Ask Us

Q. — How do you get hold of state or federal labor boards.

A. — Regional offices for both are located in Lubbock. On the national level, it is the Department of Labor office at 1205 Texas Ave., (806) 743-7666; and at the state level, it is the Department of Labor and Standards under the attorney general's office. This regional office is located at 800 Broadway and the phone is (806) 765-7221.

In Brief

Pink slips

HOUSTON (AP) — In an attempt to solve city budget problems, officials have told 128 city workers they will not have their jobs after Sept. 30, a city official says.

The pink slips went out Wednesday to the workers, bringing to 363 the number laid off in the past few months, according to city Personnel Director Carol Parmer.

Nearly half those laid off are black, and 62 percent are men, officials said.

Hardest hit by the latest layoffs was the Finance and Administration Department, where 47 are being laid off by reorganization and the recent privatization of the city's tax services.

Death term

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas jury has set death by injection for punishment of a man convicted in the robbery slaying of the wife of a prominent civil rights lawyer.

Kenneth Thomas, 26, was sentenced to death Wednesday following his conviction in the stabbing death of Mildred Finch, 64, who was stabbed more than 80 times in the March 16, 1986 robbery.

Local

Club to meet

The Snyder area Model Airplane Club will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday at the TU Electric Crew Room at 32nd Street and Avenue M. The public is invited.

Russians seeking sentence for pilot

MOSCOW (AP) — The prosecutor in the case against Mathias Rust today called for a sentence that would send the West German teen-ager to prison for eight years for landing a plane in Red Square.

In closing remarks during the second day of Rust's trial, Prosecutor Vladimir Andreyev asked the court to sentence Rust to eight years for breaking international flight rules, four years for malicious hooliganism and two years for violating the Soviet border. The sentences would run concurrently.

Rust and his defense lawyer were to have a final chance to speak on Friday morning, before the judge and two lay assistants consider a verdict.

Prosecution witnesses testified today that the 19-year-old pilot frightened pedestrians when he swooped over the Kremlin and landed his small plane in Red Square on May 28.

Rust testified Wednesday that he made the flight in a bid to meet with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev and advocate world peace.

Iraqi attack...

Two seamen killed

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — U.S. warships today began escorting a convoy of reflagged Kuwaiti tankers through the Persian Gulf, where the first deaths were reported since Iran and Iraq's war on shipping escalated sharply.

Owners of a small supply vessel confirmed today that two seamen had been killed in an Iraqi attack that sank the ship Tuesday. They were the first fatalities in this week's flare-up of the 3-year-old "tanker war."

Officials of the Kuwait Oil Tanker Co., speaking on condition they not be identified, confirmed the departure of three loaded tankers for the 550-mile southbound voyage through the gulf.

The convoy's departure came as Iranian speedboats carried out two more attacks, against a Japanese tanker and an Italian motor vessel, and Iraq claimed to have hit another large tanker.

Italian shipping sources confirmed that the 17,172-ton vessel Jolly Rubino was raked by machine gun fire that wounded the captain and a crewman at about 1:45 a.m. local time today.

Meanwhile, the five permanent members of the U.N. Security Council expressed support for a peace mission to the warring countries by Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar, the New York Times reported today. The Times, quoting senior U.N. officials, said the secretary-general still needed the approval of the other 10 council members.

Twenty attacks on ships in the gulf area have been reported and 15 confirmed since Iran and Iraq, which have been at war since September 1980, resumed their "tanker war" last weekend after a six-week lull.

Iraq began the war on commercial shipping early in 1984 in an attempt to destroy Iran's economy. Iran retaliated by attacking ships and stopping others to search for Iraq-bound cargo.

NEW DIRECTORS — These new directors for the Scurry County United Way campaign have been added in time for the annual fund-raising drive, for which an organizational meeting was held Wednesday at city hall. U-Way pledges rebound

A time schedule for the 1987 United Way campaign was detailed and new directors for this year's effort introduced at an organizational meeting of the county's largest fund raising effort Wednesday.

New United Way directors introduced Wednesday were Barbara Figueredo, active with her husband with the local operation of McDonald's here; Perry Westmoreland, news director for KSNY Radio and operator of Snyder Ambulance; Bob Lang, operator of McWhorter's Tire Company; Burt Robbins, head of Mobil operations here; and Bill Moss, new chamber manager.

A goal of $80,000 has been set this year with the campaign theme "On the Rebound." United Way President Ralph Williamson said, "This reflects both our intent to make our goal this year and the overall attitude in the county of coming back from the Midwest members invited

Registration for Midwest Electric Cooperative's 49th annual membership meeting and report will begin at 6 p.m. Thursday with the traditional barbecue meal to be served beginning at 7 p.m. in the coliseum.

The meal will be served from 7-8 p.m. Reports from officials of the cooperative will be held from 8-8:30 p.m. and the election of directors is planned from 8:30-9 p.m.

Directors who terms are expiring include Mike Herron, Place 1, who lives one mile north of Snyder; and Carl Williams, Place 2, who lives 12 miles northeast of Snyder.

Herron is unopposed but Williams is opposed by Don Kubena, who lives 1½ miles south of Hermleigh.

Midwest recognizes husband-wife staffers

Ollie and Luna Maude Bruton of Snyder, who will retire from Midwest Electric Cooperative Nov. 1, have received a special dedication in the 49th annual report of the cooperative published in conjunction with the annual meeting and barbecue slated for 7 p.m. Thursday at the coliseum.

The Bruton's service to the cooperative dates back to the oil boom days in the Snyder area when Midwest Electric shared offices with Bruton Jewelry on the southeast corner of the Snyder square.

Mrs. Bruton started working fulltime for the cooperative on Jan. 6, 1954 and Bruton became a full time employee on Jan. 2, 1979 after the Snyder area office was opened.

Mrs. Bruton is the area office clerk and her husband is the assistant area office clerk.

Their duties range from answering the phones and the radio to taking complaints and trouble calls and payments for bills.

Throughout the years, the Brutons have seen the cooperative grow from a small business to its present day operation. They said they remember the Christmas Eve when lights were turned on in Justiceburg for the first time. "It was thrilling," they said.

Bruton attended high school in Snyder through his freshman year. Later, after the Brutons married, they moved to Snyder in 1949 where they owned and operated Bruton Jewelry. They sold the business in 1978.

After retiring, the Brutons said they plan "to do what they want to do when they want to do it." But they admit that not going to work everyday will take some getting used to.

They have a daughter, Pat, and son, Gene, who live in the Dallas area.

Services set today for early pioneer rancher

Graveside services were scheduled at 4:30 p.m. Thursday in Snyder Cemetery for Benton Vern McMullan, 93, who died early Thursday at the home of his daughter in Snyder.

McMullan, a life-long resident of Scurry County, was the oldest person living in Scurry County who was born in the county.

McMullan was born March 22, 1894 seven miles south of Snyder. A rancher who retired in 1950, McMullan resided at 2311 Ave. N, the home where his family moved when he was about five years old.

McMullan ranched in the Ennis Creek Community. He was the third child of Robert Lee and Mary Louise McMullan, pioneer county ranchers.

McMullan married Helen Trix Simms in 1924 at the Johnson Ranch at Ennis Creek. She died April 12, 1966.

A brother, W. H. McMullan of Big Spring, died Wednesday in Big Spring.

