over the Turkish nationalists in the fighting brought on by the attempt of the Kemalites to recapture the key point of Eski-Shehr on the Bagdad railway, according to official advices.

The official statement issued by the war office in Asia Minor on July 22, giving the result of the battle for Eski-Shehr, says: "The great battle for Eski-Shehr ended in a Greek victory and the pursuit of the fleeing enemy is continuing more than forty-five kilometres north of that town. Secret orders found on captured Turkish officers seemed to indicate that the enemy had concentrated his entire forces to recapture Eski-Shehr.

"The remainder of the Turkish troops were forced to retreat towards Afyon-Hissar. Forty guns were captured and numerous prisoners made. The quick advance of the Greek forces makes the exact demarkation of the battle line impossible."

A dispatch to the Embros from Constantinople declares the Turkish council of ministers has decided to accept mediation for the opening of peace negotiations.

SURGICAL PICTURES SUCCEED

BERLIN, July 25.—Moving pictures are the latest aid to the teaching of surgery in the Berlin university. While the instructor is operating in the amphitheatre an enlarged picture of a similar operation is thrown on a screen above his head.

The invention of Dr. Alexander von Rothe, a professor in the Berlin university, has been approved by the ministry of education, which is supporting the installation of six more cameras in the operating rooms of Berlin clinics.

The camera is on the end of a long piston, reminding one of the tube in which a hydraulic elevator rests, which runs up and down through the skylight and hangs directly over the operating table. The reels of film are in a room above the operating room and run down in light-proof tunnels beside the piston.

The light from four carbon lamps in the chamber above the operating room is reflected by mirrors through the skylight and focused directly on the field of operation. The heat from this light is said to be very good for the patient during the operation.

A number of prominent German surgeons have filmed the operations by which they have won their fame. They now wish to install similarly-constructed operating rooms in other European capitals and in America and exchange the films for the benefit of universities and medical conventions.

COURT TIRES OF INSANITY IN ALABAMA

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 25.—Is the Jefferson county jail in this city conductice to insanity? Or is it, as it seems to some observers, conducive to thoughts that a plea of insanity may save one from hanging?

This question has drawn forth an expression from the state supreme court. The court specifically cited the instance of Charley Wade, convicted and sentenced to nineteen to twenty years at hard labor for an alleged criminal operation upon the person of a man for attentions paid Waide's wife. The opinion in this case was that scarcely enough evidence was submitted for the insanity plea to warrant bringing it to the attention of the jury at the first trial.

Wade was confined to the Jefferson county jail and entered the pleas of insanity when convicted of the offense. Numerous others convicted of murder and other lesser crimes have claimed the protection afforded by law to persons affected with mental disorders. Two outstanding and recent instances were those of F. White Seay, convicted of brutally murdering his nineteen-year-old wife, and John Whitside, a negro, who killed J. L. Bourgeois and Lacey Murphree, an old man seventy-three years old, and a boy of fifteen.

Seay, it was shown by his recent trial and conviction, brutally choked to death and mutilated the body of his wife, near Florence, Ala., May 15. He was brought to the county jail here for safe keeping and, upon opening of his case, entered a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity.

In the same way Whiteside shot the old man and a boy down in a group of woods near this city several weeks ago. After a chase of several days he was captured in Chattanooga and brought to the Jefferson jail.

County Solicitor Joseph R. Tate, has taken cognizance of the many cases of insanity pleas and stated that he would order a thorough fumigation to rid the prison of any possible "insanity" germs that might be lurking within it.

"An irresistible impulse generated by wicked propensities will not excuse the violation of law. Depravity is not a disease. High temper, hot blood and passion are not such mentals ailments as will excuse the commission of crime. The so-called emotional insanity is not recognized as a defense in a criminal case," says Judge Charles R. Bricken, presiding over the court of appeals.

FOREIGN BORN IN N. Y. TOTAL 1,032,000 NOW

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Representative Isaac Siegel of this city, a member of the House Immigration committee, estimates that in Greater New York, there are 1,032,000 adults not citizens of the United States. This, he says, is a dangerously large proportion of aliens in a city whose total population is approximately 5,600,000.

To offset this condition it is planned to conduct an intensive drive this fall to gather these aliens into the United States fold and civic, state and national bodies will assist in speeding up naturalization.

Early in October, President Harding will be invited to address a gathering of 15,000 new citizens in this city.

A systematic campaign is under way in Brooklyn to enroll new citizens. Judge Cropsey will sit practically all summer in the naturalization court and under present arrangements will turn out a daily average of 500 new citizens.

All told it is estimated that in Greater New York there will have been added by the end of October, enough new voters to increase the nation's electorate by at least 80,000.

Leeks are supposed to be harbingers of good fortune in Wales, and when one finds a leek growing on the wall about the house there is expectation of some great happiness coming to the inmates. In olden times the leek was supposed to keep witches away.

All Sections of U. S. Will Be Represented in 250 Soldier Guests of France Next August

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The 250 members of the American Legion, who will visit France in August and September at the invitation of President Millerand, will represent every section of the United States and all arms of the fighting forces in the war. Every state will have its quota and if possible every combat division will have representation, says an announcement by the Legion.

A fixed quota, based on legion membership, has been allotted to each state. Not all who have asked to be included can go, but it is the purpose of Franklin D'Olier, the former national commander of the legion who is in charge of the pilgrimage, to make a party "a cross section of our former fighting forces." Selection of the members is in the hands of the state organizations of the legion.

Details of the tour in France which have just been made public show that the Americans will visit again the principal American battlefields, attend various dedicatory ceremonies and will be entertained at numerous receptions.

The party will sail aboard the steamer George Washington on August 3, and will return about the middle of September. The principal events of the visit will be the dedication at Flirey of a monument to the American army, which is the gift of the French municipality and the people of Lorraine; and the laying of the cornerstone of the new bridge "Pont Boosevelt" over the Marne at Chateau Thierry.

President Millerand, Premier Briand and the marshals of France are expected to be present at the ceremonies at Flirey. Flirey is familiar ground to the A. E. F. It is situated in the old Toul sector which the American troops took over in 1917. The village itself is only 2,000 yards from the old front line of the sector which was held at one time or another by 17 American divisions.

Another reception of note to the Americans will be by the little town of St. Die in the old Luneville sector, also long held by Americans. St. Die's claim to special attention in light of the legion visit rests on the fact that in St. Die stands the house in which the continent of America received its name. It is the one-time abode of Waldsee-Muller, the Alsatian monk, when he wrote the letter suggesting that the new world take the name of the Italian navigator, Amerigo Vespucci.

Marshal Foch will be "at home" to the visting legionnaires. He will receive them in the house in which he was born in the town of Taubes in the Pyrenees mountains.

There will be receptions to the pilgrims at Paris, Bordeaux, Toulouse, Lyon, Metz and Strasbourg. At Verdun the party will sleep in the famous citadel.

At Rheims the veterans will attend the presentation of the 3,000,000-france gift of the Carnegie foundation to the city library there. At Blois, St. Jeanne D'Arc will be honored. The legionnaries will witness the dedication of a statue to the French heroine which is the gift of the Joan of Arc committee of New York.

Under the terms by which the legion accepted the hospitality of the French government the expenses of the expedition will be borne by the delegates themselves or by the legion organization.

Mr. D.Olier says that the proposal for the visit has been received with such enthusiasm by the American veterans as to constitute a striking and spontaneous tribute to France as a former ally.

"The American veterans feel that the forthcoming expedition marks the entrance of the legion on the stage of international affairs an dthat it will tend to knit more closely a mutual understanding among veterans, not only of France and the United States, but of all allied countries," he said. It shows that in the hearts of Americans who wore the uniform there surely dwells an abiding affection for France and the poilu. It is noteworthy that many applications come from men who did not see foreign servic during the war."

In Holland milk is not put up and sold in solid form, being made into little cubes which are readily dissolved in tea, coffee or other fluids. The milk, after removal of the cream, is reduced by heat to dryness, then powdered and mixed with the cream, the material being pressed into blocks. These milk cubes have the advantage of preserving their freshness for a long time. They are recommended for use in regions where milk is not easily to be had, and travelers may find it convenient to carry a supply of them.—Philadelphia Ledger.

MELLON AND WAR TAXES

Andrew W. Mellon is said to be the last word in finance. He would eliminate war taxes in the new revenue laws.

He says that a revenue law capable of producing four billion dollars will be sufficient to meet the fiscal requirements of the government in the year beginning 1921.

Mellon has made his recommendations to the congress. These call for the repeal of the excess profits tax, reducing of surtaxes and the reduction of the transportation tax.

Mellon is a big business man and he represents big business ideas. He insists there should be a considerable reduction in governmental expenditures during the next fiscal year. He insists that there should be a reduction in the expenditures for the army and navy to somewhere near the prewar levels.

He insists that a large number of government agencies employing thousands of persons should reduce their activities and their numerical strength to prewar levels.

He reminds the congress that before the war Uncle Sam had thirty-three thousand employees in Washington while today the people have to pay for eighty-five thousand employees.

Mellon has a head of his own. He has a program of his own. Unless all the signs are misleading, he is the backbone of the administration as well as the financial brain of the Harding regime.

