Texas praised

WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means subcommittee on human resources announced Friday that Texas had been named the nation's "most-improved" state in child support enforcement programs, citing pilot projects in Midland, Odessa and San Antonio. The committee awarded grades to the states based on each state's performance in establishing paternity, collecting child support in the most cost-effective manner, and in reducing welfare costs.

Perot attacked

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher Friday rebuked his friend, outspoken billionaire Ross Perot, for taking to the talk show circuit to speak out against a U.S. war in the Persian Gulf. While Perot was appearing on CNN's "Larry King Live" Friday night, Mosbacher telephoned the show to express his disappointment in Perot's stance.

Peace rally

AUSTIN (AP) — A peace rally featuring country singer Willie Nelson and musician-actor Kris Kristofferson drew more than 1,000 people here Friday night. Organizers predicted the rally's ranks would swell throughout the event, scheduled to last until 1 a.m. today.

Called "Only One Sky," the rally was staged by the newly formed group People for Peace. "This is a peace rally, but it is far more than your usual suspect peace activists," said spokeswoman Noelle McAfee. "We are getting people who have family members in Saudi Arabia, Vietnam vets and members of the religious community." More than 1,000 people had come to the concert after the first act began, with admission at $7 per person. Proceeds were to go for other peace events.

Iraq, U.S. trade rhetoric

■ As Baker and Saddam talk tough, hopes dim that U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar's peace mission will succeed.

By David Beard

The United States and Iraq revved up their war rhetoric Friday, with Secretary of State James A. Baker III telling U.S. combat pilots "we pass the brink" in four days and Saddam Hussein bragging of how ready his army was.

The Iraqi president said American GIs expecting "to perform acrobatics like Rambo movies" would lose against his battle-hardened troops. He repeated his threat to use every weapon he has if war comes, and renewed his demand that the Palestinian issue be linked to any settlement.

Saddam's tough talk diminished hopes that U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar would succeed in what may be a final attempt to persuade Iraq to quit Kuwait before the U.N.-set deadline of Jan. 15, or risk military force to make it leave.

Threatened by war

Israeli tennis players Zippi Obziler, from left, Limor Zaltz, Anna Smashnova and their coach, Hans Felius, are concerned about their friends and family back in Israel as Iraqi President Saddam Hussein threatens to attack their country. They have been in Midland for the USTA Women's Circuit tourney at the Midlander.

Israelis say war necessary to stop Iraq

By Michael Kashgarian

"War is the best thing."

This is the sentiment of Limor Zaltz, 17, an Israeli, in light of Saddam Hussein's threat to attack Israel if war breaks out in Iraq.

Ms. Zaltz was in Midland Friday with two other Israeli women and their coach for the USTA Women's Circuit tourney at the Midlander.

She explained her view that war appears necessary to suppress Saddam, to derail his reign of terror in the Mideast.

"I think he wants to control the Middle East, so he starts with Kuwait," Ms. Zaltz said.

If tensions do turn into war, Hans Felius, 35, Ms. Zaltz's coach, doesn't doubt Saddam will keep his promise to attack Israel.

"I wouldn't be surprised. That's what it is — a fight between the Arabs and Jews," Felius said.

Saddam "didn't expect the whole world to be against him and when they did, he pointed to Israel," Felius said.

"It's just a plot to get Israel involved. Saddam said the first day he took Kuwait, that he had his rockets pointed at Tel Aviv," Felius said.

"I would like to see a peaceful solution, but I don't think so," he added.

Since their recent arrival in the United States, Felius said they watch all the news programs to keep abreast of the hostile situation in the Mideast.

"It scares me, but we will wait and see," Tsipora Obziler, 17, said, adding that Israel is ready for any kind of confrontation.

Ms. Zaltz agreed.

Bush close to winning congressional support

■ Bush is expected to prevail in both houses, although his margin of victory is likely to be far narrower than he wanted.

By Jim Drinkard

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush lobbied hard Friday for congressional approval to use force in the Persian Gulf crisis, and appeared to have amassed the support he needed on the eve of a momentous weekend vote.

Bush challenged lawmakers, telling them it was "in your hands" to persuade Saddam Hussein of U.S. resolve.

And legislators on both sides of the Capitol clearly felt the weight of their decision whether to authorize Bush to use force after Tuesday, the deadline set by the United Nations for Saddam Hussein to pull his troops out of Kuwait.

"It's a soul-wrencher," said Rep. Henry Hyde, an Illinois Republican who said he would side with Bush. Both chambers debated late into the night.

Congressional leaders and administration officials said they expected Bush would prevail in both houses in votes beginning on Saturday. But it appeared any White House victory would be far narrower than the overwhelming consensus Bush has said he wanted.

Against increasing odds, Senate Democrats pressed their case to deny Bush

Lubbock residents say U.S. should go to war against Iraq

LUBBOCK (AP) — The folks in Lubbock say America should go to war if Iraqi strongman Saddam Hussein does not pull his troops out of Kuwait by the middle of next week.

In the latest Pulse of America Survey, 400 residents of this West Texas city were surveyed at random about the Middle East conflict and President Bush's handling of the crisis.

Bush adopted Lubbock as his American sounding board in 1989 after calling a friend in the South Plains to ask him how the country was doing. The Pulse of America survey was born shortly thereafter.

In the survey released Friday afternoon, 64 percent of those polled say the United States should use force if Iraq does not begin to withdraw from Kuwait by the Jan. 15th United Nations-imposed deadline.

Twenty-seven percent said the United States should not resort to war and 9 percent were undecided.

"Let them go to war. That's what I say," said Rick Parrish, a gunsmith at Fred's Gun Emporium in Lubbock. "We have no room for dictators in this world. They ought to go in and get Hussein just like they got (Panamanian dictator) Manuel Noriega. Then they ought to string him up."

Soviet troops storm Lithuanian buildings

VILNIUS, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Soviet troops firing into the air stormed Lithuania's main printing plant and national guard headquarters Friday. Kremlin loyalists said they were ready to replace the secessionist government.

Western governments appealed to Moscow to use restraint.

The clashes, which pushed the 10-month-old Lithuanian confrontation with the Kremlin to the boiling point, left at least seven people injured, witnesses and Lithuanian officials said.

Soviet troops also occupied an officers school in Kaunas and one of the main telephone exchange buildings outside Vilnius, the Lithuanian capital.

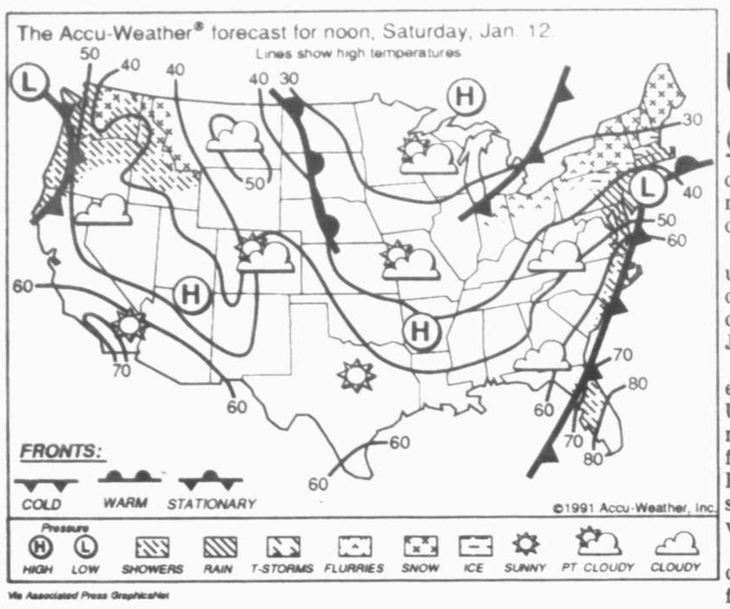

Pro-independence Lithuanians tried to protect other buildings. Hundreds of nationalists formed a human chain around the television station, and uniformed nationalist guards stood at the parliament with metal rods.

The Kremlin's crackdown came a day after President Mikhail S. Gorbachev warned he faced demands to impose direct rule over the republic unless it backed

Sunny, warmer days ahead

Staff Report

Today's forecast calls for sunny skies with a high in the upper 50s and northwest winds at 5 to 15 mph, according to the National Weather Service in Midland.

Tonight will be clear with a low near 30.

Sunday is expected to be sunny with a high in the lower 60s.

After an overnight low of 34, Friday's high was 52 compared to the record for Jan. 11 of 78 set in 1935. The record low for this date was -5 in 1963.

STATE

A weak high-pressure system pumped drier air into Texas Friday, bringing clear skies to some northern and western sections of the state, and sunny conditions were expected to continue spreading through the weekend.

A warming trend should bring some weekend highs in North Texas to almost 60 degrees, with 70s in the south and 50s in western regions, the National Weather Service said.

Low-level cloudiness lingered in the Dallas-Fort Worth area along with Waco, Lufkin, Tyler and Sherman.

The Associated Press also contributed to this report.

GULF: U.S. citizens urged to leave Israel

continue to fly, but there will be no official U.S. presence in Iraq's capital.

The U.S. Embassy in Israel urged tens of thousands of Americans in the Jewish state to leave, citing increased tensions as the Jan. 15 deadline nears.

Eight more American warships entered the Persian Gulf, and the United States agreed to send its most sophisticated defensive surface-to-air missile to Turkey — Iraq's northern neighbor and the site of a possible second front in a war against Baghdad.

Bush lobbied intensively for congressional approval to use force to oust Iraq from Kuwait, which it invaded Aug. 2. "The last, best chance for Saddam Hussein to get the message is in your hands," Bush told lawmakers.

Eleven anti-war demonstrators briefly interrupted Senate debate Friday, shouting "No blood for oil!" before being ejected and arrested.

Baker told Air Force pilots in Saudi Arabia they "would not have to wait much longer" to find out if they will be called to battle Baghdad. He said he could not give them a definitive answer, but added:

"Just so there is no misunderstanding, let me be absolutely clear: we pass the brink at midnight January 15."

At Baker's request, Saudi Arabia pledged to bear 40 to 50 percent of the military costs for the multinational buildup in the gulf. U.S. and Saudi officials refused to disclose the amount promised. Baker later arrived in Egypt for talks there.

Saddam gave no sign of flexibility in a defiant speech to 500 Muslim scholars at a conference in Baghdad. Referring to Iraq's 1980-88 war with Iran, he said his troops "have eight years of experience in war and combat" and could withstand attack by the U.S-dominated multinational force.

"The Americans will come here to perform acrobatics like Rambo movies. But they will find here real people to fight them."

Saddam's speech was interrupted by applause and calls for "defeating the infidels."

Perez de Cuellar arrived in Jordan after meeting in Geneva with foreign ministers of the 12-nation European Community. He won their support for his plan for a U.N. peacekeeping role in the gulf region if Iraq leaves Kuwait.

The U.N. chief said he was not bringing a specific plan, but was exploring the idea of U.N. supervision of a simutaneous pullout of Iraqi troops from Kuwait and U.S. and allied forces from Saudi Arabia.

Officials in Washington said Bush is sending Deputy Secretary of State Lawrence Eagleburger to Israel soon to reassure its leaders about U.S. support.

The State Department said Friday it has evidence that terrorists supported by Iraq plan attacks around the world if war breaks out.

LUBBOCK: People say U.S. has done all it could

(From 1A)

States-led multinational alliance and Iraq broken off, 86 percent of those polled say they are certain war will break out in the Persian Gulf.

Three percent said war was unlikely and 11 percent had no answer.

"It seems we have done all we can," said Liz Jones, a stylist at Diane's Hair Salon. "I think they should go to war."

"I feel like Iraq went in and took over a peaceful country for their own gain," Ms. Jones said. "If we let them get away with this, we are inviting terrorists all over the world to do the same thing."

When Lubbock residents were asked if Congress should endorse force or persist with economic sanctions against Iraq, 60 percent said the House and Senate should pave the way for war, while 32 percent said Congress should continue only with the sanctions.

Lubbock-based Southwest Research Associates, which conducted the survey, faxed the poll to the White House Friday. Southwest Research officials say the poll is one of only a few that the White House reviews.

The poll has a 5 percent margin of error.

"Bush has said he really appreciates the survey and reads it with keen interest," said Jane Anne Stinnett, a partner in Southwest Research. "We can't say how much influence it has, but he does look at it."

Ms. Stinnett said the Pulse of America poll evolved after the president responded to several questions about the state of the union during a March 1989 news conference.

"Now wait just a minute," Bush told reporters then. "I talked to a friend in Lubbock, Texas, and he says everything is just fine."

Bush comes out of the latest survey with mixed ratings.

His handling of the Middle East crisis earned him a 68 percent rating of either "excellent" or "good." Twenty-nine percent rate him "fair" or "poor."

But in the area of domestic affairs, such as taxes, the economy, civil rights, or appointments to federal offices, 56 percent gave Bush a rating of fair or poor. Forty percent gave the president a rating of excellent or good.

DEBATE: Democrats in Senate still back sanctions immediate authority to use force quickly. They want to give economic sanctions more time to force an Iraqi withdrawal.

"What guarantees do we have that war will be brief, or that American casualties will be light?" said Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga. "No one can say whether war will last five days, five weeks or five months."

And Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., said the country appears bent on war less because it is right than because it can win.

"We think we can get it over with an acceptable level of casualties. So we seem willing to act ... with more bravado than patience," he said. "It sounds like we are now risking war for pride, not for vital interests."

In the House debate, Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., predicted "Anti-Americanism will rise" if the country wages war in the Middle East, and "Terrorism will increase. Radical Islamic forces will be strengthened."

"If war comes, it will be difficult to imagine where Americans will be safe in the Middle East, in the years to come." said Hamilton, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Middle East subcommittee.

Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., demanded to know how long sanctions should be given to work. "Saddam Hussein is a winner" if Bush's plea is rejected, he said.

Late in the day, Sen. John Warner, R-Va., formally introduced the resolution supporting Bush's bid to use force, and an administration official said the votes had fallen into place to pass it in the Senate. Bush worked through the afternoon placing individual calls to senators to solidify support.

"A narrow win is not a big help to the policy," said Hyde. "But it's better than a loss."

Senate debate was interrupted at one point by demonstrators in the gallery. "No blood for oil! No war for Bush!," they shouted before police officers hustled them off in plastic handcuffs. At the same time, protesters lay in mock body bags on the Capitol's snow-covered east lawn, and other demonstrators blocked Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House.

ISRAELIS: Kuwait just first step

(From 1A)

"If they attack us, Israel will destroy Iraq in a day," she said nonchalantly.

Ms. Zaltz said although Israelis are concerned about war, they are not worried.

"They are not in panic. We are very experienced in war," said Ms. Zaltz, who spoke with her family in Israel since the failed talks between the United States and Iraq.

Although the issue for the United States is about the occupation of Kuwait and not Palestinian grievances against Israel, Felius and Zaltz said, they believe Americans can understand Arab ways despite criticisms to the contrary.

Felius said he feels that if Iraq does invade Israel, other Arab countries will be in a bind because they would not support Israel by opposing Iraq, a fellow Arab nation.

The Israeli visitors, who are scheduled to return to their homeland within the next few weeks, feel the United States is safer than Israel but want to be with their families.

"I want to be with my family in Israel if something happens," said 14-year-old Ana Smashnova.

SOVIETS: Kremlin backers threaten takeover off its secession drive. On Monday, Gorbachev ordered paratroopers to enforce the draft in seven secessionist republics, including Lithuania.