McMullan was a veteran of World War I, serving in the U.S. Army.

Survivors include two children, Ann Brunson and Billy Bob McMullan, both of Snyder.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Free enterprise in this country is alive and well. Somebody has suggested malpractice insurance for members of congress."

You may not have time this summer, but start saving those quarters for an exclusive 23-day vacation next year. And save lots of quarters.

Folks are actually paying almost $21,000 for an around-the-world jaunt on a high-tech jet--the world's fastest passenger jet.

Mainly they are retired professional people. But once inside the droop-nosed Concorde, many of the passengers revert to childhood. "Zoom!" exclaimed one 60-year-old from New Orleans, predicting what the flight would feel like. "What a way to go."

A Dallas retiree said, "I intend to spend all of it. I don't want to leave any of it to anyone, and I'd never done this before."

The tour began in New York, stopped for passengers in Dallas and Oakland before putting down for the night in Tahiti. Further stops of three days each were planned for Sydney, Australia; Hong Kong; Beijing, China; Delhi, India; Nairobi, Kenya; and Paris.

Almost half of the tour's fee is for the airplane which travels up to twice the speed of sound, about 1,200 mph. Should the airplane not stop, it could circle the world in one day.

The expensive price tag was not a discouragement as all 94 seats sold out within 10 days. Hum, that's only 84,000 quarters...better get started.

Nunn battles administration over interpretation of policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam Nunn says the administration's efforts to broaden interpretation of the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile treaty will slow down Senate ratification of any treaty to remove nuclear missiles from Europe.

Nunn, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and a leading opponent of the broad interpretation the administration proposed in 1985, outlined the warning Tuesday in a letter to Reagan. The administration's interpretation of the 1972 treaty would allow early deployment and testing of the "Star Wars" missile defense system.

The letter, released by the Georgia Democrat's office Wednesday, comes as U.S. and Soviet officials in Geneva, Switzerland, are in the final stages of negotiations on a treaty to eliminate medium-range nuclear missiles in Europe.

Nunn said in the letter that if the legal doctrine the administration has used to justify the broad interpretation of the ABM treaty is in effect when a European missile treaty is submitted to the Senate, he will demand that senators be given the complete negotiating record that led to the agreement.

Nunn has argued previously that the broad ABM treaty interpretation is not supported either by the negotiating record or by the record of the Senate ratification debate, including testimony by Nixon administration officials about the meaning of the treaty.

Abraham D. Sofaer, the State Department's legal adviser, told Congress earlier this year that the negotiating record of the ABM treaty justifies the broad interpretation regardless of what the Senate was told by Nixon administration officials.

"In effect, the Sofaer doctrine holds that if the Senate is misinformed by executive branch officials as to the meaning of a proposed treaty, that is simply too bad," Nunn said in the letter to Reagan.

"Sofaer has put the Senate on notice that if Congress relies upon the testimony of your administration as the meaning of the (intermediate nuclear forces) treaty, it will be at its own risk," he said.

Nunn told Reagan he will demand that the Senate review the negotiating record before voting on any treaty to ban nuclear missiles in Europe "unless the Sofaer doctrine is either abandoned or significantly modified."

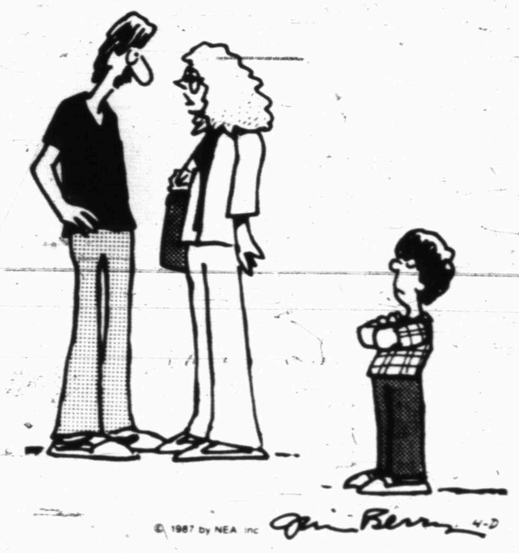

Nunn said he does not want to delay Senate ratification of such a treaty, but he warned Reagan that Senate review of the six-year negotiating record "will obviously be time-consuming" and will require that the negotiating record be declassified and made available to the public.

"I find this situation deplorable and hope that the Senate will not have to follow this course of action," Nunn said in the letter.

"I would much prefer that we return to a method of conducting treaty ratification proceedings wherein the Senate can confidently rely upon the representations of the executive branch officials."

Motels not full for papal visit

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Most major hotels and motels are rapidly filling for the Sept. 13 visit by Pope John Paul, but visitors can still find rooms, a survey reveals.

Fewer than 650 hotel and motel rooms remain for pilgrims planning to visit the city during that weekend, the San Antonio Light reported today.

Local inkeepers say persistent overnight visitors should be able to find a room as late as next week.

Reasons for carsickness

DEAR DR. GOTT — I get carsick very easily and have to take Dramamine at least twice a week. I'm 22 and too old for this. What can I do?

DEAR READER — Motion sickness is a disabling ailment. It is thought to result from unbalanced nerve signals reaching the brain from the position-sensing vestibular apparatus in each ear. Dramamine probably acts by reducing the sensitivity of the vestibular mechanisms.

There is now a breakthrough in the treatment of motion sickness: the scopolamine patch, marketed under the trade name of Transderm-Scop. When applied to the skin, this impregnated patch slowly releases scopolamine into the body. Scopolamine is a potent anti-motion-sickness drug; its specific action is not completely understood.

The patch is attached to the skin of the scalp behind the ear, where it produces its effects for three days. At the end of that time, it is removed and, if necessary, a fresh patch is applied to the other side of the head. This treatment has been very effective for people who become sick aboard ships or in planes and cars.

Many motion-sick patients have a psychological component to their ailment. This appears to be a fear of loss of control that passengers feel when they leave the driving to someone else. For instance, I used to become violently carsick after being driven a block in the the back seat of a closed car. On the other hand, if I'm behind the wheel, I can happily drive for hours over the most winding and undulating roads. I think that my motion sickness is in my head, not in my vestibular mechanisms. It has taken years of driving for me to accept my occasional role as comfortable passenger.

So keep trying to overcome your car sickness; eventually you may outgrow it. Meanwhile, use over-the-counter Dramamine or prescription Transderm-Scop to get you through.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What makes a chocoholic? Is there a physical cause?

DEAR READER — I don't know what makes a chocoholic. People get addicted to the darnedest things: gambling, alcohol, food, caffeine — even to eating clay or laundry starch. Chocolate contains sugar, caffeine and a stimulant called theobromine; one or all of these may be the basis for your craving.

However, if you have an uncontrollable urge to eat chocolate, you also may have an addictive personality, which is often a disease of attitude. The substance itself isn't really the cause. Without a change of attitude, you may "beat" your chocolate addiction, but move on to some other compulsive behavior. Try working out your problem through a support group, such as Weight Watchers or Overeaters Anonymous. The Yellow Pages will list chapters in your area.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1987 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: If you can stand one more letter about snakes, hear this: I used to be terrified of snakes. If I saw one out of its cage, I'd get hysterical.

