Miami Banks Bridge Run Crisis

PLENTY OF CASH IN BANK VAULTS TO SATISFY ALL DEMANDS WHILE POLICE HUNT FOR NOTE WRITER

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 7. (AP)—Financial circles in this city today were reacting from the cumulative effects of "more than a dozen" anonymous letters which precipitated suspension of one bank's business, brought on temporary closing for two others and were responsible for an orderly but determined run on a fourth institution.

Meanwhile, police sought the mysterious author of an indeterminate number of letters mailed January 28 in Miami, signed "Hiram," and adorned with a crudely drawn Masonic emblem. "Quietly get your money out of the Southern Bank and Trust company; it is going soon," these letters said, in varying language, but similar substance.

Results of these missives today had included:

Taking over of the Southern Bank and Trust company by State Comptroller Ernest Amos at the instance of bank officials, stimulated to this step by heavy withdrawals.

Orders by Comptroller Amos that the Citizens' bank and the Bank of Allapattah, small institutions, temporarily close to avoid possible demands on their resources.

A run on the First National bank which kept tellers busy until closing time handing out money to depositors as they demanded it.

Prepared for Emergency

Other institutions of the city today had prepared for their possible part in the emergency. Increased supplies of currency had been requisitioned. Nearly all of them experienced slight withdrawal increases early yesterday, but several reported later that deposits showed a jump, the City National announcing a $100,000 boost.

James H. Gilman, president of the Bank of Bay Biscayne, largest bank of the section, and next to the First National, most heavily beleaguered in yesterday's excitement, announced:

"While withdrawals were numerous, due to unfounded rumors which caused temporary excitement, we have satisfied every demand and we have on hand and in transit sufficient funds to continue to do so."

President E. C. Jomth, of the First National bank, declared that the Jacksonville branch of the Atlanta federal reserve bank was answering his institution's call for $7,000,000 in funds to bolster the cash reserves, but said the institution would not need it. He characterized the run as a "temporary flurry attributable to other closings, which will diminish as people see the lack of need for withdrawing their funds."

President J. E. Lummus, of the Southern Bank and Trust, held the mysterious letters responsible for the withdrawals that caused his institution to summon state aid and issued a statement which said the bank would reopen March 15. While this bank was capitalized at $100,000, it had deposits of $5,138,112, officials said.

Some of the anonymous letters were addressed to persons not depositors at the Southern Bank and Trust company, it was said. Chief of Police H. Leslie Quigg was one recipient. Bank officials placed their number at "more than a dozen." Postal inspectors doubted the existence of a federal law which could operate against the senders.

HOME TOWN TALK

By B. N.

Substituting for B. D. D.

Several carloads of thoroughbred Wichita Falls boosters are making informal neighborly visits to Lawton and Fort Sill today. This is unusual only because the two parties are organized. The drive is a popular one with Wichitans on pleasure bent and many go to Lawton every day on business missions. Completion of the free concrete bridge over the Red river at Burkburnett has greatly facilitated the jaunt to the Oklahoma city and its adjacent military reservation.

A caravan of chamber of commerce members left early this morning for Fort Sill, where they will lunch after an inspection of Uncle Sam's property. The afternoon will be spent in Lawton, greeting old and making new friends.

The fact that the highway is no longer to a south-than to a north-bound motorist may be mentioned by some of the Wichita Falls visitors. Lawtonians and Fort Sill soldiers are always welcome here and our city has many attractive features for nearby Oklahomans.

Whether the magnet be Medicine Park, Fort Sill, the Wichita mountains, or Lawton itself, it is probable that more Wichitans visit Lawton than vice versa. A truer balance of this scale would benefit both cities—and we don't mean that we favor the attainment of that balance by a lessening of the northward travel!

This evening 25 or more Wichita Falls Rotarians and Rotary-Anns will be among the representatives of several Oklahoma and Texas cities in attendance at the Rotary intercity banquet in Lawton. Walter D. Cline of this city, first vice president of Rotary International, will be the principal speaker. Several members of the chamber of commerce party will remain over for the dinner.

The Times is moving into the retail section of the city, or rather the retail section is moving to the Times' neighborhood. Early this year the Charles E. Watson Paint company opened its modern three-story store directly across Scott from us and now three store spaces are being prepared for their tenants by Mark Walker in the building adjoining the Watson company on the south.

Oats—112,000 bushels, against 104,000.

Corn—450,000 bushels, against 567,000.

Barley—168,000 bushels, against 194,000.

Canadian grain exported from the United States ports amounted to 2,231,000 bushels, against 3,158,000, while exports of North American wheat flour were 235,000 barrels, against 232,000.

HICKMAN ACTS SANE IN TRIAL AVERS EXPERT

ALIENIST CITES YOUTH'S NORMAL CONDUCT IN COURT ROOM

DOCTOR FINDS YOUTH'S REACTIONS ARE NATURAL

State Predicts Quick End for Trial Of Confessed Killer of Marian Parker

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7. (AP)—Although William Edward Hickman will not appear on the stand to testify in his sanity trial, indirectly and involuntarily he has been made a witness against himself since the moment he entered the courtroom where his insanity defense to the kidnaping and slaying of little Marian Parker is being weighed.

His courtroom attitude and his reaction to every tense moment in the trial were charged against him yesterday through the testimony of Dr. Frank M. Mikels, prosecution alienist.

A question by a defense attorney caused the alienist to lay before the jurors his analysis of the courtroom attitude of the young prisoner. Dr. Mikels previously had declared his observations convinced him that Hickman was sane.

Dr. Mikels had testified from a mass of notes taken during his examination of Hickman in his jail cell.

"Are these all the notes you have taken?" asked Defense Attorney Jerome Walsh in cross examination.

Expert Displays Data.

"Oh, by no means," responded the alienist as he hauled out a bulky notebook. From this he proceeded to read a day-by-day session-by-session analysis of Hickman's reactions in court.

He declared that:

Whenever the plea "not guilty by reason of insanity" has been mentioned in the courtroom Hickman has shown interest.

When his mother took the witness stand Hickman forcibly suppressed his emotion but that "his face was a mass of gloom."

When his father was testifying Hickman "looked disgusted" at the disclosures of the morbid life of the Hickmans.

When Welby Hunt, his erstwhile companion in crime, appeared on the stand, Hickman's face wore a "smirk of disdain."

COURT WILL ANNOUNCE DECISION IN STEWART TRIAL IN TWO WEEKS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—The question whether Robert W. Stewart, a key witness in the senate Teapot Dome inquiry must appear at the bar of the senate to answer contempt charges was taken under advisement today by Justice Jennings Bailey in the district supreme court.

After hearing argument for more than two hours on the writ of habeas corpus obtained by the Chicago oil man last Saturday after his arrest by the senate, Justice Bailey gave counsel leave to file briefs.

Jesse Adkins, attorney for the chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company, of Indiana, said he would file his brief next Monday and former Attorney General George W. Wickersham, was given until the following Friday to submit a reply.

The decision thus will not be made for at least two weeks and meantime Stewart remains at liberty on bond of $1000.

Senate After Stewart.

Demand for the "return of the body of Robert W. Stewart," was made upon the District of Columbia supreme court today by the United States senate so that its proceedings for contempt against the chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana may be prosecuted without delay.

The demand was contained in a motion for dismissal of the writ of habeas corpus which Stewart obtained at the moment the senate was preparing to punish him for refusing to answer questions of its oil committee.

The motion set forth that Stewart was arrested pursuant to a resolution of the senate, adopted last Friday after Stewart had persisted in his refusal to reply to committee queries and wound up with this prayer to Justice Jennings Bailey, the trial judge.

"Wherefore, the respondents pray that the writ of habeas corpus be discharged, the petition dismissed and the petitioner be remanded to

DOCTOR INDICTED AS PASTOR'S KILLER FACES DEATH JURY

PINEVILLE, Mo., Feb. 7. (AP)—The trial of Dr. G. E. Croxdale, charged with the murder of Rev. W. H. Hatfield, veteran Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri minister, opened in district court here today.

Mr. Hatfield, pastor-marshal of Southwest City, a town in the southwest part of Missouri near the Oklahoma-Arkansas line, was killed August 16.

For a month after his body was found on the roadside near the town the murder was a mystery. His body had been torn by a shotgun charge.

The killing is said to have resulted from ill feeling engendered by Mr. Hatfield's activities against liquor dealers. George A. Hatfield, a deputy sheriff, was largely responsible for obtaining the information upon which the alleged slayer of his father was charged with murder.

The state will contend, prosecuting attorney said, that Mr. Hatfield was shot when he discovered Croxdale in possession of two quarts of liquor which had just been delivered to him.

Mr. Hatfield had been a pastor in the three states 40 years. Croxdale had lived at Southwest City for about 15 years.

J. T. Pinell, county attorney, said that it would require most of today in the selection of the jury.

GIANT PLANE LIFTS TWO-TON LOAD GAS FOR WORLD RECORD

CALEXICO, Calif., Feb. 7. (AP)—Pilots of the giant triple motored Zenith plane Albatross, today claimed an unofficial record for useful load horsepower as they awaited the hour for a takeoff in an effort to set a new world mark for endurance flight.

In a test flight yesterday the big plane left the ground with a load of 4000 pounds, its total weight being 7110 pounds. This was at the rate of 29.2 pounds per horsepower. The official record of 25.1 pounds per horsepower is held by the army airplane T-2, piloted by Lieutenants McReady and Kelly.

With a crew of three—Charles Rocheville, K. Peterson and Jack Reed—the plane will attempt to break the present endurance record of 53 hours, 22 minutes and 21 seconds, held by two German aviators.

FEDERAL COURT HEARS LAND FRAUD CHARGES

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 7. (AP)—Efforts of the government to identify four of the five officers of the defunct Great Southern Sulphur company with alleged fraudulent operations that netted the company $1,700,000 from arid Texas land continued in federal court today. Thus far only two witnesses have taken the stand against John B. Warfield, C. S. Ransom, Harvey N. Gregory and Arthur C. McClaughry, the four on trial. A fifth defendant, Thode D. Gregory is in New York fighting extradition to New Orleans.

RIVALS EMPLOY ROCKS IN FIGHT

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 7. (AP)—A cock fight over a girl may result in the death of Victor Medina, 22, Kelly field soldier, who was in the station hospital at Fort Sam Houston Tuesday morning suffering from internal injuries. Medina said a rival had warned him to stay away from the girl's house.

Medina said that he left the home of the girl at midnight to catch a bus for Kelly field.

Near the house, he said, his rival threw rocks at him. A blow in the stomach with a rock, it was said at the army hospital, may have caused internal injuries.

WICHITANS GET WARM WELCOME AT FORT SILL

FORT SILL, Okla., Feb. 7.—The good will tour sponsored by the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce met with a splendid reception in Uncle Sam's inland domain in the Wichita mountain today.

Captain James E. Ray, editor of the Guidon, the Fort Sill weekly, was the official host of the Wichitans.

The members of the caravan from Wichita Falls visited Major Phillipe Hays, executive officer, school of fire, who spoke highly of the many improvements now going forward at Fort Sill.

He gave Wichita Falls citizens an invitation to visit the military reservation at any time and stated that the officers and soldiers of the post were just beginning to be attracted to Wichita Falls.

Captain Ray's schedule of events included visits to post field, where motorized artillery was the topic, the terrain where firing is being conducted on the range, the quartermaster's department and other attractions. Major J. R. Alfonte, quartermaster, took the visitors through his department.

Those making the trip were:

WARDLAW IN AUSTIN ON POLITICAL MISSION

AUSTIN, Feb. 7. (AP)—Louis J. Wardlow, Fort Worth candidate for governor, measured the political situation here Tuesday with former Governor James E. Ferguson, former Senator T. H. McGregor, Clarence Gosch of San Saba and former Representative John T. Smith of Austin.

Mr. Ferguson reiterated that he would throw his full support to Mr. Wardlow, who was born on a Falls county farm about 48 years ago and is six feet and 4½ inches tall, weighing 220 pounds.

"Any man who said he would not like to be governor would be lying," Mr. Wardlaw observed. Some of his issues will be tax reduction, reorganization of the state highway department and rural reform. He announced that he expects to "cover every inch of Texas if time permits," and that his active stumping will start within 30 or 40 days.

SPECIAL MEET OF GRAND JURY IN SPOTLIGHT

SECRECY SURROUNDS SCOPE OF INQUIRY TO START WEDNESDAY

THREE CAPITAL CHARGES SLATED FOR ATTENTION

Court and Prosecution Officials Move to Speed Trials of Important Cases

Watched with an interest seldom attending such gatherings, the January grand jury of the 30th district court will reconvene in special session Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock for investigations of a scope which court officials decline to reveal.

Doubt was expressed in official circles as to whether all the purposes for which the body is being reconvened will be disclosed until its report is made at the end of its investigations. Belief was expressed, however, that the work of the special session may be finished in a day or two.

The reconvened jury will receive its instructions from Judge W. W. Cook, of the 78th district court, by whom the meeting was called. Judge Cook has invited Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court to sit with him. Judge Cook said that his instructions to the grand jury will be of a more or less general nature, and that he will leave to the district attorney the duty of calling any special matters to the attention of the jury after it has met in closed session.

Secrecy was expressed Tuesday only as to some of the investigations which the grand jury may be called upon or decide to make. One known purpose in reconvening the body, Judge Cook said, was to permit investigation without delay of four serious charges filed within the space of five days last week. Those cases, he said, cannot be set for trial until indictments are returned. The next regular grand jury does not meet until April, and prosecuting and court officials believed it unwise to wait that long in these matters.

Rumors were current at the courthouse, however, that investigations of other matters are pending. No hint was given, however, as to what those matters are, if any.

The cases in which it is believed certain that investigations will be made include three charges for which the death penalty might be inflicted and one for which life imprisonment may be imposed. The charges include one of murder, another of robbery with firearms, a statutory accusation and burglary in the night time.

For all practical purposes, the approaching meeting is a special grand jury session. The January grand jury is being reconvened for the special work, however, under provisions of the statute which created the 78th district court years ago.

14 CHILDREN HURT AS BUS RUNS WILD AFTER GEARS LOCK

WETUMKA, Okla., Feb. 7. (AP)—Fourteen school children were injured today, four seriously, when a bus bringing them to the Wetumka consolidated school overturned on a hill one and a half miles east of here. It was not believed any of the injuries would be fatal.

The bus, driven by T. J. Reed, 36, turned completely over after rolling backward down a hill for about 250 yards. Reed said he lost control of the large machine when the transmission locked as he was attempting to shift gears and the brakes did not take effect. Thirty-five children were in the bus.

The injuries of 10 children were superficial. They were released after treatment.

LOVE COUNTY OFFICERS HELD ON CHARGE OF KEEPING BANK'S MONEY FOUND IN BANDIT CACHE

ARDMORE, Okla., Feb. 7. (AP) Two Love county officials were arrested on larceny charges at Marietta today after an investigation of Fred Hansen, assistant attorney general of Oklahoma, into the robbery of the Love County National bank two weeks ago. They were charged with appropriating a part of the loot recovered by them last week.

The men under arrest are Wes Croy, county attorney, and James A. Mathers, county judge. They were released on bond of $5000 each after arraignment before T. R. Thompson, justice of the peace.

Croy and Judge Mathers led a searching party to a hiding place revealed by Claude Andrews, a confessed participant in the bank robbery. Andrews is held here on robbery and murder charges. Sheriff Sam C. Long was fatally wounded in a battle with the bandits.

Mr. Hansen interviewed Andrews here yesterday and went to Marietta this morning. T. M. Randolph, a deputy sheriff, swore to the complaints against Croy and Mathers.

Of the $9200 taken in the robbery $2719 was returned to the bank.

Mathers was the youngest county judge in Oklahoma, after his election at the age of 21, in 1924.

ATTORNEY GENERAL NOTIFIED OF CHARGES AT ARDMORE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 7. (AP)—Attorney General Edwin Dabney was advised today by Fred Hansen, an assistant, that grand larceny charges had been filed against two Love county officials, County Attorney Wes Croy and County Judge James C. Mathers, in connection with alleged appropriation of a portion of the loot recovered after the robbery of the Love County National bank at Marietta, Okla.

The attorney general's office entered the investigation of the robbery at the direction of Governor Henry S. Johnston.

Hansen informed Dabney by telephone that he had taken statements from two girls who said they saw two jars filled with money in the attic of the Croy's home when they visited his daughter February 1. Hansen said one girl, a Miss White, told him that she counted the money in one jar and that it contained $2160, an amount approximately one-half of the loot still missing after $3179 of the $9200 taken from the bank had been recovered. GENERAL AUDIT TO BE STUDIED IN MEET FRIDAY

DENY INACCURACIES CONTAINED IN REPORT OF COUNTY RECORDS

PARTIAL RECHECK OF BOOKS GETS UNDER WAY

County Commission to Consider Disbursement of Large Trust Fund

A special meeting of the county commissioners' court was called for Friday afternoon Monday as an aftermath to charges by T. R. Boone, attorney for the estate of A. Kerr, former district clerk, that the recently completed audit of county records for years prior to 1927 contained inaccuracies.

The particular purpose of Friday's meeting, to be called to order at 1:30 p. m., will be to receive a report from a "cooperative recheck" of certain parts of the audit of some of the records during the time Mr. Kerr was in office. Those making the recheck, which started Tuesday, are Frank Johnson, who was designated by Mr. Boone, and a representative designated by Clinton E. Smith, head of the auditing firm of Smith, Allred and company which prepared the recent county audit. The county auditor's office also is to cooperate.

Mr. Boone's assertions that the audit contained inaccuracies or was incomplete met a vigorous defense of the compilation when Mr. Smith was called before the commissioners' court to participate in a discussion which continued more than two hours. Mr. Smith declared that many records were incomplete and could not be found, despite prolonged and thorough search. If Mr. Boone had any additional records which would tend to show the audit incomplete, he declared, he was anxious to obtain them and to make whatever amendments might be necessary in the audit.

"The auditors, however, certainly cannot be held responsible for records which were in private hands and inaccessible to us," he declared.

Records of Salaries.

Mr. Boone had, in particular, questioned the accuracy of the general audit in its records of salaries which had been paid by Mr. Kerr, and also its accuracy as to amounts of money received from the state comptroller. The attorney said that cancelled checks would show that Mr. Kerr had paid out more in properly authorized salaries than the audit gave credit for. He likewise said that a communication from the comptroller's department at Austin in-

The four robbers, with sawed-off shot guns entered the bank and after forcing five employees and two customers to lie on the floor, made good their escape with the large amount of cash and securities.

"Spies" of Dry Bureau to Insure That Houston Will Be "Bone Dry" For National Democratic Meeting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—Prohibition officials are wasting no time starting their campaign to make the Republican and Democratic national conventions dry.

A force of under cover men already has been placed under Alf Oftedal, right hand man of Prohibition Commissioner Doran, and they are centering their efforts on preventing the storage of liquor supplies in Kansas City and Houston in advance of the conventions.

Evidence is at hand that movements already are afoot by big liquor operators to lay in stores at the convention cities from Mexico and by the water routes and some signs of such activities have been noticed as far away as the Canadian border. Enforcement is expected to be more difficult in Houston than in Kansas City because the Texas city is closer to the Mexican border and the gulf.

While federal officials do not anticipate any raiding of hotel rooms and harassing of delegates, they believe they will break the backbone of the convention liquor trade by preventing the arrival of large supplies of liquor and by breaking down the distribution system of the bootleggers by a sharp espionage.

"We are after the big fellow," one official declared. "We are driving at the source and liquor will be scarce at these conventions."

CRIMINAL CONTEMPT CHARGES URGED AGAINST S. P. RAIL CHIEFS AS RESULT OF STRIFE WITH UNIONS

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 7. (AP) A page in railroad labor history was written in federal court here today in a civil contempt case brought by the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks against four officials of the Southern Pacific lines in Louisiana and Texas.

Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheson, its author, in an held that H. M. Lull, of Houston, executive vice president, and three of his associates might be cited for criminal contempt of an injunction restraining them from interfering with operation of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, asserted that the brotherhood should be reestablished as the labor organization for clerical employes of the railroad and that the company union of clerks should be disestablished.