(From 1A)

All 15 Soviet republics have declared independence or some form of autonomy.

Kremlin supporters who have called strikes at 23 factories and halted rail and airline service to Lithuania told the republic's parliament they would form a "National Rescue Committee" to take over the government unless lawmakers meet Gorbachev's demand to suspend their secession drive.

■ Soviets suspend TV program/5C

The parliament reacted by issuing a statement saying "an imposter-type committee ... is intending to usurp power with the help a foreign army.

"It this happens, any puppet pro-Soviet power in Lithuania and all its decisions would be completely illegal and not binding on anyone," the government said in a statement. Lithuania declared independence in March, but the Soviet Union has never recognized it.

Western governments watched the developing crackdown with deepening concern. The NATO alliance and the European Community urged the Kremlin to refrain from violence in Lithuania and to seek talks with Baltic leaders. Pope John Paul II appealed for dialogue.

Lithuanian President Vytautas Landsbergis called Gorbachev twice to ask him to call off the troops. But he was not put through, once because the president purportedly was having lunch, said Lithuanian parliament spokeswoman Rita Dapkus.

"Military units under (Gorbachev's) supervision are spilling blood in the republic of Lithuania," Landsbergis said. "Gorbachev must issue an order to halt this action immediately."

The parliament also appealed publicly to Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze to help them. Shevardnadze resigned last month citing fears of a "coming dictatorship," although he has since supported Gorbachev's orders.

Neither presidential spokesman Vitaly Ignatenko nor his deputies returned calls for comment by The Associated Press.

Among seven people injured Friday was a truck driver in critical condition after being hit by a tank, Ms. Dapkus said.

However, in addition to the track driver, eight other casualties were mentioned by other sources. Troops at the printing plant shot one young man in the face, said Aidas Palubinskas, a Lithuanian parliament spokesman.

Three other people were shot and three suffered broken bones from scuffles with soldiers, said ELTA, the Lithuanian state news agency.

LOCAL/AREA REPORTS

Baby's death

Staff Report

Police are investigating the death of an 11-month-old girl who died while undergoing surgery for head injuries Thursday evening.

Police were summoned to Midland Memorial Hospital about 3:42 p.m. concerning Marisa Vargas, 307 E. Cuthbert Ave., who had sustained head injuries.

Details surrounding the injuries and the nature of the investigation were not available.

Drug bust

Two Midland men were arrested for possession of 152 "rocks" of crack cocaine about 6:30 p.m. Friday, police officials said.

The two men, ages 23 and 26, remained in jail Friday evening awaiting arraignment.

The suspects were apprehended in the 1700 block of English Drive for allegedly selling the drug from a 1981 Buick LeSabre by patrol officers Elias Hernandez and Don Williams.

In addition to the cocaine valued at over $3,000, $536 in cash was confiscated.

Drug charges

A Midland man arrested Thursday for possession of cocaine remained in jail Friday night on bonds totaling $3,220, jail and police officials said.

Hector Adrian Flores, 27, was apprehended at a motel across the street from the police department and charged in connection with possession of 12 small packets of rock cocaine, reports show.

Bookstore offers 'Hero-ic' opportunity

Staff Report

"What's It Take to Make a Hero?"

Fourth-, fifth- and sixth-graders with a slightly scientific bent will have the opportunity to discover for themselves at Pages and Prints Bookstore on Saturday.

Jack Hickman, science and art instructor from Trinity School, will be in the children's center for a special demonstration and hands-on learning experience building a model of Hero's "steam engine."

"This will be the first in a series of four sessions," explained Patteann Beverley, owner of the bookstore, "designed to introduce or review some basic principle of science and then create a model which illustrates the principle."

After receiving the Christie McAuliffe Grant in 1987, Hickman created a hands-on learning center at Trinity School called the "curiosity shop" where elementary age students learn to make toys based on scientific principles.

Enrollment is limited and pre-paid registrations for the sessions, which run from 9 to 10:30 a.m., may be made at the bookstore.

The $3.50 fee will cover all costs of the model building materials.

New Crime Stoppers coordinator introduced

By Michael Kashgarian

Terry Lowe of the Midland County Sheriff's Office was introduced Friday as Midland Crime Stoppers' new coordinator.

Lowe will take over the program that offers cash rewards and anonymity to citizens for information to help solve felony crimes.

"He'll be in charge of the daily operation of the program and will be working with all law enforcement agencies, schools and (Crime Stoppers) board of directors," said Jim Hoisager, board president.

Lowe, who will fill the position by Feb. 1, said he is anxious to began his new job.

Stressing the importance of Crime Stoppers, Lowe said, "You can't fight crime without the public, whether they are calling for the reward or as a service to the community."

Lowe was chosen from among eight applicants, Hoisager said.

Lowe has served the Midland Sheriff's Office since 1987 in patrol and in criminal investigation. From 1982 to 1987, he was director for loss prevention for a major department store's Texas-New Mexico division. Lowe also was with the Midland Police Department from 1978 to 1981.

Hoisager said Lowe's employment with the sheriff's and police departments will be an asset to working with both agencies.

In addition, Hoisager said he plans to see an increase in public awareness for Crime Stoppers with the hiring of Lowe.

Lowe replaces Sgt. Keith Ward, who remains with the Midland County Sheriff's Department.

Eastland sheriff arrested in drug probe of another man

DALLAS (AP) — A West Texas sheriff has been arrested on a federal warrant charging obstruction of justice in connection with the drug investigation of another man.

Eastland County Sheriff Dee Oselene Hogan was held Friday on charges of obstruction of justice during an investigation of alleged methamphetamine manufacture and sale, the FBI said in a prepared statement.

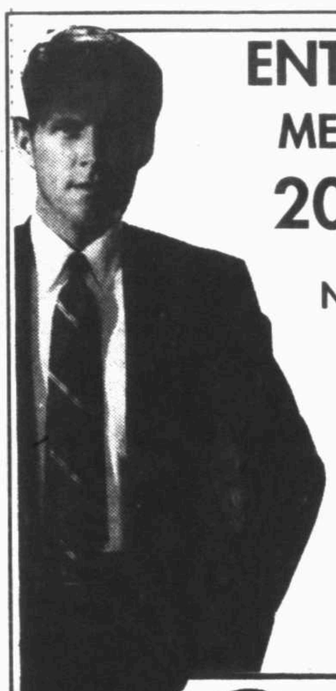

Hogan was named in a warrant issued Thursday by U.S. Magistrate J.Q. Warnick Jr. A one-count complaint charged Hogan with corruptly endeavoring to influence, obstruct and impede the administration of justice in the drug case.

The complaint alleged that Hogan altered and falsified a record in the sheriff's office which had been requested by the U.S. Pretrial Services Agency.

Hogan was arrested by agents of the Internal Revenue Service and FBI, along with Texas Department of Public Safety officers.

If convicted, Hogan faces a maximum of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Eastland is located about 120 miles west of Dallas.

4-H, FFA 'right behind Sunday school,' foreman says

By Ed Todd
Staff Writer

Bobby Matthews just might suspect he's in church today when the bidding starts on about 120 head of premium livestock in the Midland County Livestock Show.

Matthews, foreman of the Lazy Z Ranch north of Midland, figures that youngsters working with livestock in a family environment is almost as wholesome as Sunday school.

He means it.

"They've got good livestock," Matthews said of 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America (FFA) boys and girls in the annual show. "And 4-H and FFA are right behind Sunday school" in teaching life's good lessons.

Matthews and his wife Martha have worked with youngsters for years in livestock projects. His sons, David, 24, and Bobby, 27, had 4-H and FFA projects.

"I guarantee you, they learn a lot of responsibility and leadership" in 4-H and FFA programs, Matthews said.

Today, Midland youngsters will learn a bit more about respect for the dollar when they parade their premium steers, swine and hogs in the auction that gets underway at 1:20 p.m. in the Midland County Exhibit Building on East Highway 80.

Snyder auctioneer Tommy Marricle will auction off the livestock in a "sale" that converts to outright donations to the youthful exhibitors.

Last year, supporters contributed more than $56,000 to the the 4-H Club and FFA youths.

Today, Midland 4-H Club member Heather Roberts, who produced a "grand slam" in livestock circles, will be exhibiting her 1,205-pound grand champion Maine-Anjou-cross steer and her reserve grand champion 1,225-pound Limousin-cross steer.

For an exhibitor to show the grand champion calf and reserve grand champion calf in the same show is a rarity.

Last year, Heather's sister, Kari, exhibited the reserve grand champion steer. For that showing, Kari got $1,600 from Rogers Ford Sales of Midland.

The sisters are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C.P. Roberts, who live south of Midland.

The family has been engrossed in the 4-H livestock program for several years, said Earnest Kiker, Midland County agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX).

"The entire family works on the (livestock) projects," said Kiker. "They have attended steer clubs and shows throughout the state of Texas to gain knowledge about feeding, fitting (grooming), and showing steers."

Sallie Farrow of Greenwood showed the grand champion lamb, a 135-pound heavyweight medium-wool lamb. Mendy Kiehne showed the reserve grand champion lamb. Their two lambs also were champion and reserve champion best-of-breed medium-wool lambs.

Goats and rabbits were exhibited by 4-H Boosters — 6-, 7- and 8-year-olds too young for 4-H.

"The little kids don't know whether to smile or cry," kindly observed Franklin Farrow, as he watched the children show their baby goats to the judge.

Today at 12:45 p.m. prior to the auction, Pee-Wees, age 5 and under, will exhibit little goats. The practice helps the children to get ready to participate in the 4-H livestock program.

All told, approximately 200 youngsters exhibited 364 head of livestock — 50 steers, 152 lambs and 162 hogs — in the show that is sponsored by the Midland County Livestock Association.

"They're like me," quipped lamb judge Alan Turner, as he looked over the flock. "They love to eat, and they'll put it on."

Ted McVey, the show's swine superintendent, said that he has "never seen so many young kids that we've got coming up."

He noted that numbers are increasing in the 4-H ranks, while stock-show participation by high school students in the Midland County FFA ranks is down except for the Greenwood High School FFA program.

"We've got tons of animals," McVey said. "It's exciting to see all of the young people coming back."

TV, radio stations blacked out

Staff Report

TU Electric workers were investigating the cause of two major electric transmission lines tripping off about 8:40 p.m. Friday, according to Stan Garrison, region customer service manager.

One of the lines went out for about a minute affecting about 12,000 customers in the north parts of Midland and Odessa.

Another line remained out late Friday evening cutting off power to fewer than 100 customers, including KMID-TV, KPEJ-TV and KCRS radio.

Texas delegation poised to back Bush

N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — Texans in Congress are poised to send a strong message to President Bush that they will back a presidential decision to go to war against Iraq.

The conservative Democrats who dominate the state's 29-member congressional delegation are giving the president overwhelming home state support as Congress prepares for a historic vote Saturday on war in the Persian Gulf, according to a survey by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Of the delegation's 19 House Democrats, 10 will join with Repubicans in voting in favor of a resolution to allow Bush to launch a military offensive against Iraq to force Saddam Hussein to withdraw from Kuwait, which his forces invaded on Aug. 2.

But the state's Democratic senator, Lloyd Bentsen, gave an impassioned floor speech urging restraint, and said he will vote to leave military options open while continuing the use of economic sanctions as a way of forcing Iraq to remove its troops by the U.N.-imposed deadline of Jan. 15.

Bentsen, who generally has supported Bush on foreign policy and is a potential challenger in the 1992 presidential race, said Bush hasn't yet developed a broad national consensus in favor of the use of force.

"It is not unreasonable to assume that the price of war in the gulf, even a short, successful war, will be high," Bentsen said. " ... It is not clear to me that the country — the American people — are committed to the option of invasion and all it entrails.

"We need to keep the invasion option on the table, right out front where the Iraqis can see it. But I believe it is premature to authorize the president to march on Kuwait."

Rep. Pete Geren, D-Fort Worth, plans to support Bush's request to attack Iraq if eleventh-hour diplomatic efforts fail.

"Saddam Hussein is a warrior," Geren said during Friday's debate on the gulf war. "Our world has seen his type before. He must be stood down by those who love peace and liberty."

Rep. Dick Armey, R-Euless, and Rep. Joe Barton, R-Ennis, said they also will back the president.

Armey, who was undecided until late Friday, was the target of intense lobbying by the White House. When the administration learned that his main concern was minimizing causualties, Armey received a phone call Friday from Defense Secretary Dick Cheney.

STATE

"I was very much reassured by the secretary that they have a well-conceived plan that gives our people maximum advantage to minimize risk," Armey said.

That plan — outlined this week by House Armed Services Chairman Les Aspin, a Wisconsin Democrat — would rely heavily on air attacks against strategic sites inside Iraq and Kuwait before committing ground troops along the Saudi Arabian border.

Barton, echoing the views of many lawmakers taking a hard line against Saddam, said he believes the last chance for a diplomatic solution is to show Iraq that Bush has strong backing in Congress to wage war if necessary.

"Even Hussein would realize how united the country is," he said. "That the consensus is, 'Aggression doesn't pay. You must withdraw.' "

All the delegation's eight Republicans will vote in favor of Bush's request for authorization to use force.

Among Texas Democrats, four say they oppose the immediate use of force, and will vote in favor of a resolution to continue economic sanctions while keeping open the attack option. Two others say they are leaning in favor of that measure.

"I would not sacrifice the life of a single American to restore a group of sheiks and princes to a dictatorship in Kuwait," said Rep. John Bryant of Dallas, one of the delegation's most liberal members.

Bryant said he also opposes spending tens of billions of dollars to wage war with Iraq at a time the country is in a recession.

Thirteen injured in car-bus crash

AUSTIN (AP) — Nine children suffered minor injuries when their school bus was rear-ended in heavy traffic Friday evening by a car whose driver fled the scene, officials said.

The students' injuries ranged from a split lip to whiplash, said Bruce English, Austin Police Department communications supervisor. The driver of the Eanes Independent School District bus was uninjured, he said.

Police learned of the accident shortly before 5 p.m., English said.

"The bus slowed down for traffic and was rear-ended by a large white car that was speeding, possibly a Cadillac," he said.

Witnesses were unsure of the make of the car, English said, but described the driver as a white female in her 40s with blond hair.

"She left the scene, so we're definitely looking for her," English said. "We want her bad."

Texas support most improved, House committee reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee singled out Texas for doing more to improve child support collections than any other state, but a critic said the program was still a "disaster."

The House Ways and Means subcommittee on human resources announced Friday that Texas had been named the nation's "most-improved" state in child support enforcement programs.

The committee awarded grades to the states based on each state's performance in establishing paternity, collecting child support in the most cost-effective manner, and in reducing welfare costs.

Advocates say winning child support for single parents is one way of helping them move off the welfare roles.

In Texas, 50,000 to 60,000 illegitimate children are born every year, creating a great pool of parents who may call on the attorney general's office for help in establishing paternity, winning child support or locating an absentee parent who is refusing to pay. The program has a current caseload of about 450,000, said spokesman Steve Levine.

Rep. Michael Andrews, D-Houston, a member of the subcommittee, said the state deserves much of the credit for bringing Texas's grade from an F last year to a C this year. No state scored higher than a C.

"But while today's report is an indication that child support enforcement is beginning to get the attention it deserves, there is still progress to be made," Andrews said.

Texas's new attorney general, Dan Morales, also acknowledged the state still has a "long way to go."

