Cool Spell, Cloudy Skies Provide Hope

Pampa turned cloudy and cooler this morning following scattered rain sprinkles and a water consumption that was a record for the first nine days of any month in any year.

Local mercury at 11 a.m. today was only 76 degrees, considerably less than it has been at that time of day during the current heat spell. Low this morning was 63 and Thursday's high was 95.

Skies were cloudier early today than they were near noon. During the night stabs of lightning and a roll or two of thunder were reported in the area.

For the first nine days of the month, a total of 53,519,250 gallons of water were pumped through the city's mains, according to Fred Brook, acting city director of public works. Six of those days had more than six million, he said, and Thursday's total was 5,215,000 gallons.

Though there were sprinkles of rain during the night in the area—dirtied cars testified to that—there was not enough to be recorded at the KPDN transmitter. Same was true of points eight miles north, 13 miles southwest and 12½ miles east of Pampa, a spot check indicated. No rain, either, was reported in Lefors and McLean.

In Shamrock it was different, though. Just prior to a fall of .34 of an inch of rain early today, Mayor Bob Douglass stated that Shamrock water consumption must be cut "approximately one-third" in order to avoid a crisis.

At present, the city is using an average of 1,427,000 gallons daily, Douglas told Wednesday's city council meeting, and that is some 500,000 gallons more than the wells can pump. Urging citizens to use no more water than necessary, councilmen discussed possible rationing but decided to give residents a chance to cut down without compulsory measures.

Shamrock citizens are being urged to shut off immediately all water faucets when they hear a fire siren, for the department would need all water and all pressure.

Today's weather forecast called for widely scattered thundershowers over the entire state.

U.S., Rhee Agree On 'Little Truce' Proposal

Commies May Not Accept Agreement

SEOUL, Saturday, July 11 —UP—South Korea and the United States have reached virtual agreement on a compromise armistice plan, reliable sources said Saturday.

President Syngman Rhee and Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson were reported to have completed the main part of their conversations to remove South Korean opposition to a settlement of the three-year-old Korean war.

Sources close to the Rhee-Robertson "little truce" talks said neither side got all it wanted and neither gave ironclad guarantees. They have, however, reached tentative basic agreement, it was reported.

Rhee had held out for a three-month time limit on a post-armistice political conference to unify Korea and a mutual security pact with the United States.

May Not Satisfy Reds

Sources said the agreement may not satisfy the Communists, who were reported demanding that the United Nations use military force to hold Rhee in line.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il insisted on "some sign and guarantee" that the United Nations would keep Syngman Rhee and his 400,000-man South Korean army under control as full-scale truce talks reopened following a 20-day recess.

Nam and his staff met with Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief UN negotiator, and his aides at Panmunjom for 29 minutes, exactly two years from the formal opening of the truce talks.

Now, 151 top-level meetings later, the signing of an armistice appeared in sight, though not necessarily imminent.

Meet Again Saturday

Nam talked for 20 minutes and Harrison spoke nine minutes. Then the two chief negotiators recessed the talks until 11 a.m. Saturday (8 o'clock, cst, Friday night).

Neither of the chief negotiators would discuss the talks but Alan Winnington, a British Communist correspondent, told Allied newsmen outside the conference but that Nam had insisted on the UN putting Rhee and his tough army under wraps after armistice day.

Winnington said that as soon as Harrison gives the Communists the necessary "guarantees," the truce will be signed.

A few hours before the two top truce talkers sat down to talk Peiping radio said the first order of business would be: "How will the American side prevent Syngman Rhee from wrecking the armistice?"

Winnington, unofficial "mouthpiece" of the Communists, blamed the continued fighting in Korea on the South Korean president who had wrecked the truce talks by releasing anti-Communist war prisoners.

"We could have had an armistice by June 25, signed and sealed," he said.

More Communist newsmen than usual assembled around the truce hut and they were optimistic.

Ike Visits Amarillo For Drouth Session

AMARILLO, Tex., July 10 —UP— President Eisenhower flew to the heart of the Southwestern drouth bowl Friday for an emergency conference with six governors about relief measures.

The President took off from Washington at 7:14 a.m. cst, in the government plane, the Columbine. He was due to arrive at Amarillo at 2 p.m. cst.

Among local men planning to attend today's meeting in Amarillo are Dr. M. C. Overton Jr., president of the Top o' Texas Hereford Breeders Association, C. E. Vincent and son, Robert Carr, Lefors cattlemen, E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber of commerce manager, Johnny Hinds, 1821 Charles, I. B. Hughey, 321 N. West, and C. P. Buckler, 410 Buckler.

As the President's plane flew toward Texas, tantalizing showers fell. Big Spring in bone dry West Texas reported .28 of an inch. Dalhart, where cattlemen gathered Thursday to discuss relief measures, had .19 inch.

Texarkana had .59 inch. Laredo .03 and Dallas .10. Local showers Tuesday temporarily eased the drouth in some parts of the drouth bowl, but the hot sun — it was 106 yesterday in Dallas — was rapidly drying up the moisture.

Govs. Allan Shivers of Texas, Edward F. Arn of Kansas, Johnston Murray of Oklahoma, Dan Thornton of Colorado, Francis Cherry of Arkansas and Edwin L. Mechem of New Mexico will be waiting for Mr. Eisenhower.

Shivers, who called the meeting, also invited Gov. Howard Pyle of Arizona, but Pyle said he couldn't come and would send a farmer and a rancher to represent him.

The governors, in turn, invited the President, who was born in Denison, Tex. The President will get a general view of the parched drouth area as he flies over.

He has already allocated $8 million for the drouth suffering farmers and ranchers, and both houses of Congress have voted to make $16 million available.

Minor differences in the House and Senate action have to be ironed out in committee, however, before the bill goes to the White House.

Russia Holds Beria On Treason Charge

MOSCOW, July 10 —UP—Secret Police Chief Lavrenti P. Beria, No. 2 man in the Communist leadership, has been expelled from all his state and party jobs and arrested on a charge of treason, a crime punishable by death before a firing squad, it was disclosed Friday.

Premier Georgi Malenkov himself presented the surprise charges against Beria, for 30 years a trusted Communist and close friend of Josef Stalin and for 15 years head of police security forces.

(The official communiques announcing Beria's downfall, first break in the leadership of the Malenkov government, failed to disclose Beria's whereabouts and it was presumed he was in jail awaiting trial).

World-Wide Repercussion

(The removal of Beria, who had been the middle member of the ruling Triumvirate along with Malenkov and Deputy Premier Vyacheslav Molotov, was expected to cause world-wide repercussion and possibly great policy changes in Iron Curtain countries.

(It was also believed the government would conduct a sweeping investigation into Beria's ministry of interior affairs, which includes the secret police, and possibly purge its personnel.).

Beria's case was presented to the supreme court of the Soviet Union after Malenkov had named him as a traitorous counter-revolutionary in a recent report to the Communist party central committee.

Pravda published the communiques and Soviet authorities posted them on public bulletin boards. Workers stood in line to read the news then hurried on to work as usual without comment.

Supported by Trade Unions

Trade union leaders overwhelmingly endorsed the government decision to fire and prosecute Beria at their meeting and individual speakers personally denounced him.

Pravda's announcement said the central committee had named Sergei Nikoforovich Kruglov, a veteran security police official, to succeed the disgraced Beria.

The newspaper said "irrefutable facts" prove Beria has become an "agent of international imperialism."

"An adventurist and hireling of foreign imperialist forces, he hatched plans to grab the leadership of the party and country with the aim of actually destroying the

City Tax Valuation Jumps $1.5 Million

A gain of close to $1,500,000 in city taxable valuation appeared this morning in the city tax office following completion of Board of Equalization tax work.

The total estimated valuation for the year stood at $20,947,800 of which $15,555,020 is in real estate and $5,392,780 in industrial and commercial personal property.

This, if no changes are made after the board of equalization hearings are held, represents an exact gain of $1,391,180 over last year's total of $19,556,620. That figure was broken down to $14,193,640 real estate valuation and $5,362,980 in industrial and commercial personal property.

The city does not tax personal property of private residences such as automobiles and household furnishings.

City Tax Assessor - Collector Aubrey Jones said notices of property valuations will be in the mails by July 23 and will include the dates for the three hearings to be held by the city and school boards of qualization.

On Aug. 3, hearings on personal property valuations will be held; on Aug. 4, residential real estate hearings will be held to be followed with industrial and commercial real estate hearings on Aug. 5 and 6.

Records of work completed by the Board of Equalization are now available for public inspection in the city tax office, Jones said, and are open to anyone wanting to check over them.

Man-To-Man Combat Seen Near Outpost

SEOUL, July 10 —UP—American troops fought in bloody hand-to-hand combat Friday with Chinese infantrymen for control of vital Porkchop Hill guarding the Chorwon valley invasion corridor to Seoul.

The Reds battled up the northern slopes of the outpost in the third day of their stubborn drive to crack Allied defenses on the western front.

For two hours Friday, in near record heat, men of the U.S. Seventh Division and the Chinese fought with rifles and fists. The close-in battle slackened only when both sides paused from exhaustion.

At last reports, the Communists held the northern slope and the Americans the southern slope. The crest was a churned up no-man's-land of broken equipment and bodies blown apart by almost incessant artillery barrages.

A report from United Press correspondent Al Kaff at a first aid station said one American infantryman had a finger nearly bitten off by a Chinese and quoted the soldier as saying he killed the Red by clubbing him with his steel helmet.

Kaff also reported the aid station was jammed with wounded. A medical corpsman told Kaff he had made "lots of trips" to pick up casualties.

A few miles to the east of Porkchop, South Korean troops were driven back to the southern slope of an outpost on Arrowhead Ridge by a reinforced Chinese company. Soldiers of the ROK Second Division counterattacked and at last reports the fighting still was going on.

Missionaries Die In Forest Fire

WILLOWS, Calif., July 10—UP—Fifteen missionary trainees were killed Thursday night when a forest fire they had temporarily controlled surged up again and swept through their camp while they were eating.

The trainees were members of the New Tribes Mission, a Protestant group in training at Fouts Spring, Calif., for jungle missionary work.

The fire broke out Thursday 28 miles northwest of here in a canyon at the foothills of the Pacific Coast range. The fire was believed controlled Thursday night about 10 p.m. and a group of 24 firefighters from the Mission sat down to eat.

Woman Confined After 'Vision'

PAULS VALLEY, Okla., July 10 UP—A young Garvin county mother who said she had a "holy vision" of the resurrection of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, executed atomic spies, was under commitment to an insane asylum Friday.

The woman's husband asked for the sanity hearing because he said his wife sat for hours as if in a trance.

The woman said she received the "vision" from her father and expected to pass it on to her children. She was ordered sent to Central State Hospital at Norman, Okla.

Ask Price Support

DALHART, Tex., July 10 —UP— More than 500 drouth - bitten cattlemen from five states Friday pushed a drive for 90 per cent of parity price supports for cattle.

The United Livestock Producers Association, formally organized in this cattle-country area Thursday, adopted two major resolutions — one asking for federal price supports on livestock at the producer level and the other endorsing Sen. Robert S. Kerr's (D-Okla.) amendment to an emergency drouth-relief bill requiring support of cattle prices at 90 per cent of parity.