It is a pioneer case, under the railway labor act of 1926, John H. Crooker, Houston attorney for the brotherhood, told the Associated Press. It gets a precedent, he said, and is one of the few cases in which employes have sought an injunction against their employer in federal court. It is even one of the fewer cases, he said, in which a federal court has granted an injunction in favor of employes against railroad officials.

Proceedings Delayed

Institution of criminal contempt proceedings has been held in abeyance, United States District Attorney H. M. Holden said after the opinion had been rendered, until the facts could be examined.

CRIMINAL CHARGES URGED BY JURIST

"It will depend," he said, "upon an investigation of the facts and the law."

Judge Hutcheson's recommendation was that it should be referred to the proper federal officers for their judgment.

Mr. Lull said he "had no comment to make on the court decision."

Officials of the railroad who several days ago were found guilty of contempt of court in a civil action are H. M. Lull, executive vice president of the Southern Pacific lines in Louisiana and Texas; C. S. Wald, general manager; J. C. Torian, assistant to Mr. Wald, and W. R. Mann, superintendent of the El Paso division.

Will Assess Penalties Friday

Penalties are to be assessed next Friday. The opinion made public today brought the issues into high relief and at the same time strongly indicated the penalties which Judge Hutcheson thought should be exacted.

"It is abundantly clear," the concluding paragraph said, "* * * that the matters here involved should be referred to the proper law officers of the government for them to determine whether a proceeding for criminal contempt of court in the name of the United States should be begun."

The specific charge against Mr. Lull and his three associates was that they violated the third paragraph of section 152 of the railway labor act, the purpose of which ostensibly was to eliminate strikes of employes of transportation lines.

The case was heard last June. In August an injunction was issued restraining the railroad officials from interfering, influencing or coercing the brotherhood in operation of its union.

In January contempt proceedings were instituted and several days later the defendants were found guilty.

In his opinion today Judge Hutcheson indicated that the railroad officials had not only rejected the good offices of the federal mediation board, but apparently had defied it.

Opinion Cites Evidence

"While it is hard to believe that a railroad and its officials would deliberately seek to set at naught both the legislative and the judicial powers of the United States," declared Judge Hutcheson in his opinion, "it is more difficult to avoid the conclusion that the violation of the statute and of the injunction which followed its violation was the result of a strong and settled purpose to defy both and that that court of heady violence to obtain the ends which have so often exhibited itself in these labor disputes, in the conduct of employes when the injunction was the other way, is not absent here.

"Nor is it possible to reconcile the calm of the defendant railroad that it is not seeking to influence or interfere with the selection of representatives without the record made in this case of motives, purpose and activity."

He then referred to a former dispute between the Southern Pacific officials and the brotherhood in which the clerks won in two different suits.

"The evidence of activity in violation of the statute and of the injunction occurring since are more numerous, cogent and powerful.

Wanton Defiance Seen

"Not only did the railroad company with a sheer and gratuitious wantonness of spirit reject the offices of the board of mediation, created and operating under this same act, before whom at the time of the filing of this suit a wage dispute initiated by the brotherhood was pending, but before the ink was hardly dry upon the order of injunction proceeded to nullify it by recognizing as truly representative the association, all of whose authorizations had been filed with the defendant Torian before this suit was filed and the most of which had been obtained, as found by the court, by the use of means in violation of the statute. And this recognition was accorded and action taken under it, in the face of the statute and of Torian's affidavit filed herein, that he would not consider these authorizations until the board had so relinquished.

"While a full and steady purpose, by striking at the heads of the brotherhood and of those who were active in it by depriving them of their positions and power, to kill what it had scotched, it set itself about with a callouse indifference to the spirit as well as the letter of the statute and the order, the task of not only more firmly seating the association of clerical employes, but of crushing any effort on the part of other employes to secure other representation, if they so desired, in the face of Torian's affidavit filed in the original hearing.

Rail Statute Ignored

"In short, upon a foundation laid in direct violation of the statute, they have sought to erect a superstructure of exclusive representation and in the face of a statute and an injunction designated to secure the observance of the fundamental maximum, audita alteram partem, they have gone about to arrange it so that the railroad would be in a position of surely having a vote on both sides of the table, its own side and that of its employes."

"In view of all these facts and of the further controlling and dominant fact that in the face of the agreement and understanding that the brotherhood should continue to represent the clerks until by secret ballot other representation was selected, it appears that organizers of the association have been sent out on company time and on company pay and with company consent and approval, to organize the association while officers of the brotherhood have been discharged from the service and excluded from wage conferences, members of the brotherhood have had their pay docked for the time spent on its business, and other members have been dismissed from the service it would be a sticking in the bark to discuss in detail the evidence with which this record teems of a deliberate violation of this injunction, legalistic perhaps through the advice of counsel, but none the less a violation.

Criminal Action Seen

"It is abundantly clear that the injunction issued to prevent such violation has been completely nullified and that a remedial crier should be entered completely disestablishing the Association of Clerical Employes as now constituted through the action of the defendant, as representative of the brotherhood, and reestablishing the brotherhood as such representative until by proper ballot the employes without dictation or interference vote otherwise, such order to further provide for the restoration to their positions and privileges of the officers of the brotherhood and the restoration without loss to those of the employes whose discharge, though nominally predicated upon a violation of the rules was really grounded upon antipathy because of their action on behalf of the brotherhood and that the matters here involved should be referred to the proper law officers of the government for them to determine whether a proceeding for criminal contempt in the name of the United States should be begun."

HICKMAN ACTS SANE IN TRIAL

were shown the jurors. Hickman "displayed keen interest."

When prosecution alienists told of their findings, minutely dissecting Hickman's mental reactions, Hickman was "scared to death."

Hickman Acts Normal.

Told to remove his coat and shirt for the "skin writing" tests, his reactions were normal.

When his confessions were read, he was "stolid" as though he were listening merely to a repetition of something he already knew well.

"He showed plainly fear, awe, disgust, dejection, sorrow, chagrin and profound gloom," the doctor said in describing the defendant's trial reactions.

His searching inquiry of several hours, Dr. Mikels said, developed that the confessed murderer "had the sordid indifference of a wanton criminal." He traced this back to early boyhood with thefts of candy from stores. Schoolboy love affairs as related to him by Hickman were quoted for the jury by the alienist.

To all ten commandments except two, the brain specialist said Hickman's response was normal.

"To 'Thou shalt not kill' the youth responded: 'I killed Marian Parker because it was meant to be so. I was too busy with details of the murder to care whether I was doing right or wrong'."

To "Thou shalt not steal" he said, "Well, I wanted the money and that was the easiest way. I didn't care if it was against the law."

Hickman admitted, according to Dr. Mikels that he knew kidnaping and murder were both "big crimes," punishable by death or long prison terms.

"He thoroughly appreciated the fact that he had constitutional rights but showed wanton disregard for the rights of others," said the expert witness.

"He has all normal brain functions except some blunted sensibilities which may have been due to his early life or to his own choice of a life of crime."

District Attorney Asa Keyes declared today that he expected to complete his case quickly and that it might be in the jury's hands by late Thursday.

Judge J. J. Trabucco also said he expected the case to reach the stage for final arguments by tomorrow. He has virtually completed his instructions for the jury.

Unless the cross examination is lengthy, Keyes said, he would complete the prosecution evidence today. The last state witness will be Perry M. Parker, father of the slain girl. Keyes estimated that probably brief rebuttal testimony would be heard early tomorrow. Each side will be allotted five hours for the argument before the jury.

Judge Trabucco yesterday laughed at threats said to have been made against him. However, special guards were assigned to watched over his court chambers and to accompany him to and from the court room.

Hickman "Average Boy."

William Edward Hickman was declared in effect to be an "average, normal American boy" by Dr. Frank Mickels, expert on mental diseases, who resumed the witness stand today for cross examination.

In spite of the great volume of expert evidence Dr. Mickels had entered in support of his opinion the defendant was sane, Defense Attorney Jerome Walsh excused him this morning with two brief questions.

They established that the expert had found Hickman to be practically an "average, normal American boy."

The next prosecution alienist, the robust and silverhaired Dr. Thomas Orbison of Los Angeles, also stated he had decided "without question" the defendant was "sane."

The witness commented that he could state the basis of his opinion "very briefly," and Judge J. J. Trabucco, with a broad smile, urged that he do so.

No Chronic Symptoms.

Dr. Orbison related under the questioning of Forrest Murray, assistant prosecuting attorney, that he had charge of treatment of "constitutional psychopathic" American soldiers at Camp Kearney, San Diego, Calif., during the world war, and also at Camp Pontemaisen, Brest, France. He testified he had been a member of the Los Angeles county lunacy commission since 1912. The physician testified that after four lengthy physical examinations and mental tests he found "not a single symptom" of chronic physical disease nor a "single trace of mental disease."

The alienist testified he did not examine Hickman at the request of the prosecution but in answer to the wish of two college psychology professors. He pointed out the fact that Hickman's brother, Alfred, reared in the same environment and in every way normal, heavily discounted any claims of heredity having caused any insane condition in the prisoner.

Crime His "Business."

That William Edward Hickman discussed his "crime as a business" and his slaying of Marian Parker as the "latest episode of his business," was stated in testimony of Dr. Thomas Orbison, prosecution witness today in the killer's sanity trial.

The witness, for 15 years a member of the Los Angeles county lunacy commission, testified that he found Hickman to be entirely sane, the same opinion as rendered by two other members of the lunacy commission, Dr. Victor Parkin and Dr. Paul Powers, who previously had testified for the state.

The witness admitted that Hickman was classed by him as a "constitutional psychopathic inferior" when cross-examined by Attorney Richard Cantillon of the defense. The expert declared, however, that the term had nothing to do with sanity.

Under Cantillon's hammering Orbison was made to read a definition of "psychopathy" from Durand's medical dictionary. This stated the term meant "any mental disease; insanity." But the witness then gave this identical and vague definition for "psychosis," which led him to point out that he knew Durand personally.

"He's an authority, is he not?" Cantillon asked.

"Yes, he's an authority as a dictionary writer," the witness smiled assuredly, while a hearty laugh came from the court, jury and spectators.

Frequent caustic verbal clashes between the court, District Attorney Asa Keyes, Defense Attorney Cantillon enlivened the latter's persistent grilling of Dr. Orbison. Cantillon often broke into lengthy, explanatory answers being made by the witness to check him. Keyes protested the witness be allowed to finish his answers.

Cantillon insisted parts of the answers were irrelevant, but the court ruled the witness be allowed to finish his explanations in his own way. Immediately afterward, however, Cantillon asked that objectionable portions of the witness' opinions and alleged digressions be stricken out. The court so ordered.

In spite of Cantillon's energetic attack, Dr. Orbinson maintained his stand that "C. P. I." as he has abbreviated "constitutional psychopathic inferior," had nothing to do with insanity. He admitted there might be insanity developed with "C. P. I." but that the latter's presence was no proof or indication of insanity in the defendant.

WILL ANNOUNCE STEWART DECISION

Petition From Senate.

The petition was formally presented by District Attorney Gordon, who appeared with George W. Wickersham, former attorney general, and special counsel for the senate in this case as he was in that of Mal S. Daugherty, whose arrest in 1924 as a senate witness was upheld by the United States supreme court.

Jesse Adkins, president of the District Bar association, opened the argument for Stewart. He called attention that Stewart was under a subpoena of the senate committee and that his arrest for the purpose of hailing him before the bar of the senate was illegal.

Adkins contended that the questions asked related to "a purely private matter in which the senate could have no concern," and that the answers could not possibly assist that body in any matter of legislation.

Solon's Power Limited.

Adkins argued that a legislator had no greater power than a court could not order the arrest of a witness until he had refused to obey a subpoena.

"Suppose a witness on the stand in a court refused to answer a question, do you contend that he could not be arrested?" asked Justice Bailey.

"In that case the witness would be adjudged in contempt of court before arrest," Adkins replied, adding that this was not the situation in Stewart's case, as his arrest had been ordered without any charge laid against him.

Concluding his argument, Stewart's attorney asserted that the founders of the government never intended to lodge such tremendous powers in a legislative institution. He argued that it was the duty of a citizen to protect himself not only for himself but for the benefit of all other citizens.

Quiz Ends Authority.

The lawyer contended that the resolution under which the oil committee was proceeding was not designed to elicit information for the purpose of legislation, but was purely for the purpose of inquiring into the private affairs of citizens.

Adkins renewed his argument, however, on the point that the questions asked Stewart were not relevant or pertinent to any subject upon which the senate might legislate.

Justice Bailey interrupted at one time to say that it seemed to him that the questions were relevant if the senate had any authority at all to make the investigation into the affairs of the Continental company. He added, however, that he was not expressing a final opinion on the subject.

Senate on Defensive.

Today's action, laid before Justice Jennings Bailey in District of Columbia supreme court, found the senate on the defensive, an unique position for that aggressive inquisitorial body, as it sent George W. Wickersham, former attorney general, into the legal arena to represent it. His task was to seek dismissal of the writ of habeas corpus by which Stewart temporarily freed himself from the custody of the senate after his arrest last week.

Wickersham employed to return the oil man to the senate's jurisdiction so that it might punish him for refusing to give his knowledge of certain Liberty bond transactions of the Continental Trading company, had to overcome Stewart's contention that the Teapot Dome committee was without authority to demand his testimony.

Persisting in his belief of that lack of authority, Stewart declined to tell the committe whether he had discussed disposition of the company's profits with Harry F. Sinclair, a business associate now charged with conspiracy, and whether he knew that anybody received part of those profits.

The committee had sought the information in its new inquiry to determine any association between the profit distribution and the central figures in the several Teapot Dome cases.

Other testimony has traced $233,000 of the bonds from Sinclair to Albert B. Fall, who as interior secretary signed Sinclair's Teapot Dome lease, but the payment was said to have purchased a third interest in Fall's ranch holdings.

Grand Jury Lever.

Another action against Stewart remained in prospect today as District Attorney Peyton Gordon continued preparations to ask a grand jury to indict the oil man for contempt of the senate. By one course or the other the senate thus hopes to send Stewart to jail for from one to twelve months for declining to answer questions of its committee.

The oil committee, meanwhile, is going ahead with its examination of other witnesses, oil men involved in the various Sinclair transactions, to learn what they know of the disposition of the "Continental company's profits.

SENATE OIL QUIZZERS GO UP BLIND ALLEY IN PROBE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.(AP)—The senate oil committee chased the Continental Trading company's Liberty bonds up another blind alley today and failed to get any information whatever as to their disposition from George H. Taber Jr., former president of the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company.

Taber testified that he executed for the purchasing company a contract for oil which resulted in millions in profits for the Continental company, part of which reached Albert B. Fall, then secretary of the interior, after the Teapot Dome lease was made to Harry F. Sinclair.

Under insistent hammering by Senator Walsh of Montana, committee prosecutor, Taber said he knew no more of the bonds or the Continental deal than " a man down in the street" and was excused.

The committee tomorrow will examine C. E. Crowley, vice president of the Sinclair Consolidated.

Women Suffer More Pains Than Men

If there is one point on which all physicians are agreed it is that woman's nervous system is more highly organized and, therefore, more sensitive to pain than man's. Especially during the colder months of the year women suffer much with neuralgia and periodic pains, headache, and pains in the back and sides.

To relieve these pains some women have unfortunately resorted to opiates and habit forming drugs. This is entirely unnecessary for Capudine relieves these pains quite as well as opiates and without the slightest possibility of creating a habit. Capudine reduces nervous strain or nerve tension, thus removing the cause of these pains. Every woman who suffers with pains of this kind should get acquainted with Capudine. She will find it a most helpful friend. All drug stores sell Capudine in 60c and 30c sizes.—Adv.

Pan-American Congress Leaders Complete Draft of Treaty For Union's Action

HAVANA, Feb. 7. (AP)—A revamped commercial aviation pact differing in several vital respects from the projected convention formulated by the governing board of the Pan-American union today was ready for presentation to the communications committee of the Pan-American conference for approval. The revised draft was completed by a sub-committee headed by Henry P. Fletcher, United States ambassador to Italy.

The treaty was shorn of clauses which had previously been attacked by Colombia, Mexico and other nations. Questions pertinent to the interests of the United States in Panama and Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, are believed to have been settled satisfactorily and it is confidently expected that the first commercial aviation convention between the American nations will be concluded successfully.

Treaty Open to World

The committee decided to discard any phrase limiting adherence to the treaty to members of the Pan-American union, leaving it open for the signature of all states. The previously stipulated necessity of filing notifications of adherence with the Pan-American union has been changed by substituting the Cuban government as the clearing house for ratifications.

The objections of Colombia to the original draft, which would have authorized the conclusion of agreements between two or more states regulating international commercial air navigation, have been surmounted by adding a limiting clause. This clause provides:

"That two or more states, for reasons of reciprocal convenience and interest, may agree upon appropriate regulations pertaining to the operation of aircraft and the fixing of specified routes. These regulation shall in no case prevent the establishment and operation of practical inter-American aerial lines."

Opposition Satisfied

This new clause is understood to satisfy those opposed to any agreement which the United States might be authorized to make with Panama looking to the prevention of commercial flying over the Panama Canal zone.

All special arrangements, under the terms of the revision, are made subject to the obligations and rights of states signing the general convention. Prohibited areas are defined in an article which specifies such prohibitions may be made "for reasons which contracting states deem convenient in public interest." In this case the term "for military reasons" has been stricken from the text.

Referring to the transportation of arms and war material by air, the new draft prohibits foreign or native aircraft authorized for international traffic transporting arms "either between points situated within the territory of any of the contracting states or through the same even though simply in transit."

The first draft limited the prohibition to points within a contracting state.

FIELD WORKER MAY DIRECT SCOUT WORK OUTSIDE THIS CITY

Preliminary plans for an extensive campaign for the carrying on of Boy Scout work in the smaller towns of this section were formulated Monday when E. E. Voss of Dallas, deputy regional executive, met with members of the Wichita Falls scout executive committee.

According to present plans, it is expected that a field representative will be employed to work with the scouts in cities of this district other than Wichita Falls. This work would be supported by the district outside of this city.

The present plan calls for the field worker to make regular visits to the different towns in the community and assist in the holding of scout training schools, courts of honor, field days and jamborees.

TWO CHARGES OF FORGERY FILED AGAINST NEGRO

James Franklin, a negro, recently arrived from Missouri, was formally charged with forgery and possession of forged instruments in complaints filed by Will Allen, police inspector, following the arrest of the suspect early Monday night by L. N. McKelvey, city police officer.

Eight checks bearing signatures alleged to be forgeries were found, officers said. Four of them bore what purported to be the signature of George W. Dimock and four the words, "Bob Mere Furniture company."

The negro was arrested after attempting to cash a check at a drug store at Eighth and Brook streets.

New U. S. Bills Not So Big But "Just as Good"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—The American people probably will receive their new and smaller paper currency about the end of this year, Assistant Secretary Mills informed a house sub-committee during hearings on the department's appropriations.

The new currency will save the taxpayers more than $1,000,000 a year when it is in complete circulation, he asserted in describing that the smaller notes will be more durable and convenient. Already the proposed paper money is estimated to run into a saving of $787,000 for the next year's allotment for currency printing, he declared.

Another advantage, he said, will be that the new money will be more difficult for the counterfeiter to copy.

Girl Kicks Shins Of King's Guard For Barring Way

LONDON, Feb. 7. One of the girls evaded the police and made a mad rush for the palace. She was captured after an exciting chase and carried kicking from the palace grounds.

Earlier the young suffragists presented a similar petition at the premier's residence. The petition bore many signatures, including those of Isabel MacDonald, daughter of the former premier, and Lady Cynthia Mosley.

The couple were married by Rev. J. O. Haymes, presiding elder of the Vernon district. He was assisted by W. M. Murrell, presiding elder of the Clarenden district of the church.

Mrs. Bickley has been pastors' assistant at the church here for nearly a year, coming here from Waco, where she was pastor's assistant at the Austin Avenue church. Rev. Bickley has been pastor of the Vernon church for three years and has entered on his fourth year as pastor.

