THEY CAME AND THEY CAME — Throngs of people lined up to enter the Diamond M Museum here Sunday for a public showing of Peter Hurd's famous painting of President Johnson. The painting, which was rejected by the President, was brought to Snyder by C. T. McLaughlin for one of the very few showings before it will be sent to the Smithsonian Institution for permanent display. (See other pictures on Page 10).

Hurd's Noted Painting Seen By Throngs

The Diamond M Museum never had it so busy.

West Texans came in droves to see Peter Hurd's painting of President Johnson, but it was quite apparent that most of them got more than they expected. The Diamond M Museum, of course, has some outstanding art collections and the crowds of the past weekend hungrily took in everything.

The works of N. C. Wyeth, the late George Phippen, Emily Guthrie Smith, John Meigs, et al, in addition to Peter Hurd, all were open to viewers who came expressly to see Hurd's noted painting of The President.

As for the main attraction, few could fault it, although there were many who expressed doubts that it was ideal for its intended purpose. Hurd, possibly the greatest in bringing to life on canvas grand scenes of the Southwest, definitely got two focal points on the painting of the president — a brightly lighted capitol and the president himself — and there definitely is a clash, or at least an incongruity.

The brilliant yellow of the lights in the capitol might easily appear the same as a New Mexico sunset, for example.

All in all, the general feeling of those heard to express themselves indicated that none believed that Hurd need apologize for the highly - publicized painting.

Peter Hurd, of course, is relatively well - known here. But few local residents had previously been privileged to view the works of Lonnie Edwards, personable young Lubbock artist who had several pieces of welded bronze sculpture on display at the Diamond M Museum over the weekend. Edwards was here personally and he apparently delighted in discussing his techniques with metals and the torch.

Although Peter Hurd himself, was unable to be here for the showing, two other well - known artists whose works are represented in the Diamond M collection — Emily Guthrie Smith and John Meigs, were on hand.

The whole of the Diamond M art collection apparently was awesome, particularly to some out-of-town visitors who toured the museum.

"Our town doesn't have anything to compare with it (the collection)," remarked one as he made his way slowly through the Wyeth Room at the museum. "And," he confided, "we're a lot bigger than Snyder — in most other ways, that is.".

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. McLaughlin and their daughters, Mrs. John DeFord of Abilene and Mrs. Evelyn Knox of Houston, were hosts at a private showing of the Hurd painting of The President on Saturday afternoon. McLaughlin arranged the private showing for the benefit of many out-of-town art enthusiasts who have come to the Diamond M Museum frequently to special showings. And it is well that there were two showings. It is doubtful that all of them could have made it through the museum in the allotted time in a single day.

Sunday's crowds were tremendous. Long lines of people were on hand when the museum was opened at 2 p.m. and there were lines outside the doors until shortly after 5 p.m. Then, suddenly there was a line again and virtually maximum traffic endured until the closing hour.

Undoubtedly, it was the busiest weekend in the Diamond M Museum's history and one that is likely to result in greater crowds at future public showings.

US Helicopters Leave Thailand

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A unit of 25 U.S. Air Force helicopters has been withdrawn from Thailand after turning over to Thai pilots the job of airlifting Thai forces against Communist insurgents.

Assignment of American helicopters last year to ferry Thai troops into counterinsurgency operations aroused some concern. Some American observers felt it might be an indicator that the United States was slipping into a Vietnam-type situation in Thailand.

U.S. officials insisted all along that the commitment of American helicopters to help the Thai forces was a temporary measure until Thailand's own pilots could be trained to handle the task themselves.

The Defense Department said, in response to an inquiry, that the U.S. helicopter unit of squadron size had been sent recently to Vietnam after completing its work in Thailand.

The United States is supplying some 50 H34 helicopters to the Thai military under a stepped-up aid program. It is training Thai pilots at Fort Rucker, Ala., and Shephard Air Force Base in Texas.

In addition, the United States has agreed to furnish 22 helicopters for use by the Thai national police who are in the forefront of the effort to control an insurgency movement in the wild reaches of northeast Thailand.

While in Thailand, the U.S. helicopter crews were under strict rules which permitted them to carry Thai troops from rear barracks areas to forward assembly points, but not into immediate combat sectors.

This was far different from the policy in Vietnam where, starting in early 1962, U.S. choppers dropped Vietnamese soldiers directly into combat zones. U.S. helicopters were lost to Communist ground fire in such operations.

Mrs. Gandhi Is Sworn In Again

By MYRON L. BELKIND

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indira Gandhi was sworn in as prime minister of India again today and announced a new cabinet she hopes will lead the crisis-ridden country "on the path to progress."

Morarji Desai, 71, was sworn in as Mrs. Gandhi's new deputy prime minister. He also was appointed finance minister, a post he had held under her father, Jawaharlal Nehru.

President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan completed the ceremony at his residence by administering oaths of office to 17 other ministers named by Mrs. Gandhi. She was sworn in exactly at 10:45 a.m., the moment astrologers thought most auspicious.

Members of the ruling Congress Party in Parliament unanimously re-elected Mrs. Gandhi their leader Sunday after Desai withdrew his own candidacy for prime minister in the interest of party unity.

Mrs. Gandhi, 49, began a five-year term with the party severely weakened by last month's elections. It will have only 282 of the 520 elected seats in the new Parliament opening Thursday, a majority of only 44, compared with 364 of 494 seats in the old legislature.

Mrs. Gandhi has been in office since Lal Bahadur Shastri died 14 months ago.

"We are placing on her head a crown of thorns," Desai told party members Sunday. "The problems we are facing in the country are unprecedented."

They include a nationwide food shortage, a serious foreign exchange deficit, inflation, overpopulation, unemployment, strikes by government employes, student riots and agitation by militant Hindus for a nationwide ban on the slaughter of sacred cows.

Thais Capture Reds

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Premier Thanom Kittikachorn said today that Thai security forces captured 15 Communist terrorists and killed 10 in six clashes last week. The premier said government casualties were five wounded.

Power Complex Hit In Beefed-Up Raid

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes made their heaviest strikes against North Vietnam in four months Sunday, concentrating their strongest attacks on an electric power center 32 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Seizing upon breaks in the weather, the American fighter-bombers from Thailand unloaded tons of bombs on the Viet Tri power complex, sending black and brown smoke billowing 3,000 feet in the air and visible in Hanoi.