President Harding on a hint given by Mellon demands normalcy in railroads. There is a rumor in Washington that the magnates are to abandon labor claims on the government and the war finance credit is to be used in saving money on both sides.

According to the agreements, certain railroad claims against the government will be paid. These were generally estimated by the rail magnates to total one billion two hundred and fifty million dollars. By the compromise (and Secretary Hoover is said to have had a hand in it,) the figures dwindled to fifty million dollars.

Repeal of the excess profits tax and revision of the surtaxes and other war taxes would do more to bring about an era of general prosperity than all the tariff acts enacted by American congresses since the close of the civil war.

PER COST PER CAPITA AND WHY?

According to the state board of control the average expense per capita for conducting the state government has been reduced from twenty-three dollars and sixty-two cents to fifteen dollars and fifty-eight cents. Add this to the cost of national government expense and the total per capita cost is very great. All this reminds the Record News that the people demanded war, their government waged and won the war and they have a debt of twenty-five billions to show for it and nothing more. Incidentally they are reminded that if their country had not waged and won the war, Mr. William Hohenzollern would have enthroned himself in Windsor Castle, dictated terms of peace to the crushed democracies of Europe and today would have been the defiant and merciless ruler of half the world. As it is, he is a lonely woodchopping prisoner of war and the statesmen of Great Britain, France and Italy own and rule new empires in Europe and Asia and Africa.

GOLDEN DAYS FOR THE MOTORIST

These are the golden days for the motorist according to W. P. Leland of Chicago, vice president and general manager of a big concern. Not only is the price of motor cars at a level far below the last five years, he says, but the cost of gasoline, oil and service is at a reasonable figure. Lower duty on cars in the proposed tariff duty will aid American foreign trade even though the act itself may need revision in the way of excessive duties on raw materials, is the prophecy of J. Walter Drake, chairman of the foreign trade committee of the national automobile chamber of commerce. In 1920 exports of motor vehicles and parts had a valuation of three hundred million dollars. Automobile manufacturers are looking for heavy exports this year. This for the croakers and whiners away down here in Texas.

Governor Neff has submitted recommendations for additional legislation to the Texas lawmakers. Now there is an opportunity to appeal or amend the truck law tax, as well as to offer simple amendments needed for the strengthening of the irrigation laws of the state. These are important matters, and there should be no delay in the enactment of the legislation asked for by the people.

SEEKING TO CHANGE THE LAW

Just why the author of the Dean law made it an offense for a person to purchase liquor is more than the average man can understand, but that's the way the Dean law reads and those who favor a drastic enforcement of the law say the objectionable clause protects bootleggers and makes it almost impossible to put them out of business in certain counties in Texas.—Wichita Falls Record News.

It was J. G. Holland who wrote the oft-repeated verse that begins, "God give us men." Which statement has nothing to do with the subject, further than to identify the witness. As editor of Scribner's Magazine, Dr. Holland said that "Rum selling contrary to law is a double crime; and no prohibitory law can stand, or even ought to stand, that does not hold the buyer to the same penalties that it holds the seller." The Dean law was constructed after that model. But the friends of prohibition say it doesn't work well, and so they are seeking to hold only the seller guilty: the buyer is to go on his way rejoicing.—Waco Times Herald.

Congress enacted the Volstead enforcement act. This act does not carry with it a penalty for buying liquor. Senator Dean of Huntsville is responsible for the Dean law and the Dean law provides for the punishment of the buyer as well as the seller.

If a man encourages violation of a law, isn't he the partner of the criminal who tramples the aforesaid law in the dust? Regardless of this, the purchaser of liquor may testify against the seller in the federal courts of the country. This is all that Governor Neff asks on the part of the lawmakers concerning the correction of what he calls a loophole in the Dean law through which the bootlegger makes his escape.

Prohibition is the law of the land. Public sentiment abolished the saloon. Public sentiment put the distillery and the brewery out of business. Public sentiment placed an embargo on the importation of intoxicating liquors.

There is a way out of it for those who are opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment, the Volstead Act and the Dean Law. It is their American privilege to band together, to capture both houses of congress and the president, to win the control of two-thirds of the state legislatures and then after having accomplished all this, the field will be theirs and John Barleycorn may be privileged to return to his old haunts where he ruled supreme in the so-called "good old days."

But all this reminds The Record News that it is a long way to Tipperary.

FOREIGN LOANS AND THEIR REFUNDING

America, a government of the people, loaned its European allies ten billions. Uncle Sam has their I. O. U's. or promises to pay. These loans were made in war time. There has never been a dollar of the principal paid or a penny in interest collected. American banks and bankers and firms and individuals loaned money or sold goods or established credits for foreigners to the extent of six billion dollars or nearly sixteen billion dollars advanced by the government or its citizens to foreign governments or foreign buyers. Americans are paying the interest to their own government on these loans made to these foreign governments or foreign people. An extraordinary incident happened the other day. For the transportation of American soldiers to foreign shores, the British government has a claim of something like fifty million against the government of the United States. No doubt it is a just claim. It was presented and payment asked. Secretary Mellon asked for the legal opinion of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and the latter ruled that the claim must be paid. Secretary Mellon will pay the bill without delay. He will not ask the British government to put it on the books or exchange I. O. U.'s. for this little sum. If business is business, why not go about it in a business way. According to London advices, the British government is building four of the greatest dreadnaughts that civilization has ever known or that will ever sail the seven seas. These foreign loans should be refunded. Arrangements should be made for the payment of the accrued interest. There are four million former service men. They demand some financial recognition or bonus for service in war time, the financial sacrifice they made, the privations they endured and the dangers they faced. If the great powers of Europe, the creditors of the United States, are financially able to maintan costly armies and expensive navies, then they should likewise be able to at least may the interest on the billions loaned them by the American people in the darkest hour in the history of the world.

CHEE YOCK AND HIS FORTUNE

Francisco Chee Yock is a Chinaman, thirty-eight years old. When he was eight years old he accompanied his uncle from China to the city of Mexico. Before he had grown to manhood, he had embarked in the merchandise business. He cashed in the other day for a million dollars and having made his stake, he is returning to China to marry, to live in affluence, to raise a family and to worship the gods of Confucious.

There are young white men to the manner born in the United States and Mexico who are fond of saying that opportunity is dead and there is no chance for them to get on in the world. The late John J. Ingalls of Kansas in his famous poem "Opportunity Knocks Once at the Door," gave the world an example of pessimism. Then came the late Walter Malone of Tennessee, who torpedoed the Ingalls theory with the beautiful poem which starts—"They do me wrong who say I come no more, when once I knock and find you not at home, for every day I stand outside your door——"

If a heathen can come from the Far East and accumulate a million dollars in eighteen years in the land of the Aztec, why should an American boy growl for the lack of opportunity and thus admit the superiority of the Chinese brain and the Chinese hand in getting on in the world?

There are more opportunities today than ever before and there will be more fortunes accumulated by far-sighted individuals who take advantage and who are not afraid to work than were accumulated on paper during the spectacular days of war and war prices and war extravagancies.

Bernard M. Baruch visited Berlin accompanied by Ralph Pulitzer of the New York World. He found the Germans eager for American loans, American raw materials, American credits, American business, in fact anything. All Europeans appear to be built that way. Germany is coming back if she can find a way to get back. She always has.

FLIES.

I sat today, with my Aunt Lillian, and counted passing flies; we counted up to fourteen million, then quit the job, with sighs. I hoped to find decreasing numbers, I'd swatted flies so much; I'd often missed my meals and slumbers, to put the flies in dutch. For years I'd read the health board papers, denouncing flies as crimes; and you beheld my swatting capers, and praised my zeal betimes. I thought the health board sports were posted, I held their counsel grand; and up and down the house I coasted, my swatstick in my hand. And as I toiled I called on others to help the grand crusade; I called on babes and doting mothers to kill flies with a spade. I called on ancient aunts and uncles, and said to them, "Oh, chee! Forget your spavins and carbuncles, and kill some flies with me!" I called upon my idle neighbors, who sat beneath their vines, to join me in my useful labors, or else take in their signs. I bored all people with my clamor, I bored them with my cries, to take a shotgun or a hammer and kill a lot of flies. I sat today, with my Aunt Lillian, to count the buzzing bands; we noted up to fourteen million, and then threw up our hands. My swatter on the wall is pasted above the kitchen door; I feel that all my toil was wasted, and I shall swat no more.—Copyright by George Matchew Adams.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

A SONG.

Night—and the eternal stars
Signaling the peace of God
Unto blind eyes.
Night—and the eternal winds
Whispering the love of God
Into dull ears.

A million years agone,
I stay on this same mound
Listening the Divine call,
Watching the heaven's sign.

A million years to come,
I shall still hear and read
The message of divinity
Because I am that I am—
Because I am what I am.

Music elevates the soul and soothes the tired body. It creates forgetfulness and it inspires the nobler side of life. Where there is music, you will often find contentment. It stimulates the soul and it consoles the weary. Religious, pleasure seeking sentimental and grief-stricken are benefited by music. It intoxicates and depresses. Civilization all over the world listens to music of some sort or other. It is relative to the environment. It is affected by climatic conditions. It can elevate one to the highest form of life.

Let me state right here that the so-called popular music is as great as the so-called classical brand. All is relative.