The action came just before representatives of seven states met with President Eisenhower at Amarillo, 70 miles away, to discuss the drouth situation, and the cattlemen planned to have a delegation on hand in Amarillo.

Sharp words crackled back and forth during the meeting here when livestock raisers from Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico voted to band together.

One rancher in the crowd listening to speeches advocating price supports bolted to his feet and bellowed: "Don't trade your birthright for a mess of government subsidies."

He was booed.

Mrs. Robert J. Ownbey, Spearman, Tex., wife of a rancher, rose to her feet to contradict the shouting cowman.

The rancher shook his finger at her and said: "You wouldn't want to have to knock a lot of your little calves in the head, would you?"

She retorted: "I'd hate to plow my calves under, but I'd rather do that than knock a child in the head because I couldn't feed it."

Murray Griffin, Nunn, Colo., at one point called for the resignation of Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson.

"Benson has learned everything he knows about agriculture since he took office," Griffin declared. "Price supports won't work under a man who's against 'em and Benson is."

S. E. (Eck) Brown of Dalhart, a banker-rancher, was chosen president of the organization. Other officers named were Flody Elliott of Dalhart, secretary-treasurer; and state vice presidents Griffin for Colorado; E. S. Pritchard Jr., Dalhart, Tex.; E. N. Jeffers, Springer, N. M.; F. N. Cheatum, Syracuse, Kan., and Harold Munson, Woodward, Okla.

Barnyard Birth Control Refused

WASHINGTON, July 10 —UP— The Senate struck a blow for bovine motherhood Thursday. It rejected, by overwhelming voice vote, an effort by Sen. Dwight Griswold (R-Neb.) to amend the drouth relief bill to provide for a government-subsidized program of sterilizing cows.

Griswold argued that overproduction of calves was a basic cause of the cattle industry's distress. But opponents contended that "barnyard birth control" was not the answer to low livestock prices.

Shamrock Gets First Polio Case

SHAMROCK (Special) — Billy Don Rives, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Rives, Twitty, is the first confirmed polio case of the year in the Shamrock area.

His is considered "a light case" by attending physicians in the polio clinic in Plainview.

Taken to the clinic Wednesday afternoon for observation, young Bill was confirmed a polio case Thursday. He remained there today.

According to his parents, Billy complained of his leg aching some two or three days before he was taken to Plainview's clinic. He has a baby brother born a week ago today.

Mr. and Mrs. Rives run a service station in Shamrock.

Auto Accident Fatal To Driver

COLUMBUS, Tex., July 10—UP—Hugh Graham Foreman, 37, youngest brother of Percy Foreman, widely-known Houston attorney, was killed Thursday when his car hit a tree and burst into flames near here.

A passenger in Foreman's car, Mrs. Fay Sullivan, was in extremely critical condition.

Foreman was employed as a bondsman and bookkeeper by his brother and was taking Mrs. Sullivan to Austin, where she was to post bond for release of her husband, Jack, from jail there.

Officers believed Foreman's car blew a tire, causing it to swerve off the road. Foreman's body was badly burned.

Pampa To Distribute 1,000 Rodeo Posters

Distribution of 1,000 posters boosting the Top o' Texas Rodeo to be held in Pampa Aug. 4-8 is scheduled for July 21.

Posters will be distributed in 50 towns throughout the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma by 20 local girls dressed in cowgirl regalia.

Five routes, with members of the rodeo association to serve as escorts, have been set up. Tours are to begin at 7 a.m.

Hobart Underpass To Be Discussed

Members of the highway committee of the chamber of commerce will meet with the city commission at 9 a.m. July 21 to discuss promotion of a Hobart Street railroad underpass.

The project, planned by city officials previously, has been tabled awaiting the completion of a bridge across the Canadian River on State Highway 70 between Pampa and Perryton.

In an unofficial meeting this morning in the chamber of commerce office members of the highway committee discussed the background of the project with County Judge J. B. Maguire and City Manager B. H. Cruce and arranged a meeting with the city commission.

McCarthy Ducks Query On Matthews

WASHINGTON, July 10 —UP— Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy Friday ducked the question of whether a blast from President Eisenhower had anything to do with J. B. Matthews resigning from his permanent investigating subcommittee.

When he was asked for an explanation the most McCarthy would say was: "He just quit." He said he accepted the resignation "very reluctantly."

Matthews, veteran Communist hunter, quit as the subcommittee's executive director Thursday, just after Mr. Eisenhower condemned his criticism of Protestant clergymen in unusually severe terms.

Matthews said in a recent magazine article that the "largest single group" supporting the Communist apparatus in this country is the Protestant clergy. Without mentioning names, the President called the charge "unjustified and deplorable."

McCarthy (R-Wis.) refused to comment on the President's statement. There were strong indications, however, that he had already decided to let Matthews quit because of the drumfire of criticism from members of the subcommittee.

Mr. Eisenhower stated his views in a telegram to three clergymen representing the National Conference of Christians and Jews. They had expressed concern over Matthews' attack on the loyalty of Protestant clergymen.

Less than an hour elapsed between release of the President's statement and the announcement of Matthews' resignation.

Preacher Seeks West Texas Rain

DALLAS, July 10—UP—A "pray for rain" preacher who said he brought rain to New York headed Friday for the heart of the four-year drouth which has struck the Southwest.

He stopped in Dallas enroute to Midland, Tex., where rain is sorely needed.

The Rev. Eddie Clayton, Brownsville, Tex., advised the neighboring cities of Fort Worth and Dallas not to hire a rain-increasing firm as has been proposed in the water-short area.

He said he has already prayed for rain in this region.

'Wait on the Lord," he said in a telegram to Fort Worth Mayor Edgar Deen. "God Bless You."

Clayton prayed last Sunday in Fort Smith, Ark. While there, he said he prayed during New York's water shortage in 1950 "and the cloud seeders were rained out and the city was left with a lot of dry ice on its hands."

Before heading into West Texas, where a disastrous four - year drouth has cost farmers and ranchers millions of dollars, the preacher said he used a special prayer for rain:

"Most bountiful heavenly Father, I pray that Thou will bestow Thy wonderful blessing of rain upon the stricken cities of this nation that the people's water needs be supplied. I give thanks for this prayer request in the name of our Lord, Jesus Christ. Amen."

He said he based his belief in prayers for rain on a scriptural passage:

"If My people that are called by my name will turn from their wicked ways and humble themselves and pray and seek my faith, I will forgive them their sins and heal their land."

Value Of Freedom

The question was, is, and always will be: just what value does Man place on Freedom — not meaningless freedom from want or fear — but freedom to control his own actions in his lifelong obligation to achieve the salvation of his own soul.

Man is a reasoning animal, the scientists say, and Man differs from other animals, according to theologians, in the possession of a divine spark that has as its lodestone a paradise in a life hereafter.

But the desire for freedom is not a burning instinct in the breast of Man as it is in the savage breast. Man's physical body will not die in captivity as will some wild animals. And despite his reasoning capacity which should divine for him the fact that his soul cannot thrive in slavery, Man has endured in greater numbers for the greater span of recorded history a status of slavery than a status of freedom.

What is freedom?

Well, the dictionary people cover all possible inferences and meanings but in the philosophical sense Freedom is the possession of self-determining power; a condition of being ethically free. It is the right of an individual, and acceptance of this right by any individual carries with it the extension of the same right to every other individual. It is not a right granted by Government or any human being, but by the Creator of Man. And since that is its nature it embodies a responsibility to be free under a fundamental moral code laid down, not by other men, but by the Creator.

The Purpose of Man on earth is not to feed and shelter and enrich himself. It is not to produce usable goods or works of art or even progeny. These are functions of Man. His Purpose is to love and serve his creator and work for spiritual betterment.

That is why Freedom is necessary to Man. The project of salvation is one that requires free will. This cannot exist in a state of slavery. Thou Shalt Not Kill, Thou Shalt Not Steal, Thou Shalt Not Bear False Witness Against Thy Neighbor, Thou Shalt Not Commit Adultery are fixed commandments of the fundamental moral code in the Judaic-Christian philosophy. A slave could be ordered to break any or all of these commandments, and have no self-determination on his action — with one exception.

In refusal to obey the mandate of the slave-master — king, dictator or state bureaucracy — he could choose death.

That is always the option.

Man has this choice. He can't be forced to pay taxes, engage in any form of forced labor or to fight in wars. Not even the weakest individual can be made to take any positive action without his own consent. In refusal he may have to accept punishment and death. But the degree to which he does do things that he doesn't want to do is equivalent to the value he places on self-determination.

The amount of money he pays in taxes to the government for services he does not want to pay for is the money value that he places on staying out of the tax courts and government jails. The amount of labor he will perform in a slave camp is equivalent to the amount of his fear of the slavemaster's whip and the fear of death.

The American Constitution says that government derives its "just power" from the consent of the governed. The fact that all government derives all power, just or otherwise, from the governed is equally true since no people, no individual can be governed without consent. The issue is merely whether the "consent" is obtained by self-determination, by fear, by bribery or by deceit.

So we contend that the extent of Freedom for Man has a fixed value to each individual. The extreme situation is always "liberty or death."

Most of us don't deal in extremes. We pay taxes rather than go to jail; we submit to military drafts to avoid punitive action by society and we submit to economic serfdom and labor union controls so we won't starve to death, or to escape the inconvenience of changing our way of living.

And we rationalize our actions by saying we are better off this way or we are sacrificing ourselves for the sake of others.

Are we really better off? Are our sacrifices worthwhile? Aren't we forgetting the Purpose of Man is to save his own soul? Can we serve that Purpose by diluting the value of the Freedom so essential to its fulfillment.

Unselfish Wives

Did you ever notice that it's nearly always the wife you would describe as "unselfish" who complains the most about her husband?

There's a reason for that and it is summed up in this quotation: "Women who are too unselfish make the best wives and the worst husbands. If they are too good they make others good for nothing."

That fact is borne out year after year in letters from unhappy wives.

Judging from how much they say they have put into their marriages and how little they have demanded in return, most of these wives could be classed as "unselfish."

That is why they are so bewildered when their husbands show so little appreciation. They know the sacrifices they have made, how hard they have tried to keep peace, how many burdens they have lifted from their husband's shoulders — always expecting appreciation in return because they gave so much and demanded so little.

But is doesn't work out that way. A spoiled husband is as difficult to live with and as unappreciative as a spoiled child.

The more he is catered to the more he expects to be treated like a star boarder. The less his wife expects of him the less he is willing to give.

It is all right to spoil a husband a little, if you see to it that he spoils you a little. But don't ever let the spoiling get too one-sided.

It's no use being an unselfish wife at the cost of finding you have a selfish husband.

Should Cherish Declaration of Independence Every Day of Year

It is of course customary to celebrate the Declaration of Independence on July 4. It seems that it is about what we have been doing with the Declaration of Independence—celebrating it one day of the year and then forgetting it or disobeying it all the other 364 days of the year. The trouble or the mess we are in today is due to the fact that we have not followed the moral laws and rules set down in this great document.

The late Everett Dean Martin said that the Declaration of Independence was the first time in all history where an attempt had been made in a big way to put the ideologies of the Sermon on the Mount into operation.

