Thousands Flee As City Disappears Into Ground

(By The Associated Press)

NAPLES, April 1. — Inhabitants of Villa Santa Stefano, midway between Naples and Rome, today saw their town disappearing into the ancient Roman caves over which it is built, and fled for safety.

Ten thousand persons abandoned the place as buildings slowly slid from view into a pit that opened along the entire length of Via Leonina, a street that extends the width of the city. It was feared the entire town would disappear.

Caused By River

The cave-in was thought to have been caused by river water seeping through the ground under the town which broke down the roof supports of the caves.

Warden Never Did Trust Those "Guys;" Texas Cons Are Nervy

(By The Associated Press)

HUNTSVILLE, April 1.—A counterfeiting machine designed for the manufacture of pewter quarters was found set up and the die cast right here in the state prison today.

The machine was found buried in boxes in a prison print shop.

"Well I'll be!" said Warden W. W. Waid when the discovery was made. "can you imagine the nerve of those fellows. And right here in prison, too. Well I'll have the law on them for it."

And he did.

Federal officials at Houston were notified of the discovery and secret service agents will be dispatched to the prison to conduct an investigation.

Four convicts—all of them under a heavy "rap"—were suspected.

"There may be more," said the warden, "but I'm almost sure those four fellows were in on it. I never did trust those 'guys'."

New Jersey Police Official Sails On Mauretania; U. S. Authorities Declare That Mission Is Important

(By The Associated Press)

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 1.—The month-old police search for the kidnaped Lindbergh infant shifted across the Atlantic today as other intermediaries continued their work in the United States.

Maj. Charles H. Schoeffel, deputy superintendent of New Jersey state police, sailed Monday on the liner Mauretania for Plymouth on a mission "the nature of which we cannot reveal at this time." Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf announced in his afternoon bulletin.

Explanation Refused

Speaking from the home of the Charles A. Lindberghs, Col. Schwarzkopf, chief of the state police, refused to explain the significance of the trip other than to say Major Schoeffel was under "specific instructions" and that when he returns "further information will be given out if it does not interfere with the progress of the case."

Inquiry at the New York offices of the Cunard line failed to confirm the major's presence aboard the Mauretania but elicited the information a man registered as Carl Scheffler was understood to be going to Scotland Yard in London for an unexplained purpose.

Speculation as to importance of the development ranged from the

Lew H. Wentz Removed From Highway Post

Wealthy Oklahoman Is Victim Of Executive Order Issued Friday By Murray; Woman To Fill His Office

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 1 — Lew H. Wentz wealthy Republican member of the Oklahoma highway commission, was removed from office by an executive order issued today by Governor William H. Murray. Miss Maude Thomas of Beaver, Republican, was named to replace the oil man and philanthropist.

The order came as a climax to more than a year of turmoil involving state highway affairs, brought to a head recently when the federal bureau of roads gave notice it would withhold federal aid funds until Oklahoma met the government stipulations involving certain projects.

Wentz was appointed chairman of the commission on April 1, 1929. He was chosen for the place by Governor W. J. Holloway, a Democrat.

Cause Is Cited

In his order today Governor Murray cited "cause" for the removal. The order directed Frank Carter, state auditor, to cease issuing warrants for Wentz's salary or for any other compensation. However, the oil man has never used his salary except for philanthropic purposes.

The order charges that Wentz has failed to perform his duties as commissioner "in that, as chairman, he refused to sign the payroll, and refused, . . . to report to the governor, as provided by the constitution, what became of the federal truck account."

New Treasury Estimate Gives Rap By Speaker Garner; All Controversial Items In Bill Will Be Retained

By CECIL B. DICKSON.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—A war worn house ended three weeks of battle in a jovial mood today and passed a billion dollar revenue bill designed to put the government on a self-supporting basis in 1933.

As sent to the senate by the overwhelming vote of 327 to 64, it provided new revenue of $1,032,400,000 on the basis of ways and means committee estimates and $997,400,000 on those of the treasury department.

Shortage Indicated

With $235,500,000 in savings expected by Democratic leaders through government economies and postoffice administrative changes, the committee estimated the total will be more than enough to meet the anticipated treasury deficit of $1,241,000,000 in 1933. However, revised estimates submitted today by Secretary Mills place the savings at but $155,500,000, indicating a shortage of $71,100,000.

The revenue raising bill goes to the senate favorably inclined to its manifold provisions. The sales tax which disrupted the house before it was finally and definitely rejected will not be revived by the senate.

Hearings In Prospect

The same coalition of Republican and Democratic leaders who put through the new taxes necessary to balance the budget in the house will be behind the measure in the senate.

Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee will call the committee together Tuesday or Wednesday to begin work. Hearings are in prospect. Every industry taxed under the legislation is demanding opportunity to speak. All will be heard.

Senate Democrats have been summoned by Leader Robinson of Arkansas to meet early next week.

Opposition To Policy Of Highway Commission Told

"Unalterable opposition" to the policy of the state highway commission in building, without local aid, a series of projects designed to straighten highways already paved is expressed in a resolution adopted by the Northwest Texas Highway association. Clifford B. Jones of Spur is president.

The resolution points out that the proposed construction will cost several million dollars. The association urges that the projects opposed be deferred "until the gaps in the state highways are paved, stretches on cardinal highways now in wretched shape are rebuilt, and until the important sections of Texas are rescued from the mud." Curtis Hancock of Breckenridge is secretary; W. S. Duckworth of Post, and Harrie Winston of Snyder, vice presidents.

Amarillo-Boise City Rail Line Will Be Extended Into Colorado Area And Great Section Will Then Be Opened

BOISE CITY, Okla., April 1 (AP)—W. H. Rochester, construction engineer for the Santa Fe railway with headquarters here, is quoted by the Boise City News as saying that the Santa Fe's Amarillo-Boise City line will be extended to Las Animas, Colo., some time this year.

"No definite date has been set for the beginning of construction, but the line will be built this year," Rochester is quoted as saying. The route is approximately 100 miles.

The line from Amarillo to Las Animas, which was begun two years ago, was intended to make the Denver territory more accessible to the Panhandle oil fields, and this section's agriculture and livestock industries as well.

Construction Held Up

The Boise City-Amarillo division, a distance of 125 miles, was put in operation little less than a year ago. Construction of the line to the north was held up at that time to await a decision of the interstate commerce commission on the Santa Fe's request for permission to reroute the survey.

Present shipments from the Amarillo territory to Denver must be routed from Boise City by way of Dodge City, Kan.

Santa Fe engineers have made no announcement regarding plans for completing the Felt, Okla., to Colmor N. M., cutoff, which was built last year to Farley, N. M., about 30 miles short of its terminus. This line will eliminate the mountain haul and winter snow blockades of Raton pass.