Although Hanoi radio claimed U.S. jets hit the capital itself, a U.S. spokesman said the Viet Tri strike was the only one in the Hanoi area. Apart from hitting the power complex, American fliers struck only at antiaircraft gun positions in the immediate area, he said.

The spokesman said 128 missions were flown against the North Sunday, meaning that possibly 400 planes took part. It was the busiest day in the air war since Nov. 8.

One American jet was lost during the day and its two-man crew was reported missing. It was an RF4C Phantom photoreconnaissance plane which evidently went in after the raids.

One Soviet-designed MIG was sighted by the American pilots but it made no firing passes.

U.S. spokesmen also reported sharp ground battles Sunday in the vital central highlands and an unusually high number of guerrilla attacks against isolated outposts. The ground action reflected apparent Communist determination to concentrate on hit-and-run assaults to increase allied casualties.

The Air Force spokesman said that heavy weather closed in on the Hanoi area just after the big American strikes. Most of the other Air Force, Navy and Marine strikes during the day fell on supply lines down the southern coast.

One flight of planes coming off the Viet Tri power plant raid, with their bombs all gone, lucked on a convoy of 50 trucks. The flight flashed down with 20mm cannon blazing and left many trucks aflame, a spokesman said.

With the weather over North Vietnam beginning to clear, near perfect flying weather is expected most days within the next month. The heavy raids Sunday seemed a clear signal to the Hanoi regime that as the weather clears, the bombing will increase.

It is also expected that the B52s, which now fly 5,000 miles round trip from Guam for raids

Wild Storms Rip Across Broad Area

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hail the size of baseballs, thunderstorms and isolated tornadoes poured from a grab bag of wild weather that also unleashed blowing salt in Utah, heavy snow in the West and record-breaking heat in the South.

The hail pounded an area 15 miles northwest of Evansville, Ind., Sunday. Hail the size of golf balls hit Norman, Okla., early today and slammed into Washita, about 40 miles southwest of Oklahoma City, late Sunday night.

Violent thunderstorms, some of which spawned tornadoes, ripped through a broad belt from Oklahoma to South Carolina.

Tornadoes were reported near Holly Hill, and Timmonsville, S.C., and in an area 3 miles northeast of Evansville, Ind. Several tobacco barns were demolished near Timmonsville, but no injures were reported.

More than 50 families fled from their homes Sunday night as the Ohio River flooded southern Indiana lowlands in Clark and Floyd counties. The floods, called the worst in three years, forced police to close parts of four state highways.

Temperatures soared throughout the South Sunday. In Georgia, records for the day were set at Savannah with 90, Macon with 88 and Atlanta with 83. Birmingham, Ala., had a record 87 reading. Temperatures soared to 97 at Presidio, Tex., and 95 at Wichita Falls and Carswell Air Force Base near Fort Worth.

Heavy snow fell in sections of western mountains in a continuing late winter storm. Travelers were warned of hazardous driving conditions on snow clogged roads from the Sierra Nevadas in California northeastward across most of Nevada and southern Idaho.

Clouds of salt and sand from the Great Salt Lake desert blew into Utah's major cities Sunday for the third straight day. The winds overturned a boat on Lake Powell on the Utah-Arizona border and three persons drowned.

Eleven traffic deaths in Southern California since the beginning of the weekend were blamed on rain-slick streets. More than an inch of rain fell in downtown Los Angeles. Up to a foot of snow fell in the mountains.

A small private plane crashed into a fog-shrouded mountainsde near Los Angeles Sunday, killing the two occupants.

Meredith Drops Race With Powell

NEW YORK (AP) — James H. Meredith, a civil rights maverick who drew the wrath of many Negro leaders for opposing Adam Clayton Powell, suddenly pulled out of the special congressional race today. He apparently gave into growing pressures.

In a surprise post-midnight announcement, just as stunning as his entry into the race last Tuesday as the choice of Republican leaders, Meredith offered no explanation for his withdrawal. He declined to elaborate on a one-sentence statement: "I have decided not to run in the 18th Congressional District."

Some Harlem sources said that Meredith, an independent Democrat, bowed to pressures from civil rights leaders. There also were reports that Powell, through intermediaries, had been appealing to Meredith to drop out.

The appeals were said to have been made on grounds of a need for Negro unity. Meredith reportedly was told that by accepting the Republican nomination to run against Powell, a Democrat, he would be the white man's candidate.

Sources said Meredith was told that he could make an even more dramatic gestures by giving up the support of the white people. This, it was said, would make him an even bigger hero in the Negro community.

One factor that reportedly indirectly influenced his decision to quit, it was understood, was a statement by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

King said in Hartford, Conn., Sunday night that Meredith's campaign against Powell in Harlem is ill-timed. King said that it would be much better for the House to seat Powell again because of what he termed "unique factors" which would cause Harlem Negroes to vote for him en masse.

Meredith, 33, admitted when he accepted the Republican offer to oppose Powell that he was laying himself open to "the fear and the scorn from fellow Negroes."

Five Per Cent Tolerance May Guide Districting Bill

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — The House will try to write a congressional redistricting bill that varies by no more than 5 per cent from equally populated districts, Speaker Ben Barnes said today.

Barnes reported to a news conference on a meeting in Washington Friday with Texas' congressmen.

He said the congressmen said there is a "good chance" Congress will pass a bill laying down a 5 per cent tolerance as a guideline for reapportionment bills.

The Supreme Court has ruled that both congressional and legislative districts must conform to its one man, one vote standard, but has never said how much deviation from equal population it will tolerate.

"But I'm not going to wait on any bills to pass," Barnes said. "We are going to try within the best of our ability to write a congressional redistricting bill within a 5 per cent deviation."

This means 5 per cent over or below equal population, or a maximum spread of 10 per cent between the largest and smallest districts.