One of the Supreme Court judges in making a decision pointed out that in order to properly interpret the Constitution of the United States we would have to refer back to the Declaration of Independence because it was the spirit of the Constitution.

The Customary Violations

It seems to me that there are a couple of words in this Declaration of Independence that most people seem to disregard or overlook. One of these words is the word all—that "ALL men are created equal (before the law), that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

This Declaration does not say that some men are so endowed, but ALL men are so endowed. And any law that takes away from any individual part of his liberty, a part of the fruits of his labor and gives it to another, is taking away from some men their inalienable rights. When the government protects all men in their rights in property, it is not taking from one to benefit another. Then the word all is in operation. But when the government attempts to subsidize one group at the expense of another, it is omiting the word all and saying that some men are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights.

Consent Of Governed

Another violation that has caused us to get in such a mess that we cannot even pay the cost of government without issuing fiat money or credit and has got us into almost continuous war is that we have interpreted this great document to mean that governments derive their just power from the consent of the majority.

The Declaration of Independence was a relatively new form of government. Europe and Asia for years had been contending that governments did not need to get their authority with the consent of the individual, but that governments got their authority from God or by using might and because they had more power than others had. Of course, this meant that things were only settled by might. There was no basis of justice other than might. But when governments derive their just power from the consent of the individual who wants to form a government and have everyone's life and property protected, then we are establishing moral law that is not made by man, but is made by God or Divine Providence. There we are establishing a basis of liberty that will result in peace, good will and material blessings.

The writers of the Declaration of Independence were afraid of majority rule countries. They well knew that majorities could be just as tyrannical and oppressive as any king or despot gaining control by might.

As the late Everett Dean Martin also said, this statement that "governments derive their just power from the consent of the governed" meant exactly what it said. Then we would have to have a very limited government in order to get the consent of those people who wanted everyone's life and property protected on an equal basis.

And if a man does not want everyone's life and property protected, he should not be compelled to pay to support the government. The fact of the matter is, of course, that no one can give another man's consent—only an individual can give his consent. Therefore, the writers of the Declaration of Independence could not have meant by this statement that governments derive their just power from the consent of the majority. It means from the consent of the individual who wants a government and wants to support it.

What we need to do is to get back and practice the spirit of the Declaration of Independence—that means of course that men must be self-dependent and must respect the equal and inalienable rights of every other individual, not only in this country but throughout the world. If we come to understand the Declaration of Independence, we will practice it, because we will then understand the blessings that will flow from following it. It is because people do not understand the Declaration of Independence that we are in the trouble we are in today.

And how could we expect them to understand it when they are conscripted in their youth by tax supported "educators" who do not themselves understand it. They have to teach the opposite from the Declaration of Independence because they are practicing the opposite—that the majority gives the consent of the individual rather than the individual himself being the only one who can give his consent.

It is no wonder we do not understand it when the children in their formative period of life are exposed to "educators" who will not even discuss moral laws to determine whether or not what they are doing is in agreement with the great moral laws.

The Declaration of Independence is a moral law, a moral document, attempting to put it into operation is practicing the Golden Rule and the Commandments.

Would that we studied it every day of the year.

Congressmen Inform Ike They Want No Let Up In Cold War

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The most powerful leaders on Capitol Hill have served sharp notice on the "Big Three" diplomats meeting here today that they will be wasting their time, if they make any definite decisions or plans with regard to the East - West conflict that contemplate a friendly settlement with Communist Russia or China.

While not seeking to sabotage the "Little Bermuda Conference," prominent Republican and Democratic spokesmen have set definite limits on its scope.

They have warned that they will use their power over the American government's purse strings to block any action which, in their opinion, jeopardizes this country's interests.

Although it is not generally recognized, the seemingly concerted blast against Anglo-French policies of "appeasement" of the Reds constitutes the most serious attempt made by Congress to interfere with President Eisenhower's exclusive conduct of foreign affairs. It exceeds in audacity Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's various adventures and escapades in this field.

PURPOSE OF ANGLO-FRENCH SCHEME — The British and French representatives — Lord Salisbury and Georges Bidault — have come to Washington with two principal objectives. The first is to persuade Ike to try to reach a peaceful agreement with Moscow on European problems. The second is to find a way for ending the wars in Korea and Indo-China, which are extremely unpopular in Britain and France.

The underlying purpose behind the Anglo-French scheme is to eliminate the need for building a vast and expensive European military, naval and air force under American auspices.

As Churchill contends, the Kremlin's post-Stalin peace offers seem genuine enough to deserve consideration. The Prime Minister and Bidault also feel that the recent anti-Communist outbreaks give the West new and greater bargaining power.

IKE WANTS PROOF OF GOOD INTENTIONS — The skeptical Eisenhower does not share this viewpoint, and demands more concrete evidence of Malenkov's good intentions. Likewise, he believes that signs of stress inside the Communist empire counsel a delay in negotiation. He is as insistent as ever that Western Europe proceed with its rearmament program even more rapidly.

However, lest the President and Secretary Dulles be persuaded to retreat on these points, the bipartisan congressional bloc has notified him and the foreign delegation that it will not go along on such a program. In addition to withholding necessary appropriations, it will not ratify any executive pacts designed to underwrite a weakening of American policy.

THREAT OF FOREIGN AID REDUCTIONS — These considerations animated Sen. Taft, majority Senate leader, when he notified Mutual Security Administrator Harold E. Stassen to prepare for liquidation of his help-Europe organization. They also inspired Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia, hitherto an internationalist, when he snapped that "I have voted for Mutual Security funds for the last time."

Resentful House members, by an overwhelming vote, showed their impatience toward our European allies' more recent behavior, and toward Salisbury-Bidault arguments. They provided for a $1 billion reduction in foreign aid money, if Europe failed to meet NATO schedules on rearmament. The Senate retained this provision, but vested discretionary authority in using this weapon in the White House.

CONGRESS DEJECTED OVER TRUCE TERMS — Although willing to accept the proposed truce terms in Korea for humanitarian reasons, a majority in both chambers are dejected over such an outcome. Many have a secret sympathy and admiration for Syngman Rhee's insistence on reunification of all Korea by force, if necessary.

In short, while the European visitors propose peace and reconciliation with the Reds, the American Congress informs the President that it wants no letup in the cold war, now that the United States seems to be winning.

The city man was demonstrating the technique of milking a cow before the patient gaze of a farmer. When the city slicker had completely filled his bucket with milk, he took the cow's head and forced it into the pail while the cow drank all the milk. The farmer confessed he could not understand this procedure. The city man explained: "I found the milk pretty thin and decided to run it through just once more.

MORE MONEY
(Chicago Daily Tribune)

Late Wednesday afternoon the federal reserve board issued an order raising the lending power of banks by 6 billion dollars. This was done by cutting by 2 points the reserve requirements the banks must maintain against their deposits. As there is a strong demand for funds, the banks will have no difficulty in finding takers for the extra money they may now provide. The six billion dollar increase in the supply of money cannot fail to have an effect upon prices of commodities and securities.

This action supplements another of a similar sort. In each of the four weeks since May 20, the federal reserve banks have poured new funds into the money market by buying United States government securities. More than 1¼ billion dollars has been pumped into the banks in this way. The lending power of the banks as a result has been increased by about 6¼ billion dollars.

Moreover, on Monday of this week the administration sought to get the senate to approve the setting up of a new and permanent agency to make loans to small business concerns. The measure which was tacked on to the defense production act but had nothing to do with defense, would create a small business administration which could pass out 250 million dollars, with no taker getting more than $100,000. The quarter of a billion dollars would unquestionably have had inflationary consequences.

There probably has not been a time in recent years when so much fuel has been piled in the flames of inflation in so short a time. In the light of these actions, the pressure the Eisenhower administration is placing on the house of representatives to levy an excess profits tax for the next six months does not make sense. The pretense is that the tax is needed to hold inflationary tendencies in check, but the tax

New York Liberal Party Held To Be Tool Of Dave Dubinsky

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — The current commotion in the City of New York over the nominations of candidates for mayor is a fine demonstration of the political imbecility of the people who now presume to offer leadership to the whole wide world. The biggest city in the world and the dirtiest in our country, is at the mercy of self - serving and self-appointed "committees" of political "parties" which have only one interest.

That interest is not remotely related to the efficient and economical city management.

That interest is limited to a morbid desire for power, patronage, jobs and money.

The so-called Liberal Party is a political auxiliary of Dave Dubinsky's Garment Workers' Union and is, in practical effect, Dubinsky's private property. The "committee" of this "party" picked Rudolph Halley as its candidate solely on the basis of his sensational publicity and Dubinsky's estimate of his probable drawing power at polls. The same considerations will govern the selections of the other candidates by the same process.

In the field of aspirants there is not one man of any proven or even indicated ability to clean the filthy streets which are a disgrace even by comparison with the streets of the ruined city of Berlin, to scale off massive encrustations of useless commissioners, deputies and assistants who devour taxes, or to relieve the disgusting squalor of the subways and impose a fare sufficient to let them support themselves.

The only politician of prominence in the entire state who has demonstrated executive ability and a belief in politics as the science of government, is Gov. Tom Dewey. He is involved here only as a Republican doing his partisan bit to put a Republican in the city hall. The state will not realize what a good governor Dewey was until it has had a few years of ordinary machine administration after he leaves.

The foul condition of the city is less impressive to the people who live there than to visitors, because they have grown used to it. Possibly popular government has reached the limit of its ability. A dictator could do better, as Mussolini and Hitler did. Stalin seems not to have done well, but he was dealing with a people with no passion for hygiene nor any acquaintance with comfort. In other ways, however, he showed great ability. His monument should include some symbol of his profitable exploitation of the stupidity of Henry Wallace and Averell Harriman who contributed vastly out of our wealth, earned by our personal toil as human beings. On the other hand, Wallace and Harriman are superb examples of the degeneration of our government on the national scale.

We had scarcely heard of Henry Wallace when Roosevelt inflicted him upon us. We thought of Harriman only in terms of his father's reputation. We had no warning that he was as frivolous and fatuous as Wallace but Roosevelt of course knew the truth about both of them. To be sure, our popular votes elected Roosevelt, but in the first instance we fell fr melodious promises of economical administration and a revival of our normal industrial prosperity by conventional, constitutional means. Thereafter we had no voice. It would be enlightening to the voters of the young generation and to many of us wearying elders to read a compilation of those 1932 speeches.

We are so ignorant of the true character of our union of sovereign republics, known as states, that we have almost dismissed them from our minds as independent political entities. They were robbed of their sovereignty by the 16th Amendment creating the income tax with no limit on the percentage of the income which could be confiscated by the national Congress. The refusal of the Congress, which set that Amendment in motion, to establish a limit on the confiscation deprived the states of sources of income to support themselves and sent them to Washington to wheedle for money out of the national treasury. If the federal government can send millions back to the states for purely local purposes then it has more than it needs or ought to have.

The great taxes on the estates of people who die, rising to a bracket of 77 per cent, and on gifts, rising to 57 per cent, are simply a means of confiscating wealth from within the states and the only protection is the device of the "foundation." These foundations are a tax-dodge, but it is a good thing we have them, nevertheless.

