WILD SCENES IN HOUSE CONGRESS

Pat M. Neff Accepts Presidency of Baylor University

FORMER GOVERNOR TO BECOME HEAD WACO BAPTIST SCHOOL HAS BEEN TRUSTEE 28 YEARS

WACO, Texas, March 19. (AP)—Former Gov. Pat M. Neff today accepted the presidency of Baylor university. The post was offered him by the board of trustees Feb. 23.

He will assume his office sometime after June 1. Dr. W. S. Allen, acting president, will continue in charge until then.

Neff taught school in Arkansas for a time after he was graduated from Baylor. In 28 years service as president of the Baylor board of trustees he has gained extensive knowledge of the school's policies and operations.

His wide acquaintance with Texas Baptists was expected to aid also in his administration. He acted as president of the Baptist general convention for three years. He has seen service on the state executive board of the church and has acted as moderator of the Waco Baptist association for many years.

Neff's acceptance was in the form of a letter to Judge W. H. Jenkins, for 50 years secretary of the board of trustees.

Governor to Name Successor

AUSTIN, March 19. (AP)—Acceptance by former Gov. Pat M. Neff of the presidency of Baylor university will give to Gov. R. S. Sterling appointment of Neff's successor on the railroad commission.

Concensus was the governor had either W. R. Ely of Abilene, chairman of the Texas Highway commission, or Ernest O. Thompson, mayor of Amarillo, in mind for the place. The governor was not expected to make the appointment until Neff's formal resignation had been received.

The governor's appointee will fill the place until a successor elected at the general election next November qualifies the succeeding January. It was considered likely that Neff's resignation would bring out several candidates for the Democratic nomination to the office. It was virtually certain that the governor's appointee would be a candidate for election to the unexpired term.

Neff was elected in 1930 to a six-year term on the commission. Winner of the office in the November election will have four years of that term to serve.

INDIAN DENIES SLAYING GIRL

Both Defense and Government Rest Case

GLOBE, Ariz., March 19. (AP)—The Apache, Mac (Golney) Seymour categorically denied for the first time from the witness chair today that he killed Henrietta Schmerler, Columbia university student of anthropology.

Both defense and government rested upon his unexpected avowal of innocence.

United States Attorney John C. Gung'l failed in a day-long, slashing cross-examination to break down Seymour's previous direct testimony that he was intoxicated and had not intended to kill the girl last July 18 after allegedly becoming intimate with her on the White River Apache reservation where she was doing research work. The case will go to the jury sometime Monday, only instructing of the jury by Judge Albert M. Sames and closing arguments of counsel remain to be completed.

COPS RACE WITH CHINESE CONSUL

AMARILLO, Texas, March 19. (AP)—It was a case where everybody was mistaken.

Joe Tong Lee, Chinese consul at New Orleans, was mistaken by Amarillo police for a bootlegger. The consul, scion of Chinese aristocracy, mistook police for robbers.

They engaged in a race on the highway that led within the city limits. Police won. Identifications were made. And the misunderstanding ended in American apologies and Chinese chuckles.

AUSTIN RESTRAINED FROM ENFORCEMENT OF TAXI ORDINANCE

AUSTIN, March 19. (AP)—A temporary injunction restraining the city of Austin from enforcing an ordinance requiring 10-cent taxis to obtain bonds was granted by Judge C. A. Wheeler in Travis county district court today.

Numerous cut rate taxis appeared on Austin streets recently. In most cases they were put into service by unemployed men. The street railway company and owners of regular price taxis complained that the new competitors were operating without bond. The city passed an ordinance requiring a bond or insurance policy as a prerequisite to obtaining a permit to operate a taxi.

GARNER BOOM STARTED HERE IN TAG DRIVE

Headquarters Campaign Here Opened Saturday Morning at Holt

'GARNER FOR PRESIDENT' TAGS WITH MEMBERSHIP

J. M. Jackson and P. B. Cox, Local Club Head, in Active Charge

The Wichita Falls "Garner-for-President" club will have more than 5,000 members enrolled within the next 10 days, P. B. Cox, local chairman, and J. M. Jackson, manager of headquarters in the Holt hotel, intimated Saturday evening.

Within the next 24 hours more than a dozen of Wichita Falls' unemployed will be selling the "Garner-for-President" auto plates. They sell for $1 each, the returns to be used in furthering the Garner campaign. Sales will be made by telephone from headquarters, room 231, Holt hotel.

Senator Ben G. Oneal, member of the state "Garner-for-President" executive committee from the local senatorial district, left Saturday morning for San Antonio, where he will attend an executive group meeting Monday.

The Wichita Falls club advocating the nomination of Speaker John Garner for president was organized more than a month ago. Clubs, organized by the executive committee through the sale of auto plates, are located at El Paso, Austin, San Antonio, Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth.

An effort is to be made to secure memberships from every resident of the state in the plan adopted by the state organization as a method to raise campaign funds. Actually the tags are not being sold, but instead memberships are taken for the club at a minimum of $1. For each $1 contributed to the campaign fund, one car tag is given.

Those in charge of the drive here state that the executive committee hopes to make the "Garner-for-President" club a nation-wide organization. Word from California indicates that more than 100,000 tags will be needed, and Los Angeles has already taken 8,000 and San Francisco has taken 25,000.

RAID INTERRUPTS BIG STAG PARTY

CHICAGO, March 19. (INS)—An abnormal demand for admission tickets was today blamed for the cancellation of a stag party which attracted some 4,000 men. A crowd of 1,000 men milled around in front of the ballroom where the affair was to have been held, clamoring for admission. Owners of the building summoned police to protect their property. When police burst in they seized beer, sandwiches, gambling paraphernalia and handbills advertising "bootleg" motion pictures.

JOLIET, Ill., March 19. (INS)—"I'm the guy who killed Jake Lingle," Curtis Davis, convict in the state penitentiary, announced today.

Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Tribune racketeering reporter, was shot down in a tunnel under Michigan avenue in June, 1930. Leo Brothers, St. Louis hoodlum, was convicted of the crime and entered the prison here a short time ago to serve a 14-year-term.

Davis, who is 24 years old, entered the prison May 14, 1931, from Chicago to serve a one year to life imprisonment for robbery. At noon today he asked Assistant Warden E. W. Stubblefield for an interview on "an important matter." Stubblefield invited the convict to his private office.

There Davis made his astonishing statement.

"Yes, sir, I killed that reporter and I hate to see Leo Brothers taking the rap down here for something I did."

Stubblefield, startled at the convict's declaration, urged him to tell why he shot Lingle. Davis evaded the question.

"I just waited in that subway, and when Lingle came along I shot him," Davis continued. "Then I tossed the gun away and got into a car with a pal. So that's how I escaped."

Davis then lapsed into silence, refusing to answer questions about reputed "higher ups" who hired him to do the shooting.

Brothers was brought into the office and Stubblefield declared the resemblance between the St. Louis man and Davis was amazing. When told of the confession, Brothers laughed and remarked:

"Maybe he is the right guy at that."

Prison authorities said the two prisoners have not had an opportunity to communicate with one another as they are quartered in widely separated parts of the penitentiary. Chicago officers have been asked to come to the prison to investigate the "confession."

FOUR KILLED PLANE CRASH IN CALIFORNIA

SAN BERNARDINO, March 19. (AP)—Four persons were reported killed and a fifth injured tonight when a passenger plane, en route from Dallas, Texas to Los Angeles, Calif., struck a high-tension wire near Calimesa, between Redlands and Beaumont, and crashed in flames.

The plane was flying low apparently because of a low ceiling due to fog.

Harold J. Kelsey, veteran in the employ of the American Airways, was the pilot of the plane. He was reported killed with the co-pilot, H. H. Campbell.

One of the passengers listed was C. M. Goldsmith, clothing manufacturer, St. Louis, Mo.

Architects Start 'Chain Party' to Relieve Jobless

CHICAGO, March 19. (INS)—The "chain party" blossomed today among Chicago's architects as a novel means of relieving unemployment.

The innovation was introduced last night at a party in the home of Alfred Shaw. Twelve of the city's leading architects attended, each contributing $2 and each promising to hold a party for 12 guests.

At these 12 parties, all guests will be pledged to give parties for eight persons and guests at the eight-person parties will promise to entertain for four, and so forth. All guests will pay $2 each in return for "hospitality" contained in glasses.

The $24 collected last night will grow to $11,932, if the chain is completed. This so-called "cocktail fund" will be used to supply work for jobless architects.

Five-Cent Eggs Weapons in Byers Pitched Battle

BYERS, Texas, March 19.—Snowball enthusiasts, who have been deprived of their favorite sport by the absence of snow this winter, gave expression to their pent-up feelings in an exciting battle royal, with eggs as weapons on the streets of Byers Friday evening.

One individual, giving vent to his feelings, took advantage of five-cents-a-dozen eggs and tossed one across the street as a banter. The challenge was accepted and in a few moments the battle was on with at least 20 contestants firing broadsides across the street at each other.

Produce merchants did a lively business while the battle lasted; a few store fronts were egg smeared, and a glutted egg market was greatly relieved.

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 19. (UP)—Robert Paul Green, 3-year-old son of Mrs. Verna Green, was killed this afternoon by an automobile while he played in front of his home.

Loyd Welsh, 20, student at Central State Teachers college, Edmond, was driving the car that struck the child. Welsh said the child darted into the street from between two parked cars.

NEW KIDNAPING ATTEMPT STIRS MORE INTEREST

Similar in Many Respects To Theft of Lindbergh Baby

THREE MEN QUESTIONED BY OFFICERS SATURDAY

Lindbergh Interview of Johnson Fails to Develop Tangible Clue

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 19. (AP)—An attempted kidnaping similar in many respects to that of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., and the mysterious questioning of a man who once had been a suspect in the Lindbergh case, injected new interest today into the 18-day old hunt for the famous flier's son.

But by night state police announced there was no significance to the re-examination of Henry (Red) Johnson, seaman-suitor of the Lindbergh baby's nursemaid, and that there was no possible connection between the attempted kidnaping and the Lindbergh case.

Meanwhile, the investigation centering at the aviator's hilltop home took a new turn when authorities sought for a possible link between the activities of an alleged stolen automobile ring at Hopewell, and the kidnaping.

Inspectors of the motor vehicle department arrested one man and reported to state police that two of his friends had been seen near the Lindbergh estate the day before the child was stolen.

Three Men Questioned

All three men were questioned by the kidnaping case investigators, but no report was made as to the result.

The secret removal of Johnson from the Newark jail, where he has been held on a charge of illegal entry, renewed hope the long-awaited "break" in the case might be near.

He was taken to Jersey City,

FAVORABLE REPORT PROPOSAL FOR BEER OF FOUR PER CENT

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—A bill to permit four per cent beer was reported favorably by a senate subcommittee today with a majority contending it would "promote temperance and decrease crime" while a minority held it would "add to enforcement difficulties."

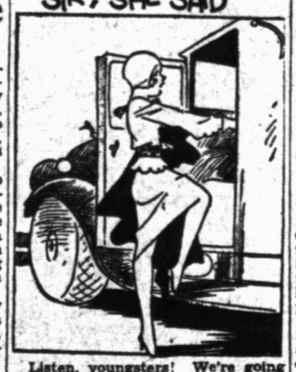

The action laid the issue before the full manufacturers' committee, which is expected soon to decide whether to report it to the senate.

The measure, sponsored by Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, would amend the Volstead act to legalize the manufacture of beer containing not more than four per cent of alcohol by volume. It provides for sale only by brewers and dealers in the original package or case, except that the beer might be served in bottles by "legitimate hotels and restaurants."

THIRD DEFEAT FOR SPONSORS SALES TAX PROVOKES LEADERS TO QUICKLY ADJOURN SESSION

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—Resorting to the only drastic means they could to save the billion dollar tax bill, Democratic leaders today summarily adjourned a fiery-tempered house amid the wildest scenes of late years.

The move, an effort to save the bill from complete destruction, came after opponents of a sales tax has triumphed anew in propositions opposed by the leadership of both parties.

The spectacular situation was led to a climax, when the sponsor of the bill, Representative Crisp of Georgia took the floor in the middle of the afternoon after the third defeat and said—while many members stood applauding—that the house was not "in a proper frame of mind to legislate." He suggested it cool off until consideration is resumed Tuesday and moved adjournment.

Speaker Garner hurried into the chamber and resumed his gavel as members stood, some shouting and others holding to a quiet tension.

Rainey Pleads for Bill

Seizing the opportunity, Major Leader Rainey swept into the well and turned on his colleagues, pleaded for the bill and said:

"This is a crucial hour in the history of this republic and there are many of you who do not seem to realize it. We must balance the budget and we must balance it with real taxes and real money.

"This house, I realize, at the present time, is a runaway house. You are adopting measures here without proper consideration.

"You are opposed to communism and so am I. I want to maintain this government as it is, but let me tell you—during this congress, and you have put the capsheaf on all of it at the present time, we have made a longer step in the direction of communism than any other country in the world ever made except Russia."

It was after three hours of bitter debate that the bipartisan foes of the sales tax that forms the big part of the bill had struck out, by 139 to 103, a provision to allow American taxpayers credit for income levies paid to foreign governments.

Vote Next Week

Led by Representative La Guardia, Republican, New York, independent chieftain, and Doughton, Democrat, North Carolina, the anti-sales tax group yesterday, forced the war-time surtax rates into the bill with an increase of seven per cent on incomes of more than $8,000 in a drive to replace the 2.25 per cent manufacturers levy that is expected to yield $600,000,000. A vote on the sales tax will be reached next week.

M'ADOO PLEADS EARNESTLY FOR RELIEF FARMER

Breakdown in Agriculture Mentioned as Chief Depression Cause

UNEMPLOYMENT TRACED TO PLIGHT OF FARMER

Government Price Fixing On Wheat and Cotton Urged as Remedy

HOUSTON, March 19. (US)—Declaring one of the chief causes for the present depression, the condition of agriculture, William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, today plead earnestly for relief for the farmer.

The breakdown in agriculture, McAdoo said, was represented most strikingly by the present status of wheat and cotton. The present unemployment figures of 7,000,000, McAdoo traced as the direct result of the plight of the farming industry.

To correct present conditions, McAdoo urged government price fixing for wheat and cotton, grown and consumed in the United States.

Summarizing his views on the legislation needed to bring both immediate and permanent relief to agriculture, McAdoo declared congress should promptly enact a law, empowering the secretary of agriculture, with the approval of the president to take the following steps:

1. Determine on convenient dates, annually, percentage of wheat and cotton crops required for domestic consumption and for foreign sale.

Price Fixing

2. Fix annually, semi-annually or quarterly, price at which wheat and cotton may be bought for domestic consumption; such price to be the work market price, plus flexible tariff then in effect.

3. Make it unlawful for any farmer or producer to sell below minimum price for domestic consumption that has thus been set.

4. To increase or decrease, annually or semi-annually flexible tariff rates.

5. To make such regulations as may be necessary to insure carrying into effect provisions of the law.

6. Fix penalties for violation of Government Arranges Definitely For Finances to Assist Nation's Carriers Meet Their Obligations

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—Holding railroad financial problems to have been unduly magnified in popular belief, President Hoover today reported the government had arranged definitely to help the nation's carriers meet their obligations.

In a statement, he said a coordinate program had been reached by the government and the railways, designed to enable the purchase of new supplies, restore employment on the carriers and elsewhere and re-establish confidence in railroad bonds.

The president inferred that the Reconstruction corporation, in cooperation with financial experts of the Interstate Commerce commission, would provide the federal channels for railroad aid.

In this light he included in his statement a thumbnail analysis of railroad securities. He estimated that between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 would be needed to encompass their obligations for the present year. As much as $80,000,000 will be provided by the Railway Credit corporation, he said, while many bank loans will be continued.

Guard Officers Here to Entertain German Baron With Banquet Sunday Local Post Ready for Inspection

The boys of the old 36th and 90th divisions will again contact a "Heinie" Sunday, but this time it will be with a handshake and a pat on the back, instead of hot shot and cold steel.

Baron Bechtolsheim, a German army officer now on observation duty with the American army, comes to Wichita Falls to observe the work and training of the national guard units stationed here. This is done in the hope that he can get ideas of military training for civilians.

It is recognized by military authorities over the world that the methods of organization, support, and training of civilian soldiers by our government is far superior to any other. Since the world war, the national guard of America has been completely reorganized and revolutionized in training methods. Since its reorganization, the national guard is maintained, equipped, and trained under the direction of the federal government, the state furnishing the armory.

All these things are being noted by the German army expert in his

PLANNING SALE SURPLUS CROPS UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—Trouble developed today on Capitol Hill over administration suggestions to use Reconstruction Finance corporation funds to finance foreign sales of the farm board's surplus wheat and cotton.

Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, author of the resolution making $200,000,000 immediately available for crop loans, declared against diverting half of this for financing export credit.

He said it can have nothing but a "disastrous effect upon the market at this time."

Meanwhile, Secretary Hyde and Chairman Stone of the farm board gave assurance there was no intention of "dumping" these surplus stores or disrupting orderly marketing plans previously announced.

Hyde said the administration plans contemplated seeking new American markets—such as the orient. He added the $75,000,000 now available for crop loans is sufficient and "to expand these loans only means the stimulating of production."

"The process of exporting the surplus now and getting it out of the country will increase the price of next year's crop," the secretary said in a statement tonight.

KIDNAPING ATTEMPT AROUSES INTEREST

where its was understood he was questioned by Gov. A. Harry Moore, who has taken an active interest in the investigation since it began.

Then a call was sent out from the Lindbergh home that Johnson was wanted there immediately. He was rushed up through the state by automobile. He was so tired when he arrived here that he was allowed to sleep before the questioning began.

When reports spread that the colonel himself was conducting the examination of the Norwegian seaman and that great significance attached to the proceeding, state police made it clear the move was merely a routine one.

Attempted Kidnaping

The attempted kidnaping occurred on the estate of J. Seward Johnson, wealthy surgical dressing manufacturer, in Highland Park, 20 miles from here.

The intruder was frightened away as he climbed a ladder to the window of a nursery in which Johnson's 2-month-old daughter, Diana, was sleeping.

The father later said he was convinced the man was planning to abduct his daughter.

A nursemaid asleep in the room heard the screen being cut and telephoned a watchman stationed on the estate since a recent robbery. The watchman fired a shot at the man on the ladder. The intruder leaped 15 feet to the ground, fired a shot at the watchman, then fled to a parked automobile and escaped.

Two hours later George Malden, who said he lived in New York City, was arrested in a restaurant at South Plainfield.

Suspect Identified

He was identified by the nursemaid and watchman as the man they had seen on the ladder. Johnson said he was the same man who held him at the point of a pistol in the bedroom of his home and made off with $3,000 in cash and jewelry Feb. 2.

He also was identified by F. M. Barr, who, with his wife, was robbed of several thousand dollars worth of jewels Jan. 6 at his home adjoining the Plainfield Country club.

There was marked similarity between the attempt to steal Johnson's daughter and the theft of Lindbergh's son.

In both cases a ladder was raised to a nursery window.

Both fathers were of wealth who could pay a large ransom.

Both estates are isolated.

It is less than an hour's drive between here and Highland Park.

These facts led investigators there to communicate at once with state police here. A description of Malden and his fingerprints were forwarded to the Lindbergh estate.

A short time later Colonel Schwarzkopf said the prosecutor's office at Middlesex county had investigated possibility of a connection and reported there was none.

Poison for Sculptress

NEW YORK, March 19. (AP)—Bonnie McLeary, sculptress who recently modeled a bust of the Lindbergh baby from newspaper photos, was recovering today from what was believed to be an attempt to poison her.

She received a box of fudge through the mails. Inside it was a clipping showing her standing beside the bust.

She ate a piece and felt a sharp pain. A physician was called immediately to treat her and the candy was sent to the city toxicologist for analysis.

Native of San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, March 19. (AP)—Bonnie McLeary, New York sculptress, is a native of San Antonio. She is the daughter of a former Texas attorney general, James H. McCleary, according to information here.

BETTING ODDS ON GARNER LOWERED

NEW YORK, March 19. (US)—W. L. Darnell & Co., betting commissioners, stated today that while Governor Roosevelt remains the favorite to head the Democratic ticket, "Speaker Garner is the surprise candidate." The statement said:

"Today, only 4½ to 1 is placed against his chances and western commitments next week may greatly lower these odds. In many cases, women from the Middle West are wagering on Garner's chances. Last week saw the first Garner money from New York City and state adherents."

Darnell's stated the odds on Roosevelt were 9 to 5. Smith remains at 5 to 1. Ritchie and Baker are 6 to 1 and Owen D. Young's chances bring odds of 20 to 1. Governor Moore is a 40 to 1 play.

Freak Accidents Halts Attempt Of Woman to Suicide

NEW YORK, March 19. (US)—A freak accident today saved the life of a young woman who sought to plunge to her death from the new George Washington memorial bridge.

The young woman, identified as Nonna Fishzanov, 21, of College Point, L. I., climbed to the rail of the bridge and let herself fall, head foremost.

Her left foot caught in an iron cross bar and was wedged there, with no other support to hold her, and with no means of freeing herself or getting back to the bridge, she swung there for almost a minute.

A motorist stopped his car and ran to her aid. He seised her foot and managed to pull her back to the bridge where he put her in his automobile and speeded to the Presbyterian hospital.

ONLY EIGHT APPLY FOR FEDERAL FARM LOANS IN CHILDRESS COUNTY

CHILDRESS, Texas, March 19.—So far only eight farmers have applied for loans from the federal government, the total sum being $686. Four of these have been patrons of Childress banks in the past and four have never had transactions with Childress banks. It is not believed many of Childress county farmers will apply for these loans as the local banks will be able to take care of them. Also the farmers are not anxious to deal with the federal government agents after a trial of last year. The farmers will not require as much assistance as in the past.

LOSS TO FRUIT CROP LIGHT IN ARCHER COUNTY

ARCHER CITY, Texas, March 19.—Archer county is rejoicing over the small loss to the fruit crop in the recent freeze. It is estimated that only about one-third of the crop was killed.

The only field crop that was damaged was the early fall oats that had not been pastured and only those which had jointed were killed.

A report to County Agent McNeil indicates that the major part of the fruit crop escaped and that only a small per cent of the grain crop was damaged.

Farmers are preparing to plant a large acreage in row crops and there will be a 50 per cent increase in cotton acreage. Archer county almost quit cotton last year but many farmers will put in larger acreage this year to provide employment.

MILLION DOLLARS FOR OIL LEASE IN EAST TEXAS FIELD

DALLAS, March 19. (AP)—Sale of 845 acres of East Texas oil land for $1,000,000 to W. H. Gant and Knox Garvin by Adams and Lyle and the Moody-Seagraves company was reported today in oil circles here. The land is in the M. V. Pena survey.

Consideration was reported as all in oil to be produced from the tract. The purchasers will give up 7-16th of the crude until $200,000 is paid and then will pay the remainder out of 7-32. Several wells will be drilled immediately.

The Kirby Petroleum company formerly owned one-fourth interest in the lease, it was said, but sold it to Cranfill & Reynolds, from whom Moody-Seagraves acquired its interest.

tour of duty as an observer. He will be accompanied here by an American officer who assists him in his work by arranging dates and taking care of details.

It is planned to entertain the baron and his wife with a dinner at the Wichita club at 7 p. m. Sunday, at which time he will lecture on German methods of army organization. All reserve corps officers and their wives are invited to be present to hear the lecture. Many high ranking officers of the Texas national guard will be here to greet the German officer.

Gen. John A. Hulen, commander of the 36th division, may be here to welcome the baron and other officers expected from out of town include Lieut. Col. Dallas Matthews, Maj. John R. Herman, regular army infantry instructor; Maj. Ray Rutherford, field artillery; Col. C. W. Nimon, 142nd infantry; Col. C. A. Davis, 131st field artillery, and others.

The baron and his companions are scheduled to arrive here at 3 p. m. Sunday from Fort Sill, Okla. They will stop at the Kemp hotel for a few minutes and then proceed to the national guard post on north Scott avenue, where the inspection will be held.

Tea will be served in the officers club at the new army post here following the inspection.

Local guard officials announced that other foreign officers stationed at Fort Sill for observation of American army methods had been invited to come here with the baron.

SAYS LEGISLATORS ARE GREEN BUNCH

ODESSA, Texas, March 19. (AP)—Representative Lee Satterwhite, recovering from the ill effects of the bite of a mad calf, has at least one friend whose sense of humor exceeds his sympathy, one would judge from a note the representative received recently.

"I always knew legislators were a green bunch," wrote a friend, Dennis Zimmerman, of Tulia, "but I didn't know they were so green that cattle grazed on them."

OKLAHOMA DELAYS PENALTIES FAILURE FILE TAX RETURNS

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 19. (UP)—Temporary release from the $10 a day penalty for failure to file state income tax returns was granted today by the Oklahoma tax commission.

Commission Chairman Melven Cornish said hundreds of taxpayers "apparently are scared to death and afraid to file returns this late" because of the severe penalty. Time for filing without penalty expired Tuesday.

He said the commission would not assess the penalty against taxpayers who file promptly. Later, after sufficient time has been given, notice will be sent to delinquents as provided by law.

"This penalty of $10 a day is not effective until after notice is given by the commission and the taxpayers refuse to file a return," Cornish said. He explained, however, that the regular penalty of one per cent a month is applied to all delinquents beginning March 15.

He said many had been granted extension of time for filing returns.

HUNTER TO OPEN STATE CAMPAIGN

May 7 was expected momentarily. It was indicated those opposed to what they termed the "drastic test" requiring precinct convention participants to pledge themselves "to support the nominees of the Democratic party for president and vice president by voting for the Democratic electors of the state of Texas," probably would seek relief from the supreme court if the party executive committee did not reconvene and reconsider.

Meanwhile the big race for state offices is about to get to the hustling. Tom F. Hunter, Wichita Falls oil man and lawyer, candidate for governor, has announced his first campaign address for Mineola next Saturday.