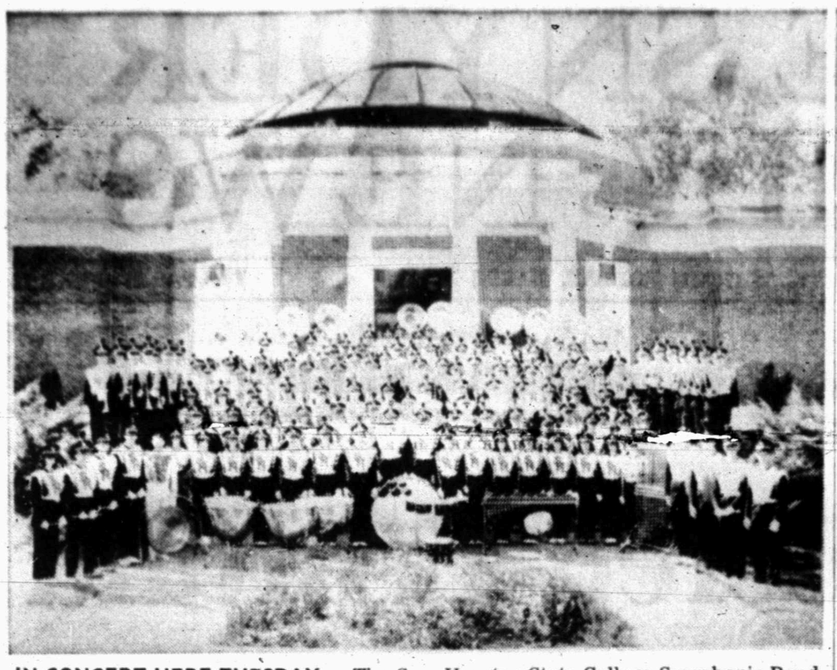

The congressional apportionment now in effect has a variation of about 10 per cent, plus or minus.

Barnes said he urged the congressmen to work for "some kind of bill with regard to legislative districts" setting tolerances of more than 5 per cent.

"To draw a House bill within 5 per cent would require us really to destroy county lines," he said. A recent Supreme Court decision on Texas' House districts contains language "that makes me think the court is sympathetic with the preservation of county lines."

He said he hopes the courts will not require redistricting based on population estimates later than the 1960 census, "because we could get into a real donnybrook over whose 1965-66 figures we use."

Barnes said he conferred with Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark in Washington on this problem, and Clark asked for further information on the problem.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a GI stationed in Thailand. During the Christmas rush, I worked in the mail room, and while there I noticed that even tho the mail volume was heavy, there were about 500 or 600 guys who would have been tickled to death to get even a bill!

That is how hungry these guys are for something in their mail box! All the world's finest foods and U.S.O. shows cannot do for a GIs moral what one letter from "home" can do.

DEAR ABBY: We recently installed beautiful new carpeting thruout our apartment and should be in paradise, but every time I kiss my wife static electricity gives us a shock. We have now become "conditioned" in the manner or rats who have learned to associate any kind of bodily contact with electric shock.

What should we do? Wear special slippers? Or should we drag leather tail straps behind us like highway trucks? Please consult your electronic wizards and advise us before we electrocute ourselves.

SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED: First, check your humidity. It's too dry in your apartment. Next ask your carpet dealer to provide you with a chemical to spray on your carpeting to remove static electricity. And if after that the sparks still fly when you embrace — you're lucky. It's love!

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest the letters from "Recent Widow" and "Not Doing So Well," and their resentment of those who gave them condolences in public. May I say that they should appreciate such a respectable question as, "How are you dong?"

I have been a widow for four years and when I meet a couple "we" both knew, the first question the husband asks me is, "Jane, how come you aren't married yet?"

I don't want to cry, I want to SCREAM, "Did it ever occur to you that I was in love with my dear departed — and still am?" Granted, I would like male companionship for social events that require an escort, but I doubt that I will ever meet a man who could come close to being the wonderful man my husband was. Sign me,

NOT LOOKING

DEAR NOT: Perhaps your friend meant to pay you a compliment, but worded it clumsily. ("Jane, you are such a prize, I'm surprised no man has snapped you up yet.")

Should you ever want "permanent" companionship don't compare every man you meet to your first husband. Few men can compete with a widow's "dear departed."

in South Vietnam, will soon be using the closer fields in Thailand.

The bombers, each carrying some 60,000 pounds of explosives, struck suspected Viet Cong concentration sites in the south with three raids Sunday and Monday. Three or four raids a day has become normal for the big bombers from Guam, but this could easily be increased by using Thai bases.

Thai Premier Thanom Kittikachorn told a news conference in Bangkok today that in principle his government has no objection to the B52's operating from Thai bases. But he said negotiations are continuing with the United States.

The heaviest concentration of ground fighting involving Americans took place in Kontum Province in the central highlands. In a series of actions Sunday five Americans were killed, 56 were wounded and five were missing.

U.S. 4th Infantry Division troops were reported today pursuing possibly 1,000 Reds with whom they had fought a series of skirmishes over a period of 18 hours. The U.S. infantrymen have found 29 dead North Vietnamese soldiers and uncovered a large base camp defended by 35 bunkers.

Throughout the night flareships lit the jungle battlefield and helicopter gunships ripped the Communist escape routes.

South Vietnamese military authorities reported almost a dozen heavy guerrilla attacks on relatively small outposts Sunday and Monday. In one of these, a U.S. adviser was killed.

In several of these attacks local militia platoons were badly mauled but the guerrillas did not appear to have overrun the posts.

The heavy but scattered ground fighting in the South was reflected in air support missions. The spokesman said that U.S. pilots flew 575 individual strikes in the South Sunday, exactly matching the previous record set last Feb. 22.

2 Mishaps Are Logged

City Police investigated two motor vehicle accidents over the weekend.

The first mishap occurred at 8:55 p.m. Saturday at Twenty-fifth Street and Avenue M. Involved were the 1957 Model Chevrolet of Samuel Dorman, 510 Twenty - fourth Street, and the parked 1959 Model Chevrolet of Floyd Thomason, 806 Twenty - fourth Street. Damage to each vehicle was estimated at about $100.

The second mishap occurred at 12:26 p.m. Sunday on the East Highway at Avenue C. Involved were the 1959 Model Chevrolet of Irene Thompson Lewis, Route 1, Hermleigh, and the 1964 Model Ford of Kenneth Darrell Pollard, 308 Thirty - first Street. Damage to the Ford was estimated at $350, and damage to the other car was placed at $200.

Confab Spotlights Hiked Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's Vietnam strategy huddle in Guam next week — though not expected to include Premier Nguyen Cao Ky — is regarded as another attempt to dramatize the U.S. military and civil development commitment to Ky's war-tor ncuntry.

Ky attended Johnson's last two Pacific conclaves — at Honolulu in February 1966 and at Manila last October.