In England many great old business institutions have been destroyed by the estate taxes. They are liquidated, their old employees go on a miserable, poverty-level dole and the government gets no more taxes of any kind from the business itself or its owners.

But our dodges, including also the executive pensions and variations of "deferred compensations," should not be necessary. The way of it was that we adopted these great death duties but lacked the guts to enforce them when we saw how ruinous they would be. The remedy would be to repeal them. The states have almost entirely surrendered their duty and power to make union goons and racketeers behave. We look helplessly to Washington.

But our considerations in politics do not acknowledge any such issues. We do not understand that the system of public "education" has become an arrogant, demanding monster with a first lien on almost every home in the country. School boards and the national "education" lobby have become so domineering that owners of homes who have long since become so domineering that owners of homes who have long since educated their children and paid the cost have got rid of their old homes.

No such issues will be mentioned in the New York election.

The candidates will express themselves on gambling, which is almost extinct and a petty detail at its worst, parking, crime, subway fares and more and more subsidized housing. The next mayor will be as bad as the last half-dozen.

WHY A MASS ARMY OF FOOT SOLDIERS?
By DeWitt Emery

The current heated controversy over cutting the Air Force appropriations by five billion dollars is a lot of "hog wash." Why?

Because with what the Air Force has left in the '54 appropriation after the cut plus the carry-over of unspent funds from previous appropriations, it will have several billion dollars more than it will be able to spend before the end of fiscal '54.

I suggest that if the Administration really wants to cut defense spending, that it reduce the appropriations for the Army at least 50 percent. This would effect a very much worthwhile saving and it would not impair our defense one iota.

In this day of airplanes which travel faster than the speed of sound, guided missiles, atomic and hydrogen bombs, our defense is still tied to a mass army of foot soldiers. Why? Is this country about to be invaded and we need this mass army for defense? If so, how would the invading army be transported to our shores? Where would the enemy get the ships and what would our Navy and Air Force be doing in the meantime?

We are spending hundreds of millions of dollars, perhaps even billions of dollars building tanks. Why? What are they to be used for? I don't believe anyone ever seriously contended that a tank is a satisfactory weapon to be used in shooting down enemy planes carrying atomic bombs, nor do any of our military experts contend that it will be possible to stop Russia on the ground in Europe.

In a recent speech, Roger M. Kyes, Under Secretary of Defense, made some rather revealing statements. After describing how one level after another of the military bureaucracy adds "safety margins, pipe lines, and attrition factors" until it gets wholly unrealistic estimates of military requirements far beyond the ability of American industry to produce, he said:

"You may be surprised to learn that American industry produced in this country and shipped to Europe twice as much material as was used in the European theater in World War II.

In attempting to give the American people a clearer understanding of the burden which the Pentagon planners have inflicted and want to continue inflicting on the American taxpayers, he said:

"For example, the Army alone now has on hand and on order for distribution of the depot system, goods having a value substantially greater than the total value of all inventories in the hands of all manufacturers of all things within the United States.

"Expenditures of the Army and the Air Force during the current fiscal year (fiscal 1953) are expected to equal or exceed the total net income of all farm operators in the United States during 1952, while Navy expenditures are equivalent to more than three-fourths of the total farm income.

"Total expenditures for the Department of Defense, including military assistance programs, will amount during the current fiscal year to a total equal to the combined dollar sales of the twenty-two largest industrial manufacturing corporations in the United States—this means all corporations with individual sales of one billion or more in 1952."

Certainly what we need is a complete and realistic reappraisal of our entire defense establishment. When we can get this, it undoubtedly will be possible to improve the effectiveness of our defense and at the same time reduce the cost of defense and foreign assistance somewhere in the neighborhood of 50 percent.

The thinking and planning of our joint Chiefs of Staff should be is up to date as are the bombs the Atomic Energy Commission has recently set off in Nevada. They shouldn't be preparing to fight a 1942 war.

Wheeler Ranchers Apply For Feed

SHAMROCK (Special) — An order for 1,236,675 pounds of feed drouth relief program has been made by 205 Wheeler County ranchers and applications are still being made through the county Production and Marketing Administration.

The orders, including cottonseed meal, oats, corn and wheat, are expected to be in Shamrock for distribution in about 10 days. The feed is to come from Lubock and Fort Worth.

Wheeler County farmers are inquiring about hay, needed in the area to maintain livestock herds, according to George Close, Shamrock, chairman of the drouth relief committee.

Other members of the county committee which will screen applications and take charge of distribution of feed are Robert Holt and Bill Brown, Wheeler, Homer Lynch, Wheeler County Farm-Home Administration supervisor, and Ray Siegmund, county agent.

Canadian To Note Bridge Opening

CANADIAN, July 10—(Special)—The new highway bridge over the Canadian River here should be ready for use next week—possibly by Wednesday, according to resident engineer Leo Cantrell.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee is eagerly awaiting the day that traffic is routed over the new bridge, and is making plans for a bridge opening ceremony and celebration. No date for the celebration has yet been set.

The new bridge will eliminate one of the last remaining bottlenecks to traffic on U.S. Highway 60. U.S. 83 will also use the new bridge.

The million-dollar concrete and steel structure is 2,926 feet long and has an overall width of 31 feet, 2 inches. The actual roadway on the bridge is 28 feet wide and has 18 inch curbs one foot above the floor on each side.

Red Cross Unit Selects Officers

Tom Hawk, assistant manager of the Tarrant County Red Cross Chapter and director of public information for that chapter, was guest speaker at the annual Red Cross meeting held last night at 7 in the Palm Room.

Hawk spoke on "Service of Red Cross to a Community." He stressed disaster, blood program, first aid, home nursing and service groups.

Recommendations for vacancies on the board were Mrs. J. M. Turner, treasurer, and Mrs. Jack Foster, secretary. Ross Buzard was re-elected chapter chairman.

Mrs. Rufe Jordan presented awards to five staff aids who were authorized this past year. They were Mrs. W. H. Clodfelter, Mrs. Glen Ritchhart, Mrs. Sam B. Cook, Mrs. W. B. Nellis, and Mrs. C. E. Jeffries

The nominating committee, Mrs. W. R. Campbell, chairman, Albert Doucette, and Mrs. Jack Foster, reported the following directors for the board: Rev. Dick Crews, J. N. McKean, and Mrs. J. M. Turner.

Receiving service awards were Frank Stallings, First Aid instructor; Mrs. W. R. Campbell, chairman of Residential Committee; John Skelly, water safety chairman; Albert Doucette, chairman of the board and vice chairman this year; and Joe Tooley, First Aid chairman.

Mrs. Finis Jordan, treasurer this past year, made a financial report.

An attendance at the meeting of between 40 and 50 people was reported by Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, executive secretary of the Pampa chapter.

Local Delegation To Borger Meet

A local delegation, attending a dinner in Borger Thursday night honoring Marshall Formby of the State Highway Commission, Hereford, heard the commissioner say Texas needs additional highway funds to maintain the network of state roads and to finance new construction.

Included in the Pampa group were Judge J. B. Maguire, representing Gray County, B. H. Cruce, city manager, representing the City of Pampa, and W. B. Weatherred, Sherman White and Fred Thompson, members of the chamber of commerce highway committee.

Residents of Borger and several other Panhandle cities attended the dinner.

Air Tour To Stop In Pampa This Fall

Pampa has been selected as one of the stops to be made in the fifth annual All-Texas Air Tour this fall, according to Asa Burroughs, managing director of the event.

About 75-100 planes will land in Pampa at 4:05 p.m. Oct. 13 and will stay for about an hour. The chamber of commerce aviation committee is working with Horace Tarver, airport manager, on plans for reception ceremonies and entertainment.

The 3,000-mile flight will include 40 stops and is sponsored by the Texas Aviation Association, Texas Private Flyers' Association, Texas Flying Farmers, Texas Ninety Niners, Civil Air Patrol and Texas Aeronautics Commission.

Canadian, Perryton Rotary Clubs Stage Joint Meeting

CANADIAN, July 10—(Special)—Rotarians, Rotary Anns, and guests from the Canadian and Perryton Rotary Clubs met this week at Lake Fryar for an inter-city meeting and joint installation of officers.

Thirty-tree Rotarians from Perryton and 32 from Canadian, with their wives and special guests made up the party for an open-air covered dish supper and program.

Travis Lively of the Pampa Rotary Club presided and conducted the formal installation of new officers for the two clubs.

Tom Abraham is the new president of the Canadian Rotary Club succeeding John Wilkinson. Wilkinson becomes the club's vice president for the coming year.

Gilbert Mize is the new president of the Perryton Rotary Club succeeding Lester Bowman.

Other officers installed by the Canadian Rotarians were Bill Hodges as secretary, succeeding Bill Jackson; and Ivan Conklin, W. C. Blackwell, Cleo Cofey Jr., and Bob Dillman, directors. Conklin was named to succeed director-elect R. A. Ford who has moved to Oklahoma.

H. S. Wilbur, a charter member of the Canadian Rotary Club, presented a past-president's pin to John Wilkinson, and a past-secretary's pin to Bill Jackson, who has served the club in that capacity for four years.

Tom Abraham became the 27th president of the Canadian Rotary Club, which was organized 26 years ago. The Canadian Rotarians sponsored organization of the Perryton Rotary Club 14 years ago.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery with Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home making arrangements.

Young Girl May Obtain Large Estate

MARIETA, Okla., July 10—UP—A pretty 18-year-old Marietta soda fountain clerk Friday was the winner of the first round of a fight over a $40,000 estate, willed to her by a lonely bachelor because she "smiled" at him.

Judge Sam Sullivan upheld the will of the late Robert Howard Shellenberger, Love county rancher, Thursday, and gave the bulk of the estate to Virginia Dell Michael, employe of a local drug store.

Shellenberger, 37, had never married. He shot himself to death on his ranch April 3 and left a note saying:

"This is the only way out." It was signed "Robert."

His friends testified that Shellenberger told them he had revised his will last spring and named Virginia the principal beneficiary because she had been nice to him and "smiled" at him when he visited the drug store.

The girl said she had never dated Shellenberger. Testimony at the will hearing showed he had never dated anyone. He had taken groups of high school girls and boys to football and basketball games.

The will was contested by Shellenberger's father, Roy, of Healdton, Okla., and his brother, William, of Marietta. They received $50 each. They maintained Shellenberger was mentally incompetent when he revised his will. They filed notice of appeal of the ruling.

The will gives a 500-acre ranch to the girl, oil and gas rights and several head of cattle.

Alaska In Darkness Following Eruption Of Three Volcanoes

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, July 10—UP—Ash and dust from three erupting volcanoes plunged 20,000 square miles of western Alaska into darkness Friday, disrupting communications and possibly endangering the lives of 100 persons in a remote fishing village.

The volcanoes began erupting early Thursday sending clouds of hot ashes falling like black snow over a vast area. The explosions were the most severe in more than 40 years.

The volcanic dust completely blacked out Anchorage, a city of 50,000, for several hours. Work came to a standstill while residents stood on the streets gaping at the ash fall.

Fears were expressed for the safety of 100 residents of the fishing village of Tyonek, about 50 miles southwest of Anchorage. There were unconfirmed reports the village was in the path of a huge cloud of hot ashes. However, there were no reports of a lava flow.