Army Declines to Help Youth Avoid Trial as Burglar

An 18-year-old youth who had hoped to avoid prosecution here on a charge of burglary by returning to the army, from which he deserted two days after enlistment, found his plans blocked Monday.

Military authorities advised that they would refuse to receive the recruit, and that he had been discharged dishonorably from the army. As a result, he was ordered held in the county jail to await disposition of the burglary charge pending here.

The youth was arrested last week after he is alleged to have broken into an automobile accessory store. He said his parents live in Devol, Okla.

TOLBERT CHILD DIES FUNERAL HELD MONDAY

VERNON, Feb. 7.—Funeral services were conducted here Monday afternoon for Benny Franklin McCourt, 3, of Tolbert, who died here Sunday morning after drinking from a bottle containing vapor oil. The poison fluid was being used in a vapor lamp for another of the McCourt children, who is very ill with pneumonia.

The lad was rushed to a Vernon hospital immediately after it became known that he had drunk the fluid, but he died about five minutes after reaching the hospital.

The little victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McCourt of Tolbert. Interment was in East View cemetery.

What Has Happened So Far

Emily Day, daughter of very poor parents, has a great yearning to make a success. She finds it impossible to mingle with the socially elect of the little town where she lives owing to her poverty and the fact that her father is a factory worker. She loses her heart to Kent Rossiter, a rich young man, who is supposed to be engaged to Marilee Grainger. One moonlight night at a party, Kent kisses Emily and calls her beautiful. He goes away to study law, but she never forgets him. Meanwhile, Marty Nolan, whose father keeps a "speakeasy," tells her he too is going to be a lawyer and that some day he intends to marry her. She gets a job with Mrs. Frances Halden, a wealthy interior decorator, who tells her the only aristocracy is that of work. Mrs. Halden introduces her to Kingdon Coles, a dramatic critic, who proposes to her in vain. Meanwhile Kitten, Emily's younger sister, is wildly seeking for thrills. She meets Ted Lanier on the sly. Stella Brent, a school girl friend of Emily's finds herself deserted by Skeets Bradley, reckless son of a rich family. Kitten goes on a wild party with Ted without letting her sister know.

Emily gets a raise. Kitten climbs in a window late at night to elude her sister.

Kent comes home for the wedding of his sister Avis, who has thrown herself at Marty Nolan. Fearing her father's wrath she marries a man she does not care for.

Now Go On With the Story.

CHAPTER XXIII

Emily believed that, of course.

Nothing that happened or could happen tonight or ever behind the tall gates of Highcliffe might tip the scales of her life by so much as a half a breadth. Avis was married and gone; the show was over. She walked away with her sister, not glancing around.

Romance, beauty—oh, a high and holy thing back there. But she had no part in it. Nothing in her young life . . .

So she thought. And she went home and went to bed.

Nevertheless beyond those gates that happened which was to go winding into the years ahead; not a great thing but one surely to become so great as to sweep the course of existence into new and incredible ways for many, Emily among the rest.

Marilee Grainger, as an intimate friend of the Rossiters—indeed as almost a member of the family—lingered after the guests had departed. And when finally she set out to walk through the grounds toward home, Kent went with her.

They loitered in the June night, taking the long way around by the pergola. Marilee stopped by the stone bench and sat down; after a moment Kent dropped beside her, rather wearily.

She had been chatting in a bright vivacious way but now she fell silent. He struck a match for her cigaret, and the light, flaring up, brought her face very close to his—showed her eyes, half smiling, with a waiting look.

It was more than a rumor that Kent was expected some day to marry Marilee. They had grown up together; all their lives they had known the same people, gone the same places, done the same things. By the time they had reached their middle teens everyone was pairing them.

"You've invited Miss Grainger? That meant Kent Rossiter, then—"

"Kent is coming? Have to include Marilee—"

Never a word had been spoken between them, but Kent when he thought of it all, regarded this as a formality. His father, he knew, looked upon the thing as settled; Marilee's father and his own had been boyhood friends.

Marilee aroused no especial emotion in him. He sometimes felt a distaste for her eternal cigarets and her manner of wearing too revealing clothes and her ability to swear like a truck-driver when she was angry.

But since she was one he always had taken for granted, he gave these things little thought.

Also he was sufficiently conventional-minded to wish to do the thing expected of him. Many of his sort have found their style cramped by this.

Now he caught the waiting look in her face and leaned forward, elbows on his knees, head down. He knew what it meant; he had seen it there often this past week.

"This as well as any time," his thought ran. "Settle it—have it over. Probably her right to an understanding now that Avis is married—"

Still he said nothing and a stinging restlessness caught him. A thing to be settled—a wife to be acquired coolly all according to plan, as one acquires a profession and an office in which to practice it afterward.

Had Marilee any feeling for him more than he had for her?

Kent was too sensible not to know he was a good catch. Marilee might wish to marry him for that; she was, Avis often declared, cold-blooded.

Not such a bad arrangement after all, perhaps. What everybody would call a splendid match.

Yet he had a vision of himself spending his life with this girl—standing beside her in a scene like tonight's transferred to the house next door—taking her away for a cut and dried European honeymoon as Van Alstyne had taken Avis—sitting at her dinner parties, trying to keep her to two cocktails instead of six. Marilee affected all the ultra-modern mannerisms.

She moved closer to him and slipped her hand into his. Rather an appealing little gesture coming from her; it beat against question and doubt with a flash of real liking. He leaned back and put his arm around her shoulders.

"Marilee—"

Perhaps she really did love him; perhaps his uncertainty hurt. At any rate she moved nervously and flung at him, "Oh, step on it, Kent! Get the agony over."

The flash of liking sputtered out. And when she twisted her hand in his, winning toward the softness which had moved him before, he felt only a plodding sense of duty.

"Marilee—"

She was quiet now, waiting, pressing her arm against his side. But he hesitated again with his face turned away. No moon tonight and the air had turned murky; even the lights across the river were obscured.

Suddenly in the thick dark beyond the cliff a whistle sounded low and deep; it was answered by another lighter one, a signal that burst out like a shout of laughter.

Something warm and golden went piercing through him not so much a memory, perhaps, as a sensation.

It would not be true to say he had treasured the recollection of the last night he had sat here on this bench with a girl, or even that he held any really vivid memory of Emily.

Much water had flowed under the bridge since then and many had watched it flow. Life had led him into far places and had spread before him a moving panorama of change and event. Besides it is not the way of a man to wrap a thing in rose petals.

This was an impression of something infinitely sweet and tantalizingly elusive. And there was blame with it too, as of a tenderness repudiated. A dim thing, no more to be grasped than the fragrance of the flowers over his head.

Yet it reared itself like a wall between him and what he had been about to do.

All over in an instant; Marilee still waited. Almost, through the darkness, he could see expectancy fading from her eyes. For he knew she felt the wall.

"Want to be moving, Kent? Got another smoke?"

"Right-o. Light it for you? Guess it'll rain in another hour. Careful of those briars."

He left her at her door and knew she was mightily puzzled and disappointed.

Boston Critics Praise Miss Garden In Commenting on Presentation of Grand Opera Program in That City

The following telegram has been received at grand opera headquarters from Boston, where the Chicago Civic Opera company is now filling an engagement:

Boston, Mass., Feb. 6.

Harry Hines, Hamilton building, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Following are excerpts from Boston criticisms:

R. R. Gardner, assistant to Philip Hale, Boston Herald: "Le Jongleur at opera house here was a performance of many excellent features. Mister Polacco, to begin at the top, made the utmost of Massenet's over exquisite score. There remains Miss Garden who sang and danced so charmingly. Last night Miss Garden, from the technical point of view, the musical and the expressive, sang admirably. As a singer it was that Miss Garden shone last night and shine, indeed, she did."

Warren Storey Smight, Boston Post: "The outward simplicity of Miss Garden's impersonation of Jean Mask was an artistry to which few singing actresses of any age could attain. And that Mary Garden in this year of nineteen twenty eight can be to the eye so plausible a stripling is in itself something of a miracle. Not Miss Garden alone but each and every one concerned in the Chicago company's performance of this lyric miracle play falls but little short of perfection."

E. F. Harkins, Boston Advertiser, speaking of Miss Garden, says: "She made of this character an alfin thing, young, impulsive, capricious. Her mood changed like lightning from the gayety of a child to the prayerful sadness of a penitent sinner. All these shadings were noticeable in the prima donna's singing as well as in her acting. High and clear her voice rang like a boy soprano's."

H. T. Parker, Boston Transcript: "Often Miss Garden gave her tones boyish timbre. In the scene with the crowd she suggested the weary wistful lad conquering fatigue with eagerness. Before the altar of boyish mien she added boyish spirits. Only in the second act with the monks did she need excuses. Even there she clothed a figure of miraculous legend with sweetness and light and simplicity, what more was there to do. And Mistress Mary's first love and last love is her own way with her own powers. With ear and hand Mister Polacco subdues the orchestra to Massenet's narrow scale, low pitched voices, soft inflections, suave euphonies. He blends his instruments in water color tints, their phrasing flows, their rhymths touch and go. With Sister Formichi, a heartier Bonyomile, as the cook who could understand A lad. Leave Mister Cotreuil, Mister McKlea, Mister Defrere in their present fitness. One and all they weave the spell of atmosphere with orchestra and stage director, lights and settings keep it unbroken. Spanish Russian ballet filled out the evening. These young Americans can bring off dances of character, as the technical phrase goes; with them fill the eye and touch the senses."

Olive McGuire, Boston press representative for Chicago Civic Opera company.

Liver Doesn't Hurt but Watch Out

The dangerous thing about liver trouble is that it may be present and not recognized as such! No pain probably in the vicinity of the liver, but mysterious sick headaches, dizzy spells, kidney disturbances and probably heart palpitation and high blood pressure.

No organ will bear closer watching than the liver. It's the liver's important job to keep the blood clean of the poisons formed in body waste. But the liver becomes sluggish, as it frequently does under the strain of modern living, and the whole system becomes toxic, which weakens stomach, kidneys and heart.

The liver occasionally needs a little help, and there's nothing better for this, as medical men know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a remarkable natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal, active functioning. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists.

If you could see him pack his bag for a trip, you'd know. A bottle of Nujol always goes in. Nujol keeps body functions normal, even under abnormal regime. Keeps hasty meals and indifferent food from upsetting you. Wards off the bad effects of change of water and climate. For Nujol not only prevents any excess of the body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but also aids in their removal.

Whatever your job is—you need health and energy to ride it. Take a tip from this star salesman and take Nujol regularly. PLANES BOUGHT IN U. S. TO BE USED IN DRIVE ON REBELS

Calles Determined to Eliminate Guerilla Warfare Sporadic In Four of States

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 7. (AP)—Airplanes, recently brought from the United States, have been ordered to the states of Guanajuato and Queretaro to take part in the campaign against the rebel groups which attacked Salamanca and Colon Sunday.

Strong cavalry forces, mobilized from Irapuato, under command of Gen. Jaime Carrillo, military commandant of the state of Guanajuato, are pursuing the rebels.

Press dispatches from the district say the attack in which 13 rebels were killed was part of a new Catholic uprising, apparently organized in Queretary City.

In the uprising railway and telephone and telegraph lines were cut. The railway tracks have now been repaired and traffic resumed. Telephone and telegraph lines have also been reopened.

Seventy rebels were captured by federal forces at Sarabia. Two priests were stated to be with them and these rebels were accused of staging the attack on Salamanca.

Ten other rebels accused of belonging to the group which attacked Colon were seized a few miles south of Queretaro.

The closing of all church buildings in Queretaro has been ordered by Colonel Fraez, commander of the garrison there. He declared this was necessary since the churches were used by the conspirators as meeting places.

CALLES FORCES TO RAID BANDS OF REBEL FIGHTERS

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 7. (AP)—The government today was engaged in a campaign to exterminate guerilla bands which have been operating in four western states.

A theoretical blockade was established around the states of Jalisco, Michoacan, Aguascalientes and Colima.

Airplanes are being used to locate and bomb rebel strongholds in the mountainous and sparsely inhabited district. Infantry, calvary and artillery cooperate with the planes in these attacks.

Troops guard highways and railroads entering the states, endeavoring to prevent any ammunition or food reaching the rebel hands.

The blockade was believed here to be applied only to those districts where the rebels are most active, especially sections along the Michoacan, Jalisco and Colima border. The inhabitants of these districts are being concentrated in several large towns. Afterwards all roads will be closed so as to isolate as well as possible the rebels, not permitting the various groups to get in touch with one another. Thus the rebels would find the towns deserted and be forced into surrender by hunger.

The attack against the bands, which are variously referred to as rebels and bandits, is not regarded as one against an organized revolutionary movement. It is rather the active continuance of a campaign which has been going on for years against outlaws in the districts.

Owing to the ruggedness of the country a small band of rebels there can give the impression that a wide territory is affected by a rapid series of raids in widely scattered districts.

The war department, proceeding cautiously against them, does not give in any detail its plans. Only brief official bulletins are given out and these do no reveal the number of troops in the field nor the strength of therebels. Most of the information available here comes in meager press dispatches and from the accounts of travelers.

CHRIST STATUE TORN BY BLAST OF POWDER

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 7. (AP)—Dispatches from Silao, state of Guanajuato, states a statue of Christ, located in what is supposed to be the geographic center of Mexico, has been destroyed by dynamite.

The statue, dispatches say, was blown up several days ago, presumably by elements opposed to Catholicism.

The figure was on a hill near the town of Silao and was a monument dear to Catholics in Mexico. It was paid for by popular nationwide subscription. In the latter part of the administration of General Obregon, immediate predecessor of President Calles, the statue was dedicated by Monsignor Filippi, papal nuncio to Mexico.

Monsignor Filippi was deported in 1923 for conducting the religious ceremonies in connection with the dedication outside of a church building.

In continuance of the police campaign for enforcement of the religious laws, two more private residences have been raided. Two priests were arrested on charges of conducting masses. About 35 men and women were detained for attending services. It is believed that they will be released upon paying fines as has been done in the case of others arrested lately for conducting religious services in homes in violation of the law.

DONLEY COUNTY RAIN IMPETUS TO FARMING

CLARENDON, Texas, Feb. 7.—The first rain of the year fell in Clarendon and surrounding territory Sunday night. It will serve as a great impetus to farming operations in this county as farmers were already breaking land in sandy sections where there was sufficient moisture for a good job of plowing. Land preparation has been going on here at top speed and after the rain of Sunday night it is thought all farmers will begin to prepare land.

Local hardware and implement dealers report many sales of lister shares and plows of other kinds as well as other farm supplies needed in preliminary preparation of the soil.

With 4 of an inch of rain that fell the first part of this month and a half to an inch falling Sunday night over the county, land is in good shape and wheat will hold for the next 30 days without additional moisture unless the weather turns suddenly warm. Farm prospects for the year are starting off with a bright outlook.

Local agencies are urging farmers in this section not to increase the cotton acreage this year, but continue to develop the diversified system of farming that has gained more ground in this county than in any year before. Local bankers are taking a lead in this work and are urging a milk cow and some chickens for every farm in the county.

NAME WICHITAN TO WRECK TOLL BRIDGE AT BURK

The fact that he is a citizen of Wichita county won for H. O. Spence of Wichita Falls the contract to dismantle the old toll bridge across Red river north of Burkburnett. The contract was awarded Monday afternoon by the county commissioners' court.

Mr. Spence's proposal to raze the bridge for $1147 was the third lowest of 24 bids submitted. The lowest of the proposals was that of $620, submitted by C. B. Bates of Randlett, Okla. Mr. Bates, however, withdrew his bid before the court took action.

The next lowest was one of $1120, submitted by A. T. Postelwait, also of Randlett, and it was between his and the Spence bid that the commission decided to choose. The choice fell to Mr. Spence on the motion of M. A. Bundy, commissioner from the Wichita Falls precinct. The fact that Spence is a resident of this county swayed his decision, Mr. Bundy declared.

According to terms of the contract, the work is to be completed in 60 days. The lumber in the bridge must be stacked with nails drawn on the Texas banks of the Red river. The material will be used for whatever purpose it may be needed.

The material in the bridge was purchased by the county about two years ago for $20,000. Technical obstacles delayed the completion of the deal until a few weeks ago, however.

Ohio Hoover Supporters Open Active Campaign to Enlist Ballots of G.O.P. In Favor of Their Pick for Presidency

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 7. (AP)—Having launched their efforts to swing Ohio's 51 votes at the national Republican convention to Herbert Hoover, his supporters in this state today awaited a declaration from the secretary of commerce regarding his presidential aspirations.

Headed by Thad H. Brown, former Ohio secretary of state, a group of approximately 75 Hoover boosters, many of them prominent in state politics, yesterday adopted a petition urging the secretary to give his formal consent required by Ohio law before voters may express their preference in the primaries.

The request was telegraphed to Mr. Hoover at Washington last night. It failed to draw any change in his refusal to discuss politics at the present, but an answer is expected in a few days.

Hoover Committee Formed.

An "Ohio Hoover for President Committee" was formed with Brown as chairman. It will circulate petitions requesting the secretary to enter the state primaries to contest for Ohio's delegation with United States Senator Frank B. Willis, who has the endorsement of the Republican state central committee.

The petitions read: "Believing that Herbert Hoover by education, experience and character, is preeminently qualified for the presidency of the United States and that a large number of Ohio Republicans desire an opportunity to vote delegates and alternates to the Republican national convention who, if elected, will aid in his nomination, we, the undersigned respectfully request Secretary Hoover to permit us to nominate candidates for delegates and alternates in his behalf, in accordance with the laws of Ohio governing primary elections."

William Oxley Thompson, president emeritus of Ohio state university, was the first to sign one of the petitions.

In addition to Mr. Brown as the committee's head, vice presidents chosen include Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati, former leader of the state house of representatives, State Senator Chester C. Bolton of Cleveland, majority leader of the senate, and Mrs. Nettie B. Loughead, of Cincinnati, state senator.

Time to Declare Short.

It would be "a bold affront to Ohio law and to the people of Ohio" to try to keep Mr. Hoover out of the Ohio presidential preference primary," Chairman Brown declared. That would circumvent the intent of the law and deny the people an opportunity to give free expression to their preference for president, he said.

Brown urged quick work in circulating the petitions, inasmuch as the time in which Mr. Hoover must declare himself is short. No Hoover slate of delegates can be put into the contest unless Mr. Hoover has given his consent to pledge delegates to him by midnight, February 21, the closing time for filing nomination petitions.

"The store will be known in the future as the Grissom store, and will be operated as nearly as possible on the same basis as the store under the Dixon policy," J. E. Grissom, who was in Vernon, announced.

Floyd Hardin of the Grissom department store in Abilene will be in Vernon next week to assume managership of the store here, while the Grissom brothers remain in Abilene.

Mr. Dixon, who has been in the dry goods business in this city for 15 years, will remain with the store for several weeks.

Wardrobing the Woman of Limited Means

Three Properly Chosen Costumes Are All Necessary to Outfit Her With Creditable Smartness

By HENRI BENDEL
For NEA Service

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—I have heard women say that if one had all the money in the world there would be no clothes problems.

This really is not true. The choice of clothes might be easier with unlimited means. But in the last analysis it is good taste that decides clothes problems and not money.

Of course the woman with only a given amount to spend for her frocks, and that not large, does have restrictions put upon her that the richer woman never feels. But to the woman with limited means who maintains a smart appearance goes much more credit and satisfaction than to the one who can afford anything.

I often have women ask me to help them plan a season's wardrobe that must be built around a few outfits—say, three. I maintain a woman can keep up a smart appearance on this number, if they are chosen properly.

Basic Rules of Choice

But, certain rules must be followed in choosing the three. They must never be startling in color, they must be of somewhat conservative cut, and they can never afford to be fragile but as practical as possible. It is a good plan to choose at least one costume that can lead a double or even triple life, given different accessories to change its character.

I show today two of the three types of costumes I would suggest to a woman of limited means. These are the two that allow more freedom of choice and are hardest to pick.