Sterling in Conference

Governor Sterling was in conference today with William Strauss of Houston, his campaign manager two years ago and Senator Woodward of Coleman, the governor's chief assistant on the stump, over plans for the race.

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, former governor, revealed her platform this week and her husband, James E. Ferguson, also former governor, was busy with plans to stump Texas.

There was considerable speculation whether there would be other candidates. Others who had announced, Rev. Scott W. Hickey of Cleburne and Harry Miller of Brady, virtually were unknown in Texas politics. James V. Allred, attorney general, and Edgar Witt, of Waco, lieutenant governor, still had not announced for their respective offices and some saw in this delay a possibility they may run for governor.

the act, making violator liable to aggrieved party in double the amount of purchase or sale.

7. To make the tariff on short staple cotton, like the tariff on wheat, subject to the flexible provisions of the existing tariff act.

McAdoo insisted that congress had the constitutional power to enact the legislation he proposed. Of the practical results of the plan, he said:

"By the plan discussed here, the new money put into the pockets of the wheat and cotton farmers in one year would be $390,000,000 for wheat and $360,000,000 for cotton —a total of $750,000,000.

"This increased income would so enlarge the purchasing power of these two great agricultural classes that it would tremendously stimulate business in every direction."

Undaunted by North Dakota Defeat Murray Says He Will Write Demo's Platform and Name Next President

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 19. (UP)—"I will name the next president and write the Democratic platform."

This defiant challenge to his Democratic opponents for the presidential nomination was issued by Gov. W. H. (Alfala Bill) Murray today.

Home from a stumping tour of Kansas, the militant governor declared he was confident he will be the controlling power in the national convention in Chicago June 27.

He said he was not certain whether he would be the Democratic nominee.

"But," he said, "I would rather have a man in the place who would do right, than to be president myself—it isn't a job to be desired."

Murray returned to his office early today from Salina, Kan., where he had completed his Kansas campaign tour. He came to the office shortly before noon, called newspapermen into a special conference.

He handed them a written statement in which he expressed for the first time his reactions to his defeat by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York in the North Dakota preference primary.

Then he rose from his desk, threw back his head and said:

"B— G——, I'm satisfied. I'll name the next president."

The governor said his campaign will go on as scheduled without any "letting up." Planning to leave tonight, instead of tomorrow, on his Florida junket, Murray said:

"One swallow never made a spring.

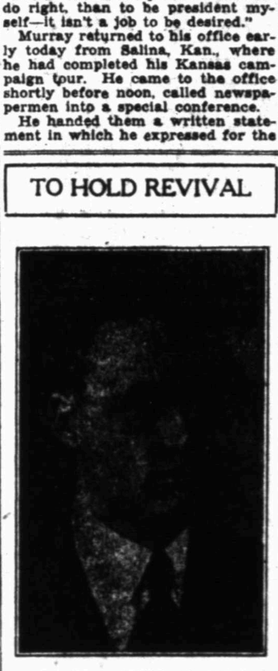

"The people have not yet got what I am driving at.

"They will find when it is all over, b—G——, that I will name the next president and write the Democratic platform.

"I will get a majority of the votes in the national convention before they get through. But they may lock the convention on me.

"They don't know yet that I am making a fight for the public interests. I haven't any ambitions to hold the D—— office, anymore than I had to hold this one."

TO HOLD REVIVAL

REV. MARSHALL MASTERS

IOWA PARK, Texas, March 19.—The Rev. Marshall D. Masters, pastor of the First Christian church of Iowa Park, will begin a pre-Easter revival at the First Baptist church, beginning Sunday evening, March 20, at 7:30. The sermon subject Sunday evening will be "The Triumphant King." The subject each evening will be in keeping with season, the last days of Christ's ministry on earth.

The meeting will be under the auspices of the Christian church, the use of the Baptist auditorium was extended because it is better suited for the seating of a large crowd. The Rev. Mr. Marshall became acquainted in Iowa Park last year when he and the Rev. Clark H. Russell held a union meeting at the First Methodist church. Soon thereafter he became pastor of the Christian church of Iowa Park. The choir will be made up of the various singers of the town and all those who assist in this part of the meeting will be appreciated.

OLTON HOLDS COUNTY SEAT

Littlefield and Amherst Defeated in Election

OLTON, Texas, March 19. (AP)—In an election which drew an unofficial total of 5,101 votes, this city retained the Lamb county seat Saturday although it mustered only 936 ballots. Despite intense interest in the outcome and large crowds in all three towns interested, no disturbances were reported. Today's election is the second to be held in the past three years to change the site of the county capital.

Littlefield, polling 2,925 votes, fell about 470 short of the required two-thirds majority to win the coveted county seat.

Amherst, drawing 1,240 ballots, missed victory by about 1,300. Amherst could have secured the election with a majority because it is within the five-mile radius of the county's center.

Lamb county's voting strength, not including exemptions, is reported to be 4,754 votes.

TWO MEN KILLED WHEN LIMITED DERAILED BY BOULDER ON MOUNTAIN

PLAINS, Mont., March 19. (AP)—Two trainmen were killed in the derailment of the Northern Pacific coast limited last night on a strip of track twisted a moment before by the fall of a 20-ton boulder from a mountain side.

The rock, loosened by thawing weather and recent rains, tore loose 400 feet of track. Pat Gallagher, engineer, and Maurice Stookey, fireman, were caught beneath the engine and burned fatally.

All passengers escaped without serious injury although three cars, baggage, mail and diner, left the rails.

Rail traffic in other parts of the northwest, Washington, Oregon and Idaho, was hampered by washouts and slides. Flood conditions grew out of rapidly melting snow and heavy rains.

SINO-JAP PARLEY RECESSES WITHOUT DEFINITE RESULTS

SHANGHAI, (Sunday) March 20. (AP)—Participants in the peace negotiations which have been going on here for several days wound up a long conference late last night without having achieved any definite results. But they appeared optimistic and announced the parley would be resumed on Monday.

Both Japanese and Chinese authorities were present at the meeting in the British consulate and word came from Nanking that officials there were hopeful of establishing a definite armistice within a few days. Nelson T. Johnson, the American minister, said there had been progress on the path to peace.

Quo Tai-Chi, China's vice minister for foreign affairs; Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japan's minister to China, and the ministers of the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy, participated in the conference here.

ers decided to go down the line for the sales levy, as typified in support from Speaker Garner. In a statement, he said: "The supreme purpose of the pending tax bill is to enable the government to balance the budget. As the surest, soundest and most effective means to this vital end, the sales tax plan was adopted after prolonged and exhaustive deliberation."

Garner Yields Temporarily

Laying aside his personal objections to a sales tax, the Texas Democrat added he was ready "to yield temporarily every economic opinion I have ever held to reach that goal —the financial salvation of my country."

Meanwhile, Crisp obtained permission to delay further consideration of the bill until Tuesday and voiced opposition to the efforts of the anti-sales groups to force it back to the ways and means committee for revision.

Representative McCormack, Democrat, Massachusetts, assailed the attack of Congressmen La Guardia, Republican, New York, and Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, upon the right of business to exist and their attack upon the theory of government saying it was Socialistic.

"We are controlled by mob psychology—controlled by two men who have no regard for property rights, who have no regard for the individualistic theory of government and of business endeavor; who say that business has no place under our form of government," said McCormack. "All I have listened to here is an argument against business. They do not seem to realize that the workers must depend upon the existence of business in order to live."

NORTH DAKOTA VOTE BINDING

Senator Frazier Says Delegates Instructed

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—Senator Frazier, Republican, North Dakota, issued a statement today asserting that the North Dakota preference primary vote which went for Joseph I. France in the Republican contest is binding on the delegates.

Senator Frazier's statement read:

"Newspaper reports of the recent presidential preference primary in North Dakota carry repeatedly statements to the effect that if so-called Hoover delegates are elected they will not be bound by the preference for president indicated in the vote for presidential candidates.

"Such statements are misleading, and, in tending to deride the North Dakota primary, are in line with systematic efforts being made to discredit all primary elections.

"In justice to the people of North Dakota it should be understood that the popular vote of the party in favor of a presidential candidate is mandatory upon the delegates elected in the primary."

Murray Named Delegate

BISMARCK, N. D., March 19. (UP)—George Murray, brother of Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma, apparently will be a delegate to the national Democratic convention in Chicago, virtually complete returns of Tuesday's North Dakota presidential preference primary showed today. REAGAN JUNIOR HIGH PRINCIPAL STUDIES COSTS

W. A. Franklin Tackles Important Task in Regard To Texas Schools

FINANCIAL QUESTIONS MOST VITAL ONES NOW

Incalculable Value of Work Of Schools Emphasized By Wichitan

By ROBERT WRIGHT

Principal W. A. Franklin of the Reagan Junior High school of Wichita Falls has completed mailing a questionnaire to 73 junior high school principals in Texas as a basis of study of the problem of reducing costs of operation in junior high schools.

Mr. Franklin is chairman of the junior high school section of the Texas State Teachers association, having been elected at the 1931 convention at Amarillo in November. The problem of cutting operation costs in junior high schools will probably be the major item for consideration in that section of the state teachers' convention at the 1932 meeting in Fort Worth, opening Nov. 24.

Problems now facing the schools as a whole center on financial considerations in view of current projects and conditions. The proposed constitutional amendment exempting homesteads, up to a value of $3,000, from taxation appears to be assured of becoming a law and when it does it will eliminate more than $5,000,000 in revenue now going to the public schools, Mr. Franklin explained. A second major problem involves the inability of the taxpaying public to meet its obligations, thereby increasing the number of delinquencies.

Biggest Problem

"The most important problem facing the school system of Texas, and the junior high schools particularly, is the problem of reducing costs. Every junior high school principal and teacher should work diligently to solve that problem and should cooperate 100 per cent with local and state authorities and with the state teachers association in carrying out a real economy program and in maintaining present standards of efficiency and salaries," Mr. Franklin declared.

Mr. Franklin related the classic incident of the Scotchman who once stopped his children from school "because they had to pay attention." The Scotchman was practicing false economy and in like case all teachers who try to save $3 by failure to pay their state association dues, Mr. Franklin declared.

False economy is to be guarded against but on the other hand every teacher should cooperate 100 per cent in every real economy move in school management and administration, he stated.

Mr. Franklin in a letter accompanying the questionnaire declared the teachers must see that patrons understand the need and appreciate the value and work of the schools. He outlined nine major items that must be impressed on the public mind.

Nine Points Stressed

The nine points included that the schools have trained and educated a social order that has amazingly developed national resources; schools have increased the span of life from 43 to 58 years; schools have returned to society benefits many times greater than their cost; the most costly thing in the world is ignorance; crime decreases as education increases; proper distribution is the greatest national problem; tax burdens are not heavy if properly distributed; cooperation of schools in economy where affected without loss of efficiency, and that it is false economy to eliminate financial waste at the expense of educational waste.

The questionnaire seeks basic information such as the number of teachers employed, number of students in average daily attendance, the monthly pay roll for instruction including the principal's and vice principal's salaries. The information sought also will reveal the number of classes and number of students enrolled in 11 junior high school subjects.

Plans used in various schools to reduce costs, including reduction of courses offered, teachers' salaries, number of instructors, amount of school supplies or by increase in size of classes, also are asked in the questionnaire.

Outlined for consideration at the Fort Worth convention for discussion relative to cost reductions are listed the additional items of building adjustments, running school 12 months in the year, reduction of percentage of failures, cost of failures and similar plans.

Negro health week comes from April 3 to April 10 this year. It is observed throughout the nation and the objective for this year is help-yourself and community ot better health." This work is conducted in Texas by the Texas Tuberculosis association in cooperation with the United States public health service and the national negro health week committee. The local colored health organizations and committee have their plans lined up for the work. All local agencies, both health and civic, are planning to cooperate in making it a successful week for the colored people of Wichita Falls.

The children of Benito Jaurez, the Mexican public school, have made a school garden and plan to have similar gardens at home. Some easily grown vegetables will be used and in this way greater encouragement will be given the Mexican people to have better food and resultant better health. In the school survey the children of this group showed a greater variation from the normal weight range than did any school or group in the city.

Some of the schools have their dates set for the pre-school health conference, a part of the program of the National P.-T. A. All children who will enter school for the first time this fall are eligible for this special examination and all parents are urged to give their children the privilege of this opportunity. One of the active interests of the present century is protecting the health of children. This is brought about partially by periodic health examinations. Two other ways of bringing about further health protection is vaccination and immunization against smallpox and diphtheria.

Maundy Thursday Banquet Will Be Held March 24

Rabbi Salvador J. Schwab, president of the Wichita Valley Scottish Rite club, and Al Ellis, secretary, announce that the Maundy Thursday banquet, which is obligatory on all Scottish Rite Masons, from the 14th degree and above, will be held Thursday, March 24, at 6:30 p. m. at Ansley's cafe, with the usual program and ceremonies.

This yearly feast of Scottish Rite Masons is in commemoration of the Lord's last supper and is part of the Philosophic degrees of Scottish Rite masonry.

It is also identical with the feast of the passover of the Hebrews, falling as it does in many years on the 14th day of the Hebrew month Nissan.

In the 12th chapter of Exodus the Lord commanded the children of Israel to strike the blood of an unblemished male lamb on the two side posts and upper door posts of their houses and during the night to eat the lamb, in haste, with their loins girded, their shoes on their feet, and their staffs in their hands, and promised them that He would pass them over and the plague would not destroy them, and they are further commanded to keep this feast as a memorial throughout the generations.

This feast being in commemoration of both the Lord's last supper and the ancient Hebrew feast of the passover is an interesting Masonic event.

QUANAH CATTLE SENT TO OKLAHOMA MARKET

QUANAH, Texas, March 19.—Several carloads of fat cattle have been shipped to Oklahoma City by the Quanah Cotton Oil mill during the past week.

The balance of the fattened stock on hand, around 2,000 head, will be shipped to Denver and St. Louis during the coming week.

This concern annually fattens thousands of cattle for market, using the products of their own mills mostly.

KNOX COUNTY FARMER FATHER OF 12 SONS

VERA, Texas, March 19.—R. J. Trainham of Vera is the father of 12 sons, all of whom are living and are shown with him in the above photograph. Besides these 12 sons, Mr. Trainham has three daughters and two stepdaughters living and a daughter, who is dead.

In the pictures are, top row—J. L., J. M., W. J. and R. M.; middle row—Walter, Wesley, Edward and Herbert; front row—Cecil, R. J., Glenn, Lester and Mr. Trainham.

Mr. Trainham is a pioneer settler of the Vera community and is one of the most substantial farmers in this section. He owns and operates one of the most productive and best improved farms in the county. In recent years he has built a modern home on the paved highway, two miles east of Vera.

Eight of the sons and all of the daughters of this family are married and are useful citizens in this and adjoining communities. The four youngest sons are at home with their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Trainham came to Vera when the oldest of their children were small and have reared this large and interesting family well. Every one of the children is a valuable and respected citizen in his community.

Wild Ponies Die In Severe Storm Carolina Coast

CAPE HATTERAS, N. C., March 19. (AP)—Carcasses of wild ponies strewn among the sand dunes bear mute testimony to the terrifying gale that pushed walls of ocean water over the North Carolina "banks" last week.

Excitement and suffering in the wake of the storm which wrecked homes and wrought great damage to fishing nets and craft caused the "banks" dwellers to overlook for the moment that death rode the roaring wind even though human life was spared.

Twelve carcasses were counted on Pea island and many others were found along these narrow sand strips that parallel the North Carolina mainland and serve as buffers against the turbulent Atlantic.

In comparison with the wild horses of the Far West, the ponies would not be regarded as wild. Rather, they are a friendly sort and are captured in great numbers and easily demosticated by coast guardsmen, fishermen and lighthouse keepers who compose the population of the "banks."

HIGH SCHOOL MUSIC CLUBS TO APPEAR IN CONCERT FRIDAY

The girls glee clubs, the orchestra, the boys chorus and the boys octet are four of the outstanding features of the annual gala concert to be presented at the Memorial auditorium Friday night by the high school music department, under the direction of Hermione Stewart Vaughan. The individual pictures show Bill Huff Jr., left, and Arthur Davis, Wichita Falls representatives to the national music supervisor's conference at Cleveland, Ohio.

The opening number will be a chorus of 200 boys and girls singing in four-part harmony, the bright and vigorous selection "Come to the Fair" by Martin.

"Bridal Rose Overture" played by the 40-piece orchestra gives each section of the group individual opportunity to display its achievements.

A chorus of a 135 girls assisted by the orchestra demonstrates the beauty and natural purity of tone found in youthful voices in a simple number by Mozart and in the two contrasting movements "Death of Ase" and "In the Hall of the Mountain King" from "Peer Gynt Suite" by Greig.

"The Venetian Love Song" by Nevin is sung by a mixed quartet composed of Ruth Tucker, Nellie Ground, George Napier, and Bob Carey. "Lullaby" by McClure will be sung by Frances Robinson, Alice Marra, Georgia Johnson and Rolene Mathews, girls quartet.

Arthur Davis, boy violinist, pupil of Elthel Allen Nelson and concert master of the orchestra, will play a solo. He was featured by the Wichita Falls Symphony orchestra in its concert last fall and has already made an enviable reputation for himself. He will go to Cleveland, Ohio, the first of April to the national music supervisors conference where he will play in two concerts given by the national high school orchestra of 250 pieces. Bill Huff Jr., bass in the high school quartet and octet, will also go to Cleveland where he will sing at the same conference with the national high school chorus of 500 voices in two concerts.

Other numbers on the concert given March 25 at the Memorial auditorium will be "Orpheus With His Lute" by German sung by the girls glee club; "De Coppar Mocn" by Shelley sung by a boys octet.

The high school boys quartet composed of Quinn Holder, J. Paul Lynn, Edward Silk, and Bill Huff Jr. will sing "Kentucky Babe" by Geibel.

A chorus of 55 boys singing "Invictus" by Bruno Huhn and "Rolling Down to Rio" by Edward German will be a feature of the concert.

The orchestra will play Rinsky-Korsarow's "Dance of the Clowns."

The mixed chorus who have made various appearances and sung at several churches this year will sing "Oh Morn of Beauty" taken from the symphonic "Finlandia" by Sibelius. The entire chorus of 200 voices will sing "Gypsy Love Song" by Victor Herbert, "Sunrise and You" by Penn and "Smilin' Thru" by Penn.

This concert will be given free in order that all parents and patrons of the high school may enjoy the achievements made by these students.

In order that the orchestra and a chorus of 40 voices may enter a tri-state contest in Amarillo April 15, a silver offering will be taken at the concert.

NEGROES HERE PLAN FOR ANNUAL HEALTH WEEK APRIL 3 TO 10

A meeting was held at Anderson Memorial chapel, A. M. E., Friday evening by the leaders of the negroes of this city for the purpose of making plans and appointing committees for the 18th annual health week for negroes.

Representatives from the community club, the various women's study clubs, the P.-T. A., the ministerial alliance, the schools, lodges, insurance companies, social welfare agencies and the volunteer health league were present.

The week occurs April 3 to 10. Zoning leaders were appointed to be responsible for the cleanup on the various zones of that part of the city. These leaders will be responsible for the sanitation programs of their respective zones.

A series of school assemblies with speakers has been planned, as well as special speakers from cooperating white groups for the various colored churches April 3. At least one community lecture will be given, which will be accompanied with slides. The school children will recognize the week with special school work with direct bearing on health.

The negro scouts will be responsible for the cleaning up of any probable breeding places for mosquitoes. Each family is urged to plant a garden, no matter how small the plot. Also flowers and trees will be planted to make the homes more beautiful. Two clinics will be held during the special week. The Wichita County Tuberculosis association will hold a clinic for all children and adults who are contact tuberculosis cases. A special school health conference will be held for a group of children in the third grade who are included in a special study made by the nutrition service of the local Red cross.

Two years ago the negroes of this city won a national cup for doing the most constructive piece of work in cities under 100,000 during the special week.

Choir of Sacred Heart Church to Sing 'Easter Mass,' Composition Of Wichita Woman, Next Sunday

For the third time in recent years, a musical composition by Mrs. Charlene B. Underwood of this city upon a sacred theme will be used in local churches' celebration of Easter when the choir of the Sacred Heart (Catholic) church sings her "Easter Mass" next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

The mass to be sung in connection with the Easter morning high mass here was completed by Mrs. Underwood recently for use in this service, and is to be sung by a choir of 12 voices, with Mrs. Carl Edwards at the organ. Mrs. Underwood, who for the past two years has conducted the department of vocal music in Howard Payne college at Brownwood, will be present to assist in the singing of her composition.

An unusual variety of voice combinations has been utilized in setting the mass to music. The score includes solos for soprano, tenor, contralto and baritone, one movement for a mixed quartet, three part arrangements for both women's and men's voices, and a number of full choruses. One of its most effective passages is a portion of the "Gloria," written to be sung by Mrs. George Kelly, mezzo-soprano, and Misses Frances Oechsner and Kathryn Sullivan, contraltos. Soloists will be Mrs. M. M. Bates, soprano; Mrs. Underwood, mezzo-soprano; Nick Oechsner, baritone; and Willard Underwood, tenor.

Three years ago Mrs. Underwood's "Crucifixus" was sung by a mixed voice ensemble at high mass on Palm Sunday at the Sacred Heart church. The same number was used in the public Good Friday services at the First Christian church five days later.

DANDRUFF Ends Overnight!

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.—Adv.

SERIES OF EVANGELISTIC SERVICES TO END SUNDAY NIGHT GRACE METHODIST

The special evangelistic services which have been held at the Grace Methodist church, Seventh and Lamar, during the past three weeks, will be concluded Sunday evening. Rev. Bruce B. Corbin, the pastor, announces that the closing sermon will be on the theme "Satan's Surest Shot." The recent Sunday evening audiences have filled the church and the sermons have provoked wide comment. The solos of George C. Taylor have been favorably received. He has had repeated requests for special numbers which he has sung with fine effect.

Mr. Corbin's preaching is not emotional. He appeals to reason and uses few devices to sway audiences. It is reported that during Mr. Corbin's pastorate the average attendance at the Sunday school has increased nearly 100. The increase in attendance at church services has been steady and permanent. Officials of the church state that the results of the present evangelistic services have been far-reaching and that there are evidences that the church faces a hopeful future.

At the morning service today, there will be a special ingathering. Easter Sunday morning, the pastor will baptize children. These will be entered in a class for instruction in preparation for church membership. The pastor announces that while the special services will conclude tonight, it is purposed to continue the evangelistic emphasis every Sunday evening throughout the year.

ALTRUSA CLUB ENJOYS INTERESTING TALK BY DR. O. C. EGDORF FRIDAY

The Altrusa club, at its regular meeting Friday evening at the Wichita club, enjoyed an unusual treat in the form of a travel talk by Dr. O. C. Egdorf. Dr. Egdorf has recently returned from a six-month stay in Austria, Hungary and Germany, and told of his experiences in a most entertaining manner.

He invited the members to ask questions about things in which they were particularly interested, and this brought out many interesting facts about the living conditions of the people, business conditions, the operas of Germany, the hospitals, etc.

Many beautiful articles purchased abroad were displayed, and some interesting incident was told about each. Among other things were a doll in the native dress of Austria, a petit point purse, petit point motifs, for framing, handmade lace and embroidery of different kinds, novelty silhouette place cards, and many pictures of places where he had visited. The members voted it a most delightful evening.

ONEAL NOT IN RACE FOR CONGRESS NOW FOUR ARE RUNNING

State Senator Ben G. Oneal, who had been expected to make the race for congress in this district, stated Saturday that he is not a candidate.

"I am not in the race at this time," Senator Oneal said.

When it became known several months ago that Senator Oneal was a possible candidate for the place, he received many pledges of support from throughout the district, and was considered a formidable contender. His state senatorial district covers a large part of the congressional district and his record of service at Austin was looked upon as highly favorable to his congressional candidacy.

His decision not to run leaves four candidates in the race. They are Congressman Williams of Decatur, who is seeking re-election; W. D. McFarlane of Graham, Dillard Hinson of Graham and G. W. Backus of Vernon.

Senator Oneal left Saturday for San Antonio to attend the meeting of the Garner-for-president committee.

The senator expressed himself as highly appreciative of the many offers of support.

A STARVING SCHOLAR

Dr. Frederick F. Wolter, 57-year holder of three degrees, is undergoing voluntary starvation as a protest, he says, against an industrial world which doesn't give intellectual men an even break.

Assuming that he is sane and that he is sincere, he is making out a poor case. An educated man would know that feeling sorry for one's self is among the most foolish things imaginable. A scholarly man would realize that nothing is ever proved by dying. Dr. Wolter may hold three scholarly degrees, but he is neither educated nor scholarly. If he were, he couldn't hold any such half-baked philosophy as he proclaims. Nor could he indulge in any such quixotic undertaking as that on which he says he has embarked.

His reasoning is too much like that of the wayfarer who says the world owes him a living.

There is in Wichita Falls one highly educated man who is driving a truck for a living. He is making out a better case for intellectuality than Dr. Wolter is.

BYRD OF VIRGINIA

The report that Democratic drys are planning to push the candidacy of ex-Governor Harry F. Byrd of Virginia may mean that he is to become more of a factor than he so far has been. Of all those considered available for the Democratic nomination, he is the only out-and-out dry. He made a splendid record as governor of Virginia and he is rated among the ablest men in public life today.

In spite of his unswerving loyalty to the dry cause, the dry leaders don't like him. He hasn't been subservient enough to suit them. When he first ran for governor of Virginia, he was opposed by another dry. The Anti-Saloon league officially was neutral, but the league's leaders, individually worked hard to defeat Byrd. It was charged that his opponent's campaign literature was prepared in the league's offices. Again, Byrd voted for Smith in 1928. For one reason or another, the dry leadership can't get enthusiastic about him. If it is true that he is to be put forward as the Democratic drys' choice, it is because there is no one else for them to concentrate upon.