The three volcanoes were Mt. Spurr, a 11,069-foot peak, Mt. Tobert, a 10,600-foot peak, and an unidentified mountain.

Wreck Victim Body Due Here Saturday

The body of a former Pampa resident, Pvt. Melvin Thompson who was killed in a car wreck near Camp Roberts on July 4, will arrive here by train at 8:45 a.m., Saturday for funeral services.

Pvt. Thompson, stationed at Fort Ord at the time of his death, entered the Army from Tucson, Ariz. on May 1, 1953 where he had been living. He was employed as a mail carrier there after finishing school. He was born in Pampa on Aug. 3, 1932.

Surviving are his fahter, Allan Thompson, 415 Maple; his mother, Mrs. Cora Thompson, Tucson; and a half-sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Favors, Los Angeles.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

It costs between $750 and $1000 to train an African elephant, but he pays good dividends when put to work on the Congo plantations of the Belgian government.

Houston Man Lost In Sea Mishap

PORT O'CONNOR, Tex., July 10—UP—Coast Guard boats, Corpus Christi Naval Air Station planes and fishing craft joined Friday in an air and sea search for the body of Don R. Swayze, 33, prominent Houston restaurant man who drowned off Pelican Island, Port O'Connor, Wednesday.

Swayze's death was not reported until Thursday, when his two fishing companions were rescued from a small island where they were marooned.

Swayze drowned when the fishing party's rented skiff broke loose from the tiny sandy knoll where they were fishing and he swam after it. He was pulled under by a strong undertow and disappeared.

Ike May Win House Tax Vote

WASHINGTON, July 10—UP—President Eisenhower was assured of a smashing victory Friday as the House prepared to vote on legislation to continue the excess profits tax on corporations until Jan. 1.

Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., predicted that the House would approve the bill by a vote of at least two to one.

Martin called the lawmakers into session at 8 a. m. cst, two hours earlier than usual, for five hours of debate before the final vote. It was expected that the House would pass the bill around 3 p. m.

Judge Has Denied Lipscomb Injunction

Judge Lewis M. Goodrich reported this morning he had denied a temporary injunction yesterday in Lipscomb County which asked that W. C. Kendall be restrained from damming his property.

The case was set for Sept. 2, on a full trial basis, the judge said.

The suit was brought by W. H. Taylor, a neighbor of Kendall's who said the dam on the Kendall pace was preventing a free flow of the creek running through the county and denying him of water. However, Judge Goodrich denied the injunction when Taylor said recent rains had refilled his water tanks and water holes.

Local Kiwanis In Golf Match With Amarillo

A delegation of about 25-30 members of the Amarillo Kiwanis Club was to have charge of the program at the local club meeting at noon today preceding an inter-club golf tournament at the country club golf course.

Water Shortage Hurts Tomatoes

LAREDO, Tex., July 10—UP—Shortage of Rio Grande water threatens a $3 million fall tomato crop, Norman H. Clark, president of the Laredo Area Farm Association, said Thursday.

Clark said the crop would be a failure if Maverick County Irrigation District farmers didn't release one-half of the U.S. share of Rio Grande water as requested.

Farmers in the Laredo area charged Maverick officials at Eagle Pass refused to share the water on an equal basis. The district was reported taking the full flow of the Rio Grande, except for five days in the past month.

Clark said assoication officials have met with their attorneys to try to work out an immediate solution to the problem.

Octaviano Longoria, prominent farmer on the Mexican side of the river, said overuse of water up stream had resulted in a $1.5 million loss in cotton alone on the Mexican side of the river.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Mrs. Friend

I am 14 years old and in my last year of junior high school.

All of the girls in my set have dates for school affairs but my parents won't let me.

They won't even let me walk home from school with a boy or talk to them on the telephone.

They say I will have to be at least 16 before they will trust me to go out with boys as if how old you are makes any difference.

Maria

Dear Maria

Your parents are doing what they think best for you and you would be most unwise to go against their wishes now so that they will not trust you later on when dating will be of much more importance to you than now.

Remember to act as grown up for your age as possible, accepting your school time and home responsibilities in mature manner. Your parents will know that you are growing up then and be more apt to let you have dates for school affairs.

Talk to your mother about it without losing your patience and ask her if she will talk the matter over with one of your teachers. She may not realize that dating for school affairs is so generally done.

"Casserole dishes are a natural for summer meals," says cookbook author Marian Tracy, "because there are so many delicious ways of preparing nourishing but low - cost foods." Mrs. Tracy ought to know because her first book, "Casserole Cookery," has helped make this easy-do method of cooking popular all over this country. She confesses:

"I learned to take shortcuts in cooking because my husband took long cuts."

"Nino had a wonderful way with food and loved to give parties. He would putter over a dish ecstatically until midnight. The trouble was that when he was ready to serve everyone else was ready to go home.

"Late one night, when Nino's dinner was at last on the table, one of our guests refused to join us: 'I never eat just before I go to bed,' he said.

"That's when I decided something had to be done, got interested in casserole cookery, and lured my husband into creating some wonderful casserole dishes. By letting several foods — some of them quick-frozen or canned — burble together in a casserole in the oven, we could relax and enjoy our friends. And we could still eat dinner, if not at seven when Nino cooked, at least by eight. Then all we had to do was to bring the casserole to the table, add a salad, an interesting bread, coffee, cheese or fruit or some other dessert."

At that time Mrs. Tracy worked in a Washington, D. C., book shop, but she wasn't able to find any book devoted to casserole cookery. She noticed, too, that customers kept asking for such a cookbook. This spurred her on to put down the casserole recipes the Tracys had concocted, to track down and develop new ones, and to write a casserole cookbook herself. So many of the people who enjoyed that first book wanted another similar one, and that's why "More Casserole Cookery" has appeared.

Both the Tracy casserole cookbooks not only offer shortcut cookery but encourage informality. Their special format is bequiling. Just one easily read recipe to a page with an accompanying short menu. Casserole cookery and short menus cut down on pots, pans, and platters.

Because she has no taste for desserts herself there are none in Mrs. Tracy's "Casserole Cookery." But she says she has finally given in to readers' tastes and "More Casserole Cookery" includes a number of foolproof sweets to add to a party meal.

One of Mrs. Tracy's favorite combinations is a cheese souffle to which she adds smoked oysters. Another is this recipe:

OYSTERS AND SCALLOPS

Ingredients: ½ cup chopped onions', 1 clove garlic, ¼ cup chopped green pepper, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2½ cups canned tomatoes, 1 ½ teaspoons salt, dash of pepper, dash of cayenne, ½ teaspoon chili powder, ½ teaspoon sugar, 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese, 1 pint fresh oysters (drained), 1 pint scallops, 3 cups hot cooked rice (1 cup raw).

Saute the onion, garlic, and green pepper in butter 5 minutes, or until delicately browned. Add flour and mix well. Add tomatoes, salt, pepper, cayenne, chili powder, sugar, and cheese. Add scallops and oysters. Spread the hot rice in a shallow casserole and pour the oysters and scallops, in the sauce, on top. Heat in a 325-degree oven for about 15 to 20 minutes, just until the edges of the oysters curl. Serves 4 in a civilized way.

RUTH MILLETT

Says Samuel Grafton in a national women's magazine: "The time when it is easiest to hurt and really affront a man is when he's making a display of his masculinity."

He's dead right. And yet a great many wives never seem to be able to let a man show off, even a little, without making an acid comment that ruins his show.

You'll notice this tendency of wives to cut their husbands down to husband-size at parties.

Joe sits down at the piano all primed to play through his meager repertoire, collect a little applause and quit. But Joe's wife remarks after he finishes the first number, "Well, Joe's played his piece. That's over for another evening!"

Bill starts telling a story, building up his own role a little in order to impress those present and Bill's wife trips him up with a wifely reminder that he wasn't quite the hero he is making out.

Ed is off in a corner talking to a pretty young woman and obviously convinced she thinks he is fascinating when his wife walks over and says: "Don't you think you'd better call the baby-sitter, dear, and see if she is getting along all right?"

The ways are endless in which a wife can cut a husband down when he is asserting his masculinity. She knows him so well, knows all his weaknesses, remembers all his past mistakes, and she can always call him back to being "just a husband" with a word or two, or even a look.

But it won't get her anything but a resentful look from her husband. Whereas if she lets him show off now and then without puncturing his self-esteem he'll never get the idea that his wife is the one woman in the world who doesn't appreciate him.

MATURE PARENT

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE

Last summer Sue wore a pink voile dress which she loved. This year when she took it from her closet, she saw it was faded. Two buttons were missing and it needed a new sash. So one Saturday morning when her mother was going shopping, Sue asked her to please bring home a box of pink tint, two pearl buttons and a yard of pink ribbon.

She was carefully washing her dress in special suds when her mother came home. She had not brought the tint, buttons and ribbon. Instead she had brought a big box. She gave it to Sue and said, "Just open it — and see what a good mother you have."

In the box was a pretty blue gingham dress. As Sue obediently tried it on, she mentioned her wish for the pink tint, buttons and ribbon. Her mother became angry. She told Sue that she was an ungrateful girl.

She said, "Fussing about tint and ribbons when I spent an hour in a hot store shopping for that dress to please you. Just complaints for what I didn't get. Not a word of thanks for what I did get."

Morally speaking, we owe nobody gratitude for changing our minds without permission.

At 12, Sue did not know this. She did not know that the time and interest she had given to deciding how to reconstruct her pink voile dress represented her effort to take responsibility for herself. So she could not defend her position to her mother.

She felt shame for what she should have felt pride in. She really believed that she was an ungrateful girl to disagree with her parent.

Today, a mother herself, she still feels uncomfortable wearing something her mother disapproves.

It's no wonder she does. When we've spent years getting our minds changed by someone else, our minds never get the habit of making themselves up.

Once I accused a child of ingratitude for not letting me change her mind for her. She was angry that I had brought home green loafers instead of the brown ones she had asked for.

I listened — and I learned. I discovered that the child was defending thoughtfulness, not ingratitude. The green loafers I had selected would match two school skirts — but the brown ones she had planned on would match five school skirts.

Sometimes we have to change their minds for them without permission. We have to say, "Not that thin dress on this cold day." When we do, let's not label their rebellion "ingratitude." For the rebellion is disappointment of plans we know nothing about. It's the desire to work out some personal problem independently.

Manners Make Friends

Letting a child say "uh-huh" and "yeah" to grownups may be modern, but it isn't good manners. And there's more to teaching a child to show special courtesy to adults than just making him well-mannered. How can we expect a child who doesn't show special respect to grownups to attach any special importance to their opinions or requests?

Or even commands?

Black marks can be removed from wood and linoleum floors with a cleaning and polishing wax. Use fine steel wool if necessary. On asphalt or rubber tile use fine steel wool and soap.

Before washing a garment, close all fasteners lest they damage other garments. Zippers will be safer if closed.

Oilers-Ponies Continue First Division Battle Tonight

The Pampa Daily News
SPORTS
Page 6 PAMPA NEWS, FRIDAY, JULY 10, 1953

PRESS BOX VIEWS

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa Daily News Sports Editor

TONIGHT WILL BE A BIG night at Oiler Park. The Elks Club is more or less "sponsoring" the game. They've been selling tickets the past several days of which they will split the profits of their sales with the Oilers.