The first of the three costumes must be, of course, a daytime street costume that will serve for luncheons as well, for matinee wear and for bridge or any occasion before five in the afternoon.

The Other Two

Second comes an afternoon, dressy ensemble. Third the evening gown. This last I omit from the illustrations for there can be little choice here. I should say if one can have only a single evening gown it must be black and this season it would be lace, undoubtedly.

The street costume, for springtime, is the most important in the wardrobe. I have selected the type shown from among nonchalant sports models, strictly tailored ensembles and elaborate and intricate combinations of capes and dresses or two-piece ensembles, because it is a stunning creation both in line and fabric, because it is somewhat conservative and because it is so smart it will ever arouse admiration but is not so easily remembered as one of more unique cut.

It is a tweed suit, a hand-woven French tweed, tan in tone with flecklings of coffee brown, and a tiny dash of red that gives it a live cast. It is a wrap-around skirt and a tricky little collarless, cuffless but belted coat.

The belting trims it, binding all the edges and forming a wide banding around the neckline, and fashioning sham pockets. A brown suede belt, matching exactly in color, and brown suede purse and gloves bring out the color of this trimming.

Under this suit is worn one of the angora knitted blouses with a new neckline and matching cuffs. This is a lighter tan in tone, with dark bandings. A fox scarf and one of the smart French hats of choquette straw trimmed with a long graceful coque feather is also of dark brown.

Of course pumps should be of brown antelope and hosiery matching.

Change the blouse of this creation—wear a soft bisque satin one and lighter hosiery, gloves and purse and perhaps a jaunty colored scarf instead of the fur and you have a totally different effect. It one wears grey better than brown or blue better than either, I should advise a mixture of those colors instead of brown and tan. But this type of little suit and these accessories cannot be surpassed for jaunty chic.

For afternoon—a bottle-green flat crepe and chiffon ensemble, the crepe forming the draped skirt and three-quarters flaring coat and the chiffon the beautifully tucked blouse with its unique flowing sleeves form the tight upper portion.

With and Without the Coat

With the coat, one has the ideal afternoon party frock, reception gown and so on. Without it, the type of hostess frock that the well-dressed woman likes to have to wear when particular guests arrive.

I chose green for its vogue this year. Catawba or a rich blue would be equally good. But this ensemble should have some color that one does not feature in the other frocks. Each of the three should stand on its own merits and have its own accessories. That way one avoids the feeling of wearing exactly the same thing each time.

ZOË BECKLEY'S CORNER

Speak Up, Li'l Girl

"Dear Zoe: If you loved a man dearly and suspected that your girl friend had poisoned his mind against you for reasons of her own, and he stopped coming to see you after being most loving, what would you do?

—HEARTBREAK.

Do? Do? What would we do? Why we'd grab pen and paper and write him a perfectly sweet note, all friendly and gay, and not say a thing about mentioning the Girl Friend, but saying we missed seeing him and wondered and wondered and wondered and we do need to see him about something and we were not sure if he was all alone (no [illegible] and invite him over to that effect.

Get the idea?

He would answer the note, of course. Probably come rushing up to see you. And when he came, he would be jolly as anything and never show how anxious we were or how much we cared about him. If anything, we would throw out a few little casual hints that there were beaus of other shoes we were interested in, but that we just hated to lose old friends—especially when we simply couldn't understand why they suddenly fell away and played dead.

Don't be reproached, dear, be catty about the Girl Friend, don't have the vices. Just be a grand actress. And when you have him all keyed up with interest, draw down a sudden veil of reserve and send him away guessing.

Don't Be Selfish.

"Dear Zoe: I want a certain boy to care for me, but in a talk we had the other night he told me he could not go with any girl steadily as he doesn't make much money and goes to night school. How can I win him?

—MAE."

By showing in every possible way that you appreciate his ambition to work hard and get ahead in the world.

By telling him how much you admire his going to night school and how sure you are he will be a whale of a success.

By suggesting a cheap treat once in a while, such as a walk a quarter movie, a sit-at-home or a radio dance at your house or that of some kind friend.

And by being patient and unselfish while he gets his chance, going out if you want to with other girls and boys but always letting him see you like him best of all.

Short Cut to Shorthand

"Dear Zoe: Where can I get shorthand books? I would like to study at home. Which of the systems do you advise?

—JOYCE."

Ask at the public library for the ones they have. Look them over and choose the ones that seem simplest. Then buy at any book store the one you select. Or inquire at any high school. Stenography is taught at most of them. Also the Y. W. C. A. has classes either free or nearly so.

There isn't much to choose between the systems. Years ago we used to write the Munson system and liked it. But the Isaac Pitman was more used. The Gregg is popular and also the Graham, but the latter is more difficult. There are one or two new ones which it would be well to look up.

Psycho-Analysis and Mental Radio

The Secret of Success

In last Sunday's metropolitan papers we read about Dr. Gardner Murphy and Dr. Heison of Harvard University performing successful experiments in transmitting thoughts from New York to Harvard, and that telepathic or mental radio waves have been sent from this continent to Africa.

At last these learned gentlemen are beginning to realize the fact that thought transmission by mental radio waves is not only possible but can be employed as a powerful factor in the lives of individuals as well as nations.

There is nothing new about this, for more than twenty years Victor La Tour, the psychologist, has been demonstrating the many wonderful results accomplished by the proper application of the power of thought in psycho-analysis and mental radio.

'VIVE, BON PAPA' HAITIAN GREETING TO ATLANTIC ACE

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Feb. 7.—With boundless enthusiasm, Haiti continued en fete today for the "Great Silver Eagle" which dropped on a peaceful mission from the pale blue tropical skies at the appointed hour. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh who idled in the clouds so as not to arrive from Santo Domingo ahead of time, will leave for Havana tomorrow continuing his good will cruise.

President Borno hailed him "as a radiant messenger of the greatest things in the world, namely, sure science, dauntless courage and unflinching faith."

"Vive, Bon Papa"

The peasants acclaimed Lindbergh as "Gros Chef," in soft creole voices they cried, "Vive, Bon Papa." Ninety per cent of them illiterate, they could not comprehend his trans-Atlantic flight, but they hailed the boyish American who passed among them smiling and extended to him their natural hospitality.

Eight years ago in the hills of Haiti, the peasants, who had once been negro slaves saw their first airplane. It was an American marine plane scouting for bandits. Word was spread by conch horns and voodoo drums of the magic flight of a "Great White Bat." The bandits later timorously attacked an abandoned plane, slashing its wings to kill the great bird.

Lindy Loafs in Sky

A half an hour before the time scheduled for his arrival, the peasants saw the Spirit of St. Louis, to them "The Great Silver Eagle" appear. Realizing that he was ahead of time, Lindbergh disappeared. He flew over old bandit strongholds and in the distance saw a range of mountains lost in the haze which rose from the celebrated Windward passage. Three miles off shore he saw the battleships Wyoming and Utah.

It neared 2 o'clock the hour that Lindbergh had set 10 days before his arrival. Suddenly the plane darted out of the clouds and sped like a silver lance straight for the target—Bowen field. It was exactly 2 o'clock when he landed.

The first question Colonel Lindbergh asked Brigadier General John Henry Russell, United States high commissioner, was "well general, did I get in on time?"

When assured that he did, with his London cable the ever cold, "Fine, I friend."

Dumps Air Mail

But before Lindbergh alighted a reminder of his accomplishment was he received the flight training in handling planes which brought him international fame preceded him—a red, white and blue mail bag. This bearing mail from Santo Domingo was tossed out by the flyer, just as he used to do on the St. Louis-Chicago route, before he stepped from the plane himself.

A six foot marine, Lieut. Jack Harris, stood directly in front of the empty hangar over the doors of which were painted in huge black letters "W. C." The plane headed directly for the tall marine as he stood with his arms upraised in greeting.

In English President Borno welcomed the flyer. He hailed him as a smiling conqueror and the peace of all the world, who by undaunted courage and rare simplicity had inspired all.

Flowers From Maid

Mademoiselle Yvonne Mathon, niece of the president of the republic, stepped forward and handed the flyer a bouquet of pink roses. Lindbergh kissed these to our wife. President Borno then awarded him the order of merit and embraced the flyer.

Overnight the city had renamed three streets in honor of Lindbergh's coming. Avenue Lindbergh, Avenue Washington and Avenue Bolivar. President Borno suggested that they be renamed to Buk, the intrepid flyer with the greatest American figure and Latin America's greatest patriot.

Marine aviators who inspected Lindbergh's plane scouted any suggestion of what has been termed "Lindbergh luck." By his devoted attention to every detail of the Spirit of St. Louis, they said, he eliminates any possible flaw in its operation.

LINDBERGH DROPS NOTE TO SANTO DOMINGO FOLK

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, Feb. 7.—(AP)—White Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was unable to stop yesterday at the inland city of Santiago De Los Caballeros, where 1000 of his admirers had gathered to see him en route from Santo Domingo to Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, he dropped a message to the eager crowd.

"Deeply sorry my visit in Santo Domingo, being so short, prevented my stopping at Santiago," the message read. "Highly appreciate hearty welcome received, would like to stay longer, there being so much of interest—Lindbergh."

Curtis Delivers Principal Talk At C. E. Rally

"Christian Endeavors must hold on to Christ. One can not lead a selfish life and be a good endeavorer," were two of the high points in a talk by Guy Curtis, educational director of the First Christian church, to the young people attending the rally in that church Monday evening.

"We are not good Christian Endeavorers unless we live up to the pledge," he stated. "We must follow the spiritual things of life and not give ourselves over to physical weaknesses if we are to be true Christian Endeavorers," he further stated.

The talk was especially helpful and appropriate because it gave those present something of the true meaning of Christian Endeavor, and gave them good food for thought for the coming district convention.

Mr. Curtis stated that in his visits to the various endeavors throughout the country he found that where the pledge was not in use that society was inactive.

The various phases of the coming convention were discussed by Janice Mashburn, Jeanette Skaggs, Joyce Samuels, and Shirley Donnell. Miss Eleanor Pitman gave two readings. Grady Skaggs and Jack Dale, of Electra, were in charge of the pep session and song service.

It is planned to invite the endeavors of nearby districts to stop over in Wichita Falls the night prior to the convention at Amarillo in June, to have a big rally and to all go on to Amarillo together, J. T. Morrow, Irene Muns, the Rev. F. Doege, Emma Lou Scott, Silas Merritt and Shirley Donnell were appointed as a committee to arrange for this rally.

Several members of the First Evangelical church of this city were present at the rally Monday night. There were 39 in attendance.

TWAIN BIBLE CLASS HAS SOCIAL SESSION

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Picard, 2208 Marshall street, were hosts to members of the Twain Bible class of the First Methodist Sunday school Monday evening in a combined business and social meeting. Reports were given followed by a talk by E. F. Bohmfalk. Games were enjoyed and music was furnished by Mr. Fostick and Mesdames Picard and R. P. Finn.

Refreshments were served to Messrs. and Mesdames Beal, C. E. Martin, R. P. Finn, R. W. Huff, Paul H. Davis, W. R. Scott, J. W. Ranbarger, Murrell Hooper, Ellery Lynn, and Mesdames A. H. Milsap, Al C. Flack, and Messrs. Fostick, Bohmfalk, S. A. Douglas and E. F. Carter.

MRS. BERNARD CHOSEN HEAD OF SOCIETY

Mrs. Jim Parnard was chosen president of the Lucy Hansel Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church Monday afternoon in a meeting held at the home of Mrs. L. H. Cullum with Mrs. A. M. Miller joint hostess. Other officers elected include Mrs. R. W. Conner, vice president; Mrs. Henry Welch, recording secretary; Mrs. Lark Stiller, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. A. Kemp Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Roscoe Davis, finance secretary; Mrs. Paul Stokes, "sunshine" secretary.

Dr. W. T. Locke, missionary from China who is at home on a furlough, gave a talk on his work during the last 30 years in China.

A dainty refreshment plate was to 30 members and guests.

GOVERNOR MOODY ASKS EXTRADITION OF DARNELL

AUSTIN, Feb. 7. (AP)—The chief justice of the District of Columbia's supreme court was asked Tuesday by Governor Moody to allow the extradition of C. H. Darnell, indicted in Harris county, Texas, for alleged embezzlement.

Darnell is claimed to have appropriated about $150 belonging to J. F. Maroney and was reported to be in custody in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Moody also requisitioned the California governor for Robert L. Collins, charged in Tarrant county with removing a mortgaged automobile from the state. Collins, officers said, is being held at Stockton, Calif.

Cherry, dressed in the musical comedy version of an aviatrix's costume, and looking so beautiful and adorable in its green leather and white satin sauciness that Faith could not blame Bill Warren for staring at her as if there were nothing else of the least importance in all the world left for the masquerade ball at the Marlboro Country club at 20 minutes of nine, Faith had detained her under one pretext or another for 15 minutes after Lill had called for her, hoping that Nils would arrive before she left. But again fate ironically flung five stupid minutes between them, for Nils' taxi swerved in at the curb at exactly 15 minutes of nine.

Nils was an incredibly tall and handsome, as golden of hair and as blue of eye as Faith had remembered him. No wonder Cherry had not been able to resist him, Faith thought, as she greeted him, both hands outstretched. The very air surrounding him vibrated with the magnetism of his personality. He exuded strength, vitality, youthful joy of living.

"You're thin," he accused her, the flame of his eyes sweeping over her, "but more beautiful than ever. Isn't she, Mr. Hathaway? You'd better shed a few pounds yourself, Rhoda," he laughed, as he turned and flung his arm boyishly about his husky young sister.

But even as he kissed Rhoda, Faith saw that his eyes swept over the large living room, searching for the face he had really come to see.

"Cherry has gone to a masquerade ball at the Marlboro Country club, Nils," Faith summoned the courage to tell him. "You asked me not to tell her you were coming, and I didn't. She left five minutes ago."

Eagerness and laughter fled instantly from Nils' handsome face. "Well," he drew a sharp breath, "I deserve it. Only an idiot dares try to surprise a woman, it's rather unfortunate—for me, since I'm in town only for tonight. Urgent business takes me back to the farm tomorrow. I'm—sorry I won't get to see her."

"I'm afraid sorry" is a mild description of what Cherry will feel, Jonson," Bob said quietly.

Nils flushed vividly and joy flashed into his amazingly blue eyes. "I hope you're not joking, Mr. Hathaway. I came here tonight to ask Cherry to marry me."

"Then I wish to heaven you had arrived half an hour earlier," Bob exclaimed with surprising sternness. "For Bill Warren, the chap who's taking her to the dance came with the same laudable intention. He's probably done it by this time."

Nils advanced slowly toward the couch. His face was very white, but his eyes and voice were steady when he spoke, looking down at Faith's pale, stricken face:

"I did not write because I wanted Cherry either to forget all about me or to fall completely in love with me, without any pressure that I might bring to bear on her. I knew she was attracted to me from the very first, but I also knew that I couldn't interest her if she felt too sure of me. I'm sorry if I've played my hand wrong and lost her, but perhaps it's better that I did get here just too late tonight, if there's any possibility of her becoming engaged to another man. She's got to love me as completely as I love her, or—I don't want her. . . . Well, Rhoda, I've been taking liberties with your inheritance, honey. Of course, if you don't approve, it's not too late for me to back out."

Wednesday: Nils plans.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Carlock have returned to their home at Childress the following a short visit here with Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Bailey on Lucille street.

SO DIZZY, DIDN'T DARE TO STOOP

Biliousness Caused Lady Much Discomfort Until She Tried Black-Draught and Found It Brought Relief.

Townville, S. C.—"I had a bilious spell. I would get very dizzy and have such a hard taste in my mouth," says Mrs. Bertha Whitfield of this place.

"When I would stoop over, it felt like I was going over on my head.

"When I would get up mornings, I felt as tired as when I went to bed.

"A friend told me how she had been relieved by taking Black-Draught and how it kept it in her home. So thought I would try it any way, which I did, and found from then on I have used Black-Draught when I feel bad, get up tired, or feel that I need anything. Now I recommend it to my friends.

"If I get tired and sluggish, feeling like I must sit around when I have [illegible] to do, I take Black-Draught. A few doses seem to be what it takes to cleanse my system of impurities that may cause this trouble."

Black-Draught is a purely vegetable remedy, prepared from roots and herbs carefully combined, weighed and packaged by automatic machinery.

Easy to take—no disagreeable after effects.

Sold in 25-cent and $1.00 packages at all druggists. Try it.

THE SUBMARINE

It need not be expected that Secretary Kellogg's declaration of this country's willingness to abolish the submarine will amount to a great deal, or even that it will be given serious consideration by the other nations.

These nations will reply, and accurately, that the submarine is worth less to the United States than to them. The value of the submarine is in inverse ratio to the length of the coast-line—and we have the longest coast line. American naval strategy and tactics pay little attention to the under-sea boat.

It is a good deal like a big man asking a little one to drop that brick.

NORTHWEST TEXAS COUNTIES GET TOGETHER

Nine Northwest Texas counties have joined hands to form the Pease-Red River Valley association. Wilbarger, Foard, Hardeman, Cottle, Motley, Childress, Donley, Hall and Collingsworth counties are linked in the organization, which was formed to advance the common interests of these counties.

The section covered by these counties is one of the most productive and one of the most prosperous in the Southwest. It supports upwards of a score of good towns. The counties in question have either built good roads, or have voted bonds preliminary to building. Diversification is the rule throughout that section. It is a good cotton country, but it is a good wheat section also, and is steadily increasing its production of poultry, fruit, dairy products, pork and feed.

Much can be accomplished by all of these counties pulling together. Broadly speaking, all have the same opportunities to offer to the immigrant. They are doing wisely in merging their efforts and working as a unit. We may expect to see some real worth while results.

NEW WEST TEXAS COLLEGES

Two new educational institutions are to be established soon in West Texas. Warner Memorial university, a sectarian institution, will be located at Eastland. Gunter college will be moved from Gunter, Grayson county, to some place in West Texas, where, it is believed, it will have a broader opportunity for service. It is also a church school. Floydada is a leading contestant for this institution, the new site of which is yet to be determined.

We hope that both schools will prove assets to the communities in which established. There is plenty of room in West Texas for additional institutions of higher learning. But if these colleges are assets instead of liabilities, they will be exceptions to the general rule. The more powerful denominations are working away from the idea of colleges in small towns. They have found that so much energy has to be expended in keeping the institutions alive and solvent that none is left for academic activities. Clarendon had to give up a church school which it had helped support for many years. It used the same plant for a tax-supported junior college, which is already solidly on its feet.

The time has passed when Wichita Falls can hope to obtain a big church school. It does not want a small school. This city's duty, along the line of higher education, is to make the junior college the institution that it ought to be—to develop that opportunity to the utmost.

BOTH PORK AND PIE

It isn't hard to understand how the advocates of the Jones merchant marine bill put the measure over in the senate. Bureaucracy is always to dislodge, and it has entrenched itself securely enough in this instance. It is a bit hard to understand, however, why senators of the South failed to vote against the measure. Senator Blease of North Carolina was the only one to kick over the traces. Support of bureaucracy is more or less to be expected from northern and eastern senators; we might have expected better from southern Democratic senators.

"The supporters of the bill" says the New York World, "were actuated by different motives. Radical Republicans like Brookhart, Blaine and La Follette wished to keep the government in the shipping business because they believe in the principle of government ownership. Conservatives in both parties who care nothing about such a principle supported the bill because they are interested in obtaining ships for ports in their districts."

The World points out that the measure is a pork-barrel one, pure and simple.

"It goes to show" comments the Chicago Tribune, "how strong a bureaucracy can become in a short time. The government has been in the shipping business eight short years, at a great loss. Yet the shipping bureaucracy is so strongly entrenched today that it can dictate to the legislative branch of the government and demand that the country be made to throw away still more money in order that its own jobs and offices may be continued and made soft and safe."

When both pork and pie are on the side of a measure, the chance of defeating it is slim indeed. The Jones bill contains plenty of both.

AFRAID TO TOUCH IT

The Wilbarger county grand jury in its recent report declared that the Sunday law was being violated in Vernon, and suggested that the violation cease.