"It should be a sobering fact to all of us that hundreds of thousands of Texas children still suffer from economic neglect from one of their parents. But Texas is on a roll. Over the next two years, I pledge to continue these improvements so that the next report card shows Texas at the head of the class," Morales said.

Levine said the House committee had singled out Texas for tripling its child support collections and for being among the first states that allow wages to be automatically withheld once a parent is 30 days behind in child support payments.

Wage-withholding efforts brought in roughly 50 percent of the $180 million the state collected last year.

The state also has pilot projects in San Antonio, Midland and Odessa that use computers to monitor child support payments from the minute a divorce or child support order is entered.

As soon as parents get behind, they get a warning letter from the attorney general, and within one month the attorney general's office can take enforcement action. Congress awarded a $500,000 grant in 1990 to run the San Antonio program for the next two years.

But Paula Roberts, acting director of the Center for Law and Social Policy, a public-interest law firm that focuses on issues for low-income families, said Texas' program is still a disaster.

While women who apply for Aid to Families with Dependent Children or Medicaid automatically come into the system, Texas is failing to help non-welfare single parents, particularly the working poor whose incomes barely disqualify them for AFDC, she said.

"Overwhelmingly, these non-welfare people are extremely low-income women ... who tend to be working poor, working part-time, minimum wage jobs, people who are really on the edge, and basically, Texas's historical position has been that it does not serve those non-welfare families," she said.

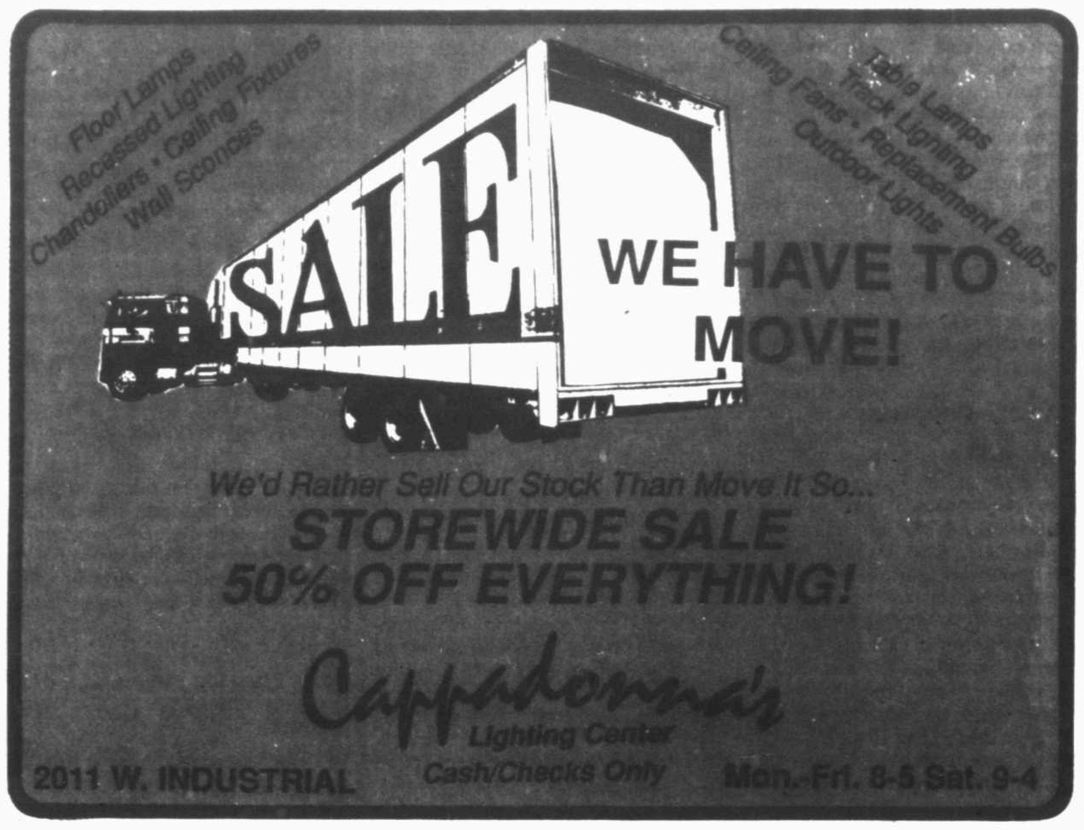

Ms. Roberts said Texas also is "literally a black hole" when it comes to helping other states locate non-paying parents in Texas.

Ms. Roberts said she jokingly tells people that if she represented an absentee parent who did not want to pay child support, "my best advice is to move to Texas. I know they would never track them down. And that's really sad. That means Texas's lack of responsibility affects custodial parents around the country."

Cancer patient gets last wish

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — A cancer patient's courage and a little help from his friends enabled him to get his high school diploma just hours before he died.

Administrators at Grapevine High School rushed an honorary diploma to Eric Thomas Sippel's bedside just three hours before he died of brain cancer Wednesday, fulfilling the 18-year-old senior's last wish.

STATE IN BRIEF

Helicopter crash blamed on error

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The crash of a Missouri National Guard helicopter near Houston in which three soldiers died occurred after the pilot apparently became disoriented and lost control, according to a published report.

The helicopter, a UH-1 "Huey," crashed near Cleveland, Texas on Dec. 14 about 40 miles north of Houston.

The aircraft was one of 12 helicopters from the 1267th Medical Company, an air ambulance unit, that were flying from Jefferson City to the Port of Houston for shipment to the Middle East.

The accident happened after the helicopter turned on its side as other helicopters maneuvered to avoid thin, low clouds. The helicopter that crashed did not fly into the clouds, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported.

Preliminary results of an investigation attributed the crash to pilot error that was probably caused by the loss of a sense of where the aircraft was in the sky, the newspaper said in its Friday editions.

Killed in the crash were Chief Warrant Officer Carol McKinney, 36, of Leslie, Mo., the commanding pilot; 1st Lt. Pete Rose, 26, of Lincoln Neb., the co-pilot, and Dallas Cooper, 35, of Russellville, Mo., the crew chief. Officials said investigators probably would never know who was flying the aircraft.

Pilot survives crash

NACOGDOCHES, Texas (AP) — A pilot suffered broken ribs when his twin-engine plane crashed and burned Friday, officials said.

The pilot, whose name wasn't immediately released, was being treated at Nacogdoches Memorial Hospital. He was alone in the plane.

The private plane had just taken off from A.L. Mangham Regional Airport here when it went down in a wooded area.

The cause of the crash, within two miles of the airport, was under investigation.

One propeller ended up in a tree, officials at the scene said. What appeared to be a main part of the fuselage was nose-down innto the muddy ground.

The area has had rain this week, but it was not raining at the time of the crash at approximately 10:30 a.m..

Nacogdoches County Chief Sheriff's Deputy Buddy Stanaland said the pilot remained at the scene late this morning, talking to investigators. He later was taken to the hospital.

Witness Ralph Tatum of Nacogdoches was driving on a county road when he saw the plane fly over, about 200 feet in the air. Then Tatum saw a big puff of black smoke.

Cattle forced off island

TIVOLI, Texas (AP) — A family that fought to continue a 152-year-old ranching operation on Matagorda Island has been notified by federal wildlife officials that the cattle must leave within 90 days.

"It's a bitter pill to swallow for the family that's been there all these years," Joe Hawes told the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

Hawes lost what could be the final round in his battle to continue cattle grazing on Matagorda Island, where the Hawes family has operated a ranching business since 1839.

He received notice Monday that the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has upheld Aransas National Wildlife Refuge manager's decision to eliminate cattle grazing on the island.

The Hawes family has battled the federal government for control of their land since World War II.

Lewis loses latest round on subpoenas

Lewis

AUSTIN (AP) — A state district judge Friday struck down indicted House Speaker Gib Lewis' attempt to block a grand jury from investigating his alleged ties to lobbyists.

Judge Bob Perkins denied Lewis' motion that would have prevented the Travis County grand jury from being able to order more records or to hear from more witnesses in its probe of Lewis.

Lewis' attorney Bill Willms said the Travis County district attorney's office was on a "fishing expedition."

He said grand jury subpoenas ordering Lewis' accountant, David Stovall of Fort Worth, to testify again and deliver Lewis' financial records were too broad, and were being used improperly to bolster the district attorney's case in the two misdemeanor counts against Lewis.

First Assistant District Attorney Steve McCleery denied Willms' charge. On Thursday, he gave Perkins a written statement that McCleery said showed the subpoenas are related to allegations of "additional criminal offenses involving Mr. Lewis."

Perkins denied Lewis' motion, delivering the second legal loss to the Fort Worth Democrat in as many days.

On Thursday, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals rejected an attempt by Lewis to stall the subpoena for financial records until after the legislative session, which ends May 27.

Last month, the grand jury indicted Lewis on two counts of alleged ethics violations. Lewis says he is innocent of charges he failed to report a gift from a San Antonio law firm and failed to disclose his interest in a business for which the law firm allegedly paid some property taxes.

On Tuesday, Lewis was re-elected by his House colleagues in a 146-1 vote to a record fifth two-year term as speaker.

Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle has said the investigation into Lewis has expanded to other lawmakers and lobbyists.

Willms said he wasn't disappointed by Perkins' decision on Friday. "That's part of the legal process. If you don't ask for relief you have no chance of getting it," he said.

McCleery said, "We've been very pleased with the court's action with all of these instances. It has unfortunately, of course, caused some delay in the investigation ... but it is proceeding and will continue to do so."

Willms continued to criticize the new subpoenas for Lewis' federal income tax returns since 1986, financial statements since 1980 and loan documentation.

Teen-ager gains seat by back door

PLANO, Texas (AP) — For years, high school football was about the only thing that attracted statewide attention to this Dallas suburb.

But now an 18-year-old Collin County elected official is drawing national and international acclaim.

John Payton's defeat of incumbent Jim Murrell makes the teen-ager the first 18-year-old elected justice of the peace in the nation, according to reports.

Payton and Murrell fought a bitter campaign last fall after Payton won the primary. Murrell, who admitted he didn't take his contender seriously, said the teen-ager was immature and inexperienced. Payton, a Plano East Senior High School graduate, accused his 50-year-old opponent of dirty politics.

Payton was sworn in Tuesday in a ceremony that was covered by local media and syndicated station CNN. "NBC Nightly News" has scheduled an appointment with Payton on Monday, and the television news show "Inside Edition" plans to interview him in February, the Plano Star Courier reported.

"The London Times called and did a story. The woman there said John has become a hero in London," his mother, Lorri, said. "Someone from The Netherlands also called and wants him to come out and do a show for young professionals. People from all over the world have sent us news clippings."

Payton whose annual salary as Precinct 3, Place 2 Justice of the Peace will be $37,500, appears to be taking his time in the limelight in stride.

■ A three-point bomb with two seconds left sinks the Midland High Bulldogs, 57-54.

By Terry Williamson
Sports Editor

The wild and wacky world of District 4-5A basketball saw the loop lead change hands in the space of 16 minutes at the Midland High gym Friday night as the San Angelo Bobcats got a three-point bomb from Dewayne Lofton with two seconds left to forge a 57-54 victory over the Midland High Bulldogs.

Only Tuesday, Midland Lee came from 17 points back to beat Odessa Permian. The Bobcats turned this victory after erasing a 15-point third quarter MHS lead — and it was Lofton's desperation bid to beat the buzzer that sunk the Purple Pack in this one.

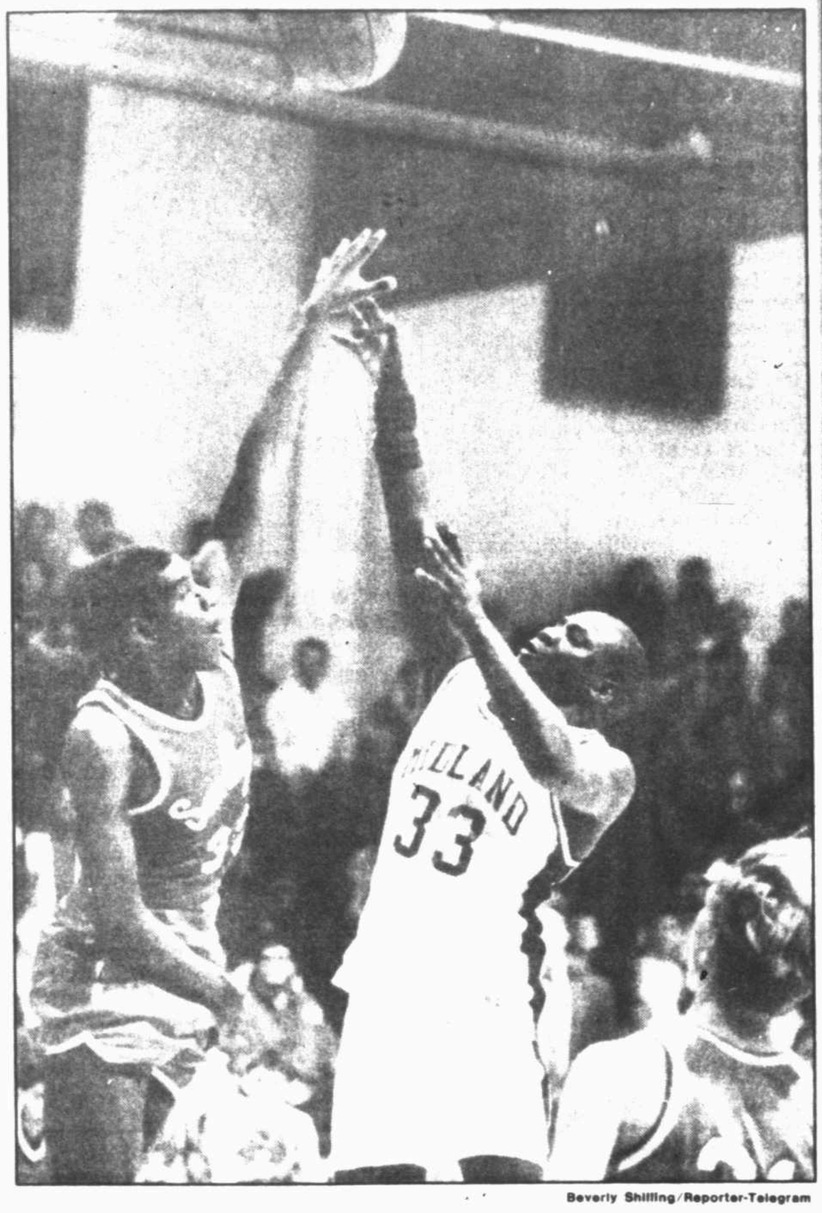

"I saw there was only five seconds left on the clock and I just put it up and it went in," said Lofton of his game winner. "This is the most exciting moment I've ever had in basketball. I never had a shot like that one in this kind of situation. It was a great feeling."

San Angelo coach Boyce Paxton said, "Dewayne has been our clutch shooter the two years I've been here, so the shot didn't surprise me, but it sure was a big one for us.

"We just came off a gut wrenching win at Abilene High Tuesday and we came out a little flat against Midland, but we got our intensity back in the second half. Winning these two games back-to-back on the road is just tremendous. Now we have both of those teams at our place in the second half. I can't tell you how proud I am of those kids."

MHS coach Jack Stephenson said of the game winner by Lofton, "We had

Carl Lewis detained on DWI charge

■ Six-time Olympic gold medalist Carl Lewis is taken into custody after failing a sobriety test.