Highway Paving Work Completed

VERNON, April 1, (AP)—The paving of highway 28 across Foard county has been completed, making it the fourth county in Texas to complete the paving of the highway. The route is now open to traffic from Red River to Tongue River in Motley county, a distance of 94 miles, without an unpaved gap.

As a result of construction programs carried out by the counties on this highway, the route has been paved across Wilbarger, Foard, Cottle and Hale counties. Motley county plans a hard-surfacing program, and a new route for the highway across that county has been completed in recent months.

Wilbarger county was the first in the state to pave that highway, the Texas section of Lee Highway. The first paving in this county, the section between Oklaunion and Red River, was completed in 1928.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: GOD IN CREATION

Scripture Lesson: Gen. 1:1-5, 26-31

Gen. 1:1. In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.

2. And the earth was waste and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep: and the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

3. And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.

4. And God saw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkness.

5. And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And there was evening and there was morning, one day.

26. And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the birds of the heavens, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

27. And God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them.

Golden Text: In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. Gen. 1:1.

Time: Geologists and astronomers vary by many millions of years as to the age of the world, and the data available are slight and precarious. Moses dates it as definitely as possible, "In the beginning."

Place: Many facts point to western Asia as the primitive home of the human race, probably Babylonia; but here also we are met by many conflicting theories.

Introduction

We now start on a most interesting and valuable course of study. "Having completed the study of the greatest Book of the Bible, the Gospel of John, the Book of Spiritual Beginnings, we turn to the fundamental Book of the Bible, which is the Book of Physical and Historical Beginnings. That is the meaning of its name, for 'genesis' is the Greek for 'origin.' We are to study the origin of the universe and the world, the origin of man, the origin of the races, and in particular the origin of the great Jewish race which gave us our Bible and from which Christianity sprang."

The Book of Genesis

Genesis is the first Book of the Pentateuch, which means "the Five Books." These first five Books of the Bible are called "the Law," "the law of God," or "the Law of Moses," in numerous places through the Pentateuch Moses is expressly stated to be the writer.

The history opens with an introductory section (Gen. 1:1-2:3) which declares how God in the beginning created the heavens and the earth as the theatre upon which it was to be transacted. This is followed by ten sections of unequal length, which make up the rest of the Book of Genesis, and are introduced by titles of a uniform patter: "These are the generation of——." The genealogies contained in the Book are not merely incidental and subordinate, but essential, and the real basis of the whole. They exhibit at once the kinship of Israel to all the nations of the earth, all being of one blood and sprung from one common stock, and their separation from the rest of mankind for a special divine purpose. God's choice of them to be his peculiar people until the time should arrive for spreading the blessing of Abraham over all the earth."—Prof. William Henry Green.

"In The Beginning, God," Gen. 1:1

"In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth." By these few simple words the 'gods many' of the heathen mythologies are swept away, the extravagant ancient cosmogonies are brushed aside; the deification of material things, the degradation of the Godhead, and the fabulous origin of mankind — everything, in short, that distinguishes the pagan system—is contradicted, and the world and the human race are set in a new and brighter light." — Prof. James Robertson. Note that the wonderful account goes back to the very beginning. Note also, in regard to this first chapter, "its brevity, absolutely unparalleled; the history of many millions of years, according to the scientists, told in thirty verses; the merest outline sketch. It is like compressing the map of a continent into less than a single inch."—President S. C. Bartlett. "The heavens and the earth had a beginning; and as they had a beginning, therefore they must necessarily have had a cause. God made the heavens. They had a cause, and that cause was not anything unintelligent, not any accident, but a Divine a forecasting, foreplanning, all-ordering, all-designing mind; and we infer this from the infinite signs and tokens of design that there are all round us, and that we know within ourselves."—Bishop W. C. Magee. "When did the creation occur! How long ago? All that we can gather from the record itself is that the creation occurred 'in the beginning': a beginning that was definitely long ago. And that is precisely what science affirms about it."—Rev. D. J. Burrell, D. D.

A Name Growing In The Garden

Dr. Louis Albert Banks illustrates this verse with the story of the father who drew his son's name in the garden mold and planted seed in the furrow. When the boy saw his name growing up in the garden and was greatly excited about it, his father at first pretended that it came about through chance. But the boy would not believe it, some one must have contrived it; and from that start the wise father showed the lad some of the many evidences of design in nature and in his own frame, and led him on to a belief in a personal Creator of the universe.

"And the earth was waste and void." "When the material elements of the universe were first brought into existence, they were diffused and formless; that is, they were not collected to form the suns and planets and satellites, which now in such majestic circles, wheel around each other in space. The nebular hypothesis is already a doctrine of science."—Prof. G. Frederick Wright, F. G. S. A.

"God Said, Let There Be Light," v. 3

"God said, Let there be light: and there was light." "The gospel of Genesis is, that the creation is God's word."—Rev. W. S. Rainsford, D. D. "God's 'word' is the one medium or link between him and creation."—Horatius Bonar. "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God." John 1:1. Jesus Christ was this Word incarnated. What more majestic description of God's power could there be than these eleven words, all of one syllable? They signify the setting in motion of the dull and stagnant mass of nebulous matter, and the beginning of that vast revolution: was not only to flash into light, but to come together into form. "Fiat Lux," "Let there be light," was the motto of the first great English printer, William Caxton, and light, not only physical but mental and spiritual, is ever the creation of God.

The Order Of Creation, vs. 6-25

This first chapter of Genesis goes on to picture the creation of (1) the firmament (that is, the separation of the sky from the earth); (2) the grass and trees; (3) the sun, moon, and stars; (4) the birds and fishes; and (5) the cattle and other beasts. "The record in the Bible is, therefore, profoundly philosophical in the scheme of creation which it presents. It is both true and divine."—James D. Dana, Professor of Geology in Yale University.

"While Genesis is not and does not pretend to be a textbook of science, yet its correspondence with the order of creation of the plants and animals, as shown by geology and with the history of the formation of the stellar universe as shown by astronomy, is so exact as to be far beyond the wisdom of Egypt, imbibed by Moses. By itself, with nothing added from the remainder of the massive collection of sixty-six Books, it would suffice to prove the inspiration of the Bible.

Man, The Ruler Of The Earth, v. 28

"And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness." "Man's chief distinction lay in his likeness to God: (1) a 'living' or immortal 'soul'; (2) an intelligent being; (3) with a conscience; (4) with a personality; (5) with a will; (6) with moral righteousness; (7) with affections;—with all these qualifications he was made ruler of all the earth."—Prof. F. M. Price. The theory of evolution traces the stages of creation from the lowest organisms up to man with steady progression according to a definite plan, but stops short of that which makes man what he is, his soul. "Why have the lower animals no poets, no painters, no prophets, no apostles, no literature, no churches, no worship? Simply because they are not created in the image of God in the special sense in which man is."—Prof. John Stuart Blackie. "Man is God's masterpiece—'the diapason closes full in man.' Man only was created in God's image; he only could have fellowship with God."—Rev. George H. Morrison, D. D.