It probably meant to say that the Sunday law was being violated in some new way. Surely it didn't think that the ordinary run of violations, such as selling cigarettes, cold drinks, camera films, gasoline, etc., was worthy of its notice. If there is a county in Texas where the Sunday law isn't violated as regularly as Sunday arrives, we've never heard of it.

There is small prospect of obtaining passage of a sensible, enforceable Sunday law in Texas. The situation is similar to that which exists when two small boys are being egged to fight each other. One is scared and the other is glad of it. Those who would like to see a more liberal Sunday law are afraid to start anything, lest Sunday baseball be put under the ban, if the opposition gains ascendency. Those who favor "blue" Sunday are afraid to ask for amendments to the law, lest the amendments go too far. The result is that we may expect to continue to see, every Sunday, a law openly violated.

Add similes: As unexpected as a jury summons.

NEARING THE GOAL.

The road is long and the wind is bleak,
I'm a long way still from the mountain peak,
But I'm bound to keep on going.
Oh, I'll gain a yard or I'll gain a mile,
And I'll get to my goal in some after while
In spite of the wind that's blowing.

My burden's heavy, but all I see
Are carrying crosses, just like me,
And they're going the way I'm going,
And some are merry and some are sad,
And all of them, whether they're good or bad,
The scars of life are showing.

They all tell tales of pleasanter days
Of easier tasks and sunnier ways,
When care was but a bubble,
And there's none at the half-way post I find.
But what can tell, if he's so inclined,
A pitiful tale of trouble.

We are nearing home where the hurts will cease,
We are nearing home with its days of peace,
So bravely keep on going,
Though we gain a yard or we gain a mile,
We shall all reach home in some after while
In spite of the wind that's blowing.

On the Old Fogey

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine

The other day I suggested that we use the words conservative and radical too loosely.

We should, I think, substitute the title of old fogey for conservative and the word fanatic for radical in our ordinary use of these terms, saving the good words conservative and radical for an accurate use.

The conservative and the radical are, as I suggested the other day, two advocates of reality who approach reality from opposite directions.

The conservative thinks most of sound old ideas.

The radical thinks most of sound new ideas.

When we derisively call a man a conservative, we usually mean that he is an old fogey.

In the old discussion of what happens to a man's mind and courage after forty, to which I referred yesterday, Dr. Osler had much to say about old fogeyism and how widely it differs from real conservatism.

The motto of the conservative, he thinks, is: Prove all things, and hold fast that which is good.

The motto of the old fogey is: Prove nothing, but hold fast that which is old.

There are, according to Osler, three infallible symptoms by which the presence and progress of old fogeyism in a man or in an institution can be recognized.

First, a state of happy contentment with things as they are.

This is the spirit that Rudyard Kipling saw in some of the incompetent generals in the Boer war, when he put into their mouths these words:

"The Lamp of our Youth will be utterly out; but we shall subsist on the smell of it,
And whatever we do, we shall fold our hands and suck our gums and think well of it.
Yes, we shall be perfectly pleased with our work, and that is the perfectest Hell of it."

Second, a serene conviction that other people and other institutions are pitiably inferior.

This is the spirit we sometimes see in the overdogmatic Fundamentalist, the cocksure Modernist, and the swashbuckling Nordic.

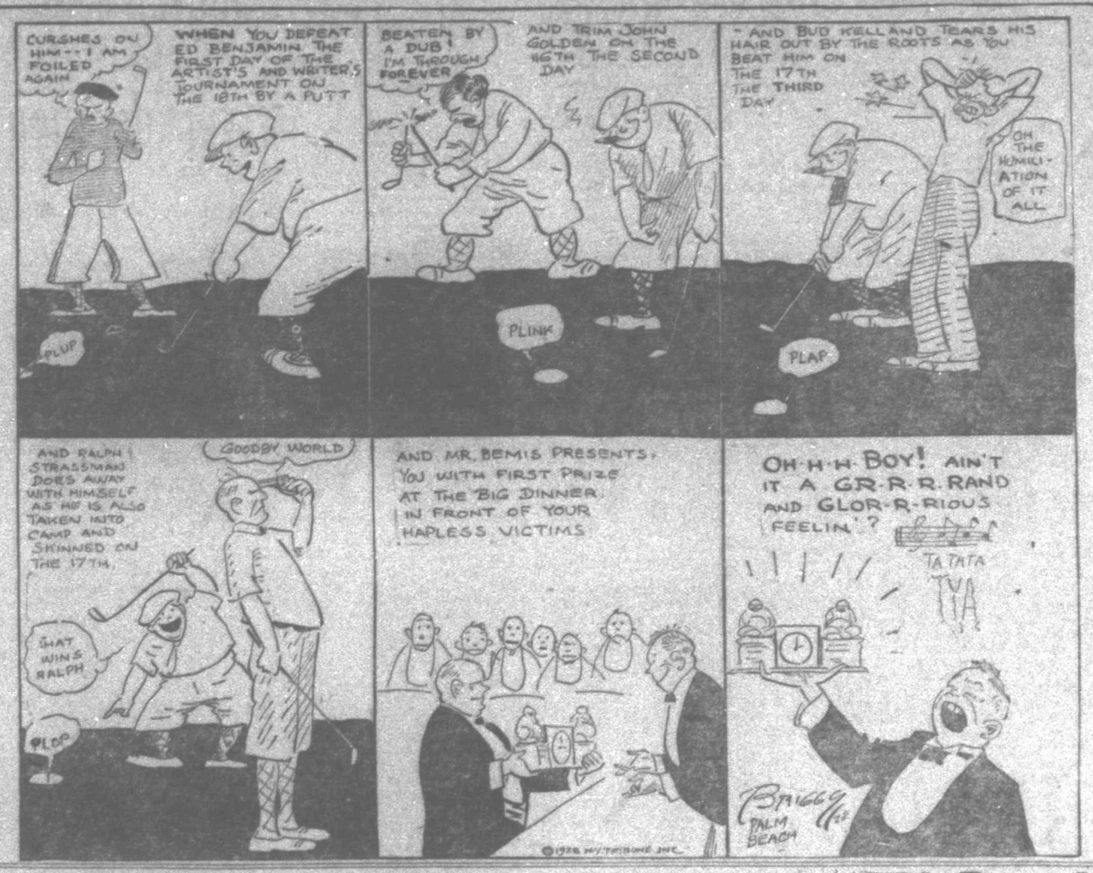

Third, a fear of change that perplexes and appeals.

The pain of a new idea, Walter Bagehot once said, is always upsetting. "It makes you think that, after all, your favorite notions may be wrong, your firmest beliefs ill-founded; it is certain that till now there was no place allotted in your mind to the new and startling inhabitant; and now that it has conquered an entrance, you do not at once see which of your old ideas it will not turn out, with which of them it can be reconciled, and with which it is an essential enmity."

It is not a bad idea to be on the lookout for these symptoms.

Ain't It a Grand and Glorious Feelin'

SAVING the PIECES

(Expressions from other publications appearing in this column are chosen for the information they give on subjects of interest; they do not necessarily reflect the editorial viewpoint of The Times.)

Official Forgiveness.

Why not be merciful and forgiving and let the old man come back to Texas without fear of prosecution, many will be tempted to ask when they read that a 78-year-old man living in Mexico under an assumed name, and who claims to have been a member of Sam Bass' gang that made the raid on Round Rock in the seventies, desires to spend his remaining days in his old home state. He has kept out of trouble all these years and has reared a respectable family. But District Attorney Harry Dolan of Williamson county declines to agree to dismiss the charge against the fugitive, and he is right about it. There is no statute of limitation in murder. If a murderer were caught after 100 years of evasion of the constabulary, the law would still demand that he be brought before the bar of justice. The district attorney is but following the law. There is yet another reason why at this particular time this aged exbandit of the pioneer days in Texas should not be made immune to prosecution. That is the bad moral effect it would have on the criminally inclined. The state is hard pressed in combating a wave of modern day banditry. Scarcely a day but that some bank is robbed. Hijacking on the highways, burglaries and robberies and hold-ups in the cities are distressingly frequent. The law cannot afford to encourage this sort of thing by granting immunity to one of the forerunners of this generation of outlaws. The law must be relentless in pursuit of the criminal. He must be given to understand that he will eventually pay for his offense. If the aged former follower of the notorious Sam Bass is now a good citizen he can serve Texas by staying right where he is, concealing his identity and atoning in obscurity for the misdeeds of his youth.—Houston Post-Dispatch.

What of the Cotton Acreage?

Cotton market quotations and comment make dry reading these days. With bulls and bears busily engaged in studying the weather, and receiving reports from the open country where even thus early preparations are being made for spring plowing, there's precious little opportunity or inclination for these gentlemen to go to the mat.

In the matter of cotton, both trading factions realize that the season of 1927 is past history; that it will have virtually no affect on the next crop. What from now on must play an increasingly important part in the making of new prices for a crop yet unplanted is the matter of acreage allocated to the staple. In so far as vital interest in the present market is concerned, vital interest is non-existent. What the Southern farmer will do in this matter of acreage in February, March and April is the uncertain factor. But, it seems greatly to be troubling no one.

Some cotton raised last year is still in the farmers' hands or in control of their agents—cotton that might have fetched 21 cents before the Bureau of Agricultural Economics started its unwarranted predictions. But that, too, is past history—history, however, that is difficult to recall without a sense of injury done to the cotton-growing states without cause. That injury cannot now be remedied except to the degree that congressional legislation, like this proposed by Congressman McDuffie of Alabama, may be passed to prevent future repetitions.

On Tuesday, Liverpool cables reported "hedging and continental liquidation in the market" with a generally bearish average of sentiment. Virtually the same conditions exist on this side the Atlantic. Spinners seem no more troubled than the planters—yet both the spinners and the farmers will be taking a deep interest in the progress of the plant before the henna-and-cream blossoms cover the olive-green leaves in June and July.

Already the Eastern market reviewers insist that the farmer probably will increase his acreage. It is the well-considered view of this newspaper that the Southern cotton planter, recalling the tragedy of the Autumn of 1926, will do nothing of the kind.—Birmingham News.

By the Way in Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut has the most gruesome appearing office on Capitol Hill.

His walls are covered with huge cartoons, some life-sized, showing Chinamen being tortured and put to death in all sorts of unfortunate ways.

Bingham picked them up while in China last summer. They are propaganda cartoons issued by Chinese nationalists and communists to illustrate their versions of what foreign imperialists were doing to the people. The tall and handsome senator from Connecticut says the style of the art is Russian rather than Chinese.

The largest cartoon, covering most of one side of Bingham's inner office, shows a Chinese being killed by a foreigner in uniform. Another shows a Chinese enwrapped by a serpent labeled "unequal treaties" and beset by a rat, a tiger, a wolf, an alligator and a wasp, representing other evils. In another, our own Uncle Sam is shown garroting China, whose head is caught tight by a closing door entitled "unequal treaties."

A gent in Prairie du Chien, Wis., thinks the house rules committee makes the baseball rules.

"Inform rules committee open the right way to count bases," he writes a Minnesota congressman. "You should investigate with congress and Mr. Calvin Coolidge to try to be sensible in national game baseball no base to count on fly ball, out on first base, three strikes is out—." And more of the same.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment professes to be liberal and tolerant and not pharisaic and intolerant like the Anti-Saloon league. It doesn't always live up to its professions, which may be a point for the league, because the league makes no such pretensions.

In a recent propaganda "news release" the association, with elaborate sarcasm, welcomed into high places in the dry ranks General Augustino Cesar Sandino of Nicaragua and Sultan Ibn Saud of Nejd.

"Such scum as this," it said in effect, "are the sort who join American prohibitionists to enforce prohibition on their people."

Leaving aside old Ibn Saud, who was at last accounts the best fighting man in Arabia, the association shunned the liberal viewpoint altogether. The liberal viewpoint is that Sandino, long since admitted by his enemies to be more than a bandit, is a foolishly brave patriot unfortunate enough to be opposed by U. S. marines. Furthermore, when two good fighting men like Ibn Saud and Sandino make their troops stay sober it would seem that the association might with good grace let that fact be ballyhooed by the league.

Having panned the association it is only fair now, in order to be quite impartial on the prohibition question, to turn around and pan the league. Sad to relate, nothing new presents itself unless it be the efforts of General Superintendent F. Scott McBride and his staff to persuade the civil service commission to make its very low standards for prohibition agents still lower so that the present jobholders may continue to hold on.

If the mental tests are made any easier, they will include questions like:

How much whiskey is there is a full quart bottle of whiskey; or

When arresting bootleggers should they be put in jail or in the postoffice?

The league now has two branches, the McBride wing which demands stiffer penalties, and the Ernest Cherrington wing which seeks to educate the public. Since the McBride wing is out to save jobs for present prohibition agents the suggestion is made gratis that Cherrington try to teach them to read and write.

DAILY HEALTH TALK

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

For many years it has been contended that the milk of the goat is superior to cow's milk as an infant's food. Some of the proponents have argued that the goat is less subject to tuberculosis than is the cow and that, for this reason, his milk would be safer.

On the other hand, there seems to be no essential chemical difference between the goat's milk and that of the cow, although the casein of goat's milk forms a more compact mass than does that of cow's milk. In proportion to its body weight, the goat produces about twice as much milk as does the cow.

Vitamin Content

In more recent years investigators of milk have concluded a study of the vitamin content as well as of the chemical factors. Some German investigators have found that raw milk from a goat fed with green food was almost entirely without vitamins. The goat tended to keep away from the sunlight and did not get good fresh fodder. The vitamin A content of goat's milk was much lower than that of the cow, and vitamin C was practically absent.

Furthermore, a Dutch investigator who has made a special study of the incidence of tuberculosis in the goat found the disease in 24 out of 500 goats that he examined.

It is reasonable to believe that if goats were herded together in stables as cow have been, tuberculosis would spread among them to about the same extent as it appears among the cows.

Fever

Finally, the goat suffers with one disease which is found less frequently among other animals; namely, malta fever or undulant fever. This disease seems to be spread by the drinking of goat's milk in regions where the disease is present.

Obviously, the handling of any food product by human beings may be associated with the spread of disease, unless sanitary precautions are constantly observed.

The Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

The greatest job in the world is keeping people away from busy men. There's a lot of girls and women that feel just about as important as they really, because they can tell anybody that calls that the boss is in conference.

Well, a doctor sometimes gets so busy that he's got to have somebody to shoo people off. He just can't stop in the middle of an operation, when maybe he's got some patient all cut open and a draft blowing into his gizzard, to go and see what makes the Snoozers baby stick out his tongue so much. So the office girls often get instructions to keep everybody away if they can.

There was a real faithful girl working for a doctor that had a great reputation for getting things out of people's throats and windpipes and lungs. One day a lady called up real excited and said her baby had swallowed a dial off a radio set, and would the doctor come right away and get it out of him.

The girl said, "Wait a minute," and went back to reading her novel a little while. Then she said, "Well, the doctor is going to be awful busy today, but maybe he can come around and get the dial out of the boy tomorrow."

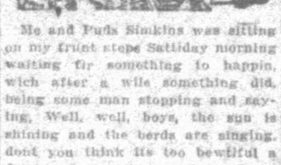

"Oh, it must be done today!" says the mother.

"Well, I'm afraid the doctor can't come, but if you feel that you can't get along without the dial tonight, why you can come up to our house and listen to that concert. We got an awful good set. And the doctor will surely come around tomorrow, and that will be in time for you to hear the operatic Friday night."

The longest telephone conversation ever telephone cable to the British Empire is now being constructed in Canada; it will connect Toronto and Buffalo, N. Y.

Makes Jules Verne a Piker

MIAMI, Fla.—Jules Verne's flight of imagination in a trip to the moon is completely eclipsed by an Ohio chemist and engineer who is planning a trip to Venus. Robert Condit, who hails from the town of the same name in the Buckeye state, is rather secretive about his plans. He has, however, announced that the trip would necessitate a maximum speed of 2100 miles a minute and that a most powerful explosive would be used to drive his craft through the 20 or 40 miles of atmosphere surrounding the earth. Condit is apparently well supplied with funds. He has build a sort of hangar here, at the surf's edge, for his headquarters. This is surrounded by a six-foot board fence to preclude all chance observations.

Your Boy and Your Girl

By ARTHUR DEAN, M. C. D.
The Parent Counsellor

Dr. Dean will answer all signed letters pertaining to parents' problems with their boys and girls. Writers' names are never printed. Only questions of general interest answered in the column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Address Arthur Dean, in care of this paper.

Flowers and Bricks

A reader of this department ascends the rostrum today and says:

"I liked immensely the straight hitting you did at the present nonsensational talk about companionate, trial and free love stuff that's floating over the country and being devoured by our young people. Please put on the gloves again."

Well, I am glad to accommodate, at least to the extent of suggesting today that in hitting from the shoulder at an evil, whether the blow come from pulpit or press one needs something more than punitive statements. To be effective the so-called blows of denunciation should be directly followed up with suggestions of how to combat this, or any, nuisance.

To denounce is seldom sufficient. To substitute another and better idea and to get youth to understanding a better idea, and to compare it with the first idea, appeals to intelligence and to fair play.

To pastors the suggestion is made that the church could do no greater service than to organize ten lectures on "Wholesome Marriages." As a text I suggest a book written by Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Groves. It takes up courtship, the honeymoon, the wise beginning, the family purse, relatives, and last, but not least, the child.

Bricks

All wrapped up in envelopes some bricks came with the bouquets in response to my article.

Why not? Surely one wouldn't be expected to sit down and let anyone get away with murder just because millions of people who are happily married happen to be inarticulate and have no opportunity to put their thoughts in print. Youth needs the clean side to a slate on which he can do a little figuring for himself. Let's furnish some slates.

The above mentioned book has a vanilla flavor. Evidently as a devoted fan of companionates you, my correspondent, want something with a ginger kick. I suggest that you read Count Hermann Keyserling.

To college presidents the suggestion is made that adult educational institutions should offer a course in that most important institution of human relationship—marriage. One of the few places in which it can be properly studied is in colleges and universities. In such a study marriage should be considered physiologically, sociologically, psychologically and with respect to its profound spiritual implications.

Why not bureaus of matrimonial counsel in churches and colleges? Youth has shifted its center of gravity from belief to understanding. Youth wants reasons for everything instead of accepting conventions.

All right. The challenge of youth is accepted. And I call upon the readers of this column to give their reasons why companionate marriage is or is not desirable. I shall have something to say about it later. Meantime here is a fine opportunity for some mental gymnastics. Let's see how straight we can think.

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER

Several Varieties of Helens

Since my grammar school days I have been very fond of a certain girl, Helen, by name. For four years Helen has been my steady girl companion and for four years I've been told that it is foolish for a youth of my age to go with one girl. What is your opinion?

—RALPH B.

Answer: The advice you have received is good. Both Helen and you will benefit by a wise circle of friends. If when you and Helen are older, your regard for each other has survived you will find each other again as surely as water seeks its level.

Child Rabbis

Clip this and underscore answer which fits your case. The mail with self-addressed, stamped, return envelope to Dr. Arthur Dean, in care of this newspaper if you care for my helpets on these problems of childhood.

My youngster lies in order to avoid punishment. No, Yes.

Does your child take change from your pocketbook? Yes, No.

Have you instructed your child in safety rules? Yes, No.

Do you fear having a person praise your child because it may make the child act disagreeably? Yes, No.

Putting In or Going Out

Shall I sneak out of the house nights even if it hurts my pride and sense of honesty, and take the consequences if I am caught? Dad spends hours telling me the things that may happen to me if I go out of his sight. I can't believe he is right and I long for the companionship of friends my age. Please answer in the column and I will see that dad reads it providing it is in my favor.

—SEVENTEEN.

Answer: No good can come from deceiving your parents. Your parents should make your home an interesting place to be. You should be permitted to entertain boys and girls in your home. Mutual confidence must be developed between dad and daughter. Then your problem will disappear.

Lally In Front.

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 7. (AP)—The Texas open golf title threatened to fall into the hands of a native son for the first time in the five years in which the tournament has been held.

