Court Holds That Child Must Have Operation To Save Life; Parents Lose

Specialists Say Youngster Is Doomed To Certain Death Unless Tumor Is Removed

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 18.—Without a dissenting vote, the appellate division of the supreme court decided today that parents have no right to endanger a child's life by forbidding an operation.

The ruling came in the first case of its kind ever presented to the court—that of 2-year-old Helen Vasco, daughter of an immigrant laborer.

The pretty curly-haired youngster, specialists say, is doomed to certain death unless a malignant tumor is removed from her left eye.

Mrs. John Vasco, the mother, has been loud in her refusal to permit the operation, principally because she was told the child's eye might have to be removed.

"God gave her to me," she has said, "and God can take her away if He wishes."

Her husband has sided first with her and then with the social workers and friends urging the operation.

Home Barricaded

Last week he barricaded his house, refused to admit a physician to care for another ailing daughter, threatening to pour boiling water over anyone who sought entrance, and finally fled over the week-end with his family.

In upholding the right of the Westchester county children's court to order the operation, the appellate division ruling said:

"If the parents or guardians neglect their duties, the state has a right to intervene."

In a separate, but concurring opinion, Justice Kapper wrote:

"Medicine and surgery are not accurate sciences and the result of an operation may not be foretold with accuracy.

"Decision must be made, and the parents persist in their refusal to consent.

"Children come into the world

Proposal To Legalize Liquor Is Withdrawn By Repealists After Furore In House; Beer Bill Already Passed

Rep. Mathis Requests Matter Be Held In Abeyance Until Tempers Of Members Are Not Badly Flustered

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 18.— A resolution proposing an amendment to the Texas constitution to legalize the sale of intoxicating liquors, regardless of alcoholic content, was withdrawn from consideration of the house of the state legislature today when its sponsor and an opponent tangled in what almost amounted to a personal encounter.

Representatives Weaver Moore of Houston and Harry Graves of Georgetown had to be held apart by other members of the house, when Graves resented a statement of Moore that Graves had told Moore and "a former governor of Texas" he intended to vote for submission of repeal of the prohibition amendment. Moore is a brother-in-law of former Governor Dan Moody.

Already Passed Beer Bill

The house already had passed to the senate and the upper branch committee on constitutional amendments had recommended favorable a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to permit the sale of beer of not more than 3.2 per cent alcoholic content.

After the house got into a furore over the Moore-Graves episode, Representatives John M. Mathis of Houston and P. L. Anderson of San Antonio, other repeal leaders, interposed to request that the matter be held in abeyance until some other time when tempers were not flustered.

Moore Sponsors Move

Moore brought the amendment up and proposed that it be considered on August 26, the same date set for a vote by the electorate on the pro-

Farmers Of Texas Plead With Solons Not To Cut Extension Work Heavily

Delegates From 95 Counties Descend On Capitol Hill To Present Their Reasons

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 18. — Farmers of Texas had their inning today as lobbyists before the Texas legislature and if surface indications mean anything they will get what they want.

Several hundred farmers, their wives and children descended on Capitol Hill to plead with the legislature not to reduce the appropriation for the agricultural experimental stations and for the county extension and 4-H club work carried on by Texas A and M college.

The delegation, said by older members of the legislature to be the largest that ever visited the legislature with a single object in view, was enthusiastically received. So enthusiastic was the reception in fact, that several motions were made before the meeting had ended to allow the same amount for the work that has been allocated during the current biennium.

The farmers, however, did not object to seeing the appropriation for their projects cut some and it was likely both the house and the senate would agree to a reduction of approximately 25 per cent in the appropriation for the extension and experimental work. The house appropriations committee had cut the appropriation about 41 per cent.

Gallaries of the house were packed with farmers bearing placards. The aisles of the house also were jammed with visitors. Several facetious efforts to enforce the legislative rules against lobbying were laughed

Brisk Advance Registered By Market Lists

Eastern Speculators Furnish Power Tuesday For Upward Swing; Big Buying Orders Are Received

Wheat Is Leader

Stocks And Cotton Go Higher; Cash Wheat Goes At 67 Cents For First Time Since 1932; Other Grains Score

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 18. — Eastern speculators furnished the power today for a brisk advance in grains which carried stocks and cotton higher.

Wheat was the star performer, all other grains following closely. Today's closing price for September wheat, the most active delivery, ranged from 65 3-8 to 65 5-8 cents a bushel, up 1 5-8 to 1 7-8 cents compared with 24 hours previous. Cotton, as represented by July contracts at New Orleans, finished 14 cents higher than yesterday at $6.72.

Damage Reported

About the middle of the session, big buying orders came from traders who always operate for eastern financial interests. These orders followed crop reports from northern Kansas and Nebraska which indicated considerable weather damage to wheat in sections which had shown little injury to the crop in previous reports.

The eastern buying was also encouraged by a sharp advance in exchange rates on the British pound.

The demand soon spread to the other pits and all grains advanced smartly. The September delivery of wheat reached the highest price of the year near the close, 65 1-2 cents a bushel, and retained much of this gain at the finish.

Cash wheat sold at the highest levels since early in 1932 when a carload of No. 2 red brought 67 cents a bushel.

Rye and barley, ordinarily quiet performers, scored sharp advances. At the finish wheat was 1 1-2 to

Buried Under Seven Feet Of Earth On Farm

Sheriff's Posse Digs Up Body Of Henry Stoever After A Long Search; Found Under New Chicken House

Woman Being Held

Two Men Also Are In Jail For Questioning; Stories Told By Farm Owner Conflicting; Explains Death

(By The Associated Press)

SCHULENBERG, Tex., April 18.— A sheriff's posse today dug up the charred body of Henry Stoever, 58, hired man on the farm of Mrs. Anton Dach, 36, five miles northwest of here. Stoever had been employed on the farm for three years and disappeared several weeks ago.

The body was buried beneath seven feet of dirt and a new chicken house had been erected on the spot, said Deputy Sheriff T. J. Flournoy of La Grange, who with Sheriff Will Loesin and a posse of officers conducted the search for the missing man.

Stories Are Different

Mrs. Dach, according to Deputy Flournoy, told different stories about the disappearance of Stoever. The woman and two men were removed to La Grange where they were held for further questioning, officers said.