But sources indicated the Guam session, announced Saturday night, will probably involve only top Americans, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Ambassador to Saigon Henry Cabot Lodge, and Gen. William Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam.

Johnson is to leave late Saturday and arrive early Monday Guam time.

George Christian, White House press secretary, said the meetings are expected to last "a short time — a few days at the most."

It is not expected that any major change in U.S. policy will come out of the meeting, but that emphasis will be placed on slowly increasing military pressure and intensifying attempts to win over the South Vietnamese people through economic and political development.

Likely also to be discussed are changes some have proposed to strengthen Westmoreland's command along the lines of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme allied command in World War II.

The increasnig military pressure has been underlined in the past few days by stepped up ground action and air strikes against North Vietnam's principal steel mill. Hanoi Radio claimed unday that U.S. planes bombed an area within Hanoi city limits.

Though opponents of the bombing have continued to call for its halt as a means of promoting peace talks, Johnson is believed disillusioned with such efforts and believes instead that the price of the war for North Vietnam must be raised.

There were more antibombing statements Sunday, with the most unique development coming at a state meeting of the California Democratic Council in Fresno.

See why gas broiling is smokeless.

Light a cigarette, then hold the match a few inches above the smoke. Notice how the smoke is consumed by the flame? Same thing happens when you cook in a gas broiler. There's no smoke because the flame eats it up. Which also means you can broil with the door closed with gas. No wonder gas broiling is so clean—and cool. See the modern gas ranges now at Gas Appliance Dealers and Lone Star Gas.

MRS. GLENN KEITH ROBERTSON

Schneider-Robertson Vows Exchanged In Slaton Grace Lutheran Church

Grace Lutheran Church of Slaton was the setting for the marriage of Miss Helen Schneider of Cogdell Nurses Residence, and Mr. Glenn Keith Robertson of Snyder on Saturday evening, March 11th, at 7:30 o'clock. Robert Richardson of Slaton, and John Bollinger of Grace Lutheran Church, Snyder, officiated at the double ring candlelight ceremony.

Branched candelabra graced with greenery and white bows were used in the church decor. The altar held arrangements of white mums. A white satin pillow was used at the kneeling rail.

Belva Backer of Slaton presented traditional wedding music at the organ and accompanied Josephine Tonester who sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Willie Schneider, Route 2, Wilson, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Buster Robertson, 3804 Galveston, Snyder.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length white gown of white peau de soie with fitted bodice, and long petal point sleeve. Rose lace appliques with clustered pearls adorned the round neckline and front of the skirt. Her chapel train was attached to the back of the costume with a bow and also featured the rose appliques and pearls. Her white illusion veil was attached to a crown of white pearls. The bride designed and created her own wedding dress.

She carried an arrangement of white roses atop a white Bible, and two long stemmed red roses which she presented her mother as she came down the aisle.

Laural Choate of Slaton was maid of honor, Mrs. Jo Ann Adamson of Tahoka served her sister as matron of honor and Deborah Adamson of Tahoka was flower girl. Bridesmaids were Mary Cates of San Angelo, and Karen Robertson of Snyder. Attendants were gowned in floor-length dresses of red brocade satin and white elbow length gloves. They carried red and white roses.

Sherry Schneider and Doyle Schneider, both of Tahoka lighted candles, and Rodney Marchman of Lubbock was ring bearer.

Mark Linn of Wichita Falls served his cousin as best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Owen Schneider of Lubbock, Truett Schneier of Tahoka, Don Schneider of Phoenix, Ariz., D. R. Adamson of Tahoka, and Melvin Walters of Slaton.

A reception followed in the parish hall. The table held a silver punch service, a red and white anniversary candle with red roses adorning the base. Fern Schneider and Janice Pieper presided at the white tiered cluster cake, and Linda Schneider registered guests.

For her wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M. the bride chose a rose colored suit with white accessories.

They will make their home at 1912 Coleman, Snyder.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of Wilson High School, a 1966 graduate of Shannon School of Nursing, San Angelo. She is employed by Cogdell Memorial Hospital. The groom is a 1961 graduate of Snyder High School, spent four and one-half years in the U. S. Navy and is presently employed by Texas Electric Service Co.

CENTER OF THE STORM: Memoirs of John T. Scopes, by John T. Scopes and James Presley (Holt, Rinehart and Winston, $5.95.)

The famous "monkey trial" at Dayton, Tenn., happened 41 years ago but it was only with the publication of this book that it is becoming generally known that John Scopes never did teach evolution.

Scopes, of course, was the defendant in that summertime trial that caught the attention of the world. Scopes was largely unknown at the time, but participating lawyers included William Jennings Bryan and Clarence Darrow, two of the most famous in the country.

A science teacher, Scopes had substituted for two weeks in biology and volunteered to be the defendant in the trial to test the state law against the teaching of biological evolution.

It is common knowledge that Scopes, although defended by Darrow, was convicted and assessed a minor fine. The conviction was overturned on appeal but only for a technicality, so the constitutionality of the monkey law never was tested.

These memoirs, while containing the central threat of that drama, are concentrated on Scopes the man: His beliefs, how the trial affected him, and why he did it in the first place.

The writing is lucid and compelling in an informal though tightly organized manner.

James Presley, co-author, is a free-lance writer living in Texarkana, his home. He has worked on Texas daily newspapers at San Antonio, Amarillo and Texarkana, and was graduated from the University of Texas.

Scopes emerges in the book as a man of tolerance who offered himself as a scapegoat to change a law he felt to be unjust and intolerant.

All the atmosphere of the bizarre trial is there, too: The crowds, the stifling courtroom, the lawn speakers with their harangues for and against evolution, and the instant businessmen selling everything from lemonade to miniature, stuffed monkeys.

Scopes notes that the Tennessee "monkey law" is still on the books; that is, it is to this day unlawful to teach evolution in the public schools.

He offers his moral support to those who may challenge this law in the future, as he did in the past.

Near the end of the book, Scopes quotes from Darrow, the man who, with Scopes' father, exerted the most influence on his life:

"You can only be free if I am free."—The AP

PAPA WAS IN A HURRY, By Gertrude S. Carruth (The Naylor Co. $4.95)

Family histories seem to be coming off the presses in an ever-faster stream, but "Papa Was in a Hurry" appears to be one of the best of the lot to date.

It tells of childhood and growth to womanhood of Mrs. Carruth and her family in Louisiana and Texas, mostly Louisiana.