Breakfast Stories

Though the exigencies of his profession obliged Horace Hamfat to be clean-shaven when he was acting, it was his delight to grow a mustache when he was out of a job. This little foible was also the delight of his loving friends. One day he was accosted by a fellow actor with the exclamation:

"God bless the holy monks!" exclaimed the driver, as he drained the glass; "it's themselves that can make good liquor, but the man that blew that glass was very short of breath."

MAJOR'S FATHER SAYS INVESTMENT MADE BY CAMPBELL

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—William R. Campbell of Lexington, Ky., father of Major Bruce R. Campbell, charged with accepting $5,000 from Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll to aid in obtaining freedom for Grover C. Bergdoll, told a house investigating committee today that the major was telling the truth last week when he testified about a five hundred dollar investment increasing to six thousand dollars. Major Campbell, now stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., said this accounted for a deposit to his account of $4,500 at about the time of the alleged payment.

The money, his father said, was placed with Milton Young, a race horse man, at Lexington, in 1915. Two years later, he added, Young gave him a package containing the larger amount which was turned over to Major Campbell.

Mr. Campbell was examined first by his son who had previously testified that the money was kept in his home during the war and placed last year with a Wall street house and lost in speculation. The father said he did not know what form of speculation the five hundred dollars took in Mr. Young's hands. He did not think the fund grew from race track winnings.

IN THE MAIL BAG

Redistricting Mandatory

To the Record News:

Why 26, section 28 of the State Constitution is known to many, unknown to more. This covers explicitly the question of redistricting now pending before the legislature:

"The legislature shall, at its first session after the publication of each United States decennial census, apportion the state into senatorial and representative districts, agreeably to the provisions of sections 25 and 26 of this article; and until the next decennial census, when the first apportionment shall be made by the legislature, the state shall be and is hereby divided into senatorial and representative districts as provided by an ordinance of the convention on that subject."

In view of the above from the State Constitution, the legislature and all its members deliberately shirked their plain and constitutional duty when redistricting failed after census publication of 1910. There should be no repetition of similar neglect. All such instances of violation of prescribed duty, are not without their influence toward encouragement of Klu Klux Klan and other illegal acts. Many such are predicted on negligence and inaction of law enforcement officers. It no doubt would be found on investigation, that illegal and extra legal acts of individuals, are about the proportion and ratio of distinct failures on part of any officials adds to lack of respect for and observance of legal requirements. Those making laws under the constitution above all should set example of law observance.

Who's Who

Governor Len Small of Illinois who has just been indicted by a grand jury on charges of embezzling public funds during his term of office as state treasurer, was born on a farm near Kankakee, Ill., on June 16, 1862, the son of Dr. A. L. Small, a well known physician-farmer-land owner of the district.

He was educated in the state normal school, took a business college course, and at the age of nineteen became a country school teacher. Before the call of the farm was strong within him, and when he was twenty-one he paid $200 he had saved from his labors as a teacher on sixteen acres of land and went farming. Since then he has always kept himself identified with agriculture, calling himself always a "practical farmer." His original sixteen acres have grown to 700 acres of the choicest land in the state.

Although he is president of the First National bank at Kankakee, a holder of stock in many ventures and a newspaper publisher Governor Small has always listed himself pridefully as a "plain farmer," and still lists himself so.

After purchasing his little sixteen acre tract, Small became known as a hard working farmer but he added slowly to his holdings and at the same time became active in county politics. It was about this time that he married Miss Oda Moore, daughter of a neighboring farmer.

About all that is of record of the governor's early years is that he worked hard on his farm and constantly manifested a growing interest for business and politics.

He began his political career in a modest way in 1895, when he was elected supervisor. In 1896 he was elected clerk of the circuit court and it was in this same year that he was first heard of in state politics. His identification with state politics came about in this way:

The late Senator Ed G. "Gus" Curtis, brother of Vernon S. Curtis, who was indicted with Gov. Small, was elected speaker of the house of the general assembly in 1896. Immediately demanded the appointment of Len Small as trustee of the Kankakee insane asylum; the appointment was made and Small was elected president of the board of trustees of the institution.

In 1902, when Small had been a member of the asylum for six years, an investigation of the conditions there was demanded and made, but no records exist as to just what the outcome of this investigation was.

DAY NURSERY CHANGE BANKS PROVE SUCCESS.

Those pennies and nickles, sometimes dimes or even quarters that Wichita Falls folks who patronize the soda fountains and cigar counters of drug stores and confectionery shops, have been dropping in the Day Nursery banks that are placed handy to the cash register, have amounted to more than $30 in the two weeks that they have been receiving donations, according to the count of the finance chairman, Mrs. R. J. Goodale. The banks are opened regularly and the money deposited, with the fund for buying ice and milk and other necessities for the youngsters at the Day Nursery.

Those "annoying pennies" change, that constitute the bulk of the offerings, are certainly going where they are no bother, and the kiddies, and the committee alike are saying "thank you" to the folks who remember them, after they themselves have had a nice cool soda, or a good cigar.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

BY PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

CHERRY RECEIVES A FLATTERING OFFER.

As luck would have it, the very afternoon that Ned most wished to spend alone with his wife was the one that Arthur Hamlen had selected for her introduction to one of the most important French buyers then touring America.

Early in the day Arthur Hamlen had asked Cherry if she would be willing to come to his home and meet M. Duval, and have a talk with the the great man in person. It would mean a lot to her as well as to the firm. Of course Cherry had agreed and at three they had left the shop and driven over to the Hamlen home.

The interview was an interesting one and she gained many new ideas from the Frenchman, which would prove valuable to her in her work. Mrs. Hamlen served coffee and sandwiewhes later on in the afternoon and they lingered over their cups, luxuriously.

It was nearly six when Cherry finally arrived at her own house, and she barely had time to fly up to her room and smooth her hair before the dinner gong sounded.

Wreathed in smiles, and excited from her talk with M. Duval, she slid into her seat at the table, all smiles and chatter.

She squeesed her husband's hand affectionately as she passed his chair and told the family that she had been very near to Paris all the afternoon.

Ned, in turn, explained how he had called for her, found her gone, and had sat at home by himself since three-thirty.

"Oh, poor boy," said Cherry, sympathetically, "how foolish for us to just miss each other. But I never in the world dreamed that you would take the afternoon off to go running about with me, Neddy. I do wish I had known. It was such a glorious day and I felt like running off somewhere."

Ned attacked his food with gusto, the better to hide his true feelings. He listened in silence to Cherry's vivid description of the Frenchman and his ideas on hats and other things Parisian.

"And do you know, Ned, that he actually thought that I would be a welcome addition to their Paris shop? Me, little me, no less. I can tell you I was sure enough flattered."

"Hm!" from her husband. "Must think we don't need you here as badly?"

"Oh, of course, when I explained to him that I was Mrs. not Miss, he understood and said that then it was quite a different matter. I really think that if I had been Cherry Lawrence still he would have signed me up then and there."

"And I think that you would have been happier in Paris than you are in Wellsburg, too, Cherry," said her mother-in-law, suddenly. "Wellsburg is limited, after all, and Paris offers so much to Youth and Ambition. We are quite poky as compared."

To this Cherry made no reply.

TESTED RECIPES

Buttermilk Spice Cake—Owing to the fact that so much pasteurized milk is used, the real old fashioned sour milk that made such delicious spice cake is hard to obtain. Buttermilk, however, can be purchased and the following cake made with it can be highly recommended: Cream half a cup of oleo, add one cup of brown sugar and two lightly beaten eggs. Mix together one and one-half cups of pastry flour, a quarter of a teaspoon of salt, half a teaspoon of baking soda, half a cup of chopped seeded raisins, one-quarter of a teaspoon of mixed ground spices and half a teaspoon each of ground cinnamon and nutmeg. Combine the dry ingredients with the first mixture, alternating with a cup of buttermilk. Bake in a loaf cake pan, lined with oiled paper, and have the oven moderate.

Venison Sauce for Lamb—Melt four tablespoons of bacon fat, blend in four tablespoons browned flour, and add gradually two cups of strained stock. Stir constantly until the sauce thickens and boils, and add salt and paprika to taste, one tablespoon of onion juice, half a tablespoon of chopped parsley, one tablespoon of chopped sweet pickle, three tablespoons of tart currant or wild grape jelly, half a teaspoon of kitchen bouquet and a tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce. Set over hot water for ten minutes, add the thinly sliced lamb and serve as soon as it is heated through.

ST. LOUIS PLANS GREAT BOULEVARD

ST. LOUIS, July 25,—A new St. Louis, embracing subways, great boulevards, landscape borders and artistic terminals, has been outlined by Harland Barthelmew, engineer for the City Plan Commission. The project would cost $60,000,000 when completed, according to the plan.

In his outline, Bartholomew said: "The most important work is that of providing rapid transit system. We plan to loop the business district with a subway. Next comes a policy of highways connecting all parts of the city. Then we must build for a 'city beautiful.' The Commission has obtained a zoning system which will preserve the character of beautiful residentialsections. Our intersections are both insufficient and ugly and will be improved."

It is planned to vote a bond issue for the proposed civic betterment.