Suspicion Stoever was not alive was first called to officers attention three weeks ago by Dick and John Stoever, brothers of the dead man, who said they had not seen their brother in some time but had been receiving letters purported to be from him but apparently written by some one else.

Tells Of Leaving

When first interviewed by the officers, Mrs. Dach, a widowed mother of three children, said Stoever left her home on February 24 in a large automobile with the declaration he was going to Sweet Home to work, Deputy Flournoy said.

The woman, officers said she told them, declared Stoever returned to her home later and said he had been beaten up and robbed. Stoever, she said, bore bruises on his head.

"The last time I saw him," Deputy Flournoy quoted Mrs. Dach as saying, "he started down toward the creek and said he was going to drown himself. That was April 4."

Creek Is Dragged

Officers dragged the creek bottom several times.

At noon they decided to dig beneath the new chicken house on the Dach farm, Deputy Flournoy declared.

"Mrs. Dach came to the chicken house with us," the deputy sheriff said, "and we began poking long pieces of iron into the fresh turned earth.

"She kept saying a calf had died and Mr. Stoever, before he left,

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 18.—A resolution to submit a constitutional amendment proposing abolition of the fee system of compensating public officials in counties having a population in excess of 20,000 was adopted by the house of the Texas legislature today. The resolution must be adopted by the senate before it can be voted on by the electorate.

All district and county offices, in the counties affected, would be placed on a salary basis, with the right reserved to the county commissioners' court to determine if the precinct officials should continue on the fee basis.

Would Combine Offices

It also proposes to combine the office of district clerk and county clerk and to combine the offices of tax collector and tax assessor into the office of tax clerk. The county commissioners also would be given authority to effect other economies in local governmental operations.

The resolution received 102 aye votes, two more than the two-thirds majority necessary to insure submission.

The house engrossed a resolution under which counties having a population in excess of 60,000 population could adopt the home rule form of government, it received 78 aye votes, 22 short of the 100 that would be required to submit it to a popular vote.

Go to the Summer Round-Up clinic today if you have a child who will enter school next fall for the first time. Unless you have already taken him to a physician and had a physical examination made, this will be your opportunity to learn just what the physical condition of your child is.

If you do not have a means of transportation, call Mrs. Floyd Beall at 393. She is remaining at home today to receive telephone calls, which she will relay to members of her committee. There is at least one woman from each parent-teacher association in the city who is ready to take mothers and children to the clinic if they have no other way.

As a part of their child welfare work, members of the parent-teacher associations here have provided this clinic. If you have a child, take him down. If there is a child in your neighborhood who is entering school next September, tell his mother about the clinic. She may not have heard.

Good health is something that is hard to buy. Many times a child can be started on the road to good health if he has the proper care as a child. It is often easier to correct a slight trouble when he is a child than it is when he grows older. This clinic has the good health of first graders as an aim and this will mean happier first graders who do better work in school.

FORGETFUL PEOPLE

REPEATEDLY in the course of a year we have a request to "Run this announcement so people will remember to attend."

Frequently enough the announcements concern dinners where reservations have been made, card parties and other events where there is some confusion if the proper number of people does not turn up. We run the announcement and then wonder how the people happen to forget such things.

We wonder, too, about the people who make reservations for affairs and then do not show up at all—particularly for dinners and banquets at which they do not pay for the plates in advance.

If you think there are not plenty of such offenders get up an ex-student banquet or take the reservations for a dinner for some large club. Unless yours is an except'onal crowd, there will be two or three people who will be voluble in their eagerness to come when you talk to them, but they will not show up to eat nor will they even offer to pay for the plate. For some reason they have forgotten all about the banquet.

These are not the people who are busy with social engagements, either. They are usually people who have very little else to do. The busy ones are accustomed to keeping up with affairs and show up at the ones where they are expected to be.

Other people who are mysteries to me are the ones who have to be reminded of club meeting dates or they can't remember to attend. Some how, if a club meets on the second Tuesday or the third Thursday, I can't help but remember that—and I have one of the best oiled forgetters in town.

Of course, people do forget things like th's. But this writer has had a pretty good hunch for a long time that people usually remember the occasions they want to attend. And, believing this, it remains a mystery why they make reservations for dinners and parties when they have no intention of attending. Those who repeatedly forget their reservations are not the victims of terrible memories, alone, or they would have appointment books hung beside the front door or telephone—all this, but we don't mind running the announcement as a reminder.

A USEFUL VERSE

IF you, too, have trouble remembering whether the "i" comes before the "e" you may re-memorize that old verse:

"Use I before E, except after C
Or when pronounced as an A
As in neighbor and weigh."

It works. Without it this column would never have certain words spelled right.

Lubbock Lions Attend Session

Lubbock Lions made themselves heard at the district Lions convention in Amarillo Tuesday as they publicized the state convention meeting here in May. Approximately 40 Lubbock Lions and their wives attended the convention.

Besides extending a hearty invitation to all Lions to attend the convention, the local club announced that a former president, Judge E. L. Pitts would be a candidate for the district governorship in 1934.

Featuring Tuesday's program was the model luncheon program staged by the Lubbock club at which John D. Mitchell distinguished himself as a humorous speaker and kept the convention in laughter. A blackface skit with Brownie Akers, Jess Levens, Joe Bowman and Dr. Marshall Harvey singing solos, Willette Merrill as "Madame Queen" in accordion numbers and Luther Godwin in tap dances was also well received.

Asbury, the negative.

Following, Dr. Quillian conducted a round table discussion and answered innumerable questions. He reported most churches had local boards of Christian Education and that 50 per cent of the churches in the 38 conferences reported boards operating and 30 per cent effective.

Rev. W. H. Wallace, chairman of the committee on financial system, made a report for his group. Their suggestions were: 1—the best part of the financial system of any church is education; 2—the distribution of the money, orderly; 3—realization of our plan. Suggestions were given on working various phases of the plan. The report was accepted.

Presiding Elder Bickley, who was chairman of the session, announced voting on the delegations to the annual Northwest Conference at Clarendon in November would be held this morning.

Rev. B. J. Osborne, representing the church's orphanage, spoke briefly on the work of his group. He announced the Northwest Conference had given the orphanage equal support with the Central Conference.

position whether beer should be legalized. The resolution originally called for a vote in November, 1934.