The Elks' share of the profits will go toward their project of sponsoring the Elks Crippled Children's Hospital near Dallas.

And the Elks have a side-light on tonight's game that you don't want to miss. They have lined up Quincy Barbee and Manager Porky Pawelek to stage a foot-race before the game to see who is the "fastest." Barbee, however, is complaining of a 'charley horse' and may not be able to run.

There may be some more extra curricular activity going on at the ball park tonight. The Elks couldn't have picked a better game to have their night. The Oilers are pitted against the Plainview Ponies who, at the moment, are staging a terrific battle with the Oilers for fourth place in the standings.

You know, the main objective of the league is to finish somewhere in top four. It would be nice to finish on top of the heap at the final gun but we'd be satisfied with any one of the places in the upper division.

The league champion is the team that wins the Shaughnessy Playoffs in the post-season series among the top four clubs.

Let's make tonight a good night for both the Elks and the Oilers. Remember, by buying your ticket from an Elks Club member, half of the money will go to help some child walk.

THE INDIVIDUAL BATTING AND PITCHING records of Wednesday night's abbreviated second game of a doubleheader will not go into the official record books. This rule is one that yours truly would like to see changed. It's a shame to have to take away the hits a player gets just because the game didn't go the required limit. The rule states that if two teams play to a tie after five innings have been played and is called, the individual batting, fielding and pitching records will be counted even though the game must be completely replayed at a later date. So, why not count the individual marks on games that are cut short of five innings because, like the tie games, the two teams must start all over when replaying the game.

Bob Lemmel of Albuquerque was the hardest hit because of the ruling. He had a single and double in two trips. Four others, two Dukes and two Oilers, had perfect nights going with one-for-one. Rookie Jim Robinson of the Oilers had a 2-run single to go by the boards. Doug Lewis was deprived of a hit and a RBI. Deck Woldt, Max Molberg, Pawelek and Barbee all had walks in their only trip before the game was called.

And furthermore, the Oilers possibly were the victims of the called game in so far as a win or loss was concerned. The odds were in their favor since they owned a 3-0 lead when play was halted. And we could certainly stand another mark tacked on the won column.

We do, however, get another chance to win the game since it will be replayed later in the season.

Albuquerque, apparently, figured their chances weren't too good of winning Wednesday's second game. When the wind died down and it looked like the weather might permit the game to go on, several of the Duke players began to pick up sand from in front of their dugout and tossed it in the air in an attempt to let the umpires think the sandstorm was still in progress. And when a few rain-drops began to fall, one of the Dukes kneeled in front of the dugout as if he were praying for rain to hurry up and come.

OILER SHORTSTOP JOHN SANDERSON has been put on a 10-day inactive list. After a 10-day rest, the Negro infielder may get back in stride when he returns to the lineup.

Still no word from the two players the Oilers purchased from Middlesboro, Ky., infielder - outfielder Oscar Rodriguez and pitcher Gordon Wood. They're supposed to be enroute but they must have stopped off to see Aunt Susie or somebody.

Furillo Raises Average

BROOKLYN, July 10—UP—Carl Furillo of the Dodgers is one of the hottest hitters in the major leagues with a .449 batting average for his last 12 games. During that period, the Dodger outfielder has collected 21 hits in 49 at-bats, lifting his batting average from .308 to .335.

Elks Club Night Set; Day To Hurl

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Lefthander Benny Day will be out to make it a repeat performance over the Plainview Ponies when he takes the hill tonight for the Oilers against the Ponies at Oiler Park. Day, in his first Oiler start Monday night, collaborated with Sad Sam Williams to blank the Ponies at Plainview.

Plainview, with the help of six Oiler errors, moved back into fourth place last night with a slugging 16-10 decision over the Oilers in the first of the two-game series. The Oilers thus dropped back to fifth after a 1-day stay in the upper division. An Oiler win tonight, however, would return them to the first division.

Game time tonight has been set for 8:15. It will be "Elks Club Night" at the local park. The Elks' share of tonight's ticket sales will go toward financing the Elks Crippled Children's Hospital near Dallas.

In last night's game, 33-hits were sprayed to all corners by the two clubs with the Ponies collecting 18 safeties and the Oilers 15. Six pitchers saw action in the game, four by the Oilers and two by the Ponies. Orlando Rodriguez, first of the quartet of Oiler hurlers, was charged with the loss. Rodriguez, recently purchased from Paris of the Big State League, was making his first start for the Oilers.

Oran Stoker, although hit hard by the Oilers, got credit for the win, his sixth against three losses. Stoker, however, required help from Lee Gatewood in the sixth inning when the Oilers staged a 6-run rally. The Oiler rally in the sixth reduced a once Plainview 8-run lead to one run.

Plainview led 10-2 after four innings but the Oilers made a game attempt to catch up in the fifth and sixth innings, scoring once in the fifth and six in the sixth to cut the Pony lead to 10-9.

But the Ponies retaliated quickly by scoring five in the eighth to ice the decision. It was the second five-run inning for the Ponies in the game. The visitors tallied five times in the opening frame — four of which were unearned.

The only earned run by the Ponies in the hello inning came on Bobby Brown's leadoff walk and Jim Calahan's bad-hop triple. It was at this point that the Oiler defense cracked. Two-double plays were muffed and before Max Molberg came in to put out the fire, the Ponies had five juicy runs across.

The Oilers got two of them back in the first inning. Deck Woldt and Molberg drew successive walks and after Manny Temes flew out, Doug Lewis singled to load 'em up. Porky Pawelek flied to center to score Woldt and Jim Robinson singled to score Molberg. A mixup on the basepaths halted the rally as Robinson ran up on Lewis at second and Lewis was finally tagged after a rundown.

After Plainview rallied for two in the second and three in the fourth to extend its lead to 10-2, the Oilers began playing catchup. The Pampans got one in the sixth on doubles by Molberg and Lewis and almost caught up in the next inning with six runs crossing.

The Oilers sent 10-men to the plate in the sixth. They had six runs in with only one out and two on but George Lambrinos hit into a double play to stop the rally with the Oilers still one run shy of catching up, trailing 9-10 at this point. Woldt's two-run single featured the big Oilers sixth.

What intentions the Oilers had of overtaking the Ponies went out the window in the seventh when the visitors broke loose for five more runs.

The Oilers' final run came in the bottom of the seventh when Woldt led with a walk and later scored on Gatewood's wild pitch.

Jim Calahan, who led the Pony attack with three hits — all for extra bases — completed the night's scoring with a bases empty homer in the eighth, the only roundtripper of the game.

Ponies Regain Fourth Place

By UNITED PRESS

Plainview's Ponies moved back into fourth place in the West Texas New Mexico League Thursday night by beating the Pampa Oilers 16 to 10, dropping the Oilers into fifth place by one-half game.

The league leading Lubbock Hubbers scored two runs in the bottom of the 11th inning to edge Abilene 7 to 6—the second extra inning game between the two teams in two nights and the second won by Lubbock.

Second-place Clovis kept pace—two games behind Lubbock—as Carroll (Red) Dial pitched a four hitter in beating Amarillo 6 to 4. In the fourth game, Albuquerque slammed two Borger pitchers for 18 hits and a 21 to 0 trouncing at Albuquerque

Assuming your stance, make sure your feet are lined up with the line of flight, pointed outward to the degree you intend them to be in.

Be certain the weight is distributed evenly on the feet.

When your stance becomes natural, you learn to check the weight distribution automatically as you start to address the ball.

The stance should become as grooved as the swing.

Flex your knees slightly when you have properly taken your stance. This will aid in distributing the weight on the feet more toward the heel rather than the ball of the foot. This brings up the matter of balance again. Weight on the heels is a much better aid for maintaining balance than weight shifted to the balls of the feet.

The slight bending of the knees causes them to act as a cushion, or a shock absorber, in swinging the club to and through the ball. This produced an even motion to your swing going back, at contact and following through. Otherwise, it becomes a jerky, uncoordinated movement.

You should have the feeling that you're sitting down at the ball.

If you haven't that feeling, check your knees and the weight distribution on your feet.

The manner in which you take the step up to the ball becomes quite essential to the eventual proper execution of your swing.

No doubt you have seen many golfers completely confused on how and where to place their feet for specific shots with various woods and irons. Many golfers never bother to get this confusion straightened out and keep right on shuffling and shifting away.

Almost any professional could iron this out for them in a hurry, if they would merely apply themselves.

NEXT: Where to play the ball between the feet.

Overlooked For All-Star Duty
Parnell Records 2nd Yank Shutout

NEW YORK, July 10—UP—Casey Stengel admitted he asked for trouble when he left pitchers Mel Parnell of Boston and Bob Porterfield of Washington off the all star squad, and they might give it to him in a big one-two punch.

Parnell, one of the authentic stars who won't be twinkling when the big league big-wigs battle each other at Cincinnati next Tuesday, was happy enough Friday to settle for his second straight shutout over the Yankees as a consolation prize.

He's only the number one winner in the American League with 12 victories and four defeats, but Stengel, the American League manager, didn't think he rated a spot on the squad. Parnell, the smooth southpaw from New Orleans, avenged the snub Thursday by blanking the Yankees 4 to 0. He beat them recently in Boston by the same margin.

And now Stengel has to contend Friday with Porterfield, another ace pitcher, who has won 10 games, five of them shutouts.

Porterfield, who blanked the Yankees 4 to 0 with a fivehitter at Washington last Sunday, has had an extra day of rest and would be delighted to do the same thing that Parnell accomplished.

Looks to Power

Stengel, who picked five right handed pitchers and a lefty despite the fact that the starting National League lineup will contain six left handed batters, said he expected repercussions but that his big thought was to concentrate on hitters who could offset the senior circuit's power boys.

Parnell gained his victory, which cut the Yankee lead to five games, with a steady eighthitter as Dick Gernet supplied a threerun homer off loser Whitey Ford.

Both second place Chicago and third place Cleveland gained on the Yankees. Cleveland downed the Browns 9 to 1 in a night game as Bob Lemon pitched a five hitter and drove in three runs with a double and single for his 11th victory. Chicago topped Detroit 4 to 2 to hang on to second place a game ahead of the Indians.

In the only other American League game Washington defeated the Athletics for the sixth straight time 8 to 4 as Spec Shea turned in his eighth victory against one defeat, but ran into trouble because he gave up 10 walks.

Sam Mele hit this third homer in as many games with a man on base to give the White Sox their victory as relief pitcher Harry Dorish pitched scoreless onehit relief ball of 5 1-3 innings.

Brooklyn Lead Cut

In the National League, Brooklyn's lead was cut to three games when the Phillies came from behind to beat the Dodgers, 6 to 5 on a two-run double by Smokey Burgess in the eighth inning. The game was notable because the Brooklyn record NL home run streak was extended to 23 games on a two-run blast by Roy Campanella and because Robin Roberts, who had hurled 28 straight complete games over a two-year period, was knocked out of the box in a two-run Dodger eighth. Bob Miller came in to relieve him and receive his first victory.