With the Women of Today

Miss Minnie E. Kehoe

Miss Minnie E. Kehoe, official court reporter of the first judicial circuit of Florida, is author of the bill creating official reporters in that state and she is the first to be appointed under the act. Official reporters in Florida are now state officers and not merely clerks as in other states. There are only two states in the union where reporters have such status, Florida and Michigan.

Miss Kehoe has several records which make her distinctive among the women of her state. She was admitted to the bar in 1915 and has been reported as the only woman in Florida maintaining her own office and practicising law. She has four times been appointed assistant state's attorney in the first judicial circuit. At one time she defended an army captain in a court-martial case and won her suit for him in a court which was composed entirely of army officers, not one of whom was below the rank of captain.

Miss Kehoe is a leader and has done much constructive organization work. Only recently she assisted in forming the Florida Shorthand Reporters Association and was made president of it. She is vice president of the Pensacola Business and Professional Women's Club. Another of Miss Kehoe's achievements women are still talking about is how she was tendered the floor of the senate and the house at the last term of the Florida legislature.

WOMEN CAN'T HOLD OFFICE

Women are still without the right to hold constitutional office in Massachusetts. This was the ruling recently of Attorney General Allen. He held that the nineteenth amendment to the federal constitution served only to give women the right to vote and did not alter the state constitutional requirement that men only were eligible for constitutional offices.

This ruling developed out of the fact that several legislative seats are to be filled next fall and women were said to be contemplating making campaigns in some places.

WHERE WOMEN MAY RULE

The recent extension of the franchise in Sweden now gives that country more women voters than men.

MOTHER SURRENDERS TO SAVE CHILDREN.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Mrs. Emilia Panico, wanted by the police for the stabbing to death Sunday of Mrs. Mary Esposito, walked into the Maxwell street station shortfly after 4 o'clock this afternoon and surrendered. Earlier in the day the police announced that if Mrs. Panico did not give herself up they would send her six small children away. This appeal to her mother instinct is believed to have induced the fugitive to leave her hiding place.

POPE MOURNS UNREST EXISTING OVER WORLD

By Associated Press.

ROME, July 24.—Pope Benedict received the members of the Sacred College today, the occasion of his name-day.

The pope conversed with each of the Cardinals and during the conversations expressed his regret at the unrest still existing throughout the world and the disorders growing out of this unrestful spirit. All these evils, he declared, could only be eliminated by the strengthening of faith and the fear of God.

OKLAHOMA MAN FEELS GOOD TO HIS FINGER TIPS

For First Time in Five Years Muskogee Man Can Eat a Meal in Comfort

"I want to say a good word for Tanlac, too, for it certainly has been a good friend to me," said Wm. B. Chilton, Box 4, R. F. D. No. 4, Muskogee, Okla.

"There's something about Tanlac different from anything I ever tried, for it does what they fail to do. For two years I didn't know what it was to eat a meal without being bothered afterwards by gas on my stomach. Sometimes this gas would rise and press against my heart and made it beat like a triphammer, and then sometimes it would rise in my throat until I would gasp for breath. I got so nervous that I was restless day and night and just didn't know what it was to get a good sound night's sleep. I was miserable all the time, especially in the morning.

"Tanlac benefitted me in every way. In fact I am feeling like a new man now. I eat three big meals a day and never feel the slightest distress afterwards. As soon as Tanlac put my stomach in good condition my nerves got quiet and I began to sleep all night long just like a boy. I have gained several pounds in weight and feel good clean to my finger tips. I am willing to go on record any time and any where in favor of Tanlac. It beats any medicine I ever saw or heard anything about."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Store; in Electra by Tarlton Drug Store; in Burkburnett by West End Drug Store and by all leading druggists.—Adv.

ASK ME

Bugler—Vivian Martin is Mrs. Johnson in private life. May Allison took the part of Lady Kitty in "The Marriage of William Ashe." Wyndham Standing played William Ashe. It was taken from the book by Mrs. Humphrey Warde.

Cornelia Arrus—Here are the addresses of the actors and actresses you ask for: Mary Pickford, Mary Pickford company, Los Angeles, Cal.; Katherine MacDonald, MacDonald Film Corporation, 904 Girard street, Los Angeles, Cal.; Harold Lloyd, Rolin Film company, Court and Hill streets, Los Angeles, Cal.; Grace Darmond, 7216 Franklin avenue, Hollywood, Cal.; Wallace Reid, Lasky Studio, Hollywood, Cal.; and Elaine Hammerstein, Selznick Pictures Corporation, New York.

Studio A.—No, Marguerite De La Motte is not married. She is seventeen years old. You have probably seen her with Douglas Fairbanks in "The Nut." Well, that's the last one she played in. At present, she is working on "The Three Musketeers" and you can ask the manager of the theater you patronize when he is going to book this picture. Of course, this will be a long way off because the picture has not yet been completed. I can't tell you the names of all the plays she has appeared in because I haven't the time. But she had an important role in "Trumpet Island" and "The Nut." She is at present with the Douglas Fairbanks company, Hollywood, Cal.

Brown Eyes—Anita Stewart's leading man in "Virtuous Wives" was Conway Tearle. Niles Welch was Mary Pickford's leading man in "Stella Maris." I am sorry but I have never heard that Norma Talmadge played in "The Moth." You must be mistaken. Mary Philbin doesn't give her age. No, Elmo Lincoln has no twin brother. In "The Flaming Disk," he has two parts, that of a secret service agent and his twin brother, the gangster. That's probably what made you think he had a twin brother.

Peppy—Dorothy Gish was the young star who played in "Peppy Polly." And "that big handsome man" playing opposite her was Richard Barthelmess. Richard is now working on his first starring vehicle. Dorothy Phillips is the wife of Allen Holubar and has one daughter, Gwendolyn. Gladys Walton is 17 years old. "The Iron Claw" is such an old, old serial, that I can't imagine what ever made you think of it. Pearl White was the star and Creighton Hale and Sheldon Lewis appeared opposite her. You are worthy of that name. Your questions are all peppy.

Whistle—What do you want me to do? Whistle the answers? Quite impossible, my dear, es, Alice Brady is married. Her husband is James Crane. She is at present appearing in "Little Italy." "The Shulamite" and "Under the Lash" are one and the same productions. It is Gloria Swanson's second starring picture. It was named "The Shulamite" but has since been changed to "Under the Lash." Ethel Clayton was married to Joe Kaufman, who died some time ago. She has a son ten years old.

EVERYONE HAS CURE FOR SLEEPLESSNESS

The manner in which man will attempt to assist his fellow creature, for financial return or, otherwise, is shown in the number of replies received as the result of an article published a year ago which erroneously stated that Bengjamin Hyde, a retired contractor, would give $1,000 to any who could tell him how to obtain sleep without the use of medicines.

The article misquoted Mr. Hyde who is suffering from paraly agitans, and more than 3,000 letters were written giving him varied lines of advice as to how to sleep.

Mr. Hyde has recently made another offer of $2,000 but in order to avoid answers from irresponsible persons he has confined the offer of reward to "physicians of good standing." His condition is that the cure permanently free him from tremors and muscular contractions and enable him to sit in a chair without having pains in his back.

TOUSSAINT'S WIFE COMES FOR TRIAL

The wife of Henry J. Toussaint, who will go on trial for his life Wednesday in the Thirtieth District court for the alleged murder of his father, T. O. Toussaint in February, arrived here Monday from her parent's home in Pennsylvania. The husband and wife greeted each other affectionately when the accused was allowed to come to the sheriffs office from the county jail where he has been confined since his arrest in February.

The couple talked in low tones for over two hours in the sheriff's office. Both appeared to be in an optomistic mood frequently laughing as they talked. Toussaint, during his confinement at the county jail, has generally assumed a reserved and morose attitude towards jailers and other prisoners.

It is not known whether or not the brother of the accused, Rudolph Toussaint, will attend the trial or not.

20 Years of Baseball—Then Home

By C. F. C.

I'm tired of playin' ball, ol' kid,
And I wanta go back to the sea;
Back to the coast o' Maine, ol' kid,
Where my mother's waitin' for me.

I've played the game for twenty years
Since I busted in with Lynn
In the old New England League back home,
But, kid, I'm just all in.

I've got my base hits in every league
They could trade a feller to,
But I'm sick o' wanderin' here and there;
Home-sick, ol' kid, I'm through.

I was up in the majors when Cobb was young,
When Harry Lord was a star,
But the flame that I burned in them big league days
Now stinks like a dead cigar.

I dropped a notch to the Southern class,
And I played with the Salt Lake Bees,
But my legs is gone, and at thirty-six
Ol' kid, I'm a piece o' cheese.

I've done my turn in the Texas loop,
And I hit four-ten with St. Joe,
And many's the time in the old A. A.
That I got my circuit blow.

The heat down south brought the old whip back,
And I blazed the trail again;
Just a flash in the pan, Ol' kid, that's all,
Next spring I was dead—and then

They traded me off to the Three-I league,
Then down to the Florida State;
I'm a busher now for life, ol' kid.
And I'm sick for the ol' home plate.

I've had my belly-full o' ball,
Year after year the same,
'Till my whole dam life just looks to me
Like one long baseball game.

I started from home on a clean base hit,
And I stole the second sack;
I went to third on an infield out—
Now who's gonna bring me back?