Tom Lally of San Antonio led the field at the beginning of Tuesday's final 36 holes with an aggregate of 144, five strokes better than any nearest out-of-state competitor, and one stroke better than Harry Cooper of Buffalo, N. Y., who left Texas, where he learned his golf, two years ago.

Cooper forged into second place by shooting the best 18 holes for the tournament for a 70, one under par. Bobby Cruickshank of Purchase, N. Y., and Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., were in the best position to overtake the two Texans with aggregates of 149 each and Tommy Armour of Washington, D. C., national open champion and Bill Mehlhorn of Pittsburgh were still dangerous contenders with a brace of 150's.

Sunshine late Monday and a clear sky Monday night gave promise of the best golf weather since the tournament started and several sub-par rounds Tuesday were expected to result. Monday the fairways were so soft that mud clung to the balls and sent many shots out of line.

The field was reduced to 65 players, all who scored 166 or better qualifying for Tuesday's play. Eighteen holes were to be played Tuesday morning and another 18 Tuesday afternoon.

Winners will receive $6,000 in prize money, the lowest score for the 72 holes winning $1,500.

BURKBURNETT FOOTBALL MEN NAME TWO LEADERS

BURKBURNETT, Feb. 7.—Hammett Vance, hard hitting center, and Babe Green, popular quarterback, were the two men elected to carry the field duties of the Burkburnett High school football team next year in the role of co-captains.

In the chapel period Monday morning 17 sweaters were given out to the lettermen. The sweaters were presented to the players by the business men of Burkburnett. The 17 men who lettered this year and received sweaters were Captain Willie Griffin, Hammett Vance, Babe Green, Harvey Moore, Gerald Goodwin, Jessie Merritt, Jude Willingham, Loy Woods, John Gibbart, Carlton Gibson, Elbert Burkner, Hugh Williams, Jocky Jarrell, John Smith, Lee Roy Eddy and Coach J. M. Johnson. York received a reserve letter. Lee Roy Eddy was the student manager of the team who carried on the work for the year with the boys as club doctor and was one very worthy of his letter and sweater.

Nelson, Fry, Hogue and Wilburn were presented with silver footballs for their work all year with the team, even though they failed to play in enough quarters to letter.

The players will be guests at a banquet Tuesday night that will ring down the final curtain on the 1927 Burkburnett High school football team.

Ketonen Beats Mantell After Losing Opener

Finn Wards Off Dutchman's Attack After First Fa and Takes Match Handily

By LOUIS T. HAMLETT

Waino Kentonen, 154 pounds, lost the first fall to Dutch Mantel, 147 pounds in 30 seconds at the Gym Monday night and then came back to win two straight falls and the match.

When the two wrestlers met in the center of the ring at the opening of festivities, they feinted and danced about a bit. Then Dutch shot a hard blow to the Adam's apple, followed by a hard-driven rabbit punch and Waino went down for the count.

On the return fall Waino kept Dutch on the mat and prevented the Amarillo pride from using his slugging and kicking tactics. Waino succeeded in tying Dutch in a knot with both shoulders on the mat in 13 minutes.

Unsolved Mystery

It was after this fall that ringside patrons found a stray tooth on the canvas. It was never identified and no one is quite sure which of the four wrestlers who participated in the preliminary and main events lost the molar.

Waino took the third fall and match in nine minutes when he made Dutch concede the fall with a Boston split. In trying to break this hold Mantell socked Waino in the nose and that organ was bleeding profusely when the final curtain was rung down.

It was announced at the beginning of the match that nothing was barred and the match was plenty rough. Waino used his head and demonstrated a real knowledge of wrestling science and the Dutchman's vicious attack for once proved futile.

The Coppers Again

In a three-cornered preliminary between the two principals and Referee Bloody Luck the fans were given a treat in the form of police interference.

Lee Meyers of Houston took the first fall in 15 minutes with a headlock from Jack Larry of Portland, Ore. Meyers and the referee mixed it several times during this fall.

After the next fall had progressed a few minutes Lusk did something which infuriated Meyers and the two went together. Meyers had the referee suffering with a hammerlock when Traffic Officer Flinikin came through the ropes to the rescue. The copper threatened to take Meyers to jail, but was soothed by Promoter Alex Ross and the gladiators were allowed to resume the festivities.

Meyers took the second fall and match in six minutes with a toe hold.

AFTER THE SECOND TUNNEY BATTLE

Last Half Cage Race Opens Tuesday Night

Landon-Hill-Electrics Clash in First Games, With College and Guards in Second and Conocos-Draughon in Final.

Even before the first half championship is definitely settled, commercial league basket ball teams swing into action Tuesday night at the junior college in the start of second half hostilities.

Wednesday evening the titular honors for the first half will be decided when Landon-Hill company-Texas Electric Service company and Continental Oil company quintets clash. These two teams tied for first half honors. The Wednesday night program looms as one of the most interesting cage entertainments in years, the girls' league first half title also hinging on the outcome of a playoff contest between P. B. M.-Whippets and Texas Electric Service company clubs.

The big event of Tuesday night's commercial league second half start is the opening game between the high clothiers and L-H-Electrics, two teams in the thick of the first half scrap. The clothiers handed the L-H-E crew its only licking of the first half, and the losers of that game may well be expected to be out for revenge Tuesday night. The opening game starts at 7 o'clock.

National guards and Wichita Falls junior college are scheduled in the second game, with Continental Oil company and Draughon Business college in the finale.

Helen Wills to Start Jaunt to Europe in March

Queen of Courts to Compete in Wightman Cup and Wimbledon Net Competitions

BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 7 (AP)—Helen Wills Tuesday made known her plans for further conquests in the tennis world. She announced that she would forego a trip to Hawaii to appear in the Honolulu championships in order to depart early this spring for Europe.

Miss Wills said she would leave here in March in order to have at least two weeks practice in Europe before she plays in team matches which the United States Lawn Tennis association is arranging to Holland, Germany and France.

She also will play in the Wightman cup matches for the American team and she will enter the Wimbledon championships. She has reached no decision about participation in the French championships but May do so, since the date for this event has been changed to May 22. The Wimbledon play is set for June 25.

Miss Wills said she had declined to play in the Riviera tournament as she did not want too much play in Europe prior to the American team matches.

AGGIES START SPRING PRACTICE NEXT MONTH

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Feb. 7. (AP)—At least 75 gridiron aspirants are expected to turn out for spring football practice which is to open here March 12 for Texas A. & M. college.

Training will continue for six weeks and Coaches Dana X. Bible and "Chuck" Bassett will devote their major preliminary efforts to the development of a line to supplant the one of the 1927 championship team which will be depleted by graduations.

Veterans of 1927 who will be lost to this year's team are Hunt, Sikes, Mosher, Deffebach, Elgart, Holmes, Eprott, Rektorik, Wylie and Lister.

SOUTHERN SCHOOLS GET GRID WORK UNDER WAY

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 7. (AP)—Spring training in Southern conference football has started in earnest practically all of the 22 member institutions either already having their candidates down at hard work, chasing punts and passes or planning to get them started early this week.

For Alabama and Louisiana State the drills have been on two weeks while at North Carolina the blue and white hopefuls have been drilling almost as long and have been going through fully 60 minute practice sessions.

The University of Mississippi is another already started. Coach Homer Hazel has five first string men of 1927 to replace and is hopeful that the spring work will give a line on who their stars will be.

McEver, McTeer, Devine, Blair and others have been showing up well at the University of Tennessee. Tulane gets started today. Thirteen letter men will participate in the workouts for the next six weeks.

Some 50 men are working out at Lexington in an effort to impress Coach Harry Gamage of the University of Kentucky.

Georgia Tech, Vanderbilt and Georgia have been a little slow in warming up but will get in line in earnest this week. Indications are now that the Golden Tornado will have all of its 1927 championship contending team back with the exception of Crowley, Hood and one or two other linemen.

In Virginia the four conference members are preparing for intensive drill while the same is true at Mississippi A. & M., Clemson and Sewanee.

RURAL TOURNEY SLATED SATURDAY AT HENRIETTA

HENRIETTA, Texas, Feb. 7.—Basket ball and volley championships for rural schools of Clay county will be decided in tournaments to be held at Henrietta High school Saturday. The contests were to have been held last Saturday, but were postponed because of bad weather. Schools expected to be represented are Doss, Joy, Charlie Byers, Petrolia, Shannon and Bellevue.

NOBODY KNOWS SCORE BUT DAVIDSON TEAM WINS CHECKER MATCH

Davidson, Okla., checker players defeated a team representing the Wichita Falls Checker club here in a two-day meet Saturday and Sunday. It was learned Monday.

Wichita Falls players declared some mixup in the scoring prevented an accurate tally, but that Davidson won the match by a close count was conceded.

The two teams are negotiating for a return match to be played in the Oklahoma town this weekend, it was announced.

Wichita Falls Teams Lose Two Games at Burk

Grandfield Girls Defeat P. B. M.-Whippets and Sooner Boys Whip Hub Clothiers

Grandfield, Okla., won two games Monday night at the Burkburnett High school gym, when the Grandfield girls defeated the P. B. M.-Whippets of Wichita Falls by the score of 15 to 6. The Grandfield boys beat Hub clothiers of Wichita Falls by the score of 28 to 22.

The first game of the night was a fast game from start to finish with Opal Parker the outstanding player. This young lady looped a total of five field goals from the court to score two-thirds of the Grandfield points. L. Parker scored a pair of field goals.

Walker led the scoring for the Wichita Falls girls with a field goal and a free pitch.

Hasty, center for Grandfield, received a broken collar bone in a fall after colliding with one of the Wichita Falls girls. The game was unusually fast and filled with brilliant playing.

In the nightcap the two teams battled along on about even terms with the Wichita Falls team making a slight spurt in the third quarter to take the lead, but the Sooners came back in the final period to beat them out.

FOR FIRST TIME IN HIS LONG CAREER FORMER CHAMP ADMITS HE IS NOT IN TOP CONDITION

By HENRY L. FARRELL
NEA Service Sports Writer.

Jack Dempsey is definitely out of Tex Rickard's summer fighting program. The colorful former champion, who sent the world into hysterics with his seventh-round rally in Chicago last summer, is through for the summer and may never fight again.

Twenty-four hours before Tex Rickard announced that Dempsey could not be in one of his summer spectacles the writer received an answer to a telegram sent to Dempsey:

"Left eye muscle a little weak and may never box again."

Tunney Hurt Eyes.

Anyone who has known Dempsey for years, as the writer has known him, realized from that message that Dempsey was through. He never minimized his frailties before. He always was "in the pink and ready to go."

His eyes, his friends know, have been bad for a long time. The eyes and cheek bones were abused in the Tunney fights and his eye lids were cut open by sparring partners before several of his big bouts.

We never thought that Dempsey would become a down-and-outer fighter because he has too much money put away, and one day, sitting on the back porch of his cottage in Great Falls where he was training for the Gibbons fight, he said:

Sound Advice.

"Listen, I'm never going to get punched goofy. I'll know when it's time to quit and I'm going to quit then."

Rickard may not have given out the real reason why Dempsey suddenly decided to pass up a half-million. Mrs. Dempsey knows and she's been after him for years to quit. He's got enough money and he has earned glory and fame.

Before the last fight with Tunney, old Bill Muldoon, senior member of the New York Boxing Commission, advised Dempsey to hang up the gloves.

"Live to be old and healthy like Corbett," Muldoon said, and Dempsey apparently has decided to do it.

FROG PASSERS HOPE TO RETRIEVE LOST GROUND

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 7.—Although a bit discouraged over their second loss to S. M. U. Mustangs and their consequent fall into the Southwest conference cellar again, the T. C. U. Horned Frogs started work this week determined to hang up an uninterrupted string of victories in their remaining six games.

With only one victory and five losses chalked up so far, the Frogs still have a fighting chance to finish the season with a better than .500 percentage. They still have some hard jumps to take, playing Texas A. & M. and Baylor one game each and meeting Texas university and Rice Institute in two-game series.

The Frogs have downed the Aggies once this season, but were beaten by the Baylor Bears. Texas university seems to have a fast combination, but the Longhorns were downed more decisively by opponents that also beat T. C. U. However, the Longhorns overwhelmed the Texas Aggies, a team the Frogs barely defeated, and also whipped the Baylor Bears.

The Frogs go to College Station Saturday to clash with the Aggies. They will journey from there to Houston to tangle with the Rice Owls on Monday night. Their next home game will be with Texas university, February 20.

MUSTANGS AND PORKERS IN BIG GAMES THIS WEEK

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 7. (AP) Southwest conference titular aspirations of the two outstanding basket ball contenders will come into conflict here this weekend when the undefeated Arkansas university and Southern Methodist university quintets meet in a two-game series. Both teams have reached the halfway mark of their schedules undefeated and each boasts of six victories.

Coach Francis Schmidt's twice consecutive conference champion Razorbacks will be making their final appearance of the season before a home assembly.

The Mustangs will come to Fayetteville heralded as one of the foremost Southwest cage squads and are rated as on a par with the combination Schmidt has built here.

MONTAGUE COUNTY EVENT SCHEDULED FOR NOCONA

NOCONA, Texas, Feb. 7.—The Montague county basketball tournament will be held here Friday and Saturday, with 25 teams in the different branches of competition.

Bowie, Montague, St Jo Hardy, Ringgold, Spanish Fort, Valley View, Bonita and Nocona will all have something like an equal chance to carry off high honors, although Bowie, Montague, Nocona, St. Jo, Ringgold and Hardy seem to be putting in the strongest bids. Lone Star, Bowie, Nocona and Montague offer best chance for the girls championship.

The tournament will begin Friday morning at 10 o'clock and will be continuous throughout two days. It will take something like 40 games to eliminate all teams in each division.

Genaro Defeats Frenchman for N. B. A.'s Title

Veteran New Yorker Takes Six of Ten Rounds and Decision In Bout at Toronto

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 7. (AP)—The National Boxing association's world flyweight crown rested Tuesday on the brow of Frankie Genaro of New York.

Genaro won the title by scoring a decision victory over Frenchy Belanger in a 10-round bout here Monday night. Belanger captured the N. B. A. championship two months ago and defended it successfully recently when he won a decision over the man who dethroned him.

Genaro was not be beaten Monday night. Belanger put up a gallant but futile battle to retain the diadem. He found the New Yorker's defense hard to pierce and toward the end he himself realized that his only chance to win lay in putting over a finishing blow.

Genaro led from the start. For the most part he depended upon his superior boxing ability to give him the edge but at times he flung caution to the winds and slugged away, toe to toe, with his Canadian foe. Belanger's left eye was badly swollen early in the fight and Genaro opened a cut over the other soon afterwards. At close quarters, where Belanger had been figured to score heavily, Genaro's superlative boxing ability and long experience frustrated Frenchy at every turn. The champion was dangerous until the end but Genaro's defense left him no opportunity to put across a knockout punch.

Newspaper men at the ringside credited Genaro with winning six rounds, gave the champion two and called two even.

Ten thousand fans were kept in a continual uproar by the exciting battle.

Genaro weighed in at the flyweight limit, 112 pounds; Belanger scaled 110½.

NORTH CAROLINA GOLFER TAKES MEDALIST HONORS

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Feb. 7. (AP) B. S. Colbun, of the Biltmore Forest, N. C., Country club, stroked himself to medalist's position with a 77 in the annual Ormond Beach championship golf tournament here Monday, while John D. Rockefeller paused from his regular round to observe the play.

Colbun's card was closely followed by A. Badwin, Baltusrol, with a 78, while J. R. Gormley of Ormond Beach was third with 79.

Mr. Rockefeller plays his customary six holes a day on the course and Monday stopped several times in his play to watch progress of the qualifiers.

DECATUR BAPTISTS WIN OVER BURLESON QUINTET

DECATUR, Texas, Feb. 7.—Decatur Baptist college defeated Burleson college here Monday night, 43 to 31. This was Burleson's first loss in the conference, having won four games. Decatur took an early lead, which could not be overcome by the visitors, the half ending 20 to 18. Christian played a brilliant game for the locals, netting 14 points. Louis of Decatur and Mills of Burleson tied for second honors with 11 each. The same teams play again Tuesday night.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Introducing New Texas Leaguers

By CHARLES J. FOREMAN

RUSH A. YEARGIN, Shortstop, Beaumont

Born, Greenville, S. C., February 16, 1907.
Height, 5 feet 11 inches. Weight, 160 pounds.
Bats right-handed. Throws right-handed.
First engagement—Alexandria, Cotton States league, 1927.
1927 record—Games, 112; at bat, 404; runs, 66; hits, 121; two-base hits, 17; three-base hits, 7; home run, 1; stolen bases, 8; Pct. .300. Putouts, 194; assists, 299; errors, 28; fielding average, .928.

Yeargin was in training camp with Wilkes-Barre, New York-Pennsylvania league, in spring of 1926, but was released.

(Copyright, 1928)

The Amarillo club of the Western league caused a ripple on the baseball sea the other day when it was announced from the Panhandle city that an offer of $15,500 for the season was made to Tris Speaker. Since then Speaker has cast his lot with Connie Mack's Athletics. Possibly, the Amarillo ownership, though it surely realized there was little chance to get Speaker at that figure, drew a breath of relief when Tris went elsewhere. Babe Ruth is just about the only one of all ball players worth $15,000 to a Western league club. Certainly, no player is worth that much in the winning of ball games and Ruth is the only one whose ability to attract the customers would warrant such an outlay.

The Atlanta club of the Southern association claims to have made an offer of $25,000 to Ty Cobb to play ball for the Crackers this season. Cobb probably would be worth it to Atlanta, but to no other class A club in the country. The Peach is somewhat of an idol in the state of Georgia, and Atlanta is of sufficient population that the clubowners could realize a profit on Cobb's services even at such high figures.

By the same token, Speaker would be worth more to a Texas club than any other class A outfit, for "Gray Eagle" is a native son and a greater hero in the Lone Star state than elsewhere. But we don't believe Speaker would be worth $15,000 to any Texas league club, though he would be a mighty drawing card at Houston, where he made his start.

Frank Newhouse of Denver, former Texas league umpire, says he chased Speaker from the first game he umpired in the Texas league. A raw rookie with the Buffs, Newhouse put Speaker out of a game at Houston and the ejection carried with it an automatic fine of $5. Speaker at the time declared he would quit baseball if he had to pay the fine. Newhouse next saw Speaker after he had gone to Boston and had become one of the greatest stars. Speaker declared they took away from $100 to $200 at each crack up there, but he wasn't figuring on quitting for awhile.

A native son, Tom Lalis, is leading the field in the Texas open tournament at San Antonio for the first half of the 72 holes of championship play. The Texas open is one of the big events of the winter season—it is the second biggest money tournament on the calendar, the Los Angeles open alone offering the pros more cash. Texas golfers have never cut such a big figure in national competition. The fact of the business is that George Rotan of Houston is the one and only Texas golfer to achieve nationwide fame.

Rotan a few years ago received appointment to the Walker cup team and held his own in the international competition. But no Texas pro and no other amateur has figured in the really big doings of golf. Harry Cooper might be termed a Texas product, for he learned most of his golf on Dallas courses, but he is not a native son and he left the state just about the time he reached the top-notch class.

Among the young amateurs of the last four or five years who threatened to get somewhere, not one has progressed very far up the golf ladder. There were a half-dozen youngsters five years ago who gave promise of reaching the heights. Tommy Cochran and Dudley Golding of Wichita Falls; Jack Tarrant, Lamar Snelligson and Frank Lewis Jr. of San Antonio; Hap Massingil of Fort Worth; Clarence Hubby of Waco and Ossie Carlton of Houston all were comparative new-comers in Texas golf and they came up in a bunch over a stretch of just a year or two and all but crowded out the old guard of Jacoby, Dexter, Rotan, Herd, Lewis Sr. and others who had held sway for years. But of all that crop, not one seems to be a better golfer than five years ago. For the most of them, they have gone back instead of forward. Some have let business interfere with their golf and at least one has turned professional. Tarrant is a pro on the Pacific coast, but he has caused hardly a ripple in the big tournaments.