The family operated a farm in Texas until the famous hurricane of 1900 that virtually destroyed Galveston struck their farm, with the salt water destroying their rice crop. Then they moved to Louisiana.

In fact, they moved so much that Mrs. Carruth and her family were almost like the "corporation family" of today—always on the move.

The story is told with considerable humor and with better writing than sometimes is the case in family stories.

Mrs. Carruth has written feature stories, book reviews and a column for the Beaumont Enterprise and has had her own program on KTRM—The AP

Snyderites Attend 100th Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Kelly and Mrs. W. H. Askins have returned home after attending a celebration at McGregor Saturday, honoring Mrs. Askins' aunt, Mrs. Dellie Beatrice Jones Allen on her 100th birthday.

Mrs. Allen, who has lived in the community longer than there has been a McGregor, celebrated her anniversary with a luncheon in the Sons of Hermann Hall.

One hundred places were set for her four sons, four daughters-in-law, seven grandchildren, 13 great - grandchildren and other relatives. A special place was set for her brother, Mike Jones, 88, who was present from Portales, N. M.

Mrs. Allen, who is still active and now resides at Westview Manor in McGregor, was born on March 11, 1867 in Calhoun County, Georgia. She moved to the McGregor community with her family when she was six years old and established a farm home three miles south of McGregor. This was in 1874 — eight years before the first town lots were sold to establish the city of McGregor.

She was married to Mr. Charlie E. Allen in McGregor on Jan. 8, 1895, and they spent their entire 50 years of marriage in the McGregor farming community. Mr. Allen died on May 21, 1954.

The four sons are Huron M. Allen of Amarillo, B. J. Allen, Klyce A. Allen and Joe Allen, all of McGregor.

SUMMERTIME TEMPERATURES RETURN

Moisture Still Needed Statewide

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Winter came back to Texas briefly after a week of summer-like temperatures but the state got little relief from the continuing drouth.

John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said moisture ranging from light snow to showers to good rains in spots failed to give more than temporary relief even in the more favored areas. High winds and low temperatures which accompanied the second frontal passage caused further harm. Rains in the North Central Texas area were heaviest, he noted, and will help but general moisture is needed statewide.

Only the Gulf Coast and spots in East Texas have anywhere near adequate moisture for plant growth and planting operations. Pastures in these areas, with the warmer weather, had shown improvement. Livestock, with heavy feeding, are generally in fair to good condition, the director said.

In the Panhandle some light snow fell but moisture was still very short. Greenbug damage to wheat was reported in Carson, Castro, Ochiltree, Parmer and Randall Counties.

The South Plains district is dry and greenbugs are damaging wheat in some counties. Preplant irrigation is at the peak and fertilizer and herbicides are being distributed on irrigated land.

The Rolling Plains district is extremely dry and small grain continues to deteriorate with each day. The acreage of grazed out and plowed up fields continues to increase as preparations are made to use the acreage for spring planted crops. The situation is being worsened in some counties by greenbugs and winter grain mites. Grain is being irrigated where water is available. Dry grass is short in some counties and heavy livestock feeding is continuing.

Things were brighter in North Central Texas since all counties in the district received from half an inch to two and a half inches of rain Sunday. Fall was heaviest in the eastern counties. All crops, especially small grains and pastures, will benefit but much more general moisture is needed. Greenbugs are widespread and are causing some damage and some poisoning is being done.

Peach prospects in Northeast Texas were hard hit by subfreezing temperatures. Losses could reach or even exceed 50 per cent. That section received some showers but is still short on moisture.

General, soaking moisture is needed in far West Texas for both ranges and cropland. Sheep and goat shearing continued. Labor is in short supply.

Central West Texas continued to suffer from the winter drouth and many stock tanks are dry and others are low. Livestock are in fair condition but heavy feeding is necessary. Dry grass ranges from scarce to adequate with no green grazing available.

Spots in Central Texas received as much as an inch of rain but much more is needed. The situation is critical in some counties. Plum, peach and apricot trees are blooming but there was no estimate on possible freeze damage. Goat shearing is becoming general. Shearing crews are needed in Bell County. A very limited acreage of corn and grain sorghum have been planted in Milam County.

Five East Texas counties have adequate moisture but all others are short to very short. Oats and clovers made some growth and began to provide some grazing, but the midweek cold front again put the brakes on plant growth.

Moisture in Southeast and the Upper Gulf Coast district ranges from short to adequate with 10 counties on the short side. Corn, grain sorghum and rice are being planted and clover is starting to grow but the mid week cold front slowed planting and plant growth.

Corn and grain sorghum planting continued to be held up in South Central Texas by the lack of moisture. Vegetables are being planted in areas where irrigation is available.

South Texas moisture ranges from short to very short except in Nueces, San Patricio and Willacy Counties. Cotton, corn and grain sorghums are being planted in the Valley and Coastal Bend counties and corn is being planted in the Winter Garden area. Onions, cabbage and citrus are being harvested in the Valley. Some stockmen are culling due to the strong prices of cows and bulls.

Four Texans Dies In Crash

FT. STANTON, N.M. (AP)—Authorities said four West Texas residents apparently perished as a private plane crashed and set off a fire Sunday in Lincoln National Forest.

Sheriff's officers at Kermit, Tex., reported two couples from that city were believed to have been occupants of the single engine Beechcraft Bonanza—Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Potter.

It took firefighters two hours to quench the blaze, which burned over two acres of timber.

Authorities said the wrecked plane was so badly charred it was difficult to be sure how many persons were killed.

"We're going on the assumption that we have four persons," Dr. D. M. Simms of Ruidoso said after examining the bodies.

Report Shows Death From Insecticide

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—A toxicologist's report was pending today in the Saturday night death of Mrs. Guadalupe Villarreal, believed killed by insecticide dropped into her beer at a nightspot.

A companion of the woman Onilda de Leon, remained in critical condition at a hospital. She took one sip of the beer served to Mrs. Villarreal, police said.

Lt. B. E. Blount said two men were questioned. No charges were filed Sunday. An autopsy was performed on Mrs. Villarreal's body Sunday.

Plane Found In Gulf

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Bits of debris fishing gear and an oil slick Sunday revealed the Gulf of Mexico location of an airplane crash that killed three El Campo men.

Coast Guard airplanes found the wreckage of the single-engine craft off Matagorda Peninsula near Port O'Connor.