Back to the old home bench, ol' kid,
I'm waiting now for the clout;
Will I score from third on an outfield fly?
Will the infield peg me out?

I want to go back to Maine, ol' kid,
And throw my old glove away,
And get me a job on a fishin' smack
That sails out o' Casco Bay;

I'm sick for the smell o' tar and salt,
And the fog that banks in the night,
I want to be buckin' a northeast gale
Dam close to Monhegan Light!

I want to go back to Maine, ol' pal,
Where the rivers wind to the sea,
Where the only fans is my home folks—
And my mother's waitin' for me.

EDDIE CICOTTE ON WITNESS STAND DECLARES "I HAVE CRIED A PLENTY OVER THIS CASE"

CHICAGO, July 25.—Judge Hugo Friend today ruled for the state in every legal battle fought during a day of repeated sensations in the baseball trial and enabling the prosecution to reach home with direct and flank attacks on the former White Sox players and alleged gamblers charged with conspiracy for eight Sox players to throw the 1919 world series to Cincinnati.

Judge Friend ordered the confessions of Eddie Cicotte, Joe Jackson, and Claude Williams to the grand jury that they were paid from $5000 to $10,000 to throw games, admitted as evidence despite the fact that the three men took the stand in their own defense and swore they had been promised immunity.

Judge Charles A. McDonald, who ordered the baseball scandal investigation, did some heavy hitting for the state by following the players with testimony that they were never promised anything, that they signed immunity waivers and that they were plainly told that they would be given no consideration by the state's attorneys.

Judge Friend then ruled that in place of the original signed confessions of the men, now missing, the state could have the court stenographers at the grand jury inquiry read from their shorthand notes the testimony of the three players. He granted permission for Judge McDonald and others to whom the players told their stories before going to the grand jury to testify as to these conversations, the state thus being able to present a series of identical confessions instead of only one.

Judge McDonald told first how Cicotte came to his chambers, omitting all others names.

"Cicotte told me the plan to throw the 1919 world's series first came up at the Ansonia Hotel in New York, where it was arranged that the games could be thrown for $100,000," testified Judge McDonald. "He said he got $10,000 in advance. He said a meeting of a number of players was held at the Warner Hotel here several days before the world's series. He said he went out after the meeting and when he came back there was $10,000 in big bills under his pillow.

"He said he hit the first man up in the first game of the world's series while trying to walk him.

"Cicotte said that was his only misplay in the series. He told me he used the money to pay off a mortgage on his farm, pay for repairs on it and to buy cattle.

"Cicotte said he realized he had ruined his future but it was too late now."

Judge McDonald then gave details of the Williams and Jackson confessions. Each man confessed he received $5000 but was promised $20,000 and declared he was double-crossed out of the difference, Judge McDonald said.

Cicotte, Jackson and Williams testified with the jury absent, their testimony dealing only with admissibility of the confessions. Chewing gum vigorously and speaking in a very low but distinct tone, Cicotte brought silence in the court room when he told he had broken down before Judge McDonald and with tears in his eyes confessed to him.

"I have cried a plenty over this case," the once great pitcher said. "I didn't weep and wail as some say but I guess there were plenty of tears in my eyes, and the crying I have done inwardly is much greater than the tears which actually came out."

If any convictions are made in the baseball trial, a new investigation of the scandal through which it is charged White Sox players agreed to throw the 1919 world's series, will be started immediately and attempts made to implicate a group of alleged gamblers not now on trial, John Tyrrell, assistant state's attorney announced tonight.

CITY TO PASS ON APPEAL OF SCOTLAND SOON

A decision on the appeal of the Scotland addition residents asking that the city council force the Wichita Falls Electric Company to extend their service to that section probably will be rendered within two or three days, it was announced Monday afternoon following a session of the city council to hear arguments from the company and representatives of the residents.

Fire and Police Commissioner J. B. Fitts declared following the meeting that only a point of law, on which the council was uncertain, prevented a final decision at the Monday afternoon session.

Representatives of the Electric company declared that they would be unable to operate the lines in the Scotland addition without sustaining a loss of $2,642.42 per year, besides the cost of furnishing the power, provided they should obtain 133 customers.

They declared that there are 160 houses in the addition and that 133 is considered the highest estimate of the possible consumers to be obtained. In support of this theory the electric company asserted that the water company has only 131 customers in that addition and declared that they only consume a minimum quantity of water.

A. L. Huey, who conducted the sale of lots on the Scotland addition, declared that the electric company officials agreed to provide light service for the section before he sold lots and that the sales were all made with the promise of lights to his customers and that a number of the houses are already wired.

He also declared that the action of the company in failing to build the lines had materially damaged the addition, in that it had prevented numerous citizens from building homes there, who would have built in that locality had they been assured they would get the electric company service.

Mr. Huey also told council members that it had been shown that the lines could be built to the addition and maintained at figures lower than those advanced by the company and asserted that it was not believed they would lose money should the lines be built there.

The electric company was represented by P. A. Rogers, local manager; J. W. Carpenter of Dallas, vice president and general manager of the Texas Power and Light Company; J. B. Thomas of Dallas, chief engineer, and Luther Hoffman, attorney.

"OLD OVER-HAND" HOLLY MAKES IT TOUGH GOING FOR CRABS, AND SPUDS NAB SERIES, WINNING 2-1

By C. F. CARTER

Playing errorless ball behind splendid pitching by Hollingsworth, and turning in one beautiful play after another, the Spudders took the deciding game of the series from the Galveston Crabs yesterday afternoon, 2 to 1. Holly and "Doc" Perryman, Roy Ellam's new righthander, hooked up in a battle for twirling honors that was good to see.

The Spudder speed ball artist limited the Sand Crabs to six scattered bingles, and added nine victims to his steadily-growing list of strikeouts. With the exception of the sixth frame when a two-bagger and a single in succession gave the Crabs their lonely tally, Holly was never in serious danger. In the few threatened assaults on the home plate that did occur, "Old Over-Hand" simply tightened, and poured it on 'em a little stiffer.

Perryman held the Spudders to eight hits, kept the blows well separated and hurled a fine, steady game. None of the Spudders fanned the ozone, but the Crabs' new twirler was a tough egg to crack when hits meant runs. A costly error by Bittle in left field gave the Spudders their first tally, and had the Crabs played errorless ball the fans would in all probability have witnessed another extra inning struggle.

In the opening frame Bob Bescher worked Perryman for a base on balls, and went to second on Danny Gross' neat sacrifice. Tex McDonald popped up to Dutch Schleibner. Danny Clark hit one to left, and Bob scored and Danny was safe when Bittle after a long run dropped the pill. Clark was nailed at second on an attempted steal.

One More in Fifth

The second Spudder marker came in the fifth, when Griggs hit one of his famous grunting doubles to right center. You fans can't hear all we hear up in the press coop on the roof, so we'll have to explain that every time Cecil cracks that old apple he throws in a most substantial grunt for good measure. Well, Caddy Works sacrificed Griggs along to third, and then Frank Kitchens squeezed him neatly home, Frank laying the ball down between first and the pitcher's box in the most approved big league style.

The Crabs shoved their only score across in the sixth, when Bittle doubled down the left field line and crossed the plate on Hughes single to left. Dutch Schleibner rolled one down the first base line, but Works on a pretty play beat Dutch to the bag, Hughes going to second. Holly poured it on Harry Smith and George Distel, fanning 'em both.

In the seventh the Crabs threatened again, but good headwork and fast fielding stopped the rally. Freddy McDonald worked Holly for a pass, and Mickey O'Brien lifted a pop-up to Clark back of first. O'Brien pulled a boner by not running out the play, and Clark slipped one over on Galveston by dropping the ball purposely, and whipping it to Gross for a force-out on McDonald. Gross promptly completed a double play on O'Brien by pegging the apple back to Caddy Works. Harvey Grubb walked, and went to third when Perryman dropped a single in right. Bittle, however, hit to Clark, and Perryman was forced at second for the third out.

Crabs Lack the Punch

Again in the eighth Galveston had a chance, but couldn't slip over the punch. Hughes walked, and was sacrificed to second by Schliebner. Holly again fanned the hard hitting Smith, and forced Distel to pop a foul to Tex McDonald.

Holly had it on 'em, that was all—and behind him the boys played great ball. They were up and scrambling all the time, and the infield put up a lightning article of ball throughout the pastime. A glance at the box score, showing that Griggs had one putout, while Jake Miller and Bob Bescher didn't have to grab a fly in nine innings, indicates the difficulty the Crabs had in solving Holly's fast overhand delivery.

Today the Battling Buffs fresh from a trumphant cleanup in Fort Worth are with us for a four-game series—and it behooveth the boys to tear into 'em from the sound of the opening gong. Let's bust the old attendance record this week and show the gang we appreciate the fight and hustle they're showing.

PRESS BOX PATTER

That Crab meat au gratin had a most delicious flavor, thank you. Now for a good, juicy Buffalo steak.