Wichita Falls last week claimed its first feminine member of the hole-in-one club when Mrs. F. C. Rochon sank her 165-yard tee shot on No. 11 at the Weeks Park club. Wichita Falls golfers have wondered if Mrs. Rochon's feat was the first hole-in-one for a Texas woman. We are informed that two women in San Antonio have sunk their tee shots in recent years and it is quite likely that nearly all of the big clubs of the state boast one or more feminine members of the elite club.

BURKBURNETT PLANS TWO GAMES BEFORE TOURNEY

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Feb. 7.—The Burkburnett High school basket ball team has plans for two more games before the county basket ball tournament at Electra, February 17 and 18, and will then be ready to go into the tournament with hopes of winning. The team will play Harrold at Burkburnett Friday night and will then tangle with Devol in the near future. Devol is the old team coached by Johnson last year, and he desires to sink his former team this year.

It has been rumored that Othel Hogue, forward, will quit school. The report has caused some worry in the Bulldog camp, for Hogue and Captain Howard Blair had just hit their pace when this news came out. John Holmes at center has continued to be the same smooth pasing and floor worker that he has been all year, and with Hogue and Blair going at top speed this will be an offense that will be hard to stop.

Harvey Moore, Hugh Williams, Lou Woods and Alex Harrington are the men Coach Johnson has to select his two guards from. In case Hogue is lost to the team Harrington is likely to be switched to forward. Herman Brown looms right now as a very neat substitute for John Holmes in case anything should happen to the first string center.

BOARD TO CONSIDER SCHOOL CONGESTION NEXT REGULAR MEET

The problem of crowded conditions in the public schools of Wichita Falls will be discussed and plans for its solution advanced at the next meeting of the board of education, it was decided Monday evening at the regular meeting of the board.

Superintendent J. W. Cantwell was instructed to be prepared with a report of the conditions now existing and it was specified that the entire meeting will be devoted to the discussion of possible solutions.

The need of relief in some of the schools has been greater than ever since the influx of new pupils at the beginning of the second semester in January, and in the college and high school especially, where the maximum capacity of the school is stretched far above the number that was intended when the building was erected, there is great need of immediate action.

All of the board were present and routine business matters were disposed of, in order to leave the next meeting entirely free for the discussion of the building problem.

Prince Visitor Knocks at Door Houses of Poor

LONDON, Feb. 7. (AP)—The Daily Mail says the Prince of Wales as a landlord, yesterday visited the districts of south London which were stricken by the recent flood.

Motoring there, he parked his car outside a small shop and spent two hours walking about the streets inspecting the damage done by the flood and visiting and sympathizing with those who suffered from it.

The prince's visits were informal. Householders answering a knock on their doors were surprised to find their royal landlord waiting on the doorstep.

PRESIDENT DISHES OUT SOME MORE FREE "EATS"

Those present were Moses of New Hampshire, Norbeck of South Dakota, Nye of North Dakota, Oddie of Nevada, Phipps of Colorado, Pine of Oklahoma, Reed of Pennsylvania, Robinson of Indiana and Sackett of Kentucky, all Republicans, and Neely of West Virginia, Overman of North Carolina, Ransdell of Louisiana and Robinson of Arkansas, Democrats.

RADIO IS BETTER WITH BATTERY POWER

This is the patented Eveready Layerbilt, the unique "B" battery that contains no waste spaces or materials between the cells. No other battery is made like it.

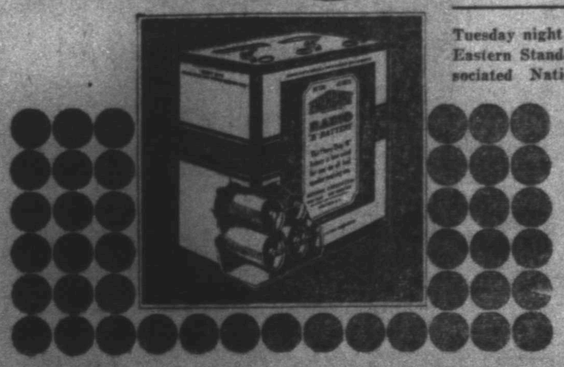

This battery puts the holes to work

THE illustration above shows how the Eveready Layerbilt "B" Battery is made—built up of flat dry cells packed closely together in layers. The ordinary dry-cell "B" battery is composed of cylindrical cells with much waste space between the cells. Eveready "B" Batteries have always been famous for their long service, but the Eveready Layerbilt is the longest lasting of all Eveready because we have put the holes to work, getting more electricity out of a given quantity of materials than cylindrical cells can possibly produce. That means that they last longer in actual radio use.

The Eveready Layerbilt is a patented, exclusive Eveready Battery. No other battery is made like it. It supplies pure Direct Current, always steady and uniform. It enables any radio set to operate without noisy or distortion and free from hum. For long life, for convenience and the satisfaction that Battery Power gives, insist on getting Eveready Layerbilt "B" Battery No. 486.

MR. FRISBY COMES OUT AGAINST DOCKING HORSES' TAILS

Above picture shows Congressman's free clinic, where he docks farm horses' tails free for the poor. His anti-docking bill is aimed only at "dudes" and "smart alecks" who dock horses' tails for appearances.

By Congressman Frisby.

WASHINGTON—So long as there are horse flies I will fight against docking horses' tails, without fear or favor.

This does not mean I will oppose docking farmers' horses' tails, as it gives the horses a natty appearance.

Besides, if we do not dock horses' tails there will be a shortage of horse hair, which will increase the cost of horse hair watch chains to the masses.

What a muddle an alienist would be in if he didn't know whether he was being paid by the prosecution or the defense.

Defense Attorney—Tell me, Professor, what first convinced you that the defendant was suffering from dementia praecox?

Alienist—I noticed a mole on his ear.

Cross-Examination.

Prosecutor—But, professor, is it not a fact that you have a mole on your own ear?

Alienist—Yes, sir. That's what led me to the conclusion that the defendant was crazy, too.

CURB MARKET QUOTATIONS

Sales of stocks 646,000 shares. Sales of bonds $3,952,000.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Bullish demonstrations forced many stocks up over a wide range in the early trading on the curb market today and for a time the tone was extremely strong. Attention which has been attracted to the money situation by the attitude of the federal reserve banks started liquidation just when the market was at its highest levels and the speculative demand was so quickly filled as to cause general unsettlement in the later trading. Many of the early gains were turned into losses before midday and there was steady increase in offerings even in stocks that had not shared in the early advances.

During the short period of strength Bancitaly advanced more than 9 points, Safeway Stores rose 14 points and Trumbell Steel preferred had an advance of 8 points. Tubize followed with a gain of 4 points, Deere & Co. was up 6 points and Ford Motor of Canada advanced 10 points. Newmont Mining rose over 2 points but quickly lost that gain. Many of the less important stocks made gains of a point or more during the first few minutes. U. S. Gypsum, which recently had been weak, rallied 2 points.

Utilities also showed strength for a time. Electric Bond & Share moved up over a point and Electric Investors made a fractional gain, but those and other stocks joined in the downward movement which started before the end of the first hour. St. Paul continued in demand, advances being made in both in the common and preferred stocks, chiefly because of the progress of the establishment of the new company in a strong financial position by the payments of assessments in a large volume Feb. 1.

Petroleum stocks were irregular. Vacuum advanced 3 points, followed by a reaction and Prairie Pipe line was strong at the start. These issues were in supply at the last half of the day.

COTTON PRICE FIRM WITH SLIGHT GAINS IN EARLY DEALINGS

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Price advances in the cotton market today on reports of a steadier spot situation and complaints of continued dry weather in West Texas, were not fully sustained, but setbacks seemed to bring in covering and trade buying. The midafternoon market was quiet and about steady, with active months 7 to 12 points net higher.

The market opened firm today, at an advance of 15 to 20 points in response to relatively firm Liverpool cables, and failure of early weather news to show any break in the Texas drought. There was rather active covering, together with some trade and Liverpool buying but demand tapered off after industrial orders had been supplied and prices later eased off several points from the best under Southern selling.

May contracts reacted from 17.75 to 17.63, the general market showing points, at the end of the first hour, ing net advances of about 2 to 10.

Private cables attributed the firmness in Liverpool to trade calling and covering, with local and continental buying, but said buyers of cotton cloths were still holding off and that yarns were freely offered.

The market steadied later. There appeared to be comparatively little for sale after the absorption of early offerings, while there was trade buying of March and commission house buying of early new crop months, presumably on the complaints of continued drought in West Texas. In some cases early sellers appeared to be covering on the rally which carried March up to 17.59 of 21 points net higher, and October to 17.54 or about 13 points above yesterday's closing quotation. Trading was quiet but the midday market was within a point or two of the best.

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 7. (AP)—The cotton market was on the upgrade during most of today's session and prices advanced approximately $1.25 a bale over the previous close. The absence of rain in the drought section of the Western belt, official forecasts for fair and colder weather there and good Liverpool cables were responsible for the advance which carried March to 17.47, May 17.45 and July 17.48, or 24 to 26 points net up.

At midafternoon prices had lost 12 to 17 points on hedge selling. Exports 29,493 bales.

Firmer Liverpool cables and continued absence of rain in the drought section of the western belt were responsible for an early advance of nearly $1 a bale in the cotton market today.

First trades showed gains of 15 to 16 points in sympathy with the higher English market and prices continued to advance on buying stimulated by the drought until March reached 17.46, May 17.39 and July 17.43, or 18 to 19 points above the previous close. The advance attracted a little realizing and prices eased off 6 to 8 points, but the undertone remained steady.

Prices rallied later on the official forecast for fair and colder weather in the West and on a private report indicating a smaller increase in acreage than had been expected. March traded up to 17.43, May 17.42 and July 17.45, or 21 to 22 points above the previous close. At noon the market held steady at or near the highs.

Cotton futures closed steady at a net advance of 4 to 11 points.

RAIN AND LIGHT SNOW REPORTED IN PANHANDLE

AMARILLO, Feb. 7. (AP)—More showers and light snow were reported from many sections of the Panhandle today. The moisture is expected to benefit the wheat crop.

CORN MARKET IS STRONGER RESULT EXPORT BUSINESS

CHICAGO, Feb. 7. (AP)—Corn export business today at the highest basis this season helped give all around strength to grain values today. Corn exporters at the Gulf of Mexico paid 7½ cents a bushel over the price of Chicago May delivery. Some corn for export was also disposed of here to eastern handlers.

In the corn market today, indications of continued active export demand did a good deal at times to encourage speculative buyers of future deliveries. In this connection estimates were current that Europe must buy at least 40,000,000 bushels of United States corn between now and the last of June.

Although wheat at first showed an upward trend here today, the market afterward became irregular. Opening firmness was ascribed to an unlooked for upturn in Liverpool quotations, but selling here on the part of northwestern interests led to a reaction.

Grain Pit Notes

CHICAGO, Feb. 7. (AP)—Close observations of the corn market conditions say a good part of the buying of futures of late has been by bull leaders here. They have received but little help from the outside. Technically, they regard the market as in a position to work lower, although the underlying situation is strong, and likely to become stronger with a few weeks.

Corn may be selling for $1.10 to 1.25 per bushel late in the spring, according to gossip current today. The movement of cash corn to terminals is expected to fall off before the end of the month and a material enlargement of speculative interest is expected with higher prices probable.

Sugar and Coffee

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—The raw sugar market was quiet early today but offerings of duty free sugars seemed to be a little more liberal and at prices slightly lower than those last paid or on the basis of 4.27 delivered. Buying interest was limited and no sales came to light.

Raw sugar futures opened steady and unchanged to 1 point higher on covering and some buying by houses with European connections. Demand was not very aggressive and the increased offerings in the spot market seemed to restrict trading to some extent. Reactions followed under liquidation and trade selling with prices at midday net unchanged to one point lower.

There were no changes in refined sugar prices which are quoted at $5.70 for fine granulated with only a small inquiry reported.

Bond Market

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Narrow price changes took place in the bond market today and transactions again were relatively small in volume. The advance yesterday in the Minneapolis Federal Reserve rediscount rate gave traders a new reason for limiting their commitments as it is regarded as only a matter of weeks before the new rate of 4 per cent will be universal in the Federal Reserve system.

Further weakness attacked Pathe Exchange 7s, with warrants, the price dropping 5½ points, making an aggregate two-day loss of 11. Seaboard bonds also continued to drift downward.

A few of the New York Traction liens were again in moderate demand, especially Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit 6s. New York Central & Hudson River 5s advanced fractionally, but most of the leading railway mortgages were slow in getting started.

A few government obligations displayed easing tendencies around noon, but trading was light. Profit-taking in the French group, which followed a firm trend yesterday, was the outstanding development in the foreign division. The city of Havana, Cuba is seeking a $7,000,000 loan in this market for the purpose of extending its boulevard system. Rumors of a Polish railway loan of $100,000,000 were discredited by New York bankers credited with participation in negotiations.

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 7. (AP)—Louis Heuermann, 55, city auditor since the first election of the late John Tobin as mayor, died Tuesday morning at his home here after several years of ill health. The immediate cause of death was heart disease.

Mr. Heuermann was street commissioner for two terms.

TEST BIG MONOPLANE FORT WORTH AIRPORT

FORT WORTH, Feb. 7. (AP)—Flight to test the big monoplane in which Al Henley and Joe Hart, Oklahoma aviators are planning to set a new world's endurance record was planned for this afternoon at municipal airport here.

The big ship will be loaded with sand bags in weight to the gasoline capacity of the plane. All instruments and take-off time will be checked by experts. The fliers hope to have everything in readiness to begin the flight tomorrow or Thursday.

Barograph Furnished

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—The National Aeronautic association today sent a barograph to aviators W. W. Henley and Joseph L. Hart at Fort Worth, Texas, to be used in their attempt to break the world duration flight record.

Other fliers who have recording instruments and who soon will make attempts to set new records are James L. Giffin and L. L. Lewis at Wichita, Kan., and Charles Rocheville and Thomas J. Reid at Imperial, Calif.

Around Town

Otto Liepold of Cincinnati, Ohio, is in the city visiting his brother, Eugene Liepold, for several days.

Joe McMakin has returned from Fort Worth where he spent the week-end.

J. O. Presley is reported seriously ill at his home on Polk street.

J. W. Thorne has returned home from the Clinic hospital where he has been since January 18 for treatment following an accident. He is reported doing well but still unable to be up and will be confined to his home for another 10 days.

CORSICANA, Texas, Feb. 7. (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin today caused an approximate damage of $10,909 to the W. J. Spurlock Pharmacy at Blooming Grove, Texas. The property was fully covered by insurance.

STOCK PRICES TURN REACTIONARY AFTER AN EARLY ADVANCE

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Stock prices turned reactionary today after an early period of strength. Except for the marking up of the call money renewal rate to 4½ per cent, there was nothing in the day's news to influence the price movement. Pools, however, appeared to be having more difficulty in attracting a public following, encouraging a resumption of short selling in some of the recently volatile specialties.

Laclede Gas broke 9 points, Freeport, Texas, 8, Detroit Edison, 7½, and General Railway Signal, Vanadium Steel, Mullins corporation and Midland Steel products were hammered down 5 or more points below last night's final quotations. U. S. Steel common and General Motors both lost their early gains of about 2 points each.

Renewal of selling pressure against the rails was in reflection of the poor 1927 earnings, preliminary figures of which are now being published. Pittsburgh & West Virginia collapsed 6 points, Gulf, Mobile & Northern 4 and Chesapeake & Ohio, Erie, Delaware & Hudson, Kansas City Southern, Missouri Pacific and Canadian Pacific sank 2 points or more.

Bear traders sold stocks freely on the theory that the market's technical position had been weakened by the recent violent rise in a number of specialties, and that a further shake-out was warranted. Weakness of the rails led to liquidation of many popular industrials by frightened investors, who were also disturbed by the calling of about $20,000,000 in bank loans.

Prices displayed a firm undertone at the opening of today's market. Montgomery-Ward continued its climb to new high ground in reflection of heavy January sales and Gotham Silk Hosiery attained a new peak on the first sale, a block of 2500 shares. Studebaker opened with a block of 13,000 shares at 65, the highest price since 1925. American Sugar Refining dropped a point, presumably in reflection of uncertainty over the maintenance of the current dividend of $5 annually.

Heavy buying of General Motors, one string of quotations alone totaling nearly 25,000 shares, featured the early trading, the stock quickly moving more than 2 points above last night's final quotation. Dupont, which has large General Motors holdings, jumped 4½ points in the first few minutes. Speculators for the advance apparently paid little attention to the stiffening of call money rates yesterday, and the increase in the Minneapolis Federal Reserve bank rate.

Independent steels responded to reports of improving trade conditions under the leadership of Vanadium and Crucible. Montgomery-Ward quickly extended its gain to 2½ points. Express shares were in demand as a result of the recent proposals of railway executives that control of those companies be attained by the railroads. Cudahy Packing moved into new high ground and early gains of a point or so were recorded by Allied Chemical, Radio, Montana Power, International Nickel and Gold Dust. There were a few soft spots. Reynolds Tobacco B, which was heavy yesterday, sold off 2½ more points and U. S. Rubber, General Railway Signal, Wright Aero and Pittsburgh & West Virginia yielded a point or so.

Foreign exchanges opened steady with Sterling cables unchanged at $4.87¼.

The campaign for higher prices ran into unexpected obstacles, when heavy selling broke out in shares which have recently been in the forefront of the upward trend. Vanadium Steel, Mullins corporation and Freeport, Texas sold 4 to 5 points below where they left off yesterday. Adams Express, after touching 211½, a new peak, collapsed to 200. National Surety, at 258, was lower than it has been for a long while, and further heavy liquidation of Pathe Exchange, class A, dropped it to 9, a loss of 4½. The renewal rate for money was raised to 4½ per cent.

The closing was heavy. Speculative offerings diminished in the final hour when shorts showed signs of taking in some of their outstanding contracts. The rebound in prices, however, did not proceed very far, as a rule, and some shares reflected selling orders. Total sales approximated 2,550,000 shares.

BRITISH KING PUTS EMPHASIS ON PLANS FOR PACT WITH U. S.

LONDON, Feb. 7. (AP)—King George in his speech from the throne opening parliament today declared that his government was sympathetically studying the new draft of the treaty of arbitration between Great Britain and the United States. This treaty will replace the one concluded with Washington on April 4, 1908.

"My relations with the foreign powers continue to be friendly," he said. "It is the constant effort of my government in cooperation with the League of Nations to secure the settlement of international differences and promote the cause of peace."

The king said it would be a pleasure to receive the king of Afghanistan, whom he has invited for a visit in March.

The improvement of the position in China, he continued, enabled a reduction in the naval and military forces in the Far East, but the situation through international disturbances still caused anxiety.

FOUR TEXAS CITIES LISTED IN FEDERAL BUILDING MEASURE

FORT WORTH LEADS TEXAS LIST WITH $425,000 FOR CONSTRUCTION

DALLAS TO GET $300,000 FOR NEW P. O. STRUCTURE

Corsicana and Greenville Listed For $90,000 and $80,000 on New Postal Buildings

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—A second allotment of funds, totalling $45,520,000, to carry out the administration's public buildings program, was provided for today in the annual supply bill for the treasury-post office departments reported to the house.

The appropriation, a part of the $290,000,000 that the government proposes to spend over a 10-year period for new buildings here and throughout the country, included $18,955,000 to start work on 72 buildings outside of the District of Columbia.

The remainder of the total provided was allotted as follows: For expenses of the supervising architect's office in the treasury, and for maintenance, repair, minor improvements and equipment in connection with approximately 1450 existing projects, $15,885,000; for a new customs building in New York City, $8,000,000, and for acquisition of property in the capital, $2,680,000.

Funds to initiate work on new postoffice-federal buildings some time during the fiscal year beginning next July 1, were recommended as follows, in part: Bartlesville, Okla., $60,000; Corsicana, Texas, $90,000; Dallas, Texas, $300,000; Fort Worth, Texas $425,000; Greenville, Texas, $80,000; Kansas City, Mo., $600,000; Lawrence, Kan., $55,000; Santa Fe, N. M., $270,000; Sedalia, Mo., $85,000; Wichita, Kan., $250,000.

