Rockport Pirates To Play Six Home Games Next Season

Piloting

The Fifth War Loan Drive is due to start June 12 and by July 8 the government is hoping to get sixteen billion more dollars, six billion of which is desired from individuals.

Politics is beginning to warm up slightly now, but with the people more interested in the opening of the second front, the candidates will have a hard time getting people stirred up over their particular interests. The Pilot's announcement column has several new names this week, and in spite of all your war-interest and war-worries, we suggest that you begin now studying the political situation. Now, as never before, you should give close study to your government and the people you elect to run it. You not only owe it to yourself to take an interest in politics, but also to the boys on the fighting fronts. They are looking to you to protect their interests back home.

Here is the answer to why an Army officer wearing an oak leaf ranks one who wears a bar. According to an old Army legend, a lieutenant, or subaltern, as he was once called, may assume an elevated position in the field to watch the operations of his command. He climbs on the first bar of the fence. The captain has to oversee more men and therefore must climb higher—two bars.

Up in rank and up in an oak tree goes the major, who must see even more men. The lieutenant colonel climbs into a silver spruce and the legend carries the colonel up to the eagles. Generals have so many men to look after that they can only do the work from a view such as that afforded by stars.

Soldier in Solomons 'Plays' All Religions

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—"Chaplain, is yo' all cot a Catholic pray book?" Lt. Comdr. Carl Knudsen of the Harvard University Chaplain's School was asked by a negro soldier while on duty in the Solomons.

"Yes, here's one", replied the chaplain. "But, tell me aren't you the fellow I gave a protestant bible to the other day?"

"Right yo' is suh," came back the reply. "At a time like this I'se takin' no chances."

If you can't be glad for the good things you have, there are plenty of bad things you can be glad you haven't.

District 27B Now Includes 12 Schools With Two Competitive Zones

Coaches, superintendents, and principals of schools from District 27B met in Odem Wednesday night, voted two new member schools into the district, and then zoned the district into an East-West Division for the purpose of saving transportation problems.

Flour Bluff, a new school recently constructed south of Corpus Christi, and Calallen, a school near Robstown, were admitted to District 27B competition. This will give the district twelve schools for inter-school competition, including Rockport, Refugio, Ingleside, Gregory, Sundeen, and Flour Bluff in the East Division, and Odem, Matthis, Banquete, Orange Grove, Calallen and Bishop in the West Zone.

The winners in each zone will meet in a final game to decide the winner of the entire district.

Cong. Richard M. Kleberg of Corpus Christi today filed announcement of his candidacy for re-election to his seventh consecutive term as representative from the 14th District of Texas, subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

The announcement came from Washington where, Congressman Kleberg explained, he probably will be kept busy through election time.

"While I would like nothing better than the opportunity to spend several weeks in the district meeting, speaking and conferring with my constituents; unless conditions under which the Congress labors today change, such a visit is impossible. I believe my fellow Americans whom I have the honor of representing will understand and would not have it otherwise, considering the circumstances."

"Were it possible to get away from Washington and carry out my duties as congressman, too, there are any number of issues vital to our government and the future of our nation that I would take great delight in discussing in every part of the district. The war front and the home front must behave as one, we all are soldiers in this fight together, and never (Continued on back page)

Husband Of Former Rockport Girl Killed

Maj. J. J. Kraemer, husband of the former Miss Audrey Fern Haynes, was killed in a plane crash on April 22 near Phoenix, Ariz. Burial was in the Fort Sam Houston National Cemetery.

Mrs. Kraemer is a daughter of Milburn Haynes of Rockport. She was born and reared here. Two children, Lauretta Fern, 2, and John Jewell, 5 months, also survive. The family resides in San Antonio.

Maj. Kraemer, who was tactical inspector with the Ferrying Division Headquarters at Salt Lake City at the time of his death, had served as commanding officer of the 12th Ferrying Service Detachment at Adams Field, Ark. On Pearl Harbor Day while transporting a B-25 to the Far East he was ordered to return and proceed to California because a Jap invasion was expected momentarily. He was assigned to "Project 32" when 32 of the best bomber teams in the country were selected to deliver planes to the South Pacific, and led one of the first flights of B-17's to Australia. During the Battle of Midway he delivered three planes to Hawaii in one week.

It's bad enough to be the black sheep of the family without being made the goat for everything.

MEMORIAM

In memory of our mother, Mrs. Annie Wrather Clarke, who passed away, May 11th, 1942, two years ago today;
We are sad within our memory,
Lonely are our hearts today,
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever been called away
We think of her in silence,
No eye may see us weep
But many silent tears are shed

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

What Makes
"A Real American Town?"

Visitor said to me the other day: "Joe, you've got a real American town here—a town you can be proud of."