In the seventh inning Danny Clark pulled one that had even some of the wise ones in the press coop scratching their heads. With Freddy McDonald camped on first base, Mickey O'Brien lifted a dinky little pop fly to Clark. Seeing the ball dropping gently in Danny's glove, and McDonald still hugging first, O'Brien failed to run out the blow—and Clark purposely dropped the dinky little fly to the ground, grabbed the ball and pegged to second for a force out on the surprised McDonald; and Danny Gross whipped the pill back to Caddy Works on first, thereby completing a double play on the startled and disgusted O'Brien. The Sand Crabs raised several wild protests, but Umpire Irwin sent McDonald and Mickey to the bench. Many of the fans at first thought O'Brien's offering was an infield fly, and the batter only was out—but on an infield fly first and second, or first, second and third bases must be occupied.

We couldn't hear the argument at first base, but we guess that the Crabs were protesting that Clark had PURPOSELY and illegally dropped the ball in order to pull off the double play—and it is possible, of course, that Umpire Irwin ruled that Danny had tried to catch the ball and failed, then had recovered the pill and made the only play left to him. However, we'll wager next year's income that Danny very cleverly and wisely dropped the apple, and put one over on Mickey and Freddy. It was a quick bit of brain work on Clark's part, and without question it played a prominent part in saving the game.

Caddy Works also turned in one of the prettiest plays of the season in the sixth, when Dutch Schleibner rolled one down the first base line with Hughes on first. Caddy backed up with the ball, watching it as it hugged the line and giving it every chance to roll foul. Four feet from the bag, when he saw it was still fair by a few inches, Caddy grabbed the pill, turned in a flash and drove headfirst for the bag, beating Dutch to the sack by a hair.

SET TAX RATE FOR COUNTY AT 72 CENTS

The county commissioner's court, after a lengthy discussion as to financial requirements, set 75 cents as the rate of county tax for the coming year. The rate was set after a report and recommendation of Pat Murphy, county auditor, as reported in Sunday's issue of The Record News, had been read to the court in which 72-cent rate was suggested.

The court, after some variance of opinion had been expressed, finally made a 2-cent raise on the road and bridge fund for the fourth precincts of the county and also added one cent to the general fund rate suggested by Mr. Murphy. The rate represents a five-cent decrease over last year in spite of the fact that total valuations for the year are approximately 20 per cent under those of last year.

Mayor W. R. Arnold, H. M. F. Dixon and other residents of Iowa Park, appeared before the court in regard to route to be used in carrying the concrete road through that city. The citizens asked that road be brought down Broad street, the main business street of the town, instead of the route proposed by federal and state engineers which calls for a turn two blocks north of Broad street.

County Engineer Isbell pointed out that a change by the county in the route as laid out by the federal and state engineers might result in loss of state aid on two projects for which there is still due the county over $53,000.

The court passed a resolution favoring the Broad street route provided the consent of the state and federal officials could be obtained and with the additional proviso that the town of Iowa Park carry out a plan suggested by residents at the meeting.

Residents at the meeting stated that it was the intention of the town to construct two 18-foot concrete driveways down the street with a park in the center. The street is 150 feet wide.

Dr. M. M. Walker, county health officer, made a report of a survey that he and Dr. J. F. Reed of the city council had made in connection with the proposed taking over of the Methodist hospital at Call Field by the county and city pending the completion of the addition to the Wichita General hospital.

The report recommended that $10,031.37 be paid the owners of the hospital for equipment which involved $18,204.20, the same to be used in the new hospital addition when completed.

The purchase of certain equipment at the hospital was not recommended. The sum of $125 a month was suggested as the monthly rental to be paid the owners of the hospital building while being used. Action will be taken later.

The court approved the subcontracts let by Potts & Prentice, county road contractors, for the construction of two sections of road in and near Iowa Park and Electra. The two sections total approximately six miles. The Iowa Park contract was let to the Zimmerman Construction company and the Electra contract to McCollum Construction company. Work will start on both jobs within the next two weeks.

A resolution was passed ordering the New Tex Refining company to repair their switch track where it crosses the concrete road west of this city.

A representative of the Alamo Steel and Iron Works of San Antonio was present at the meeting in regard to contract with the county to furnish wire mesh to be used in county road construction. A variance of opinion was expressed as to the terms and status of the contract which has not as yet been carried out.

"COPS" WILL PATROL ROADS AFTER TODAY

Beginning this morning the concrete road between this city and Iowa Park and that leading to the lake will be patroled by motorcycle officers. Judge J. P. Jones of the county court Monday gave the oath of special deputy sheriff to Swan Reeves and Ollie McDonald and they will assume their duties this morning.

Both men were instructed by Judge Jones. Reeves was assigned to the Iowa Park road and McDonald to the lake road.

SENTENCE EDWARDS TO TWO-YEAR TERM

The holding out of one juror for a five-year sentence after the defense and state attorneys had agreed to ask a two-year term following a plea of guilty delayed the bringing in of verdict and sentence in the 30th district court Monday morning in the case of John Edwards, charged by indictment with the felony theft of an automobile. The jury was out over an hour before bringing in the verdict of guilty with the recommended two-year sentence imposed.

A jury was hastily sworn in to accept the plea after Edwards had indicated his desire to enter a plea of guilty with the two-year sentence recommendation.

The confession of Edawrds, who is a barber by trade, was read to the jury. In the confession made to Sam Holliday, assistant district attorney, on June 11, Edwards said that he took a Franklin automobile from in front of the Bob Waggoner building early in June and drove it to several places until he arrived at Van Horn where he was arrested and brought back to this city.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Works and little sons, accompanied by Mrs. L. O. Landon, left this morning for Denver, Colo., where they have a furnished cottage for the summer. The trip will be made by automobile and while Denver will be their headquarters, Estes Park and other nearby points will be visited. Mr. and Mrs. Works will remain away until October, but Mrs. Landon will return to Texas the middle of August.

ARNOLD TRAINING IN BURK FOR FIGHT THURSDAY WITH KID COLE

BURKBURNETT, Texas, July 25.—Jack Arnold, Dallas, holder of the featherweight state championship, arrived here this morning to conclude training for his battle against Kid Cole of this city, scheduled for decision Thursday night.

Arnold, who is within one pound of his weight, worked out before a big gathering of the fans and showed exceptional speed in rope skipping and shadow boxing. The little champion, who will scale 124 pounds on Thursday, has sent out the S. O. S. for sparring partners, but judging from the brilliant manner in which he operated today he will doubtless experience difficulty in securing local laddies to don the gloves with him.

The champion exercised for 90 minutes and then called it a day's work.

Cole, who is a big favorite with the workers in the oil fields, donned his training togs late today and worked for fifty minutes, taking matters easily.

The bout of Thursday gives promise of surpassing any previous fistic encounter in this region. Reservations have been disposed of like hotcakes and a monster attendance is looked for. Fans from Wichita Falls will be present in a large party.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO WICHITA AS GROWING CITY

"Wichita Falls is a city that is already built but the Wichita Falls of the future in my opinion will be one of the largest, the busiest and the most important cities of the southwest. This isn't based on hearsay evidence. It is the general verdict of men I have met everywhere in the southwest who have watched its growth, are familiar with its resources and know what the future is to bring forth."

The speaker was John W. Carpentier of Dallas, vice-president and general manager of the Texas Power and Light Company an organization which has done so much toward the development of Texas and represents in its various plants an investment of many millions of dollars.

Mr. Carpenter accompanied by the local manager of the company, Peter Rogers, called at the office of The Record News Monday to pay their respects to the management of the paper, old and new, and in the conversation which followed the head of the power and light company freely expressed himself concerning the future as well as the present of Wichita Falls. His remarks were most complimentary but his viewpoint was that of a business man interested in the continuous growth of the city and the surrounding towns within a radius of one hundred and fifty miles of Wichita Falls.

This gentleman has been a builder for years. Whilst Dallas is his headquarters up to a very recent date Corsicana was his home and he was one of the leaders of all business activities in the city or county where the scouts of the Standard Oil company first discovered the golden sands in Texas and where J. A. Cullinan, former Senator Roger Q. Mills, Charles H. Mills, Captain James Garrity and many others rolled up wealth in oil.

His work in those days was as constructive as his labors are of the present. Mr. Carpenter was a prominent member of the Chamber of Commerce at Corsicana and one of the active champions of the amendment to the constitution providing for the conservation of the flood waters of the southwest in order that millions of acres of semiarid land might be reclaimed and also that millions of acres of swamp or overflow lands in the river bottoms of Texas should be given over to the plow and the hoe by those who believed in levy districts for drainage purposes.

It may interest the reader to be told that there are ninety thousand acres of overflow lands in Navarro county which before the coming of conservation and reclamation, was valued at ten dollars an acres and which yielded a crop one year in five, that is worth two hundred dollars per acre today and never a wash away or overflow all on account of levy protection. Mr. Carpenter knows the value of irrigation as well as of drainage and in speaking of Wichita Falls and its future, he realized the wonders that will be accomplished in an agricultural sense by the consummation of the irrigation plans by its champion in this section of the state.

THAT'S OUR IDEA in making CAMELS—the Quality Cigarette.

Why, just buy Camels and look at the package! It's the best packing science has devised to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored for your taste. Heavy paper outside—secure foil wrapping inside and the revenue stamp over the end to seal the package and keep it air-tight.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

Because, men smoke Camels who want the taste and fragrance of the finest tobaccos, expertly blended. Men smoke Camels for Camels smooth, refreshing mildness and their freedom from cigaretty aftertaste.