Then one day while shopping in a gift shop on Maui, I saw some life-sized stuffed "cobras" in a basket. After recovering from my phobic reaction, I realized that here was an opportunity to conquer my irrational fear of snakes, so I bought a stuffed cobra, took it home and placed it right next to my computer station where I sit for eight hours a day.

Abby, after a few days, I actually began to like that snake! I put a bonnet on it and he looked kind of cute. A few days later I put a bow tie around its neck. Now I'm not saying I could be a snake handler at a circus, but I can now see a snake uncaged without being terrified.

It's been three years now, and I can actually hold someone's pet snake and enjoy it.

My stuffed snake is still with me, and every time I look at it, I am reminded that by facing a fear, it can be conquered.

CELESTE IN SANTA BARBARA

DEAR CELESTE: Congratulations for your intelligent approach to overcoming an irrational fear. When I suggested the following, I was called a "nut": "Not all snakes are poisonous, so should anyone find one coiled in his basement or attic, please don't kill it; call your local SPCA and someone will come and remove it." Fangs for your supportive letter.

DEAR ABBY: "This is for "Troubled," whose mother made her take piano lessons, but she saw no point to it: Don't give up! I'm 14, and I've been taking piano lessons since I was 7. There were plenty of times when I thought it was stupid and wanted to quit, but my parents made me stick to it.

Because I knew music, I joined band (clarinet) four years ago, and it came easy to me. Band also helped my piano a lot. Also, whenever they need someone to play the xylophone, chimes or bells in band, they can count on me.

My friends are always asking me to play piano for them and I love doing it. And you wouldn't believe how many of them say they wish they hadn't quit piano.

I would have quit, too, if I didn't have caring parents who wouldn't let me. Thanks, guys!

LUCKY IN PONTIAC, MICH.

DEAR LUCKY: I've said this before, and it bears repeating: Many have written to say they're sorry they quit taking music lessons, but not one person ever wrote to say that he or she was glad they quit.

DEAR ABBY: "No Music, Please" complained about hearing music when his telephone calls were put on hold. We've tried it both ways in our small business with three lines, and found that music at least lets the caller know that he has not been disconnected when all the lines are busy. Before we added music, we got a number of callbacks from angry customers claiming we'd hung up on them.

Of course, the music should be pleasant, at a reasonable volume, and most important, the call should be handled as quickly as possible.

ED MILLER, EDMONDS, WASH.

DEAR ED: My mail is running 2-to-1 in favor of music instead of dead air when the caller is put on hold — and for precisely the reasons you mentioned.

Astro-Graph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Friday, Sept. 4, 1987

Contacts you've developed over the past few years will prove helpful for you in the year ahead, both socially and in the commercial world.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Indifference or carelessness could create a situation for you today where you might suffer a loss due to another's ineptness or lack of experience. Major changes are ahead for Virgos in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o of this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Make every effort to finish what you start today. If you leave things hanging, hoping you'll get to them later, they are apt to remain undone.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today's ideas aren't apt to be as ingenious as those you conceived yesterday, especially where your work is concerned. Don't be overawed by your thoughts.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If at all possible, try not to make loans or borrow something of value from friends today. Both situations invite potential complications.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Trying to juggle several delicate projects at one time could prove disastrous today. You'll have better results if you attempt less, but try to do those things well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Proceed cautiously today with a plan that has yet to prove its worth. Be prepared to make revisions if necessary.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Prudence is a wise policy for you to adhere to over the next few days. Set limits on your spending and don't exceed them.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Clarify your objectives today. If you don't, you could waste a lot of effort trying to achieve something that will neither further your cause nor advance your personal ambitions.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Strive to be discriminating today about whom you go to for favors. Don't make requests of people who aren't in the position to fulfill them.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be optimistic and hopeful, but don't assume that something is the way you want it to be instead of as it actually is.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You might have to deal with someone today who made promises to you in the past that were not kept. Keep this person's track record in mind.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It will prove unwise today to try to sell associates on something that you don't totally believe in yourself. Be careful about what you market.

EMT course described to Deep Creek ABWA

Working on an ambulance crew requires special skills, many of them physical feats of strength, Mae Cole, certified EMT, said at a local club meeting Aug. 20.

The Deep Creek Chapter of American Business Women met for its regular dinner meeting at the Golden Corral. Pauline Withers offered the invocation. Club President Mae Cole provided the evening feature.

Completing her EMT course in San Angelo, Cole is now employed with Cogdell Home Health care. She took the course to be better qualified to care for the seriously ill and now works in patients' homes.

Requiring 120 hours of instruction, the course is 20 hours longer in Texas than in any other state. Seven skills are needed; these must be passed in three months in order to continue the course.

To be on an ambulance crew, a student must learn how to pop out vehicle windows and how to get in and out of a window. One of the requirements of the job is to be physically strong enough to complete the tasks needed to care for the patients.

If a patient is suspected of being an AIDS victim, the ambulance is completely washed down with bleach.

Cole has also completed 120 hours of nurses aide training at Western Texas College and CCU and OB training at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. She remarked that the EMT course is not easy but is very rewarding.

Juanita Land, administrator with Snyder Nursing Center, gave the vocational presentation. She has been in administration for 16 years. Beginning as a nurses aide in 1967, she has filled many jobs in the nursing profession. Land is required to attend workshops, continue her education and have her license renewed annually.

The nursing center has 32 employees caring for 52 patients. The personal wing has 20 beds and houses people who are able to care for themselves. The home employs four department heads in housekeeping, nursing, diet and activities.

Land commented that some people are brought to the home and are never visited again. She remarked that she didn't like the work at first, but now she loves the patients and caring for them. She said they have become part of her family.

Reports were given by committee chairmen and upcoming events were discussed. The chapter will meet at The Shack in September and October. The benediction was given by Stella Bailey. Hostesses for the meeting were Mae Cole and Mary Pownell.

Lead of the ace provides a clue

By James Jacoby

Counting, thinking, drawing conclusions, using psychology and getting lucky — all of these things and more are part of bridge. At times you can deal with absolutes and know that you are certainly going to make your contract. Other times you simply go with what seems to be a good percentage. One thing is sure — if you have some reason, any reason, for making a particular play, you're far better off than if you are playing cards at random.

All of that brings us to the current deal, a six-heart contract. West leads the ace of diamonds and then shifts to a low club into your A-Q. So everything is hunky-dory, provided you can sniff out the location of the queen of hearts. It's really not considered nice to wait and see if one opponent or the other breaks out in a cold sweat, so you should play the trump suit one way or another in a reasonable amount of time. What clues do you have to go on?

There is really only one thing to help you: that ace of diamonds lead from West. The fact that he was in a rush to take a trick in the suit that North had bid and obviously was relying upon for tricks suggests that West was hoping to take a trump trick eventually. So play West for the trump queen and make your contract.

A new book by James Jacoby and his father, the late Oswald Jacoby, is now available at bookstores. It is "Jacoby on Card Games," published by Pharos Books.

Fantasy holes perplex avid golfers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — It's not the telephone calls that bother Bud Chapman. It's the time he gets them.

"They always seem to come in the middle of the night," Chapman said. "Somebody's in Africa on vacation or they're in Japan on a business trip and they want to know where they have to go to play that golf hole that they've seen so many times in pictures in golf magazines or someplace else.

"They tell me they've been looking all over the country and nobody can tell them where the hole is. But they've just got to play it before they go back home."