They are in much the same fix, in that respect, as they were in 1928. They have more material from which to choose, but it is as difficult as ever for them to get together. Some of them liked Robinson, but he was Al Smith's running mate. Murray of Oklahoma was considered a possibility and then he went and spilled the beans all over the tablecloth with his speech at the Anti-Saloon league meeting in Washington. McAdoo, as always, had his following; and then he came out for Garner. George of Georgia and Hull of Tennessee have never developed any strength outside of their respective states. By a process of elimination, they have no one left but Byrd. There was a time when they could have made him a real factor in the race; it is doubtful if they can do so now, assuming that they get behind him with any semblance of unity.

One big difficulty confronts them. The belief is widely held that any disposition to insist on a 100 per cent dry for the nomination is simply playing into Mr. Hoover's hands. In Texas, Tom Love stands almost alone in demanding a dry nominee. Probably there are very few in the South as a whole who are willing to stand with him. If any dry has a chance to win, it is Governor Byrd. But the dry leaders must take much more interest in him than they have been taking if he is to be a factor.

THE DIGEST POLL VS. THE HOUSE VOTE

Dry sentiment in the several states, as indicated by the house vote last Monday, is something very different from dry sentiment as indicated by the Literary Digest poll, a comparison of the two sets of figures reveals.

In the Digest poll, 41 states are for repeal, one against it, with six not yet reported. In the house vote, only 18 states gave more votes to the wet side than to the dry.

In several instances the vote of a state's delegation seemed to be entirely without regard to the Digest poll. Thus the North Dakota delegation voted solidly dry; the Digest poll shows that state 75 per cent wet. Florida, 74 per cent wet in the Digest poll, cast three dry votes, one member absent. Louisiana, 82 per cent in the Digest poll, split its congressional vote, four wet and four dry.

Connecticut, New Jersey and Rhode Island delegations voted solidly wet, which is somewhat in line with the Digest poll showing each to be about 83 per cent wet. But Massachusetts, 79 per cent by the Digest poll, had three dry votes in the house. Pennsylvania, 76 per cent by the Digest poll, gave the drys 15 votes to 18 for the wets. Missouri, though the Digest poll shows it 75 per cent wet, cast 11 dry votes and only five wet ones.

Of the states whose delegations voted solidly dry, only Kansas is dry, 53 per cent, in the Digest figures. Maine, 66 per cent wet in the Digest poll; Arkansas, 51.5 per cent; Oklahoma 55 per cent; each had a solidly dry congressional delegation.

Either the congressmen don't read the Digest or they don't take it seriously.

LOOKING FOR A BARGAIN

Ever since the armament reduction conference assembled at Geneva, representatives of Afghanistan have been on hand. Their country was not participating in the conference, and nobody understood just what the Afghans were doing there.

Recently it was all explained. The Afghans had heard that the rest of the world was going to disarm and it struck them as offering a good opportunity to pick up some discarded cannon, rifles, ammunition and maybe airplanes, at bargain prices. So they sent emissaries to Geneva so as to have them ready when the time came for trading.

At last reports the Afghans were still at Geneva, waiting patiently. One might wonder if they aren't becoming a little discouraged by this time.

NORTH DAKOTA'S DEMOCRATS

The total number of votes in North Dakota's Democratic primary will be close to 75,000 when all the returns are in.

It is many times as large as the number participating in any previous Democratic primary. However, Smith polled 106,648 votes in 1928, so that there are still more potential Democratic votes not accounted for. Davis in 1924 received only 14,000 votes; Cox in 1920 received 37,422; Wilson in 1916 received 55,000. In 1912, the state divided its vote almost evenly between Wilson, Roosevelt and Taft, giving the Democratic nominee a slight margin.

A vote of 75,000 in a North Dakota Democratic primary is something to make the g. o. p. thoughtful.

Utilizing Our Land Resources

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

The era of conservation in which, like crusaders, we went about preaching the gospel of pulling more and more land into cultivation and building vaster and vaster forests to ward off a lumber famine is behind us.

A new policy demands formulation.

The smoke had hardly cleared from the battlefields of the world war before the delusion of a consistent and continuous increase in the demand upon farms and forests for food, raw materials, and lumber burst in our face.

We suddenly found ourselves floundering in a heavy sea of over-production.

We had been worrying about a possible food shortage, but the things that faced us was an agricultural surplus.

Clearly the problem has changed, and this is why our national policy respecting farms and forests and their output must be changed.

We do not have to go far to find the forces that have so radically changed the problem.

On the consumption side, two factors have made for lessening the demand and lowering the prices for farm products. They are:

1. Immigration from Europe has been drastically curtailed by legislative control.

2. Immigration from Heaven has been drastically curtailed by birth control and allied socio-economic pressures.

On the production side, many factors have been at work to increase the supply of farm products just when the demand for them is on the decline. They are:

1. The crop acreage of the United States, Canada, Argentina, Australia, and South Africa has been greatly increased.

2. Some 30,000,000 acres we formerly needed for growing forage and grain for farm animals have been released for the production of crops for human consumption since we begin using tractors in place of teams.

3. Improved varieties and strains of field and horticultural crops have increased the yield from acreage already in production.

4. Disease and insect pest control have raised the yield of acreage already under cultivation.

5. Improvements in livestock breeding and feeding have meant more returns from the same amounts of feed.

6. Machinery, by reducing manual toil, has made us eat less wheat and meat which takes extensive acreage for their raising and made us eat more vegetables and dairy products that are produced by more intensive agriculture on less acreage.

Clearly we must rethink our whole agricultural program. We must pull out of cultivation a lot of land. We must decide how much forest we need for lumber, how much for recreation purposes, how much for sheer beauty, and so on. We must have a national plan that we can make work. The forces I have here listed have given us an unbearable situation. The prices of farm products are hitting bottom. The prices of farm lands are drastically down. Tax delinquency is creating a new public domain as lands pass from private to public ownership. The old policies are not only obsolete, they are dangerous.

Some later day I shall deal in detail with this next step we must take in utilizing our land and forest resources.

In Step With Style

The men will wear bright clothes
—this spring
If to fashion's tune they'd dance,
To your old neckties you'll have to cling,
And use 'em to patch your pants.

Or else, don't patch 'em and wear your red flannel underwear, and get the same radiant effect.

Probably, after the Easter rabbit finds out about current prices of hen eggs, he'll be ashamed to do his stuff this year.

This business of bright-colored clothes for men, above referred to, strikes us as a step in the right direction, a move for a badly needed reform. There isn't any good reason, when you come to think of it, why men should have to display only the somber colors, such as gray and brown and dark blue, in their raiment. There is need of more brightness and more variety in male attire. We believe it would have a good psychological effect.

At present, the use of color in men's clothes is restricted to their ties and to their hose, so far as anything visible is concerned. It is true that in their choice of under garments, males indulge their fondness for vivid and multichrome effects. The garment known as a short is available in colors and combinations that have the lilies of the field backed clear off the board, but the general public is not aware of it.

If a woman wears bright things underneath and is, as so many women are, a bit careless about how she steps out of her car, the effect isn't entirely lost. But a man's bright-hued underthings are bought to blush unseen, so far as the world at large is concerned. They may look like a rainbow having an argument with the aurora borealis, but nobody knows it except the wearer. There is only one thing that can be done about it and that is to adopt the styles that call for radiant exterior clothing for males. Purple and green and pink, and the like. Let us have done with the drabness that so long has characterized male attire.

The Psychology of It

As we said before, it would be helpful from a psychological point of view. Just suppose you were coming down to your place of business some morning and feeling all glum and sour about collections and pay rolls and taxes and overdrafts and prorations and such stuff, and you encountered a man clad according to the new dictates of fashion. Clad, let us say, in a lavender coat with green stripes, pink pants with golden polka dots, and the rest of his ensemble in keeping with this effect. Why, it would change your entire outlook on things in a minute. You would be a different man, from that moment. Yes, sir, the psychological effect would be noteworthy. From an economic standpoint, it would be worth a dozen anti-hoarding campaigns.

We recall, in that connection, the experience of a friend of ours who unexpectedly had to spend the night away from home and whose host gave him a pair of heliotrope tinted pajamas in which to sleep. He never was the same man, afterward. The change in him was not altogether for the better, in every respect, but certainly he was a changed man from that day henceforward.

We men haven't been giving ourselves a square deal in this matter of clothing. He still dresses too much in the spirit of a day in which a man's garb was designed strictly along utilitarian lines, when service rather than personal charm was the guiding principle in men's styles.

Man is, however, more sensible than he used to be. For instance, take collars. President Hoover and former Vice President Dawes are the only well known individuals who still wear the oldtime choker collar that makes a man look as if he were trying to prop his head up.

Sights

And you no longer see the gates-ajar collar at all. It has completely disappeared. We used to wonder if that kind of collar wasn't originally designed by some woman who got the idea that men were looking around too much. It flourished in a day when there wasn't much to look around for, but that may have been how it started. A man with that sort of collar had to turn his whole body if he wanted to cast an eye on something that was passing by. If he tried to turn just his head, he was liable to cut his throat on the collar's sharp points.

We haven't kept close track of the matter, but perhaps that collar went completely out when short skirts came in. It's a plausible theory, at any rate. Today, if a man wants to turn his head for a quick look at something, the comfortable, flexible, soft collar imposes no discomfort, and doesn't interfere with his vision. One can, if circumstances warrant, turn his head as far as his neck will permit, unimpeded by the collar.

If a day ever comes when the average male is so accustomed to one thing and another that he doesn't want to do any rubbering, the hard collar and the gates-ajar collar may return. But we don't expect that to happen for some years yet. In fact, it may not ever happen. Sometimes we think that as fast as mankind accustoms himself to something and begins to be nonchalant and indifferent toward it, something new and different appears to revive his interest and make him notice.

It was only last summer, for example, that we were able to get into what might be called a laissez faire state of mind toward the one-piece bathing suit. We are fairly sure that, so far as it is concerned, we shall be able to keep our mind on our swimming this season. But now there comes word that the one-piece suit is passe, and that the proper thing this summer will be a two-piece suit with a sort of hiatus between the two pieces. (We hate to use all these foreign words, but this is a delicate subject and we don't want to say anything that wouldn't do for the minds of our youthful readers.)

If that report is true, we are afraid it is going to take two or three summers before we become insouciant or phlegmatic about it.

And here we have drifted entirely off the subject.

Japan's state of mind seems to be that she is for peace so long as they will let her have the pieces.

VETERAN BAPTIST MINISTER OF ASPERMONT TELLS OF POWDER AND LEAD ONCE USED AS TEXT

By W. L. UNDERWOOD

Powder and lead were his text that moonlit night, 50 years ago, and while the young preacher actually missed his man, he converted the "sinner" once and for all.

Eighty years a resident in Texas, for 60 years active as a Baptist minister, "Brother E. B." Featherston of Aspermont left for his home Saturday morning after having celebrated his 82nd birthday anniversary in Wichita Falls with sons and other relatives.

But at Aspermont, the alert pioneer is not only "Brother Featherston" to hundreds of communicants of the Baptist churches in that area, but also Judge Featherston, for he has been justice of the peace there for many years.

Familiar as he is with Texas, both present and past, Judge Featherston is not a native Texan. He was born in Mississippi, and arrived in Rusk county in 1852 when two years old. His father also was a preacher, but like the son, found that the devotion of weekdays to farming was an economic necessity. Between the delivery of gospel sermons to rural congregations of Baptists, he was practicing the gospel of agriculture upon a farm east of the present town of Henderson—which did not dream then of harboring at a future time a booming oil field.

A few years later, however, Judge Featherston and his five brothers assumed charge of the farm, for the father went with thousands of other Texans to join General Lee's Confederate forces. After Appomatox, he returned, and the young E. B. Featherston soon began his career of preaching, which now has continued almost three score years. His first sermons were delivered in the fall of 1872, when he was 20 years old.

Settles in Brown County

Going west with the general movement of Texas' population, Judge Featherston settled in the northeast part of Brown county, then included in Comanche county, in 1877. There he divided his attention between caring for a 160-acre farm, teaching school, and shepherding rural Baptist congregations. There were times when the farm required especial attention, for it was in that period that "wire-cutting" became a favorite pastime of men who owned many cattle but no land. Barbed wire had made its introduction in West Texas, and those who had been accustomed to graze their herds unrestrictedly over the boundless plains resented the offensive limitations imposed by fences. Their wire snippers, plied vigorously by night, were a source of great annoyance to settlers who were trying to maintain fences about their land.

Judge Featherston had his trouble with "wire cutters," too. It occurred several times. One night a party of nine men destroyed a quarter-mile of good wire fence on the Featherston farm. A few moments later, they rode around a knoll in the moonlight, coming in full view of Judge Featherston, who, with a neighbor, was on the lookout. The young man leveled down, not with a Baptist sermon, but with a straight shooting rifle. One shot broke up the party, for while it only burned through the pants' leg of the foremost rider, the bullet instantly killed his horse. Both parties rode in different directions, but there was no more "wire cutting" in Comanche county.

The man whose horse was killed, it developed later, was a neighbor of Judge Featherston; and several years later, joined fences with those on the Featherston farm. The two men met only a few weeks ago. The erstwhile "wire cutter" laughingly declared to the now white haired minister and judge that he "should have killed the whole bunch while he was shooting."

Loads of Buffalo Hides

It was in 1877, too, that Judge Featherston saw wagon loads of buffalo hides being hauled past his new farm toward Fort Worth—the nearest railroad point. For it was in that year that an immense buffalo hunt was staged west and south of Wichita Falls—toward the present site of Seymour. Thousands of the beasts were slaughtered in compliance with a governmental policy of starving out the still troublesome Indians.

Judge Featherston comes of ancestors who for several generations have been closely connected with the conquest of soil and the making of empires. His parental ancestors arrived upon American soil in 1750, and took up their abode in the Virginia colony. There the head of the Featherston family raised fodder, corn and wheat for Gen. George Washington's struggling Continental army. The boys were in the fight. The frontier moved westward; so did the Featherstons. First to Tennessee, then south to Georgia, then Mississippi, and finally, in 1852, to Texas.

Judge Featherston has two sons and a grandson living in Wichita Falls, and he has made annual visits here for many years. His sons are C. H. and Solon Featherston; his grandson, Woody B. Featherston, all well known in business circles here.

But after celebrating his birthday anniversary with a two-day visit, "Brother E. B." had to get back to Aspermont Saturday. For he has his three rural preaching appointments to fill Sunday and expects to be on the job. He's only 82, and still enjoys his work. He carries an impressive gold-headed walnut cane given him by brothers and sisters when he rounded out 50 years of Christian ministry, but he "carries it only to humor them; I don't need it," he said.

Health and Diet Advice

How to Shampoo

Many diseases of the scalp are caused by a lack of cleanliness or lack of care in shampooing. Dust and dirt collect readily upon the hair and work down into the scalp, clogging up the pores. When the scalp is in this condition, it is very easy for infections to develop. The cure of almost any infection of the scalp and hair is more dependent upon cleanliness than the use of antiseptics or lotions.

Many people realize the necessity of keeping the body clean for health but they do not realize that it is just as important to keep the scalp free of impurities. Most people take a bath daily or at least twice a week, but few people wash their hair oftener than once or twice a month because they do not realize the importance of doing so, or they may believe it dries out the hair or causes a cold.

It is true that when a shampoo is improperly used, the natural oil of the hair may be removed and the scalp become dry, but this will never occur if the right method of shampooing is used. Whenever possible, distilled water or rain water should be used for washing the hair as either of these dissolves the dirt more readily than ordinary water.

The hair should first be moistened with warm water and then thoroughly lathered with a good toilet soap or shampoo. The hair should be well worked and the scalp massaged gently, then all of the soap should be washed out. Repeat this process with the soap, then wash the hair out again and rise well with clean water to which some lemon juice has been added. Next, dry the hair thoroughly, using a large turkish towel and if possible, the sunlight or the heat from a good electric heater, waving the hair in the fingers under the heat.

After the hair has been dried, rub a teaspoonful of cocoanut oil, olive oil or some other vegetable oil into the palms of the hand and thoroughly massage this into the scalp and hair roots. This will give the hair another coating of oil to replace that which has been washed out and in this way the luster will be restored. The appearance of the hair will be improved for very much the same reason as the applying of a polish to your furniture or your automobile. The entire scalp should be rubbed vigorously for several minutes and the excess oil should be removed with another clean towel.

If you have any disease of the scalp, such as dandruff, this washing and oiling of the hair should be repeated every day or every other day for several weeks until the trouble has cleared up. Even if you have no disease of the scalp, and, if you thoroughly massage the scalp in addition to using the right method of shampooing, you can improve the circulation and in this way avoid becoming bald.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tubercular Knee Infection

Question—Mr. C. Writes: "About a year and a half ago my knee started to swell up and was very warm on the inside. However, I kept working and it got so big I could hardly bend it. I went to the hospital and the doctors decided that I had tuberculosis, so went to bed with hot fomentations for seven weeks with a sand bag on my leg to straighten it out. Then I had a splint put on to keep my knee stiff. Why was this done? Could I go to work now? I am a baker."

Answer—If the tubercular infection of the knee joint has completely healed, I see no reason why you could not recommence your work, but, of course, in order to determine this it would be necessary to have X-ray examinations of the joint and possibly other tests which your doctor could give. I would not advise working if the joint is still infected. The doctor undoubtedly intended to keep the knee from moving as long as infection was present.

Crossed Eyes in Babies

Question—Mrs. Alsoria H. writes: "I have heard that there are some electrical treatments for crossed eyes. Will you kindly tell me just what they are?. My baby, 17 months old, has been cross-eyed since the age of 8 months. Sometimes the trouble seems bad and other times perfectly normal. I took her to an eye specialist who told me that nothing could be done until she was able to wear glasses."

Answer—Babies are frequently somewhat cross-eyed during the first few months of birth. If your baby's eyes are normal at times, she will likely outgrow the trouble, but she should have gained control of the eye muscles at her present age. I would suggest that you take her to see a special type of eye specialist known as an optometrist who could advise you after seeing the baby. The sinusoidal electrical treatments are the type that I have found most valuable in my practice. There are, no doubt, other treatments as well as curative glasses which would be beneficial.

Boys Must Serve Term for Theft Of Jewelry Here

Two boys, twins, 14 years of age, were ordered committed to the state training school at Gatesville for 12 months when they entered a plea of guilty before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Saturday to burglary charges.

Testimony showed that the youngsters entered the home of W. W. Silk, corner Tenth and Brook streets, March 14, while no one was at home and stole several pieces of jewelry.

Mary Washington, negro cook for the Silk family, testified that she arrived at the house while the burglary was in progress and that one of the brothers covered her with a pistol and ordered her not to move.

The boys were later captured near here and the jewelry recovered. The pistol, a 25-caliber automatic, was exhibited in evidence. One of the boys said they had stolen the weapon from the pocket of a parked automobile in Walters, Okla.

Two other boys, 14 and 15 years of age, respectively, from Burkburnett, were paroled to their parents after being tried on charges of chicken theft.

REVIVAL CAMPAIGNS AT FLORAL HEIGHTS CHURCH DECLARED SUCCESSFUL

The revival campaign now in progress at the Floral Heights Methodist church has been highly successful thus far. The young people's service Friday evening was well attended by the young people throughout the city.

The services for Sunday morning and evening are planned for the interest of men and women, as well as boys and girls of all ages. The subjects which Rev. Finis A. Crutchfield will use for Sunday are, morning, "The Church's Contribution to the World," and evening, 'Spiritual Pellegra." For Monday at 10 a. m., "Some Devils," and at the evening hour, "The Lepers Tidings."

Special music for Sunday's services will include the beautiful triumphal song, "The Palms" (Faure), sung by R. E. Shepherd. Mrs. A. B. Short will sing the appealing solo in the anthem, "Consider and Hear Me, O Lord My God" (Pflueger).

The evangelistic series of services has attracted attention all over the district, and numbers of out-of-town visitors have been present.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—Mr. W. Carlton Mobley, the new "baby congressman" from Georgia, is the youngest person ever to enter congress. He is 25 years old. It is true that Henry Clay was under 25 when first elected, but by the time he got to Washington to take his seat he was older than Mobley is now.

After years of running hot-foot to interview each successive young congressman, your correspondent asked Mr. Mobley how he thought such distinguished persons should be interviewed and written about.

Wears Collar-Attached Shirts

Mr. Mobley, who has light brown, pompadoured hair, wears tortoise-shell glasses, speaks with a soft Georgia accent and symbolizes his youth by always wearing collar-attached shirts, appeared somewhat vexed at that. He shot right back:

"If you were a new congressman and had to face a tax bill of vital importance to the country and still got all these protests from your own district—"

In one hand Mr. Mobley brandished 30 or 40 telegrams from theater men in his district who bitterly oppose an admission tax. In the other he waved almost as many from canneries which say it's unfair for their products to be included under the proposed sales tax. Letters of similar import had heaped themselves on Mr. Mobley's desk.

Was Rutherford's Secretary

Mr. Mobley had seen such wads of propaganda come into the office before, but not for him. He was secretary to the late Congressman Samuel Rutherford, to whose seat he has been elected. He went back and told the voters he was the logical successor, familiar with Rutherford's work and best able to finish it.

The voters saw the point, disregarding scoffs of opponents who urged them not to send a "Boy Scout" or an "errand boy" to Washington. They gave him more votes than all the other five candidates combined.

And He's a Bachelor

Mobley is a bachelor and likes in a hotel. He likes to play golf and dance. He was born on a farm and later learned about politics from his stepfather, Joe Ben Jackson, a state senator. He graduated from law at Mercer university with honors, entered Rutherford's law office and soon became his secretary.

He is a Democrat, like nearly every one else in the South. He says the people down there are generally well satisfied with the party and denies that the situation would be any healthier if both major parties were strong.

"They argue that if we had two parties we would get more plums and handouts and that's the only argument they have," Mobley says. "That seems a rather selfish viewpoint."

Doesn't Mourn Orators

The level of southern statesmanship, as the newest, youngest congressman sees it, has risen rather than declined.

"We don't have the picturesque, old-time orators we used to have," he admits, "but that's because people don't fall for flowery words and beautiful bellowings as they once did. The really smart men stood out more than they do now, because they were comparatively few.

"The general run of voters are better informed, and old-style politics don't work so well. The progress of the Democratic party in the next few years of its control will demonstrate the high level of statesmanship among southern leaders."

Mobley has been trying to get assigned to the house committees on which Rutherford served—immigration, pensions, elections among them. Just before he died, Rutherford, as chairman of the elections committee, had reported out the "lame duck" amendment resolution later passed by the house. He had also introduced a restrictive immigration bill, in which Mobley is now interested.

As "baby congressman," Mobley succeeds Fred Allen Hartley of New Jersey, who was elected in 1928 at the age of 26, but was 26 when he took office.

City Physician Says Milk Laws To Be Enforced

A statement warning distributors of milk products to comply with the city labeling ordinance and urging people to avoid fire hazards and insanitary conditions in cleaning up their property was issued Saturday by Dr. R. B. Welford, city physician, as follows:

"The city milk ordinance was amended in Dec, 1931, requiring proper labeling of milk products. All producers were notified but up to the present some are failing to comply with the ordinance and we are hereby serving notice that the ordinance must be complied with and that inspectors are being instructed to see that it is.

"This is the time of year for general cleanup campaigns and inspectors of the health campaign are ready to help in directing such work and are on the look out for insanitary and unsightly conditions, and for fire hazards. In doing your cleaning do not permit trash, brush, etc., to accumulate in the alleys, for such accumulation becomes an added fire hazard as well as being insanitary and unsightly."

QUARANTINE NINE CASES DURING PAST WEEK HERE

Nine cases of contagious disease were quarantined by Dr. R. B. Welford, city physician, during the past week, as follows: Mumps, six cases; whooping cough, two, and scarlet fever, one.

WICHITA FALLS SOCIETY

Barwise P.-T. A. Has Citizenship Program Thursday

"The home, the school, and the church have already joined hands in a great movement to build a mightier citizenship.

"A man stood gazing at the magnificent White House at Washington with tears streaming down his face so touched was he because he was 'looking at the heart of America.' Another was also touched because of the misconception of the other, explaining that 'the heart of America is in truth, her home,'" said Rev. Baxter of the Lory Memorial Baptist church in one of the most inspirational devotional services of the season, at the Barwise P.-T. A. meeting held at the school Thursday. Choosing passages from Romans upon which he based his message, Rev. Baxter delivered a most stirring sermon on citizenship.

Following the devotional service the association was entertained by a violin duet by Mary Katherine Matthews and Leon Gibbs. The girls are both members of the school orchestra of which Mrs. T. B. Parnell is director. Mrs. Parnell also accompanied the players on the piano.

The next number was a flag drill presented by the members of the Sixth Grade Citizenship club.

During the business session the following delegates were elected to represent the organization at the P.-T. A. conference to be held at Electra in the near future: Mesdames V. C. Plunkett, B. C. Blackburn, and R. A. Bailey.

Mrs. B. C. Blackburn was elected president for the new year starting in April, at the election of officers. Other officers named were first vice president, Mrs. D. W. McShan; second vice president, Mrs. C. W. Briley; recording secretary, Mrs. R. L. Hurst; corresponding secretary, Mrs. V. C. Plunkett; treasurer, Mrs. I. R. Hanks.

Mrs. R. A. Bailey, retiring president, told the organization of her heartfelt interest in the parent-teacher movement, in her farewell message, and how she dreams of new heights to be reached by the local unit during the ensuing year, also pledging her loyal support of the new officers in all their undertakings.

The club announced it will entertain the fathers and teachers at an informal reception in the school auditorium Thursday night, March 24, at 7:30 o'clock. Committees were appointed by the president to arrange entertainment and refreshments for the occasion.

A report from the "scrapbook" committee on the progress of the book was made and pictures of room sponsors and standing committees were taken at the last of the meeting. A plea for representative school material was also entered.

After the business and social meeting a bazaar of cooked foods and handiwork was held. The proceeds to benefit the P.-T. A. treasury. In the room count for attendance Miss Remington's sixth grade room was awarded the picture for having had the most number of mothers present.