"Let Them Have Dominion," v. 26

"And let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the birds of the heavens, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth." "Man shows his power to govern in his treatment of the wild animals. As he increases in civilization, those he does not need he destroys. Man exercises the same power over the vegetable world. He carries wheat and corn and potatoes and coffee from land to land, and develops and transforms plants by cultivation in the most marvellous manner. How wonderfully he has entered into dominion over the mechanical, chemical and electrical forces of nature! Man was made to have dominion over his physical body—the house in which he lives. Man has power over his own moral nature—the power of choice, of decision. Man may draw to his aid the power that holds the planets in their orbits."—Rev. Louis Albert Banks, D. D. Since the above words were written man has extended his mastery of nature by the submarine, the airship, the X-ray and radio, and has penetrated to both poles.

"Man, In The Image Of God," v. 27

"And God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him." "God made man with an intellectual moral and spiritual nature like his own nature, as a simple bucket of seawater is like the ocean."—Rev. Edson L. Clark. "God is a spirit, and it is in the spirit of man that we must seek his likeness to God."—Rev. J. H. Worcester, Jr., D. D. "God made the animals to follow their natures, and to do each what it liked without him. But he made man to do more than what he likes; namely, to do what he ought."—Charles Kingsley. "Man was created with such powers and such possibilities, and held such a position with relation to the universe, that the eternal Son of God could become man, and, under the conditions of a human life, reveal the glory of the Father."—Rev. R. W. Dale, L. L. D.

Ohio Youth Gets Flogging After He Attempts To Rifle Abilene Register

ABILENE, April 1. (AP) —Caught in an attempt to abstract the cash drawer and $327 from the Grace hotel office here late yesterday, an 11-year old Ohio lad bound for the west coast gained his liberty by submitting to a severe belting administered by a traveling companion, who said he was a brother.

The two, passengers on a westbound bus stopping here 20 minutes, then were allowed to continue their trip; but were taken off the bus at Big Spring for questioning two hours afterward when investigation threw the elder man's actions in suspicion. Finally, they were released again.

Whipping of the boy was the "sentence" imposed by Lance Sears, owner of the hotel, who found the young Ohioan standing sullenly in the rear of the office, empty handed, after Sears had rushed in upon hearing the drawer, weighted with silver, crash to the floor. Attempting a getaway with the loot, the boy had mistaken a vault door for the outside door, and in turning stumped his toe on a steel pipe plug above the floor level. As he stumbled he dropped the money drawer. While officers were questioning him, the elder traveler appeared, inquiring after his "kid brother" and announcing their bus was "ready to take off." It was then that Sears suggested the "brotherly" punishment. The whipping, fifteen hard strokes with a leather belt, was given in the back of the office, the culprit taking it in defiant silence; after which the pair boarded the outgoing bus.

Election Quiet

No Candidates Out For Major Office

HOUSTON, April 1. (AP)—In these days it would appear to be news when an electorate sees the near approach of election day without a candidate in the field for major office.

That was the situation in Pelly 30 days before the election date —nobody had offered for mayor or for any of the five aldermanic positions.

The city marshal's post, however, apparently was attractive, five persons having tossed their hats into the ring for the job.

Junior Athletes In Track Meet Here Today

Generosity Of Yanks With Pitchers Has Been Costly

Experts Say Yanks Need Hurlers To Unseat Mackmen

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 1. (AP)—Experts say all the New York Yankees need to break the Athletics' stranglehold on the American League this coming season is a small matter of large pitchers. A baker's dozen games separated the two clubs at the close of 1931.

And the Yankees must wonder if every trading day in 1929 and 1930 wasn't April Fool's day. The talent frittered away in those two years alone came back in other major league livery last season with enough strength to pitch 44 victories.

The Yanks, of course, have George Pipgras, Lefty Gomez, the large Red Ruffing, Herb Pennock, Ed Wells, and other assorted hurlers, but what a difference Waite Hoyt, Tom Zachary, Wiley Moore, Lefty Heimach, and even Sad Sam Jones, would make in the pitching problems that now confront Manager Joe McCarthy.

After Moore, the bald farmer with the bewildering sinker ball, slowed down from 19 victory pace in 1927, because of a sore arm, the Yanks let him go to St. Paul in April last year he won 11 games for the Boston Red Sox, a sixth place club.

Hoyt, star of two Yankee spiurges, drifted off to Detroit with Mark Koenig in 1930 in exchange for some fellows named Carroll, Wuestling, and Harry Rice, only to bob up last year winning 13 games for Detroit and the Athletics. This spring Brooklyn has him. He is in perfect form again.

Likewise Tom Zachary, the ancient left hander, took a new lease of life when the Yanks stamped him obsolete and waived him to the Braves in 1930. Long Tom won 11 games for Boston that season and another 11 last year. Lefty Heimach, another result of the 1929 wave of generosity, bobbed up winning nine games for Brooklyn in 1931.

Maureen Orcutt To Meet Mrs. Hill In Golf Final

PINEHURST, N. C., April 1. (AP)—Maureen Orcutt, the Englewood, N. J., star, who won the North and South women's championship last year, and Mrs. Opal Hill, Kansas City, will meet tomorrow for the 1932 crown as well as the deciding honors of the Southern winter season.

Miss Orcutt celebrated her 25th birthday today by beating Mrs. Sarah Pownes Wadsworth, Pittsburgh, 5 and 4, while Mrs. Hill was winning a close semi-finals match from Margaret Maddox, Atlanta, the Georgia champion, 2 up.

Sunny Jim's Homer Helps Cards Down Crackers, 7-3

ATLANTA, Ga., April 1. (AP.—Sunny Jim Bottomley's home run with one man on base gave the Cardinals a jump on the Atlanta Crackers in the first inning today and the world champions won 7-3. The Crackers rallied after seven scoreless innings and pounded out three runs.

Beaumont Yannigans Hand April Fool Drub To Regs

BEAUMONT, April 1. (AP)—The Exporter Yannigans gave the Regulars an April Fool drubbing today by the score of 14-7, counting 11 runs in the first inning. Forrest Sackett, southpaw, was the victim of this onslaught.

The most conspicuous performances of the six inning affair was the hitting of Fox and Reiber and the pitching of Schoolboy Rowe, six foot four and half rookie pitcher from El Dorado High school.

GIANTS DOWN MISSIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1. (AP)—Great pitching by Hal Schumacker and timely hitting by his team mates combined today to give the New York Giants a 4-0 victory over the San Francisco Missions of the Coast League. Schumacher, a right hander, twirled steady ball throughout. He held the locals to five hits scattered over as many innings and struck out six batters.

Many Guests Of Honor Will Attend Canal Celebration

EAGLE PASS, April 1. (AP)—Not the least of the attractions at Maverick county's canal-opening celebration, April 7 to 10, will be the guests of honor.