The sleepy Chapman then has to explain to the caller that the pictured hole exists only in Chapman's imagination. No matter how real that picture might look, Chapman tells them, the diabolical Victoria Falls hole or the menacing hole at Fujiyama Gardens Country Club can be played only in the mind.

It was just a dozen years ago that Chapman, 64, of Minneapolis, started putting oils to ideas for the fun of it. Now his paintings can be seen in practically every clubhouse or golf locker room in the United States.

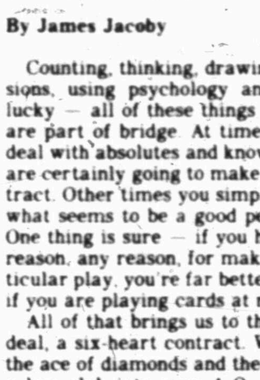

Chapman, an excellent golfer in his own right, is a scratch player at Minneapolis Golf Club and has won the State Senior Amateur, the State Senior bestball and the masters division of the Minnesota Golf Champions.

"I first got the idea for the fantasy holes from people always telling me about some terrific golf hole they had seen or played," Chapman said. "I finally decided that I would manufacture my own holes. Make them as awesome as I could, yet make them look so realistic that people would think they really existed. I wanted to make them surrealistic, so that people would be shocked when they first looked at them, but I also wanted to put them in places where people would think they were believable."

Ether was first used medically as an anesthetic in 1846.

AT&T ANNOUNCES UPCOMING PRICE CHANGES FOR SOME TEXAS INTRASTATE SERVICES

AT&T announces the following price changes for some of its Texas intrastate services. These changes, which more closely reflect the actual costs incurred by AT&T in providing these services, will become effective on October 1, 1987.

- SDN (Software Defined Network) Schedule B prices will be reduced an overall 7.1%. Schedule C prices will be reduced 4.4% for the initial 30-second rate period of each call.
- WATS 80 service prices for both the initial period 80-hour usage and additional period usage will increase 5%.
- The monthly prices for AT&T's Private Line Service will increase up to $25 per channel termination for Analog services and 10% for Digital Data Services.
- A $25 monthly surcharge will also apply to any private lines which may be used to access the local exchange network, unless certified as exempt by the customer. The $25 surcharge, which was previously authorized by the Public Utility Commission of Texas, is a flow through of charges assessed by the Local Exchange Companies to AT&T for those Private Line services.

The combined effect of these price changes is expected to produce approximately $4.99 million annual revenue, which is approximately .5% of AT&T's annual revenues for all Texas intrastate services.

If you have questions regarding the changes for Private Line service, please call AT&T toll-free at 1-800-345-5092. If you have questions regarding the WATS or SDN price changes, please call our business consultants toll-free at 1-800-222-0400. AT&T's tariffs reflecting these changes will be filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas on August 31, 1987, with an effective date of October 1, 1987.

Persons who have questions regarding this tariff filing may also contact the Public Utility Commission of Texas in writing, at 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N; Austin, Texas 78757, or by calling the Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223, or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 for teletypewriter for the deaf.

Rage, area teams open grid season; defense key factor in first contests

Snyder's Ragin' Tigers open the 1987 season at home Friday, facing a solid Tulia team at 8 p.m. in Tiger Stadium.

It will be the campaign opener for most teams throughout the state. All of District 2-4A, save for Monahans, opens the season Friday night, as do area teams Hermleigh, Ira and Borden County.

Borden County had to make some fast moves to schedule a game Friday, as its expected opponent, McCaulley, cancelled out. A lack of student enrollment may force McCaulley to close its doors and cancell its football season. A final decision was expected today.

Meanwhile, Coach Joe Bond was able to book a date with Lubbock's New Life Christian Academy. That game will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Gail.

Ira also opens at home, hosting Southland at 7:30 p.m. The Cardinals of Hermleigh open in Paint Creek at 7:30 p.m.

In District 2-4A, Monahans will sit the week out with an open date. The Loboes, expected to be among the top teams in the district, start their season in Hobbs, N.M. on Sept. 11.

The rest of the loop does open play, with Andrews hosting Hereford, Sweetwater entertaining Merkel and Pecos welcoming Kermit. San Angelo Lake View will be on the road to Del Rio; Lamesa will be at Levelland; and Big Spring takes a long trip to El Paso to play Riverside.

Big Spring won the 1986 title despite entering the league for the first time, and the Steers are as good choice as any in 1987, according to most coaches. The Steers will have to overcome a tough schedule, which includes just four home games and has Sweetwater and Monahans on the road.

Sweetwater and Monahans have also been lauded as teams to beat in the 2-4A, and virtually every other team - including the Ragin' Tigers - expect to be better than last season.

Snyder and Tulia will try to overcome contrasting problems in Friday's ballgame. The Ragin' Tigers are hoping their young, inexperienced offensive line will materialize - knowing that if it can, their talented corps of backs can get the job done. Tulia graduated some of its top skill personnel last season, however, and the Hornets are looking to find the right players for those positions.

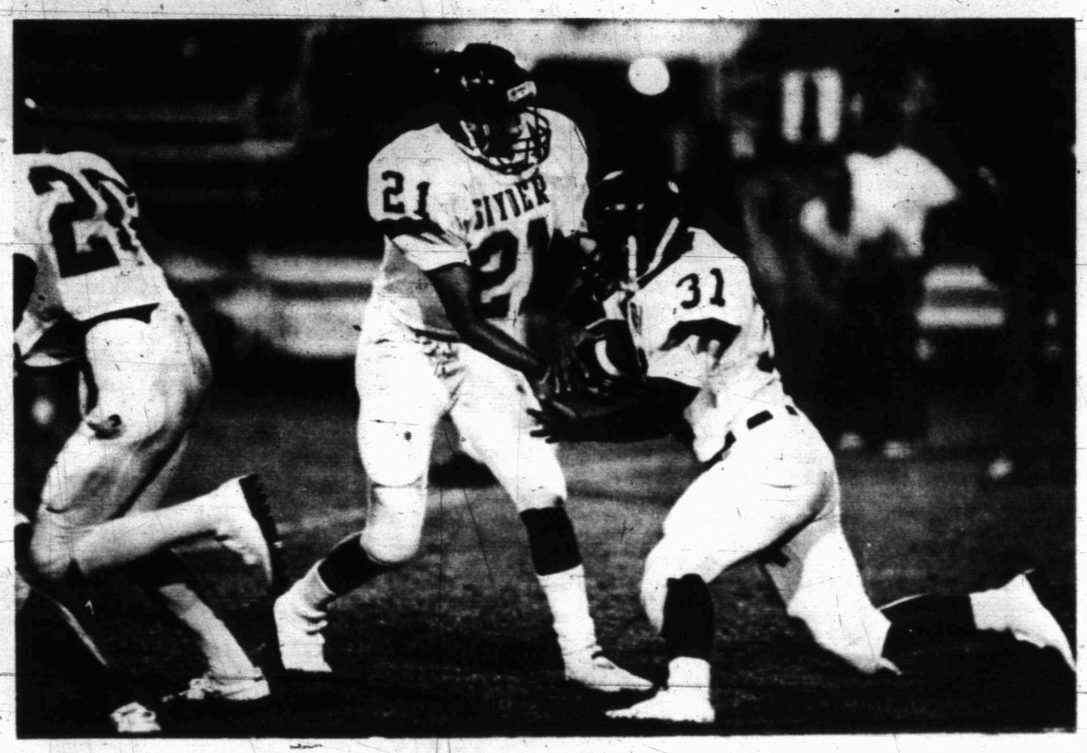

Defense will be a key for both teams. Snyder went to a new defense this season and is young there, also. Tulia, which isn't expected to be an offensive powerhouse early in the season because of the loss of some of its starters, will rely on a tough defense.