Graves had received recognition of the speaker and was addressing the house when Moore interrupted him.

"Will the gentleman from Williamson yield to a question?" Moore asked.

"Yes, gladly," replied Graves.

"Didn't you tell me and a former governor of Texas in an Austin hotel coffee shop that you would vote to submit repeal of the state prohibition constitutional section to the voters?" Moore asked.

Denied As a Lie

"That is not true; it is a barefaced lie," Graves answered.

He left the dais, from which he was speaking and rushed towards Moore's desk. He was not impeded until he got within about five feet of the 31-year-old Houston man. Members of the house barred further progress of the gray-haired, 53-year-old Graves.

Moore stood quietly. After the excitement had subsided, Graves walked leisurely back to the microphone, faced Speaker Coke Stevenson and in a quiet voice, told him he was sorry."

Market Gains

2 cents a bushel higher than the close yesterday with corn 1-2 to 3-4 cent up.

Strength of the grains pulled stocks from the doldrums and a quick reversal of trend followed the advance in grain. The rally enabled the stock market to close with net gains ranging from fractions to as much as $5.00 a share.

Cotton also rallied behind grains and ended with slight gains after early dealings had shown decline.

Reports from Enid, Okla., said that wheat had sold there in wagon lots at 50 cents a bushel today, the first time this price had been paid since October, 1931.

MARKET REPORTS

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT
BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 18. (AP)—The inflation bee buzzed about financial markets today, getting a particularly warm reception from commodities and a generous welcome from stocks.

Shares made a rather hesitant start, but gathered courage in the last hour when the staple markets showed strength. Gains of a cent and a half to two cents net in wheat, new highs for sugar and an upward push by rubber, cotton and silver futures plainly reflected the expectations that fire burned beneath the smolder of inflation gossip on Capitol Hill. Net gains of fractions to more than 2 points were general, though prices mostly finished under their highs. Sales totaled 1,434,940 shares.

Silver, steel, sugar, farm implement, copper and food issues went ahead smartly on the buying flurry.

Though trade news was meager, the tenor of statements made to stockholders at a number of annual meetings was cheerful.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 18. (AP)—Absorbing rather active profit-taking by satisfied longs on bulges, cotton advanced briskly today in sympathy with other markets and new talk of inflation, closing 12 to 15 points net higher.

The opening was steady with Liverpool cables better than due. First trades here showed gains of 2 to 4 points. But the market fluctuated narrowly and uncertainly after the start and May dropped to 6.89, July to 6.75 and October to 6.96 or unchanged to 1 point above the previous close.

Later in the morning prices rallied rather sharply on an upturn in stocks and wheat and here the demand was satisfied and shorts had covered, May had traded up to 6.70, July to 6.86 and October to 7.07, or 11 to 12 points above the previous close.

After a slight reaction on profit-taking, the market turned firmer and more active in the afternoon, with Washington news more favorable to an inflationary policy. May advanced to 6.75, July to 6.92 and October to 7.13, up 17 to 18 points above yesterday's close. Prices eased 3 to 5 points at the end on realizing and May closed at 6.72, up 14 points net, July at 6.87, up 12 points, and October at 7.10 up 15 points.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 6 to 7 penny points up.

Port receipts 19,054, for week 34,747, for season 7,695,461, last season 9,414,714. Exports 13,436, for week 50,423, for season 6,318,329, last season 7,125,126. Port stock 4,227,032, last year 4,230,113. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 86,097, last year 168,527. Spot sales at southern markets 6,986, last year 6,983.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 18. (AP)—Cotton reversed its trend today and recovered all of the previous day's loss.

One or two months made new high ground for the movement on a renewal buying promoted by the action of grain and stocks and accompanied by further talk of inflation.

July contracts sold up to 6.94 or even with the high point of last Thursday and closed at 6.88 with the general market closing steady at net advances of 13 to 16 points.

Initial prices were 6 to 9 points higher on a fairly active trade and commission house demand which included considerable foreign buying. The southern selling was light. The market reaching the best levels in the late trading. May sold at 6.78 and October at 7.16. Closing quotations were 4 to 6 points off from the best under realizing.

Liverpool cables did not fully meet yesterday's decline in the local market and cable advices reported a steady market there, with trading interest centered mainly on Washington.

"I refuse," Judge Atwell said, "to allow any testimony in this case which will besmirch the character of any girl student or other girl."

Telge testified he bought liquor with money furnished by prohibition agents and on cross-examination, said on several occasions girls accompanying him had drunk the liquor.

Prices ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid, delivered Texas Gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat No. 1 hard 73 1-4@73 1-4. Barley No. 2 nominally 40@42; No. 3 nominally 38@40.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, April 18. (AP)—A fresh outburst of speculative buying swept cash wheat skyward today to 67 cents a bushel, a price unequaled since February, 1932.

The rist of wheat accompanied a jump in British exchange to the highest figures for many months, and was simultaneous with news that wheat crop damage in Kansas and Nebraska had spread to sections where prospects heretofore were good. Barley and oats, also outdid season high price records.

Washington reports of persistent efforts for currency inflation attracted special notice among grain traders.

Wheat closed strong at the day's top quotations, 1 1-2 to 2 cents above yesterday's finish, corn 1-2 to 3-4 up, oats 3-8 to 7-8 advanced, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

burned the body in a pit he dug on the spot where the new chicken house stood," the officers said.

Tells Of Suicide

"When we found the body—or the few parts of it—she said Stoever had committed suicide after digging the hole. She said he had cancer and shot himself.

"She told us verbally that she had burned the body because she did not want her three children—two small girls and a boy—to see the body," Flournoy said.

John and Dick Stoever, officers reported, said they had received several letters not in the handwriting of their brother, in which the dead man purportedly said he had sold $650 worth of notes payable to him to Mrs. Dach. The brothers denied Stoever was suffering from cancer.

The brothers, officers said, became suspicious at this time and demanded an investigation. The notes were taken from Mrs. Dach by the sheriff and held. Another hired man on the farm was detained and has been held in jail for several days.

A third man was taken into custody this afternoon and removed to the La Grange jail. A coroner's verdict was withheld.