Among those who have already promised to attend the celebration are Governor R. S. Sterling of Texas, Adjutant-General Bill Sterling, and State Senator Benjamin F. Berkeley of Alpine. All three expressed their pleasure at being invited and their intention of being here at the time of the four-day jubilee.

The celebration, which will be the largest ever staged in this section, will inaugurate Maverick county's $7,000,000 gravity irriation canal, which was completed in January. Water from the Rio Grande will be turned in full force into the 60-foot-wide canal on April 8. Fifteen hundred cubic feet of water per second will be started down the canal to irrigate 13,000 acres of land in the Quemado Valley in the north part of the county and furnish power for a 13,500 horsepower electric generating plant.

Jaz Age Shows Heels To Take Eastern Opener

BOWIE, Md., April 1. (AP)—Before a brilliant opening day crowd of some 17,000, Jaz Age, four year old gelding, sprinted to victory in the $5,000 inaugural handicap today, to start the eastern spring turf campaign with his fourth straight victory.

Buddy Hanford brought the son of Great Jaz and Elga home in a driving finish to lead Vacillate over the line by a full length, with Panetian, the favorite, third, a length and a half back.

Panetian, champion sprinter of the winter racing season in Florida, got away to a poor start, and showed gameness in making up a lot of lost ground over the six furlong course, but, burdened by 126 pounds was unable to do more than threaten.

The result of the feature was a distinct upset, follow on, making his first start since last fall, sharing the favor in betting with Panetian. Jaz Age paid his backers $15.-20 for $2 to win, and enriched his owner, the former Jockey Johnny Parmalee, by $3,480.

Ralls Rotarians Down Spur Rotary Basketball Lineup

RALLS, April 1. (Special.)—The Ralls Rotary Club basketball team won a fast game over the Spur Rotary team here last week with a score of seventeen to nine, thereby winning the loving cup which had been held for some time by that club.

The cup was donated to the Ralls, Crosbyton and Spur clubs several years ago and the holder of the cup may be challenged by the other club for any kind of contest and the challenged club must accept. At one time the Ralls Club won the cup in a Yo Yo contest.

Practical Jokers Lacking With April First Passing

All Fool's day practical jokers Friday sent one ambulance driver on a goose chase, but to late la t night the fire department had not been called out on a false alarm.

Soon after daybreak yesterday, a Rix ambulance rumbled out of its quarters and began a swift run in response to a summons ostensibly from Monroe. The driver reported it as "an April fool joke," leaving no doubt as to his private opinion of such "jokes." Police reported no pranks had been called to their attention.

Two ex-bank clerks may play third base in the National league this year—Stanley Hack of the Chicago Cubs, from Sacramento, and Bobby Reis of the Brooklyn Dodgers, obtained from Hartford, Conn.

Cage Coaches Seek Means Of Speeding Up The Game

Notre Dame Coach Pleads Uniform Interpretation

CHICAGO, April 1. (AP)—A vigorous plea for uniform interpretation of rules was made by George Keegan of Notre Dame at today's session of the national association of basketball coaches' meeting.

Keegan, chairman of the committee on officials, presented the argument that teams going out of their own sections were handicapped by varying interpretations of the rules.

Other suggestions for changes in rules centered about efforts to speed up the game. The rules committee outlined a set of prosective revisions and additions, the more important of which were:

1.—Place a limit on the length of time a player may hold the ball after receiving it off the backboard.

2.—Declare the ball dead after a player has held it five seconds, whether or not he is closely guarded.

3.—Eliminate the tipoff, placing the ball in play from out of bounds.

4.—Revise the foul shot rule to "cancel" free throws at the end of the half and at the end of the game, and permit the team having a surplus to shoot.

Business Men Of Ralls To Organize Recreation Club

NEW ORLEANS, April 1. (AP)—Joe Vosmik, Cleveland's star young outfielder, became the Indians' first casualty of the season today. He strained a muscle in his right side in batting practice and will be on the bench a few days. He is expected to be ready for the opening of the league season however.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by William Braucher

HOW THEY'LL FINISH

This is to let you have, at bargain prices, this baseball observer's unsolicited opinion of how the teams in the National League will come steaming down the stretch to the pay-off window in late September. And here it is:

1. Burleigh Grimes
2. New York Giants
3. St. Louis Cardinals
4. Brooklyn Whatnots
5. Cincinnati Reds
6. Pittsburgh Pirates
7. Phillies
8. (I hate to say it, Bill)

The Value of Grimes

In a three-horse race, between the Cubs, Cardinals and Giants, such as this pennant campaign of 1932 promises to be, the value of Grimes cannot be estimated in the worth alone of the the victories he himself will win.

As I see it, when the Cubs got Grimes, in exchange for a $40,000 ball player—Hack Wilson—and a young pitcher, Bud Teachout, they acquired the fighting edge that will determine the winner of the National League pennant.

The Cubs have problems, to be sure, in the infield and outfield (as what National League team hasn't?) that might lead most of the baseball handicappers to play safe and select the Cardinals to repeat. But when the Cardinals let Grimes get away, they gave the year—not to mention the 17 or 18 wins old Burleigh is ready to fling out of his resourceful arm this season.

Name Four Better

If pitching is 80 per cent of a ball club, the Cubs are in. In Grimes, Root, Bush and Malone the Cubs have what looks to be the best four in the league. Added to these starters are Lon Warneke, Bob Smith, Jake May and Dutch Henry.

Spirit Of a Champion

The difference between the Cubs, Cardinals and Giants, as I see it, will be the battling spirit of old Burleigh. It is contagious. The Grimes presence around a club takes years off the old men's lives. It adds steadying confidence to the young fellows. Grimes is every inch a champion, and a team that this man serves becomes a team that will not be beaten.

That is why I believe the Cardinals will slip down below the Giants this year—because there is no unconquerable Grimes to hold up the team in its hour of need.

SENS BEAT DODGERS

Lubbock C Of C And American Legion Adopt Resolutions Condemning Action Taken On Soldiers' Bonus

Disapproval of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce's opposition to full payment now of adjusted service certificates has been expressed by Allen Brothers post No. 148 of the American Legion here and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

A chamber of commerce resolution, signed by Sam C. Arnett, president, was read at a meeting of legionnaires at the Legion home Thursday. The chamber's resolution pointed out that Allen Brothers post last December adopted resolution favoring "the prompt payment of the balance due under these certificates when the financial status of the government warrants or justifies such action."

Attitude Condemned

The local Legion post Thursday adopted a resolution that it "condemn and oppose the attitude of the WTCC," Ben Kucera, commander, said

About 83 persons attended the meeting. Glenn Hess, past commander, had charge of the program. Three vocal solos by Mary Cosby, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jerome Merrill; a vocal duet by Fred Hollis and Mrs. Merrell; a saw solo by Fred Hollis, and several accordion selections by Mrs. Merrell were presented.