"I think they'll be better defensively than they were last year," said Snyder Coach Dennis Tomlin. "I just hope our offensive line can play well and we can move the ball."

Snyder will be without preseason all-state pick Trey Tippens, who is recovering from knee surgery. Tippens, a 6-5, 210 linebacker and tight end, is to see a doctor Friday, in hopes of getting released to begin workouts on Monday.

Vyron Clay, offensive and defensive halfback, is probable for the game, though he is not expected to start. Clay in recovering from an ankle injury.

Senior quarterback Roland Romo will see action Friday, said Coach Tomlin, but junior Lee Fletcher will be listed as the starter. Romo injured his left arm in last week's scrimmage with Colorado City. He has been working out this week.

Sideline glances...

Tigers hoping Tulia isn't repeat of past

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

Coach Dennis Tomlin said when his Tigers take the field Friday they'll have to avoid the kinds of mistakes they made when they played Tulia last season.

Remember?

Snyder came out like a buzzsaw against the Hornets. Taking possession on their own 29-yard line, the Tigers quickly marched to the Tulia 4. From there, Scott Lanier burst over for Snyder's first touchdown of the season - or so it appeared to the fans. But not to the officials.

An offsides penalty wiped the six points away. It was a theme that was to repeat itself time and time again. Snyder rolled up 314 yards rushing and 15 first downs but lost the game, 20-11.

How?

"Penalties, penalties, penalties, penalties," said Coach Tomlin. "We stopped ourselves. If it wasn't a penalty, it was a turnover."

It was actually a combination of four turnovers, 110 yards in penalties and a series of freak leg cramps that devastated the team. Literally.

Leg cramps and injuries aren't mistakes, obviously, but they also did their part in turning the game around last season. Nebraska-bound Chris Garrett was unable to play the last 16 minutes of the ballgame. Michael Riggins scampered for 92 yards on just seven carries and then had to sit out all of the fourth quarter. A half a dozen or more players were sidelined for several series with cramps, too. And, an ankle sprain put Lanier on the sidelines and Toby Ubando joined him with a neck sprain.

It was a nightmare.

Now, it's 1987 and the question is, do you push the 1986 game under the rug, or what?

"No, you don't do that," said Tomlin. "We've talked about it. We know we can't have the turnovers, we can't have the penalties. Penalties, turnovers and the kicking game are always important, and probably even more important in that first ballgame because they are so hard to overcome early in the season. Keeping those to a minimum increases your chances to win."

It may be even more important - if that's possible - for the Tigers to cut down on mistakes when they meet Tulia this season. A young, inexperienced offensive line is often prone to make mistakes, and that is what Snyder has. On the other hand, if the Tigers can avoid the mistakes, and if the line can create holes, this could be the best backfield group to play for Snyder in sometime.

"It's a challenge to our offensive line," said Tomlin. "If we play well offensively we put points on the board for ourselves and we keep their offense off the field."

Rozelle offers to help settle NFL labor dispute

NEW YORK (AP) - National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who stayed on the sidelines during the 1982 players' strike, says he's ready to try to settle the current labor dispute if both sides will have him.

Players' and owners' representatives met for 4½ hours Wednesday at an undisclosed site in the Washington area. It was the first meeting since Aug. 14 to discuss the contract which expired at midnight last Monday.

John Jones, a spokesman for the NFL Management Council, said Jack Donlan, executive director of the Council, and Gene Upshaw, executive director of the NFL Players Association, were to meet again today.

Jones said Donlan didn't want to characterize the talks in any way. Asked, however, if any progress had been made, Jones replied:

"I'd say he (Donlan) would be on a plane out of there if there wasn't."

Contract negotiations began April 20, but little progress has been made on the players' principal demand, free agency without compensation, or on minor issues.

Rozelle, who said he was less optimistic about avoiding a strike than he had been, said he was willing to get involved "at the right time" to help avoid one.

"But to do it," he added, "I would have to be accepted by both sides."

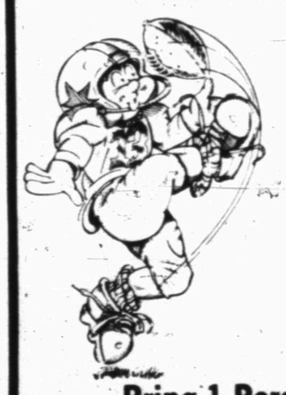

The union's executive board voted Monday to set a strike date to be recommended to the board of player representatives on Sept. 8. The strike date was undisclosed, but sources said Wednesday that it is after the second week of the season, which begins Sept. 13, with the fourth week as an alternate date.

Rozelle warned that both sides could be hurt if owners were to go ahead with the season in the event of a strike. Some teams have been offering players they cut $1,000 to return in the event the union players walk out.

"It would create pressure on players since the games would count toward the Super Bowl and the playoffs," he said. "But from the owners' standpoint, there would have to be refunds on tickets and television if the product is greatly affected by such a move. And I feel it would be."

American League roundup...

Detroit overcomes one-hitter

by The Associated Press

Down the stretch, every little bit counts. For the Detroit Tigers, one hit was enough to win.

"You've got to tip your cap to the Tigers. They're in first place and deserve to be. They're tough," Cleveland knuckleballer Tom Candiotti said Wednesday night after he pitched a one-hitter, yet lost to Detroit 2-1.

Candiotti, 7-14, pitched his second one-hitter of the season, having held New York without a hit for seven innings Aug. 1.

He held Detroit hitless until Matt Nokes lined a clean single with two outs in the eighth. But the host Tigers took advantage of seven walks and an error to remain one game ahead of Toronto in the American League East.

Jack Morris, 16-7, won with a five-hitter.

In other AL games Wednesday, Toronto beat California 7-6, Minnesota held off Boston 5-4, New York downed Oakland 3-2, Milwaukee edged Kansas City 3-2, Seattle defeated Baltimore 8-6 and Chicago topped Texas 5-0.

Blue Jays 7, Angels 6

George Bell's AL-leading 42nd homer, a two-run drive, broke a 5-5 tie in the eighth inning and lifted Toronto over California.

Bell connected on a 3-0 pitch from DeWayne Buice, 5-6.

Twins 5, Red Sox 4

Les Straker pitched six strong innings and Jeff Reardon got his 26th save as Minnesota beat visiting Boston.

Straker, 7-9, gave up four hits.

White Sox 5, Rangers 0

Dave LaPoint and Bobby Thigpen combined on a five-hitter and Greg Walker hit a three-run homer, leading host Chicago over Texas.

LaPoint, 3-2, gave up four hits in seven innings.

Brewers 3, Royals 2

Bill Wegman and two relievers combined on a three-hitter and Bill Schroeder hit a three-run homer as Milwaukee won in Kansas City.