CITY VIEW CLUB HAS LESSON ON KITCHENS

Members of the City View Home Demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. J. S. Yancey on the Iowa Park road Friday afternoon to discuss the planting budget for the year. The budgets were made at this time so that the spring gardens now being planned would include a full canning budget.

Kitchens and kitchen equipment was the lesson assigned for the meeting. Mrs. Arthur Powers discussed the ideal kitchen, with special reference to light and ventilation and also utensils, floor finishes, stressing the cleanliness and sanitation of kitchens. Using the slogan, "One stands more, if one stands less," Mrs. J. W. Evans discussed floor plans and the arrangement of kitchen equipment with a view to saving steps in the kitchen.

Mrs. Grover C. Johnson outlined the points to look for in judging the proper arrangement of the ideal kitchen for the rural housewife.

"More care should be used in furnishing this room than any other," she said, "and the supply of utensils should not be too large, limiting it to those most useful and necessary to carry on efficiently, but that ample space for these should be provided. The locations of the stove, cabinet, sink, kitchen stool, refrigerator, should be made so as to provide convenience and saving of steps."

The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. Gafford, when Miss Webb will have charge of the program on "Keeping the Clothes Closet, and Dry Cleaning in the Home."

Texas Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Hears Inspirational Address by Mrs. J. C. A. Guest

A short address on "Know Thyself," was the feature of a delightful program when members and friends of the Texas Kappa chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, national educational and social sorority for business girls, were entertained Thursday evening with a banquet at the Kemp hotel. A program of music and readings preceded the address.

Suggesting four important tests of character by which one may take an inventory of herself, Mrs. Guest urged members of the sorority to spend their time on worth while things and to "learn to laugh."

The first test of character suggested by the speaker, was the home; she especially stressed the impression given by the manner in which a girl treats members of her family and visitors in the home. The business world was named as the second test of character, Mrs. Guest stating that the world judges a girl by the consideration she has for those with whom she works. "It is important," she said, "that a girl measure up in the test which the social world gives her; her ability to make and hold friends counts for much." The final test of character named was success, with special commendation for the girl who could conduct herself becomingly in the face of success.

"No life is a standstill," Mrs. Guest concluded. "We are either developing a stronger or a weaker character." She urged the sorority members to study themselves and to work toward a truly great character.

Pretty Table

A lovely bowl of yellow tulips centered the long banquet table, which was lighted by purple tapers, tied with golden ribbon. Dainty place cards suggesting St. Patrick's day, marked each place. Miss Ora Waitts, chairman of the social committee, was in charge of arrangements for the banquet.

Miss Alta Saye, president of the sorority was the charming toastmistress and after welcoming the visitors, told a number of clever stories purporting to reveal the private lives of various members of the group.

Miss Louise Roberson was introduced a program chairman for the evening.

Mrs. Jesse Law sang two charming numbers, "I Wish I Were an Apple Blossom," and "Philosophy," with Mrs. Carl Steck accompanying and Mrs. A. B. Kirby read a beautiful selection, "Dreams," answering encores with two clever short stories.

Covers were laid for the following members and friends: Misses Alta Saye, Kathleen Melat, Emma Wall, Dovie Bentley, Hazel Hill, Gene Strickland, Agnes Blackmon, Wanda Williams, Ora Watts, Anne Edwards, Faye Hunn, Lulubel Thomas, Mary Huffines, Maurine Leach, Winnie Foster, Lucy Long, Louise Roberson, Martha Johnson, Nellie Mae Ross, Maurine Culton, Robbie Kemp, Countess Wyatt, La Vern Frazer, Elaise Cooper, Vera Smith; Mesdames J. CARRIGAN EXECUTIVE BOARD HAS MEETING

Plans for the "Father's Night" program were completed and Mrs. Cygon, chairman, reported an interesting program arranged.

Delegates for the district conference were discussed and will be announced later.

PEGGY PIEDMONT Says

THE old adage that "children should be seen and not heard," has been tossed into discard, and today the youngster has his or, more insistently, her voice in nearly everything that concerns herself. And never before have there been so many mother's clubs where all problems such as environment, heredity, citizenship and Americanism as pertains to the child, studied. Busy women with numerous household, social and club duties, take many hours studying child welfare and the kind of home environment that it takes to make America's future citizens all that they should be. And the parent-teacher associations, probably the most highly attended of any woman's organizations are just as busy studying the child and his problems and welfare, as they can be.

AND now comes news of the series of conferences which begun March 15 and will continue until April 22 for 15 districts of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers in 15 different parts of the state with 15 different presidents presiding over them. The theme of these conferences are "The Challenge of the Children's Charter," and each district will discuss problems of the child as they relate to the home, the school, the church and the state. Each district will have as its paramount concern the welfare of the children in its particular section and in the state as a whole.

THESE conferences will carry the theme of the state conference for child health and protection follow up of the White House conference as follows: How the summer round-up benefits the child; how the morning inspections help prevent diseases; the value of safe milk supply; and health inspection periods for every elementary grade. The conference for the 13th district of which the Wichita Falls' P.-T. A. units are a part meets in Quanah, April 12 and 13, and it is expected from the number of delegates elected at meetings held recently, that a large crowd will go from here.

ANOTHER subject of interest to parents about the child is discussed by a well known writer on when to teach him responsibility. She says in part:

"The new theories about children are, I believe, in many cases swinging wide of the mark. They are almost what we might call contra-social in some ways—that is to say, preaching absolute freedom of thought and action until a child is able to think and reason for himself. I second that motion with all my heart and soul, but there are a few snags in it, I think; that need to be straightened out.

"THE habits and thoughts of a little child should be turned happily but surely, I believe, toward a certain amount of duty.

"Duty doesn't come to us when we are old enough to reason and think it all out, like an inspiration from heaven. I believe it has to be bred in the very bone. The human being, left alone, will seek its own comfort—that is nature hard and fast. "Everyone for himself and the devil take the hindmost" is precisely what we would all take for our motto if we were not trained to a sense of our obligations and duty early in life.

"BUT there is as much danger as there is safety in my philosophy. A little child can have his mind turned against work so completely in his early years that it can ruin his whole life.

"IF HE is stormed at, or forced, or shamed, or scolded into doing small tasks for himself or others, forever and forever will his idea of duty be associated with unpleasantness. That must not be.

"EVERYTHING a tiny child does or tries to do should be through his interest. He must do it for some one he loves and who will praise him, or he must do it for a pet he likes, because 'Poor Dicky would die if he didn't get seed and water, and he wants you to do it for him, Billy, every day.'

"HE CAN learn to put on his coat and hat and even most of his clothes, 'Because, you see, dear, it's such a great big help to mother.' Or to put away his toys for the same reason."

THIS is also the time for women to work and smile as never before. The time when many men are out of jobs and are turning to their women folks, for consolation and encouragement. And my friend, if you have ever been in the need of encouragement yourself and in need of a little "pepping up" you must come to the Inter-County Federation of Women's clubs that will meet at the Forum clubhouse all day Tuesday.

HERE you will meet women that have overcome many obstacles—women that are making the most of their accomplishments; women that have seemed to draw a fresh supply of courage from such a book as Bess Streeter Aldrich's "A Lantern in Her Hand," the story of how a pioneer woman labored, strove, suffered, struggled and won. Incidentally, more than one woman in this day of electric lights is carrying a lantern in her hand, too, lighting the footsteps of those she loves, and a big responsibility it is.

AT THIS meeting you will meet Mrs. Roach of Seymour, lover of bird life, whose story and half cottage nestles among a veritable thicket of trees, where birds of every variety in the state of Texas, build their nests and feel at home. Baylor county is specializing in bird life, and Mrs. Roach will talk in the afternoon session of the meeting on that subject.

MRS. ARTHUR CLARK, great-grand niece of George Washington, from Mangum, Okla., will be an honored guest at the meeting, and Mrs. Edgar Witt, wife of the lieutenant governor of Texas is expected to be another one. Mrs. Grover C. Johnson will be in charge of the exhibits which are always a marvel of beauty and accomplishments, and here will be shown hooked rugs, leather purses and various kinds of hand-made articles, many of which are bringing good prices in cosmopolitan markets.

AN event at the Forum clubhouse Saturday, that was of more than passing interest, especially to the school set, was the election of Mary C. Boone as queen of the junior organization. Mary C. was elected to this high position by her friends without any obligation on the part of anybody. It seems that the girls just took this means of showing their friend and comrade how much they thought of her. And then another undertaking at the clubhouse will be the hanging of pictures painted by local artists which will begin April 15 and will be left up through the first district Texas Federation of Women's clubs convention and until after the Forum breakfast in May, concluding the social activities for the season.

And now as the time grows short, I will have to close this epistle and begin to get ready to learn something new at this meeting myself.

Camp Fire Girls Keep Open House For Home Exhibit

More than 150 friends, sponsors and members of the local Camp Fire Girls viewed with interest the display at Freear's furniture store Friday night when as a final to the home demonstration project, Camp Fire groups in Wichita Falls and surrounding districts kept open house and exhibited rooms that they had designed.

For the past two months the girls have studied and worked on this course of study planned by Mesdames Edwin Bebb, O. M. Pierce and Mr. Ivan Murchison, the various Camp Fire guardians and Miss Mary McIlheran, the executive. Mr. Murchison gave two lectures weekly on the subject.

Judges of the rooms were Mrs. Roy J. Daniel of the home economics department at the Junior college; Mrs. Martha Sherman, interior decorator, and Emil Hermann, well known artist.

Cash prizes were made possible by contributions made by Mrs. A. H. Carrigan and by Dr. Wallace Masters, president of the Camp Fire council. Other cash prizes had been raised by activities of the council.

The first prize, $5, was awarded to the Nowetompatmimin group for a nursery. Mrs. O. M. Pierce is guardian of this group. The second prize, $5, was won by the Adi-Iwah group, Mrs. Frank Michaux, guardian; the third prize went to the Grogan group at Byers, Mrs. Betty Jo Vaughter, guardian.

Through the courtesy of local firms, many accessories were added to the rooms.

Appreciation Expressed

The girls express their appreciation to Nelson's Baby shop, Electrik Maid bakery; Bailey-Moline Hardware, Saul's, Zale Jewelry Co. and Morgan and Bebb's Floral companies.

Before the awards were made, Miss McIlheran gave a brief talk emphasizing the value of the project, the difficulty the judges had in selecting from so many excellent exhibits, and the sportsmanship of the girls in realizing that whether or not they won a prize, they would have gained much more than its cash value. She introduced Mr. Murchison commending him for his untiring assistance and presenting him with a tooled leather key purse bearing the symbol of the home and his initials.

Dr. Masters was presented with a similar gift bearing the symbol of the body, and Mrs. Carrigan was introduced and given a leather book mark with her initials done in cut work.

Mrs. Edwin A. Bebb, chairman of the project committee, presented the awards to the groups and she was presented with a brown and orange book mark bearing her monogram.

The home project was carried out during the Camp Fire birthday week, the celebration of which was climaxed by the production of a short play broadcast from KGKO at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

HERE and THERE WITH DOROTHY

LET'S TALK ABOUT YOU

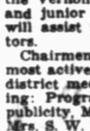

It is time we were because soon "Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rabbit" will be here to make a survey and of course we must all be ready for their arrival, especialy so since the merchants are being so Easterly inclined. They show us that Spring, 1932 is certainly concocting her own fashion formula. Open weaves in frocks, soft, lacey knit things, windy meshes in hosiery, even shoes sound the keynote by going in for cool new cutouts—everything points to correct airy modes—and we must be correct.

THAT FATAL CHARM

Cleopatra had it—Delilah had it — Dubarry had it—and hats from PERKINS - TIMBERLAKE will cause you to have it. You won't look further for a "perfect" spring hat, when you see the creations there. Perky little peaks over one eye, graceful off-the-face swerves, dainty baby brims—straws, fabrics—all dated 1932 unmistakably. And must they be tilted—my goodness, yes—and they are styled with wearability at PERKINS-TIMBERLAKE.

SWING INTO STYLE "FACIALLY"

Freshen up—then makeup. It makes the greatest difference whether makeup is applied over a freshened skin. Let the authorities at MALONE BEAUTY SHOP help you safeguard the loveliness of your skin with the remarkable THEO BENDER skin preparations. Oh, yes, Malone's will manicure those nails now for 50 cents—they must be shined up for Easter.

YOU JUST MUST BE IN STEP

When you march in the "Fashion Parade," and you will be "in step" if you "step" into P. B. M.'s for your "lineup." In colors for your costume this season the THREE B'S are leading—the BLUES, BLACKS and BEIGES and at P. B. M.'s thrifty prices along with distinctive styles of thoroughgoing quality are to be found in these shades. Yes, and Vogue informs me that your gloves are striking quite a note in the "spring song" of fashion, so I suggest if you're "off key" get in tune at P. B. M.'s for their presentation of the new modes in gloves will give your costume "harmony." The gloved hand is essential for chic, and you will find the essentials at P. B. M. CO.

SPRING FRESHNESS

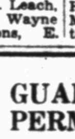

Is what DE LUXE DRY CLEANING CO. has been talking to you about all week, and right here I want to emphasize those words. You can't be smart unless your costume shows freshness, neatness and cleanness—and the DE LUXE DRY CLEANERS can bring all that to your clothes. They are known for their high quality workmanship—just call 7174.

MOULD YOUR FIGURE TO NEW BEAUTY

The charming accented silhouette that fashion makes so much of nowadays—bust subtly uplifted—waistline slender, hips smoothly rounded, makes essential the selection of proper foundations. The "sensation family" at W. B. McCLURKAN'S accomplishes all these things—a sensation for every foundation need in the new "Supple Spun" fabric—the two-way stretch materials. You will need a bias cut slip too, they have them at W. B. McCLURKAN'S—they are perfectly sized—every one of them shouts quality, workmanship and wear—and the price—just see for yourself.

CRANKY ABOUT COLOR

In your hosiery—you believe the shade of hosiery either makes or destroys the effectiveness of your costume—you are right—and SLIPPERLAND has actually the shades to blend with the newest. Hosiery is an important accessory to this "clothes freedom" and the new ALLEN-A look almost too fragile to touch—and yet they wear—that expensive sheerness so flattering and slimming to the ankle and leg are in SLIPPERLAND HOSIERY.

THE TALK OF THE TOWN

Is about the new soda fountain at TRULY'S PHARMACY. Just so new and modern—then a new sandwich machine which makes the most delicious sandwiches—and just 10 cents—yes, they will cause you to talk, too—TRULY'S is located at Eleventh and Grace—so convenient to stop your car, honk—see the service—and by all means try the sandwiches.

NO, NO, IT WOULDN'T BE—

Easter without new shoes—bunny inspects his feet—twinkles his eyes and tells us to hop to P. B. M.'s for new shoes. Surely a brilliant Easter is in store if the shoes being shown are any criterion. Increased interest in design, stitching, perforation and the use of contrasting materials are featured. P. B. M. Co. introduces the latest trend in footwear. Shoes of airy grace—sheath fitting, glove moulding—shoes in which every style light is mirrored.

THE MEN ARE IN

The Easter parade, too. They can get their information on their style "lineup" at THE HUB. Talk it over with "him" so he will be "in step" with you. He will certainly put the right foot out when he "marches forth" in the new FREEMAN shoes and won't Mr. Rabbit mark "correct" when "he" dons an ARROW shirt to go with that YORKESHIRE suit. THE HUB certainly has the "lineup" for the men—and they get business by giving real values.

EASTER IS CANDY DAY

And candy means MARTHA WASHINGTON. Let "him" know your sweet tooth just can't be neglected—the number is 7777—the place—Hamilton building.

NOW IF THIS HAPPENS

If you fail to get one of the beautifully plated percolators which are selling at THE TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE CO., for only $4.95, formerly priced up to $9.50, do not reprimand me for I will have "proof in print" that I told you about them—what bargains—and how they will "perc" that coffee—they are going fast—be sure and get yours at THE TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE CO.

HOW DELICIOUS YOU WILL SAY—

When you eat CREAM BAKERY BREAD on Easter day. Sounds as though I am being poetical, but the delicious CREAM BAKERY BREAD inspires one into writing rhymes—it is so good—and the delightful doughnuts and rolls will be just the thing to serve Easter morning to put that "right" taste in your mouth.

TIME OUT FOR ICE CREAM

"Time out" to meet at TRULY'S to enjoy some delicious PANGBURN'S CLASSIC VANILLA—possibly you want some in a soda, just 9 cents—maybe you want to order a quart, just 50 cents. Ice cream is most delightful and appropriate of all desserts. Call Truly's, 8111, and order—or stop by Eleventh and Grace.

YES, I GUESS

You are wondering what I am going to talk about when Easter is over. Well, you just get yourself fixed up for the arrival of "Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rabbit," because that is most important now—and then just leave the rest to me.

MAKE-UP SUGGESTIONS in harmony with your new clothes

First of all your face must be perfectly clean. Never apply new make-up over old. Remove all powder and grime with Cleansing Cream, and then freshen the skin with Skin Tonic.

FIRST...THE FOUNDATION • If your skin is dry you should use Ultra Amoretta. An oily skin is benefitted by Lille Lotion. For the average skin...Amoretta Cream or Crème de France (diluted with Skin Tonic or Lille Lotion) is a delightful foundation.

THEN THE ROUGE • If you are very fair, use Light Amoretta or Light Rosetta Cream Rouge. Medium Amoretta suits the average skin. Darker shades are American Beauty, Dark Amoretta and Dark Rosetta. Red Head is especially for the red haired woman.

PUFF...PUFF...PUFF • Powder from your neck upwards...smoothly lightly. Finally, go over the cheeks with a gentle downward stroke. With eleven subtle shades in exquisite Poudre d'Illusion and seven shades in the popular Flower Powder, there is a perfect tone for every skin.

NOW...YOUR EYES • Your brows and lashes must be carefully brushed. Just a suggestion of Eyelash Grower will make them silky and lustrous. Eye-Shade will bring out the color and depth of your eyes. The new Venetian Eyelash Cosmetique will make your lashes dark and lovely.

FINALLY...YOUR LIPS • Be sure your lip paste tones in with your rouge, and that both rouge and lipstick complement your costume colors. Miss Arden's Lipstick Ensemble makes it possible to give your lips just the right accent, since each of the six lipsticks has been definitely created to harmonize with certain colors.

Venetian Cleansing Cream, $1, $2, $3, $6 • Venetian Ardena Skin Tonic, 85c, $2, $3.75, $9. Ultra Amoretta, $1, $2. Lille Lotion, $1.50, $2.50. • Venetian Rouge Amoretta, $2.50. AMUSEMENTS

Scene from "The Guardsman," with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, coming to the Majestic theater Tuesday for three days.

Marlene Dietrich, Warner Oland and Clive Brook together in a scene from "Shanghai Express," now showing at the Majestic.

Carole Lombard, surrounded by Ricardo Cortez, Paul Lukas and Arthur Pierson in "No One Man," coming to the State Wednesday.

Majestic Offers 'Shanghai Express' With 'The Guardsman' Here Tuesday 'Dancers in the Dark' Seen at State

"Shanghai Express" arrived on the screen at the Majestic Friday.

Never has Marlene Dietrich been so attractive and interesting as in this production, and opposite her she has the Clive Brook of several years ago, able actor and fascinating character, heading a troupe of excellent players. If the management wants to reward its patrons for their fortitude in sitting through some of the dull films that have found their way to the Majestic these past few months, he can do nothing better than recommend "Shanghai Express" as movie drama of a high order, beautifully presented, exceptionally well played and holding suspense until the last foot of its glamorous action has been shown.

For turning out such a picture as "Shanghai Express" Director Josef von Sternberg is forgiven some of the slow-moving, cumbersome things he has made in Hollywood lately. In its reels he fulfills the promise of his silent pictures, made long ago, and in it is La Dietrich at her best, more beautiful than the cameras have yet recorded her, easy and smooth in her manner, yet compelling in every movement and gesture and at last, sad as it may be, dimming the luster even of "Mata Hari."

To add to your enjoyment you will see, "Oh Oh, Cleopatra" a comedy; "Big Irons" with Bobby Jones and Fox news in sound.

"The Guardsman"

The greatest stars of the current New York stage, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, make their talking picture debut in "The Guardsman" at the Majestic Tuesday.

Lunt and Miss Fontanne have for years been the reigning box-office favorites of the stage. It was only recently that they were induced to try talkies via a screen adaption of "The Guardsman," which was one of their greatest stage successes. Roland Young has a prominent role in the picture as the critic, who finds great amusement in seeing his friend, the actor, play in private a role greater and more difficult than any he ever did on the stage.

In addition you will see "Dream House" with Bing Crosby; "Summertime," a Terrytoon and Paramount news in sound.

"Broken Lullaby"

Where has Lubitsch been? Ernst Lubitsch, of course, the director of those almost naughty, witty, successful screen comedy romances starring Maurice Chevalier.

Well, Lubitsch hasn't been idling these past few months, but preparing a surprise. His new picture is not a frothy, bubbling champagne entertainment but a serious human drama, an unusual, daring story to be considered for a moving picture.

So you'll be interested in "Broken Lullaby" on any one of a dozen scores. If you're looking for stunning acting, or magnificent direction, or a story positively staggering in its situations and emotional storms, you'll find what you're looking for in "Broken Lullaby" coming to the Majestic next Friday.

To add to your enjoyment you will see "Camping Out" a comedy; "The Spoon" with Bobby Jones and Fox news in sound.

"DANCERS IN THE DARK" STATE THEATER SUNDAY

Miriam Hopkins in "Dancers in the Dark," is the high-voltage dance hall "hostess," who is whirled into a series of dramatic events that lead to a colorful climax. The picture will open a three-day engagement at the State, Sunday.

"Dancers in the Dark," in addition to its series of dramatic events, has a lot of good laughs, put over by Jack Oakie and Eugene Pallette. It has an occasional bit of soft seductive dance music, and the savage syncopation of the ever-popular "St. Louis Blues" to sharpen the drama of its surprising climax William Collyer Jr. recently seen in "Street Scene" has the romantic lead opposite Miriam Hopkins, a part that carries the love-interest throughout the picture.

Wednesday the State attraction will be "No One Man," featuring Carole Lombard, Paul Lukas and Ricardo Cortez. There is no bigger, no more enjoyable, no wittier figure in modern fiction than Rupert Hughes. His stories have the trait of hitting the popular pulse, and "No One Man" is no exception. The title of this, his latest story to be produced on the screen, was taken from his amazing statement that no one man could satisfy the heart and soul of modern women. In this story he attempts to prove that statement.

"No One Man" is strictly adult entertainment presented in search for an answer to the problem that is sending increasing numbers to the divorce courts every year. The picture will play three days.

NORTH SIDE YOUNG PEOPLE HAVE MEETING

Young people of the North Side Baptist church met Friday night at the church in separate group sessions. Mrs. John Griffin told stories to the Sunbeams and Barnie Cobb told the R. A. group a Bible story. The intermediate G. A. had a lesson from the manual taught by Mrs. Pratt, and the Y. W. A. held a business session with Mrs. Bob Anderson, the councellor, presiding. The young men were led in Bible study by Mrs. J. W. Phillips.

John Gilbert and Leila Hyams Star In Film at Gem

John Gilbert, who will be seen at the Gem theater Sunday and Monday in the French melodrama, "The Phantom of Paris," is the first star to be filmed with the new, super-sensitive film recently brought to perfection after over two years of experimentation. This latest development in motion picture science, known as the "speed film," means a far greater accuracy in detail and a much softer effect on the screen.

Oddly enough, the actors must be made up with a darker hue. This is a great break for the many beach fans of the studio for no longer will sunburn be a drawback for make-up. According to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer officials, a deep coat of tan would be the ideal make-up for use with the new film. Thus is eliminated the necessity for beach parasols and only brief dips in the surf, for the players may get as dark as they wish.

To Leila Hyams, probably more than any other player in "The Phanton of Paris," this is a boon, for this player enjoys nothing more than a fishing trip in the blazing sun of the Pacific followed by a long swim in a rather brief bathing suit.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

What an exciting and happy birthday Camp Fire Girls in Wichita Falls have had this past week. To start the week right the church service was held at the First Presbyterian church at 7:30 last Sunday evening. A pretty candle lighting and flag ceremony was put on by the girls, with appropriate music given by the young people's choir, and the sermon by the pastor, on "The House of Happiness." The theme of the home was carried out throughout the service as in the whole week of activities.

During the entire week groups were busy as prospective brides, getting ready for the great event of "open house" at Freear's on Friday evening. Over 150 people were out to see the beautifully furnished rooms and to hear the verdict of the judges who awarded the prizes. Camp Fire Girls will never forget the thrill of the 1932 birthday and the fun they have had planning and setting up their rooms. Nor will they ever forget the Freear Furniture store and the 100 per cent cooperation given by the employes and management of the store. Too much cannot be said of the fine spirit and enthusiasm shown by every member of their firm, and especially Mr. Murchison who put in so much time helping each group to have everything they needed for their rooms.

On Saturday evening the radio program included songs and a skit woven around the theme of the home. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Bebb took the parts of mother and father in the home; Dorthea Whitehead as the oldest daughter, Jane; Charles Parker as Walter, the 16-year-old son; Tom Martin as the 10-year-old son; Eunice Allen as the 8-year-old girl, and J. B. Hubbard as the household Brownie. The skit opened with the usual flurry of the modern home with each member so busy with their own interests that family life was really crowded out. The household Brownie appears on the scene to show members how the situation may be changed. In the last scene mother is at the piano, with the family and a few friends of the children gathered around singing camp songs learned by Jane at her Camp Fire summer camp. Family life of an ideal type has been instituted in this home.

Birthday Books

The Freear Furniture company has contributed over a dozen magazines and catalogs with wonderful pictures which will be invaluable for members to use in their count books on furniture and home decoration. These are at local headquarters and may be utilized by members. It will be a case of "first come, first served," so the "early birds will get the worm."

The executive will be glad to arrange special discussions on counts for groups or for members from various groups as a class.