Pictures of world war scenes were shown on a screen by Floyd Jackson of Hurlwood.

A discussion of the unemployment situation was led by W. M. Peticolas, jr. A plan by which unemployed men would be assigned to a block each for work there, as in a man-a-block campaign, was considered. A committee will be named to study it, Commander Kucera said.

The post also declared itself favorable to a Girl Scout unit to be sponsored by the post auxiliary.

Local Man Is Fined $100 For Threat Sent By Note

Robert Lee, 25, electric sign and floorsweep salesman, was fined $100 and costs in county court Friday after he pleaded guilty of threatening the life of another person. He was returned to county jail in lieu of payment of the fine.

Charge against Lee resulted from sending of an anonymous postal card to a man living in the 1700-block of Nineteenth street. A second anonymous card described the threat as a joke. Lee made a signed statement Thursday to Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney, and Vaughn E. Wilson, county attorney.

Man Is Sentenced For Bank Robbery

HOUSTON, April 1. (AP) — H. F. Bill) Belot, 33, was sentenced to life imprisonment today after he waived a jury trial and pleaded guilty to a charge of robbing the Guaranty Bond State bank of Tomball Dec. 23.

Belot wept as his 26-year-old brother, M. R. (Pete) Belot, testified as principal state's witness that "Bill was the ringleader in the robbery."

A. H. Keefer, cashier, and Mrs. Della Ives, assistant cashier of the bank, testified two men came into the bank and robbed it of $3,500. They identified Bill Belot as one of the robbers.

The Belot brothers and Harry N. Morris, 31, were indicted jointly for the bank robbery. Pete Belot pleaded guilty Feb. 27 and was sentenced to five years. A similar sentence had been given Morris on a guilty plea Feb. 15.

Pete Belot was given a week's furlough from the penitentiary in order that he might come to Houston to testify at his brother's trial. Morris, not yet transferred from the county jail to the penitentiary, was brought from his cell to the courtroom.

Bill Belot was arrested a few weeks ago in Leesburg, Fla. He was not represented in court by counsel. He declined to testify and refused to ask any questions of state witnesses. He put on no witnesses of his own.

The brothers looked at each other often during the trial, but did not speak.

ASHINGTON, April 1. — As the struggle to get back to good times develops itself, it becomes more and more evident that agriculture and industrial labor ought to cooperate and that they do not.

It looks as if they ought to combine against the middle man, who trims them both.

The middle man does have his function, of course, as a purveyor of farm products to the city dweller and of urban labor's products to the farms. However, he manifestly has charged too much for his services, and to that extent can properly be regarded by both sides as an individual to be fought.

But there is no reason for conflict between the farmer and the factory worker. They surely should be able to get together, and, between them, they are the vast bulk of the population.

BUT LOOK AT THEM!

The farmer desires cheaper money—that is, higher prices.

He wants it because he himself sells what he produces. The higher the price he gets for it, the more he receives in dollars and cents. And his cost of living does not increase proportionately. It increases somewhat, but not in respect to his big fixed charges—his taxes and interest and principle on his mortgages. He pays those in cash, to the same amount whether the prices he receives are high or low. Most of what he eats he raises on his own land. The margin of necessaries, for which he must pay more is not large.

The city worker has to pay in actual bank notes and small change for everything he requires. If prices rise, his wage does not go so far—unless it is advanced proportionately.

NOW, IF MONEY is cheapened, the farmer automatically gets more for his crops—that is, more reckoned in dollars and cents.

The wage worker's pay does not increase until he clamors for a higher rate, and maybe not then, for a long time. He does not take his handiwork to market, as the farmer does his chops. His products are marketed through an employer, who is likely to consider it to his advantage to keep his help's share at a minimum indefinitely, if he can—despite altruistic talk to the contrary.

Consequently the city workingman has good reason for hesitating when the farmer points to the necessity for price inflation, as he is doing now.

MY OBSERVATION has been that the city worker, if anything, is rather more thoughtful of the farmer in emergencies like the present than is the farmer of the city worker's interests.

Perhaps the city worker is not quite thoughtful enough. Nevertheless it is a fact that, from the very beginning of the depression of the last two and a half years, every responsible industrial labor leader in the country has emphasized the vital importance to his followers of lending every possible aid to agriculture toward the improvement of its lot.

Farm representatives in congress, on the other hand, began quietly, months ago, to dwell upon the necessity of a "deflation of labor" as a preliminary to prosperity's restoration.

A "DEFLATION OF LABOR"—industrial labor—unmistakably is what is in progress now.

Wages are coming down; prices are about to go up.

I know there is a school of thought—not confined to farmers—which considers that labor was getting too much pay and that that was one of the things which brought on the depression. And possibly, for the time being, "labor's deflation" will tend to start the wheels turning again and increase employment—at lower pay than before.

But I doubt that it will prove to be a good thing in the end.

If there is an unfavorable ultimate reaction, agriculture will feel that, too. The two big groups—the farmers and industrial labor—do not pull well together. It might be better for both of them if they did.

PHILIPPINE BOYCOTT?

A dispatch from Manila to the New York Herald Tribune reports that the Philippine Civic union, strongest of the insurgent Filipino political groups, is laying plans for a boycott of American manufactures as a means of expressing the islanders' desire for complete and immediate independence.

If such a move should be put into effect, it would give rise to an exceedingly odd situation.

The nation is pledged to set the Philippines free. Bills are now pending in congress to set a definite date. But if the boycott became effective, it is highly probable that the American government would at once devote all its effort to breaking the boycott—would try, in other words, to keep the Filipinos from demanding that which it has already promised them. And in the excitement the promise of independence might be forgotten for another two decades.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

VISITING AN INHUMAN REVENGE UPON HIMSELF:

The "Believe It Or Not" series has cited numerous examples of inhuman self-imposed tortures on the part of the Hindu faquires for religious reasons. The case of Agostya, who held his arm aloft for twenty years until his nails grew through his palm, introduces an element of novelty. Agostya's reason for punishing himself in such a ghastly manner was that "an act of dire consequence had come to the world on account of this hand. It struck someone he loved most and for that reason he punished if that the sin shall cease to exist. "The gaunt, shabby Agostya, whose petrified arms stuck out like a stump from his shoulder, was not a saintly man. The penance was rather a result of too liberal an application of the rule of the offending limb, on the part of a superstitious savage.

The dime-a-dance girl

By Joan Clayton

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELLEN ROSSITER, beautiful 20-year-old, falls in love with LARRY HARROWGATE, an artist whom she meet at Dreamland where Ellen works as a dance hall hostess. Larry is engaged to ELIZABETH BOWES, a debutante, but he shows attention to Ellen until his fiance returns from Europe.