Woman Treated Lightly

The only woman defendant, Annan Kutuzova, secretary of Monkhouse, was sentenced to one and a half years imprisonment. The verdict carried no death sentences, the severest punishment being the ten year terms meted out to Vassili Gusev, A. T. Lobanov, and L. A. Surkoruchkin, for all of whom the prosecutor asked "the highest penalty."

N. G. Zorin, M. L. Kotlyarevsky, and V. A. Sokolov, assistant director of the Zlatoust electrical station, received terms of eight years each. M. O. Krasheninnikoff was given a five year term while P. E. Olyenik, and B. P. Lebedev were given terms of three and two years respectively.

Judd Hearing Is Recessed In Uproar Tuesday Night

FLORENCE, Ariz., April 18. (AP)—Winnie Ruth Judd's sanity hearing recessed tonight in an uproar, with accusations being hurled between counsel tables, after County Attorney Will C. Truman had announced in open court Mrs. Judd's counsel, and not the state, had requested a lockup order for the jury.

The request had been made earlier in the day. Granting of it by Superior Judge E. L. Green was mandatory. The court was told of reports jurors had been reading newspaper articles dealing with the sanity hearing during which the jury is to decide whether Mrs. Judd is sane, and therefore to be hanged for murder of Agnes Anne LeRoi, or insane, and as such to be confined in an asylum.

Mrs. Judd had been ordered hanged April 21 but because of the hearing the date was delayed today by the pardon board to April 28.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 18.(AP) Two messengers of the Terre Haute First National bank were robbed of $40,000 in currency in front of the postoffice building here this afternoon.

The messengers, Kenneth Hickman and Vernon Sparks, reported that four men in a sedan drove beside their car as it reached the postoffice and two of the men alighted and approached with drawn revolvers. The robbers reached into the car, took a satchel containing the money and then fled with their companions, the messengers said.

J. R. Cates, 37-year-old Hurlwood farmer who narrowly escaped death by suffocation when a tractor he had driven into a surface tank fell backward and almost buried him in mud, was reported to be resting last night at Lubbock sanitarium.

Unable to clean the surface tank by using a team, Cates drove the tractor into it. Drive wheels bogged, causing the tractor to rise vertically, falling upon the operator. Although difficulty was experienced in extricating him, by digging to him from the side of the upset tractor, he survived as his head was not covered and he could breathe.

The State's Constitution

CITIZENS of West Texas, through the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will lend their attention to the crying need of a new constitution for this state. An address by Walter D. Cline, who, unless all signs fail will succeed to the presidency of WTCC this year, will present the problem before the chamber's forthcoming Big Spring convention and we miss our guess if those who are present are not completely shocked when they see how antiquated the constitution really is.

None of us would think of starting to Dallas in a covered wagon drawn by oxen—unless we were doing it as a publicity stunt.

Yet a trip to Dallas by ox-wagon would be no more antiquated as a method of travel than the Texas constitution is as a document.

We have little doubt that the constitution admirably served its purpose 50 years ago.

Probably it was all right 25 or 30 years ago, too.

But it doesn't fill the bill today and never will again.

Walter Cline's adress on "The Need of a New Constitution In Texas" should be worth the trip to the WTCC Big Spring convention May 11 to 13. In itself, the problem will prove of sufficient interest to compensate the citizen for his time and his expenditures exhausted in going to and from the convention and remaining there.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Cline's address bears fruit in the form of public opinion in West Texas—public opinion that will start the ball rolling to secure a workable, up-to-date constitution in this state.

Texas is no longer a frontier or a wilderness.

It needs a constitution applicable to the times.

THE PATRONAGE DECISION

Decision of Jim Farley, the Democratic party's Prince of Patronage, to permit Republican postmasters to complete their terms regardless of the change in administration, was a good one. The spoils system in politics is naturally popular with those on the winning side yet to 'run it into the ground' is good for no one.

Even should the Democratic party remain in power only one term, by the time another administration can be sworn in every postmaster in office will be a Democratic appointee. Since it is a custom for the parties to allow postmasters to finish their terms unmolested, Secretary Farley could hardly have done anything else.

The Morning Avalanche is highly in favor of the Democratic party's taking over all the patronage which goes with political control, but we want to see the party do it in a sportsmanlike manner.

Mr. Farley's decision bespeaks sportsmanship.

RUSSIAN RECOGNITION

President Roosevelt apparently is studying with an open mind the question of extending recognition to Russia.

Two chief obstacles have stood in the way of recognition by previous administrations. One was refusal of the soviet to recognize the old czarist debts, and the other the danger that Moscow would use its diplomatic and consular facilities in the United States as means for the distribution of propaganda.

There are certain advantages which would accrue to the United States from recognition. Among the most important of these, in the view of many business men, would be increased trade with Russia. That Russia is in need of large quantities of goods and has shown a tendency to prefer American products gives support to this view. There are, however, some authorities who believe that Russian purchases here would not greatly exceed those now being made.

The President may be expected to give the subject of recognition the close study that its importance deserves. He is in a ...ion to obtain all the information desirable bearing upon the matter.

In the event that he decides upon recognition, it is likely that in return he will require guarantees against the dissemination of red propaganda by soviet diplomatic and consular officials. To do otherwise would be to invite a danger that might eventually prove more real and grave than at present seems likely.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

He that keepeth his mouth keepeth his life; but he that openeth wide his lips shall have destruction.—Proverbs 13:3.

Senator Not Trapped

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Association

WASHINGTON, April 18. — Senator Robert R. Reynolds arrived in Washington from North Carolina early in December, 1932, shortly before the end of the last congressional session with what may be called a picturesque reputation, to say the least.

Senator Robert Reynolds

He had just beaten Senator Cameron Morrison, who had been serving temporarily, by appointment, as the late Senator Lee S Overman's successor. No one had had the least idea that he could win, but he did—hands down. He won as a wet (Morrison was bone dry) in what, until then, had been considered an ultra-dry state. He also was said to have won by a powerful appeal to the "hot polloi."

Senator Reynolds likewise has had a thrilling past—among other things, as a professional wrestler a sailor (before the mast) and an acrobat.

His personal charm was admitted—and that he was a human dynamo.