Guardian Institute

Right on top of the excitement and enthusiasm of the birthday month comes the guardian institute to be held on April 1 and 2, with Miss Eldora DeMots from the national field staff as director. Headquarters will be at the Kemp hotel where the banquet on Friday evening and the demonstration council fire on Saturday evening will be open to the public. Registrations are already coming in from out-of-town guardians for the institute. It is hoped that every guardian and a number of older girls and prospective leaders will avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to learn more about Camp Fire. Mrs. R. E. Davis is the local chairman.

Oawakiya Group

The Oawakiya group met at the home of Maurine and Willie Mae Bralley, 2005 Ninth street, on Thursday afternoon. Margaret Hutchinson gave a book report as a special feature of the program. Plans were made to meet at the home of Leonida James, 1609 Elizabeth, on Wednesday of this week.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses to Margaret Hutchinson, Jane Reppy, Leonida James, Ethel Ranbarger.

Mankilo Group

Members of the Mankilo group met Wednesday afternoon at Freear's to complete decoration of their dining room, which shown in all of its beauty for the "open house" with its pretty birthday cake and table decorations.

Those taking part were Hazel Kent, Norean Eason, Elaine Steinkoenig, Helen Benninger, Jehnnie Evans, Ann Tarry, Helen Bartholomew, Mrs. Maude Bartholomew, guardian and Mrs. T. C. Lynch, P.-T. A. sponsor for the group.

Adi-Iwah Group

The guardian, Mrs. Frank W. Michaux, and four of the girls, Thelma Simmons, Margaret Davis, Florence Frazer and Mary Elizabeth Largin went to Freear's on Monday and several other days to set up their pretty master's bedroom which took second prize in the contest. The members, dressed in dainty evening clothes, were delightful hostesses at their exhibit room on Friday evening. Other members of the group have helped with the exhibit and are working on their birthday honor.

Nowetompatimmin

Members of the Nowetompatimmin group met at Freear's on Wednesday to complete plans for the pretty nursery which took first prize in the birthday contest. The judges, Mesdames Martha Sherman, Roy Daniel and Mr. Emil Hermann were unanimous in their opinion on this room as being perfect with no suggestion to offer for improvement in arrangement, color scheme or convenience. To say this group of 10 and 11-year-old girls is happy, is to put it entirely too mild. Those helping Wednesday were Evelyn Jane Hawkins, Margaret Pierce, Janet Tate, Dorothy Lee Reeder, Shirley Jean Martin and the guardian, Mrs. O. M. Pierce.

Ahsonzong Group

Members of the Ahsonzong group went to Freear's on Wednesday afternoon to complete the furnishing of the pretty sun room at Freear's. On Friday afternoon a short business session was held when plans were worked out to complete requirements for the birthday honor. This week the group will meet at 5:30 at the home of Lois and Jewell Gibbins, 1514 McGregor, when these girls will fulfil one or more of the requirements for home entertainment.

A rummage sale was planned for Saturday of this week when the group will earn money for renewal of dues.

Those attending the meeting were Gladys Young, Dorothy Gothard, Irene West, Lois and Jewell Gibbins, Lucile Murchison, Loucille and Mrs. W. J. Willis, guardian.

Acancan Group

Members of the Acancan group met at the regular club period at Reagan high on Wednesday and made plans for the group council fire on Saturday morning held at Havener park. Parts were assigned and songs learned at a later meeting. A number of the members spent some time at Freear's putting the finishing touches to the attractive living room planned and set up by this group. Members of this group say that even though they didn't win a prize on their room they challenge any group in town in selling doughnuts, as they won first prize in the recent doughnut sale.

There is certainly no lack of enthusiasm or ability in the girls or guardian, Miss Leska Howard, and they are doing splendid work.

Tanokiwin Group

Members of the Tanokiwin group met at Freear's on Tuesday afternoon to complete the furnishing of their pretty girls' bedroom. This group has shown, like the other groups, that they have done some real thinking, with their healthful discussions and arguments put forth in the choice of furniture and color scheme in their room. Those attending Wednesday were Mrs. S. L. Conn, guardian, Ruth Thomas, Anita Underwood, Sue Ann Timblin, Joan Ort, Mildred Lightfoot, Katherine Borden and Dorothy Ruth Fleming.

Endeavor Society Has Banquet and Rally at Seymour

Having for their theme, "Selling Christian Endeavor to Seymour," 175 members of the Christian Endeavor society from Vernon, Wichita Falls, Graham, Seymour and other points enjoyed a banquet and rally at the city hall in Seymour Friday evening. Delegates registered at the Christian church where they secured their tickets for the banquet.

St. Patrick colors were used in the table decorations and the Rev. R. E. Austin was toastmaster for the evening. The program was opened with the invocation by E. L. Moon of Wichita Falls, after which the assembly sang "My Wild Irish Rose." Delegates were next introduced and the welcome address was given by Mayor R. R. Kellum of Seymour. Mrs. R. E. Austin of Seymour played a piano number and J. W. Austin sang the Christian Endeavor theme song, "Greater Things Than Thee." Oscar T. Moline of Graham gave the address of the evening and the orchestra played special numbers. Hal St. Clair, president of the Seymour Christian Endeavor, gave a talk, after which Rev. R. E. Austin gave a reading. The program was concluded with the benediction.

Love, Life and the World's Ends

"PORT OF CALL," by D. G. Peattie. The Century company, New York. $2.50.

Brutally honest Guzman; naturally honest Reith; an American botanist in the service of his country; unmoral Lisa, with the great gray eyes and golden hair of her English mother and the unbridled passions of her Italian ancestors; her father, Dr. Oreagna, who had dreamed of being a hero, but who willing offered his daughter in return for his sustenance, little in body and little in soul; Simonetta, the paid virago who served as a maid; the proud old wife of Guzman, as intolerant of unfaithfulness as the inquisition in religion; these living characters with a few minor members coloring the background make the story of "Port of Call," a first novel by D. G. Peattie. But starting the entire story was dead Paolo, son of Dr. Oreagna, whom Reith had stripped of his vermin filled rags, wrapped in a clean cloth and covered with the wild sod of Kansu.

Memory of that beautiful young Piedmontese, whom Reith had found wandering half frozen in the wilderness of Kansu, made him pause when one morning, en route to Lisbon for a vacation, he saw through the port hole the city that had been the dead Paolo's home.

A port such as one dreamed of in Homer or Vergil; "from a port like this, Scipio must have raised his sails; and here one could imagine a galleon flying before the Saracens had dropped anchor behind Christian guns."

Reith went ashore that morning determined not to visit the dead boy's home, but midmorning found him at the Villa Fortuna, turned aside for nearly the first time in his life from a purposeful path; for two days and two nights, he dallied with what might have been a crucial turn in his life, had he not been sternly Puritan in spite of a broad mind.

There are sin and sorrow and beauty in the book but the broad minded reader can condemn only one person, the father who willed his daughter's fall.

The rhythm of English is exquisite; elemental facts are told with a plain truth that makes them attractive. One meets the world in Reith's memories; yellow, sandblasted China; Java, where a little holy man taught him the ritual of breathing that is the Hindu's gate to bliss; acceptance finally of the work of Butterfield who had died of fever in Mozambique. So long as Reith could never come home to Lisa as a wife and would come home to no other, he forgot passion and began in his senses to live ahead; to feel unfamiliar leaves; to smell new forest odors.

From the portholes of his outgoing steamer, he saw the city, "a bubble rising from the sea line in a bubble's melting colors." The sea wind caught Reith's face.

'Follow Thou Me'

"FOLLOW THOU ME," by Rev. Geo. W. Truett. Published by the Baptist Sunday school board, Nashville, Tenn. Price $2.

This is the first book from Dr. Truett for 10 years, and whether viewed from a preacher's or layman's viewpoint, it contains 15 of the greatest evangelical sermons ever preached by modern evangelists. The majority of these were delivered at the Immanuel Baptist church, Nashville, Tenn., during the latter part of November, 1930, having been taken down in shorthand by a court reporter, and later checked and approved by the author.

The sermons are brief, but they are surcharged with three great powers—invincible argument, moving emotion and masterful appeal. They should be a great help to any preacher, and as evangelistic appeals, these messages might well be called classics. They are suited to this present time and will do vast good. Even in print they grip the reader and move him as only Dr. Truett can. The volume merits an honored place in every home.

An Ozark Chronicle

They had never heard of Thanksgiving, yet the mountaineer folk of Wayman Hogue's "Back Yonder: An Ozark Chronicle" which Minton, Balch & Co. published March 11, live in a tradition as strong as that which flourishes in Boston parlors. They knew but two denominations, the Methodists and the Baptists. They had heard of Presbyterians and Campbellites but none lived among them. A Jew was a man that lived in town and had a store, asking a high price for his goods, then coming down. An infidel was a monstrosity and they would have lynched a Mormon. Book agents, occasionally penetrating into the Ozark region, were looked upon as "furriners" and it was supposed that they were following the avocation for the sole purpose of trying to "beat work." Wayman Hogue's account of the remote and picturesque folk-ways which define the Ozark locale is probably the first authentic autobiography of a mountaineer. Mr. Hogue was born in a one-room log cabin in an isolated section of these little known mountains. Here he spent his youth and young manhood. "Back Yonder" is unvarnished, unsentimental. It catches the true spirit of a little pioneer world completely foreign to the great mechanical America which surrounds it.

With the Magazines

By L. N. C.

Morris Fishbein, M. D., writes in the Saturday Evening Post of March 19, "So You Have a Cold," with an illustration, reading "Even at its best, the human nose is nothing to brag about." We may be prejudiced at this time about noses. But Dr. Fishbein writes an illuminating article on a very prosaic disease.

Editorials, as usual, are efficiently written and cartoons with them embellish pleasantly Milwaukee's business sense.

In the same magazine, Garet Garrett has a keenly cynical and most sensible article on the reparation business. It is worth reading.

"Day after day," says Joseph Hergesheimer, writing in the American Mercury for March, "year upon year, in the morning I go to a small house I own in West Chester, and there, in a room that should be a dining room, I write; I write, alone and without interruption, from 10 until 1, or 2—until 1,500 words, in longhand, are finished—and then, mentally exhausted, physically oppressed and irritated, I go back to the Dower house for lunch. In the afternoon, often than not, I write again, 1,500 words. Practically every morning of my mature life, including Sunday, I sit down and face two pens, one in a silver and one in a black individual stand, and a pile of blank books in pale brown paper covers. The empty books are on my right-hand; they are moved to the left when filled; and, no matter how arduously I labor, there are always before me more blank books than I can ever master. The thin stream of ink running through my pens flows from a supply I will never exhaust."

The "Pathfinder" for March 19 is as rich as usual. Editorial thoughts include: "There also seems to be an over production of cold feet and a shortage of cool heads"; "a real patriot is the man who whistles The Star-Spangled Banner while making out his income tax blanks," and "anyway, the League of Nations will never be accused of over hasty actions."

"China has her Alamo," an article reads, giving the palm of hero to Gen. Tang Chi-Shui, who refused to obey orders to retreat and perished with his entire command while defending the Woosung forts at Shanghai against land, naval and aerial Japanese attack.

Theatrical critics will enjoy this pick-up from the same magazine: "One of the funniest things to come up as a congressional matter was the proposed investigation of dramatic critics on the charge that they ruin the theatrical business with their unjust criticism. The charges were made by Chairman Sirovich of the committee on patents, copyrights and trade-marks, who said three-fourths of the theaters of New York were closed, largely because of such criticism, and he invited the critics to appear for questioning. Sirovich admitted having written a play which ran only 16 days, after being severely criticised. He said prizefight and baseball experts became dramatic critics and he suggested a special license for them as a protection to authors. Theatrical men ridiculed Sirovich's charges and ideas—also his 1924 plays—but agreed to come for questioning, if the chairman would not "bring his circus to New York."

Bernard Shaw, lively as ever at 76, almost convinces him to become a vegeterian, says the Broadway cynic, Alexander Woollcott. Recounting all the things that Shaw has done in the past year at an age when others are either dead or doddering, Woollcott writes in McCall's for April:

"When I contemplate the spectacle of Bernard Shaw, capable in his 76th year not only of out-thinking but of out-working most of his colleagues, I feel I should bow my head and say: 'Mr. Shaw, almost thou persuadest me to be a vegetarian.'

"Of most writers, when they begin to coast downhill into old age, it is customary to say that they are 'written out.' But no one could have the effrontery to say that of Bernard Shaw, who, though born in 1856, is still going strong, and who, after at least 40 years in the blinking public eye, is still the talk of the town."

Concerning the Shaw-Terry letters, etc., Mr. Woollcott writes:

"It is altogether probable that only posterity will ever have access to the letters which Shaw wrote to Mrs. Patrick Campbell, a younger actress who, about 20 years ago, moved bag and baggage into that place in his thoughts which had once been occupied by Miss Terry. Compared with her own glowing packet, she thinks the ones Miss Terry received a trifle insipid. Sit next to her at dinner, and she will tell you readily enough about the lively missive in which he reminisces of the time when they rolled together on the floor like the king and his mistress in "The Apple Cart." Or she will tell you of that handsome surrender when he wrote her of his longing for the day when he would see her clad in sables from head to toe, and wearing his fig leaf in her hair."

Ooh la, la! But Shaw himself confessed somewhere recently, (we read it), that he is an idol in America.

Writing of the new musical satire, "Of Thee I Sing," Heywood Broun in April McCall's waxes enthusiastic. "For the first time in almost 20 years," he says, "a Broadway show has set all the critics to dancing in the street. And all on the same side of the street. Not within the span of this venerable commentator has there been such a united desire to praise as was aroused by the opening performance of the musical comedy called "Of Thee I Sing." It is the product of George S. Kaufman, Morrie Ryskind, and the Gershwins, George and Ira. To be sure, some of the reviewers are young men and they were less than accurate in hailing the new work as the first authentic American satire done with words and music. After all, George Ade did write "The Sultan of Sulu" to celebrate the fact that the constitution follows the flag. But that was more than 30 years ago, and it is true that the musical score was not definitely related to the whimsy itself.

"The satire in the present experiment is uncompromising and double-edged. First of all, the authors have undertaken to ridicule American national politics. Secondly, they have made fun of the entire musical comedy form as we know it. Thus 'Posterity Is Just Around the Corner' is sung and danced by a male chorus dressed to represent senators and each is armed with a tambourine."

"For half a century," Mr. Broun continues, "charm simply dripped from the rafters of every playhouse. One could not even attend a tragedy without his mackintosh. But too little of a good thing may be a fault as well as too much. I would like to compromise in the brittleness of the satire which animates 'Of Thee I Sing.' It is my misfortune to be an old softy, and I like to see a tenor and a soprano in the spotlight, both singing about love as if their joint heart would break. There is an excellent torch ballad in the Gershwin score, but it is sung under such circumstances that it is not to be taken seriously."

Royalty As Vital Humanity

"UNICORN," by Marguerite Steen. The Century company. $2.50.

"Unicorn" is a story of royalty in its decline and exile. A human situation in which romance and realism both make their appeal. Humorous throughout, it is an ironic but wholesome aspect of this comparatively new subject in fiction. Readers of last year's "Coronet" who felt its gigantic bloody tragedy will find relief in this smaller scale, lighter treatment of our struggle for democracy.

Most interesting and romantic are the glimpses of life in an old Bavarian castle, before revolution sent its rulers into exile. A great pile of rock, towering over the duchy it governed, impressively concealing internal decay, poverty and discomfort. Its many unused suites, awaiting the now infrequent royal visitors; its windy council chambers where an ignorant stubborn grand duchess held absolute power; its dark secret stairways leading to the dungeons of the mad members of the family. Aunt Gertrude, quite mad, but not yet dangerous enough to be confined.

This background, and a lonely neglected childhood produced the girl-duchess Margarete; encouraged her arrogance, limited her experience, and made her more elemental than the middle class people with whom she spent her adult life in normal surroundings, in Italy, London and Paris.

The character of Margarete is strongly drawn. Her colossal self-will and stature carry her triumphantly through strange experiences. A mistaken goddess whom we cannot pity because she does not pity herself. "Preposterous as a Unicorn," said some one of her. But warmly vital also.

Only motherhood finally softened her, conquered her, and kept her safe.

A very entertaining, unusual story.

PEEPING AT NEW BOOKS THROUGH UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS

LITERARY KNOT-HOLE

By LORENA DRUMMOND

The Story of a Fighter

Clarence Darrow has had a keen appreciation of dramatic situations, playing a leading role in the crises of many social conflicts of his time. His father was a theological student with a passion for books and learning who, being early unable to accept the tenets of his church, supported his large family as a modest furniture—and coffin—maker who was known in his community as a cultured infidel.

It is not difficult to understand why Clarence Darrow, reared in poverty and the atmosphere of a respected outcast, should be so governed by emotion and sympathy that he turned his back upon a career as corporation lawyer for the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad company to become the champion of labor unions in the defense of Mr. Debs. He has spent the whole force of his brilliant personality in a fair fight for what he considered the rights of the underdog. The autobiography is simple and frank and grips the interest in his simple narrative. Any intelligent person should find the book thought-provoking and instructive.

To those who disagree with him and are soundly grounded in their faith, this autobiography may be itself a sermon, in that one who has known so much life, fighting fairly and fearlessly, should at length find life so very barren.

By E. KARL MGINNIS, professor of business administration University of Texas.

"The Story of My Life," by Clarence Darrow. Illustrated from photographs. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, $3.50.

Tales of the Supernatural

Within the primrose yellow jacket protecting the iris-hued cover of "The Interessor, and Other Stories," the Macmillan company has compressed five first-rate tales of the supernatural by May Sinclair.

These tales of the mysterious and uncanny have been compared to those of Edgar Allen Poe, and there is a similarity in type, although Miss Sinclair's stories are lighter and less appalling. She writes competently and effectively, with a nice choice of diction, and her work is enthralling but not horrifying. She sends tingles rather than shivers up one's spine.

The story from which the volume takes its title concerns a haunted house and a haunted family, related with a compassionate tenderness which saves it from more than a hint of horror. "The Mahatma's Story" is told by "the Grigley's Mahatma, that queer Bengalia chap they brought back with them from Bombay," as is also the tale entitled "Jones' Karma," which deals with occult happenings generally associated with Asia and the East.

A touching and somewhat amusing picture of the struggle between a domineering mother and her eventually unregenerate son is painted in "Heaven," while a final touch of the gruesome in "The Villa Desiree" completes an entertaining and worth while little collection.

LAREDO CHEMIST FOUND DEAD FROM POISONING

LAREDO, Texas, March 19. (AP)—The body of Earl S. Williams, 40-year-old chemist, will be sent to Marquette, Mich., for burial. He was found dead last night in a medical laboratory here. The coroner decided he died of poison, self-administered. He had a widow and son in Chicago.

Mr. Freeling Foster's column in Collier's grows in length, but we must be becoming wiser. However we do not like to read that Germany is developing in laboratory tests, a new, mysterious "death tone" magazine which by radiating millions of inaudible vibrations a second, may prove to be capable of destroying airplanes, battleships and armies.

Vogue as usual intrigues woman's fancy in every line and the very cover of Arts and Decorations is beauty to satisfy a soul. It is "The Red Secretary," from a painting by Mary Gray, A. N. A.

Inside this volume, crocus and tulips and all sorts of spring blossoms raise the tempo of life.

Julia Peterkin Star

Julia Peterkin, creator of the Pulitzer prize-winning "Scarlet Sister Mary," added new laurels to her name last week.

After over two weeks of strenuous rehearsals, lasting about 10 hours a day, she played title role in Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" before the Columbia, S. C., Stage society.

For three nights and at one matinee the play was presented.

Following the performances Mrs. Peterkin returned to her plantation to await the publication of her new novel, "Bright Skin," the proofs of which she corrected during the first week of rehearsals.

CONTINUE OPPOSITION TO PROPOSED DEL RIO LINE

DEL RIO, Texas, March 19. (AP)—The Texas and New Orleans railroad today continued its opposition to the granting of a permit for construction of the Del Rio and Northern railroad.

R. W. Barnes, chief engineer for the T. & N. M., said the proposed line could not be built economically. He stated it was impossible to cross the divide between Del Rio and Sonora with a one per cent grade and a four per cent curvature without building a four-mile dump through a solid rock climb of 2,300 feet. He said the cost of such construction would be unreasonable. The use of trestles was attacked.

F. L. Gordon, traffic manager of the T. & N. O., said revenue from the proposed line would not pay operating expenses. He quoted figures from similar territories to substantiate his point.

Byrd Davis, representing the Port of Corpus Christi and the Nueces county water district; and B. H. Berry of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the San Angelo Board of Development, completed testimony for the applicant. They asked that the permit be granted in order to provide a short line direct to tidewater at Corpus Christi from the West Texas plains area.

Messrs. Alexander Woollcott and Heywood Broun have become miracles for McCall's. We could not do without the magazine.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. CONNALLY EDDY HOME SUNDAY

WACO, Texas, March 19. (AP)—Funeral rites for Mrs. Mary E. Connally, 87, the mother of United States Senator Tom Connally of Marlin, have been arranged for tomorrow afternoon at Eddy, where she will be buried.

Mrs. Connally died early today in the farmhouse at Eddy which had been her home for half a century. She had been ill for some time but her condition did not become critical until yesterday. Senator Connally was notified and started immediately for her bedside. He was expected to arrive in time for the funeral.

Mrs. Connally was born in Georgia, the daughter of a Baptist preacher. In 1861 she married Nathaniel E. Connally, who was killed in the battle of Chickamauga in 1863.

Later Mrs. Connally moved to Atlanta where she taught school for several years and then married Jones Connally, brother of Nathaniel.

They came to Texas in a covered wagon, settling in Brazos county. In 1871 they moved to a farm near Hewitt in McLennan county where Senator Connally was born. In 1881 they moved to the farm near Eddy.

GOV. MURRAY PAROLES OKLAHOMAN CONVICTED ATTEMPTED EXTORTION

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 19. (UP)—Arthur L. Fauble, under five-year sentence in a dramatic Pottowatomie blackmail case, was paroled today by Gov. W. H. Murray.

Murray said the clemency was issued at the request of the trial judge, prosecuting officers, 11 jurors and hundreds of citizens.

Fauble's conviction was affirmed Feb. 26 by the criminal court of appeals.

Fauble was charged with attempted extortion of $17,000 from J. F. Buck, Shawnee. He also was alleged to have written six other letters to various persons demanding payment of from $3,500 to $30,000. Sensational threatening letters alleged to have been his were all signed "Chicago gangsters and gunmen."

DRY AGENT MAY LOSE SIGHT OF BOTH EYES SHOT FROM AMBUSH

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., March 19. (INS)—Prohibition Agent Harvey Grasse was in danger of losing the sight of both eyes today in a Metropolis, Ill., hospital following an ambush believed to have been staged by bootleggers.

Grasse with Prohibition Agents Lloyd Doyle and R. V. Nelson were driving along a road late yesterday when a shot crashed through the windshield, flying glass striking Grasse's eyeballs. Doyle and Nelson were uninjured.

Thursday night the agents seized a 200-gallon still near Unionville and arrested William F. Owens and Myrl Snyder.

OKLAHOMANS PROMOTING HIGHWAY TO OLD MEXICO

CLINTON, Okla., March 19. (UP)—The Arthur Stilwell International Highway association was formed here last night to promote a highway to Mexico, running through Oklahoma.

The primary goal of the group is to boost the designation of the highway from the Kansas line through Ponca City, Enid, Fairview, Clinton, Sentinel, Altus and to the Texas line.

Stilwell, in which honor the route is proposed, was founder of the Orient railroad built along the same route. An international highway from Kansas City through Texas to Topolobampo, Mexico, is proposed.

Bert Willis, Canton, was selected president. A. P. Sights, Clinton, vice president; Bill Thornton, Sentinel, secretary-treasurer.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENTS WILL SPEND LESS MONEY ROAD BUILDING IN 1932

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—State and local highway departments will spend less money this year in highway and bridge construction work which has given employment to thousands of men.

Figures collected by the bureau of public roads showed today the amount available at this time is $1,353,000,000 as compared with $1,618,000,000 last year. This does not include funds contributed by the federal government.

The probable 1932 expenditure by state highway departments is $882,000,000 and $471,000,000 by local authorities. This total is 19 per cent less than that spent in 1930 when it reached $1,680,000,000.

States plan to building 36,000 miles of roads this year. Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, California, New Jersey, Ohio, Texas, Missouri, and Michigan have programs in excess of $50,000,000.

Sunday Times Pattern Service

The flowers that bloom in the spring have plenty to do with the beauty and chic of the new frocks, as printed fabrics are, if possible, more popular than ever before. Great significance is attached to the colors being shown today, as they are the foreruhners of summer smartness.

Of special interest are the lovely blues offered in such great variety. Newest are the purple-blues, and then right on down the line to the softest of pastel blues. Strong emphasis is given beige and that leads to the speculation as to whether beige will supplant white for summer.

These colors combine beautifully, or each may be used with many other colors and tints. For example, blue with white, red, yellow, grey . . . beige with brown, green, purple, bright red.

Pattern 1126

A charming model, very simply styled to display your fabric effectively. It may be made with or without sleeves. The cape collar with surplice closing is most becoming and of decided interest this season. Sizes 14 to 20 and 32 to 44. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards of 39-inch fabric with sleeves, 3½ yards without sleeves.

Pattern 1157

This model was designed for the matron, with details that flatter and slenderize her figure. The front bolero, joined in the side seams, is smartly placed over lace; the skirt flare is attached to a snug hip yoke cleverly pointed; the sleeve adds two graceful flares, or may be made long with one flare . . . all becoming details. Select a tiny print on a dark ground, in voile, flat crepe or triple georgette. Sizes 36 to 48. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch fabric, ⅝ yard of 27-inch lace.

These models are very easy to make as each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern ordered;

VARSITY NEWS

By BETTY LOVE RUGELEY

After a week of cold, winter weather, with its severe wind, drizzling rains, and "not to be forgotten" beautiful snow, spring has set in for a second time. We hope it is here to stay, for this season, on the University of Texas campus, is indeed the busiest season of the school year, politically and socially speaking.