Wegman, 9-10, pitched six innings and allowed three hits, including Steve Balboni's two-run homer in the second. Chuck Crim went two hitless innings and Dan Plesac finished for his 23rd save.

Schroeder hit his 11th home run in the first off Charlie Leibrandt, 13-10, who lost despite a four-hitter.

Yankees 3, Athletics 2

Jerry Royster singled home the winning run in the 10th inning after Mickey Tettleton's passed ball and error, lifting New York over Oakland.

Dave Righetti, 7-3, pitched one inning for the victory and Rick Honeycutt lost his debut for the Athletics.

Mariners 8, Orioles 6

Mickey Brantley doubled twice and drove in three runs and Dave Valle hit a pair of RBI singles as Seattle won in Baltimore.

Mark Langston, 16-10, gave up six runs in 7 1-3 innings. Jerry Reed, the fourth Mariners pitcher, got his seventh save.

Jeff Ballard, 2-4, took the loss.

Bass changes record book; Johnson about to join him

by The Associated Press

Kevin Bass blasted out a spot for himself in the baseball record books by hitting home runs from both sides of the plate. Switch-hitter Howard Johnson is about to do the same.

Bass became the first National League player ever to hit home runs from both sides of the plate in a game twice in the same season as the Houston Astros beat the Chicago Cubs 10-1 Wednesday night.

Johnson, meanwhile, hit a two-run homer to help the New York Mets beat the San Diego Padres 4-3. Johnson's 34th homer moved him within one of the National League record for most homers in a season by a switch-hitter, set by Jimmy Collins of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934.

In other National League action Wednesday, it was Pittsburgh 2, Atlanta 0; Cincinnati 3, St. Louis 1; Montreal 7, San Francisco 3, and Philadelphia 6, Los Angeles 2.

Bass went 4-for-4 with two homers, a double and a single, and also drew an intentional walk as the Astros cracked out 13 hits to break a seven-game losing streak.

Mike Scott, 14-10, scattered nine hits in seven innings, struck out four and walked none. Rick Sutcliffe, 15-7, lost his third straight.

Mets 4, Padres 3

The Mets trailed 3-2 in the seventh before Johnson connected for his 34th home run. Keith Hernandez also hit a two-run homer for the Mets and Dwight Gooden, 13-4, scattered 10 hits.

With the win, which marked their 34th comeback victory of the season, the Mets moved within 3½ games of front-running St. Louis in the NL East.

The loss went to San Diego starter Ed Whitson, 10-10, who struck out a career-high 10.

Pirates 2, Braves 0

Mike LaValliere hit a two-run double and Bob Walk and Jim Gott combined on a five-hitter as Pittsburgh beat Atlanta, the Pirates' eighth victory in nine games.

The Pirates had only three hits against Braves rookie Tom Glavine, 1-2.

Walk, 7-2, won for the fifth time in his last six decisions.

Reds 3, Cardinals 1

Bo Diaz hit a two-run homer with two outs in the eighth inning, leading Cincinnati over St. Louis.

Diaz's homer off Danny Cox, 9-5, snapped a 1-1 tie.

Ron Robinson, 7-3, gained his fourth straight victory for Cincinnati with relief in the final three innings from Frank Williams and John Franco, who gained his 25th save.

Expos 7, Giants 3

Herm Winningham drove in four runs with a home run and a double as Montreal defeated San Francisco.

Pascual Perez, 1-0, won his first major-league game since July 14, 1985. San Francisco starter Mike LaCoss, 11-9, was the loser.

Phillies 6, Dodgers 2

Don Carman pitched six-hit ball over seven innings and Von Hayes and Keith Hughes each had a pair of run-scoring singles as Philadelphia completed a three-game sweep of Los Angeles.

Carman, 9-9, struck out five and walked one before getting relief help from Kent Tekulve.

Orel Hershiser, 13-13, was the loser.

Low scores expected in B.C. Open tourney

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) - The rain was supposed to be gone but its effects might be felt throughout the $400,000 B.C. Open golf tournament.

Dry skies were expected for today's opening round of the 72-hole tournament after a replenishing wet spell that had some golfers thinking about lower scores.

"The rain works both ways," said Bill Dennis, golf professional at the par-71, 6,088-yard En-Joie Golf Club.

"The rough will be up a little more, so that'll make the course play tougher," he said. "But the course will also be nice and soft. Whenever it's a little soft, the pros like it that way. They call it 'target golf.' They can shoot everything right at the pins."

Rick Fehr, the winner here last year, agreed that although golfers don't like to play in the rain, most like a moist course.

"Lots of times you'll see scores go down," said Fehr. "If the greens are softer, the ball has a tendency to roll straighter, hold truer and you can spots your shots more."

Seven of the past 16 champions also are participating.

After a summer of excessive heat En-Joie was beginning to show signs of browning and was thirsting for a good rain, said head groundskeeper Michael Guiffre.

A much-needed heavy rainfall came last week during a four-day wet spell and soaked the course just enough, he said.

Those rains continued Monday, raining out the opening round of the tournament's pro-am competition and were back again Wednesday, dampening the course with an off-and-on drizzle.

The forecast called for dry skies for the first three days of the tournament and a chance of rain on Sunday, when the final round will be played.

Rain has plagued the tournament at least six times in its short 16-year history, including in 1972 when Hurricane Agnes left five feet of water on the flood-prone course a week before the competition started and in 1976 when heavy rains caused a 24-hour delay in play. Competition also was interrupted or suspended by wet skies in 1981, 1982, 1985 and last year.

British runners begin defense of track titles

ROME (AP) - Britain's Daley Thompson and Steve Cram began defense of their titles in the decathlon and 1,500 meters, respectively, in impressive style today at the World Track and Field Championships.

Thompson, the world record-holder in the decathlon, opened with the best time of 10.67 seconds in the 100 meters, good for 935 points. Torsten Voss of East Germany had the second-best time of 10.69, worth 931 points.

Jurgen Hingsen, the West German expected to give Thompson the toughest challenge, started poorly, finishing last in his 100 heat at 11.26 and trailed the Briton by 131 points.

Cram, the world record-holder in the mile, easily advanced although finishing second in his 1,500 heat, nipped at the tape by Omar Khalifa of the Sudan in 3:41.93.

Peter Rono of Kenya and Steve Scott of the United States also advanced in the 1,500.

Cram was last at the start of the final lap but quickly moved through the pack and jetted into the lead 200 meters from the finish. Khalifa's sprint through the stretch beat Cram by .07 seconds.

African runners won the other two 1,500 heats as well. Abdi Bili of Somalia took the second heat in 3:38.05, with Kip Cheruiyot of Kenya winning the third in 3:40.22.

$93 million in liabilities listed

AUSTIN (AP) — Former Gov. John B. Connally, who says he has $850 cash on hand and $93.3 million in liabilities, plans to meet with creditors seeking money from him and his Barnes-Connally Partnership.

Connally said he would meet with creditors today after filing documents Wednesday showing assets of just over $13 million, including $850 cash on hand, $45,100 on deposit and $12.3 million in real property.

The asset list also included approximately $4,000 in uncirculated $1 bills that were among the first to bear his signature as U.S. Treasury secretary.

Connally, 70, sought protection under Chapter 11 of the bankruptcy laws on July 31, seeking to reorganize his debts.