The assumption, however, was that, senatorially, he would be more sensational than anything else.

The fact is that Senator Reynolds is rapidly on his way to recognition as one of Capitol Hill's strong men.

His abilities are first class.

In a worldly way he is poor, and it is plain that he has the sympathy of thorough understanding with the distress which has been increasingly rampant as the country has traveled downward into the valley of the depression. Nevertheless, his economic sense is unfailing. He knows quack medicine and rejects it promptly—which takes nerve. The demagogue generally votes for it. It's popular.

No proposal to reduce production, on the ground that there is too much of it, catches Senator Reynolds.

Need Buying Power

"Suppose there is too much?" he reasons. "Too much to eat and wear never hurt anyone. Unbalanced production there may be, but, with a proper balance, overproduction is impossible. Man's wants stretch indefinitely. Producing less cannot increase buying power. That's what's needed.

"I, myself, for example, have desires I can't satisfy.

"This suit I have on is my only one. On that rack is my one overcoat. I wouldn't have that, but it was given to me. I have two pairs of shoes, four shirts and I think I have four outfits of underclothes. Is all that enough? I don't consider it so.

"Parked across the street I have a three-year-old flivver. I'd like a fine new car, but I certainly shall have to make that car do for at least two more seasons.

"It isn't overproduction that keeps me out of the market. It's lack of money. I shan't earn more by working fewer hours, either.

"Yes, I've a senator's salary, but it has been cut, and I'm in debt, I worry. I wake up in the night, and I assure you the perspiration starts on my forehead, from the thought of my obligations.

"Those are our two problems. Opportunity to earn, to produce; to produce more, not less. And debt cancellation, to restore confidence, and revive business."

LABOR IS RECONCILED

Organized labor does not overly like President Roosevelt's aforesaid rate of pay ($30 monthly) even yet.

It became reconciled to the aforestation plan, however, when the president placed Robert Fechner in charge of it. Nothing can go seriously wrong with it, trades unionists agree, with Fechner on the job. As general vice president of the International Association of Machinists, no one disputes that he will look after the workers' interests.

He has, as a matter of fact, studied the undertaking from every angle, and, "It is a pure relief measure," he assures his fellow union members. Since he says so, they believe him implicitly, but it is a certainty that they never would have been satisfied while it remained, as originally intended, under the jurisdiction of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander of the regular army forces that drove the B. E. F. out of Washington last summer.

STILL A NIGHTMARE

Despite the legalization of beer and the progress of state referenda on the eighteenth amendment, repeal, those lawmakers who have straddled hithert on the wet-and-dry issue are as skittish as ever on the subject of prohibition.

INFLATIONISTS DISUNITED

It is not hard to see why financial inflation is not a more rapidly gaining cause in congress. Inflationists are numerous but disunited. They have at least a dozen plans and actually quarrel over them. The anti-inflationists are a compact group.

HULL ON ECONOMIES

State department officials, who have listened in on fragments of Secretary Hull's charts with overseas diplomats apropos international trade relationships, say his "economic advisers" sit by like freshmen. They describe the secretary as having "forgotten more economics than most experts learn in a lifetime."

A SOLOMONIC JUDGMENT

Josef Ballo, a 57-year-old beggar of Debreczen, Hungary, lost a leg in a railroad accident. A suit for damages which he filed against the railroad was decided against him by the District Court of Debreczen in November 1932 upon the amazing grounds that this accident made the mendicant an even worthier object of human charity. In other words, the Court found that the victim ought to be congratulated upon his good luck rather than be awarded damages.

ABILENE, April 18 (AP)—Observing the 104th anniversary of the birth of Dr. James Simmons, founder of Simmons university, the local alumni and ex-students' association presented a program at the chapel hour today.

Rev. W. C. Ashford, pastor of the Southside Baptist church, read Dr. Simmons' favorite scripture, the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians, and the Simmons anthem was sung by the audience. Frank E. Smith, local attorney, was the main speaker, discussing Dr. Simmons' ideals.

In announcing the program, the old college bell which summoned students to studies in the early days, was rung. The bell is now housed in the science hall, which was built around the old belfry.

Scout Meet Is Being Planned

Performances Of Former Scout Members Cited By Executive Here; Lubbock And Slaton To Stage Contests

Coincident with practice here and elsewhere on the South Plains for district Boy Scout field meets, D. T. Jennings, area council executive, has called attention to performances of former scouts in major athletic competition.

A Lubbock district meet will be conducted here May 6. Another district field day will be had at Slaton, May 30, preceded by an overnight camp. A wall-scaling event has been added to this year's events. A council wide swimming meet possibly will be conducted here early in August.

Lieut. Garrison Holt Davidson, recently appointed head coach of football at the United States Military academy, was an Eagle scout in a New York City troop before he entered the academy at West Point.

George Spitz, New York university, holder of the world's record for indoor high jump; Billy Howell, Richmond, Va., a member of last year's Walker cup golf team, and Milford Deitz, Saranac Lake, a member of the United States Olympic skating team last year, are former scouts.

A consensus of leading selections for all-American football teams last fall revealed that seven of the 11 players were or had been scouts.

"Terrible Ted" Travis Tosses Eddie Brock To Feature Wrestling Show

Mantell Shows Assortment Of Faces In Win

Packed House Greets Farley's Show At Uptown Dance House Last Night; Brock Loser In First Two Falls

A terrible airplane spin and a bruising body slam administered to Eddie Brock, courageous wrestler from Amarillo, gave Ted Travis, Los Angeles, a well-earned victory in the main event of last night's professional wrestling card here.

Approximately 2,000 howling spectators applauded, booed, cheered and hissed the three matches, Lubbock's first real professional fight in many years, and perhaps the classiest ever staged here.

Travis, "Terrible Ted," as he is known on the Pacific coast and in the Texas Panhandle, lived up to the build-up and displayed his amazing strength and superb physique in fine fashion. He was pushed at times by the more scientific and nervy Brock, but the latter's highly developed methods and inner fortitude were not sufficient to cope with Travis' burley shoulders, deadly toehold and thick neck.

Cal Farley In Ring

The show was staged by Cal Farley, Amarillo sportsman and business man, former contender for the world's welterweight championship. Farley was the third man in the ring for the main event, and his refereeing was as scientific as Brock's wrestling—but more effective.