From a sense of gratitude the girl agrees to marry STEVEN BARCLAY, a kind and wealthy man of 57 who has paid hospital expenses for her young brother, MIKE, injured in a street accident. Barclay also gives BERT ARMSTEAD, her sister's fiance, an excellent job. Ellen believes gratitude can take the place of love.

Barclay has been married twice. His first wife died and the second, divorced, was LEDA GRAYSON, notorious dancer. Barclay fears that talk of the divorce may be revived when he marries Ellen. He tells her they must have a very quiet wedding.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Strangely enough Ellen had never thought of Steven's divorced wife. She was as embarrassed as was the man himself. Far from forcing his confidence Ellen did not desire it. She did not want to hear from Steven of his second marriage. She knew all she wanted to know about Leda Grayson Barclay, the unscrupulous little dancer whom Steven Barclay had taken for a second wife.

Leda's world and Steven's also had been astounded when the dancer had contrived to marry him as such women do often contrive to marry fine men. All the world had said, "I told you so" when the couple were separated two weeks following the nuptial day. The rest was newspaper history. A filing of suits and countersuits, an endless washing of dirty linen before the public. Finally after a handsome settlement Leda Grayson had pouringly permitted Steven to obtain the Sonora divorce, had bought herself a famous string of pearls, resumed her maiden name and returned to the stage and the life she loved—the life of Broadway.

That was all five years in the past. Ellen's first impulse was to beg Steven to allow it to remain there. On reflection she patted his hand and smiled.

"Go ahead if you must," the girl said gently. "Why do you want a quiet wedding?"

"It's hard to explain," Barclay replied. "It's hard to explain to a woman you love what a damned fool you've been."

"Have you ever thought the woman might understand?"

He sent her a grateful glance. "You'd understand, Ellen."

"Give me a chance then."

"Very well, my dear. I don't want things spoiled for you by the newspapers or by—Leda."

"The newspapers?" Ellen echoed. "Can't you see what a story they'd make of our marriage if we announced it publicly? Can't you—"

"You mean they'd call me a gold-digger," Ellen interrupted mischievously.

"More likely they'd call me a cradle-robber," he countered.

"The muckrakers would never dare, to infer such a thing!" she said in mock indignation. "A young fellow like you!"

He laughed, sobered suddenly. "It's not entirely a laughing matter, darling." He went on slowly, "The reporters could make a horror out of the time I want you to remember as the sweetest of your life."

The girl felt her heart set up a thick, uncomfortable tattoo. She would not meet his eyes.

"You know how unfortunate my second marriage was," Steven was saying in that grave, disturbing tone. "Even if I would I couldn't explain Leda Grayson to you. I don't and will never understand her. If she knew of your existence, though she has long since lost any interest in me, she would stop at nothing to make things disagreeable for you. She would stop at nothing to obtain for herself columns of newspaper publicity—any kind of publicity."

His voice stopped. He was tortured with the burning embarrassment of the shy and self-contained who are forced by circumstance to abandon their reserve.

"When shall we make our announcement?" Ellen asked.

"After we've sailed," said Steven promptly. "By the time we've returned our marriage won't be news any longer."

"Then it's settled."

"You're not disappointed because you won't walk down the aisle of St. Thomas' with an armload of lilies?"

"Disappointed!" she scoffed. "I should say not. I'd be frightened to death. Really and truly, Steven, I prefer a quiet wedding. I wanted that all along."

"Ah, you are a darling!"

He raised her hand to his lips, gently kissed the palm and closed her fingers over the kiss.

"Then I'm not even to tell Miss Elcott that we're being married," Ellen said, permitting her hand to lie in his hand.

"Oh, I've already told her. She's as quiet as the grave. If you have time you might run in to see her

Plan Of Effecting Prudent Economy In County Government Being Tried

ABILENE, April 1.—(AP)—The Taylor county expenditures committee, designed for a systematic study of local government, with the ultimate aim of effecting prudent economies, has been organized here with the aid of D. A. Bandeem, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and will function under terms of the uniform budget bill passed by the last legislature.

The budget bill provides that all units of government shall submit, before start of the fiscal year, the financial budgets for public hearing.

The county organization is composed of 20 property owners, ten of whom are residents of this city and ten from other communities in the county. The whole group will make a special study of the county's financial set-up, while the Abilene group also will serve in similar capacity with reference to city government.

The constitution of the association as adopted expressly prohibits any activity in politics and provides that no concern be given in any tax-raising measure. There are to be no dues or fees. Principal aim of the group as presented in the constitution is to "endeavor to furnish constructive leadership for economy in government, and not merely object to high taxes.

"B. C." Relieves Your Headache In 3 Minutes

Realizing that no one drug can relieve all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to relieve almost any headache in a few minutes. You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B. C." 10c and 25c packages, and when you have one of those violent nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, "B. C." will give you soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia, reducing fever, and for quiting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. The dime-a-dance girl some time during the next few days. She'd like it. But it won't be necessary."

"Haven't you anyone you want to invite to the wedding?" Ellen asked. She went on shyly. "Here we are about to be married and I don't know a blessed thing about your family or even if you have one."

"I have a sister," Barclay said reluctantly. "We don't get on, my sister and I. She hasn't spoken to me since the day I married Leda Grayson. She has a son—I see occasionally, a nice chap but lazy as they come. You'd like him. He's young and full of life."

"I'm sure I would," Ellen said. "Do they live here?"

"Abroad most of the time," he answered and the topic died. But Ellen was to remember those words long afterwards.

They talked of Bert and of the things Steven planned for him. Their talk drifted on to inconsequential subjects and finally Steven rose to go.

"There's something else I want to tell you—something pleasant this time," he said, smiling down at her. "If you had a father or older brother I'd discuss it with him but you've been in business so long yourself that you'll understand. I want you to be absolutely independent of me financially. So if there's any little thing you'd like to buy either for yourself or for your family, you can do it freely without consulting me at all."

Ellen appreciated the tactfulness which made him avoid direct reference to the fact that Molly and Mike would be dependent upon him.

"That's ever so kind of you," she said gratefully.

"Only the usual thing. I'll be tied up all day tomorrow winding up affairs here. But I'll meet you at 4 o'clock at my lawyers. Symes and Prendergast on Park Avenue."

He was gone.

Ellen watched him off down the stairs. There went the man who in three days was to be her husband. In four days she would be on the way to Paris with him. His life would be her life.

For a moment there on the stairway panic gripped her.

The following day opened with a real quarrel between Ellen and Myra. Ellen was determined her sister should have a trousseau as luxurious and complete as her own. It had never occurred to her that Myra might object. But Myra was objecting.

"I'll never forgive you," Ellen declared passionately, "if you refuse me this pleasure."

"But, Ellen, it's absurd that Steven should buy my trousseau."