Barnes-Connally, the company he formed with former Texas Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, filed for liquidation of assets under Chapter 7 the same day. Several of their other partnerships also filed under Chapter 7 and Chapter 11.

Connally was Texas governor from 1963 to 1969. He served as U.S. Navy secretary under President John F. Kennedy and as Treasury secretary under President Richard Nixon. In 1980, he unsuccessfully sought the Republican Party's nomination for president.

In an interview last month, Connally told The Associated Press that he planned to repay as many debts as possible.

"People had faith and confidence in me and they loaned me money. Now I think I owe it to them to use every asset I have available to me to try to satisfy as much of those debts as possible," he said.

According to the statements Connally filed in court Wednesday, his assets include his 3,495-acre Picosa Ranch at Floresville, valued at $3.49 million.

The documents say Connally will claim as exempt 200 acres of that ranch and $30,000 in personal property that he is allowed to claim under Texas laws.

Other assets include $156,700 in farm implements and supplies, $1,250 in livestock and other animals, and $348,550 interest in corporation and unincorporated companies.

Real property claimed as assets includes the 10,400-acre Rose Ranch in Del Rio, valued at $3.06 million; the 836-acre River Ranch in Wilson County, $1.04 million, and the 2,674-acre Sand Hills Ranch, also in Wilson County, $3.34 million.

He listed a Houston condominium valued at $475,000, and a house in the Barnes-Connally development in Austin, the Estates of Barton Creek, valued at $900,000.

Connally's liabilities included $9.3 million owed secured creditors and nearly $84 million owed unsecured creditors.

Major unsecured creditors include San Antonio Savings Association, $17.2 Million; CreditBanc Savings, Austin, $12.54 million; Vernon Savings & Loan Association, Vernon, $11.5 million; Bell Savings & Loan Association, San Mateo, Calif., $11.1 million; First Republic Bank-Dallas, $6.4 million; Western Savings Association, Gatesville, $5.7 million, and RepublicBank-Dallas, $4.8 million.

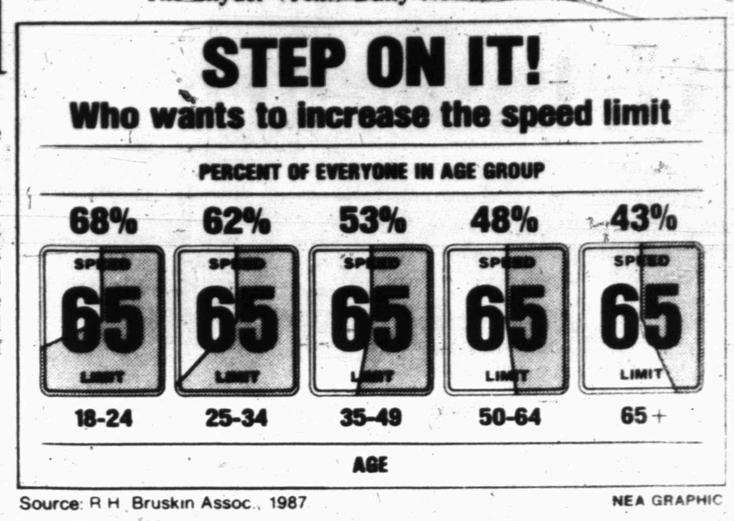

Secured creditors listed in the filings included the Travelers Insurance Co., $4.8 million; Lockheed Financial Corp., $1.6 million, Love Field National Bank, Dallas, $1.4 million, and North American Mortgage, Houston, $500,000.

Connally and Barnes began their business after Connally's 1980 presidential race.

Their real estate development activities included condominium projects in New Mexico and on South Padre Island in Texas, the Estates of Barton Creek subdivison in Austin, a Houston office building and shopping centers in several Texas towns.

Connally has blamed the downturn in the Texas economy, which was compounded by the collapse of oil prices late in 1985.

"We got into it, unfortunately, at the wrong time," Connally said in August. "We got into it heavily in 1982 and 1983, and just about the time we got committed on a lot of major projects the economic turndown came and there just wasn't much we could do about it."

Minister gives up credentials

DALLAS (AP) — After surrendering his church credentials, Walker Railey still says he looks forward to serving God, "however that may be."

Railey said Wednesday that increasing stress stemming from the near-fatal attack on his wife and the subsequent investigation, led him to voluntarily give up his credentials as an ordained minister.

"For the last four months, the burdens upon me have been tremendous as have the complexities and confusion of the situation surrounding my life," he said in a prepared statement.

"I will cherish forever my 22 years under the appointment of a bishop and look forward to the future to serving God, however that may be."

Railey has refused to cooperate with police but has denied knowledge of the April 22 attack that has left his wife, Margaret, in a coma. Police have filed no charges, but have questioned Railey's account of his whereabouts on the night his wife was attacked at the couple's Dallas home.

Bishop John Russell, who accepted Railey's resignation, said he hoped the minister would find fulfillment in his future plans.

"I am deeply saddened concerning all the tragic events surrounding the Railey family," he said.

The Rev. Erving Gathings, Russell's administrative assistant, said the resignation was accepted with relief because of the growing controversy surrounding the former minister.

"He is apparently the only suspect there is that the police have for the strangling of his wife," Gathings said. "There have been other allegations made, of course, that we haven't any evidence on and we haven't any signed accusations or anything like that. But the press, the papers, the television have been full of it."

Gathings said Railey thought it would be best for the church if he turned in his credentials.

"He (Railey) said there had been so much stress during the past four months and that he simply felt that for the sake of the church that this was the appropriate thing for him to do."

But officials of the First United Methodist Church, where Railey had been on leave of absence as senior minister, expressed sadness at the decision.

"It was a surprise," said Ralph Shannon, chairman of the church's pastor-parish relations committee. "It was something that was in the back of people's minds as a possibility, but was not expected. It's a great loss to the church. It's a very sad occasion — a very sad day."

Shannon said he did not know what Railey's future plans would be. The former minister was to have received his last church salary payment Aug. 31.

Railey did not return The Associated Press' message left Wednesday on his answering machine.

He has said he was working late the night of the April 22 attack and returned to find his wife near death. Eight days later, he took an overdose of pills on the morning police wanted to question him. He then entered a Dallas psychiatric hospital.

A Dallas County grand jury investigating the attack learned in July that Railey had been meeting with Dallas psychologist Lucy Papillon and had talked of marrying her, sources familiar with Ms. Papillon's testimony have said.

Methodist clergymen recently asked Russell to order an investigation into Railey's morals, but Russell declined.

"The public in general could never understand that we had no proof, no evidence, no nothing," said Gathings.

Convict facing death professes innocence

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — An inmate facing lethal injection for arranging his mother's death to get an inheritance broke a yearlong silence to deny the charges.

"I wasn't involved in any murder. I didn't hire. I didn't pay. I didn't plan," Markham Duff-Smith said Wednesday. "I didn't kill anyone. I was not at, near or part of any scene of the crime.

"That's why stories were told," he said. "Stories replaced evidence."

Duff-Smith, 40, was convicted in 1981 of arranging the October 1975 slaying of his adoptive mother, Gertrude Duff-Smith Zabolio, who was found strangled in the bathroom of her home in Houston's exclusive River Oaks area.

Testimony also indicated he masterminded the 1979 killings of his sister, Diana Wanstrath, her husband John, and the couple's 14-month-old son, Kevin.