Travis won the first fall in 15 minutes with a heart-breaking toehold that caused Brock to pound the mat after the third treatment. The second fall came after 11 minutes of tough scuffling. An exchange of flying tackles, body slams, toeholds, spread-eagles and torturing leg-splits was climaxed by the whirling, mad airplane spin and the thundering slam to the mat. Brock never recovered, and was still writhing from the impact as the house was cleared.

The Mantell Show

Dutch Mantell, the old krauter from Berlin, Australia, Yokohama and everywhere else, provided a show unto himself with his variety of ugly faces, grimaces, grunts and groans. He won his semi-final match with a fall in 16 minutes, pinning Pat Garrison, the youthful "Arkansas Razorback," with an arm lock after a hard slam to the mat.

All the pent-up boos and hisses that have collected in Lubbock's fight fandom were loosed upon the snarling, kicking, slapping, biting Mantell, otherwise a gentleman and a scholar, after his victory. He treated his opponent roughly, and his opponent, a coming young wrestler getting his first taste of the professional game, came right back at the old master.

Rob Roy In "Trouble"

Several times during his match, with his shoulders practically pinned to the floor by the determined Garrison, Mantell grabbed Referee Rob Roy, Elgin, Ill., in order to save the count. Then he would wiggle out, chase both umpire and opponent around the ring and, when cornered upon, would seek the ropes himself.

Thirty-seven years in the ring have taught Mantell lots of things, and one of them is to get a huge kick out of the chorus of boos that generally attend his performances. He stood in the ring after the match listening to them, bowing, scraping, thumb-thumbing and trying to talk. It was ten minutes before the crowd settled down, and Dutch wasn't through then. The great showman may have made enemies, but there were as many friends. His lingering presence in the ring was the cue for a long and loud harangue among the spectators.

"See A He-Man"

"Look over a REAL HE-MAN," was Dutch's parting words, as he strode to the ring again just as the main bout started.

The Travis-Brock affair was a slam-banging, rip-roaring good one, and spectators were heard to remark after the program that "it was a dollar and a half show for forty cents." The general opinion handed down was that it was a great show.

Travis, who hopes someday to make a definite bid for national recognition and a world's championship in the light-heavyweight class, proved that brute strength does not always bow to scientific knowledge and ability. Brock presented almost perfect type of manliness, and he applied his knowledge with care and emphasis But every hold was eventually broken by the grunting, grimacing Travis, whose muscular ability was a show itself.

Several times Brock gained toeholds and leg-locks that seemed to sew up the match, but every time Travis would wriggle out, turn about and fly into his opponent with vigorous vitality. Brock sought the ropes on several occasions rather than pat the mat.

The exchange of flying tackles and blocks that introduced the main event was as neat and nice as any rassle fan would want.

Charley Devens, of Boston and Harvard, rookie pitcher, with the Yankees, is the only member of the social register in the big show.

MUST CATCH TRAINS

BEAUMONT, April 18. (AP) — The Exporters and Bucs battled nine innings to a four-four draw today, the game being called to permit the visitors to catch a train. Elden Auker, Beaumont submarine hurler, was alternately the goat and star of the game. In the sixth inning he made a two-run wild peg to third and in the ninth he developed a streak of wildness which caused his removal but offensively he drove in three of his team's runs, one with a home run over left field fence.

Helen Moody Unranked

The ranking committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association leaves untouched the first ten in both men's and women's singles but shifts around considerably, especially among the women, the lower ranked players. No change was made in men's doubles.

The singles lists are headed by Ellsworth Vines and Helen Jacobs. Helen Wills Moody is unranked.

The committee made its first report in January but at the general convention of the U. S. L. T. A., in February sought and received permission to withdraw its original list and seek further information on several players.

In making the request Samuel Hardy, committee vice chairman indicated there would be no change among the top flight players and the convention granted the time extension, referring the list back to the committee "with power to act." The list presented today therefore is the official ranking and not subject to change.

Color and Creed of Olympic Entries "Make No Difference"

BERLIN, April 18 (AP) — Cordial treatment of Olympic athletes, irrespective of creed or color, was promised today by Carl Diem, secretary of the German Athletic federation and a member of the country's Olympic committee, which will be in charge of the international games at Berlin in 1936.

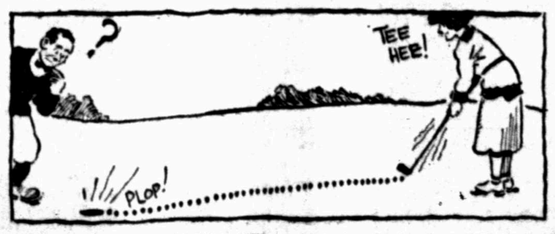

Diem's statement was in answer to the opinion expressed in the United States yesterday by Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, who said Chancellor Adolph Hitler's anti-Jewish campaign may result in a shift of the games from Germany.

There Was No Difference In Cups To Mrs. Hill—And To Sarazen's Embarrassment

When Gene Sarazen advanced his eight-inch golf cup idea last winter he tried to show how much easier it was to hole out a putt with the larger cup.

For his demonstrator Gene chose Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City star. The gallery was large as Gene conducted his experiments. He took a half-dozen balls and told Mrs. Hill to putt them into one of the washtub cups. The Kansas City golfer holed out every one.

"Now," said Gene, "we'll show how much harder it is to hole out with the smaller cups."

He gave Mrs. Hill the six balls to putt at the regulation receptacle—and again she holed out every one!

Matadors Take On Buffaloes In Track Meet

First College Meet In Three Years And First Night Meet In History Scheduled Here Tomorrow Night

Texas Tech and West Texas Teachers will resume their athletic rivalries tomorrow evening when the track and field teams of both institutions meet in a dual meet here.

The meet, first college track and field meet in three years here, will be the first night affair of its kind ever staged in Lubbock. The football floodlights at the athletic field will provide ample light for the events.

Coach E. J. (Pinkey) Lowrey, enlisted from Lubbock High school to mentor the college thinly clads, reports that his squad of something around fifty athletes have shown rapid progress and much enthusiasm since the practice season opened three weeks ago. He expects to put a reasonably fast track team and an even better field team on the field tomorrow night.