Afterwards, I got to wondering just what he meant. We aren't much different from any other town our size. A few nice stores... a village green... and 27 blue stars on the Service Flag in Town Hall.

Not much exciting happens, either. We work hard... have our Friday evening socials at the Parish House... and the kids play baseball and go fishing...

In our private life, we live and let live. If we often disagree on politics... if some of us like beer, some buttermilk... we still respect one another's rights and opinions.
What makes our town "American"? From where I sit, it's not because we're different but because we're so much like all other towns that add up to America—where self respect and tolerance are guiding principles.

Sellers Announces For Attorney Gen.

Grover Sellers

Grover Sellers, Attorney General of Texas, has announced he will be a candidate for a second term in that office in the 1944 primary election.

In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Sellers declared:

"I am grateful to Gov. Coke Stevenson for appointing me attorney general, following the resignation of Gerald C. Mann, with whom I had served four years as first assistant.

"To the people of Texas I now submit my candidacy. When elected my one effort will be fair and impartial administration of all laws and the constitution as written by the people. Outstanding Writers Coming to Corpus Christi For Conference

Additional staff writers for the Southwest Writers' Conference to be held at the Nueces Hotel, Corpus Christi, June 20th, 21st and 22nd have been announced as John A. Lomax, Honorary Curator and Consultant for the Archive of American Folk Song of the musical division of the Library of Congress, whose latest book, "Adventure of a Ballad Hunter" is in the process of publication, who is to head the Folk division of the Conference and Dr. W. S. Campbell, (Stanley Vestal) who will head the Poetry division. Vestal is not only a poet but also a successful author of biographies, historical sketches, and books on How to Write. He is at present director of Professional Writing courses at the University of Oklahoma.

This will not be the first time Dr. Campbell and John Lomax have worked together. Their interests are closely allied in that Stanley Vestal's principal literary interests lie in the Southwest and the development of its colorful past. John Lomax's interest is in the folklore of the same area. He has recorded words and music to thousands of cowboy songs, negro spirituals, and secular songs. He began collecting them in Bosque county where he lived on a ranch as a small boy. One of the branches of the Chisolm trail ran close beside the Lomax cattle pen, and along it each spring, herds of Texas Longhorns were driven to Kansas, often stopping overnight nearby; and the young boy often listened to the night herders singing and whistling their doleful melodies. In 1910 he published his first book of these songs with the music to the best of them. It was only his first book, but the first indigenous American folk music published. Four others have followed, including "Book of Texas," "Negro Folk Songs as sung by Leadbelly" and "Cowboy Songs."

Stanley Vestal's works cover a wide range, "Big Foot Wallace", "Fandango", "Kit Carson", "How to write magazine articles", and numerous others. Besides being a highly successful author, he is one of the countries outstanding teachers of the Writing craft, in that his students have had a remarkable success in selling their works.

Sellers Announces For Attorney Gen.

Grover Sellers

Grover Sellers, Attorney General of Texas, has announced he will be a candidate for a second term in that office in the 1944 primary election.

In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Sellers declared:

"I am grateful to Gov. Coke Stevenson for appointing me attorney general, following the resignation of Gerald C. Mann, with whom I had served four years as first assistant.

"To the people of Texas I now submit my candidacy. When elected my one effort will be fair and impartial administration of all laws and the constitution as written by the people. I shall continue to work in complete harmony with other officials and state departments in the efficient operation of our state government.

"All Texans have one common thought today—winning the war as quickly as possible. This department, as in the past, shall continue full cooperation with military authorities in prosecution of the war. During the absence of our men in uniform, their welfare always shall be my first concern. In fact, I am the first ever to hold that Texans in uniform can vote.

"I base my candidacy on a background of experience gained as your attorney general, judge of the Eighth Judicial District and as an associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals."

Sub-Freshman Class Holds Banquet at High School Building

Members of the Sub-Freshman class of the Rockport School held a banquet at the high school building Saturday night. The class colors of purple and gold were effectively used for room decorations and the motto "Rowing not Drifting" was emphasized in the table appointments.