While the social activities go on from day to day, the political activities are just beginning. By political activities, I mean the coming campaigns and elections of the students who are running for an office in some organization. Among the most important offices sought are those of the president of the students association, the editor of the Cactus, the editor of the Daily Texan, and editor of the Longhorn. Each of these offices is a salary office enabling the student to give as much time to his position as possible. The people who run for these offices are well known in school activities, and are required to pass a maximum of school hours. The editorship of the Cactus, which is the school year book, the Texan, which is the daily campus paper, and the Longhorn, which is the humor magazine, is usually held by some student majoring in journalism, and interested in preparing for his profession.

The president, vice president and secretary of the student's association will be at the head of the body of students who govern the procedures of any branch of student activity. Many minor offices which lead up to these more important ones will also be sought.

Among the outstanding social affairs of the past week was the spring formal dance of the Delta Delta sorority on Friday night. The dance was held at the country club, and a spring motif was featured in decorations. Miss Don Ruth Coffee and Miss Elizabeth Gilbert of Wichita Falls were among the hostesses. Miss Coffee is a senior in the university, and has been a member of the sorority for three years. Miss Gilbert entered the university last fall, and she is a pledge of the group.

The alumnae chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta held a business meeting at the chapter house on Tuesday evening, and entertained afterwards with a dinner in honor of the pledges and initiates of the sorority. Misses Helen Cline, Dell Hatchitt, and Mary Elizabeth Donnell of Wichita Falls were honored on this occasion. Miss Hatchitt and Miss Donnell are active members, while Miss Cline is a recent pledge of this sorority. Mrs. Preston Woods, formerly of Wichita Falls, who is an ex-student and a Theta alum will be one of the hostesses for the affair.

Mrs. Alice Welty Ward, formerly of Wichita Falls visited her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Welty at Natatia over the weekend. Mrs. Ward is a student in the school of architect, and has received several awards for her work this year.

W. D. Cline of Wichita Falls visited his daughter, Helen, on Friday night in Austin. He was en route to San Antonio.

H. B. Gilbert of Wichita Falls was in Austin last week on business and was the guest of his daughter, Elizabeth, who is in school here.

Bob Maxey of Lubbock, formerly of Wichita Falls, was the guest of Bob Taylor in San Antonio over the week-end. Mr. Maxey is a pledge of Kappa Sigma fraternity, and he is also an active member of the Light Opera company.

Delta chapter of Alpha Delta Pi have announced the date of their spring formal dance to be April 1. Mrs. Dorothy Pekham, of Wichita Falls, Doris Bell of Graham, Betty Montgomery of Chillicothe, and Ruth Jenkinds of Floydada are members of this sorority.

A European concert tour of the Longhorn band of the University of Texas for the summer of 1933 is a reasonably assured thing, now in the opinion of Burnett Pharr, director. It is probable that several boys from Wichita Falls will be able to make this tour. Boys who played in the band this year were Charles Warmon, George Bays and Ralph Anderson of Wichita Falls and Glenn Street of Graham.

Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary sorority of the university conservatory of music, received a visit during the past week from the Gulf Province president, Louisa Wicker Allensworth of Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Allensworth is making the annual inspection tour of the active chapters of the gulf states. Mrs. Stella Stacy, well-known Texas composer, who was formerly of Wichita Falls assisted in entertaining Mrs. Allensworth.

Many Austin people have been interested in reading the articles on "Fishing" by Henry C. Fulcher, of Wichita Falls. These articles are appearing in the Austin American, and they have been the subject of much discussion by Austin sportsmen.

Rabbi Henry Cohen of Galveston was the speaker at the interchurch fellowship luncheon held on Wednesday. Doctor Cohen was characterized by Woodrow Wilson as being the outstanding citizen in the state of Texas. Miss Helen Lyles, Mr. Bill Strong, Mr. Ham Rugeley and Miss Bertha Mae Kruger were among the 100 student and faculty members, who attended this luncheon.

Members of Sigma Iota Epsilon, honorary business fraternity, made a trip on Wednesday to several down town firms. The object of the trip was to get practical ideas on business management. William D. Duncan of Wichita Falls was in charge of this group, and he is president of this fraternity.

Aaron Krueger, representing the Hillel Foundation, has been placed on the all-club basket ball team for part in the intramural athletics.

Mrs. Dorothy Reed Peckham will discuss some recent novel at a special business meeting of the Pierian Literary society, which meets next week.

Fred Couper, senior law student, was one of the active members of the Austin chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon who enjoyed the affairs of the convention.

The Junior Guild of All Saints' parish sponsored a musical on Friday night at the Episcopal Gregg house. Noted musicians who took part in the program were Mrs. Horace Barnhart, Edmund King, Miss Lucile Morley, Everett Grisham, Harold Callaway, Glayds Bruber, W. H. Barrett, Henry Wunderlich, Mrs. Harwood Stacy, Mrs. James Buchanan Jr. and Mrs. J. Campbell Wray.

Over 50 members of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority were present at the dinner given on Saturday night at the Driskill hotel as the feature of the Provincial conference which was being held in Austin. Miss Mary Louise Staley, ex-student of the university, whose home is in Wichita Falls, is a member of this sorority.

Last, but certainly not least, is the grand news of the students who have honored themselves by making the well-known honorary fraternity Phi Beta Kappa. About 20 students were voted into this organization this spring, and these students were without exception selected on the merits of their scholastic standing. It is the biggest honor ever bestowed upon the student of the college of arts and sciences.

Macon Boddy of Henrietta, who is a member of several honor fraternities besides being an active member in Beta, social frat, and Miss Mary Grace Milan of Seymour who is president of Pan Hellenic, and an active member of Alpha Phi, and Mr. Raymond Streng of Wichita Falls, who is a member of several honor fraternities, Chi Phi, social fraternity, and who is a well-known politician on the campus were among the 20 students who were bid to Phi Beta Kappa.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Sue put down the telephone very quickly. She crossed the room, poked the fire to a merrier blaze, then sat down, cross-legged, on a Chinese red cushion.

"Now I can talk," she explained. "I didn't dare to, at first. I was so furious. I guess you know what happened. Corrinne got on an extension and accused me of asking for charity. Well, that bet's out. I wouldn't take any money from her, not even at any interest, ever. I'd starve first! I meant it! She's been telling everyone anyway that Harry turned me down because he loved her and that I was heartbroken because of it. You know—everyone knows—that I never was in love with Harry. I broke my engagement to him. He understood. And he wasn't in love with me, either. He just imagined it. But Corrinne can't say . . . she can't say . . ."

Sue's voice was rising like a night wind coming up too quickly. Now it broke and fell like some shattered thing. Her hands were grasping the tassels of the red cushion and the veins stood out, clear and blue.

"You need something for your nerves," Ruth said, her practical words coming as a relief in the tense room. "I'll get something."

Sue sat very quietly while Ruth ran uptsairs. Time was passing rapidly. There was no one else from whom she could borrow the money. Somehow, now that this emotional storm had come, she had lost sight of the train. She knew that she couldn't go. Maybe Jack wasn't so ill.

By tomorrow she would know if he was really ill. In that case, she would go. But she must get the money. She sat erect as a sudden idea came to her. Arnold Page would lend it! He would be glad to let her have it! She would see him in the morning.

She sank back on the cushion. When Ruth came down with the pill she was relaxed. Something tight and hard had been loosened.

"I'm going to heat some milk," Ruth said, still in a professional voice. "It will soothe your nerves. I'll have it ready in a minute."

When Ruth came in with the milk, she pushed aside some tumbled locks of hair and with it her too-professional manner.

"What do you want me to say?" she asked. "Something consoling and nice, or would you rather I'd express my opinion of some people, or just keep still?"

"Ruth, did you ever lose a silver slipper?" Sue asked suddenly.

"A slipper?" Ruth repeated in surprise. "Oh, yes, of course, weeks ago. At the beginning of my revolt. It belonged to Sally. The night I went to the country club dance and pulled off my stunt I wore Sally's slippers. She was disgustingly mean. I wouldn't stay. I mean . . . she didn't want me to stay. I started to walk back to town, so I carried the slippers. I knew I couldn't afford to replace them. Then Dale Courtney picked me up and a slipper bounced out of the car, I guess. Anyway, when I got home it was gone. But why did you ask?"

"Because Corrinne said that everybody knows about your Cinderella story," Sue answered. "And that you will, too, tomorrow. She's being melodramtic. That's all. Is that a car stopping outside?"

Baering Down on News With 'Baer'

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Let's look over the 1933 income tax bill with a bright optic and a four-tracked mind.

The lads under the gilt dome believe that a mustard plaster is better than kind words.

That 65 per cent surtax just about knocks the apple off the boy's head. We will say that the legislators did as complete a job as a wolf in a henhouse.

There are a few feathers left. But they're not attached to anybody.

Congress doesn't have to worry over where the chips fall because it is swinging the ax.

We've got a proposition for them. What is sauce for the goose ain't hay for the gander.

We'll give congress our salary if they let us keep the tax on it.

Think it over. Even a south wind on a spring day is no fairer than that.

FEDERAL PRISONERS ARE BEING MOVED FROM TULSA JAIL

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—Removal of all federal prisoners from the county jail at Tulsa, Okla., has been ordered following investigation which justice officials today said disclosed special privileges being given prisoners and lax discipline.

Sanford Bates, director of the federal prison bureau, said he instructed a United States marshal immediately to transfer sentenced prisoners and find a place to take in the rest of about 140 federal prisoners now being boarded in the county jail.

The sentenced prisoners will go to the Osage county jail at Pawhuska, Okla.

Begin Moving Prisoners

TULSA, Okla., March 19. (AP)—John Vickery, United States marshal, began moving 138 federal prisoners from the Tulsa county jail here today under orders from Sanford Bates, federal director of prisons.

Vickery said he was not informed why the change was ordered but understood "some kind of investigation" had been under way, "ordered by Washington."

The marshal exhibited a telegram which ordered the transfers and closed with "please advise if any reason exists as to why the use of the Tulsa county jail should not be discontinued immediately."

The prisoners were moved to Vinita and Pawhuska jails.

HUNTERS INVITED TO PARTICIPATE IN KNOX COUNTY RABBIT DRIVE

MUNDAY, Texas, March 19.—Acceptances have been received from Wichita Falls, Abilene, Haskell, Seymour and several other points of invitations to participate here Wednesday in the biggest rabbit drive in the history of this section, according to U. R. Houser, who is assisting in arrangements.

The acceptances have been from those who have been invited personally. Houser added, however, that personal invitations should not be awaited and he renewed the invitation to hunters of the area to be on hand. There won't be too many hunters, Houser assured, as the territory to be covered is large and so thickly infested with rabbits that growing crops have been kept at ground level by them.

Most of the rabbits slaughtered will be given to the Salvation Army at Wichita Falls, which is to send a truck here for them.

Hunters from out of town are advised to come to Munday and obtain further directions to the scene of the hunt from Houser's place of business here. The start will be made from a point about five miles south of here, hunters being formed into groups, each under a captain familiar with the country. Hunters will use No. 6 or smaller shot as a safety measure.

A barbecue and basket dinner will be served by people of the community at the Grasshopper school at noon.

SNEAK THIEVES RAID BRIDGE PARTY TAKING PURSES, FOUR COATS

Sneak thieves are now making bridge parties the "port of call" in Wichita Falls.

Thieves, cutting a window screen to gain an entrance, took three ladies' coats and a man's coat along with purses, hats and gloves from the residence of F. M. Hansen, 2215 Taft, Friday evening while the Hansens and their guests were playing bridge. The articles were taken from a bedroom.

Loot included a coat, leather purse and gloves owned by Mrs. E. A. Sayre of 5 Lincoln; a black caracul coat and leather purse of Mrs. J. S. Minton, 1714 Victory; a coat and gray felt hat of Mrs. A. L. Proctor, 1907 Bell; and a gray tweed coat and gloves owned by Mike Jones, 2123 Avenue H. Wraps of other guests were not molested.

Police reports Saturday show the theft of a watch from C. C. Hann, 2205 Fillmore; a tire and wheel from the car of L. D. Fowler, Spudder outfielder, parked at the Seventh street ball park; a casing from H. P. Scott, 1504 Lamar, and a Buick sedan from Mrs. A. Kahn, 106 Morningside drive.

Seven Convicts Publicly Whipped Delaware Prison

WILMINGTON, Del., March 19. (AP)—The ancient law to which the state of Delaware still clings, that of publicly whipping prisoners charged with certain offenses, was carried out again today.

The group that was brought out to the yard of the new Castle county workhouse for flaying was larger than usual—five white men and two negroes. Also, the spring-like weather was partly responsible for a larger number of spectators than usual. About 60 persons saw the laying on of the whip by Warden Elmer J. Leach.

The five white men, all convicted of robbing a pawn shop in Wilmington last December, were given 40 lashes each. They also received prison sentences.

The negroes who exposed their backs to the warden's lashes were Douglas Griffin and Leon Butler, of Wilmington. They were given 10 lashes each.

ARDMORE, Okla., March 19. (UP)—State Senator U. T. Rexroat, who suffered what physicians described as a "serious heart attack" last night, was slightly improved today.

WOMAN, 109, MAY WED FOURTH TIME

ST. PAUL, March 19. (US)—Mrs. Mary Barbre was 109 years old today. She celebrated with her son, Louis, 64, by offering to take her fourth husband.

Mrs. Barbre wed the third time at 95, but this mate, like her others, died. She said she has one proposal to wed, but the "fellar is only a youngster of 80."

PREMIER NOT ALLOWED TO OPEN HARBOR BRIDGE KLAN LEADER OFFICIATES

SYDNEY, N. S. W., March 19. (INS)—The new guard, Australia's "Ku Klux Klan," succeeded in preventing Premier J. T. Lang from opening the great new Sydney harbor bridge today, carrying out its threat despite the greatest precaution on the part of the government.

Just as the premier was about to cut the ribbon across the bridge roadway and officially declare the new $50,000,000 structure open, a prominent new guardsman dashed into the crowd on horseback, rode up to the ribbon, and cut it with his sword.

A sensational demonstration followed in which spectators at first tried to prevent government officers from arresting the horseman. He finally was seized, however, and charged with "offensive behavior."

SEVERAL GOOD WELLS COMPLETED DURING WEEK IN DISTRICT

Wichita, Young, Archer, Wilbarger And Denton Counties Contribute to Roster of Nineteen New Locations

By JIMMIE MAXWELL.

The ideal weather that prevailed during the week was a factor in the increased amount of development throughout the different pools of the district. Several good wells were completed, as were also a number of dry holes.

New locations staked out far exceeded the number made in the previous week. A total of 19 new sites will be drilled in a short time. These are distributed in Wichita, Young, Archer, Wilbarger and Denton counties. In addition to the staking out of these locations, many new wells are drilling, while others are rigging up preparatory to beginning operations.

Failure to find a paying sand in the United Producers No. A-1 L. F. Wilson wildcat in block 118, A. T. N. C. L. survey, southwest of Chalk hill in Archer county, was one of the week's disappointments. The test has created considerable interest due to its location that in the event of a well would be the means of giving the 2200-foot pay a substantial extension. The well, which is drilling below 2300 feet, on several occasions cored into sandy lime formations from 2203 to 2240 feet, but no oil or gas indications were encountered.

Progress on the deeper tests in south Young county continued during the week in a satisfactory manner, and with one or more of these tests nearing the deep horizons important developments are looked for. As usual the shallow sands in the northern portion of the county are undergoing a thorough development and almost every block in these sectors has its rotary or spudder test in action.

Trio Wichita Producers

Activities in the Wichita county pools resulted in a trio of nice producers having been completed. Three miles northeast of Electra R. R. Clark No. 15 Eickley in the northwest part of his lease out of C. & M. survey, abstract 594, drilled 11 feet of rich sand topped at 852 feet and is estimated at 120 barrels per day.

In the southwest portion along the Beaver creek sector the T. F. Hunter No. H-2 Waggoner Brothers is rated at 70 barrels and the Reno Oil company's No. 6 J. E. Roller is estimated at 25 barrels. Both of these wells are in the 1790-foot sand.

Development of the oil resources in Wilbarger county which has been anything but active during the past year, is about to re-enter the list of active fields. A number of wells in the productive areas are cleaning out preparatory to a resumption of drilling, while many leases are busy cleaning out the older wells.

On the Castleberry farm in section 66, block 14, H. & T. C. survey in the south Vernon area, John O'Neil is drilling at a depth of 900 feet, having spudded in several days ago.

In the extreme southwest part of the county, near the Baylor line, the Davis Oil company No. 1 McCrary in block 14, section 66, H. & T. C., is running 6⅝ pipe at 1875 feet.

Owing to the semimonthly clean-up of lease storage, pipe line runs from the Wichita Falls district showed a gain of 968 barrels daily, compared with the previous seven-day run. The nine counties averaged 48,202 barrels daily, compared with the week ending March 12, which was 47,244 barrels per day.

Four counties of the North Texas division also showed an increase of 412 barrels over the previous week. A total of 5,681 barrels per day was run, with the preceding week's total 5,269 barrels.

Mid-Continent Oil Activities

TULSA, Okla., March 19. (UP)—An increase in drilling in Oklahoma fields was reported this week by scouts. A total of 21 new locations were made, 12 wells were completed, 12 being oil wells, three gassers and three dry holes.

Oklahoma county led with seven first reports. Creek county was second with six.

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Ocate Oil company brought in a Wilcox sand gusher late Friday in the City field when its No. 2 Smith, in the active southwest area, came in for 2,374 barrels in two hours through a 4½-inch choke. Gas volume was estimated at 34,000,000 cubic feet.

OKLAHOMA CITY.—The 181 wells on flow line yesterday produced 135,804 barrels of oil. On the previous day 159 wells flowed 135,261 barrels.

Houston Chosen As Oil Scouts' Meeting Place

DALLAS, March 19. (AP)—The executive committee of the National Oil Scouts Association of America voted here today to hold the annual convention May 15, 16 and 17 at Houston. C. L. Strahan of Shreveport, chairman of the committee, presided.

Twenty members of the committee were present. Strahan announced that the annual yearbook would be published about May 1. John H. Langston of Dallas is president of the association.

UNITED STATES POTASH COMPANY LETS $100,000 CONTRACT AT CARLSBAD

MIDLAND, Texas, March 19.—Contract has been let to the C. C. Moore interests of San Francisco for "more than a million dollars worth" of new machinery and building for the United States Potash corporation near Carlsbad, N. M., according to C. M. Rosar, manager of the potash company. The new plant is to be completed by Sept. 1, 1932. Buildings are to be of steel and stucco. The machinery includes two turbines of 1,200 horsepower each, and all other equipment necessary to turn out the finished product. Rosar says he already has sufficient laborers.

Phillips Petroleum Company Asks Federal Court to Reduce Its Tax Assessment in Wilbarger County

An application for a temporary injunction to restrain Wilbarger county from collecting certain taxes assessed against the Phillips Petroleum company has been filed in federal district court here and is scheduled to come up at the term of court to be opened in Wichita Falls, March 28, by Judge William Hawley Atwell.

The petition sets out that the Phillips Petroleum company, plaintiff, rendered its Wilbarger county property at a fair valuation for 1931 taxes and that the commissioners court of that county, acting as a board of equalization, raised the valuation by "unlawful, discriminatory and void assessments."

The plaintiff claims that the property has an actual cash value of $279,085 and was assessed by the court at $450,775. The petroleum company asks for an injunction to "restrain Wilbarger county from collecting on any assessment above that which is in accordance with other property valuations in the county."

TWO SHALLOW WELLS ADDED DUNCAN POOL

Wind Storm Wrecks Trio of Derricks in Field Past Week

NEW PRODUCERS BROUGHT IN SOUTHWEST OF CITY

Curtis Oil Company Completes Well for Good Showing at 1400 Feet

DUNCAN, Okla., March 19.—Two shallow producers were completed in the new oil and gas area seven miles southwest of Duncan during the last week and two new locations were staked out. Development was given a setback by a windstorm Wednesday afternoon which wrecked three derricks.

The Curtis Oil company completed its No. 2 Dare, in the NW NE of 2-2s-5w, in sand from 1362 to 1400 feet, and the well swabbed 180 barrels in 14¼ hours, to make the eighth and best producer completed in the new territory. Operators are running tubing and plan to move one location west for their No. 3 Dare.

George L. Pace's No. 2-A Green, in the SE SE SW NE of 2-2s-5w, swabbed 100 barrels of oil in 12 hours and was making an estimated 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas. Gas sand was found from 1417 to 1425 feet and oil sand from 1425 to 1430 feet. Sand from 1390 to 1396 feet showed for two barrels.

The Continental Oil company is swabbing and cleaning out its No. 2 Dare in the NW SW SE of 2-2s-5w, interesting test on the southwest edge of the area which has sand from 2093 to 2122 feet. The well was swabbing at the rate of around 80 barrels daily and the flow was increasing.

J. D. Looforrow made location for his No. 1 Dare, in the SW NW SW SW of 1-2s-5w, and completed derrick, but the rig was blown down in the storm.

Crane & Rankin's derrick for their No. 1 Dare, in the SW SW NW of 1-2s-5w, was blown down also.

Location to Northwest

Pace made location and is rigging up tools for his No. 5 Gilworth, in the NW NW SE NW of 2-2s-5w, half a mile northwest of the center of activity.

P. L. Gilbert and associates are rigging up rotary for their No. 1 Medley, in the SW SW NE NE of 2-2s-5w, two locations north of their No. 1 Green.

Two or three other locations are due to be made in the area during the new week, as the active drilling campaign has left a number of operators with offsets to drill.

Pace is building derrick for his No. 1-A Dilley, in the NW NW SW SW of 21-2s-7w, just east of production on his Watkins estate lease, a mile east of the town of Comanche. This is the first activity in the area for many months.

Joe Baldwin and associates still were rigging up rotary for their No. 1 school land, in the SW SW SE of 36-1s-10w, half a mile east of production in the Walters field of Cotton county.

Joe Anderson was drilling at 1010 feet in his No. 2 Wild, in the NE SE SE of 28-3n-5w, in the Carter-Knox field of southern Grady county.

George Schoemaker's No. 1 J. A. Slaton, in the NW NW NW of 35-4n-7w, a wildcat near Rush Springs, in Grady county, is a completed derrick.

Long & Hart's No. 1 Ward in the NW SW SE of 19-1s-5w, a wildcat near Hennepin, in southern Garvin county, still is a location.

Cohen and Reece still are shut down after cementing surface casing in their No. 1 Green, in the SE SW SW of 35-2n-9w, a test for gas to be drilled in semiproven territory six miles north and eight west of Duncan.

Will H. Smith was shut down at 838 feet on his No. 1 Ridgeway, in the NW NE SE of 17-3s-4w, a wildcat two miles south and two east of Loco, in the southeast corner of Stephens county.

Ashcraft and Palmer were shut down temporarily at 568 feet in their No. 2 Pope, in the SE NW SW of 29-2n-10w, in the shallow field east of Lawton, in Comanche county.

DENVER RAILROAD USES 590,000 GALLONS WATER IN MONTH AT QUANAH

QUANAH, Texas, March 19.—The first month's consumption of water by the Denver railroad since the erection of its steel water tower and connection with the Quanah Water company mains amounted to 590,000 gallons. The water company expected the road would use around 200,000 gallons during present shipping conditions; and that when business on the railroad does get back to normal it will mean a very large increase in water consumption.

Since the addition of several wells to the water system there is an ample supply of exceptionally good water for West Texas.

Rock Cairns Marking Spot Where Canadian Trappers Were Slain Send Mounties on Three-Year Manhunt

FORT SMITH, MacKenzie, March 19, (UP)—Two rock cairns in the haunted Thelon river mills today started the Royal Canadian mounted police on another manhunt—one that may take three years and lead the redcoated corps to the arctic ocean's border.

The cairn's mark the bodies of Edward Olson and Emanuel H. Bode, slain about Dec. 5, 1930, as they slept in their solitary tent on Thelon river, northeast of Great Slave lake in a country called by the Indians bewitched.

For the murder police officers seek Tekaluk, an Eskimo last seen a year ago about to start a long journey to the arctic coast, 300 miles northward.

In September of last year Howard George Price, trapper of the Thelon river region, saw a pack of huskies roaming through the woods. He believed the pack was that of the slain trappers. He investigated and found the men's bodies. Nearby were the skeletons of seven dogs, chained to a post.

By an Eskimo he sent a note to Trapper Clark Groft.

Groft sent the news by an Indian courier to Fort Reliance on the eastern end of Great Slave lake. The Indian arrived there Dec. 23 and told his story to Constable Gray. Then came a wait until the arctic patrol reached Fort Reliance bringing Inspector Gagnon with whom Gray set out over the snow-banked trails reaching the Thelon river camp Feb. 13.

They held a rude inquest and determined the men were slain with ax and knife more than a year before.

After an 800-mile round trip in the heart of winter, they arrived here with the report, and the radio which links the northern outposts crackled the news to listening officers and trappers from Mackenzie to the Hudson bay.

Today patrols are being fitted out to hunt the desolate wastes for Tekaluk.

BAYLOR WILL PAY INTEREST

Judge Says Finances of County in Good Shape

SEYMOUR, Texas, March 19.—At the regular meeting of the commissioners court this week orders were given for payment of $40,000 as Baylor county semi-annual interest on all outstanding bonds. Of the amount $12,000 went for payment of retiring bonds, according to County Judge J. T. St. Clair.

Judge St. Clair pointed out that Baylor county, considering its 1931 valuation of $7,600,000, is in better condition than any county in the state.

"The county hasn't defaulted in paying any bond interest, even in the face of the depression," the judge stated. "There are no time warrants outstanding against bonds in this county, and we are paying cash in all departments. We have no debts except a bonded debt of $1,980,000 voted by the people for the building of our five paved highways, bridges and an excellent hospital."

"Our rural schools will average a seven months term, which is a good report for such a year. We have appropriated $5.50 per capita from county funds, perhaps the largest in the state," he said, "and we have done better yet by giving a 10 per cent cut on valuations for 1932."