By Michael A. Lutz
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON — Olympic gold medalist Carl Lewis sprinted from a police substation to an awaiting car and was driven away hiding his face Friday after he was charged with drunken driving.

Lewis

Lewis, winner of six Olympic gold medals, was arrested early Friday after officers observed the car he was driving strike a curb while making a turn, blowing out two tires on the vehicle.

Authorities said Lewis was taken into custody after failing a field sobriety test. Another test administered at the police station put Lewis' blood-alcohol content at 0.12. In Texas, the legal intoxication limit is 0.10.

Lewis dove into the back seat of a car driven by his attorney and was whisked from the police station.

"The attorney doesn't want to talk to the media and neither does Mr. Lewis," said Sgt. Ralph Gonzales, a police spokesman.

Lewis was charged with driving while intoxicated, a Class B misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $1,000 and up to six months in jail. Lewis posted an $800 bond.

"As far as I know, there were no problems with Mr. Lewis," Gonzales said. "He is very distraught about the whole thing."

The sprint champion's car was carrying two men and a woman, officers said.

One of the other passengers, Andre McMillan, was arrested for resisting arrest after he allegedly became belligerent while officers tried to administer a field sobriety test to Lewis, police spokesman Kevin Robertson said. But McMillan was not charged and was released along with Lewis.

The police spokesman said Lewis' Audi was pulled over at 2:05 a.m. near the city's Galleria district after officers in a patrol car saw the Audi make a turn, strike a curb and blow out both right-side tires, disabling the car in the middle of the street.

Gonzales said Lewis was free to go by late morning, some nine hours after his arrest, but chose to remain at the police station until police were finished processing McMillan.

Tom Tellez, track coach at the University of Houston where Lewis is a volunteer assistant, identified one of the occupants as Lewis' brother, Cleve Lewis, who denied that Carl was intoxicated.

"I talked to his brother (Cleve) and his brother said he (Carl) was not in any way even close being, you know, if he was his brother would have driven," Tellez told KRIV-TV.

"Carl's not a drinker. Socially, he is, like everybody else but I don't think he would ever put himself in a position where he would jeopardize the lives of the people in the car or other people."

All four singles semifinalists at the USTA Women's Circuit stop in Midland are unseeded, after 16-year-old Sandra Cacic knocked off top seed Lihini Weerasuriya, 6-3, 6-0, in quarterfinal action Friday at the Midlander.

UCLA senior Jessica Emmons is the highest-ranked singles player entering the semifinal round. Emmons, who is ranked 466th in the most recent Women's Tennis Association ranking, whipped Lucie Ludvigova of Czechoslovakia, 6-3, 6-3.

In other quarterfinal singles action, Christiane Papadaki of Greece beat Hiromi Nagano, 6-3, 6-3, and high school senior Rachel Jensen overcame a 6-1, 2-0 deficit to turn back Kristine Kurth, 1-6, 7-5, 7-5.

In doubles action, two of the four seeded teams remain after Friday's quarterfinals.

The top-seeded pair of Weerasuriya and Limor Zaltz of Israel wiped out the South African pair of Joanetta Kruger and Cindy Summers, 6-2, 6-4; Emmons and Betsy Somerville of the United States beat Czechoslovakian sisters Jana and Nicole Stranadova, 6-4, 6-7 (6-4), 6-0.

Also, third seed Virginia Humphreys-Davies of Britain and Ludvigova wiped out defending champion Pamela Jefferies and Lynn Nabors, 6-3, 6-3; and Israelis Tsipora Oblizer and Ana Smashnova nipped Lesley O'Halloran of Ireland and Jackie Van Wijk of the Netherlands, 7-6 (7-3), 6-1.

Weerasuriya won the first two games of her match with Cacic before self-destructing for most of the rest of the match.

"I started missing a lot of balls, and had a lot of unforced errors," the Sri Lankan said. "I was just trying to put the ball back into play instead of playing the match."

By far, the most competitive quarterfinal was the Jensen-Kurth struggle. After winning the first two games en route to an easy first set win, Kurth had the 17-year-old Jensen on the ropes with 4-1 and 5-3 leads in the second set.

But the William and Mary freshman said she couldn't put the match away because the powerfully-built Jensen forced the action with her power game.

"I tried to stay out of that (playing Jensen's game), but I couldn't," Kurth said.

"When it was 5-3, she was making better shots and my volleys weren't working that well," Kurth said.

Both Kurth and Jensen agreed the latter picked her game up when the chips were down.

"She played better (Friday) when she was down," Kurth said. Jensen said that has happened before.

"You never lose until you lose," the effervescent Jensen said. "You just hang in there."

Carrier tops rookie vote

Associated Press

LAKE FOREST, Ill. — Chicago safety Mark Carrier wasn't surprised that he was named NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year on Friday.

"If someone had mentioned this earlier in the year, I'd have been surprised," Carrier said. "But when the season was over, I knew I had a good chance."

And why not? Carrier led the league with 10 interceptions, was in on 122 tackles, forced five fumbles and recovered two. He started all 16 games and was named to the Pro Bowl, the first Bear rookie to do that since Wally Chambers in 1974.

Carrier got 72 of the 80 votes from a panel of sportswriters and sportscasters. Linebacker James Francis of Cincinnati received seven votes and San Diego linebacker Junior Seau got one.

Francis might have been the Bears' first pick instead of Carrier, but he reportedly rejected Chicago's demand that he sign immediately. The Bears then picked Carrier, who quickly agreed to a five-year, $4.2 million contract.

At the time, many people questioned the selection. But Carrier silenced the critics with his outstanding rookie season.

"Early signing was the No. 1 thing," he said. "Getting in camp on time and getting a big chunk of learning the system was a big factor.

"I made the right decision. It took away a lot of pressure."

Stadler takes lead at Tucson midpoint

■ Craig Stadler, whose last American victory came in 1984, one-putted 10 times Friday.

Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz. — Craig Stadler is rather fond of the TPC at Starpass. But then, he should be. He was a consultant on the design and construction of the home course for the Northern Telecom Open.

And he liked it even more on Friday after touring the hilly layout in 8-under-par 64 and taking the a one-stroke lead at the halfway point.

"The course," he pronounced in mock seriousness, "is finally playing the way we wanted it to."

It certainly played the way he wanted it to. Stadler, a former Masters champion who scored his last American victory in 1984, played the par-5 holes in 5 under par and one-putted 10 times.

"Surprise, surprise," said Stadler, who hadn't played since Thanksgiving and was competing with a new set of irons, a new wedge and a driver he'd used only twice before.

"I'd come to Tucson hoping to get in some good practice for the Hawaiian Open," he said. "Obviously, that has changed," said Stadler, who completed 36 holes in 133, 11 under par after one round on each of two courses used for the first two rounds of this event.

Eleven others — including amateur Phil Mickelson — were within three strokes of Stadler's lead going into the final two rounds, both of which will be played at Starpass.

Brian Tennyson, Scott Hoch, Corey Pavin and first round co-leader Bob Tway were a single shot behind at 134. Tennyson shot 65 and Pavin had a 67 at Tucson National and Hoch had a 66 at Starpass.

"A lot of people have a chance in the last two days," Tway said after a 70 at Tucson National. "It'll be a kind of a shootout. You just have to go out and try to shoot as low as you can."

Gary Hallberg, who bogeyed his final hole for a 69 at Tucson National, and John Cook were at 135, two off the pace. Cook also had a 69, at Starpass, despite what he called "a couple of bonehead, first-tournament-of-the-year mistakes."

Mickelson, a left-handed 20-year-old Arizona State junior who holds both the U.S. Amateur and NCAA titles, slipped to a 71 at Starpass and was tied at 136 with Peter Persons, Canadian Ray Stewart, Hal Sutton and Rocco Mediate.

Stewart had a 68.

Jazz upend Mavs on Malone's spree

Associated Press

Karl Malone had 38 points and 16 rebounds as the Utah Jazz won for the seventh time in eight games, 110-99 over the Dallas Mavericks on Friday night.

John Stockton added 21 points for the Jazz, who have beaten the Mavericks in six of their past seven meetings, including three straight this season.

Derek Harper scored 33 points and Randy White added 20 to lead Dallas, which had a two-game winning streak snapped.

The Jazz took a 73-68 lead into the final quarter and Thurl Bailey extended that margin to 80-71 with five consecutive points.

Malone then scored eight of Utah's next 12 points, but Dallas closed the gap to 96-90 with 2:26 remaining on Harper's 3-pointer.

But Jeff Malone hit a pair of free throws and followed with an 18-footer with 1:41 left, sealing the Mavericks' 14th loss in 20 games.

Dallas led at halftime, 48-47, behind Harper's 14 points, but Utah outscored Dallas 26-20 in the third quarter behind Karl Malone's eight points.

Jazz center Mark Eaton's consecutive-game streak of 288, sixth-longest in the NBA, was snapped Friday night when he was sent back to Salt Lake City with flu symptoms.

Timberwolves 108, Heat 107

Tyrone Corbin scored 13 of his 22 points in the fourth quarter, including five in the final 24 seconds, lifting Minnesota over Miami.

It was the second straight road win by the Timberwolves, who are just 4-13 away from Minneapolis this season. Minnesota also won at Orlando on Wednesday night.

NBA Roundup

Celtics 109, Clippers 107

Reggie Lewis, who didn't go to the foul line until the final minute, scored the game's last four points on free throws, including the game-winners with 2.5 seconds left, giving the Boston Celtics a victory.

The Celtics (29-5) have the NBA's best record and extended their winning streaks to 18 games at home and six games overall. The Clippers have lost nine of 10 games.

But Boston trailed 59-50 at halftime, 81-80 after the third quarter and 107-103 before Robert Parish's two foul shots started Boston's 6-0 rally that saw Los Angeles go scoreless for the final 2:08.

Bulls 99, Hawks 96

Michael Jordan scored 31 points and Bill Cartwright added a season-high 20 as the Chicago Bulls beat Atlanta.

Chicago has won four straight games and 11 in a row at home. The Bulls have beaten Atlanta five consecutive times.

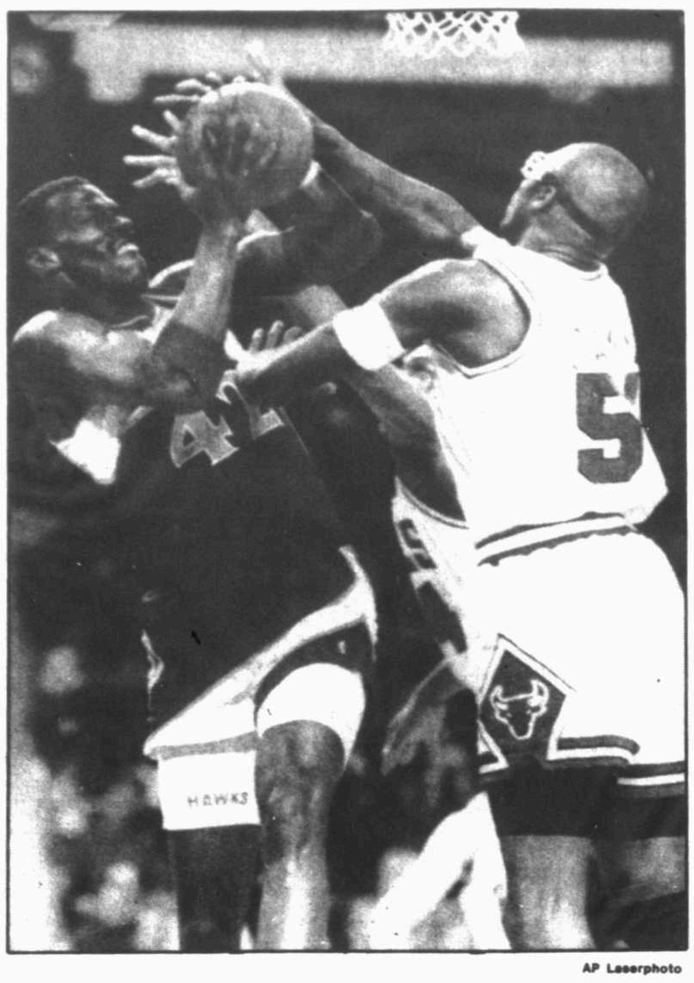

Cartwright's basket with 3.1 seconds left gave the Bulls a three-point lead. Atlanta's Sidney Moncrief missed a 35-foot hook shot at the buzzer.

Lakers 105, Cavaliers 93

Magic Johnson had 27 points, 14 assists and 10 rebounds as Los Angeles extended Cleveland's losing streak to 10 games.

James Worthy scored 22 points and A.C. Green 20 for the Lakers, who lost 84-74 to the Cavaliers Dec. 19 in Richfield, Ohio, their lowest point total in their 31 seasons in Los Angeles.

That game is Cleveland's only triumph in its last 17 games and one of only two victories in 19 games since point guard Mark Price went out for the season on Nov. 30.

Pistons 100
Trail Blazers 98 (OT)

Bill Laimbeer's basket with 0.3 seconds remaining in overtime lifted the Detroit Pistons to a victory over Portland.

Danny Ainge, who scored four of his 19 points in the overtime, tied it at 98 with a jumper with 11.8 remaining, and Detroit called timeout.

When play resumed, Dennis Rodman inbounded the ball to Isiah Thomas, who zipped a pass to Laimbeer near the baseline. His basket from about 8 feet gave the Pistons their eighth consecutive victory and seventh straight at The Palace.

76ers 120, Bucks 105

Charles Barkley scored 37 points and the Philadelphia 76ers used a 19-0 first-quarter run to beat Milwaukee.

Barkley had eight points in the early run that gave the Sixers, who lost six of their seven previous game, a lead they never relinquished.

Suns 114, Rockets 110

Xavier McDaniel scored 33 points and Jeff Hornacek made four crucial free throws in the final five seconds as the Phoenix Suns beat the Houston Rockets.

a guy in his face, but Lofton is a good shooter. He can make that kind of shot. It was a tough one to lose, but there are a lot of games left to play. I still think we have a good basketball team."

The Bulldogs came out rolling before a near capacity crowd of 1,100 at the MHS gym, jumping to a 36-21, 15-point, lead after one trip down the floor in the third period.

MHS was not hitting a good percentage of shots, ending the game hitting only 32 percent from the field, but took the lead on hard work, outrebounding San Angelo by a 30-9 count in the first half of play.

Also, the Pack held high scoring Bobcat Corey Grays scoreless in the first half. Grays, however, came back with 14 second half points, which just happened to be the largest margin MHS held in the first half.

Lofton ended with a game high 18 points, but none were bigger than his game winner.

Sophomore Antwan Goodley led MHS with 12 points while Rodrick Hickey was held to 10 points as was Earl McDonald. Hickey, the leading MHS scorer this year, hit only five of 20 shots from the field.

"We didn't play the second half with the same intensity we had in the second half, but it didn't help when Hickey got his third foul early and had to sit out about seven minutes," said Stephenson. "He didn't have a good shooting night, but you miss him on the floor."

San Angelo now owns sole possession of first place with a 3-0 mark and is the only unbeaten team left in 4-5A action. MHS is only ½-game off the pace at 3-1.

Midland High hosts Odessa Permian at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Chaparral Center while San Angelo will host Abilene Cooper.