A RELAY SPECIAL

As an added, "extra special" attraction at tomorrow night's college track meet between Texas Tech and West Texas Teachers college, Coach Weldon Chapman's Lubbock High school mile relay team has challenged the Plainview quartet to a contest.

In their previous meetings, Plainview has edged out the Lubbock relay team. Saturday the Bulldogs won the event in the district meet and will compete in the Texas Interscholastic league meet in Austin. The Westerner team, composed of Robert Stone, James Hunt, Charley Young and Rufus Ryan, have been concentrating this week on the contest tomorrow night.

Buffs Also Strong

The Buffaloes will also be entering their first meet of the season, and reports have it that among the squad of about 40 athletes are several who can "go" in almost anybody's collegiate company. All in all, the meet promises some fine exhibitions and some hectic competition. It is ever thus when Buffs and Matadors meet in the same arena.

The meet will start at 8 o'clock sharp, and a goodly crowd is expected. The lights will permit all spectators to see every event from the grandstand. No fans will be allowed on the field.

Texas Tech officials, from President Bradford Knapp on down, are anxious to see a big turnout of fans, as the future of Texas Tech track will depend largely on the response accorded by the populace.

Wilmer Allison Heads Cup Team

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP) — The United States Lawn Tennis association, taking no chances against the little known abilities of Mexican players and the high altitude of Mexico City, today named four veterans of international play to meet Mexico in the first round of Davis Cup competition in the North American zone.

Although Ellsworth Vines has not been called on, Wilmer Allison, hero of the gallant stand against France in the challenge round last year, heads a strong team selected by Bernon S. Prentice and the cup committee. Clifford Sutter, George M. Lott, jr., and John Van Ryn are the other members. The matches will be played at Mexico City May 5, 6 and 7.

Allison and Sutter probably will play the singles and Lott and Van Ryn the doubles. The latter two withdrew from the singles competition in the Mason and Dixon tournament at White Sulphur Springs to concentrate on team play.

To save expenses a non-playing captain will not be sent with the team. Allison will serve in that capacity with Van Ryn as manager and Arthur Bliss Lane, a resident of Mexico City, representing the U. S. L. T. A.

Allison, Van Ryn and Lott have represented the United States several times in Davis Cup play.

The team will arrive in Mexico City April 27 with eight days to accustom themselves to the atmosphere.

The United States has not lost a match against Mexico in their last three meetings in Davis Cup play—1930, 31 and 32.

Hitler's Anti-Jewish Work May Cause Olympiad Shift

BALTIMORE, April 18 (AP)—The opinion that Adolf Hitler's anti-Jewish campaign may bring a shift of the 1936 Olympic games from Germany was expressed by Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, in a letter received here today.

Writing to K. A. Miller, managing editor of Jewish Times, a Baltimore publication, Brundage said it was his "personal, but unofficial opinion" that the games "will not be held in any country where there will be interference with the fundamental Olympic theory of equality of all races."

Berlin has been selected as the site for the eleventh Olympiad.

"The Olympic protocol provides there shall be no restriction of competition because of class, color or creed. The matter will no doubt be taken up at the American Olympic committee," said Brundage.

Shooting Probe Being Renewed

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 18 (AP)—Discovering new evidence, County Attorney Lewis R. Morris today renewed his investigation of the fatal shooting of Henry Downs, Denver baseball star, after filing a murder charge against E. P. Merrick, former highway enforcement officer.

Downs died last night of his wounds, insisting the shooting was accidental. However, Merrick has contended it was brought on by an attempted attack on Mrs. Merrick while Downs was a guest at the Merrick home last Friday night.

Morris intended to interrogate Marcheta, 8-year-old daughter of the Merricks, said to have been sleeping with her mother at the time of the purported attempted attack.

Petroleum Contributes to your welfare

FROM the most ragged little urchin to the beautifully gowned "Colonel's Lady", petroleum has contributed tremendously in the past 35 years to the welfare of every American—especially to those of us who live in the five Southwestern States.

The deluge of petroleum that began with the discovery of oil in Texas at Corsicana in 1896 has changed the whole fiber and destiny of the Southwest. It has speeded the growth of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and New Mexico by at least fifty years. It has given employment, opportunity and wealth directly to hundreds of thousands of Southwestern families—today it directly feeds more than one million Southwestern people.

It has not been long since oil money began to assist in replacing two-room frame schoolhouses with magnificent institutions of learning. Hospitals that rank with the finest in the world have been the gifts of public-spirited citizens whose bleak farms were suddenly transformed into profitable oil fields.