N. Y. COFFEE

NEW YORK, July 25.—A better undertone prevailed in coffee futures today and prices improved on a better spot demand and special Rio cables reporting futures 25 to 100 reis higher. On the advance here, September sold at 6.50 and December 6.74 with the close practically at best figures. The opening was unchanged to one point lower as a result of rather poor cables and represented about lowest of the day.

WHEAT PRICES BULGE ON NEWS FROM BELGIUM

CHICAGO, July 25—Wheat prices bulged at the last today on account of reports that wheat bought by Belgium in Australia was being received out of condition. The market closed firm 3-4 to 1 1-4 net higher with September 1.23 1-2 to 1.23 3-4, and December 1.26 1-4 to 1.26 1-2. Corn gained 3-8 to 5-8.

Oats lost 1-4@3-8 to 5-8. Provisions finished unchanged to 1'c lower.

Late strength of wheat was emphasized by gossip that exporters had been unable to obtain their requirements in the market.

Receipts this week may exceed any previous record. A decided falling off in amount of hedging sales took place in the last hour, shorts covering freely and commission house demand was said to be of a very good class.

Exports sales of 500,000 bushels rallied the corn market from the bearish effect of rains but sales kept oats weak throughout the day.

Lower quotations on hogs acted as a weight on provisions.

SOVIETS GUARD RUSSIAN BORDER

WARSAW, July 25.—Bolshevik soldiers guard the Russian border and only certain persons are given permission to leave the country, yet by bribery and other means, great number of persons are crossing into adjacent countries each night.

Polish government officials have estimated that about 50,000 have been entering Poland from Russia every month, despite efforts of the Polish authorities to keep them out. Only a very small percentage of these people carry the proper credentials from the Bolsheviki.

A recent arrival in Warsaw from Russia was Ralph Rimar, formerly an art student in Detroit and Charleston, W. Va., who left America, via Canada, early in January this year, with 700 other Russians. Rimar went to the United States eight years ago from a part of Russia which is now included within the Polish republic where his parents reside.

Rimar says that when he last saw the emigrants whom he had accompanied to Russia all had had enough of the Bolshevik regime and wished that they were back in the states.

Rimar was in Russia three months visiting Petrograd, Moscow, Kiev and other cities and towns. Conditions generally, he said, were gradually becoming worse, everywhere. He is eager to return to the United States but, without creditionals, is unable to get a passport.

Rimar says he went to Russia to satisfy his curiosity and for fun—but that he didn't have any pleasure at all, and that his curosity is thoroughly satisfied. He was arrested five times, went without a square meal for 12 weeks and that if he is ever able to get back to the United States he will stay put there for all time.

KANSAS WHEAT CROP ROLLING TO MARKET.

By Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, July 25.—The wheat harvest of the southwest is rolling to market here in unprecedented quantity.

Today's receipts of wheat in Kansas City were 1533 cars, the largest ever recorded for one day and 108 cars more than the previous high record made two years ago. The grain is coming in huge quantities from Nebraska, Kansas, Western Missouri and Oklahoma.

Necessity of farmers to convert their production into money to pay off loans is the reason for the big wheat movement, according to grain

VETERAN OF KEY SENDS MESSAGE TO PROVE HIS BOAST

By Associated Press.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., July 25.—Colonel Robert C. Clowry, 83, former president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, proudly boasted today that he could send Morse code messages as clearly as he could when he used to send telegrams for Abraham Lincoln at Springfield, Ill., before the Civil War.

He demonstrated it yesterday to the satisfaction of Old Time Telegraphers Association when he sent a message over a direct wire to E. C. Newton, 73, at Little Rock, Ark., who was a telegraph operator with the Confederate armies.

This is what he ticked off:

"It's a long time from 1861 to 1921 since we both were young fellows and worked the key, you under the bonnie blue flag with a single star and I under the Stars and Stripes. We both did our duty and were spared to see a gloriously united country. Some day the Great Commander will be calling us to another country where many of our comrades will be waiting to extend their familiar 73."

COTTON DOWN UNDER CLOSE OF LAST WEEK

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 25.—Considerable selling pressure was felt by cotton today, heavy offerings appearing on the opening and again in late trading. In between there was less presure but at no stage of the session was htere any decided disposition to recover. Lowest prices came late in the day when active months were 44 to 48 points under closing quotations of last week with October down to 11.72. The close showed net losses of 40 to 45 points with October at 11.75.

Much early selling was due to poor cables and after their effect wore off it continued on rumors of a government bureau estimate on the carryover of five hundred thousand bales and a little later on a private bureau report on condition of 68.1 indicating a crop of eight million six hundred thousand bales. For a while the market was steady on many complaints of boll weevil damage especially from Texas, some points in the west claiming damage as much as 25 per cent from this source. In the late trading the forecast of dry weather for the greater part of the belt was the foundation for new selling and there was also a considerable volume of further bearish private bureau reports on condition.

More or less liquidation of long contracts came out and this sort of selling was traced by many brokers to fear of legislation affecting future trading.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 25.—Growing belief that the crop has not suffered as much in the past month as many traders had been led to believe, caused a severe break in the cotton market today and final prices practically at low at levels of the season, showed 35 to 40 points loss from finals of Saturday.

At the opening the market was off 9 to 23 points and there was a good deal of selling, part of which seemed to come from quarters that were known to have boldings of long standing. This was supplemented by an increase of local short selling based on the weather and by pressure from the south under which prices yielded easily and in the afternoon October reached 12.21 and December 12.62, which was 42 points down at the close of Saturday. This represented a decline of practically five dollars a bale from levels which prevailed at the beginning of last week, but was still about 100 points over the lowest prices reached on the decline several weeks ago. The reason for today's change in sentiment was found principally in improving weather conditions in the south and two private condition figures both of which indicated less deterioration since the last government report than had been expected in view of boll weevil and rain news that the market has met within the past two weeks.

STOCKS SHOW ACTIVITY IN OPENING DAY

NEW YORK, July 25.—A fair measure of activity and strength especially among steels, equipments and rubbers, sugar and tobacco specialties, marked the opening of the week on the stock exchange. Part of this advantage was cancelled later. Offerings of call money at five and a half percent later shaded to five, were larger than at any time since the disbursements of July interest and dividend payment. Time payments held firm but interior banks again bought liberally of merchants paper. In foreign exchange reactionary conditions prevailed. London demand bills fell to a fraction under $3.57 and continental quotations yielded variably.

Trading in bonds was moderately active, industrials and rails adding fractionally tod last weeks gains. Liberty issues closed mostly higher, but internationals were mixed.

CURLEE ASKS IMPROVEMENTS BE HELD UP

Ordinarily in hard times we have low wages and cheap materials. However, right now wages are still comparatively high and materials are not as cheap as a I believe they will be.

"For that reason I am in favor of curtailing all new work as much as possible until perhaps the first of the coming year when I think conditions will be more favorable to a continuance of our improvement programs."

In discussing the matter Finance Commissioner Shepherd said that it was imperative that city expenditures be cut down to the lowest figure possible. Other members of the council expressed similar opinions.

Outside of this discussion and the ordering in of the Indiana street paving only routine maters were taken up at the council meeting.

The request of W. H. Redmond for a street crossing at Bridwell, McGregor and Laurel Streets was referred to the street department.

A. L. Rulo again brought up the matter of furnishing pipe for water line to twenty property owners near Lee and Front Streets. The property owners agree to lay the one-inch line for 1,600 feet provided the city furnishes the pipe. He was assured that the pipe would be furnished as soon as the water department had the funds or had removed the small pipe from other sections of the city where they are laying larger lines.

Want Front Street Opened

Mr. Rulo also presented a petition signed by 22 property owners concerned asking that Front Street east of the railroad tracks be opened up and kept in good condition.

It was explained by City Attorney Mann that every effort had been made to oust the squatters in that section of the city but with little success. Police Commissioner Fitts, City Engineer Montgomery and Mr. Mann were appointed on a committee with authority to take drastic action if necessary to open the street.

W. H. Sanford of the Keystone Pipe and Supply Company and an attorney representing the Producers Supply and Tool Company protested the tax renditions made on the companies' properties here. The matter was referred to H. J. Anderson for recommendation with final action to be taken by the board of equalization which has already passed on two renditions.

Fitts Makes Recommendations

Police Commissioner Fitts brought up the matter of requiring a bond for the desk sergeant at the police court. He also said that he favored more lights in the downtown alleys.

Favorable action was taken in both matters.

Mr. Fitts said that certain property left in the possession of his department before he assumed his duties could not be found. The property included two stolen Ford machines, traveling bags, silverware and three revolvers. Additional information will be obtained and brought before the council.

Commissioner Reed read a report compiled by he and Dr. M. M. Walker as to the value of supplies and equipment to be taken over by the city and county from the Methodist hospital, pending the completion of the addition to the Wichita General hospital. In connection with the report a joint meeting will be held today at 2 p. m.

KEMP SAYS LOCAL BONDS TO BE SOLD

The bond market is in much better shape, which presages well for the bonds of the Big Wichita irrigation project, according to a letter from Chicago from J. A. Kemp who has been in Battle Creek for the past few weeks on account of his health.

Mr. Kemp expressed himself as hopeful that the remaining change in the irrigation law would be made by the legislature at once, in order that the trade could be closed under the present favorable conditions.