Following the invocation given by Jackie Blackwell, Mary Lou McLester proposed a toast and Wilbern Hamblin presented a gift to Mrs. Morgan C. Wheeler, sponsor of the class. Between the three courses of the dinner, the following program was given with Wilbern Hamblin acting as master of ceremonies:

Members of the class were Pete Sprinkle, Bobby Morrison, Mary Elsie Rowe, Donald Weber, Wilbern Hamblin, Mary Lou McLester, Norman McLead, Vernon Brown, Jackie Blackwell, Jimmy Little, Jack Davis, Pauline Walker, Clifton Evans, Frank Miller, Pete Baca, Bonnie Cron, Virginia Snyder, Patti Ballou, Mary Ruth Dervage, Elizabeth Freeman, Loretta Townsend, Iletta Townsend, Eufemia Falcon, Betty Laughter, Shirley Ratisseau, Gloria Salch, Shirley Lassiter, C. Outstanding Writers Coming to Corpus Christi For Conference

Additional staff writers for the Southwest Writers' Conference to be held at the Nueces Hotel, Corpus Christi, June 20th, 21st and 22nd have been announced as John A. Lomax, Honorary Curator and Consultant for the Archive of American Folk Song of the musical division of the Library of Congress, whose latest book, "Adventure of a Ballad Hunter" is in the process of publication, who is to head the Folk division of the Conference and Dr. W. S. Campbell, (Stanley Vestal) who will head the Poetry division. Vestal is not only a poet but also a successful author of biographies, historical sketches, and books on How to Write. He is at present director of Professional Writing courses at the University of Oklahoma.

This will not be the first time Dr. Campbell and John Lomax have worked together. Their interests are closely allied in that Stanley Vestal's principal literary interests lie in the Southwest and the development of its colorful past. John Lomax's interest is in the folklore of the same area. He has recorded words and music to thousands of cowboy songs, negro spirituals, and secular songs. He began collecting them in Bosque county where he lived on a ranch as a small boy. One of the branches of the Chisolm trail ran close beside the Lomax cattle pen, and along it each spring, herds of Texas Longhorns were driven to Kansas, often stopping overnight nearby; and the young boy often listened to the night herders singing and whistling their doleful melodies. "It's true, Mary. Wherever the government has permitted distillers to purchase the equipment necessary to reprocess the used grain, at least 50% of the feed value (25% by weight) of the whole grain is being recovered and returned to farms like yours in the form of premium-quality livestock feed. Only the starch is removed during distilling...the part recovered is a highly-prized concentrate containing valuable proteins, fats and carbohydrates. Co-hostesses Entertain With Informal Tea

Mrs. James G. Hooper and Mrs. Mabel Bryant were co-hostesses for an informal tea Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hooper, honoring Mrs. I. C. Thurmond of Amarillo, who has spent several weeks at her cottage at the Port Bay Lodge.

Arrangements of red roses and white cape jasmine were in the living room and dining room and centered the lace laid table. Mrs. A. R. Curry presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. James H. Sorenson served coffee. Trays of angel food squares, coffee cakes, and brownies and gaily colored small candles made the table most attractive.

The guests were friends who had extended social courtesies to Mrs. Thurmond while visiting here, and included Mrs. John C. Hooper, Mrs. L. M. Bracht, Mrs. A. R. Curry, Miss Iris Sorenson, Mrs. Pat Hooper, Mrs. S. F. Jackson, Mrs. Will Stevenson, Mrs. Fred A. Bracht, Mrs. W. L. McBride, Mrs. G. A. Harrell, Miss Floy Kenedy, Mrs. Friend and Mrs. A. H. Moore of James H. Sorenson, Miss Ethel Aransas Pass.

Kleberg--

(Continued from front page) was there greater need for a clear understanding of all the questions with which we are confronted. "I believe they would be better understood and that the answers would come more quickly and naturally were we able, my constituents and I, to meet together and restudy the fundamentals of the form of government by which this nation was established and under which it has prospered and become great. I have no fear for the future if we can retain and continue to apply the principles of Constitutional government, and I believe we will.

"In any event, it shall continue to be my first duty as a member of Congress, if my district sees fit to return me, to honor my oath to uphold the Constitution of the United States. I shall continue to be found on the side of representative democracy, applied and carried out according to the provisions of the Constitution. Not only does it prescribe the way for continuing our way of life as it is being defended by our fighting men around the world, but it likewise prescribes the method which, by continued adherence to it, we can maintain the home front and fighting fronts as one and will the war much more quickly than would otherwise be possible."

Congressman Kleberg was first elected representative from the 14th district in a special election in November, 1931, occasioned by the death of Cong. H. W. Wurzbach of San Antonio, a Republican. Congressman Kleberg's election broke the tie that gave the Democrats their majority in the House, which they have held ever since. As a member of Congress, Kleberg has been especially active in agricultural affairs and is third ranking member of the House Agricultural Committee. He was and continues to be a leader in the fight for soil conservation legislation, and was responsible in large measure for enactment of pink boll worm control.

Widely acquainted in Mexico and Central and South America and fluent in his ability to speak Spanish, Congressman Kleberg on several occasions has been given important assignments by the State Department. He has made several trips to Latin American countries in recent years, and has appeared on radio programs stressing the importance and practical application of the Good Neighbor Policy.