In junior varsity action, Midland High's Scott Lunsford hit a 10-foot jumper with five seconds left to give the Bullpups a 65-63 win over San Angelo. Phillip Koss led the MHS JV with 11 points while Mike Melzer had 10. San Angelo got 21 points from Orlando Alfaro and 13 each from Johnny Castillo and C.L. Lewis.

Abilene ladies remain perfect

Staff Report

The Abilene High Lady War Eagles continued their dominating run through District 4-5A with a 50-43 win over Odessa Permian Friday night. The Lady Panthers, thought to be the AHS girls' closest competitor in the district race, fell to 4-1 in league play. AHS rises to 20-3 overall, a perfect 6-0 in district.

LaKeita Richardson's 19 points was tops for the Eagles while Sharon Green threw in an extra 10. Anita Wright had 19 to lead Lady Mojo.

In a battle for the girls' dungeon, OHS downed Abilene Cooper, 53-36. OHS's Gerri White's led all scorers with 20 while Imelda Navarette had 14.

4-5A Roundup

The win was OHS' first against four losses in district. The Lady Bronchos are 11-9 overall; Cooper falls to 1-16, 0-5.

Tyerone Washington had 39 points for Abilene High's boys, but Permian still prevailed, downing the Eagles 100-88 to jump to 2-1 in league play. Erskine Talbert had 29 for Mojo.

AHS fell to 10-12 overall, 1-3 in district.

Abilene Cooper defeated OHS 64-59 in the remaining game on the hardwood Friday.

Cooper raised its record to 2-1 in district; OHS falls to 0-4.

Midland Lee was idle.

Pete Rose Jr. berates eligibility committee

Associated Press

NEW YORK — Pete Rose continued his silence Friday about the Hall of Fame's moves to bar him from consideration. His son, however, lashed out at the eligibility committee's moves.

"If they don't let him in the Hall of Fame, then there shouldn't be a Hall of Fame," Pete Rose Jr. said.

A special committee of the Hall of Fame voted 7-3 on Thursday to recommend that the names of banned players be kept off the ballot. The recommendation is expected to be adopted when the Hall of Fame's board of directors meets on Feb. 4.

Baseball officials, players and fans continued to discuss the move Friday. Bill Guilfoile, the associate director of the Hall, said some of the furor had lessened in Cooperstown, N.Y., the site of the Hall of Fame.

"We had a lot of calls yesterday," Guilfoile said. "One of the radio stations in Cincinnati was conducting a campaign for fans to call. Today it's slacked off considerably."

Vance Dilliard, operation manager of WLW in Cincinnati, said his station would continue to protest the move to exclude Rose.

"We will keep coming up with ways for our listeners to voice their outrage," he said.

Guilfoile said a large number of the telephone calls to the Hall of Fame in the last two days came from the Cincinnati area.

"They obviously are upset," he said. "It was a tough decision, but when a thing like that is made, you have to expect some unhappy people."

Rich Levin, a spokesman for the commissioner's office in New York, said many people had telephoned baseball's offices to voice their opinions. He said most of the calls came on Thursday.

"We had a lot of fan calls," he said. "We didn't keep track."

Rose's son, who plays in the Baltimore Orioles' minor league system, was in Springfield, Ohio, on Thursday for a basketball game.

"I mean, he has the most hits of anyone in the history of the game and God knows how many other records," Rose Jr. said. "They're not putting him in there for being a good citizen. They're putting him in there for being a good baseball player.

"He's paid his debt to society, and that's all he can do. He's trying to get out and get on with his life. There's no doubt in my mind he'll get in the Hall of Fame."

His father began the week at the federal prison camp at Marion, Ill., and on Monday completed a five-month sentence for two felonies related to the filing of false income-tax returns. Now Rose is in a Cincinnati halfway house for three months.

He plans to move to Boca Raton, Fla., when he's released. But Cooperstown, the place he wants to go most, appears unlikely to want him.

USTA: Jensen forces action

From 1B

Jensen, who serves righthanded and plays lefthanded, broke a 5-5 deadlock in the third set by winning the last seven points of the match.

In today's singles semifinals, Cacic faces Papadaki and Jensen battles Emmons. In doubles, Weerasuriya and Zaltz face Emmons and Somerville, while Humphreys-Davies and Ludvigova meet Obziler and Smashnova. Play begins at 10 a.m.

Finals in both singles and doubles are Sunday.

Dozen drivers turn millionaire in 1990

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP) — A record-breaking 12 drivers joined the auto racing millionaires list in 1990, led by rising NASCAR Winston Cup star Brett Bodine.

The new members bring to 92 the total number of drivers who have won more than $1 million during their racing careers.

Other newcomers include Dale Jarrett, Larry Pearson, Rick Wilson and Michael Waltrip, who also drive at least part-time in the Winston Cup series, as well as Busch Grand National regulars Jack Ingram, Tommy Houston and Tommy Ellis, Indy-car drivers John Andretti, Dominic Dobson and Belgian Didier Theys, and sports car star Chip Robinson.

Bodine, the younger brother of Geoff Bodine, who is 17th on the list, is the highest of the new group, ranking 55th with $1,582,055.

This is the first year that money won in the Grand National series has been counted in the list compiled by freelance writers Gene Granger of Spartanburg and Jan Shaffer of Jackson, Mich.

Dale Earnhardt, who won his fourth Winston Cup title in 1990, set a motorsports single-season earnings record of $3,175,556 and raised his career total to $13,314,590, the first time any driver has been above the $13 million mark.

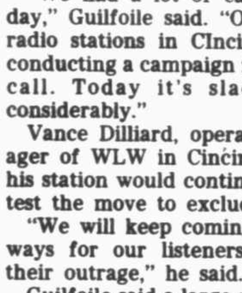

Darrell Waltrip, another Winston Cup star and the first driver to go over the $10 million mark, remained a distant second on the list at $10,991,978. Fellow NASCAR star Bill Elliott also moved above $10 million, staying third with $13,318,182.

Al Unser Jr., who won his first CART-PPG Indy-car title and $1,939,913, jumped from 13th to eighth at $7,395,914, vaulting past such prominent drivers as his father and Richard Petty, 12th and ninth, respectively.

Rounding out the top 10 are Indy-car aces Rick Mears at $8,229,223, Mario Andretti $8,228,542 and Bobby Rahal $7,750,639; retired stocker car champion Bobby Allison $7,415,185; Petty $7,150,919 and NASCAR star Rusty Wallace $6,732,045.

Twenty drivers have won at least $5 million and 13 have taken in more than $3 million.

The dozen new names on the list break the previous mark of 10 first-year millionaires, set in 1986 and tied in 1988 and 1989.

Miami seeks redemption for last defeat in Buffalo

Associated Press

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. — Buffalo center Kent Hull walked through the pandemonium with Miami linebacker Cliff Odom as fans tore down the Rich Stadium goalposts following the Bills' 24-14 victory over the Dolphins on Dec. 23.

"I'll see you in about three or four weeks, because I think you'll be back here," Hull told Odom, who replied: "I think you're right."

They were both right. The teams meet again Saturday, in what could be very difficult weather conditions, to decide who advances to the AFC Championship game.

"Our team is real excited about coming back and redeeming ourselves in the playoffs," said Miami quarterback Dan Marino. "I think it will be a better football game maybe than the last time."

Much of the pregame focus has centered on the availability of Bills quarterback Jim Kelly, who sustained cartilage and ligament damage to his left knee in a Dec. 15 game against the New York Giants.

Kelly, who hasn't played since, has practiced with the team all week but says he won't decide until Saturday whether he'll play.

Whether Kelly plays or not, the consensus among players on both teams is that the game will be determined not by the efforts of their star quarterbacks, but by which team can run the ball most effectively.

"Whichever team has the best running game is going to win the game," said Dolphins defensive back Tim McKyer.

That was the case three weeks ago, when despite the assertion by Miami's Jeff Cross that the Bills wouldn't run on the Dolphins, Thurman Thomas rushed a season-high 30 times for 154 yards and a touchdown.

"Our game plan going into every week is to run the football," said Hull. "Everybody in the NFL knows what we're going to try to do. It's no big secret."

Hull acknowledged that there is pressure on Buffalo's offensive line, but added, "It puts a burden on them (the Dolphins), too. They know that we're going to do it, so they have to stop it."

Weather could be a major factor in the game, with an ice storm, accompanied by falling temperatures and winds up to 20 mph forecast. Of the seven coldest games the Dolphins have played, they've lost six.

49ers not as dominant as record indicates

Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO — In the final game of the regular season, San Francisco guard Guy McIntyre found himself in a pile with Minnesota's Chris Doleman.

"He asked me, 'How many Super Bowls are you guys gonna win?'" McIntyre recalled. "I replied, 'As many as we can.'"

The 49ers, who play the Washington Redskins on Saturday in a second-round NFL playoff game, are trying to become the first team to win three straight Super Bowls and five overall. But they haven't looked as dominant as their league-best 14-2 record suggests.

Eight of the 49ers' wins were by less than a touchdown. One problem was the lack of a strong running attack, traditionally one of the keys to success in the NFL. With Roger Craig limping all season on a bad knee, they averaged just 107 yards on the ground, 16th in the league.

It's also been a strange season for Washington. The Redskins lost three quarterbacks to injury and were out of the NFC East race by the seventh week of the season — after two losses to the New York Giants left them 4-3 and the Giants at 7-0.

But they came back the next week with a remarkable 41-38 overtime win over Detroit after trailing 35-14 in the third quarter. Jeff Rutledge, their journeyman third-string quarterback, came off the bench to throw for 363 yards in overtime.

A 7-3 win over the Giants in Week 12 effectively gave San Francisco home-field

Ismail has until February to enter draft

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — A Notre Dame spokesman said Friday that football star Raghib "Rocket" Ismail has not discussed a possible move to the NFL with any school officials.

"There has been no conversation between Raghib and (coach) Lou Holtz or anybody else at Notre Dame about making a decision to leave," said sports information director John Heisler.

The National reported Friday that Ismail will likely skip his senior season to enter the NFL draft.

"It's logical to think he would be giving it some consideration, if people are throwing around the dollar amounts they talk about these days," Heisler said. "I think it's crazy to think that he's not."

Ismail, runner-up in this year's Heisman Trophy voting, has stated repeatedly that he plans to return to Notre Dame next season. He has until Feb. 1 to enter the draft, where he could be the No. 1 pick.

"Even as many times as he's stated his intention to come back, it's still a situation he has every right to look into," Heisler said.

Ismail is off-campus during semester break and will not return until registration day next week. Holtz was in Florida on a recruiting trip and could not be reached for comment.

Lady 'Dogs fall 39-36

Staff Report

SAN ANGELO — Midland High saw its District 4-5A record go to 3-2, as the Lady Bulldogs dropped a 39-36 decision to San Angelo in girls basketball play here Friday.

After being tied with the Lady Bobcats at 19-19 entering the second half, MHS was outscored 11-5 in the third quarter to spell the loss for the Lady 'Dogs.

The Lady Bulldogs did come back in the fourth period and outscored the Lady 'Cats by three points, but were unable to pull out the win.

Donna Eaden was the only Lady Bulldog to crack double digits with 12 points, while Ashley Chase added nine. Amy Hyles paced San Angelo with 12 points.

MHS is now 12-9 overall, while San Angelo moved to 10-10 overall and 3-2 in district play.

In junior varsity play, San Angelo dropped MHS 55-53. Mary Jones was the leading scorer for the Lady Bulldogs with 15 points, while Charlotte Scharbauer added 14 and Stephanie Saxon 10.

MHS returns to action Tuesday, when the Lady Bulldogs travel to Odessa to battle Odessa Permian.

Cubs sign shortstop

NEW YORK (AP) — Shortstop Shawon Dunston and the Chicago Cubs couldn't agree to a long-term deal now, so instead they settled Friday on a one-year contract worth $2.1 million.

Dunston, 27, made the National League All-Star team for the second time last season, batting .262 with 17 homers and 66 RBIs. He made $1.25 million after winning a salary arbitration hearing and wanted to get a multiyear contract.

"It was dollars and the fact that the Cubs wouldn't give us a limited no- trade," Dunston's agent, Eric Goldschmidt, said in explaining the problem with a long-term contract. "I didn't want to give up Shawon's free agency without some trade protection."

Dunston is eligible for free agency following the 1991 season. Goldschmidt said he would consider offers from the Cubs next October before filing.

Gossage impresses Rangers

Associated Press

ARLINGTON — Onetime relief ace Rich Gossage has taken the first step toward a possible comeback, but the pitcher and the thrifty Texas Rangers find themselves in a difficult situation.

Gossage, a nine-time All-Star trying to comeback at age 39, earned an invitation to the Rangers spring training camp with an impressive workout Thursday at Arlington Stadium. But first he must agree to a contract.

Gossage would attend camp as a non-roster player and sign the contract if he makes the team.

He earned $1.25 million in 1989 before the San Francisco Giants released him. But the Rangers' self-imposed payroll budget may not allow them to pay him even half that.

The Rangers are limited to a payroll of about $20 million, and will push that figure with hefty raises for their eight arbitration-eligible players.

"You don't want to get into a situation where someone lights up the camp and doesn't have a contract," general manager Tom Grieve said. "This will not be a big-money deal."

Gossage has little leverage. He was released twice in 1989 and spent last summer in Japan because no major league team would give him as much as a tryout.

"It depends on how Goose feels," Grieve said. "I don't know if he's the kind of guy who has millions saved up and will say, 'I don't want to pitch for that,' or if he just wants to prove he can still pitch."

"Goose is the consummate professional," said Gossage's agent Tony Attanasio, "and he knows he has lost something in the market. But he can't be treated like a rookie. Ordinarily, I'd say a contract in this situation would not be a problem. But from what I've read and know, the Rangers might have a problem signing (equipment manager) Joe Macko right now."

Attanasio also represents pitcher Charlie Hough, who had a bitter parting with the Rangers after 10½ seasons, signing as a free agent with the Chicago White Sox after the 1990 season.

Gossage worked out in front of manager Bobby Valentine and pitching coach Tom House during the Rangers minicamp for pitchers.

Gossage was a dominating power pitcher early in his 19-year career.

Gunshots, death put stop to Rally

Associated Press

GAO, Mali — The Paris-Dakar Rally was stopped during Friday's stage after the driver of a support truck died of gunshot wounds in a village controlled by the Malian army, race organizers reported.

Thirty-four-year-old Charles Cabannes of France, who drove a support truck for the Citroen team that is leading the event, was shot in the village of Kadaouane, Mali, organizers said.

Details of the shooting were not available, but organizers said it appeared that several trucks had been blocked near the village before the shooting occurred.

Cabannes was a veteran driver in the annual three-week event where hundreds of cars, motorcyles and trucks assisted by support vehicles race across the Sahara to Dakar.

The abandoned village of Kadaouane was formerly home to a community of Tuaregs, Berber-speaking nomads who roam the Sahara across Mali, Niger, southern Algeria and Libya.

Bands of Tuaregs had been involved in bloody clashes with black government troops in northern Mali since last spring until a peace agreement brokered by Algeria was reached five days ago.

Rally organizers had expressed fears about crossing the region because of the fighting. The Malian government, however, promised them a safe passage.

PERSIAN GULF CRISIS

Desert Shield price tag $10 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Operation Desert Shield cost the United States $10 billion last year, but most of that has been defrayed by contributions from the United States' Persian Gulf allies, the White House said Friday.