"He's buying mine—that's not precisely conventional," Ellen countered. "If you say again that it's I who is marrying him I'll scream. Are you going to be so stiff-necked that you won't even let Steven and me buy you a wedding present! That's to be the present."

"I would love to," Myra admitted wistfully. "Imagine picking out exactly what you want instead of what you need!"

"Then why won't you?"

"It's Bert," Myra said briefly.

"Bert?"

"You'd be amazed at Bert," Myra said lightly but with half unwilling pride in her eyes. "He's held that new job of his one day and already he's proud as Lucifer."

"I don't care how proud Bert is," Ellen snapped. "If you won't go shopping with me today and buy everything you've always wanted, then I'll simply go to Europe with the clothes I have now. That's all there is to it."

"We-ll, in that case—" hesitated Myra. She dimpled. "I'll do what I want to and fight it out with Bert afterwards. When he sees me looking like the Queen of Sheba I'm sure he'll be reasonable."

The matter was settled. Still Myra maintained faint doubts. "I do hope Bert won't—" she said presently in a worried little tone.

"Let Bert go climb a tack," Ellen suggested, giggling at the other's serious mien.

"Oh, I don't know that I mind Bert's being this way too much."

"Mind it?" Ellen commented. "I should say you didn't mind it. You're pleased as Punch."

"Of course I'm pleased!"

Myra danced over to Ellen. "Admit it. Isn't it fun to be bossed around by a man who's crazy about you?"

"I wouldn't know that," said Ellen with dignity. "Steven always does what I want to do."

She tried to say the words casually but she was horrified to realize that she was thinking of Larry Harrowgate.

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT MAKING BIG HIT

Grocers Say Housewives Welcome Many Improvements in Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit

Local grocers have pronounced the new Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit one of the most up-to-date food products on the market. It offers many outstanding and popular features. For one thing, the biscuits are toasted a golden brown on both top and bottom—not just one side.

The new Kellogg biscuit is also baked in a more convenient, economical size. Two biscuits just fit the cereal bowl—and you get 15 to the package instead of a dozen.

Mothers will especially be interested in the fact that every package is certified for food value by the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia. These new biscuits are considered a splendid food for both adults and children. With either hot or cold milk, you achieve a well-balanced amount of vitamins, minerals, proteins and carbohydrates.

The Kellogg Company uses a special process of "pressure-cooking" which retains all the food value of the whole wheat and makes it very easy to digest. At the same time it develops delicious flavor.

These improved biscuits can be identified by the name, Kellogg's, and the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Revenue Bill

Robinson himself said tonight the house bill "will be favorably received."

Amendment Forced

In view of Secretary Mills' downward revision of the estimated yield of the bill submitted to the ways and means committee today, the Democrats, almost by a strict party vote, forced over an amendment 180 to 106 making dividends of stock subject to the normal income tax rate of 7 per cent to provide $88,000,000 additional.

After Mills submitted his estimates on the expected savings from government costs, Speaker Garner told newspapermen "if President Hoover and Mr. Mills would cooperate we could reduce expenses $250,000,000 without the least trouble."

Before final passage the house reversed itself by striking out on a record vote 211 to 178 the swing amendment imposing wartime surtax rates reaching a maximum of 55 per cent on incomes over $5,000,000. Although by eliminating this item revenue was reduced $17,000,000, Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee demanded the vote.

The action restored the committee's maximum rate of 40 per cent on all incomes in excess of $100,000.

Prices On Stock Market Close Lower Although Declines Are Much Smaller

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 1. (AP)—The advance toward a balanced budget accomplished partly by bringing dividends into the next tax fold, found stocks unenthusiastic over some of the means proposed for reaching the goal today. Prices had closed lower, although declines were considerably smaller than on Tuesday.

There was no squeezing of shorts on the first day of the new loan rule's operation, for enough stock was available to borrowers to forestall panicky bidding up of prices. Considerable covering was done during the first half hour or so.

Some shares were well supported all day. Prominent in this group were American Telephone, U. S. Steel and Westinghouse, which had commanded large premiums in the loan crowd yesterday, and these three closed with fractional gains. Many less favorably situated leaders, however, gave way to the prevailing mood which seemed to be influenced largely by the prospects of taxation. In many instances the losses cropped out in a number of rails, utilities and specialties. Turnover of 1,539,180 shares was just above Thursday's.

possibility authorities hoped to discover Charles A. Lindbergh, jr., himself, abducted from his home on the night of March 1, to the supposition they had aroused new interest in the records of Betty Gow, Scottish nursemaid, Henry Johnson, her Norwegian friend, or Ilie Wheatly, English butler in the Lindbergh home.

Meanwhile, Norfolk, Va., intermediaries continued to express confidence in their ability ultimately to recover the child, and the search went forward unabated in Philadelphia and sections of New Jersey and New York.

AUSTIN, April 1. (AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling and Mrs. Sterling left today for their bayshore home near Houston where they will spend the week-end. The governor said he would go to Laredo next week to address a meeting of the federated women's clubs.

Spanish nationals living outside of Spain sent about $50,000 back home last year.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, April 1. (AP)—Cattle trade was chiefly a cleanup affair with prices generally steady. Quality was rather plain and killing steers ranged from $3.00-$6.00. Aggregate receipts at eleven markets were estimated at 5,700, a slight increase of a week ago. Trade this week has been slowed down by a dull and lower dressed beef trade and the reaction of fed steers after Tuesday was made possible by meager supplies.

Moderate activity developed on hogs at steady to 10-20 higher, rates with a top in Chicago at 4.55. Offerings totaled around 49,000 as compared with 60,320 a week ago.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, April 1 (AP)—Hogs 700; steady; top 4.00; one load light weight rail butchers 4.00; medium to choice 180-240 lb. truck hogs 3.90-4.00.

Cattle — 1,200, including 600 calves; steers fully steady; 2 loads good 1,335 lb steers on order 5.50; plain killing steers 4.50-75; slaughter calves unchanged; few good heavies up to 5.00.

Sheep—4,500; shorn fat lambs steady to 10 lower; other classes steady; spring lambs 6.75-7.25; shorn fat lambs 5.00-40; shorn ewes 3.50.

Three Convicted In Kidnap Trials

DENVER, April 1. (AP)—A jury today convicted three men for the abduction of Benjamin P. Bower, Denver bakery manager the night of January 19.

The jury after more than 23 hours of deliberation recommended leniency for the three defendants, Arthur M. Taylor, Joseph Pannell and George W. Reed. The maximum penalty for kidnaping in Colorado is seven years imprisonment.

Bower was abducted from his home and held in a shack on the outskirts of Denver for five days. He was released after midnight on the fifth day, without payment of the $50,000 ransom demanded.

LAW CONSTITUTIONAL

AUSTIN, April 1. (AP)—The attorney general's department has held Texas' new law requiring voters to pass directly on presidential candidates instead of marking choices for party electors is constitutional.