The Giants cashed in on the second two-hit shutout of the year by rookie Ruben Gomez, beating the Pirates 4 to 0, and extending their winning streak to six games. Hank Thompson hit a two-run homer, his 15th, and Whitey Lockman collected four hits including his 1,000th as a major leaguer.

There were no other major league games scheduled.

Thursday's Star: Ruben Gomez of the Giants, who turned in his second two-hit shutout of the year, defeating the Pirates 4 to 0.

Topsy-Turvy TL Race Finds Dallas Eagles On Top Again

By UNITED PRESS

The Texas League lead, being bandied back and forth like a hot potato between Dallas and Shreveport, landed in Dallas' lap again Friday.

The Eagles took the lead by one-half game Thursday night as Willard Browns's two run homer in the 13th inning gave pitcher Jose Santiago a 4 to 2 victory over San Antonio. Shreveport fell from the place as a two-run ninth inning rally fell short and Tulsa took a 7 to 6 victory at Shreveport.

In other games, the Oklahoma City Indians stayed on the warpath with their fifth straight win, a 7 to 4 victory over Beaumont, and Houston evened its series with Fort Worth 4 to 2 at Houston.

After Jim Fridley's 15th homer of the year for San Antonio in the first inning and the leadoff man in the second got a single, the Santiago pitched no-hit ball for the next 10 innings. Russ Bauers, the third San Antonio pitcher, was the loser.

Tulsa relief pitcher Al McNeillance stifled a Shreveport ninth-inning threat to preserve the win for Oiler starter Don Mossi in the game at Shreveport.

Bob Hazle drove in two runs for Tulsa with a home run in the third inning off starting and losing pitcher Doyle Lade. What proved to be the winning run was forced across by Sport reliefer Bud Lively in the ninth inning.

Oklahoma City came from behind with three runs in each of the seventh and eighth inning to beat Beaumont 7 to 4. Home runs by Joe Frazier and Joe Damato in the eighth inning broke a 4-all tie, giving the win to relief pitcher Vern Olsen.

Ed Konick, Beaumont starter, suffered his fifth loss of the season against 10 wins.

Houston nicked Fort Worth starter Bill Glane for two runs in the sixth inning that furnished the edge in the 4 to 2 Buff win.

Docs OK Card Star For All-Star Tilt

ST. LOUIS, July 10—UP—A medical verdict Thursday returned St. Louis Cardinal second baseman Red Schoendienst to action in time to play in next Tuesday's All-Star game, but squelched catcher Del Rice's chances of making the annual classic.

Dr. I. O. Middleman, club doctor, pronounced Schoendienst able to play in the Cardinals' game with Milwaukee here Friday night. The red-head has recovered from a groin injury suffered at Milwaukee last Sunday.

But Middleman could only make an "optimistic" estimate that Rice, whose throwing hand thumb was injured at Cincinnati Wednesday night, will be sidelined a week to 10 days.

Although Middleman said the injury, a chip fracture, "could have been worse," he added the thumb was "badly lacerated" and would have to be put in a splint.

Leading Colts Bow To Odessa Oilers

By UNITED PRESS

Odessa's sixth-place Oilers got even with league-leading San Angelo Thursday night as Manager Bob Martin led the Oilers to a 6 to 2 victory. It evened the three game series at one each.

Martin got four hits in four at bats, a homer and a double. Odessa's Orlando Zgraggen gave up seven hits to become the winner and Ben Bonine took the defeat.

In other games, second-place Artesia drew to within three games of San Angelo as pitcher Len Ruyle won his 15th game of the season 6 to 3. Artesia was behind until the sixth inning, but got benefit of a two-run double by Hernando Sanchez and a homer by Les Mulcahy with one on base.

In the third game, ninth-inning hits by Mickey Diaz and Scooter Hughes gave Midland a 3 to 2 win over Big Spring. Diaz doubled and Hughes singled, scoring two runs.

Ben In 3-Way Tie For Lead At Carnoustie

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, July 10—UP—Little Ben Hogan shot a pressure-packed two-under-par 70 over the rain-soaked Carnoustie course Friday and moved into a tie with Roberto Devicenzo of Argentina for the three-round lead in the British Open Golf championship.

Hogan's brilliant third round, which was finished in a steady rain, gave him a 54-hole total of 214 strokes and left him in a good position to win the tournament in Friday afternoon's round. Hogan started the day's play two strokes behind the lead.

DeVicenzo, the long hitter from the Pampas who was only one stroke behind first place after Thursday's second round, shot a 71 Friday.

Except for a disastrous 17th hole, the 40-year-old U. S. champion might have taken over the 54-hole lead all by himself. Three under par on the 17th tee, Hogan pushed his drive to the right and then bunkered his second shot. His recovery left him 2 feet short with a downhill put. His first effort left him three feet short of the cup and he missed his second attempt.

Recovers With Birdie

Then, just as he had done twice before after bogeying, Hogan recovered with a birdie. On the 503-yard 18th, he hit a tremendous drive, dropped his second shot 10 feet from the pin, and two-putted for a four. His first putt stopped on the lip of the cup as he barely missed an eagle.

Little Dai Rees of Wales, who was tied for the lead after Thursday's second round, shot a 73 and fell back to a three-man tie for the runner-up spot with Peter Thomson of Australia and Antonio Cerda of Argentina. Each had 215, just one stroke behind Hogan and DeVicenzo.

Cerda shot a 69 for the best card of the third round, while Thomson had a 71.

Eric Brown of Scotland, who was tied with Rees at the 36-hole mark, soared to 75 with a wretched last nine holes and had an aggregate of 217 that tied him with amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio.

Stranahan rallied with an eagle on the last hole but could do no better than a 73. He was tied with Hogan at the start of Friday's play.

Bobby Locke of South Africa, the defending champion who has won the British Open title three times in the last four years, also ran into trouble. He shot a third round 74 that gave him an aggregate of 219. He apparently was out of the running.

Hogan, once again trailed by a gallery of nearly 10,000 despite the poor weather, demonstrated his remarkable ability to recover each time he faltered. It seemed he might be headed for a blowup when he bogeyed the fourth and fifth holes, but he baffled back with birdies on the next two holes and was one-under-par 35 for the first nine.

He went over par again on the 12th, but once more birdied the next two holes. And when he double-bogeyed the 17th, Bantam Ben closed out the round with his seventh birdie on the last hole.

News In Balance

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst

The week's balance sheet between the good and bad news in the hot and cold wars:

Good News

1. Korean truce talks, broken off virtually on the eve of signing by Syngman Rhee's single-handed action releasing 27,000 North Korean war prisoners, were on the track again. Intensive pressure from the United States had not altered Rhee's opposition to a truce which leaves a divided Korea, but the United Nations had served notice they were determined to go ahead.

2. East Berliners on sitdown, slowdown and strike against the Communists won the release of thousands of anti-Communist demonstrators arrested after the June 17 uprising and also a reopening of normal traffic between the East and West zones of the divided former German capital. The Communists also made important concessions in Hungary where they reorganized the government and announced plans to step up food production while slowing down the heavy industrialization program. Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito — a man who by experience should know — believed the changes were real, brought on by the past mistakes and weaknesses.

3. However, Neither Tito nor his new allies, Greece and Turkey, were taking chances. Foreign ministers of the three Balkan countries met in Athens to tighten mutual defenses and knit plans for a common front against Russia.

Bad News

1. Since the death of Premier Josef Stalin last March, the position of Russia as opposed to the western world has been uncertain. More uncertainty was created Thursday night. A party communique announced that Lavernti P. Beria, head of Russian secret police and No. 2 man in the new government, had been fired as a traitor. Inside Russia, it almost certainly meant the start of a bloody purge. What it would do to the Russia peace offensive was anybody's guess.

2. In Rome, 72-year-old Premier Alcide De Gasperi has been 7½ years charting the course of a country which had been defeated in war, suffered from over-population and unemployment, and was threatened by communism. In addition, in Italy's general elections he had come so close to defeat as to be without a workable majority in the National Assembly. He was tired and he wanted to quit. But he still was the strongest man in Italy, and so this week he was trying again to form a government.

3. French Premier Joseph Laniel rammed a new tax bill through the French Chamber of Deputies but still faced rough going in the Senate. He needed another huge, inflationary loan from the Bank of France to keep the government solvent. Those were troubles enough. But, in addition, in Africa Tunisian Nationalists were on the move again and similar forces continued to disrupt the French war effort in Indochina.

'Tough Thieves'

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10—UP—Five "tough thieves" who broke into a toy store were captured by police as they tried to make their getaway on scooters. They ranged in ages from eight to 12 years.

Autopsy Ordered In Boy's Drowning

GALVESTON, July 10—UP—Results of an autopsy Friday were expected to reveal whether a 17-year-old crippled boy drowned or met with foul play.

The body of James Barrett was found floating in shallow water in the Gulf Thursday. Two boys found the nude body and beach patrol men worked for more than an hour in an effort to revive the youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Barrett of Galveston.

The body had bruised lips and bloody eyes when found, but authorities said that could have been caused by water bumping the body around.

The youth's father said his boy never went swimming unattended, but often went in wading to exercise his deformed feet. The youth was last seen walking down 41st street. He was wearing blue jeans at that time.

Abilene Bank Plans New Office Building

ABILENE, Tex., July 10—UP—The Citizens National Bank has purchased a full city block in the downtown section on which the bank plans to build a five-story bank and office building.

Malcolm Meek, president of the bank, did not disclose the purchase price. It was understood to be about $375,000.

Meek said planning will begin immediately and it is hoped construction can start by January 1. The bank will occupy the first floor and basement; while the rest will be used for office space.

The bank will be located across the street from the new four-story Farmers' and Merchants' Bank. Meek said the Citizens National building may be built taller than five stories if it appears there is a need for more office space.

Soft Employer

COLUMBUS, July 10—UP — The Ohio State Employment Service sent a young applicant for day work to a home for the wage of $6 and a free meal.

The domestic reported the housewife handed her the $6 upon arriving and said "It's too hot to work, let's go to a tavern."

After a few cold ones, the housewife took the girl home, gave her the dinner, and then sent the girl on her way.

Good Job; No Pay

WETHERSFIELD, Conn., July 10—The state is looking for a harbor master for Wethersfield Cove.

Applicants for the job must become a resident of the town and post a $300 bond.

The successful applicant will get no salary, no boat and if he fails to enforce the six-mile-an-hour speed law for the cove he loses the $300 bond.

Requests Memento

SANTA PAULA, Calif., July 10—UP—Southern Pacific railroad officials Friday considered Miss Millie Nelson's request for one of their telephone poles.

The pole was struck and snapped off by an auto — Miss Nelon's auto. She wants it as a memento.

Prince, a cheetah or hunting leopard in the London Zoo, is so friendly that he eats from spoons held by visiting children.

Skellytown Lions Elect Officers

SKELLYTOWN (Special) — The Lions Club entertained wives of members and elected officers at a recent meeting held in the Skellytown grade school cafeteria and a banquet was served to the members and their guests. The outgoing president was Wayne Johnson. The new president is C. C. McIntyre. Vice president is E. E. Crawford and A. D. Parsons is the new secretary and treasurer. Frosty Horner is the lion tamer and Edd Harmon is the tail twister.

Serving on the board of directors will be W. N. Adams, Alvin Smith, Les Kreis, C. D. Biggers, Jack Cornwell and Con Foster.