The Bush administration issued its first accounting of the operation's costs as Saudi Arabia promised to pay 40 percent to 50 percent of the military expenses of the multinational buildup against Iraq. U.S. and Saudi officials declined to put a price tag on the pledge, but it seemed likely to translate into billions of dollars.

In a letter Saudi officials have sent members of Congress, the Saudis said they spent $3 billion through Dec. 31 for U.S. support, costs they said are rising rapidly.

"The outlay will be higher in the coming quarter because of the additional troops and stepped-up troop activities," said the note, written by Saudi Ambassador Bandar bin Sultan and obtained Friday by The Associated Press.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said that of the $10 billion in U.S. expenditures last year, the United States has already received $6 billion in cash and in-kind support from its allies. American officials expect to receive an additional $2 billion, he said.

"Our coalition partners will have covered some 80 percent of our incremental expenses through Dec. 31," Fitzwater said in a written statement. He provided no further detail.

Fitzwater released the figures on the second day of congressional debate over the Persian Gulf confrontation. Some Democrats have complained that other nations have not contributed enough to the U.S.-led drive to force Iraq out of Kuwait.

Officials, speaking on the condition they not be identified, have said the administration believes it will cost about $30 billion to maintain 450,000 U.S. troops in the gulf for 1991, and much more if fighting breaks out.

Fifty countries have either pledged or contributed some type of support to the operation, ranging from the dispatching of troops to the gulf to making cash donations to the U.S. Treasury, the GAO said.

Anti-war sentiment

About 100 marchers made their way from the Purdue University to the Tippecanoe County Courthouse in Lafayette, Ind., protesting American involvement in the Mideast.

Contract Documents may be examined without charge at the following office: NOBE CONSULTANTS LTD, 3134 Executive Drive, Suite 120, San Angelo, Texas 76904-6897. Contract Documents, including proposal, contract, bond and the plans and specifications may be procured from NOBE CONSULTANTS LTD at the above address for the sum of Sixty-five ($65.00) Dollars and No Cents. The deposit will be refunded if the documents and drawings are returned in good condition within 10 days following the bid opening.

A bid bond in the amount of five (5%) percent of the bid issued by an acceptable surety shall be submitted with each bid. A certified check or bank draft payable to the CITY OF GRANDFALLS or negotiable U.S. Government Bonds (as par value) may be submitted in lieu of the Bid Bond.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the Federally determined prevailing (Davis-Bacon) wage rate, as issued by the Texas Department of Commerce and as set forth in the Contract Documents, must be paid on this project and the Contractor must ensure that employees and applicants for employment are not discriminated against because of their race, color, religion, sex or national origin.

Attention is called to General Condition 142 "Restrictions on Public Buildings and Public Works Projects". The Bidder certifies by the submission of its bid that it:

1. Is not a Contractor of a foreign country included on the USTR list.
2. Has not and will not enter into any subcontract with a subcontractor of a foreign country included on the USTR list.
3. Will not provide any product of a foreign country included on the USTR list.

In addition, if the prime contractor is not a minority-owned business, the prime contractor shall ensure that at least 18.9 percent (18.9%) of the work force employed by such prime contractor is composed of minority group members.

For the purpose of definition, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "Minority Business" means a corporation, partnership, sole proprietorship or other legal entity formed for the purpose of making a profit, if at least 50 percent of the business is owned by minority group members or, in the case of a corporation, at least 51 percent of its shares are owned by minority group members.
2. "Minority Group Members" are Black Americans, Mexican Americans and other Americans of Hispanic Origin, Asian Americans, American Indians, Pacific Islanders and Alaskan Natives.

THE CITY OF GRANDFALLS reserves the right to reject any or all Bids or to waive any informalities in the bidding.

Bids may be held by THE CITY OF GRANDFALLS for a period not to exceed thirty (30) days from the date of the opening for Bids for the purpose of reviewing the Bids and investigating the qualifications of Bidders, prior to awarding of the Contract.

EX PARTE ORDER REVOKING REGISTRATION AS A GENERAL SECURITIES DEALER

Be it remembered that on the 11th day of June, 1990, certified notice was directed to G.C. George Securities, Inc. dba Sterling Pacific Securities, Inc., hereinafter referred to as "Respondent" ve intent of the State Securities Board to revoke the registration of Respondent as a general securities dealer. On the 15th day of November, 1990, evidence was presented to the Deputy Commissioner by the Staff of the State Securities Board to determine whether the registration of Respondent should be revoked. The Deputy Commissioner, being fully advised in the premises herein, finds that:

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. Notice, by certified letter dated June 11, 1990, was sent to Respondent of the intent of the Securities Commissioner to revoke Respondent's registration.
2. Neither a request for hearing nor a response demonstrating compliance with the registration requirements has been received by the Securities Commissioner.
3. The Securities Commissioner has jurisdiction over the matter pursuant to Section 3 of The Securities Act (V.A.T.C.S., Art. 581).
4. Pursuant to Section 2.H of The Securities Act, the Deputy Securities Commissioner is authorized to perform the duties of the Securities Commissioner.
5. Respondent became registered as a general securities dealer in the State of Texas on January 13, 1989.
6. Rule 115.4(b) of the Rules and Regulations of the State Securities Board requires that any change in any of the information reflected on the evidence of registration must be submitted to the Commissioner, along with an amendment fee, in order that amendment may be made.
7. By letters dated June 11, 1990; August 16, 1990; and September 25, 1990, Respondent was requested to submit the proper information and amendment fee.
8. The records of the State Securities Board fail to reflect compliance with Rule 115.4.
9. Rule 115.1(d) of the Rules and Regulations of the State Securities Board requires registration of a designated officer in order to maintain a dealer registration in Texas.
10. The records of the State Securities Board fail to reflect a currently registered designated officer of Respondent.
11. By letter dated September 25, 1990, Respondent was requested to either apply for registration for a designated officer or advise the Commissioner if an already registered officer is to be the designated person.
12. The Agency has received neither an application for registration of a designated officer nor advice that an already registered officer is to be the designated person.
13. A violation of any of the provisions of The Securities Act or Rules of the State Securities Board is grounds for revocation of a securities dealer registration under Section 14.A(5) of The Securities Act.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. Reasonable notice was given to Respondent of the intent of the Securities Commissioner to revoke Respondent's registration as a securities dealer.
2. Section 14.A(5) of The Securities Act authorizes the Deputy Securities Commissioner to revoke the registration of Respondent upon finding Respondent to have violated Rule 115.4(b) and Rule 115.1(d) of the Rules and Regulations of the State Securities Board.

ORDER

It is therefore ORDERED that the registration of G.C. George Securities, Inc. dba Sterling Pacific Securities, Inc. as a general securities dealer be REVOKED effective thirty (30) calendar days from the date this Order is signed unless a request in writing for a hearing is received by the State Securities Board in Austin prior to the expiration of the thirty-day period. The timely receipt of a written request for a hearing shall automatically stay the issuance of an Order of Revocation in order to allow time for a hearing before the Securities Commissioner pursuant to Section 14.D of The Securities Act. This ORDER is final on December 15, 1990.

Signed this 15th day of November, 1990.

WILLIAM H. KUNTZ, JR.
Deputy Securities Commissioner

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Sexuality study to begin Sunday

CLER Ministries presents its biblically-based study on sexuality for high school students beginning Sunday.

The 12-session course, "...And God Created Them Male and Female...And Now What?! A Human Sexuality Study for High School Youth From a Biblical Perspective," will be offered in three local churches and Casa de Amigos from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. weekly beginning Sunday. Classes will be held Sundays at St. Luke's United Methodist Church, 3011 W. Kansas Ave.; on Mondays at First Presbyterian Church, 800 W. Texas Ave.,; on Tuesdays at Casa de Amigos, 1101 E. Garden Lane; and on Wednesdays at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, 1412 W. Illinois Ave.

Each class will consist of 20 students and will meet weekly through March. Cost for the course is $50 per student except for the Casa de Amigos class which is founded totally by the Midland Association of Churches for low income/minority youth.

A parent orientation is set for Wednesday from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, 1412 W. Illinois Ave.

For more information call Linda Goddard, 697-5078. The coruse is sponsored by the Midland Association of Churches.

Baptist study continues

Ranchland Heights Baptist Church will continue its January Bible Study this week with emphasis in Sunday's lesson and sermons on Acts 6-12.

The special lessons will be held at 6 p.m. Sunday and 7 p.m. Wednesday while the sermons from Acts will be at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday.

For more information call 683-1947 or 697-4471.

Pulpit minister named

Golf Course Road Church of Christ has hired Gary Hundley of Nashville, Tenn., as its new pulpit minister.

Hundley is minister for the Vultree Church of Christ, Nashville. He also has preached in Michigan, Illinois and Houston since beginning his preaching career in 1969.

He holds degrees from Freed-Hardeman College, David Lipscomb College, Wheaton College and most recently obtained a master of divinity degree from Texas Christian University.

Hundley is a published author, contributing to such church publications as Gospel Advocate, 20th Century Christian and Image.

He has conducted various workshops and seminars in 20 states and campaigns in three foreign countries.

Hundley and his wife, Hope, are the parents of two daughters and the grandparents of one. Hundley will assume preaching responsibilities Feb. 1.

Bible school to start

Don Palmer, pastor of Life Unlimited Church, has announced that the first quarter of the 1991 School of the Bible begins at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

New courses offered this quarter include "Character Development," for junior high youth; a survey entitled "What the Bible is All About," for 10- and 11-year-olds; and "Justification by Faith," from Romans, for youth and adults. In addition, classes are offered for all ages.

Palmer said the School of the Bible is designed to give a person a Bible School education in 10 years.

Interested persons may enroll at the church prior to class Sunday. For more information call 1-362-1911.

Center to hear speaker

ODESSA — Dale Van Steenis of Orange County, Calif., is guest speaker at Life Unlimited Christian Center at 9:45 a.m. Sunday.

He has served as pastor, evangelist and traveling teacher. For five and a half years he served as director of youth ministries for more than 400 churches in Southern California. Currently Van Steenis is director of Leadership Strategies, California.

The public is invited to attend.

King celebration set

The annual Martin Luther King Jr. Celebration is set for 7 p.m. Tuesday at Antioch Baptist Church, 1400 E. Golf Course Road.

The Negro Business and Professional Women's Club will present the Rev. Michael R. de Vaughn, pastor of St. Paul C.M.E. Church, as celebration speaker with music to be furnished by the Youth in Action Choir and Sue Roseberry, soloist, Faith Temple Church of God in Christ.

The public is invited to attend. those attending are asked to bring candles.

Interim pastor named

The Rev. John S. Rasco has become the interim pastor of Fannin Terrace Baptist Church, 2800 Mogford St.

Rasco

His appointment follows the resignation of the Rev. Ben Walker, who served as pastor of Fannin Terrace for more than 12 years.

Rasco was pastor of First Baptist Church, Odessa, for nearly 24 years. He has served as interim pastor of several churches, including Alamo Heights and Greenwood.

For more information call the church, 682-5257. Church services are at 11 a.m. Sunday School is at 9:45 a.m.

Life Group meeting set

The Westside Church of Christ, 4410 W. Illinois Ave., will have its first Life Group meeting of 1991 Sunday following the 6 p.m. service.

The Life Group is designed to increase closeness among the members of the congregation. Church members are assigned to one of several small groups that meet in the home of one of the participants after the Sunday evening worship services. The groupings are done according to family life stages which include Building Years for families with pre-school and grade school children; Teen Years for families with teen-agers; Progressive Years for those with grown children; and Maturing Years for those members over 60 years old.

At the group meeting, a light supper is served. Then the Life Groups divide into smaller groups of four to six people to discuss that night's sermon, said the church pastor, Charley Taylor.

Following the small group sessions, the Life Group reassembles to take prayer requests, make plans as a group and decide on a location for the next month's meeting.

Interested parties are invited to participate in the Life Groups. for more information call 694-3614, weekdays, and 697-7285, weekends.

Fitness banquet set

The Family Activities Ministry at First Baptist Church is sponsoring a physical fitness banquet and clinic as part of Stewardship Emphasis 1991.

The banquet at 7 p.m. Friday in the church's Fellowship Hall will feature Dr. Dick Couey, professor of exercise physiology at Baylor University. A physical fitness clinic will follow Jan. 19 beginning at 9 a.m. Cost is $20. For more information call 682-7669.

In addition, Couey will lead the 6:30 p.m. service Jan. 20.

Miracles course planned

A new study group for the "Course In Miracles, a spiritually based self-help support and study group, is forming now at the Permian Basin Church of Religious Science, 2311 Elizabeth, behind Dennis the Menace Park.

The group, which will meet each Sunday from 6:30 to 8 p.m., will begin their studies with the Manual for Teachers. "Course In Miracles" books are available at the bookstore maintained by the Church of Religious Science.

For more information call 694-8531.

Religious leaders to discuss topics

The Midland Association of Churches' 41st annual School of Christian Living, entitled "Building Up the Body of Christ," is set for Jan. 20-23 at St. Luke's United Methodist Church, 3011 W. Kansas Ave.

"A faculty of distinguished, nationally-known religious leaders will discuss relevant religious and Christian topics during the four-day event," said a release from the MAC.

The lecturers and their topics are: Dr. Majorie Suchocki, Ingraham Professor of Theology, School of Theology, Claremont, California, "The Dynamic Process of Prayer"; the Rev. Dr. James R. Edwards, professor of religion and chairman of the Department of Religion and Philosophy, Jamestown College, Jamestown, N.D., "Three Voices for Reform in the Church: Augustine, Luther, Barth"; and Dr. Edgar Krentz, Christ Seminary, Seminex Professor of New Testament, Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago, Chicago, Ill., "Corinth and 1 Corinthians: Light on the Letter from a Century of American Archaeology."

Suchocki

Suchocki received her bachelor of arts in philosophy, Magna Cum Laude, from Pomona college, and her master's of arts and doctorate in religion from Claremont Graduate school. Prior to her association with the School of Theology, Claremont, Calif., she served as academic dean and professor of systematic theology at Wesley Theological Seminary, Washington, D.C.

Edwards

Edwards received his master of divinity degree from Princeton Theological Seminary and his doctorate in New Testament from Fuller Theological Seminary, Pasadena, Calif. He is an ordained Presbyterian minister and an adjunct faculty member of several seminaries and teaches for the Young Life Institute, Charis, N.D. He has published a variety of articles, co-authored "The Layman's Overview of the Bible" and written three New Testament commentaries for Community Bible Study. Recently, Edwards was on sabbatical in Germany where he studied theology at Tuebingen.

"Dr. Edwards will develop the idea that at critical junctures or turning points in history, voices have arisen to address critical needs in the church," the release said. "He will help the participants gain perspective with respect to the struggle churches are facing with restructuring and reform in light of the manifold challenges which they face from modern events and movements."

Krentz

Krentz received his master of divinity degree from Concordia Seminary in 1952 and his doctorate in 1960. He has been associated with the Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago since 1983. In addition to his extensive academic credentials, Krentz has participated and directed archaeological expeditions in the Palestinian area. Using slides of Corinth as it looks today, Krentz will look at this "most modern of ancient churches" in the light of its environment.

"Corinth, the Roman capitol of Achaia (southern Greece), was a prosperous port city and the center of Roman justice for the area," the release said. "Women's role in religion and society, the celebration of cultic meals, and attitudes towards sex and marriage influenced the Corinthian Christians both positively and negatively."

Krentz written artices and books relating to the New testament as well as a video on "The Gospel of Matthew." Krentz is a frequent lecturer and a standing member of the Office of Ecumenical Affairs, evangelical Lutheran Church of America.