The plane had been missing since Friday. It was flown by Larry Lauritsen, 20. Passengers included A. M. Lauritsen, father of the pilot, and Donald Lauritsen, 27 another son.

Ted Reddell, operator of the El Campo Flying Service, identified a portion of a wing and a seat from the aircraft as being from the craft flown by the Lauritsens.

Relatives said the group had flown to Matagorda Peninsula on a sightseeing and weekend fishing excursion.

Prexy Denies Fund Knowledge

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) —Dr. David D. Henry, president of the University of Illinois, Sunday vehemently denied he had any knowledge of the $21,000 athletic slush fund prior to his report to the Big Ten last December.

Dr. Henry called a charge that he knew about the fund "a total untruth."

Doug Mills, former Illinois athletic director who resigned Dec. 1, a couple of weeks before the scandal broke, was quoted by the Chicago Sun-Times that Dr. Henry "knew as much about the fund as I did."

Columnist Irv Kupcinet asked Mills if he knew about the fund and Mills was quoted as saying, "Let's just say that I and others at the university just looked the other way. And that includes Dr. Henry."

Mills also was quoted as saying, "That $21,000 over a five-year period is peanuts compared to funds some of the conference schools are expending in extra financial aid to athletes. They've made a mountain out of a molehill in the case of Illinois. And Dr. Henry has contributed to this."

Mills also was quoted as saying he had nothing to do with starting or administering the fund.

In reply, Dr. Henry said, "That Mills knew little about the fund and its operation is belied by investigators and witnesses on record both from the Big Ten and the university's staff."

Mills could not be reached for comment on Dr. Henry's statement.

Bill Reed, Big Ten commissioner, also could not be reached for comment.

The scandal broke in mid-December when assistant athletic director Mel Brewer, bypassed as a successor to Mills, reportedly revealed the existence of the fund to Dr. Henry.

Dr. Henry then made an immediate report to the Big Ten, placed football Coach Pete Elry Combes on probation and proliott and basketball Coach Harhibited athletes involved from further competition.

Big Ten athletic directors met and ordered the university to fire Elliott, Combes and assistant coach Howie Braun or face suspension or expulsion from the conference.

Dr. Henry appealed the case to the faculty representatives on the basis the punishment was "too harsh." The faculty group upheld the directors, ruled five athletes permanently ineligible, three temporarily ineligible and six others had either left school or were cleared.

The university, however, has until March 17 to serve notice for an appeal to show cause why its conference membership sho not be suspended or terminated if the three coaches are not fired.

Jr. Netters Look Good

ABILENE — The Junior High School tennis team of Snyder scored six points at a tournament in Abilene Saturday.

Mike Shearburn, in the 8th grade "C" division, won two matches. He beat Dan Burns of Wichita Falls, 6-0, 8-6, and Tommy Horton of San Angelo, 3-6, 6-6, 6-3, before losing to the No. 1 boys seed in the tournament, Stuart Brown of Wichita Falls, 6-2, 6-3.

Graham Whatley, state ranked net star from Wichita Falls, beat Snyder's Max Falls, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

In the 9th grade "A" division doubles, John Phillips and Ronnie Maddux defeated Abilene's Morelhead and Whitman, 6-3; 6-2, before losing out in the semifinals.

Max Falls and Bruce Almond teamed up to win an 8th grade "A" division match, 7-5, 6-2, over Brown and Darner of Wichita Falls, but they were beaten in the semifinals.

Other Snyder boys who lost opening matches were Tommy Faver and Bill Branson.

The next match for the Junior team will be at Abilene Wednesday.

Owl Future Is Bright

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)— The future seems bright indeed for Rice University's track team, which now seems destined to win the Southwest Conference championship again after a year's lapse. In fact, it could become a habit if these blazing sophomores aren't flashes in the pan.

Four of the second year men combined for 37 points and three records as Rice won the Border Olympics university class Saturday, scoring 63 points to 45 for the University of Houston and 42 for Baylor.

Dale Bernauer was the leading exponent of sophomoreism. He won both the 100 and 220-yard dashes in 9.6 and 21.5 seconds, respectively, beating a star veteran like Wayne Brandt of Baylor in each instance. And he ran rousing legs on both of the Rice relay teams that figured in the record onslaught. His 15 points made him high man of the university class.

The mile relay team of veteran John Moss and sophs Mike Casey, Bernauer and Conley Brown ripped off an overall record 3:10.8, which is sensational time for this early in the season. Observers began predicting the Owl quartet would dip to around 3:04 before the season is over.

The 440-yard relay team of Brown, Fred Cloud, Douglas Belzung and Bernauer did 40.8, tying the university division record.

Brown may be the greatest quartermiler in the country. He did 46.5 to set a Border Olympics over-all record and it was just one of a number of sub-47s the talented soph has turned in this season.

It was the finest of all Border Olympics although Randy Matson, Texas A&M's world record holder in the shot put, failed to approach his great mark of 70 feet 7¼ inches. Matson threw 67 feet 11½ inches despite an injured hand, still bettering the Border Olympics overall record by more than four feet. It also was farther than any other man ever has thrown the shot.

Hawks Drink Champagne

CHICAGO (AP)— The "curse of Muldoon," which had plagued the Chicago Black Hawks for four decades, was buried Sunday when the Hawks finally won their first National Hockey League championship.

The Hawks not only buried the curse but literally drowned it in a wild champagne celebration triggered by a 5-0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Tigers Trip Bobcats In Twinbill, 7-1, 3-2

Displaying clutch hitting and effective pitching, the Snyder Tigers thumped San Angelo's Bobcats, 7-1, and 3-2 in a doubleheader baseball game here Saturday afternoon.

Dink Foree made a successful mound debut in the opener, allowing only the one run while scattering eight hits. He walked only one and fanned six.

San Angelo put men on base in every inning, but was able to tally only once in the 6th frame. Right fielder Robert Cueller opened with a double and scored on an error at short.

Snyder scored single runs in the 2nd, 3rd and 4th frames and added four in the 5th inning of the first tilt. Credited with runs - batted - in were Rickey Thompson, Lane McMillion, Max Moreland, Steve Moffett, Foree and Terry Holt. Moffett, David McGinnis and David Cadena each slammed 2-baggers.

Cadena reached first on an error in the 2nd and Moffett drove him in with a double to right field. In the 3rd, Thompson walked, stole second, and scooted home on a line single to left by Powell.