A COMPARSION

—You have a sum of money, say $1000, to invest. Your first thought possibly is to purchase a good vendor's lien note, to yield 8 per cent interest. An excellent idea IF YOU GET A GOOD NOTE, but the ordinary individual does not know how to distinguish among notes. Again, your funds cannot be realized on until maturity of the note and you have the whole responsibility of the matter on YOUR shoulders.

Deposits in the Wichita Falls Building & Loan Association

—This $1000. The Association will put the money in vendor's or mechanics' lien notes, secured by deed of trust and get you TEN PER CENT interest. You will have the benefit of expert bankers, expert lawyers, expert realtors, exprt building contractors, expert business men, WHO KNOW HOW TO LOAN MONEY and your funds are available at any time on thirty days notice. Think this over and it is evident that it is much better to place your funds with this Association than endeavor to loan it yourself. Sign the coupon below to know how.

SOLONS PLAY 'HOOKY' FROM MANY SESSIONS

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Congress needs a truant officer.

With Mr. Fahrenheit's mercury playing near the top of the little glass tube most every day, it is pretty hard for congress to stay on the job.

Neither the senate nor house chambers are noted for their cool zephyrs, and almost any excuse is sufficient to plead "official business" and draw a "pass" from without the portals of the legislative halls.

Early morning finds a large majority of the legislators on the job. In the cool of the morning they answer the letters that the "home folks" write, because if they don't keep up with the people back home they will be told about it in the next campaign.

Noon finds a steady stream of legislators pouring in to answer the roll calls that inevitably follow the opening of the sessions.

Fifteen minutes after noon finds the cooling restaurants of the house and senate jammed with legislators.

After lunch comes the time when the congressional truant officer is needed. It's pretty hard to stay in the stuffy chamber when the temperature dances around the 100 mark, and the golf courses are swept by country breezes, and the new motor car is hitting 'em on all six. The brave ones struggle against temptation and keep the pages busy rushing iced mineral waters and lemonade to their desks. The weak fall. The woefully weak ask some brother legislator to announce their absence on account of official business. Those who aren't quite so weak and don't care what the Congressional Record shows just slip out the side doors and let the roll calls come where they may. What care they if they are recorded as absent from a session without explanation.

By mid-afternoon both chambers are pretty apt to look like a school room on circus day. A few of the faithful sit in their chairs and slumber peacefully, and a few of the even more faithful even insist upon carrying on debate.

By late afternoon, if an adjournment hasn't been taken, there are only the "watch dogs" left. They are the unfortunates who are chosen to remain always on the job to see that nothing is "slipped over" in the absence of the members.

By sundown the members come stealing back to their offices, just to see what has happened and in order to take care of any stray telegrams or telephone messages that may have come in from their constituents.

It's a hard life these legislators lead, for temptation to loaf besets them on all sides during these steaming Washington weeks.

COUNTY ATTORNEY SCORES ACTIVITIES OF MASKED MEN IN TALK TO KIWANIS CLUB

"If the law cannot be enforced put the officers out, but do not turn the machinery of justice over to mob law," declared County Attorney E. L. Fulton in a talk Monday before the Kiwanis club on the subject of law enforcement in which he declared there was no excuse for the activities of the Ku Klux Klan.

"Sanction the 'invisible empire' and you leave the way open for individuals to vent their personal spite on their enemies in the name of the 'Klan'," he declared.

Mr. Fulton voiced his disapproval of the Ku Klux Klan in the south, which organization the daily papers report is responsible for "tar and feather" parties, flogging and other activities, stating that the "empire" which served a high purpose during the days of reconstruction in the south, was not needed to bolster up the law at the present time. His remarks concerning the alleged activities of the "K. K. K." in Texas and the south came after he had warmed up to his subject of law enforcement. At several points during the talk he was accorded applause, indicating favorable reception by the members.

"Granted that the Ku Klux Klan sometimes reaches individuals who deserve to be punished for their wrong doings," he declared, "still it is better for the law to take its course and punish no man without due process of the courts."

Mr. Fulton also brought out the necessity for good men serving in the jury box.

"The crooks stick together," he said, "why should not the respectable citizens do the same to keep down crime?" He also urged all citizens to report any violations of laws they happened to know of.

Ben Neal gave some interesting facts concerning the Kiwanis convention at Cleveland in June, especially the personal side. According to Ben, "Doc" Hoover and Wichita Falls got quite a good deal of publicity at the convention. He told of the space accorded the Wichita Falls oil well and irrigation map by the papers in Cleveland and mentioned that fact that Wichita Falls was the only city in the United States and Canada that had an exhibit.

From the promises made by some of the delegates at the convention, Ben says he expects to see some new money brought into Wichita Falls to be invested in oil and farm lands.

Ben took a slap at those who preach hard times and said they are liable to chase some good money away from this section.

An exceptionally good entertainment was given by little Miss Mignon Sanford and Miss Louise Simmons. Miss Mignon, a tiny tot, gave a recitation which was enjoyed very much. Miss Simmons gave a very vivid impersonation of a "red head" and her troubles, accompanied by Miss Tyson on the piano.

Joe Art won the attendance prize, a fountain pen donated by Fred Stripling. Cigars furnished the silent boost, given by Julian Bobo.

H. A. Dodson was in the chairman's seat at this program.

DISCOVER LOOT TAKEN FROM P. B. M.

Pursuing their quest for some old batteries under a warehouse of the Nunn Electric company warehouse on East Pecan street, from which they wished to build a home made "shocking machine," Fred, 12 years old and J. P., 9 years old, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dea, 102 Elm street, Monday morning at 10 o'clock found a large portion of the goods stolen five days ago from the P. B. M. Co.

The boys notified their father, who is an employe of the Wichita Ice company, and who immediately called in City Detective Jack Miller, who identified the property as the loot stolen from the P. B. M. store.

Jim Barnard, credit manager of the P. B. M. Co., announced Monday afternoon that the two boys will receive a share of the reward of 10 per cent of the total value recovered goods. A part of the reward is said to be due City Detectives John Boone and Jack Miller, who were watching a negro woman said to be under suspicion in connection with the goods, and whose home had been searched once in quest of the goods.

Employes of the company after an incomplete check of the recovered articles Monday afternoon announced that between $500 and $600 worth of the merchandise is still missing. Several ready made gowns, silk underwear and blouses are reported among the articles still missing. Between $2000 and $2500 worth of the goods was recovered.

Two negro men and one negro woman were arrested late Monday afternoon by City Detectives Boone and Miller, and brought to the city hall for investigation.

MUSSEL SHOALS OFFER OF FORD IS MADE PUBLIC

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Details of Henry Ford's offer to purchase the government nitrate plant at Mussel Shoals, Ala., for Five million dollars and for a lease for one hundred years on completion of the Wilson and number three dams, providing power for the project, at an annual aggregate payment of $1,680,000, were made public today by the war department. No action has yet been taken by the government on the proposal, although it was announced today that no other bids had been received.

The dam lease proposals include publications to amortise in 14 years the government investment in the Wilson dam, taken at forty million dollars.

The offer is made subject to complete right of the government to plant process and personnel in the event of war and for the purpose of determining whether "the application of electricity and industrial chemistry" to agriculture may not do "what they have economically accomplished for other industries."

LETTER WRITERS SHOW HOW LIFE HAS CHANGED

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The ubiquitous soul who does his bit toward the settlement of world problems by writing letters to newspapers has been regaling New York editors with observations on changes that recent years have brought with Broadway and life along that thoroughfare.

Regard, he says, how the movie shows have shoved articulate actors into the side streets. See what has become of the famous old restaurants. They have gone and uninteresting shot shops and drug stores have taken their places. The table d'hote resorts where dinner and laughter and liquor kept patrons happily ensconced around the table until bedtime are now closing at 10 o'clock and even earlier. The good old crowds have vanished, he writes. Diners seem to regard eating as a duty. And it used to be an experience, not without an occasional thrill.

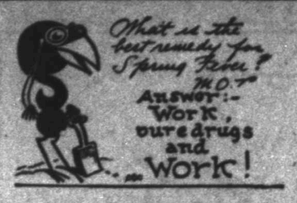

One hotel has done away with its jolly hunting room where boys used to get together, and the space has been rented to bourgeoisie merchants. And those virile chop houses where banqueters robed themselves in huge white aprons and fraternized over juicy beef steaks are now admitting women to their tables. The midnight shows have closed and the electric signs lure one only to a white goods' sale, cosmotics, a movie show or chewing gum.

And the clubs—oh, how they have changed! The cafe is deserted, the wags have forgotten how to jest and make merry. The stewards say they have as many diners as before, but only because men want company at dinner. Even the new night time traffic regulations in the theater district have kept the crowds away.

Meanwhile the men who conduct business in this great hotel, shopping and theatrical district have banded together "to help bring about a fair and proper municipal regulation of the district which will not be detrimental to business interests, the life and happiness of the New Yorker and the visitor, and to perpetuate the name and fame of the world's greatest money-spending center."

Their organization was incorporated as the Heart of New York Business Men's Association, and includes those whose interests are embraced in the district betweenty Thirty-fourth and Fifty-ninth streets and from Madison to Eight Avenue.