As in the past, both morning and evening sessions have been scheduled for the School of Christian Living. For those attending the evening sessions, a light meal will be available at the church for $3 per person. A light meal also will be served at 5:45 p.m. Jan. 20.

Final registration is Jan. 20 at 6:30 p.m. the first sessions begins Jan. 20 at 6:45 p.m. The first session will be repeated at 9:45 a.m. Jan. 21.

Registration fee is $10 and child care will be provided at the church. A School of Christian Living bookstore will be provided during the sessions. Books authored by the presentors as well as recent and current publications dealing with biblical and religious topics and issues will be on sale.

For more information call St. Luke's United Methoidst Church, 694-2571.

alibi (noun, adverb) — Part of a police investigation is to check a suspect's "alibi," — Latin for "elsewhere." An acceptable alibi could mean a suspect was not at the scene of a crime. While the basis for an alibi is in the law, most people use the word to refer to an excuse for forgetting an occasion or assignment.

Oil blamed for '90 wholesale price rise

NATION

Once war or diplomacy resolves the (Persian Gulf) issue . . . plummeting oil costs should hold inflation overall to virtually zero, (analysts) said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The shock to oil costs delivered by the Persian Gulf crisis pushed wholesale prices up 5.6 percent last year, their steepest rise since 1981, the government said Friday.

Prices last month, however, fell 0.6 percent. It was the biggest one-month drop in 4½ years.

For all of 1989, energy prices were up 29.8 percent. Gasoline prices rose 45.2 percent; home heating oil costs gained 28.1 percent; natural gas prices advanced 3.7 percent.

"The hike in oil prices really messed up a pretty good year," said economist Mark Zandi of Regional Financial Associates in West Chester, Pa. "We would have had pretty low inflation if it weren't for events in the Persian Gulf."

Excluding food and energy costs, which swing widely from month to month, the index rose 3.5 percent in 1990. This rate is considered a better gauge of underlying inflationary pressures in the economy.

Food prices were up 2.5 percent. The sharpest advances were for fish, 15.9 percent; pork, 12.8 percent, and beef and veal, 9.5 percent. Egg prices, however, dropped 11.9 percent and turkeys and vegetables were both down 9 percent.

Last year's wholesale price acceleration compared to a 4.9 percent gain in 1989 and was the steepest since a 7.1 percent gain posted nine years ago.

Prices have risen in each of the last four years. But Zandi predicted that with the economic downturn gathering force, inflation will remain under control in 1991.

"Probably the only nice thing you can say about a recession is that it's going to limit inflation," he said.

Energy prices may spike up again, depending on what happens in the standoff between U.S. and Iraqi troops, analysts said. Once war or diplomacy resolves the issue, however, plummeting oil costs should hold inflation overall to virtually zero, they said.

"There's a lot of oil out there and if we can resolve the uncertainty about oil delivery, prices are going to fall," said economist Donald Ratajczak of Georgia State University.

Energy prices fell 4.8 percent in December, after soaring more than 34 percent over the previous four months. Fuel oil prices fell 10.7 percent and gasoline was down 7 percent. Natural gas costs, however, rose 6.7 percent.

Food prices fell 0.9 percent in December after climbing steeply over the two previous months. The drop was led by an 18.5 percent tumble in fresh and dried vegetable costs and a 15.7 percent fall in turkey prices.

Excluding food and energy, prices rose 0.3 percent in December, down from a 0.5 percent rise in November.

Men's and children's clothing prices were unchanged last month while women's costs fell for the second consecutive month.

"That's a nice downward trend. It's not just a one-time blip," said economist Evalina Tainer of the First National Bank of Chicago. "We have been seeing a very weak retail environment."

There were price increases for passenger cars, cosmetics, floor coverings, lawn and garden equipment, tobacco and household appliances.

The various changes in December put the index for all finished goods at 121.9, up from 115.4 a year ago. That means a hypothetical selection of goods costing $100 in 1982 would have cost $121.90 last month, up $6.50 from the previous year.

Inflation at earlier stages in the production process also was down in December. Costs for intermediate goods fell 0.9 percent; for crude goods, 5.4 percent. An example of the three processing stages is bread for finished, flour for intermediate and wheat for crude.

The Producer Price Index, which measures only the price of goods, often provides a hint about the behavior of the Consumer Price Index, measuring both services and goods at the retail level. Consumer figures for December are due Wednesday.

California fruit, vegetable crop losses prompt disaster request

'The big chill has not only destroyed much of the state's citrus, avocado, flower and strawberry crops, it has crippled the budgets of counties and cities that have been forced to pay for the freeze-related damage.'

— California Gov. Pete Wilson

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Pete Wilson declared an emergency in 17 counties Friday as new figures showed the numbing pre-Christmas freeze destroyed nearly two-thirds of this season's California navel oranges.

Meanwhile, officials confirmed previous reports that crop losses statewide exceed $700 million, using county figures submitted to the state Office of Emergency Services.

That report put the total at $782 million, but it appeared to be $55 million too high because of a state error in Tulare County's total.

The governor said he will ask the U.S. secretary of agriculture to declare the counties disaster areas, which would pave the way for federal low-interest loans to farmers.

The total cost of the freeze could top $1 billion when seasonal farm worker unemployment, government expenses and other costs are added to the crop losses, Wilson said.

"The big chill has not only destroyed much of the state's citrus, avocado, flower and strawberry crops, it has crippled the budgets of counties and cities that have been forced to pay for the freeze-related damage," Wilson said.

The state was expected to produce only 28 million cartons of fresh navels this winter, down 65 percent from the December forecast and down 68 percent from a year ago, said the California Agricultural Statistics Service.

Only 20 percent of the 1990-91 crop had been harvested in the San Joaquin Valley, the prime navel area, when temperatures plummeted to the low 20s and high teens the weekend before Christmas. Almost all of the remaining oranges still on the trees were lost, said the state Department of Food and Agriculture.

However, damage was far less severe in Southern California, including a 10 percent loss in Riverside County, the agency said. That left the estimated overall loss statewide at 65 percent.

The prospect for summer Valencia oranges is only slightly better. The statistics service forecasts 22 million cartons, down 52 percent from December and down 59 percent from a year ago.

"The fruit is small and immature and virtually all frozen; growers expect little production in 1991," the service reported of Valencias in the San Joaquin Valley, where about half the crop is grown.

Judge tosses out 12 Keating charges

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A judge threw out 12 of 46 fraud charges against Lincoln Savings & Loan chief Charles H. Keating Jr. Friday for technical reasons.

It was the second time Superior Court Judge Lance Ito dismissed charges since a grand jury issued indictments in September against Keating, whose Lincoln savings and loan is the largest thrift failure to date.

Ito threw out six charges as requested by Keating's lawyer because they were added belatedly by prosecutors. He said the charges changed the nature of offenses originally alleged by the grand jury.

The other six counts dismissed were "internally inconsistent," containing facts in one charge that contradict other counts, Ito said.

The judge also raised the possibility that more charges may be thrown out when attorneys argue a motion to dismiss the indictment against Keating and three associates.

Ito scheduled a June 7 hearing on the request to throw out the indictment and set a trial for Aug. 2.

Keating's lawyer, Stephen Neal, wanted 26 charges dismissed because the prosecution didn't return them to the grand jury for approval before amending the indictment. The 12 charges dismissed Friday were among the 26.

Deputy District Attorney William Hodgman said outside court he may appeal Ito's dismissal of the dozen counts, noting that 34 "viable counts" remained.

"I only need to win conviction on six for the maximum sentence of 10 years," he said.

Neal said he would press to dismiss all charges as defective. "I see today's ruling as a significant victory for all of the defendants."

Keating and his co-defendants are accused of bilking investors out of hundreds of millions of dollars.

"The district attorney does not have the legal right or the psychic ability to now divine what the grand jurors intended to say," Neal said. "If this indictment is allowed to stand, we are being tried on charges the grand jurors never indicted on."

Hodgman said the 26 counts, which replaced 22 dropped by the judge earlier, didn't include new charges. Rather, he said, they added clarification and specificity, as ordered by Ito in November.

Keating and three associates, all free on bail, are charged with misleading investors by incorrectly portraying high-yield, high-risk bonds issued by Keating's American Continental Corp. as safe.

The bonds became worthless following the April 1989 bankruptcy filing by American Continental, Lincoln's Phoenix-based parent, and Lincoln was subsequently seized by federal regulators.

The thrift's failure will cost taxpayers an estimated $2 billion, the largest savings and loan bailout to date, regulators said.

A Senate committee is investigating whether five senators improperly intervened with federal regulators on Keating's behalf.

Lukens leaves jail for sex counseling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Rep. Donald Lukens was released from jail Friday after serving less than a third of a 30-day sentence, and went to Washington, D.C., to undergo court-ordered counseling as a sex offender.

Lukens served nine days in jail for having sex with an underage girl in 1988 while he was a congressman.

The sentencing judge agreed Thursday to release the 59-year-old Republican so he could undergo counseling at a Washington clinic for sex offenders.

Lukens' attorney, Thomas Tyack, said Lukens could start treatment Monday at the Human Sexuality Institute.

Soviets suspend reformist TV show

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government canceled a controversial television show on Friday and tried to shut down an independent news agency in what critics called a campaign against glasnost.

As Soviet troops forcibly seized buildings in the secessionist republic of Lithuania, the government put a highly visible chill on the policy of greater media openness that Mikhail S. Gorbachev began when he took office nearly six years ago.

Pyotr Reshetov, deputy director of the State Television and Radio Committee, or Gostelradio, suspended broadcasts of the weekly television program "Vzglyad (Viewpoint)," said Andrei Shepilov, one of the program's producers.

The chairman of Gostelradio, Leonid P. Kravchenko, ordered the plugs pulled on most telephone lines from the independent news agency Interfax, which sends its dispatches via telefax, said Interfax head Mikhail Komissar.

Interfax had been operating from the premises of Moscow Radio, a Gostelradio affiliate, and was emerging as a competitor to the state news agency Tass, which Kravchenko headed until taking over state broadcasting late last year.

The Information Ministry of the largest Soviet republic, the Russian federation, said in a statement that central government steps against the press were "acquiring a sinister coloring. It is undisguised pressure against journalists."

The ministry, headed by Mikhail Poltoranin, called the steps against the mass media "a tragic result of the political instigation of hatred in the search for internal enemies."

"It's a preface for open terror against glasnost," said the statement, carried by Tass.

The indefinite cancellation of "Vzglyad" broadcasts was likely to have an immediate impact on millions of viewers nationwide.

A Lithuanian protester shouts at communists gathered around the Parliament in Vilnius, Lithuania, Friday.

Twice previously in the past month, authorities refused to broadcast the program, which has been criticized by conservatives for its advocacy of political and economic reforms and its frank treatment of Soviet social ills.

The regular Friday night broadcast was pulled again this week, said Shepilov.

Chances that the program would be broadcast again in its previous format dimmed as Gostelradio officials refused to transmit further installments until the producers signed a new contract granting authorities greater control over its "creative work," he said.

"It's just a pretext," said Alexander Lyubimov, the program's executive producer. "There are too many coincidences — troops in Lithuania, the program banned, Interfax shut down." He was pessimistic that the program would ever return to the air.

PERSIAN GULF CRISIS

Israel steps up war readiness

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel on Friday stepped up its readiness to defend against an Iraqi attack, calling up some reserve troops and urging citizens to protect their homes against chemical weapons.

The U.S. Embassy also advised the 70,000 to 100,000 Americans living in Israel and the occupied territories to leave because of increased tensions.

Israel's Education Ministry said it was setting up special classrooms to seal off in case of attack. Major supermarkets announced special hours after the Jewish Sabbath ends at sundown today to allow shoppers to stockpile emergency supplies.

Appealing for calm, Army Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. Dan Shomron said he believed Iraq would not carry out its threats to attack Israel. But if it did, he said, properly prepared citizens had no reason to be anxious.

A poll showed 55 percent of Israelis believe a war will break out. Iraqi President Saddam Hussein has threatened to attack Israel if his country is hit by U.S. and allied forces in the Persian Gulf.

In Washington, meanwhile, officials said President Bush is dispatching a senior diplomat to Israel to urge Israel to stay out of the fighting should a war erupt in the Persian Gulf, but to reassure it of U.S. support in case of an Iraqi attack.

The official, Deputy Secretary of State Lawrence Eagleburger, will travel to Israel soon, the officials said.

Israel has tried to keep a low profile during the gulf crisis, in response to U.S. requests to do nothing that could upset the U.S. alliance with Arab nations against Saddam.

But two Israeli dailies said the emergency steps signal an end to that policy as the Jan. 15 U.N. deadline for Iraq to leave Kuwait draws near.

"The prevailing assessment, that in case of war Saddam will try to involve Israel from the outset, no longer leaves room for concealing vital information and anesthetizing the public," military analyst Immanuel Rosen wrote in the daily Maariv.

Both Israel's El Al Airlines and TWA scheduled extra flights to the United States today from Ben Gurion Airport near Tel Aviv.

U.S. Embassy spokesman Don Cofman estimated that 70,000 to 100,000 Americans live in Israel, including many with dual U.S.-Israeli citizenship. He said he did not know how many of them — or of the 219 diplomatic dependents — would be leaving. The United States offered to pay the airfare of U.S. diplomatic dependents who want to leave.

The American advisory warned that "increased tensions due to Iraq's failure to comply with the U.N. Security Council resolutions may lead to demonstrations, terrorist attacks and other hostile actions against the U.S. government and U.S. citizens in the area."

It added: "Should hostilities occur in the Persian Gulf, this threat will be heightened."

Yossi Achimeir, spokesman for Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir, said Israel believed the U.S. travel warning was unnecessary but added that "we can understand it."

The airport shut at sundown Friday for the Sabbath, but beforehand there was a steady stream of exiting passengers, many of them ultra-Orthodox Jews in traditional black hats.

Rivka Stark, a Dutch teen-ager who left Friday, said she was too frightened to stay on the kibbutz, or collective farm, where she was a volunteer.

"I'm in a panic. I've passed out once," she said. "I'm only 17 years old. I've never been in a war and just thinking ... of not seeing my family anymore, my friends ... is terrible."

Reservists reported receiving unexpected orders to duty, and a military official confirmed the army has called some reserve troops for the air force, military intelligence and civil defense.

Ground attacks may take high toll of U.S. troops

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Military commanders have told U.S. troops that more than half of those attacking Iraqi desert trenches could be killed or wounded, a newspaper reported Friday.

American troops in Saudi Arabia and California have practiced attacks against replicas of Iraqi fortifications based on satellite photographs, and the projected casualties were heavy, the Los Angeles Times said.

Marine Corps commanders recently told troops that results from about 180 mock battles show casualties in the ground attacks can exceed 50 percent, the newspaper said.

In another exercise, an Army unit of nearly 2,000 men was ordered to break through a "triangular strongpoint" occupied by a smaller unit, and one-third of the American troops would have been killed or wounded, the Times said.

However, military experts said the U.S. military is unlikely to launch massive direct assaults on land. Aerial and artillery attacks, followed by flanking movements, are more likely, they said.

Still, some commanders said land attacks likely will be important because Saddam Hussein's army has had five months to dig itself in against air raids.

Some estimate that 270,000 Iraqi soldiers are entrenched along the full length of the Kuwaiti border and about 100 miles into Iraq.