The inheritances to Duff-Smith amounted to about $500,000, according to testimony. Duff-Smith said Wednesday it was closer to $400,000-$450,000. Now he is broke, he said.

"I have taken everything on my own behalf at this time and am doing everything in my power to bring the details, the evidence, everything — to show what the actual facts were of the case," he said in what he termed his first interview in 6½ years on death row.

Testimony at trial indicated Duff-Smith was living beyond his means and needed the inheritance. The convict said Wednesday that was not true.

"I had a sufficient amount of money and I did work," he said.

Duff-Smith has an Oct. 8 execution date. It is his second date. Although convicted in his mother's death, he never was tried for the Wanstrath slayings.

Duff-Smith, who worked as an investor, said he declined to speak out previously because he wanted his attorneys to work through the appeals courts without publicity in the media.

"We're at the point now where I am facing death," he said, explaining his reason for agreeing to an interview. "It's time for the truth. The legal system has not worked from the start."

Allen Wayne Janecka, 37, was indicted for the shootings of the Wanstraths, but was tried and convicted only for killing the infant. He is on death row.

Paul MacDonald, 40, was indicted in the Zabolio murder and plea bargained for a 16-year prison term. He testified against Duff-Smith and now is on parole.

Walter Waldhauser Jr., 34, was indicted for the Wanstrath killings and pleaded to a 30-year sentence. He was granted immunity and testified for the state. He remains in prison.

"You have numerous confessions from Allen Janecka," Duff-Smith said. "You have numerous confessions from Walter Waldhauser."

Sale of bonds figures noted

United States Savings Bonds sales in Texas for the first nine months of the fiscal year 1987 amounted to $304,574,108, an increase of $30 million or 11 percent over the same period of 1986, T. J. Morrow, district director for the U. S. Savings Bonds Division in Texas, announced recently. These sales represent 78.5 percent of the state's 1987 assigned dollar goal of $388 million.

Sales of Series EE Bonds amounted to $9,662 during June 1987 in Scurry County, H. W. Cargile, volunteer county chairman, said. The October 1986-June 1987 total for the county was $175,669 which represents 67.5 percent of the county's 1987 assigned dollar goal.

Nationally, June 1987 sales of Series EE Bonds totaled $543 million and brought total sales of U. S. Savings bonds to 8.87 billion for the first nine months of fiscal year 1987, an increase of 67 percent over the same period a year ago. The amount outstanding in U. S. Savings Bonds as of June 30, 1987 was $96.80 billion, up 15 percent over June 1986.

Bond sales are back on sale again, after being suspended for a brief time between July 18 thru July 30. The average yield for bonds held since the beginning of the market-based interest rate on Nov. 1, 1982 is 8.68 percent; the rate for the period May 1, 1987 thru October 31, 1987 is 5.84 percent.

Outstanding Series EE Bonds, Series E Bonds and Savings Notes held and earning interest for at least five years after November 1, 1982 are also eligible for this market-based yield. All Series EE Bonds purchased on or after November 1, 1982 and held at least five years will earn 85 percent of the average market yield on treasury marketbale securities. Bonds held less than five years earn interest on a fixed, graduated scale.

Airlines are pressured to be on time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions of air travelers trying to predict whether their flights will be delayed are about to get some help.

The major airlines by the end of the year will begin making on-time performance information available to the government and travel agents.

The Transportation Department announced the new reporting requirements Wednesday, but critics in Congress and at least one airline said the rule falls short of what consumers need.

Under the new requirements, 14 of the biggest airlines will have to provide flight delay information as well as their record on lost baggage to the department each month. The percentage of on-time arrivals for each flight also must be included in the computer reservation systems used by most travel agents.

"We believe that disclosure of this information will help reduce consumer frustration with airline delays," Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole said.

But the department's actions received mixed reviews in Congress, where critics of airline performance said they intend to press ahead on aviation consumer protection legislation later this month.

Rep. Norman Mineta, D-Calif., chairman of the House aviation subcommittee, called the Transportation Department's disclosure rule a "half-hearted solution" with a "total lack of teeth" that would not force airlines to cut delays and improve service.

There also was criticism that the reporting requirements were limited to too few flights, those in and out of 27 airports with at least 1 percent of the country's total passenger traffic. Flights from such cities as Cincinnati, Baltimore or Kansas City, all hubs for major airlines, were excluded, for example.

Continental Airlines said in a statement that it plans to file a petition asking that the requirement be expanded to include the entire air travel system. The airline said it would include system-wide information in its filings with the government.

Under the rule, a delay would be counted if a flight's departure or arrival is at least 15 minutes later than scheduled. Delays caused by mechanical problems would not have to be reported. Mrs. Dole said such delays were exempted out of concern that pressure to report them might cause maintenance to be postponed and raise safety concerns.

While the rule requires that travel agents and airline ticket clerks have the information available, they are not required to provide it to customers except upon request.

The Transportation Department also will distribute to the news media and anyone else that makes a request monthly summaries of the airlines' on-time performance as well as record on lost baggage.

The airlines agreed to cooperate.

But William Bolger, president of the Air Transport Association, which represents the major carriers, accused the department of being "preoccupied with reporting on problems rather than solving problems." He argued the delay problems stem in large part from shortcomings in the air traffic control system and inadequate airport capacity.

The airlines covered by the reporting requirements are: Alaska, American, America West, Continental, Delta, Eastern, Northwest, Pacific Southwest, Pan American World Airways, Piedmont, Southwest, Trans World, USAir and United.

Williamson told United Way directors he wants to kickoff the campaign with the third annual Jamboree on Oct. 2, a Friday.

Jack Denman will again be in charge of organizing the effort, which will feature music on the courthouse square.

The first fund raising division of the drive will be the Pacesetters Division, which targets local industries and businesses with a history of generous campaign contributions. This campaign is due to start Sept. 14.

The drive itself is expected to end with a final meeting Nov. 4.

Division chairmen were announced Wednesday also. These include:

—Pacesetters: Jack Gorman, Mike Banta and Donny Brown.

—Special Contributions: Rex Robinson.

—Oil and Industry: Bill Jacobi, Burt Robbins and Rodger Sullenger.

—Royalty Owners: Lyle Deffebach.

—Commercial: Blanche Chisum, Art Feinsod, Barbara Figueredo, Perry Westmoreland, Bob Lang and Jeff Lowrance.

—Professional: Lee McNair, Bid Cooper and Bill Moss.

—Public Employees: Jeanne Johnson, Fran Farmer and L.E. (Doc) Griffin.

—Rural: Jay Martin, Ira and Dunn; Glen Butler, Hermleigh; and Don Farmer, Fluvanna.

—National: Eddie Johnson.

Vows to unite country

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Corazon Aquino vowed today to unite the country following a failed military coup, and Communist rebels killed 24 police and soldiers in an apparent bid to exploit the political unrest.

In a speech today to Asian women judges, Mrs. Aquino described Friday's mutiny as something a country could expect to face "when one goes from dictatorship to a democracy."

Mrs. Aquino was swept to power in a civilian-military uprising in February 1986. Then-President Ferdinand Marcos, who had ruled 20 years, fled to Hawaii. The president said she was convinced she survived the bloody coup attempt, in which at least 53 people were killed, because of God and the power of prayer. Last week, she said mutineers aimed to kill her and her family.