Funds also were included for work on six postoffices authorized by congress in 1913.

The committee said that with appropriations for these six projects provisions had been made to start all of the buildings authorized in 1913 with the exception of two. No explanation regarding failure for these two cities was made.

Four remodeling items for old buildings, included in the public buildings bill that failed in the last congress, were eliminated. In regard to these projects, Baltimore, Erie, Fort Worth and Kansas City, the committee said that their consideration had been postponed pending the completion of new projects or because of proposed demolition of the old buildings in the respective cases.

In connection with five major projects the committee placed a limiting amount below which the treasury may not exercise authority for the sale of existing sites and buildings when the proposed new structures are completed. These places and the limiting sales prices include Dallas, Texas, $1,250,000.

Big Supply Bill Drawn

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—The biggest supply bill of the present session, that providing $2,298,696,000 for the treasury and postoffice departments for the next fiscal year, was reported to the house today by its appropriations committee.

The treasury received the largest allotment $1,533,746,000 which is a decrease of $51,276,000 below current funds and $3,123,000 under budget estimates. The appropriation for the postoffice department was $764,950,000 an increase of $7,582,000 over the present funds, but a decrease of $3,100,000 under budget estimates.

The decrease of approximately $50,000,000 in the treasury appropriation was accounted for in a reduction of interest on the public debt which the committee said had been scaled down by $1,131,000,000 during the current year. A reduction of $21,000,000 interest had been effected in refunding of the second liberty loan.

Negro, Warned by Fiery Cross, Goes Ahead With Plans to Take as Bride White Girl of Mayflower Ancestry

ROCKVILLE, Conn., Feb. 6. (AP)—Undaunted by the sight of a flaming cross on a high hill near his home, Clarence Kellem, negro, is preparing for his wedding tonight with Beatrice Fuller, 19, white girl. Warnings have been received by mail and telephone also.

The Rev. George S. Brookes, pastor of Union Congregational church, has agreed to perform the ceremony and there will be no interference on the part of civic authorities.

After receiving the warnings last night, Kellem and Miss Fuller visited the Rev. Mr. Brookes and asked him if he would marry them immediately. This he refused to do and they left Rockville in a taxi but returned later to spike rumors that they had gone to Manchester or Hartford to be married.

Miss Fuller claims to be a direct descendant of a union general and traces her lineage back to the colonists who landed from the Mayflower. Kellem, an employe of a dye-manufacturing plant, lives with his step-mother who is white. His own mother, he says, was also white.

Mrs. Fuller says that although she does not wholly approve of the ceremony, she always has found Kellem to be "a pleasant young man," and that any objections which she might raise would have little effect.

Town Clerk John B. Thomas issued the marriage license to the couple yesterday.

GOOD WILL JAUNTS URGED BY SHEPHERD AT AD CLUB MEET

"Wichita Falls made a great mistake in stopping these good will 'booster' trips," said Mayor R. E. Shepherd Tuesday noon in a talk to the Advertising club on "How I'd Advertise Wichita Falls."

Good will was specified by Mayor Shepherd as the most valuable asset a city can have, and more good will trips as the best way to bring in trade from West Texas and the southern part of Oklahoma.

"Personal contact would eliminate much of the misunderstanding that now exists, and would stop the fears of some of the citizens of smaller towns that the traffic regulations are too complicated," Mr. Shepherd said. Good roads and courtesy to tourists were also cited as excellent means of spreading good will.

A committee was appointed to establish some sort of marker on the new municipal airport, which is just east of the Browning airport on the Burkburnett road. Announcement was made of the progress of the grand opera advertising committee by Don Ross.

A. E. Kelly announced that Wichita Falls would have a booth in the Detroit Advertising convention in July. J. W. Pyland was in charge of the program and the meeting was presided over by T. A. Bradley, president.

WOMAN CONVICTED IN M'LENNAN COUNTY GETS HER FIFTH FURLOUGH

AUSTIN, Feb. 7. (AP)—Mrs. Eva Murray, McLennan county, convicted of forgery and sentenced to two years, was granted a fifth furlough extension Tuesday by Governor Moody.

Various authorities recommended a parole for her because they believe she has been "completely reformed" and on account of her six year old daughter.

Mrs. Murray's extension Tuesday was for 60 days, which makes the total time she has been free under clemency more than 200 days, counting her original furlough of 60 days.

Other clemency: Joe Jasek, Bell county liquor, one year, 20 days furlough extension; C. A. Tait, Grayson, murder, 10 years, 15 day furlough.

REALTORS TOLD NEED FOR MORE COLLEGE SPACE

The need of an enlarged junior college building in order to take care of the ever increasing number of students here was brought to the attention of members of the Wichita Falls Real Estate board Monday noon by Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of the city's public schools.

There are now 240 students enrolled in the junior college, which with the 1412 in the high school, is 100 more than really should be accommodated in the building, Dr. Cantwell told the realtors.

Dr. Cantwell pointed out that there are now more than 800 students enrolled in the eighth grade, which will mean a large freshman class next year in the high school.

"Much of the real college spirit is lost because the junior college students are forced to practically float along with the great crowd of high school students," the school superintendent said. "The local school system is in excellent shape, with the exception of congestion in the higher grades.

"In order for Wichita Falls to be a real college center it must have a college and not a hybrid. There should also be dormitory facilities."

Dr. Cantwell said that plans for a definite expansion program are now being prepared and that school officials and members of the school board are endeavoring to find a way to make Wichita Falls a real college center.

The city manager form of government is one of the most imperative needs of the hour, J. M. Bland, local realtor, said in a short talk. Mr. Bland said that it is time something be done in Wichita Falls to stabilize the business of the city and that he would like to see the citizens given an opportunity to express themselves on the city manager plan at the polls.

All plans for the Realtors-Property Owners banquet at the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club on Thursday evening have been completed, it was announced at the meeting. W. A. Thomas, Dallas, president of the Texas Association of Real Estate boards, will be the principal speaker.

LOVE COUNTY, OKLA. OFFICERS ARE HELD

girls said the other jar appeared to contain approximately the same amount.

Hansen made a search of Croy's attic, Dabney said, but found nothing.

Further investigation made by Hansen showed, Dabney said, that Croy and Mathers took Claud Andrews, one of the suspects held in the Carter county jail at Ardmore, to a place about seven miles southwest of Marietta on the night of January 31. The spot was about one-fourth mile from the house of Vernon Liddell, who is being held under charges in connection with the robbery.

Andrews told Hansen, the assistant attorney general reported, that the three men located the money, buried in loose earth, in a gunny sack. The three returned to Ardmore with the sack.

Croy and Mathers claim, Hansen said, that the money was not counted at the time.

Hansen said Mathers and Croy drove back to Marietta after returning Andrews to jail and arrived at the home of J. D. Davis, cashier of the robbed bank, at about 5 o'clock on the morning of February 1. The two officials told Davis, Hansen said, that they knew a man not connected with the robbery who knew where the money was, but that he did not want to tell unless he was offered a reward.

Davis told Croy and Mathers, according to the assistant attorney general, that the bank could not offer a reward, but that the insurance company might. The two county officers returned to Davis' house with the sack of money at about 5 o'clock in the morning, Hansen was told.

Maid of South Gets Chance To Star In Opera

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Grace Moore, once choir singer in Jellicoe Tenn., and musical comedy, today had the opportunity of proving her right to a place in the Metropolitan opera firmament.

A party of 125 headed by Governor and Mrs. Henry H. Horton and including Miss Moore's parents, Col. and Mrs. R. L. Moore, her brothers, R. L. Jr., Martin and James, and her sister Emily, came especially to New York to hear her sing the role of Mimi in "La Boheme."

Miss Moore, 27, came to New York in 1918. She was a featured member in Irving Berlin's "Music Box Revue." In 1924 she went to Europe, returning to sing in another "Music Box Revue." In 1925 she turned to opera singing with an all-American company in Par

City Has Three Delegates World Church Meeting

Wichita Falls now has three out of the 200 members of the International Commission on the Ministry for the Christian Church.

These men are Dr. Floyd Allan Bash, pastor of the First Christian church; Mayor R. E. Shepherd and F. F. Dawson, who recently moved here from Dallas.

The commission was appointed from Christian churches over the entire world for the purpose of organizing a system creating a pension for retired ministers of the Christian church.

Mayor Shepherd was originally the only member of the commission in Wichita Falls. Dr. Bash was a Colorado Springs pastor and Mr. Dawson was a resident of Dallas at the time of their appointments.

The commission will meet at Indianapolis, Ind., February 16 and 17 to draft a final report on the matter for submission to the international convention of the Christian church at Columbus, Ohio, next April.

Dr. Bash and Mr. Dawson plan to leave here February 14 to attend the meeting. Mayor Shepherd has stated that he will probably be unable to attend the meeting because of business affairs which will keep him in Wichita Falls.

GENERAL AUDIT TO BE STUDIED FRIDAY

cated that there was a difference of several hundred dollars between the amount said by that department to have been paid Mr. Kerr as district attorney and the sum shown by the audit to have been received from that source.

All that information, it was explained, would tend to explain sums shown by the audit still to be due the county in excess fees from the estate of Mr. Kerr.

Mr. Smith insisted that the audit made every allowance for salaries which records made available to him would authorize. The audit of financial transactions between the district clerk's office and the state comptroller, he further said, was based on information supplied him by the comptroller's department.

Mr. Johnson, in a brief statement, told the commission that many apparent tangles following the audit have developed since January 1. The audit, he explained, covered only the period up to January 1, 1927. Since that time, he said, more than $29,000 has been disbursed from trust funds which accumulated during Mr. Kerr's tenure. His own check of the clerk's records up to January 1, Mr. Johnson asserted, varied only in small sums from that of the general auditors.

At the present time, according to the assertion Tuesday of Miss Eunice Jackson, district clerk, approximately $21,000 still remains in trust funds which has accumulated during years past. The sum, it was explained, has come largely from fees deposited when law suits were filed and which were neither expended or reclaimed by the depositor.

Mr. Boone suggested that special steps be taken by the commission to disburse the trust fund. The board, however, deferred action on the suggestion pending Friday's meeting.

DAILY PRODUCTION CRUDE OIL SOARS BY 11,266 BARRELS

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 7. (AP)—The daily average production of crude oil soared 11,226 barrels during the week ending February 4 as compared with the week ending January 28, the Oil & Gas Journal says today. Production for the week was given as 2,388,109 barrels, compared with 2,376,883 barrels for the preceding period.

Despite a daily average decrease of 7860 barrels in the Seminole area of Oklahoma, production in the state showed a loss of only 2140 barrels due to slight gains in production in other areas. In Texas the major producing areas showed substantial increases. The West Texas field reported a gain of 3243 barrels, while the Texas Panhandle zone reported an increase of 4995 barrels. The gulf coast fields reported an enlarged output totalling 3233 barrels. California and the Rocky mountain areas also reported gains, the former 1100 barrels and the latter 7393 barrels daily.

The total production for the week for Oklahoma was given as 667,710 barrels, Texas 531,910 barrels, California 615,250 barrels, Kansas 110,585 barrels, Arkansas 90,160 barrels and North Louisiana 45,390 barrels.

Two Gas Wells Ablaze in Field Near Alto, La.

ALTO, La., Feb. 2. (AP)—With one gas well in the Richland field a raging inferno, another, three-quarter miles distant from the scene, today threatened to get beyond control of drillers and jeopardize property in this little Louisiana town.

Moody Seagraves Helmer C-1 well was balled dry last Friday and its completion was planned for today, when a sudden rush of gas came in before the gate valve could be attached. The well, larger in capacity than the burning Thomason A-1 well on the opposite side of the town, immediately began eruptions of sand and salt water.

Conservation department officials have been called to the scene in an effort to control the flow.

REFUNDING BONDS SOLD BY CITY AT PREMIUM OF $310

PRICE SAID TO BE BEST EVER REALIZED FOR ISSUE WICHITA FALLS BONDS

CITY PURCHASES FAIR ASSN. WATER SYSTEM

Special Committee to Investigate Circumstances Death Auditorium Engineer

What is said to have been the best price the city of Wichita Falls ever realized in the sale of bonds was received Monday night when the council authorized the sale of $61,000 worth of refunding bonds to George L. Simpson & Co., Dallas, at par and a premium of $310.

These bonds have been on a five per cent interest rate but henceforth will bear four and one-half per cent per annum, payable semi-annually. The bonds will be retired over a period of 20 years, with an average of 12 years each.

City officials say that refunding of the bonds will mean a saving of several thousands of dollars to city taxpayers.

The council authorized the purchase of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association's water equipment at a price of $15,000. At present the fair association is indebted to the city for approximately $10,000, which represents water used during the past few years. This will be applied on the purchase price. Twenty-five per cent of the proceeds received by the city from customers on this line will be given to the fair association to be applied on the $5000 due it by the city.

An estimate which engineers placed on the water system a few years ago was about $27,000. Under the terms of the contract the city will now maintain the system and receive all the proceeds derived from the sale of water from it.

To Investigate Death

A special committee composed of T. H. Lewton, Harry Awker and W. M. McGregor was appointed by the council to investigate the circumstances which led to the death of the late Jesse Brown, engineer for the Memorial auditorium. Mr. Brown recently fell and was killed while working in the auditorium. The committee, which will report its findings to the council, was appointed after Mrs. Mary Brown, widow of the deceased, inquired of Mayor R. E. Shepherd what action the city intended to take in the matter.

Mayor Shepherd and City Clerk W. E. McBroom were authorized to execute two notes, one for $10,000 due January 2, 1929, and the others for $9236.50 due July 2, 1929, to the Volland Scenic Studios, Inc., St. Louis, in payment for scenery placed in the Memorial auditorium. Both notes will bear six per cent interest.

The same officials were also instructed by the council to execute a note for $4545.80 payable to the W. A. Freear Furniture company, in payment for linoleum that has been placed in the auditorium.

A total of 621 cases were handled in corporation court during the month of January, according to the report of R. M. Hurst, clerk, which was received by the council. Fines imposed during the month totaled $3310.

Dr. W. T. Locke to Speak in Electra Tuesday Evening

One of the rarest treats was enjoyed by the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning when Dr. W. T. Locke, a man who has spent some 30 years in China and the Far East, occupied the pulpit, Dr. Nat F. Grafton, pastor, declared.

"With wonderful eloquence and mighty power Dr. Locke portrayed the world situation as it is today, and gave his hearers an insight into the relationship between the colored races of the world and the white race.

"Those who missed hearing Dr. Locke Sunday morning, or Sunday evening, when he spoke at the Floral Heights Presbyterian church, will do well to go to Electra Tuesday, where he will speak in the First Presbyterian church at 7:30 p. m. It will be well worth while to make this trip to hear the message of this modern day prophet."

QUARTER INCH RAIN OVER BRISCOE COUNTY

QUITAQUE, Feb. 7.—After about 10 days of springlike weather a rain fell here Sunday night, with a precipitation of about .25 of an inch, but was not enough as Briscoe county still lacks the subsoil moisture usually placed by winter rains. There have been no rains of consequence in many months, and while there is plenty of surface moisture to permit of plowing in some sections and possibly enough to bring up the seed, the farmers are still hopeful that a good general rain will come soon. Planting corn will be under way soon, the farmers state, although they say it would be much better for an inch rain to fall before planting.

There are many farmers and city people as well that have plowed their gardens and are now ready for planting.

Patrolman Benjamin Harris is credited with firing the fatal shot although he was one of the more serious casualties.

HOUSTON PRESS PRAISES "BROADWAY"

Doris Rich and Thomas Manning, two of principals to appear here in "Broadway."

The Houston Press says of "Broadway," coming to Memorial auditorium Friday night:

"Good cast, true to type in every respect; good stage production, a facsimile of the New York set, costumes, and properties; and a good play, in that it presented a cross-section of life as it is back stage at a night club, makes Broadway the best entertainment Houston has seen in many a day.

"How a hoofer really makes love, how a bootleg ring draws its nets, how a bunch of chorus girls attack their several life problems, how a pale, wiry, little runt of a dancer fights like a bearcat for the girl he loves, how the little fool double crosses him without realising it, and how a dark and oily, suave and dominating, bullying booze king is transposed from an assured interloper in the hoofer's love affair into a cringing, nerveless murderer, are some of the scenes through which the plot advances.

"Realism is so potent that by the time a bereaved chorus girl gets her revenge by killing her lover's murderer, the audience is back stage with her; footlights and intervening space have vanished. Drama has become real and everything else unreal.

"Types as represented in the cast are perfect. Never has a 'road show' brought on such a good all-round cast. Perish the star system, if good balance and search for the right characters can produce such a performance as was given Tuesday night.

"If you see Broadway once, you will want to see it again; if you don't see it at all, you will miss a mighty good show in a city where good shows don't grow on trees."

Wiley Wyatt has a force of men making the excavation for his new building on Seventh street opposite the St. James hotel. According to the plans, the building will be a four-story brick structure with an eight-foot basement.

About 40 prospectors from Illinois and Missouri arrived here yesterday and were taken out to the Club ranch on a special train over the Wichita Falls & Southern. Another party which arrived later was carried to the ranch in automobiles.

AUSTIN, Feb. 6.—George A. Carden, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, was here today on legal business. Discussing the call of the committee to meet at Fort Worth to select the place for holding the two state conventions this summer, he said that San Antonio is an avowed applicant for the convention to nominate state officers, and while Galveston is desirous of having one of the conventions and Fort Worth and Mineral Wells are after the convention to name delegates to the national Democratic convention to meet in Denver, he said there were no other cities aspiring at this time so far as he knew.

The former German city of Dunzig is now a free city, with an independent government answerable to the League of Nations.

AGOGA CLASS LAMAR AVE. CHURCH ENJOYS BANQUET AND CHOOSES OFFICERS

Monday evening the Agoga class of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church entertained members and a number of friends with a banquet in the basement of the church. The chief course consisted of well fried oysters, prepared and also served by members of the class.

Singing of old time songs under the leadership of W. E. Young, choir director of the First Baptist church, was one of the features of the evening's entertainment. Mr. Young also gave several very appropriate vocal solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. F. R. Collard.

The principal address was delivered by Charles H. Smoot, who made a very forceful but pleasing request of the men to give more thought and time to the Sunday school work, stressing throughout his talk the importance of the teaching given in the school. The inspiration of the speaker was a challenge and an urge to his hearers to put forth their best efforts for the betterment of their class and church.

Various members also made impromptu talks and the meeting closed with the election of class officers as follows: W. C. Burgess, president; Richard Riddle, A. B. Washington, C. T. Walters, vice presidents; J. L. Beavers, secretary; W. A. Minnick, treasurer, and the Rev. W. H. Townsend, teacher.

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

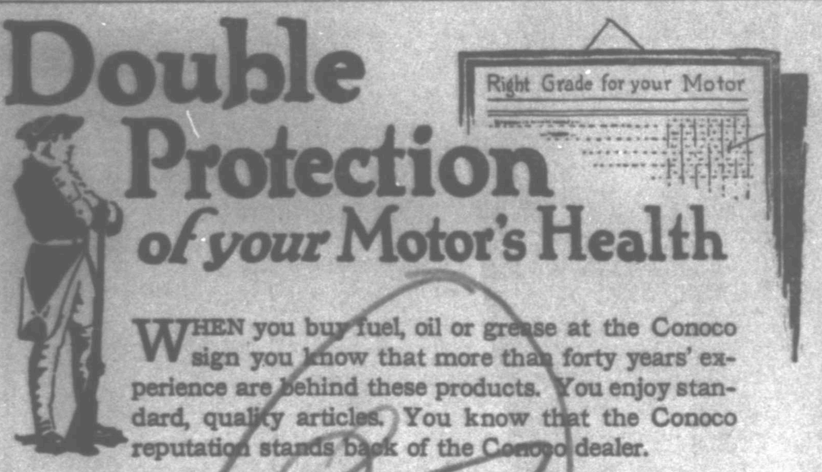

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.