The Tigers loaded the bases in the 4th on a double by David McGinnis, a walk to Foree and a single by Holt. After Thompson and Almond fanned, Moreland drilled a single to left and McGinnis scored on the play.

Foree and Holt drove in Cadena and Moffett in the 5th and scored themselves on fielder's choices.

The Tigers bombed Chancey, the losing pitcher, with 9 hits, although he struck out six and walked 4.

Rob Golden won a tight mound duel with San Angelo's Wood in the second tilt. Each pitcher gave up only five hits. Rob fanned three and walked only one. Wood struck out five and walked one.

The Tigers went ahead, 2-0, tallying one each in the 1st and 3rd frames. In the 1st, Max Moreland reached first on an error at third, was sacrificed to second by Buddy Powell, and scored when David Cadena grounded to first. The Bobcat first sacker threw to second attempting a doubleplay, but the shortstop missed the ball and it went into centerfield.

David Cadena doubled in Moreland in the 3rd, but the Bobcats tied it up, 2-2, in the 4th on a triple by McDonald, a walk, a past ball and a single by Cueller.

With the score even, Kenny Ragland walked and advanced to second on a sacrifice by Foree. Golden fanned, and then Richey Thompson blasted a ground single into right that brought in Callaway, running for Ragland, with the winning run.

Boros Gets Big Check

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Julius Boros says he won enough money capturing the Citrus Open golf title to "pay off the mortgage and retire," but the cagey campaigner isn't quite ready to call it quits.

Off to his fastest start in 17 seasons as a pro, the 47-year-old father of seven is determined to win a spot on the Ryder Cup squad which meets England's top professionals in October.

"There's not much money in the Ryder Cup, but it's worth a lot in prestige," Boros added after picking up a $23,000 check for winning the Citrus crown, his second title payoff of the year.

THEY SHOULD GET THE IDEA WHERE HE STANDS!

'Should' Or 'Must' Debate Began In Truman's Time

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The words "should" and "must" made and make a lot of difference.

The President asked the State Department to draft the message he wanted to read to Congress. He thought the first draft was too wishy-washy. He sent it back. Then he got the second version.

It said letting communism gobble up one country after another would jeopardize this countrys national security by endangering world peace and weakening other still-free countries' will to resist.

The President thought this was the key sentence: "I believe it should be the policy of the United States to support free peoples who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or outside pressures."

He didn't like that word "should." It was too "half-hearted," he felt. He scratched it out and wrote in "must."

Then, 20 years ago Sunday the President, Harry S. Truman, read to Congress a message which asked $400 million in economic aid to Greece and Turkey and changed American foreign policy.

Isolationism was abandoned and the United States, assuming leadership of the non-Communist world, understood commitments that involved it around the globe, and still do, in economic aid and even war. The latest example of both is Vietnam, where President Johnson repeatedly has said American involvement is for the sake of American national security.

At that time in 1947, when the Truman doctrine was first stated, Moscow was pressuring Turkey and Greece was near collapse under the onslaughts of Communist guerrillas. Truman's decision was not something long thought out.

It was sudden, made necessary when Britain, weakened by World War II, informed this country on Feb. 21 it couldn't even help Greece any further. There was no time to waste.

With the help of his top advisors, Truman made his decision, one of the most important in American history, got his message written and read it to Congress by March 12.

But in 1947 the full implications of the Truman doctrine were not as clear as later. At that time the Soviet Union was the only great danger. It wasn't until two years later that the Communists took over China.

In the beginning American policy sought to "contain" the Soviets. The Truman Doctrine was followed quickly by the Marshall Plan of economic aid for Europe and then by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the military alliance to protect Western Europe.

As history unfolded, American obligations spread with treaties around the world, including Asia.

This country has not always adhered rigidly to the Truman Doctrine, which said it "must" be the policy of the United States to support free people who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or outside pressure.

There have been times where it may have felt it "should" but did nothing. In 1948, under Truman, it did not intervene when Communists took over Czechoslovakia, making it a Soviet satellite. It did not intervene in 1956 when Soviet troops crushed the Hungarian revolt against communism. Nor has it stepped in directly to get rid of Fidel Castro in Cuba.

But it did step in when communism tried to take over South Korea. It made Stalin back down when he tried his Berlin blockade. It intervened in the Dominican Republic to prevent a Communist take-over. And it is in Vietnam.

But debate which began in Truman's time — over "should" and "must" — continues, more so than ever, in Vietnam where a lot of American opinion is against any involvement at all.

Junior Editors Quiz on DOGS

QUESTION: How did dogs develop?

ANSWER: Zoologists say that tomarcus, (upper left) was the animal from which wolves and jackals, as well as wild and domestic dogs, later developed. Living about 15 million years ago, tomarcus looked like a wolf with long body and short legs. Wolves resemble dogs closely, and early dogs were probably bred from tame wolves.

According to the scientists, early man domesticated the dog much earlier than he did the cat or other animals. This was because he lived by hunting, and wolves or dogs could locate an animal by smelling it so the hunter could come up and do the killing. So man and dog became partners, working together and sharing the reward of a good dinner.

Dogs bred for special purposes changed from their original appearance. For instance, dogs bred in ancient Egypt to catch gazelles by running became lean and graceful with long legs. The large dog shown is such a type. It is a carving found in King Tutankhamon's tomb and was supposed to carry the king's spirit.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

Mexico City — Mexico is one of the few places where you have Winter and Spring at the same time. The days are golden and warm. And the nights come in two blanket editions.

Flower markets are filled with posies the year around. Drive along the highways outside of town and the pine-clad mountains look cold and make you turn up the heater on the car.

But beside the roads, Indian lads and lasses are selling huge bunches of peach blossoms.

For some reason the fruit trees pay no attention to the calendar and the chilly nights. They thrive mightily on the warm days and let the rest of the world go shivering by.

Winter months are vacation months for the moppets here. School lets out at the end of November and starts again the first week of February. This is because of the wintery (for Mexico) weather.

And right now we are anxiously for the last few days to pass so the school bells ring again.

Winter means the kids take over the house. And the garden. The goat is brought upstairs to the bedrooms and dressed in 5-year-old flouncy gowns. My impression is the goat is anxiously awaiting the end of the vacation period, too.

It is often a bad time for flying, too. The chill nights cool the puddles of water of Lake Texcoco next to the airport. And the spring sun warms it in the early morning.

Result, fog and mist.