The newly elected officers were installed by district governor, Dalton Ford, of White Deer. A gift of jewelry was presented to the Lions Club sweetheart, Miss Betty Lou Cofer, who played several piano selections during the evening. Margaret Moran sang a solo and Patsy Moran and Margaret sang a duet. Rev. Eugene Brand gave the invocation and all members participated in the dismissal ceremony.

Auto Injuries Are Fatal

FORT HOOD, Tex., July 10—UP—Injuries received in an automobile accident near Fort Hood July 4 proved fatal Thursday to Pfc. Charles T. Raby, 22, of Bertram, Tex. Raby was a member of Headquarters Company, First Guided Missile, Fort Bliss, El Paso.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., July 10—UP—Firemen donned gas masks while fighting a fire in the Woonsocket Napping Machinery Co. It was a minor blaze and there was very little smoke but that skunk trapped in the basement—whew!

Red Cross Man Cites Need For Blood Program Support

"Truce talk or no truce talk, peace or no peace," the American Red Cross' national blood program is "an important phase of national defense" and must be continued.

That was the gist of an address before the weekly meeting of the Pampa Lions Club by Tom Hawk, Fort Worth, director of public information for that Red Cross chapter.

"Don't be turned off the track by current peace talks," Hawk cautioned local Lions Thursday noon, maintaining that blood is now regarded as a "critical national resource like rubber and steel." The federal Office of Defense Mobilization controls U. S. blood resources, he added.

Citing statistics to prove that "we should never send an American GI into Korea without a bottle or two of blood behind him," the Red Cross representative stated that only 2.6 per cent of wounded men now die. In World War I, it was 8-11 per cent; in World War II, less than 5 per cent.

Voluntary contributions of blood from the American people, Hawk continued, are used for four purposes: (1) whole blood for Korea (good only for 21 days), (2) plasma for reserve and for immediate treatment on the battlefield, (3) for civil defense and (4) for gamma globulin (to modify crippling effects of polio).

Proof of the worth of having plenty of whole blood and blood plasma on hand for wounded servicemen, he insisted, is in the fact that "there are more men living to tell the story than ever before."

Prior to Hawk's talk, Miss Gerry Sloan, local songstress who will be a high school junior this fall, sang two numbers to the accompaniment of Miss Ann Jordan, pianist.

In introducing the day's program, E. O. (Red) Wedgeworth, program chairman, said that his committee will try and have a "little spice" and a "little education" each Thursday. This time, he pointed out, Hawk was the education and Miss Sloan, the spice.

'Sober As A Judge'

PETALUMA, Calif., July 10—UP—A jury and Judge William I. Locarnini ruled Thursday that Judge Roland C. Webb was "sober as a judge" when arrested here for drunkenness last month.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids will be received by the Commissioners' Court of Gray County, Texas, on an agricultural lease on approximately four hundred (400) acres of land in Section No. 121, Block No. 3, in Gray and Roberts County, Texas, for two years beginning July 15, 1953, and ending July 15, 1955, or at the expiration of wheat harvest, whichever is earlier.

All bids must be filed with the County Judge on or before 10:00 a.m., July 13, 1953, at which time they will be opened by the Commissioners' Court. The Commissioners' Court reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Bids must be submitted on the forms obtainable at the Office of the County Judge.

No bid will be considered unless it is accompanied by a guaranty in the form of a cashier's check payable to the County Treasurer, Gray County, Texas, equal to one year's cash rental. The successful bidder will be required to enter into a lease with Gray County on the form furnished by the County. The rental is payable annually, in advance, on July 15 of each year.

CHARLIE THUT,
County Clerk,
Gray County, Texas.

NOTICE OF BOARD OF EQUALIZATION MEETING
PAMPA INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

In obedience to the order of the Board of Equalization regularly convened and sitting, notice is hereby given that said Board of Equalization will be in session at its regular meeting place in the City of Pampa, Gray County, Texas, at 9 o'clock a.m., on the 20th day of July, 1953, for the purpose of determining, fixing, and equalizing the value of any and all taxable property situated in the said Pampa Independent School District for taxable purposes for the year 1953, and any and all persons interested or having business with said Board are hereby notified to be present.

ROY McMILLEN, Secretary,

Started Fashion

The fashion of glove wearing was introduced in Europe in the 11th century, when the Doge of Venice, Domenigo Salva, married the daughter of the emperor of Constantinople. The lady always wore scented gloves in public, and the fashion soon spread to France and Spain.

Coral Island

Coral islands are not solid coral, but rock-formed mountains coated with coral. Most corals cannot grow at great depths, which makes it practically impossible for a coral island to build up from excessive depths.

Harvard and Rugby

The first college in the United States to play "rugby football" was Harvard, which accepted a challenge from McGill University, of Montreal, in 1874, and liked the game so well that other colleges began playing it.

Another Attendance Record

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 9—UP—For the second straight night enthusiastic Braves fans have set a new Milwaukee attendance record for the season. A total of 37,119 fans saw the Braves lose to the Chicago Cubs Wednesday night 7 to 3. On Tuesday night, 37,13 fans saw the Braves beat the Cubs, 4 to 1.

Optimistic GOP Machine Sees Sweep In 1954 Election

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —Republican National Committee headquarters in Washington has now moved into fancy new air-conditioned office space, just a couple of blocks from the White House.

The entire headquarters staff is now all together on one floor, one flight up. There's an auto ramp in the building core which permits a few of the hot shots to park their cars only a few steps through a fire door and down the hall from their desks.

Incidentally, a part of the now-contracting International Information Administration of the State Department was moved out of this space to make room for the Republican National Committee.

Formerly the GOP organization in Washington was scattered in a hotel and a couple of other buildings. One of the buildings was so narrow that people practically had to sit on each others' laps.

Now, under the new national chairman, Leonard Hall of New York, a lot of files have been put in storage, the staff has been cut by some 50 people to a little over 100, the rent has been cut, the committee is $100,000 in the black and the goose hangs high in jovial, fat-man optimism.

The election in 1954 is going to be a breeze—if you believe what Republican spokesmen say about it now.

Taxes are going to be reduced next year and there will be peace in Korea this year. Those are the two things said to count most with the voters.

No Serious Obstacles

The fact that taxes are not being reduced this year is considered of minor importance. Individual income tax rates will decline automatically Jan. 1. It wouldn't do to allow the excess-profits tax to expire before individual income taxes are cut. So the EPT, as it's now called for short, will be continued till the end of the year, in fairness to the little taxpayers.

Then, with the casualty lists from Korea ended, everything will be rosy—from the Republican point of view.

The drop in farm prices is not considered a serious obstacle. This is of course the eastern thinking. It may represent a serious blind spot for Republican strategists, but that's the way they talk now.

Nor is the labor vote situation taken too seriously. The unions are getting heir wage increases now in free negotiations, without government interference and without strikes. Agitation for Taft-Hartley law reform is regarded as principally the work of union officials and organizers. It is not considered representative of rank-and-file opinion.

Ike is everything and everything is Ike. Ike is said to have more popularity today than FDR had in 1933, at the beginning of his term. The Democrats gained 14 seats in Congress in the 1934 elections. The Republicans hope to beat that in 1954.

If they do, it will be the second time in U.S. history that a party in power has increased its congressional majority in mid-term elections. Customarily, the party in power loses seats in a mid-term election.

The Republicans won 221 of 435 congressional districts in 1952. But Ike carried 280. The hope is to build up the Republican majority in the next Congress to something like that figure.

Any Kind Will Do

No particular effort is now planned to get Republican congressional candidates pledged to support President Eisenhower's program. That apparently is not considered important, since there have been on open splits between the President and Congress thus far. Any kind of Republican will apparently do, just so he's labeled Republican.

The fight, however, will be in some 85 districts where the election last year was close. They include 40 districts in 22 states which the Republicans won with less than 55 per cent of the vote and 45 districts which the Democrats won by the same slim margin.

The Republican patronage business is gradually being straightened out. Instead of being concentrated in the White House office of the assistant to the President, Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, patronage is now being handled by National Committee headquarters. It is being linked to marginal states and districts.

The businessman cabinet is now said to have been fully indoctrinated on the importance of patronage. The plan now is to have government officials call up and say, "We need half a dozen attorneys." Or personnel men, engineers or whatever are needed.

National headquarters then picks the states from which the men should come and the state political leaders are asked to recommend candidates. But the system still isn't perfect, for in a number of states the two senators or the governor and state chairman are in rival, local political camps.

Pressure On Ike For USSR Meet

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst

Pressure is building on President Eisenhower to agree to a four-power meeting with Russia.

Both Britain and France favor such a move and are expected to try to impress their views on United States Secretary of State John Foster Dulles when the Big Three foreign ministers meet in Washington Friday.

The powerful West German Socialists favor it because they believe it is their best chance to achieve a re-unified Germany.

This week another voice was added.

A Qualified Voice

It was that of Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito. Tito—whose past association with Moscow makes him the best qualified man in Europe to interpret the Kremlin's mind and moves—believes that Russia is in the midst of policy changes brought on by past mistakes and weaknesses.

Tito says his mind was made up by the abrupt changes in Hungary where Premier Matyas Rakosi was deposed and the industrialization campaign sharply de-emphasized.

First reaction to the bewildering succession of events behind Europe's "Iron Curtain" was one of suspicion—that even the East German uprisings somehow masked some vast new Russian scheme.

Since then, however, the belief has grown that at least some of the events are real and not just tactical.

The East German revolt, for example, now has lasted nearly a month.

In the satellites also there is reason to believe that the Russians are acting through necessity.

The result has been that the Russians have been compelled to ease up their campaign to build heavy industry and do something about food production.

Just Policy Change

Tito believes there is a change in Soviet policy but not basic aims.

That means he believes present changes are not necessarily permanent and that he believes the west should exploit a Russian weakness now.

Tito's views apparently coincide with those of Winston Churchill and most of Western Europe. The United States up to now has preferred to await more cracks in the Russian armor.

Hospital May Face Imprisonment Case

SAN ANTONIO, July 10—UP—A 12-year-old boy was out of Robert B. Green hospital Friday after an assistant district attorney said he might charge the hospital with 'false imprisonment."

The boy allegedly was held until two pints of blood were replaced. Mrs. Margarita Gomez said her son, Danny, was ready for release from the hospital after an emergency operation for appendicitis. But she said she was told he couldn't go home until she found two blood donors to replace blood given him during the operation.

City and county officials promised an investigation of the charges revealed by Assistant District Attorney Roy Barrera.

Barrera said "a nurse in the pediatrics ward" confirmed it was "hospital policy" to require repayment of blood before release. She told him it was often necessary to "scare people into repaying blood," he said.

Goldman Drury, hospital administrator, denied there was any such policy. "I'll be glad to check into it," he said. "It just couldn't possibly be."

Paint Assures Peace

OTTAWA, Ont., July 10—UP—The Ottawa Journal, noting that the Soviet embassy residence here was being painted, predicted flatly there would be no war in the immediate future.

"The powers that be in the Kremlin would never order that large embassy residence painted if they knew that next week or next year they were going to bomb the city to smithereens. . . not with the cost of painters what it is today," the Journal said in an editorial.