TRIAL DATE SET

AUSTIN, April 1. (AP)—Taking of preliminary testimony in the state's suit to oust 15 major oil companies and two oil associations from Texas for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws has been set to start May 9.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, April 1. (AP)—Demand was fair for corn, active for sorghums and slow for wheat on the cash grain market here today.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads, freight paid, delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate; or Texas common points: Wheat, No. 1 ordinary hard milling 54 1-2-55 1-2; No. 1 hard 12 per cent protein 55-56; 14 per cent 57-58; 15 per cent 59-60; 16 per cent 61-62. Sorghums, No. 2 milo 109 lbs 71-72; No. 2 kaffir 72-73.

Delivered Texas common points and group three: corn, No. 2 mixed 41-42; No. 2 white 42-43; No. 2 yellow 4 1-2, 43 1-2.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats, No. 2 red 24-25.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 1. (AP)—The bottom fell out of the corn market today, and prices outdid the lowest record heretofore this season and for many years back.

Stop loss selling of corn developed owing partly to seasonal liquidation of accounts by holders of May delivery contracts, but also as a result of almost complete absence of shipping demand here and, on account of fairly large country offerings. An added incentive to let go of corn was word that planting of the new 1932 corn crop had got under way in Oklahoma.

Corn closed unsettled, 5-8, 1 1-2 cents below yesterday's finish, wheat 3-8, 3-4 down, oats 1-4 off, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents decline.

Three Youths Identified By Man As Robbers Of Station

TUCUMCARI, N. M., April 1. (AP)—Pat Jenkins, Amarillo filling station operator, today identified three youths arrested here Thursday night as the ones who held him up and forced him to accompany them for ten miles after robbing his filling station of ten dollars in cash.

The three, Jack Waber, Jack Muren and Wayne Vernon, all said to be of St. Louis, refused to waive extradition and are held in the Quay county jail pending the filing of extradition papers.

TOLUCA, Mexico, April 1 (AP)—Federal troops were called out today to quell an Agrarian fight at the Las Lomas Hacienda, near here after two members of the ranch owner's family had been slain.

Fourteen Agrarians, angered because of failure to get lands from the Hacienda, owned by Ignacio Valdez, attacked the ranch-house. Arcadio and Nicias Valdez were shot and killed. The troops captured six of the Agrarians.

Modern Young Portia Has Specialty Of Freeing Bootleggers From Jail

SAN ANTONIO, April 1. (AP) — The specialty of Miss Sadie A. Bevilacqua, young woman lawyer of Galveston, is defending bootleggers.

The young woman, the first to appear as an attorney in a criminal case here in many years, declares that she likes federal courts because of their formality and stiffness.

She was a defense attorney here in the trial of Milton Ellis, a youth convicted of robbery and sentenced to five years.

Miss Bevilacqua declared that Galveston is a good place for her specialty, because "people will smuggle liquor, and they will get caught."

She disclosed some of the methods which she has used in defense of bootleggers. For instance, there was a man with a wooden leg charged with smuggling. It was the wooden leg by which officers identified him. This modern young Portia secured the services of five men with wooden legs as witnesses. The defendant was acquitted, because the officers did not know which man was the right one.

Miss Devilacqua said she doesn't smile at the jury; she talks about the evidence.

ICC Given Fresh Support On Policy Against Loans

WASHINGTON, April 1. —(AP)— Fresh support from the senate was given the interstate commerce commission today as it clung firmly to its position that railroads should not borrow government money to repay bank loans until their private resources are exhausted.

Good Times Or Bad—What Matter To This Man? He Has Innumerable Jobs

GENESEO, Ill., April 1. — If you were to mention the "unemployment situation" to Phineas Morrow, his probable comeback would be: "What unemployment?"

By the 3,000 residents of this town Morrow is regarded as the world's champion small-town jobholder—in good times or bad.

Just now he has about 15 jobs—dissecting some of them might raise the total—and several are of many years tenure.

Three of his more important posts are public offices—justice of the peace, deputy coroner and city clerk. On the first two jobs he's been on duty 25 years, on the last 11 years.

Assortment Of Jobs

And, to boot, he also is—

A licensed real estate dealer, a notary public, agent for eight insurance companies, executor of three estates, administrator of three others and trustee of one, conserver of two wards, trustee of the Kiwanis club, secretary and treasurer of Geneseo's Outing club (for 17 years), secretary of the First Unitarian church (for 16 years), secretary of a cemetery association and treasurer of the Masonic lodge.

But despite all these demands on his time, Morrow makes no excuses when his wife wants him to attend bridge parties.

Time For Recreation

And he has time to go with his sons on fishing trips and to ball games, with his daughters to a show or some other social affair.

Even with all these jobs Morrow has accumulated no fortune. His family lives comfortably but not extravagantly.

One daughter teaches, another is married, one son attends the state university and one is in school here.

As for Mrs. Morrow—she is president of the Geneseo parent-teacher association, regent of the local chapter of the D. A. R. and active in the Geneso Columbian club.

Unemployment is only a name to Phineas Morrow of Geneseo, Ill. In addition to serving as justice of the peace, deputy coroner and city clerk, he holds about a dozen other jobs for every day of the week—and Sunday too.

Four Girl College Students To Interfere In Negro Cases

WASHINGTON, April 1. —(AP)— Four girl college students came to the capital today to seek some intervention in behalf of seven negroes sentenced to die May 13 for assaulting two white girls at Scottsboro, Ala.

The girls, Vassar and Wellesley students, were sent by the national committee for the defense of political prisoners to urge members of congress to assist in obtaining a review of the case by the supreme court.

Chairman Norris of the senate judiciary committee expressed interest in the matter and asked the girls to furnish him a written memorandum.

Heel Flies Worst Known In Midland Section In Years

MIDLAND, April 1. (AP) — Heel flies, always more or less a pest to cattle, are the worst known in this part of the cattle country for several years. The flies have become so bad that cattle are being damaged because they stand in muddy tanks for protection, instead of grazing.

Abnormal rain followed by warm weather has been considered as the cause of the outbreak. Ranchers say, however, that the rapidly growing crop of grass and weeds from the spring rains will more than offset the loss in weight.

Burned Filling Station Is To Be Replaced By New One

By Staff Correspondent

SHALLOWATER, April 1 — The Pate Hardy filling station, destroyed by fire several weeks ago, is to be rebuilt some time this summer, according to reports here.

No date has been announced for starting of the work. The building, of brick, was destroyed by fire early in March. The first blaze was thought to have been extinguished, but apparently it was not and the second fire the same night gutted the building. The Lubbock fire department was called to help put out the fire.

"It is my sincerest wish that every community in the state shall not only sponsor the children's May Day activities, but shall assemble its citizenship on that day for a unified program on child health and welfare that will enable them to understand the safeguards that will insure sound health for Texas children."