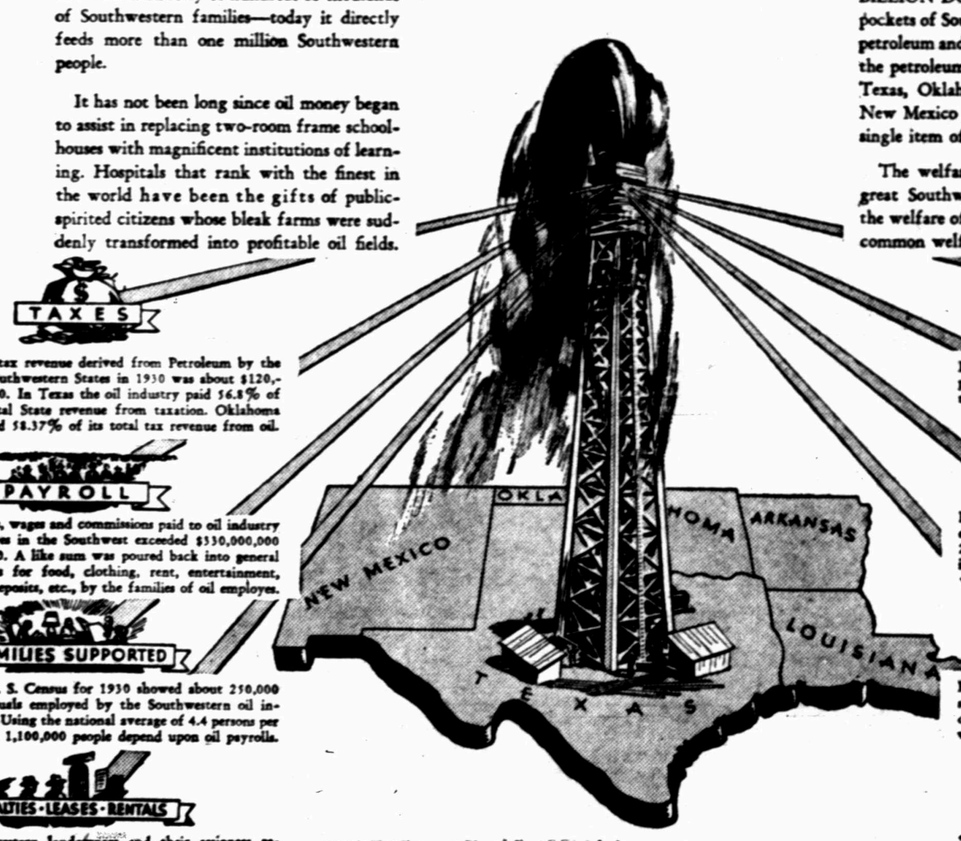

In thirty-five years the population of the Southwest has almost trebled. It increased nearly 20% between 1920 and 1930—to a population of more than twelve and one-half millions. Hamlets have grown into great cities almost overnight—and oil is chiefly responsible.

In Texas alone, the value of manufactured products has leaped from less than $100,000,000 to more than $1,200,000,000, with petroleum accounting for nearly 40 per cent of the total. In the other Southwestern States the development has been equally as remarkable.

Figures and statistics are dry reading. But they are indisputable proof of the part petroleum is playing in the growth of your homeland . . . of what petroleum contributes to your welfare.

In 1931 Southwestern landowners and their assignees received around $160,000,000 in royalties, lease bonuses, leases and rentals. Another $440,000,000 at least went for materials, supplies and field service. It is estimated that a total of not less than TWO BILLION DOLLARS a year is paid into the pockets of Southwestern residents directly by petroleum and its products. In 1932—alone—the petroleum industry paid to the States of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and New Mexico more than $65,000,000 in the single item of gasoline taxes.

The welfare of all who live here in the great Southwest is united inseparably with the welfare of petroleum—let us all keep this common welfare constantly in mind.

TAXES

Total tax revenue derived from Petroleum by the five Southwestern States in 1930 was about $120,000,000. In Texas the oil industry paid 56.8% of the total State revenue from taxation. Oklahoma received 58.37% of its total tax revenue from oil.

PAYROLL

Salaries, wages and commissions paid to oil industry employes in the Southwest exceeded $330,000,000 in 1930. A like sum was poured back into general business for food, clothing, rent, entertainment, bank deposits, etc., by the families of oil employes.

FAMILIES SUPPORTED

The U. S. Census for 1930 showed about 250,000 individuals employed by the Southwestern oil industry. Using the national average of 4.4 persons per family, 1,100,000 people depend upon oil payrolls.

ROYALTIES · LEASES · RENTALS

Southwestern landowners and their assignees received $160,000,000 in 1930 from the various oil companies for royalties, leases, lease bonuses and rentals.

FREIGHT

Railroads operated in the Southwest received approximately $75,000,000 in freight revenue from the oil industry during 1930.

POPULATION

From 1920 to 1930, the five Southwestern States enjoyed a population increase of about 2,000,000, or 20%, to a total of 12,600,147. Nearly 50% of this increase occurred in oil-producing counties.

MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

Including money paid during 1930 for materials, supplies and services, including teaming, trucking, contract drilling, gas, water, electricity, the total was $440,000,000.

CRUDE PRODUCTION

Since 1900 the value of crude oil produced in the five Southwestern States has totaled about $9,427,000,000—9½ Billion Dollars!

Educational Rally To Be Staged In Lubbock May 6; Petition Is Carded

The legislature will be petitioned to provide adequate revenues to enable public schools to get $17.50 per capita apportionment for next year at a regional educational rally at Lubbock High school auditorium Saturday, May 6. The rally will be conducted from 10 a. m. to noon.

"Because of the passage last year of the constitutional amendment exempting homesteads from taxation, the state apportionment per capita will be reduced from $16.50 to about $8 next year, and, unless some provision is made for additional revenues for the schools, it will be impossible for many of them to run more than half of the time," school officials here stated.

"Many schools, in fact, have found it difficult to run full time this year with the $16.50 per capita apportionment," the statement added.

Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, president of the board of trustees of the Lubbock Independent school district, will preside at the regional meeting. Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will be former Senator W. H. Bledsoe, and other personages of this region.

Invitations are being sent to school executives, board of education members, and other friends of the public schools of the South Plains. Attendance of a large number of Lubbock citizens is anticipated.

Supt. M. H. Duncan of the Lubbock public schools has been asked by the executive committee of the State Teachers association to arrange for this meeting.

Many Visitors In City For Annual Engineer's Show

Visitors to an annual engineering show at Texas Technological college Friday and Saturday, came from cities in the territory between Amarillo and Dallas, and from four New Mexico communities.

Localities represented were disclosed in cards signed in the engineering shops. Dean O. V. Adams said. Total attendance reached the record figure of 5,707, but many did not register.

Seventy-five per cent of the visitors registering gave Lubbock as their address. The four New Mexico cities were Roswell, Hobbs, Las Vegas, and Lovington.

Other communities represented were:

Slaton, Abernathy, Lorenzo, Meadow, Anton, Idalou, Wilson, Spur, Levelland, Lockney, Shallowater, Snyder, Plainview, Ralls, Sudan, Smyer, Brownfield, Morton, Tahoka, Southland, Post, Ropesville.

Baileyboro, Petersburg, Lehman, Amarillo, Lamesa, Dickens, Littlefield, Floydada, Eldorado, Wolfforth, Whitharral, Henrietta, Kress, Arlington, Goodland, Plains, McAdoo, Crosbyton, Groom, Posey.

Wichita Falls, Ackerly, Spade, Sterley, Mineral Wells, Crowell, Rule, Olton, Throckmorton, Dallas, Hale Center, Cleburne, Seagraves, and Panhandle.

More than 10,000 tons of bottled medicines were consumed last year by the 12,000,000 persons covered by the National Health insurance of Britain.