"Baylor county has retained the services of both farm agents, too."

FOUR NEW CANDIDATES ANNOUNCE FOR PLACES AS SEYMOUR ALDERMEN

SEYMOUR, Texas, March 19.—Political announcements this week carried the names of four new candidates for city aldermen, besides the three previously announced for re-election.

A movement now under way calling for a reorganization of the entire business of the city is believed to be instrumental in "warming" the race for three aldermen to be elected April 5.

Three new members will give the board, of five, the majority, and the two disputing factions are each striving for control.

The coming election is predicted to be the most sensational in the history of this city.

COLLEGE STUDENTS SEND MANY ENTRIES FOR PRESS CONTEST

All entries from Wichita Falls Junior college in the Texas Intercollegiate Press association contest to be held in Denton, April 28-30, were mailed Saturday afternoon to Miss Sally Campbell, vice president of the association. Members of the college Writers club have charge of the material, which this year included entries in 13 of the 14 contests sponsored by the organization. This is the best representation ever sent by the college here.

Manuscripts, most of which were chosen by competitive elimination, include a formal essay by Laurette Erwin; familiar essay, Laurette Erwin; serious short story, S. C. Anthony; humorous short story, Louis Wade; poem, Helen Broodo; one-act play, Rebecca Park; editorial, Katherine Stewart; feature story, Frances Hyland; sports story, Billy Jenkins; news story, Katherine Stewart; newspaper advertising, Herman Porterfield; the 1931 Wal-Kun, college annual; and the Wichitan, weekly college newspaper.

For the first time this year, the junior colleges in the association will be in a separate division from the senior colleges. The local school will compete with Amarillo Junior college and any other that have entered the junior division since the convention last year. Competing with senior colleges in 1931, material sent in by the local college won first places in the formal essay and news story contests and third and fourth places in the familiar essay and one-act play respectively. It is hoped that with the greater number of entries this year and with merely junior division competition Wichita Falls will show up in a great number of the first prizes. Miss Eva Weber, sponsor of the Writers club, stated Saturday afternoon. Plans are now under way to send delegates to the convention at Denton in April.

MANY BUSINESS HOUSES IN SEYMOUR CHANGE LOCATIONS PAST WEEK

SEYMOUR, Texas, March 19.—Business firms of this city have been playing a game very much like "fruit basket turned over." First R. L. George Dry Goods company moved from N. Main to 117 McLain, the Baylor Drug store was purchased by J. J. Cockerell, of Vernon and moved from its 30-year old home to the building vacated by R. L. George; next the vans started moving equipment for a new drug store to occupy the old Baylor homestead.

Goodner Wholesale Grocery company recently moved from W. Cyprus to E. McLain. After the smoke settled from all this disturbance this city finds that it still has two vacant buildings, only in different places.

Kenneth is a pupil in the high first grade at Crockett school.

FARMERS IN SUNSET TO GROW WATERMELONS

SUNSET, Texas, March 19.—A large number of farmers in this section will cultivate watermelons this year, with the expectation of helping supply the market demand. Many farmers will likely cultivate no more than three to five acres, each, but a number of others will plant a much larger acreage. Watermelon production has become an established aggricultural enterprise in this section, especially in Sandy, Brushy and Denton creek valleys. A great deal of the soil in this locality produces marketable melons without the use of any kind of fertilizer. Some growers here make near a carload of melons per acre most every year.

A number of farmers here have undertaken melon production without getting satisfactory results, while the success of others during the past few years has been sufficient to induce them to consider watermelons as being one of the best and most dependable crops of this section.

Most of the melons are hauled from here in truck-load quantities and there is no way of exactly estimating the total amount, but altogether many carloads are produced every year. Even at the low market prices offered last year, some producers here sold $40 to $70 worth of melons per acre.

TEN MORE DAYS ENOUGH TO BRING CLUB AROUND, SAYS HANK

Hank Severeid is not running around making a lot of rash promises about his Spudders, but one point on which he is certain is that his team will not play "cut and dried" baseball. Often a ball club is governed by its style of play by the sort of talent of which it is made, and in the main it is necessary for the manager to follow certain channels in conducting the attack and the defense. A team that boasts a flock of club-footed long distance hitters would be foolish to try to win ball games by stealing bases. The team with lots of speed and base-running ability would be just as foolish to play a waiting, safety first attack.

Regardless of the kind of team he finds at his command when the curtain goes up next month, Severeid is certain that his attack is not going to run in one groove. One of his pet baseball theories is that a well diversified attack is far better for any team than one which depends entirely on one style of run manufacturing. There are certain plays in baseball that have become more or less recognized as proper under certain conditions. For instance, the sacrifice bunt with runners on and one run needed to tie or win late in the game. That is a play that is as old as baseball, and one that undoubtedly fits the situation perfectly.

Hank realizes the value of the sacrifice bunt under those circumstances, but he vows his team will not always employ the sacrifice in an effort to score the badly needed run. "Sure, I will bunt most of the time in that position, but not always," he says. "Our chances of scoring that run might always be better by bunting the runner around to scoring position, but if we always bunt in that situation the club we are playing always knows what to expect and plays accordingly. But if we mix in the hit-and-run or straightaway hitting, or even a stolen base now and then, the teams we play will never know for sure what is coming. If we cross 'em up occasionally by not bunting, we may fail to score that run sometimes, and thereby lose a game or so, but when we decide to sacrifice the next time, our chance of successfully executing the play, or any other play, will be greatly improved.

"The pitcher, catcher and infielders who know when the attacking team is going to bunt is at a big advantage in handling the play and preventing its success. If they do not know whether the opposition club is going to bunt, hit-and-run or steal, it puts every one of them on edge and they are far more likely to gum up the play that develops. There is no doubt but there are some plays in baseball that are best under certain conditions, but all plays will work to better advantage if a team does not get into the habit of using one type or system of attack in every given situation."

Severeid believes that successful baseball is the gambling kind. He declares he has played the game that way all his life, and is convinced that "crossing up" the other fellow is a big part of the battle. "If my team hits when the other fellows think a bunt is coming, or bunt when hitting is expected, or steal a base in a spit where it is least expected, the other teams soon are going to learn to expect anything, and they can't get set for the one play that seems best under the circumstances. My kind of baseball will not win all the time, but neither will the cut and dried kind that follows all the precedents of the game, and I'm sure my way will pay dividends in games won in the long run."

That type of baseball will be new in Wichita Falls. It is the kind that presents many opportunities for us second guessers to find fault. Whenever Hank takes a long gamble and loses he lets down the bars and opens the gates for the criticism that always falls to the lot of the manager. For instance, when one of his hirelings is ordered to hit rather than sacrifice with a runner on first, none out, and the score tied in the ninth, and dribbles ignominiously into a double play; the enemy club winning out in the 10th with a walk, a sacrifice and an error or a hit. But that's the kind of baseball Hank declares he's going to play with his Spudders of 1932.

How will Spudderville take it? For one, we believe it is just what the doctor ordered for a patient that has become, to say the least, a bit puny the last couple of years. It is so different from the game that has been played here in the past, we don't see how it can fail to go over big. We believe Spudderville's fandom is going to like it. Sure we're going to rave when the old ball game is lost because of a gamble that didn't work. But we'll be sitting on the edges of our grandstand seats wondering what is going to happen in every situation: we won't know whether Bill Whoozis is going to sock the cover off the ball, dumy a bunt down the third base line or try to work the pitcher for a base on balls. It will be well worth the pain that will come from those unorthodox, gambling plays that are failures.

After all is said and done, however, nothing succeeds like success, and Hank's ball clubs are going to have to win, regardless of their tactics, to be universally popular. Fans hereabouts are no different from those Severeid has been entertaining for more than 20 years, and winning is the first requirement. After that, the other little things enter the picture. Wichita Falls didn't like last year's club because it didn't win often enough. It was a drab team playing drab baseball for the greater part of the season, and its only chance to have been popular rested in its ability to win. It was not a big winner and it did not have a chance to be popular. Severeid's baseball, regardless of what kind it is, will be popular if it wins games. It can be far more popular, however, than the 1931 team without winning any more games than did last year's combination.

Green, Bejma and Owens Impress in Saturday Session

Skipper Announces Intra-Squad Practice Game For Sunday Afternoon

Six days of perfect training weather at Athletic park have accomplished wonders in the way of bringing around the athletes toiling under the sharp eye of Hank Severeid, and the squad that still numbers more than 30 Spudders and would-be Spudders was in far better general condition at the conclusion of Saturday's drill than the average club three weeks before the start of the season.

After watching his proteges through a routine drill of three and a half hours, Skipper Hank Severeid was elated with progress made during the week, and expressed the belief that 10 more days of similar weather would fit the team for the start of the Texas league pennant marathon on April 13.

Saturday's drill brought on more and more batting practice, with the customary infield and outfield work following, but more excitement was promised for the railbirds Sunday afternoon. Severeid definitely scheduled an intra-squad practice game to start shortly after 1 o'clock, and declared that only weather conditions could prevent carrying out that program. The men were ordered out for practice at 12 o'clock, an hour later than customary, in view of the promised game.

Fences Worked Over

Probably the most encouraging feature developed in Saturday's grind was the steady increase in batting punch that is being shown by the more experienced players. As the pitching gets better, the rule in all training camps is improvement in batting by the older players and a decline among the rank and file of youngsters. While this rule does not hold with all of the Spudder youngsters, it nevertheless is becoming more obvious every day among the players of both classifications.

Saturday for the first time Bob Fuson was hitting the ball like he meant business. So were Debs Garms and Red Badgro of the outfield brigade, and Scoop Scharein and Bo Euller of the infielders. But these fellows have demonstrated in the past what they could do, and more important from the fans' viewpoint was the steady improvement being shown by those new players who have definite assignments in the club's 1932 plans. This group includes Harry Green, Ollie Bejma and Furman Owens.

Bejma About Ready

Bejma has been in camp longer than the other two and consequently is further along in his training program. He already has shown Skipper Severeid enough to cease all worries concerning second base. He was one of the first of the experienced men to hustle into condition, and during the latter part of the week has been throwing, hitting and pulling in ground balls in mid-season form.

Green had not seen a pitched ball since last June when he rolled into the Spudder midst and by comparison with the youngsters who had been on the scene for 10 days and longer, he could not have left a favorable impression. But no player's work has improved more rapidly the last few days. He has been getting into the ball with the full force of his 190 pounds and sending it on long rides into left field. This fellow is a particularly important item in the club's scheme, since he may be the one to supply the needed punch from the right side of the plate; a factor that was sadly missing last year.

Owens Socks One

Though it was only his second day in camp, Owens put on a fine display of batting power, socking the only hit of the day outside the park. He is a strapping fellow with gigantic hands who should be able to produce a lot of prolific extra base hitting to left field at Athletic park. He is not yet far enough along to attempt any throwing, but he has worked splendidly behind the bat in hitting practice and has had little difficulty in hounding pop fouls, even in such a strong wind as that which blew across the park during all of Saturday's session.

Severeid Saturday put in much of his time with the young pitchers, who have shown exceptional promise. The tossers' main task to date has been conditioning of arms and legs, but the time has arrived now when they will have to show pitching ability to linger in the camp.

The outstanding first year flipper developed thus far is Dorris "Rebel" Byram, the six-foot right-hander from the U. S. Marine corps via Ringling, Okla. This strapping fellow is the fastest pitcher in camp at the present time, and if he has enough in the way of a curve ball to go with it, he looms as a real prospect for this year's club. He has the size, the pitching action and the fast one, and the next few days should tell whether he possesses the necessary remaining requirements.

Works on Change

The Spudder foreman has been giving Byram a bit of special instruction in a half-speed delivery that, if perfected, will give him a change of pace that can be used to advantage by any pitcher, young or old.

Another of the inexperienced flippers who has gained the attention of the skipper is John Valsoano, right-hander from Gillespie, Ill., whose fast one has been impressive. Paul Spencer, the Arkansan, has been held back by illness the last two days and Lefty Iseksite still is struggling along with the only serious sore arm in camp.

A youngster in another department who is keeping pace with the generally improved play and appears a real prospect for the Spudder club no later than this season, is Harland Clift, the shortstopper from California. This 18-year-old workman teamed up with Art Scharein on the "first" infield Saturday afternoon and turned in a splendid exhibition of plain and fancy hitting. He ranges over lots of territory and has a shortstop's arm to the nth degree. His only fault afield seems to be an eagerness to get the ball away too quickly on grounders that do not require exceptional speed of handling. However, he has the necessary under-handed whip that serves the shortfielder so well when exceptional speed is needed.

Batting Power

More important, the kid holds his own at the plate and has hit well since the start of training. Not only does he connect often, but his drives are the steaming kind that look so good to the home crowd when they buzz over the heads of the enemy infielders; not a home run clouter, but the possessor of more sheer power than might be expected of an 18-year-old shortstop in his first training camp. If Clift doesn't make the Spudder grade, there is not the slightest doubt but that he can go in a lower league, and he is certain to be sent out with strings attached if not retained. He is not out of the running here by any means, though.

All of the young infielders are up against a tough proposition in attempting to break into the Spudder infield in view of the presence of Euller and Bejma, but at the present time the roster does not include an experienced reserve infielder, and that job, at least, is open to Clift, Garbark, Stotts, Lucas and Levey, if they can deliver.

A new face was included among the Saturday toilers. Kibbie Gragg, who was with Beaumont two years ago when forced out with a broken leg, is being given a chance to come back. He is an Olney boy who earned his spurs at Simmons university.

Steers Win First Exhibition Clash From Saints, 12-3

Buffs Bolster Infield With Purchase of Narlesky From Columbus

DALLAS, March 19. (AP)—The Dallas Steers of the Texas league opened their exhibition schedule here Saturday with a 12-3 victory over the St. Paul Saints of the American association. Although aided by Saint errors and 11 bases on balls, the Steers gathered eight solid hits and showed they could connect in the pinches. Trow, Van Atta and Munns worked for the Saints, while Nitcholas, Whitehead and Moody pitched for the Steers. St. Paul made four hits.

Pirates Play Buffs

GALVESTON, March 19. (AP)—Hank Thormahlen walked in the winning run in a 10-inning 1-0 intra-camp game between the Pratts and the Ryes here Saturday to give the Ryes their fourth victory in the 11-game series. Beau Bell, outfielder and Bill McGhee, first base, hit triples but effective pitching by Darrow left both of them stranded.

The Houston Buffaloes furnish the first league opposition of the year when they play an exhibition game here Sunday.

Buffs Buy Infielder

HOUSTON, March 19. (AP)—Houston moved Saturday to solve its second base problem by purchasing for a cash consideration Bill Narlesky, seasoned infielder, from the Columbus club of the American association which is also in training here. President Fred Ankenman of Houston announced that in addition to the cash Columbus was given an option on the purchase of two Houston players at an agreed sum before Sept. 15, 1932.

With the acquisition of Narlesky, Manager Joe Schultz of the Buffs will let Kunes and Kott battle it out for the utility infielder's job.

Sports Mark Time

SHREVEPORT, March 19. (AP)—Manager George Sisler and his Sports marked time Saturday with the first exhibition game of the season scheduled Sunday. The Sislermen will meet the Louisiana oil nine of Shreveport.

There were no new arrivals in camp Saturday and only one workout was held. The morning practice was cancelled because of wet grounds.

Cats Play Game

FORT WORTH, March 19. (AP)—By bumping a double against the fence and then scoring from second on a sacrifice bunt, Dick Whitworth enabled the psuedo-yannigans to achieve a 2-2 tie Saturday afternoon with the so-called regulars in the third of a series of intra-club games, which have become a daily feature of the Cats' training camp.

Two young men were released Saturday. They were Clyde Graham, catcher from Dallas, and Aubrey Burgess, pitcher, Fort Worth.

Blues Drop Exporters

BEAUMONT, March 19. (AP)—In a loosely played game the Kansas City Blues defeated the Exporters here Saturday afternoon, 8 to 2. A total of 11 errors was made. Boken for the visitors got the only extra base hit, a triple. The teams play again Sunday.

Wings Wallop Buffs

HOUSTON, March 19. (AP)—Getting to George Washington Payne and Mike Cvengros in the early innings, the Rochester Red Wings here Saturday broke Houston's winning streak in the spring round robin series by turning back the Buffs, 12-8.

It was the first start of the season for the two veteran Buff hurlers, and the Red Wings gave them a merry welcome.

FISHERIES OFFICIALS INSPECT GRAHAM SITE

Graham sportsmen in their fight for the location of a federal fish hatchery entertained Henry O'Malley, United States commissioner of fisheries, and other department officials last week at Graham. The party visited Graham to inspect the proposed hatchery site at Lake Eddleman.

Graham, San Angelo and other points in West Texas have made a spirited fight for the federal hatchery, and at the present time no definite location has been made.

Ben G. Oneal, president of the Wichita Falls Izaak Walton league chapter, attended a luncheon at Graham Thursday given for the visiting officials.

Mangin Moves to Top Ranking With Victory

NEW YORK, March 19. (AP)—Gregory S. Mangin, Newark, who, according to his own admission, "never won anything before," crowded into the front rank of America's tennis luminaries Saturday by scoring a smashing four-set victory over big Francis X. Shields, New York, in the finals of the national indoor tournament.

Mangin, 24 years old and late of Georgetown university, gave a dazzling exhibition in humbling the Davis cup star, 10-8, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, before 4,000 cheering fans. The triumph of the country's 11th ranking player over the tall internationalist, ranked No. 3, was a popular one.

Following the final match, Mangin received the big championship cup from Jean Borotra of France, four-time winner and defending champion, who was eliminated in the quarterfinals by Berkeley Bell.

The Davis cup doubles pair, George Lott Jr., Chicago, and Johnny Van Ryn, Philadelphia, had little difficulty subduing Mangin and Berkeley Bell in the final for the tandem title by scores of 6-3, 6-2, 6-4. Mangin, who had only a few minutes to rest after beating Shields, played listlessly.

Lott and Van Ryn succeeded the French pair, Boussus and Borotra, as doubles champions.

LUCK TOM VICTOR IN NEW ORLEANS CLASSIC

NEW ORLEANS, March 19. (AP)—The thunder of the thoroughbreds' hoofs was stilled here Saturday until next Thanksgiving with the running of an eight-race card, featuring the Louisiana Derby, $10,000 added, which was won by Luck Tom with Open Hearth second and Prince Hot Spur third.

The crowd mixed cheers and boos at the end of the Derby. Jockey J. Burke, up on Open Hearth, lodged a claim of foul against Jockey A. Pascuma, rider of Lucky Tom, on the charge that he struck Open Hearth in the face near the finish but the judges disallowed the claim.

A two dollar mutuel certificate earned: Lucky Tom $6.60 straight, $5.20 place, $4.80 show; Open Hearth $7.20, $5.20; Prince Hot Spur, $3.80.

The race was run under in 1:53 3-5 at a mile and a furlong. It was worth $9,375 to the winner-owner, J. J. Robinson.

Blues Open Polo Season With Trio Of Clashes Here

Byers-Crowell Combination To Play Opening Tilt Here Sunday

A series of three games will be played by the Wichita Falls Blues during the next eight days as the official opening of the polo season here, according to announcement Saturday of Horrace Robbins. The opposition in this opening series will come from a team made up of Crowell and Byers players and the first of the contests is scheduled for 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the Fain-McGaha field at the foot of Holliday street. The second game is scheduled here Wednesday afternoon and the final the following Sunday.

The Blues are planning an active campaign during the summer season, both on the home field and on the road, and several tentative series have been arranged. During the latter part of March a series is to be played at Crowell and early in April the Blues will truck their mounts to Quanah to entertain an American Legion party there.

Wichita Falls' team will be weakened Sunday by the absence from the lineup of C. H. Featherston, crack No. 4 player, but the Blues still will have a strong lineup in the field, with Robbins at No. 3, Fain at No. 1, Floyd at No. 2, Smith at No. 4 and Fletcher in reserve.

The Crowell-Byers lineup is to include Bill Berry and Claud Berry of Byers and Glenn Orfield and Eddie Bell of Crowell, with Red Harding in reserve.

The public is invited to attend each of the three games in the series.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK BOWLERS WIN PLAYOFF FOR LEAGUE HONORS

First National bank bowlers won the championship of the Commercial Bowling league Friday night on the Spudder alleys by staging a game uphill fight to beat our DeLuxe cleaners in the playoff series. The bankers had won the first half championship and the cleaners the second half race.

DeLuxe jumped into the lead in the playoff by taking the first two games, but the bankers rallied to capture the last three, the handicap of 21 pins deciding the final game. The scores:

WHITE OWL now 5¢

Since its reduction to 5 cents June 15, 1931, White Owl has soared above 300,000,000. Smokers know a cigar finer than its price mark. White Owl is sold at 5 cents, but wise buyers remember the same identical cigar sold in February, 1931, at 7 cents.

What a lineup with which to open a Texas league pennant campaign!

It represents the consensus of 689 fans who submitted entries in the all-time all-star Spudder contest, each player listed being named the greatest number of times for his position; or if the consensus may be accepted as an accurate gauge it names the most popular player at each position in the 12 years of Spudder history.

The heaviest "vote" polled by any of the hundreds of players who have worn the Spudder spangles was that of George Payne, who led the entire "ticket," with a total of 615. The fact that Ol Rubber Arm lost but 38 "votes" from a possible total of 689 attests the high esteem in which he is held by the Spudder following.

The next greatest total was that of Jack Burns, who was named on 515 teams, despite the fact he had in competition a player of Buck Stanton's ability. At second base it was a close race between Storti and Turgeon, the former gaining the decision, 385 to 265. By almost the same margin Adams was rated ahead of Levey at shortstop. At third base four players, Tanner, McDonald, Euller and Swenson all had their supporters, but the manager of 1924 and 1925 won out with a total of 285.

Jenkins Gets Many

Tom Jenkins' big, black bat led him to the left field position on 498 of the all-star teams and to a total of 576 for all positions to lead all other outfielders. Fitzgerald, with 522 counts in center field, and Summa, with 372 for right field, are the remaining choices for the outfield on this mythical team.

Next to Payne among the pitchers, the three left-handers, headed by Fussell, with 538, led the flinging fraternity. Cvengros drew 495 "votes" and Wiltse 420. Carlson was but 10 behind Wiltse and in order followed Zinn, Hollingsworth, Keen, Wheeler, Steengrafe, Osborn and Shores.

No department showed quite so wide a divergence of opinion as that of catching. Four receivers were closely bunched from 282 to 326. Bischoff led, with 326, closely followed by Crouch, with 305; Lapan with 293, and Jonnard with 282.

Benton, named 536 times for the utility infield role, was high among the leaders in the entire list.

Not So Good

While the judgment displayed by the contestants generally drew the praise of the judges, the "ballot" was not without its humorous side. Several left-handed first basemen were named as utility infielders. Ad Ruth was selected on one pitching staff. Bettencourt was named as the utility infielder on several selections, and many mediocre performers received mention here and there through the list of entries.

Leaders in the various positions follow:

By AL PARKER
Times Sports Editor

Moody Weaver, 1819 Collins street, automobile salesman and a Spudder fan for the entire 12 years that Wichita Falls has been represented in the Texas league, selected the one best all-time all-star team of a total of 689 entries in the contest sponsored by The Times and the Wichita Falls Baseball club. At least, it is the best in the estimation of the judges, R. O. Harvey, J. Alvin Gardner and William E. Huff, all former presidents of the Spudders, who weighed on its merits each of the 689 entries and, though 688 contestants may not be in accord, it was the entry adjudged the one best.

The second place winner is John Craig, 617 Eighth street, and third, H. B. Dudley of the land department of the Deep Oil Development company.

Weaver earns a season ticket to Athletic park, Craig $10 in cash and Dudley $5. A suit of clothes also goes to Weaver, $5 in laundry work to Craig and $5 in radio service to Dudley, these prises being offered independent of the official contest by Eugene Liepold, Pond Laundry and Ross Radio shop, respectively.

Near Perfect Team

Weaver's selection that included an infield consisting of Burns, Turgeon, Adams and Tanner; an outfield of Bennett, Fitzgerald and Jenkins; a catching staff of Lapan and Jonnard; a pitching staff of Fussell, Zinn, Carlson, Keen, Wiltse and Payne, with Benton and Bescher as the utility hands, was rated by the judges as a near perfect combination, arranged in splendid batting order. The second and third winning teams, as well as many that could not be placed among the prize winners, were declared to be almost as good, making hair-splitting decisions necessary in arriving at the winners.

The following statement was issued by the judges:

"In following the rules and the intent of the contest, we have carefully weighed the entries and judged each according to team strength, and believe that the first prize winner comes nearer the perfect combination of eligible players than any submitted in the contest. In fact, the only changes in this team we could suggest would be the substitution of Lin Storti for Benton as the utility infielder, though no team would be weakened by the presence of Benton in his Wichita Falls form as the reserve infielder; and the exchange of positions in the batting order of Turgeon and Tanner, the latter, in our estimation, fitting second place better because of his superior bunting ability and surer batting.

"Every player named undoubtedly is worthy of the honor. Adams, Turgeon, Tanner and Burns would form an infield embodying everything that could be desired in batting and fielding skill. The same goes for the outfield, with Bescher an ideal reserve as pinch hitter or runner. The combination of Jonnard for his wonderful defensive play and Lapan for his great spring hitting form an excellent team of catchers. The pitching staff of four right-handers and two left-handers, the perfect balance, certainly would delight any manager.

"In judging the teams, the individuals were considered for their disposition and winning qualities, as well as for latent ability, and the winning teams rank high by this measurement.