100 U.S. soldiers seek to avoid war, group says

BONN, Germany (AP) — The pacifist Greens said Friday that 100 U.S. soldiers stationed in Germany have filed for conscientious objector status to avoid Persian Gulf war duty and that another 40 American GIs have deserted.

Greens in the northern city of Bremen have formed a committee called "Action Winter Vacation" with other pacifist groups to help the soldiers make their applications for objector status, said Martin Thomas, a Greens leader in Bremen's state government.

Thomas said many of those who were absent-without-leave, or AWOL, were being housed by German families.

Military officials, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the number of people they know of who have sought objector status or refused to go to the gulf is under 10.

Cmdr. John Woodhouse, spokesman for the U.S. European Command, pointed out that soldiers are not considered AWOL unless they had been away from their post for at least 30 days or "made clear they don't intend to return."

Woodhouse acknowledged that there "may indeed be a small percentage that have deserted because they did not want to go" to the gulf.

Confusion reigns over deadline time

Hearst News Service

WASHINGTON — The United Nations latest resolution on Iraq calls for it to withdraw from Kuwait "on or before Jan. 15, 1991" or face military force.

Secretary of State James Baker has stated that Iraq must be out of Kuwait by "midnight Jan. 15," which is Tuesday night.

However, neither the United Nations nor the White House nor the State Department was willing on Friday to clarify whether Baker meant midnight local time in Kuwait, Iraq, and Saudi Arabia or midnight in New York and Washington, D.C.

The time in the three Persian Gulf countries currently is eight hours ahead of East Standard Time, meaning that midnight would arrive there eight hours before it would arrive here.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Haiti leader reappears

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — In his first appearance since a coup attempt five days earlier, President-elect Jean-Bertrand Aristide said Friday that Duvalierists may be organizing to disrupt Haiti's nascent democracy.

He asked the military to arrest all terrorist backers of the ousted Duvalier regime.

"We know there are people who oppose the democratic process. They don't want us to reach Jan. 20," Aristide said, referring to runoff elections for the National Assembly scheduled for that date.

Aristide, a Roman Catholic priest, also said prosecution of former Duvalier militia head Roger Lafontant, who planned Sunday's coup, should be accelerated.

Lebanese Druse resigns

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Druse warlord Walid Jumblatt resigned his post as minister-without-portfolio Friday, dealing a blow to the half-Muslim, half-Christian government formed to steer Lebanon out of civil war.

The sudden resignation means the 30-seat Cabinet now lacks two of the three major militia leaders Prime Minister Omar Karami had sought to attract to the national reconciliation government he formed on Dec. 24.

Christian leaders have charged that the new government tilts overwhelmingly toward Syria, the main power broker in Lebanon with 40,000 troops deployed there under a 1976 peacekeeping mandate from the Arab League.

Fighting stalls evacuation

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Heavy fighting Friday again stalled efforts to rescue foreigners trapped in Somalia's capital, where the first foreign casualties were reported during battles outside the Italian Embassy.

Italy, a former colonial ruler of Somalia, said it would close its diplomatic mission in Mogadishu, the capital, as soon as foreigners taking shelter there could be evacuated.

In 13 days of fighting between rebels and government forces, more than 1,500 people have been killed and thousands wounded, according to the rebel United Somali Congress. The rebels say the capital is rife with cholera and typhoid spread by decomposing bodies.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, JANUARY 12, 1991

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Put your abundant energy into your work and your finances will show great improvement by March. Others will be eager to join your team. You can look forward to having more time for yourself by May. Big events within the business world give you a brilliant idea. A born entrepreneur, you know exactly how to market what you want to sell. Leave nothing to chance where romance is concerned. Let mate know the depth of your commitment.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: artist John Singer Sargent, actress Kirstie Alley, author Jack London, singer Ray Price.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You will get a great deal of satisfaction out of today's events. Those who really count rejoice with you! A project that is dear to your heart gets the green light. Young people are involved.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A romance you have pursued largely by telephone or mail takes a new turn. You may be ready to set the date. Family members rejoice at your decision. You bask in their approval!

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Tact will help you avoid a heated exchange. You receive a special break you have sought for a long time. Your new rapport with your loved ones gives you reason to rejoice.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Keep your ideas under wraps until all your research is completed. Consolidating your resources will help you achieve the results you desire. Promote greater harmony at home.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): There are many things to look forward to! Keep your spirits up and have faith in your abilities. Your financial affairs could be linked to someone else's. Try to accumulate a nest egg.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): This should be a no-nonsense day. Distance yourself from someone whose attitude toward work is too casual. Travel will add zest to romance — and so will an occasional evening on the town.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): The best way to become acquainted with new neighbors is to let nature take its course. Otherwise, they might think you are pushy. Obligations to your mate come first. Entertain at home.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Remain true to your principles. Exercise greater caution in financial negotiations. An older relative does you a special favor. Show your appreciation. Do not get involved in mate's arguments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Curtail everyday spending or your paycheck might not stretch to cover all your bills. A "rainy day" fund is a terrific idea. Take a neighbor's comments with a grain of salt.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A "lost cause" could suddenly turn into a triumph. Keep your New Year's resolutions concerning diet and exercise. Begin work on a project that could make you wealthy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Conditions indicate a low-key day for you. Avoid taking financial risks, especially if they require big cash outlays. Luxury purchases could put you in the red. Romance is looking up!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A great time to begin projects, particularly if family members are eager to help out. Dress up tonight if you want to dazzle your romantic partner. A little extra effort works wonders!

TODAY'S CHILDREN are voracious readers, eager to learn all they can about other countries and customs. They show a real flair for decorating and could excel as interior designers, urban planners or architects. Shrewd shoppers, they will return from every trip with carefully chosen souvenirs. Excellent judges of character, these Capricorns rely strongly on their intuition when making major decisions. They make very successful corporate executives.

LBJ biographer Caro nominated for award

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Caro's biography of Lyndon Johnson, Charles Johnsoh's tale of a freed slave's journey and John Updike's fourth and final "Rabbit" book are among nominees for the National Book Critics Circle Awards.

The awards are given in five categories — fiction, non-fiction, poetry, biography-autobiography, and criticism — for books published last year by American writers.

The 25 finalists, announced Thursday, were chosen in a two-stage process by the National Book Critics general membership and its 24-member board of directors. Winners will be announced Feb. 16 in Claremont, Calif.

The nominees, and the books' publishers, are:

FICTION

— Johnson's "Middle Passage," which won the National Book Award in November. Atheneum.

— Updike's "Rabbit at Rest." Knopf.

— Sue Miller's "Family Pictures" about a family with an autistic child. Harper Collins.

— Tim O'Brien's "The Things They Carried." Knopf.

— Wallace Stegner's "Collected Stories." Random House.

NON-FICTION

— Mike Davis' "City of Quartz: Excavating the Future in Los Angeles." Verso.

— Alma Guillermoprieto's "Samba." Knopf.

— The late O.B. Hardison's "Disappearing Through the Skylight: Culture and Technology in the 20th Century." Viking.

— Kevin Phillips' "The Politics of the Rich and Poor: Wealth and the American Electorate in the Reagan Aftermath." Random House.

— Shelby Steele's "The Content of Our Character: A New Vision of Race in America." St. Martin's.

BIOGRAPHY-AUTOBIOGRAPHY

— Caro's "Means of Ascent." Knopf.

— John Espey's "Strong Drink, Strong Language." John Daniel.

— Patricia O'Toole's "The Five of Hearts: An Intimate Portrait of Henry Adams and His Friends, 1880-1918." Clarkson Potter.

— Richard Rhodes' "A Hole in the World." Simon & Schuster.

— T.H. Watkins, "Righteous Pilgrim: The Life and Times of Harold Ickes." Holt.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Julius "Dr. J" Erving will join the Philadelphia Orchestra to help remember the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. on Monday night.

The retired National Basketball Association star will narrate during Aaron Copland's "Lincoln Portrait" in the "Come and Meet the Music" concert being televised live by the Arts & Entertainment Cable Network nationally.

"We hope not only to honor the memory of Dr. King but to express through our music his quest for freedom and human equality," said conductor Riccardo Muti.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Singer Clint Black, whose No. 1 country music hits include "A Better Man," "Killin' Time" and "Nothing's News," has become a regular cast member of the Grand Ole Opry.

Black

Black's induction into the cast was taped Thursday night during a CBS-TV special, "The Grand Ole Opry 65th Anniversary Celebration," that will be shown Saturday, Jan. 19.

The Opry is a live country music show that has been presented continuously since 1925.

Black, 28, of Houston, is the reigning Country Music Association male vocalist of the year.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Dr. C. Everett Koop says he misses being U.S. surgeon general but enjoys the freedom to speak his mind on health issues near to his heart.

Koop

"I don't have the power of public office," Koop, 74, told 1,400 people Thursday at Calvin College. "But I don't have its constraints either."

Koop, who led the U.S. Public Health Service from 1982-89, raised the profile of the office with his bold calls for sex education and AIDS education for children and vigorous attacks on smoking.

He said a quarter of the $660 billion Americans spent on medical care last year was unnecessary, and the wasted money could have paid for the unmet care of the 12 percent-15 percent of those who lack insurance.

"If we could eliminate that from the bill, the savings could pay for all we want and don't have," he said.

Many of those who lack health coverage are among the working poor, Koop said.

"Ninety percent have jobs. Many have two jobs," he said. "These people live in constant fear that the next illness will wipe out their family and take everything they have."

Condom wrappers may link deaths

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The killers of eight middle-aged men along an interstate may have left behind empty condom wrappers in the cars of several of their victims, a detective said Friday.

The condoms themselves have not been found, said Dan Carter, a detective helping to investigate the serial murders along Interstate 75.

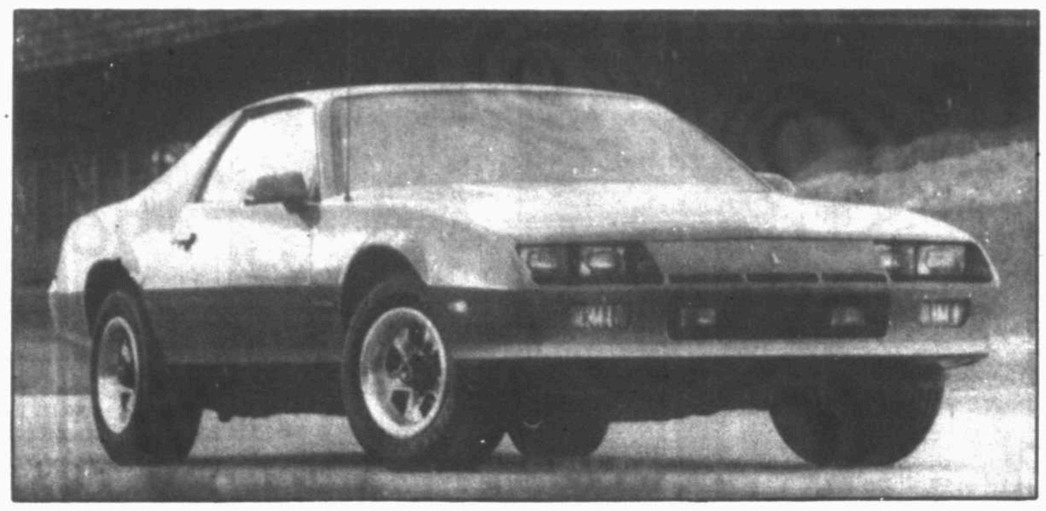

Since December 1989, the bodies of eight men have been found, usually on back roads within several miles of the interstate.

The bodies have been found hundreds of miles apart, but it is believed the men all disappeared from the Central Florida area, most from within a few miles of Ocala.

Investigators have said since last fall that they believe the murders are the work of at least two women who have a strong dislike for middle-aged men.

Carter said the condom wrappers, the similar ages of the victims and the fact that several victims were killed with the same small-caliber weapon connect the killings.

Carter said the appearance of the condom wrappers doesn't necessarily mean the victims picked up the women for purposes of sex.

GM 'gem'

The car most often stolen in 1990 was the 1986 Chevrolet Camaro, according to CCC Information Services Inc. of Chicago, an insurance industry valuation service. The '86 Camaro leads the list for the fourth year in a row. The 1988 Hyundai Excel GL was the most-often stolen import.

BIA unable to track $95 million

WASHINGTON (NYT) — A federal investigation has found that the Bureau of Indian Affairs, which manages health, education and cultural programs on the nation's Indian reservations, cannot account for $95 million appropriated to the bureau in the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30.

That money amounts to nearly 10 percent of the agency's $1 billion annual budget. It has not yet been determined whether the inability to account for the money reflects only the haphazard financial practices that the investigation uncovered, or whether theft may have also been involved.

The inquiry, whose results were announced Thursday, was conducted jointly by the White House Office of Management and Budget and by the bureau's parent, the Interior Department.

It dates from last spring, when bureau officials told Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan Jr. that the agency's books were in disarray and that as a result, millions of dollars could not be tracked. Lujan responded by alerting the White House budget office, and a team of investigators was sent to the bureau's main financial center, in Albuquerque, N.M.

The investigators uncovered sloppy accounting practices, marked among other things by a lack of security, that had left the bureau's books in disorder and might be the sole reason why the $95 million cannot be found, officials of both agencies said.

The investigators said the bureau's employees had routinely sought to balance accounts by continually shifting money from one program to another without acceptable controls and had frequently changed balances weeks after transactions had taken place.

Investigators also found that 12,000 of the bureau's 13,000 employees in offices and on reservations all over the country had access to computers that allowed them to make entries in the agency's accounts. Further, some people who were not even government employees had been able to gain access to those computers.

In response to the findings, the Interior Department and the White House budget office have sent a team of financial experts to Albuquerque to upgrade the bureau's accounting system.

At the same time, the Interior Department's Office of the Inspector General is collecting evidence in Albuquerque to determine whether the problems are solely poor financial practices, or whether they also include instances of theft.

Pastor robbed banks for money, then sex

DETROIT (AP) — The pastor of a fundamentalist church confessed to robbing 14 banks over 16 months and spending the stolen $50,000 to pay for prostitutes to satisfy his "tremendous appetite for sex."

Roy Alan Yanke, 37, of Berkley, who is pastor of the fundamentalist Covenant Alliance Church in suburban Beverly Hills, was arraigned Thursday in federal court on charges he robbed two banks the day before.

After his arrest, Yanke also confessed to 12 earlier bank stick-ups, according to FBI affidavits.

U.S. Magistrate Virginia Morgan freed Yanke on $50,000 bond and set a preliminary examination for Jan. 30.

Yanke told investigators he used the money he took in the robberies to satisfy a "tremendous appetite for sex," an investigator told The Detroit News.

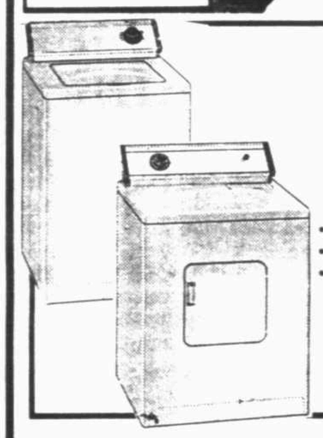

"I wish I could say he spent it to save his church, but after he was arrested, he said he spent it all on sex — from Eight Mile (Road) hookers to high-class call-girls," said the investigator, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

"He apparently was driven by his desire for money," said FBI Special Agent John Anthony. "He wanted money."