"What is your destination?" the tower asks when you radio for takeoff clearance.

"Local Flight," you say, getting ready to turn back.

"All local flights are suspended until . . . ." and you gun the motor and head back for the parking area.

Visibility is poor and there are jets whining in and out of the big port. A puddle-jumper constitutes a menace for air traffic.

Gorgeous George Villareal pushed his little washing machine through some high tension wires the other day. Going down for a landing on an outlying field and didn't see the electricity.

Fortunately, his prop hit one squarely, cut it and George made a nice landing. It must have been a cold, cold winter when he flashed into the wire. And Spring when he went on through and landed safely.

He brought back a dented prop, two yards of cable and a perspiring brow. It he had caught the wheels instead of the prop—well, pure winter.

Solid Spring arrives around the end of February. When you are still shoveling snow and checking the anti-freeze.

And the hot months run from March through May until the rainy season arrives to cool things off again. Cross winds blew from all direction.

Drift in for runway Five and you have a strong side wind. You land with the port wing slightly down. Land on Runway Thirtyone and you have a one-sided head wind. Thirteen gives you a port tail wind.

It is a rough life for the little pushers although the big jets do not seem to mind. The fruit trees blossom thicker and markets are filled with bushels of peaches. Nice for breakfast. But NOW is the important time when we are stuck with in-between season. Waiting to get the kids back in school. Will these last days never pass?

Monster Watchers Unsure About Loch Ness Creature

By GODFREY ANDERSON

INVERNESS, Scotland (AP) — Yes, Virginia, there is a Loch Ness monster. At least, that's what the experts say.

The only trouble is, Virginia, that even the experts can't make up their minds about just what creature they're dealing with. It may be a cephatspod. (That's an Octopus or Squid.) It may be a gastropod. That's a giant sea slug. Roy Mackal, associate professor of biochemistry at Chicago University, who has put in many hours watching the lake, inclines to the view that the Loch Ness monster is really an inverterate transitional between the two.

The man who says he has seen the monster more than anyone else is Clem Lister Skelton, resident technician of the Loch Ness Phenomena Investigation Bureau Ltd., a body of scientists and volunteer watchers who try to identify the thing and plot its behavior patterns.

Skelton claims eight sightings - the latest in January.

Skelton himself has a bad case of monster fever. His dark blue tie is embroidered in silver with the many-humped beastie.

"She's my Moby Dick," he says with an apologetic smile. "But the chances of sighting her are not very good. We've averaged a sighting for every 350 man-hours of watching over the past five years. Of course, we're not sure if we always see the same one."

Skelton thinks there may be a breeding herd of as many as 20 or 30 of whatever-they-are in Loch Ness.

"We have one of the largest creatures in the world in this lochs' confines and we don't know what it is," he says. "It's challenging. It's exciting And it's infuriating."

David James of Torsay Castle, a former Conservative member of Parliament who organized the Phenomna Investigation Bureau in 1962 puts it another way:

"It's like trying to get a photograph of some rare bird. All you can do is set up a good hide in a sensible place — and wait and wait and wait."

Some bureau members think it may take as long as 10 years to crack the mystery of Loch Ness. Th project has cost $50,000 to date and is running at about $10,000 a year.

Funds come from membership fees and gifts. You can be a life member of the Loch Ness Phenomena Investigation Bureau for $300 or a subscribing member for $15 a year. Either way you get a tie like Skelton's with the monster emblem.

The Chicago Adventurers contributed $5,000 last year after David James had visited their club. At least eight adventurers came to Loch Ness to see how their money was being spent.

They found teams of eight drawn from the bureau's 100 volunteers at its summer camp at Achnahannet, two miles south of Urquhart Castle. That's where the lake is deepest—758 feet — at a point 200 yards offshore. It's monster country.

The watchers, working in relays from mid-May to mid-October, are equipped with log pads, field glasses and movie cameras with telephoto lenses. Big stereoscopic aerial survey cameras with 20-inch and 36-inch lenses are synchronized to operate six feet apart.

What the cameras get on film is sent for interpretation to the Defense Ministry's Joint Air Reconnaissance Center, the outfit which successfully pinpointed Hitler's secret weapon, the V2 rocket, from pictures taken over Pennemunde in 1943.

After JARIC had once reported identifying "two animate objects weighing about one and a half tons each," Lord Shackleton, then Air Force minister and a disbeliever in monsters confessed: "I find it very hard to discount the findings of the JARIC reports."

People weren't always sceptical about what lived in Loch Ness. St. Columba, abbot of Iona, who made the first recorded sighting in 565 A.D., rebuked the monster for attacking one of his followers. "The holy man gave a great shout and commanded the beast to go back into the depths from which he came," the chronicler reported. The monster obligingly did so.

In 1527 one Duncan Campbell told of a far more frightening experience. "A terrible beast," he said, climbed out of the water and killed three men on shore with the slash of its tail.

Sightings became frequent in the early 18th century when Gen. George Wade was building the first paved road on the lake shore as part of government policy to pacify the warring highland clans.

In the 1930s road construction workers reported strange movements in the lake. Alex Campbell, the Fort Augustus water bailiff, called whatever-it-was the Loch Ness monster — and the name stuck. What had long been a local legend became an internation alone. But some people wondered, as they do today, if it really was a legend after all.

The theory in the 1930s was that shock waves from blasting rock along the lake shore penetrated deep beneath the water and caused the monster to surface.

Commercial interests showed interest. Comic postcards featuring the monster became a feature of the tourist trade in Inverness, as they still are. The monster appeared stamped into Scottish shortbread. Inverness Unionist Association adopted it as mascot.

Highlanders don't deny that the monster helps the summer tourist trade, but they angrily deny that they invented it.

Those who have seen the monster never joke about it. Take Mr. R. R. MacEwen. A respected Inverness attorney, he is not at all the kind of man to go around seeing what isn't there. He gave this description of the dark-colored object he saw moving on the lake:

"I saw a big commotion in the water, then a thing like a rather thick periscope appeared and moved along from right to left, accompanied by a great disturbance about the periscope and behind it." There are no submarines in Loch Ness.

People who genuinely think they have seen the monster are asked to report immediately to the investigation bureau's lakeside camp. The detailed form they are asked to fill out is based on that used by the Linnean Society of Boston in 1817 in response to repeated sea serpent sightings off the Massachusetts coast. It poses 44 questions.