"There are many players who have shared Spudder successes since 1920 whom it is difficult to keep off any all-star combination, and it was extremely difficult to select the outstanding players in practically all positions. The fact that such men as Buck Stanton, Lin Storti, Jim Levey, Homer Summa, Jack Kloss, Larry Bettencourt, Jack Crouch, Alex Metzler, Art Weis, Milt Steengrafe, Guy Bush, Bill Shores, Jack Hollingsworth,

CONTEST WINNER TELLS WHY HE SELECTED MEN WHO MAKE UP ALL-STAR SPUDDER TEAM

By MOODY WEAVER
First Prize Winner

I have been asked to tell why I selected the 18 men on my team as the best combination that could be obtained from all the Spudders who have played here, so here goes:

Burns at first base has opposition only from Stanton, and though the latter gave the team two fine years in 1928 and 1931, I rate Burns the better all-round man. Both are sure hitters, but Burns was good for more extra bases. He was smart, a fine fielder, good arm and strong enough to stand the strain of the long pennant race.

Second base is a close fight between Turgeon and Storti. I chose Turgeon mainly for his value to the team, particularly in the 1927 season, when he was the league's most valuable player. Lots of fans went to the games just to see Pete chase pop flies and hit home runs.

On shortstop I placed a $20,000 player in Shorty Adams, and I consider him superior in 1922 to Jim Levey in 1930, though both belong among the greatest shortstops in Texas league history.

Tanner at Third

Third basemen there are few worthy of consideration. Buddy Tanner was the best, I think, and he was good enough to earn the promotion to the management of the club.

In left field we have had our greatest outfielders, Jenkins, Bennett and Bescher. I place Jenkins in left because you could not have an all-star team without "Tut" on it. He is a Wichita Falls hero to be remembered for many years to come; there are not many hitters like him.

Bennett comes next and is the best right-handed hitting outfielder the Spudders have ever had. This all-star club had to have a cleanup hitter and Bennett is ideal for that job. With Jenkins in left field, the only place for Red was in right.

In center field there is but one Fitzgerald, who did everything well over a long stretch of seasons, and was one of the greatest fly shaggers of all time.

Bescher makes a great extra outfielder for his hitting, baserunning and coaching ability. All of us liked to see him at the plate, on the bases and on the coaching lines. One of the smartest players the Spudders ever had.

Lapan Rugged

Rabbit Benton played every position while here and always did a good job of it, besides hitting well over .300. The combination of Benton and Bescher as extra men would give any manager pinch hitting that would win ball games.

Lapan and Jonnard are my choice of catchers. Lapan helped win a pennant, but the biggest things in his favor were his ruggedness that kept him in the ball game and ready to catch at all times and his great spring hitting. He usually kept the Spudders in the race in the first few weeks by his hard and regular hitting. Jonnard was a good thrower and the best receiver of them all; weak on hitting, but a smart, hard working star.

As for the pitchers it was a real job in cutting them down to six. I rank Fussell, the great left-hander of 1927, as the best of them all—the ace of my staff. Wiltse is my other left-hander. He was a hard worker, a good relief man, but more important he won the only four games Wichita Falls won in the two playoff series when he was here.

Payne for Relief

Jimmy Zinn was our first real pitcher, then Vic Keen and Hal Carlson. And for relief there is George Payne. A team that had these other five pitchers could well afford to keep Payne in the background for relief pitching alone. Always ready to pitch every day if necessary, needing little warming up to be ready and smart and cool in the pinches, he is the ideal relief man.

The batting order which I selected has its speed concentrated at the top, with the heaviest hitters assembled through the middle, and a real punch from to top bottom.

Widespread Interest In Spudders Is Shown

All but Five of All-Star Club in Baseball Harness

Of the 18 players on the prize-winning all-time all-star Spudder team, all but five still are active in the game, while one of its ranks has passed not only beyond the realm of baseball but has heard the final decision of the Great Umpire. Hal Carlson, Spudder pitcher of 1923 and a heavy favorite of the fans, as indicated in the consensus, died some two years ago while a member of the Chicago Cubs. He had been drafted by the Phillies and passed on to the Cubs, and though hardly a youngster when he came here from the Pirates, he had developed into one of the National league's finest right-handers at the time of his death.

Four others who have dropped out of the baseball picture are Carl Williams, manager of the mythical team and Spudder clubs that were not myths in 1927, 1930 and 1931 and parts of 1926 and 1928, is peacefully putting in his crops on his farm near Santa Anna, and letting the baseball world go by.

Bescher Out Since '24

Bob Bescher was on his last legs, both actually and figuratively, when he was passed on to Fort Worth in 1923 after having served the Spudders well in 1921 and 1922, and he soon left the game after his transfer to the Panthers. Vic Keen was forced to quit because of an arm injury a few years after his wonderful 1922 season here. Pete Lapan toiled for the Spudders in 1926-27-28-29 and at the end of the latter season was sold to San Antonio. He had given the Wichita Falls club the last of his good seasons, and last year he was forced out simply because he had outworn his usefulness.

Three of the all-star players are major leaguers at the present writing, and the status of two is definitely known. Shorty Adams, after graduating to the Cubs at the end of his great 1922 season here, has remained in the National league continually, being passed from Chicago to Pittsburgh to St. Louis in trades. He is established as the Cards' regular third sacker.

Burns Makes Grade

Jack Burns produced one of the American league's first year sensations last season when he stepped into the first base job for the Browns and led the circuit in fielding. He was with the Spudders only in 1930, coming here as a member of the great infield of Euller-Levey-Storti-Burns.

Jenkins came to Spudderville in mid-season of 1926 and remained through the 1928 campaign, when he was sold to the Browns. Since that time he has been up and down and up again between St. Louis and Milwaukee, but last season he remained with the American league team from start to finish. He is believed slated for other pastures this season, however.

Exactly a half-dozen are now employed in double A leagues, one notch higher in classification than the Texas circuit. Pete Turgeon was traded by Milwaukee to Toledo last season after having been with the Brewers since 1929. Pete served a long term here, extending from 1924 through 1929.

Wiltse With Brewers

In the same league is Hal Wiltse who is attempting a comeback with Milwaukee after a sore arm forced him out last season. The Spudders sold Wiltse to Milwukee originally and the Brews passed him on to the Phillies, but when his arm refused to come around he was returned to Milwaukee and was voluntarily retired after the first few weeks. Wiltse put in two profitable seasons, 1929 and 1930, with the Spudders.

Bennett, Fussell and Jonnard are together in the International league. Bennett went to the Brewers after his big year here in 1929 and since has been the object of much notoriety in the famous argument between the Browns and Commissioner Landis. He eventually obtained his free agency, signed with Pittsburgh and is now with Newark. Fussell was sold to the Pirates after his big part in the pennant winning year of 1927, but he has dropped back to Buffalo, where he has been for several seasons. Jonnard, drafted by the Phillies after having been here in 1923-24-25, was traded to the Cardinals and since has been roaming between St. Louis and Rochester and put in one campaign at Houston. He is now with Rochester.

Jimmy Zinn was sold to Cleveland on his 1920 Spudder showing, and he put in several seasons in the majors before dropping to double A, where he has since toiled. He has been with San Francisco for several seasons and still wins his share of games and gets his part of the hits.

Fitzgerald and Benton are teammates in the Southern association, the former having been sold to Knoxville a short while back. Fitz was used by Milwaukee in a player trade with Indianapolis soon after he left Wichita Falls in the winter of 1930 and a part of last season he performed for Fort Worth. He has played far more games in the Spudder togs than any other player, serving the home cause almost continuously from 1924 through 1930.

Benton was still another who passed to the Brewers, but he lingered up there less than a season and went first to Memphis, then Mobile and then Knoxville. He was with the Spudders from the middle of the 1926 campaign through 1929.

Only one of the 18 men remains in the Texas league, George Payne has been with Houston the last two seasons after he had failed at Indianapolis, the club to whom the Spudders sold him for the 1930 season.

The last of the 18, Buddy Tanner, dropped out of the game from 1929 until a few days ago when he signed as manager of a club in the Piedmont league. Buddy came to Wichita Falls with the Waco franchise in 1920 and remained through 1925, the last two seasons as manager.

The all-time all-star Spudder contest, ending Sunday with the announcement of the team's personnel and the prize winners, reflects in uncertain manner the interest taken throughout the Wichita Falls trade territory in the Texas league club here. Despite the fact the nature of the contest made it appealing only to the closest followers of the teams and only to those who had remained in contact with the Spudders over a long period of years, no less than 37 towns and cities, other than Wichita Falls, were represented among the contestants.

As well, the competition testifies as to the interests of feminine fans in Spudder teams. Out of a total of 689 entries submitted, no less than 132 were by women.

Out-of-town fans contributed 226 entries in the contest.

The following towns were represented in the contest, Iowa Park leading in number, with 20 entries: Clarendon, Holliday, Vernon, Iowa Park, Quanah, Graham, Breckenridge, Byers, Burkburnett, Newcastle, Gores, Electra, Weinert, Olney, Archer City, Bomarton, Chico, Randlett, Okla.; Altus, Okla.; Stamford, Hollis, Okla., Chillicothe, Grandfield, Okla.; Waurika, Okla.; Kirkland, Elbert, Childress, Bowie, Necona, Alvord, Munday, Frederick, Okla., Henrietta, Vera, Seymour, Haskell, Lawton, Okla.; Antelope, Southmayd, Gilliland, Petrolia, Buffalo Springs, Paducah, Acme, Ringling, Okla.; Crowell, Lovington, N. M.; Joy, Charlie, Shannon, Foard City, Mankins, Girard, Memphis, Dundee, Austin, Dickens and Ringgold.

Though neither an out-of-town entry nor that of a woman contestant is listed among the winners, the general quality of entries from both these sources drew the unstinted praise of the contest judges.

SCHOOL ATHLETES HONOR GUESTS AT HOLLIDAY BANQUET

HOLLIDAY, Texas, March 19.—Holliday athletes were honor guests at a banquet given by M. R. Turner, superintendent of the Holliday High school, and Mrs. Turner Thursday evening.

Board members, ex-students, volley ball girls, basket ball boys, the faculty and H. D. Fillers were guests.

The auditorium was beautifully decorated in the school colors of red and white. The table was in the form of the letter H, the cloth of white with red fringe and large red letters were placed at regular distances apart on the table, while over the table an immense H was suspended. The eagle which is the emblem of the school, was used to decorate the tables and programs.

The menu cards and programs were hand made by Miss Jonnie Jobe, a member of the high school faculty.

Mr. Turner was toastmaster and the Rev. Hargrove Grounds, pastor of the Holliday Methodist church, gave the invocation. H. D. Fillers, superintendent of Wichita Falls schools, was the principal speaker. He talked on "The Real Attributes Derived From Athletics as Exemplified in the Life of Washington."

Roscoe Childers made the address of welcome. Misses Murray, Smith, Mahan, Vogel and Carson were presented in a tap dance number; R. A. Brand and Clifford Stegall gave a saxophone duet; A. D. Bradfute, principal of the school and senior coach gave "The Last Draw," Erwin Brand played a bass solo and Estelle Carson did a song and tap dance number.

The last number on the program and perhaps the most interesting to the participants, was the presentation of the sweaters. The following seven girls received sweaters: Nellie Smith, Elizabeth Dykes, Jane Little, Louetta Carter, Muarene Carter, Ruth Meek, Kristy Fischer. The nine boys who received sweaters were Marvin Butts, Herrick Watkins, Henry Carson, Roscoe Childers, Bob Vestal, J. L. Box, Gilbert Finnell, Coyt Brisco and R. C. Conlee.

Treasure in the shape of Easter eggs will be the goal of every youngster in Wichita Falls at a mammoth "egg hunt" to be held Sunday afternoon, March 27.

The hunt will be sponsored by the Wichita Falls Rotary club, Linton Estes, president, stated Saturday night.

Twenty cases of eggs, or 7,200 in all, will be used in the event.

The 7,200 Easter eggs will be prepared and colored by the City laundry, Mr. Gray announced. Boy Scouts under the leadership of Frank B. Creighton, scout executive, and members of the Boys' club, led by "Lefty" Robertson, will be in charge of the hiding of the eggs.

The egg hunt will be held on city park property, probably at the Memorial auditorium grounds, Charles C. Bunnenberg, city park superintendent, said.

Boys' Club Here Is Inspected and Given 'Okey' Sign

"A clean bill of health" was given the Wichita Falls Boys' club by Alexander Campbell, national field secretary of the Federated Boys' Clubs of America, following an official visitation of the local organization Saturday.

Arriving in Wichita Falls Saturday from Fort Worth, Mr. Campbell carefully inspected the club, its personnel and equipment and reported that "the club was in excellent condition and doing remarkably well for an organization without headquarters." Mr. Campbell returned to Fort Worth Saturday afternoon and will visit the Little Rock, Ark., boys' group Monday or Tuesday.

Marvin "Lefty" Robertson is in charge of the club here.

TIMES' MARKET REPORT

MODERATE LOSSES IN STOCK MARKET WEEK-END TRADING

NEW YORK, March 19. (AP)—The decline in stocks lost momentum today, though it was not entirely checked.

Prices hardened after a dip at the opening, making virtually complete recovery of moderate losses, but eased again toward the close when week-end covering orders proved insufficient to take up offerings. In few prominent issues net losses amounted to a point, the average decline being just half that amount.

The temporary firmness coincided with heavy sales of Kreuger & Toll American certificates, which the stock exchange has been asked to suspend from trading. What action would follow this request from Stockholm was not disclosed by the governors, but traders actively took advantage of the open market to let holdings go. The quotation dropped to 1, working back to 1¼ when pressure slackened. Turnover in this one issue accounted for virtually half the day's total volume, 826,330 shares.

Washington News Influences

Washington news bulked large in the market's calculations. The congressional battle over the tax bill, intensified by restoration of wartime surtaxes, appeared to be meeting with an unfavorable reaction, partly because of the confusion now evident, but more because of apprehension lest higher income levies would send large security owners into exempt investments and away from other channels which will be needing capital. Some evidence of the possible trend was seen in advancing quotations for government bonds.

President Hoover's statement on railroad credit was reflected for a time by fixed-income obligations of carriers, although gains were not fully retained. Rail stocks showed the same slight sag that affected other groups, Santa Fe and Union Pacific losing about a point.

The weakness in utilities, so conspicuous yesterday, was lacking today. Aside from weakness in thinly traded preferred stocks of Electric Power & Light, the Electric Bond & Share equities, on both stock and curb exchanges, steadied. American Telephone's loss of 1¼ was the most prominent change in the utility category. Telephone's income from long distance lines has recently suffered a substantial drop, but interests close to the company are predicting that another regular dividend will be ordered at the next quarterly meeting.

U. S. Steel Declines

United States Steel lost virtually a point net. With the industry's operations approximating the February average there has been reason for disappointment in this month's showing, although it is said that something has been accomplished through firming of prices. Youngstown district plants start next week at an estimated average of 26 per cent, a slightly lower ratio, which was taken to mean that the much-discussed automobile buying had not materialized.

Wheat was sharply set back by word that the farm board would endeavor to sell its holdings, and the break probably had a sentimental effect in Wall street. With net losses amounting to half a point or less in such shares as American Can, Du Pont, Case, Westinghouse, Bethlehem, Union Carbide and North American the stock market, it was felt in some brokerage house circles, had failed to reach much of a conclusion at the end of a soggy week.

PRICE RECOVERIES IN COTTON MARKET AFTER LOW START

NEW YORK, March 19. (AP)—A further early decline of 9 to 11 points in cotton today under a continuation of yesterday's selling movement was followed by recoveries.

Nervousness attributed to yesterday's Washington advices regarding export sales of surplus supplies evidently subsided after the additional liquidation, while the early decline to 6.63 for May met an increased trade demand as well as covering and the price later rallied to 6.74. May closed at 6.72, with the general market closing very steady, net 2 points lower to 1 point higher.

The opening was steady at a decline of 6 to 9 points under renewed liquidation combined with some foreign and southern selling promoted by the relatively easy Liverpool market. This was sufficient to send prices off to 6.80 for July and 7.04 for October, making net losses of 9 to 11 points on the active months.

Offerings were absorbed by an increased trade demand, however, and as the selling became less urgent, considerable covering developed, which imparted a steady tone to the later market. All the active months recovered the early losses with July selling up to 6.91 and October to 7.14, and closing quotations were within a point or two of the best.

After the close, a local house credited with acting as brokers for the cooperative associations issued the following: "Can definitely state stabilization corporation has adopted no plan to sell its cotton and is under agreement to sell none prior to August, 1932. Furthermore under certain conditions regarding reduction acreage it is committed to sell none prior to July, 1933. American Cotton Cooperative association is pledged to its members to hold the approximately 2,000,000 bales delivered it during season 1930-31 until August, 1933, unless market advances to point at least equivalent to price prevailing during fall, 1930."

Liverpool cables reported heavy general liquidation in that market and said Manchester was unsettled with buyers cautious. Houses with Liverpool and continental connections were among the early sellers here, and the Liverpool market was believed to have been influenced by yesterday's Washington advices, which has aroused doubt as to the distribution of farm board holdings. The amount of cotton shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 181,000 bales against 90,000 last year.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, March 19. (AP)—Considerable activity featured today's short week-end session in the cotton market. The market opened weak on poor cables and during the report that the farm loan board was contemplating liquidation of its cotton holdings. Before the resulting liquidation was absorbed prices had declined 13@16 points from the close of yesterday.

In the second hour most of this early loss was recovered owing to a denial from Washington that the farm board was preparing to liquidate holdings. Values recovered 11@13 points from the lows and closed at or near the top, very steady and showing a net decline for the day of 2@6 points.

Liverpool came in 14@19 penny points worse than due and private cables stated that there had been heavy general liquidation of farm board rumors and on the improvement in sterling. Manchester cabled that the cloth and yarn markets were unsettled and buyers were cautious.

The close was very steady with May at 6.72, down 4 points net for the day, July at 6.88, down 5 points net and Oct. at 7.09, down 3 points net.

Port receipts 23,715, for season 8,891,478, last season 8,387,367. Exports 13,869, for season 6,454,925, last season 5,274,575. Port stock 4,535,414, last year 3,933,006. Combined shipboard stocks at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 166,128, last year 82,102. Spot sales at southern markets 19,384, last year 6,134.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, March 19. (INS)—Spot cotton was quiet at the opening today with prices easier. Receipts totaled 17,000 bales, including 16,600 American bales.

At noon middling fair was quoted at 6.30d, strictly good middling 5.85d, good middling 5.45d, strictly middling 5.35d, middling 5.24d, strictly low middling 5.20d, low middling 5.10d, strictly good ordinary 4.90d, good ordinary 4.60d.

Futures were easy at the opening with May quoted at 5.02d, July 5.10d, October 5.05d, December 5.10d, and January 5.11d.

Livestock

Midwestern Livestock Review

KANSAS CITY, March 19. (AP) (USDA)—Cattle trade this week got off to a slow start with packers taking advantage of a fairly liberal run on Monday to enforce a sharp price decline on fed steers and the better grades of heifers and mixed yearlings. At midweek, however, there was a reaction on fed steers with early losses partly, and at some markets more than recovered. Good to choice heifers and yearlings failed to rally and are 25@50c lower than a week ago. Chicago had the week's top of $8.75 on long yearlings and secured $8.70 for best heavy steers. Country demand for replacement steers was fairly broad at firm to 25c higher prices with more interest displayed in feeders than at any time this season. Bulk of stocker and feeder steers ranged at $4.25@6.25 and finishers paid up to $6.85 for highly bred fleshy feeders. Aggregate receipts at 11 markets were around 136,000 against 131,723 last week and 151,150 the same week a year ago.

Fat lambs opened the week with sharply higher prices but subsequent declines left values unevenly steady to 25c higher with last week's close. On the high spot Chicago scored $.35 for choice fed lambs and had a late top of 7.50. Initial shipments of Arizona springers sold up to $9.25. The supply approximating 313,400 was about the same as a week ago and a year ago.

Hog prices are unevenly steady to 50c lower as compared with last week's close. St. Louis had a latte top of $4.75. Total offerings were around 401,000 against 426,-599 last week and 501,720 a year ago.

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 19. RAIL IMPROVEMENT HAS LITTLE EFFECT SLOW BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, March 19. (AP)—President Hoover's statement in Washington that the financial needs of the railroads are much smaller than at first thought, and that a plan for their relief had been formed, failed to revive the feeble bond market today.

Although the United States government list maintained a firm undertone, with the majority of issues advancing moderately, corporate mortgages, as a whole, refused to respond materially to the news from the capital. The result was that the average for 60 principal bonds dropped 1-10 of a point under that of yesterday.

The railroads, especially some of the convertible liens of Missouri Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio and Rock Island, tried unsuccessfully to stage a rally. Most of them ended with minor losses. Reasonable gains were held by some bonds of Chesapeake Corporation, Frisco, St. Louis Southwestern and Southern Pacific.

The utilities did a little better than the other departments and the industrials were relatively steady. The Kreuger group, however, again was heavily traded for substantial losses. Kreuger & Toll 5s dropped 4½ points and International Match 5s here down from 2¼ to 3¼. Consolidated Gas loans were steady and General Theaters 6s were in demand at 1½ points advance. The Western Union list also showed strength.

German bonds were easy, the government 5½s losing 1 point. The Argentines, after rallying yesterday, again turned downward. Obligations of Denmark and Norway improved, as did those of Britain and Italy. Japanese obligations were comparatively steady.

Trading continued dull. Sales totaling only $5,025,000 for the short session.

WHEAT UNDERGOES NEW BREAKS UNDER SELLING PRESSURE

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

CHICAGO, March 19.—Overwhelmed by tremendous selling rushes, wheat underwent big new breaks in prices today, capping the climax of $50,000,000 estimated losses to farmers this week.

In the final dealings, however, grain values developed notable rallying power which made itself felt after announcements from Washington apparently showing that a proposed intensive selling campaign abroad to dispose of part of vast government financed holdings of United States wheat would be confined to non-competitive fields heretofore unreached. Meanwhile, wheat had temporarily fallen 3¼ cents a bushel today, to the lowest point since Dec. 10, and corn and oats had outdone the season's previous bottom quotations.

Wheat closed nervous, 1⅞@1¾ cents under yesterday's finish, corn ⅝@⅞ cents down, oats ⅛@½ cent off, and provisions showing 2 cents to 30 cents decline.

Corn crashed down with wheat, and as a result it was figured that Illinois farmers would only receive 18@20 cents a bushel for their corn at interior stations. Oats gave way to the bearish influence of corn.

Provisions sagged owing to weakness of cereals and of hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May 53⅞@⅞, 55⅞@56; July 54⅞@½, 57⅞@⅞; Sept. 56¼, 59⅞. Corn, May, 36@36¼, 37½@½; July 38⅞@⅞, 40½@¼; Sept. 40¼, 41⅞.

Moody Weaver Is All-Star Winner

Rip Wheeler and others were not assigned places in the three winning teams speaks high for the quality of men who have performed here. As well, they may be offered in evidence of the difficulty the judges faced in grading the nearly 700 entries, for all of these and others dominated the selections almost to the same extent as the personnel of the winning teams.

"The entries as a whole reflect the interest that fans of the entire section have taken in the Spudder teams of the past, and the judgement used generally in the compilation of the entries marks Spudder fans as keen students of the great national game. This is especially noticeable in the splendid arrangements of batting orders. Players qualified for certain positions in the attack were named for those places in a vast majority of entries.

"The quality of the out-of-town entries bespeaks the interest which fans of the entire territory have shown in Wichita Falls teams."

Entries designated by the judges as deserving of particular note, though failing to win, included the following:

LEE COUNTY SHERIFF AT BRECKENRIDGE TO QUIZ MAN ABOUT BANK HOLDUP

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, March 19. (AP)—Sheriff John J. Burttschell of Lee county was here today to question a prisoner in the Stephens county jail in connection with the robbery of the Lexington State bank March 9, in which $1,028 was taken.

The officer was accompanied by Otho Warren, bookkeeper of the robbed institution, and J. S. Newman, fingerprint expert for the Texas Sheriffs association.

They would not say whether the prisoner had been positively identified as one of the suspects sought.

PLAYING PIRATE ALMOST COST YOUTH HIS LIFE

HOUSTON, March 19. (AP)—The old boyhood game, playing pirate, nearly cost David Emmons, 11, his life today. The sandy soil on the bank of Buffalo bayou collapsed while David was digging a cave, burying him.

His two playmates ran two blocks and summoned R. F. Pittman, a fireman, who raced to the bayou and dug the youth out. David was unconscious when freed.

While the driver of an ambulance sped the boy to a hospital his helper applied an inhalator.

Just as they reached the hospital the boy recovered consciousness and was able to go to his home.

IOWA PARK LIONS TO ENTERTAIN SENIORS

IOWA PARK, March 19.—As has been their custom for the past several years, the Lions club will entertain the Iowa Park senior class at a banquet at which both seniors and parents are guests of the club. Plans are being made for this event this year and B. L. Bradford, Curtis Sewell and W. R. Bradford are the committee named to arrange details. The date will be announced at the meeting of the club next Tuesday noon.

The Lions are placing markers on the various street intersections in the city, and also putting a large Lions' "Welcome" sign, giving date of meeting at the entrance to town on the Wichita-Electra highway.

VALLEY GROUP TO OPEN DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

With a preliminary goal of 1,500 Wichita Falls citizens who are willing to invest $1 toward elimination of a tax burden set for the "hospital corps" of the 99 members of the Wichita Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce, the drive for Wichita Valley Development association members will be started officially at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The drive will run for three days, opening with a breakfast for the 99-corps at the Kemp hotel.

Walter Nelson Jr., head of the corps as surgeon general, will give final instructions to the members of the nine different groups that comprise the official corps. Partial plans for the campaign were outlined at a luncheon last Thursday.

Each member of the corps will receive "prescription blanks" and supplies by mail before Tuesday.

The corps aims to provide "emergency treatment for a sick agricultural condition in the irrigated valley."

The $1 memberships will be used to provide a working capital for the association, leading to colonization of the valley and eventual establishment of the irrigated valley as self-supporting project.

Leading business men of Wichita Falls have devoted their time for the last eight months of the study of the valley situation and are convinced that the 10-year program now under way will bring about the ends desired. Joe Meuxer of Windthorst is field representative for the association and as the son of the man who colonized the Windthorst and Scotland communities of Wichita county is looked to as a capable leader in the association's program.
